

Moslem Pilgrims' Jet Crashes; About 190 Killed

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — A chartered jetliner filled with Moslem pilgrims crashed into a coconut plantation just short of Colombo's airport Wednesday night while being guided down in a heavy thunderstorm. It broke into pieces and burned, killing most of those aboard.

Bright Moslem prayer rugs were scattered among the bodies and wreckage.

Hospital spokesmen said more than 60 of the 246 passengers and 13 crew survived. An official at the scene said, "It passes all understanding how anybody at all could have come out alive after a wreck like that."

One survivor, Indonesian newspaper editor Mas Abi Karsa, said "We were descending to land in Colombo when the plane plowed through a forest of coconut trees and broke up. I tore myself from my seatbelt, walked out and shouted...I don't know what happened to my friend."

Sri Lanka military and police rescue squads were trying to cut through the wreckage to free the bodies of victims, many still strapped in seats.

Dawn revealed a terrible sight in the beauty of the lush plantation. The jet had struck the earth, then plowed up 400 yards of trees. Two of its four engines were hurled far from the spot of impact.

The charred and twisted wreckage was in three distinct sections. The cockpit was the most severely damaged, the fuselage less and the tail section was fairly intact. Authorities said most of the survivors were from the rear.

The Icelandic Airlines DC-8, coming from Jidda, Saudi Arabia, was making a refueling stop en route to Surabaya, capital of East Java in Indonesia. It had been chartered by an Indonesian firm. The crash occurred at 11:30 p.m. local time — about noon CST.

Witnesses said a fleet of ambulances shuttled the injured to hospitals. Authorities said they did not know what caused the crash and said they were searching for the jet's flight recorder.

Colombo International Airport is about 18 miles from Colombo, capital of this island nation off the tip of India formerly known as Ceylon. Aviation officials said the plane was in contact with the tower until the crash occurred about a mile from the runway.

In December, 1974 a chartered jet loaded with Indonesian Moslems returning from a pilgrimage to Mecca crashed in Sri Lanka, killing 180 persons.

None of the dead in Wednesday's crash was identified immediately. Authorities said numerous political officials were among the 70,000 Indonesians traveling on pilgrimages this year to Mecca, the holiest city of Islam, but it was not known if they were aboard the craft.

Most of the survivors walked from the crash site to the airport, and were driven to a nearby air force hospital or to the Ngunbo Hospital, about 20 miles north.

Sadat Says Negotiations In 'Crisis'

By The Associated Press
EGYPTIAN President Anwar Sadat described the Mideast peace talks Wednesday as being in a state of "serious crisis" and raised the possibility of a suspension to allow Egypt and Israel time to consider their positions.

Informed Egyptian sources said their government has formulated new proposals designed to avoid a total deadlock in the Washington peace treaty talks while still holding to Egypt's primary demands.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli Cabinet cut short its review of the Israeli-Egyptian negotiations to await clarification of the new proposals.

The White House said President Carter met with Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman on Tuesday to ask Israel to wait until Egypt's new position is clear before making any decisions.

"Achieved 90 Percent"
Sadat, speaking to university professors and students in Ismailia, a Suez Canal town, said, "we have gone a long way at the Washington talks and have achieved 90 percent of the road."

"Now we are at a serious crisis and if we can avoid it in order to achieve the remaining 10 percent by suspending the talks for a while to allow the parties to think again and then resume, so be it," Sadat said.

Sadat did not elaborate on the nature of the crisis, nor did he refer to the reported fresh formulation of Egypt's demands. Informed sources in Cairo, however, said "the word crisis can be understood. It is very real."

Egyptian Pressure
The Washington negotiations have been snarled by Egyptian pressure to tie the transformation of the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip into an autonomous Palestinian region to the development of peaceful relations between Egypt and Israel.

Israel wants the peace treaty to stand on its own and has opposed setting any timetable on the developments in the West Bank or Gaza Strip.

There was some confusion in Western diplomatic circles in Cairo as to the weight of the new proposals, particularly over a report that Sadat was demanding the "return" of the Gaza Strip. Egypt administered the territory from 1948 to 1967, when it was captured by Israel.

Criticized By Arabs
Sadat, harshly criticized by some Arab states for ignoring the Palestinians, has insisted that a link be made. Because of Israel's rejection of Egyptian demands thus far, the sources said, Sadat was trying to deal with Gaza first, leaving the West Bank for later.

County Not Asking For More Courts

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff
DESPITE the urging of local lawyers, Lubbock County commissioners say they won't ask the state legislature to create more courts here.

The Lubbock County Bar Association proposal for a sixth state district court and third county court-at-law cannot be justified in light of the costs to taxpayers, commissioners said.

"We are talking about a tremendous amount of money — and I'm still not convinced two new courts are that badly needed," County Commissioner Coy Biggs said.

Financing Considered
"The feeling of the commissioners court is that we don't want to have any more courts established until we know we can afford them," Biggs said.

Added Commissioner Alton Brazell, "At the present time, we simply can't ask for any more courts. If we ever do ask for additional courts, it should be on the condition that the state will pick up its rightful share of the costs."

In fact, Brazell said he will ask the bar association to push next year for legislation "to get the state to pay the full cost of the state judicial system." Currently the county and state share the cost of state district courts.

If the county's only fiscal responsibility is for county-level courts and justices of the peace, then "we would be in a much better position" to afford a third county court-at-law, Brazell said.

Bar's Request Studied
The Lubbock County Commissioners Court discussed the bar association's request regarding new courts on Tuesday. County Judge Rod Shaw was asked to draft a resolution outlining commissioners' opposition to the proposed additional courts, Brazell said.

The commissioners court will consider the resolution this afternoon.

After a study of caseloads on local courts, the bar association Aug. 18 voted to ask county commissioners to request that the state legislature establish another district court and county court-at-law here.

On Monday, County Auditor Dale Gallimore released a 12-page study analyzing the costs of such new courts. Brazell said the figures were "very surprising."

"Most of us had thought that the county courts-at-law were paying their own way — that the fees, fines and other revenues were enough to offset expenses. But that apparently isn't true," Brazell said.

According to Gallimore's study, the two county courts-at-law in 1979 will have a net cost — total expenses minus total revenues — of $113,000. Creation of another court-at-law would increase the cost to Lubbock County taxpayers to $145,000, the study indicates.

The net cost of the five district courts next year will about $7,675,000, the report said. If another district court is established, taxpayers will be picking up a $761,000 tab, the study said.

Brazell and other county commissioners question the need as well as the expense of two proposed new courts.

"I haven't had any district judges say they feel they need an additional district court," Brazell said. Indeed, he said he was told by two district judges that such a court would be unnecessary.

A local judge of one of the county courts-at-law has supported the request for another court-at-law, Brazell said. But the judge indicated the need "is not too critical," Brazell said.

"In light of the costs and the comments of the judges, we will send a resolution to the bar association telling them we don't

Snow Prospects Linger In Area

By KAY BELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff
A GLOOMY mist hovered over the South Plains Wednesday as area residents braced themselves for the possibility of the season's first snowfall.

By 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, the National Weather Service reported that an upper level disturbance had moved into the northern Panhandle, producing freezing rain and snow flurries along a line from Hereford to Stratford, near the Texas-Oklahoma state line.

Department of Public Safety officials in Amarillo said late Wednesday that though a heavy fog was beginning to envelop the region, no roads had been closed.

Authorities, however, warned that thin layers of ice were developing on some overpasses and that, combined with the steadily decreasing visibility because of the fog, made traveling in the northern area dangerous.

Bone Snags Work On New Center

THE FEDERAL government may have a bone to pick with Lubbock County over the site the county chose for its juvenile detention center.

The $1 million construction project, proposed for the city's north side, is being funded jointly by the county and the federal government. It must meet federal laws meant to protect places of historical or archaeological significance.

Experts from Texas Tech have been digging at the nine-acre, $119,000 site to determine if the site has any such importance. Wednesday they struck what may be an unfortunate discovery for the county — a bone.

"We really don't know what kind of bone it is — whether it's important or whether it might hold up the project. We certainly hope nothing is going to stop us," said Lloyd Watts, the county's juvenile probation office administrator.

"We're going to get together with the archaeologist who found the bone and try to assess the situation as soon as possible," Watts added.

The juvenile detention center site is inside Loop 289 between University and Akron avenues and not far from the Lubbock Lake Site, an archaeological dig where numerous bones and artifacts have been found.

The Lubbock County detention center will serve the South Plains region and county officials believe it will be a model for the state. They had hoped to open the center sometime next year.

HOUSTON MURDERS UP
HOUSTON (AP) — The number of murders this year in Houston rose to 413 Wednesday as police reported seven slayings in a 14-hour period. There were 362 murders here last year.

bock, freezing drizzle had begun to fall across the Hub City. But once again, local officials here said no roads had been closed.

A slight warming trend this afternoon, however, should push temperatures into the lower 40s, according to forecasters. But generally cloudy skies are expected to remain across the area today, and Lubbockites can expect a 60 percent chance of precipitation today, decreasing to about 40 percent tonight.

Temperatures across the Panhandle Wednesday remained close to the freezing mark, with Lubbock recording only 37 degrees for its high reading and a chilly 31 degrees listed as the top temperature for Amarillo.

Freeze Blamed In Death
The sub-freezing temperatures in the northern section of the state are blamed for the death of one man, whose body was discovered in his car shortly before noon Wednesday.

Officials said Charles Elliott Rowe, 31, of Blackwell, Okla., died when the car he was driving slid off icy FM 1151 about 15 miles southeast of Amarillo and plunged off a cliff. Authorities speculated that the accident occurred about 10 hours before the car was found.

"While most towns in the South Plains area reported only a continual drizzle throughout most of Wednesday, Childress and Paducah residents both reported measurable amounts of rainfall as well as some hail."

Hailstones Reported
Marble-sized hailstones fell in both Childress and Cottle Counties and persons in those regions reported .25 of an inch of rain and .5 of an inch of rain, respectively.

That rainfall pattern became more evident Wednesday afternoon as the tenacious cold front moved eastward into south central and northeastern Texas, sparking severe thunderstorm and flash flood warnings.

At 2:30 p.m., the National Weather Service issued a severe thunderstorm alert for the Abilene area, warning of high winds and large hail for the area. DPS officials, however, said late Wednesday that the storms that had roared through the area earlier in the day did not cause any damage.

However, the extreme amounts of rainfall — which amounted to as much as an inch per hour in the northern part of the state — prompted weather officials to place the eastern half of the state under the flood warning.

Texarkana Deluged
Texarkana was hit by 4.8 inches of rain and Maquid, a nearby community, got four inches of rain Tuesday and Wednesday.

Forecasters said that additional accumulations of up to four inches of rainfall are possible in the already rain-soaked portions of the state.

In New Mexico, storms dumped 10 inches of snow at Red River and two inches of snow at Eagle Nest and Chama. Only traces of snow were reported on the ground at Roswell and Cloudcroft.

Travelers advisories remain in effect today for the northeast portion of New Mexico due to a mixture of fog, snow and some freezing drizzle along the eastern border from the Clovis area northward. Snow also fell Wednesday and early Thursday in portions of northern Kansas, and freezing rain mixed with snow fell in the southern portions of that state.

In New England, a wild snowstorm whistled through the higher mountains of New Hampshire. Wind gusts in excess of 70 mph whipped snow into blinding clouds above the timberline, creating bizarre conditions. Officials, however, said the storm was confined to the high mountain peaks.

Depression Warned By Kahn

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's anti-inflation chief, Alfred Kahn, told retail store owners Wednesday the United States might face a deep economic depression if inflation gets worse.

"The only alternatives to Carter's anti-inflation program, he said, are mandatory wage-price controls and an economic decline."

"If inflation accelerates, there will be a breakdown of the economy — a deep depression," he said. Recession is too soft a word to describe the consequences, he said.

Kahn again rejected wage-price controls. "The public won't accept them and they won't work," he said. "I wouldn't be a party to them. I will not take a job running them."

Kahn maintains that worsening inflation would force the Federal Reserve Board to tighten credit further, causing an economic downturn.

Kahn told the coalition of retailers that "we will be rigorously inflexible in meeting our objectives of wage and price controls."

"We must assure union leaders and others that we are being even-handed," he said.

The problem, he said, is that "we must stop demanding more income when we know the economy can't deliver it. That's what inflation is."

"Please, let's cooperate," he asked his audience of businessmen.

Some retailers indicated support for the program but wanted to see further specifics.

Improvements Drafted By Airport Board

By KIM PALMER
Avalanche-Journal Staff
THE LUBBOCK airport board will present four recommendations to the City Council today in an effort to increase the efficiency of airport operations.

The four proposals include an additional baggage carousel, three additional security guards, curbside luggage check-in and two additional parking attendants.

If approved by the council, airport board members say the improvements will allow airport patrons to get in and out of the facility more quickly.

Record increases in the number of people using the airport and the increased number of flights in and out of Lubbock have pointed up the need for a more efficient parking and baggage handling system, board members said.

The board will recommend that the city approve a second baggage carousel at a cost of about $94,000. The four airlines using the carousel have agreed to rent space for the device from the city at $30,000 annually.

Board members said they expect the carousel to have paid for itself after slightly more than three years.

The carousel is needed, members say, because currently only one flight at a time can unload its baggage. There also is no backup system should a malfunction in the existing carousel occur.

An alternate solution to purchasing the carousel would be an extension to the present carousel that would run outside the airport terminal building and be protected by the building's overhang.

In an effort to "increase security visibility," the board also recommended to See IMPROVEMENTS Page 14

Mathematical Problem Delays Venus-Bound Spacecraft Launch

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP) — A mathematical problem delayed the launch Wednesday of an atmospheric probe from the Venus-bound Pioneer spacecraft — the first such maneuver to be made in space.

"There's nothing wrong with the spacecraft, and it's not a problem in telemetry," said NASA spokeswoman Evvie Rasmussen, several hours after the launch was first delayed from 1 p.m. PST.

But scientists examining data readings on the craft's position "put them into the equation and came up with two separate positions, and were not sure which one is correct," said spokeswoman Evvie Rasmussen.

"Once they have the reading it will take about two hours to calculate the release. That could be as late as 10 p.m. PST, or tomorrow morning," she said.

The Sounder Probe was to be launched from the main spacecraft, the Transporter Bus, and National Aeronautics and Space Administration controllers expected to know 4 1/2 minutes later if the launch was successful.

The launch was expected to take place 7 million miles, or 20 days, from Venus, Earth's nearest planetary neighbor.

The success of the probe launch, as well as three others scheduled Sunday, depended on the release of a pyrotechnic spring — a device that activates propellants by igniting on command.

The Pioneer craft are the first devoted primarily to the atmosphere and weather of another planet.

Three other probes — called North, Day and Night — are to be released Sunday, when the spacecraft is expected to be 20 million miles from Earth and traveling 21,000 mph.

The probes will crash on the face of the planet and are not designed to survive impact. Instead, the Sounder Probe carries seven atmospheric experiments and the North, Day and Night probes three each.

The North, Day and Night probes must be released within a few thousandths-of-a-second of a specified time to reach their designated entry points in Venus' atmosphere Dec. 9. The Sounder Probe and the Transporter Bus are also scheduled to enter Venus' atmosphere that day.

A companion spacecraft, Orbiter, is expected to go into orbit around Venus on Dec. 4. It will send daily reports on the atmosphere and transmit pictures and surface maps.

The Bus will take upper atmosphere measurements and then burn up as it enters the lower atmosphere.

Sounder Probe's gas chromatograph and mass spectrometer are expected to make the first detailed identifications of the chemical compounds and elements that make up Venus' atmosphere.

Restrictive Laws Blamed For Much Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress and the Carter administration should not depend on reduced spending and tight money to combat inflation, a liberal economist said Wednesday.

George L. Perry of the Brookings Institution, a private research organization, told the Senate Banking Committee that the government should repeal laws, regulations and procedures that increase costs unduly. He also said the government should try to influence wages and prices.

Perry said President Carter's new voluntary anti-inflation program is a step in that direction and endorsed Carter's plan to provide a special tax benefit to workers whose wage increases do not exceed the inflation rate.

Perry, who like many other economists is forecasting a mild recession next year, indicated it has become too easy to blame economic problems on the Federal Reserve Board's money policies.

"Tighter money will not repeal the rise in the (Social Security) payroll tax or minimum wage; it will not improve the weather for growing vegetables or put more cattle into feed lots; and it will add to the Consumer Price Index through higher interest rates before it has any effect on the CPI through weakening demand," Perry said.

He said much attention is being focused on the federal deficit as Americans look for a solution to the inflation problem. He said, however, that too drastic a cut in federal spending will bring on recession and "attempts to reduce the deficit will swell the deficit instead."

Albert T. Sommers, chief economist for the industry-oriented Conference Board, said he has little confidence that the federal deficit will be eliminated in the near future. Consumer credit should be restrained to help reduce the inflation caused by the continuing deficit, Sommers added.

The Montreal Gazette, the English-language morning newspaper, was founded in 1778 by Benjamin Franklin. It was originally published in French.

Humphrey Scholarship Plan Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter invited Wednesday the presidents of 50 U.S. universities to a White House meeting Dec. 5 to discuss the new Hubert H. Humphrey North-South Scholarship program.

The program, which begins in September 1979, will bring students from developing nations to U.S. universities for a year of post-graduate study.

The scholars will be chosen on the basis of merit and potential leadership, must be of "modest means" and dedicated to a career in public service.

The program will cost $5 million for about 240 students and will be administered by the International Communication Agency.

Southwestern farmers have it tougher than most.

All U.S. farmers have a difficult financial row to hoe. That's been proven. But here in the Southwest, the farmer's income problems are magnified.

Crop-killing heat spells get national news coverage when they happen in the Midwest. But Southwestern growers accept heat and drought as just two of the normal hazards they regularly face.

And fuel bills? Southwestern farmers who irrigate spend more dollars on fuel alone than Midwestern farmers spend on seed, chemicals, labor, repairs, grain drying and fuel! (Based on U.S.D.A. figures for 1978.)

At the Southwestern Division of Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., we're aware of the special problems faced by our farming customers. We, too, farm in the Southwest producing seed that's bred to meet area conditions. And because we market our products here, our success as a company is directly dependent on the success of Southwestern farmers.

We're proud to join the Southwestern farmer in meeting his special farming challenges. We know he has it tougher than most.

HERE'S WHY.

- Farm machinery ownership including purchase costs, interest, taxes and insurance is more than twice as high in the Southwest as in the Lake States and Corn Belt. Repairs are more than three times higher.
- Custom operations including chemical application, custom harvesting and hauling have been calculated to be nearly twice as high in the Southwest.
- Fuel and lubrication costs to provide much-needed irrigation on the arid plains make the Southwestern farmer's per-acre fuel cost an unbelievable ten times that of his midwestern counterpart.

Pelt Export Called Threat To Bobcats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's move to permit unlimited exports of bobcat pelts constitutes a dire threat to North America's most common wildcat, says a conservation organization called Defenders of Wildlife.

"The astronomical prices now paid for a prime pelt insure that the beleaguered cat will be pursued by an army of trappers rivaling John Jacob Astor's legions of mountain men," said John W. Grandy, Defenders of Wildlife executive vice president.

Last year a prime bobcat pelt brought as much as $400, said the Fish and Wildlife Service. Ten years earlier, it added, a bobcat pelt sold for $20.

But the service says the bobcat — still nearly one million strong in the United States — gets plenty of protection from state laws.

More Banks Join 11 Percent Lending Move

NEW YORK (AP) — More banks joined the move to notch up their prime lending rates to 11 percent Wednesday in response to rising money costs for banks and high demand for loans.

The prime rate — a widely watched indicator of general credit conditions — has been steadily climbing over the past six weeks to its highest levels since 1974 when a credit crunch developed at the time of the 1974-75 recession.

Chemical Bank, the nation's 6th largest, and Marine Midland, the 13th largest, both said Wednesday they increased their prime rates from 10 3/4 percent to 11 percent. They were the first New York banks to follow Monday's increases by banks in Chicago and Philadelphia.

The prime rate is the interest fee banks charge their most creditworthy customers on corporate loans and it doesn't directly affect rates on other types of loans. But because banks move the rate up and down according to costs of their funds and loan demand, the rate is widely followed as an indicator of trends on interest rates and credit requirements for all types of loans.

The prime rate was 7 3/4 percent on Jan. 1. Since then there have been 12 industry-wide increases.

Analysts said the combination of high money costs to banks and heavy loan demand at regional and smaller banks may have been responsible for a break in the recent pattern that has seen rate increases spread rapidly throughout the industry after the initial step by one of the major New York City banks.

"Different banks have felt the demand pressures at different times. But I don't think we've reached the point where you are likely to have a split rate," said Bob Sinche at Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis Inc.

Citibank, the nation's second largest, has traditionally reviewed its rate on Fridays and often acted as a leader in such industry prime rate moves. Based on the formula Citibank uses as a guide for its decisions, Sinche said it was likely to move its rate higher and perhaps act as a catalyst for others.

The Federal Reserve Board, which oversees the banking system, has been trying to slow demand for credit and the growth in the money supply by forcing up interest rates since early this year. But the program was stepped up markedly following the government's announcements Nov. 1 for tighter credit to help defend the dollar on international currency markets.

Industrial Output Continues To Climb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's industrial output expanded by a healthy 0.5 percent in October as the economy continued to perform at a level that gave no indication of an impending slowdown.

The report, however, covered a period prior to the government's decision to further increase interest rates, a move many economists feel will cause a mild recession next year.

The 0.5 percent increase in output of the nation's factories, mines and utilities in October was the same as in September, and only slightly below the 0.6 percent growth in July and August.

The Federal Reserve Board said there was increased output in October for most products and materials and auto assemblies and coal production rebounded sharply following the end of the rail strike in September.

Total output in October was 6.8 percent higher than a year earlier, which is a substantial year-over-year increase. Output increased at an annual rate of 8.3 percent in the third quarter.

President Carter's recent actions to slow the economy through higher interest rates and reduced government spending weren't taken until earlier this month as part of anti-inflation and dollar support programs, but there already had been a gradual tightening of the economy since early summer. Interest rates already were at near-record levels.

The fact the economy continued to expand at a healthy pace despite the high interest rates was an indication of considerable underlying strength. It is that underlying strength that is behind confident administration predictions that the economy can withstand further tightening without tipping into a recession next year.

But economist George L. Perry of the Brookings Institution said it is a mistake for the government to try to control inflation through higher interest rates and reduced government spending.

"Tighter money will not repeal the rise in the (Social Security) payroll tax or minimum wage; it will not improve the weather for growing vegetables or put more cattle into feedlots; and it will add to the Consumer Price Index through higher interest rates before it has any effect on the CPI through weakening demand," Perry said.

Perry, who is among those who believe government policies will lead to a recession next year, testified with other economists at a Senate Banking Committee hearing into the Federal Reserve Board's money supply and interest rate policies.

In its industrial production report, the Federal Reserve Board said auto assemblies in October were at an annual rate of 9.5 million units, up from 8.9 million in September. Output of business equipment rose another 0.4 percent and was 9.3 percent higher than a year earlier.

The board said output of durable goods, or goods with a life of more than three years, rose 0.4 percent in October, following four months of large increases, while production of nondurable goods, such as textiles, paper and chemicals, was unchanged.

The government's industrial production index stood in October at 148.4 of the 1967 average of 100.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

Q. You often recommend utility company common stocks and investment grade bonds for retirement purposes. About half of my investments for retirement are utility commons. Most of the rest are in closed-end unit trusts which hold bonds. I don't recall you mentioning them. Do I have reason to be worried?

A. Not at all. Unit trusts are logical retirement investments. They are becoming more popular all the time. And they have been mentioned in this space but, perhaps, not as often as other types of investments.

The unit trusts you named in your letter are all good ones. You really have nothing to worry about, even though their market values have declined lately. The same thing, of course, has happened to the market prices of individual bonds.

There are two basic types of bond unit trusts. One — the kind you hold — invests in corporate bonds. The other invests in municipal bonds. Each type passes on the interest it collects from the bonds it holds to the trusts's shareholders.

A unit trust starts off by assembling an investment portfolio of bonds. "Units" — shares — of the trust are then sold to investors. So, as an investor in a unit trust, you are the indirect owner of a share of all the bonds held by the trust.

That provides you with diversification. It does not, as some people think, give you professional management. A unit trust's portfolio doesn't change, except when bonds it holds are called for redemption. When that happens, the money received is distributed to trust shareholders.

This is what makes a unit trust different than a mutual fund. A mutual fund is "managed" — sometimes for better, sometimes for worse — by its advisers who buy and sell securities in its investment portfolio.

Because of the fixed nature of a unit trust's portfolio, the yield you receive at the time you buy never changes. You know what your annual income will be, as long as you hold your investment. For retired people, good fixed-income investments are normally good things.

Q. Because I want to cash in some Series E, U.S. Savings Bonds, I sent 75 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, for the Tables of Redemption Values.

The table shows that a $100 E Bond issued in May, 1958, is now — in November 1978 — worth $191.24 and that a $100 E Bond issued a month later in June 1958, is now worth $192.04. I would think the older bond should be worth more. Am I being cheated?

A. No. You'll find those odd quirks a fair number of times in the tables of redemption values booklet. It's caused by the fact that the interest rate on U.S. Savings Bonds has been raised six times since E bonds were first issued in May 1941.

The U.S. Treasury Department increased the interest rate on savings bonds each time by shortening the initial maturity period on newly-issued E bonds and by applying the new rate to bonds already issued.

Granted, the result has been close to a statistical nightmare. In some cases, including the one you cite, certain older bonds issued in one month are worth a little less than bonds issued in immediately subsequent months.

But, except for those aberrations, the general rule of thumb is: the older the E bond, the more it is worth. This is because you buy an E bond at one price and redeem it at a higher price — the price you paid plus the interest that has built up on it. The problem is that interest has not always built up at the same rate.

AN EDITORIAL:

Guilty Until Proved Innocent

PATRONS AND operators of private schools are understandably up in arms over proposed Internal Revenue Service regulations which they believe threaten the schools' very existence.

The IRS wants to take away the tax-exempt status of schools established in the last two decades unless they can prove their innocence of racial discrimination, according to the worried parents and school officials.

"The real issue is opposition to any federal control of private schools," according to Mrs. Millie Monte, spokesman for the local chapter of Citizens for Tax-Free Private Education.

A PUBLIC HEARING has been scheduled by the IRS in Washington on Dec. 5 to hear arguments for and against proposed regulations that it published in the Aug. 22 Federal Register.

The Washington-based Foundation of Law and Society hopes to block or delay implementation of the regulations until after Congress reconvenes.

With the IRS said to have received 100,000 letters of protest, the lobbying group doesn't believe Congress would permit the proposed rules to take effect.

"Private schools established after integration of the late 1950s would be presumed to be discriminatory and would be required to meet IRS quotas and standards before being restored to tax-exempt status" if the regulations become law, Mrs. Monte says.

AN EDITORIAL:

Whole Truth And Nothing But

WE LAYMEN tend to be somewhat superstitious about hypnosis, a mental state in which one person—the subject—so completely yields his attention to another—the hypnotist—as to render himself highly controllable or suggestible.

The superstitions linger despite the efforts of such professional groups as the Society for Clinical and Experimental Hypnosis, whose annual meeting rekindled thoughts on the subject.

The fact is that hypnosis, while not fully understood, has proved to be a valuable tool in the treatment of certain types of physical and mental illness.

It is also emerging as an aid to law enforcement.

WHEN HYPNOTIZED, the subject can think, act and behave in relationship to either ideas or actual objects as adequately as, and usually better than, he can in the ordinary state of awareness.

"In all probability this ability derives from intensity and restriction of attention to the task at hand and the consequent freedom from distractions," SCEH conventioners heard.

Thus, some police departments have found hypnosis useful in, shall we say, refreshing

A severe financial burden would be placed on the schools either through loss of the tax-exempt status or through the cost of scholarships and other means of complying with racial affirmative action mandates, she adds.

THIS IS ANOTHER example of the federal bureaucracy violating human rights by espousing rules which presume a person guilty unless he can prove his innocence.

Its motive is to punish private schools which sprang up to serve parents who did not want to send their children to racially integrated schools.

However, church and other groups—especially in fast-growing cities—have established numerous private schools during the last two decades for the purpose of providing the type (Christian-oriented, for example) of schooling they want for their children.

THIS IS THEIR constitutional right. We might add that sending a child to a private or church school does not relieve the parent of one dime of school taxes or deprive any other child of anything.

If the IRS can prove that a private school is not entitled legally to tax-exempt status—as, by example, its actually being a profit-making enterprise—then it should crack down.

But to throw out a net that punishes the innocent along with the guilty is an unconscionable and, thus, un-American, abuse of power.

the memory of witnesses in criminal cases. One such case recently was appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, which let stand a first-degree murder conviction that was obtained largely on the basis of testimony produced through hypnosis.

DR. MARTIN T. Orne, a professor of psychiatry at the University of Pennsylvania, told the court in an affidavit that he believed hypnosis produced "a tendency to confabulate (chat), to fill in those aspects which the individual cannot remember, in an effort to comply with the suggestions of the hypnotist."

He also said hypnosis should be carried out only by a psychiatrist or psychologist under strict safeguards.

In declining to review the case, the Supreme Court did not rule on the merits of Orne's arguments.

It is possible, though, that a similar case eventually will reach the court and be accepted for review, according to news sources.

Law enforcement officials doubtless would welcome a definitive ruling on the issue, despite reluctant witnesses' wishes to the contrary.

ART BUCHWALD:

Second Place Finisher Suffers Aching Defeat

WASHINGTON—Almost every losing candidate who ran for office last week has conceded, except for Mogulthorpe. I found him sitting alone in the "Mogulthorpe for Congress" headquarters.

"Mogulthorpe," I said, "it's been over a week since you lost the election by 30 percentage points. Don't you think it's time to concede?"

"Where does it say in the Constitution that a person who loses an election has to concede?"

"There's nothing in the Constitution," I admitted, "but it's just fair play. If you don't concede, your opponent can't make a victory statement."

"AHA," SAID Mogulthorpe, "that's just the point. I've cheated Zinnsler out of making a patronizing speech congratulating me on the great campaign I waged. Is Zinnsler still at his headquarters waiting to go on television to accept his victory?"

"Yes, and he's getting pretty angry. He's been standing in front of the microphone surrounded by his family and loyal supporters, waiting for you to throw in the towel for more than a week now. Tempers are short over there."

"Good," said Mogulthorpe, "it will serve Zinnsler right for calling me a carpetbagger."

"It isn't just Zinnsler," I told him, "Walter Cronkite, John Chancellor, David Brinkley, Frank Reynolds and Barbara Walters are all standing by for your concession speech. They can't officially close out their 1978 election coverage unless you admit Zinnsler won."

"BIG DEAL. They gave me election to Zinnsler two minutes after they went on the air election day, before even one box of ballots had been counted. Why should I care if they're still stuck in their studios?"

"It wasn't Walter, John, David, Frank or Barbara," I said, "it was their computers. You were just a born loser, and the computers knew it before you did."

Our neighbor says his old lady is such a lousy driver, she got two tickets on her written exam.

fore any of the votes were tallied."

"I'm not conceding until the absentee ballots are counted," Mogulthorpe said.

"They have been counted. Zinnsler got 6003 votes and you got only one from a sailor on a nuclear submarine in the Arctic Ocean."

"I knew I should have spent more time campaigning on nuclear submarines," Mogulthorpe said.

"IT WOULDN'T have made any difference. You just weren't meant to be a congressman."

"My wife didn't help me by running off with my campaign manager two weeks before the election," he said.

"You can't blame other people for your loss," I warned him.

"But they took all my television commercials with them."

"Now you're being picky. The point is that Zinnsler beat you fair and square and you owe it to him to concede defeat."

"I don't owe him anything. Why should I congratulate him for humiliating me in front of the entire country?"

"Because we have to close the chapter on the 1978 elections. None of us can start writing about 1980 unless you admit Zinnsler beat you. Are you just going to sit here for the next two years?"

"THE RENT HAS been paid on this place until June of 1979."

"But Mogulthorpe," I said, "there is more at stake than your own vanity. The whole nation is watching what you do. If you don't concede the election, it could start a trend and politicians all over the country may decide to refuse to admit they were licked."

"It could make for a very messy television coverage. You owe it to your country to go on national television and say that you wish Zinnsler all the luck in the world."

"Why?" he asked.

"Because Barbara Walters wants to go to bed."

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK:

Soviet 'Dirty Tricks'

WASHINGTON—The conniving hand of the Kremlin is privately blamed by U.S. intelligence analysts as the probable cause of a damaging news report out of Communist Indochina portraying a top U.S. policymaker as privately expressing disenchantment with President Carter's China policy.

VNA, the Vietnamese official news agency, reported from Vientiane, Laos, Oct. 31, on what purported to be the views of Richard Holbrooke, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

During a tour of Southeast Asia, Holbrooke was depicted as severely critical of both national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski and Communist China, Vietnam's enemy.

HENRY J. TAYLOR:

Trouble's With TV

PRESIDENT CARTER is largely responsible for undermining the faith of our people. Today's movement toward cynicism, separation, nihilism and alienation is largely due to him.

We want to believe President Carter. But how can we? He has piled deception onto deception until deception—and his failure to make full disclosure—seems nearly a way of life in our country.

But this "credibility gap" spreads far beyond President Carter.

Clearly, the distortion begins with TV, the most powerful medium any civilization ever had. The combination of hearing-seeing some distant something at the very moment it is happening is unique in all history.

But TV is just an average-size industry. Its annual revenue is about $3.5 billion, about the same as paperboard manufacturing or fruit canning industries.

BUT TV's social and political impact is all out of proportion to its size.

Also, TV is a highly concentrated industry. About 87 percent of all TV stations are affiliates of the National Broadcasting Company, Columbia Broadcasting System or the American Broadcasting Company.

These three networks provide the lion's share of evening, choice-time programs.

As for the amazing profits of the three networks, some attain about a 70 percent return on their tangible investment compared to less than 10 percent for all manufacturing industries as a whole.

Television comes into the homes of more than 95 percent of all American families—astoundingly close to all our country's families.

TV NEWS IS show business. The management's motto seems to be: "All The News We Have Film On." One TV executive called this "Getting the biggest bang out of the viewers' eyeballs."

Democratic Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, addressing the National Broadcasting Editorial Association in Washington, sounded this warning. He said: "TV's bias—or omission—strikes at the very heart of the need for an informed public."

Apparently TV has not yet learned that there is a difference between reporting the news and a dramatic performance.

If TV managements would take their own ideological biases out of their picture choices and present more balanced facts and less drama for drama's sake, TV would serve overwhelmingly better in the public interest.

EVEN A TV newscaster's raised eyebrow, a contrived pause, glance or sneering touch on a single word can do the distortion trick. This distortion combines with the promotion of a "crisis," crisis being the name of the TV game.

But TV managements, like a miser tasting banknotes with his thumb, count ratings. Many feel that if they cannot lean on a "crisis," they're dead.

The TV formula is to saturate the viewers with a crisis, salt it with sensationalism, shock the viewers and, if possible, shame them into thinking that, somehow, they're responsible.

Holbrooke flatly denies making any such comments, and it is inconceivable that he would. How in the world, then, did the Vietnamese produce such a fabrication?

While lacking proof positive, the intelligence estimate here is that this is a classic case of Soviet "disinformation"—generating lies for political purposes. If the purpose was to create rancor between U.S. policymakers, it was partially successful.

There is no internal dispute over the U.S. intention to recognize Communist China, a policy laid down by the President himself.

The question of recognizing Communist Vietnam is not yet determined, with Holbrooke and the State Department decidedly more enthusiastic over that prospect than Brzezinski and the National Security Council staff.

This difference was inadvertently underlined during Holbrooke's Southeast Asian tour. A news account out of Bangkok quoted him as predicting rapid recognition of Vietnam with precedence over China.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT in Washington denied any such policy, and Holbrooke contends he was misquoted. The confusion is attributed to sharp concern in Thailand over the new Soviet-Vietnamese treaty.

What seemed an honest error in Bangkok was followed by intentional mischief in Vientiane, Holbrooke's next spot.

At a concert given by an American pianist at the residence of the U.S. charge d'affaires, Holbrooke chatted with a Vietnamese envoy. Next came a remarkable VNA point-to-point radio report from Vientiane to Hanoi monitored by the U.S.

VNA reported that "a U.S. dignitary"—clearly Holbrooke—"admitted during a private discussion that the Western press campaign against human rights violations in Vietnam...is aimed at serving the interests of Peking, since the 'Chinese card' is arrogantly demanding that the United States not normalize relations with Vietnam and since Brzezinski is pressing the Southeast Asian affairs policymakers of the U.S. State Department into continuing to woo China and contain Vietnam."

"THE ABOVE dignitary," the VNA report continued, "also held it is still necessary for the United States to lead Peking by the nose and to continue to play the Chinese card."

He was finally quoted as predicting simultaneous U.S. diplomatic relations with both Hanoi and Peking "without allowing U.S. China relations to hamper" U.S.-Vietnamese ties and despite "intransigent Chinese pressure on the United States and its allies."

If any doubt remained about the identity of "the above dignitary," the VNA report concluded by naming Holbrooke.

It reported that he "warmly received" the Vietnamese envoy and claimed to be "very optimistic" about U.S.-Vietnamese normalization.

"The above event can be interpreted as a kind of message the U.S. assistant secretary of state wanted to express as a friendly gesture to Hanoi," it added.

"The one thing I'm sure about is that Dick Holbrooke never said any of this," one White House aide told us.

WHAT'S MORE, the report's repetitive talk about "the China card," its criticism of Brzezinski and its assault on Chinese intransigence are all out of character for the Vietnamese regime.

But not for the Soviets. That is why U.S. intelligence analysts, while lacking absolute proof, see the report as a probable exercise in Soviet "disinformation" to disrupt U.S.-Chinese relations and sow seeds of discord in the Carter administration.

The VNA report was neither broadcast by Radio Hanoi nor published in the Vietnamese press, lending credence to the theory that its source was in Moscow rather than Hanoi.

Nevertheless, the point-to-point broadcast from Vientiane was monitored in Washington and probably Peking.

Consequently, it raised suspicions about Holbrooke among some very high-placed colleagues, precisely as intended. Although now exposed as the fraud it was, this maneuver by the Kremlin shows how the high stakes game of power politics is really played in East Asia.

JAY HARRIS:

The Road Ahead...

WE HAVE OFTEN wondered if after the elections the winning candidates sometimes take stock and ask: "What am I doing here?" And by the same token, if perhaps a lot of the losers say: "What am I going to do now?"

A hardfought political campaign always has been one of high drama and fraught with trauma for the candidates, their backers and until recent times, the voters.

It still is for the first two. But, if we are to believe the polls more and more of the voters are beginning to doubt that it makes much difference, one way or the other, who is elected. If we are to ever turn things around in this nation, we must start seeing that it does make a difference. And if the political process is to continue, then the candidates must see that it does.

WITH THOSE thoughts in mind, we found a post-election session with new Cong.-elect Kent Hance most interesting.

Kent has no illusions about the madhouse he soon will inhabit, the description applying more to Washington than Congress.

"I sort of feel like the fellow who was facing trial for drunkenness and setting a bed on fire in a hotel room," Kent says.

"The fellow told the judge he was guilty of the first charge, but, Your Honor, the bed was on fire when I crawled into it..."

Well, the bed is on fire on the banks of the Potomac. And Kent has no illusions about what it may take to put it out and fight the bureaucracy on the side. Just getting acquainted and finding his way around will be the first big chore.

KENT AND THE missus will leave about Dec. 1 to go to Washington to join 74 other freshmen House members for two weeks of orientation house hunting and to get his feet on the ground.

He also will draw for office space, and put in his pitch for committee assignments, he says, on the important Agriculture Committee.

Although he succeeds the veteran Cong. Mahon, who is ending 44 years as the only congressman the 19th District has ever had, Kent will not occupy Mr. Mahon's somewhat spacious offices in the Rayburn Building, nor the impressive Appropriations Committee quarters just a step away from the main House floor in the Capitol.

Instead, as with most newcomers low on the totem pole, he could wind up in a crowded basement ballroom, a prospect which does not in the least dim his enthusiasm for the task ahead.

Kent has a $288,000 budget for office help. He plans to keep "an active, well staffed" office in both Lubbock and Midland-Odessa. Ricky Knox and Vicki Nixon, two of his present aides, will head up the Lubbock operation. He will select others, possibly from his Senate staff and Mr. Mahon's staff and elsewhere.

ALTHOUGH HIS attention is now focused on Washington, Kent still maintains a healthy interest in Austin. He has a lot of company. Many persons are waiting to see how Gov.-elect Bill Clements hits it off with the Legislature.

Frankly, we figure the new governor will surprise a lot of persons, especially in the crucial area of naming his staff and in seeking to get along with those in the State Senate and House.

Any man who has built the sort of company Clements has and who made the impact he did in handling the vast Defense establishment as Deputy Secretary of Defense isn't likely to go off the deep end in one of his biggest challenges.

In brief, Bill Clements isn't going to surround himself with "party hacks" or people who can't do the job. He isn't going to pick a fight with those he needs most in the statehouse. Nor is he going to be a pushover for the so-called professional politicians or lobbyists.

THERE HAS been much speculation about whether Lieut. Gov. Bill Hobby or Speaker Bill Clayton can work with the state's first Republican governor in 1979.

As long as Clements approaches his job with the overall interests of most Texans at heart, we see no reason for problems.

In the first place, even though both Hobby and Clayton are Democrats, their constituents for the most part are Conservatives, the same Conservatives who teamed with the GOP and Independents to elect Clements.

Secondly, any move on the part of the Democratic leadership "to cut up" Clements or deliberately make him look bad, with a view to blunting GOP hopes in the future, most likely would backfire. The voters aren't that dumb, and neither are Hobby and Clayton.

IN THAT VEIN, we think it just may be possible that the electorate is becoming more savvy to the ways of politics and politicians.

No longer are the voters going to elect people and then forget them. More and more, people are saying they want to keep up with what legislation is coming up, how "so and so" votes, at both the state and national level.

Hance and Clements as well as numerous others just named will be on trial. But, all of them should be given a chance to perform. That will take some time. In Kent's case, he is well aware that he will be under a microscope, his every move scrutinized. How he reacts to pressure from the Carter forces will say a lot. The same can be said of the other members of Congress for that matter.

In Austin, if all the emphasis is on whether Bill Clements can "get along" with the Legislature, then the state will be the loser—and those responsible for bringing about such a situation will pay the price.

Frankly, we have high hopes for both Hance and Clements. And in saying that, if they don't make it, neither do the rest of us.

...Pass It On

Q. "ISN'T THE sports page a relatively recent development in the newspaper business?"

A. It didn't come along until 1869, true, although that's none too recent. First of the sports stories had to do with the baseball games during the tour of the Wild West by the Cincinnati Red Stockings.

Q. "Why do we say 'to boot' when we refer to something extra?"

A. Comes from the Anglo-Saxon "bote" meaning "advantage" or "profit."

Though New Mexico is certainly one of the newer states—the 47th to be admitted—its capital of Santa Fe is definitely the nation's oldest. It has been a seat of government since the winter of 1609-10.

Man Trapped In Hotel Rubble 'Knew Someone Would Find Me'

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — A workman rescued after being trapped for 3 1/2 days under the rubble of a nine-story hotel said Wednesday he "knew somehow somebody would find me" and concentrated on "just staying alive."

Alfred "Butch" Summers also told reporters that he still had hopes that two other missing workmen would be found alive in the ruins.

"If they had the air supply that I had and they didn't give up hope or nothing, they might still be (alive)," Summers said from the hospital bed where he is recuperating from a broken pelvis and three broken ribs. "I'm holding hopes and praying they can make it like I did."

In a cool drizzle Wednesday about a dozen workers pried through heavy chunks of concrete and steel beams, looking for the missing men. A hardhat, torch and pack of cigarettes were unearthed, but Police Chief Larry Tennis said they belonged to Summers.

Tennis estimated that workers had removed all but the first two floors of the building by Wednesday afternoon and had not spotted signs of life in the rubble.

One of the missing workers, Frederick C. Coe III, 29, of Topeka, Kan., had been cutting steel beams near Summers in the basement at the time of the accident. Another man, Thomas Edward Oakes, 45, of Jenks, Okla., was believed on the ground floor when the structure collapsed.

Summers said that after the building fell he heard no sounds from other areas of the wreckage.

"I thought, this is it ... I am gone," Summers said, but he added that he never gave up hope and frequently called for help.

"I'm not a religious man, actually, but I figured if anyone could get me out alive, it had to be Jesus," he said.

On Tuesday afternoon, more than 82 hours after the 70-year-old hotel had fallen on him, Summers said he heard the rumble of voices. He took a pipe in his hand and started pounding.

"Get me the hell out of here!" Summers cried out when rescuers broke through to the dry cavity two feet high and 30 feet across in which Summers had been trapped.

Summers' wife, Patricia, bowed her head and cried softly as her husband described the ordeal.

"The good Lord was with me," Summers said. "That's all that needs to be said."

Officials said two falling steel beams crossed, holding up a slab of concrete to form the pocket which saved Summers' life. Summers said he crawled around in the darkness and slept occasionally.

A German shepherd pointed out the spot and workers dug for five hours Tuesday before pulling Summers out through an 18-inch hole.

An Occupational Safety and Health Administration official at the scene Wednesday said he had found nothing wrong with the demolition procedure, but added that the excavation had displaced much of the evidence.

The landmark hotel collapsed one day before it was scheduled for demolition to make way for a new library.

Survivor Never Lost Hope, 'Did An Awful Lot Of Praying'

By ALFRED SUMMERS As Told To PAUL STEVENS

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — I don't know how long I was there, but all of a sudden, the world caved in on me.

All I could think of then was trying to pick a place where the rest of the building wouldn't fall on me, so that's what I did. But I couldn't find anywhere to go.

I was on the first floor with a torch, cutting a beam, when it happened.

There was no warning. All I could remember was all of a sudden, bam! It just collapsed. No warning. There was no way of warning anybody.

I only thought the first floor had fallen on me. I would have felt a lot less hope if I had known it was a whole building.

Somebody was working near me but I'm not sure who it was. I turned, and well, I thought I could run. But after I fell, there was no way.

Everything was dark. I never lost consciousness; I can remember almost everything that happened. I found a piece of pipe and started pounding and yelling, but I couldn't hear anything. It was dark all the time down there. I never heard anything until Tuesday (when he was rescued).

I couldn't tell how big a space I was in. It was dark. I never could sit up. There was just room to lay on my side or on my back. I kept moving around, looking for an opening, but I could never find one.

Did I panic? Oh, there was a time when I thought I might not make it. But I just kept pounding the pipe and praying a lot and hoping. I mainly laid down and prayed.

It was a matter of just keeping my head and not panicking. I was scared some, but all you can do is keep your head and keep thinking that someone will come to get you out.

I have a wife and one child, but I didn't have time to think about a lot of things other than finding a way to get out. It seemed like I was down there for two days. I got awfully hungry and thirsty, but the hunger didn't bother me much. I was getting awfully thirsty, though.

I dozed now and then, but I was never able to sleep very long.

I did an awful lot of praying. I prayed to Jesus, because He's the only one I knew could get me out of this. I'm not much of a religious man, but if anyone could get me out alive, it had to be Jesus.

I hope the others are alive. If they were able to have the same supply of air that I had and they didn't give up hope or anything, they might still be. I'm hoping and praying they can make it like I did.

Just before they found me, I could hear the equipment working. It went on for quite a while before I heard voices.

I can remember that the first thing I said when they found me was: "Jesus." I think the next thing I said was, "What day is it?"

Justice's Wilmington 10 Brief Offers Little New

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The Justice Department's friend-of-the-court brief saying the Wilmington 10 did not get a fair trial produced little new evidence and may not have much legal significance, officials connected with the case said.

"The importance of it is primarily in its newsworthiness. Strictly on a legal basis, it's just another piece of evidence," said Richard N. League, an assistant North Carolina attorney general who has argued the case on appeal.

In announcing the brief, Drew S. Days III, head of the department's civil rights division, called it a precedent-shattering move that was the result of new evidence uncovered by its investigation. On Wednesday, however, the department softened its position and acknowledged there was little new information in the 89-page legal document.

The Justice Department asked U.S. District Judge Franklin Dupree Jr. to throw out the 1972 convictions of the Wilmington 10, saying that the prosecutions' chief witness may have lied but that the defense had no opportunity to cross-examine him.

The defendants were convicted of arson and conspiracy in connection with the burning of Mike's Grocery, a white-owned store, on Feb. 6, 1971. The fire-bombing came after a week of racial violence which left one white man and one black man dead.

Supporters of the 10 defendants in the civil rights case praised the ruling, and James Fuller, a Charlotte lawyer who has represented them, predicted it would have "substantial impact."

But Fuller also said the Justice Department discovered no new evidence.

The brief refers to an "amended statement" by key prosecution witness Allen

Hall, which the Justice Department contends reveals several inconsistencies in Hall's original statements and his testimony.

The brief came after nine of the 10 were already free on parole.

Actress Helps Rescue Woman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thanks in part to the efforts of the Bionic Woman — actress Lindsay Wagner — a woman threatening to jump from the roof of a 21-story hotel was brought to safety by a police officer and a hotel engineer after a four-hour ordeal.

Pat Lopez, 27, a San Fernando Valley area resident, had threatened to leap to her death from atop the Sheraton-Universal Hotel Tuesday night unless she could speak with Miss Wagner.

The actress, who played "The Bionic Woman," a character with special powers supplied by artificial body parts — was flown by police helicopter to the hotel.

"She (Miss Wagner) was just great," said one officer, adding that she was "instrumental in helping us save the Lopez woman's life."

While Miss Wagner distracted the woman, hotel engineer Lee Wyatt grabbed Miss Lopez, nearly going over the edge with her.

Miss Lopez was taken to Olive View Medical Center in nearby Sylmar.

Urban, Rural Americans Turn Out For Mickey

ABOARD THE MICKEY MOUSE SPECIAL (AP) — The young and young at heart are turning out at railroad stations across the country to help Mickey Mouse celebrate his 50th birthday with a whistle-stop tour.

The gala week, organized by Walt Disney Productions, will wind up with a television special, "Mickey's 50," on NBC-TV Sunday night.

Meanwhile, Mickey Mouse rides cross-country by train — a trip that ends in New York Saturday, exactly 50 years after he made his debut there in the cartoon "Steamboat Willie."

Along the way, Mickey will be guest of honor at the Chicago International Film Festival and will attend a special White House party with Amy Carter as hostess.

The trip began in Los Angeles Monday night. Mickey attracted 1,000 people at his first stop in Pasadena and drew good crowds at other stops in the California desert. About 50 people showed up in the small community of Needles at 2 a.m. and 20, including a baby 4 months old, were waiting at Kingman, Ariz., at 3:15 a.m.

The "Mickey Mouse Special," as the train is called, is actually a regularly-scheduled Amtrak train — the Southwest Limited as far as Chicago, other trains after that — with a private car complete with open platform coupled onto the back. Regular passengers got souvenir buttons and menus and complimentary cheesecake in the dining car.

About a dozen Disney staff people are riding in the private car, among them two short, slight young women who take turns disappearing when Mickey — who is about their size — takes center stage.

At each stop a local band plays the Mickey Mouse theme song and Mickey, less than 5 feet tall, bounces out to pat children on their heads and shake their hands. He puts his white gloves up to his mouth as if to say, "All this for me?"

By Wednesday, the train was on the Great Plains, stopping in Garden City and Hutchinson, Kan., then rolling into Kansas City, the boyhood home of Walt Disney. Mayor Charles B. Wheeler gave Mickey a plaque and the Mid-America Regional Council Advisory Board interrupted its proceedings to give the little visitor a standing ovation at City Hall. Then the trip resumed, heading for Chicago.

Along the way, there were glimpses of small-town America's affection for the character. "I've already written a note to the principal," said Gail Riker, who with her husband David had brought their children Michael, 10, and Thomas, 6, to see Mickey at Winslow, Ariz., the first stop after dawn Tuesday. Plenty of other children were there, prompting Mrs. Riker to look around and say, "No, school is not going to start on time today."

At Gallup, N.M., school officials made the visit a field trip and hundreds of young children were on hand. Sheila Becker brought her son J.D., 4, and said it was her second trip to the railroad station. The Gallup newspaper had printed the wrong date for Mickey's visit, she said, and everyone was at the station a week early.

About 1,000 people were waiting in Albuquerque, where dozens of children perched on fathers' shoulders to get a peek. "I wish he could stay overnight," Greg Chavez, 5, told his father, Fred.

Many regular passengers hadn't known they would be part of such a celebration. Harry O. Brown and his wife, Edna, of West Covina, Calif., were on their way to visit grandchildren in Maryland, said. "We got Mickey Mouse pins for all 'It's the thrill of my life," Mrs. Brown the grandchildren."

Boy Intentionally Doused, Set Afire

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy who was thought to have been burned accidentally last week has told police he was doused with gasoline and set afire intentionally by a 12-year-old boy.

Denny Evans told investigators Tuesday that he was fighting with another boy when the 12-year-old poured gasoline over him and ignited it with a cigarette lighter.

Evans, who suffered second- and third-degree burns over more than 75 percent of his body Saturday, was listed in critical condition Wednesday at a Kansas City hospital.

Detective Jim Wright of the St. Joseph Police Department said the 12-year-old, who confirmed Evans' story, was taken into custody.

Wright said the 12-year-old and his companion originally told police that Evans lit a match near a container of gasoline and his clothes caught fire and that they put out the fire and called an ambulance.

FUZZ-BUSTER DECISION

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Anti-radar devices used to warn motorists of police radar must be fully installed and operational to be legal, an appellate session of Superior Court has ruled. The decision, released Tuesday, also said the devices cannot be treated as contraband. That means that if police seize the units, they must be returned to a motorist after final disposition of a case. A state police spokesman said his department will review its policy on the use of the anti-radar devices.

School Bus-Auto Collision Injures Two At New Deal

NEW DEAL (Special) — A Lubbock youth and a 14-year-old New Deal girl were injured Wednesday when the car in which they were riding collided with a New Deal school bus loaded with children on their way home.

None of the children in the bus were injured in the 3:25 p.m. crash, according to Department of Public Safety officials at the scene.

The driver of the car, Johnny William Durham, 16, of Rt. 1, Lubbock, was listed in good condition with multiple injuries at Methodist Hospital late Tuesday. His passenger, Pepper Teston, 14, of New Deal, was listed in satisfactory condition at Methodist.

The collision occurred at the intersection of U.S. 87 Business and FM 1729 in New Deal.

MONACO
An independent principality for more than 300 years, Monaco has belonged to the House of Grimaldi since 1297, except during the French Revolution. It was placed under the protectorate of Sardinia in 1815 and under that of France in 1861. The Prince of Monaco was an absolute ruler until a constitution was promulgated in 1911.

Teen-Age Pair Held In Swindle Scheme

An ill-conceived plot to hold a blind man out of $5 failed Wednesday morning when a bystander broke up the attempt and captured one of the teen-agers involved.

Buty Pallas, 14, of 2419 2nd Street, said two teen-aged boys approached the small convenience store he operates in the lobby of the U.S. Post Office at 1535 Ave. G about 10 a.m. Wednesday and tried to pass off a blank piece of paper they said was a $5 bill. About that time, according to police reports, an unidentified man noticed what was going on and grabbed one of the youths.

The man held the youth until police arrived, and the second boy was picked up several minutes later in the 1700 block of Ave. E. Both were turned over to the Lubbock Police Department's Juvenile Division.

Shortly after the incident, a man claiming to be Jesus Christ climbed onto a second-story ledge of the Human Development Center at 1210 Texas Ave. and threatened to jump.

The 26-year-old Lubbock man, who had been receiving treatment at the center, broke out a window and climbed onto the ledge after something disturbed him, said Police Det. Edward Hernandez.

Hernandez said he and police officers Larry Jenkins and John Bowman talked with the man for about 15 minutes before wrestling him from the ledge. The man was taken to Methodist Hospital for treatment.

Edgar Hatchell said someone pried open a door of his 703 Ave. R residence sometime Tuesday night and made off with his TV set and a cable TV converter. He said his loss was approximately $285.

Some tools, a briefcase, some calculators and other miscellaneous items were taken from a car parked at Smuggler's Inn, 1919 50th St., between 7 and 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, said police. The car, which belongs to Andy Mungenast of Midland, did not show signs of forced entry, police said.

James Keston said someone fished up his car and took a wheel and a tire, worth $125, sometime early Wednesday morning. The car was parked in front of Keston's residence at 4411 21st St. at the time of the incident.

Two theft suspects, apparently trying to fight off the cold, were arrested for attempting to steal coats from local department stores in separate attempts.

A 26-year-old Tack student was arrested about 7:45 p.m. Tuesday when he allegedly took a coat from a mannequin at the J.C. Penney department store at South Plains Mall and walked out.

The suspect was stopped by security officers in front of the store at 6008 Slide Road. Reports show that when the man was asked to come back into the store he tried to run off. However, he stopped and went with officers to the mall's security office where he was picked up and transferred to the county jail.

At about the same time the arrest was made at the mall, a 15-year-old boy was caught down the road at Gibson Discount Center, 5225 50th St., attempting to walk out with an unpaid coat and a new pair of tennis shoes, reports show.

The youth tried to run from security officers, but was caught and detained until police arrived.

A Lubbock man was arrested about 1:20 a.m. Wednesday in the 2100 block of Seventh Street on suspicion of disorderly conduct, possession of marijuana and resisting arrest.

The 25-year-old suspect was stopped at Ninth Street and Avenue Y where he admitted to police that he had just broken a window at a residence at 2117 Seventh St., reports show. When told he was under arrest, the man allegedly began cursing and fighting with the officers.

Six Years Of Waiting Comes To End For Dixie Prison Escapee

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Joe Wade says he was "sort of expecting it" when a policeman walked up to him last March, called him by his real name, Franklin Vincent, and arrested him on charges of escaping from prison in Yancey, N.C.

Vincent, or Wade as he has been calling himself in Texarkana, has been a heavy equipment operator in Texarkana the past six years, driving cranes and bulldozers for construction companies.

He was in Bowie County jail Wednesday, awaiting sheriff's deputies from Guilford County in North Carolina to arrive and return him to prison. Extradition papers from North Carolina were received last week.

Vincent was serving 10 to 15 years for incest, stemming from charges filed against him by his 16-year-old daughter. He denies committing the crime.

After serving about three years of the sentence, Vincent escaped while on a 24-hour pass he had received for being an "honor grade" inmate.

"I wasn't guilty and I knew I could do better with my life somewhere else than prison," he said in an interview this week with the Texarkana Gazette and Daily News.

When the sister he was visiting took a nap, he walked away from her house with $24 in his pocket, caught a ride to Atlanta with a truck carrying horses.

That was on Aug. 12, 1972. He arrived in Texarkana in a $75 car he said he paid for by working in a Little Rock junk yard and got a job operating heavy equipment for a construction company.

Police were tipped to Vincent by a woman he had been living with in Texarkana but separated from recently after a fight involving jewelry.

Police checked several times on a story he was an escapee from a North Carolina prison, but said for some reason his escape did not show up on police records until earlier this year.

He remained out of jail pending the extradition proceedings because his employer signed a note that made him responsible for half of the $20,000 bond if Vincent were to skip. The employer also loaned Vincent $400 to help him pay his half of the bond.

"He is a first-class worker. He will work seven days a week, 12 or 14 hours a day. I feel a man who will work like that is better off outside of jail than locked up somewhere," said Bob Pierce, construction firm owner.

Anthropologist Margaret Mead Succumbs

NEW YORK (AP) — Margaret Mead, one of the world's foremost anthropologists and idol of several generations of American students, died Wednesday after a year-long battle with cancer. She was 76.

She died at New York Hospital, where she had been admitted Oct. 2, no longer able to work at her permanent headquarters in the American Museum of Natural History.

She was the retired curator of ethnology there and also had occupied chairs of anthropology at Columbia and Fordham universities.

Miss Mead, whose early fame and professional reputation were based on exhaustive field studies of primitive Pacific island cultures, always stayed in tune and in touch with the young of her own land.

She angered some political conservatives, who objected to her views on marijuana and generational conflict. She favored legalization of marijuana because, she said, banning it bred conflict between kids and their parents, and that was worse than any harm it did.

She also thought adults had to heed the opinions of their children. One reason for this, she said, was television, which produced a generation that saw "history being made before it is censored by their elders."

During her half-century in anthropology, Miss Mead also refined the technique of using pictures by the tens of thousands as part of her basic data.

A writer once dubbed her "grandmother of us all," and that description was endorsed by Edward J. Lehman, executive director of the American Anthropological Association — meeting in Los Angeles when she died.

"Margaret's death is a loss not only to anthropology, but to science in general; not only to U.S. society, but to the world. She is irreplaceable," said Lehman.

Popularizing anthropology was among her major achievements — "mass education of the very best kind," said Robert Murphy, a Columbia University anthropologist and former department chairman.

"She pioneered two important fields, being the first to take a cross-cultural look at childhood and the role of culture in shaping personality," he said. "In 1949, she wrote 'Male and Female,' 20 years before the rest of the world turned its eyes on the female role."

Miss Mead, who was born Dec. 16, 1901, in a suburb of Philadelphia, preached that a large, cohesive family was the best environment for a child to grow in. She regretted the passing of multi-generational households — children, parents and grandparents — like the one in which she grew up.

But the institution of marriage, she thought, was dispensable and she went through three marriages and divorces herself.

She kept her maiden name through all three, anticipating the rise of the feminist movement. She deplored the idea that upbringing and social pressure gave boys advantages over girls, but also maintained that some roles were legitimately the province of one sex or the other.

Starting with "Coming of Age in Samoa," published in 1928, when she was 26, Miss Mead chronicled the primitive tribal ways of Polynesian islanders during what turned out to be the final years of their existence.

But while studying the past, she kept relating her findings and insights to the upheavals of modern society, often years before anyone knew the problems existed.

Recalling her reaction to news of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima in 1945, she said: "I tore up every page of a book I had nearly finished. Every sentence was out of date. We had entered a new age." planned for her in Washington, Pa., at a private funeral and burial were an undelivered letter.

FIRST DECOYS
A thousand years ago, Indians made the first decoys in order to attract birds to move within an arrow's range. They were made of bulrushes woven and twisted into duck shapes. This Indian invention was quickly adopted by North America's first white hunters. In the Old World, hunters used tame birds to trap wild ones in a cage the Dutch called an "ende kool" — what the Englishmen pronounced "decoy."

Attorney General Handcuffed On Agency Suits

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas attorneys general may not file suit to wipe out state agency actions they consider illegal, the supreme court ruled Wednesday.

Attorney General John Hill said he would ask the high court to reconsider. He called the decision "a serious setback in the efforts of this office to protect the public interest."

Without writing a new opinion, the supreme court said it found "no reversible error" in two decisions against Hill by the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals here.

Hill had sued to block orders of the old Texas Water Quality Board and Texas Water Rights Commission — both of which were absorbed last year into the Texas Department of Water Resources.

In one suit, Hill accused the water quality board of failing to protect the Edwards Aquifer, San Antonio's water supply.

In the other, Hill said the water rights commission had illegally allowed the Lower Colorado River Authority to sell water it did not own to the South Texas Nuclear Project for $50 million.

The appeals court said July 12 the Texas Constitution binds the attorney general to defend state agencies in court and, therefore, he cannot sue them himself.

Hill said in a statement that the supreme court should at least issue an opinion "to let us know whether the decision was based on constitutional grounds or others."

"The Legislature needs to address this problem, and the court should give it clear guidance as to the type of legal change necessary to protect the public from illegal actions of the state bureaucrats," Hill said.

In another case, the court upheld a law that says a paternity suit must be filed before an illegitimate baby is a year old.

The Texas Department of Human Resources challenged the constitutionality of the law after losing a paternity case in Dallas because it sued 13 months after an illegitimate birth.

The department contended the law unconstitutionally denied some illegitimate children their day in court.

"In our judgment," the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals said, "the Legislature could reasonably conclude... that the potential harm to putative fathers defending state or fraudulent claims is, on balance, greater than the potential harm to illegitimate children whose support is forfeited by the mother's inaction."

The supreme court affirmed the decision without offering its own opinion.

In a third case, the court said it found

"no reversible error" in a decision awarding $12,000 in accidental death insurance to Velma Heyward of San Antonio, even though her late husband, Bennie, was deliberately shot to death. But it agreed with the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals that the $65,000 in fees awarded to Mrs. Heyward's attorneys was excessive.

Killings In Rhodesia Mounting

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — The military command Wednesday reported 28 new deaths in the war with black nationalist guerrillas, and one guerrilla faction said it will kill prominent black "traitors" who continue to support Rhodesia's biracial government.

A military communique said the latest deaths included 22 guerrillas, a white farmer, four black civilians and a Rhodesian army captain. It said the guerrillas were slain in clashes with security forces but did not elaborate on the others.

The statement also said insurgents blew up a bridge over the Mpudzi River on the main highway leading from the eastern garrison town of Umtali to the South African border.

Message Names 50
A statement by the Zimbabwe African National Union said 50 leading blacks in the so-called internal settlement government will be killed if they fail to renounce the biracial settlement within a month. The message from ZANU headquarters in Maputo, Mozambique, was distributed in Johannesburg, South Africa.

Topping the list of black "traitors" among government and police officials was Bishop Abel Muzorewa, one of three moderate blacks joined with white Prime Minister Ian Smith in the biracial Executive Council forged last March. The biracial government was established to arrange free elections and pave the way for majority rule in Rhodesia, called Zimbabwe by the nationalists.

"Any person whose name has been announced tonight and who does not resign during the required period automatically becomes a priority military target. You are liable to be arrested or shot on sight, there is no hiding place in Zimbabwe," the ZANU message said.

"If they comply with this warning, all will be forgiven. If they persist, they will be doomed..." it said, adding a second list of "traitors, puppets, collaborators" will be published at the end of December as a special Christmas bulletin.

A jury at Lubbock said that the mobile home, purchased and set up in September and October 1974, had been properly set up. But an Amarillo appeals court subsequently ruled that the Smalls were entitled to $1,000 in damages, plus nine percent interest and attorney's fees, to be paid by General Election Credit Corp., the credit dealer for the mobile home manufacture, and Crawford, the local sales dealer.

The Supreme Court made no further comment on the case brought by Roy-nold and Laverne Smail of Lubbock, who purchased their Sequoia Mobile Home from Glen Crawford, a local dealer.

The case arrived before the Supreme Court because lower courts reached different conclusions on a breach of contract. The Smalls alleged a breach of both expressed and implied warranties by the mobile home dealer, in violation of both the Federal Truth in Lending and Texas Consumer Credit acts.

Biggest Prime Number Found

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — After a three-year search aided by a university computer, two college students have discovered the largest known prime number, a huge figure with 6,533 digits.

A prime number is a figure that can be evenly divided by no other whole number than itself and one, such as two, three, five and seven.

The new number — two to the 21,701 power minus one — was calculated by Laura Nickel and Curt Noll, both 18-year-old students at California State University at Hayward.

The Guinness Book of World Records lists the largest known prime number as two to the 19,937 power minus one. Its discoverer, Dr. Bryant Tuckerman of Yorktown, N.Y., has called to congratulate Miss Nickel and Noll.

They designed five different special programs for the computer and after several setbacks, came up with a successful version Oct 30.

They became interested in computers while in high school and got involved in the search for the mammoth figure after seeing a poster mentioning a young scientist working with prime numbers.

They contacted Professor Arthur Simon and lecturer Dan Jurca of Hayward's mathematics department, who provided them with access to the university computer. The number was confirmed independently.

Both students say they plan to continue their education and write a sixth version of the program to find an even larger prime number.

South African Hits 'U.S. Interference'

By PAULA TILKER
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Vowing his country "will not commit suicide at the request of the U.S. government," a South African public relations man Wednesday censured the Carter administration's foreign policy and stand on human rights.

Andre Visser, North American deputy director of the South Africa Foundation, said during a Lubbock news conference his country rejects "outside influence" in its internal matters, including apartheid. "It's our bed, we will make it," he explained.

Visser, on a goodwill swing through the country to drum up grassroots support for South Africa, asked, plainly referring to Carter's criticism of apartheid, "Why should South Africa be singled out as the whipping boy of the world?"

Reeling off a list of past South African government actions supportive of the United States, Visser, who represents a private citizens' foundation and not the South African government, said South Africans are disturbed by Carter's actions, "especially when we hold our hand in friendship and get rebuffed every time."

He cited as an example the United States refusal to veto the United Nations arms embargo against South Africa.

"This is frankly something we don't understand," he said, adding his country now is in the dilemma of not being able to buy United States military equipment until the government turns communitarian.

He also hinted Communists may be behind world pressure against South Africa because of its apartheid policies.

After noting a buildup of Russian military presence in the Indian Ocean and the Communists' wish to "dominate the world," Visser added, "We've always taken the Communist threat very seriously."

The Communists' attempts to "gain control of the Cape of Good Hope" in South Africa is "not recognized by the present U.S. administration," Visser said.

If the USSR were to gain control of South Africa and its shipping lanes and mineral supplies, their next aim would be Europe and then the United States, Visser warned. "It would be a stepping stone to the United States — you, ultimately."

Visser, whose Lubbock trip was sponsored by the Conservative Caucus of the 19th Congressional District, later Wednesday told a group of about 25 persons it is "fashionable" in this country to condemn South Africa.

The South African government "acknowledges discrimination can't be defended," he admitted, adding changes are being made in segregation laws, education inequalities and job training.

But, he charged, the developing "campaign against South Africa" to force United States corporations to withdraw from South Africa is misguided.

Proponents of disinvestment say South African blacks want withdrawal. "This statement is totally false," Visser claimed, saying it would be "hard to find someone who supports it."

Corporate withdrawal would mean "misery" for about 350,000 blacks and their families, who would be left unemployed and hungry, he explained.

Visser appealed to Americans who fear Communist presence in Africa to support his country's cause.

Saying he perceives goodwill and sympathy from Americans in general, Visser added, "Quite frankly, it (the federal government) doesn't respond to South Africa at all."

"We've been holding out the hand of friendship. We've done everything we can to win friendship." But, he added, Washington balks at his country's internal policies.

He noted, too, that the United States is deepening its relations with avowed foes, such as North Korea, Red China and the Soviet Union.

And, he said, more than 60 countries other than South Africa have legal forms of discrimination. Yet, they are not singled out by the United States, he added.

Visser predicted Rhodesia, torn by civil strife, will stand firm. He explained, "They conceded everything the world asked and that was not enough."

And, he added, "We believe in South Africa we won't satisfy the world, until we pack our bags and move out. And that we won't do."

Improvements Drafted By Airport Board

The city that three security guards be added to the current staff of 12.

Director of Aviation Marvin Coffee said he did not particularly want more officers at the airport, but that they were needed to aid traffic flow and prevent vandalism.

"There is a good balance of enforcement and leniency at the airport now," Coffee said. "The police officers are non-productive and I hate to have so many but they're necessary," he added.

Just Monday a 23-year-old Lubbock woman was attacked by a man in the airport employees' parking lot shortly after 6 p.m. She managed to fend off her attacker by spraying him with mace and then escaping.

Board members voiced concern over the problem of curbside baggage check-in — which the airport currently does not have — and recommended that the city work with the airlines to get them involved in implementing such a program.

According to Coffee, the airlines have been reluctant to pass along responsibility for luggage check-in to city-employed porters. But they also feel the size of Lubbock airport operations does not warrant porters employed by individual airlines.

As a first step toward urging the airlines to initiate their own curbside check-in system, the board announced they were turning control of the porters over to the airlines effective January, 1979.

The board also will recommend two additional parking attendants to handle traffic Sunday through Thursday, the airport's peak traffic periods.

One attendant will serve as a supervisor and the other will be a parking "spotter" to direct cars to vacant parking spaces.

Coffee said the two attendants would "be good for public relations because it would save airport patrons time in looking for a parking spot."

The recommended attendants are an alternative to a shuttle service from the overflow lot to the ticket counter entrances.

Anti-Shah Protests Calming In Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Violent anti-government protests waned Wednesday and Iran's oil industry geared up in the wake of a crippling 15-day strike. But peaceful marches to protest the rule of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi were reported in three major cities.

About 500 women in chadurs — ankle-length black robes — marched in Mashhad, a holy city about 440 miles east of the capital, to show their opposition to the shah, the government reported.

Western dress for women and the abolishment of the veil are some of the modern reforms introduced by the shah that have raised the ire of conservative religious leaders in this overwhelmingly Moslem state.

Teachers End Strike
At nearby Ferdowsi University, teachers and students ended a sit-in strike. The university has been closed for weeks after its campus was used as a setting for anti-shah demonstrators, who called for his abdication and government reforms.

The government also reported that several thousand persons peacefully demonstrated in Gorgan, about 185 miles east of Tehran.

The peaceful protests were in sharp contrast to bloody clashes between youths and security forces in various provincial areas in the past four days, in which at least 23 persons were killed and scores injured.

Oil industry officials reported that the anti-shah strike in the oil fields ended Tuesday, with most employees reporting to work.

Workers Reluctant
Reliable sources in the oilfield, however, that "there was some reluctance shown on the part of many workers to work, by keeping their hands in their pockets."

Production, which had risen to 3.3 million barrels Tuesday, dropped by 100,000 barrels Wednesday, oil industry sources said. Normal production before the strike was about 6 million barrels daily.

"This was not due to lack of hands, but getting the equipment and the wells back into shape," said one official in Ahwaz, in the heart of the Persian Gulf oilfields.

Operations at the Abadan oil refinery were almost running at full capacity. Officials reported that 470,000 barrels had been refined in the world's biggest complex, which is capable of processing more than 500,000 million barrels daily.

Supertankers Loading
Four supertankers were at Kharg Island terminal in the Persian Gulf loading oil, and 39 more ships were at anchor waiting their turn, the state-owned National Iranian Oil Co. said.

Reports from the giant Kuzestan oil field said several workers clashed briefly among themselves over whether to work or not, but police maintained order.

The walkout formally ended after the strikers received assurances from the 59-year-old shah through National Oil Co. officials that he would meet their demands of ending martial law, releasing political prisoners and replacing foreigners in the oil industry with Iranians capable of filling the jobs.

There was no indication of when their demands would be met.

Tehran, which has returned to its normal life, has resumed its daily activities.

Artists Due Honor On Gold Medallions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first gold medallions bearing the image of American artists may be offered for sale in spring 1980, the Treasury Department said Wednesday.

The sale of American Arts Gold Medallions was authorized by the last Congress over objections from the Treasury.

The law requires the minting of 1 million ounces of gold in medallion form each year for sale in 1980 through 1984.

mal hub-bub in the bazaar and crush of street traffic, was free from demonstrations for the seventh consecutive day. Many of the 200 tanks and 100,000 soldiers who were deployed in various points in the city when the military government took control a week ago Monday were returned to their garrisons.

Influential religious leader Ayatollah Khomeini, in exile in Paris, threatened to have his followers halt oil production if the United States continued its support for the shah.

Khomeini, the 78-year-old spiritual leader of Iran's 32 million Shiite Moslems, said through a representative that

Senators, Russians Argue Over SALT

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of senators visiting Moscow got into "most violent arguments" with Soviet officials Wednesday over Strategic Arms Limitation Talks and Russia's military moves, a member of the delegation said.

In a telephone report to his Washington office, Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., said: "There was a strong clash of views which occupied most of the day. As a matter of fact, we never seemed to be able to agree on anything, the Soviets claiming that they are not acting aggressively in Africa, the Middle East and other places, and the Americans presenting them with evidence to the contrary."

"Today was taken up totally with these almost violent arguments about the different opinions each side has on the arms question."

Ribicoff Heads Group
Bellmon is the senior Republican in a delegation of 12 senators visiting the Soviet Union for 10 days of talks with Soviet leaders about trade, arms control and other topics. The delegation, which has been in the Soviet Union since Friday, is headed by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.

In the report released by his office, Bellmon said the senators met Wednesday with members of the Supreme Soviet, the country's parliament.

One area of arguments was triggered by the delegation's insistence for on-site inspection of Soviet military facilities to assure compliance with any new arms limitation treaty, Bellmon said.

Verification Key
"The members of the Senate insisted that unless a more credible means of verification in regard to the level of nuclear weapons is agreed to that there's simply no way we will be able to get a SALT agreement," Bellmon was quoted as saying. "The Soviet delegates insist that the present means of verification are adequate."

Bellmon said the senators also challenged the Soviets about a reported buildup of tanks and other arms in Central Europe. He said the Soviets denied any buildup and refused the senators' request to allow on-the-ground inspection."

Ribicoff told reporters in Moscow he made it plain the senators will be linking their SALT votes to Soviet policies on issues such as human rights, Jewish emigration, Africa and the Middle East.

Want Race Slowed
But he said he believed both sides want to slow the arms race and that the U.S. and Soviet SALT positions are not too far apart.

"There is a realization for us both that the United States and the Soviet Union can either live together or they can die together," he said. "We are all of the mind and heart to live together."

"This was a very full and frank discussion with no holds barred," Ribicoff said, noting there were sharp differences, especially on the issue of European troop reductions.

Ribicoff met with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko earlier Wednesday, the Soviet news agency Tass said. The delegation hopes to meet President Leonid I. Brezhnev on Friday before leaving for Budapest.

The Kremlin's chief American affairs adviser, Dr. Georgy Arbatov, characterized Wednesday's talks as "heated but very positive."

"Of course we will not conceal from you that the approaches were different on a series of questions," Arbatov told reporters.

A Pravda political commentator said the senators' trip to the Soviet Union was important because "it was an opportunity for them to come and see with their own eyes instead of through the American press the situation in our country."

The main differences were over equality of weapons and forces and verification of actual reductions, Ribicoff said.

He said he believed Soviet officials had no real understanding of the workings of the American political system, especially regarding the need for a two-thirds majority in the Senate to ratify a SALT pact.

"We kept making the point that you have 100 senators each acting on their own, and that it was therefore pretty tough to get 67 votes," he said.

At the start of the meeting Ribicoff said Americans are concerned that the Soviets may try to benefit from unrest in Africa, the Middle East or other areas.

"While the SALT agreement may be good for both of us, it is extremely difficult to explain to the American voter why the United States cooperates on strategic matters and clashes (with the Soviets) in regional disputes," he said.

In reply, Boris N. Ponomarev, an alternate member of the ruling Communist Party Politburo and chairman of a Supreme Soviet committee on foreign affairs, defended Soviet policy in Africa and the Middle East and expressed alarm over growing U.S. ties with China.

think we can justify asking the legislature for additional courts at this time," Brazzell said.

Commissioner Biggs said some of the workload on the county courts-at-law may be alleviated when a new state constitutional amendment, passed by Texas voters last week, takes effect next year.

The amendment allows JP courts to handle cases involving money up to $500. Currently the JPs' limit is $200, and cases above that must be handled in a county court-at-law.

Also this afternoon the commissioners court is to consider JPs' requests for additional clerical employees. JPs Wayne LeCroy and Charles Smith say they need more secretaries to process lawsuits being filed by the Lubbock city-school tax office.

Panel Finds No Evidence Ray Paid To Kill King

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House assassinations committee said Wednesday it can find no evidence that James Earl Ray was ever paid to assassinate civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr.

Ray probably financed his flight from the assassination scene in Memphis, Tenn. with cash obtained in an Illinois bank robbery, committee investigators have concluded.

"If there is a conspiracy, then there is no evidence that he (Ray) received payment," said G. Robert Blakey, the committee's chief counsel.

Following the King assassination on April 4, 1968, Ray fled to Atlanta, took a bus to Detroit, crossed into Canada, flew to England, went on to Portugal, then returned to London and was arrested June 8, 1968.

He had also traveled extensively in Mexico and Canada from the time of his escape from the Missouri State Penitentiary on April 23, 1967, until the assassination.

Those who believe there was a conspiracy to kill King have always cited the lack of any apparent source of income which Ray could have used to pay travel and other expenses, including phony documentation used by Ray to mask his identity.

In testimony Wednesday, committee investigator Edward M. Evans recounted a detailed examination of Ray's finances from the time of his escape from prison to his capture at London's Heathrow Airport.

Evans estimated that Ray spent $9,607.94, and took in $1,238.34 from known sources during the period. He had $144 in his pocket when arrested.

That leaves $8,369.40 unaccounted for, most of which Ray has insisted came from a mysterious figure named Raoul who enlisted him in an illegal drug and gun smuggling scheme.

Evans said committee investigators believe that the July 13, 1967 robbery of $27,000 from a bank in Alton, Ill., is "the most probable alternative to Ray's Raoul version of his finances."

He said it is probable that one or both of Ray's brothers, John and Jerry, took part in the holdup in which two men wearing stocking masks and carrying shotguns held up the bank.

James Earl Ray, currently serving a 99-year prison term for the King assassination, has denied any part in the bank robbery, which is still listed as unsolved by the FBI. John Ray is to testify before the committee later. It is not known if Jerry Ray will be called by the committee.

James Earl Ray initially pleaded guilty to the assassination, but has since recanted a confession made in 1969.

Evans said, "The Alton robbery is virtually identical in modus operandi to five other bank robberies in which John Ray was involved with Jerry Ray participating in at least one of these robberies."

The National Retail Merchants Association said: "The voluntary deceleration program is a necessary step and has the whole-hearted support of the membership."

In his speech, Kahn, who oversaw deregulation of the airline industry, said he was considering seeking removal of controls on the trucking industry.

He also said the administration has "floated the idea" of seeking to cut back planned increases in the federal minimum wage. "We will look at it seriously," he said.

'Born-Again' Youngsters Remembered

HILLSDALE, N.J. (AP) — More than 600 friends and relatives of five "born-again" Christian teen-agers killed in a traffic accident gave thanks at a funeral service Wednesday that the youths "are now with Jesus."

Parishioners and church leaders said they believe the deaths were part of God's plan and added that they hope to find strength in their faith from the tragedy, which occurred as the teen-agers were returning home after a day of Bible study.

"Buckets of tears have been shed," said the Rev. Fred Beveridge, pastor of the Pascack Bible Church. "The pain of our hearts is like a knife, but behind this is the confidence in Jesus Christ."

Maria Van Beers, 15, of Upper Saddle River, N.J.; Brian Hayhurst, 17; his brother, Mark, 15; Eric Borlox, 15, and Thomas E. Carroll, 14, all of Westwood, N.J., were killed Saturday night when the van in which they were riding collided with another van. Also killed were the driver of the second vehicle, Stuart Stricklett, 28, of Allendale, N.J., and his brother, Roger, 26, of Waldwick, N.J.

Police said Stricklett was speeding and attempted to pass another car when the accident occurred.

"We know that God had planned this accident that way," a member of the church's youth group said at the funeral. "He had them prepared for it and, in a short while, they will be with him."

Walter Van Beers, Maria's father, noted that the teen-agers were different than most of their peers.

"They weren't popular in the way of the world," he told the congregation while looking at the five flower-covered coffins. "They turned away from alcohol. They turned away from drugs. They turned away from wild parties and promiscuity and anything not pleasing to God."

Van Beers, his voice breaking at times, urged the parishioners to pray for the Stricklett brothers. "We hold no bitterness in our hearts for our brothers who caused this accident," he said.

Mrs. Steven McIlveen, a great aunt of the Hayhurst boys, told a reporter, "The Lord is certainly sustaining the parents. The parents were comforting everyone else at the funeral home last night."

Classmates of the five youths echoed the sentiments of their elders that there must have been a purpose in the deaths.

"There has to be a reason for their deaths," said John Hartman, a 16-year-old Westwood High School student and a member of the church youth group. "It sounds wrong that God took five teen-age lives. But God does everything for a purpose. This makes me have more faith in God, because more and more people will get to know the Lord through this tragedy."

A sixth teen-ager, Beth Robertson, was dropped at her Allendale home just before the accident.

"No, I don't consider myself lucky. It wasn't my time yet," said Beth, who was Maria's best friend. "The Lord had other plans for me. I accept their death."

With slogans like "Smoking Stinks" and "Kiss Me, I Don't Smoke," organizers of the second annual "Great American Smokeout" prepared for Thursday's campaign to get people to quit puffing — for 24 hours at least.

The event is sponsored by the American Cancer Society which predicts that five million smokers will try to get through the day without cigarettes. According to the society, 31 percent of the nation's smokers participated in the smokeout last Nov. 17; 13 percent of them managed to stick it out through the day and 10 percent of that group said 60 days later that they had quit for good.

The smokeout — designed to spotlight health problems linked to cigarettes — was attacked by the Tobacco Institute which said the cancer society was aiding "the proliferating commercialization of 'stop smoking' devices and clinics." The industry group said the society was "misleading the public with its tunnel vision of the cancer problem" and added: "No individual needs the advice of the American Cancer Society — or the Tobacco Institute for that matter — as to whether he or she may enjoy smoking."

A growing number of states and cities have been moving to limit smoking in public places, although a proposal that would have sharply curtailed smoking on a statewide basis in California was rejected in last Tuesday's election.

Local chapters of the cancer society joined with school and health officials across the country to promote the smokeout with parades, pledge cards and publicity.

Would-be non-smokers in Hartford, Conn., got together Wednesday for a parade featuring 10-foot-tall dancing cigarettes; a weekend party at a Tulsa, Okla., shopping mall was built around the theme "Dance, Don't Smoke;" and Union Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Portland, Maine, distributed pledge cards to employees with the promise of prizes to those who give up cigarettes. Many of the anti-smoking efforts were organized around school activities. A cancer society booth at the University of Wyoming in Laramie offered pledge cards and signs reading "Smoking Stinks." Elementary school students in Lander, Wyo., wore buttons urging: "Kiss Me. I Don't Smoke."

The Sidney Farber Cancer Institute in Boston will operate a special "quitline" service on Thursday, referring callers to clinics which can help them stop smoking. Among the volunteers answering the telephone will be David Humphrey, 34, who started smoking when he was 15. "When I quit four years ago, I was climbing the wall at first," recalled Humphrey.

MIAMI (AP) — A Miami cigar producer is finding out the hard way that a picture can be worth much more than a thousand words.

Orlando Padron's cigar factory, this city's largest, has become the target of a boycott sparked by the publication of a photo of him handing a cigar to Cuban President Fidel Castro.

"There has been a tremendous campaign against us," says Padron. "There have been pamphlets and small posters put up calling for a boycott of our cigars."

Padron's problems began in late October when he joined other local business executives in discussions with Castro that eventually led to the freeing of scores of Cuban political prisoners. While most Cuban-Americans applauded the prisoner release, many objected to the dialogue with Castro.

On Oct. 23, The Miami News published a photograph showing Padron handing a cigar to Castro. The photo was published again a few days later in La Nacion, a Cuban exile newspaper.

The photo caption in La Nacion identified Padron and Castro, who was referred to as "the tyrant," and suggested that Padron should have given cigars to the prisoners instead.

Soon, posters began appearing that read, "If you ask for a Padron cigar, look at the traitor."

Padron said that sales are down, but he refused to say by how much. At local stores, however, shopkeepers say demand has slackened considerably.

"Many of our clients would ask for a cigar and a cup of coffee," said the owner of one restaurant where the cigars no longer are sold. "If we produced a Padron, they would throw the coffee and the cigar back. They don't want the brand."

Padron said he was taking out an ad in the Spanish edition of The Miami Herald to clarify his position and announce he is sending thousands of gift cigar boxes to prisoners still in Cuba. And he said he does not regret going to Cuba to discuss the prisoner situation.

"It was not a political, but a humanitarian, action," he said. "Now, I find myself between blood and fire."

Hispanics' Brutality Claims Due Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The second-ranking official in the Justice Department will spend three days in Texas and Arizona this month discussing charges that police have used excessive force against the Hispanic community, the Justice Department said Wednesday.

Deputy Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti will be in Dallas on Nov. 27, Houston the next day, and in Phoenix Nov. 29 to meet with representatives of Hispanic organizations, state officials, local district attorneys, police officials, U.S. attorneys and FBI representatives.

Civiletti said he intends to assess difficulties between law enforcement agencies and Hispanics and will report back to Attorney General Griffin B. Bell. The department said it is seeking to play a role in improving relations between police and Hispanics.

The department has been investigating scores of complaints by citizens who have charged police with using excessive force.

Tax Mandate Question Faces New Congress

By LOUIS HARRIS

One of the most important problems now facing the president and the new Congress is how to interpret the mandate of last week's election on the issue of taxes and spending.

The prevailing wisdom is that the American people are fed up with taxes and excessive government spending, and that large-scale cuts are now in order. But this simple formulation may be far off the mark.

What people seem to want is that the federal government come up with ways of giving taxpayers some real value for the tax monies now being collected. In the private sector, any enterprise that was widely perceived as giving poor value for the money would soon find itself out of business. Government somehow has managed to avoid this drastic discipline. Now the American people appear to be sending a firm message to the federal government. They not only want their tax monies to be used effectively and wisely, but they also want the government to be more accountable for the way it is handling these funds.

The proof that people are upset over taxes is not hard to find: —By 74-18 percent, a big majority feels resentful that "my money is being spent by the government the way it is."

—By 75-21 percent, a comparable majority complains that "people in power don't know how much taxes cause people like me to suffer."

—By an almost unanimous 94-4 percent, the public feels that "too much tax money is wasted by an inefficient bureaucracy."

If these plaintive cries from outraged taxpayers were the whole story, one might be tempted to conclude that there is a tax revolt in full swing and that the simple, direct remedy would be to make massive tax cuts, accompanied by commensurate spending cuts.

But there is evidence in recent ABC News-Harris Surveys which indicates that the public is more discriminating on the subject of taxes than many interpreters thought after Proposition 13 was passed in California. For example, by a clear 47-34 percent, the public opposes the Republican-backed Kemp-Roth tax-cut bill, which proposed a one-third reduction of federal taxes over a three-year period.

The rejection of Kemp-Roth is a solid indication that the meat-ax approach to government taxation and spending is not acceptable. For one thing, in an inflationary period, the public is worried that a massive tax cut could result in higher federal deficits, which could cause the cost of living to go higher. For another, people are concerned about the loss of key governmental services that they desire.

The real crisis appears to lie elsewhere, in the public's doubts about the value people get for their tax dollars:

—By 72-21 percent, a sizable majority is negative about the value they get from their federal tax dollars.

—By 68-26 percent, people are negative about the returns they receive from their state tax monies.

—By 63-34 percent, they are negative about the value received from local government taxes.

Thus, the burden of proof appears to rest on every level of government, especially the federal, to convince taxpayers that government services are worth what they are paying for them. This is a problem that the new Congress should address itself to immediately.

One piece of legislation that now takes on greater urgency, as far as the public is concerned, is passage of a Sunset Law. This would require the Congress to reauthorize most federal spending programs every six years.

The fundamental issue, in the end, is a new kind of accountability by the federal government, along with the furnishing of proof that governmental programs are indeed reaching the people they are designed to help. When viewed this way, the crisis may be not one of taxes as such, but rather one of the government's having to justify its existence, program by program and agency by agency. Obviously, that task has yet to be faced by those vested with the responsibility of running the government.

Busing Foes Call On Hance, Tower For Ban Via U.S. Constitution

By JEFF SOUTH

Avalanche-Journal Staff
An anti-busing group Wednesday asked U.S. Rep.-elect Kent Hance to give top priority to sponsoring a constitutional amendment that would stop courts from ordering school children bused for racial integration purposes.

"You have stated your opposition to the injustice caused by forced school busing. Now you can do something," the Lubbock chapter of the National Association for Neighborhood Schools said in a letter to Hance.

"We urge you to work with your fellow congressmen to sponsor or cosponsor a constitutional amendment to prohibit forced school busing. We hope this is to be one of your first priorities," the organization told the Lubbock attorney, elected last week to represent the 19th Congressional District.

Hance, who will assume the office in January, said during his campaign he opposes court-ordered busing and would back anti-busing legislation if there are no legislative alternatives. Hance said, he would back an amendment to the Constitution.

At a meeting Tuesday night, the group approved sending letters to Hance and to Sen. John Tower. It commended the Republican senator for his past anti-busing votes in Congress and noted that in the recent campaign Tower had indicated he would be willing to cosponsor an anti-busing constitutional amendment.

Also meeting Tuesday was the Citizens' Alliance for Successful Schools, which advocates systemwide integration of the Lubbock Independent School District. The alliance's goals parallel those of the Justice Department, which recently asked the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to greatly broaden the district's present desegregation plan.

"We are satisfied that the Justice Department has filed a good brief. They represent pretty well what we would have filed had we been a party in the case," said Bill Crouch, a spokesman. The alliance had tried to intervene as an official party — for fear that the Jus-stice Department would not appeal — but was turned down by U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward.

Tuesday it decided to proceed with appealing Woodward's ruling. Crouch said, and will file a brief by mid-December asking the 5th Circuit to allow the group to be an intervenor.

With such designation, "in the event the appeal is upheld and the case is remanded back to Judge Woodward, we

Designers Prosper Outside Of Salons

NEW YORK (AP) — Initially, it was just clothes, the "rag trade" they call it. But now those designer calling cards — the Cs, Gs, YSLs and BBs — are everywhere, from plain old kitchen to gilded bathroom.

And one need not buy a $500 dress or $1,000 suit to own a "name." For under $20 one can have a fragrance by any of the top American, French or Italian designers — Dior, Cardin, Calvin Klein, Bill Blass, Geoffrey Beene, Halston, Chanel, Gucci, Yves St. Laurent.

It is possible to sleep on St. Laurent or Blass sheets, bathe with Dior soap, dry with Cardin towels, slip on Anne Klein shoes, carry a John Weitz umbrella, wear Oscar de la Renta glasses, use a Weitz ice bucket with Cardin wine and lounge on a Georgio Sant'Angelo sofa.

Parlaying those designer names and initials into big bucks outside of the fashion trade is a feat successfully performed by only a few. Cardin, Dior and Weitz are the largest design machines. The Dior name, though Dior himself is dead, exceeds Weitz. Cardin exceeds both.

Thirty-three years ago, Pierre Cardin shaped the fantasies of Jean Cocteau into masks and costumes of the bizarre and lovely for the film "Beauty and the Beast." He was an unknown in Paris, where designers such as Schiaparelli, Dior and Paquin were the names.

By age 50, he had jumped, leaped and otherwise galloped from near obscurity to empire builder. Today, at 56, he runs a vast $350-million international business.

He literally went from "rags" to rugs to riches, a lot of riches. Cardin designs — everything. Or at least his assistants do and he approves it.

The same with Weitz and his helpers, whose realm takes in about $175 to $200 million a year. Georgio Sant'Angelo designs on his own and brings in about $7.5 million.

Very early these designers saw the value of diversification in fashion — a business whose success often relies on changing whims.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

BY
DR. GEORGE C. THOSTESON

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My seven-year-old son wets his bed nightly. A few times he has gone for a week or so dry. Then he starts again. He is an extremely heavy sleeper, but restless, tossing and turning. He was trained by two. Bedwetters run on both sides of our family.

My doctor had a son the same age with the same problem. He suggested we wait before testing him for urinary problems. Do you have printed material on this? I never yell or embarrass my son, but don't know what to say when he is invited overnight somewhere. Should he be taken to a urologist? — Mrs. C.N.

First of all, bedwetting at five is not at all unusual, and most youngsters overcome it. Statistics show that slightly more than 10 percent of all youngsters peep in bedwetting past age 5 (13 percent boys, 9 percent girls). I say this only to put the matter into perspective for you, not to lull you into false security to the point where you give up trying to solve the boy's problem.

It's interesting that this lad has periods of dryness. Could be a valuable clue. An allergy can cause bedwetting. In this respect, it is also important that the problem occurred on both sides of your family. Allergies can be passed on. Try to detect what might be involved in his periods of dryness. Perhaps a food, overactivity (causing exhaustion-type sleep), etc., can be pinpointed.

By seven, it is well to begin thinking about possible urinary defects, which in most cases can be corrected. Presumably, your doctor's child overcame his problem. Most children will. If physical factors are not involved, such as an allergy or a defect, the single best cure for your son may be his desire to get in on one of those overnight visits to friends. My booklet on this is "Bedwetting: Ways to Stop It." You can order one for a quarter. Mail a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Thosteson, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was having trouble with leg and foot cramps in bed. I started wearing light socks. No more cramps — L.S.

The warmth can aid circulation. Worth trying.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it true a person can drink too much water, and if so what would the signs be? — B.D.

Reminds me of the writer years ago who asked me if a person could drown from drinking too much water. The answer is one can't drown. For that to happen the lungs would have to be filled with water, and I'm sure one would be forced to stop before that happened.

As to your question, yes, a person can drink too much water. The signs would be mental confusion. A large volume of water can alter the balance of sodium and other minerals in the body.

What do you do when your partner uses Stayman and you have two four-card majors?

You can bid the better one, always bid spades or always bid hearts. Today's North-South always bid spades.

They also played that the Stayman response always guaranteed at least one major suit of four cards or more.

Hence, when North jumped to three notrump after South's two-spade bid, South knew that he was supposed to bid four hearts if he held four of them.

It was well that he did. The diamond lead would automatically defeat three notrump. Nothing could bother the four-heart contract.

South won the diamond, drew trumps with three leads, lost the spade finesse, the ace of clubs and one diamond but had made an easy game.

Ask the Experts

Several readers have asked if we always use Stayman when we have a good hand with four cards in a major suit.

The answer is that with a 4-3-3-3 hand such as:

♦ 8 6 5 4 11-16-B
♥ K 10 8

the chances are that three notrump will be a better contract than four spades even if partner has four spades.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't think I'm some kind of a nut. I'm writing because there may be others out there who have the same problem and don't know it.

Subject: Allergic to male perspiration. Yes, I broke an engagement to a fine man because I developed a terrible skin rash from his sweat. He didn't sweat profusely — just a small amount — but it was enough to make me break out all over. (As you have probably guessed, the rash appeared within minutes after we had sex.)

All this happened three years ago. No, I'm not married and I don't want to be. Prayer has filled the void in my life that I used to think had to be filled by a lover or a husband. I am signing myself — Happier With The Lord

Dear Happier: I doubt you were allergic to your fiance's perspiration. More to the point, you felt guilty about having sex with him and this is what produced the rash. It's a good thing your body gave you the message. The marriage could have been a disaster. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: You are right when you say sometimes the only guidance children get is from their teachers. I know, because I was one of those children.

Due to an intolerable (and inescapable) home situation I turned to school as a substitute for home and family. How fortunate I was that several teachers sensed my need and were willing to spend the time to listen to me and give me solid counsel and emotional support. Those wonderful people provided me the caring and guidance I was unable to find anywhere else.

Next June I will graduate from college. I would never have had the incentive (or confidence) to go on to higher education had it not been for the encouragement and sympathetic ear of my teachers.

I still keep in touch and feel closer to them than I do to some of my blood relatives. — Betty K.

Dear Betty: I received dozens of letters from readers who expressed deep appreciation and affection for teachers who, like yours, made an enormous difference in their lives.

I hope your letter will encourage other teachers to be on the alert for the lost lambs who are reaching out for the love and understanding they aren't getting at home. Today, because of the disintegration of family life, caring teachers are more vital than ever.

MRS. BILL RAY GRISHAM

Couple Repeats Wedding Vows

TEXARKANA (Special) — Rita Kay Vandegriff and Bill Ray Grisham were married Saturday in Rose Hill Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Ray Vandegriff and Mr. and Mrs. Rufus William Grisham of Lubbock.

Honor attendants were Rose Brackeen and Rufus Vandegriff, father of the bridegroom.

The bride was graduated from Texarkana High School and attended East Texas State University. The bridegroom was graduated from Osceola High School and the University of Arkansas.

After a wedding trip to Colorado the couple will live in Pampa.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Why do people throw confetti at weddings?

Recently my daughter was married, and as she left the church, she was showered with confetti.

She was extremely nervous, and as a result, her hands and face were covered with perspiration.

When the confetti hit her, it stuck — all over her face, hair and even her dress and veil.

We were getting ready to take pictures and each little piece of confetti had to be hand-picked off her. As luck would have it, we missed some and the pieces that were left showed up in the pictures.

This completely ruined all the pictures, as there were little colored dots all over her dress and veil.

Please don't throw confetti, just stick to that old-fashioned tradition of throwing rice. — Mother in Ohio

All you confetti throwers please take heed — don't spoil a beautiful day (and pictures) for some lovely bride — Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I am married, and my mother and I live in different states. We have found a unique way of "cancelling" the high cost of the postage stamps we use in writing to each other.

She uses many household and food products that I do not use, and I use many that she does not use. So we clip useful manufacturer's coupons from newspapers and magazines and enclose a couple of them in our letters to each other. The savings really add up!

This practice also serves as a reminder to write when one of us sees that she has accumulated a pile of coupons for items the other uses! — A Daughter

Two Russian Baptist Ministers To Speak Here

Two Russian ministers, Alexei Bichkov and Michael Y. Zhidkov, are to speak at a luncheon beginning at 11:30 a.m. Friday at Goodner's Steakhouse, 4634 50th St. The ministers are speaking to Lubbock-area church leaders about their experiences in their native land as Christians.

Bichkov is general secretary of the All Union Council of Evangelical Christians-Baptist in the USSR. He also is president of the European Baptist Federation, a fellowship of Baptist groups throughout Europe.

Born in 1928 to a Baptist family near Moscow, he was converted to Christianity in 1949 and was baptized in 1954 at the Moscow Baptist Church.

Bichkov began preaching in the Moscow church in 1967 and was ordained to the ministry in 1970. He has worked as a teacher of Bible classes sponsored by the All Union Council, represented Russian Baptists at international Christian conferences and has been a member of the General Council of the Baptist World Alliance since 1970.

MICHAEL Y. ZHIDKOV

ALEXEI BICHKOV

Zhidkov is senior pastor of the Moscow Baptist Church and is a vice president of the Baptist World Alliance.

He was born in 1928 in Leningrad, the son of Yakov I. Zbidkov, a well-known Baptist leader and was converted at the Moscow church in 1943. He has been a full-time Christian worker since 1957, and was ordained to the pastoral ministry in 1965. His theological training is from Spurgeon's College in England and McMaster's University in Canada.

Crimefighter Callers Given Wrong Number

The crime abatement program launched Tuesday by the Chamber of Commerce got off to a less than auspicious start.

Persons calling the published hotline number got a private residence — and a very puzzled pair of citizens.

It turned out that the phone number given as the hotline was actually the number of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Farmer of 2115 Eighth St.

The Farmers, obviously, were at a loss as to what to tell would-be crimefighters who called up.

Sudduth To Lead Region Band Group

James Sudduth, Director of Bands at Southwest Texas State University and formerly of Lubbock, will conduct the All Region Junior High Orchestra in concert at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 2 in the Recital Hall of Texas Tech.

One hundred of Lubbock's outstanding junior high orchestra students, will be presented under the supervision of directors in the Texas Music Educators Association.

The students of the orchestra will be selected Nov. 22 during competitive auditions hosted at Smylie Wilson Junior High by Jeff Whitmill, organizer for this year's concert. The students will rehearse two days under Sudduth's direction in preparation for the concert.

Sudduth's appearance is made possible by a grant from the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra.

However, all will yet be well, say chamber and telephone company officials.

The Farmers have agreed to let the chamber have their number, inasmuch as it has been printed in all the publicity about the program, and they will get a new one.

So anyone with anti-crime information should continue to call 763-1133. This time, hopefully, they should get someone with the Crime Abatement Program.

The 24-hour hotline is designed to allow citizens to anonymously disclose information about illegal activities.

Speaking of Tuesday night's news broadcasts, Mrs. Farmer said, "It kind of shocked me to see my phone number on television."

She said the phone "has been ringing off the wall" ever since.

The callers said "they were just calling about crime, and I said there was some mistake." Mrs. Farmer said. The Farmers finally took their phone off the hook Tuesday night.

South Plains U.S., Israel Sign Education Agreement To Observe 20th Year

LEVELLAND (Special) — In observance of its 20th anniversary, South Plains College has planned an open house from 10 a.m. to noon Saturday.

"We'd like to extend a special welcome to the Levelland area residents to visit SPC during open house and see the progress that has been made in the past 20 years," said Dr. Marvin Baker, president of SPC since 1961.

Dr. Baker, his wife Mildred, and other SPC administrators and faculty members will be on hand to greet campus visitors during a continuous reception beginning at 10 a.m. in the College Student Center, west of the Quadrangle.

Visitors also may register for a drawing later in the day for three free community service short courses, a $100 tuition scholarship and $20 in silver dollars. Parents of most of the students, both past and present, in attendance will be awarded a framed family photograph.

Student tour guides also will be available for visitors. "There will be no structured tours as such, and campus guests should feel free to visit at their leisure any of the facilities open that day," said Earl Gerstenberger, dean of students, who is coordinating the activities.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel and the United States on Wednesday signed an agreement for cooperation in education.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Joseph Califano said he hoped the pact could be broadened to include Egypt, once a peace treaty is signed. Califano and Israeli Education Minister Zvulun Hammer signed the agreement, which calls for exchange of teachers and cooperation in research on rehabilitating the disabled.

Speaking at a press conference in Jerusalem, Califano said Israeli officials were receptive to the idea of including Egypt in the agreement, once the two countries make peace.

He said three-way cooperation was particularly promising in the health field, "where I believe we can conduct programs and demonstrations to the benefit of all three countries."

Califano leaves for Egypt on Thursday.

DEN OF THIEVES — A trio of thieves rehearse a scene for the upcoming South Plains College community musical "Oliver," set for a three day run Nov. 16, 18, and 19 in the SPC Auditorium. Rep. Ullman To Eye Wage Insurance Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Al Ullman, who heads the House committee that considers tax legislation and is skeptical of President Carter's wage insurance proposal, agreed Wednesday to consider it along with alternatives.

The Oregon Democrat, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, met for nearly two hours with Treasury Secretary F. Michael Blumenthal and staff experts of the treasury and the committee.

Ullman said afterwards, through a spokesman, that they had agreed to have their staffs continue working together to develop a full-fledged legislative version of the administration plan as well as possible other ways to use the tax system to encourage moderation in wage and price increases. No such alternatives have yet been developed, he said.

Carter has proposed bolstering his program for voluntarily restraining wage increases to 7 percent by a form of insurance against inflation. Employers would report to the government which employees had not received increases above this amount. Then, if inflation ranged higher than 7 percent, these employees would be eligible for tax credits.

Ullman has questioned whether such a system would be workable, especially outside the range of big industries with the bulk of their employees covered by union contracts.

Big Spenders Victors In Senate Races

WASHINGTON (AP) — Candidates who outspent their opponents won 85 percent of this year's contested Senate races, a study by a consumer group showed Wednesday.

Congress Watch, a lobbying organization headed by consumer advocate Ralph Nader, said campaign reports submitted to the Federal Election Commission show that the bigger spender won 28 of the 33 contested races.

"This is demonstration of the golden rule of politics, which seems to be that 'he who has the gold rules,'" said Mark Green, director of Congress Watch.

"We expected a significant correlation between lavish spending and success but we were still somewhat surprised that it was as high as 85 percent," Green said.

"It is extraordinary, it seems, to lose when you have spent the most money in a Senate race. The implications for a democracy, we think, are very serious," he said in an interview.

The finding may give impetus to the move for public financing of congressional races. Congress established such a system for presidential races but has defeated proposals to have tax money, rather than private contributions, finance its own elections.

A spokesman for the Republican National Committee said the GOP would continue to oppose the change because it would help the majority party, the Democrats.

"To have the same spending ceiling for challengers as incumbents would be unfair. The incumbent has built-in advantages, such as publicity for his activities, a congressional staff and franked mail," said Pete Teley of the Republican National Committee.

No comment was immediately available from spokesmen for the Democratic National Committee.

Easily the biggest spender in the 33 contested races was Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., with $6,351,000. The Democratic nominee, John Ingram spent $217,000 or one dollar for every $29 by Helms.

Even this spending advantage was only the fourth largest in percentage terms, the study found. Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, outspent his rival by 148 times; Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., his opponent by 96 times; and Sen.-elect David Pryor, D-Ark., spent 71 times as much as his foe.

The Medal of Honor is the highest military award for bravery that can be given to any individual in the United States.

Congress Watch said it eliminated two of this year's Senate elections from the study because they were not contested races.

Of the five contested races where the bigger spender lost, four involved incumbent senators. These losers were Sens. Thomas McIntyre, D-N.H.; Dick Clark, D-Iowa; Edward Brooke, R-Mass., and Robert Griffin, R-Mich.

Green said the victories by the bigger spender was the general rule, regardless of party. "When Democrats spent the most money, they almost always won. When Republicans spent the most, they almost always won," he said.

"We think that unless the Senate waits by the year 2000 to be a club of rich men, we have to pursue the public financing of congressional elections," Green said.

City Women Plan To Attend Meeting

Betty Anderson, Carolyn Gilbert, Naomi C. Moore and Mrs. Winifred W. Vigness, all of Lubbock, will be among 200 delegates to the Texas Conference on Library and Information Services at Austin Thursday through Saturday.

Those attending will select 19 delegates and eight alternates to serve at the White House Conference on Library and Information Services, scheduled in Washington Oct. 28-Nov. 2, 1979.

The national delegates will determine the types of libraries and information services needed and recommend legislation to develop them. Two-thirds of the delegates are not librarians or library board members.

Council To Set Gas Rate Hearing

By SYLVIA TEAGUE
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Lubbock City Council members, who have been deliberating since August on industrial gas rates charged by Pioneer Natural Gas Company, today will decide when to take up the company's request for an increase in domestic rates.

The hearing on domestic rates probably will be set for mid-January, only a month following the expected conclusion of the industrial rate hearing in mid-December.

The average 26.36 percent increase, requested on June 30, would have taken effect Sept. 15, but Lubbock and other cities in the West Texas Distribution System suspended the effective date until mid-January.

Already gas company officials and city representatives have clashed over the percentage increase requested by Pioneer.

City rate analyst Ervin Looney has said the increase for residential gas customers would range from 31 to 62 percent.

For the consumer who uses 2,000 cubic feet of gas a month, his bill would increase 62 percent — from $4.41 to $7.14. (All figures are based on the March 1978, cost of gas passed on to consumers.)

A bill for 5,000 cubic feet would increase 45 percent — from $10.23 to $14.86; 10,000 cubic feet would increase 36 percent from $19.92 to $27.07; and for 20,000 cubic feet the bill would increase 31 percent from $38.57 to $50.48.

Pioneer's last base rate increase went into effect in 1970.

Also at today's meeting, council members will hear Airport Board recommendations on coping with parking problems at the facility.

The council also will discuss any Airport Board recommendation on installing a second baggage carousel at a cost of $100,000. The city's cost would be recouped in nearly three years from rental fees paid by the airlines.

City charges for licenses and permits would be reviewed and updated annually if a resolution proposed by Councilman Alan Henry is passed today.

The fees would be reviewed at least three months before city budget sessions to ensure the fees were "sufficient to offset the administrative costs involved."

Also today, the council will consider a Citizens Traffic Commission recommendation that a traffic signal be installed at 34th Street and Chicago Avenue.

Although the traffic volume at the intersection doesn't justify a light, the number of accidents there does.

The cost of the light would be $25,000, to be paid out of Revenue Sharing funds previously allocated for another signal.

Council members will be asked to accept and maintain a triangular piece of land at 13th Street and Toledo Avenue on the recommendation of the Parks Board.

Landscape for the triangle would range in cost from $2,772 to $17,502 and the annual maintenance would cost between $400 and $700.

Saddle Tramps Plan Balloon Barrage

With enough balloons on hand to make a circus vendor envious, Texas Tech Saddle Tramps will bid Saturday for a few lines of space in the Guinness Book of World Records, as well as add a colorful prelude to the Raiders' Southwest Conference battle with SMU.

The Tramps, the school's spirit organization, joined by other organizations will release 151,000 balloons just prior to the 2 p.m. kickoff in Jones Stadium. And when the gigantic balloon barrage goes up, work involving almost 300 persons will be at an end.

The balloons were donated, Tramps officials reported, and the helium needed to inflate them is being paid for by the Tramps and from donations from Lubbock businessmen.

To fill the 151,000 balloons, the Tramps had to purchase 50,000 cubic feet of helium.

Workers will begin at 7 a.m. Saturday inflating the balloons which will be stored around the edge of the floor of the football field, and in the ramps leading to the playing field. Then, just before game time, the entire collection will be released.

Adding to the atmosphere, a hot-air balloon will be floating in the air of Jones Stadium.

Saddle Tramps officials reported that between 250 and 300 persons will have worked on the project by the time the show begins.

Two representatives of the Guinness Book of World Records will be on hand to witness the record-breaking effort.

In the past, the Tramps and other campus organizations have inflated balloons and released them at football games, usually at homecoming.

Zoning Board Faces Big Sign Request

Zoning Board of Adjustment members will be faced today with a controversial request for a sign five times larger and nearly three times higher than permitted by city regulations.

Aubrey J. Fouts, representing the Brass Lantern Inn, Inc., is scheduled to appear at the 8:15 a.m. meeting in the city hall Training Room to request a variance in the height, size and setback requirements for a sign at 5912 Ave. H.

The case was postponed at the October ZBA meeting at Fouts' request.

City sign regulations would permit the motel an 88-square-foot, 16-foot tall sign. However, Fouts wants a 450-square-foot sign which is 45 feet tall.

The sign should be setback from the side property line at least 55 feet and from the front property line 22.88 feet to comply with city regulations. Fouts is requesting a side setback of 28.5 feet and a front setback of two feet.

Fouts also will represent Lewis L. Gilbert at today's meeting on a request for a special exception to allow a mobile home to be used as a dwelling at 3409 33rd St. Gilbert's mother, who is ill, would live in the mobile home.

Winda D. McGinnis will ask the board to vary the height and setback requirements for a tool and play house at 3109 43rd St.

McGinnis already is building a two-story auxiliary building behind his house. City regulations say such a building cannot be higher than the main structure, in this case one story.

McGinnis also wants a variance in the required 15 foot rear setback to six feet and from the required five-foot side setback to three feet.

ZBA members also will hear a request to vary the front setback and landscaping requirements at Gear, Clutch and Joint, Inc., at 124 E. Broadway.

Hallmark Builders, representing Wilbur and Randolph Mills, will request the variance which would permit the expansion of the existing building.

Other requests on today's ZBA agenda include:

—J.D. Chandler for a variance in the rear setback requirement for a townhouse at 8633 Knoxville Drive. The townhouse, which is two-thirds complete, complies with the setback at one end of an angling alley, but not at the other end.

—Lynn A. Leverett for a variance in the height requirements for a Mr. Burger sign at 2912 4th St. Leverett wants a 10½-foot-tall sign rather than the permitted five-foot height.

—Ed Stephens for State Savings and Loan Association for a variance in the setback requirements for a sign at 1617 Broadway. Stephens wants the ZBA to permit the savings and loan name on three entrance and exit signs. City regulations do not allow "advertising" on such signs.

Chain Guard Kits Now Available To Upgrade Bikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission reports that the Columbia Manufacturing Co. is offering chain guard kits to upgrade bicycles which do not meet federal requirements.

The bicycles in question were manufactured between Nov. 13, 1976, and Aug. 13, 1978, officials said. They include 3-speed, 24-inch racers called "Miami," girls' models Nos. 1433 and 1439 and boys' model No. 1434 and "Gold Crest" 3-speed, 26-inch racers, mens' model No. 9648.

The CPSC said that the round disc-type guard affixed to the front sprocket on these Columbia bicycles, while acceptable on derailleur-type bicycles, does not cover the top of the chain or any part of the chain to the rear of the front sprocket.

Federal regulations require a full coverage chain guard on all bikes which have a single front and rear sprocket and set specifications for the extent of chain coverage. The rules are intended to prevent clothing or body parts from becoming caught in the chain.

Owners of these bicycles can obtain the new chain guard kit from the place where they purchased the bicycle. The kit consists of a new chain guard to be fitted over the disc-type guard. According to Columbia the installation can be easily done using a screwdriver.

Inquiries should be sent to the Customer Service Department, Columbia Manufacturing Co., Westfield, Mass., 01083.

Jurors Hear Taped Davis-McCrory Conversation

HOUSTON (AP) — Jurors listening through yellow earphones Wednesday heard millionaire Cullen Davis allegedly issue tape-recorded orders to kill a Fort Worth divorcee and his wife.

"Do the judge, and then his wife, and that would be it," the voice purported to be Davis is heard to say.

"Yeah, but he ain't gonna leave any witnesses," comes the reply from FBI informant David McCrory.

"Or if he — or he might catch the judge coming in the house, or something like that," suggests the Davis voice.

The tape allegedly captures a conversation between Davis and McCrory on a Fort Worth parking lot last August in which several contract killings were discussed.

The state contends Davis, 45, an heir to an international business empire, solicited a hired killer to dispose of State District Judge Joe Eidson.

No attempt actually was made on the judge's life.

Eidson, 60, was the presiding judge in the long, bitter and allegedly murderous divorce battle between Davis and his bossy blonde wife, Priscilla.

Mrs. Davis, 37, was wounded and her daughter and lover slain in a 1976 shooting spree at the $6 million Davis mansion in Fort Worth.

Three witnesses testified during a sensational murder trial last year in Amarillo, that Davis was the gunman. But a jury acquitted him in the slaying of his young stepdaughter.

According to the taped conversation of last Aug. 18, Davis ordered the slaying of Beverly Bass, 21, one of the accusing witnesses in Amarillo. Overriding vigorous defense objections, trial Judge Wallace Moore ruled Wednesday that jurors would be permitted to follow the recordings via transcripts prepared by the state. Thus, they read this printed exchange as they listened to the sometimes inaudible tapes:

Davis: "Go back to the original plan."
Texan Held Guilty Of Manslaughter

HOBART, Okla. (AP) — Max Edwin House, a 22-year-old Turkey, Texas, farm worker, was convicted on three counts of first-degree manslaughter in connection with the deaths of three persons run over by a speeding car on a Lake Altus beach.

A Kiowa County District Court jury returned the verdict late Tuesday after three hours of deliberation. It set his punishment at four years on each of the convictions.

District Judge Weldon Ferris of Altus set formal sentencing for Jan. 3. He will rule then whether the sentences shall run consecutively or concurrently.

Ferris reduced the bail for House from $100,000 to $25,000.

House was accused of being intoxicated on beer when his small car raced along the north shore of Lake Altus near Lone Wolf. The car struck and killed Larry Allen Floyd, 23, of Snyder; Mike Montgomery, 19, of Cordell and Ione A. Baca, 20, of Clinton.

Another person was injured. House's car careened out of control for 753 feet and then plunged into the lake.

House testified he had consumed six or more cans of beer during the day but disputed prosecution testimony that he was drunk at the time of the accident Aug. 13.

He testified he was trying to gain speed on a hill when the accident happened. He said his car had gotten stuck in the sand once.

On both direct examination and cross-examination, House insisted his windshield was partially covered with sand and water and that the late evening sun impaired his vision.

He said he thought he had hit a log until he looked out the window and realized it was a person.

SOPHISTICATED NEANDERTHAL
 Neanderthal man, who lived as recently as 60,000 years ago, may have been more sophisticated than the brutish creature traditionally pictured. Recent excavations in Iraq indicate he had some knowledge of useful plants. Skeletons from ritual burials had been laid on beds of branches and wildflowers with known medicinal properties.

McCrory: "What do you mean, the original plan?"
 Davis: "Uh, get the other one. You know, who we started this out with."
 McCrory: "You mean Priscilla."
 Davis: "No."
 McCrory: "Oh, Bev?"
 Davis: "Yeah. With —"

McCrory: "Boy, you're gonna bring more (expletive) heat down on you. Cullen, you have that (expletive) kill, I promise you you gonna have heat."
 Moments later, McCrory suggests the possibility of simultaneously killing Beverly Bass, her boyfriend Bubba Gavrel and Gavrel's father.

McCrory: "Uh, you still want all three of them at once?"
 Davis: "Do it either way, whatever — whatever's there."
 According to the transcripts, there's also this exchange:
 McCrory: "Just as soon as he gets the job done, he wants to be paid."
 Davis: "Well, uh, I will — he will be."

McCrory: "Okay... it's got to be immediately afterward. That's the problem 'cause I don't have the (expletive) money."
 Davis: "You just call me and it's — you got it."
 McCrory testified later that Davis told him he wanted young Gavrel and his father killed at the same time because he was concerned about the elder Gavrel's reaction.

"He said he was afraid the old man might go crazy... and grab a shotgun and come after him when his son gets killed," McCrory testified.

"He (Davis) was afraid that was going to happen the last time."
 Bubba Gavrel, one of the victims of the mansion shootings, was partially paralyzed by a bullet that remains lodged in his spine. His father filed a multimillion dollar civil suit against Davis within hours of the shooting.

"The elder Gavrel, McCrory said, "was the only one of them he was afraid of."
 In response to a prosecutor's question, McCrory said Davis was "dissatisfied" and "mad" when McCrory failed to turn up a gunman to carry out his orders. "He said I'd better get something done. He wasn't going to put up with it much longer," McCrory told the jury.

"He said he had other people he would turn it over to and they'd get the job done."
 The burly, dark-haired witness also identified Davis as the man who almost exposed an FBI surveillance operation the morning of Aug. 20.

FBI agents told previously how a "shadowy figure" approached the van, circled it and rapped on it before joining McCrory for the encounter which they subsequently videotaped.

The film from that parking lot meeting has been synchronized with a second tape recording and most likely will be seen by the jury on Thursday.

Judge Permits Tape Transcript At Davis Trial

HOLISTON (AP) — The prosecution won a major victory and the defense began laying the foundation for an appeal, if one is ever necessary, in the solicitation for murder trial of Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis.

State District Judge Wallace Moore allowed the jurors to read a transcript of a tape recording that prosecutors said will link Davis to a kill-for-hire plot involving as many as 15 persons.

Davis is on trial in Houston on charges of soliciting the murder of Fort Worth Judge Joe Eidsen, the jurist who had presided during the lengthy and bitter divorce trial involving the defendant and his estranged wife, Priscilla.

Eidsen removed himself from the case after charges were filed against Davis. Judge Moore said he was certain he was on firm legal grounds by allowing the jurors to read a transcript while listening to the scratchy and at times inaudible tape.

The recording allegedly was made by David McCrory, an FBI informant and former friend and employee of Davis. McCrory has testified that Davis asked him to find a hitman to eliminate Eidsen and several other persons who had been involved in the millionaire's tangled legal problems.

Davis was acquitted last year in the slaying of his young stepdaughter. Tolly Wilson, chief prosecutor, told newsmen the judge's ruling to permit the jurors to use the transcripts "will give them an aid to understand the tapes and this is definitely an aid to our case."

Chief defense attorney Richard (Racehorse) Haynes said two earlier rulings in Texas state courts had denied the use of transcripts. Another state district judge, after a brief conversation with Haynes, told The AP, "Racehorse thinks he has a trial error." The jurors showed no emotion while listening to the tape, nor while hearing it a second time and reading the transcript as prepared by the prosecutors.

The recording included many curse words and obscene remarks. With the jury out of the courtroom, Haynes put down the base for what could be an appeal on the ground of a judicial error. He brought two witnesses to the stand to testify whether a person pays more attention to printed material than to audio messages. Dr. Richard I. Evans, professor of psychology at the University of Houston and an expert in social communications, testified, "There is no question that a person pays more attention to the printed matter than to a poor quality tape. There also is a high probability that the person who transcribes the tape may project their own thoughts of what was being said."

U.S. Grants Expected For Border Area

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Federal grants totaling between $7.5 million and $9 million could be available by 1980 for economic development along the U.S.-Mexico border, say officials of the Southwest Border Regional Commission.

Commission representatives from Arizona, California, New Mexico and Texas met here this week to discuss how the money can be used. Officials said they expect most of the money to go for programs in the 36 counties that border Mexico.

"We are not going to have any quotas by state," said Cristobal Aldrete, commission co-chairman. "This is not a revenue-sharing program. We are going to spend the money on projects that benefit the entire border region."

Commission Director Robert Toberman said the organization, set up under federal legislation last year, has received enough money for a few demonstration projects so far.

Pets Said Help In Heart Victims' Recovery

DALLAS (AP) — Pets from dogs to gerbils significantly improve their owners' chances of recovering from heart attack, probably by offering an escape from loneliness, researchers said Wednesday.

Pet owners were more likely than those without pets to survive at least a year after being hospitalized for heart attack and related coronary problems, according to a study of 92 patients.

The results were outlined at an American Heart Association conference by Dr. Erika Friedmann, a University of Pennsylvania biologist. She said 11 of 39 patients without pets died within a year after hospitalization, while all but three of 53 pet owners were still alive.

The relationship between pet ownership and survival, she said, held up even when compared statistically with other factors, such as severity of illness, sex, income, education or type of pet.

"Pets are a form of social contact that keeps you from being totally preoccupied with yourself," Dr. Friedmann said in an earlier interview. "People tend to personify their pets, to talk to them and ask them questions. The pet is not just an animal to them. It has some definite place in the family."

Co-researcher Margaret Noctor, a registered nurse at the University of Maryland Hospital, added: "The patients now have someone else to live for and that may play a role. The pet cannot survive without its owner, and they feel needed."

Dr. Friedmann said the effect of psychological factors on recovery is well-documented and that pets have proven therapeutic value as companions for the elderly and in treating severely withdrawn children.

The research, part of a much larger study of social and psychological factors involved in recovery, has important implications for hospitals and nursing homes, Dr. Friedmann said. However, she cautioned that "we're not saying you should go out and get a pet if you have a heart attack. We won't know that until further studies are done."

Miss Noctor said, "We aren't sure whether the type of people who pick pets are more likely to survive anyway or if the pet itself makes the difference."

Ag Appropriations Bill Seeks Food Grains Production Boost

The agricultural appropriations bill recently passed by Congress contains an $800,000 scientific program designed to assist America's "bread basket," the Great Plains, in continuing to produce high yields in the face of droughts and a declining water table.

Egyptian Market Good For U.S.

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — U.S. exports of farm commodities to Egypt should reach $650 million this year, up from $540 million worth exported last year, the U. S. Agriculture Department said.

John Parker, an agriculture economist with the USDA, writing in the department's magazine "Foreign Agriculture," said larger sales of cotton, grains, cottonseed oil and tobacco, which led to most of the gain in recent years, will be the main contributors to the increased sales this year.

Parker said a larger share of Egypt's food imports will be made through commercial channels as opposed to past and Plant Stress Laboratory at Texas Tech.

The appropriation was initiated through the House Appropriations Committee headed by U.S. Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock. The agricultural research efforts has received strong support in the Senate from Sen. Lloyd Ben-ten of Texas. Both legislators have been working closely with the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to insure practices when U. S. government programs financed a sizeable share.

Parker made the following projections of Egypt's agricultural imports during 1978-79, with comparisons:

Wheat and wheat flour imports of about 4.6 million tons (weight equivalent), up from 4.35 million, with most of the increase coming from the U.S.

Wheat flour (included in total above) imports projected at 800,000 tons compared to 706,000 tons in 1977-78.

Corn imports from the U.S. are expected to be over 700,000 tons compared to 659,000 tons in 1977-78.

Egypt's tallow imports from the U.S. are expected to be well above the 113,400 tons shipped in 1977.

continuing efforts to sustain and bolster the strong agricultural economy of the southern Great Plains.

USDA scientists will man the laboratory, but research funded by the federal government will be done by both USDA agronomists and scientists from other universities throughout the area.

Scientists affiliated with the laboratory are expected to concentrate their studies on efficient water use by non-irrigated crops and grasslands as well as on energy efficiency in crop production.

In the future the USDA could construct a facility consisting of offices and support areas for greenhouses, storage, processing and growth chamber.

In 1959 USDA officials first proposed such a laboratory to the U.S. Senate. Last year the Senate allocated $100,000 for a study of possible locations. The Lubbock site was found "ideal."

Tech's College of Agricultural Sciences and International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies (ICASALS) have co-operated over the past three years to focus USDA attention on the resources and potential of this region, with Texas Tech suggested as the lab's site. Texas Tech has offered the USDA suitable land on the Lubbock campus for construction of the laboratory, to be operated cooperatively with the College of Agricultural Sciences.

Dr. William F. Bennett, interim dean of agricultural sciences, said the laboratory should serve immediate needs in West Texas, threatened particularly by a declining water table in its underground aquifer. The lab also is expected to help accelerate development of more drought resistant plants and soil moisture conservation technology for other semi-arid western states and similar areas throughout the world.

The significance of the laboratory, he said, can best be seen in statistics. In the Great Plains, about 160 million acres are cropland, primarily in wheat, grain sorghum and corn. About 62 percent U.S. wheat is produced in Great Plains states, 90 percent of the grain sorghum, 16 percent of the corn, 43 percent of the barley, 31 percent of the cotton, 50 percent of the flax, 37 percent of the sugar beets, 28 percent of the alfalfa and 23 percent of the oats.

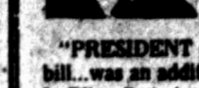

In the High Plains of Texas there are about 11 million acres of cropland, half irrigated and half dryland, but the irrigated acreage is expected to decline from 6 million acres in 1965 to 2.25 million in 2015.

In addition, drought in the High Plains has occurred every 20 to 22 years for the past 160 years, and scientists predict that a three to five-year drought on the High Plains could reduce the entire U.S. grain crop by 8 to 10 percent.

Nonetheless, Bennett said, there are two factors which make the new laboratory significant.

The U.S. balance of trade position is significantly bolstered by the export of grain and other farm commodities, and this balance is important to the value of the U.S. dollar.

PLAINS AGRICULTURE

By DUANE HOWELL

"PRESIDENT CARTER'S ILL-ADVISED decision to veto the most important bill... was an additional blow below the belt to the nation's cottonmen," says R. L. Bliss, first vice president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association.

"BECAUSE OF ITS USE OF A counter-cyclical formula, it would restrict foreign-beef later, when our production has cycled back to its highest. That would provide stability in prices, and perhaps keep our next herd liquidation from being as violent as this one."

"At a time when our nation's cattlemen needed a vote of confidence from the administration to give them faith to start rebuilding their herds, this veto will keep the industry on the defensive and in an undecided posture."

"This can only further delay our industry in the rebuilding that is needed to supply our consumers with the ample supplies of beef they have been accustomed to."

JOHN B. ARMSTRONG, PRESIDENT of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, said the veto "virtually assures higher beef prices for American consumers for several years."

"Retail beef prices will remain high for years to come," he said, "because farmers and ranchers have very little incentive to rebuild their herds and their confidence in the government has been shaken severely by the President's action."

Current domestic cattle numbers are down because producers have been forced to sell their herds in recent years as the cattle industry went through a financial bloodbath.

"THIS LEGISLATION WOULD HAVE given cattlemen and consumers much-needed market stability," Armstrong said.

"I am personally shocked that the President can ask us, as American citizens, to voluntarily comply with his new anti-inflation program when he exempts himself. The President's handling of the meat import act is a sad example of what happens when political trade-offs undermine the welfare of the U. S. cattle industry."

"What can cattlemen think when their President rejects legislation that is favorable to the cattlemen and to the consumer?"

Cattle Futures Finish Higher

By Reuters

CHICAGO — Cattle futures closed 92 to 150 points up with most contracts at the limit level advance. Sales totaled 12,027 cars Wednesday on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange.

Wholesale beef was unchanged to up 2 cents at 77 to 79 1/2 cents a pound, f.o.b. river points, the lowest since April. Cash cattle were steady to up $2 with the best top $55 per hundredweight. Omaha's top was $54.50.

Slaughter was 142,000 head. The major markets are expecting 13,100 head today.

Feeder cattle futures closed 105 to 150 higher led by January through April at the limit gain. Volume was 2,409 contracts. All contracts were up the limit at the opening or shortly after following the bullish cattle-on-feed report.

Traders also cited sharp gains in cash feeder cattle although arrivals ran ahead of estimates coupled with fresh strength in beef.

There were 144 deliveries. Cash feeder cattle were steady to up $3 with the best top $86.50 per hundredweight at Oklahoma City. Receipts at the major terminals are expected to be 8,500 head today.

Hog futures closed 72 to the 150 limit level higher led by several contracts at the limit on 9,071 cars. The market was on the offensive from the start on spillover buying from limit higher cattle futures.

Demand came despite heavy hog runs and lower prices, along with easier trend to cash hams. With cattle supplies expected to decrease, traders are optimistic on hogs even though fundamentals are negative at present.

Wholesale hams were unchanged to off 2 cents at 92A to 107 cents a pound, f.o.b. river. Cash hogs were steady to off $1 with the best top $49 per hundredweight, which is the cheapest since August at Peoria.

Kill was 328,000 head. About 29,000 head are expected at the major markets today.

Pork belly (bacon) futures closed 105 to 142 higher led by March, which gained 182 early. Volume totalled 4,885 contracts. Prices were higher from the start on spill over buying from limit gains in other meat pits.

Prices rose to the highest in more than two weeks even though hog runs were heavier and prices were lower. Storings continued heavy locally and out-of-town

Wholesale bacon was unchanged to up 1 cent at 57 to 58 1/2 cents a pound, f.o.b. river.

"When I do something, it is always for art and art becomes business after a while," he said. "My name is very popular around the world. But for me, designing is not work. It is a relaxed time. I draw furniture, I draw the dress. It's my life."

"I don't like to talk business," Cardin says. "Everything is business. I talk first and always for art."

Art to Cardin. But for Weitz, who is also 56, it's all a matter of craftsmanship. "I don't confuse craft with art," Weitz says. "I don't believe I'm an artist."

Weitz runs what he calls a design company with 60 licensees and 12 John Weitz stores around the world. "I need to do nothing because not a single contract calls for me to design anything," he says. "All I do is approve. I have brilliant young designers working for the licensees. I design because I enjoy it."

Cardin, too, has a bevy of designers in his Paris lab.

But Sant'Angelo works alone. "I don't believe in cheating," he says. "I won't put my name to things I don't really do."

One of the world's largest department stores has created a special room called "Giorgio's Place" for the Sant'Angelo home furnishings. They are moderately priced.

"Rich people can have anything they want," Sant'Angelo noted. "I wasn't interested in producing for them. I did it for myself first because I didn't want to spend a lot of money decorating my place. I wanted something simple so I made home furnishings for me."

Now he makes furniture for everyone else. Next year, he says, he'll have flatware and dishes. Next year Weitz will have his sports car.

What's next for Cardin, not even he's saying.

At the meeting of anti-busing parents, that group's leaders said they are getting ready for a membership drive. Also, the group said it hopes to raise $1,000 to assist the national association in opening an office in Washington, D.C.

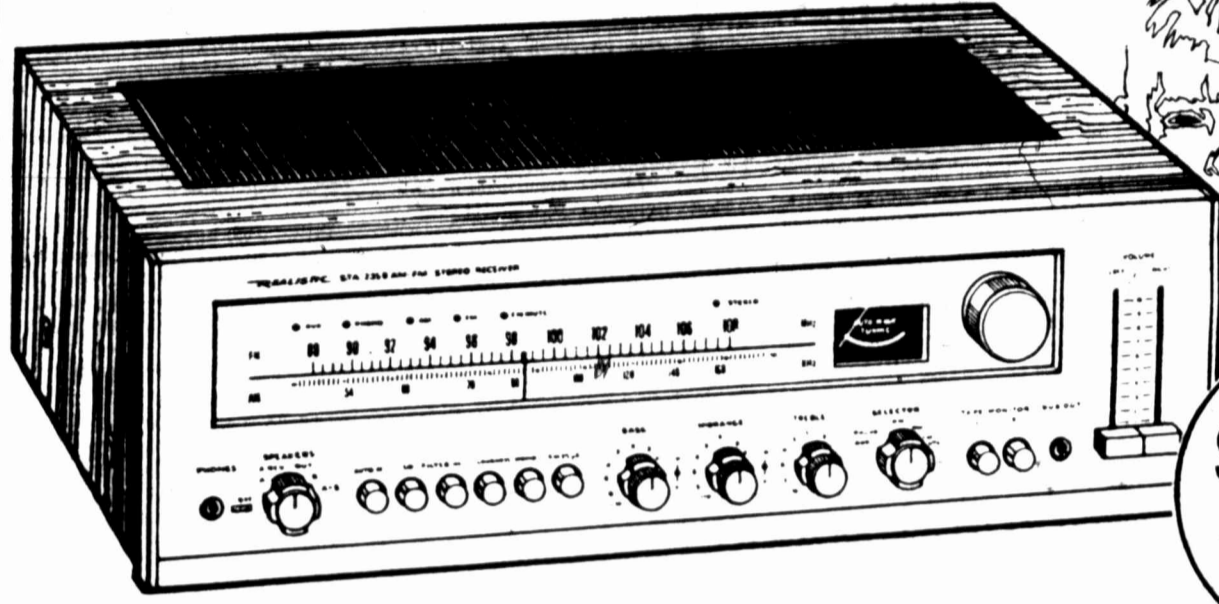

It has attorneys at both the local and national levels studying the Lubbock desegregation case, chapter president Dan Seale said. He said the group may attempt to challenge parts of the desegregation plan in court.

Seale said he believes anti-busing forces are "on the threshold of victory in Congress. The anti-busing news coming out of Washington is good."

School officials contend that such a systemwide plan would significantly increase the number of students bused from neighborhood schools. The district

For Holiday Gifting

Whether it's a gift to a valued employee or a gift to your family, a hickory-smoked turkey or ham from Prater's is a gift for everyone to enjoy. We offer quality discount for volume buying.

HICKORY-SMOKED TURKEYS AND HICKORY-SMOKED BREASTS

This turkey has been cooked slowly to perfection with pure hickory smoke to give you that real smoked flavor.

Only the finest quality turkeys are selected.

LONG CURED HAM AND BONELESS HAMS

Prater's hams come from the northern states and are corn fed. Only the most lean pork is selected. No additional cooking necessary.

2 lb. and 4 lb. DRESSING

Prater's dressing is just like your homemade dressing. Of cornbread, celery, etc. Oven Ready

FRESH TURKEYS BROWN AND SERVE TURKEYS

Prater's Brown and Serve Turkeys have been baked in foil for 10-12 hours. Tender and juicy, they need no extra cooking... heat and serve hot.

Estacado Mirrors CHS In Personnel, Scoring

By BOB BAJACKSON
Avananche-Journal Sports Staff

Maybe, it should be characteristic that two high school football coaches battling for the district title should sound the same.

But no matter.

When Estacado coach Louis Kelley begins to speak, Canyon mentor Deane Wright sounds like a tape recorder and vice versa.

The Middle East peace treaty negotiators should be so complimentary.

The records are a reflection of the coaches' thoughts. Estacado and Canyon will both bring 4-0 1-AAA district records into the game.

Kimbrough Stadium in Canyon will be the sight where the district championship will be determined Friday night. Kickoff is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Overall, only a half a game separates the two foes. Canyon sports an 8-0-1 mark to Estacado's 8-1.

And it's ironic that both teams stumbled on the first weekend of play. Monterey tied Canyon 6-6, while Plainview bombed Estacado 40-6.

Anyway, decide for yourself the differences in the two football teams.

What has been the main reason for success—offense or defense?

Kelley: "Defense, definitely has been the main reason for our success. We like to hit people. We play more consistently on defense."

Wright: "Our defense has been more consistent. But I think it's true to win you always have to have a good offense."

Why have the respective offenses lacked consistency?

Kelley: "I don't know. We've been playing in spurts. We're able to drive 80 yards for a score, but when our defense turns the ball over deep in the opponent's territory, we'll have a mental breakdown and fumble. I can't figure it out."

Wright: "It's not true that we can't have a good offense. We've been tearing up the turf between the 20s. But for some reason, we just can't get the ball the remaining distance."

Besides both coaches' comments, Estacado and Canyon possess similar scoring statistics.

In district competition, Canyon has put 81 points on the scoreboard to its opponent's 28. Estacado, on the other hand has scored 89 points to their foes' 27.

Overall, the two teams have about the same point differential.

Thus, while Canyon has accumulated 116 to the opposition's 34, Estacado has outscored the competition 161-74.

Estacado and Canyon seem to be so compatible that both clubs have compromises for each other's strengths.

Kelley: "I would have to think that we're a little faster than Canyon. But though we have better overall team speed, Canyon has good quickness."

Wright: "Estacado is faster than us. But I hope we'll have a little more team consistency. I hope that will offset their (Estacado's) speed."

The way both teams are so evenly matched there seems to be only one way that the 1-AAA championship game can end—that's in a tie.

And if a coin toss resulted it wouldn't be a bit surprising if the coin landed on its side.

Don Henry Up In The Air...

IF JOE PATERNO goes ahead and wins the national championship, one can envision the scene:

Some cold winter night in another four or five years, a stack of logs on the fire spitting out sparks and heat, snow hip deep to a Nittany Lion outside, and the coach settled in, just enjoying being at home and thinking back over the years...

...to some of his better moments... and to the third quarter of that game back in September of 1978...

Or, maybe about that same time, Ron Meyer is dodging speeders on North Central Expressway in Dallas, developing a good burn from having to be in the traffic. He thinks back to a game, also in September of 1978... to a moment of decision... to the third quarter...

Beaver Stadium on the Penn State campus... 77,000 fans looking on... and an upstart sophomore quarterback whipping the Mustangs goalward.

It's late in the third quarter, and SMU, one of those nobodies from the Southwest Conference had Penn State by the throat.

SMU was up 21-14 and had driven from its 20 into Lions territory. Third and about 7, and Mike Ford lofts a soft pass in the direction of his favorite receiver, Emanuel Tolbert is 12 yards downfield, well into first-down territory.

And he drops it.

When that one was over, the Mustangs had tied the once mighty Buckeyes 35-35.

NOW, THE MUSTANGS will try their aerial circus in Lubbock. And Raider boss Rex Dockery knows what's up in the air. Mike Ford passes.

Ford's ability to catch five-and-six-pound balls is almost as well known as his talents for heaving 40-yard passes. But, if Dockery had anything to do about it, Ford would be out casting a lure or cradling a shotgun while eyeing the birds come Saturday afternoon.

Meyer, meanwhile, likes to talk more about his star pupil's passing exploits.

All the sophomore is is No. 1 in the land in total offense (277.4 yards per game). And it's not very close. Stanford's Steve Dils is second 15 yards per game behind Dils has it over Ford in the throwing department, in yardage, but Dils has played one more game.

But, even second ain't bad. Ford is averaging 20 completions per contest.

NATURALLY, FORD IS No. 1 in the league in passing. But, second to him is another youngster, Tech's Ron Reeves. Which should indicate that Jones Stadium could be filled with more than floating balloons (a Saddle Tramps extravaganza) Saturday afternoon.

Ford will be firing in the direction of Emanuel Tolbert, the No. 2 receiver in the land. Reeves' targets are named Godfrey Turner and Brian Nelson.

Ford was not around two years ago when the Raiders whipped the Mustangs in that ice box of a football stadium. But Tolbert was, he caught his first touchdown pass as a Mustang, on a play covering 76 snow-covered yards.

Dockery... just about every Raider fan will remember that game, if for nothing else, frostbite, frozen toes and snowballs.

But, while Dockery recalls that one, Grant Teaff may be shuddering about an afternoon earlier this year. Teaff's Baylorites held a 21-0 lead over SMU at the half. Then, this 6-3, 230-pound young man stepped on the turf in the second half and hurled four touchdown passes.

Presto: SMU 28, Baylor 21.

Mike Ford has a way of getting your attention—now and/or later.

Next play, SMU shanks a punt, Penn State takes over in good field position and goes, 4 yards at a whack, for a touchdown, 21-19.

SMU can't move, punts, and here the Lions go again, at 4 yards a play for a score.

The final result: Penn State 26, SMU 21.

"We had 'em going," recalled Bob Condron, the SMU tub-thumper and former Tech student and sports publicist. "If we had gone on down and scored, it would have been 28-14 in the third quarter, and, who knows?"

"We like to think they couldn't have come back."

Then, the next game at Ohio State, man, we had those guys going. They were happy when the game was over. We gave 'em all we wanted."

Aggies Ready For War In Hills

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An open date was just what Texas A&M coach Tom Wilson ordered.

"We needed the extra week," he said. "We need to get rid of our bumps and bruises. And we needed the extra week to do some of the things we wanted to do with our offense. We wanted to expand our offense... add a few things."

That's what concerns Arkansas coach Lou Holtz, whose Razorbacks play A&M Saturday in Little Rock.

"I have no basis for this, but most I formation teams today, if they stay in the I, run the trap and trap option," he said. "A&M has not done that much so we expect them to work on that."

SMU has had a great deal of success throwing certain passes from the I so they might work on that. We're just going by ghosts."

Last year the Aggies attempted a pass play off a fake punt—unsuccessfully—against the Razorbacks and two years ago halfback Curtis Dickey tossed a touchdown pass off the halfback option. Thus, Holtz realizes the Aggies are not afraid to use a little razzle-dazzle when necessary.

Last week's open date was Wilson's first real opportunity to put his personal touches on the offense. He was the Aggies' offensive coordinator until he replaced Emory Bellard two games back.

Wilson said recently that a few things will be added to the A&M offense as the year progresses. He did not mention what may be in store for the Razorbacks.

The Aggies used a great deal of wishbone offense while compiling a 4-2 record, but Wilson said they had run two wishbone plays in a 20-17 victory over SMU and none in a 38-21 decision over Rice.

Now, he's calling the plays from the field.

"I feel you get a better feel for the game on the sidelines," Wilson said. "You have a little trouble on third and short, how short it is, and which hash mark the ball is on. But, being on the field is not a completely dark area. You can see a lot of things that are available."

The extra week means Wilson has taken a hard look at Arkansas.

"I see a very good football team," he said. "An offensive team that doesn't make many mistakes. A quarterback (Ron Calcagni) who can handle it. Great skill people."

"On defense, quickness is the big thing. You don't see two tackles like (Dan) Hampton and (Jimmy) Walker on the same team very often."

He says the A&M offense is similar to that of the Razorbacks. "I wouldn't classify us as outstanding on defense, but we're solid," he said.

Both A&M and Arkansas are 6-2 for the season.

The key on Saturday?

"Field position," Wilson said. "Anytime you play a game you think is going to be close, you try not to give other team something easy. The kicking game is so vital, that and turnovers."

Last year, Calcagni and Robert Farrell hooked up on a 58-yard touchdown pass with 1:41 remaining that gave Arkansas a 26-20 victory.

Wilson says the Aggies' secondary is much better this year at preventing the big play.

He says the Aggies are applying the bend, but don't break rule. He pointed out that SMU made more than 350 yards two weeks ago, but managed only 17 points.

The kickoff is set for 11:50 a.m. and the game will be telecast regionally.

Coronado Opens Cage Season Against Midland

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Barry Arwine admitted that he didn't rightly know how good the Coronado Mustangs might be this season, but he said he's anxious to find out.

"Until we go against some different people other than ourselves," the coach said on the eve of the season-opener against Midland Lee, "I won't know how good we will be. You really can't tell too much in scrimmages and intra-squad games."

While Coronado is opening the season down in Midland, Monterey will play host to Odessa Permian at 8 p.m. and the Lubbock Christian High Eagles travel to Lubbock, in other boys' action.

With the return of only one starter—senior Steve Ahlenius and three lettermen, it would appear the Mustangs are a little high and dry in the experience department. Although that might be a known fact, Arwine doesn't seem dispondent about the situation.

"We've got some kids who are going to step in and do the job," the first-year head coach said. "We'll have let them get some playing experience, though, before we do start district play."

Arwine, who led Hereford to the District 4-AAAA title two years ago and then turned around and pulled off the same feat at Amarillo High last season, feels the club's "overall physical strength" and "shooting ability" are two of the Mustangs' real plusses this year.

"We're not real tall (Ahlenius is the team's tallest player at 6-4)," said Arwine. "But I hope we'll make up for the lack of height with good aggressive play under the boards."

"When it comes to rebounding we're not going to be sissies."

And on the subject of shooting the ball—one aspect Arwine seems to be quite pleased with—he commented: "Overall this team shoots extremely well from the outside. During our scrimmages so far we've hit the shots we've take, handled the ball very well and didn't turn it over a whole lot. That's important."

Speaking about the club's weaknesses, the coach pointed out that the lack of height—particularly at forward—worries him even more than the lack of experience.

"For a class AAAA team, we're average maybe a little below," he lamented. "That means we really don't have the dominate big man under the boards that it takes. But we'll make up for it with aggressive play and strength, I feel."

Along with Ahlenius, returning lettermen include seniors Bill Tate (6-0) and Mark Reed (6-1).

Arwine commented that help in rebuilding the Mustangs should come from a group of players up from the junior varsity, including guards Same Law (6-1) and Scott Williams (5-10) and forwards Bob Griffin (6-0), Dennis Boyles (6-4), and Russell Johnson (6-2).

Because of the inexperience Arwine said all but one of the starting jobs is still up for grabs. Only Ahlenius at the post slot has established himself as a starter, Arwine concluded.

Asked if the Mustangs would employ a running or slow down type offense, Arwine quipped: "We'll play the kind of offense it takes to win. We'd like to control the tempo of the game, but if we have to go then we'll go, if we have to hold onto the ball we'll hold on. We really have no one particular style of play."

If the Mustangs are able to do that, he said, maybe they can achieve some of the goals they set down earlier in the year.

"We want to establish ourselves as winners here at Coronado," said Arwine, speaking on the subject of season goals. "And we'd like to come out over .500 and win district."

But then he went even a step further.

"What we'd really like to do," Arwine concluded, "is win every game we play."

LCC Cagers Open Year

Lubbock Christian College, hoping to start its 1978-79 basketball campaign on a high note, hosts Paul Quinn College tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the LCC Fieldhouse.

The Chaps, under new head coach Larry Hays who took over the LCC reins after a seven year absence, have lost 20 or more games during six of the past seven seasons.

However, LCC will attempt to improve on a dismal 4-22 mark it posted last year as it returns three lettermen to the fold.

Paul Quinn enters the game with a couple of games already under its belt. In its season opener, PQC defeated Arkansas Baptist 96-91. However a week later Wiley College ambushed LCC's guest 101-76.

According to Hays, Bruce Carver and Marshall Smith will start at the guard positions. The front line will include Brian Fortner Kevin Hartn and Mike Wrinkle. Hays, however, indicated that most of the Chap players would see some action tonight.

Benefit Game Held

The Texas Tech chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi will battle the Inter Fraternity Council in a benefit basketball game at the intramural gym on the Tech campus tonight.

Proceeds of the game will be given donated to the Office of Student Life who will use the money to provide a needy family with a Thanksgiving feast.

Admission to the contest is $1 or two can goods. Tipoff is slated for 9 p.m.

Dockery Guest At Fete

Rex Dockery will be speaker this week at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Red Raider Club.

The program will be held at Vann's KoKo Palace, beginning at 11:40 a.m. The meeting is for Red Raider Club members and their guests.

Dockery, Tech's head football coach, will speak and share the scouting report with one of his assistants. Tech this week will host SMU, and Dockery will also talk about last week's 27-17 win over TCU.

LCCHS Faces Lazbuddie Tonight

By BOB BAJACKSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Lubbock Christian High School basketball coach Gary Bowe just hopes his Eagle basketball team will be as organized as the practice schedule is on the court tonight when the Eagles open up the 1978 cage season in Lazbuddie tonight. Tipoff is slated for 8 p.m.
Because of a crowded workout schedule, which ranges from junior high to college, the Eagles take the court at 3:45 each day and must be finished by 5 p.m. Is that enough time to getting everything accomplished?
"We have four of five starters back that have some playing experience," said Bowe. "They played in about 24 or 25 games for us last year."
Those players Bowe is referring to include Shawn Williams, 6-3, post; Shawn Bowe, 6-3, forward; Tim Perrin, 6-2, forward; and Billie McConnell, 6-1 guard. The other starter will be Tim Maynard, 5-11, guard.

Last season, Lubbock Christian High School finished with a 19-7 record. This season, the Eagles have some added inspiration to improve on that mark.
"This year, we're a member of the Texas Association of Private Schools (TAPS)," said the Eagle coach. "Now, that we will be playing for a championship (the west zone crown), it'll be easier to get our kids motivated."
Lubbock Christian hopes to capture the west zone title with a balanced offense and combination defense.
"We're going to fast break it whenever we can," said Bowe. "But our entire offense is not just blow and go. If the easy bucket is not there, then we'll set up and work for the good shot."
According to Bowe, McConnell is the team's best passer, his son Shawn is the best inside shooter, with Williams and Perrin having good outside touches.
"Shawn (Bowe) is our best inside shooter because he's tough in a crowd," said the Eagle coach. "He doesn't lose his concentration."
In regard to the outside shooting attack, Bowe said Perrin's range is from 20-25 feet, while Williams is accurate from the free throw line and at the high post.
"But in all honesty, there is no one star on our team," said Bowe. "The main thing I've been pleased with is our team play. We are more team oriented."
Since, the Lubbock Christian football team qualified for the TAPS playoffs by winning the west zone title, the Eagle basketball team won't be a full strength.
"We're going to be hurting until the number of AA, AAA teams in the competition."

As the interview progressed, Bowe became more and more excited about getting the season underway.
"Our kids are ready," repeated the Eagle coach a number of times during the interview. "In fact, last night (Thursday), a number of our kids went over to Cotton Center to watch the girls play. I'll tell you by halftime, our kids were ready to get into the dressing room and suit up. We're ready."
So, let the season begin.

Wilson Meets Jayton, Valley Battles Amherst In Playoffs

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Amherst with the Johnson cousins plays Valley with Darrell Dowd and a stone wall defense while Jayton with the playoff experience and Robert Segura meets Wilson with Calvin Wilke and a defense that has allowed only 28 points this year.

With advance billings like that, you must know that it is playoff time in Class B.
And the first step is the district competition, pitting the winners of each of the two zones in each district.
Winning 2-B's southern sector was Amherst with a 5-0 conference record and a 9-1 mark overall. Winning the North was Valley, 5-0 and 8-0-1.
In the other area Class B district, (3), Wilson, 5-0 and 9-1 will meet Jayton (5-0) 8-2).

So far this year, Wilson's Wilke has rushed for 1,104 yards and scored 70 points. That, combined with the stingiest defense in the area, has accounted for 284-28 scoring difference the Mustangs hold over their opponents.
But the Jaybirds bring an important intangible into the contest (as well as some strong runningbacks).
Jayton has been to the quarterfinals of the Class B playoffs for the last three years. Last year they lost to Wheeler, the eventual state champ, by 29-20.
The 'Birds are led on the ground by Segura, a shifty tailback who has accounted for 1,200 yards this year, despite missing some playing time with injuries.
He is backed up by fullback Donnie Shipp, an 800-yard rusher.
That game will be played in Snyder Friday night at 8 p.m. Tonight in Plainview, Amherst and Valley will match up.
And it's the Valley backfield that is drawing most of the attention in this one.
Do you wonder why? Tailback Darrell Dowd has rushed for over 1,100 yards despite missing two games; sophomore flanker James McNary is over 1,000 on the year and fullback Kenneth Helms is right around 700 yards.
That ain't bad.
Especially when you combine it with a defense that has allowed only 44 points. The only blemish on the Valley season was a 6-6 tie with Crosbyton, a very strong Class A team.
But Amherst survived a torrid district

Tech Preps For SMU, Cold During Workout

By DON HENRY
Executive Sports Editor
By the time the Raiders grew accustomed to the weather, it was time to go to the house.
But, there was plenty of work to be done, and Tech coach Rex Dockery had to get his troops out in the weather.
"It's cold," said the head coach, following the workout, "but we had to get outside to get something done."
Maybe he was remembering two years ago when the teams collided — or slid into each other — in a game with the temperature in the low 20's and a layer of snow covering the AstroTurf the last half.
"We had to give our defense some of the looks that we'll face," commented Dockery. "What passes do they run? All of them. They throw outs, long, short, over the middle, you name it.
"Shoot, as much as they throw, they have to throw them all."

Even as strong as the Mustangs are in the passing department, Dockery is just as impressed with the SMU defense.
"They've improved so much over last year. It's a case of the older guys getting better — especially (linebacker) Putt Choate — and also, they've gotten some good young players, who have made them a lot stronger defensively."
Nelson (senior linebacker Gary) has made a lot of difference, and their freshmen, people like (linebacker) Eric Ferguson and (tackle) Harvey Armstrong," Dockery added.
The Raider coach also pointed to the speed in the defensive backfield.
The Raiders will continue to work today on the SMU game, which will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday at Jones Stadium. Both teams will be shooting for victories to pull them over the 500 hump SMU is 4-4-1 Tech 5-3.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — After Dave Parker was named the National League's 1978 Most Valuable Player Wednesday, the Pittsburgh Pirates pledged to keep him under contract and Parker waxed poetic.

"Right now, I'm going to say that we will sign Dave Parker. I'm very optimistic," said general manager Pete Peterson, faced with the possibility Parker could become a free-agent after next season.

Parker, winner of two straight batting titles and the runaway MVP choice, responded in rhyme.

"I said last season, 'When the leaves turn brown, I'll be wearing my second batting crown,'" he said.

"At this time, I'll say that when the leaves turn green, I'll be playing for the same team."

That brought grins from Peterson and Pirate Manager Chuck Tanner, who flanked the leather-garbed Parker during a press conference.

"Dave's the best ballplayer in the game today. Nobody can do it better," said Tanner, who watched the 6-foot-5, 225-pound rightfielder lead a Pirate stretch drive last season despite a cracked cheekbone.

"And the amazing thing about it is that he hasn't even begun to hit his peak yet. Dave Parker is going to have his good years starting now," Tanner added.

That's a tall statement considering Parker, who batted .338 in 1977 and .334 last season, collected 21 of a possible 24 first-place votes and a total of 320 points the MVP balloting by a select committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

First baseman Steve Garvey of the Los Angeles Dodgers finished second with 194 points, but he did not receive a first-place vote.

The other three first-place votes went to shortstop Larry Bowa of the Philadelphia Phillies, third overall with 189 points.

"I don't want to downgrade Garvey or Bowa. They're two fine players," said Peterson. "But I don't understand why Parker didn't receive all of the first place votes."

The voters, two from each of the NL's 12 cities, each voted for 10 players. A first-place vote counted 14 points. Second place was nine points, down to one point for 10th.

After Bowa, outfielders took the next four spots: Reggie Smith, Dodgers, 164 points; Jack Clark, San Francisco Giants, 107; last year's MVP, George Foster, Cincinnati Reds, 104; and Greg Luzinski, Philadelphia, 48.

Pitcher Gaylord Perry of the San Diego Padres, this year's Cy Young winner, finished eighth with 45 points. Rounding out the top 10 were outfielders Willie Stargell of the Pirates with 39 points and Dave Winfield of San Diego with 37.

Last season, Parker led the league with 340 total bases, rapped 30 homers, third behind Foster's league high of 40 and Luzinski's 35, drove in 117 runs, second to Foster's 120, and stole 20 bases.

"My goal for 1979 is to win the Triple Crown," he said, referring to the batting, home run and RBI titles.

"I got my home run swing going good this year, and if I can stay healthy next year, I will shoot for the Triple Crown. I believe in myself quite a bit."

Parker, who played early last season with a broken finger, fractured his cheek in a June 30 collision with catcher John Stearns of the New York Mets.

After surgery to wire the cheek into place, he was playing again in 16 days.

Initially, he tried wearing a hockey goalie's mask at the plate. But it limited his vision and he opted for a regular batting helmet, though he did wear a football-type helmet to run the bases.

After the injury, he went into a batting slump that dropped his average from .315 to .288.

But he returned to form in the last two months, leading a drive that helped the Pirates come from 11.1-2 games back to within one game of first-place Philadelphia.

Whether Parker leads the Pirates in future years remains to be seen. He has one year left on a three-year pact that reportedly brings him about $200,000 per year, less than half of what some players make.

Parker said last season that if he didn't sign a new pact with Pittsburgh before next season, he would play out his final year and become a free agent.

Yet harmony was the theme Wednesday.

Oft-Injured Sims Now Causing Pain

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Billy Sims finally appears to have shaken off the injury jinx, and as a result, Oklahoma's opponents are feeling the pain.

When he came out of Hooks, Tex. in 1975 with more than 7,000 yards to his credit as a high school sensation, the projections were that Sims might turn out to be the greatest back ever to run wild for the University of Oklahoma.

Finally, after three years of nagging injuries, Coach Barry Switzer says that Sims is "playing up to our expectations... playing the way we always thought he could play."

What Sims is doing is leading the nation in rushing with an average of 155 yards per game, including a national record-tying three 200-yard-plus games in a row when ended when he was "held" to 153 in last week's loss to Nebraska. With 1,550 yards in 10 games, he needs 116 against Oklahoma State on Saturday to break the school record of 1,665 set by Greg Pruitt in 1971.

Obviously, the time has come to mention Sims in the same breath with Joe Washington, Steve Owens and Pruitt, the three leading ground-gainers in Oklahoma history.

"Earl Campbell and Billy Sims are the two best running backs I've ever seen," says Switzer, linking Sims with last year's Heisman Trophy winner from the University of Texas.

I coached Owens (the 1969 Heisman winner) and he was a big, strong, durable back. Pruitt had sensational speed with great moves and acceleration. Joe Washington had Mike Thomas for a while. Horace Ivory, Elvis Peacock, Billy's got as much speed as any of them.

"He beat Peacock in the 40 as a freshman and Peacock ran a 9.4 hundred. And at 207 pounds he's heavier than any of them but Owens and Peacock and he's bigger in the upper body than everybody. He just knocks people down."

LPGA Meet Changes Name, Cash

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ladies Professional Golf Association announced Wednesday that prize money for its annual event in Birmingham, Ala., would be raised from $60,000 to $100,000 and that the tournament would take a new name.

Starting next spring, the event will be known as the Otey Crisman Classic instead of the Birmingham Classic. The dates are April 23-29.

Crisman, a 65-year-old former tournament professional who has made an international reputation as manufacturer of hickory shafted putters, becomes the new sponsor.

Crisman, who lives in Selma, Ala., became interested in hand-fashioned putters in 1946 when, experiencing difficulty on the greens, he whittled a putting blade out of wood and used the implement to lead national qualifying for the U.S. Open.

Other golfers, including champions Jimmy Demaret and Cary Middlecoff, became so intrigued with with the putters that they requested duplicates.

Crisman began producing the hickory-shafted clubs on a small scale but demands escalated. Today he distributes some 17,000 annually around the world.

Market Ekes Out Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market eked out a minuscule gain Wednesday as a severe warning that a depression might lie ahead punctured an already faltering rally.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial, off by nearly 22 points in the week's first two sessions, was up by nearly 9 1/2 points, but closed below by just 2 3/4 at 785.60.

Gainers outdistanced losers by about 3-2 among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues, and Big Board volume fell to 26.28 million from Tuesday's 30.61 million.

For most of the day, the market was running what E.F. Hutton's Newton Zinder called "a low-key rally." Then, less than an hour before the 4 p.m. NYSE close, White House inflation czar Alfred Kahn warned of "a deep, deep depression" if inflation isn't curbed.

The rally, already beginning to show signs of strain, quickly fell apart. "With a market as nervous as this," said Charles Jensen at Merkin Co., the rally's failure "had to be expected."

Erving Keeps Watch On Past Net Mates

PISCATAWAY, N.J. (AP) — Julius Erving has long since shaken off the hurt of being sold to the Philadelphia 76ers two years ago, but the incomparable Doctor J admits he still keeps a close watch on his former team.

"I'm still friendly with a lot of the guys," Erving said Tuesday night after his old team, the New Jersey Nets, improved their record to 11-6 with a resounding 124-108 victory over the 76ers.

"I'm happy that they are doing well and I'm happy for Kevin (Coach Loughery). We had a pretty good relationship."

Erving was the key man as the then-New York Nets captured a pair of American Basketball Association championships in the three years before the merger with the NBA. He was sold on the eve of the 1976-77 season for $3 million when he was unable to reach contractual accord with former owner Roy Boe.

"I'm beyond the point of thinking about it now, it's my third year away," Erving said. "I don't get any higher or lower than playing against another team. I try to do the same thing every night, which is hard to beat."

Erving expressed regrets, however, that the old Nets never given the opportunity to play together in the NBA.

"They would have been great, but the circumstances surrounding the situation took its toll. It's all part of history," he said.

After Tuesday night's victory, the Nets moved to within 1 1/2 games of the 76ers in the Atlantic Division. Erving said it could be the team's most important night in the NBA.

"But it's up for them to decide how big they want to make it," Erving said. "I think they play very much under control. The control factor is the biggest thing, they are putting more of a premium on the ball. They have some guys who can really do it and they rally around them."

Erving said Boe's financial dilemma was the downfall of the team. After people like Billy Paultz, Larry Kenon, Brian Taylor, Mike Gale and Jim Eakins were sold or traded, it created new roles for the remaining players.

"The Nets didn't have any depth. Their second-string became their front-line players, it was a new role for them."

Akers Unhappy With Clip Call

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas coach Fred Akers said Wednesday an official erred in calling a clipping penalty that might have cost Texas the Southwest Conference football championship.

The punt return on which the clip was called in a 10-7 loss to Houston Saturday "was the kind of play that gets you in or keeps you out of the Cotton Bowl," Akers told the Longhorn Club.

Houston's victory Saturday enabled the No. 6 Cougars to remain undefeated in the Southwest Conference. It was ninth-ranked Texas' first loss after four SWC victories.

The SWC champion will represent the conference in the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

The clipping call against defensive tackle Kenneth McCune earned a 54-yard return by Texas safety Johnnie Johnson to the Houston 21 in the second quarter of what was then a 0-0 game.

It amounted to a 63-yard penalty, Akers said.

Asked if the coaches' film showed a clip, Akers said, "No, it does not."

He said McCune's block "was a good block."

Numerous other apparent mistakes by officials were revealed by the film the club watched but there was not a clear view of McCune's block.

Akers expressed a win some, lose some attitude toward the calls.

"It was just one of those things they missed," Akers said of the clipping call. "But you're going to miss a lot any game. Things in the game went unnoticed that we did wrong. ... Who's to say which play that is missed (by the officials) is a key one? They (officials) can't see everything. I've had it work both ways as a coach."

Club members, however, did not sound as forgiving.

One said he was concerned that "A&M people" officiate Texas games.

Former Texas A&M player Glenn Lippman was the line judge in the Houston game but another official called the clip.

Akers said there probably will be some changes in who officiates what games before the 1979 football season. "The preparations have been under way for some time," he said.

Akers said, "I'm very discouraged we did lose, but there were a lot of positive things toward team development. We attacked from the word go and did the best we could. There were two good teams out there — Houston had a fine team. ... Either team could have won."

"I hope," Akers said, "that we get it (the loss) out of our system. We have three games left."

Asked if he had talked to the squad about possibly going to a bowl, Akers said that he had and "they indicated a preference if we get an invitation." He did not say what bowl the team preferred.

Two Teams Obtain Playoff Invites

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Western State of Gunnison, Colo., and Wisconsin-LaCrosse have accepted invitations to play in the Division I football playoffs next week, the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics said Wednesday.

Western State, 9-0, is ranked second in the final NAIA poll, and Wisconsin-LaCrosse, 9-1, is ranked fifth. They were the only two teams among the top five in the rankings which have completed their seasons.

Garrett Maps 1979 Campaign

Lubbock Man Ignores Past Racing Failures

Undismayed by an 18th place finish in last month's Road Atlanta auto racing classic, Malcolm Garrett Jr. of Lubbock already is mapping his campaign for the 1979 racing season.

After finishing first in the B Sedan class of the Sports Car Club of America's Southwest Division, Garrett went to Atlanta with a guaranteed starting position in the showdown for the U.S. Road Racing Championship. He saw his chances fade when a broken spark plug wire cost him three laps and put him far out of contention.

Garrett already has planned some changes in his Datsun 710 sedan for the coming season, including permissible body modifications and a new epoxy paint job "which may add a couple of miles an hour to our top speed," he ventured.

Of the Atlanta race, he reported he was running in a cluster with the first six to nine cars ("it was hard to tell at that point just where I was") in the sixth of the race's 18 laps when the wire popped loose and his speed dropped from the 145 mph pace to around 100.

"When I got back around to the pits my crew spotted the dangling wire and stuck it back on and I went back out, but it was damaged to the point that it wouldn't stay and was off again before I got 300 yards into the course," he said.

That necessitated another "slow" lap around the 2.5 mile course and another stay in the pits while lasting repairs were made.

"I was so far back I thought about just staying in, but I'd come all that way to race, so I went back and ran it out," he said. He had qualified 16th in the field of 26 cars, two seconds off quick time and only a half-second off the fifth-fastest qualifier.

"We were really running good, and I think we had just as good a chance of winning as anybody up to the point where the problem developed," Garrett reflected.

"But we'll try to be back with something that will be competitive next year." Lubbock had still another representative in the race, David Elle, who drove the Datsun 510 sedan that Garrett campaigned prior to acquiring the 710.

Elle, who finished third in Southwest competition, qualified 23rd and finished 14th in his first Atlanta venture.

BRYANT WAIVED

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — The New York Giants placed cornerback Bill Bryant on National Football League waivers Wednesday and signed offensive tackle Bill Bain. Bryant, a third-year pro from Grambling, had led the Giants in interceptions last season but lost his regular job to rookie Terry Jackson this year. Bain, a fourth-year player from Southern California, was with the Giants earlier this season.

EARL'S BACK—New York Knicks star Earl Monroe, missing the first 15 games of the NBA season because of a contract dispute, is back on the court working his magic. Here Monroe is presented a yellow rose by budding actress Johnnie Richard at Madison Square Garden in his first appearance back in uniform. (AP Laserphoto)

ABC Plans Updates During Broadcasts

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC Television said Wednesday that, in addition to its previously announced lineup of college football games Saturday, it will have a camera and an announcer stationed at three other games to provide updates. ABC will televise five early games as regional telecasts Saturday and three late games, including UCLA-Southern California. In addition, the network will provide updates on the Purdue-Michigan, Georgia-Auburn and Clemson-Maryland games. These updates might consist of live action or taped highlights, depending on the situation.

'Pearl,' Non-War Story Of Attack, Airs Tonight

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dec. 7, 1941. "I was in Santa Monica surfing and I heard the news when I stopped by a hamburger stand for lunch," recalled writer Stirling Silliphant.

Silliphant rushed to his home in Glendale and, like all other Americans, stayed by the radio all day Sunday listening to news of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

"It was the day I lost control of my future," he said. "I spent 2 1/2 years in the Navy. I hated the service, but I made a lot of notes. From the time I got out in 1946 until now I'd never written a service story. It was that painful to me."

His story is "Pearl," a six-hour mini-series about that weekend on Pearl Harbor. It begins tonight on ABC and continues Friday and Sunday. It stars Angie Dickinson, Robert Wagner, Lesley Ann Warren and Dennis Weaver.

"I was in Aurora, Mo., and I'd just come back from playing a little tennis," said Weaver. "When I got home everyone was grouped around a car in the driveway listening to the radio. Their faces were all ashen and I knew something was going on." He enrolled in a college training program and then spent 28 months as a Navy pilot.

DENNIS WEAVER

Forrest is a man who dragged himself up by his own bootstraps and isn't happy about it, particularly because his aide, Capt. Cal Lanford, played by Robert Wagner, is rich. "He's resentful, but he keeps it concealed," Weaver said. "He actually lets the camera look out in the background."

Said Weaver: "I was totally caught up and excited by the character. It's not just a part of an actor's work for him, it's his passion. He's a complete person."

He is probably best known as Blamie Sam McCord in the recent "McCloud" series, and as Chester, Islanded Most Dillon's limping buddy on "Gunsmoke."

Since quitting "McCloud," he has been seen frequently in TV movies and mini-series. Earlier this year he did a movie pilot for CBS called "The Islander."

On Sunday, Dec. 3, he will appear as trail boss R.J. Poteet on NBC's "Centennial."

Weaver plays an anthropologist in the NBC movie, "Iiti," about the last member of an Indian tribe thought extinct, and he is a police sergeant in a "Police Story." Neither movie has been scheduled.

At present, he is at work on the five-hour ABC movie "Get Patty Hearst."

Although "Pearl" is centered on the military, it's not really a war story. "It's a story about that loss of innocence and freedoms that I, and all Americans alive at the time, felt and have felt since then," Silliphant said.

"Pearl" gives Weaver, television's perennial good guy, a wonderful opportunity to throw away his white hat. He plays Col. Jason Forrest, who is weak, arrogant and bigoted. "It's not the first sympathetic character I've played, but the first successful one," said Weaver. "The others were one-dimensional, with no interesting sides. I think this fellow has a lot of facets. He's a full human being, although I hope most people don't agree with him."

"He has a lot of pressures on him, particularly from his wife. I think that's something most people will relate to one way or another. He has some strange psychological quirks, but like most people he thinks he's right. He thinks he's saving the free world."

His wife in the series is played by Angie Dickinson, and she's bored and unhappy and has an affair with the colonel's new driver.

"To play this guy I had to be convinced he was right," Weaver said. "I had to suppress my own subjective view on things."

Networks' Election Programs Hardly Make Dent In Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — The networks poured millions of dollars — they won't say exactly how much — into an evening of election coverage Nov. 7, and the effect on the week's prime-time ratings was hardly noticeable.

ABC, whose "78 Vote" program was dead last in the race for viewers during the week ending Nov. 12, nevertheless beat CBS and NBC in the networks' competition as it has all but two weeks this season.

CBS, whose "Campaign '78" show did little better, 54th of the 56 programs checked by the A. C. Nielsen Co., finished second, just ahead of NBC, whose "Decision '78" program was No. 56 for the week.

What that means, essentially, is that independent stations in the major areas took up a great deal of slack with movies and other special programs. In other areas, with only the network fare available, many people apparently did not watch TV election night.

ABC listed six of the week's 10 most-watched shows, and compiled a rating for the week of 18.9. The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute, 18.9 percent of the homes in the country with TV were tuned to ABC.

CBS trailed by a full point at 17.9, just ahead of NBC at 17.8. It was the third week in a row that the networks finished in that order.

The only substantial rumble caused by the election night programming occurred at the top of the ratings. NBC's "Little House on the Prairie" was No. 1 for the week, a position normally held by one of ABC's Tuesday night comedies, "Three's Company" or "Laverne and Shirley." Both the ABC shows were pre-empted election evening.

The first chapter of a CBS mini-series, "The Word," was running for the week, followed by three ABC shows, "Love Boat," "Mork and Mundy" and "Eight is Enough."

CBS got a boost from two shows in addition to "The Word," "60 Minutes" in sixth place and "M*A*S*H" in ninth.

"Little House on the Prairie" had a rating of 27.1, compared with a rating of 10 for CBS' "Campaign '78," the best of the election coverage programs. Nielsen says 27.1 means of all the homes in the country with television, that percentage saw at least part of "Little House on the Prairie."

Other shows at the bottom of the ratings were "Lil Abner in Dogpatch" on NBC, ranked 52nd, and CBS' "Hollywood's Diamond Jubilee," No. 53.

Here are the week's Top 10 shows: "Little House on the Prairie," with a rating of 27.8 representing 20.7 million homes, NBC; "The Word," Part 1, 26 or 19.4 million, CBS; "Love Boat," 25.9 or 19.3 million, "Mork and Mundy," 25.1 or 18.7 million, and "Eight is Enough," 24.9 or 18.6 million, all ABC; "60 Minutes," 24.8 or 18.5 million, CBS; "Charlie's Angels," 24.1 or 18 million, and "What's Happening," 23.9 or 17.8 million, both ABC; "M*A*S*H," 23.7 or 17.7 million, CBS, and "Fantasy Island," 22.8 or 17 million.

CELEBRATE CHICK-FIL-A'S 100th STORE OPENING
CHICK-FIL-A SANDWICH ONLY $1.00

In the past 11 years, at shopping malls across America, thousands of people have discovered the great, new taste of a Chick-fil-A® sandwich.

THE UNITED STATES OF CHICK-FIL-A

It's a taste they can't get anywhere else. Because only Chick-fil-A takes the tenderest part of the chicken, the breast, takes away all the bone, skin and fat, and cooks it up in a special seasoning. Then we serve it in a hot toasted buttered bun for about the most delicious sandwich you ever tasted.

So it's no wonder that from Miami to Paramus, from Atlanta to Albuquerque, people enjoy our delicious difference. So come help us celebrate our 100th Store Opening with a $1.00 Special on the taste that's sweeping America: Chick-fil-A.

After all, you helped us get where we are today.

Now at South Plains Mall.

Carolina Classic Filmed At Pennsylvania Site

JIM THORPE, Pa. (AP) — The grim-faced banker in the light tan suit followed two gun-toting guards out the front door of the bank to face the angry crowd waving savings books and demanding their money.

It was a springtime scene in sunny North Carolina, just before the big crash of 1929, but it was being played on a chilly fall afternoon on a street called Broadway in the old Pennsylvania coal town of Jim Thorpe, once known as Mauch Chunk.

Curious townspeople, most of them school kids, surrounded the live set. But Pennsylvania National Guardsmen and local gendarmes kept them away from the street action behind ropes — all in the cause of movie-making, television-style.

"That's what film-making is all about, to make our state look like another place," said Michelle Kuchar, who is with the Pennsylvania Film Commission, a new state agency created to entice TV and Hollywood producers to come East for a change. The $1 million film of Thomas Wolfe's novel, "You Can't Go Home Again," starring Lee Grant and Chris Sarandon, will be a two-hour CBS special early next year. About 30 minutes of the production takes place in fictional Libya Hill, N.C., which was filmed here recently.

"This is a perfect place," said producer Bob Markell, who brought a crew of 60 and 20 professional actors from New York. "Look around this town, it hasn't changed in more than half a century. The railroad station is still at the end of the street."

Markell said more and more movies are being made in the East, and Miss Kuchar said Pennsylvania wants to get a lot more of the "on location" action.

Harry Hintz, executive vice president of the Jim Thorpe National Bank, rented his building to the moviemakers for one dollar.

"We're happy to do it for the interest it's creating here. It's really exciting."

Hintz said. "This is the second movie made in this town. The last was 'The Molly Maguires' in 1968."

At the bank, the crowd was being positioned for a break-in, and a camera crew in the lobby focused on the door. All the action was outside where antique cars of 1920 vintage gave the street period atmosphere.

Director Ralph Nelson was using a bullhorn to give the signal to start cameras rolling when suddenly the towns fire siren sounded.

"Hold it up," Nelson barked as police swiftly opened both ends of the blocked street. A minute later an engine zoomed past en route to a burning building somewhere else in town, and then the actors, pros and amateurs, resumed their places.

A block away, a portable sign at a gas station, advertised this message: "You could be in the movies."

"YOU CAN'T GO HOME AGAIN" — A grim-faced banker, flanked by guards, is approached by depositors demanding their money in a TV film titled "You Can't Go Home Again," being made in Jim Thorpe, Pa. The movie, about one-quarter of which is being shot in Jim Thorpe, will be shown as a two-hour CBS special, early next year. (AP Laserphoto)

Filmmaker's Sympathies With Slayer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Claude Chabrol, whose films are filled with murder and mystery, has been called an irreverent prankster as well as France's Alfred Hitchcock.

One biographer notes that "with his wild hair, ironic mouth and those glasses on his pointed nose, he always looks like a schoolboy skipping class."

Another says the 48-year-old French director claims to write his scripts while playing pinball. It's part of an image Chabrol seems to relish.

He's quick to bring up the comparison to Hitchcock, even if it's to deny any similarity between the two.

"I'm very fond of Hitchcock," he said with a broad grin. "In France, they compare me to Hitchcock because I once wrote a book about him and because there are many murders in my films."

Chabrol's films are sprinkled with psychopathic murders, adultery, drug-induced nightmares and unrequited love. You won't find any heroes, and audiences have a hard time identifying with his lead characters — usually sordid killers.

"I like murderers, because they're weak and a little sick," said Chabrol in an interview after a tribute to him at the San Francisco Film Festival. "The murderers that fascinate me don't know they're murderers until they do it. They kill to suppress a dilemma, to avoid making a choice."

What amazes me is that society puts murderers in a place where they have no responsibility at all. Jail is exactly what they want. Each murderer should be chairman of the board of a big corporation."

His latest film, "Violette Noziete," focuses on the sensational 1933 murder trial of Violette Noziete, an 18-year-old charged with poisoning her parents. Her mother survived. Chabrol agreed to show it to Violette's children, who liked it, he said.

Violette was freed in 1945 after spending 12 years in prison. She married the son of the prison cashier and ran a little restaurant until she died in 1967. Her mother forgave her and lived with her.

Chabrol was born in Paris and spent his childhood in the village of Sargent. After the war, he studied law for two years, political science for two weeks and pharmacy for four years — flunking the final exam every year.

He worked as a film critic in Paris and launched his filmmaking career in 1957 with an inheritance from his first wife's grandmother.

The 5-foot-7, balding, paunchy director likes to shock. He says he's made "awful movies" among the 33 in his career, because he "can't resist even a bad screenplay."

Chabrol, who boasts that he's a better actor than director Francois Truffaut, has also starred in his own movies, often playing the tyrannical husband.

And he treats his second wife, actress Stephane Audran, like "a real monster" when she stars in his films. "I was never happy with her performance. I was brutal. I beat her once, she beat me three times," he quipped.

"The relationship between men and women is like colonialism. Women have liberated themselves, and now their problem is not to be fascist."

DJs Participate In Charity Drive

A duo of daring disc jockeys climb aboard waterbeds at 10 a.m. today and will be lifted by cranes 75 feet in the air — all in the interest of charity.

Disc jockeys from Lubbock country station KLLL and Amarillo rock station KY99 will compete in a fund raising effort for Muscular Dystrophy by attempting to remain on their suspended beds for at least three days.

Donations will be collected in front of Shallow Waterbeds at 2305 se raised at the South Georgia Shopping Center.

KLLL's Steve Sever will have a telephone aboard his flying bed so that he can conduct his regularly scheduled show.

Army Questions Veteran's Cancer Cause Claims

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Thirty-three years after volunteering as an Army guinea pig in a test he now blames for his extensive cancer, Charles A. McGinnis has an answer from the Army about what was being tested. It was mustard gas.

But McGinnis, now 53, and his congressman are dissatisfied with the answer, saying the Army doesn't assure financial compensation, doesn't promise to contact other survivors and links mustard gas to cancer in animals but not in humans.

The answer says there is no evidence that nuclear materials were involved — a statement that satisfies the congressman but which McGinnis says leaves open the possibility McGinnis also says he found a "downright lie" in a medical document.

The answer is from Gen. Bernard W. Rogers, Army chief of staff, in a letter to Rep. Robert H. Mollohan, D-W. Va., a member of the House Armed Services Committee. Mollohan's office said it will seek more information.

Last month, McGinnis's case attracted national attention through an Associated Press story that quoted him as suspecting some form of radiation was involved. The tests occurred toward the end of World War II, three months before the first announced nuclear test in New Mexico and five months before two atomic bombs were dropped on Japan.

McGinnis was among 133 soldiers, about two-thirds of them Puerto Rican, who volunteered for tests on San Jose Island off the Panama coast from February 16 through April 21, 1945. The Army called it the San Jose Project and gave them commendations for meritorious service.

McGinnis blames most of his medical problems, including extensive cancer, kidney problems and sterility, on the tests. He wants government medical payments, and Mollohan has been helping him.

Rogers's letter said each platoon took part in the tests for two weeks — McGinnis's group from March 21 through April 4 — to determine the effects of chemical warfare agents under various field conditions and on protective clothing. McGinnis said he wore waxed underwear, fatigues, a rubberized suit, goggles and other headgear.

On March 29, the Army said, cluster bombs were used to drop HT, or thickened mustard gas, on the troops. Mustard gas is a blister agent that causes severe burns, breathing problems and temporary blindness. It caused hundreds of thousands of casualties in World War I.

McGinnis remembers being told to jam his bayoneted rifle into the ground and lean forward on it when he heard an airplane go over.

"Everything turned black," he recalled. The trees were stripped of their leaves. The animals screamed and holed and then died. "Tethered goats were also exposed to the weapons test."

"We were in a hell of a shape," McGinnis said. "After that morning, it felt like a knot in there," he said of his throat. "I was just choking all the time and hurting down in there." This year, doctors removed malignant tumors from his throat and stomach.

But Merideth Robb, a Mollohan spokesman, said he doubts the letter will help McGinnis get a service-connected disability to pay medical bills because it "hedges quite a bit on whether they believe the case he has now is a direct result of his exposure to mustard gas."

McGinnis has said he pays $1,100 to $1,500 a month for chemotherapy treatments alone. He said he could go to a Veterans Administration hospital but won't because he and his wife feel he is getting better care at private institutions.

Rogers's letter says there is a correlation between cancer in laboratory animals and mustard gas, but "at this time, we are not aware of any research that demonstrates a direct link between human exposure to this agent and cancer."

Robb said Mollohan was disappointed that the Army indicated it had no plans to contact any other surviving volunteers. Robb said that would be "a good way to perhaps determine whether or not there is a higher incidence of cancer among those volunteers."

Rogers's letter also stated: "There is no evidence that nuclear materials were tested at San Jose Island," McGinnis said that could have been stated more strongly.

REALTORS: V.A. LOANS ARE AVAILABLE ON SONNY ARNOLD HOMES CALL 792-5171 24 HRS. SONNY BUILT MINE • SONNY SOLD MINE • SONNY BUILT MINE • SONNY SOLD MINE

ly, leading him to believe the Army may be hedging.

He also cited a copy of a medical record included with the letter, which says he sustained second-degree burns of the knees, elbows and arm and was treated with cod liver oil and dry dressings. He said that wasn't the case: "Anybody knows you can smell it (cod liver oil) for 500 miles, and we weren't bandaged." He said blisters grew and burst on the troops' legs and arms, and doctors used two kinds of ointments, one on each side of the body.

Legionnaires Disease Gets Official Name

ATLANTA (AP) — Legionnaires disease has a new name that reflects what it is, what it does, who first got it and where it first showed up.

"Legionella pneumophila" was proposed as the scientific name for the disease during the International Symposium on Legionnaires Disease, which ended Wednesday at the national Center for Disease Control.

Dr. Don J. Brenner, chief of the Enteric Bacteria Section of the CDC, said the name probably will stick for the disease unless someone challenges it.

To come up with the new name, scientists used four prefixes and suffixes — "Legio" means army, "ella" means small, "pneumo" means lung, and "phila" means loving.

"I guess you could say the Legionnaires' bacteria is a 'small army that loves lungs,'" said Don Berreth, a CDC spokesman.

"Legio," of course, also brings to mind the American Legionnaires whose 1976 convention suffered the first major outbreak of the disease. And "phila" reflects Philadelphia, where the convention was held.

Motorists Offered Driving Reminders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Changing leaves and crisp air lead many American onto the highways for pleasure drives at this time of year and the Highway Users Federation has some safe driving reminders.

For example, swirling, windblown leaves can reduce visibility, so use caution when the wind picks up.

And wet leaves on the roads can be as slippery as ice. Follow the same precautions as you would when driving on ice and avoid jamming on the brakes, which can cause a skid. Bicyclists and motorcyclists should use special care.

When driving in scenic areas be especially careful of the gawking driver, who may slow down in front of you without warning. And if you want to view the scenery resist the temptation to do so while driving; instead, pull over to a safe stopping place for a leisurely look.
