

Nader Asks Federal Ban On Painkiller Darvon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Nader's Health Research Group asked the government Tuesday to ban the painkiller Darvon and related compounds, charging it "is the deadliest prescription drug in the United States."

An analyst at the National Institute on Drug Abuse, Nicholas Kozel, said there are indications that propoxyphene, widely promoted under the trade name Darvon, actually kills substantially more people across the country than the illicit drug heroin.

Dr. Sidney M. Wolfe, director of the Nader group, told Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. that the relatively mild painkiller ought to be banned immediately as "an imminent hazard to the public health."

In a simultaneous petition to the Justice Department, Wolfe said if propoxyphene isn't banned, it at least ought to be restricted as a so-called Schedule II drug which would set production limits and prohibit refilling of prescriptions.

Propoxyphene is manufactured by several pharmaceutical companies but promoted under the trade name Darvon by Eli Lilly and Co.

Earlier this year, based on studies conducted by Lilly and Co., the Food and Drug Administration ordered manufacturers to warn physicians prescribing the widely used painkiller that it should not be taken with alcohol, tranquilizers or other depressants. The combination may result in convulsions or even death.

"The manifestations of serious overdose with propoxyphene are similar to those of narcotic overdose and include respiratory depression, extreme somnolence progressing to stupor or coma, pupillary constriction and circulatory collapse," the label says.

"In addition to these characteristics of narcotic poisoning, focal and generalized convulsions constitute a permanent feature in most cases of severe propoxyphene poisoning." Heart attacks also may occur.

As long ago as 1971, the American Medical Association said the substance "is less effective than codeine and is no more effective than aspirin in usual doses; its popularity is probably due to the fact that it does not require a narcotic prescription rather than its effectiveness as an analgesic."

Propoxyphene is not very effective as a pain reliever but in excessive doses is capable of producing "a stupor which which makes it attractive as a drug of abuse," said Wolfe. "This is tantamount to legalized dope."

A spokesman for Eli Lilly, Russell L. Durbin, defended the drug as having been "carefully and thoroughly evaluated" with "a long history of safe and effective use."

"It's been on the market for 21 years," Durbin added. "Hundreds of millions of patients have taken literally billions of doses of propoxyphene with an extremely high ratio of safety and relative freedom from side effects."

The spokesman said the drug is not addictive and that there is no evidence that it causes more deaths than the amount of alcohol consumed.

Kozel, a public health expert with the National Institute on Drug Abuse, said about the number of deaths attributed to propoxyphene, the only government figures show that in 1977, 1978 and 1979, propoxyphene caused more deaths than heroin in at least 400 counties in 20 states between May, 1977 and April, 1978. He said in-related deaths in the same cities as heroin.

Survivors Of Cult Still Elude Search

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) — Survivors of the Jonestown cult suicide, menaced by flesh-eating piranha fish and other deadly perils of the jungle, eluded searching soldiers in the nearly impenetrable Guyanese wilderness for a third day Tuesday.

At the site of the mass suicide, the corpses of 409 members of the American religious sect lay decomposing in the equatorial sun. U.S. military officials were planning to airlift the bodies to the United States.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said Guyana asked that the U.S. government remove all the bodies, despite their state of decomposition. He had said earlier some of the bodies might be buried at the jungle settlement.

Bodies Swelling
"The bodies are starting to swell and some seem ready to burst," said U.S. Embassy official Peter Londoner. About 200 U.S. troops, awaiting the arrival of a dozen helicopters, were standing by in Georgetown for the evacuation operation.

Estimates of the number of sect members who fled the Jonestown camp Saturday during the ritual of self-destruction by poison ranged from 375 to more than 775. Stephan Jones, son of the Peoples Temple sect's fanatical founder, the Rev. Jim Jones, estimated some 500 had gone into the inhospitable rain forest.

Jim Jones ordered the mass suicide, a ritual he code-named "White Knight" and which he had practiced with his loyal followers, after sect members ambushed and killed Rep. Leo J. Ryan of California and four members of a Ryan-led party that made an investigative visit to the camp.

Die Of Gunshot
Jones was one of three persons who died of gunshot wounds, apparently self-inflicted. About one-quarter of the dead were children, some babies whose mothers reportedly fed them the brew of Kool Aid and cyanide.

The 19-year-old Stephan Jones, who denounced his father as a "man obsessed," told reporters Tuesday his greatest concern now was for the well-being of those who fled into the jungle, apparently unwilling to destroy themselves along with their suicidal master.

"I want to do all I can to see everybody gets a chance to find some place to settle down and start over again, if that is possible," he said.

Could Never Return
But the younger Jones, who had left the camp three weeks ago on a trip with its basketball team, said the survivors could never return to Jonestown, a four-year-old agricultural commune cut out of virgin forest 150 miles northwest of here.

Guyanese familiar with the area questioned whether the fugitives could long survive without shelter and steady food supplies in a jungle filled with swamps and criss-crossed by streams and rivers inhabited by piranhas and electric eels. The rainy season is just starting.

Jones is known to have instilled a fervid will to survive among some of his followers, however, telling them their settlements could become sanctuaries where they would escape a nuclear holocaust or other calamity. A fear that outsiders were about to destroy their small society apparently triggered the mass suicide.

About 200 Guyanese troops and police were trying to track down the survivors around Jonestown, but officials said they were hampered by thick brush that makes it impossible to see beyond a few feet. There is only one road in the area, and its potholed surface turns to mud with the rains. Aerial surveillance is nearly useless because of the heavy tree cover.

U.S. officials said 14 Jonestown survivors, including four children, had reappeared in the area after initially going in to hiding.

Guyanese authorities said Tuesday they had arrested two sect members found in the jungle near the airstrip where the Ryan group was ambushed. They were identified only as Mike Prokes and Tim Carter. Charges were not announced, but it was presumed they were being questioned in connection with the airstrip massacre, in which 10 persons were wounded.

Another sect member, Larry Layton, about 32, was arrested Sunday as a prime suspect in the ambush.

State Department official John Bushnell said in Washington about half the bodies at the camp had been tentatively identified, but names were not released.

The Peoples Temple sect consists mostly of Californians, both black and white. Fearful relatives have been waiting outside the sect headquarters in San Francisco the past two days for word of the fate of loved ones who traveled with Jones to this former British colony on South America's northeast shoulder.

If the bodies are buried here, Bushnell said, Guyanese law apparently would permit later disinterment and transfer to the United States for reburial.

The bizarre and bloody episode has left questions gnawing even at cult members. "We are all here and in the States are shocked," Stephan Jones told reporters.

"I can't believe that this was a voluntary suicide," he said. "There had to be the use of force, although some of it was blind loyalty."

A camp survivor, Odell Rhodes, said armed men were stationed in a ring around the assembled congregation at Jonestown Saturday evening as the 46-year-old Jones declared, "The time has come for us to meet in another place!"

The camp doctor and two nurses had prepared the lethal potion in a stainless steel tub and began handing out doses to each resident, Rhodes said. One woman who balked was shot into submission by the others, he said. After they drank the poison, they went into convulsions, their eyes rolled up, they had difficulty breathing and they were dead in about five minutes, according to Rhodes.

He said he fled before the end of the macabre scene and did not see Jones die. Stephan Jones, whose mother also died in the suicide ritual, said his father was a sick man. "A very frightened man ... the

Coach's Ouster Triggers Fuss

ELTON CONGER, fired from coaching at Atkins Junior High, was the complainant Tuesday at a personnel hearing before Lubbock school trustees. But some strange happenings in the public-school football program seemed to be on trial, too.

School administrators say Conger was dismissed from coaching eighth-grade football because of insubordination and use of profane language. Conger, a black, contends the real reason was racial prejudice, and that he wasn't given enough opportunity to defend himself against the charges.

The Lubbock Independent School District board of trustees spent a full day listening to the two sides and will announce a decision later. Perhaps as important as the board's verdict, however, are some disclosures made at the hearing.

—David Irons, Atkins' assistant eighth-grade coach and the superintendent's son, admitted that to discipline a player once for dropping a pass, he instructed the student to bend over and had teammates kick the youth. The younger Irons said such punishment was "wrong" and he regretted the incident.

Conger alleged that David Irons ordered the "entire football team" to kick the boy "as hard as they could," and that the student fell to the ground in pain. Conger asked why no personnel action was taken against young Irons.

Game Ends In Fight
—Football players from Thompson and the former Struggs junior high schools got into such a fight in their season finale last year that the game had to be called off. School officials did not elaborate, but they indicated such fights are rare.

—Though they disagree on how frequent it happens, Conger and school administrators said some football coaches still shout obscenities at players and game officials. Conger tried to portray the practice as common. Pete Ragus, the school system's athletics director, described it as rare but added, "I'm not saying we don't have profanity."

—One factor leading to his dismissal, according to his supervisors, is that Conger said football at Atkins was "too much of a business." Conger was faulted for complaining that the junior-high football program was patterned too much after senior-high competition.

Indeed, Conger's refusal to conform to the style of play set by his school's administration was cited as evidence of insubordination.

Postal Service Studies Mail By Electronics

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service said Tuesday it is beginning to test electronic transmission of messages and could have such a system in effect in as little as three years.

Under the electronic mail concept, a piece of paper is not carried from one place to another. Instead, computers send a message, bouncing it off a satellite to the receiving point.

The message is then put into an envelope for delivery with the next day's mail.

"As a first step we are going to have one room in our laboratory in Rockville, Md., send a message off a satellite to another room at the laboratory," Postmaster General William F. Bolger told reporters.

If this test of the equipment is successful, the computerized machinery could be established in about 10 cities and the service offered to the public, he said.

Bolger said the earliest this could happen is about three years.

The announcement of the test came after completion of a $2.3 million contract with the RCA Corp. to study applications of computerized message technology for delivering mail.

Bolger said the study found that it is "very economic" to send mail electronically.

He said he thought electronic mail could be delivered for about the same price as first class mail, if not cheaper. The current charge for mailing a first class letter is 15 cents.

"If you had the volume to support it, we could do it for 10 to 11 cents," he said.

Bolger said the RCA study found that in about six to eight years 25 billion pieces of mail might be sent electronically. This is about one-fourth of the current mail volume.

He said the electronic technology "could be used for mailing documents, letters, advertisements, almost anything

Woman Keeps Dead Dog In Freezer

WEST UNION, W. Va. (UPI) — Just in case investigators are interested, Mrs. Zelieth Stephens has kept the evidence in her freezer.

"I know people think I'm crazy for keeping him in the freezer," the 70-year-old woman said of her dog, Cocoa. "But I just thought the investigators might need him for evidence."

She claims Cocoa, a six-pound Chihuahua that was her constant companion, was shot June 2 by a state trooper who said the dog had been chasing deer. The trooper, E.F. Young, since has been dismissed.

Mrs. Stephens said she will keep Cocoa in the freezer for a little while longer just to see what happens. "She has written to the state police about the incident."

"I knew this little fellow (Cocoa) couldn't have hurt a deer. He was only seven inches tall," she said.

She said the night of June 2 she heard three shots, saw a trooper drive past her house and turn around, then heard another shot. Two of her dogs returned that night but Cocoa didn't.

"I stayed up all night waiting for him to come home," she said. "It was 42 degrees and he was used to staying in the house. He was such a little fellow."

Mrs. Stephens said she and her son-in-law found Cocoa's body the next day. He had been shot in the left side.

So I brought the little fellow home and wrapped him up real good in plastic and put him in the freezer," she said of the dog. "I still have him."

State police said Mrs. Stephens' allegations appear correct, but have declined to say if an investigation will be made.

Hardin Resigns Assessor Post

RUSSELL HARDIN, Lubbock County's Tax Assessor-Collector for the past 23 years, submitted his resignation to County Commissioners Tuesday saying he felt it was "an appropriate time for me to retire."

Hardin's resignation was accepted by the commissioners and will become effective Dec. 31.

Hardin, 73, was appointed to the office on March 1, 1955, and has drawn opposition for re-election only once during the succeeding 23 years.

In his letter of resignation to the commissioners, Hardin noted his office handles more than $20 million each year. "By this it is important to be surrounded with honest and dedicated personnel to perform efficient duties," the letter said.

With the recent completion of an independent audit of his office "showing our records to be in excellent condition, I feel that this is an appropriate time for me to retire," he said in the letter.

Hardin recommended W.L. "Bill" Nelson, chief deputy tax assessor-collector, for appointment to Hardin's term which expires Jan. 1, 1981.

The commissioners will accept applications to fill the unexpired term in the county judge's office through Dec. 4, then meet at 9 a.m. on Dec. 5 to examine the applications.

Hardin's successor will start at a higher salary — $24,510 as opposed to the present $23,100.

The Tax Assessor-Collector is responsible for county property appraisals, voter registration and automobile registration.

Commissioners also accepted the resignation of Lubbock County Hospital District Board chairman J.C. Rickman Tuesday.

Rickman, chairman of the board since mid-1977, has served on the board the past three years.

Commissioners passed resolutions of appreciation for the service of Hardin and Rickman.

Four Die In Guard Rail Leap

CHEHALIS, Wash. (AP) — Five persons standing on an icy, unlit bridge after a traffic accident jumped over a guard rail to escape oncoming cars — apparently not realizing the ground was 50 feet below, authorities said Tuesday. Four of them, including a pregnant woman, were killed.

The woman's husband, the fifth person who landed on the frozen rocks and ground, was listed in stable condition at St. Helen Hospital in Chehalis, state troopers said.

The tragedy occurred about 6 p.m. Monday on the Interstate 5 bridge over the Cowlitz River, 17 miles south of this Western Washington city.

The five, who were traveling in three cars, had left their vehicles after they were involved in a pileup just past the start of the bridge, said Sgt. Dick Murry, one of the investigating troopers.

"All five had stepped out of their cars to see if anyone was hurt and check damages and so on," said Murry. "Then they noticed other oncoming cars were going out of control trying to stop, and they figured they would just step over the guard rail to get out of the way, not knowing there was that dropoff."

Murry said there are two bridges over the river about six feet apart, each with two freeway lanes. It was foggy and the roadway was covered with glare ice when the pileup occurred in the two northbound lanes, he said. The victims jumped over the 3-foot-8-inch inside guard rail and fell between the two bridges, he said.

The victims were identified as Jose Cruz Estrada, 47, of nearby Castle Rock; Robert H. Fashbaugh, 58, and his wife Charlotte, 56, both of Salinas, Calif.; and Christine M. McKenzie, 28, of Breckenridge, Mich.

Murry said Mrs. McKenzie, who was six months pregnant, died en route to the Chehalis hospital. He said the fetus could not be saved.

Her husband, Duncan McKenzie, 33, suffered multiple injuries in the fall. Estrada and Fashbaugh were killed instantly, Murry said. Mrs. Fashbaugh died at the hospital about five hours after the accident.

Murry said eight vehicles were involved

Checks On Cult Complaints Unavailing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top State Department official said Tuesday that U.S. consular officers systematically checked out reports of "physical, mental and sexual abuse" at the People's Temple cult camp in Guyana but never came up with any evidence to support them.

John Bushnell, head of the department task force dealing with Saturday's massacre at the Jonestown commune, said 40 to 50 interviews by consular officers of Americans residing there produced "no complaints" of mistreatment.

The interviews were the result, in part, of a substantial number of letters received by the department alleging widespread repressive activities at the commune. One such letter, signed by 57 "grief-stricken parents and relatives," charged that Jonestown had been turned into a "concentration camp."

The letter claimed that residents were prohibited from leaving the camp "under threat of death."

Bushnell said all of the interviews "were conducted in an open field at a distance from any building and with unimpeded vision in all directions."

In every case, he said, the interviews took place at the request of the consular officer, based on complaints from friends and relatives.

Bushnell said most of the interviews were conducted by U.S. consular officer Richard McCoy. In a telephone interview with McCoy Tuesday, Bushnell said he was told that "in all cases" the residents said they were not being subjected to "physical, mental or sexual abuse" by cult authorities.

Bushnell quoted McCoy as saying that in no case did any of the residents indicate a desire "to escape or otherwise leave Jonestown."

"They all denied they were being held against their will or abused in any other way," Bushnell said.

Bushnell gave a detailed description of the interview process in response to complaints from relatives of some victims. These relatives contended the State Department should have recommended that Rep. Leo J. Ryan and his delegation not visit the commune last week.

Ryan and four other Americans were killed in an ambush Saturday, and more than 400 residents of the commune later were found dead, most of them victims of cyanide poisoning.

In many of the interviews, Bushnell said, McCoy offered an on-the-spot escape by way of his car at the edge of the field where a Guyanese official was stationed. "None indicated any interest in taking him up on that offer," Bushnell said.

In addition to the 40 to 50 interviews in the open field, he said, an additional 25 to 35 interviews were conducted at structures on the commune grounds.

Bushnell added that interviews with two residents who decided to return to the United States did not disclose any evidence of mistreatment.

Department spokesman Hodding Carter said that between January and August the department received 1,200 letters from citizens regarding the Jonestown commune. He said approximately 60 to 70 percent of the letters were favorable. Carter acknowledged that many of the letters did not appear to be spontaneous, but rather the product of an organized campaign by advocates of the cult.

Solemnity Marks Return Of Five Slain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The doors of the huge military plane opened slowly, and the mourners began to cry softly as Rep. Leo J. Ryan came home Tuesday from the South American jungle where he was gunned down by fanatic members of the People's Temple.

On a taxiway wet from overnight rains, a Navy honor guard carried the flag-draped metal coffin from the C141 into a waiting hearse. Some members of Ryan's family and 30 friends looked on in quiet sorrow.

Ryan, 53, congressman from the San Francisco Bay Area, was killed in an ambush Saturday as he was leaving Guyana after looking into the religious sect, based in San Francisco.

Ryan and four others were killed in the ambush, and later more than 400 members of the sect died in a mass suicide near the temple's agricultural settlement at Jonestown, Guyana. The killings apparently were triggered by Ryan's investigative trip.

The body of NBC newsman Don Harris was taken to Georgia earlier Tuesday. Still on the plane and visible through the open doors were the caskets carrying the remains of San Francisco Examiner photographer Greg Robinson and NBC cameraman Robert Brown, both bound for Los Angeles.

The body of the fifth victim of the shooting, Patricia Parks, was not on board the aircraft.

"There would be a million people here if we let them in," said lawyer George Corey, who helped with Ryan's re-election campaign and acted as the Ryan family spokesman.

On Monday, Ryan's mother, Autumn, 83, recounted the last contact she had with her son in a telephone interview with the Omaha World-Herald, where she worked as a reporter nearly 60 years ago.

She kissed him goodbye and told him to be careful because his trip "could turn out to be something nasty." The warning didn't come from premonition. It was, she recalled, a sort of reflex, a mother-to-son farewell voiced countless times before.

"My son took his work very seriously. He was tired. The work in the House had been very debilitating but he wanted to go to Latin America to see for himself," she said in the interview from Washington, where she was visiting.

"He was that sort of person. He wanted to see what the problems were and what could be done. That's why he once went into a prison to look at conditions after there were complaints. That's why he lived with a black family in Watts to understand the problems of minorities."

Family members on hand for the arrival of Ryan's casket at the Coast Guard base near San Francisco International Airport included Ryan's first wife, Margaret Ryan Williams, and three of his five children, Kevin, 27, Pat, 24, and Shannon, 21.

Ryan's administrative aid, Joe Hoisinger, stared grimly as the family wept and gripped relatives tightly around the shoulders.

Corey said Ryan's mother and son, Christopher, 27, and daughter Erin, 21, would arrive from Washington for the Wednesday funeral. He also expected a contingent of congressmen and possibly Vice President Mondale.

He denied rumors that President Carter would attend the services.

The funeral is scheduled for sometime after 9:30 a.m. CST at All Souls Catholic Church with burial in Golden Gate National Cemetery, a few miles south of San Francisco, Corey said.

Chronology Of Jim Jones' Life Listed

By The Associated Press

Here is a chronology of events in the life of the Rev. Jim Jones, head of the Peoples Temple.

1953 — Jim Jones, a 22-year-old unordained minister, opens a small interdenominational church in Indianapolis, selling monkeys to raise money for a church.

1961 — Jones, an outspoken advocate of civil rights, is named director of the Indianapolis Human Rights Commission.

1961-1963 — Jones spends two years as a missionary in Belo Horizonte, Brazil. He pays a brief visit to Guyana.

1963 — Jones returns to his Indianapolis church, now called the Peoples Temple Full Gospel Church, affiliated with the Disciples of Christ.

1964 — Jones is ordained as a Disciple of Christ minister.

1965 — Jones moves with about 100 followers to Redwood Valley, 100 miles north of San Francisco, claiming that the secluded area will be safe in the event of a nuclear war.

1966-1969 — Jones purchases a church and other property.

1971 — Peoples Temple purchases the Albert Pike Memorial Temple in San Francisco and a second church in Los Angeles.

1973 — A church party of 20 visits Guyana.

1974 — Jones negotiates a lease with the Guyanese government covering 27,000 jungle acres.

1975 — Jones becomes deeply involved in San Francisco politics, winning the friendship of several major political figures for his support of their campaigns.

1976 — Mayor George Moscone, one of those aided by Jones, names Jones to the San Francisco Housing Authority and Jones' lawyer, Tim Stoen, is hired by District Attorney Joseph Freitas.

1977 — Stories critical of Jones, based on interviews with former Peoples Temple members, appear in New West magazine and in local newspapers. They charge that Jones has hoarded $5 million in property and cash and is beating members and taking advantage of the elderly. Jones resigns from the Housing Authority by shortwave radio from Guyana.

Nov. 7, 1978 — Rep. Leo Ryan, D-Calif., announces he plans to visit Jonestown to investigate charges made by constituents.

Nov. 13, 1978 — Ryan, heading a 20-member group, leaves for Guyana.

Nov. 17, 1978 — Ryan and his group visit Jonestown, are entertained and invited to stay overnight. The next day, while waiting for transport out of the area with a number of members who asked for help in leaving Jonestown, Ryan and four others are slain and others are injured in a murderous barrage of gunfire.

Memorial Service To Be Held Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Memorial services are planned today for NBC newsman Don Harris, one of five persons slain Saturday in the People's Temple ambush in Guyana, a network spokesman said.

The services are to be at 10 a.m. at the First Baptist Church in Vidalia, Ga., at 10 a.m. Harris, 42, was a native of Montgomery County, Ga.

AN EDITORIAL:

A Gauntlet From Moscow

TWICE IN LESS than a week, the U.S. and specifically the Carter Administration have been challenged by Moscow in matters that amount to a test of the nation's will-power.

In one instance, the Russians claim that the shipping of Soviet MIG-23s to Cuba does not violate the 1962 U.S.-Soviet pledge not to inject nuclear missiles or missile-carriers into the island only a few minutes away from U.S. shores.

In the other, Moscow has warned the U.S. that any American military action to prop up the Shah of Iran "would be considered a security threat" to the USSR.

IN BOTH INSTANCES, at least as of this writing, the Carter Administration has taken the easy way out.

Answering a rather blunt warning by Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev, Sec. of State Cyrus Vance said that the U.S. does not intend to intervene in troubled Iran to keep the Shah in power.

Sec. Vance sought to mitigate his "hands off" policy statement by saying that the U.S. does plan to maintain its close "political, economic and security relationship" with the oil-rich Mideast nation.

Mr. Vance added that the U.S. expects "other countries to conduct themselves in similar fashion."

THIS WAS interpreted to mean that the U.S. was telling Russia also to keep hands off Iran.

AN EDITORIAL:

Gamesmanship People Play

THE OUTCOME of this year's elections appears to have prolonged—and perhaps exacerbated—the decades-long struggle waged by opposing ideological factions for the heart and soul of the Republican Party.

The most unexpected gains in this month's balloting, according to Newsweek, were registered by the GOP's liberals—who vigorously eschew that label, preferring instead to be known as moderates, progressives or problem-solvers.

The conservatives' victories were more limited, but the right wing of the GOP (like the left wing of the Demo Party) traditionally has compensated for its lack of actual strength with extraordinary zeal and determination.

THE CONSERVATIVES, especially the aggressive "New Right," won just enough contests to convince the true believers of the efficacy of their continuing crusade to purge the GOP of anyone to the left of ex-Gov. Ronald Reagan.

In New Hampshire, Sen. Thomas S. McIntyre, presumed by virtually all observers to be assured of winning a third term, was unexpectedly defeated by airline pilot Gordon Humphrey, a militant conservative.

In Iowa, Sen. Dick Clark suffered the same fate at the hands of New Right businessman Roger Jepsen, a former lieutenant governor.

At the same time, however, the New Right lost the New Jersey senatorial campaign, the

M. STANTON EVANS:

Christians Financing Missionary Slaughter

WASHINGTON—The slaughter of Christian missionaries by Marxist-backed guerrillas in Rhodesia is being financed by Christians in the United States.

Such is the assertion of Washington writer Stephen Chapman in a recent issue of The New Republic, an opinion journal known for its generally liberal orientation.

Chapman points out that the so-called "Patriotic Front," comprising the followers of Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe, has been engaged in a systematic program of attack against Christian missionaries in the former British colony—and in turn are subsidized with money from Christian organizations.

That the guerrillas have made a special project of killing missionaries is of course well-known.

SEVERAL INSTANCES have received worldwide publicity, and the Rhodesian government documents numerous cases in which Roman Catholic, Southern Baptist, Pentecostal, Dutch Reformed, Salvation Army and other Christian missionaries have been slaughtered by terrorists.

"In one episode last June," Chapman recalls, "eight missionaries and four children were beaten to death."

"The terror campaign against Christian missionaries is part of a deliberate policy intended to drive whites from Rhodesia."

"Patriotic Front guerrillas have murdered 33 missionaries and their children in the past two years."

WHAT MAKES THIS campaign of terror especially horrible is that the guerrillas engaging in it are in part financed by the World Council of Churches and its supporters in the ranks of American Protestantism.

The WCC, as Chapman notes, has a project it

Such thinking to a point emphasizes the naive approach the Carter people have been using in dealing with Russia and International Communism's rapidly growing global adventures.

While the U.S. publicly says it will not intervene in Iran, to a point Moscow has by using the militant leftist radicals in and outside Iran to bring pressure on the Shah to step down. By the same token, the Russians are using Cuban troops to do their dirty work in Africa.

In brief, while Washington sits idly by, Moscow sends its international soldiers into foreign lands to do its bidding.

EVEN CLOSER home, the U.S. cannot tolerate the presence of the MIG-23 planes in Cuba.

The truth of the matter is that we have no way of knowing whether nuclear weapons for the planes have been shipped to Cuba or not. Too, there is another aspect of the whole Cuban scenario.

Suppose in the SALT II agreement, the Russian medium bomber Backfire is not included in the pact. And suppose the Russians send it to Cuba. Will the U.S. also sit idly by and assume the nuclear arsenal it is capable of carrying is not there.

Grave risks may be involved in challenging the Soviets both in Iran and in Cuba. But, it must be done now, not at some point more favorable to the Russians when the planes have been armed and the Shah—and the oil—are gone.

race that was supposed to be the centerpiece of a banner year and the contest into which it poured the most money.

Jeffrey Bell, a leading conservative, defeated liberal GOP Sen. Clifford P. Case in the Garden State primary but was beaten in the general election by Demo nominee Bill Bradley.

OTHERS WITH right-of-center voting records also were victorious, but they generally are of the traditional school of conservatism, not overly strident in their demands on fellow Republicans for ideological purity.

At least five progressive Republicans were elected to the Senate for the first time. In the gubernatorial contests however, the moderate Republicans scored even more significant victories.

This year's political map clearly shows that GOP gains in the Northeast and Midwest surpass victories in the South and West. But that hardly augurs an end to the intra-party ideological warfare that dates back to 1912.

Both sides have won their share of those battles, but the war is far from over.

Each faction received just enough encouragement at the polls this year to become emboldened to take on the opposition in the upcoming contest for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination.

The Grand Old Party has only begun to fight within itself.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK:

Meany Getting Fiscal

WASHINGTON—Shortly after crusty old George Meany, the hammer-tongued AFL-CIO president, called Jimmy Carter the "most conservative President" since Calvin Coolidge, a key presidential aide confided that Meany was "doing the President's work for him."

The remark made not at all in jest, was an insight into the thinking of White House insiders as President Carter tries to move the nation into fiscal austerity.

Ahead lies the most fateful period of his presidency and perhaps the answer to whether the U.S. still retains its ability "to act as a nation rather than as a collection of special interests," as he said in his anti-inflation speech.

The presumption that Meany is "doing the President's work" shows that as of today there is very little hedging of bets inside the White House on the President's plan to cut federal spending and reduce the 1980 fiscal year deficit to $30 billion.

HENRY J. TAYLOR:

Don Wan On Truth

MOST OF THE Soviet intelligencia are members of the Soviet Union of Writers, the Union of Artists, etc. They just go along—for the apartments they are assigned, for the dachas they are given, for the automobiles that they can buy, etc.

The Soviet government permits them to buy delicacies in special stores, permitted only to foreigners and Communist Party officials.

Through their membership their books are published, their paintings exhibited and their plays produced.

As one result, the Swedish Academy in Stockholm gave this charade a mysterious boost by awarding the 1965 Nobel Prize for Literature to Mikhail A. Sholokhov, alas.

SHOLOKHOV'S REPUTATION rested chiefly on a novel called "And Quiet Flows the Don." But its strange career finds "All Quiet Flows the Don" published in two parts, the first as far back as 1928 and the last in 1940.

Sholokhov revised it to suit the politics of the USSR party leaders.

The Swedish Academy award was unprecedented and certainly went far back to honor Sholokhov's work.

Originally, "And Quiet Flows the Don" was a story of a courageous Cossack Ukrainian nationalist peasant patriot named Kriva, nom de guerre "Bandera."

He led a fearless group called the Bendorovtsi, the band that killed Soviet Gen. Valutin, the hero of Stalingrad. Kriva, the Bendorovtsi and Gen. Valutin all vanish in Sholokhov's rewritten novel.

KRIVA WAS THE hero, the Communist Party the devil. But Sholokhov, unblushingly reversing his earlier version, rewrote it into being the Communist Party's achievements and downgraded Kriva to villainy.

Thereby hangs the tale. In 1958 the Kremlin masters violently condemned the Swedish Academy for honoring with the Nobel Prize Boris A. Pasternak's magnificent "Dr. Zhivago."

The Kremlin pressure forced Pasternak to renounce the Nobel Prize. At the same time, he was expelled from the Soviet Union of Writers.

On the other hand, the Kremlin party leaders consistently advanced Sholokhov as a candidate for the Nobel Prize.

Their purpose was to overcome a touchy fact in their cultural hoax which had galled the Kremlin masters from the very beginning.

PRIOR TO PASTERNAK'S selection, not a single Soviet writer under the Kremlin regime had been given the Nobel Prize for literature.

After Sholokhov suitably revised his 1928 novel in 1953, the Kremlin communication belt in the world's intellectual circles pushed Sholokhov.

JAY HARRIS: The VIP Speaks...

FEW MEN IN the world today evoke the wide range of emotions that Dr. Henry J. Kissinger does.

Not only is the former U.S. Secretary of State one of the most knowledgeable men on the world scene, but he is one of the most controversial.

"Henry K." as he has come to be known from the crowded streets of Cairo to the most exalted levels of diplomacy, is quite aware of both facts, and plays them to the hilt.

The man who is on speaking terms with more VIPs than perhaps anyone else today has something to say. And if you listen carefully, you may share in some of the thinking which has shaped crucial moments in recent history.

An audience of some 2,000 had such an opportunity at the annual Lubbock Chamber of Commerce banquet the other night. It's too bad many others in the area and across the nation couldn't hear his remarks.

WHAT DR. KISSINGER had to say about events in Cuba, Iran, the Mideast and Africa does not need to be studied closely from the coffee klatches of Lubbock to the capitals of the world.

In the final analysis, they may have much more bearing on the fate of this nation than "the price of prunes."

Dr. Kissinger, who charmed a fascinated group privileged to meet him before his talk, exudes a touch of glamor, a dash of daring and an overall friendliness many men in his position would consider unbecoming. On him, it wears well.

Beneath it all is a man who is supremely confident, who has "done his homework," and is positive that he knows whereof he speaks. Dr. Kissinger spoke out on two "hot potatoes," the injection of Russian MIG-23s into Cuba and the nuclear threat they may pose, and Iran.

THE MAN WHO has been accused by some critics as being "too friendly" with Moscow, took a "hard line" in his remarks.

Charging that continued Soviet arms sales to Cuba is a subterfuge, Dr. Kissinger bluntly observed.

"It cannot be accepted by the United States over an indefinite period that the Soviet Union uses Cuba as a sort of surrogate force, putting its troops into Cuba and freeing Cuban troops to go around the world."

He warned that if the new MIG-23s indeed are capable of carrying nuclear weapons, "they would have a range comparable to the missiles in Cuba in 1962 that led to the initial crisis between the U.S. and the Soviets." He also noted that such a situation would "bring us to the edge of the understanding between President Kennedy and the Soviet Union" prohibiting such capability.

WITH IRANIAN Crown Prince Reza Pahlavi and his excellency, Iranian Amb. Ardeshr Zahedi in the audience, Dr. Kissinger spoke just as frankly about Iran and its relation to the U.S.

Noting that much of Iran's problems have resulted from Shah Mohammed Pahlavi's efforts to bring Iran from a feudal state into the 20th Century in the space of a generation, "a period which took Europe 200 years," Dr. Kissinger urged his listeners to extend compassion and understanding "to a nation in an exposed and dangerous position—a nation indispensable to U.S. security."

Not only is Iran indispensable to us because of its geographic location, but because of its support of U.S. policies," he said.

It is the only country bordering the Soviet Union that in 1973 did not allow Soviet military overflights on their way to the Mideast and Africa," he observed. "Neither did Iran join the 1973 oil embargo. It is a principal oil-producing country that never attached a political price to its economic relationship with us."

ONE DAY AFTER Dr. Kissinger's remarks, Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev warned the U.S. and the West against military intervention in Iran to save the Shah's regime.

Noting Iran's proximity to the Soviet Union, the Russian leader said such a move would be regarded "as a matter affecting the security interests of Russia."

The next day, Sec. of State Cyrus Vance said the U.S. would maintain its close "political, economic and security relationship" with the troubled nation, but would not intervene and did not expect others to do so.

In a way it was a naive statement. The Russians, through the use of Communists on the left already are involved in Iran. The U.S. cannot afford to permit another Soviet satellite in the Mideast, the loss of $10 billion in sophisticated U.S. arms in Iran's arsenal and most certainly the loss of the oil supplies of the Persian Gulf.

SO MUCH FOR that part of Dr. Kissinger's visit. Now, for another part.

We were amazed at the "hate mail" and phone calls which we received berating the former Secretary of State for his alleged role of playing up to the Russians, of being the architect of Detente.

As is the case with those who speak from out in left field about numerous subjects, including political "plots," real and imagined, the writers and callers in many instances did not have the guts to say who they were.

Quite frankly, this nation is in much more danger from those who seek to downgrade anyone they perceive not "born again" or thinking as they think on everything from Socialism to Sex than it is from the likes of Dr. Kissinger. Those who hide behind anonymous labels, who see only one side, who don't realize that the world is growing ever smaller and that one Godless nation is dedicated to ruling it, are inviting disaster.

"Henry K." may not be all things to all men, but he doesn't have his head in the sand, either.

L.M. BOYD:

...Pass It On

BRITISH ARMY SGT. Hector Macmillan wanted to do something a little special to celebrate his 700th parachute jump. So he outfitted himself in full Scottish national dress, kilts and all, leaped out the airplane with a bagpipe under his arm, and played "The Road to the Isles" as he drifted down. Some performance.

Q "How long can an eclipse of the sun last?"
A. Never more than seven and a half minutes.

Q "Where is there more crime, New York City or London?"
A. London, surprisingly, research reveals.

Q "What sort of profit do greeting card shops make?"
A. Fifty percent on each card or thereabouts.

Lawyers Say Wife Helped Frame Davis

HOUSTON (AP) — The defense in the murder-for-hire trial of Cullen Davis sought Tuesday to link the Fort Worth millionaire's estranged wife to a plot to frame Davis.

The Davis defense team insists the 45-year-old defendant was framed by his wife, Priscilla, and others, including FBI informant David McCrory and Fort Worth karate expert Pat Burleson.

McCrory, 40, is the key witness in the state's case against Davis for allegedly soliciting a gunman to kill his divorcee.

Chief defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes mentioned Mrs. Davis several times Tuesday during the fourth day of his turbulent cross-examination of McCrory.

"Did you tell Cullen Davis that Priscilla Davis was going to hire someone to come shoot up 4200 Mockingbird Lane so they could claim Cullen Davis did it?" he asked, referring to the Fort Worth address of the Davis mansion where two killings occurred in August 1976.

"I told him so many stories and lies I might have," replied McCrory.

"What was the biggest lie before August 1978 that you told Cullen Davis?" Haynes asked.

"That I had gotten professional killers from Kansas City and they would get rid of his problem for him."

Asked what his "second biggest lie" to Davis was, McCrory said, "I told him I was doing everything I could to get people killed for him."

After several heated exchanges between Davis and McCrory, Haynes asked:

"Did you tell anyone that Priscilla Davis had attempted to hire some out-of-town hit men to kill Cullen Davis?" McCrory said he had not.

"Did you ever say Priscilla tried to hire someone who looked similar to Mr. Davis to come shoot up the place?"

McCrory responded, "No, sir, not that I remember."

Haynes then asked, "Do you deny saying anything like that in your life?"

"Yes, sir," McCrory responded, "I do not remember saying anything like that."

Later, Haynes questioned McCrory about his contact Aug. 16 with Burleson, the go-between for McCrory when he took his story to the FBI.

It was the FBI that wired McCrory for sound before he met Davis Aug. 18 and Aug. 20 on a restaurant parking lot to discuss the killing of the divorcee judge and others.

Those tapes compose the heart of the prosecution.

"You knew at the time that Pat Burleson was a friend of Priscilla Lee Davis, did you not?" Haynes asked.

"Yes sir," McCrory replied.

"You knew at the time there'd been some business relation between Pat Burleson and Priscilla Lee Davis?"

Clements, Briscoe Differ Over Openings

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov.-elect Bill Clements says he might make some state government appointments that outgoing Gov. Dolph Briscoe is entitled to handle. But Briscoe says that isn't the case.

The two appeared to differ Tuesday over what was discussed during a two-hour meeting Monday.

Reporters talked with Clements before he met with Speaker Bill Clayton in the Capitol. The newly elected Republican governor was asked if Briscoe would turn some appointments over to Clements instead of filling the vacancies before leaving office in January.

"He might. He might," Clements said. Briscoe said in Abilene there had been a "misunderstanding" and he will continue to make appointments to state board and commissions. The governor was in Abilene for the swearing-in of a state highway commissioner.

In addition to meeting with Clayton, the state's first Republican governor in a century scheduled conferences with other high-ranking officials — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong, Treasurer Warren Harding, Comptroller Bob Bullock, Attorney General-elect Mark White and Mack Wallace, Texas Railroad Commission chairman.

In meetings with Clayton and Hobby, the governor-elect discussed applying one cent of the four-cent state sales tax to school property reform.

"We discussed the desire of people for further tax reduction and we addressed means of addressing the problem," Clements said after seeing Clayton.

But Hobby said such a plan would require a reduction in state services.

"We're talking about $500 million a year there — a sixteenth of our annual budget," the lieutenant governor said. "It's nice to talk about reducing taxes that much if you don't have the responsibility to see the schools stay open or to assure an adequate prison system. I haven't heard anybody talk about that."

Wetness, Cold Persist In Area

Texans continued to bundle up against cold, dreary, drizzling weather Tuesday, and forecasters say the outlook for today is little better.

Although a Pacific cold front moving through the South Plains region today should raise temperatures somewhat, precipitation will continue to threaten the area through Thanksgiving.

Lubbock's high reading today should climb into the lower 50s, and the low tonight drop near 40. But residents can expect little sunshine today and the National Weather Service places chances of precipitation today at 30 percent, decreasing to 20 percent by nightfall.

The outlook for Thanksgiving Day is somewhat warmer, with the high expected near 55 degrees, but beleaguered South Plains farmers will continue to be faced with poor drying conditions for harvesting.

Lubbock's gloomy skies Tuesday were typical of the state's weather pattern as the high pressure system prompting the wet weather moved into southern Texas by late afternoon.

Armed Men Ambush U.S. Attorney

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — In what one federal official termed "an assassination attempt," two men wearing black gloves ambushed an assistant U.S. attorney at an intersection Tuesday and fired at least 19 shots from an M-1 carbine and shotgun into the hood and windshield of his car.

James Kerr, 38, involved in prosecuting a South American cocaine smuggling case at El Paso, ducked behind the dashboard of his Lincoln Continental and escaped serious injury although the hood and fender on the driver side of his auto were riddled with bullets.

Kerr told police and FBI agents he was en route to work when a green van which followed him from his home cut quickly in front of him as he neared Broadway, San Antonio's main thoroughfare. The van stopped and its rear doors flew open.

The federal attorney said two men wearing black gloves then began shooting. The rifle bullets, which one witness said sounded "like cannons going off," sprayed the length of the driver's side hood fender as charges pelted against the car's windshield.

Kerr, who left a trail of blood when he left his auto to seek aid at a nearby house, was listed in satisfactory condition.

COMPLETE STOCKS OF NYSE, AMEX

Mart Closes Off Slightly

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was little changed in slow trading Tuesday showing little reaction to government reports on corporate profit levels or weakness in the dollar in foreign exchange trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks closed off 1.56 points at 804.05 after bouncing up and down in a narrow range throughout the day.

"This suggests to me that everyone is sitting out waiting to see what developments are coming up," said Alan C. Poole, an analyst at Laidlaw Adams Peck.

Poole said the dollar's decline on currency markets after a recent string of gains may have "cooled" stock investors enthusiasm and contributed to the end of a four-day stock market rally. But he and other analysts suggested that it would be "over simplistic" to blame the mild decline solely on the dollar. The Dow industrial index had gained more than 12 points in the previous four sessions.

"The market seems to be feeling its way, like a punch-drunk fighter, after October when the market went into a deep spiral," said William LeFevre, an analyst at Granger & Co.

Robber Smashes Front Door Of Food Store To Gain Entry

A thief shattered a glass door of Ham's Foods, 82nd Street and Abbeyville, and robbed the store of an undetermined amount of merchandise early Tuesday morning, according to police reports.

Officers investigating the break-in said they found a set of muddy footprints inside the store, which was entered when the burglar heaved a brick through the door.

Store employees said they were not sure exactly what had been taken, but planned an inventory to total the loss, reports showed.

Gerald Myrbs of 2902 Third Place reported Tuesday that more than $1,185 worth of property had been removed from his car while it was parked in front of his residence. Myrbs said a stereo system, a TV set, some tapes and clothes made up the bulk of his missing possessions.

Twenty-seven sheets of plywood were reported missing from a storage area at 2024 Erskine St., police said Tuesday. The wood, which belonged to Frontier Rebuilt Homes, was valued at $266.

Imogene Beck said someone snatched her purse as she was going into her 2331 54th St. residence about 9 p.m. Monday. She said a man ran up out of the dark, grabbed her purse from her, and fled before she could get a good look at him. Her purse, containing some cash and several credit cards, was valued at about $200.

An altercation about 5:40 p.m. Monday near 16th Street and Avenue C resulted in a 65-year-old Lubbock man suffering two stab wounds and being sent to St. Mary's Hospital where he was in serious condition Monday.

A 59-year-old male suspect in the assault was subsequently arrested in the 1600-block of Avenue C.

L.M. Jones of 2501 Birch St. reportedly drove to his home after being injured in the fight. There he was met by an ambulance which took him to the hospital.

In the emergency room, Jones told police a man stabbed him following a fight. Reports show that officers then went back to Avenue C where they arrested a man matching the description given by Jones.

Police this morning also were investigating a report that a 22-year-old Lubbock woman was assaulted by a man who forced his way into her apartment about 11:30 p.m. Monday.

The victim told police the suspect, described as a young, Mexican-American with shoulder-length hair, tall and thin, forced his way into the residence after she went to the door. He allegedly dragged the woman into a bedroom and tried to take off her pants.

The woman said the suspect hit her in the head with an iron after she screamed. She also said she was cut with fingernail tweezers the man had wrestled away from her.

However, the man fled after apparently being discouraged by his victim's resistance, according to police.

Recently filed police reports tell of numerous burglaries which netted high losses.

David E. Baumann of 1501 47th St. said his residence was burglarized while he was away from home between 6:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. Monday and $1,525 in jewelry, stereo equipment and a television was taken.

Alejo Gonzales, an employee at El Chico Restaurant at 4301 Brownfield Highway, told police he entered the business about 5:30 a.m. Monday and discovered the safe damaged, the apparent work of burglars.

However, reports show the safe had not been entered. Kenneth Carter, owner of the restaurant, estimated the break-in, which apparently occurred sometime after 10:30 p.m. Monday, resulted in $800 damage to the safe and a broken window.

Jewelry and clothing, valued at $785, were reported stolen after Annabel Myers of 1325 48th St. told police her home was burglarized between 6:30 p.m. and 8:50 p.m. Monday.

Card Game Spectator Fatally Shot

Joe Earl Tucker of 2905 Ave. H died Tuesday afternoon about four hours after being shot in the back of the head while watching a card game in a 25th Street residence.

Tucker, 30, died in Methodist Hospital about 2:30 p.m. after being transferred there from West Texas Hospital.

Justice of the Peace L.J. Blalock ruled the death a homicide. Lubbock's 30th of the year.

A 22-year-old Lubbock man was arrested by police at the Lubbock County Adult Probation Office about 15 minutes after the shooting.

Police Information Officer Bill Morgan said Tucker was standing in the hallway watching a card game involving seven players when a young black man entered the house, reportedly said, "Momma wants you home, to another man, and then shot Tucker with a pistol."

Tucker was found lying in the hallway by police. A weapon has not been recovered, said Morgan.

According to police, the victim apparently was an ex-boyfriend of his alleged assailant's girlfriend. Tucker and the suspect reportedly had been involved in an argument in an apartment in the 1000-block of East 28th Street about an hour before the shooting, Morgan said.

The suspect had taken his mother, his girlfriend and another woman to the site of the card game shortly after 10 a.m. to pick up his mother's boyfriend.

The three women waited in the car while the suspect entered the residence, saw Tucker and allegedly shot him, police said.

The suspect then apparently drove to the Adult Probation Office, where he was arrested a short time later. Two of the three women also were taken to the police department, but both were released after questioning.

ABC Takes Nine Of Top 10 Ratings Spots

NEW YORK (AP) — Each week, it seems, ABC gets a bit closer to a clean sweep of the 10 most-watched prime-time TV shows. For the week ending Nov. 19, only CBS' "Alice" stood in the way.

ABC listed nine of the week's Top 10 shows and 14 of the first 20, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. show, and compiled a rating for the week of 23.6, a full five points ahead of runner-up CBS at 18.6. NBC was third at 16.8.

ABC, in fact, has won the networks' ratings competition seven of the nine weeks this season, losing twice to NBC during baseball's World Series.

The 23.6 figure, the networks say, means nearly a quarter — 23.6 percent — of the country's homes with television tuned to ABC during an average prime time minute.

The weekly tabulation did not include CBS' "60 Minutes," broadcast Sunday evenings, and that probably affected the totals slightly. The newsmagazine generally is in the Top 20.

The only surprise, if you can call it that, was the strong showing by ABC's "Pearl" miniseries, the three installments ranked third, ninth and fifth in the week's ratings.

CBS' four-part miniseries, "The Word," fared well, though hardly as spectacularly as "Pearl." The second chapter in the four-part program was ranked 21st, with Parts III and IV tied for 32nd. Part I aired the preceding week.

ABC's "Laverne and Shirley" and "Three's Company," both always near the top, finished one-two in the ratings, with "Alice," the CBS interloper, in fourth place.

NBC's best for the week was "Wonderful World of Disney," a special 90-minute celebration of Mickey Mouse's 50th anniversary.

The rating for "Laverne and Shirley" was 30.2. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with television, 30.2 percent saw at least part of the show. NBC was hurt at the bottom of the ratings: CBS' "Flying High" was 51st, followed by ABC's "Lucan" and three NBC shows — "Frankie and Annette," "David Cassidy-Undercover" and "Lifeline."

Here are the week's Top 10 shows: "Laverne and Shirley," with a rating of 30.2 representing 22.5 million homes, "Three's Company," 29.9 or 22.3 million, and "Pearl," Part I, 29.4 or 21.9 million, all ABC; "Alice," 29.3 or 21.6 million, CBS; ABC Sunday Movie, "Pearl," Part III, 29 or 21.6 million, ABC; "Happy Days" and "Charlie's Angels," both 28.6 or 21.3 million, both ABC; "Mork and Mindy," 28.4 or 21.3 million, ABC Friday Movie, "Pearl," Part II, 27.5 or 20.5 million, and "What's Happening," 26.2 or 19.5 million, all ABC.

The next 10 shows:

"M-A-S-H," CBS; "Wonderful World of Disney," NBC; "All in the Family," CBS; "Taxi," ABC; "One Day at a Time," CBS; "Eight is Enough" and "Battle of the Network Stars," both ABC; "Little House on the Prairie," NBC, and "Fantasy Island" and "Vegas," both ABC.

Occupational Casualties Show Gain

WASHINGTON (AP) — On-the-job deaths jumped 21 percent in 1977, marking the first rise in occupational fatalities in four years, the government reported Tuesday.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics also said in an annual survey that the number of injuries on the job last year rose 6 percent from 1976, while work-related illnesses declined 4 percent.

Overall, one out of every 11 workers on the average experienced a job-related injury or illness in 1977, about the same proportion as in 1976, the bureau said.

It said there were 4,760 work-related fatalities last year at workplaces with 11 or more employees. That compares with 3,940 deaths in 1976.

Previously, there had been a steady decline in work-related deaths since the survey began in 1973. There were 5,340 deaths among employers with 11 or more employees that year.

The bureau's fatality figures do not cover employers with 10 or fewer employees because the data is unreliable due to a sharp reduction last year in the number of small employers surveyed, officials said.

On the average, however, there are 800 deaths each year at workplaces employing 10 or fewer people, the bureau said.

James Foster, a spokesman for the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, said the agency could not explain the rise in occupational deaths.

William Mead, a bureau statistician, speculated that 1977 "may just have been a bad year."

Other major findings in the 1977 survey included:

—The number of work-related injuries rose 300,000 from 1976 to 1977, mainly because of an increase in the workforce. Injury rates declined slightly in the mining, transportation and public utility industries, but increased in construction, services, wholesale and retail trade and agriculture.

—About 35.2 million workdays were lost due to job-related injuries, an 8 percent increase from 1976.

—The number of recognized occupational illnesses declined by 6,000 from 1976, to 162,000. Skin diseases or disorders accounted for 45 out of every 100 illnesses.

Dr. Eula Bingham, OSHA's administrator, said the latest survey shows that "on-the-job hazards continue to kill, maim and make ill our nation's workforce at an unacceptable rate."

"These statistics reaffirm the fact that OSHA cannot do the job alone," she said. "We must have a commitment from every employer to eliminate on-the-job hazards."

Dr. Bingham complained about recent court challenges filed by industry groups to stop OSHA from implementing regulations aimed at limiting worker exposure to harmful substances such as lead, benzene and cotton dust.

Business is too willing to spend its time and resources fighting job safety and health, she said. Instead, Dr. Bingham said, business should join OSHA in an all-out effort to assure working men and women no longer must trade their lives, limbs or health for a paycheck.

Children's Auto Safety Reviewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dec. 1 is the deadline for sending in comments on a plan to improve protection for infants and small children in automobiles.

The Transportation Department wants to extend child seat safety standards to cover car beds, infant carriers and child harnesses. Testing procedures for these items would be upgraded to include motion crash tests with special dummies. The new standards would become effective May 1, 1980.

Officials noted, however, that to be effective the devices must be used. "What happens to small children who are unrestrained in a crash is that they literally become flying missiles. Parents must understand this. All we can do is issue a standard which will make sure these devices are properly constructed, but the important thing is that they be used," said Joan Claybrook of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

Those wishing to comment on the plan to extend and tighten safety standards should write to the Docket Section, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 400 Seventh St., SW, Washington, D.C., 20590.

Holiday Death Toll Predictions Listed

CHICAGO (AP) — Between 470 and 570 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the four-day Thanksgiving Day weekend, the National Safety Council predicted Tuesday.

The council reported that 490 motorists died during the same period last year and another 20,000 suffered disabling injuries.

Vincent L. Tofany, council president, said most of the fatalities this weekend could be avoided through use of safety belts.

"We suggest that all Americans take an extra step for Thanksgiving by buckling up their safety belts and buckling down to some basic rules of the road," he said.

Festivities Keep White House Hopping

WASHINGTON (AP) — T-shirts and turkeys were traded Tuesday at the White House as festive pre-holiday ceremonies that included pitches for four books, Christmas seals and a fiddler's recording.

In the course of a day that seemed to transform Pennsylvania Avenue to Madison Avenue on the Potomac, the presidential mansion was visited by women mountain climbers, a furry white lamb puppet and Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd — the fiddler.

While this was going on, first lady Rosalynn Carter awaited the arrival of "Purdue Pete," a 40-pound live turkey being imported from Indiana for a Thanksgiving ceremony.

It is not unusual for a president to meet on occasion with a child promoting contributions to a charity or with others seeking publicity for their causes. But they all piled up on Tuesday.

At one point, while President Carter was working in his office, Rosalynn was signing autographs in a book about the White House. At the same time Carter's special assistant for women's issues, Sarah Weddington, posed for pictures with two members of a female expedition that conquered a Himalayan peak.

The day went like this:

10 a.m. — Mrs. Carter appeared in the White House main foyer to autograph and distribute free to tourists the first copies of "The Living White House," which sells for $2.00 in paperback.

"You'll have to come back for more," the first lady told one visitor who asked for more than a single copy.

10 a.m. — Ms. Weddington accepted the red and blue T-shirts, bearing the slogan "A woman's place is on top," on behalf of the first family. "I'll be curious if they get worn," mused Arlene Blum, who led the successful expedition to peak of the 28,558-foot Annapurna last month.

11:15 a.m. — Carter, in the Oval Office, posed for pictures with Morgan Skinner of Jacksonville, Fla., and Rhonda Langford of Spokane, Wash., two children promoting Christmas seals sold by the American Lung Association.

Meanwhile, "Lamb Chop," a puppet of television fame who accompanied the Christmas seal youngsters, rested on the arm of ventriloquist Shari Lewis and told the president it was probably the first time he had welcomed a sheep to the Oval Office.

As reporters and photographers were escorted out of the office, Carter raised his voice and called after them, "I hope all the members of the press will buy Christmas seals and help the lung association of America."

12:20 p.m. — Byrd, a West Virginia Democrat, gave Carter two autographed copies of "Senator Robert C. Byrd — Mountain Fiddler."

The senator, who doubles as a bluegrass fiddler, wore a red vest under his more conservative suit jacket. Byrd presented the gift with what he said was only "one caveat" for the president's 11-year-old daughter who is studying the violin: "Tell Amy to stick to classical music."

ARGENTINE GRAIN
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — The Ministry of Economy reports that while world-wide grain exports rose only 1.9 percent from 1975-76 to 1977-78, Argentina's grain exports soared 22.6 percent during the period. This increased Argentina's share of the global grain market to 8 percent from 6.7 percent, according to government figures. During the same period, Argentine grain production rose 56.8 percent, and officials said they expected record grain exports in 1978.

Heartline

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 43081. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I am having a problem with my Social Security benefits. I moved to a different state several months ago. Before I left my homestate, I went to Social Security and gave them my new address. However, I am still not receiving my benefits when and as I should. I have contacted the Social Security office here and I don't seem to be able to get this straightened out. Can you help me? — L.M.

When you are moving, you should contact your local Social Security office as soon as you know your new address. It still may take two to three months for the new address to become effective. If you feel you have been patient long enough, or if you are approaching a serious financial situation due to the delay, write to our Red Tape Cutting System, 114 East Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 43081. There is no charge for this service, but we do ask that you send 25 cents for postage and handling. We will send your problem through special channels to see it is solved quickly.

HEARTLINE: I am a retiree, age 67, drawing a minimum Social Security benefit. I am also drawing a Supplemental Security Income benefit. I have been offered a part-time job and am wondering if this would affect my benefits in any way. — P.N.

The allowable earned income for Social Security recipients ages 65 and over is $4,000. This will be raised to $4,500 in 1979. As long as you keep your annual earnings below $4,000 you would receive no reductions in your Social Security benefit. If you exceed the $4,000 limit, $1.00 for every $2.00 you go over will be deducted from your Social Security benefit.

The requirements for Supplemental Security Income vary from state to state but generally any additional income will affect your Supplemental Security Income in some way. Earning too much could also totally eliminate it.

Gold Price Breaks $200 Before Drop

By The Associated Press
The dollar fell against major currencies on the world's foreign exchange markets Tuesday, but began to recover late in the day as the Federal Reserve Board apparently stepped in to halt the decline.
The price of gold rose past $200 for the first time in a week before retreating at the U.S. Treasury's monthly gold auction in Washington.
In London, gold closed at $201 an ounce, up from $199.25 Monday, while in Zurich, gold finished at $200.375, up from $199.125 the day before.
The Treasury sold 750,000 ounces of gold at an average price of $199.05 an ounce. The price was a sharp decline from the $228.39 received at the last auction a month ago, when 300,000 ounces were sold.

The bullion sale was the seventh in a series of monthly auctions in an attempt to bolster the dollar and improve the U.S. trade balance. The government plans to double the gold sales to 1.5 million ounces beginning in December.
Although the Fed "didn't do too much" to support the dollar in Tuesday's busy foreign exchange trading, one New York dealer said, "it did make its presence felt."
The Fed's reported purchases of dollars were another part of President Carter's $30 billion plan to shore up the U.S. currency's value. The intervention coincided with a Treasury report that West Germany and Japan will purchase a total of 1.1 billion International Monetary Fund "special drawing rights" (SDRs) worth $1.4 billion from the United States.
SDRs are international reserve assets commonly referred to as "paper gold."
The administration has said as part of the dollar rescue program it is selling $3 billion of the SDRs for foreign currencies. The purchases will finance acquisitions of dollars on currency exchanges.
Late dollar rates at major European and Asian financial centers included: Tokyo, 194.75 Japanese yen, down from 196.60 Monday; Zurich, 1.7185 Swiss francs, down from 1.7550; Frankfurt, 1.9320 West German marks, down from 1.9360; Paris, 4.4075 French francs, down from 4.44125; Milan, 851.15 Italian lire, down from 853.60; and Amsterdam, 2.0900 Dutch guilders, down from 2.1056.
The British pound rose to $1.9465 in London from $1.93725 Monday. In New York, the pound slipped back to $1.9452 from $1.9397 the day before.
In New York, the dollar closed at 194.70 Japanese yen, up from Monday's 194.17; 1.7275 Swiss francs, down from 1.7360; 1.9245 West German marks, down from 1.9312; and 4.4128 French francs, down from 4.4510.
The Canadian dollar closed at 85.21 U.S. cents in New York, up from 85.12 cents Monday.

Crude Oil Price Increase Seen

CARACAS (AP) — President Carlos Andres Perez says the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries will approve a "prudent" increase in oil prices when it meets next month in Abu Dhabi, but he did not indicate how much the hike would be.
He said during a visit to Maracaibo, center of Venezuela's oil industry, that based on contacts with other members of the cartel Venezuela was convinced a price increase was justified and will be authorized.
He said oil prices have remained frozen at $12.70 per 42-gallon barrel for the last two years while prices of manufactured goods imported by OPEC members from industrialized nations have continued to climb.
The declining value of the dollar also justified an increase in prices, he said.

"This deterioration has been calculated at 30 to 40 percent, and while we understand that OPEC cannot increase prices so as to hurt the world economy, we cannot accept a situation in which our oil subsidizes the reluctance of industrialized countries to conserve fuel," he said.
The OPEC oil ministers' conference is set for Dec. 16. Speculation is the price hike will be from 5 to 10 percent, although "hawks" among the 13 OPEC members such as Algeria, Iraq and Libya want larger increases.
An increase of 10 percent would boost prices at the pump in the United States by about one cent per gallon.

Israelis Reject Timetable

By The Associated Press
The Israeli Cabinet gave unqualified approval Tuesday to a draft peace treaty with Egypt put forward by the United States but rejected Cairo's demands for a timetable on resolving the Palestinian question. Egypt recalled its chief negotiator from the talks in Washington for consultations after the Israeli decision.

Egyptian officials said before the Cabinet's announcement in Jerusalem that a treaty will not be signed unless Israel changes its position on a timetable. A spokesman for the State Department in Washington welcomed the Israeli decision but noted Israel had not agreed to an American proposal for an exchange of letters outside the treaty setting the end of 1979 as a target date for giving the Palestinians autonomy.

The Egyptian government is studying the situation in light of the Israeli Cabinet decision. Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil told The Associated Press. "It is now necessary for us to consult with Gen. Kamal Hassan Aly to review the whole case and plan our strategy." Prime Minister Menachem Begin informed reporters in Jerusalem of the Cabinet's decision and said Israel "is prepared to sign the treaty of peace... if Egypt is ready to act likewise."

Begin said he called President Carter to inform him of the decision and Carter "expressed his deep satisfaction." The prime minister said Carter told him he would phone Egyptian President Anwar Sadat "and try to bring about an agreement."

Littlefield Doctor Given Two Years Probation

CLEBURNE (AP) — A jury Tuesday recommended two years probation for a Littlefield doctor convicted of trying to kill his terminally ill mother. Dr. Robert Milton Rains, 51, convicted Monday, could have received up to 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine for the attempted murder of Bertha Brown, 77, who died last month of stomach cancer.

She was hospitalized in the Johnson County Memorial Hospital when prosecutors say Rains attempted to kill her July 29 by covering her mouth and nose with a mask of tissue and tape. Defense attorneys asked for leniency, saying Rains had suffered two heart attacks and was in ill health.

Prosecutors had asked for the maximum 20-year prison term. The jury, which deliberated four and a half hours before convicting Rains, deliberated punishment for two hours.

"I'm sure the defendant is relieved he doesn't have to go to the penitentiary," said District Attorney John MacLean. "The jury has spoken, and it's time for us to move on to the next case."

Nurses at the hospital testified they came into Mrs. Brown's room and found tape on her mouth, tissue in her nose and the bed sheet pulled over her head. They said Rains was standing at his mother's bedside. He denied he was trying to kill her, saying he was trying to soothe her chapped lips with a glycerin-soaked tissue and had to use surgical tape to hold it in place.

Five days before the incident, Mrs. Brown had been diagnosed as a terminal cancer patient. During the punishment phase, Rains told the eight-man, four-woman jury he had suffered two heart attacks. He said he feared the drugs prescribed for his heart ailment had become habit-forming and committed himself July 15 to the Central Plains Mental Health-Retardation Center in Plainview.

Rains also testified he was involuntarily committed to the Terrell State Hospital in Wichita Falls State Hospital in 1965 for depression and suicide attempts. He said he has been attending Alcoholics Anonymous meetings in Littlefield three nights a week.

Iranian Power Plant Guarded By Troops

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Troops moved into the Shahryar power station west of here Tuesday to guard the plant after a strike by 2,000 workers. In Tehran, troops fired into a crowd of demonstrators, killing one person and wounding 20.

Shahryar supplies half the city's electricity. Army technicians manned controls after the walkout blacked out much of Tehran, forcing factories and businesses to close.

The demonstrators and the strikers were protesting the rule of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi. The Tehran military command said the casualties occurred when troops fired into a crowd of 600 Monday after the demonstrators threw rocks at security forces.

Government sources say about 1,100 persons have died in political and religious turmoil in Iran since January. The shah's opponents put the death toll at well over 2,000.

Strikes in Iran's public services sector, which includes power workers, are outlawed but there were no reports of arrests.

The power workers, who have caused sporadic shutdowns in the last 10 days, demand the restoration of civilian rule, an end to martial law declared in 12 cities Sept. 8, the release of political prisoners and other reforms.

These are the same demands made by other strikers who have denied Iran's economy in recent weeks. Most of the walkouts have been settled.

Despite claims by the National Iranian Oil Co. that a crippling 15-day strike by 37,000 oil workers ended a week ago, Western sources say the southwestern oilfields still are disrupted. Latest production figures showed output at just over half the normal daily rate of 6 million barrels.

The blackouts shut down Iran's telecommunications links with the outside world, which had just been restored Tuesday after being severed for two days by strikes by technicians.

The 50-year-old shah, battling to preserve his rule, has made some political concessions to his opponents and has blunted street violence in a tough army crackdown.

U.S. Economy Moderate In Growth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economy kept on a moderate growth track in the third quarter of the year by expanding at a 3.4 percent annual rate, which was sufficient to keep unemployment from worsening, the government said Tuesday.

The growth in the nation's Gross National Product during the July-September period compared with an 8.7 percent growth rate in the second quarter of the year and an 0.1 percent decline in the first.

The slower third quarter growth did not dismay Carter administration officials, however, because they feel slower growth is necessary to help restrain inflation, especially now that the economy is nearing full production for the first time since the 1974-1975 recession.

The administration is aiming for economic growth of about 3 percent next year. Overall economic growth this year is projected to be about 3.75 percent.

In its report on the third quarter GNP, the Commerce Department said inflation was at an annual rate of 7.1 percent, as measured by the so-called GNP price deflator. That annual rate of inflation thus was down from the 11 percent figure of the second quarter.

The figures were little changed from the agency's initial report last month on the third quarter GNP.

"Our Bedrock Position" "We are serious about linkages and timetables," said a government source in Cairo. "and it is our bedrock position."

The source, who declined to be identified, predicted the talks in Washington will continue, but without a change in the Israeli position, he said chances were lessened that a treaty will be signed soon.

The Egyptians want Israel to agree to elections and autonomy for the Palestinians that would coincide with normalization of relations between Cairo and Jerusalem. Otherwise, the source said, it would be "against nature" to leave the Palestinian problem unresolved.

Begin mustered 15 of 17 ministers behind the treaty, swinging over as many as five former opponents.

Carter Phases Both Israel radio reported that President Carter had telephoned both Begin and Sadat, saying the negotiations had not moved forward as rapidly as he had anticipated after the Camp David summit.

There was no immediate word on when Dayan and Defense Minister Ezer Weizman would return to Washington.

Sources in Israel said the treaty contains a clause in the preamble loosely linking the accord to the Palestinian issue. Legal experts in the delegation to the Washington conference argued that the preamble clause was not binding, the sources said.

Begin said Israel was ready to start talks on the autonomy plan after the treaty is signed and ratified and official sources said the talks could start within a month.

Commitment Avoided Israel radio reported that the Cabinet avoided a public commitment to start autonomy talks within a month to underscore its objection to timetables. The Israelis don't want timetables because they fear failure to meet the schedule would give Egypt an excuse to abrogate its obligations. The Egyptians argue that without timetables negotiations could drag on for years.

The sources in Cairo said what caused Egypt to be more specific on the timetables was Israel's decision to "thicken" existing Jewish settlements in the West Bank.

"What is the use of exchanging ambassadors if three months later you have to withdraw them because of a problem on settlements," said one source. "Better to resolve the problems from the start."

most egotistical man I ever knew." The son said he would have gone before the congregation to denounce his father to prevent the communal deaths.

"putting oneself outside history and setting out on a mad venture."

Another question was the source and purpose of a huge treasury amassed by Jim Jones at the camp. Washington Post reporter Charles Krause, who visited the camp as a representative of the foreign press, said authorities found $500,000 in cash and a safe containing jewelry. Unconfirmed reports said $500,000 in gold and hundreds of Social Security checks were found.

Former sect members say the Peoples Temple, which Jones founded with the avowed purpose of abolishing class distinctions, was more a social than a religious organization.

Carter Due Increase In Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter will have to pay a net increase of $745 in taxes and interest as a result of a reappraisal of his Plains, Ga., peanut business, a spokesman said Tuesday.

At the same time, White House officials said the news account that prompted the reappraisal was riddled with errors. ABC News aired the story Oct. 19, suggesting Carter underpaid local property taxes by at least $8,000.

Sumter County, Ga., tax appraisers discovered a total of $167,800 worth of equipment and other taxable property which for various reasons had not been included in figuring local property taxes for the Carter Warehouse partnership for 1975 and 1976.

No Evidence Of Abuse A State Department official in Washington said Tuesday that U.S. consular officers here had systematically checked out reports of "physical, mental and sexual abuse" at the camp but came up with no evidence to support them.

The Vatican daily newspaper L'Osservatore Romano on Monday called the Jonestown deaths "a manifestation of a pseudo-mysticism which betrays the cause of man because it betrays the cause of Christ."

"Christianity is a religion of life, not death." It said that pretending to be "new prophets" of Christianity is like

Additional Taxes As a result, the Carter family business is being billed for $2,328.24 in additional taxes and interest, calculated at 9 percent a year.

FBI Probe On King Called Full

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two former FBI agents said Tuesday the agency investigated every lead it could find indicating there might have been a conspiracy behind Martin Luther King Jr.'s assassination.

Because the president owns 62 percent of the warehouse partnership, his share of the increased local taxes is $1,443.50, but he will be able to claim this as a deduction on his federal income taxes for this year.

Disputing contentions that the investigation was flawed, retired agent William Lawrence testified, "It was conducted as thoroughly, fairly and intensively as an investigation could be."

This leaves him with a net tax increase of about $745, press secretary Jody Powell said.

Robert Jensen, who was Lawrence's boss at the time in the Memphis FBI bureau, said several conspiracy theories were investigated, including the possible involvement of the Mafia, the Ku Klux Klan or a communist government.

Carter said when he requested the reappraisal that he would abide by the findings of local tax officials.

Last week, Arthur Murtaugh, another retired FBI agent, told the committee the investigation failed because it stopped with the arrest of James Earl Ray, now serving a 99-year prison term

The president's brother, Billy, was running the peanut business at the time and filed the local property tax returns, although Powell said the president "accepts responsibility."

Disputing contentions that the investigation was flawed, retired agent William Lawrence testified, "It was conducted as thoroughly, fairly and intensively as an investigation could be."

Powell said the omitted items include equipment purchased in 1975 for which no value was claimed at the time a list was submitted to local tax authorities. Powell said he had not asked Billy why he failed to list the values.

And last, the school system said Conger disobeyed a direct order from Dr. E.C. Leslie, assistant superintendent for administration. According to the district, Leslie passed word to Conger on Oct. 19 that he was not to coach any more games, however, Conger defied the instructions and coached his team that afternoon against Mackenzie Junior High.

Another omission was certain labor costs associated with construction, which Powell said Billy had mistakenly thought to be subject to local property taxes.

After that incident, Superintendent Ed Irons relieved Conger of his coaching assignment. His salary has not been changed, however.

Russell Thomas Jr., chairman of the Sumter County board of tax assessors, said the new assessment was set after a careful field appraisal of improvements installed at the warehouse in 1975 and 1976.

For the most part, Conger denied the charges. Concerning the fourth allegation, Conger said Leslie's order was not written and was unclear.

Local tax officials said they were convinced the Carters did not try to avoid their fair tax obligation.

Instead, Conger alleged that the white coaches at Atkins conspired to get him fired. At a meeting last spring, Nelson was quoted as saying, "I don't want that nigger coming to my school," claimed L.T. Felty, a Texas State Teachers Association official representing Conger.

Local tax officials said they were convinced the Carters did not try to avoid their fair tax obligation.

subordination. Conger also was criticized by a supervisor because "he did not really care whether he won or lost the game."

Monterey High, into which most Atkins students feed, but Conger insisted on using the old Struggs system of numbering and naming plays. As other examples, administrators said Conger missed meetings and did not get football uniforms laundered.

Conger, who also teaches industrial arts, had been a coach the past four years at predominantly minority Struggs Junior High on the city's east side, according to testimony Tuesday.

And last, the school system said Conger disobeyed a direct order from Dr. E.C. Leslie, assistant superintendent for administration. According to the district, Leslie passed word to Conger on Oct. 19 that he was not to coach any more games, however, Conger defied the instructions and coached his team that afternoon against Mackenzie Junior High.

With the closing of Struggs this fall under a court-ordered integration plan, Conger was reassigned as eighth-grade coach at predominantly white Atkins on the south side. He shares his teaching duties between Atkins and Evans junior high schools.

Conger said he was told of such a conspiracy by a faculty member. Conger also said his assistant coaches, including David Irons, were assigned to spy on him and trump up charges.

Conger was relieved of his coaching duties Oct. 20 after what was described during the personnel hearing as a season of confrontations with his supervisors — Atkins Principal Waylon Carroll and ninth-grade head coach Gordon Nelson.

The Lubbock Independent School District administration levied four charges against Conger. Conger appealed the case to the school board which, along with two school attorneys and a court reporter, heard the dispute for more than 12 hours Tuesday.

First, the district charged that Conger used profanity. Nelson said that according to eighth-grade players, Conger used "cuss words" in practice almost daily. Nelson and David Irons said Conger allegedly used four-letter words in front of his players and referred to some opponents as "fairies."

Second, the school system claimed that Conger, with his team watching during a practice, made an obscene gesture at a passing car.

Third, the district said Conger was "ineffective" in following Nelson's orders. For instance, Nelson said Atkins football is supposed to be patterned after that of Nelson denied making any racial remarks about Conger. Other Atkins officials and central administrators also testified there had been no conspiracy or racial bias toward Conger.

Propriety Of Texas Trial Of Hughes Case Argued

AUSTIN (AP) — Trying the definitive Howard Hughes residence case in Texas would raise questions about the "appearance of justice," lawyers for California asserted Tuesday.

But John Hill, Texas's attorney general, said he finds the assertion "personally offensive and insulting to the people of this state."

The verbal combat was before U.S. District Judge Jack Roberts, who said he will try to decide "by the end of this week or the first of next week" on California's motion to move the case to a federal court in Denver.

Donald S. Thomas, an Austin lawyer who was Lyndon B. Johnson's personal attorney, is among the attorneys representing California. He said Texas might reap as much as $158 million in inheritance taxes if declared the domicile of Hughes.

This would come to $12.35 for every man woman and child, or $50 for a juror and his or her family of four, he said.

"To my mind, the issue of the appearance of justice is more important than the pecuniary interest of the people who will determine the facts of this case," Thomas said.

Thomas said friends had called him "a traitor" for representing California in the case.

Hill said Thomas's arguments had maligned Texans as a whole and Roberts, a Johnson appointee, in particular.

"Texas people are honest, keep their word and respect the oaths they take, especially as jurors," he said.

Jerome Falk of San Francisco, another attorney for California, later responded. "I am sorry if anything we have said might have given offense. I say, in respect to General Hill, the offense is not well taken."

Already, a jury in Houston has determined Hughes to be a Texas resident, but that decision is far from final because of the likelihood of appeals through the state and federal courts.

To settle the issue once and for all and avoid years of litigation in several states, administrators of the Hughes estate filed an "interpleader action" seeking a single decision.

Roberts has barred the filing of any other residency claims in either state or federal courts pending the outcome of this case.

The action was filed by William Rice Lumms, Hughes's first cousin, and Annette Gano Lumms, his aunt, both of Houston.

California later moved for a change of venue to Colorado, a state that has no claim on Hughes as a resident.

If the case were tried in Texas, Thomas said, "the justice of this state and of this court will be at issue in the press of this nation."

Civil Defense Preparedness Still Pursued Here

By NANCY ALLEN
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Civil defense bounced back into the headlines a few days ago, when President Carter gave his support to a proposal to drastically strengthen the national program during the next few years. Carter reportedly is concerned about the Soviet Union's mass evacuation capability and the lag in U.S. civil defense during the last decade.

The civil defense program may be dormant in many areas, but behind the scenes in Lubbock it's a going concern, according to city director of civil defense Bill Payne, and regional coordinator Jack Schlueter.

"As long as nuclear weapons exist, there is a need for civil defense," Payne said recently. Part of his job as city director of communications is to head up Lubbock's civil defense plan, which Payne believes is "one of the best in the nation."

Lubbock's civil defense system consists of a network of underground shelters located primarily around Texas Tech University and the downtown area, and a "crisis relocation plan," currently in the development stages.

The shelters, located in the basements of many privately owned buildings, were surveyed during the 1960s by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The City of Lubbock then contracted with the owners to use their basements for fallout shelters, but only in the event of a nuclear attack on the nation.

At one time, the shelters were stocked by the federal government with such survival supplies as canned water and crackers. Perishables have long since spoiled, however, and have been removed. Non-perishables like bandages, bottle openers, toiletries, siphoning kits and thermometers are still usable, though, and remain in the shelters.

Although Payne believes Lubbock's underground shelters would protect the population from nuclear fallout, they are no longer thought to be the most effective form of refuge for the American people.

"Crisis relocation" was introduced last week by the Carter administration as the latest approach towards civil defense. In Texas, however, plans for crisis relocation have been on the drawing board at the state level literally for years. Lubbock is designated a "high risk area," and as such would be evacuated under the Texas Department of Public Safety Division of Disaster Emergency Services crisis relocation plan.

The plan calls for the "evacuation of high-risk areas when a nuclear attack threatens, and the temporary relocation of residents to small neighboring towns "where nuclear blast and fire effects are not likely to occur."

According to Schlueter, regional liaison officer for Disaster Emergency Services, the crisis relocation plan for Lubbock "should be wrapped up within the calendar year 1980." A basic plan to relocate the Lubbock population is already on file, awaiting information from the Army Corps of Engineers to update it, he said. Designated host counties for Lubbock are Hale, Lamb and Hockley.

Schlueter doubts that Carter's proposed crisis relocation allotment of $2 billion over a five-year period will have any effect on Lubbock specifically, because of Texas' general in-ability to raise the money.

Payne agreed, saying "I don't see any direct funding coming our way."

Tickets To Nixon Lecture In England Sell Out Quickly

OXFORD, England (AP) — Tickets to a lecture next week by former President Richard M. Nixon were snapped up quickly Tuesday in this university city.

"There was a massive queue before we opened and all the 800 available tickets were gone in three hours," said a secretary at the Oxford Union Society building.

At the invitation of union president Daniel Moxlan, Nixon will speak on international affairs in the union debating hall Nov. 30.

A reporter who went past the union building in the city center at 7 a.m. said "People were standing in line three abreast and the doors did not open until 9:30 a.m."

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK
I can't imagine where Americans got hung on the "single person" concept.

Maybe it was as children in arithmetic class, when we subtracted an odd number from an even and we stored the number on our finger and carried it around and really didn't know what to do with it.

But we have always been uncomfortable with "one left over."

After all, did Adam and Eve have a bachelor friend? Did an orangutan check in on Noah's ark asking, "Have you got a single near the pool?" If God had meant for us to live alone, would he put on menus, "Caesar Salad must be ordered by two?"

It's time we got over it. There are millions of Americans who are alone in this country today by divorce, death, or choice, trying to fit into a world of "table for two."

A widow confided to me recently that she lives by daylight. People will get their obligations over with to "get together sometime" at lunch, but it's too much of a chore to match single men or women up for dinner.

There are some things traditional hostesses should know.

First, that people without partners eat dinner after six like other people.

Second, you can set an extra chair at the table without having the centerpiece self-destruct.

Third, men and women alone handle moving through crowds and making conversation better than most people give them credit for.

Fourth, you don't have to go out of your way to arrange "handicap parking" facilities or introductions of any of the extras because they are unaccompanied.

Fifth, if you're worried about people without partners being a threat to other couples and their marriages, you're too late. They probably thought of it before that evening.

There is nothing sadder in this world than to see a vast expanse of talent go unappreciated and unappreciated. There's an entire segment of our population who make wonderful conversation, have great humor, fresh ideas, and in general are good company who are passed over because a hostess considers them as she does her china. If it doesn't match, people will talk.

A hostess recently said to me what a wonderful guest a particular priest would make for dinner, but he would be an odd number at her table.

It was an odd observation. At the Last Supper, Christ was number 13.

HERBED FISH

6 frozen trout, thawed or 2 small bluefish or red snappers or 1 large sea bass
1/4 cup imported olive oil
1/4 cup red wine vinegar
1 bay leaf
1 onion, thinly sliced
1 tsp. fine herbs or 1/2 tsp. thyme and 1/2 tsp. sage
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
2 tbsps. chopped chives

Place cleaned fish side by side in a single layer in a shallow glass enamel pan. In a bowl combine remaining ingredients except chives and beat until well blended. Pour mixture over fish. Let stand at room temperature for 1 hour or in the refrigerator overnight. Drain fish and place on a broiler pan. Broil until brown on one side, about 5 to 6 minutes for small fish and 8 to 10 minutes for the large fish. Turn fish carefully and broil the same length of time. Brush fish with marinade several times during cooking. Place on serving platter and sprinkle with chopped chives. Serve with watercress.

Farm Taxation Argued

A-J Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Carl King, president of the Texas Corn Growers Association, told a special Legislative Council study group Monday that assessment of agricultural land on productive value won't solve farmers' tax problems.

King, a Dimmitt resident, told the panel he feels taxes should be based on the net return to farmers from the land.

"If we're not making any money, we shouldn't have to pay anything," King said.

Asked by a panel member if what he was advocating was an income tax, King replied, "I don't care what you call it," adding he would "hate to see" taxes based on productivity without other factors being considered as well.

King cited rising costs, particularly for natural gas for irrigation and drying of corn, as having caused losses to farmers in recent years.

Cost of producing corn, he reported, has come to $400 per acre, including irrigation costs — with landowners losing about $27.50 per acre and tenants up to $100 an acre on recent crops.

King said he would not oppose provisions to apply higher taxes against land given an agricultural productivity tax break if the land is sold to a developer or speculator.

But, he said, most farmers would be willing to try to stay on their land, if they have some hope of making a profit.

If they are making money, he said, they'll be willing to pay taxes.

TULIA (Special) — Three persons were honored for service to the Swisher County Museum at the recent annual meeting of the Swisher County Archives and Museum Association in Swisher Memorial Building.

The late Robert W. Goss, a charter member of the Swisher Historical Survey Commission, serving as secretary and then president, posthumously was presented a certificate. His sister-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Goss, accepted the certificate presented by Vance Swinburn.

Born in 1936 in Swisher County, Goss finished Tulia High School in 1955 and Texas Tech in 1959. After he returned home to farm with his father, Goss developed a keen interest in the history of Swisher County and help organize the museum association and started a collection of 100 species of barbed wire. He died in 1967 while attending North Texas State College in Denton.

Another posthumous award was made to the late Grace Evans, who also helped organized the Swisher Museum Association and served as its first president. She wrote a history of Nevada before she moved to Tulia in 1960, and had a history of Swisher County almost completed by the time of her death in 1968. Her children finished the history. Mrs. Evans, daughter of a Baptist minister, was born in Arkansas in 1883, and married D.B. Evans in 1900.

Power Failure Hits Section Of City

A 12-block area of northeast Lubbock was without power for about 20 minutes Tuesday afternoon when line problems at 36th Street and Avenue P caused a breaker to shut down at Southwestern Public Service's main station.

Wayne White of SPS operations department said the 4 p.m. power loss centered mainly in the area between 34th Street and 42nd Street and Avenue P to Avenue J. Most power within that region, however, was restored in less than half an hour, he said.

At 5 p.m., White said line crews still were in the area where the problem originated and company officials did not yet know the extent of the damage to the lines or what prompted their failure.

Fine Arts Exhibit Scheduled At LCC

A student-faculty fine arts exhibit will open Monday and continue through Dec. 8 at Lubbock Christian College.

An opening reception is set for 7-9 p.m. in the Moody Auditorium lobby.

Each student will have at least one drawing, sculpture, painting or design on display, as will faculty members J. Lee Roberts, Hanson Ling and Karen Randolph.

Snyder Fireman Honored

A-J Correspondent
SNYDER — Kenneth Wood was honored Monday night as Fireman of the Year at the annual Thanksgiving Banquet of the Snyder Fire Department.

Service awards were presented to Leonard Keller, 30 years; T.V. Early and Garland Williams, 15 years; and Donny Whittenburg and Bruce Beall, five years.

attorney, accepted the certificate given to his mother.

W.A. Jordan, who has lived all of his life in Swisher County, was presented a certificate for distinct contributions to the museum.

In the election of new officers, Poppy Hulsey was named president, Jordan, re-elected vice president; Debbie Johnson, secretary; Leta Walker, treasurer, and Mattie Evans, Parliamentarian. Lula Marjorie Miller is membership chairman.

Val Wilkie, representing the Sid W. Richardson Foundation of Dallas, was scheduled as speaker for the evening, but was unable to arrive by plane due to inclement weather.

Mrs. Miller, granddaughter of the founder of Tulia, W.G. Cooner, presented "The History of Thanksgiving — Coronado Style." She stated that the very first Thanksgiving in America was held May 29, 1541 by Coronado and his men in Tule Canyon.

John Randall, city tax assessor-collector, showed slide of Tule Canyon and Lake Markensie.

Chrysler Corp. Shuffles Top Positions

DETROIT (AP) — An old colleague of Lee A. Iacocca was put in charge of developing Chrysler Corp.'s new cars and trucks Tuesday while authority for manufacturing was shifted from one executive vice president to the other.

best use of the most experienced talent in key areas, and focus increased attention on quality and reliability. Spokesmen for the No. 3 automaker, which is losing money, stressed that the changes were not just Iacocca's idea but a joint decision by him and Chairman John Riccardo.

Sperlich was an Iacocca supporter at Ford until quitting in 1977 and jumping to Chrysler. Vining, an engineer with vast experience in running Chrysler stamping and assembly plants, until now had Sperlich's new responsibilities for the design, engineering and planning of new cars and trucks.

Your Personal Biorhythms

by Bernard Gittelson

Figure your numbers here — For your own permanent biorhythm number for the Physical (P), Emotional (E), and Intellectual (I) cycles, just follow these steps:

Table with columns for P, E, I and rows for Step 1 (Year of Birth), Step 2 (Month of Birth), Step 3 (Day of Birth), and Totals.

Table titled 'BIORHYTHMS FOR NOV. 22, 1978' with columns for Physical, Emotional, and Intellectual cycles and rows for Highs and Lows.

Step 1 — Year of birth. Read down the left hand column to find the last number in the year of your birth then go across to the appropriate decade. For instance, if you were born in 1947, your number for Physical would be 21, Emotional 17, Intellectual 19. Note whether your numbers are preceded by an A or B, this will be used for Step 2.

Large grid for Step 1: Year of birth. Columns represent decades from 1910-19 to 1970-78. Rows represent numbers 0-9.

Step 2 — Month of birth. Find the corresponding numbers for the month you were born in for your month is February, and your year numbers were preceded by a B, your month numbers would be B for Physical, 3 for Emotional and 31 for Intellectual. Enter your own numbers in the figure chart for Step 2.

Small grid for Step 2: Month of birth. Columns represent months from Jan to Dec. Rows represent numbers 1-12.

Step 3 — Day of birth. Enter your day of birth three times in the figure chart, once each for Physical (P), Emotional (E) and Intellectual (I).

Add the three columns to derive your permanent biorhythm numbers for your Physical, Emotional and Intellectual cycles. Now you can refer to today's biorhythm readings.

LESS LOSS FROM FIRE. NEW YORK (AP) — Fire in the United States caused an estimated loss of $307 million in August, down 9.2 percent from August of 1977, according to the Insurance Information Institute. The organization said its estimate was based on individual company reports of insured losses, although the estimate included the total value of all losses, both insured and uninsured.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

Q. What is your opinion of real estate limited partnerships? The claim is that they provide tax-sheltered investment and that the appreciation in the value of the investment is treated as a long-term capital gain when the partnerships are terminated six or eight years hence.

A. It might be or it might not be — depending on the individual real estate deal. Just as some stocks have turned out to be good investments and some have turned out bad, so have real estate limited partnerships. The same thing, of course, can be said about all types of investments.

The tax aspects you mention are important considerations and major selling points of such deals. When they work out well, as many have, they are dandy. But when they do badly, as a fair number have, all the tax savings in the world don't amount to a hill of beans.

You should look at each real estate limited partnership individually. Read all the fine print carefully and investigate two things carefully — the reputation of the outfit selling the limited partnerships and the track record of the general partner who will run the operation.

My own feeling is that things of this type are best suited for investors who have sizeable income and are in high tax brackets. That excludes most retired folks.

Q. Rather than buy municipal bonds which invest in municipal bonds, I want to buy individual municipal bonds. But my broker will not provide me with a list to choose from. Is there a place where I can get such a list?

A. Almost every brokerage house and bank I ever heard of subscribes to the so-called "blue list," which is exactly what you are looking for.

It may be that your broker feels that individual municipal bond issues are not suitable for you and is following the "suitability rule" of not selling customers securities which are not right for them.

But if you are bound and determined, you can always go to some other brokerage firm or bank. Banks also handle municipal bonds.

Q. I want to exchange my Series E-U.S. Savings Bonds for Series H bonds. But my bank says I can't "exchange" them. They say I have to cash in my E bonds and then buy H bonds. I sort of recall your column mentioning a U.S. Treasury Department form. What is the name of that form?

A. It's Form PD 3253. Maybe it's my advancing years that make me grouchy when letters such as this come in — as they do all the time. It seems that some bankers are really falling down on the job of handling U.S. Savings Bonds.

All banks and other "issuing agents" receive copies of that form. Tell the people at your bank to read the mail they get from the Department of the Treasury, U.S. Savings Bond Division, and to start earning their money.

Q. As a project in my college economic experiment, I have been "given" a theoretical $100,000, with the stipulation that I must spend some, save some and give some away. Can you advise me how to do this?

A. Sorry, young feller. You'll have to do your own homework. This column won't do it for you. Nice try.

Q. Banks at which I have savings accounts and savings certificates send me copies of "Form 1099" each year, showing the amount of interest. Should I attach these forms to my income tax returns?

A. No. List that income on Part I, Schedule B of your federal income tax return. But hang on to your copies of those Forms 1099. You'll need them if the Internal Revenue Service ever questions your tax returns.

Firms Move To Block Unwanted Takeovers

NEW YORK (AP) — When National Airlines found itself the subject of an unwanted takeover attempt from Texas International Airlines recently, it turned to Pan American World Airways for a better offer.

When Babcock & Wilcox Co. got a takeover offer from United Technologies Corp. last year, it found another savior in J. Ray McDermott & Co. and fought off the UTC offer in favor of a merger with McDermott.

Babcock & Wilcox is one of the more fortunate veterans of the takeover wars that have sprung up in corporate boardrooms the past couple of years. National doesn't yet know how its fight will end.

With tender offers becoming almost as common as dividends, many companies have instituted plans to defend themselves against an unwanted takeover attempt.

"I think that they're concerned about it, I think that they're aware of it, and... they're taking steps to care of it," said William M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Association of Accountants.

The NAA has just completed a survey of 177 of the nation's largest firms, and the study found that 37 percent of the firms queried had formalized contingency plans should they receive an unfriendly takeover bid.

Forty percent of the firms said they feel vulnerable to a takeover. What makes a company feel vulnerable? "It is has what some people consider an exceptional cash flow, it would be considered a good subject for a takeover," said Young. Other factors include low price-earnings ratios on stock, undervalued or hidden assets, high borrowing capacity or above-average return on net worth.

Of those firms that feel vulnerable, 56 percent said they had a step-by-step plan in the event of a takeover move, according to the study. Twenty-four percent of those companies that didn't feel vulnerable nevertheless also had a plan.

Eighty percent of the companies surveyed said they had made some sort of study to determine their vulnerability to takeovers — and those studies led many of them to take steps to prevent them.

New Mexico Farmers, Ranchers To Convene

A-J Correspondent
CLOVIS — Several hundred farmers and ranchers are expected to attend the three-day annual meeting of the New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau in Roswell beginning Nov. 29 at the Sally Port Inn.

The meeting will be highlighted by election of officers and adoption of policy by the state's oldest and largest agricultural organization. During the course of the convention, farmers and ranchers will hear several guest speakers, including Gov. Bruce King, Dr. Gerald Thomas, president of New Mexico State University; Allen Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and several others. Energy, environment, public land policy, a legislative panel, government agricultural programs and governmental regulation of the private sector of the economy will be discussed. Policy resolutions for consideration by voting delegates will cover many of the same subject areas and members are expected to consider a resolution calling for the establishment of an Agricultural Political Action Committee, which would allow organized agriculture to become involved in partisan politics in New Mexico.

Lubbock Military Student Honored

Four students from the University of Houston Central Campus, including one student from Lubbock, have received Distinguished Military Student Certificates for 1978. These students achieved the highest grades in both their general classes and in ROTC classes. They are all scheduled to graduate in 1979. The students are Sheldra A. Baker, a political science major from Lubbock; Clovis G. Gault, Jr., a psychology major from Newport News, Va.; Juan Gonzales, an architecture major from Laredo; and Mary H. Lieck, a biology major from San Antonio.

On the evening of Nov. 30, the bureau will hold an awards banquet at which the Outstanding Young Farmer-Rancher in New Mexico will be named as well as the Agricultural Family of the Year and the Special Friend of Agriculture awards will be presented.

APPARENT WINNER—Pennsylvania State Rep. Kenneth Cole, D-Gettysburg, raises his clasped hands over his head after a vote recount broke a deadlock in a tie vote against his Republican opponent, Donald Moul, naming Cole the victor for re-election to his state house seat in Gettysburg Tuesday. The apparent Cole victory also broke a deadlock in the state house which was standing at 101 votes apiece between Democrats and Republicans, the recount giving the Democrats the edge and House control. Appeals Reportedly Made For Vesco

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury here has begun investigating charges that efforts were made on behalf of Robert L. Vesco to convince the Carter administration to halt extradition proceedings against the fugitive financier, sources said Tuesday.

A source who asked not to be identified said the grand jury is looking into reports that the alleged scheme involved paying White House aides and associates from Georgia $10 million in stock from Vesco to plead his case.

The New York Times reported Tuesday that the investigation was viewed by high-ranking administration officials as an inquiry into the credibility of columnist Jack Anderson, who was instrumental in publicizing the charges.

The Justice Department declined comment on the investigation and officials refused to say if any grand jury was specifically examining Anderson's credibility.

Carter administration officials have charged that Anderson printed the allegations irresponsibly without checking the facts.

A key witness in the investigation is R.L. Herring, 34, a heavy-equipment salesman from Albany, Ga., convicted last month on federal fraud and racketeering charges unrelated to the Vesco case.

A man identifying himself as Herring telephoned the Associated Press bureau in Miami to say he was being called to testify before the Vesco grand jury in Washington on Tuesday.

Herring has said he hired W. Spencer Lee IV, an Albany, Ga., lawyer, last year to help plead Vesco's case because Lee was a friend of White House chief of staff Hamilton Jordan and another Carter aide, Richard Harden.

Herring has said he and Lee also met with Charles Kirbo, a close friend and adviser to Carter in Atlanta, to discuss the details of acquiring $10 million in stock from Vesco.

Vesco fled the country while under indictment on stock fraud charges and under a federal subpoena in connection with alleged political payoffs to officials of the former Nixon administration.

Both Jordan and Kirbo have denied any involvement in the alleged attempt to quash extradition proceedings against Vesco.

Administration officials also have said that Anderson's charges have been discredited by the columnist's acknowledgment that letters purportedly sent by Lee to Jordan and Kirbo discussing the alleged Vesco deal were not actual copies but were reconstructed from memory by Lee's secretary.

Lee has said he was paid $10,000 by Herring to intervene in Vesco's behalf, but he said he was talked out of pursuing the matter by Harden, the White House aide.

Harden has said he discussed the matter with the president in February 1977, shortly after the administration took office. Carter has said he does not recall that conversation, but a memo turned up in Justice Department files in which the president told Attorney General Griffin B. Bell, "Please see Spencer Lee from Albany when he requests an appointment."

Bell has said he did not see the memo, which his aides said was placed in a file holder that included information pertaining to possible job-seekers with the administration. And Lee never asked for the appointment with Bell.

The Justice Department has said that FBI agents planned to question the president, along with other individuals named in the case.

Armed Robbery Charges Filed Against City Man

A Lubbock man, arrested last week in connection with a burglary case, was charged Tuesday with participating in three recent armed robberies.

The three aggravated robbery charges were filed against Michael Smith McCowan, 19, of 2105 E. 30th St. The Criminal District Attorney's office recommended bonds totaling $85,000 on the three cases.

Also charged with aggravated robbery in connection with one of the three cases was James Loggins, Jr., 26, of 2408 E. 30th St. The District Attorney's office recommended a $100,000 bond for Loggins.

Records indicate Loggins was assessed a five-year penitentiary term in 1972 after pleading guilty to a burglary charge. According to records, he had been assessed a five-year probated term in 1968 for felony theft, with that probation revoked at the time of the burglary plea.

Both men had been charged last week with burglary. Police said their arrests Thursday followed a high-speed chase.

McCowan and Loggins both were charged Tuesday with aggravated robbery as the result of a Nov. 11 holdup at a Briercroft Shopping Center shoe store.

According to reports, two bandits entered the store and forced three employees to lie on the floor near the back of the business. One of the employees was subsequently ordered to open a cash register, reports said.

McCowan also was charged in connection with a Nov. 13 holdup at the Taco Villa restaurant, 1620 Ave. Q, and with a Nov. 14 heist at the Pizza Inn restaurant, 2102 Broadway.

McCowan and Loggins were charged last week with burglarizing the Radio Shack at 8203 Indiana Ave. The suspects were arrested about six miles north of Tahoka after a reported high-speed chase on U.S. 87.

Also Tuesday, an aggravated assault on a peace officer charge was filed against Timothy Charles Allen, 18, of 500 E. Broadway, No. 16.

Allen is accused of striking police officer Dennis Kelly in the face during a reported Thursday incident. Police reports said Kelly was struck after responding to a report of a domestic problem at the East Broadway address.

Funeral For Former Head Of Prison Bureau Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Funeral services will be held in the nation's capital today for a former director of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons and a noted advocate of penal reform.

James V. Bennett, 84, died of kidney failure at a hospital in suburban Bethesda, Md., on Sunday.

As director of federal prisons from 1937 to 1964, Bennett instituted changes in the treatment of inmates that are now commonplace but were virtually unheard of at the time. These included job training in prisons and halfway houses for convicts about to be released from custody.

Bennett's survivors include his wife Olympia, a son, two daughters and 10 grandchildren.

Watts Earns Defensive Honors

By DON HENRY
Executive Sports Editor

After looking films, Texas Tech coach Rex Dockery could see where Ted Watts got all his power for that game-saving tackle.

"Ted went into the hole to try to stop the ball-carrier (SMU's Darold Turner)," Dockery remarked. "Ted got there just ahead of (linebacker) Don Kelly, and Kelly hit Watts in the back just as Watts hit Turner."

The next thing Turner hit was the ground, and the Raiders had repelled the Mustangs' final fourth-down try.

That tackle was just one of the reasons that Watts was selected the Associated Press Southwest Conference defensive player of the week.

The honor was announced this morning, but Tuesday, Watts was not in any mood to celebrate or accept the honor. He was in a local hospital after having a broken nose reset.

He sustained the nose break in the first half of Saturday's game and he played rest of the way with it. All the time, he was wearing a bulky pad over the lower part of his face to protect a previously broken jaw.

Actually, Watts wanted to play so badly against SMU that he talked his doctors into unwiring his broken jaw. Late on game day he was wondering why.

Not only did he break his nose in the first half, but late in the contest he got a penalty that almost cost his team the game.

However, Watts made the touchdown-saving tackle and then intercepted a Mike Ford pass to preserve Tech's 19-16 victory over the Mustangs.

"He played an amazing game when you considered how bad his face had to be hurting," said Dockery. "That was some kind of hit he put on down at the goal. No doubt he saved the game for us. It was no ordinary tackle (on Turner)."

The previous play, a teammate had dumped SMU quarterback Mike Ford at the 7 on a fourth-down play, but a holding penalty was called against Watts, giving SMU another chance.

"I didn't hold but when I got another chance I sure was glad," said Watts. "I sure was scared."

On the same series of plays, Watts was involved in a bizarre play. He arrived back on the field just as Ford was calling signals. Ford checked signals to pass to Emanuel Tolbert, who was open.

Only Tolbert wasn't open long, as Watts arrived just in time to help bat the ball away.

"That was our moving zone," cracked Dockery.

"I guess I should have had that pass," said Watts, who wore a face guard similar to the one sported last year by Red Raider basketballer Kent Williams. "I really couldn't see the ball too well."

While Watts was hospitalized, the Raiders returned to heavy work for Saturday's game with the University of Houston. And the injury report looked better. Dockery said that it appeared that all the wounded troopers with the possible exception of wide receiver Godfrey Turner would be ready.

Turner sustained an ankle injury, and if he not able to play, his position could be taken by freshman Randy Page.

Fullback James Hadnot, who had a severe rib bruise, was working Tuesday. The Raiders will work this afternoon, then hold morning sessions Thursday and Friday in getting ready for the SWC leader.

'Poke Lockerroom Closed To Writers

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys announced Tuesday a new post-game interview policy which permanently closes the World Champions' lockerroom to media representatives — a first in the National Football League — because of the woman reporter issue.

There have been increasing demands that women reporters be given equal access, a spokesman said.

Starting with the Cowboy-Washington Redskin NFL joust on Thanksgiving Day, players will cross the hall from the locker room to an interview area after a five-minute waiting period.

The visiting dressing rooms will remain open to the press as will the Dallas locker room on the road.

"I don't like it but something had to be done in my opinion," said Cowboy coach Tom Landry. "It's an unfortunate situation."

Landry added "This has nothing to do with women's rights. There are certain rights nobody has — I don't want to go into a women's locker room."

Two women sports writers cover the Cowboys — one from Corpus Christi and the other from San Antonio.

Tex Schramm, president and general manager of the Cowboys, said "We are not trying to limit access to the players. This is just a step in keeping up with the times. It was brought about by any decision on our part. This was not done to inhibit the press."

"We have one of the most open teams to the media in the NFL and we will continue to cooperate."

Schramm said he could not personally "guarantee" that every player requested for an interview would show up.

Late in the game a list will be circulated in the press box for media representatives to indicate the players they would like to interview.

... A Job Well Done

ALTHOUGH HE DIDN'T use a cane on the sidelines, Rex Dockery leaned on one as he limped away from Jones Stadium last Saturday afternoon. The Raider coach had become a casualty in a workout more than a week earlier, when hit accidentally by one of his players.

He used the cane for support a day or so before his Raiders knocked off SMU 19-16 Saturday. After that one, Rex felt good enough to walk without the support, if needed.

Last August, there were those who felt that Rex would need more than a cane for support by now. His was not an easy challenge.

Dockery had been called home from a recruiting trip to Dallas last winter to accept the Tech head coaching job after Steve Sloan left for greener pastures and trees in Mississippi.

But, there was the cloud of Tom Wilson over the decision to hire Dockery. There were divided feelings around Lubbock, the ones that wanted to bring Wilson home from Texas A&M and the ones that felt Dockery had earned the head spot.

His work here under Sloan as well as the hope for continuity with the Sloan program were in Dockery's favor.

DOCKERY HAD TO build a staff — which every new head coach must do — but in his case, a pair of summertime resignations forced him to search twice, the second time when he was preparing actively for the coming season.

And, when the season began, Dockery's chances didn't look overly bright. Preseason predictions reflected this Tech was picked, generally, from sixth to eighth. One list had the Raiders winning but one

Only in America could Thanksgiving happen, for here in a new land was a new kind of person. The Pilgrims came, seeking freedom to think and believe according to their consciences. They found a country that was beautiful and challenging, with a mixture of wild abundance and primitive resistance. They were beset by tribulations of nature and spirit, but the Pilgrims made a new way of life here — in freedom. And because these people viewed life as larger than themselves, it was inevitable that they should bend their knees in Thanksgiving for the bounties they found beyond the rugged shores of Plymouth Rock.

American State Bank is thankful today for this land where everything is still possible. We give thanks for the courage and vision of our forefathers, and for the customs and traditions they inspired.

It is good to know that we can take pride in the past, as we apply the fruits of today's prosperity to the task of preparing for an ever-better tomorrow.

Oklahoma State Fires Stanley

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Jim Stanley, whose Oklahoma State football team had a lackluster 3-8 season amid investigations of an athletic slush fund, was fired Tuesday as head football coach.

Dr. L.L. Boger, university president, said in a statement that Stanley had been "relieved of his responsibilities as head coach" and added, "I will recommend that he be reassigned to other duties within the university."

There was no immediate comment from Stanley.

There were rumors earlier in the day that Stanley had been fired last Thursday and had informed the team of this on Monday. This was denied by Richard A. Young, Oklahoma State athletic director, who noted that both he and Boger were out of town last Thursday.

But just hours later Boger issued his announcement.

Both the Big Eight Conference and the NCAA are probing allegations of a reported slush fund for Oklahoma State athletes. To add to Stanley's problems, the school is in its first year of a two-year probation for recruiting violations.

"In view of all the circumstances, it appeared that a change in the leadership of our football program would be in the best interest of the university," Boger's statement said.

He added he would ask Young to expedite a nationwide search for a successor to Stanley.

According to the rumors earlier in the day, Stanley already had been replaced by Hayden Fry, former SMU coach who has built a winning program at North Texas State.

"I keep hearing those rumors," said Fry, who counted Oklahoma State as one of his nine victims this fall. "I don't know anything about it."

"I'm sincere about that. I haven't discussed anything with Oklahoma State. I'm honored that my name is rumored to be with them. I think they have a great university and a great opportunity to have an outstanding program."

Asked whether he would be interested in the job here, Fry added, "If something develops at Oklahoma State, it doesn't cost anything to listen."

Stanley, who had his worst season in his six years at Oklahoma State, had declined to discuss the speculation that he might be fired. He still had two years left on his contract.

Young several months ago confirmed that Oklahoma State had received the allegations from an investigation the Big Eight had started last June and admitted they were "serious." The current probation includes bans on bowl and television appearances and the loss of five scholarships each year of the probation period.

A Big Eight meeting later this month is expected to produce some kind of verdict on Oklahoma State's future. After that, the NCAA will decide whether the penalty — if there is any — is severe enough.

Ironically, until this year Stanley was the most successful football coach for Oklahoma State, with a 32-23-3 record over five years. Included in these were two bowl victories, the 1974 Fiesta Bowl and the 1976 Tangerine Bowl.

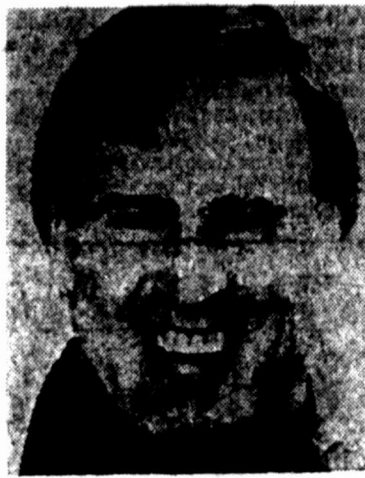

In addition, he led Oklahoma State to a share of the 1976 Big Eight championship.

Stanley played under Paul "Bear" Bryant at Texas A&M after high school football at Jenkins and Lynch, Ky.

After graduating from college, he was assistant coach at Amarillo High School 1960-61; assistant line coach at SMU in 1961; assistant coach at Texas-El Paso in 1962 and then came to Oklahoma State as assistant coach and defensive coordinator in 1963.

He left here in 1968 and spent 1969-70 as defensive coordinator at the U.S. Naval Academy, then moved to Winnipeg of the professional Canadian Football League in 1971.

He returned to Oklahoma State as defensive coordinator and assistant coach in 1972 and moved up to head coach in 1973.

...While Mallory Exits At Colorado

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Bill Mallory led his football team to 35 victories in five seasons, but that wasn't good enough in the highly competitive Big Eight Conference and the University of Colorado coach was fired Tuesday.

Athletic director Eddie Crowder announced the decision to release Mallory, who had two years remaining on his contract.

"After a review of our football situation, it has been decided that a change is necessary," Crowder said in a statement issued shortly after a morning meeting with Mallory. "Coach Mallory, his staff and players have made an outstanding effort, and yet our program is not progressing as it must."

"Bill Mallory is an outstanding person, a man I respect very much, which makes this decision a very unpleasant task."

Crowder said the search for a successor would begin immediately, with early speculation centering on former California coach Mike White.

Crowder, CU's head football coach for 11 seasons, named Mallory as his successor on Jan. 12, 1974. Mallory, a former assistant under Woody Hayes at Ohio State, had guided Miami of Ohio to a 39-12 record in five seasons before being named to the CU post.

Mallory's Colorado teams compiled records of 5-6, 9-3, 8-4, 7-3-1 and 6-5 for an overall mark of 35-21-1. During his tenure, the Buffaloes earned a share of the Big Eight title in 1976 and appeared in two bowl games. But in the Big Eight, CU was a mediocre 18-16-1 under Mallory.

The past two seasons, the Buffs opened with five straight victories, only to suffer midseason collapses. Colorado wound up 6-5 overall and 2-5 in the conference in the season which ended Saturday.

Mallory also was criticized for the inability of the Buffs to win big games, and for sticking with a plodding, unimaginative offense.

"Sure, I'm disappointed," Mallory said after his team lost to Iowa State 20-16 in the season finale Saturday. "It (the season) didn't turn out as we had hoped. We should have been at least three games better."

Mallory, 43, insisted he wanted to stay at Colorado and finish the job he started, and said he would not resign.

Following Tuesday's announcement, Mallory said the Colorado football program "needed better organization and better money. A negative attitude is not needed. That makes recruiting very difficult in this state."

He said he planned to remain in coaching, and hoped to take his staff with him.

Although Mallory's support among ranking officials and alumni had been eroding, several of his players, notably co-captain Jeff Lee, gave him a rousing vote of confidence at the team's annual banquet Monday night.

Mallory was a standout end from 1955-57 at Miami of Ohio.

Sandies Plot 'Backdoor' Plan

By JIM FERGUSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Larry Dippell admits that while Palo Duro wasn't looking, yes indeed, his Amarillo High Sandies snuck in their backdoor and stole the District 3-AAAA bacon right off the Dons' kitchen table.

But don't look for Dippell to give the crown back, not this year anyways.
On the final day of the season—which happened to be last Saturday—all the Dons had to do was beat cross-town rival Caprock and the title would be theirs for keeps. It didn't seem like that much of a chore, since Caprock entered the game with a 3-6 overall record and a 1-2 loop mark.

Meanwhile, Palo Duro, the pre-season choice to take the crown without much of a fight, had a pair of 6-3 and 2-1 records. So it was only a matter of what score the Dons chose, right? Wrong.

What the Longhorns wound up doing was "cockroaching" the Dons as the two battled to a 7-7 tie. And in this instance a tie was as good as a loss for PD. It left the Dons a half-game back of Amarillo in the title chase, you see.

"Yeah, I guess we did sort of sneak in there when nobody was looking," said the third-year coach. "But I'm not going to take anything away from our kids. We battled hard all year."

"And look," he continued, "we finished with the best record in the district so something was alright."
Earlier in the year, Palo Duro had blanked Amarillo 38-0. But since then the Dons lost a 8-7 squeaker to Pampa and there was also that tie.

"This year it just happened to come down to the last game," explained Dippell. "And things just happened to work out for us...next year it may not."

Amarillo, which had one of the tougher Class AAAA non-conference schedules around—it played Odessa High, Permian, Plainview and Clovis, N.M.—hasn't found itself out of the woods, yet.

For the Sandies to advance any further in the state playoffs, they must first get by Plainview at Dick Bevens Stadium Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. The Bulldogs handed AHS a 34-6 setback earlier.

"They just beat the dog out of us the first time we played," said Dippell.

"What we want to do now is even things up."

What some feel the Longhorns should do might be to commit suicide and get it over with. However, Dippell dispels such drastic action.

"No," he said, "what we need to do is stop their explosive offensive backs. That's really the key to stopping them. I was talking to a college scout the other day and he was telling me that they (Plainview) could have possibly the best backfield in the state."

To handle runners like Royce Coleman, Dippell said the Sandies "must control the ball. We've got to keep it away from them. If they don't have the football then they can't score."

There is also something else Dippell said he is hoping for—namely a little old fashioned, Irish luck.

"We've got to have some luck on our side," he said.

According to Dippell, the Sandies are a much better team than they were back on Sept. 22 when the Dogs kicked the dog out of them.

"We're a much better team," the coach said, then added, "but that means they are too."

A very sobering thought, he said.

When the Sandies are on offense, Dippell explained, they aren't going to pull any exotics out of their hats. Basically, they'll just stick with what got them this far.

"If we try anything really out of the ordinary and it backfires then we really will be in trouble," said Dippell. "They would just blow us out of the tub."

Vega Awaits New Deal

By RUSS PARSONS
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
All the months of speculation are over. The party which teams have been waiting almost a year for is about ready to start. But only three guests are invited.

For each of those teams, it was a hare-and-hound chase right down to the final gun.

Only Seagraves wrapped up the district title before last weekend. But it took the undefeated Eagles till the next to the last game of the year to finally rid itself of challengers.

New Deal never really did. The Lions, favored to win 4-A handily at the beginning of the season, finished in a tie with Hale Center for the championship. But New Deal had beaten the Owls 14-6 in the district season, and so, were chosen to represent the loop in the playoffs.

Vega also went undefeated, only in district though. But still, it took the Longhorns until the last game of the year with Bovina to take home the turkey.

The 36-0 win was decisive enough to remove any doubt though and should provide Vega a good kick into the playoffs. The Horns will meet New Deal in the first round.

"They throw real well," Lion coach B.J. Smith said of Vega. "Whether we prepare for that right or not is what's going to make the difference. It scares me."

"Yeah, we're throwing pretty good," said Jimmy Duncan at Vega.

That could be an understatement of fairly huge proportion. Quarterback Randall Galbraith, an all-district selection last season, has completed 56 of 103 passes (that's 54 percent) for 903 yards and 11 touchdowns.

That's some high school quarterback. His leading receiver is 5-11, 155-pound Jesse Rodriguez. He has caught 15 passes in nine games this year for 241 yards.

"They've got size and their line's blocking real well," he said. "And they've got some speedy backs. Their running game is going really good. We've gotta stop the rush."

Putting a dent in the New Deal offense is the loss of talented quarterback Kelly Howell. He broke his collarbone after six games but is still the Lions' leading rusher with 459 yards.

This was supposed to be the year somebody else in District 5-A got a chance to do a little travelling, and see a couple of playoff games from better seats than the stands.

It wasn't.

Despite losing 11 all-district performers off last year's team, Seagraves went undefeated (allowing a miserly 39 points in 10 games) and made the playoffs for the fifth straight year.

Last year the Eagles made it to the finals before losing to East Bernard. The year before that they lost in the semifinals.

Once again, this could be Seagraves' year to take it all.

where, and on Dockery's shoulders is a most logical place.

If the talent was there — in preseason — for a better club than the prophets foresaw, then it's Dockery's leadership which brought it out. Or, if the shuffling of folks made the winning difference, this, too, is his responsibility.

GENERALLY, THE RAIDERS were thought to be just a step above Rice and TCU on the league ladder. But, Tech whipped this duo, plus Baylor and SMU in conference. Only losses have come to bowl-bound teams, and only the Aggies soundly strapped the Raiders.

Dockery, repeatedly, has credited his seniors for their leadership and the entire squad for its summer work in preparing for the season. But, even here, there had to be some motivating force behind all the effort.

Saturday, the Raiders play the University of Houston, the team now closest to the Cotton Bowl. And, for masterminding UH into that championship spot, Bill Yeoman's name will pop up automatically for SWC coach-of-the-year honors. He deserves his due.

Yeoman's Cougars were picked by many for second behind preseason favorite Arkansas. And the veteran UH coach led them one notch higher.

Dockery hauled the Raiders well up the ladder, into first division, a spot few — if any — expected.

For this, he deserves credit. A coach-of-the-year bouquet is not out of reason.

Cowboys Close Locker

Schramm said that even under the old method some players would slip away after a particularly bad game.

"We will do everything we can to see that a player cooperates," said Schramm.

Asked if the Cowboy locker room ban also included columnists for the Dallas Cowboy Weekly, Schramm, a columnist for the house organ, said "I'll guarantee I won't use my access privileges in the column."

Schramm said: "We're not going to have an integrated locker room. This was coming and we had to face it. We didn't create it."

Asked if the Cowboys would rescind the interview policy if the new one didn't work, Schramm said "We're going to make it work. We're not going to have a mixed grill in our locker room."

Landry added "If it comes to the point where this (co-educational dressing rooms) doesn't make any difference in society, then we'll all go down the same drain."

This is the first organized locker room ban in the NFL, Schramm said.

New National Smoker Study:

“Best Move Yet.”

Extensive research conclusive: MERIT taste scores high marks with former high tar smokers.

Can the taste of low tar MERIT, with 'Enriched Flavor'™ tobacco, continue to satisfy the smokers it attracts from high tar brands?

Read the results of new, detailed, nationwide research conducted among current MERIT smokers —and among high tar smokers who taste-tested MERIT against leading high tar brands.

Research Confirms Taste Satisfaction

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT smokers not considering other brands.

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers rate MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested! Cigarettes having up to twice the tar.

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is what it claims to be: The first real alternative for high tar smokers.
