Although the Steers are the district runnerups they were beaten only by our district winner, Sterling City by a whisker in overtime both times they met.

Coach Poehls feels that the Steers are playing consistent, solid defensive ball and expects them to advance. The team has some young players who lack experience, but are backed up by the solid play of the senior members. Poehls expects good support from the bench, also, and thinks there has been rapid improvement in the Steers the last few games.

Local Firemen Answer Calls

Volunteer firemen responded to an alarm turned in about 6 p.m. last Saturday evening. The location was in the alley behind San Angelo Pipe & Supply Co. on the Colorado City highway. The small trash fire was quickly extinguished.

A second alarm about 8 p.m. alerted the volunteers to two separate blazes. They answered first the grass fire about 3 miles north of Robert Lee between the Askins and Davidson ranches. It caused minimal damage and was possibly ignited by lightning.

The Sheriff's office and the Texas Highway Patrol checked on the other grass fire between Robert Lee and San Angelo and determined the local trucks were no longer needed there.

A spokesman for the volunteers here expressed their appreciation for the cooperation of local law officers in their assistance.

New glaucoma drug eliminates side effects

COLLEGE STATION -Medical researchers at Texas A&M University have successfully used a mirror image of a popular glaucoma drug to develop a new treatment that apparently eliminates dangerous side effects. The new drug is D-timolol. Its structure is an exact mirror image of Ltimolol, an agent first marketed under the trade name Timoptic.

Glaucoma is caused by a buildup of pressure in the chambers of the eye and primarily affects persons over age 40. People can develop the ailment as young as age 20, said Dr. George C. Y. Chiou, head of medical pharmacology. Untreated, the pressure deadens the optic nerve end and causes blindness.

Timolol inhibits formation of aqueous humor, a transparent liquid contained in the chambers of the eve, and reduces intraocular pressure, said Chiou. But large scale clinical studies have revealed that Ltimolol eye drops can cause cardiovascular disturbances in patients with a history of asthma or bronchitis.

According to the researchers, D-timolol does not appear to cause such side effects. It has the beneficial agents of its cousin, but not the problems.

4-H'ers To Compete In District Seven Food And Project Show

Youthful skills will be highlighted here February 26 in Sunset Mall when more than 150 4-H'ers from across the 17 county West Central Texas District meet for competition during the 1983 District Seven Food and Project Shows.

According to Iris Kalich, 4-H & Youth Specialist, the shows feature two firsts as this is the first time a project show in which contestants may advance to state competition has been held in the district. The second new innovation is the use of the Mall as a setting for the shows. "We are hoping to generate more community interest by having the shows in the Mall," said Kalich. "By using this ideal setting the public will be able to view examples of just what 4-H is doing. We also feel that new activities and setting are appropriate now as this year marks the 75th Anniversary of the 4-H program in Texas."

Actual judging will begin at 10:45 a.m. Saturday with the awards ceremonies set for 2 p.m. George Bundren, Texas 4-H Trustee, representing Nathan's Jewelers is scheduled to present plaques to the winners and ribbons to all 4-H participants. The foods and projects will be on display throughout the judging.

Miss Kalich said judges in the food show will evaluate the contestant's knowledge of nutrition as well as his or her skill in preparation in deciding on the junior and senior winner in one of the four major food groups including breads and cereals, main dishes, nutritious snacks and desserts, and fruits and vegetables. Concerning the project show, she said contestants may enter any of 59 categories available in the 4-H program. The exhibits entered must consist of work done during the past 12 months by the exhibitors in a bonafide 4-H project.

Divisions for the competition are divided into age groups of 14 to 19-year-olds which make up the senior segment and 9-13-year-olds which comprise the junior segment. Following competition at the district level senior contestants who qualify will participate at the state level at Texas A&M University during the Texas 4-H Round-up, June 7-8, 1983.

RIBBON WEAVING DEMONSTRATION GIVEN

More than twenty ladies and Sterling Lindsey gathered in the Commissioner's Courtroom Tuesday during the noon hour to view the demonstration presented by Debbie Stetler, Coke County Extension Agent-Home Economics on the art of making fabric from ribbons and trims. This was the second lunchtime learning program and seems to be a popular program with the Coke County ladies.

COUNTY TOWNS GET SALES TAX PAYMENTS

State Comptroller Bob Bullock returned $114.3 million in local sales tax payments to 974 cities who levy the one-percent city sales tax.

Although the payment is the largest single one returned to cities since the rebates began in 1968, Bullock warned merchants and city officials not to make too much of it. He pointed out that February allocations are based on sales made in December, traditionally the biggest of the year.

The city of Robert Lee received a check in the amount of $5,361.-52 for its February payment, this is up from last year's payment of $5,173.48. Total yearly payment to this date is $6,915.50 up slightly from 1982 payments of $6,540.08 which gives a 5.74% increase at this time.

City of Bronte received a payment of $4,836.35 for the month of December which is down from the amount of $6,347.12 paid in 1982 for the month of December, 1981. Payments made to this date is $4,836.35 as there was no payment in the month of January which precentage wise is 23.80 to date.

For many of us war babies, the ABC television miniseries, "The Winds of War," swept through our living rooms with the same swiftness with which World War II swept the world from 1939 through the mid-1940s.

The 18-hour, $40 million World War II melodrama, from the best selling novel by Herman Wouk, opened to some 80 million Americans. I thought the first night it would be just another love story. However, like others, I soon was hooked. By mid-week, I found my daytime thoughts drifting back to the story and finally was forced to purchase the book and finish the story. Thave followed suit by buying the sequel "War and Remembrance.

Even though I was young when the war ended. I relate to the story from several sides. One uncle was in General Patton's army, another was elsewhere in the European Theater, an aunt worked in a weapons factory and several cousins served in other areas. In neighboring Fredericksburg. Admiral Chester Nimitz was a household name.

Around my hometown of Junction every weekend, we would see Texas Governor Coke R. Stevenson. Talk and stores focused on the war years well into the 1950s. It was Mr Coke's second inauguration, and I recall him asking officials not to stage the traditional gun salute "but to save the powder for the laps.

A number of incidents in the TV movie brought back memories. A particular one that stands out was President Roosevelt's "lend-lease" plan.

I recall Gov. Stevenson's stories after he retired back to the Hill Country and his experiences with lend-lease. It seems that the President asked Coke to go to Mexico City and "look around to see that those people are happy and don't stick a knife in our backs.

President Roosevelt sent a young man by the name of Nelson Rockefeller to Texas to accompany the governor on the research mission

"Well, we arrived there in time for a big reception in this beautiful large and elaborate facility," recalled Stevenson. "The dance pavilion, was so large, two orchestras had to be employed, one at each end. Otherwise, people in the center could not hear the music.

In visiting with one Mexican official, Stevenson inquired where the government received money to build such a beautiful place. "Oh, from lend-lease," answered the official

Walter Pfluger was in my office the other day remembering his years in service during World War II. He noted that "every time people or large groups gathered in the TV movie, they were always drinking. That was true. People were under such tension during those years that they lived as if there were no tomorrow.

With 75,000 subscribers reading this column in one of the 42 Texas nev spapers that it appears, there are at least that many more personal stories which would merge into the "Winds of War.' It identifies with our generation much like "Gone With the Wind" touched our great-grandparents.

I have read a number of reviews of the TV movie with one of the most unfavorable coming from Abilene writer. Bill Whitaker. In short, I would disagree with all of them. I thought the story was handled in very good taste as it was adapted to television.

Many times such critics have not experienced the agony, sweat and toil which accompany the multitude of problems to realize the finished product of such works. I have written a few books (the total of which could not equal a chapter of Mr. Wouk's book), and I have worked weeks to produce a single 30-second spot for television. Thus, I fail to have any kind of authority to nit-pick any of this great work. I commend the writers and producers for weaving into this Holocaust such a delightful personal side of the Victor Henry family.

CVCOG To Get More Funds

With the additional funds, federal funds for the region, under the Older Americans Act authorization by Congress, total $625,902.00, according to Bob Weaver, CVOG Executive Direc-

CVCOG is the Area Agency on Aging for the 13-county Concho Valley Region and currently maintains programs for the elderly in Coke, Concho, Irion, Kimble, Mason, McCulloch, Menard, Sterling, Sutton, and Tom Green

Programs include congregate and home-delivered meals programs, transportation programs utilizing senior citizen vans, outreach to identify elderly persons in need of services and assistance in obtaining services, and a Nursing Care Ombudsman pro-

Senior centers funded through CVCOG, which act as focal points for services to the elderly, are operated in San Angelo, Brady, Menard, Junction, Sonora, Mason, and Melvin. The Eden Housing Authority recreation building is a site for congregate meals and the housing authority is planning expansion of the building into a full senior center operation.

"With the additional funds made available to the region, we hope to be able to replace some of the oldervans, possibly provide further improvements to senior center facilities, and expand nutrition services," Weaver said.

Funds also will enable the CVCOG Area Agency on Aging to operate a toll-free line in order to provide information and referral services to the elderly who need information about services available to them.

The WATS line, 800-592-4719, will be in operation the week of February 21. Persons who live outside Tom Green County may use the WATS line to request information about programs funded by CVCOG and those operated by other agencies service the elderly.

"Many elderly persons have expressed concern about benefit and service cuts", Weaver said. "We wish to reassure them that the programs operated by the CVCOG Area Agency on Aging will be continued this fiscal year, and prospects are good for continuation in the future.

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

It is not often that a single issue is brought to the attention of Congress with opinion stacked almost unanimously on one side, but such an instance has occurred with the public outery against the interest withholding requirement of the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982. Since mid-December almost 30,000 letters, now at an average of 2,500 letters per day, have poured into my office from Texans opposed to the provision.

Families tell of the forms which must be completed and filed on their own and their children's savings accounts. Banks, credit unions, savings and loans and other financial institutions, such as investment houses and brokerage firms, also tell of the added paperwork and elaborate on the fine points -- the new government reglations which must now be met, the added burden to their legal and tax departments. Practically unanimously, and with an insignificant few opposing, the Texans who have written to me feel that interest withholding is more of a government intrusion than efficient tax collection. I concur.

This provision is counter to the economic policies which are pulling us through and out of the lagging recession. It is, indeed, not a new tax, but it does have a dampening effect on the savings and investments we tried to encourage with the Feonomic Recovery Tax Act of 1981. I believe we must continue to encourage the improving trend of U.S. savings and investments, not discourage them.

The regulations recently released on withholding by the Internal Revenue Service are lengthy and complex. While low-income and elderly taxpayers are exempted, certain paperwork requirements are necessary to receive that exemption. In my view, the bardens of withholding as found in the regulations far exceed the revenue benefits to be gained from improved compliance with the tax taws.

The law requiring withholding will go into effect this July, and with this law comes an administrative burden for savers, investors, families, banks, credit unions, savings and loan, brokerage firms, investment houses and other financial institutions across this country. If quick action is taken something can be done about withholding before it is too late.

In January, I joined in sponsoring S. 222 -- a bill to repeal the 10 percent withholding on interest and dividend income, and replace it with a more equitable solution to the problem of the small percentage who do not pay their fair share of taxes. S. 222 would not penalize nearly 90 percent of the American taxpayers who have honestly paid their taxes all along.

A recent IRS study shows that improved information reporting alone will increase compliance to 97 percent. S. 222 would simply require that interest and dividend 1099 forms be attached to each filed tax return. 1099 forms are similar to W2 forms, and are supplied by financial institutions as W2 forms are supplied by employers. Attaching them to tax returns would help the IRS to cross check these forms with the amount of interest and dividend income declared on the return.

This simple procedure, along with the compliance measure in the rest of the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982, would go far in improving tax collections, without the nightmare of withholding.

It will not be easy getting S. 222 passed by the Congress, even though it is a more workable solution than withholding. But I hope the Congress will look closely at the facts and evidence against withholding, and will vote to repeal it.

The forms for writing to your elected officials are available at the Robert Lee State Bank.

FOOTPRINTS

One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the LORD. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in ths sand; one belonging to him, and the other to the LORD.

When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life.

This really bothered him and he questioned the LORD about it. "LORD, you said that once I decided to follow you, you'd walk with me all the way. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints, I don't understand why when I needed you most you would leave me."

The LORD replied, "My precious, precious child. I love you and I would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

Local FFA Members To Enter Calf Scramble In San Angelo

Colonial Food Stores Inc. will sponsor the 1983 San Angelo Stock Show and Rodeo "calf calves released into the arena. scramble", said Gary Pipkin, Colonial's executive vice president and chief operating officer.

This year's Stock Show and Rodeo is scheduled March 6-13 at the San Angelo Fairgrounds and Coliseum.

Colonial also sponsored the event during the 1982 show, Pipkin said. The sponsorship is part of the company's community involvement program, which is designed to aid local organizations through sponsorship of fund-raising activities in West Texas, Colonial's area of operation for Colonial convenience stores. The firm also operates stores in Missouri.

The calf scramble, held during each of the six performances of the rodeo, is open to members of the Future Farmers of America and 4-H clubs. During the six-

Local Residents Enjoy Barbecue

Upon attending one of their barbecues and musicals, one would conclude that Odessans are making themselves at home in Robert Lee. On Saturday evening, February 19 Lloyd and Mary Bell Chamblin, Harley and Ruth Moore with Avis and Ben Cook hosted a barbecue cook-out and musical at the Chamblin home.

Several former friends from Odessa have moved into Robert Lee during the last few years, and all have settled near each other in and around Zero Street. Fishing at Lake Spence seems to be one of their chief interests, as well as barbecues and music.

A group of friends enjoyed delicious meat smoked in one end of a large wood stove mounted on a trailer. It is a replica of an oil field boiler, designed by Lloyd Chamblin and made by Bo Baker of Odessa. Various kinds of salads along with tasty cakes and pies served with iced tea and coffee completed the meal. A toast given by T. Paul Barron to Harley Moore for his recovery from open heart surgery recently in Odessa brought forth enthusiastic cheers and thanksgiving from his friends.

After-dinner music was furnished by Troy Jordan, Jimmy Latham, and Harley Moore with their guitars and fiddles. This informal group kept time with the music and broke in occasionally with requests for their favorite tunes.

Those attending their friendly get-together were: Bob and Lois G. Chamblin, Burl and Bernice Gaston, Brookie and Bo Bozarth, Earl and Margaret Brown, Jim Estelle and Dee Dee Latham, N.A. Ford, Marvin Halcolm, Joe and Jessie Moore, Irene Maples, T. Paul and Pauline Barron, Edna Havins, Jan Havins, Linda Havins and Peggy Davis.

minute event, 20 contestants on foot attempt to catch and harness

Successful contestants then lead the calves to the finish line with the best time winning the event. Awards are in the form of cash certificates for purchase of livestock for the contestants' 4-H or FFA project.

Contestants must be at least 13 years old, but must not have reached their 19th brithday before March 10, 1983, and must still be in school. Contestants are selected by District Extension directors and Area Vocational Agricultural supervisors from eligible FFA applicants in Vocational Agricultural Areas 2, 4 and 7, and 4-H members in Extension Districts 2, 3, 6, 7, 8 and 13.

Colonial will award a total of 60 cash certificates which will be presented during the six-day event with 10 prizes awarded during each performance to firstthrough 10th-place winners.

Six members of the Robert Lee FFA Chapter have been chosen to participate in the 1983 calf scramble during the San Angelo Stock Show & Rodeo.

Kirby Rasco, Gilbert Abalos, Garry Palmer, and Eddie Hood will take part in the Thursday night rodeo performance on March 10.

Greg Grim and Trampas Cox are scheduled to scramble at the Friday afternoon matinee event on March 11.
