Strike Strands Americans In Iran

U.S., China Hoist Toasts To New Era

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Chinese diplomat, launching a new era in relations with the United States, said Monday the ties between the two countries will help stem Soviet aggression.

In a champagne toast, Ambassador Chai Tse-min predicted the reversal of 30 years of icy distrust also will promote peace and stability in Asia and the world.

Vice President Walter F. Mondale, speaking on behalf of the United States, carefully avoided any barbs at Moscow or any association with the Chinese thrust at their bitter adversary.

He stressed the differences in the U.S. and Chinese ideologies, cultures and political and economic systems. But reflecting the practical side of President Carter's decision, Mondale said: "What has brought us together is an awareness of our parallel interests in creating a world of economic progress, stability and peace."

Toast New Relationship

Standing together in front of a Chinese flag and also an American flag that was tacked backwards on a wall, the Chinese diplomat and the American vice president drank toasts to the new relationship, the peoples of the two countries and the health of their leaders.

"An abnormal situation that persisted too long has ended," Mondale said of the three decades in which the United States refused to conduct diplomatic relations with the Communist government in Peking.

The reception room in the renovated hotel the Chinese have used as a liaison office was crowded with present and former U.S. officials. They included Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, Zbigniew Brzezinski, the president's national security adviser, former Secretary William P. Rogers and ex-Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark.

Ambassador Chai called the normalization part of an "irresistible historical current" and an event of historic significance.

He said it is not only in the interest of the Chinese and American people, "but also will certainly play an active role in combating the expansion and aggression of hegemonism and upholding peace and stability in Asia and the world."

Russians Not Mentioned

As is customary in the war of words between Peking and Moscow, the Chinese diplomat did not refer to the Soviet Union directly by name. But his use of the word "hegemonism" made the target unmistakable. It is China's customary reference to what Peking considers to be Soviet expansionism.

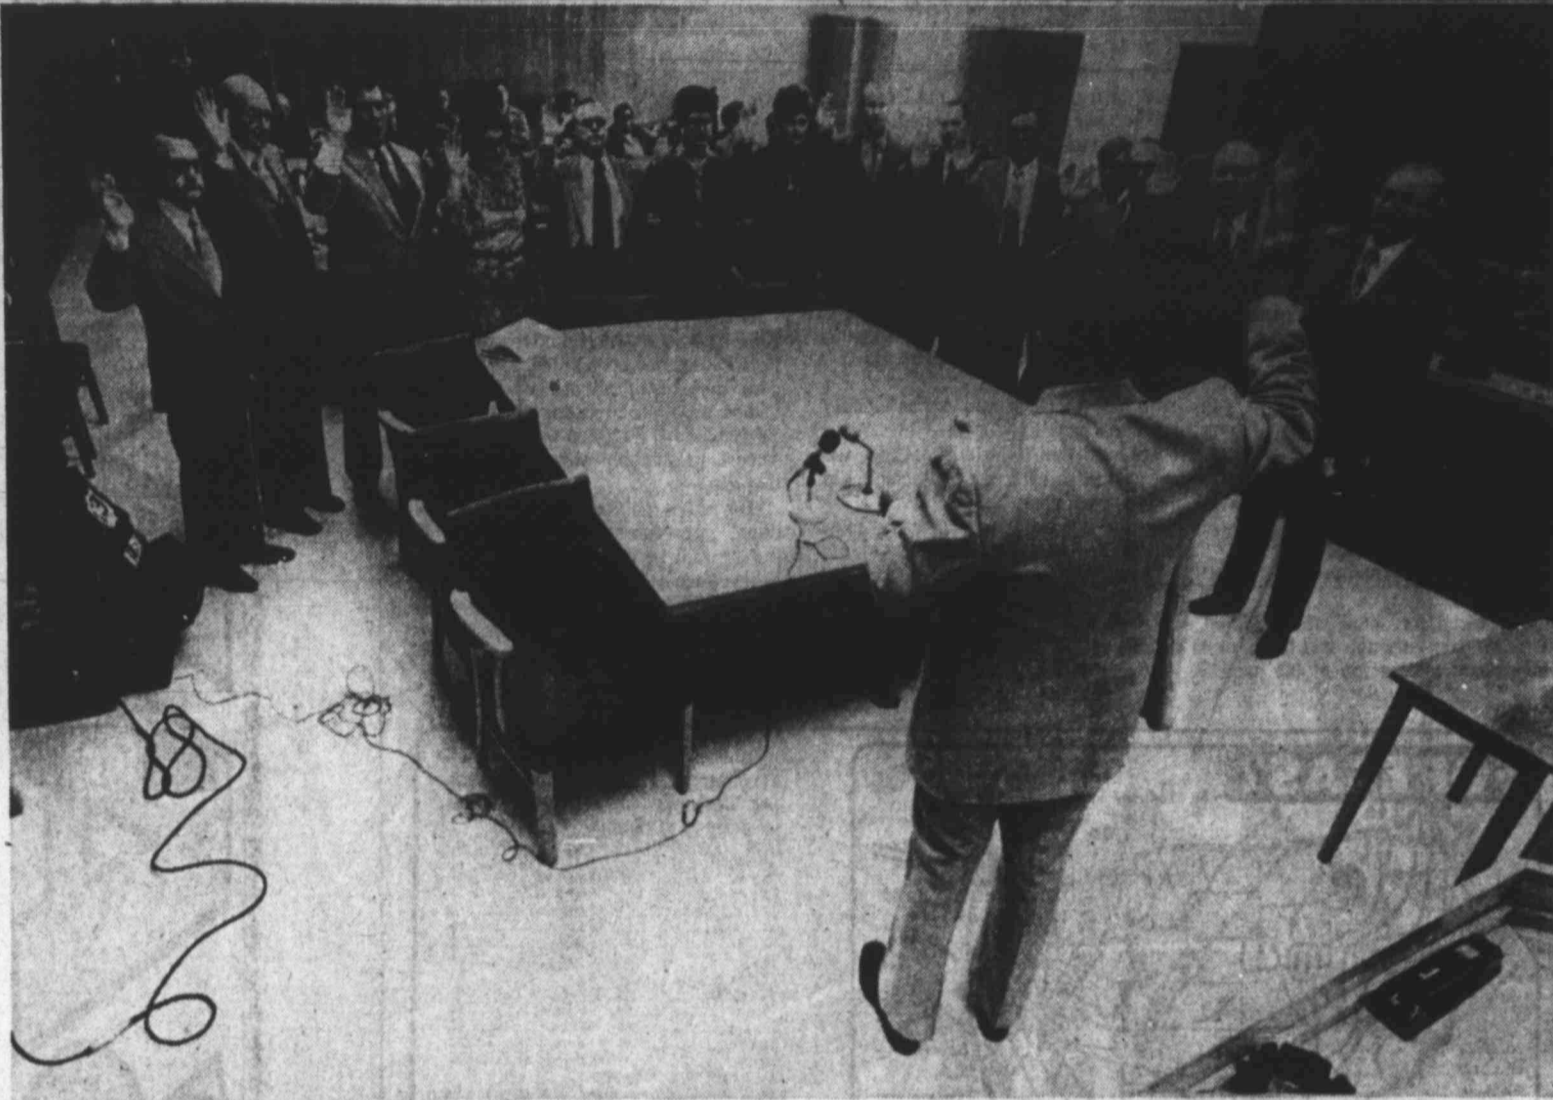

Chai was even more pointed in his remarks a few hours earlier at a party given by an American-Chinese friendship group.

He said China's new ties with the United States represent a warning "to those countries and groupings that seek hegemony" and also as a "broadening of the common front against hegemony."

At the same time, Chai urged Taiwan, which has lost its diplomatic ties with the United States and will have its defense treaty terminated, to "go with the tide" and rejoin the mainland.

Chai called Taiwan an integral part of China and said "the day will certainly

Airliners Refused Service

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The anti-shah opposition claimed Monday that as many as 2,000 persons were killed by government troops in two days of bloody street warfare in the holy city of Mashhad. The report was unconfirmed, and state-run television said 106 had died.

Thousands of Americans and other foreigners trying to flee violence-wracked Iran were stranded by a strike of ground staff at Tehran's international airport.

The workers had warned they would not service planes of Israel's El Al Airline or Pan American World Airways. The American carrier canceled service to Tehran but an El Al flight from Tel Aviv landed, triggering the walkout. It was uncertain whether the shutdown would continue today.

The conflicting accounts of the bloodshed in Mashhad, a city of 800,000, came as the shah sought to dispel reports he might leave the country as soon as Shahpour Bakhtiar, the prime minister-designate and former No. 2 man in the opposition National Front, announces formation of a new civilian government, possibly Wednesday or Thursday.

Azhari's Resignation Accepted
The shah accepted the resignation of Gen. Gholam-Reza Azhari, who had served as prime minister since Nov. 6. Azhari will remain in office until a new government is formed.

The state television said mobs in Mashhad, 500 miles northeast of Tehran, attacked a military garrison, set fire to army tanks and stabbed a major to death during the weekend rioting.

Sources in the Moslem anti-shah opposition said the death toll was between 700 and 2,000. The television said 106 were killed and 215 wounded, and that the dead included four or five soldiers whose bodies were "cut to pieces and hanged from trees."

If the opposition claims are true, the Mashhad fighting was the bloodiest in 12 months of political violence. Because of communications disruptions and other restrictions, it is difficult to verify such casualty reports from the provinces.

Prince Due At Reese

(Iranian crown prince Reza Pahlavi was still vacating Monday according to Lt. Steve Hedley of the Reese AFB Intelligence Office. Hedley said the prince and other Reese flight trainees are expected to report back at the base today to begin the T-38 aircraft training phase of their 50-week flight course.)

The television said the Mashhad violence erupted Saturday when mobs began pulling people from cars and beating them with clubs. It said most of the deaths occurred Sunday when a mob of 300 to 400 Afghans stormed a military garrison.

Mashhad is close to the Afghanistan border and has large numbers of Afghani workers. Government officials have charged that the leftist government in Afghanistan is sending agents to Iran to foment unrest.

Abdulhamid Jamschidi, a spokesman for the city's anti-shah Moslem leader, said the two-day battle erupted when troops opened fire on a crowd of 400,000.

Arctic Air, Snow Chill Panhandle-South Plains

By RHONA SCHWARTZ
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A HIGH PRESSURE system coming in the wake of the weekend's snow storm sent Lubbock temperatures Sunday night tumbling to a frigid minus five degrees, shattering a 60-year record of minus two degrees for the lowest minimum temperature.

Lubbock's high of 12 degrees Sunday also broke by three degrees a record for the lowest maximum temperature set in 1919.

The bitter Arctic air, which Monday

Cold, Bows Keep Most Inside Homes

By The Associated Press

WHILE SOME Americans watched hour upon hour of football on television New Year's Day, others paraded in the streets, languished at the world's busiest airport or nursed hangovers.

Severe winter storms across a wide area of the country kept millions of persons at home on the first day of 1979.

In Chicago, O'Hare Airport was closed temporarily because of heavy snow Sunday night, and thousands of holiday travelers were still stranded at the airport Monday.

Traffic Toll Rises

The bad weather also contributed to the highway death toll over the weekend. By Monday night, 303 persons had lost their lives in traffic accidents.

About 1.3 million spectators lined the streets of Pasadena, Calif., for the Tournament of Roses Parade, and an estimated 125 million others watched the 90th annual event on television.

A float depicting a race on Venice's Grand Canal won the sweepstakes prize for the Order of Sons of Italy in America. It featured two 40-foot-long gondolas, and floral umbrella canopies that included 1,000 roses.

Massive Clean-Up

After the last of the 60 floats completed the 5½-mile parade route, workmen began clearing away the 35 to 40 tons of beer cans, food wrappers, newspapers and even old furniture left by the spectators.

The parade preceded the Rose Bowl game, the oldest of the post-season college football games in which the University of Southern California defeated Michigan 17-10. In the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans, Alabama defeated Penn State 14-7 and thus maneuvered into contention for honors as the nation's No. 1 college football team.

Philadelphia's Mummers Parade, the traditional New Year's extravaganza featuring high-strutting string bands, clowns and "fancies" in flamboyant costumes, was postponed until Saturday because of the threat of high winds and rain.

swept over the South Plains and Panhandle, will give little relief today to travelers stranded on highways coated with up to three inches of ice and snow.

The National Weather Service warns that little improvement in road conditions are expected before Wednesday, as the frigid air mass remains over the state.

Temperatures in the Panhandle late Sunday plunged to as low as 15 degrees below zero, while San Antonio and Austin residents experienced rarely seen snow flurries and below freezing temperatures.

Slightly Warmer Today

The cold front is expected to alter very slowly over the next few days, however forecasters predict slightly warmer temperatures this afternoon for the South Plains.

The high today is expected to reach the upper 20s under clear skies. The low tonight should be near 10 degrees, with westerly winds at 10 to 15 mph.

Monday's one-digit temperatures and very slick roads kept most Lubbockites indoors and made most motorists extremely careful, much to the relief of Department of Public Safety officials.

"A lot of people have been calling and when they hear the discouraging news about the roads, a lot of them decide to stay put," said Lubbock DPS officer Dew Collins.

"Some people have been calling every day for the past three days trying out get out of Lubbock," he added.

Collins said New Year's Day traffic was light because of the road conditions. He said none of the roads around Lubbock were closed, although roads were closed around Georgetown and Lampasas.

"The ice stretches from Houston to Austin to Kermit to most of Texas," Collins said.

Lubbock International Airport remained open Monday, although many flights were canceled or at least delayed.

Only one runway was functional, an airport spokesman said Monday night, due to icy conditions, and many travelers remained stranded from Saturday night when the airport was open only from 2 to 6:30 p.m.

Area motels and hotels Monday afternoon reported persons who stayed over either because they could not get a flight out or because they could not travel north on the iced roads.

Some Flights Canceled

One hotel reported that a Continental Airlines crew was forced to spend an extra night in Lubbock when some of the airline's flights were cancelled, while another motel said a visitor found he could not get his flight out to Israel.

Airports in Abilene, San Angelo and Midland-Odessa were not officially closed Monday, but they did not handle any out-going or in-coming flights due to poor visibility and ice.

Lubbock broke several temperature records for December last year, including

City Schools To Re-Open Wednesday

LUBBOCK PUBLIC schools will resume classes Wednesday as scheduled in spite of the new year's icy roads and freezing temperatures.

"Classes will start at the regular time Wednesday," said Ed Irons, superintendent of Lubbock schools. "We can't foresee what the weather will do, so we have made no plans to revise bus schedules or delay classes. We'll just have to wait and see about the weather," he said.

Texas Tech students have another week of Christmas vacation before they start registering for classes Jan. 9 and 10.

Tech residence halls will open at 10 a.m. Jan. 8. The first day of classes is Jan. 11.

Lamesa, Paducah and Guthrie public schools were scheduled to open today, but road conditions caused school officials to postpone classes until Wednesday.

Idalou, Tahoka, and Plainview schools will resume classes today, although school officials said buses probably would be running late.

Slaton schools will begin today, but the buses will not run.

Levelland schools will begin one hour later than usual and buses will be running.

Brownfield, Littlefield, Wolforth, Shallowater, Post, and other area schools are scheduled to begin Wednesday. School officials said only severe weather could prevent the start of 1979 classes.

Anton schools are scheduled to open

New Zealand Forces Stage UFO Alert

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — The New Zealand air force put Skyhawk warplanes on standby alert Monday after a TV crew said it filmed unidentified flying objects and air controllers tracked strange blips on radar.

"I am not a UFO believer, but there was definitely something there," said Bill Startup, pilot of the plane carrying the TV crew. He said the large objects shone with a "very bright white light."

Quentin Fogarty, a reporter for a Melbourne, Australia, television station said his crew filmed the UFOs for seven minutes Saturday night from Startup's plane over Kaikoura, in the eastern region of New Zealand's South Island. Civil aviation authorities in Wellington, 70 miles away, said they recorded up to 10 unidentified radar readings about the same time.

Sightings Span 10 Days

"We now have recorded sightings by six pilots on three aircraft over 10 days and a host of radar sightings," said a Wellington air traffic controller who identified himself as A. Causer. "There is obviously some strange phenomenon and it needs to be investigated."

Skyhawk fighter-bombers will be deployed if radar at Wellington tracks any more unusual signals, said a spokesman for the New Zealand Defense Ministry. Fogarty, 32, had hired a four-engine turboprop plane to retrace a New Zealand Airline flight that reported seeing UFOs Dec. 21 over Cook Strait, the narrow channel that separates the two islands of New Zealand.

"Get Up Here Quick"

"We first saw the objects about 11:35 p.m., 10 minutes out of Wellington," he said. "I was doing a piece on camera inside the body of the plane and was saying 'Now we'll go upstairs to see if there's anything happening' when the pilot yelled 'Get up here quick!'"

"There were bright globules of light pulsating and expanding and lighting up the foreshore and town of Kaikoura," he said.

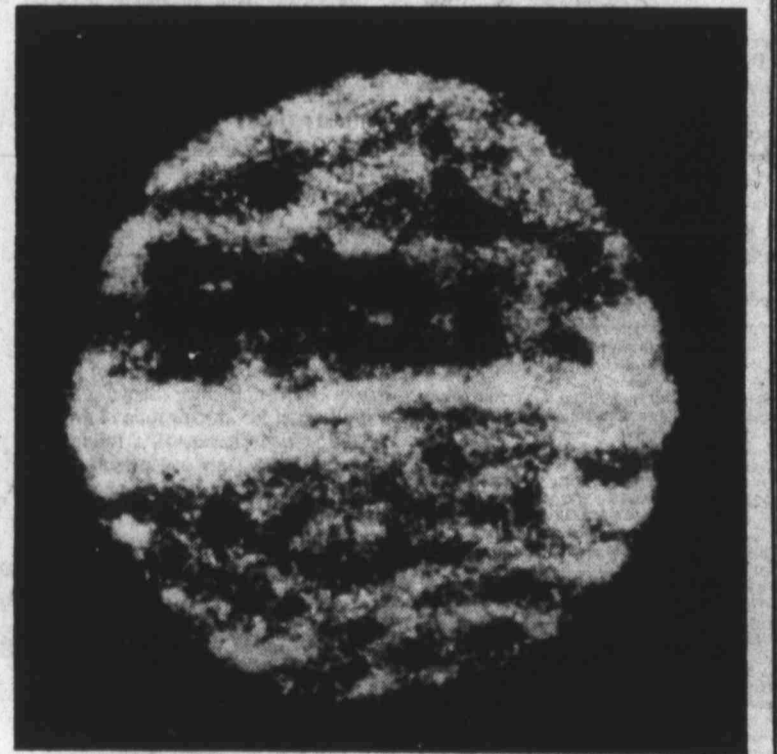

"We got frightened when Wellington radar control told us we had one on our tail. Then it was joined by four or five more. I thought once, maybe this is it. I was thinking of Valentin. I was scared stiff."

He was referring to Frederick Valentich, 20, pilot of a light plane that disappeared over Australia's southeast coast Oct. 21. Valentich had radioed that he was being followed by a large silver flying object.

One Object Saucer-Shaped

Fogarty said that as the objects came closer he noticed one was saucer-shaped with a dome on top and another was egg-shaped with white lights moving

Trial Observer Says 'Someone's Lying'

By MIKE COCHRAN
HOUSTON (AP) — Somebody's lying. That is obvious. It is the only clearcut conclusion after eight weeks of testimony in the murder conspiracy trial of Texas millionaire Cullen Davis.

The trial enters its 10th week and a new year Tuesday with Davis, 45, furnishing leery prosecutors his version of the bizarre summertime episode.

He says he was duped, then framed. He does not dispute the devastating discussions of multiple murder that led to his arrest.

But his interpretation of those discussions is diametrically opposed to the testimony provided jurors by FBI informant David McCrory, 40, his chief accuser.

The defense branded McCrory a "liar and a misfit and unworthy of belief under oath."

The state labeled Davis's story "ludicrous."

Whatever the merits of that story, it does offer an alternate explanation of the incriminating FBI recordings.

"Do you claim you're going to reduce Cullen Davis to a babbling hunk of rubble?" A reporter joked with chief prosecutor Tolly Wilson after the defendant's third day on the stand.

The pug-nosed prosecutor laughed at the absurdity.

If Davis is prone to temper tantrums, the state contends, he has concealed it superbly. His demeanor is cool and confident, his answers terse but direct, defense attorneys have remarked privately.

"He is a hell of a good witness as we knew he would be," said a member of the crack defense team headed by Houston lawyer Richard "Racehorse" Haynes.

If the jury does not believe Davis, it could send him to prison for life.

Despite some 60 witnesses, the essence of the case remains unchanged: It is Davis vs. McCrory and the tapes, with $25,000 and a silencer-equipped pistol as intriguing diversions.

McCrory's story:

On orders from Davis and with the FBI watching, he met his boss Aug. 18, showed him a pistol he purchased for him and promised to get it fitted with an illegal silencer.

"The man is here to put the judge away," McCrory said. His comments were picked up by an FBI recorder.

He and Davis discussed the contract killings of divorcee judge Joe Eidson, the defendant's estranged wife, Priscilla, and two accusing witnesses at Davis' 1977 murder trial.

"He may take a bunch of them off at once... I mean he may just waste the (expletive) out of a bunch of 'em," McCrory said.

"That suits the (expletive) out of me," Davis replied.

Again wired for sound McCrory met Davis two days later and said he showed him a posed photograph of the judge's "body."

"I got judge Eidson dead for you," McCrory said.

"Good," Davis replied.

McCrory put a pistol and silencer in the trunk of Davis' car and Davis handed him the alleged payoff for Eidson's "murder."

Minutes later, officers arrested the defendant.

The case appeared open and shut. But was it?

Davis' story:

The Fort Worth industrial czar neither liked or trusted McCrory, but gave him a job because he thought his one-time pool-shooting buddy would be useful in his divorce case.

A short time later, in June, McCrory told him Mrs. Davis was "negotiating" with "hit men." But McCrory said "Priscilla's people" would switch sides for more money.

Although skeptical, Davis agreed to go along with McCrory, hoping to convince the killers to testify against Mrs. Davis at the divorce trial.

On Aug. 10, Davis said, a man identifying himself as FBI agent James Acree telephoned him, told him McCrory was engaged in an extortion plot against him and to "play along."

He did not learn until later the caller was not Special Agent Acree.

Therefore, he said, when he met McCrory Aug. 11 he thought he was obeying FBI instructions on one hand and heading off his own murder on the other.

He said he knew McCrory was taping the conversations of Aug. 11, 18 and 20 but thought it was the "insurance" needed to convince the killers to switch allegiance.

"I considered all these conversations as not breaking the law," he testified. "Just talking about it, I had found out, was not breaking the law."

Furthermore he insisted, "I never intended to kill anyone."

Davis said he accepted the silencer because McCrory assured him the device was legal if registered.

That left only the money unexplained.

It was not payoff money at all, Davis said. It was $25,000 McCrory gave him July 13. He said McCrory told him he won the money gambling in Las Vegas and wanted Davis to hold it for safe keeping.

The reason for the Aug. 20 meeting was merely to return the money to McCrory, he said.

He said McCrory did not show him the Eidson photo and he had no reason to believe Eidson had been killed.

McCrory testified that Davis sent him to Las Vegas in late June to "launder" $50,000, and the $25,000 that surfaced in August presumably was residue from that trip.

"Davis has got an excuse for everything," prosecutor Jack Strickland said. But he said he doubted the jury would believe such a story.

"The jury will believe Cullen because he is telling the truth," a defense source insisted.

Somebody's lying.
The jury must decide who it is.

Bodies Linked To Possible Burglary Ring

CHADDS FORD, Pa. (AP) — Authorities say that autopsies today should determine whether the bodies of three men dug up in a wooded area are those of missing witnesses in a federal probe of an interstate burglary ring.

State Police Lt. Michael Gevitt disclosed the similarity between the bodies, which were discovered Saturday night, and the missing witnesses in the federal grand jury investigation.

Chester County District Attorney William Lamb said Sunday there is a strong likelihood the bodies are those of some of the witnesses.

The ring allegedly stole some $800,000 worth of farm equipment and cigarettes over a 10-year period in Maryland, Delaware and southeastern Pennsylvania.

Leslie Dale, 37, awaiting trial on theft and conspiracy charges, helped authorities locate the body of reputed informant Gary Wayne Crouch of Elkton, Crouch, whose body was discovered Nov. 30 in a remote wooded area of western Chester County, died of a bullet wound.

The alleged head of the ring is Bruce Johnston Sr., 39, of Elkton, Md. His 18-year-old son, James, and Duane Lincoln, 17, disappeared Aug. 15, the day before James Johnston was to have testified before the grand jury.

Brothers James Sampson, 24, and Wayne Sampson, 20, also have been missing since August. At the time of their disappearance, both had been indicted by the grand jury on charges of transporting stolen tractors and cigarettes.

Another of Johnston's sons, Bruce Jr., was seriously injured and his girlfriend, Robin Miller, 15, was killed in an August shooting attack that occurred after he had testified before the grand jury.

The young man, who reportedly told the grand jury he had assisted his father in several robberies, said he decided to testify because he believed his father had raped Miss Miller.

The senior Johnston and one of his brothers, David, are in custody on federal charges of obstruction of justice.

Armed Robbers Relieve Man Of $700 At Club

Police late Monday were looking for four men who took about $700 from a Lubbock man at gunpoint as he walked out of an eastside club earlier that day.

Bobby Joe Larry, 41, told officers that four black men approached him and one of the men stuck a small, black revolver in his stomach and demanded his money.

Reports show that Larry gave the men his wallet and that the robbers took the money and threw the wallet down before making their escape.

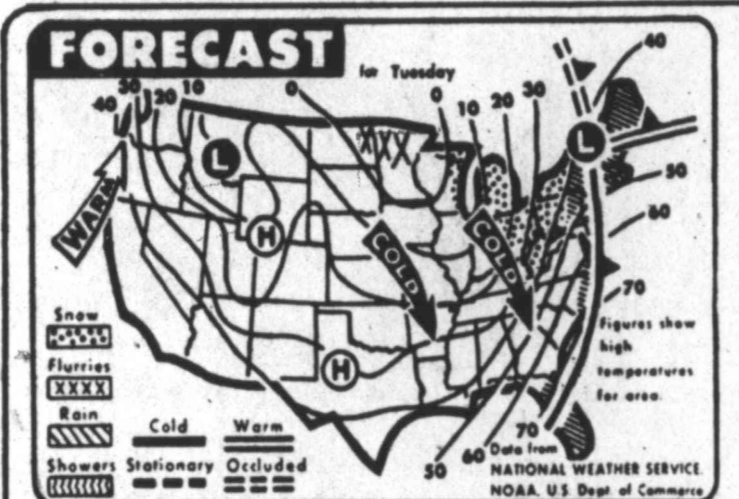

Although a layer of snow and ice coated the city Monday, it apparently failed to stop burglary and theft activity.

James Edward Brown of 2210 24th St. left the motor running in his jeep to warm it up about 1:30 a.m. Monday, but when he returned outside, he found that someone had driven off with the $10,250 vehicle.

Thieves carted off $1,000 worth of goods from Darden Wayne Pierce's home at 2201 Ninth St. sometime between 7 p.m. Sunday and 1 p.m. Monday. The stolen property included a black-and-white portable TV set, two guitars and numerous eight-track tapes.

Burglars netted a portable color TV set and a stereo system from Wanda Jackson's apartment at 2802 Juniper Ave. The break-in occurred sometime between 9:30 p.m. Sunday and 7:45 a.m. Monday, she told police.

Juan Leyva Garcia of 2006 Ave. K reported that burglars removed a $1,200 color console TV set from his home sometime between 6:30 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecasts snow for today in the Great Lakes region extending east into parts of New York and Pennsylvania. Rain is predicted along the East Coast in scattered areas running from Florida to the New England states. (AP Laserphoto)

Korean Dissident Describes Prison

TOKYO (AP) — South Korean opposition leader Kim Dae-jung, released last week after more than three years' imprisonment, said Monday the worst part was the last year, when he was kept in solitary confinement under constant surveillance.

Kim, 53, was jailed in 1975 for his part in issuing a manifesto demanding democracy.

In an interview with the Japanese newspaper Asahi, he said his room "was isolated from the outside world with a window of frosted glass. I never once saw the sky."

Kim, who almost defeated President Park Chung-hee in a 1971 presidential election, said he was not allowed to see lawyers for a month after his arrest, and family visits and reading materials were restricted.

High Schoolers Buy Shoes Of Garland

GOSHEN, Ohio (AP) — Students at Goshen High School who bought a pair of the late Judy Garland's shoes are trying to persuade her daughter Liza Minnelli that they're interested in more than publicity.

The students bid $375 for the red shoes in an auction staged in Beverly Hills, Calif. on Nov. 27 by the entertainer's third husband, Sid Luft. Miss Minnelli, a daughter by an earlier marriage, is trying to stop further sales.

"They wanted her to know, and Sid Luft, too, that their interest in something of Garland's had, for them, more importance than just to hoard it in some private collection," said Eldon Thomas, chairman of the school's music department.

Students in the marching band, chorus, drill team and music appreciation classes will start an annual Judy Garland award, he said. The award will go to the high school senior who plans a career in the performing arts and who potentially could "fill Judy Garland's shoes."

'ROCKY' FAN KNIFED

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dennis Seacock, 26, a San Rafael chemistry teacher, was fatally stabbed as he waited in line with four companions to see "The Rocky Horror Picture Show," police said. Booked for investigation of murder was Frederick Chavez, 37, a resident of a nearby hotel. Only one person out of hundreds waiting in the line about midnight Saturday actually reported seeing the knifing.

100% TAX DEDUCTION

Individual Retirement Account

The Individual Retirement Account is a 100% tax deduction that you should apply to your 1978 income tax return.

You may deposit up to 15% of your income, or $1,500.00, whichever is less. Every dollar you deposit is tax deductible. You don't have to pay income tax until you withdraw the funds, after you retire, when you're in a much lower tax bracket.

I.R.A. funds are FSLIC insured to $100,000.00. The account is available to anyone who is not already covered by a retirement program.

AN EDITORIAL:

Public Economy Enemy No. 1

THE HAZARD of self-inflicted wounds is manifest in the government's, ahem, battle against inflation.

Certain government spending, monetary and regulatory practices are widely recognized as inflationary forces, for example.

And they are being implemented on a daily basis even as Washington inveighs against wage and price actions in the private sector that don't fit into permissible government ranges.

Two more potential inflation fuelers ushered in the New Year:

- * Another hike in Social Security taxes automatically took effect this week—to be reflected in reduced paychecks that will create higher employer costs and build steam for higher wages; and
- * Simultaneously, the minimum wage took another leap forward, from $2.65 to $2.90, and it, too, will have a potential for pushing up inflation rates.

BOTH RAISES were backed by the Carter administration, which now lectures business and labor about meeting wage and price standards.

Whether the White House or Congress, which voted the legislation in 1977, would have opted differently considering the political and philosophical realities, is academic.

The fact remains that the two New Year's Day time bombs are not going to make the anti-inflation fight any easier to, you should pardon the expression, wage.

Postponement of one or both increases was discussed. But factors other than that of inflationary impact had to be considered.

The Social Security tax hikes are part of a plan to bail out the system by throwing more tax money at it.

The minimum wage boost obviously has its own potent supporters—including labor which has had some lean times legislatively and is not about to take another setback on top of common situs and labor law reform defeats with much grace.

MINIMUM WAGE increases, once seemingly sacrosanct, have run into controversy on two counts: inflation and jobs.

The jobs factor centers on the charge that high wage floors covering the young and the unskilled tend to price those people out of the job market.

In other words, the minimum wage fosters unemployment.

Social security taxes rank second only to individual income taxes as a source of revenue for the government.

The estimates are that annual Social Security payments for middle-income workers will triple over the next decade.

Already, the average SS tax accounts for more than 3 percent of total personal income.

Social Security taxes, the minimum wage. Two realities of a modern economy. And two more pressure points for an accelerating inflation that's fast become public domestic economy enemy No. 1.

AN EDITORIAL:

ZBA--More Than Just Initials

AS THE NEW YEAR begins, it is appropriate to sing the praises of a group of unsung heroes: the members of the City Zoning Board of Adjustment.

We haven't agreed with all of the ZBA's decisions by any means, but we have been pleasantly impressed by the way the citizen members of this quasi-judicial body have tended lately to protect the public interest.

That, after all, is what they are appointed to do. All too often, however, the ZBA historically has been swayed to bend the rules for the personal economic gain of those who for various reasons don't want to live within them.

IN ONE RECENT case, the ZBA ordered a developer a second time to meet setback requirements for a townhouse even though to comply will force him to cut off part of a garage he already had up.

In another case, it kept the teeth in the city's new sign and billboard regulations by refusing to waive the letter and spirit of the law to permit an oversized monstrosity on Loop 289.

In still another case, it bent enough to permit an oversized identification sign to go up temporarily because of competition from other nearby signs—but reminded everyone that all of the non-complying standards will have to come down by 1982.

And in yet another case, the ZBA stood its ground and refused to let a convenience store on Broadway add gasoline pumps out front. The store was built, with the City's blessing, over the protests of neighborhood residents and the ownership now says it has never shown a profit.

This would seem to indicate that protesting homeowners may have more acumen at times about where a store should be built than might heretofore have been suspected.

LUBBOCK WILL become a better place in which to live and do business if some of the zoning mistakes of the past are corrected and go uncorrected.

If the City Council will bear this in mind when appointing members to the City Planning and Zoning Commission and to the Zoning Board of Adjustment, all of us will benefit.

Service on such boards historically has been a thankless task. When we think they're doing a good job, though—as the ZBA has done more often than not lately—we want to remember to say "thank you."

M. STANTON EVANS:

Human Rights Revival Loses Convert Carter

WASHINGTON—Among the many casualties of our nation's change of policy toward China is President Carter's vaunted concern for "human rights."

By everybody's testimony, including some of its own, Communist China is the premier despotic government in the modern world—if not in human history. It appears the Peking regime has murdered outright or otherwise exterminated between 34 million and 63 million human beings.

Even the lowest of these figures, of course, would mean it has probably killed more people than the Soviet Union and Nazi Germany put together.

Yet President Carter, in announcing he was going to extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China and break the mutual security treaty with Taiwan, made no mention whatever of "human rights."

THERE WAS no suggestion that the Peking government had changed its totalitarian practices, or that we had demanded any concession on this point as the price of diplomatic favor.

There was only silence from an administration that has pressured anti-Communist Chile, Nicaragua and Brazil, and has actively worked against the government of Rhodesia, for alleged violations that pale to insignificance alongside the crimes of Peking.

Documentation of Chinese Communist violations of elementary rights may be found in a report entitled "The Human Cost of Communism in China," originally published by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee and recently re-issued by the Education and Research Institute.

THE AUTHOR of the report, Prof. Richard L. Walker of the University of South Carolina, draws on sources as diverse as the Communists' own statements, reports of the United Nations, and the researches of the AFL-CIO for his horrendous estimates.

Breaking the death toll down according to historical periods, he provides us with the following table: Casualties to Communism in China—range in estimates

1. First Civil War (1927-36): 250,000 to 500,000
2. Fighting during Sino-Japanese War (1937-45): 50,000 to 500,000
3. Second Civil War (1945-49): 1,250,000 to 1,250,000
4. Land reform prior to Liberation: 500,000 to 1,000,000
5. Political Liquidation Campaigns (1949-58): 15,000,000 to 30,000,000
6. Korean war: 500,000 to 1,234,000
7. The Great Leap Forward and the Communes: 1,000,000 to 2,000,000
8. Struggles with minority nationalities, including Tibet: 500,000 to 1,000,000
9. The Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution and its aftermath: 250,000 to 500,000
10. Deaths in forced labor camps and frontier development: 15,000,000 to 25,000,000

Total: 34,300,000 to 62,534,000

FROM THIS computation it can be observed that the bulk of the deaths inflicted by the Communists occurred after World War II and the internal struggle for power with the Nationalists.

In other words, the Peking Communists racked up their incredible record of brutality after they had ascended to power and had millions of helpless people in their grasp—much as their Cambodian proteges have done since 1975.

Despite all this, there is no evidence that the Carter regime used the desire of the Chinese Reds for recognition and increased trade to extract any agreement from them to ease the totalitarian despotism they have imposed on China.

That it doesn't have to be this way is shown not only by our "human rights" pressures on anti-Communists but by the Jackson-Vanik amendment conditioning trade with Moscow on freedom of emigration.

The Carter government's failure even to mention the subject in connection with Red China suggests the President's professed concern about this issue is a hollow sham.

ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK:

The Tax Revolt Lives

WASHINGTON—Unless there is an awakening to reality at the White House, President Carter is in danger of being bowled over for the second straight year by the unexpected advent of the tax revolt.

With the adjournment of Congress and end of the election campaign, the President and his advisers wrote off tax cut fever as an aberration happily departed.

In fact, lawmakers returning here Jan. 15 will have tax-reduction schemes in their hands and hearts, with the prospect of full-scale anti-tax rebellion if a recession is around the corner.

Inexperience might explain Carter's loss of control in the 1978 tax fight. But there is no excuse for being hit from the blind side so soon again.

While the President and his men congratulate themselves on the demise of what they consider the tax-cut hysteria, they actually face two threats as the new Congress convenes:

Threat No. 1: Carter's "wage insurance" scheme may well be converted inside the House Ways and Means Committee into a tax "indexing."

That is, the President's limited tax relief—compensation for inflation to workers whose unions forgo inflationary wage increases—would turn into general tax relief for "everybody" to offset inflation.

That is nothing more or less than a general tax reduction.

This proposal is privately pushed by Republican members of Ways and Means, but surely will pick up Democratic votes because of its wide popularity.

ONCE AGAIN, Carter will be in danger of opposing a measure demanded by the economically desperate middle class.

Threat No. 2: As soon as Ways and Means disposes of wage insurance, pressure will be exerted to suspend the excruciating schedule of Social Security payroll tax hikes beginning in 1979.

Rep. James Jones of Oklahoma, a rising Democratic power on the committee, is preparing just such a bill for early introduction.

Introduction of any Jones bill ought to sound warning buzzers at the White House. The Carter team ignored his tax reduction bill in 1978 to the President's later dismay, when it was passed intact by the House.

Actually, the Social Security tax suspension is only one of several administration-opposed "anti-inflation" proposals being drafted by Jones (lower minimum wage for youth, suspension of revenue sharing to the states, a spartan welfare reform). But it is the one with widest support.

MOREOVER, SCORES of congressmen will return to Washington carrying variations of the Nunn bill in their briefcases.

The proposal by Sen. Sam Nunn of Georgia, to cut federal income tax rates annually if there is an annual reduction in spending, had majority support in both houses but died in the session-end maneuvering.

Its attempted resurrection in the face of White House hostility is assured.

Finally, behind all this lies the specter of recession. Should unemployment push up toward 7 percent in 1979, as widely forecast, there will be a major congressional push for a quick tax cut to stimulate the economy.

It is one certainty of life on Capitol Hill.

Yet, with the conspicuous exception of Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, the consensus within the Carter administration is that Congress will react to recession with the discredited old medicine of public works spending.

"The tax revolt is just as dead as Kemp-Roth," one administration policymaker told us.

IN POST-MORTEM of the past year, administration officials actually suggest the President should have vetoed the tax cut and gone to the public for justification rather than signing a measure that he had little or no part in shaping.

Indeed, so anxious were the President's men to defeat the Republican Kemp-Roth tax reduction bill that they deluded themselves about the political reality of tax-cut fever.

Blumenthal knows better. While no advocate of an additional tax cut, he understands its solid political appeal and depth of support in Congress.

The secretary of the treasury got nowhere the last two years trying to educate the President about what was and was not possible in tax legislation.

Now he is trying once more to convince the White House that the tax revolt is not only alive and well but a menace to the Carter anti-inflation strategy.

IT IS WHY, I am sure, college athletes sign million-dollar contracts with one professional team, then jump to a club that offers two million.

It is why, perhaps, one college basketball player who had signed a $500,000-a-year pact with a pro club found it impossible to dispatch a few bucks to his mother, who was on relief. Obviously, a new Cadillac came first.

Seeing all this, it is small wonder that so many of our kids find no immorality in acquiring the drug habit and spending their spare time sassing their professors.

Their character suffers no more from association with most campus athletic directors than it would from exposure to, say, a Mafia hit man.

VIRGINIA PAYETTE:

Pay Per Tigress

IF YOU'RE PART of the group that blames juvenile crime, pot-puffing teen-agers, divorce and the disintegration of the family on working mothers, there's a book coming out that will open your eyes.

And, with any luck, your mind.

It shoots down the myth that women with full-time jobs can't be good parents. And it suggests that, since 58 percent of all American mothers do have jobs, society had better sit up and pay attention to their problems.

It's called "HELP," and it's written by Barbara Kaye Greenleaf with pediatrician Lewis A. Schaffer. They call it "a handbook for working mothers."

Right off, the first ticklish topic it tackles is guilt, which mothers with jobs feel a lot of, but which they shouldn't. (And where was this book back when I was juggling newspaper deadlines and nursing-on-demand?)

MRS. GREENLEAF, who's a working mother herself, quotes child experts and statistics that show children are not necessarily damaged when Mom goes off to punch a time clock.

They may even be better off than if she was one of those "real" mothers who stay home all day.

"When mothers are successfully and enthusiastically employed," she writes, "any changes reported by their families tend to be positive."

For openers, their divorce rate is no higher. Both husband and wife report fewer tensions and higher marital satisfaction than married couples where the women are full-time housewives.

And that extra money is always nice. Sometimes it even improves a marriage because it relieves the husband of a lot of financial pressure.

WORKING MOTHERS can be "real" despite their jobs. Stay-at-home moms spend six-plus hours a day on child care; employed mothers, four-plus.

But the quality of "attentive care" is the same, and a lot of working mothers report getting more enjoyment out of raising their children than women who have to stick around and listen to them all day long.

There's another plus here, a bonus that seems not to have crossed the minds of that 70 percent of Americans who tell pollsters they disapprove of career moms: Their children get along just fine.

Contrary to public opinion, psychiatric findings show that:

1. Mother "substitutes" do not replace mothers in a baby's affection.
2. Older children get as much affection and emotional support from working mothers as do those of traditional mothers.
3. GRADES, INTELLIGENCE scores and other school achievements are the same for both groups. So is their social adjustment and relationship with other kids their age. And so is their rate of delinquency.
4. A mother who's happy with her job usually raises happy children. (That goes for housewives who enjoy cooking, cleaning and car-pooling, too.)

The fact is, according to "HELP," millions of preteens and early teen-agers who are largely unsupervised after school (the so-called "latchkey children") lead lives that are no different from those who are supervised.

(The author fails, however, to be more specific on adolescent pregnancies, or to rebut some experts' charges that teen-agers with access to empty bedrooms tend to use them just the way you're afraid they might.)

ONE OF MRS. Greenleaf's more interesting theories is that the idea of working mothers is not new. They've been around since day one.

"Few mothers have ever had the luxury of sitting around watching their children grow," she says. "Throughout history, most mothers have been too busy tending crops, cooking, washing clothes or working in factories."

"But, though they did not devote themselves full-time to child-rearing, their children turned out to be, for the most part, well-adjusted members of their society."

Actually, she points out, working mothers in the old days were better off and under less emotional strain because they got a lot of support from their families and society in general.

MRS. GREENLEAF is not charmed by the way politicians, employers, educators, pediatricians and public opinion tend to look down on working moms. Let a woman trade in her broom for a briefcase and she's automatically headed for disaster. It's getting to be a crowded crisis zone.

In a recent magazine survey, the authors quote, three out of four women under 35 planned to combine home and jobs. And fewer than one in 10 planned to make homemaking her sole career.

"Unfortunately, society is slow to catch up with this obsessed with getting the ring out of the collar and the shine onto the floor."

The book is also full of handy hints on how to cope with everything from sick youngsters to convincing Junior he can get himself to basketball practice; from hiring household help to sneaky ways to get the kids to make their own beds.

NOW IF she'd just put in a few goodies for working grandmothers.

Like how to get peanut butter out of the typewriter; explain to the 8-year-old why the "column" she laboriously typed didn't make the newspapers, and how to cope with the second-generation guilt that three little girls can lay on you when you announce you can't bake cookies because you have to catch a jet for someplace.

L.M. BOYD:

...Pass It On

THAT MARK TWAIN was the first person to submit a typewritten novel—"The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," to be specific—to a publisher is widely known. Incidental to that is the fact that he kept his newfangled gadget, a Remington, a secret.

What was important was the content of the book, not the gimmick in getting it down on paper. He said he didn't want to fool around with testimonial talk about some idiotic apparatus.

The women with the best-looking hair keep it in that shape by cutting a quarter inch off the ends of it every two months. So says an anti-split-ends expert.

Soldiers in the American Revolution wore shoes, all right, but no shoelaces. Shoes weren't laced until 1790. They'd always been buckled.

Argentina-Chile Dispute Eyed

TERRITORY IN DISPUTE — This map shows some of the desolate islands that have been the source of dispute between Argentina and Chile for years. (AP Laserphoto Map)

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Pope John Paul II has sent a Vatican diplomat to South America to try to prevent war between military governments in Argentina and Chile over 10 desolate islands and dozens of islets at the tip of the continent.

Three of the islands are inhabited — by eight Chilean families and their sheep. But the century-old quarrel also involves 48,000 square miles of Atlantic Ocean off their shores, the rich fish resources and possible oil deposits in those waters, conflicting claims in Antarctica to the south, national pride in two nations that have never lost wars, and the threat of a wider conflict in South America.

Here in question and answer form is the background:

Question: What is the legal basis of the dispute?
Answer: An 1881 border treaty gave Chile all islands south of the Beagle Channel to Cape Horn. An 1893 protocol limited Chile's offshore claims to the Pacific and Argentina's to the Atlantic. Part of the dispute is over the length of the channel.

Q: What are the conflicting positions?
A: Chile says the Beagle Channel, named for the vessel of the 19th-century naturalist Charles Darwin, flows eastward into the Atlantic and that all 10 disputed islands lie directly south of it. They are Picton, Nueva, Lennox, Enderb., Barnevelt, Freycinet, Deceit and the eastern parts of Wollaston, Herschell and Hornos.

Argentina contends the channel does not flow directly north of these islands because it stops to the west of them at a place called Punta Navarro, near the Cape Horn Meridian. This north-south line, at 67 degrees latitude west, divides the two oceans and forms the western edge of Argentina's claim.

Q: How does Chile justify territorial claims in the Atlantic?

A: Chile says the two-oceans clause of the 1893 protocol applied only to the two countries' 2,600-mile border along the highest Andean peaks, and not to Tierra del Fuego where the oceans converge.

Q: What economic benefits are at stake?
A: Disputed sea and undersea rights 200 miles south and east of the islands include access to protein-rich krill and other fish. The zone lies just south of Argentina's continental shelf, which geologists believe holds the promise of oil production comparable to the North Sea. Tierra del Fuego's land wells produce 30,000 barrels of oil a day. But the sea is so rough that it will take years to perfect the know-how to fish or drill in it economically.

Q: What about Antarctica?
A: Argentina and Chile claim overlapping slices of Antarctica on the basis of their asserted continental boundaries. Along with the five other Antarctic claimant nations, they have agreed to hold off tapping the polar region's vast mineral wealth at least until 1991. Any joint decision on those claims after then will be affected by the current dispute.

Q: So why the urgency to settle it now?
A: A 1967 gunboat incident in the Beagle Channel prompted Chile to seek binding British arbitration over ownership of Picton, Nueva and Lennox, inhabited by Chilean shepherds since 1892. After several years of haggling, Argentina and Chile named international mediators who assisted the British crown in six years of study. The ruling made in May 1977 held that the islands were Chile's.

Stunned Argentine leaders, expecting a compromise, declared the award "null" last January and began negotiating and sabre-rattling in an effort to get Chile to give it up.

Q: Why?
A: The ruling upheld Chile's rationale for claiming the other islands, and Chile used the ruling to extend its claims 200 miles into the Atlantic. This was unacceptable to right-wing nationalists in Argentina's military administration, who claim Chile has expansionist designs and must be stopped.

Q: What are the chances of a war?
A: Both governments have sent their battle fleets to the Cape Horn region and bought new weapons. Chilean military leaders, outmanned and outgunned 2 to 1 but favored by international law, say they will not start a war. However, Argentina accused them in December of putting artillery on some disputed islands in an effort to provoke one.

The Argentines, apparently seeking to budge Chile from its legalistic position, have publicized their air-raid drills and massive troop movements to the border, and openly suggested armed occupation of the islands. Diplomats say Argentine corps commanders are pressing their president, Gen. Jorge Videla, to seek a military solution.

Q: What effect would a war have?
A: Even a limited conflict could seriously set back Argentina's and Chile's arduous but fragile economic recoveries. Although formally neutral, Peru and Bolivia may be tempted to attack Chile in the north if war erupted in the south. Both countries seek to recover territory lost to Chile in the War of the Pacific a century ago. The United States worries that the continent's first war since the Chaco War between Paraguay and Bolivia in 1933-35 would hurt its chance of getting Argentina and Brazil to accept international safeguards on their nuclear industries.

Q: What are the chances of a peaceful settlement?
A: Argentina's rejection of the British ruling led to more than six months of direct talks with Chile. They produced nothing more than an agreement to seek Vatican mediation. But Argentine officials fear the Vatican would support the British ruling unless they can get Chile to renounce at least its Atlantic Ocean claims before the mediation starts. Chile has refused. Antonio Cardinal Samore's current mission is to get the two Roman Catholic countries to agree on terms of mediation. Given strong nationalist sentiment on both sides, this could take a long time. But the chance of war appears diminished if the Vatican stays involved and can get the generals to demilitarize the frontier.

Weather Cancels Mummies Parade

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The threat of rain and high winds forced the postponement Monday of the Mummies Parade that traditionally winds down Broad Street and around City Hall on New Year's Day.

The 79th edition of the lavish $1.5 million cakewalk will be on Saturday, parade officials said. More than a million persons turn out annually to watch some 22,000 clowns, comics, fancies and 23 string bands demonstrate the distinctive "mummer's strut," which involves pumping of the elbows, high stepping and a backward tilt.

John Adams, second president, Federalist, was born in Braintree (Quincy), Mass., Oct. 30, 1735, the son of John Adams, a farmer and Susanna Boylston.

Negotiators Work To Avoid Shutdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators for the Washington Star and a union representing 175 printers tried to work out final details on a new contract Monday and avert a threatened permanent shutdown of the newspaper.

Union members unanimously ratified a tentative pact during a three-hour meeting, but a hitch developed over a provision requiring that 80 printers volunteer to quit and take a $40,000 "buyout" from their jobs.

Union sources said at least 65 persons had agreed to take that option. But it was uncertain whether management would agree to that number.

The dispute involving the printers has threatened to shut down the 128-year-old newspaper, leaving the nation's capital with only one daily newspaper, the Washington Post. The Star's parent company, Time Inc., has said it will no longer provide the paper money if new contracts are not reached with all unions involved.

The newspaper did not produce a Monday edition and publisher George W. Hoyt said future publication would depend on an agreement with the printers. All unions but the printers' union have reached an agreement.

Coleen Mueller, a Star spokeswoman, said editorial employees were at work in the Star's headquarters.

In court depositions, the financially troubled Star has claimed that it would have to file for bankruptcy if forced to publish without renegotiated contracts. George W. Hoyt, publisher and vice president, said Sunday that lawyers already were preparing bankruptcy papers in the event a settlement was not reached.

After Monday's ratification vote, union and management leaders met and together talked by telephone with U.S. District Judge Charles Richey. The judge was considering whether to re-impose a restraining order that would require the Star to publish.

The tentative agreement with the printers was worked out late Sunday night as Hoyt and union leaders bargained under the auspices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, with the newspaper making some concessions from earlier demands.

The Columbia Typographical Union No. 101 had held out longer than any of the other 19 unions, primarily because of opposition to the Star's plans to reduce the number of printers by 80 over the next six months and cut the number to 25 by 1984. Under the latest agreement, arrangements would be made to find jobs within the company for those cut after June, union sources said.

Wages have not been a key issue with the printers.

The Star was purchased last March by Time Inc., from Texas financier Joe L. Allbritton. The publishing company had said it would invest $60 million in an attempt to make the newspaper profitable.

Time executives told the Star's employees last November that the paper would close if they did not renegotiate their contracts and extend them to five years. They were not scheduled to expire until next September.

During bargaining, the newspaper management has claimed that after the first of the year Time no longer would provide money unless new contracts were signed.

Word Monitors Ban Phrases
 SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — If the Society of Unicorn Hunters gets its way, such familiar phrases as "energy crisis" and "Social Security" will soon be extinct.

In its annual New Year's Day proclamation, the language-monitoring group at Sault Ste. Marie State College banished those phrases and ordered restrictions on such others as "bottom line."

Prof. Peter Thomas, head Unicorn Hunter and poet-in-resident at the college, said the edicts of exile were based on mis-use, over-use or pompous use.

"Social Security" is neither social nor secure and "nobody knows what constitutes an energy crisis, what to do about it or whether it exists," he said.

The business term "bottom line," the line showing profit or loss on income statements, is now commonly applied to any final conclusion, he said, and was banished for all except accountants and financial vice presidents.

Three Crewmen Rescued From Leaking Ship

LA CORUNA, Spain (AP) — Spanish naval helicopter crews rescued three crewmen of a Greek oil tanker and searchers found the bodies of nine others Monday after the ship developed a leak off the northwest coast of Spain.

Oil was pouring into the Atlantic from three cracked holds.

Authorities said 25 other members of the crew of the Andros Patria, plus the wife and small son of the captain, were missing. All the crewmen were Greek.

The ship, carrying nearly 60 million gallons of Iranian crude oil, twice the amount previously reported, was in no immediate danger of sinking, authorities said. It developed the leak and caught fire Sunday night en route to Rotterdam.

The crew got into lifeboats in darkness when the leak and fire were discovered in heavy seas 31 miles offshore from La Coruna. Authorities said the lifeboats may have capsized.

They said the fire was out but that about 4.5 million gallons of oil had spilled and spread out over a three-mile area.

Tugboats and Spanish naval vessels were headed to help the stricken ship. Oil was said to be spilling from three cracked holds and a "black tide" was reported moving toward the Spanish coast.

Shellfish and other marine life disappeared from vast areas of La Coruna province after the Spanish tanker Urquiola went aground at the entrance of La Coruna port, spilling nearly 30 million gallons of crude oil on May 12, 1976. Damage was then officially estimated at $75 million.

Six years earlier the Norwegian tanker Polycorridor ran aground off Vigo, south of La Coruna, spilling crude oil that stained beaches.

Well-Behaved Crowd Enjoys Tournament Of Roses Parade

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — A crowd of 1.3 million jammed into Pasadena and about 100 times that many Americans sat before TV sets Monday watching the Tournament of Roses parade which police said went off as smoothly as any in its 90-year history.

The theme was "Our Wonderful World of Sports" and the top trophy went to the Order of the Sons of Italy in America for a float made of 4,000 roses, orchids and camellias depicting the 700-year-old gondola race in the Grand Canal of Venice.

With temperatures dropping to 38 but rising by parade time into the 50s with sunny skies, a good-natured crowd which had started camping on sidewalks last Thursday gave police in this community of 116,000 little trouble — mostly illegal parkers and drunks.

Sgt. Mike Vandergrift of the Pasadena police said helicopters estimated the crowd at 1,293,000.

"It's as big a crowd as we've ever had," Vandergrift said. "I can't say it's the biggest because there is just so much space to fit in all these people and in good weather there's no room left."

In keeping with the theme, athletes rode many of the floats and the 22 bands included those of the University of Michigan and the University of Southern California whose football teams met later in the Rose Bowl.

Among the stars were Olympic champions Bruce Jenner, Bob Mathias, Jesse Owens, Bill Toomey, Parry O'Brien, Wilma Rudolph and Donna DeVarona. Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda rode with Stan Musial on another float and young tennis star Tracy Austin was on another with skier Barbara Ann Cochran, figure skater Linda Fratianne and golfer Donna Caponi Young.

Grand Marshal was Lathrop K. Leishman who had worked with the Tournament of Roses Association for almost half a century. The Rose Queen was Catherine Mary Gilmour, 17, a La Canada, Calif., high school senior.

Eastman Kodak's "Leave Nothing But the Footprints" float took the grand prize for the most beautiful commercial trophy. The float showed two hikers relaxing in a floral wilderness as 22 animals — including a 12-foot fawn — looked on. Police said that by parade time they had arrested 44 persons for being drunk in public and had impounded 60 illegally parked cars. They said that was about half the number expected at a "normal" Rose Parade.

Mark White Begins Term As Attorney General

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Mark White promised Monday to try to be the kind of state official that his friends and supporters can be proud of.

"I dedicate my administration as attorney general to those fundamental principles — those simple virtues which undergird both our system of government and our religious beliefs," the Houston attorney told a crowded Senate chamber at his swearing-in ceremony.

The oath was administered by Baylor University President Abner McCall. White's wife, Linda Gayle, held the Bible and gave him a resounding kiss afterwards.

"I promise you an honest administration ... an open administration ... a fair administration ... a tough administration ... a compassionate administration," White said.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who brought White into political life by appointing him secretary of state, said he had created a record as "one of the most capable men in the history of state government."

Briscoe predicted he would make "the most effective state attorney general Texas has ever had."

Also present for the brief ceremony were Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Speaker Bill

Clayton, Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe Greenhill and other members of the court, plus a large number of present and past state officials.

White's ceremony was one of a few held New Year's Day. Others will be held Tuesday after the holiday festivities, and football bowl games, are over.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong was sworn in Monday for another four-year term in the small town of Liberty Hill, northwest of Austin. His long-time friend, Jim Burnett, a notary public and operator of a local store, administered the oath.

In another ceremony Monday, Austin attorney Sam Houston Clinton was sworn in as a new member of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals by Presiding Judge John F. Onion.

Latin America To Draw Increased U.S. Attention

By JUAN O. TAMAYO

United Press International
Latin America, long relegated to the backwaters of U.S. diplomacy, will be the focus of much American interest in 1979 with a Puerto Rican drive for statehood, the transfer of the Panama Canal and the possible ouster of a long-time ally in Nicaragua.

Mexico could become one of the world's oil-rich nations, Chile may be crippled by an AFL-CIO-sponsored economic boycott and the military rulers of Brazil, Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador have vowed to move toward civilian regimes.

An increasingly pitched and sometimes violent debate already has started in Puerto Rico over whether the Caribbean island should become the 51st state, go independent or retain its present status as a U.S. Commonwealth.

All factions are jockeying for position for the 1980 gubernatorial election, the winner of which would have an influential voice in a planned 1981 plebiscite on the statehood issue.

Radical supporters of independence, most of them leftists, have been staging a campaign of regular bombings, some kidnappings and even assassinations that threaten to spill into the U.S. mainland as the dispute heats up.

The controversial Panama Canal treaties will begin taking effect Oct. 1, when U.S. rule of the Canal Zone will end and Panama will get jurisdiction of its civil operations such as hospitals, transportation and retail shops.

The zone's police and customs offices will be phased out over the next 30 months, though the actual takeover of operations of the strategic waterway is not scheduled until New Year's Day of the year 2000.

President Carter will pay a visit in mid-February to Mexico, the southern neighbor and potentially crucial U.S. ally because of its 237 billion barrels of probable and potential oil reserves, which if proven could put it ahead of Saudi Arabia as the world's largest oil nation.

By the end of 1979 Mexico expects to be exporting nearly a million barrels of oil a day, five times the 1977 rate. Mexico could keep up that pace — again, if its reserves are proven — for nearly 650 years. Carter also will take up the problem of the hundreds of thousands of work-hungry migrants who each year sneak into the United States — a growing source of complaints that they flood the U.S. job market and prevent Americans from getting jobs, and pay no federal taxes but require heavy U.S. spending on their health, education and welfare.

Another oil boom was expected in Venezuela, where populist President-elect Luis Herrera has vowed to speed the nation's development with the extra $800 million it will get from the 14.5 percent oil price increase adopted by OPEC Dec. 17.

Herrera also has said Venezuela, one of the strongest democracies in Latin America, will remain a solid partner in Carter's human rights campaign, heavily supported by outgoing President Carlos Andres Perez.

The predictions of economic booms in Mexico and Caracas were in sharp contrast with Brazil, where experts are forecasting a recession in 1979 and bemoaning the death of the "economic miracle" that tripled the gross national product from 1963 to 1977.

A brighter future looms on the political front, where President-designate Joao Baptista Figueiredo has promised to put Brazil on the road to the first civilian government since the military ousted President Joao Goulart in 1964.

One nation that threatens to embroil the United States in an embarrassing situation is Nicaragua, where Washington has been leaning heavily on its long-time ally President Anastasio Somoza to end 11 months of bloody fighting.

If the U.S. efforts fail through Somoza opponents including the leftist Sandinista guerrillas may blame Washington for the failure and even ask it to help them oust the West Point-educated president.

Somoza's downfall could fire up guerrillas fighting other harsh Central American regimes, especially in El Salvador, where leftist rebels have threatened a wave of kidnappings of American, European and Asian businessmen.

Chile faced three critical problems, the most serious being a long-simmering territorial dispute with Argentina that sparked deep fears of war and much military maneuvering by both sides.

Relations with Washington could be affected by U.S. efforts to extradite three officers of the DINA secret police implicated in the 1976 killing in Washington of former Chilean Foreign Minister Orlando Letelier.

And a confederation of labor unions in the western hemisphere in November approved an AFL-CIO-proposed shipping boycott of Chile to protest the military regime's denial of union rights to Chilean workers.

Argentina's military rulers spent 1978 struggling to bring some measure of stability to an economy that saw inflation soar to 160 percent — the highest of any nation in the world.

Many political analysts say the territorial and economic turbulence may persuade the junta to begin opening the government to civilian participation in 1979 for the first time since the 1976 ouster of President Isabel Peron.

Even brighter prospects loomed in military-ruled Peru and Bolivia, where both regimes were moving toward elections for civilian governments in 1979 despite some peripatetic snag in La Paz.

The July presidential elections were nullified because of massive fraud.

More Cleveland Problems Loom

CLEVELAND (UPI) — It will be back to crisis as usual in debt-ridden Cleveland Tuesday with Mayor Dennis Kucinich prepared to defy the Ohio attorney general's office over an employee pension fund payment of almost $5 million.

Finance Director Joseph Tegreene said the city could not pay on time because of a restricted cash flow situation. But a spokesman for the attorney general's office said it would insist on prompt payment.

Cleveland missed a $2.7 million payment to the Police and Firemen's Disability Pension Fund on Dec. 15, the same day it defaulted on $15.5 million worth of short-term bank notes. The pension fund board placed a lien on some city tax funds to cover the missed payment, tying up city finances.

The new pension fund payment includes some $2.7 million in safety forces contributions and $2.1 million due the Public Employee Retirement System by Tuesday. The city will owe $240,000 in penalties unless the payments are received in Columbus on time.

"We're not going to pay on time," Tegreene said during the weekend. "Our cash flow won't allow it. It was a choice between making our payrolls or pension payments."

Tegreene said the city might be able to pay later in January.

The attorney general's office could place additional liens on city tax funds, including real estate taxes, after Jan. 31, until the entire amount is paid.

"We have to take a hard line to see that pension payments aren't deferred," said Donald Antrim, of the attorney general's office. "The law is very clear. We believe it is our fiduciary responsibility to members of the (pension) fund to see that full and complete payments are made."

Last week Kucinich said 400 city workers would be laid off early in the new year unless City Council agreed to sell $5 million in city property to the Police and Firemen's Disability Pension Fund board dropped its lien on city tax funds.

The second avenue appeared to be blocked because Antrim said the attorney general's office was prepared to go to court to stop any effort to lift the lien.

Kucinich initially announced plans to lay off 2,000 municipal employees Tuesday. He canceled most of the layoffs last Thursday after the Cleveland Trust Co. announced it would not take immediate action to collect its $5 million worth of short-term city notes that came due Dec. 15.

Gacy, Other Deaths Link Investigated

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police in several states Monday were reported investigating whether accused mass murderer John Wayne Gacy, with 29 bodies already linked to him, was involved in similar unsolved sex slayings in their jurisdictions.

"What's happening is that departments with unsolved homicides are trying to clear them up," Sgt. Howard Anderson of the Cook County Sheriff's Police said Monday. "What we're trying to do is to see if he (Gacy) was in the area, or conversely if he was not through his work records or whatever."

"For example, a kid in Colorado disappeared several years ago and it wasn't a runaway situation. It's just a shot in the dark."

Police in Indiana and Wisconsin as well as in downstate Illinois said they are interested in checking out Gacy's movements during the past few years.

Sheriff's police in Kenosha County, Wis., said they want to question Gacy, 36, about the murder of Carl Galbraith. The 13-year-old boy was sexually molested before being stabbed 13 times near Twin Lakes, Wis., a year ago last month.

Investigators said they believe Gacy, a self-employed contractor, was doing work on a restaurant in the area at the time of young Galbraith's death.

Investigators planned to return to Gacy's home in an unincorporated area near suburban Norridge Tuesday to resume their search for more bodies. Twenty-six decomposed bodies have been recovered from shallow graves beneath the crawlspace in Gacy's one-story bungalow.

Sheriff's police Chief Edmund Dobbs said investigators believe they will not find any more bodies there, but added he is still not satisfied the remains of all victims on Gacy's property have been found. One body was found buried beneath the concrete floor of his garage and two other bodies were recovered from the Des Plaines River. Police said Gacy has admitted to disposing of four or five bodies in the river.

The 29 bodies linked to the Democratic precinct captain and sometimes clown for neighborhood children is the largest number of bodies traced to one person in the nation's history. He is suspected of slaying up to 32 boys and young men.

Medical examiners have identified three of the victims. The most recent was that of James Mazara, 20, of Elmwood, who has been missing since last month. His body was pulled Thursday from the Des Plaines River and identified through fingerprints in Will County.

The others were John Butkovich, 18, of Chicago, who disappeared about three years ago, and Frank W. Landingin, whose body also was pulled from the Des Plaines in November and traced to Gacy last week. The twice-divorced Gacy has been charged with the murder of Robert Piest, 15, whose body has not been found. Manacled with leather straps, Gacy is held in the corrections department's Cermak Memorial Hospital.

Authorities say Gacy is believed to have lured some potential victims into his house on the pretense of giving them a job, and others for sexual purposes.

Kucinich said the 400 layoffs still were "unavoidable" and his administration would restudy the situation and announce its decision Jan. 5.

The whole financial situation could come to a head Feb. 27. Clevelanders will then vote on whether to raise the city income tax by a half-percent and whether to sell the debt-ridden Municipal Light Plant System to ease the city's financial pains.

Cleveland Trust and five other banks holding short-term notes have indicated they will wait until the vote to decide whether to roll over the notes or seek payment through the courts.

JOB OPENINGS DECLINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — There were 550,000 permanent full-time jobs available through Employment Service Job Banks across the nation during November, the Labor Department has reported. This is a decrease of 8.5 percent from October's total, and is the third straight monthly decline in the number of job openings recorded.

The arrest in Jackson of Rudy Bladell, 45, a resident of Elkhart, Ind., was reported by Elkhart police. Police in Jackson, however, refused to confirm or deny that such an arrest had been made. Elkhart is about 75 miles southwest of Jackson.

Bladell had served a prison term for a 1971 shooting of a railroad worker in Elkhart, said David Pennington, a spokesman for the Elkhart police.

Pennington said Bladell was picked up a mile from the Amtrak station in Jackson at 9 a.m., about 14½ hours after the slayings. Pennington said he was taken to jail.

Pennington said that following Monday night's shootings, railroad police in Elkhart alerted Jackson officers to look for Bladell.

Elkhart police said Bladell had once worked for a railroad, but could not immediately say which one or how or when he left the job.

Bladell served four years in prison for aggravated assault and battery in the shooting of John Sayne of New Buffalo, Mich., in the Conrail yards at Elkhart in 1971.

He was questioned and released in two other fatal railroad shootings and also was questioned in connection with a runaway train incident, Pennington said.

Killed in the Sunday's night shootings were William Gulak, 30, a freight conductor; Charles Lee Burton, 22, a flagman; and Robert Blake, 42, whose job was not immediately known.

Gulak and Burton had brought a train to the Jackson yards and were waiting to take the 7:40 p.m. Chicago-Detroit train home, according to a third member of the freight crew, Gregory McGowan, 27, of Detroit. McGowan said he left them at the crew room down the trackside platform from the passenger waiting room to get something to eat.

Without anyone seeing anything amiss, Gulak was shot in the back of the head as he sat at a desk and Blake was shot in the face as he sat nearby. Burton was shot in the temple on the platform just outside the door.

Each was hit with a slug — normally used when shooting deer — from a 12-gauge shotgun.

Burton lived in Michigan Center, a Jackson suburb; Gulak in Lincoln Park near Detroit and Blake in Southgate near Detroit.

Ex-Rail Worker Jailed In Killings

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — A former railroad employee was arrested Monday in the shotgun killings of three Conrail employees 100 feet from a crowded passenger waiting room, authorities said. Police said the man had once gone to prison for shooting another railroad worker.

The arrest in Jackson of Rudy Bladell, 45, a resident of Elkhart, Ind., was reported by Elkhart police. Police in Jackson, however, refused to confirm or deny that such an arrest had been made. Elkhart is about 75 miles southwest of Jackson.

Burton lived in Michigan Center, a Jackson suburb; Gulak in Lincoln Park near Detroit and Blake in Southgate near Detroit.

Thomas Tucker, 50, of Pinckney, waiting for his daughter and son-in-law to arrive on the train from Chicago, said he saw a man lying on the platform.

"I never went inside; I just went down to see if I could help," Tucker said shortly afterward. "Two of them weren't moving. One of them was just gasping with blood all over his chest."

Release Of Political Prisoners Indicates Castro's Confidence

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) — Cuban President Fidel Castro Monday celebrated his 20th year in power so confident that his Marxist revolution has succeeded that he is releasing thousands of his imprisoned foes.

Castro was delivering a key speech in the evening to the National Assembly, the Cuban version of parliament, to review his two decades of rule over the Caribbean island.

The theme of Castro's speech was expected to closely follow the rousing exhortation broadcast by a Havana television station as the stroke of midnight ushered in the new year.

"The revolution is solid," the government announcer said. "Our country is advancing with sure feet. The flags of Marxism-Leninism will fly forever over our land."

Cuba watchers believe it was Castro's conviction that his revolution is here to stay that led him to promise to release some 3,200 political prisoners at the rate of 400 per month.

In an oblique reference to Havana's controversial military role in Ethiopia and Angola, the televised message also sent greetings to Cuban troops "who are fulfilling their international duties in other lands," as well as those at home.

The message came in the middle of a televised four-hour dance contest that provided the music for most of the thousands of small but lively and tipsy private parties held to ring in the new year.

boasts "to Fidel" and "to the new year" were drowned with Bulgarian champagne and fiery Cuban rum before the merry-makers began singing the Cuban national anthem.

The winning couple at the dance contest — who shimmed to traditional Afro-Cuban rhythms as well as heavy doses of American disco sounds made popular by Florida radio stations only 90 miles away — got a one-week vacation in East Germany.

Castro was saving until today the biggest celebration of his overthrow of dictator Fulgencio Batista on Jan. 1, 1959, and the establishment of the first Marxist government in Latin America.

The 52-year-old president was to review a parade by thousands of Cuban troops and their sophisticated Soviet weaponry, including Soviet-built MIG-23 jetfighters.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Energy has ignored solar energy in its campaign to reduce America's reliance on oil and gas, two lobby groups charged Monday.

Both Solar Lobby and Energy Action attacked the DOE for excluding from its new "energy clock" any mention of solar power. The recently unveiled clock shows the amount of oil, coal, natural gas and uranium consumed in the United States in 1978.

"It's outrageous that the Energy Department should ignore what will probably be our fastest growing energy resource," said Joan Shorey of Solar Lobby.

She said solar energy already accounted for more than 4 percent of the energy used. That is "more than is now contributed by nuclear power," she said.

The groups said they wanted to add a column to the clock "showing that the United States has depleted none of the sun's energy this year, but has gained 4.1 percent of its energy from solar resources."

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Victor Mollo reports this as his unluckiest hand. The game was rubber bridge and all except Victor were bad players.

There is a reasonable explanation for the bidding. South did not hear the opening heart bid and thought his partner had opened two clubs.

In any event Victor opened the king of hearts. The ace was played from dummy and East dropped the 10 to show a doubleton. He always gave count.

He also gave South his grand slam when he dropped that 10. He had caught his partner in a three-suit progressive squeeze.

After recovering from the shock of seeing the dummy, South came to his hand with a diamond and at that point in the play decided to try the spade finesse. South didn't know anything about squeezes.

So South returned to dummy, led a spade and East (a stickler for rules) told South that he had to play a spade from his own hand. South had lost the opportunity to finesse and be set. He had to play his ace.

Then he ran the rest of the diamonds and Victor, who had to hang on to three clubs, dropped his last heart. South knew his nine was good. He cashed it to squeeze Victor out of the king of spades.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am a long-time social worker in Ohio who has counseled wayward girls for several years. I have become increasingly annoyed at the manner in which out-of-wedlock pregnancy is handled by the media. And you, Ann Landers, are no better than the rest. Recently I was shocked by your statement, "Unless a boy uses chloroform or a lead pipe, a girl is responsible for whatever happens to her."

These unfortunate girls are victims of something far more dangerous than chloroform or a lead pipe. Empty promises and sweet talk are the most effective tools of destruction. You should be advising parents to teach their young sons that girls are not put on earth to give males pleasure and then be cast aside when something goes wrong. Mothers and fathers should teach their sons at an early age that they are responsible for the safety and well-being of the girls with whom they keep company.

After that "lead pipe" column I phoned the circulation department of the Cleveland Press and cancelled my subscription to the paper. — Former Reader

Dear Former: Since you've cancelled your subscription to the paper I hope someone will show you my reply.

Of course a decent boy assumes responsibility for his girl. But, unfortunately, not all boys are decent. Furthermore, out-of-wedlock pregnancies involve more than decency. Alcohol and drugs, permissive parents, ignorance about contraceptives, provocative movies, unchaperoned parties, skinny-dipping — these are all factors that overload the circuits.

Furthermore, it should come as no surprise to you that most 15-, 16- and 17-year-old boys are not thinking about marriage. They are thinking about sex. The juices are flowing, they are preoccupied with their manhood and trying every which way to score.

Since girls get pregnant, I tell them repeatedly it's THEIR responsibility to establish the ground rules, call the signals — and hold that line.

Dear Ann: Settle a family fight, please. It's been just terrible. My husband and I recently visited our son and his wife in another city.

Our daughter-in-law invited her folks for dinner. I became very upset when her mother said, "Son, please pass the potatoes" . . . and then, "Son, when her mother said, "Son, please pass the potatoes" . . . and then, "Son, what do you think of this?" and, "Son, what do you think of that?"

Finally I said, "His name is Charles. He is not your son. Please stop calling him that."

He gave me a very odd look. My husband turned white as a sheet. Our daughter-in-law broke into tears. Her parents sat there frozen. A few unpleasant remarks were exchanged and they left in a huff.

All the way home my husband gave me hell. I still think I was right. I'll bet if you'd take a poll of your readers you'd find a great many people would be on my side. — Mrs. C.S. Of Philadelphia

Dear Mrs. C.S.: Sorry, Buttercup, you lose me on this one. I think it's the warm relationship instead of being so possessive and resentful. I doubt you're the type who's capable of apologizing, but that woman sure has an apology coming.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." ## Weddings

CAMMACK—YATES

Dana Lisette Cammack and Mark Randolph Yates were married Wednesday in a 2 p.m. ceremony in Melonie Park Baptist Church. The Rev. Jimmy Hardy officiated.

Clip 'n' Cook

HOT ORANGE SOUFFLE

5 egg yolks
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup sugar
2 tsp. grated orange rind
¼ cup thawed frozen concentrated orange juice, undiluted
5 egg whites
Rind of one orange, cut into slivers
2 tsp. sugar
¼ cup water
In a small bowl beat egg yolk until thick and lemon colored. (Use medium size eggs.) Beat in salt. Gradually beat in sugar, two tablespoons at a time until mixture is thick and creamy. Fold in orange rind and orange juice. In a large bowl beat egg whites until they hold their shape. Fold in orange mixture. Pour into a greased 1½-quart oven-proof casserole. Place casserole in a pan of hot water, one inch deep. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes or until firm to the touch. While souffle is baking, combine orange rind, sugar and water. Boil for three to four minutes or until rind is translucent. Cool. Serve souffle topped with well drained slivered orange rind. Keep the guests waiting for this souffle, but never keep this souffle waiting for the guests. Serves 4 to 6.

SALT STAINS

To remove salt stains from shoes and galoshes, apply a solution of half water and half vinegar. Sponge on, and the stains disappear.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John R. Cammack and Dr. and Mrs. Loren K. Yates.

Honor attendants were Mrs. David Herbert and Dr. Loren K. Yates, father of the bridegroom.

The bride attended Tarleton State University. The bridegroom attends Texas Tech University.

After a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N.M., the couple will live in Lubbock.

SANDERS—SCOTT

ABERNATHY (Special) — Shelly Sanders and Robert Scott were married Monday in a noon ceremony in First Baptist Church. The Rev. Jackie Newton officiated.

Honor attendants were Mary Pierce of New Orleans, La., aunt of the bride, and Doug Henderson.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sanders of Lake Charles, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Scott.

The bride was graduated from Clinton High School. The bridegroom was graduated from Abernathy High School and attends Tarleton State University.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will live in Stephenville.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

As it's nearing the time of the year for our new calendars, I have a suggestion for those who are a little forgetful.

Make a list of all birthdays and anniversaries which you want to remember for the year and color that particular date on the calendar with a crayon.

I use orange for anniversaries and blue for birthdays and write the name of the person on the date.

Now, by just glancing at the calendar on the first of each month, I know what cards to buy. With eight children, seven in-laws, 18 grandchildren and one great-grandson, I needed a system! — Granny

You came up with a goody, Granny! Those colored squares on the calendar really jump out at you and prod one's memory. And who among us couldn't use that at times. Hugs — Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I have a six-hook mug tree on which I hang tiny pots which contain plants in the baby stage, such as a violet leaf or a small cutting of some plant.

It is very decorative and keeps all new plants together.

I am an African violet lover and am always rooting new leaves so the mug tree comes into use constantly. — Mrs. E. Kruser

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:

Does everyone have a problem like mine of having an item around that, just when you seem to need it the most, is gone — nowhere to be found?

Sticky tape's the elusive item 'round here. Oh, the things it has caused me to do. Like trying to wrap a package with string, or a gift with white household glue.

I've found a solution that's sure to work out. Just look at the logic behind it. I'll tape my sticky tape to the top of my desk! That is, if I ever can find it. — Linda You're a honeybunch, Linda, and clever besides.

I did find my tape — now if I can just find the top of my desk... — Heloise

HINTS FROM HIM

DEAR HELOISE:

This morning, while mixing a pitcher of frozen orange juice, I discovered a terrific time saver.

It is often hard to get all the frozen concentrate to dissolve and as I couldn't find the strainer-type spoon, I decided to use the potato masher.

In no time at all, the juice was mixed, with no chunks of concentrate left undissolved. — Bruce

DEAR HELOISE:

When you have to remove the flash cube from your camera and have one or two unused flashes, place a small piece of masking tape on the used sides.

You can tell at a glance which flashes are left. No more fumbling or ruined pictures! — Mrs. Donna George

DEAR HELOISE:

For anyone without an electric blanket who must sometimes get out of bed during the night, keep this in mind:

When you get out of the bed, don't just throw the covers back while you're gone to tend the baby or something. Instead, pull those covers right up to the pillow — just as if you were going to make the bed.

With the covers pulled up this way, you can be gone several minutes and your bed will retain some of the warmth from your body. It's a lot better than going back to a chilly bed.

The moral is, don't waste heat, even when it's your own! — Ruth Renkel

DEAR HELOISE:

Instead of buying undershirts for children, put their short-sleeved (or sleeveless) summer shirts under a long-sleeved shirt or sweatshirt.

The short-sleevers might be too small by the next warm season anyway, and even if they're not, they will not be damaged.

They are not exposed to stains and all that dirt, like they would be if worn on top.

Children will not fuss as much for having to wear their short-sleeves as they do when the ugly undershirts are forced on them. — Sherry Snow

THIS COLUMN is written for you...the homemaker.

If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise, 235 E. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10017. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Tune In Tomorrow

By JON-MICHAEL REED
NEW YORK — Whatever one's opinion of the fact, it's undeniable that soap opera is one of the few original art forms that America has produced. And the art of soaps has spread around the globe. One of the most popular TV programs in England is "Crossroads," which has been airing for more than 12 years and is an unabashedly similar show to "Search For Tomorrow," the U.S.'s longest-running serial. "Crossroads" is the name of a boarding house operated by a noble and kind-hearted heroine, much as "SFT's" Jo Vincente operated a motel in the '50s and is currently the owner of a lodge. Despite the use of regional dialects on "Crossroads," a survey of the show's stories over the years bears an uncanny resemblance to "Search's" tales. Serials are big business south of the border, with such staples as "Rafaela" garnering larger shares of audience than practically any other program throughout South America. Here in the States, TV watchers may have noticed that Spanish-language soaps form a large bulk of programming on cable channels. Soaps are also popular in Japan and West Germany. But outside the U.S., perhaps no other country has such a fervent soap opera following as in Australia. The Aussies import a half-dozen of the American-produced serials, whose popularity has led to several locally-produced soaps. Several years ago, the rage was a program entitled "96," which centered around the residents of a housing complex with such problems as homosexuality, infidelity, suicide, murder, and every other standing soap theme. Recently, the most-watched TV programs Down Under included two soaps, "The Young Doctors" and "The Restless Years." Although the titles sound similar to American counterparts, Reg Watson, who produces, directs, and occasionally scripts episodes of both shows for the Grundy Organization, claims that Aussie soap versions are decidedly different from the Yankee shows. Watson served in the same production capacities for Britain's "Crossroads" before emigrating to Australia to helm the year-old soaps. "I don't know a great deal about American soaps," says Watson, "but we try to make as little use as possible of the American penchant for way-out plot contrivances such as repeated amnesia. I do believe we inject more humor into our shows than American serials do. And we make far more use of location shootings, although I understand that your soaps are beginning to go out of the studio more often. In fact, "Crossroads" was filmed all over England and the continent. "Our scheduling is much different as well," Watson continued. "Young Doctors" is aired five nights a week, but in the early evening, as most soaps in other countries are. "Restless Years" is only seen two nights each week for an hour. "Doctors" is the country's number one TV show and rates higher than such American TV programs as "Starsky & Hutch" and specials such as "Holocaust." But the major difference is probably the fact that our subplots endure for only several weeks. There are no month-long or years-long dragged-out stories." Watson will concede that "Restless Years" began in much the same vein as America's "The Young and the Restless," since it focuses on the lives of college-aged, attractive characters who are seeking "to find themselves in a confusing world." But the producer also mentioned that the opening segment of "The Young Doctors" featured an intern seducing a nurse on an operating table. "I think we're able to be more graphic than you folks," Watson concluded with a wink and a suggestion that it may be time for America to begin importing some of Australia's serial products, if audiences are mature enough to handle the unpurtanical depiction of soap life Down Under, that is. Tune in tomorrow to see examples of American audience's tastes. SHORT TAKES: COURTNEY SHERMAN (Kathy Phillips on "Search For Tomorrow") decided not to renew her contract with the show. It wasn't an unexpected decision. Courtney's real-life husband, Peter Simon, had abandoned his role of Kathy's husband, Scott, last summer to pursue theatrical career goals. But Courtney's exit meant there was nowhere in the storyline for the current Scott, Peter Ratray, and their son Eric, played by Chris Lowe. So the whole family moved out of town just before Xmas. ANOTHER "SEARCH" departee is Lisa Buck, whose character, Kylie Haldiday, decided to move to New York to accept an acting job. Lisa's hoping the same thing will happen to her. LOOK FOR John Reilly (ex-Dan Stewart on "As the World Turns") to costar with Lindsay Wagner in a CBS-TV movie in early January. Tune in tomorrow to see how the current Dan is faring in his marriage. (Send your questions about soap operas to "Tune In Tomorrow," 230 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017. Questions cannot be answered personally but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.) (© 1978 United Feature Syndicate)

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

BY DR. PAUL E. RUBLE

Dear Dr. Ruble: I am writing for a relative who has been on cortisone for more than 20 years. She is told she cannot stop taking it. What would happen if she did? — Mrs. L.J.

You tell me very little about your relative, so I can only comment generally about cortisone and its longterm use. If she stopped taking it abruptly after all this time she would face the possibility of what is called an "adrenal crisis," which is a serious matter, indeed. If need be, a slow tapering off of the dosage might avoid this. A doctor should monitor the procedure. Cortisone has the same properties as the hormones we produce naturally in the cortex (surface layers) of our adrenal glands, which are tiny structures lying just above the kidneys. One effect of longterm cortisone use, for whatever purpose, may be a shrinking (atrophy) of the adrenal glands. In this state, there is a dramatic lack of gland function, causing weakness, low blood pressure, and chemical changes in the blood. These are the very symptoms of Addison's disease, which is caused by malfunctioning of the adrenals. Not surprisingly, cortisone is then used to make up for the hormone lack in Addison's disease.

Your relative may have to continue her cortisone-for-life. She certainly should have her situation clearly explained by her doctor.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I lose lots of hair on my scalp in the middle of summer, but by winter it grows back. What is the reason for this? — Mrs. H.P.

Hair grows and is lost in cycles that continue throughout the year. It is not usually a seasonal thing, although hair may tend to grow better in summer. Your summer loss should be looked into to see if there is some disease of the scalp involved. Check with a dermatologist next summer if the loss occurs again. Many of these hair phenomena are more easily explained. You might want to read the booklet, "Hair and Health." For a copy, send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Ruble, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Please give me any information you have on sarcoidosis. I have it in both lungs and would appreciate some tips. It is contagious? — E.M.

I'm afraid this is another of those mysterious diseases. It's pronounced SAR-coy-doh-sis. In it small, lumpy tumors form in various parts of the body, as in the lymph nodes, the lungs, liver, spleen, eyes and skin. The lungs are favorite places. We don't know why this happens, although it does seem more prevalent in the northern hemisphere. It may resemble tuberculosis and is frequently discovered when taking chest X-rays for that. Sarcoidosis is verified by biopsy of a lump or by a skin reaction (Kveim test). The only symptoms may be generalized joint pain and fever. Since these symptoms may occur in a number of other disorders, sarcoidosis is often missed in diagnosis. Often it is self-limiting, that is its symptoms may subside after two to 12 months. If they don't, steroid drugs may be required. Over the years many possible causes have been investigated — from a particular kind of slow-acting virus to pine pollen. No definite factor has been confirmed. In some areas of the world sarcoidosis is a greater problem than tuberculosis ever was. Yet, no connection with TB has been established. It is not contagious.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Can a doctor tell in a routine examination if you have any liver damage? Like cirrhosis? What are the actual symptoms, and what are the measures to take if found in time? I mean besides quitting alcohol and eating a lot of things with protein. — P.B.N.

A doctor may suspect liver damage by adding up a lot of symptoms — like a large liver, red palms, loss of appetite, fatigue, weight loss, etc. But the damage and the extent of it, as with cirrhosis, requires certain blood tests. Giving up alcohol is essential, but a high protein diet is not necessary. It need only be balanced. There may be need for vitamin B supplements if the diet is inadequate.

ration, as with osteoarthritis. At the knee I would also be suspicious of a Baker's cyst, which forms behind the knee. That can be treated surgically.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Ruble, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611, for a copy of the booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Popular New Appliances Save Fuel Energy With Efficiency

By CONNIE CHAPMAN
Family News Staff

Items that come under the "what's hot" category in Christmas gifts change from year to year.

How long ago was it that slow cookers were "hot" items? And was it last year (or maybe the year before) that everyone wanted electronic television games? Remember the wok? the fondue pot? the chafing dish?

Two appliances vie for the "what's hot" award this year, it seems. The candidates are the microwave oven and the food processor. Is either one (or maybe both of them) under your tree this year?

Both the microwave oven and the food processor can be classified as "energy savers." The microwave oven saves on heat resources and the processor is touted as a saver of human resources of time and energy.

Both products run the gamut from very simple models to very complex ones. Of course, prices vary accordingly.

To find the particular appliance with the features you will use most, it is best to check out several brands and also to consult a good consumer's guide for comparison of features and prices.

Most models will come complete with recipe books and comprehensive suggestions for efficient use. It is well to read these enclosures very carefully before rushing into the kitchen to try out your new gift.

As you are reading, look for any warnings the manufacturer may have for limitations of use.

Also, don't forget in the holiday rush to send in the warranty card, if your purchase needs to be registered by mail.

Some facts about the microwave oven and the process by which it cooks are given in a booklet distributed by a local utility company.

Speed, natural flavor of foods, convenience and the ease of cleaning are cited as advantages in microwave cooking.

In describing the way the process works, the booklet explains, "food attracts and absorbs the microwaves. When the microwaves enter the food, this causes the food molecules to move rapidly; this rapid movement produces heat in the food which in turn cooks the food."

Microwaves are not heat, but a form of energy. Only when they are absorbed by the foods do they create heat.

One of the major warnings about the use of microwave ovens is to avoid using metal pans or dishes, unless the manufacturer specifically says limited use is permitted.

Microwave cooking, the booklet said, is meant to supplement and complement conventional cooking rather than replace it.

Because various makes of microwave ovens will differ in cooking time required for foods, it is best to check the instructions for your particular model for recipes and cooking instructions.

Two recipes, from the utility company collection, make use of the food processor.

VARIATION SALAD

Slice with the processor any or all the following: cucumbers, celery, mushrooms, radishes, green onions, yellow or zucchini squash, green or red pepper.

Grate with the processor any of the following: cabbage, carrots, hard-cooked eggs, Swiss cheese, cheddar cheese, Parmesan cheese, Monterey Jack cheese.

Other foods which can be added include: defrosted frozen peas, crumbled bacon, black or green olives, cooked and cubed chicken or beef, cooked shrimp or lobster, diced or julienne ham, sunflower seeds, cherry tomatoes, broccoli flowerets, cauliflowerets, alfalfa sprouts, fresh spinach, salad greens, strips of jicama.

Layer any combination of the above foods. Use your favorite bottled dressing or top with salad frosting.

ONION BREAD

2 to 3 cups onion slices, sliced in the processor

2 tbs. butter
2 tbs. water
1 tbs. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. seasoned salt
3 cups biscuit mix, prepared according to package instructions
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup sour cream

Cook onion in frypan with the butter and water, Worcestershire sauce and salt for about five minutes. Remove from the pan and set aside. Spread prepared biscuit mix over the bottom of the electric frypan and top with mixture of egg and sour cream. Spread onions over this mixture. Cover, leaving vent open, and cook for 30 minutes at 300 degrees without removing lid. It may also be baked in a 12x7-inch pan in the oven at 350 degrees for about 20 to 25 minutes, if you prefer.

Clip 'n' Cook

MINI CHIP FRUIT AND NUT CAKE

- 1 1/2 cups coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans
- 1 cup light or dark raisins
- 1/4 cup candied red cherries, quartered
- 1/4 cup bourbon
- 1 cup butter or margarine, softened
- 1 1/3 cups sugar
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 tsp. vanilla
- 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1/2 tsp. baking nutmeg
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate mini chips
- 1/2 cup bourbon

Combine nuts, raisins, cherries and 1/4 cup bourbon in a large bowl. Let stand at room temperature for several hours, stirring occasionally, until liquid is absorbed.

Cream butter or margarine, sugar, eggs and vanilla until light and fluffy. Combine flour, baking powder, nutmeg and salt; gradually add to creamed mixture. Beat just until batter is smooth. Add to fruit; mix with spoon until well combined. Stir in mini chips. Pour into well-greased and floured 9-cup Bundt pan or 10-inch tube pan. Bake at 350 degrees on lowest rack in oven 1 hour and 15 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 20 minutes. Invert onto wire rack. Cool completely. In small bowl, soak a large piece of cheesecloth in 1/2 cup bourbon. Wrap cake in cheesecloth; then wrap in foil. Refrigerate several days to mellow (will keep for weeks).

Before serving let warm to room temperature. Glaze with Vanilla Glaze. Slice thinly.

Vanilla Glaze: Combine 1 1/2 cups confectioner's sugar, 1 tablespoon shortening, 2 tablespoons milk and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla in a small bowl; beat until smooth. Pour onto top of cake allowing glaze to run down side.

(Continued From Page One) people marching on the anniversary of the first shedding of blood in the current anti-shah campaign, the deaths of 11 protesters gunned down in the city of Qum a year ago. Mashhad was reported generally quiet Monday. The state radio said anti-shah demonstrations occurred in five cities but that no one was killed. Ayatollah Shirazi, Shiite Moslem religious leader of Mashhad, called for a mourning ceremony today at the city's main mosque in memory of the victims of the weekend's violence. Mashhad's central mosque is the burial place of 9th-century Shiite holy man Imam Ali Riza. Modernization Opposed Orthodox Moslems oppose the shah because, they say, his Western-style modernization of the country is corrupting traditional Islamic values. The plan was rejected by leaders of the political and religious opposition who demand that the shah abdicate. In Tehran, commercial life appeared to have all but ceased Monday. Most shops and stores were closed and the streets were virtually empty because of the fuel shortage caused by the oil strike. Oil industry officials said production Monday was below 200,000 barrels, compared with a normal daily average of 6 million. Iran's domestic market needs about 900,000 barrels a day. The escalating violence prompted the U.S. Embassy on Sunday to urge American wives and children to leave Iran. About 30,000 Americans remain in Iran, and at least half are expected to leave.

Americans Get Fill Of Strife

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Sprawled on airport benches or the floor, waiting for long-delayed flights, Americans trying to leave Iran said Monday they feared for their personal safety if they remained in the strife-torn country. "I decided no job was worth my life," said Ted Ellerbee of Fairfield, Calif., a 41-year-old mechanic who worked for Bell Helicopter International in the city of Isfahan.

Walkouts by Tehran airport employees threw air schedules into confusion. Parts of the passenger terminal were closed down, and travelers waited outside the building or in crowded ticketing areas for news of their flights. Urged To Leave The U.S. Embassy on Sunday urged American wives and children to leave Iran. About 30,000 Americans currently reside in this country. An estimated 10,000 have left since September, when months of periodic disturbances erupted into almost daily nationwide protests against the government of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

Ellerbee, who was waiting for a delayed Pan American flight, was part of a group of American employees who gave up their jobs Sunday at a Bell Helicopter plant in Isfahan, 260 miles south of Tehran, and traveled all night by bus to the Tehran airport. Isfahan has been a center of violent anti-shah demonstrations, which have often become anti-American riots as well because of U.S. support for the pro-West monarch.

Gunfire Heard Nightly Ellerbee said he could hear gunfire every night in the city. He said mail and telephone service were interrupted by anti-government strikes and disorders, and Bell employees were the targets of numerous anti-American incidents. He said he was spat on once by demonstrators. Marianne Cogswell of Mineral Wells, Tex., the wife of a Bell Helicopter pilot instructor, said living conditions in Isfahan were deteriorating rapidly. "The lights were going off every night, water was going off and there weren't any new groceries coming into the stores," she said. Identifying herself smilingly as a "devout coward," she said she barely left her house during the disorders.

Quake Shakes Five-County Coast Area

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What may have been the first earthquake to be nationally televised as it happened shook a five-county area Monday in Southern California during the Rose Bowl game in Pasadena.

Authorities reported no injuries or damage. The quake was measured at 4.6 on the Richter scale. There were more than 105,000 people at the Rose Bowl game between Michigan and Southern California, which was on national television, but the tremor went undetected by most and play was not affected. The jolt was felt in the press box, and one broadcaster said a suspended microphone had begun swinging.

The tremor, at 3:14 p.m., was centered in Santa Monica Bay, four miles south of Malibu and about 25 miles from Pasadena, said officials at the seismology laboratory at the California Institute of Technology. It reached from San Diego in the south into Ventura County, 200 miles north, and was felt in San Diego, Los Angeles and Ventura counties along the coast and as far east as San Bernardino and Riverside counties, 75 miles inland.

The Richter Scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a 10-fold increase in magnitude. A quake with a reading of 4 can cause moderate damage, and a quake measuring 5 can cause considerable damage.

There were "a few" aftershocks of lesser intensity, a Caltech spokeswoman said, but no additional readings were calculated. She said more aftershocks could be expected. The California Highway Patrol reported a number of boulders had fallen onto Pacific Coast Highway in the Malibu area, closing one lane of the highway. Mud and boulders also fell across other roads in Malibu, they said.

BEGGER—Jimmy, a 3-year-old western painted turtle, begs for a bite of fish. Peggy Detmers of Brookings, S.D., says her pet has a curved-up shell which allows him to stand up on his hind legs, which he does at any time there might be a bite to eat involved. (AP/Laserphoto)

Arctic Air, Snow Chill Panhandle-South Plains

Total precipitation for the month was 44 inches below normal, with a total of 17 of an inch recorded by the National Weather Service. The average monthly temperature was 3.2 degrees below normal, with the lowest reading of 5 degrees recorded Dec. 5 and the highest temperature of 75 recorded Dec. 18, according to the weather service.

If this first day of the new year is any indication of weather to come, Dallas residents might take advantage of the local Office of Emergency Preparedness shelters which opened late Sunday for the thousands of people left without light and heat by a vicious ice storm.

A heavy turnout was expected at the shelters, but only three stranded non-residents took advantage of the free lodgings, according to a United Press International report.

Dallas Problems Easing The Dallas Power & Light Co. expects most of the area's electrical power to be restored by this morning, but some homes will be without power and heat through Tuesday.

A weakened snow storm spread into the Ohio Valley late Sunday, sending snowshowers into Indiana and freezing rain as far east as New England.

Heavy snowfall is expected to continue today across southern Missouri, Illinois and Indiana, while thousands of stranded travelers in Chicago's O'Hare International Airport try to figure out a way to get home.

Up to 10 inches of snow Sunday blanketed Illinois, and conditions are not expected to improve.

Two persons in Iowa were killed in weather-related accidents Monday, where more than a foot of snow fell.

Several other persons died of either exposure or apparent heart attacks in Milwaukee, Chicago and Missouri, while dangerously iced highways were responsible for at least three deaths in Ohio, Iowa and Kansas.

All areas affected by the storm remain under travelers advisories and ice storm warnings, including Montana (where temperatures were below-zero for the fifth straight day), Kentucky, Arkansas, northwestern Louisiana, northwest Georgia and Alabama.

Schools

(Continued From Page One) Thursday. Many area school superintendents were undecided Sunday whether classes would be held today. They advised residents to listen to local radio stations this morning for the final decision.

Streams and small rivers continue to rise in northern Arkansas, western Tennessee and northern Alabama, as heavy rains pushed by the cold front continue to drench the Gulf Coast states.

Streams are now near bankfull, according to the National Weather Service, in Kentucky and the Virginias as the rains persist.

Florida continues to have the most pleasant weather in the nation, with sunny skies and 80-degree temperatures. The western half of the nation also had mostly sunny skies.

A snow emergency was declared in Milwaukee and its suburbs, where depths reached 18 inches and winds of up to 25 mph scattered new snow across the streets as fast as crews could open them. Numerous churches canceled New Year's Eve services. In North Dakota, travelers advisories were posted for the western half of the state because of gusting winds, blowing snow and extremely low temperatures. The National Weather Service said every reporting point in the state was below zero Monday morning, and in several locations the wind-chill factor was between 50 and 60 below.

Montana received below-zero temperatures for the fifth consecutive day Monday, prompting the Montana Power Co. to issue a plea for customers to conserve energy. Parts of Butte were without power for 13 hours Sunday after temperatures plummeted to 39 below zero.

In contrast, the temperature in New York City rose to 60 degrees at 4 p.m. Monday, two degrees short of the record high set in 1966.

Temperatures nationwide ranged from 84 degrees in Fort Myers, Fla., to 35 below zero in Jackson, Wyo.

UFOs Photographed By New Zealanders

around it. "The whole feeling was that we were in their domain," said Fogarty. "They seemed in control and aware we were filming. I don't think they were going to harm us."

Startup, who has been flying for 23 years, said he first saw an object about 20 miles ahead of his aircraft. "Air traffic control then told us there was an object about one mile behind us and I turned the aircraft around to have a look," he said.

"We spotted something which kept accelerating to get closer to us and would then fall back. I know of no aircraft which could carry out such a maneuver." "We made a two-minute orbit but then continued the run because we did not want to push our luck," he said, adding they saw more strange objects on the return trip to the airport at Blenheim, New Zealand.

The TV film of the supposed New Zealand UFO was purchased by the British Broadcasting Co. and the CBS television network for undisclosed sums.

British Betting House Unimpressed But Britain's leading betting house was not impressed by the New Zealand report. "We're offering 250-to-1 against aliens from outer space landing or crashing on Earth during 1979 — the same as before this sighting," said Ron Pollard of Ladbrokes bookmakers in London.

Ladbrokes was closed Monday for New Years, but betting was to open today. In Ferrara, Italy, eight persons returning home from a New Year's Eve party said they saw a bright oval object moving slowly through the sky, leaving a dense, whitish trail. It was the second sighting in two days over the northern Italian city.

China Hails Pact With Firecrackers

PEKING (AP) — As firecrackers popped outside, Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping hoisted a glass of California champagne Monday and toasted the new link between the United States and China as a historic step in the "defense of world peace."

The Chinese leader and Leonard Woodcock, chief of the U.S. Liaison Mission here, were among 150 Americans and Chinese who gathered in Woodcock's modest home on a cold, crisp New Year's Day to celebrate the establishment of formal diplomatic relations between the two countries.

The Chinese were hosting a similar festive gathering Monday evening in Washington.

Chiang Rejects Offer On Taiwan, President Chiang Ching-kuo rejected a new overture from Peking for reconciliation. "Our anti-communist struggle will never cease until the Chinese communist regime has been destroyed," he said in a New Year address.

American recognition of communist China ended a half-century of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Nationalist government, which fled to Taiwan after being defeated by communist forces in 1949.

The Standing Committee of the Chinese People's National Congress had offered Sunday to negotiate a reunification of the communist mainland and capitalist Taiwan that would preserve the "status quo" on the island.

The 74-year-old Teng, accompanied by his pantsuited wife Cho Lin, Vice Premier Fang Yi and other officials and their wives walked past a display of American flags and crowded into the Woodcock home, which is situated behind the Liaison Mission building. Firecrackers sputtered and crackled in the mission courtyard during the party.

Carter Statement Recalled Wearing a lapel pin with crossed American and Chinese flags, the 5-foot-tall Teng recalled that President Carter had said the United States "did not undertake this important step for transient, tactical or expedient reasons."

"I appreciate this far-sighted view," Teng said.

He said the new relations are based on a "long-term political and strategic perspective," an allusion to the shared U.S.-Chinese concerns over the Soviet Union.

"I feel certain that the far-reaching influence the establishment of diplomatic relations between our two countries exerts upon the development of our bilateral relations and upon the defense of world peace will become more and more evident with the passage of time," he said.

In his toast, Woodcock, 67, former chief of the United Auto Workers Union, called it "a great day in the history of mankind." "The breakdown in communication between our two countries interrupted a long tradition of friendship and mutually beneficial cooperation between the Chinese and American peoples and adversely affected the cause of world peace," he said.

Woodcock is expected to be nominated by Carter as the first ambassador to Peking. The exchange of ambassadors is planned for March 1.

Teng, who was the architect of the U.S.-Chinese normalization, said his planned Jan. 23 visit to the United States will "further enhance understanding and friendship" and lead to cooperation in scientific-technological, economic, cultural and other fields.

Teng is expected to discuss with Carter the difficult questions of Chinese assets frozen in the United States and American property confiscated by China 30 years ago, as well as future trade agreements.

U.S., China Celebrate 'New Era'

U.S. officials said films of the evening reception where Mondale and Chai exchanged toasts probably would be relayed by satellite to China where, for the first time, U.S. documentaries on American life were shown New Year's Eve.

The usually secretive Chinese office here invited reporters and photographers to attend the reception, which paralleled a party in Peking at which Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping saluted President Carter for his "far-sighted view."

Chai, who has headed the Chinese liaison office here, was the host for the party at the remodeled hotel that Peking has made its headquarters. Another party was given by businessmen, scholars and other longtime proponents of switching U.S. recognition from Taiwan to the mainland.

Chinese Flag Hoisted The Chinese Communists hoisted the flag of their country Monday in front of their headquarters building.

Hundreds of Chinese who oppose U.S. relations with the mainland demonstrated in a light rain across the street from the White House. They had marched a half-mile from the city's Chinatown behind Nationalist flags, chanting "Keep China Free."

Police kept the protesters in Lafayette Park. Some two dozen sympathizers were allowed to patrol in front of the White House gate. Many of them were Caucasians. One carried a sign reading: "No Human Rights in China." Another placard read: "Mao killed more Christians than Hitler killed Jews."

The Chinese came to the capital from Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Delaware to present a petition to President Carter. It quoted from a statement he made in Kansas City in October 1976: "I wouldn't go back on the commitment that we have had to assure that Taiwan is protected from military takeover."

Reopening Of JFK Assassination Case Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government should concentrate a new examination of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy on the possibility that individual members of organized crime or anti-Castro Cubans were involved, a House investigator said Monday.

"This is an area which we believe further investigation is most warranted by the Department of Justice," said Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-N.C., chairman of the Kennedy subcommittee of the House assassinations committee.

The committee is pressing the department to investigate what it says is evidence that both Kennedy and civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. were slain as a result of conspiracies.

There was no response from the department over the New Year's weekend, but Deputy Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti told the panel earlier that his agency was reluctant to reopen the two cases.

In the synopsis of a final report to be issued this spring, the committee said Saturday that scientific evidence shows Kennedy "probably" was murdered in a crossfire of conspiring gunmen and that circumstantial evidence indicates a "likelihood" that King's murder also stemmed from a conspiracy.

Referring to Kennedy's assassination in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, Preyer said in a statement: "Our committee believes that it was not a political conspiracy in the broad sense of the word. We exculpate all major groups and conclude that changing the institutions of government was not the goal of the possible conspirators."

"We find definitely that there is not a scintilla of evidence implicating involvement in the assassination by the Secret Service, CIA and the FBI... The committee believes the Soviet government and the Cuban government were not involved in the assassination. We also believe that anti-Castro Cuban groups and the national syndicate of organized crime were not involved."

But, he added, the panel "does not preclude that individual members of organized crime or anti-Castro Cuban groups were involved."
Delegate Walter Fauntroy, D-D.C.,

chairman of the King investigation subcommittee, asserted Sunday that the Justice Department could prove in six months whether the two assassinations were conspiracies.

Fauntroy told reporters the department has an obligation to make up for what the committee called past failures in both investigations.

Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, chairman of the full assassinations panel, said he hopes the department will investigate new evidence that acoustics experts testified establishes "beyond a reasonable doubt" that a second gunman fired at Kennedy from a grassy knoll.

The Warren Commission, which investigated Kennedy's death, had concluded that Lee Harvey Oswald had acted alone in the killing.

Stokes said Justice also has an obligation to investigate circumstantial evidence that a $50,000 bounty led James Earl Ray to murder King in Memphis on April 4, 1968.

Noting that the FBI misplaced evidence in 1974 of the possible King conspiracy involving the bounty, Stokes said: "I think they have an obligation to go back in and conduct the kind of investigation they should have conducted in the first place."

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

Q. I am 56, with a relatively secure job paying $17,000 a year and only my mother as a dependent. I have some additional income from a rental property, which has a 4 1/2 percent mortgage. I have almost a year's salary in a credit union and a sufficient amount in a savings account to pay all costs on my home for a little more than a year.

I have acquired a modest portfolio of stocks and am considering more of similar types. My broker feels I am somewhat conservative and I suspect I may be savings heavy. What is your opinion?

A. Except for agreeing with you that you do have more cash put aside than is really necessary, I'd call your investment structure very good. I'd also call it a great accomplishment, on $17,000 a year.

The stocks you listed as owning and as considering buying seem to be right for you. They are all of good to reasonable quality and are suitable for someone seeking to accumulate a nestegg.

My suggestion would be to use some of the money you have put away to start a gradual purchase program of the stocks you have on your "buy list." There's no great rush, however. Neither your broker, nor I, nor anyone else can tell you what will be the absolutely "right time" to commit what Wall Street would call your "cash reserve."

But, if you continue on a slow and steady program of buying good stocks, you should do very well over the years ahead.

Meanwhile, the rental property could be the best thing you have going for you. Whatever you do, don't tamper with that 4 1/2 percent mortgage. How fondly I remember our first home, with its 4 1/2 percent VA mortgage. You're fortunate to have been able to hang on to that kind of a "cheap money" deal.

Q. Why are stock prices quoted in eighths, when our money system is in decimal form?

A. Strictly tradition. They stopped wearing top hats, frock coats and striped pants to the stock exchanges years ago. But some things never change. If you think eighths are bad, did you know that U.S. Treasury bonds, notes and bills are quoted in thirty-seconds and, sometimes, sixty-fourths?

Every so often, there will be a "reform" proposal to change all this on Wall Street. It meets about the same reaction as proposals to change the U.S. standard system of measurements to metric.

Q. In 1956, I invested $250 in stock of a rather well-known company and received four shares for my money. That stock was later split. So, I now have 16 shares with a par value of $1.75 each. Is it a fact that my stock is now worth only a total of $28?

A. Fortunately, for you and other stockholders of that company, the answer is no. You made the all-too-common mistake of confusing the par value of a common stock with its market value — the price you would get if you sold.

Par value of common stock is simply the dollar amount assigned to each share by a company's charter. Par value may also be used to compute the dollar amount of the common shares on the company's balance sheet. But these are strictly bookkeeping devices and mean next to nothing, as far as the stockholder is concerned.

What you should be watching is the market value. As I write this, the stock you named in your letter is trading on the New York Stock Exchange at "16 1/4" — $16.25 a share. That means your 16 shares could be sold for $260, less commission.

Considering inflation, that stock hasn't been a good investment over all these years. But $260 is better than $28. And you have been receiving rather good dividends.

DOYLE welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

Women In Military Expected To Double

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon expects the number of women in America's armed forces to double to 12 percent by 1984 and it says women already are moving into male-dominated jobs such as missile firing and parachuting.

A recent Defense Department report on the armed forces indicates women are playing an increasingly important role in the government's effort to fill slots in the all-volunteer Army.

The report said women are now getting better military jobs, but it also showed that many still wind up with traditional work as secretaries, clerks and medical assistants.

It said the number of women in the military has increased three-fold since the draft ended, rising from less than 2 percent of the total in the 1973 fiscal year to nearly 6 percent in 1977.

The study said the number of women is expected to double to nearly 12 percent of all U.S. military personnel by the 1984 fiscal year and to reach almost 20 percent in the Air Force.

"As the number of women in the military increases, women are beginning to enter, in greater numbers, job fields that have been traditionally held only by men," the report said. "Many of these are in the combat environment."

It said the Army does not assign women to close combat jobs on a regular basis, but allows them to serve in combat-related posts such as operating Hawk missiles.

Live Minks Stolen From Indiana Farm

FLORA, Ind. (AP) — Authorities were looking for thieves who burglarized a farm in this Indiana community and made off with 23 breeding-stock minks.

Police said the Russell Stover Mink Farm reported the loss of the animals Friday. Clues indicate that at least three persons climbed a fence and removed the minks from their cages, police said.

Investigators added that it appeared the minks were killed immediately and loaded into a truck. A similar theft was reported at about the same time last year, police said.

It said the number of women in the military has increased three-fold since the draft ended, rising from less than 2 percent of the total in the 1973 fiscal year to nearly 6 percent in 1977.

The study said the number of women is

Refinery Workers Threaten Long Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — A strike by 60,000 refinery workers threatens to erupt next week in the nation's oilfields in the first major showdown over President Carter's voluntary wage guidelines.

Both sides are preparing for a long walkout, as the industry and oil workers union head for a dramatic test of wills stiffened by Carter administration urging that companies be prepared to take strikes rather than give in to inflationary wage demands.

But a strike is not expected to have a significant effect on oil production for at least several months, barring sabotage or equipment breakdowns requiring major repairs. Oil refineries are so highly automated that they can be operated normally by supervisory personnel.

The outcome of current contract talks between the oil companies and the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union (OCAW) will have considerable impact on the success of Carter's efforts to restrain wage increases as part of his campaign to curb inflation.

The union has vowed to break the wage guidelines, calling them unfair. The companies have pledged to follow them. The government is dangling $4.5 billion worth of federal contracts before the industry, threatening to deny business to firms exceeding the guidelines.

The contract is the first major agreement to expire under Carter's guidelines program, which seeks to limit annual wage and fringe benefit increases to about 7 percent a year.

The new year is unusually heavy for bargaining. Major contracts covering 3.7 million workers expire in 1979, including those in the trucking, rubber, garment, electrical and auto industries.

Contract talks between the Teamsters Union and the trucking industry will provide a much larger test of the president's program but that pact does not expire until March 31. Those talks began Dec. 14 but have recessed. Discussion of monetary demands has been deferred until closer to the contract expiration date.

Unlike the Teamsters, who can be overwhelming at the bargaining table, OCAW is a relatively small union pitted against a mammoth industry.

The union has no national or company-wide contracts. Instead, local contract talks are conducted at 400 locations, with the union coordinating the bargaining from its Denver headquarters. Traditionally, the first location to settle establishes the pattern for the rest of the industry.

Under the current two-year contract, which expires at midnight Sunday, OCAW members received a 19.2 percent wage increase. They now average $9.32 an hour, including shift premiums.

Without being specific, the union is demanding a "substantial" wage increase in its new contract to fully protect workers from inflation, now running at more than 9 percent a year.

Gulf Oil Corp., which was the first to settle in past talks, recently offered a 7 percent wage increase in the first year and a 6 percent hike in the second year. "We have pretty well committed ourselves to following the guidelines," Gulf spokesman James Galtner said.

OCAW President A.F. Grospron contends a peaceful settlement appeared certain until Carter announced his guidelines.

"We certainly would not have a strike if there were no program," Grospron said in a recent telephone interview. "Now the possibility appears very real."

"We consider any pay raise we negotiate as non-inflationary" because less than a penny of the retail price of a gallon of gasoline goes toward labor costs, union spokesman James G. Archuleta said.

Grospron charged that the government has been encouraging the industry to hold the lines against the guidelines. "To me, that's direct interference in the collective bargaining process," he said.

Officials of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, the government's inflation-monitoring agency, deny they have been interfering in the talks or directly encouraging companies to take a strike.

One administration aide, who asked not to be named, acknowledged that council officials met recently with oil executives "to make very clear the consequences of caving in" to inflationary wage demands.

"We certainly are not encouraging strikes, but we are pointing out that there are things a lot worse than strikes, like inflation," the administration aide said.

Barberless Town Turns To Style-Cuts

NORTHWOOD, Iowa (AP) — Worth County men still get their hair cut these days, but instead of hanging out at the local barber shop they must go down to the Magic Mirror or another beauty salon.

The last local barber went out of business two months ago, and that means no more half-days spent reading magazines and chatting with friends while waiting for an empty chair. No more trims at 1 a.m., after a Saturday night of drinking with the boys.

Now, men wanting a haircut have to take their place alongside women in beauty shops, with over-the-top dryers and lace curtains.

Some of the unshorn feel the quality of life has taken a decided downturn. "For one thing, some of the guys don't feel comfortable going into a place where women are getting their hair done too," said one Northwood man, who asked not to be identified.

Another complains that a beauty parlor is hardly "a place you could go with manure on your boots."

The general consensus, however, seems to be that salons really aren't all that bad after a couple of visits. "Provided you can get there when your wife isn't there," cautions one regular.

The last known barber in Worth County was Edgar Janson, who had a place until a couple of months ago in Northwood. Worth County is located in north-central Iowa and has a population of about 9,000.

Hair cutting once was just one of many functions at the barber shop. It also served as a doctor's office. But as medical schools began to horn in, hair and conversation became the chief concern.

Now, with appointments and $11 style-cuts, Worth County is not alone in seeing the old-fashioned barber shop fold.

"I know the younger ones don't mind (going to beauty salons) so much," said county treasurer Jim Hanson, himself once a barber. "But I know some of the older ones don't like it. A lot of barbering has changed."

"I used to do half my business on Saturday, when people would come to town. I'd be open until 2 a.m., and guys would come until then from the bar down the street whenever a chair was empty. Some of the late ones got a little goopy," he said.

For a time, retired barbers filled the shortage by working part time, Hanson said. But they now are encumbered by legislation that requires members of their trade to take retraining each year.

Rather than take the classes, many just gave up, Hanson said.

Nonetheless, the men of Worth County must get the haircuts somewhere. Without a barber shop, that means beauty salons or traveling to Mason City, St. Ansgar, or Glenville, Minn.

And Glenville, 10 miles north of Northwood, is alleged to be the home of the fastest barber around.

"Once I drove up there," recalled a male customer at the Magic Mirror beauty salon. "I got a haircut and drove back and I wasn't gone for over 35 minutes. That guy's so fast, it scares you."

Serum Used To Aid Chestnut Trees

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP) — Scientists at West Virginia University have devised a way to inoculate the once-mighty American chestnut tree and nurse it to maturity.

The chestnut was the most durable and versatile of Appalachian hardwoods until it developed a fungus blight during the first quarter of the century. Now the WVU scientists are inoculating young saplings with a hypovirulent strain of chestnut blight that prevents the blight fungus from harming the tree. Similar strains have been successful in curing the blight naturally in Italy, said William McDonald said, a tree pathologist.

Is Alabama The New National Champ?

Both Paterno, Bryant Think So

HARD HIT — Alabama quarterback Jeff Rutledge takes a shot from Penn State's Chuck Correal as he releases the ball during the first half of the Crimson Tide's 14-7 Sugar Bowl victory Monday. (AP Lasephoto)

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Penn State had been No. 1 in the Associated Press college football poll for the last month of the regular season, but Coach Joe Paterno surrendered that honor Monday and Alabama's Bear Bryant immediately claimed it.

"Alabama should be No. 1," Paterno said after Penn State's 19-game winning streak, longest in the nation, was stopped 14-7 in the Sugar Bowl by second-ranked Alabama. "Alabama beat an awfully good football team and has as much right to claim it as anybody."

"Yes, I feel we're the best team in the country," he said. "There are a couple of reasons I would vote for our team No. 1 — they overcame all the injuries and peaked today, and our schedule was extremely difficult. There were no soft touches."

The Crimson Tide knocked Penn State off its throne thanks to Major Ogilvie's tie-breaking 8-yard touchdown run with 21 seconds left in the third period and a vastly underrated defense which sacked All-American quarterback Chuck Fusina five times, intercepted four of his passes and stopped the Nittany Lions twice from inside the 1-yard line with under seven minutes to play.

It was a great day for the Alabama defense, which effectively answered season-long criticism after yielding more passing yardage and more big plays than any unit in Bryant's 21 years as head coach.

"They played over their heads today," Bryant said. "It was a superhuman effort. I have never been associated with a group that did a greater job than our defense did today. I think we could have beaten any team in America today."

The defense rose to its greatest heights midway through the final period after Penn State recovered a wild Alabama pitchout at the Crimson Tide's 19. Matt Suhey's 11-yard run put the ball on the 8 and two plays later, its tail was grazing the 1.

But Suhey and Mike Guman were hurled back as they attempted to dent the middle of the Alabama defense.

"We just lined up and hit them head-to-head," said linebacker Barry Krauss, who was the primary tackler on Guman's plunge and was named the game's most valuable player.

Ikner, who returned only one punt all season for 8 yards, weaved his way 62 yards to the Penn State 11 after fielding a punt from Scott Fitzkee at his 27.

A fired-up, hard-charging Alabama defense sacked All-American quarterback Chuck Fusina five times and intercepted four of his passes. And the underrated Crimson Tide defense rose to the occasion with just under seven minutes remaining, stopping first Matt Suhey, then Mike Guman with less than a yard to go for a touchdown.

That gave Alabama the ball and Penn State allowed the Crimson Tide to keep it for valuable extra minutes when the Nittany Lions were penalized for having 12 men on the field when Alabama punted on fourth down from its 8-yard line. The penalty was filled with irony since Penn State used a second-chance, two-point conversion, thanks to the same infraction against Kansas, to win the 1968 Orange Bowl 15-14.

Alabama snapped a scoreless tie when Jeff Rutledge fired a 30-yard touchdown pass to Bruce Bolton with eight seconds left in the first half. Penn State, held to 21 yards in total offense in the first half, tied the score early in the third quarter on a 17-yard pass from Fusina to Fitzkee five plays after Pete Harris, the nation's leading interceptor, picked off his 11th theft of the season, at the Alabama 48.

Although Penn State and Alabama have 11-1 marks, the Nittany Lions undoubtedly blew any chance at their first-ever national championship as their 19-game winning streak, longest in the nation, came to an end. Third-ranked Southern California — which handed Alabama its only defeat nine games ago — No. 4 Oklahoma, No. 5 Michigan and No. 7 Clemson, all showed showed just one setback heading into Monday's action.

morning. On Ikner's vital punt return, Penn State's Matt Bradley made a touchdown-saving tackle at the 11, but the Crimson Tide, whose major goal all season was the national championship, was not to be denied despite a procedure penalty that pushed the ball back to the 16.

Rutledge gained 1 yard and Tony Nathan ran for 7 before Ogilvie took a pitchout around left end on third-and-seven and outran Penn State's defense into the end zone.

Final Score: Alabama 14, Penn State 7. Alabama — Bolton 30 pass from Rutledge (McCoy kick). PSU — Fitzkee 17 pass from Fusina (Bair kick). Ala — Ogilvie 8 run (McCoy kick). A — 0-0.

Notre Dame Gets Cotton Thriller

DALLAS (AP) — Quarterback Joe Montana was sick, All-American linebacker Bob Golic was on the bench with a knee injury and dispirited Notre Dame trailed Houston 34-12 with 4:40 left in the third quarter.

Then, reminiscent of a dramatic rally against Southern Cal in the regular season, the Fighting Irish came up with the finest comeback in the 43-year history of the Cotton Bowl.

Montana, the senior quarterback, sent the drama to the final second Monday, completing an 8-yard touchdown pass to diving wide receiver Kris Haines, who made the catch just in bounds as time ran out.

Then placekicker Joe Unis had to kick the winning extra point twice for the amazing 35-34 victory over the stunned Cougars.

The first time Unis kicked his extra point, Notre Dame was penalized for illegal procedure. Unis made the second try and the delirious, frostbitten band of Fighting Irish fans stormed the frozen field.

Haines said of the game-tying touchdown pass play, "We ran it with 6 seconds to play, but we got a little mixed up." That pass was incomplete, but with 2 seconds to play, Montana decided to try it again.

"Joe asked me if I could beat my man again," said Haines. "I said, 'Yes.' I beat the linebacker, but I don't know who it was."

"This team never quits," said Haines. "I was hurting and starting to feel sorry for myself, but I looked around and saw the others weren't quitting, so I told myself I couldn't quit."

Unis said concentration was the key to his winning kick.

"Every kicker fantasizes about being in a position like that," he said. "When I kicked the first time, I saw the yellow flag and prayed the penalty wasn't on us. "Then I had to get my concentration back. I had to get my composure back. I took two deep breaths and concentrated on the tee, on keeping my head down and on following through. I hit both of them well."

Notre Dame Coach Dan Devine said: "When it was 34-12, I felt we had to do something to turn it around. It happened when (Steve) Cichy scored on the blocked punt."

Cichy returned a punt blocked by Tom Belden 33 yards for a touchdown that, combined with a 2-point conversion pass from Montana to Vegas Ferguson, narrowed the count to 34-20 with 7:25 to play.

A poor Houston punt put the Irish on the move again and Montana scored on a 2-yard run with 4:15 to go.

Then came some questionable Houston strategy by Cougars Coach Bill Yeoman.

On fourth and 1, Yeoman decided to go for a first down with 35 seconds to play and the ball on the Houston 29. Running back Emmett King was stopped cold by defensive tackle Mike Calhoun and Notre Dame took over.

'We Want Cowboys' Say Los Angeles Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We want the Cowboys," Ron Jessie said following the Los Angeles Rams' National Football League playoff victory over the Minnesota Vikings.

"They think it was lucky the first time we beat them. We want to show them it wasn't."

Wide receiver Jessie's remarks were uncommon in a relatively modest Rams' locker room Sunday after they had whipped old nemesis Minnesota 34-10.

The Los Angeles players could, however, have been excused if they had been a bit cocky. They turned the game against the Vikings — a team which had beaten them in all four previous playoff meetings — into a romp.

The victory put the Rams, 13-4, into next Sunday's NFC title game against the defending Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys at the Coliseum. Dallas made the semifinals by edging Atlanta 27-20 last Saturday. The winner of the Rams-Cowboys contest will enter the Super Bowl against the AFC winner between Houston and Pittsburgh.

During early regular season play, the Rams downed Dallas 27-14 in Los Angeles. They also own a 10-6 victory over Houston and a 10-7 decision over Pittsburgh during the regular season.

Offensive guard Tom Mack, one of the senior statesmen of the Rams, said of Dallas:

"They're as good a team as there is in football, and I know that the players who were here in 1975 remember how they embarrassed us."

Tom Landry's Cowboys handed Los Angeles a 37-7 drubbing in the NFC title game in 1975.

Many of the Rams said they hoped the Coliseum crowd would be as vocal for the Cowboys' game as the roaring, pomponwaving 69,631 on hand for the Rams' revenge over the Vikings.

"The fans gave us an advantage," said quarterback Pat Haden, who earlier this season had accused Los Angeles fans of lack of support. "They cheered us when we came out on the field and didn't stop until we left. It was very uplifting. If people continue to cheer like that, they'll turn the Coliseum into a snake pit and teams won't want to come and play here."

A victory over Dallas would put the frustrated Rams into the Super Bowl for the first time. Although they have won the NFC West for the past six years, they've never survived the conference playoffs. Last year, the Vikings knocked them out with a 14-7 victory.

"No way were we going to lose this game," said safety Bill Simpson, who intercepted two Fran Tarkenton passes in Sunday's rout. "We've had too many years of frustration, especially against Minnesota."

Haden, completing 15 of his 29 passes, threw for 209 yards and two touchdowns against the Vikings. Jessie had six catches for 108 yards, including a 27-yard scoring toss.

Los Angeles running back Cullen Bryant, pressed into duty this season when regular Lawrence McCutcheon went out with an injury, gained 100 yards on 27 carries, his second 100-yard game in a row.

After Tarkenton tied the contest 10-10 with a touchdown pass as the first half ended, the Rams dominated the second half.

What Now For Vikes?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There better be some changes made if the Minnesota Vikings are going to keep up the rest of the rapidly improving National Football League teams, says Vikings' linebacker Jeff Siemon.

Siemon spoke softly and seriously to reporters following Minnesota's 34-10 National Football Conference divisional whipping by the Rams.

It was obvious that the 28-year-old Siemon was worried about the future of his team, a club which has been in the playoffs 10 of the last eleven years but has barely managed to win its division the past two seasons.

"I think we need to make some changes and rebuild in spots if we're to stay competitive," said Siemon, who joined the team in 1972.

"We have to bring in some new people, or change our philosophy, hopefully while remaining competitive."

Siemon said it was important for the team not to suffer through a disastrous season.

"We may have to struggle a little bit while rebuilding, but I think we can do it without going through a 2-14 season. I don't think there'll be any unnatural changes, nothing unforeseen," he said.

When asked to explain, Siemon said he felt a number of younger players needed more playing time.

"I think Kandy Holloway has to be in there more next year, and Jim Hough and John Turner also."

Holloway was the Vikings' top draft pick this season but saw only reserve duty behind veteran defensive ends Carl Eller and Jim Marshall.

Hough, a center-guard, also received spot duty most of the year, but the Vikings' running game was last in the NFL and it was apparent that Minnesota's offensive line needed rejuvenating.

"It hurts to go out this way," Siemon said of the lopsided defeat to Los Angeles. They just wore us down. They unleashed a running game on us and also threw the ball at will."

Siemon noted that he thought quarterback Fran Tarkenton might retire. But he didn't say whether he felt the move might help or hinder the team, saying only "We won't go 2-14 if we don't have Fran Tarkenton."

Tarkenton refused to disclose to reporters whether he would retire from football. He said the Vikings were not "anywhere near the team they were a year ago or in the last four, five or six years."

"I think we have more talent than we showed," Tarkenton said. "Whether it's enough, I don't know."

Minnesota Coach Bud Grant was asked if he felt his club was on the decline or if he pictured a completely different team for the Vikings next season.

"Good Lord, you're way ahead of me. Next season is six months away. They've said we've been on the decline for the past eight years, but we're still winning our division."

Smith Now Cowboy Fan

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

Jackie Smith spent the first 15 years of his professional football career hating the Dallas Cowboys.

And now, to quote the eloquent tight end who was an All-Pro at St. Louis, he is as happy around his former enemy as a "town hog in slop."

Smith caught his first passes as a Cowboy Saturday in a 27-20 National Conference playoff victory over Atlanta, including a little two-yard touchdown toss from reserve quarterback Danny White to tie the game.

"I had no idea that TD pass would come to me," said Smith, who has been used strictly as a blocker. "It was a bootleg roll and I did a comeback right to the goal line when I saw Danny was not going to throw it to anyone else."

White was in the game because starting quarterback Roger Staubach got knocked cold by linebacker Robert Pennywell. Smith was playing for Dallas because second string tight end Jay Saldi was injured at mid-season and the Cowboys talked Smith out of retirement.

"This is the first time in my pro career I've had a chance for the Super Bowl," said Smith. "There is just no way to explain the feeling."

Smith added "I don't know whether Coach Tom Landry has been setting me up (to catch some passes) like some of the guys (writers) wrote, but I was glad to catch a football. Catching passes is like riding a bike. You never forget."

Staubach "forgot" his quarterback duties Saturday after Pennywell's hit, but regained consciousness to view the second half from the sidelines.

Doctors said Staubach can resume practice today and should be ready for the National Conference championship game Sunday.

The Falcons, 14-point underdogs, threw a scare into the Cowboys, who trailed 20-13 at halftime.

"We had plenty of reason to get fired up with Roger getting hurt," said Cowboy defensive lineman Larry Cole. "But Danny white is a phenomenal quarterback. And Jackie Smith showed he can still play."

There were some hard feelings over the tackle strapped on Staubach, including some by Landry himself.

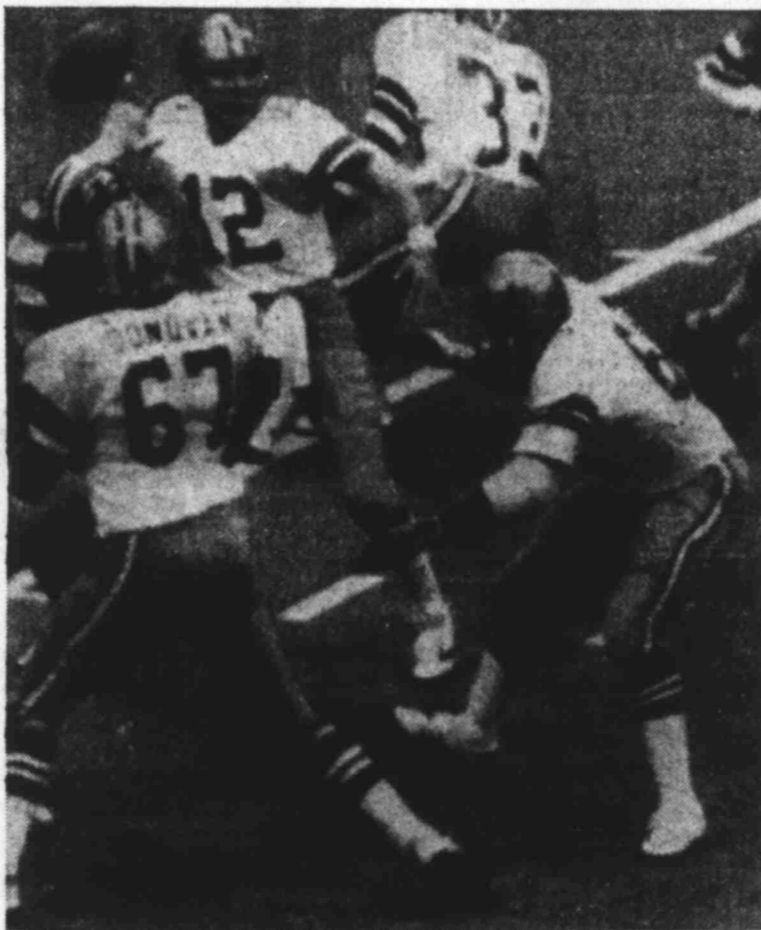

Landry said, "There is no place in football for that type of shot to the head." Landry said he didn't see the tackle himself, adding "somebody told me it was a forearm to the head.... That's all I'm going by."

Pennywell said he got the penalty for "driving him (Staubach) to the turf. After the play, the officials wouldn't talk to me but that's what I was told they said. The only way I could see him getting hurt was hitting his head on the turf. I didn't hit him in the head."

But it was two unlikely heroes who carried the torch for the Cowboys, searching for a record third Super Bowl victory.

"When (White's) number is called as the Cowboys' (regular) quarterback, he'll be a heck of a quarterback," said Tony Dorsett, Dallas running back.

White added "I feel confident about playing this week if I have to. But there is no player more valuable to his team than Roger Staubach. He has taught me so much. If I could be a Roger Staubach 10 years from now, it would be great."

Hayes Nearly Didn't Get OSU Position

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State wanted to fire Woody Hayes after four games. Instead, the Big Ten School waited 28 football seasons to do it.

And he almost didn't get the job in the first place.

Fritz Howell, the Ohio sports editor for The Associated Press for 33 years, revealed the circumstances surrounding Hayes' appointment in 1951 in a telephone call to his old bureau.

Howell, 78, now retired in Sarasota, Fla., said Hayes, the Miami of Ohio coach at the time, telephoned him and said to write he was withdrawing as a candidate to replace Wes Fesler.

"Woody said if they didn't pick Paul Brown they were crazy. Hayes said Brown was the best coach in the country. I told Woody that Brown wasn't going to get the job."

"I couldn't tell Hayes why. Brown had told me he wasn't going to get the job. It was undercover. I advised Hayes to stay in the race. So he did."

"When the board of selection took its first vote on the new coach, Chuck Mather (of Massillon, Ohio, high school) was named. But John Bricker, on the board of trustees then, said the trustees would not approve another coach from Massillon after their experience with Brown." Brown was regarded as a tyrant in his three Buckeye coaching seasons beginning in 1941, coming from Massillon. He went into the service after the 1943 campaign.

"So the board took another vote and Woody got the job. The next night at a banquet, Hayes said, 'If it hadn't been for Fritz, I wouldn't have the job,'" said Howell, who covered Big Ten football for more than three decades.

Howell chuckled and said, "It's ironic because I didn't get along with him at all after he took the job. We fought for years."

Howell then remembered Hayes' fourth game, at Indiana. Ohio State, a two-touchdown favorite, took a 32-10 drubbing.

"On Sunday, (Ohio State athletic director) Dick Larkins called (assistant coach) Ernie Godfrey in and told him, 'We hired the wrong guy.' Woody can't make it in the Big Ten. We're willing to terminate his contract if you'll take the team over for the rest of the year."

"And old loyal Ernie asked, 'Have you told Mr. Hayes about it?'"

"Larkins said he hadn't. Godfrey said he wouldn't take it under those circumstances and that he worked for Hayes. Ernie told me the story. I'm not sure Woody even knows that."

USC Claims Title

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A straw poll around the Southern Cal locker room following Monday's 17-10 Rose Bowl victory over Michigan predictably enough found the Trojans national champions.

"I think we're No. 1," said USC defensive back Ronnie Lott, whose first-quarter interception set up one touchdown. "And if we're No. 1, then Michigan is No. 2."

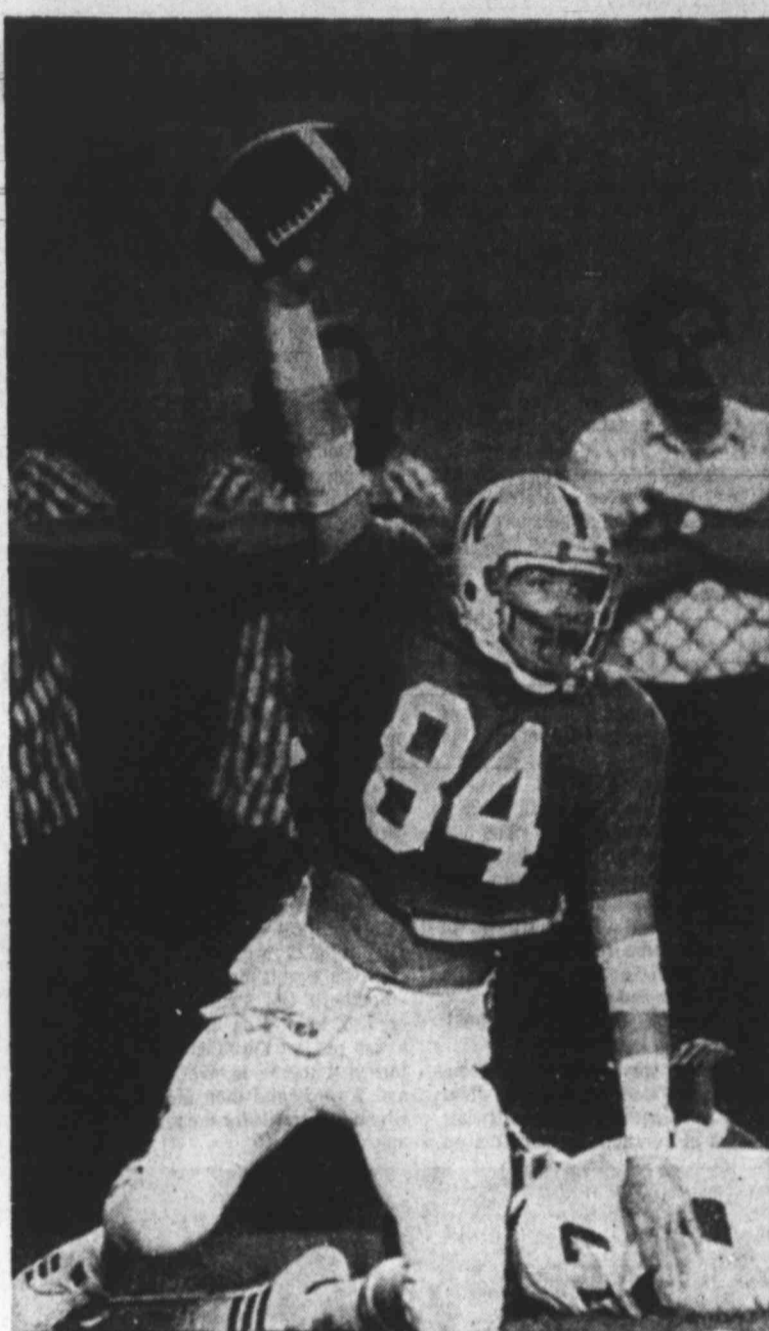

Southern Cal, which whipped Alabama 24-14 during its 11-1 regular season, went into the Rose Bowl ranked third behind Penn State and Alabama. Michigan, now 10-2, was rated fifth. Alabama beat Penn State 14-7 in Monday's Sugar Bowl.

"I pick us No. 1," said USC Coach John Robinson, who prior to the game had said the Trojans played one of the toughest schedules in the country. "It's one of the greatest teams in USC history."

Charles White, the Trojans' All-American tailback who gained 99 yards on 32 carries against an extremely aggressive Wolverine defense, was a little more reserved than his coach and most of his teammates when asked about the national championship.

"I feel we have a good shot at it," said White, a junior who had rushed for 114 yards in USC's 14-6 Rose Bowl victory over Michigan two years ago. "I feel like it's close between us and Alabama."

White was involved in a controversial touchdown that proved to be the difference in Monday's game. In the second quarter, he dove 3 yards for USC's final score, fumbling near the goal line. Michigan recovered in the end zone, but the officials ruled White had possession of the ball when he penetrated the plane of the goal line.

OU Avenges Loss To Huskers 31-24

MIAMI (AP) — Heisman Trophy winner Billy Sims and quarterback Thomas Lott scored two touchdowns apiece Monday night as fourth-ranked Oklahoma, making a longshot bid for the national college football championship, defeated Big Eight arch-rival Nebraska 31-24 in the Orange Bowl.

The Sooners, avenging their only defeat of the season at Nebraska on Nov. 11, erupted for two touchdowns and a field goal on their first three possessions of the second half to open a 31-10 lead and survived a fourth-quarter rally by the Cornhuskers.

Sixth-ranked Nebraska, 9-3, cut the margin to 31-17 with 9:12 remaining, then recovered a fumble at the Oklahoma 42 but failed to sustain a drive on a fourth-and-one situation at the Oklahoma 7.

The Cornhuskers did, however, drive to a score that came on the final play of the game, a 2-yard pass from Tom Sorely to Junior Miller.

Oklahoma finished 11-1 and hoped to use the revenge victory for consideration in the final Associated Press poll, to be released Wednesday. However, second-ranked Alabama beat No. 1 Penn State 14-7 in the Sugar Bowl and No. 3 Southern California downed No. 5 Michigan 17-10 in the Rose Bowl earlier in the day.

Alabama and Southern Cal both finished with 11-1 records. Sims scored on runs of 2 and 11 yards and hammered out 134 yards on 24 carries, despite getting the call on numerous short-yardage situations.

Sims had lost two critical fumbles in Nebraska territory in the fourth quarter of their Big Eight Conference regular-season confrontation, which the Cornhuskers won 17-14.

Lott scored on runs of 3 and 2 yards as he rushed for 74 yards and passed for another 46. He engineered touchdown drives of 69, 73, 70 and 60 yards.

Oklahoma's other score came on a 26-yard field goal by Uwe von Schamann following a 36-yard pass interception return by Darrol Ray to the Nebraska 27.

Nebraska's other touchdowns came on a 21-yard pass from Sorely to Tim Smith in the first quarter and on a 1-yard plunge in the final quarter by Rick Berns, who gained 99 yards in the game.

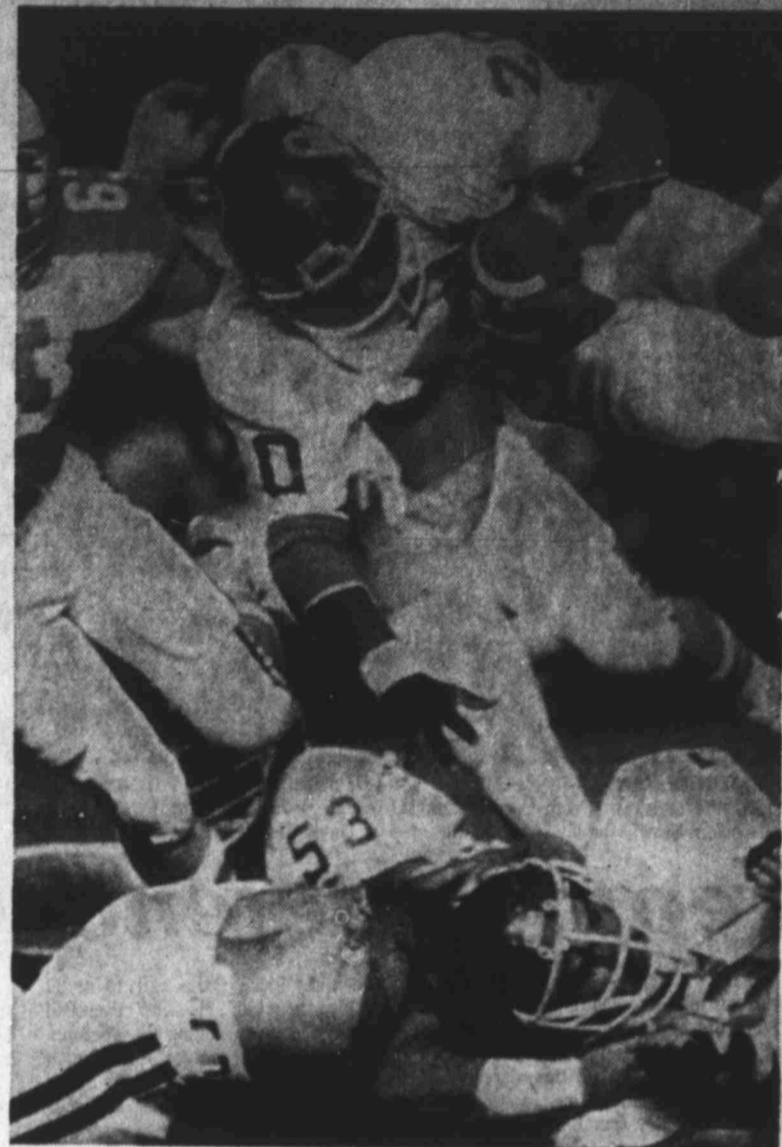

The victory was Oklahoma's seventh in its last eight meetings with the Cornhuskers and lifted its series edge to 32-24-3. It was the first time the perennial powers had met in a bowl game.

The Sooners, prone to fumbles throughout the season out of their wishbone attack, lost six of nine in the first meeting with Nebraska, but had only one in the bowl game rematch.

That came in the final quarter when Lott dropped the ball on a handoff attempt and Dave Clark recovered at the Oklahoma 42.

Campbell Itching For Next Game

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — Rookie Earl Campbell, the National Football League's ground-gaining champion in 1977, is looking forward to the biggest thrill of his football career.

"Next week will be a bigger thrill than winning the Heisman Trophy, if everything goes right," Campbell said after helping the surprising Houston Oilers to a 31-14 National Football League playoff victory over the New England Patriots.

Campbell, an instant pro star after a brilliant career at the University of Texas, where he captured the Heisman as the outstanding college player in the nation during his senior year, is looking ahead to next Sunday's game with the Steelers in Pittsburgh in a showdown for the American Conference championship and a berth in the Super Bowl.

"Playing against Pittsburgh will be the biggest game of my career — and my biggest challenge so far," Campbell said after carrying 27 times for 118 yards and one touchdown against the Patriots. "I can't really believe this season has worked out this well for me."

Despite his tremendous performance, Campbell actually was overshadowed by quarterback Dan Pastorini and the Houston defense, which limited the NFL's top rushing and scoring team to a mere 83 yards on the ground.

Pastorini, who wore a flak jacket to protect injured ribs, said the victory, following an upset of Miami in the wild card playoff, was "like a fairy tale."

"I don't know if I'm playing better or we're playing better," he said. "We've never been in this situation before. I hope we're picked as the underdog next week. We always play better when we're the underdog."

Houston Coach Bum Phillips was his usual humorous self, saying he was "scared to death" by the Patriots and then declaring war on the Steelers.

"I expect a knock-out, drag-out fight with them," Phillips said of the Steelers. Asked about pre-game plans, he said: "We'll sever diplomatic relations with them. That's what you do when you declare war on someone."

SCALPERS SCALPED
DALLAS (AP) — The new year started off badly for Cotton Bowl ticket scalpers. The $12.50 tickets were selling for as low as $5 apiece because of freezing temperatures at game time. Scalpers, whose trade is legal in Texas, didn't blame the weather, though. Most said the presence of Houston in the game made it unattractive. The Cougars played Notre Dame in the annual affair. "They (Houston) don't have the kind of alumni that some other Southwest Conference schools have," said Gene Higgs. "If it had been Texas or Arkansas or Texas A&M playing, I would have sold all of mine by now."

Michigan Loses Rose Bowl Again

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Michigan lost again, as it has in six consecutive bowl appearances, but the Wolverines "are not going to give up," said offensive tackle Bill Dufek.

"They'll be back out here and they'll win bowls. Things will go our way."

Monday they went Southern Cal's way as the Trojans defeated Coach Bo Schembechler's Wolverines 17-10 in the 65th Rose Bowl football game. The Wolverines have lost five Rose Bowls and an Orange Bowl in Schembechler's 10-year tenure and have never won the final game of the season for him.

"Last year was frustrating. We were supposed to win and we didn't," said Michigan tailback Harlan Huckleby of the Maize and Blue's 27-20 upset loss in the 1977 game to Washington.

After this year's loss to the favored Trojans, however, he said, "I was upset, but I wasn't hanging my head. I'm very disappointed, but I don't have any regrets."

Rick Leach, a senior like Dufek and Huckleby, concluded an otherwise mostly brilliant career with the dubious distinction of being the losing quarterback in four consecutive bowls, including the last three Rose Bowls.

"I'm disappointed, but I take a great deal of pride in coming out to the Rose Bowl three straight years," he said. "We felt we played a tremendous game. We just didn't put enough points on the board."

The Wolverines broke their past training routine by working out several days at Newport Beach before moving up to Pasadena Dec. 21.

USC Stuns Michigan

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Southern California's Trojans staked a claim to the national collegiate title Monday by defeating Michigan 17-10 in the 65th Rose Bowl game, but controversy raged over whether the Trojans' winning touchdown actually occurred.

Charles White scored it on a 3-yard run but fumbled on the play. Line judge Gilbert Marchman, an official from the Big Ten Conference, ruled the ball crossed the plane of the goal line before the Trojan running back lost control of it.

Slow-motion television replays shown after the game, however, indicated White lost control of the ball as he approached the line of scrimmage. The ball appeared to be bouncing on the 3-yard line when White reached the end zone.

White, an All-America halfback, said, "I felt I was in the end zone and released the ball. I realized it was too soon to release it. It wasn't batted out of my hands. I saw an official signal touchdown out of the corner of my eye and just let go of the ball."

"Of course I thought I scored." Jack Sprenger, head of Pacific 10 Conference officials, commented: "The line judge made the call on the touchdown. If any portion of the ball breaks the goal line plane, it's a touchdown. The umpire (Don Mason of the Big Ten) saw the loose ball and indicated a recovery by Michigan, but the official on the goal line made the call on the touchdown."

Both coaches played down the controversial call.

"I don't know why you guys are basing everything on this one play," said John Robinson of Southern Cal. "Officials make a lot of questionable calls, but on ones like that, they are very accurate." "I don't want to talk about officiating," said Coach Bo Schembechler of Michigan. "It's a shame something like that has to detract from the kids, but the fact is we didn't play well enough on offense to win."

A temblor, a relatively minor quake with an epicenter in the Pacific Ocean about 25 miles west of the bowl, took place just before halftime but did not interrupt play or bother the 105,629 spectators.

McDonald passed 9 yards to Hoyt Brenner for one touchdown and White ran 3 yards for the other on a controversial play as the Pac-10 beat the Big Ten a fifth straight year. Frank Jordan added a 35-yard field goal for Southern Cal.

The Wolverines, losing their fourth straight bowl game, scored on a 36-yard field goal by Gregg Willner and a 44-yard pass play from quarterback Rick Leach to tailback Roosevelt Smith.

Defenses predominated, however, and neither team could sustain long se White, the workhorse runner for the Pac-10 champions, gained 99 yards on 32 carries in pacing the Trojan attack while the Wolverines throttled McDonald after his touchdown toss and limited him to 4 completions in 9 throws for 23 yards.

Leach, a four-year starter for Michigan, provided most of his team's offense with 12 runs for 22 yards and 10 completions in 21 pass attempts for 137 yards.

Southern Cal struck in the opening quarter after Ron Lott intercepted a Leach pass at the Michigan 48 and returned it to the 16. White rushed for 5 and 2 yards and then McDonald found Brenner in traffic for the touchdown with only 4:13 gone.

Willner's field goal cut the margin to 7-3 after 1:23 of the second period.

Then came the touchdown by White, who fumbled on the play as he reached the end zone. Officials ruled he had scored before losing the ball, but Michigan claimed the bobble came before he crossed the goal line.

Going into the game Southern Cal was ranked third nationally behind Penn State and Alabama, with Michigan No. 5.

Southern Cal bases its bid for national supremacy on its 24-14 victory over Alabama in the regular season, when its only loss was to Arizona State while compiling an 11-1 record. Michigan, never a bowl winner in 10 seasons under Bo Schembechler, went 10-1 — losing only to Michigan State — before bowing to Southern Cal.

In the 51-yard drive, White gained 25 yards in four carries and fullback Lynn Cain 24 in three.

Yeoman Defends Gamble

DALLAS (AP) — The biting north wind, gusting up to 30 miles per hour and driving the chill factor well below zero had dictated the tempo of the Cotton Bowl all afternoon. And things were no different when the Houston Cougars gambled on a key fourth-down play late in the game.

With 35 seconds remaining and the upstart Cougars nursing a 34-28 advantage over surging Notre Dame, Houston chose to chance a fourth and one at their own 29 yard line rather than punt into the chilling wind.

"We were kicking the ball 10 or 12 yards into the wind," Houston coach Bill Yeoman said in explaining the decision. "Plus we had a kid (center Chuck Brown) with a very bad wrist snapping the ball. I was completely responsible for that call."

Houston's ace running back Emmett King was stopped cold by a solid wall of Notre Dame defenders. The Irish took over possession and got the winning points as time expired.

"That was not a bad move at all. We felt we could make it," said Houston quarterback Danny Davis. "Everybody thought we could. I realize that some fans might have wanted us to punt, but we didn't have time to take a survey."

"If it came up in the same situation, I'd go for it again," said King.

On the previous play, Houston's J.J. Wyatt had fluttered a pitiful 21-yard punt into the wind. But Notre Dame was penalized for off sides, giving Houston the opportunity to gamble.

The Cougars, hoping to gain the prestige that goes with a victory over fabled Notre Dame, had ridden the wind to a 34-12 lead in the third quarter. Then the Fighting Irish, who had scored all 12 of their points with the winds in the first period got it back.

"It was kind of like our go-ahead in the third quarter," Yeoman said of the Irish rally. "They just got one more point out of their comeback than we did out of our go-ahead."

"Anything can happen in football. I guess everything did happen," said Davis.

Penn State Players Offer No Excuses

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Penn State's football team is composed of college kids, but they took the loss of the most important game of their lives New Year's day like adults.

There wasn't a whimper, a tear, a recrimination or an excuse in the Penn State dressing room after their heartbreaking 14-7 loss to Alabama in the Sugar Bowl.

The No. 1-ranked Nittany Lions lost the national collegiate football championship on the synthetic turf of New Orleans' Superdome. But from Coach Joe Paterno on down, the Lions, who came into the game 11-0 and seeking the university's first national crown, conceded the title to Alabama's Crimson Tide.

Of course there are other pretenders to the throne that voters must consider when they cast their ballots for Wednesday's final AP poll.

Penn State's vote, however, went to Alabama.

"We had to win, so we're out of it," conceded Paterno, a deeply hurt but gracious loser. "I think Alabama beat an awfully good football team today. They have as good a record as anyone. They should be No. 1."

All-American quarterback Chuck Fusina had a day to be forgotten, throwing four interceptions and being sacked five times by the Alabama defenders. "I said before the game that this was for No. 1," he said. "They won it. They're No. 1."

Fullback Matt Suhey, who was stopped inches short of the tying touchdown in the fourth quarter on the first of two running plays inside Alabama's 1 yard line with more than six minutes left, agreed.

"I think they are No. 1. I don't know how the politicking goes, but they beat us. Last year, Notre dame beat No. 1 Texas and Notre Dame got it. So should Alabama."

Of his failure to pick up the key yard, Suhey said, "I didn't get a great jump. I didn't really get the height. You figure in two tries you should get at least one yard."

Mike Guman carried on the second try, which was fourth down.

"The linebackers just plugged the gap," he said. "They stopped me, that's all there is to it. I thought the play would go, but they just played excellent defense."

Fusina was asked if he would rather have tried another play instead of those two dives into the heart of the iron-clad Alabama line.

"I thought Matt and Mike ran as hard as they could," he replied. "Basically, we go at it. It's our bread and butter style. We stayed with it. Their linebackers made the good plays."

Paterno tried to take the onus off his rushed team.

"I was proud of my kids," said the coach, the hurt in losing his big chance at a first national title etched in his face. "They kept coming back right to the end. They had a chance to win. But they (Alabama) out-coached us."

Paterno said his team wasn't ready for some of the things Alabama did defensively in the first half.

"They used some blitzes we had not seen before," said the Penn State coach.

Late in the fourth quarter, Penn State was caught with 12 men on the field on an Alabama punt that would have given the Lions the ball at the Crimson Tide 20 yard line.

Paterno refused to name the culprit, but said somewhat sardonically, "We won one that way one time in a bowl game (15-14 over Kansas in 1968), and now we blew one the same way. That's the first time that's happened to us in five years."

Paterno said Alabama simply beat his team at the line of scrimmage.

...While ND Celebrates Comeback

Notre Dame Athletic Director Moose Krause grabbed Coach Dan Devine by the shoulders and said "Dan, that's the greatest comeback in Notre Dame history."

"Ah, come on Moose, you say that every time," responded Devine, who then conceded, "I am a little excited."

Notre Dame trailed 34-12 before quarterback Joe Montana put on one of his patented comebacks for a 35-34 victory over Houston in the Cotton Bowl despite a bad case of the chills that kept him in the dressing room for the third quarter.

"I wasn't sick, I was just shivering," said Montana, who scored one touchdown and then hit Chris Haines with a scoring pass as time ran out on the clock to tie the score. Joe Unis then had to boot twice for the winning extra point.

But if Haines and Montana, who earlier got into a personal squabble, hadn't combined for the big play, Unis would have never lived his fantasy.

"It's called 91," said Haines. "It's a quick out pattern. We ran it with six seconds left, but I got a little mixed up." The pass was incomplete, but Montana didn't give up on the play.

"Joe asked me if I could beat my man again," said Haines. "I said yes."

"Joe and I got into an argument earlier when I ran a wrong pattern but we patched it up and apologized to each other. I was hurting and it was cold and I started feeling sorry for myself. Then I looked around and saw the others weren't quitting so I told myself I couldn't quit."

Tide Now Waits For Final Poll

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — There were no exuberant shouts of "We're No. 1" in the Alabama dressing room — more an atmosphere of quiet expectation — after the Crimson Tide knocked off top-ranked Penn State in the Sugar Bowl Monday.

After being burned in last year's final football season rankings, second-ranked Alabama wasn't getting its hopes up too high.

"I wouldn't say it's necessarily a bad year when you don't get the No. 1 ranking," said Alabama quarterback Jeff Rutledge. "But when you should have gotten it and don't, that's bad."

Last year, Notre Dame beat Texas and vaulted over Alabama to the top ranking even though the Crimson Tide won its bowl game.

"We're sort of calm because of what happened last year," Rutledge said. "We'll have to wait to see what happens."

Running back Tony Nathan said he agreed.

"We beat the best team we've played all year. They were strong and well coached. And we just took it to them," Nathan said.

That was an indirect dig at Southern California which handed Alabama its only loss this season.

Southern California played Michigan later New Year's day in the Rose Bowl, and Oklahoma met Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.

Line backer Barry Krauss said the atmosphere in the Alabama dressing room was subdued because of fatigue rather than doubt over the national championship.

Krauss was named the game's most valuable player, the first time since 1953 that a defensive player has been so honored.

"This is what I've worked for all year," Krauss said. "We've devoted ourselves to winning the national championship."

It was Krauss who stopped Penn State inches short of a fourth-quarter touchdown on a fourth-and-goal from six inches away.

"Stopping them that way, that's the greatest feeling ever," Krauss said. "We left everything out on the field."

Offensive guard Jim Bunch, who spend his afternoon butting heads with Penn State's stout defensive tackle Bruce Clark, said he remembered clearly his disappointment at the end of last season.

"Without a doubt I feel we should be national champions," Bunch said. "I feel the same way I felt last year after we beat Ohio State."

Cagers Back In Action

Weather permitting, local high school cagers will bounce back into action tonight after taking the past three days off.

The only local game on tap pits Coronado, the second place finisher at the ABC Caprock basketball tournament, against Amarillo High, starting at 8 p.m. in the Coronado gym.

Also on tap, Monterey travels to Pampa, Lamesa hosts Estacado and Lubbock High visits Palo Duro. All games are slated for 8 p.m. starts.

Dunbar, Lubbock Christian and Christ the King will all take the evening off, but will be back in action Friday night.

In girls' play, Pampa visits Monterey, Coronado travels to Amarillo High, Estacado entertains Sweetwater and Lubbock High hosts Palo Duro. The four games will also begin at 8 p.m.

Pope Asks World Peace

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II welcomed the new year Monday by reciting a special "peace prayer" asking for an end to wars and hatred.

Speaking on the Roman Catholic Church's "World Day of Peace," the 58-year-old pontiff directed his "Buon Anno" (Happy New Year) wishes to the sick, imprisoned and those held by kidnapers in Italy.

His prayer for peace paraphrased the Lord's Prayer: "Deliver us from war, from hatred, from the destruction of human life!

Don't let us kill!

Don't let anyone use those means at the service of death and destruction ... don't let them ever be used!

Deliver us from evil! Defend us from war! From any war! Our father who art in heaven, father of life and supplier of peace, it is the pope who begs you, son of a nation (Poland) which in its history and particularly in this century has been one of the most tried in horror, cruelty, the catalism of war.

He begs you for all the people in the world, for all countries and for all continents.

He begs you in the name of Christ, the Prince of Peace.

The pope also issued a papal message for the day, entitled "To Reach Peace, Teach Peace." The message, released 10 days ago, asked "all of you who desire peace to make gestures of peace, even audacious ones, to break free from viccious cycles and from the deadweight of passions inherited from history."

After Monday's Mass, the pontiff appeared at the balcony of his apartment in the ornate Apostolic Palace and, calling himself "the pastor and father of all humanity," mentioned his efforts to bring peace to war-torn Lebanon and mediate the territorial dispute between Argentina and Chile about ownership of lands at the southernmost tip of South America.

He called the efforts "two delicate situations," and said "the Holy See felt it was its duty to take specific initiatives."

The pope said the Vatican's efforts in both cases were given "cordial reception by both the authorities and the population."

Taiwan Economy Rated Healthy Despite Political Switch

TAIPEI, Taiwan (UPI) — It will be business as usual for booming Taiwan despite President Carter's switch of recognition to Peking Monday. Experts say the end of 65 years of diplomatic ties is unlikely to harm Taiwan's rich economy.

The United States has long been Nationalist China's biggest trading partner, but authorities have said repeatedly Taiwan's economic policies toward the United States and the rest of the world would remain unchanged after the break.

The government will continue to develop heavy and sophisticated industries, promote free trade and encourage foreign investment.

Following a record 12.97 percent economic growth in 1978, the government has set a moderate growth rate of 8.5 percent for 1979 with a per capita income target of $1,631, up from $1,304.

The forecast for foreign trade is an increase from $24 billion in 1978 to $35 billion with the United States still the biggest buyer.

Official statistics show that trade between Taiwan and America will amount to $7.5 billion in 1978 with a $2.7 billion surplus in favor of Taiwan. The United States will absorb 40.3 percent of the island's exports while providing 21.6 percent of its imports.

A trade agreement signed by the two countries last week, in which each side agreed to about $3 billion of concessions by reducing tariffs and other measures, will further strengthen the commercial ties.

Several foreign investors have assured the Taiwan government of their future expansion projects despite the U.S. switch and abrogation of the mutual defense treaty.

L.R. Wolter, president of RCA Taiwan, said foreign investments here will continue to grow and "RCA's business operations in Taiwan will continue as before."

RCA Taiwan, which has over 9,000 employees, exported $96.3 million worth of products in 1977.

R.A. Schieber, president of General Instruments, said, "President Carter's decision will not affect our business in Taiwan. We have been here for a long time and we intend to stay here."

Taiwan depends heavily on foreign firms for technical know-how.

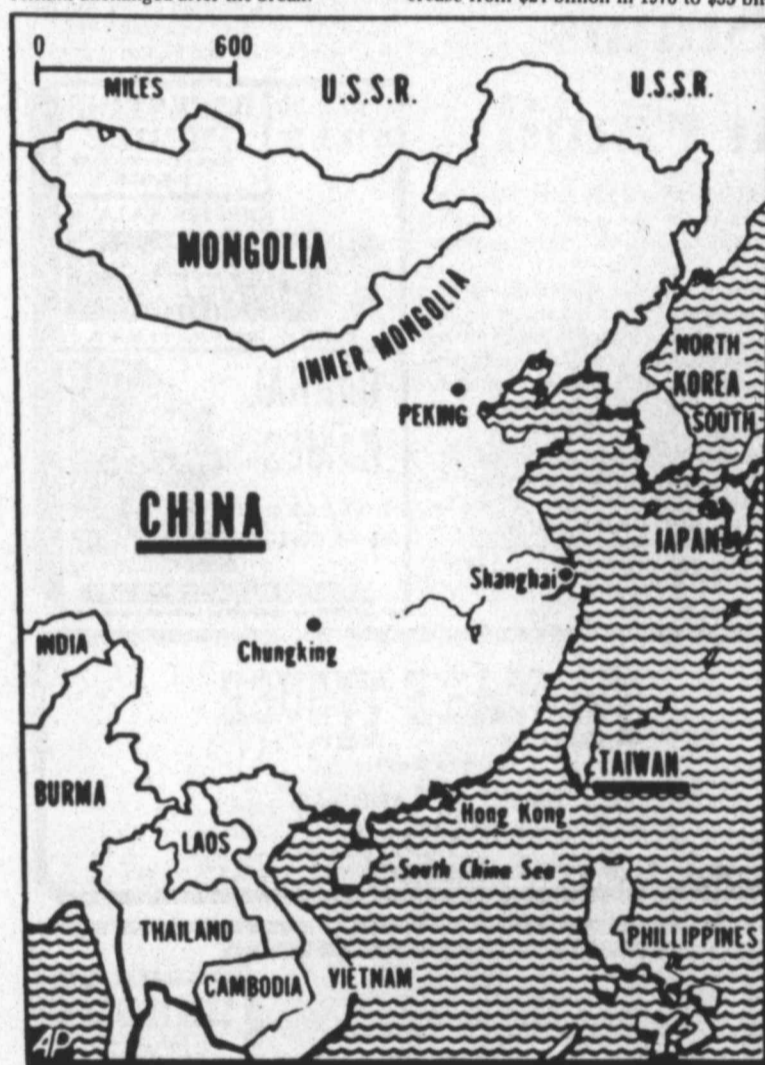

It also relies on the United States for more than half of its foreign credits. As of the end of 1978, outstanding loans from U.S. banks totalled $2.2 billion. The total of foreign loans is some $3.5 billion.

Citibank is one of the foreign banks which assured a continued business with Taiwan.

"We will continue here," a bank spokesman said. "We will continue to be generous to our present customers and will have selected new customers in the future. I see good growth for next year."

Some American businessmen do worry about Peking's attempt to isolate Taiwan economically by refusing trade agreements with U.S. companies unless they give up their Taiwan contracts.

"I hope Congress recognizes and passes legislation to protect Taiwan from such efforts," said Robert Parker, president of the American Chamber of Commerce in Taiwan.

Farm Prices Index Matches Five-Year-Old Increase Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Boosted by higher prices for meat animals and other major commodities, the government's farm price index rose another 3 percent in December and matched the record set more than five years ago.

The Agriculture Department said higher prices for cattle, hogs, eggs, calves, corn and soybeans contributed most to the gain in the price index from November.

Another factor has been a thriving export market, a record of $27.3 billion worth of farm commodities shipped abroad in the year that ended Sept. 30, and prospects that China, the Soviet Union and other countries will continue as important customers.

The USDA says that retail food prices are going up an average of about 10 percent this year and they may average 7.5 percent higher in 1979.

However, department experts say the actual 1979 food price increase could range between 6 percent and 10 percent, depending on the weather and other factors, including inflation.

About 60 cents of each grocery dollar spent by consumers at supermarkets is paid to process, transport and sell food after it leaves the farm. Thus, grocery costs will rise regardless of what happens to farm prices as long as inflation boosts the costs of middlemen.

The December parity ratio for farm commodities was 72 percent, compared to 70 in November and 66 a year ago, the Crop Reporting Board said.

At 100 percent, the indicator would mean that theoretically farmers have the same buying power they had in 1910-14. For example, the December corn price was $2.07 a bushel — 54 percent of the December parity for corn of $3.81 a bushel.

The report also said: — Cattle averaged $54.10 per 100 pounds of live weight nationally in December, compared to $51.50 in November and $35.50 in December 1977. Those are average prices for all types of cattle sold as beef.

— Hogs averaged $48.00 per 100 pounds, compared to $46.70 in November and $41.50 a year ago.

— Wheat was $2.99 a bushel at the farm nationally in December, according to preliminary figures, compared to $3.04 in November and $2.47 a year ago.

— Corn was $2.07 a bushel, compared to $2.02 in November and $1.96 in December 1977.

— Soybeans were $6.53 a bushel, compared to $6.39 in November and $5.69 a year ago.

— Upland cotton was 61.3 cents a pound on a national average, compared to 61.1 in November and 47.9 cents in December 1977.

— Eggs were 61.6 cents a dozen at the farm against 56.8 in November and 53.6 a year earlier.

— Broiler chickens were 24.9 cents a pound, compared to 24.7 cents in November and 20.2 a year ago.

Congressional Agriculture Chairmen Want USDA Reorganization Stopped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairmen of Congress' agriculture committees are urging President Carter "in the strongest possible terms" to abandon reorganization plans that would transfer some key functions from the Agriculture Department.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., and Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., told Carter that such a shift "would reduce the effectiveness of government service to the people and hamper efforts to meet the nation's growing needs for food" and other resources.

The two commented in a letter to Carter dated Dec. 28 and made public Monday.

They referred to reorganization plans reportedly under review that would strip the Agriculture Department of the Forest Service and some conservation and rural development programs.

One plan calls for parts of the Soil Conservation Service to be put into a new Department of Natural Resources.

Another would transfer some rural development programs from the Farmers Home Administration, or FmHA as the agency calls itself, into a new Department of Community and Economic Development built around the existing Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Sources said late last week that all or key parts of those proposals have been cleared by top members of the reorganization task force but had not yet been submitted to Carter.

The sources, who asked not to be identified, said that the earliest the president is expected to announce any reorganization proposal is in his State of the Union address to Congress later this month.

In their letter to Carter, Foley and Talmadge said: "As we indicated previously, we wish to cooperate with you in every possible way to make government better."

But, they added, the blueprints for the Agriculture Department "only accomplish a moving of organizational boxes" within government.

"They will not save money," the Senate and House committee chairmen said. "They will not improve service. They will not be acceptable to rural America. We respectfully urge, in the strongest possible terms, that you decide to reject these proposals."

Talmadge and Foley also said that any reorganization of federal programs in resource areas "must be based on the need to manage our vast complex of crop, forest and grass lands to produce the food and fiber that the nation will increasingly need."

Thus, they said, a stronger Agriculture Department will be required, not one that is weakened by removal of some of its most important functions.

Carter was told that the transfer of FmHA rural development programs to "an urban-oriented department would hamper efforts to develop rural areas" and that Congress provided the agency with a $12 billion mission "precisely because other agencies were not serving rural needs."

Surgeons Restore Leg To Train Victim

CENTRAL ISLIP, N.Y. (AP) — A team of doctors worked eight hours to re-attach the severed right leg of an 11-year-old Long Island girl run over by a train.

The girl, Elizabeth McFadden, was reported "doing beautifully" Monday by the head nurse at Smithtown General Hospital. One of her doctors said prospects for recovering use of the leg were good.

"We're very optimistic," said Dr. Gerald Wertlieb, an orthopedic surgeon. "The leg is pink and warm and certainly seems to show that it's going to live."

The girl's leg was severed at mid-thigh by a westbound Long Island Rail Road train about 1 p.m. Sunday.

She was running across the track near the Carlton Avenue station, but fell with one leg across the tracks as the train rolled past.

"She didn't, fortunately, suffer other injuries," Wertlieb said. "The cut of the leg was quite jagged, but the leg itself was not crushed and mangled."

"Essentially, it was intact, but the train destroyed a portion of the bone that can never be replaced," he said.

The doctor and head nurse both praised the response of the Central Islip-Hauppauge Community Ambulance crew, which brought the girl and her leg to the hospital.

"Their first aid was fantastic in caring for the limb," said the nurse, who asked that her name not be used. "They knew just what to do with it. They put the limb in splints, covered the splints with ice and kept traction on it until it got to the hospital."

The girl was in surgery before 3 p.m. Joining Wertlieb were plastic surgeons Bruce Nadler and Michael Mamakos and vascular specialist Sultan Mohiuddin.

Monday morning she asked whether she had a wooden leg or her own, and nodded when told her own leg was re-attached, the nurse said.

Wertlieb said all she was feeling at this time was pain, "but less than might be expected. She told me this morning it was not too bad."

Wertlieb said it was the first time in his memory and that of his colleagues that so extensive a re-attachment had been performed in the New York metropolitan area.

Report Says Winter Wheat 'Acceptable'

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Most of the 1979 winter wheat crop has been planted and is up to "acceptable standards," the January edition of the Santa Fe Crop Report says.

"Some areas have had trouble with germination due to lack of moisture," the monthly summary of conditions in the main winter wheat growing belt of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Colorado said.

"Southwestern and drier areas of northeastern and northwestern Colorado have had a spotty emergence. Mild weather enabled producers to reseed some fields," the report added.

It said dry conditions have stunted the 1979 crop's growth in western Kansas, but that the wheat generally across the five-state region served by the Santa Fe Railroad "remains in good condition."

While the Oklahoma wheat crop is in generally good condition, the report said, the western panhandle areas need more moisture and warmer weather to stimulate growth.

The Texas wheat got a "good to excellent" rating, but said recent cold weather has slowed growth.

Grazing in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas "is far below normal levels," it added, with just 27 percent of the winter wheat acreage in those three states up with sufficient growth to support cattle grazing.

That compares with an average of 41 percent.

The summary said western Kansas has only 10 percent of its wheat able to support grazing, and only about three percent of it is being grazed this winter.

Ex-Filipino Leader Denounces Marcos

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Former President Diosdado Macapagal on Monday urged President Carter to stop supporting the six-year-old martial-law government of President Ferdinand E. Marcos.

Macapagal said in a statement that Marcos, his successor, tolerates human rights violations and has mismanaged the economy.

He quoted a World Bank report as saying foreign borrowing under Marcos rose from $600 million to $8 billion. He said the money was "spent largely for non-productive inflationary and frivolous purposes like hotels, resorts, giant buildings ... foreign trips, lavish gift-giving, and other luxuries of high-style living."

Arab Prince Plans 'Solidarity' Tour

JIDDA, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Saudi Arabia's Crown Prince Fahd will soon tour several Arab states "to bolster Arab solidarity," the daily newspaper Al Medina reported Monday.

The report did not name the countries the prince would visit, but it said he would deliver letters from King Khaled to heads of state.

The Saudis have sought to calm the inter-Arab disputes over Egypt's unilateral peace drive with Israel. They have said the Camp David accords between Egypt and Israel are an inadequate framework for a comprehensive Middle East peace.

French Actor Famous Everywhere But U.S.

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) - He has the face of a silent screen idol, but behind those classic features is a mind of steel.
Alain Delon has been an international film star for 20 years, his popularity approaching the point of hysteria in South America, Japan and other parts of the world. Yet he can walk through the airports of the United States virtually unrecognized.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - He has the face of a silent screen idol, but behind those classic features is a mind of steel.

Delon comes to Hollywood at a time when the European film industry has been seriously ailing. His analysis:
"The film industry in Europe has been going down for political as well as economic reasons. Italy has been hard hit by the current uncertainty. There is no more German film industry, Spain is strictly local. England has been having great difficulties, and we feel the pressure in France, too. The industry needs a little oxygen.

NBC Views Status Of American Family

NEW YORK (AP) - "We've been liberated from family responsibility by the liberals," satirist Mort Sahl says. "They were the ones that laughed at Norman Rockwell. The question is, what are they replacing him with?"

need for bonding is absolutely necessary, but under the pressures of society, the definition of the family is changing radically.
"We point out that as our faith in political institutions began to crack, as our religion began to weaken, people began to retreat more and more into personal relationships, and that means the family."

Fairy Tale Shows Draw Large Crowds To German Theaters

HAMBURG, West Germany (UPI) - Who's afraid of the big bad wolf, witches, evil stepmothers and all the other fearsome characters immortalized by the Grimm brothers in their fairy tales?
West Germany's theaters are not least of all at holiday time. Little Red Riding Hood, Hansel and Gretel, Cinderella, Rumpelstiltskin, kings, queens and princesses step from the pages of the books on to the stages of theaters throughout the country.

Sunday finery for children went out of fashion in Germany years ago. It is resurrected when these youngsters go to the theater. They come dressed in velvet and ruffled white shirts, patent leather shoes and bow ties and wear their hair slicked down.
They often come by the busload, because many teachers take their classes.
For an hour and a half, they sit spellbound, suffering and laughing with their heroes or heroines. They groan in agony when things get worse before they can get better.

ter ought to be as matter of course for them as brushing their teeth," Ernst Simon of Hamburg's Ernst-Deutsch Theater said.
Ida Ehre, grande dame of German theater and respected director of her small Kammerspiele in Hamburg, has found a compromise.
"We just read the tales, because we have found that when these stories are spoken by different characters, we can get the children to concentrate fully. There is nothing to distract them; no scenery, no actors, no action."

Plane Explosion Simulated For Movie

OPA-LOCKA, Fla. (AP) - Bystanders at the Opa-Locka airport next week may believe they're seeing a DC-8 jet veer off the runway and hit a building, causing a spectacular explosion.
But it will only be a sequence staged by a movie company.
After the smoke clears, the DC-8 is to be cleaned up and put back in service with its owner, an air cargo firm.

appear to veer into a radar building. One of the jet engines explodes. A huge fireball boils up.
Boyce Harman, production manager for the film, said the stunt will be staged by building a "radar shack" of extremely light plastic foam that blows apart easily.
One outboard jet engine will be removed from the DC-8 and replaced by a mockup built of foam and light balsa wood. Small charges will be used to blast the mockup engine into pieces.

His plan was the answer to the sprouting political theaters for children and young people in the mid and late 1960s.
"I do not want to indoctrinate children. I just want to present good theater for an audience that is not adult," Deeken said.
Presentations range from pure entertainment to real food for thought. He concentrates on the 5-to-10 age group.
The opening hit 10 years ago was "Pippi Longstocking," adapted from Astrid Lindgren's book. He has dared to tackle such difficult material as Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist" and Antoine de Saint-Exupery's "Little Prince."

Volcanoes Emit Fluorocarbons Despite Clean Air Regulations

By HOLLY KURTZ
VOLCANOES NATIONAL PARK, Hawaii (AP) — Madame Pele, the Hawaiian goddess of the volcano, may have some surprises for the Environmental Protection Agency, the office that sets safe limits for potentially harmful chemicals. And those surprises could have an impact on industrial anti-pollution requirements. Studies at Hawaiian Volcanoes National Park show that its active volcanoes may emit halocarbons, a chemical group that includes fluorocarbons, which are suspected of being harmful to the atmosphere's ozone layer. That layer shields the Earth from the sun's ultraviolet rays, which can cause skin cancer. The two volcanoes are 4,090-foot Kilauea, which last erupted in September 1977, and 13,680-foot Mauna Loa, which last erupted in July 1975. Both are located on the island of Hawaii. The gas studies were preliminary, and many more experiments must be performed before conclusions are drawn, said Gordon Eaton, former scientist in

Paper Asks Readers To Editorialize

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Globe readers served up a bitter holiday punch Monday in editorials solicited by the newspaper.

Of those published, including 21 letters, a poem and a cartoon, many dealt with predictable topics: the horrors of Guyana, the evils of television and the endangered environment. But more than half criticized what writers described as a pervasive emphasis on commercial rather than inner values facing Americans in 1979.

The responses, the Globe said, "proved that literacy, intelligence and informed concern are very much alive in the Bay State." "The most underdeveloped resource in America is a sense of responsibility," Newton biochemist Louis N. Irwin wrote. "Let the poverty persist, the crime continue, the afflicted ... go without care so long as our taxes stay low. 'Owe nothing, offer nothing' seems to be our creed."

A retired manufacturer from Duxbury, Richard K. Patrick, called the era in which Americans find themselves "Greed, Gravy and Grab."

"Instead of caring about the human rights violations in Iran, we only care about how much we're going to have to pay to fill our precious cars," Richard Kolkof, a Winthrop clerk, wrote in an editorial comparing Woodstock and the peace movement of the 1960s with Howard Jarvis and the new conservatism of the 1970s.

A Marblehead homemaker expressed anguish at the fact that "Mom and Dad stand alone" in trying to protect their children from these outer forces. "The way we do business today," Linda R. Weltner wrote, "the concept of a free market has been transformed into a war against the human spirit, and homes have become just another target in a fire zone."

The Globe announced on Dec. 15 it would open its editorial pages to readers for one day "in the interests of provoking serious thought about priorities for Boston, for New England, for the nation and for the world in the months ahead."

YOUR PERSONAL BIORHYTHMS

By Bernard Gittelson, Author of "Biorhythm: A Personal Science"

The personal science of biorhythm can tell you how your day will go. Now you can judge the highs and lows of not only yourself, but loved ones and friends, and celebrities and stars. Biorhythm, our newest scientific discipline, is the study of the built-in natural cycles that powerfully influence our behavior.

Step 3: In the figure chart, enter your day of birth three times, one each for Physical (P), Emotional (E) and Intellectual (I). (If you were born on April 3, for instance, place a 3 in each column.) Add the three columns to derive your permanent biorhythm numbers for your Physical, Emotional and Intellectual cycles. Now you can refer to today's rhythms.

Charge of the U.S. Geological Survey's volcano observatory in the park.

"If volcanoes generate fluorocarbons, it will have a significant impact on whether industrial applications are doing as much harm as we thought," said Tom Casadevall, a gas geochemist at the observatory. The EPA has proposed that fluorocarbons be banned from use in refrigeration systems and in aerosol spray cans, such as hair sprays and deodorants. The proposal has caused controversy in scientific and industrial circles.

An initial study of the volcanic gases came from Rei Rasmussen, a professor of atmospheric chemistry at the Oregon Graduate Center, a private research institute at Beaverton, Ore. Two months after the last Kilauea eruption, Rasmussen detected fluorocarbons coming from fumaroles, or vents from which gas and steam escape.

He also took samples at the summit of Mauna Loa and tests showed the presence of halocarbons, Eaton said. However, fluorocarbons were not among them. Scientists believe fluorocarbons and some other gases come not from the molten lava but from the vegetation that was sealed off and burned by the lava flow.

Rasmussen compared it to a smoldering campfire that is tightly covered. There is no evidence yet, Rasmussen said, that volcanoes produce large quantities of fluorocarbons when they are not active.

He said he wants to return for more studies to determine the exact composition and amounts of the chemicals during a volcano's eruptive and quiet times. At this point, he said, the chemical only has been identified, not measured, and the effect on residents is not known.

In his studies near Kilauea, Rasmussen also identified some toxic chemicals, including methylchloride, one of the top 10 substances on the EPA's first-choice list of compounds that must be studied as possible cancer-causing agents.

"We identified a Pandora's box," Rasmussen said. "We hadn't anticipated such large concentrations under cool conditions. We can only conjecture what is released when the lava flow is in its rosy orange state as it moves over vegetation."

The findings at Mauna Loa's summit also were a surprise. At the 13,000-foot level, there is no organic dirt or vegetation to produce the chemicals similar to those found at Kilauea, yet similar chemicals were identified, Rasmussen said.

"It makes the picture a bit more complicated. But it doesn't change the premise that most toxic gas is the result of hot lava or vegetation," he said. Scientists agree that many questions are unanswered. "There's no doubt Rasmussen measured fluorocarbons," Casadevall said. "But we need to know the source and how it was generated."

Coal Miners Predict Production Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Coal Association says it expects to mine a record 713 million tons of coal in 1979, a 10.4 percent increase over 1978 production. Carl E. Bagge, the association president, said in a year-end statement that 1978 was "a disaster year for the coal industry," with a drop in foreign demand and production dropping 11 percent in the eastern half of the country due to the lengthy coal miners' strike early in the year.

But production increased in the West, Bagge said, so total production in 1978 reached 646 million tons. And Bagge said with the new year beginning and many of 1978's problems behind, "We expect continued growth in coal production in the years ahead as the nation shifts increasingly to coal for its energy supply."

High Court To Decide Rights Of Unwed Fathers

By MARGARET GENTRY
WASHINGTON (AP) — As a curly-haired child of seven, David wasn't old enough to understand the battle among the people dear to him. But he was old enough, according to a New York judge, to "express love for both his fathers."

That was two years ago, and the battle has finally reached the last forum, the U.S. Supreme Court. It is the age-old story of a love affair gone sour, the father and mother fighting each other for rights to the children, the children caught in the middle.

But this case is different because David and his sister Denise were born to parents who never married. The complications arising from their relationship to each other, to their new spouses and to their children presents the courts with issues they have rarely confronted.

The high court decision this year will determine whether Abdie Caban will ever again see his son and daughter and could have broader ramifications for a growing number of men who cherish the children they father out of wedlock.

The legal dispute is partly a product of the broad changes of the past decade.

More and more men and women live together without being married — and without being stigmatized. American women gave birth to nearly a half-million babies out of wedlock in 1975, more than 14 per cent of all births that year, according to the Census Bureau.

Against this background, the Supreme Court must consider whether unwed fathers should have the same legal rights to their children as divorced fathers.

"Historically, the law provided no rights at all to the fathers of illegitimate children," University of Georgia law professor Paul M. Kurtz wrote in an analysis of the Caban case. "While unwed fathers are often anonymous... there are a number who take a great interest in raising and supporting their children. Any decision interpreting their rights can be very important."

Abdie Caban was not one of those unwed fathers who drop out of sight at the first hint of a child on the way. His love affair with Maria Acevedo became a "marriage" in everything but the law.

It began in 1968. Maria was 18 and had known Caban all her life. They were Puerto Ricans in Brooklyn and their families were neighbors. As their relationship blossomed, Maria moved in with Caban, took his name and lived as his wife. She would testify later that they savored one year of harmony before tough times came.

Money, or rather the lack of it, apparently was a problem. In later testimony, Maria complained that Caban contributed only $30 a week for food while she paid all of the medical and household expenses and bought the crib when David was born in July 1969.

Soon after the baby was born, she went back to her secretarial job. Two years later, Denise was born, and the tough times grew worse.

Subsequent court testimony was filled with the same sort of bitter accusations that flow through the records of innumerable divorces. He drank too much, she ran around, and on and on, spelled out on the public record in embarrassing detail.

At any rate, Maria felt "she had nowhere to go until she met Kazim Mohammed," her attorney, Morris Schulslager, wrote in a brief.

In December 1973, Maria took her children, left Caban and moved in with Mohammed. They were married a month later, Maria was 22.

The children lived with their mother and stepfather during the week and spent weekends with their father. Then in the summer of 1974, the Mohammeds sent the children to stay with Maria's mother in Puerto Rico. According to court records, Caban grew increasingly disturbed, went to Puerto Rico and brought his children back to New York.

What was a family matter became an issue for the law. Maria won a court order granting her temporary custody but allowing Caban to visit. It was shaping up as just another divorce case even though there had been no divorce and no marriage.

Then Maria and Kazim Mohammed filed a petition to adopt David and Denise. Caban, by now married, filed his own petition to adopt.

The local judge found no fault with either set of parents but concluded that it was in the children's best interest to live with the Mohammeds. He granted their adoption petition.

Under the law, this severed Caban's rights to his children. He has no right to seek custody, no right to visit them, no claim to them if their mother should die.

"He's a legal stranger to his own children," his lawyer, Robert Silk, said in a telephone interview. "He hasn't seen them for a couple of years and it's eating his heart out. He has run out of money, he's lost his house, he's simply exhausted himself financially." Caban is a telephone company worker making about $268 a week, according to court records.

New York law allows the mother of an illegitimate child to veto petitions to adopt the child but does not give that right to unwed fathers. Caban's lawyer argues that this is an unconstitutional denial of due process and equal protection of the law.

But the Mohammeds' attorney contends that the local court gave Caban an ample opportunity to make his case so his rights were protected.

Lawyers for the American Civil Liberties Union, supporting Caban's appeal, note that 20 other states allow illegitimate children to be adopted without the father's consent.

In cases where the unwed father has taken no interest in the child, it may be reasonable to allow adoptions without his consent, the ACLU said. But when an unwed father has shown affection and concern for his children, the ACLU argues, it is simply wrong for the court to say he is no longer their father.

Billy Carter Praises Jimmy Assails Aides, Anita Bryant

NEW YORK (UPI) — Billy Carter says his brother Jimmy is "probably the most brilliant man I've ever known." But his opinion of some fellow Georgians on the White House staff ranges from the unflattering to the unprintable and he adds: "I don't trust any of them enough to talk to them."

The president's younger brother made his assessments in a free-wheeling, obscenity-punctuated interview in Penthouse magazine's February issue.

He also disclosed that the State Department made a special request to him and his mother, Lillian, some time ago not to visit Taiwan. The reason given, Billy said vaguely, was "Chinese politics."

And he charged the Internal Revenue Service spent "about $150,000" auditing his financial records but recouped only $74 "for the beer (from his filling station) that I gave away and drank myself and didn't pay for."

He said the IRS discriminated against him because he is the president's brother.

Billy offered a low opinion of some of his brother's top advisers.

"Jimmy's got too many young kids around him — Jody Powell, Hamilton Jordan — to know what's going on... I think what he's got now is infighting on the staff. Frankly, I don't trust any of them enough to talk to them."

He called adviser Charles Kirbo "about the dumbest b— I've ever met in my life." He said press secretary Powell "would be better off running a farm in Vienna, (Ga.)."

As for Jordan, "He's a kid... I don't know what the hell Hamilton does."

Billy reiterated his oft-expressed admiration of Richard Nixon and George Wallace but had harsh words for anti-homosexual crusader Anita Bryant.

"Really, I think she's full of s—, a friend of my wife and mine is a staunch lesbian, and the guy who cuts my hair is as gay as he can be. I still consider them friends of mine. What they want to do after they get off work ain't none of my business."

Billy said he believes the press has "crucified" his brother "but I think he's doing a good job."

"It's bad to say now," he continued, "but I think I'm probably more popular than Jimmy is in the United States right today."

He said he would work to help re-elect his brother "and I think he'll ask me to."

"I think it kinda helps him. I think I kinda offset his born-again Southern Baptist Christianity, if you know what I'm talking about."

Newark Fires Police, Demotes Officers

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — More than one-third of the police department's superior officers were demoted Monday to bolster lower ranks depleted by municipal layoffs, a police union official said.

"It has completely demoralized the police in the city. There's no chance for advancement, you can't be promoted," Thomas Possumato, president of the Fraternal Order of Police, said.

City officials were not available for comment.

In November the city announced it would lay off 441 municipal workers, including 200 patrolmen, to compensate for the loss of $10.8 million in federal anti-recession funds.

The layoffs, which also affected sanitation workers, engineers, recreational leaders and service employees, became effective New Year's Day.

The board of education, faced with a separate three-year budget deficit, also has started laying off up to 1,750 workers. The board layoffs are being done in stages and will be complete by Feb. 5.

Possumato said 91 of the police department's 282 officers above the rank of patrolman were reduced one rank with a corresponding reduction in pay and pension benefits. One rank represents a pay difference of about $2,000.

Possumato said the demotions were necessary because the department is structured in a "pyramid," the number of superior officers being pegged to the number of patrolmen. The department had 1,158 patrolmen before the pink slips were distributed.

"You can't have 200 police laid off and not have demotions," Possumato said. "It would offset the balance."

Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson, who ordered the layoffs, was out of the city for the holiday weekend and could not be reached for comment.

* If you are 40 through 64, the Ultimate Death Benefits shown above for your present age become effective at the end of your third policy year. If you are 65 or over, your Ultimate Death Benefits become effective at the end of your second policy year.

THE POLICY'S "RETURN OF ACCUMULATING PREMIUM DEPOSITS PERIOD" GUARANTEES THIS INSURANCE PROTECTION FOR YOU. HERE'S HOW IT WORKS.

If you are in the 40 through 64 age bracket when your policy is issued, and you should die of natural causes* before your policy has been in effect for three years, under this unique guaranteed provision your beneficiary will receive as a cash death benefit a sum equal to all the premiums you have paid in PLUS an additional cash accumulation at the annual rate of 10% compounded daily.

If you are age 65 or over when your policy is issued, and you should die of natural causes* before your policy has been in effect for two years, under this unique guaranteed provision your beneficiary will receive as a cash death benefit a sum equal to all the premiums you have paid in PLUS an additional cash accumulation at the annual rate of 10% compounded daily.

During this period (three years if you are under 65 and two years if you are 65 or over) there is a DOUBLE INDEMNITY accidental death benefit—double the amount of the natural death benefit payable during this period—if death should occur within 90 days following the date of an accident which is the sole and direct cause of death.

*ACCIDENTAL DEATH does not include death resulting from acts of war or insurrection, participation in riot, taking of poison or inhaling of gas, suicide, mental or bodily illness, and aircraft travel except as a fare paying passenger on a regularly scheduled passenger flight. Death from these causes is defined in the policy as death from NATURAL CAUSES.

After this period has been fulfilled, the full Guaranteed Ultimate Face Amount shown on the front of the policy is paid for death from any cause, including accident.

NO You cannot be turned down.

Absolutely not. If you are 40, 50, 60, 70, even 80 years of age. We guarantee you life insurance. And you can make all the arrangements yourself, in the privacy and comfort of your own home. No salesperson will ever call.

NO No health questions, no physical exam.

There's not a single medical question on the application—and you cannot be turned down—unless you are under forty or over eighty. You do not have to see a doctor or submit to a medical examination of any kind, regardless of your current state of health.

NO Your premium can never be increased.

Once you are enrolled, your payments never go up. And we cannot cancel your policy for any reason, as long as you keep up your payments.

NO Your benefits can never go down.

We cannot decrease your benefits at any time, for any reason. No matter how long you own your policy, and no matter what your state of health, your benefits are guaranteed to remain the same.

YES This policy accumulates cash values.

Over the years, your policy's cash values increase, creating a reserve fund that you can count on to be there. And to always be growing. These are living benefits, life insurance benefits you can enjoy while you are alive.

YES You are building a final estate.

No one wants to be a final burden on loved ones. That's why it's a good feeling to know that in the event of your death the policy's cash benefits—Preliminary or Ultimate Face Amount—are available immediately to your beneficiary. There's no long waiting period at a time when the bills might be piling up.

YES You can easily do it yourself.

When you send in this application, you're sending for your insurance policy. The only form you need, including the easy-to-understand instructions, is right here. All you have to do is read the instructions, fill out the application and mail it. We'll send you back an insurance policy, we guarantee it.

YES You can have a free look.

Once you receive your policy, you're not obligated in any way. You have 10 days to examine it. Read it over and decide for yourself if it is everything we've said it to be. You send no money until you've had time to make up your own mind. Your coverage begins as soon as you mail your first payment.

1. CHOOSE THE PROTECTION YOU NEED.

Study the chart above. It'll tell you how much protection you get at your age with each number of units, from one to six. (You'll note that benefits are different for men and for women.) You'll also notice that additional units are offered at a reduced rate: your first unit of protection is just $9.95 per month. And each additional unit is just $8.95.

2. FILL OUT AND SIGN YOUR APPLICATION.

Make sure you've marked the correct block indicating the amount of protection you need. And have signed the application.

3. SEND NO MONEY NOW.

Do not enclose a check or money order at this time. We want you to have a free look at this extraordinary policy at home without obligation. You have ten days to make up your own mind before you send money.

YEAR END SALE

PUBLIC NOTICE

FACT #1 Everything in our inventory on Jan. 1 is taxable. We had much rather cut 2 to 3 hundred dollars off the price than to pay the same amount in tax dollars.

FACT #2 After Jan. 1 the taxes paid on unsold cars must be considered expenses. In actuality this creates a consumer price increase.

Mortuary Gives Holiday Help

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Forest Lawn is famous, but not as a wayside stop with a sober up service. That's what it becomes on New Year's Eve.

This year, almost 400 revelers passed a few minutes at the four Forest Lawn mortuaries. Forest Lawn is not usually for survivors: its cemeteries are the last resting places of such Hollywood luminaries as Clark Gable, Alan Ladd and Nat King Cole.

But New Year's visitors to the four mortuaries in Los Angeles County weren't there to see the graves. They were there for coffee: offered up from 8:30 p.m. to 2:30 a.m. on New Year's Eve.

The mortuary advertises the special service by radio during the holidays, pointing out the highway death rate — about 50 statewide during the weekend — and advising drinkers to stop by and sober up.

"We have a few curiosity seekers who just want to find out if we are really doing it and we have some people who really need help," said Forest Lawn vice president Robert Wheeler. "Some people are sober enough to know they might need help."

The average stay is 30 minutes, and the average visitor drinks three cups of coffee. But not all visitors have been drinking.

And not all the passersby are newcomers — the sober up service is in its 11th year.

"We have one group that has come for four years. They bring their own cards and have a party at Forest Lawn-Glendale," Wheeler said. "We've had a lot of people who got cold waiting for the Tournament of Roses parade; they heard about us on the radio and came over for a cup of coffee at Forest Lawn-Glendale."

"One year a party of 40 broke up and they all came at once to Glendale. And a group of 31 revelers at a saloon in Cypress stopped and bought a sheet cake and brought it to the Cypress office. They cut it into 31 pieces and our host was kind of upset that they didn't even offer him a piece."

The mortuaries provide only coffee, but they're still popular with people who are "just looking for something to do, they're kind of lonely, or blue," said Wheeler.

At Forest Lawn in Glendale this year, 90 people dropped by. The mortuary served 120 cups of coffee. "No one was really drunk," said "host" Gary Neal. "Most were couples on their way home from a party. They stopped by here instead of stopping at a bar on the way home. They talked about the parties they had been to, what they'd eaten. It was just a pleasant visit."

Wheeler said the "parties" are like any social event — "some are kind of sodden and dull, while others are bright and everyone's telling stories about where they've been that night."

Union Head Knocks Layoffs

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Putting older policemen on the beat to replace young men laid off to save money will mean an upswing in crime because older officers can't chase "hoodlums," says the head of the local police union.

"The older men are not going to be chasing these hoodlums around," Thomas Possumato, head of the Fraternal Order of Police, said Monday. "They're going to let a lot of things go."

The 200 patrolmen, some on the force as long as 5 1/2 years, were sidelined beginning Monday in a budget crunch that forced the layoff of 441 city workers.

The layoffs were ordered by Mayor Kenneth Gibson after the loss of $10.8 million in federal anti-recession funds. Sanitation workers, engineers and recreational aides were also affected. In a separate budgetary shortfall, the board of education has begun laying off up to 1,750 workers.

"There is no doubt in my mind there's going to be a rise in crime," Possumato said.

The layoffs have forced the demotion of 91 officers.

"You can't have 200 police laid off and not have demotions," Possumato said. "It would offset the balance."

The union head said the police department, which had 1,158 patrolmen before the layoffs began, is built on a "pyramid" with the number of superior officers dependent on the number of patrolmen.

Two deputy chiefs were being demoted to inspector, two inspectors were named captains, three captains became lieutenants, 27 lieutenants were dropped to sergeant, while 57 sergeants were switched to patrolman, Possumato said.

The officers' paychecks will also be cut, Possumato said, and the demotions will affect their pensions.

"It has completely demoralized the police in the city. There's no chance for adancement, you can't be promoted," the union leader said. "It's totally demoralizing."

Gibson was out of the city for the holiday weekend and could not be reached for comment.

The mayor has previously said he is optimistic state legislators will ease the state law limiting increases in city budgets for operational expenses. The law now prevents Newark from tapping a $9 million surplus to pay its workers.

Group Lists 'Bad' Words

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — "You know" still tops the list of phrases in need of retirement, but it's a contagious saying, you know, as some word watchers have found.

The Society of Unicorn Hunters at Sault Ste. Marie State College — a group favoring the extinction of words and phrases that are misused, overused and pompous — made the point in its New Year's proclamation of misguided language.

The group asked 2,000 unicorn hunters around the country to nominate terms for literal and verbal exile, and for the second year in a row "you know" was nominated more often than any other saying.

There were more than 600 responses, according to professor Peter Thomas, poet-in-residence at the college and head of the unicorn society. The nominations included 68 "you knows," he said, demonstrating that the illness is contagious.

"Learning resources center," nominated by Richard Dahl of Eden Prairie, Minn., was banished only for "librarians who keep trying to apply it to their institutions."

Dishonorable Mention went to "beautiful" for loss of most of its original meaning. "viable alternative" and "irregardless and irrespective." The latter is composed of "double negatives in themselves and redundant to each other. A quadruple negative, I think," said Thomas.

* If you are 40 through 64, the Ultimate Death Benefits shown above for your present age become effective at the end of your third policy year. If you are 65 or over, your Ultimate Death Benefits become effective at the end of your second policy year.

THE POLICY'S "RETURN OF ACCUMULATING PREMIUM DEPOSITS PERIOD" GUARANTEES THIS INSURANCE PROTECTION FOR YOU. HERE'S HOW IT WORKS.

If you are in the 40 through 64 age bracket when your policy is issued, and you should die of natural causes* before your policy has been in effect for three years, under this unique guaranteed provision your beneficiary will receive as a cash death benefit a sum equal to all the premiums you have paid in PLUS an additional cash accumulation at the annual rate of 10% compounded daily.

If you are age 65 or over when your policy is issued, and you should die of natural causes* before your policy has been in effect for two years, under this unique guaranteed provision your beneficiary will receive as a cash death benefit a sum equal to all the premiums you have paid in PLUS an additional cash accumulation at the annual rate of 10% compounded daily.

During this period (three years if you are under 65 and two years if you are 65 or over) there is a DOUBLE INDEMNITY accidental death benefit—double the amount of the natural death benefit payable during this period—if death should occur within 90 days following the date of an accident which is the sole and direct cause of death.

*ACCIDENTAL DEATH does not include death resulting from acts of war or insurrection, participation in riot, taking of poison or inhaling of gas, suicide, mental or bodily illness, and aircraft travel except as a fare paying passenger on a regularly scheduled passenger flight. Death from these causes is defined in the policy as death from NATURAL CAUSES.

After this period has been fulfilled, the full Guaranteed Ultimate Face Amount shown on the front of the policy is paid for death from any cause, including accident.

- NO You cannot be turned down.
Absolutely not. If you are 40, 50, 60, 70, even 80 years of age. We guarantee you life insurance. And you can make all the arrangements yourself, in the privacy and comfort of your own home. No salesperson will ever call.
- NO No health questions, no physical exam.
There's not a single medical question on the application—and you cannot be turned down—unless you are under forty or over eighty. You do not have to see a doctor or submit to a medical examination of any kind, regardless of your current state of health.
- NO Your premium can never be increased.
Once you are enrolled, your payments never go up. And we cannot cancel your policy for any reason, as long as you keep up your payments.
- NO Your benefits can never go down.
We cannot decrease your benefits at any time, for any reason. No matter how long you own your policy, and no matter what your state of health, your benefits are guaranteed to remain the same.
- YES This policy accumulates cash values.
Over the years, your policy's cash values increase, creating a reserve fund that you can count on to be there. And to always be growing. These are living benefits, life insurance benefits you can enjoy while you are alive.
- YES You are building a final estate.
No one wants to be a final burden on loved ones. That's why it's a good feeling to know that in the event of your death the policy's cash benefits—Preliminary or Ultimate Face Amount—are available immediately to your beneficiary. There's no long waiting period at a time when the bills might be piling up.
- YES You can easily do it yourself.
When you send in this application, you're sending for your insurance policy. The only form you need, including the easy-to-understand instructions, is right here. All you have to do is read the instructions, fill out the application and mail it. We'll send you back an insurance policy, we guarantee it.
- YES You can have a free look.
Once you receive your policy, you're not obligated in any way. You have 10 days to examine it. Read it over and decide for yourself if it is everything we've said it to be. You send no money until you've had time to make up your own mind. Your coverage begins as soon as you mail your first payment.

1. CHOOSE THE PROTECTION YOU NEED.

Study the chart above. It'll tell you how much protection you get at your age with each number of units, from one to six. (You'll note that benefits are different for men and for women.) You'll also notice that additional units are offered at a reduced rate: your first unit of protection is just $9.95 per month. And each additional unit is just $8.95.

2. FILL OUT AND SIGN YOUR APPLICATION.

Make sure you've marked the correct block indicating the amount of protection you need. And have signed the application.

3. SEND NO MONEY NOW.

Do not enclose a check or money order at this time. We want you to have a free look at this extraordinary policy at home without obligation. You have ten days to make up your own mind before you send money.

YEAR END SALE

PUBLIC NOTICE

FACT #1 Everything in our inventory on Jan. 1 is taxable. We had much rather cut 2 to 3 hundred dollars off the price than to pay the same amount in tax dollars.

FACT #2 After Jan. 1 the taxes paid on unsold cars must be considered expense. In actuality this creates a consumer price increase.

Critical Death Penalty Decisions Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — This year could mark another turning point in the history of capital punishment in the United States, according to an organization that is lobbying against the death penalty.

"We're sitting on the verge of a significant period in capital punishment litigation," said Jack Boger of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund in New York. He said the question that could be resolved in the next 12 months or sooner is whether executions will be carried out with any frequency.

The subject has attracted renewed attention recently because of five pending death sentences in Utah, the site of the last execution in America when Gary Mark Gilmore died before a firing squad nearly two years ago.

Five executions in Utah had been scheduled to take place within a month, but state courts have granted stays pending review of the cases.

According to Boger, though, the case that could mark a watershed in death penalty litigation involves John Spenkelink, who was convicted of killing a companion, Joseph Szymankiewicz, in Tallahassee, Fla.

Spenkelink accused the victim of robbing him and forcing him to have sex with him and playing Russian roulette with a loaded revolver. He said he shot Szymankiewicz in self-defense during a fight.

The case has particular national import because Spenkelink has nearly exhausted the normal allotment of court appeals.

Boger said if the Supreme Court next year turns down Spenkelink's latest petition for review of his case, he very likely would be executed and a new legal precedent with wide application would be established.

The Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of Florida's death penalty statute. But attorneys challenging the law argue that Florida is applying it in a way the Supreme Court may oppose.

The question is whether the law permits an adequate weighing of all mitigating factors before imposing the maximum penalty.

According to the interpretation of defense lawyers, the Supreme Court envisioned that Florida would not limit the number of mitigating factors to a specific list enumerated in the statute when the high court upheld the state law.

The lawyers have said that, in fact, is how Florida has applied the law in meting out a death sentence to Spenkelink.

Last July, the Supreme Court threw out a death penalty statute in Ohio because it did not allow enough room for examining mitigating factors.

The decision also left unanswered such questions as whether the death penalty could be imposed for convicted murderers who took no part in the actual killing or who did not have prior intent to kill, such as during the commission of an armed robbery.

The court struck down all existing death penalty laws in 1972 on grounds they were administered in such a haphazard manner as to violate constitutional protection against cruel and unusual punishment. It was widely believed then that the historic ruling would mean a permanent end to capital punishment in America.

But numerous state legislatures have since tried to fashion laws that would remove any element of capriciousness or arbitrariness.

And on Jan. 17, 1977, Utah executed Gilmore in an extraordinary situation, since he had asked to die. His execution was the first in this country in 10 years.

According to the Legal Defense Fund, there are now 475 death row inmates in 25 states, including five women.

Viet-Backed Cambodian Rebels Claim Key Victory

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Vietnamese-backed Cambodian rebels claimed Monday to have captured a key town from Phnom Penh government troops in what analysts said may be the opening blow in an all-out push by Hanoi to topple the Cambodian regime.

The SPK news agency, organ of the rebel Cambodian National United Front for National Salvation, said its forces "in concert with the local population" captured the town of Kratie on the Mekong River on Saturday.

The report, received here, said many Cambodians in the area rose up against the "draconian" Phnom Penh government and helped the insurgents transport arms and munitions and provided them with food.

Sources here said that if the rebel report was true, the capture of Kratie was probably largely the work of the Vietnamese 5th Division, which had been moving up Highway 13 toward the town.

The Cambodian rebel report said some of the defenders of Kratie defected to the front's ranks as the insurgents tightened their grip around the town.

It claimed the rebels killed or captured hundreds of Phnom Penh government troops and seized large quantities of food and military equipment. The front, which was formed Dec. 3, also claimed victories in the northeastern province of Ratanakiri.

A Vietnam News Agency dispatch also reported Monday that the people in several central provinces of Cambodia had denounced the "repressive" Phnom Penh government. It said the government was trying to suppress such activity.

For the central government the fall of Kratie could mean the amputation or loss of about one-fifth of Cambodian territory. The town sits astride vital Highway 13 leading to the Vietnamese border and along the Mekong River, flowing south from Laos toward Phnom Penh.

Analysts here have speculated that the front would set up a rival government if its forces succeeded in taking Kratie.

Vietnam and Cambodia have been engaged in a border war since the 1975 communist victories in the two countries. The conflict escalated sharply in late 1977 with a major Vietnamese thrust into Cambodia.

The two nations have long had conflicting claims to border territory, and their peoples are traditional enemies.

The Bangkok analysts, who asked not to be identified, had predicted another major Vietnamese push would begin at the end of 1978 and that the Vietnamese would mask their involvement through the Cambodian front organization.

In recent weeks, the analysts said, they detected the expansion of Vietnamese-held salients along the border toward Kratie, situated 100 miles northeast of Phnom Penh and about 50 miles from the Cambodian-Vietnamese frontier.

The sources said Vietnamese forces involved in the frontier war with Cambodia also had been building up their supplies in four areas recently — southern Laos, Pleiku in Vietnam's central highlands, Can Tho in the Mekong River delta and Tay Ninh Province, where the bulk of Vietnamese forces had been readied.

Kratie was one of the key towns held by the communist Khmer Rouge during the five-year war that ended with their victory in 1975. Kratie, Cambodia's seventh-largest urban area before the war with 13,000 inhabitants, fell to the communists in the early months of the Cambodian struggle.

The front said its forces and the local population "liberated" the areas of Bung Lung and Bor Kev along Highway 19 in Ratanakiri Province. Bung Lung is 40 miles from the Vietnamese border and more than 200 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

Hotline List Released By Ralph Nader

Geological Agency Marks Centennial

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the U.S. Geological Survey, 1979 marks not only a new year, but a centennial.

The Geological Survey, the federal government's largest earth science research agency, was established by an act of Congress signed into law by President Rutherford B. Hayes on March 3, 1879.

Establishment of the new agency was recommended by the National Academy of Sciences to consolidate the functions of three predecessor agencies.

Disc Jockey Shows Effects Of Drink

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Disc jockey C. David Bennett, who got drunk on the air as a New Year's Eve "public service," woke up Monday wondering what he had done the night before.

"I don't know how I got home," said Bennett, 24, of radio station WIKZ-FM. "But I was told by the station's news director that he took me home and carried me up the back stairs and threw me into the bed."

Bennett wanted to demonstrate to his listeners the effects of too much drinking. He said his effort was aimed at the New Year's Eve party-goer who planned on taking to the highway after downing a few.

Starting at 8 p.m. Sunday, Bennett drank an ounce and a half of whiskey every half hour until he went off the air at midnight. Local police administered a sobriety test at 10:10 p.m. that found Bennett to be one-tenth of a percent from being legally intoxicated.

At one point, Bennett started a song called "Boogie Nights" at 33 rpm instead of 45. Midway through the record he started laughing so hard an engineer had to take over the controls for the rest of the evening, according to a station employee.
