Pipeline explosion kills 5, injures 43

BROOKSIDE VILLAGE, Texas (AP) - A 30-inch natural gas pipeline exploded early today near a mobile home park, setting off a fireball that could be seen 30 miles away. Five persons were known dead and at least 43 others were injured.

Eugene Dolan, 29, a resident of the trailer park, said the heat was so intense metal on his trailer began to

Whalen order takes both sides off guard

By MARK VOGLER R-T Staff Writer

Monday's surprise decision by the Texas Railroad Commission to suspend oilfield waste disposal operations at Whalen Lake in Andrews County has caught both Whalen Corp. and the chief opponent of the operation off guard

Arnold Darrow, president of the Dallas based subsidiary of Triton Oil and Gas Corp. Monday night at tacked the commission's suspension order as "precipitous and basically

He predicted the decision would have an adverse impact on the Permian Basin oil industry if enforced over a long period of time

According to the Associated Press. Harold Irby, director of the migratory game program for the state Parks and Wildlife Department, said Monday that "the Whalen Lake situation is something that a little preventive medicine could cure

Meanwhile, U.S. Interior Depart ment agent Richard Endress, the chief opponent of waste disposal practices occurring at the lake, said he was "suspicious" of the commission's motives and suggested that it might be a last-minute effort to discourage intervention by the federal government-particularly the U.S. Environmental Protection Agen-

Emdress had taken issue with the company's operation more than two vears ago when he accused Whalen Corp of violating the Federal Migratory Bird Treaty Act by, he claimed, killing thousands of birds with alleged discharges of petroleum materials into the playa lake The official also said his agency's probe now has been expanded to investigate any alleged bird kills related to oilfield disposals throughout West Texas

Endress said, although the Interior Department's sole jurisdiction in the matter is over birds, he considers the possibility of ground water contamination throughout West Texas to be the primary concern now facing the Railroad Commission

Whalen Corp. is scheduled to seek a renewal of its discharge permit at a Railroad Commission hearing in Austin Thursday The shutdown order was issued Monday by telephone and by certified mail to Whalen Corp., Phillips Petroleum and Petroleum Corp. of Texas, three companies which were licensed by the commission to discharge brine into the 630-acre playa lake located 15 miles west of Andrews.

The Railroad Commission's chief engineer, Bob R. Harris, Monday said the hearing, initially considered to be "a routine part of renewing the permit," would focus on "a show-cause proceeding on why the operators should be allowed to discharge oilfield waters into the lake. "Little or no progress has been made toward correcting the situation even though repeated attempts have been made by the Commission to obtain corrective action," said Harris, who added he believes "sub-(Continued on Page 2A)

North Loop at mercy of Public Transportation Commission

By LANA CUNNINGHAM R-T Staff Writer

Future funding of the North Loop Road in Midland County now resides in the hands of the state Highways and Public Transportation Commis-

A delegation of community leaders from the cities of Midland and Odes sa, a group of Midland County and Ector County officials and state Senator W.E. "Pete" Snelson of Midland Monday gave a 40-minute presentation to the commission in Austin, requesting state funding for the rights

The city of Midland and Midland County are involved in purchasing land for the North Loop.

Midland County, along with the city of Odessa and Ector County, are responsible for the North Route, a sister project of the North Loop, according to a highway department spokesman. The two projects were combined when approved, so that one is dependent on the other

Snelson today said he told the three member commission funding for construction of the proposed Loop 250 has been pending for some time at a total estimated cost of $42.5 million for the 16.3 mile project

The proposed loop would be from the intersection of Interstate 20, and FM 1369, west of Midland, northwest, northeast and southeast to Interstate 30 east of the city

The commission approved the Loop Road Aug. 31, 1977, after the city and county governments involved in the two projects said they would pay the entire cost for purchasing rights

According to Midland Mayor Pro

Tem G. Thane Akins, who presented the city's case at the Monday meeting, city officials thought at that time cost of purchasing the rights-of-way within city boundaries could be done with the $900,000 in the city's surplus

Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. had said the city earlier thought it could get a lot of land for the North Route through donations. But after the commission approved the loop road on the condition the four governing entities pay 100 percent of the rights-of-way, the city discovered a federal regula tion that would cause some prob-

This regulation calls for the city to inform each land owner he is entitled to receive fair market price for his land, or that he can donate it. Such a requirement apparently had an effect on the number of people expected to

And while the price of land along the proposed loop was skyrocketing, the city did not receive clearance from the Highway Department to begin negotiations with land owners until June of this year.

Akins said he explained to the commission that, because of this length of time and the escalation of property values, "we're now looking at some thing like $2.4 million. We have $871, 000 worth of property through donation, platting or purchase. So we have made an effort to get as much as we could with the funds available.'

Never on Sunday?

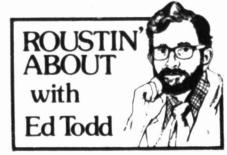

Does a governmental body have the right to decide whether a cemetery may allow burial services on Sundays?

That's what Midland County Commissioners were asked to decide Monday. But the commissioners washed their hands of any role in the matter, saying the city - and not the county - has the power to create ordinances.

Some commissioners, seemingly a bit relieved of not having to pass judgment on a request from the local Ministerial Alliance to prohibit Sunday burial at Fairview Cemetery, predicted the issue may lead to a hot debate between members of the clergy at a Midland City Council meeting slated later today.

Representatives of the Ministerial Alliance told commissioners Monday that a ban on Sunday burials would simply be a matter of convenience for members of the clergy who needed a day off and for local law enforcement agencies who

Carter to reveal inflation plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter said today the speech he will give tonight outlining his newest battle plan for fighting inflation through wage and price guidelines will be "one of the most important" speeches he will deliver as president.

Returning from two days at his Camp David, Md., retreat, Carter summoned his Cabinet to the White House and proclaimed the anti-inflation campaign his top domestic priori-

"We've already begun to see... special interest opposition arising that's going to be quite formidable, and we've got to be prepared to meet it forcefully and effectively," he told the Cabinet.

"Unless we can unite not only the government officials at the federal, state and local levels, but also private industry, labor and other elements of the American economy, the effort is not going to be successful.'

The president is presenting his speech in a national television and radio broadcast at 10 p.m. EDT.

The guidelines will be aimed at limiting wage increases to 7 percent next year and price increases to about 5.75 percent. If successful, the program would reduce inflation to between 6 percent and 6.5 percent by the end of next year, compared with a rate of about 8 percent this year.

Major corporations will be asked to keep price rises at least one-half of one percent below their average increases for the last two years. That is virtually the same request that was put to big business in Carter's last inflation program, which hasn't

The president also may announce he is naming Alfred E. Kahn, the chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, to head the new program. Kahn, 61, has presided over the partial deregulation of the airline industry that has resulted in sharply lower air fares

As of late Monday, however, it was known that Kahn had not said he would accept the job and succeed Robert S. Strauss as the president's top inflation adviser

Wage and price behavior by big business and unions will be monitored by the Council on Wage and Price Stability, whose staff will be increased from about 40 to 100 for the program. Carter also may announce

In a widely reported incident. Krueger extended his hand to Tower when the two met last Tuesday at a Houston Press Club dinner. Tower turned away, declining to shake

"I think he has engaged in scurrilous campaign activities which Texans do not admire. He is a man who has no loyalties and no convictions," Tower said in a mailgram sent to Texas newspapers.

Tower said he views a handshake as "a symbol of friendship and respect. I was not brought up to believe that a handshake is a meaningless and hypocritical act done for public dis-

The rain gauge at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport recorded 1.31 inches of rain since Monday morning. That brings the month's total to 2.31 iches and the vear's rainfall to 14.62 inches. The normal annual rainfall is 13.51 inches.

The Midland College rain gauge registered 1.23 inches since Monday morning. And the gauge at Tom's Tree House on Midland's westside recorded 1.20 inches Hoot Leonard at Midland Farmers Co-operative on the city's eastside reported 1.30 inches since Monday and 3.40 inches since the rains started late Sunday night.

Farmers now are waiting for warm, dry weather to help their cotton mature for picking.

In south Midland at the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame, 1.30 inches fell since Monday. The total there since late Sunday is 3.10 inches.

Roy Graham in the Greenwood community east of Midland reported 50 inch overnight and about 2.0 inches since Sunday night. The Warfield community south of Midland Regional Airport received 1.10 inches since Monday, and Westview Estates five miles north of the airport gauged 2.60 since the beginning of the two-day rain and drizzle. Accompanying the rain has been an almost constant 44-degree temperature, said the weatherman. The thermometer at the airport's weather service station registered 43 degrees at noon Monday, moved to 44 in the next hour and stayed there through this morning, a partial freeze on federal hiring next year as one new restraint on government spending. Some of Carter's advisers were urging him to commit his administration to a fiscal 1980 budget deficit below $30 billion, down from the $38 billion projected for fiscal 1979. Budget deficits are blamed by many people as one cause of inflation, although the administration has not agreed with that theory

Jody Powell, Carter's press spokesman, said Carter was working alone

Monday on a final draft of his speech at Camp David and would stay there overnight. Last-minute changes weren't being ruled out because the outlook for inflation apparently has worsened since the plans were first drawn up six weeks ago.

does not believe it would be fair to those people who have donated land to be charged for the curbs and gutters. Total cost for this would be about $380,000, he said.

County Judge Blake Hansen spoke for the county's side, saying the project would still be done, but the county needs "flexibility" on the entrance and exit roads. Hansen said he made no request on the subject of rights-of-way funding. He said today the county still has not received needed maps for the eastern end of the loop and thus is not in a position yet to estimate a total cost. "We're working with the possibility of donations of property," the judge said, pointing out that acquisition of specific property has been the subject of several executive session meetings in recent weeks.

Snelson said he appealed to the commission to "find out something as soon as possible so as not to slow the the project in any way. My position was in asking them (the commissioners) that if they had the funds, if they could assist the entities.

Young pilot, plane lost

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) -Boats and aircraft have found no trace of a young pilot and flying saucer enthusiast who disappeared with his plane after radioing he was being chased by a UFO.

The Australian air force said it had received 11 reports of UFO sightings from people along the coast of Bass Strait where the plane disappeared Saturday night.

stantial pollution is occurring at Whalen Lake.

Darrow and Endress said they both considered it "a shock" that the Railroad Commission had issued a suspension of the permit since the agency previously had taken an official position that the company was conforming with state regulations. Mack Wallace, chairman of the commission, refused to comment on the situation other than to say: "I stand behind the order Commissoner John H. Poerner said today commissioners acted on the basis of recent chemical tests similar to those taken by the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife earlier this month.

The Parks and Wildlife tests reportedly showed "excessive amounts of oil materials going into the lake."

"Suspending the permit is the best way to handle the matter, we have decided at this time. We have asked repeatedly that Whalen Corp. change its procedures at the lake, and this has not been done," Poerner said in a telephone interview

"The Railroad Commission puts the burden of proof on Whalen Corp. to show why they should be allowed to use the lake for disposing affluents. The burden of proof was on us before. Now it's on them," the commissioner

Poerner disputed the validity of Darrow's complaint that suspension of the permit would adversely affect oil production in the Permian Basin. Darrow has said there is no other alternative to brine disposal at Whalen and said the shutdown will result in the loss of at least 20,000 barrels of oil per month, "and that's a very conservative estimate indeed.

Well injection, used by most of the oil companies in the region, would not be feasible for Whalen because the company is dealing with a type of oil that gives off a tremendous amount of iron sulphide and other materials which are incompatable with the ground formations, according to the company official.

'And as far as the overall economic impact on the area, you're also talking about shutting down trucking operators that haul the brine to Whalen Lake. There are a considerable number of truckers who are not going to be getting the business now," he said. "This was a most precipitous action that shouldn't have been done without investigating all the facts. There have been a lot of allegations with no facts to substantiate them and the Commission has reacted to the adverse publicity because of political pressure.' Endress, the Interior Department agent, said he believes conditions at the lake have improved since the matter was brought before a federal grand jury in Midland in January of 1977, but added he thinks there has

when, he recalled, the Railroad Commission cited excessive discharges while granting Whalen Corp. a provisional permit. "I'm glad to see the Railroad Commission taking this action. It puts Whalen Corp. in a defensive posture

"I think the may have done so because they now realize that a variety of governmental agencies are taking a serious look at the situation. I get the impression that the agencies are concerned the ground water is really going to suffer if the practices continue throughout West Texas.

"I think they know the EPA has or may be about to come into the picture. I don't think the Railroad Commission wants the EPA intervening since there would be the possibility of federal controls.

Poerner said the commission is capable of doing its own investigation. but doesn't resent federal agencies "looking over our shoulders."

He also called for removing barriers to "siting and prompt construction of nuclear power plants" and redirecting import policies away from "vulnerable loations, such as the Middle East, to our good friends and neighbors, such as Mexico and Canada.

Texas also should produce a state plan, Clements said, which would include a "fall-back position."

The elements of this plan, which the candidate conceded are not "in the national interest," would be reducing energy production rates and enacting legislation to tax natural gas intended for shipment out of state.

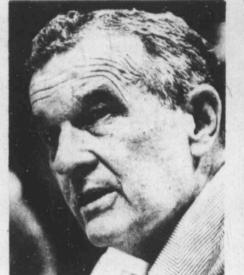

"I would vastly prefer that the industrial Northeast face up to its problems. But if they can't, or if they won't, then we need a tough-as-nails Texas governor to met them headon," said Clements. He questioned whether Attorney

Ector County District Attorney John Green, who also has criticized Hill's entry into the case, was one of the sponsors of the luncheon.

Jim Baker favored

The race for attorney general of Texas certainly is one of the most important facing voters of the Lone Star State in the Nov. 7 election. It also promises to be one of the closest and most interesting.

Two prominent Houston attorneys are seeking the important post, waging aggressive, statewide campaigns. Neither candidate previously has held elective office, although both have held high positions in government by appointment.

Jim Baker is the Republican nominee, while Mark White carries the Democrat banner.

Baker served as Undersecretary of Commerce in Washington (the No. 2 ranking job in that Cabizet department) in 1975-76 and has been active in GOP affairs in Texas. White is a former Texas secretary of state.

The Reporter-Telegram, after having considered qualifications, views, issues and responsibilities of the office, picks Jim Baker as the man for the job.

Baker, a fourth-generation Texan and a Marine Corps veteran, has 18 years experience in the full-time, active practice of law. The attorney general is Texas' chief legal officer and we believe that Baker's legal talents and practical experience well qualify him for the position. He would represent Texas favorably and well as its attorney general.

Both candidates are considered to be conservative, but it is our opinion that Baker is the more conservative of the two. His opponent reportedly has the endorsement and financial support of the AFL-CIO and other major labor unions.

In terms of issues, we particularly are impressed with Baker's stated views on fighting crime. His proposals in this category include fixed-length sentencing, which would toughen the criminal sentencing process and, at the same time, eliminate punishment disparities and inequities; fighting narcotics through a redirection of state resources to make combating narcotics a top priority; raising minimum standard of parole from one-sixth of a term to one-third; separating the minority of hardcore juvenile offenders from the many who can be helped, and strito deal with career criminals. Baker also is completely familiar with the energy situation, particularly as it affects Texas. He is pledged to fight federal pricing control and allocation authority over intrastate oil and gas; force setting of new natural gas prices; contest oil subsidy payments to Northeast; monitor coal conversion in other states, and support suit against Montana coal tax. He also is pledged to be an active voice for Texas consumers in energy planning and rate matters.

ving to establish a state program

Human needs is another area in which Baker is interested. If elected to office, he has promised to fully endorse all consumer protection laws.

These are the major strong points, along with political independence, stressed by Baker in his campaign. It is to his credit that he offers specific proposals to solve the problems about which he

In view of these and other endorses Jim Baker and recommends his election as attorney general of Texas on Nov. 7.

Hopeful, to say least

Optimisn would be unrealistic in assessing the potential of a meeting of seven Arab nations to bring peace to bloody Lebanon.

Syria, whose troops are engaged in the fighting with Christians in Beirut, is a participant in the Arab Deterrent Force which seeks resolution of the conflict. Syrian forces also made up the bulk of the 30,000man ADT army which "rescued" the Christians from utter defeat almost two years ago.

Much of the difficulty now stems from Christian resentments against the curbs imposed by the Syrians in Christian neighborhoods.

And the Christian alliance with Israel in southern Lebanon distresses Syrians and others.

Nevertheless, ADT leaders, including representatives from Saudi Arabia, Qatar, the United Arab Emirates, Sudan and Kuwait as well as Syria and Lebanon, insist they are "committed" to find a peaceful solution.

Optimism is out, but the Arab pledge does leave room for hope.

ASIA MEMO:

Fear of protectionist trend mounts in Japan

By EDWARD NEILAN Copley News Service

Mounting criticism over Japan's large international payments or trade balance has led to fears in Tokyo that a protectionist trend may be in the offing in the United States and other Western nations.

Stirrings of protectionism and measures by other names which amount to the same thing have been heard in the U.S. Congress as individual members see manufacturing plants in their constituency areas closed by foreign competition

American views on the problem have been given extensive airing. What are Japanese saying about their nation's trade position?

Japan's Ministry of International Trade and Industry (MITI) has just issued its 1978 White Paper on Trade and the document is worth a look by serious students of international ternational payments balance. Because production was stagnant in 1977, the document says, imports were reduced. At the same time, a rise in the dollar value of imports caused a startling increase in the dollar value of exports.

These factors caused the payments balance to hit a record high and the value of the yen soared against the dollar, which was having lack-ofconfidence problems around the

At least one Japanese institution, Fuji Bank Ltd., claim's the rise of the yen against the dollar was due almost entirely to emotional and psychological factors and maintains that the dollar is stronger than it appears today.

MITI says the way out of the problem is for Japan to open its domestic market and to expand imports. Sound familiar? American economists have been saying the same thing for years. Japanese leaders keep saying they will cooperate but performance never quite measures up to promise.

Part three of the MITI trade analysis looks at Japan's economic future, which depends so heavily on imported raw materials. The new alliance with China goes a long way toward solving that problem.

The paper suggests Japan should modernize its domestic distribution system to allow more foreign products into the market (a major non-tariff barrier, Americans say, is the restrictive Japanese distribution system.)

MITI urges Japan to increase international cooperation so as to soften the impact of the coming decade of 'abrupt economic changes.

The paper fails to address one problem about which little is written in the American press: While Japanese industries are riding high along with the yen, there is increasing resentment among the public against the big corporations. Too little of the "miracle" is seeping down to the little guy who, concurrently, is being hit by higher domestic prices.

INSIDE REPORT:

Kemp and Jarvis engage in angry shouting match

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - Angry disagreement between two rival leaders of the tax revolt, Howard Jarvis and Rep. Jack Kemp, exploded into a shouting match Oct. 10 in the congressman's

The immediate cause was Kemp's objection to the way Jarvis handled endorsements of congressional candidates. He refuses to lend his nowtowering prestige to any candidate who does not back his new federal tax-cut proposal.

The broader disagreement involves opposing views on gearing spending reductions to tax reductions. The Jarvis bill limits federal spending to a flat percentage of gross national product; the Kemp-Roth tax-cut scheme ignores spending, claiming that economic growth induced by tax cuts will expand revenue.

Jeffrey Bell, the former Ronald Reagan aide who upset Sen. Clifford Case in the New Jersey Republican primary, supports the Kemp-Roth concept and refuses to accept the inflexible spending restraints of the Jarvis bill. As a result, Jarvis refused to campaign for or even endorse Bell - assistance badly needed in his uphill race against Democrat Bill Bradley, the former basketball star.

Kemp asked Jarvis to reconsider. That set up the Oct. 10 confrontation between two strong personalities: 43year-old Kemp and 76-year-old

Kemp aruged that commitment to wholesale spending cuts would alienate one voting bloc after another. furthermore he contended that the Jarvis spending commitment is "hard," while the linked tax-spending reduction (sponsored by Sen. Sam Nunn of Georgia) just passed by the Senate is "soft." That explains why only a handful of congressmen have endorsed the Jarvis plan, Kemp

Jarvis snapped back that he would support nobody who could not bring himself to slash federal spending. Asked whether Jeff Bell was not incomparably better on the tax-spending issue than Bill Bradley, Jarvis allowed that Bradley was "terrible," but refused to budge beyond agreeing to a future meeting with Bell.

INFLATION BLUES

Behind all the tough White House talk about a Stage II anti-inflation program lies deep forboding that, no matter what President Carter dishes up in the next few weeks, it will not and cannot work.

This has led to quiet second thoughts at high administration levels. Since inflation has become so intractable, both here and in many industrialized democracies, the president should have delayed Stage II and tried a radical new approach: basic studies of all the economic and political factors that are causing runaway inflation and how they fit together.

"We just do not know the root causes of this inflation," one presidential adviser confides. His worry: that unveiling a new Stage II program will not produce any good results and thus lead to even more disillusion among voters rocked by double-digit inflation. Indeed, some presidential aides fear that disillusion over solving inflation has reached such a point in this country that Stage II has already been discounted by many American

A footnote: Supporting this concern was the stunning increase in the last wholesale price index reported: the index was up .9 percent, but its food component roared ahead at 1.7 percent. Neither increase had been expected by government experts.

TRUCKING STRIKE?

Post-Camp David euphoria inside the White House has been limited by the prospect of President Carter's worst domestic crisis within a few months: a national trucking strike.

Mr. Carter's anti-inflation fighters feel the national Teamsters' contract due next March will be the make-orbreak test of the new Stage II wage guidelines. If the Teamsters break the ceiling, the United Auto Workers cannot be expected to obey them. That would set off repercussions among the Steelworkers and other

The president will push all-out against the Teamsters, but the giant union has been totally uncooperative. That points toward a national strike with far worse economic repercussions than the coal or rail stoppages. It would also make prophets out of those administration anti-inflation advisers now having second thoughts about the political wisdom of moving into a second-stage antiinflation program without knowing where it will lead.

Carter inflation program 'very familiar road'

By R. GREGORY NOKES

WASHINGTON (AP) - The country has been down "that very familiar road" before, General Electric Chairman Reginald Jones says of the upcoming Carter anti-inflation program. And he's absolutely right.

There is virtually nothing in the program - which is expected to be unveiled by the president in a nationally televised speech tonight that hasn't been tried before.

Administration sources say Carter will announce guidelines for wages and prices, not unlike the guidelines approach to combatting inflation that was taken by former President John F. Kennedy in 1962.

Inflation was 1.2 percent in the first year of Kennedy's guidelines, and is about 8 percent now, reflecting a steady worsening despite the efforts of five administrations to bring it under control

Some critics of Carter's program worry that he is taking a path inevitably leading to mandatory wage and price controls, even though the president is expected to disavow any intention of using controls.

Carter has tried several approaches to inflation in his 19 months in office, each a little tougher than the last, but inflation has gone from 4.8 percent in 1976 to 6.8 percent last year and an expected 8 percent this year.

Both business and labor leaders wish Carter wouldn't resort to guidelines, even though they recognize he must do something. Some of Carter's closer advisers are among those who doubt the guidelines approach will be any more successful than Carter's previous efforts.

"Something is required by popular demand, but failures of guideposts are an all-too-familiar trend. They might as well forget the whole thing." General Electric's Jones, a leading business spokesman, told reporters the other day.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, labor's top spokesman, criticizes the guidelines approach as certain to work against workers. And privately, he has indicated he would prefer mandatory controls.

Here, in brief, is a summary of the various anti-inflation actions and programs by the last five administrations, starting with Kennedy:

In 1962, following a year in which consumer prices increased only 0.7 percent, concern over potential inflation prompted Kennedy to announce voluntary wage and price guidelines linked to productivity.

In a 1975 analysis of the Kennedy program, Congress' Joint Economic Committee said the guidelines were generally successful in the short run, with inflation of no more than 1.6

But in 1965, with the war on in Vietnam and President Johnson unwilling to raise taxes to pay it or for his "Great Society" programs, budget deficits and prices both rose and inflation became serious for the first time since the Korean war.

Inflation went from 1.9 percent in 1965 to 4.7 percent in 1968. Economists now feel Johnson erred in not raising taxes. The Federal Reserve Board made about the only anti-inflation move, tightening the money supply and raising interest rates over Johnson's objections.

Johnson belatedly recommended a tax increase for 1967 and supported voluntary wage and price standards for business and labor.

Richard M. Nixon took over in 1969 with inflation worsening and he turned to tighter spending and money supply policies. But the approach did not work, and inflation hit 6.1 percent in 1969 and 5.5 percent in 1970.

Finally, on Aug. 15, 1971, Nixon surprised the nation by imposing a 90-day wage and price freeze and then introduced the most elaborate controls program since World War II. It required virtually every union wage hike and big busines price increase to be approved by the new Cost of Living

The program succeeded in holding inflation to 3.4 percent in both 1971 and 1972. But after controls were relaxed in early 1973, prices soared again because of pent-up wage and price pressures and Nixon declared a new 60-day freeze in June, this time on prices alone.

Another controls program followed as inflation for the year reached 8.8 percent, a post-war high. But in 1974, the administration decided controls were not working and lifted them

With controls removed, prices and wages soared, in part the result of the four-fold increase in world oil prices. Inflation for all of 1974 was 12.2 percent, still the post-war record.

Nixon's approach then was to slow the economy by raising interest rates and tightening the money supply. The the expectation was that this would remove upward pressures on both wages and prices.

However, the economic slowdown was not successful and the economy sank into the 1974-75 recession, which was the longest and deepest since World War II.

Gerald R. Ford took office in 1974 and initiated the much scoffed-at Whip Inflation Now, or "WIN" program. It was entirely voluntary.

Inflation did ease in the aftermath of the record 1974 price burst, dropping to 7 percent in 1975 and 4.8 percent in 1976. Economists now agree that the recession was the chief factor in slowing inflation, not the WIN program, which was soon abandoned. And inflation of 4.8 percent was still regarded as a serious prob-

Although Carter took office in 1977 declaring he wanted standby authority to impose mandatory wage and price controls, he soon decided he didn't need such authority, and he doesn't now have it.

His approach from the outset was to encourage voluntary wage and price restraints by business and labor. He augmented this with a system of flexible guidelines earlier this year.

What will come next if the new program doesn't work will be determined by what happens to inflation during the next year or so. Carter inflation adviser Barry Bosworth said last week that if the new program fails, the only remaining alternatives "are the cruel choices of a severe recession or mandatory wage and price controls."

But those too have been tried be-

"It's been a problem ever since we've been in existence, and I don't see it getting better."

However, prevention of this crime is possible.

Such is the assessment of the cattle theft-illegal slaughter problem statewide, according to Don C. King, secretary-general manager of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association (TSCRA).

He said cattle theft and illegal slaughter have become a multi-billiondollar problem, and the investigation and recovery of this property remains an important function of the TSCRA.

Ranchers in the Permian Basin and throughout the Southwest face livestock rustlers who are better organized and use more scientific equipment than any of their counterparts of a century ago when the TSCRA was formed, said officials.

Both automotive advances and improved highways have made such thieves more difficult to capture.

"Experience has taught us that rustlers are active this very day," said on TSCRA official. "They can steal your cattle this morning and have them at a market miles from your ranch before the auctioneer reaches the block

In addition to cattle, ranch equipment, tack and even horses are targets of such thieves, said the official.

King pointed out TSCRA inspectors "generally have the best idea of anyone who may be trafficking in illegal cattle. Many times you see these inspectors go back into a shady character's pen of cattle to look them over twice to be sure."

He explained each inspector fills out a standard form with the name of each cattle shipper, his address and motor vehicle license number. Inspectors also record each animal's color markings, sex, approximate age, ear marks, brands and other identification King said such details are compiled on more than seven million head of livestock annually. Once a TSCRA receives word of a rancher's loss he gathers all the facts, enlists the aid of local authorities and submits information to the Fort Worth TSCRA office.

Once thieves dispose of stolen cattle, the information gathered by the brand inspector at the sale site matches the description of missing cattle given the Fort Worth office by the field inspector.

The description is matched by TSCRA employees with the information gathered, and two-thirds of a cattle theft case becomes solved.

Armed with the shipper's name, vheicle license number, address and market where the rustled stock were sold, inspectors have been known to cover several states during a major investigation, said officials.

They said such large-scale investigations have involved the cooperation of numerous law enforcement agen-

King said a major method ranchers can take in preventing livestock theft is by joining the TSCRA.
"By joining the TSCRA you buy theft protection," he said. Inspectors for the group even supervise brand inspectors in their dis-counties. These inspectors visit ranches at shipping time, when requested, to make sure each animal carries that ranch's brand. King said many disputes over ownership have been stopped by this special service.

Officials said branding, fencing and TSCRA membership all can help prevent cattle theft.

However, they cautioned, as long as the cattle industry survives, there will be cattle rustlers.

Girls reach puberty sooner

DENVER (AP) - The average age at which puberty begins for American girls is dropping about six months every decade, and one-third of all females now reach that stage at or before 11 years of age, says a Planned Parenthood official here.

The early onset of puberty has created new pressures for these young women, said Sheri Tepper, director of Rocky Mountain Planned Parenthood.

One hundred years ago, the average female reached puberty between the ages of 15 to 17, with marriage usually following closely after, Mrs.

'Sex has always occurred within a year or two after puberty in every society," said Mrs. Tepper. "But marriage at the age of 13 is utterly irrational - for psychological, economic, social and other reasons.

The average age for marriage in the United States is now about 21, "meaning the girls now wait a dec-ade, instead of a couple of years, before marrying," Mrs. Tepper said.

Judge awards one of history's largest settlements to Texan

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Sixteenyear-old Will Coates wheeled his paralyzed father into court, and a judge made it official - John Coates was entitled to $6.8 million.

Ten months ago, Will's rifle went off when he released the safety catch, sending a .243-caliber bullet ripping through his father's spine and leaving him paralyzed from the waist down.

"Nothing can compensate me for what I've lost," said the elder Coates Monday shortly before a judge for-malized his $6.8 million damage settlement with Remington Arms Co.

It was one of the largest lump-sum personal injury awards in history.

Last week, a teen-ager who was paralyzed after a dose of cancer-fighting radiation destroyed her spinal cord was awarded $7.6 million in malpractice damages.

State District Judge Tom Blackwell entered judgment in a closed-door session requested by Remington's lawyer, Robert McKissack.

Coates, a 42-year-old Austin attorney, was paralyzed when a Mohawk 600 rifle held by his son discharged during a deer hunting trip Dec. 11.

Coates' lawyer, Joe Jamail, said the high-powered rifle fired when Will pushed the safety to the "off" position, although the teen-ager had not pulled the trigger. The bullet went into his father's back, tearing through his spine, kidneys and other organs, Jamail said. The elder Coates was sitting in the front seat of a car when the rifle went off.

Vance to confer with Carter

One official said only "a fistful" of issues remain, but Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said, "Everybody is going in circles.

Two days of Kremlin negotiations involving Vance, Gromyko and, in the final round; President Leonid I. Brezhnev, failed to resolve the stumbling blocks and wrap up a new treaty to limit strategic weapons.

U.S. officials would not say when or where another top-level meeting might be held. Other informed sources suggested the impasse could be broken through "a political decision" by the sides, without another nuts-and-bolts negotiating session.

Vance cabled a detailed report to Carter at the close of the talks Monday night, and his spokesman, Hodding Carter, told American reporters, "Any question about what happens next awaits the secretary's report to the president." In separate statements at the conclusion of the talks, both sides said they had been "useful and constructive.

Gromyko conceded, "We are a little closer than we were in Washington,' at the last meeting, and Vance responded, "I would agree with him." The Soviet news agency Tass said both sides "stated the resolve to bend the early signing of an agreement." It also reported that Brezhnev had chided Vance about "negative moments in Soviet-American relations of recent times.'

The two countries have been through a period of strain as the United States criticized Soviet treatment of dissidents and its policies in

However, Vance's spokesman said, "The secretary felt the talks to be cordial and friendly."

Heading into Monday's round, the main issues to be resolved were: -The kind of limitations to be imposed on the U.S. cruise missile. -Details of restricting the types and sizes of new U.S. and Soviet missiles during the span of the treaty until 1985.

-The timing for retiring about 250 Soviet bombers and missiles to reach the tentative ceiling of 2,250 weap-

-Details of the way the Soviets will agree to limit deployment and refuel-ing of their Backfire bomber.

American group abandons attempt to climb mountain

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — An American expedition has abandoned its attempt to climb the 24,787-foot mountain Annapurna III after reaching a height of 21,600 feet last Thursday, Nepal's ministry of tourism said today.

Expedition leader Steve Van Meter, 23, of Santa Barbara, Calif., told the ministry that after reaching 21,600 feet, his fellow climbers "chose not to go on the last section" of the mountain's west ridge.

He identified the other members of the group as Greg Sapp, 22, of New York City, Ed Connor, 36, of San Diego, Calif., and Werner Landry, 32, also of San Diego

"The summit was a long distance from there. They were extremely exhausted," Van Meter said. The men had been "climbing since 7 p.m. the night before...and 3,200 feet possible frostbite," he added. Van Meter said his group did not employ a Sherpa guide.

On Oct. 15, two American women from a 10-member expedition reached the summit of the highest in the numbered group of separate peaks, the 26,502-foot Annapurna I. Irene Miller, 42, of Palo Alto, Calif., and Vera Komarkova, 35, of Boulder, Colo., were the first women and the first Americans to conquer the mountain.

U.S. Rep. Barbara Jordan

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Barbara Jordan says it didn't take her long to conquer her awe of the presidency but she had other adjustments to make.

"I got invited to the White House more often during the Carter administration," the Texas Democrat told a crowd at Eckerd College Monday night. "But Mr. Carter doesn't serve hard liquor. When you were born in bourbon and branch water country, you have a little difficulty adjusting to those fine wines."

At a news conference earlier,
Ms. Jordan said she decided not to run for re-election this year because the challenge was gone and she felt she'd accomplished her goals during six years in Congress.

"I felt it would be good for my constituency if I changed directions and did something else," she said. She plans to teach intergovernmental relations and political values and ethics at the University of Texas.

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Ailing Tunisian President Habib Bourquiba has flown to Paris for what an official communique described as "further medical examinations."

Bourguiba, 75, president for life, has been suffering from a form of arterio-sclerosis. His activities as head of state have been reduced to little more than weekly meetings with Prime Minister Hedi Nouira, officials say.

Crime prevention must include active citizenry

Successful crime prevention must involve both law enforcement officers and actively concerned citizens.

That's the theme Darrell Joy, director of the Texas Crime Prevention Institute in San Marcos, hammered home during the kick-off luncheon of National Crime Prevention Week Monday.

Joy spoke before a group of Downtown Kiwanis Club members and guests at the Midland Hilton.

All this week, the Citizens Crime Prevention Committee is urging residents to attend a variety of anticrime seminars at different locations.

One of the events takes place at 7:30 p.m. today, when Teen Challenge Director Chuck Redger will explain this youth-oriented crime prevention program at Teen Challenge Center, 201 N. "C" Street.

A film about the nationwide program also will be shown. Interested citizens may attend, he said.

"People must make crime prevention their own number one priority," Joy told club members. "Now law enforcement officers are calling upon citizens to help them in the fight against crime."

He recalled that Will Rogers, the famed cowboy philospher, once said, "To solve crime let the federal government legalize it. Then they'll tax it out of existence."

Joy isn't sure that's a sure-fire solution. However, the former Odessa Police Department officer said people should know what crime is and how it affects them.

Crime, he said, involves more than common thefts and burglaries. Such sophisticated methods such as computer crime run into the millions of dollars annually, Joy explained.

Embezzlement is another crime he puts into the new areas which lawmen must investigate today.

Meanwhile, officers must spend much of their time contending with such widespread problems as juvenile delinquency and drunkeness, according to Joy.

"All of us realize these are prob-

"All of us realize these are problems facing law enforcement. However, law enforcement is asking you as citizens of your communities to help out in the fight against crime.

"You're going to have to ask youself what crime is and then get involved because it affects everyone." He said crime "is everyone's problem. Each American citizen is a victim of crime.

"If it's your neighbor's house that is broken into, you're still a victim.

broken into, you're still a victim, because when a crime is committed against another person, it's also a crime against society."

rime against society."

Because juvenile crime accounts for 50 percent of all crimes reported to law enforcement, Joy said, "something is wrong."

In addition, he said, some experts believe 50 percent of all crime is not reported. "If that is true, we face a much bigger problem than at present," said Joy.

The causes of crime, he said, include environment, family situation, personal problems, society models, peer group pressure and social complications such as unemployment and opportunity.

Joy said he likes to think West Texas has the caliber of people who do not allow crime. But, he warned the group, unless problems are fought by both lawmen and citizens here now, the area will encounter the same crisis situations cities such as New York, Chicago and Los Angeles face today.

"This could happen in West Texas by the late 1980s or early 1990s," he warned.

Joy said crime major crime causes include the "haves" versus the "have-nots" problem, families splitting apart and society models which require closer scrutiny.

He described the cost of crime as "outrageous. Not merely in dollars and cents, but in loss of lives, higher taxes and higher insurance premiums."

He said there has been an "erosion of the American morals and ideals and a loss of confidence in our government, free enterprise system and criminal justice system."

Joy said crime prevention first requires "a strong amount of active participation from those citizens willing to give their time and energy to this cause."

He described citizens as the "fourth need in the fight against crime." Others, he said, include law enforcement, courts and corrections.

"The time has come when paying others to prevent crime is not enough," concluded Joy. "People must participate also. It can work, through your time, energy and efforts."

Hunting accident leads to Austin men's deaths

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Stepbrothers Bruce Garth and Brett Henry left in "good spirits" for an afternoon of trapshooting. Hours later they were dead, victims of an accidental shooting and subsequent suicide, authorities say.

The Travis County medical examiner ruled Sunday that Garth, 23, put a shotgun in his mouth and pulled the trigger after 17-year-old Henry was accidentally killed with a .22-caliber rifle.

"It's a simple matter — one boy slipped with a loaded gun. The other boy just couldn't face up to it," said Garth's father, Emory. Funeral services for the step-brothers were scheduled for Garth's body Saturday evening slumped in a car on a wooded tract popular with target shooters. Deputies found his hands still clutching the shotgun, said investigator John Crowe.

The medical examiner's officer notified the family, who said

A passerby discovered

Garth had left with his younger stepbrother. Deputies returned to the scene and found Henry's body several hours later. He had been shot once in the head.

"We found the .22 in the back seat of the car. We assume after the accident, the older boy went to the car and shot himself," Crowe said.

Either Henry accidentally shot himself or was accidentally shot by Garth, added Crowe.

Clip and cash.

That's the motto for millions of Americans who are clipping, collecting and cashing in coupons in an effort to cut grocery bills.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that four out of five families - 80 percent - use coupons today. In 1970, a survey by the Nielsen Clearing House division of the A.C. Nielsen Corp. showed 65 percent of all households using coupons.

Manufacturers alone are expected to issue almost 70 billion coupons this year, according to the USDA, up from 62 billion in 1977 and 46 billion in 1976. Those figures do not include the millions of coupons issued by retailers, usually in newspaper advertise-

Pittsburgh Steelers slip on big oil slick

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, who looked on the bright side after their first loss this season, were also on the bruised side after their first run-in with Earl

"I hate to lose, but something good may come out of this," lixebacker Jack Lambert said Monday night after Campbell smashed for three touchdowns to lead the Houston Oilers to a 24-17 victory over Pittsburgh. 'There's some possibility that maybe we thought we couldn't be beat. Now we know we can." Lambert added. "That undefeated stuff is over

The game capped a weekend of upsets around the National Football League, and the Steelers lost the distinction of being the last NFL team with a perfect record. Now they're 7-1 with the tougher half of their schedule ahead.

The Oilers, who withstood two deep Steeler thrusts in the frantic final four minutes, climbed to 5-3 and now trail Pittsburgh by two games in the American Conference Central Divi-

"We'll work hard and hope for the best," said Campbell, who carried 21 times for 89 yards.

His three touchdowns came on short bursts against a Pittsburgh defense that had allowed a total of three rushing touchdowns in seven prior

The Steelers had also allowed just 77 points through seven games, fewest in the NFL.

"They ran on us like no other team has this year, and a lot of the credit goes to Mr. Campbell," said Lam-

"He runs very hard. One time down toward the goal line, I was standing straight up trying to get rid of a guard. He hit me and ran right over top of me.

"He's a No. 1 draft choice. You can see that.

After the win, the 225-pound Campbell rubbed baby lotion over his massive legs and spread credit around the offensive line could do a great job of blocking and they just did it again tonight," said Campbell.

'And we have another running back in there name Ron Carpenter who did a good job of blocking for

How did Campbell rate his own "I don't rate myself. I just go out and do my best, and that's what I did tonight," he said. Houston also benefited from the third-down passing of Dan Pastorini, who hit 13 of 19 tries and wasn't Pastorini and running back Ron Coleman set the tone early on a 23yard third-down pass that kept alive an 80-yard drive for a touchdown. It came on Campbell's 1-yard run early in the second quarter.

A series later, Terry Bradshaw and Lynn Swann connected on the first of two Steeler TD passes, a 25-yarder. After a fumble recovery, Roy Gerela kicked a 30-yard field goal to give countered with a 39-yard Houston field goal six seconds before halftime to make it 10-10.

the Steelers the lead. Toni Fritsch

In the third period, Pastorini hit a pair of third-down passes on a 70-yard drive that ended when Campbell powered 3 yards.

Early in the last quarter, Pastorini found tight enz Mike Barber for 26 yards on third down. Campbell ended the 80-yard march with an 1-yard ram and the Oilers led 24-10.

Then Bradshaw went to work. After having a 23-yard touchdown pass to Swann nullied by holding, he hit Swann with a 6-yard scoring toss with

After a successful onsides kick, Pittsburgh drove to the Houston 15yard line before a Bradshaw pass was intercepted by safety Kurt Knoff.

After an Oiler punt, Bradshaw led a march to the Oilers' 14-yard line, but it ended when he threw a fourth-down incompletion with 10 seconds left. "Games like this make you old in a hurry," said Oiler Coach Bum Phil-

Despite the victory, Phillips suggested that his team realistically is still mainly in contention for a wildcard playoff spot.

"I said it before and I'm not going to back down. I don't think there's anybody who can catch Pittsburgh with the kind of team they've got," said Phillips.

Oiler players took issue with that. "If there's anybody who can catch them, it will be us," said Pastorini. "Anything can happen. Anything," said linebacker Robert Bra-

The Steelers agreed wholeheartedly with that notion.

"There's no way we can take anything for granted," said Bradshaw. "Houston could just as easily have been 7-0 going into this game. They're a fine football team.'

"I hope this games works as a springboard for our team," said Coach Chuck Noll.

"We have to forget this game, go out, and win the rest of them," said defensive lineman John Banaszak. "If we do that, ain't nobody going to

Dorsett's crime dominated game

Almost obscured in the crime and punishment of Tony Dorsett, a misdemeanor that would have really rated little more than a footnote if it happened to someone less prominent, was the fact that the Cowboys emerged victorious in a very tough game against the Philadelphia Eagles on a Sunday when the world around them was crumbling.

While the Cause Celebre dominated Landry's post-game press conference simply because Tony, no matter what he does in Dallas is big news and reporters doggedly pursue every facet of an incident like Sunday's benching, the Dallas coach probably put the matter in the perspective it deserved when he noted during his statements, "When he starts again is

As far as Landry is concerned, rules are rules and if a player breaks them, there are penalties. They are the same for Dorsett as any other player and as far as Landry is concerned, he holds "no grudges."

One Cowboys' official noted, "Tom showed me something today. On some clubs, Tony would have started. On others he wouldn't have played, but it would have been because of a sprained ankle.'

HOWEVER, OF more concern to Landry was the Cowboys' performance against a Philadelphia team that refused to fold in the face of two second period Dallas touchdowns and a 14-0 halftime deficit.

"We ran the ball better in the first half than we have in recent games," Landry reviewed, "But in the second half we couldn't get anything going. It may have been our offense or it may have been that the Eagles had something to do with it defensively.'

Landry gave the Dallas defense, even without tackle Harvey Martin, who had been ailing all week and had to give it up after the first series, plus grades and feels it "has played better each week since the Redskins

The specialty team was introduced prior to the game instead of the offense or defense and Landry observed, "We try to do it at least once a year and, yes, I think it may have been one reason they played so well."

Although the Cowboys are "solid and hard working", he added, "We're still not making as many good plays offensively as we should or I would LANDRY POINTED out that punter Danny White, performing on the punting specialty team, hit the ball well, but was disappointed he wasn't cutting the ball out of bounds.

Even so, White's punting was a factor in the Cowboys' win Sunday. Late in the first period, just when the Eagles had Dallas right where they wanted them, backed up inside the 20, White boomed out a 51-yarder to rock the Eagles back to their own 30. Three plays later defensive back Mark

Washington recovered a Wilbert Montgomery fumble that set in motion a seven-play, 46-yard ice-breakportant one was Washington, a result

"No, it's not a surprise to me that Washington has lost two. It happens to a team that is up there and is not expected to be. They stop making the big plays. But they'll be back."

LANDRY SAID the Eagles put the pressure on quarterback Roger Staubach by dropping eight men back for pass coverage at times. He didn't say whether he thought the Eagles would have risked it if Dorsett had been yards and dissatisfied with the twotouchdown production for the day. "We moved the ball offensively, but we were sporadic. We got inside the 20 four times, but didn't get any not far away, however, and today we didn't make the mistakes and get the penalties that have been stopping

On the inevitable Dorsett question, Staubach commented, "I don't think to wait and see. He's a fine guy. He he's supposed to go on time."

The Cowboys will barely have time to catch their breath before the Minnesota game Thursday night, a challenge Staubach doesn't feel the Cowboys will have any trouble adjusting to mentally, "but physically it will be tough. The injury situation is a big bad...while winning...Roger snapped- no, that's not true, Roger never snaps- "We're playing a lot of fine football teams—a lot of teams who want to just knock our tails off. Maybe it's time to stop bad-mouthing the opposition and start giving them ferent way while reflecting the feeling in the locker room after the game, "This is the best Eagles' team we've played since I've been with the Cow-

some credit."

While Dallas was winning, the rest of the NFL favorites were falling on their faces, but as far as Landry and the Cowboys were concerned the imthat let Dallas slip back into a first place tie in the NFC East Division.

Optimistically, he added, "We're

As for the constant criticism that the Cowboys continue to look

Guidry heads All-Star team

NEW YORK (AP) - Ron Guidry, the good left arm of the New York Yankees, is among three players from the world champions selected to The Associated Press 1978 American League All-Star baseball team.

Second baseman Willie Randolph and third baseman Graig Nettles were the other Yankees chosen for this year's team in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

THE YANKEES were the only club with three representatives. Boston and Milwaukee each had two players outfielder Jim Rice and catcher Carlton Fisk representing the Red Sox and shortstop Robin Yount and outfielder Larry Hisle the Brewers.

The remainder of the AL team, announced today, included first baseman Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins, outfielder Al Oliver of the Texas Rangers, designated hitter Rusty Staub of the Detroit Tigers and Baltimore's Jim Palmer as the righthanded pitcher

The National League All-Stars, announced Monday, included first baseman Steve Garvey and second baseman Dave Lopes of Los Angeles; third baseman Pete Rose and outfielder George Foster of Cincinnati; outfielder Jack Clark and left-handed pitcher Vida Blue of San Francisco; shortstop Larry Bowa of Philadelphia; outfielder Dave Parker of Pittsburgh: catcher Ted Simmons of St. Louis and right-handed pitcher Gaylord Perry of San Diego.

GUIDRY, & 25-game winner with a league-leading 1.74 earned run average and nine shutouts, was an obvious choice for the left-handed pitcher's spot, and the voters accordingly made him a unanimous choice.

Randolph, a .279 hitter with 36 stolen bases and one of the slickest gloves in baseball, won easily over Kansas City's Frank White, 143-57. Nettles, who hit 27 homers and drove in 93 runs, was a closer winner over Kansas City's George Brett. Nettles collected 173 votes to 140 for the Royals' third baseman.

Rice, a .315 hitter who was the league leader in homers with 46 and RBI with 139, was the top vote-getter in the outfield with 283. Hisle, who hit 34 homers while driving in 115 runs, received 186 votes. Oliver, who hit .324 and had 89 RBI, won the final outfield spot ahead of Detroit's Ron LeFlore, Carew, the league's leading batter with a .333 average, was a landslide winner at first base over Cleveland's Andre Thornton, 286-20. YOUNT TOOK the shortstop position without much trouble over Boston's Rick Burleson, 173-92. Yount had his best season for the Brewers with a .293 batting average and 71 RBI. Fisk, a .284 hitter with 20 homers and 88 RBI, beat New York's Thurman Munson for the catching position, 160-122.

Staub, with 24 homers and 121 RBI, won the DH position by 154-74 over Rice, who split his duties between the outfield and the DH spot. Palmer had a 21-12 record and a 2.46 ERA, gaining the right-handed pitcher's slot over Boston's Dennis Eckersley.

Rob Carpenter of the Houston Oilers is pulled down by John Banaszak of the Pittsburgh Steelers for a loss on the play after the screen pass failed to

Fred Akers praises SWC

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Texas Coach Fred Akers, with a container of coffee in one hand and a cigarette in the other, was conducting his weekly post-game meeting with the media following the Longhorns' 28-21 victory over Arkansas Saturday when the subject of the Southwest Conference race came up.

"This conference right now is really a strong, strong conference," Akers said. "There's a bunch of teams that can put knots all over your head. I've said many times I think the Southwest Conference is the toughest conference in the country and has been for the last three years.'

Asked if by "toughest" Akers meant it was the best-balanced conference ... or just the best. He thought for a moment and decided to take the "Okay," he said, "it's the best.

There are more teams in this conference that can compete on a national level than in any conference in the country right now. The Big Eight was like that until the last three years."

For those angry fans in other parts of the country reaching for pencil and paper, Austin's zip code is 78712.

It was an emotional weekend for Akers, a 40-year-old native of Blytheville, Ark., and a graduate of the University of Arkansas, where he was a placekicker and defensive back

"I think you should go to your state university," Akers said. "You should have pride in your state university. For that reason, I'm proud of Arkansas and I have a lot of feeling for Arkansas. It's my state — I was born and raised there - and my state university. But now I'm here at Texas and my only concern is to beat

"When the ball is kicked off, I put out of my mind that I ever went there. They become just an opponent

As a high school senior, Akers visited Louisiana State - "It was the first time I'd ever been on a plane and I wasn't sure I'd ever get on another" Tennessee, Auburn and Mississippi and almost became a member of the first class at the Air Force Academy.

"I guess I would have gone there except for Jack Mitchell," he said, alluding to Arkansas' coach from 1955-57. "He came down and reminded me about Arkansas. Most of my contact had been with Bowden Wyatt (Arkansas' coach from 1953-54), but he went to Tennessee.

Akers said he hears from "quite a few people" back home the week of the Texas-Arkansas game. "Some want tickets, some just want to call you a traitor again and some want tosay they're proud of you - an Arkansas boy doing what you're doing.

"I tell 'em all, 'Thank you, I appreciate your support.' Most of the letters and phone calls from Arkansas are very complimentary."

Facing Arkansas, Akers said, was "a special thing" the first time as an assistant coach and the first time as a head coach. "After that, they're just a quality opponent," he said.

As a head coach, Akers is 2-0 against Arkansas, the only defeats his alma mater has suffered in two years under Coach Lou Holtz. Akers was asked if he intended to write a letter complaining that Arkansas hasn't beaten Texas since 1971.

"No," he said with a laugh, "I can spare 'em that.'

Wow, look who's on top of 3-AAA standings

By STEVE O'BRIEN R-T Sports Writer

Who's that perched up there atop the District 3-AAA standings this week? Well, Snyder not unexpectedly has a share of the top spot, but who is that up there with them - San Angelo Lakeview maybe, or is it Brown-

No, believe it or not, that's the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes sitting pretty as you please with a 1-0 district mark and a share of first place after the first week of district action. What, you say, aren't they the guys who have only a 20-man varsity? Aren't they the same Golden Tornadoes who had scored only 17 points in six games, 14 of them coming in their only win? The top was supposed to be just a place from which to start moving down for these guys.

But, stranger things have happened, and while this group won't likely be compared by Lamesa fans to powerhouse Golden Tor teams of the past, they are on top, for a while anyway, and enjoying every minute

THE TORS ASSUMED their lofty position by disposing of Sweetwater, not exactly a powerhouse opponent but a district foe nonetheless, 12-0, Friday night with running back James Goolsby scoring all the points with a touchdown and two field goals.

Snyder, 4-2 on the year, is also atop the District 3-AAA standings after coming out on top in the first week of league play. Snyder blasted San Angelo Lakeview, the pre-season district favorite, 25-6.

Lamesa, with an open date next week, can relish their standing for at least another week. After that, the dream may come crumbling apart rather rapidly with a Nov. 3 date with Snyder next on the list.

STANTON AND PLAINS both headed into their District 5-A matchup needing a win to keep pace with perennial league champ Seagraves. As things would have it, neither was able to accomplish that goal.

The Buffaloes and Plains fought to a 10-10 tie to give them identical 3-2-1 season and 2-0-1 district marks. Seagraves, meanwhile, was scoring a decisive 47-0 win over winless Anton to push their mark to 6-0 and 3-0.

With 3:37 left in the Stanton-Plains contest and Stanton holding a 7-3 lead, Plains quarterback Wayne Davis connected with Jimmy Curtis for a 28-yard touchdown pass. Plains elected to tie things up with a David Huerta kick rather than risk the two-

McCamey had the dubious honor of opening their District 6-A season with the Iraan Braves, the number six ranked team in the state. In five previous outings, Iraan had given up only a single field goal while averaging 38 points per game themselves.

But, the Badgers refused to roll over and play dead for Iraan, and with plenty of help from the kicking game they were able to keep the score to a respectable 25-14 Iraan win.

IRAAN KEPT McCamey in the hole most of the night - in fact, the Badgers were able to move past their own 25 only once in the second half. But, a blocked punt for a touchdown by Tommy Trowbridge and an 80-yard kickoff return by Billy Ray Terry provided McCamey with enough

Rankin warmed up for their plunge into the District 6-A race next week with a convincing 28-0 shutout of Wink. The Red Devils got yet another superhuman effort from fullback Richard Barrett in picking up their fifth win of the season against one loss. Barrett, whose worst rushing outing this year was 112 yards, got a season-high 215 Friday night in 28 carries. That gives him 956 yards on 164 carries through six games this year. The workhorse runner scored three touchdowns in the Wink contest, bringing his total to 15 six-pointers.

TAILBACK DEWAYNE Draper scored a pair of touchdowns to lead the Crane Golden Cranes to their fifth win of the season, a 22-14 nod over Van Horn. Draper had a 23-yard scamper for one touchdown and a one-yard dive for the other.

While the Andrews Mustangs were taking the week off, Fort Stockton and Pecos opened District 2-AAA play with a bang. Fort Stockton, ranked fourth in the latest AP poll, ran their season record to 7-0 by blanking Monahans 24-0 in the district opener. Fort Stockton has yet to be scored upon this season. Pecos kept stride with the Panthers by stopping Odessa Ector, 14-0. Pecos, ranked sixth in the state, is also unbeaten and untied through seven games.

Pardee ponders Redskin changes

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite two consecutive losses, the Washington Redskins aren't switching quarterbacks - at least not yet.

"I haven't given it much thought, yet," said Coach Jack Pardee. "The way I look at it, things haven't changed much since the beginning of the year. I continue to think of them both as No. 1 although Joe has done nearly all the playing.

The question arose Monday after Joe Theismann had a horrible game Sunday in the Redskins' 17-6 loss to the New York Giants, completing only 15 of 38 pass attempts with three interceptions and overthrowing several open receivers. Meanwhile, veteran Bill Kilmer sat on the bench.

Theismann shouldered all the blame for the loss, but said he would be ready for the San Francisco 49ers Sunday at RFK Stadium.

"It was me not getting my job done," said Theismann, "Forty-four men did their job and I didn't. I'm a much better quarterbck than I played. If there is a slump in football, I've had mine the past couple of weeks."

In preparing for San Francisco, however, Pardee is expected to take several facts into account:

-The Redskins have scored only three touchdowns on offense in the last four weeks. -Theismann, after a brilliant start, has completed only 40 percent of his passes in his last three games, been sacked six times and thrown seven interceptions against teams that had injury riddled secondaries. -Over the last two weeks, the Redskins have had 57 plays inside the opposition's 35-yard line, but have collected only one touchdown and three field goals. The Redskins' loss dropped them into a tie with the Dallas Cowboys, both now 6-2, for first place in the National Football Conference East.

New York is only one game back at 5-3, followed by Philadelphia, 4-4... "I'm going to look at us very closely - what we can do, what it will take for us to have more success," said Pardee. "I'm going to take a close look at the 49ers to see their strength and where our matchups are at any position, quarterback or any other. I will do what it takes this week to get a

"A gunshot," the speaker said. "Nothing comes in one window and goes out the other.'

It was not a gunshot, police said later. Rocks dropped from a bridge had struck the bus as it rolled along the Washington-Baltimore Parkway carrying the Broncos home after their 7-6 loss to Baltimore Sunday. But no one on the bus knew exactly what had happened.

Denver Post columnist Steve Cameron described the atmosphere. "Dammit, turn those lights off," a voice ordered.

Another voice from the front of the bus ordered "Get down. Everybody get down.' That warning was not necessary.

Defensive end Lyle Alzado, sitting by the broken window on the front left of the bus, said he felt something brush his hair.

Bronco owner Allan Phipps, sitting with his wife behind the bus driver, felt wetness on his right leg. He discovered a pool of blood and realized he had been cut.

Defensive back Charlie West said he heard two noises. He said he thought something also hit the roof of the team bus.

Even though players on the bus believed it was impossible for a rock to go through both sides of the bus, it turned out the smashed glass was caused by rocks instead of bullets.

One large rock was found on the bus. It apparently had smashed through the front window opposite the driver. Driver Joe Engle said it happened as the bus was going under a

Texas player missing

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Coach Fred Akers of Texas said Monday sub split receiver Michael Lockett apparently has shown no interest in returning to the football team.

Lockett quit the squad after Texas' 26-16 victory over North Texas State on Oct. 14, citing to Austin American-Statesman reporter Kirk Bohls a lack of 'equal opportunity to perform" and several "humiliating" instances with an unnamed member of the coaching staff.

Lockett said the coach accused him of being a drug addict, suggested that he see a psychiatrist and referred to him as "Kunta Kinte" during a team

Asked Monday at his weekly news conference if Lockett might return, Akers said, "I don't know that he has expressed any real interest" in rejoining the team. "He created more tension than any thirdteamer I've ever heard of." Lockett was a star at Fort Worth Eastern Hills

High School but had been dropped to third team at Texas, behind Ronnie Miksch and Les Koenning. 'Mike was capable of being a fine receiver," Akers said last week after Lockett had failed to show up for practice. "He wasn't, but he was capable."

Lockett had caught only one pass for eight yards.

Chaps win three titles

SAN ANGELO - The Midland College tennis team had a field day Sunday in the San Angelo Open Tennis Tournament, winning three of the four titles available

Gearldine Sayers captured the women's singles title with an easy 6-1, 6-1 victory over Holly Harris of Brownwood and then teamed with Kathy Boyell for a 6-1, 6-1 win over Freda Barriga and Sandra Actchinson of NMJC to advance to the finals against Midland College teammates Karen Young and Debbie Smith, who had disposed of the Midland College duo of Leslie Miller and Mary Jane Spencer, 7-5, 7-6, in the other women's doubles semifinal match.

Since the two teams in the women's doubles finals are from MC, that final match will be played sometime this week to determine the winner, but it is for sure that the locals will have the Miller lost to Sayers in the semifinals while Bovell lost to Harris in the other Women's singles matches.

Steve Wyatt and Des Ward won a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Tom Easterling and Bill Daniel in the men's doubles finals for the other title. Easterling and Daniel had kept this final match from being another all-MC matchup by defeating Jose Rivera and Scott Dunn in the semifinals.

The only title to get away was in the men's singles. Rivera lost a 6-4, 6-3 decision to Kimm Ketelson of San Angelo in the finals. Ketelson had defeated Rivera by the same score last week in the Midland Open tournament. The two players will also be in the same meet again this week-

MC's Dunn also reached the semifinals of the singles, but lost to Rivera,

"We played very good tennis over the weekend," MC Coach Brian Gilley two weeks.

Dent is the quiet Yankee

NEW YORK (AP) - Bucky Dent may be the only member of the world champion New York Yankees with an identity crisis.

"I try to keep my mouth shut and go out and play the game of baseball," explained the veteran shortstop, named the most valuable player in the 1978 World Series.

In the soap opera atmosphere of the Yankees, where controversy is king, that approach is extremely unusual. And even Dent admits that the policy is sometimes difficult to follow.

'Sometimes, when that other stuff is going on, you think to yourself, 'When is this gonna stop?' But I've learned it's better to keep my mouth shut.

At the same time, Dent keeps his glove open. Considered one of the American League's top defensive shortstops, Bucky lives at the bottom of the Yankees' batting order, carrying a bat only because baseball requires it. He is the No. 9 hitter in a nine-man lineup, a suitable spot for a career .255 hitter. "That's where I belong," he said.

Herzog takes gamble by firing Charley Lau

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Whitey Herzog says he took a risk by firing Charley Lau, the popular batting coach of the Kansas City Royals.

"It's very difficult for a manager to sign a one-year contract and fire a popular coach," the Royals skipper said Monday in a news conference. "I stuck my neck out and I believe everything will work out." Herzog indicated Lau's status was one thing he needed to get resolved before agreeing to another one-year contract with the Royals, which he signed last last week after much hesi-

"I played with Charley in 1961, so he's a personal friend of mine," Herzog said. "I still feel he is a personal friend of mine. I just feel that 16 guys on the same ball club can't stand in the same place in the batter's box, hold the bat the same way and hit

Lau, who is reportedly close to signing a contract with the New York Yankees, stressed a philosophy of hitting line drives to all fields and did not emphasize home runs.

"I'm not home run crazy," Herzog said. "I know we've got a big ball park, but I want our players to swing hard and get the ball to the outfield. I don't want to see those dribblers to second base all the time.

Herzog said Lau had done a tremendous job with Royals' players George Brett and Hal McRae, but added, "I do think there are other people on the ball club who could do better. My philosophy is that some people have to crowd the plate and some have to stand in the middle of the box. Not everybody can stand away from the plate."

> Keith Diepraam wins net title

HOUSTON -Keith Diepraam, Midland Country Club tennis pro, advanced to the quarterfinals of the Men's 35 National Clay Court Championships here last week before finally being eliminated.

Diepraam lost his quarterfinal match with Australian Bob Carmichael, 6-4, 6-3.

Carmichael proved to be a thorn in Diepraam's side throughout the meet. Carmichael and his partner Gene Scott of New York teamed up to take the doubles title away from Diepraam and partner Peter Van Lingen, again by a 6-4, 6-3 score.

Diepraam was the winner of the Midland Invitational Tennis Tournament last month and was a semifinalist in the U.S. Open Men's 35 Championships and the USTA Men's 35 Hard Court Invitational tournament.

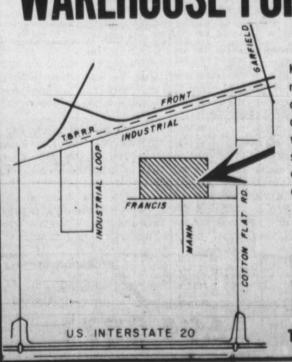

Meredith misses game, but all is well at ABC

NEW YORK (AP) - Don Meredith was not in the announcing booth Monday night for ABC's telecast of the Houston Oilers-Pittsburgh Steelers National Football League gamesimply because he didn't have to.

"Meredith's contract doesn't include all the games," said ABC spokesman Irv Brodsky.

Meredith's contract-reportedly for 14 games a year-was not increased when the NFL schedule was boosted to 16 games this year.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market turned down at midday after posting gains in early trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, which had been up by nearly four points in the first hour, was down 2.26 at 837.40.

Gainers still outnumbered losers by a margin of about 2-1 among issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow had fallen a record 59.08 points last week. and recovered 1.65 in Monday's mixed session.

Analysts said the market got a lift early today from the dollar, which turned upward in foreign exchange trading after hitting new lows Monday against such leading currencies as the Japanese yen and the West German mark. But in hectic. late trading in Frankurt, the dollar fell against the mark to close slightly below its early quote. Gold prices rose in London and Zurich at the end of trading. Investors also were confronted with Chemical Bank's announcement late Monday that it had raised its prime lending rate from 10 to 101/4 percent. But analysts noted that the move had been expected, and said stock prices apparently had taken the news into account in advance with their steep decline last week. PAN American World Airways led the most active list, up ¼ to 7½, reported reocrd third quarter earings Monday. The NYSE composite index of more than 1,900 stocks was unchanged at 54.79. On the American exchange, the market-value index was up .68 to 151.10. Volume on the Big Board was 12.96 million shares, down from 14.95 million shares by noon Monday.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

Don't pump $$ into a loser

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) - "Never answer a margin call," the stock market professional said, leaning heavily on the bar.

It had been another bad day on Wall Street, and some savvy traders were relieving their woes at a saloon many blocks away. "Why go to the other place and hear the same old news," one explained. They had taxied many blocks north, "to get away from the depressing atmosphere," but in the new place, as in the old, they couldn't avoid discussing their nemesis, the stock market. What they said might not be appropriate to the particular investment situation of some people, but it did seem to relate to the market in general, especially in view of the sharp selloff of the past week. Returning to his first statement, the professional, a floor trader, said: "If your stocks are doing so poorly that you're asked to put up more money, then its time to sell out. Don't pump money into a You hear about margin calls only when stocks are doing poorly. Suppose you bought $10,000 worth of stocks and borrowed $5,000 from the broker to help pay for them. You'd be on margin-50 percent mar-The market value of your stocks then falls, perhaps to $7,500, a 25 percent decline not uncommon of late. But you still owe the broker close to $5,000 on the loan. You're overmargined. Why? Because your own share of financing, $5,000, is now worth only $2,500. The broker's share is still $5,000. Instead of 50 percent margin, therefore, you are now on 67 percent.

In order to reduce that 67 percent to 50 percent, you'll have to put up another $1,250 or the broker might sell your stocks to bring you within 50 percent margin. He doesn't enjoy financing a loser.

It works this way: Fifty percent of the current value of your purchase, now worth only $7,500, is $3,750. Your share of financing has fallen to $2,500. It takes $1,250 more to bring it up to 50 percent.

"When you get the call, don't answer," said the floor trader. "Just sell. Accept your loss."

Admittedly, it's tough to do so. "But," said another market man in the group, "it's tougher to accept a bigger loss." Which is better, he asked, "some pain now or a lot more later?'

Besides, said another, perhaps overly cynical because of recent treacherous events, "the natural direction of the market is down.' As he figured it, in the absence of any great change in the investment picture, the inherent drift of a stock is down. "It takes something positive-enthusiastic investors--to prop it up." he said. "When it's plunging through those so-called areas of support, it's hard to tell when and where investors will be found.' The speaker was a man of many successes, an attorney, investor, writer, businessman, govern-

"People disagree with me," he said, "but in retrospect, I believe we have to tolerate bad investments.

It's in the nature of the market." He was asked to explain. "Because if you don't make some poor investments it indicates you're not in the business of risk," he said. "If you insist on a reward, then you must accept risk.' He wasn't through. "All you need," he said, "is a few winners to offset a lot of losers. In fact, the vast majority of my investments weren't winners, but I've made a lot of money investing.' His experience, he was reminded, didn't make a rule. Besides, said another member of the group, most investors are part-timers, amateurs; losses scare them away and they never get the chance to

"The market is a risk" he responded. "If you're willing to accept it, you'll generally get another chance. Losing a few times isn't the end unless you permit it to be."

Swine flu plan failure analyzed

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Ford administration's ill-fated mass immunization drive against swine flu in 1976 was the product of too much confidence in weak theories, the zeal of health professionals and bad public relations, according to a governmentfinanced study.

The $85,000 study titled "The Swine Flu Affair-Decision-Making on a Slippery Disease" was written by Harvard University faculty members Richard E. Neustadt, a political scientist, and Dr. Harvey V. Fineberg, a public health professor.

They told reporters Saturday that "there were no villains in this story," but the 114-page report was unflattering.

"Overconfidence by specialists in theories spun from meager evidence, zeal by health professionals to make their lay superiors do right," and botched public relations are among the mistakes cited by the report prepared for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The report also said then-President Gerald R.

Ford was not trying to make political capital in an election year with his March 24, 1976, decision to try to inoculate 200 million Americans against swine flu. The authors quote Ford as saying, "you ought to gamble on the side of caution."

Ford's decision to order the program followed reports that an Army recruit at Fort Dix, N.J., had died from swine flu. But the report said uncertainties were minimized and the threat of a deadly epidemic maximized as HEW health officials convinced Ford and then-HEW Secretary David Mathews to begin the campaign against against a widespread disease that never materialized. According to the report, members of the Center for Disease Control's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices had pointed out that antibiotics available at the time were likely to hold down deaths even if swine flu struck widely in the winter of 1976-77. Those experts also met with CDC officials about two weeks before the immunization program began and, the report said, "members tell us they had in their heads such likelihoods of epidemic spread as 2 percent or 20 percent, which translates into odds of 49-to-1 to 4-to-1 against." However, the report said the program "may go down as a qualified success" because of the lessons learned and the outcome may "turn out on balance to have been more positive than negative for public health. Swine flu may have a bad ring in public ears, but millions have heard of flu shots for the first

About 46 million Americans received swine flu shots from Oct. 1 to Dec. 16, 1976, during the $135 million immunization program. But the effort was stopped after some persons contracted Guillian-Barre Syndrome, a rare paralyzing disease, from the innoculations.

Meanwhile, the government is now facing lawsuits or claims from more than 2,200 persons seeking about $1.5 billion for injuries or deaths allegedly caused by the shots.

Discoveries, wildcats reported in WT areas

A Cherry Canyon gas discovery has been completed in Ward County, a Wolfcamp strike has been finaled in Lubbock County, and wildcat opertions have been announced in Mitchell, Andrews, Upton, Runnels and McCulloch and Gaines counties.

The Cherry Canyon discovery in Ward County was completed by Adobe Oil & Gas Co.

The strike, No. 9 Barstow Unit was completed for a calculated absolute open flow potential of 11.25 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 5,957 to 6.081 feet after 2,000 gallons of acid and 40,000 gallons of fracture solu-

Operator took five gauges before calculating the potential, all for a duration of one-hour. Through a 6/64inch choke it flowed at the rate of 1 million cubic feet of gas per day, with tubing pressure of 2,431 pounts. Through a 10.64-inch choke it made 1.41 million, with tubing pressure of 2,396. Through a 12/64-inch choke it made 1.91 million, with tubing pressure of 2,355 pounds. Through a 1/4-inch choke it flowed 2.75 million with tubing pressure of 32,313 pounts, and through a 22/64-inch choke it flowed 4.2 million cubic feet, with tubing pressure of 1,740 pounds. An unreported amount of condensate was made.

The project is 7,620 feet from the northeast and 660 feet from the southeast lines of section 33, block 33, H&TC survey and four miles south of Barstow, It is in the Barstow multipay field area one miles southeast of Fusselman production.

IPPA group predicts slowdown

HOUSTON (AP) - An oil industry study group says the nation's economic growth is expected to slow a bit next year but that demand for petroleum products should climb to a record 19.4 million barrels a day.

The supply and demand committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America said, however, the slower economic growth, assumed normal weather, and increased availability of coal and nuclear power will temper 1979 oil consumption.

The anticipated requirement for 19.4 million barrels a day in petroleum products would be only 2.1 percent above 1978 demand that is expected to average 18.9 million barrels a day or 3 percent above 1977.

The study group released its annual report Monday at the annual meeting of the 5,000 member trade group.

The committee forecast oil imports will begin to climb again next year as domestic crude production resumes a downward trend. Oil imports dropped back from record levels after the start of crude production from Alaska's North Slope region last

But the committee now projects North Slope projection will level off next year at about 1.13 million barrels a day, only slightly above the current level. Combined with anticipated drmand growth, such a trend will require additional imported Crude and products imports next year are projected to average a record 8,870,000 barrels a day, compared with 8,144,000 this year and the 1977 all-time high of 8,722,000 barrels a day.

Domestic crude production

meanwhile is expected to drop to 8,656,000 barrels a day, compared with this year's indicated average of 8,724,000. Domestic crude output dropped from a record average of 9,637,000 barrels a day in 1970 to a low of 8,132,000 in 1976. Initial North Slope production pushed the 1977 average to 8,179,-000 barrels daily. Crude production in the lower 48 states is expected to decline next year by about 130,050 barrels a day compared with an anticipated decline of about 250,-000 a day this year. Motor gasoline demand next year was projected at 7,558,000 barrels a day, 2 percent above an anticipated 1978 average of 7,408,000 or 3.2 percent above ment to treat crude and product pipelines more like utilities for ratemaking, the Oil & Gas Journal reports. And the Justice Department has supported moves to prevent integrated oil companies from laying any more pipeliness, leaving the chore to independent firms.

If rules like those were enacted, crude and products pipeline owners would have to do business under a whole new set of economic rules. Some industry representatives tell the Journal few, if any, companies would be willing to start any new pipeline projects under the proposed Important cases pending in FERC are the trans-Alaska pipeline rate case, a remanded court challenge to an Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) ruling that upheld a tariff hike by Williams Pipe Line Co., and a rulemaking proceeding on pipeline ratemaking methods called Ex Parte No. 308, Valuation of Common Carrier Pipelines.

A major issue before FERC is the fair value rate base that traditionally has been applied to crude and products lines. FERC inherited pipeline tariff approval responsibility from the ICC when the Department of Energy was formed last year.

In the past, the ICC conducted periodic valuations of pipelines, taking into account original cost, replacement cost new, and replacement cost less depreciation. When pipeline owners filed tariffs, ICC computed rates of return on valuations it had determined to decide whether the tariffs were reasonable.

That method of regulating rates is called fair value ratemaking. In the 1940s, court and ICC decisions determined that rates of return on valuation should be no more than eight percent for crude pipelines and 10 percent for products pipelines.

Also in the 1940s, several major oil companies that operated pipelines entered a consent decree in a federal case, agreeing that dividends paid pipelines to shipper-woners should Assistant Attorney General John H. Shenefield told the subcommittee last June that divestiture should be preceded by rate reform, he urged FERC to "abandon outmoded and cumbersome fair value rate regulation modeled after the natural gas pipeline industry.

Shenefield also said he favors prospective divestiture of pipelines owned by oil companies. That would prevent oil companies that operate in several facets of the oil business from building any more crude or products pipe-

Retrospective divestiture-which would force oil companies to rid themselves of existing pipelinesprobably would create too much disruption of the pipeline industry, Shenefield said.

The pipeline industry strongly opposes any form of divestiture or change from fair value ratemaking. Industry representatives tell the Journal they need higher rates of return on valuation than those set during the 1940s.

Although success brought with it a property tax

By ELAINE GANLEY

PENNSBURY VILLAGE, Pa. (AP) - It was sewage that united villagers last year in a court struggle for independence, but taxes became the rallying cry - higher taxes, not lower.

This year, the 1,000 residents coolly doubled their property taxes as homeowners and politicians across the nation gleefully jumped aboard the bandwagon of Proposition 13, the California referendum which limited such levies.

Leaders of this condominium community, a few miles west of Pittsburgh in southwestern Pennsylvania, have a so-what attitude about bucking the California trend. They say that in the long-run their tax plan will leave everyone with a bigger nest

'It's not where we are this year compared to last, but where we would have been if we hadn't done any of this," said Donald Speakman, Pennsbury's 27year-old tax collector and one of the secessionist

Pennsbury Village — a well-heeled complex of 503 condominiums, with swimming pool, tennis courts, a commercial center and only 1.5 miles of roads on 48 acres of hillside - seceded from Robinson Township in June 1977. Last November, Pennsbury held its first election. In January, it began functioning as an independent borough.

Pennsbury did not decide to go it alone until the township ordered it to tap into the municipal sewage system — at a cost of up to $400,000 the first year and about $120,000 a year thereafter. The law required that everyone hook into a governmentoperated sewer system.

This made no sense to Pennsburians who had their own sewage treatment plant, for which they pay

The community would have had to declare bankruptcy. Our total budget wasn't even that much," said Speakman But-although sewage forced the initial secession drive, closer scrutiny showed Pennsburians that secession might offer other benefits in the bargain — including some lucrative tax write-offs.

By levying its own property tax, revenue would stay within the village. And service normally financed by the non-deductible "common charge," such as gas, water, and road and grounds maintenance, would be paid for out of the village property

So, with a zealous mixture of indignation, accounting acumen and horse sense, the people of Pennsbury finally cast their lot among themselves and took on the township in the courtroom.

Booze cost more by the metric drink

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you think you're paying more by the drink for liquor bought in those new metric containers, you're probably right. Reporting to Congress on the implications of con-

The GAO said the 200 milliliter and 1.75 liter sizes are the most difficult to make price comparisons with and are "the sizes in which the industry made the highest price increases when metrification took

Contrary to widely held opinions, the report said, the 1975 Metric Conversion Act does not make conversion mandatory nor does it even establish a national commitment to it. "The national policy is not to prefer one system over the other but to provide for either to be predominant on the basis of the voluntary actions of those affected."

Smallpox virus supplies should be destroyed

CHICAGO (AP) - The supplies of smallpox virus remaining in laboratories around the world should be destroyed, says the editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association in the magazine's forthcoming issue.

Dr. William R. Barclay says in a signed editorial in the Oct. 27 issue that if the smallpox virus has been virtually eliminated from man and now exists primarily in laboratory cultures, the wisdom of keeping such cultures should be questioned.

Once considered a major problem, Barclay says the disease is now close to extinction. He said the last recognized case occurred in Birmingham, England, last summer, when a laboratory worker contracted the virus in the laboratory where she worked.

"Proposals have been put forward to keep the virus in only four or five high-security laboratories in the world to minimize the chances of a laboratory infection," Barclay said. "However, the Birmingham infection demonstrates that escape of a virus from a laboratory is possible."

Roaring fire contained

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - A fire that roared through 10 stores and caused about $2.5 million in damage along Atlantic City's famous boardwalk was contained early today, fire officials said.

The smoky blaze, fanned by 25 mph winds, defied the efforts of some 120 firefighters for seven hours before being brought under control at 4:20

Fire officials said 10 stores in a honky tonk row of souvenir stands and snack shops were wrecked in the fire. An apartment above one of the shops was also da maged. The cause of the fire was not known. Fire Chief Lawrence Skey said he estimated damage at $2.5 million, based on rising property values along the boardwalk.

Three firefighters were reported in good condition after being hospitalized for smoke inhalation.

Penn Central today is energy, real estate

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The Penn Central is alive and well and on its own again. That's the Penn Central Corp., not the Penn Central railroad. The railroad is gone. Penn Central today means wax museums, real estate, energy.

On Tuesday, eight years after the Penn Central Transportation Co. slid into the nation's most staggering bankruptcy on the tracks of the Penn Central Railroad, the Penn Central Corp. will emerge as a $4 billion concern that has nothing to do with trains. In those eight years, mountains of legal paper and billions in assets and debts were sorted out in a complicated court-approved reorganization now accepted by stockholders and creditors. Headquarters remain in Philadelphia, but other things are changed. Since the bankruptcy, the federal government has set up two quasi-public corporations, Amtrak and Conrail, which took over the passenger and freight operations that were the rotting underpinnings beneath the old Penn Central and other troubled rail-

Now, the Penn Central Corp. hopes for profits from a different base - much of it diversified holdings acquired in the days when big Eastern railroads were still profitable.

Instead of trains, the Penn Central today runs an oil pipeline, an oil refinery, amusement parks, resort hotels, a ladies health spa.

Only Disney has a bigger amusement operation. The Penn Central also has more than $2 billion in debts — but hopes to pay them with cash squirreled away from the sale of expensive Manhattan property, including the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, and with new issues of preferred and common stock.

The last formality before bankruptcy ends will be for three trustees who have run the company under court supervision to elect directors and resign. When that happens Tuesday, the firm will be born again as the Penn Central Corp. - exactly 3,048 days, or 100 months, after the bankruptcy startled Wall Street.

On June 21, 1970, the Penn Central, created a year before with assets of more than $6.5 billion in a merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads, announced it couldn't pay its bills.

The Penn Central was the biggest American railroad then, and its bankruptcy was the biggest in American history. Under reorganization, more than 16,000 legal documents were filed, and U.S. District

Midlanders honored as past officers of VSSC

BIG SPRING — Two Midlanders were honored as past officers of the Volunteer Services State Council at the organization's 20th annual meeting in Houston

A 21-member delegation representing the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Services Council received the sixth annual David Wade Plaque for outstanding participation and support of the state organization.

Given special certificates as past officers of the organization were Edie Brasher, who held office from 1964 to 1966, and Ann Braselton, an officer from 1973 to 1975. Both are from Midland.

Jack Y. Smith of Big Spring, who held state office from 1959 to 1964 and again in 1966, and Jim Baum of Big Spring, who served from 1973 to 1975, also were honored. Volunteers from Midland who attended the conference included Gena Caldwell, chairman of the Midland Auxiliary to the Big Spring State Hospital, Mrs. Braselton, Mrs. Brasher, Mari Tidmore, Mrs. Tup Ferguson and Ethel May. Shirley Shroyer, volunteer coordinator for the hospital; Randall H. Huey, assistant volunteer coordinator, and Sonya Swindell, circuit rider program director, and volunteers from Colorado City, Lamesa and Big Spring completed the delegation.

The meeting was highlighted by an address by Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation Commissioner John J. Kavanagh.

The representatives attended workshops and seminars on such topics as "Proposal Writing," and "Citizen Action: Volunteering to Protect Rights and Promote Changes," and toured the Texas Medical Center.

But the economic course of the new firm is far from certain, although those nominated to manage it say they are very optimistic.

Penn Central owns 5,000 miles of unused rail lines track abandoned as uneconomical when Conrail took over - which it wants to sell soon. Officials hope this real estate can bring $100 million.

And the firm is still awaiting payment for 4,200 locomotives, 200,000 railroad cars, 35,000 miles of track and hundreds of stations acquired by Conrail. The cash that will bring figures as a major asset, but estimates vary from the government offer of $500 million to the Penn Central's reported claim of $5

Richard Dicker, new Penn Central board chairman and chief executive officer, told a reporter a negotiated settlement of the case "in the next couple of years" could produce "a clear highway to future, continued expansion." But the case could also drag on for a decade.

Meanwhile, Dicker says Penn Central won't forget its roots.

"Many people will think of Penn Central as a railroad corporation," he said. "On the other hand Penn Central is an internationally known mame. The Penn Central is a valuable asset, and we are going to have a resurgence. There is a great heritage

"The Pennsylvania Railroad stems from the 1800s This company paid dividends for well over 100 years without a break. I think we will make a surprising recovery from the indignity that has been caused by federal misregulation of the railroads.

Dicker, 61, is no stranger to Penn Central. He was not at the throttle when it crashed, but he did represent a major creditor.

At the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, he was responsible for investing more than $26 billion of insurance premiums. Today Equitable owns more Penn Central bonds than any other creditor, and during bankruptcy Dicker became chairman of the Institutional Investors Penn Central

Right decision important in health insurance

By The Associated Press

While politicians argue about national health insurance, consumers are left to seek their own protection and individuals can find that thousands of dollars depend on their making the right decision.

A report issued last week by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said 57 percent of all medical bills in 1975 were paid by third parties, including government and private insurers. By the year 2000, third parties are expected to pay 75 percent

An estimated 80 percent of the population is covered by some type of health insurance; Americans pay over $20 billion a year in premiums.

A new government publication, "How to Shop for Health Insurance," issued by HEW's Public Health Service, offers some help for consumers. It is available, at no charge, from Consumer Information Center, Dept. 582G, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

Most health insurance is sold to groups — of employees, association members, etc. Group coverage is usually cheaper than individual protection and often is more comprehensive. The disadvantage of group insurance is that when you leave the group, you lose the coverage. You probably can convert your policy to an individual one, but you are likely to pay more for less protection.

There are two basic types of coverage: hospital and medical-surgical.

Basic hospital coverage provides protection against hospital bills for such items as room, food, X-rays, laboratory tests, drugs and use of operating room facilities. Some plans provide what are called service benefits. These plans cover the full cost of hospital expenses for a specified number of days. Other plans offer indemnity benefits; they pay a stated amount or percentage of the costs.

Basic medical-surgical coverage is designed to pay doctors' bills you incur while hospitalized. You will get a list of the amounts allowed for different types of operations, $150 for an appendectomy, for example. The allowance may or may not cover the surgeon's actual bill; it depends on your policy and your doctor.

Some medical-surgical policies the more expensive ones - cover the costs of a doctor's services in your home or at his or her office, as well as in the hospital.

These basic policies are not intended to insure you against the cost of a major illness. For this type of protection, you'll need a major medical policy which takes over where basic coverage stops and provides benefits of $25,000 to $50,000 or more for expenses both in and out of the hospi-

Major medical policies do not necessarily cover the full cost of injury or illness; they usually pay only 75 to 80 percent of the bills. Major medical policies - like automobile policies also have deductibles, making you responsible for the first several hundred dollars; your basic policy probably will cover the deductible.

Ask questions before you buy.

-What services does the policy cover and how well? Does it take care of diagnostic tests, prescription drugs, out patient care and private nursing? If the policy lists specific amounts in terms of dollars or percentages, find out if the allowances are in line with costs in your area. -How many days of coverage do you get? Most hospital policies put a limit on the number of days they will pay for; it may relate to the number of consecutive days you are hospitalized or to total days per year. The average hospital stay is eight days. -What are the exclusions? Many hospital policies do not cover private nursing or convalescent stays in nursing homes. Virtually all policies exclude claims arising from acts of war. Make sure you are not sacrificing protection you need in exchange for a lower premium.

-How long are the waiting periods? A new policy will not go into effect until after a specified amount of time; some have a waiting period as long as six months.

ovarian tumors Dear Dr. Solomon: An old and very problem, killing over 10,000 women a

dear friend of mine has just been operated on for cancer of the ovaries. She discovered her condition only a couple of weeks ago, and it seems that the cancer was quite large. She hadn't noticed anything unusual earlier. Are there any signs that one should watch out for? Or any tests that a woman should take to check on this? This has given us all quite a scare.—Helen G.

Dear Helen: Unfortunately there are few if any early symptoms of ovarian tumors. By the time they produce noticeable signs they are apt to be very large. That is why it is so important for a woman to have a pelvic examination once a year, especially once she gets into her 30s

Symptoms of ovarian tumors include abnormal vaginal bleeding, a pain in the lower part of the abdomen or back, abdominal swelling and changes in urinary or bowel habits. But as I said, these occur generally only when the tumor has reached quite a size.

One thing to bear in mind is that most ovarian tumors are not cancerous. The odds are about five to one that a growth will be benign.

. There is no simple, reliable test to spot the cancer in its early stages, although the Pap smear does provide some information. It should, of course, be part of a regular pelvic year-as much as cancer of the uterus (cervical cancer and endometrial cancer combined). Again, the main preventive measure you can take is a regular pelvic examination.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Why have we been having all this big fuss about a high-fiber diet? My grandmother knew that you should get a good amount of fiber in your diet, except that she called it roughage .- F.L.

Dear F.L.: It does seem sometimes that we spend an awful lot of energy rediscovering things our parents or grandparents or more distant ancestors were aware of.

As a matter of fact, knowledge of the benefits of fiber or roughage goes back a good deal farther than your grandmother. Hippocrates, known as the father of medicine, recommended whole wheat bread because of its salutary effect on the bowels. And that was close to 2,500 years agoback in the fifth century B.C.
