50 YEARS AGO

Fewell Sims, the shot-up night watchman of Bronte, was in town Saturday and, of course, paid the Observer office a call. He said tell the people over here there was no way for him to find the words and put them together that would actually express his thanks and appreciation of their help in the apprehending and jailing of the boys that shot him. In less than 2 hours, one was in jail, and in 36 hours they were all three looking out the bars. Sims said if anybody had it in his head that we didn't have a good Sheriff's force in Coke County, just investigate. That's right, Fewell, doggone them boys didn't bat an eye until they was all three in

Rain Causes Postponement Of Jr. Rodeo

The Coke County Junior Rodeo has been rescheduled for the weekend of Aug. 5 and 6. There's not much a person can change about the weather and when the thunderstorm blew in with such force, just as the grand entrance was commencing, a halt was called for the rodeo and riders and horses to disband. After all the fury of wind and rain, with some small size hail, the city had received a little over an inch of moisture.

Donna Scott, a spokesman for the rodeo, said the event has been reshceduled for the weekend after the Coke County Pageant production is over. The new deadline entry is August 3, Mrs. Scott stated.

Everything will proceed as was planned for the rodeo except the date has been changed to Friday and Saturday, August 5 and 6.

The game had been tied six times and stood at 56-56 at the end of rugular play. Going into overtime, no team had more than a two-point lead until Leigh Ann's free throws, a one and one.

Runnion made nine points in the game. She plans to attend South Plains Junior College in Levelland this fall. She has accepted a full scholarship to play basketball.

Sam Ed Skipworth, his daughter and husband, and a friend of Denver, Colorado and Mrs. Willie Belle Hatley of San Angelo recently visited with Ruth and Sam Williams as well as other Robert Lee relatives. Sam Ed. who was raised here, is a nephew of the William's and has not been here for a number of years.

Have YOU seen "Ole Coke County-Home of the Rabbit Twisters?" If not make plans NOW to see it THIS YEAR.

The pageant has as its goal this year that more Coke County citizens and the surrounding area residents sign the register than ever before.

Final touches are being put on the pageant this week--scenes from "The Beginning of the Oak Creek Powwow' to the closing scene-"Nothin' But Trouble"-new scenes, new songs, new characters, will unfold before your very eyes!

"The Settlers" are back! The Tomlinsons and kids: "The Widder"--Patti and son; and the Whitakers and daughter.

See the "Fight For the County Seat''--it's better than ever.

"The Gossips" are sewing and gossiping--the Courthouse burns-The Windmill Turns--and Editor A.W. Puett, of the Robert Lee Observer, narrates it all.

COMPOST FROM GRASS CLIP-PINGS---Save those grass clippings when you mow your lawn and put them to use in a compost pile, suggests a landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Compost is a good source of organic matter for gardens and flower beds, and also is an excellent way to dispose of garden debris, leaves and similar plant material. Make the compost pile 4 to 6 feet wide and any length, depending on materials and space available. The compost will need to be turned every three to four months to aerate and speed decomposition, but within six months to a Program Set year, the compost should be ready for use.

The show begins at 8 p.m. with the choir singin'. The play begins promptly at 8:30 p.m.

The pageant will be presented Friday (tonight) and Saturday (July 23) and again Friday and Saturday, July 29 and 30. Admission is $4.00 for adults and $2.00 for children 5 years through 12 years of age.

The '64 Study Club will serve as hostesses and the concession stand (with lots of food and cold drinks) will be operated by Alpha Omicron Nu.

"Our total payments to cities so far this year are still running about one percent behind last year," Bullock said in sending the July checks to the cities. Mrs. Ethel Green of Robert Lee attended and said the area made a beautiful setting for the reunion. Snow was still visible in the mountains and one day rain, snow flurries, and hail all fell on the travelers. Most everyone spent several days around Glenrock and had a wonderful time.

When Harvard College was founded in 1636 it was surrounded by a tall stockade to keep out prowling wolves.

CONGRESSIONAL COMMENT

By Charles Stenholm

The plight of 10-month-old Ashley Bailey of Clyde, Texas, who at this writing is waiting for a liver transplant that will save her life, has drawn state and national attention to the problems faced by the parents of children such as Ashley and to the inability of the current system of organ procurement to keep pace with advancing medical technology.

While life-saving transplants-whether of livers or kidneys or hearts--have attracted more public attention, the questions they raise are only the tip of the ice-berg as medical technology swiftly moves us into a sea filled with unknowns in the health care

Last week in this column, I discussed my own personal decision to assist Ashley's family in making the public aware of her desperate need for a transplant. Even when you know you cannot help every child needing a transplant, you have the responsibility to help that child that you can.

In working with Ashley's case, more questions than answers seemed to arise. Top on the list is a more workable organ procurement system, coupled with a massive public awareness program. Other questions are not limited to transplants alone, but expand into the areas of ethics, resource limitations and public policy; among other things. It would be impossible to give each of these areas the proper attention in just one column, so for the next few weeks several of the major issues will be examined.

I will consider questions such as: Who will live and who will die? Who decides, and on what STATE 4-H HORSE SHOW--grounds? Does society have an ethical obligation to ensure equitable access to health care for all?

If so, how is that obligation balanced by individual obligations to take reasonable steps to provide for such care?

When are medical decisions better left solely in the hands of the physician? What rights do the patient and the patient's family and friends have to be a part of the decision-making process?

What, in fact, is death and what group--state or federal lawmakers--are responsible for the final definition? Today, for almost any life-threatening condition, some intervention is capable of delaying the moment of death. The frequency of dramatic breakthroughs in medical care--insulin, antibiotics, resuscitation, chemotherapy, dialysis, and transplantation, to name but a few--has made it possible to retard and even to reverse many conditions that were until recently regarded as fatal. Matters that were once the province of fate have now become a matter of human choice, a development that has profound ethical and legal implications.

Finally, we cannot ignore the reality of financial resources and the role that limited resources play in medical issues. As one physician asked, "Do we concentrate limited public resources strictly on the 'greatest good for the greatest number' type of research? Do we spend more on prolonging the life of elderly people or transfer those resources to newborns, infants and Who makes small children? those decisions?"

Like you, I begin to feel overwhelmed by this list of questions which at times seem unanswerable, but which technology will not allow to be brushed aside. Medical concerns that at on time were essentialy private ones, now have been pushed into the public sphere. Answers and public policy must be achieved, difficult though they

In next week's column I will look more specifically at one area of the medical technology dil-

Information Given About Fleas-Ticks

By Sterling Lindsey

Many area homeowners are having problems with those perennial pests, the fleas and ticks. But don't despair--they can be controlled. It's not easy and not a one-shot treatment, but it can be done. Count on 2 to 3 treatments at 10-14 days intervals.

Here is the procedure I recommend: (assuming you have a pet that spends time indoors and outdoors.)

- Thoroughly clean and vacuum your home. Destroy the vacuum bag so it does not become a flea or tick factory due to the immatures it picks up.
- 2. Treat your home, the pet and the yard (if the pet goes outside) all at the same time.
- 3. Treat carpets, upholstery and baseboards where ticks or fleas occur with Kenco "Rid-a-Bug," Raid "Household Insect Control" or other formulations of Dursban or Diazinon (Spectra-

- dust or with tick and flea shampoo, powder or dip. Apply a long lasting flea and tick collar.
- 7. Do not vacuum home for 7-10 days after treatment (vacuuming reduces the insecticide residue).
- 8. Repeat treatments of home and yard every 14-21 days and keep pet treated until control is achieved.

Always read all pesticide labels and do not overtreat pets to avoid pesticide poisoning. When in doubt about treating small dogs, pregnant dogs or cats consult your veterinarian.

PUBLIC NOTICE

At the request of the Office of the General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission, the Commission has established Docket No. 5113 to inquire into pressing issues involving the entire telephone industry in Texas. Docket No. 5113 will deal with many issues resulting from the impending divestiture of American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Some of those issues include establishing the service areas of Southwestern Bell after divestiture and assessing the impact on other telephone companies in Texas, including General Telephone Of The Southwest, of current settlement arrangements between Southwestern Bell and those companies. Additionally, Docket No. 5113 will deal with the issues arising from the Federal Communications Commission's Final Order in Docket 78-72 (the Access Charge Docket) as they impact all telephone companies, including General Telephone Company Of The Southwest. It is anticipated that Docket No. 5113 will be evidentiary in nature. RATES FOR GENERAL TELEPHONE COM-PANY OF THE SOUTHWEST MAY BE DETERMINED BY THE COMMISSION IN OR AS A RESULT OF THIS PROCEEDING. COKE COUNTY BOOK COMMITTEE

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective August 1, 1983, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission (PUC) at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

As a result of the settlement of a lawsuit brought by the U.S. Department of Justice against AT&T, Southwestern Bell, on January 1, 1984, (or as otherwise ordered by the United States District Court) will no longer be a part of the Bell System, but will be owned by public shareholders. Under the terms of the settlement, Southwestern Bell has identified 15 areas in the state within which it may provide service, and the federal court with jurisdiction of the settlement has tentatively approved these areas, called LATAs (Local Access and Transport Area). On or about January 1, 1984, Southwestern Bell can not provide service between these LATAs, and in addition, must transfer to AT&T customer premises equipment that it leases to customers.

Southwestern Bell has filed a proposed revised rate schedule with the PUC reflecting these changes. These rates would become effective August 1, 1983, if they are not suspended by the PUC; however, it is expected that they will be suspended and that the rates ultimately set by the PUC will become effective on or about January 1, 1984. If the rates were to become effective as filed, they would produce a 48.2% increase in Southwestern Bell's unadjusted test year revenues (or a 76.36% increase in Southwestern Bell's test year revenues adjusted to reflect the effect of Southwestern Bell's divestiture from AT&T). Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in rates for intraLATA interexchange toll services, any change in those rates could also affect customers of other telephone companies. Southwestern Bell is proposing changes in the structure of the present private line and foreign exchange services. Changes in these rates may affect customers of other telephone companies. Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of other telephone

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Joan,

As you requested, I'm reporting to you from "Cool Colorado". We had an enjoyable trip up with my grandson, Greg, driving from Slaton to Boulder, where my daughter, Yvonne McElwain, lives. It rained every day during our four-day visit there, causing the flooded Boulder Creek to become dangerous.

On June 26, there was an unusual section in the Boulder paper discussing the city, its services, government, etc. One striking headline caught my attention which stated: "Remember New Comers, what's here is normal; you aren't." Now I just didn't know if the editor knew that I was coming or not!

Boulder is truly a beauty spot and the following statement shows that the city wants it to stay that way: "The mountains-as a resident, you own them." In 1967 Boulder residents voted to earmark four-tenths of a cent in sales tax for green belt. Consequently, the ring around the city, including the foothills, belongs to the taxpayers.

Paul and I have found Fort Collins to be cool and attractive. With the help of Derwood and family, we finally got unpacked and moved back into our apartment on Kirkwood Drive.

Our daily routine consists of an early walk throughout the beautiful and highly developed Parkwood Addition of the city. On Monday and Wednesday nights we enjoy Mark (Derwood's youngest) and his friends in their summer baseball games. At noon each day, we drive to the Senior Citizen Center to meet old friends and sample a delicious and nutritious meal served daily. to around 100 people. This project called "Senior Chuckwagon Nutrition Program For Elderly" is sponsored by Catholic Community Services Northern, "A United Way Agency."

In the afternoon all sorts of games are available. From bridge to shuffleboard, one is sure to choose the one he likes. All the operational duties of this center are performed voluntarily by the members.

As guests from Texas, Paul and I were presented at the luncheon and received their monthly paper, "The Greening Leaf" containing a list of enjoyable activities for the month of July. We could not help thinking about our senior friends back home, only wishing that Coke County could offer such a needed program.

I am not forgetting our new endeavor in publishing the book for Coke County families, and I'm spending time in proof reading and helping friends and relatives in writing their stories. It's just a fun thing to do.

Give our love to all the Rabbit Twisters.

FED CATTLE OUTLOOK---Marketing of fed cattle was up 12 percent from last year in May, but reduced placements of cattle on feed indicate that beef supplies may be tight later in the year, says an economist in livestock marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Continued low placement levels in May, as in recent months, are likely to result in a fed cattle marketing level of 9 to 10 percent below last year for the July-September quarter. Unless placements pick up in the next few weeks, fourth quarter marketings also will be reduced.

The provision of vocational rehabilitation services in approfeature of the social security disability insurance program. Many disabled persons who, not too many years ago would have been considered permanently unemployable may now be returned to a productive, independent way of life as the result of advances in medical and rehabilitive tech-

Benefits for disabled workers who refuse without good cause to accept vocational rehabilitation services will be withheld. "Good cause" includes membership in a recognized church church or religious sect that teaches reliance solely on prayer or spiritual means for the treatment of any impairment. Insisting that members of such sects accept not only vocational but also medical services from a state vocational rehabilitation agency would be equivalent to insisting that they violate their religious beliefs.

Vocational rehabilitation covers a broad spectrum of services. They include vocational and medical diagnosis to help beneficiaries understand both their limitations and their potential; advice and counseling to help guide beneficiaries into the kinds of jobs they can learn to perform; medical, surgical, and hospital services to remove or minimize a handicap; aids such as braces, artificial limbs, and hearing aids; training needed to help beneficiaries prepare for a job; and help in finding a job when the time comes. Disability checks continue during the period of rehabilitation until the individual's condition improves to the point where he or she is no longer considered disabled or until the person returns to substantial gainful work. Various impairment-related expenses the beneficiary pays for may be deducted from earnings in determining whether the person is actually engaged in substantial gainful employment.

Additional information about vocational rehabilitation services can be obtained from any social security office.

Since the microwave absorption of foods depends on their water and salt content, microwave cooking is not equally energy saving for all foods," states Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Research shows the greatest energy savings when cooking small to medium quantities of concentrated foods such as meats, potatoes, desserts and TV dinners. Foods such as corn, broccoli and similar vegetables require more energy to cook with microwave than with conventional electric surface units. "For any normal saucepan operation, the cooktop of an electric range is as energy efficient, or more so, than the microwave oven," says Piernot.

Kings Return From Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Dave King have recently returned from a month's priate cases is an important vacation, visiting in various places from Texas to Cadifornia. The couple traveled in their own car and made a leisurely time of it.

> They left on June 3 and made their first series of stops in Moriarty, New Mexico. There they spent time with King's sister-in-laws, Mrs. George (Carrie) King and Mrs. Will (Mollie) King. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce King and other relations in the area.

> The King's went from New Mexico on to Pueblo, Colorado to see Mrs. King's son and family, the Wayne Blair's. The group did some sightseeing in the region including Pike's Peak, which King had always wanted to see, although Mrs. King had been there several times.

> The Wayne Blair family accompanied Mr. and Mrs. King on to Richvale, California to visit their daughter and sister, Mrs. Doris Akin and family.

> As the Blair's flew on to Alaska to visit relatives, the King's began their tour home to Texas.

After an overnight stop in New Mexico, they arrived back in Robert Lee on July 8, following an extensive and enjoyable trip to find it hot and dry in West Texas.
