Head Coach Nelson Coulter says he's real pleased with the way the Steers played football Friday night, especially after watching the film.

He stated they played a good offensive game.

The players are being shuffled around to find the best possible position for each player and the team as a whole.

Headway Made On Robert Lee School Burglary

Last Monday, August 15, the Coke County Sheriff's Department received information regarding the burglary committed at the Robert Lee High School on June 9, 1983.

A total of $6100.00 worth of equipment was recovered by this investigation. This included band instruments and Video tape equipment valued at $4100.00.

The Video equipment was taken from the school between May 1-18, 1983. The band instruments were taken June 9, 1983.

Three juveniles are involved in the investigation and also one other person whose name is being withheld pending a meeting of the Grand Jury.

All property reported stolen was recovered in good shape.

Sheriff Millican reports he was pleased with the condition of the recovered property and the fact that it was recovered at all, due to the length of time since the burglary.

Livestock Producers In Coke Co. Eligible For Emergency Loans

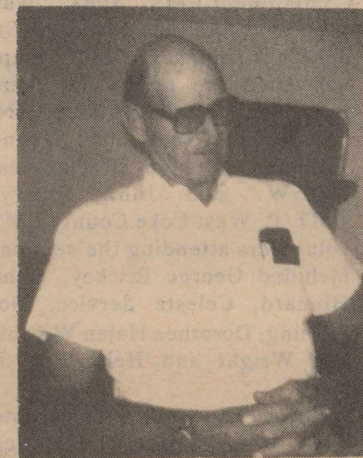

Livestock producers in five 17th District counties will be eligible for emergency (EM) loans through the Farmers Home Administration because of severe drought conditions, Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announced.

Coke, Howard, Martin, Mitchell and Nolan counties were among 20 Texas counties declared eligible for the EM loans. To be eligible, individual producers must have suffered losses in their range, pasture and feed crop production for 1983 as a result of the severe lack of moisture that has affected much of West Texas.

"I had personally urged Secretary of Agriculture John Block to provide these EM loans where counties met the criteria," Stenholm said, "so I am naturally pleased that there may be some relief in store for our ranchers."

"However," Stenholm continued, "this does not solve the problem. There are other counties in my Congressional District which may need the emergency

The Consumer Alert

by Jim Mattox
Attorney General

Older citizens, many of whom are on fixed incomes, often face special consumer problems. It is critically important that every dollar spent by this group is protected.

Retired persons have a right to get full value for their money and fair treatment in the marketplace. But retired persons can find themselves in a double bind. Their income may not be enough to maintain the same standard of living which they enjoyed while working full time, yet it may be enough to tempt unscrupulous persons into using various means to obtain what they can from that income.

A study by the staff of the Senate Committee on Aging indicated that the elderly are the most frequent victims of consumer fraud in the U.S., but the study also said, "Those who are over 50 tend to complain less than any other group of consumers."

To try to change the situation, the Federal Trade Commission and the American Association of Retired Persons have put together a guide to help older citizens learn their rights in the marketplace. It is entitled "How to Right a Wrong, Complain Effectively and Get Results."

Copies are available free from the American Association of Retired Persons, Box 2400, Long Beach, California 90801.

Older citizens and retired persons are more susceptible to certain fraud situations because they are home during the day. Their mobility may be limited for health, economic or transportation reasons. These same problems create a necessity for older citizens to be able to shop at home through mail order houses, telephone sales or door-to-door sales. It can be a great convenience, but at the same time it poses a risk of being talked into buying something the consumer does not want, cannot afford, or can buy for considerably less by shopping around.

Some tips to avoid being "taken" in these vulnerable situations are:

--Remember that in door-to-door sales for goods or services over $25 or real estate over $100 you have three days to change your mind and cancel the sale without losing any money.

--Remember in telephone sales to ask about all conditions for receiving a supposedly "free" gift. Ask if they are selling goods or services along with giving you this gift.

--Always ask for the name, address and phone number of the seller, but it door-to-door or telephone sales, in order to check with Better Business Bureaus or other agencies before you make a substantial purchase.

--Remember with mail order houses to deal only with a reputable company which has a written refund policy.

--Shop around for medicine and prescription drugs because there are no price controls on pharmacies. Check with your doctor about generic drugs. You may save by buying a generic brand and by checking several pharmacies before you buy. Remember, it is illegal for a pharmacy to substitute a generic brand and charge you the name brand price.

When you do have a complaint, make it in writing as soon as you discover the problem. Many companies will not accept responsibility unless you complain within a certain period.

Seminar Held At St. John's

On Saturday, August 20, the Medic XIII sponsored seminar was held at St. John's Hospital, San Angelo. "Care, Concern, Commitment-EMS, 1983" was the topic. Administrator of St. John's Hospital, Mr. Mel Camp, welcomed the group. Speakers included Linda Knightstep, RN, Dr. Bobby Niemann, Dr. Wayne Williams, Debbie Hartgraves, M.S.W. and John Friery, EMT/P. West Coke County EMS volunteers attending the seminar included George Brickey, Gene Hinnard, Celeste Service, Dot Starling, Dorothea Helen Wright, Lou Wright and Helen Murtishaw.

Those attending from Bronte were Jerita Taylor and Donna Scott.

After the seminar, the Executive Council of the Texas Association of EMTs held its meeting. As a result of this meeting, an election committee was appointed to schedule an election for regional officers for Region 4. Region 4 includes Robert Lee. All EMTs (active or not) are urged to join TAEMT. This is the professional organization for EMTs.

A GOOD DIET HAS VARIETY AND MODERATION

Planning a good diet should mean eating a variety of foods in moderation, rather than a few foods in abundance, since no single food has all the nutrients needed for good health.

"The challenge is to select combinations of foods which will provide a nutritionally adequate diet," said Dr. Dymple C. Cooksey, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

A good diet should include selections from the four major food groups. Diets require meat, eggs and beans to provide protein, as well as iron, zinc, and B-complex vitamins. Also needed are fruit and vegetables for their vitamins, carbohydrates and fiber.

Dairy products contain calcium for bones and teeth, along with vitamins, protein, and essential fats. Breads and cereals provide carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals, some protein, and considerable amounts of dietary fiber.

As a rule, most Americans consume more calories, fats, and salt and sugar than they need, according to Cooksey. Since food is vital, it is best to use some knowledge about nutritive content to combine foods into a sound, healthy diet.

Social Security News Bulletins

An individual should report a name change to the nearest Social Security Office as soon as possible. Prompt reporting prevents confusion of a discrepant name and number on one's earnings record. It also prevents delay in processing income tax returns because of a mismatched name and number.

There have been various reports of private companies charging a fee for persons to have their name changed on their Social Security records. This service is free. All one must do is go to the nearest Social Security Office, fill out an application, and submit evidence substantiating the name change and verifying existing identity. For example, a woman who has changed her name due to marriage should bring her marriage certificate, which would show her previous name and her new name. If the marriage certificate is not available, other documentation could be used. The important factor is that the documentation should verify the name before and after the name change.

Reporting a name change promptly is very important. Any questions concerning this procedure should be directed to the San Angelo Social Security Office located at 2214 Sherwood Way. The telephone number is 949-4608.

Zinc deficiency seems to be the latest nutrition problem for which Americans are being sold dietary supplements. "But the average person need not be concerned about zinc deficiency or purchasing a zinc supplement to prevent such a deficiency," says Dr. Alice Hunt, a foods and nutrition specialist with Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service.

The recommended daily allowance for zinc is 15 mg. per day, and the average zinc content of mixed diets consumed by American adults is between 10 and 15 mg. per day, reports Hunt. Meat, eggs, milk and shellfish are all good sources of zinc. So the person who severely restricts his intake of these foods could run the risk of developing a zinc shortage.

By Charles Stenholm

Death and taxes, we have always been told, are the only two certainties in life.

Medical technology has, however, thrust us all into a bewildering and costly world of organ transplants, artificial hearts and the conquest of more and more diseases. Medical experts are now beginning to talk about average life spans which will exceed the hundred-year mark in the not-too-distant future. More and more, the power of life and death resides in human hands. But the public largess -- fed by our tax monies -- is less and less able to meet the costs of these advances.

The capabilities of the biomedical sciences -- both to prevent and to cure illness -- have expanded immensely in the past half century. Today health care can offer dramatic remedies for previously untreated conditions. But an important factor compounds the pursuit of maximum good health for everyone: the inescapable reality of limited resources.

As the capabilities of health care have expanded, the strain placed on already strapped personal budgets, employer benefit programs and government treasuries has become a matter of increasing concern.

The reality of restricted resources means patients, health care professionals and society at large must face an ethical problem: having to choose the uses to which limited -- and in some cases very scarce -- resources will be put.

Society has to compare health care expenditures with other areas of public and private spending. And there are tough choices within the health care budget -- between treatment and research, between restorative steps for those already ill and preventative steps for those who may be at risk, among different age groups, and even different diseases.

We in Congress became more graphically aware of society's dilemma when we had to face the issue of kidney dialysis. Because the cost per patient -- often over $25,000 annually -- is beyond the means of most Americans, Congress in 1972 authorized Medicare to pay nearly all dialysis expenses. The estimated cost then was less than $250 million a year, but by 1981 the dialysis program was costing Medicare $1.5 billion dollars. By the end of this year, the price tag for this one medical procedure is expected to hit more than $2 billion.

During the first year of the program, 11,000 people sought dialysis. As the procedure became more tested and proven, that figure has increased more than sixfold.

It doesn't take a computer to calculate the economic stress that such increased public costs have caused already and the almost impossible resource demands in the future. Government alone cannot bear the total burden of responsibility. It must be shared by others in society -- beginning with the medical community and ultimately spreading to all other sectors of the public.

It would appear that those two old adages, death and taxes (or perhaps we should say health and taxes), are on an ethical collision course. This week's examination of health care issues ends then with a question, not an answer: Do we have the courage and the wisdom to make the hard choices in balancing our limited financial resources and unlimited health care needs?

"U.S. Representative Tom Loeffler of Kerrville, State Senator Bill Sims of San Angelo and State Representative Dick Burnett of San Angelo will be the principal speakers at the West Texas Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts' meeting on August 29," said John Weatherby, president of the organization. The meeting will begin at 10:30 a.m. at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at San Angelo.

"The lawmakers are expected to report on federal and state legislative activities of interest to soil and water conservation district directors," said Weatherby.

Other program participants include Joe Antilley of Abilene, member, Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board; Harvey Davis of Temple, executive director, TSSWCB and Joe Montgomery of Abilene, president, Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Eighteen soil and water conservation districts are members of WTASWCDs. They include: Upper Colorado, Upper Clear Fork, Concho, Middle Clear Fork, Mitchell, North Concho River, Coke County, Runnels, Middle Concho, Sandhills, Mustang, Howard, Midland, Nolan, County, Andrews, Eldorado-Divide, Tom Green and Central Colorado Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Current officers of the organization are John Weatherby of Big Lake, president; Horace Scott of Robert Lee, vice president and Otto Gottschalk of Ballinger, secretary-treasurer.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Friend:

I have strongly and consistently opposed withholding on interest and dividends since the provision became public law last summer. Knowing of your interest in legislation to repeal this provision, I am pleased to inform you that with my support, the Congress has passed and the President has signed into law the repeal measure, thereby putting to rest this unfair tax proposal.

As a result, the Internal Revenue Service will not be collecting a percentage of the taxes owed on your interest and dividend income prior to the due date of your taxes. However, the final measure contains several compliance provisions designed to facilitate the collection of previously unreported dividend and interest income. These provisions will enable the IRS to identify and collect from tax evaders without placing undue burdens on law-abiding citizens.

Your comments and those of other citizens were instrumental in bringing withholding to the attention of the Senate for consideration. I hope you will continue to keep me apprised of your views on issues of mutual concern.
Sincerely,
Lloyd Bentsen

ACT Tests To Be Given

As the new school year begins, more than one million high school juniors and seniors across the nation are preparing to participate in the ACT Assessment Program.

The ACT Assessment, which consists of four academic tests that measure educational development and a detailed questionnaire that collects information relevant to educational and career planning, is recommended or required by more than 2,700 postsecondary institutions and scholarship programs.

School guidance counselors recommend that students participate in the ACT Assessment Program during the junior year or early in the senior year, so their results will be available in time for use in planning for postsecondary education and careers.

Students can obtain registration packets that contain all the information necessary to register and prepare for the Assessment from their high school guidance offices. The basic registration fee for the Assessment is $9.50. For 1983-84, ACT has established this test date schedule:

Test Dates	Reg. Deadlines
Oct. 29, 1983	Sept. 30, 1983
Dec. 10, 1983	Nov. 11, 1983
Feb. 11, 1984	Jan. 13, 1984
Mar. 31, 1984	Mar. 2, 1984
June 9, 1984	May 11, 1984

It takes about three hours to complete the four ACT examinations in English, math, social studies, and natural sciences. A sample copy of a full-length test is available in every high school. Students who would like to have copies of additional tests may obtain them at cost from ACT.

The ACT Assessment also includes a two-part questionnaire that students complete at home when they register. The questionnaire focuses on the student's interests, academic and non-academic accomplishments, and vocational and educational plans and needs.

Colleges use information from the ACT Assessment Program for academic advising, admissions counseling, course sectioning and placement, student services, and institutional research.

Mrs. Reynolds Dies In S'water

Mrs. Pauline Barron, spending the summer in Colorado, has received word that her cousin, Mrs. W.H. Reynolds (nee Dura McBurnett) died at a nursing home in Sweetwater, Texas, and was buried at Roscoe on Saturday, August 13. Mrs. Reynolds, a retired teacher, was hospitalized after a stroke in 1975, leaving her speechless.

Mrs. Dura Reynolds was the daughter of Edna Reed McBurnett, whose father was Brother John Reed, a pioneer of Coke County, moving here from Coleman County in 1900. Edna and her mother, Lizzie Reed, drove two covered wagons across the Colorado River, which was up slightly, after Brother Reed and the boys, Jim and Ike, swam the horses and cattle across. They camped that night just east of Pecan Creek, which became the Reed home. Wilbern Millican owns the place now.

Pauline and Dura spent much time together during their school days. They roomed together at CIA in Denton, Texas where they did their very first college work, in 1924. Then the next year, they taught school together at Escota. Again they went to college together in the summer of 1925, this time at the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerold Epperson of Colorado City were in Robert Lee visiting last Tuesday. Epperson, former football coach and athletic director at RLHS, recently moved his family to Colorado City where he is employed by Farm Bureau.

Mrs. Opal Ellisor returned to Scott & White Clinic in Temple Wednesday for more medical testing and consultation. Her daughter, Mrs. Jo Rynnion, will remain in Temple with her mother, for several days as needed.

THE OLD SIDE SADDLE

Went over to the old home place Sunday and got Effie's old side saddle. Took it down from a nail where Father hung it in 1909 and as far as we knew it had never been off that nail. Mr. F.M. Andrews, who owns and lives on the place says he has never touched it hanging there in the barn. Father gave $7.50 for that saddle new in 1902 got it cheap from Mr. Hammon, a Hardware man in Goldthwaite, because it was the last one, for our sister Effie, to ride to school.

We had a dream about this old saddle and other things a few months ago and wrote about it, ever since then we've been intending to go get the saddle and hang it up in the Observer Office and keep it for a relic. It hangs here in the office now and we want you young folks that never saw one to come and see it.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts of Goldthwaite, Texas, who scan the pages of the Observer each week will be interested in this article. They both know the saddle, old Fleetfoot and Keeney, and all we kids.

But durn, John time do bring changes. We kids have grown up, moved away and built nests of our own. Father and four of the children have gone over the great Divide. Mother is not so frisky as of old, no longer does she want to trip the fantastic toe, balance all and swing corners down at the old square dance. Swing those pretty country girls, gosh what a thrill. The rosin is all gone John, the fiddle and the bow are only curious or heirlooms of a by-gone age. Jazz music is out of date, and there ain't any more good liquor. The old britch-loadin' shot gun in the rack over the doorway is gone, old Rip and Ruff, our coon dogs are dead and we ain't seen a coon track since God knows when. The old cuckle-burr fire has gone out, the post oak back log ain't any more.

Say John, it was a crude age, it was an age when a man was a man and a woman was a woman, if she did wear hoop skirts and linsy petticoats. And in that day and time there weren't no leg shows. We are glad that we lived then, and gladder that we live now, for there is a greater spread between the customs and habits of men in the short space of 30 years than any 10 generations known to God or man, and those past 40 are privileged to see it. Naturally of course, some of us have sat down on a log by the road side and watching the grand procession go by, and swear and be durned they've all got a passport to hell, but every generation has had its log setters.

Of course ever now and then, we like to turn back the pages of early day history-- dance a jig down at the old country dance, take a swig of good old mountain dew out of the old jug with the corn cob stopper, go squirrel hunting down in the river bottom, stage a coon hunt, go to a log rolling or a house raising. Boy, it was the thrill of youth. It had to be let loose, John, they do it different now and thanks to the god of progress, they're getting the job done out on the school campus-- no more stink base and town ball John, no more one teacher school houses withone or two kids to teach-- they went with the ox-wagon-- a new day has arrived boy-- grapple with it.

We've skinned a cat and lit on our feet running a dozen times trying to keep up with the procession lest we sit down by the road side and go to seed. Boy, it's a job. The auto and the radio is ourn, so is the picture show and the talking machine, and the leg show too-- you can usually find us on the front row down at the show house, while flaming youth struts its stuff on the stage.

Of course since the old days, science has turned the world topsy turvy. Lind said to the Atlantic Ocean, hold still old girl, while I curry your mane, and next morning he said to the folks in Paris, Hello folks, I'm here.

And he didn't ride in a side saddle John. --Selah.

Ray Attends FFA Session

Stan Ray, recently elected State Vice President of the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America, has returned from a four-day intensive training session conducted at the Texas Power & Light Company's Youth Center in Trinidad, Texas.

The training emphasized such skills as oral and written communications, speech delivery, and radio and television appearances. As one of 10 new state officers, Ray will be devoting time this year visiting schools, making banquet speeches, and promoting FFA activities.

Ray is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Phil Ray and is a graduate of Robert Lee High School.

Stan and a fellow State Officer, Tom Maynard, traveled back to Robert Lee August 18. Tom, a graduate of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch and a sophomore at Texas Tech University, spent the remainder of the week with the Ray family. The two state officers will assist in conducting the activities of almost 60,000 young men and women in the Texas Association.

Stan and Tom will meet again in Dallas, Texas, Oct. 14, where they will both be receiving the State Fair of Texas Honor Award Medal in the ballroom of the Dallas Sheraton Hotel. They will also be recipients of the Dallas Rural Youth Award on Oct. 15.

Stan and Tom are attending Texas Tech University in Lubbock, Texas, where they are both majoring in agriculture related fields.

Dee McCleskey attended a family picnic on Saturday at Lake Nasworthy in San Angelo for the Barber Shop Harmony Singers. He is a member of the association and joined San Angelo and Abilene members at the gathering.

Boating and swimming were enjoyed by a number of the group, along with harmony singing and quartet contests.
