Turnovers of flaky biscuit dough blanket a filling of sweet, luscious peaches, and are served with peach sauce

Frozen and canned peaches are a popular stand-in on the menu when fresh peaches are not available. Combine them with tender biscuits or pastry for a fruity dessert.

Peach turnovers are a quick dessert to prepare. It takes only a few moments to make up your favorite enriched biscuit dough. The amount of milk needed will depend upon the flour. Use just enough to achieve a dough that is light and soft. Cut rolled-out dough into rectangular pieces, and place peach slices on half of each one. Dot with butter and brown sugar before folding the dough over the peaches and baking.

Serve peach turnovers hot. Use juice and extra peach slices to make a hot sauce to go over the turnovers.

Other fruits besides peaches may be used as filling for the turnovers. Apples are especially good. Take advantage of the special buys at your local markets, or use home canned or frozen fruits, to prepare a thrifty dessert. Turnovers are a delicious way to include the important B-vitamins and iron of enriched flour in the menu.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Add milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently one-half minute. Roll out into rectangular sheet less than one-fourth inch thick. Cut into rectangles six by three inches. Place peach slices on one-half of each rectangle. Dot with butter and sugar. Fold over and seal. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 to 18 minutes. Makes eight turnovers.

It's been cold... but the worst is yet to come.

Some lucky folks are all set with electric blankets already at home. But for the rest...those who are looking forward to sleeping under a load of blankets this winter.. or suffering from a series of colds...the word is "go electric."

Electric blankets bring you not only guaranteed sleeping comfort on the coldest nights, but a definite relief from colds. Under a comfortable featherlight

While the original cost is just a little more, you'll save money on cleaning your single electric blankets, and on storage problems. One night under an electric blanket, and you'll KNOW that you want the many advantages offered you by an electric Kansas was one of 24 states which supported CROP Christmas trains for overseas relief. Approximately 1000 carloads of grain, meat, milk, cotton, and other farm commodities have reached ports of embarkation. About 500 additional cars are expected. All trains are sponsored by Catholic Rural Life (representing the War Relief Services of the National Catholic Welfare Conference); Church World Service (representing 21 Protestant denominations); and Lutheran World Relief.

Our next port was supposed to have been Naples but we received orders to sail for Genoa, Italy, to show our naval might to the Communists who were acting up in Rome and Trieste. We had a humorous incident in Rome. The Commies were having a big parade and our fighter pilots zoomed in single file in between the buildings and right over their heads. Banners, hats, and people scattered in all directions. That broke up a large concentration of Communism for the time being. I imagine the pilots are still laughing over the spreading of Communism.

Genoa is a beautiful city, hardly scratched by the war. It sits in the foothills of the Italian Alps and the mountains make a wonderful background for the city. By rights it should be called a resort city as well as a seaport. There I saw Columbus' grave and many palaces of princes dated as far back as 1522.

Then we cruised to Naples, the Chicago of Europe. There find every type of crook in the world. Even the children are taught to steal from the time they are able to walk. It was there I bought my wife a set of Bavarian Chinaware, had her picture I had in my billfold used as a model and artist an oil portrait of an exact likeness of her, had a set of earrings and brooch made of the Goddess of Music-Psyche, and many other beautiful things, especially a handmade jewel-box.

From Naples we went to Toulon, France. It was there that we

Truman Firm On Campaign Promises

Comment on Mr. Truman's leor feared that the President would conveniently forget many of the pledges he made during the campaign no longer have any doubts, so far as he is able, he will carry them out to the last comma. It is clear that he intends, if possible, to cement much more power in his hands than he had before, when he was President only because of the accident of his predecessor's death. As an example, it is widely believed that the appointment of Dean Acheson means that Mr. Truman will be his own Secretary of State, as President Roosevelt was. Mr. Truman will establish the policies, and Mr. Acheson, an able administrator, will carry them out. General Marshall, by contrast, made policy on his own

The President's program is largely noncontroversial so far as defense and foreign aid provisions go, except as to which do not affect the broad principles. So it is the domestic program which occupies the center of the stage. Most people, regardless of which side they stand on, seem agreed that the program marks a new effort to direct American life into channels which once were alien to it.

The essence of Mr. Truman's position is that it is the duty of government both to protect the individual against the exigencies of life through more old-age se-

Truman Begins Busiest Four Years; GOP Wins First Senate Vote Test; Bevin Offers Critics Olive Branch

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

INAUGURATION:

Brief Interlude President Truman could lay valid claim to the title 'busiest man in the world." The inaugural behind him, the nation's chief executive was up to his neck in problems, both foreign and domestic.

ON THE HOME FRONT, there was a little matter of having congress impliment Democratic campaign pledges and provide funds for the continuing armament expansion. Abroad, with this nation committed to the gargantuan task of saving the world from communism, the problem was equally monumental.

But for awhile, on January 20, Harry Truman, Missouri farm boy who rose to the presidency of the United States, once by succession, currently on his own vote-getting prowess, relaxed, basked in public adulation, may even have forgotten the tremendous pressure under which he labored.

ORIGINALLY PLANNED as a more or less sedate affair, with this atmosphere desired by Truman, the inauguration, instead, was cinated. Write for details. C. S. TAWNEY & SON, Ogallah, Kansas. turned into one of the most lavish and spectacular since Andrew Jackson rode into the top spot.

Packed and jammed, Washington gave a hero's welcome to the World War I artillery captain. Truman buttons, Truman pictures, Truman banners were greatly in evidence and the President, seeing these and the vast multitudes, must have wondered if there were anyone at all who voted against him in the November election.

of gala capital affairs that night, and the next day, Harry Truman was again on the job.

Peace has been his rallying cry Its importance marked all his utterances. Now he was buckled down to the job of trying to preserve it. Men of good will everywhere in the world were wishing him success.

SIX "NO'S":

Was It Revolt?

Six Democrats joining with senate Republicans gave the GOP victory in the first test of strength since the 81st congress convened. The issue may have been trivial, but the result burned Democratic leaders. Scott Lucas, Illinois, successor to Vice-President Barkley as majority floor leader, "sputtered." Barkley was also put out. For, it appeared, the result was an unexpected as it was "humiliating." THE ISSUE was exemption of inauguration tickets from federal amusement taxes. The exemption slid through the house 199 to 49, so one can imagine the surprise when it failed in the senate. Chief target of administration censure was Kentucky's Virgil Chapman.

But those who remembered the Kentucky campaign would recall that Chapman showed no little knew the blow was coming, acindependence in his drive for votes. | cepted it calmly,

Lesson for February 6, 1949

SOME PEOPLE, strange to say don't believe in Sunday schools Most North American Protestants do, because Jesus did. The word may not be found in the New Testament, but the thing is there. If Jesus did not believe that religion could be taught, then he was guilty of wasting much of his time, for he worked at teaching in season and out of season. Dr. Foreman

He was a product of the Sunday School, in a sense.

During his childhood he would go to the synagogue school weekdays and especially on Sabbaths; we know that by the time he was grown it was his "custom" to attend synagogue service.

And in every Jewish community the synagogue was the place where for two hundred years and more, children and youth and older people had been taught the Word of God.

If Christians today are faithful to Christ's example, we also will keep Lucas was vehement. "On whose at the job of teaching our religion TESUS did more than talk. H lived. His whole life and charac ter were saying more loudly and plainly what his words said.

So the Christian church today, when it is faithful to Christ, must translate into actual living the faith she teaches in Sunday school lessons, in catechisms and books and sermons.

The report goes on, in consideration detail, to consider one phase after another of the complex security problem. It then lists 'six major areas or aspects in which improvement in the interest of greater efficiency and economy is both possible and necesary.' The six points run as follows: 1. Strengthening central authority in the military establishments, that is, giving the Secretary of Defense broader and more positive powers. 2. Overhauling the military budget. 3. Improving teamwork throughout the National Security Organization. 4. Relating scientific re search and development more closely to stragetic planning. 5. Expediting plans for civilian mobilization in case of war. This includes all economic, industrial and manpower resources. 6. Making adequate provision for. and against, new and unconventional means of warfare. The committee also considered and rejected three more proposals which have been very widely debated. It is opposed to: 1. A single Military Chief of Staff and General Staff over all three services. 2. Merger of the three military departments into a single department. 3. Merger of the naval air arm with the Air Force. The fact that the committee turned these down is of unusual interest, in that all of them have been eloquently argued by men who believe that the total merger of the services is the ultimate goal. The committee is clearly of the opinion that service identification and esprit de corps should be maintained, and

And you're sure hunting trouble when you put cheap, bogus replacement parts on your genuine John Deere Quality-Built Equipment.

The saddest and sorriest folks we know of are those who go around looking for bargain replacement parts-and find them; the folks who learn too late that a bargain today is a headache tomorrow.

Remember that when-you put an inferior part on a high-quality implement, you're not repairing; you're seriously impairing the working and wearing qualities of that implementit all boils down to the age-old saying that a chain is only as strong as its weakest link.

So, be wise! Buy only genuine John Deere repair parts for your John Deere equipment.

When you buy John Deere Implements, you are sure of prompt repair service during their long life. We make good on that promise.
