"Proxy War" Predicted White House aides with Carter said privately that the invasion fell in line with predictions by national security adviser Zbigniew Frzezinski that there will be a "proxy war" between the Soviets, who back Vietnam and China, which supports Cambodia.

In Washington, Jack Cannon, State Department spokesman for East Asian and Pacific affairs, said U.S. officials have not yet received independent confirmation of the rebel victory, "but we are pre-pared to believe that the capital of Phnom Penh has fallen to Vietnam or Vietnam-backed insurgents.'

Our position has been that Vietnam intervention in Cambodia is totally unjustified and Vietnam should remove its forces," Cannon said. "We're concerned that what is essentially a local conflict could escalate and involve third powers and confrontation and that must be avoided at all costs. It's our belief that the conflict must be resolved peacefully as soon as possible.

The rebel communique, released in Bangkok, said: "After annihilating or disintegrating the main force divisions of the Pol Pot-leng Sary army and smashing the outer defense ring of the enemy, the revolutionary armed foces of Kampuchea (Cambodia) in coordination with the people entered Phnom Penh from various directions.

The communique said the rebels took the capital city at 12:30 p.m., forcing the complete collapse of the government of Pol Pot and his deputy premier, Ieng Sar-y. It said its "red banner" — with five yellow towers portraying the historic temple of Angkor Wat - was flying over many public buildings in Phnom Penh.

Western Warm Air To Trigger Thaw

The bad news is that the next two days of clearing will be followed by another surge of cold Arctic air on Wednesday, bringing with it an increased chance of scattered rain and snow and colder temperatures,

Magnet School' Concept Declared Success

Avalanche-Journal Staff

IT WAS born of an afterthought and has grown into one of the city's great On March 6, the Lubbock Independent School District board of trustees proposed closing Ella Iles Elementary rather than desegregate that all-minority campus by "forced busing." Protests were immediate and loud. Iles Elementary, namesake of one of Lubbock's first black teachers, is more than just a building, the board was told. The Iles campus, which once served as Dunbar High, symbolizes a neighborhood, a tradition and an alma mater for thousands of citizens here. WITHIN DAYS, TRUSTEES reconsidered. Instead of closing Iles, they took up a last-minute offer from Texas Tech University to form a partnership in making Iles a "magnet school," a campus so attractive that white students from throughout the city would transfer voluntarily.

Not at first, school administrators conceded. They predicted the Iles magnet school - with its innovations, daylong activities and other features - initially would draw only about 50 whites (38 percent of the school's enrollment). But give lles three years or so, Superintendent Ed Irons suggested, and there would be a waiting list to get in. Iles has accomplished in mere months what Irons thought would take years. One measure of the school's success is racial balance. Voluntary transfers are triple the projection. So many whites now attend Iles that the school also accepts minority children from outside its immediate neighborhood. Iles enrolls about 150 whites, 100 blacks and 50 Mexican-Americans. Some 40 other youngsters are on a waiting list. Perhaps a more significant gauge of success, however, is the enthusiasm of the Iles students and their parents and teachers. Stated Jeanine Brown, treasurer of the Iles Parent-Teacher Association: "This is the first school that truly does what it says. The school's philosophy is to find out where each child is and go from that point forward. Iles is the kind of school that can accommodate both the fifth-grader reading on a second-grade level, and a second-grader reading on a fifth-grade level - without making either child feel stigmatized. "EVERYTHING IS INDIVIDUALIZED, and children feel good about what they're doing. That's important. When kids have a positive self-concept, they're going to succeed. If they don't feel good about themselves, you've lost the ball-" Mrs. Brown does not make such statements lightly. Besides being a PTA officer, she also is a Lubbock Independent School District teacher - in the Title I reading program at Jackson Elementary.

Like Jackson, "there are a lot of good schools in Lubbock," Mrs. Brown said. "But Iles is something special."

Among the most obvious of Iles' outstanding features are:

•Student groupings. Instead of traditional grades, children are assigned to multi-age teams. "The Greenhouse" includes youngsters age 4 (in the Iles area Head Start program) through 6; students 7 through 9 constitute "The Force"; and older pupils are "Argonauts." Principal Kay Knight said such a system allows children to "move at their own pace. We're not labeling a child as a second-grader doing first-grade work." Not only is there flexibility within a team, but students — depending on their maturity — may move from one team to another for certain subjects. Thus, children work together based on ability, not willing to put into it," said teacher June Lackey.

•GRADES. ILES IS NON-GRADED in another sense, too. Traditional letter grades - A, B, C, D and F - have been scrapped. Personal goals motivate students. "We let children realize that they'll get out of a class whatever they're

That does not mean permissiveness or lack of structure, however. Skills tests are administered regularly - Argonauts, for instance, take a math exam every two weeks, Mrs. Knight said. "They know they must master the skills to go on." Open concept. Renovation of Iles last summer involved removing walls to facilitate flexibility in grouping students. Mrs. Knight, who before the Iles magnet was principal of the more traditional Dupre Elementary, admits she initially was skeptical of some aspects of open concept. "But now I like the way it's working." especially in conjunction with team teaching. •Team teaching. Each student has a "home teacher" for security. But for academics, instructors team up. "During the day, for example, every child in the Greenhouse will have some contact with each of the teachers assigned to the Greenhouse," Mrs. Knight said. As a result, teachers can specialize in subject areas, she added. "Texas Tech involvement. The university conducts at Iles "field-based" courses for education majors and places numerous student teachers there. Also, a "support team" faculty of Tech professors and graduate students takes over for two hours a week at Iles. Regular teachers thus are free to plan upcoming activities together, a "most important" process, Mrs. Knight said. The Tech-Iles partnership is "mutually beneficial," said Dr. Robert Anderson, dean of the college of education. "From Tech's point of view, we have a school where we can work with real kids. This gives our professors the opportunity to sharpen their teaching skills, to practice what they preach in their methods courses."

PIANO LABORATORY. Iles is the only Lubbock elementary school offering piano classes. Youngsters are taught in small groups so that each child has his or her own electronic keyboard. About 100 students are enrolled in the piano

An emphasis on arts. Children's artwork is displayed throughout the school, from drawings hanging on hallway walls to mobiles hanging from classroom ceilings. Anderson said art activities are not simply for fun; they are used to introduce math concepts and increase vocabulary.

•Extended-day activities. From 3 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., Iles offers optional class-

The SALT II pact is expected to meet stiff opposition in the U.S. Senate. The Guadeloupe summit was hosted by French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing. Besides Callaghan, other participants were President Carter and West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt.

Callaghan said at a news conference he hopes Carter and Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev will sign a SALT II accord soon so that discussions can begin on another SALT treaty.

The treaty now being negotiated would cover long-range weapons capable of hitting the United States or the Soviet Union. The next phase of the talks, aimed at concluding a SALT III pact, is to cover medium-range weapons based in Europe. Callaghan said a main concern of SALT III would be to find ways to limit the Sovjet Union's mobile missile system, which he called "a weapon probably already targeted on, and capable of hitting, major areas of Europe. The British prime minister also said that, despite his country's planned sale of 80 Harrier "vertical take-off" jets to China, the Western allies have no intention of "using China against the Soviet Union."

"It's very important that we reassure the Soviet Union we are not playing the China card," Callaghan said. The British airplane deal would give China rights to build Harriers in China with the help of British technicians. The jet can take off without runways and France also has arranged a defensive weapons deal with China worth several billion dollars, including aircraft, anti-tank missiles and other equipment. Brezhnev has told Callaghan, Carter and Schmidt in personal messages that the arming of China could have dangerous consequences for East-West de-

JERUSALEM (AP) - Israel and Egypt are again ready to negotiate issues blocking a peace treaty and are waiting for Washington to bring them together for talks. Prime Minister Menachem Begin said Sunday.

Begin said he, like Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, was ready to sign a peace treaty, but "there are problems.

Begin spoke briefly with reporters after a discussion with six members of the U.S. House Armed Services Committee who came Sunday to Israel from Egypt.

The two countries are ready to negotiate," Begin said. "It's up to the U.S. government to take the initiative to bring the parties together. I hope it will be soon.

The United States Sunday asked Egypt for "clarifications" concerning its assess ment of the status of negotiations and proposals on how to overcome the deadlock, the official Middle East News Agency said. There were no details of the reported meeting between U.S. Ambassador Hermann Eilts and Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil in Cairo.

Flooding Problem Possible

HOUSTON (UPI) - A climate researcher Sunday painted a grim picture of an inundated American coastline and the resulting economic impact should the west Antarctic ice sheet melt because of man-caused global warming within the next century.

Some scientists believe this could occur in a matter of decades if society continues to burn more and more fossil fuel and pour more carbon dioxide into the

Other researchers doubt the seriousness of this possibility. But the potential is there, said Dr. Stephen H. Schneider of the National Center for Atmospheric Research at Boulder, Colo.

Increased levels of carbon dioxide in the air could create a "greenhouse effect," trapping solar heat and warming the atmosphere by several degrees, thus melting polar ice and raising sea levels

"It is surely the most dramatic of the possible carbon dioxide-induced effects and its initiation cannot be ruled out as a possibility before the end of this century." Schneider said in a report to a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Schneider and Robert Chen of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology examined the implications of a 15-to 25foot rise in ocean levels for the United States. The nation's coastline would change markedly.

Most seriously affected in terms of land area would be the southern Atlantic and Gulf Coast states. If levees and dikes were not constructed. Schneider said Florida's coastal cities would be submerged, as would New Orleans and large portions of the Texas coast, including Galveston, Corpus Christi, Beaumont and Port Arthur.

A 25-foot rise in sea level would submerge Savannah, Ga., Charleston, S.C., four of eight Virginia cities with populations over 100,000, one-fourth of Delaware and portions of Washington, D.C.

"For example, one could launch boats from the steps of the U.S. Capitol," Schneider said in a report which is to be submitted to the AAAS journal "Science" for publication.

He said only small land areas would be affected along the north Atlantic coast although developed lowlands in New York City, Atlantic City and Boston would be inundated.

The higher West Coast would escape major fooding from a sea level rise with the exception of the Sacramento River flood plain.

Schneider and Chen estimated that more than 11 million Americans plus $110 billion in non-removable property would be affected by such 15-foot flooding. For the 25-foot case, 15 million people and $150 billion in property would be affected. "On a regional scale, the effects are more severe," he said. "Some 40 percent of Florida's population and 50 percent of its income and immobile wealth suffer in the 15-foot case and an additional 10-15 percent of each in the 25foot case. Schneider said action to protect valuable land certainly would be taken once a rise in sea level was observed. But he said it is clearly impractical to build 25-35 foot levees along the entire coast. "Of course, the federal government would help carry one burden, distributing the costs of coastal flooding across the nation as a whole," he said.

The time it takes for the seas to rise would be critical, Schneider said. Some Arctic icebergs are more than a half-mile long and reach 100 feet into the

Although the four leaders were making history under their noses, the reporters were able to discern only that West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt gestured more than the other three while speaking, and that he smoked 11 'Reyno" brand eigaettes during the session, which was the first of what later totalled 10 hours of official meetings. French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing and British Prime Minister James Callaghan also participated in the talks.

The four leaders insisted that they did not discuss economics at the summit, but this was not true of the reporters covering it. The weakness of the American dollar was impressed repeatedly on correspondents who were asked to pay, in French currency, the equivalent of $10 for a drink in the disco bar at the local Holiday Inn. $6 for a single slice of ham on a buttered piece of French bread at a poolside restaurant, or $2.50 for four postcards and stamps

It may have had nothing to do with the scenery on the beaches, but reporters could not help noticing that Hamilton Jordan, the top Carter political aide once noted for his alleged escapades in Washington singles' bars, became painfully sunburned by midafternoon of the summit's first day.

Carter moved out of his villa at the Hamak in Saint François on Sunday and went to the home of the island's prefect, or governor. He, wife Rosalynn and 12year-old daughter Amy shoved off for a day of fishing Sunday morning, followed by a gray French police boat about 60

LIP FASHIONS

NEW YORK (AP) - Colorful lips are forecast for spring, to go with the new fashions sizzling with vivid color, advises Holly Flor, director of cosmetics and beauty services for Glemby International. "Neutral makeup was fine when fashions were smoky and smudgy. But to keep the face in focus now, you need a look that's bright, lively with color," says Mrs. Flor, who advocates brilliant lipsticks in cheerful, vibrant hues.

The Individual Retirement Account is a 100% tax deduction that you should apply to your 1978 income tax return.

You may deposit up to 15% of your income, or $1,500.00, whichever is less. Every dollar you deposit is tax deductible. You don't have to pay income tax until you withdraw the funds, after you retire, when you're in a much lower tax bracket.

I.R.A. funds are FSLIC insured to $100,000.00. The account is available to anyone who is not already covered by a retirement program.

† If you are 40 through 64, the Ultimate Death Benefits shown above for your present age become effective at the end of your third policy year. If you are $5 or over, your Ultimate Death Benefits become effective at the end of your second policy year.

THE POLICY'S "RETURN OF ACCUMULATING PREMIUM DEPOSITS PERIOD" GUARANTEES THIS INSURANCE PROTECTION FOR YOU. HERE'S HOW IT WORKS.

If you are in the 40 through 64 age bracket when your policy is issued, and you should die of natural causes" before your policy has been in effect for three years, under this unique guaranteed provision your beneficiary will receive as a cash death benefit a sum equal to all the premiums you have paid in PLUS an additional cash accumulation at the annual rate of 10% compounded daily.

If you are age 65 or over when your policy is issued, and you should die of natural causes* before your policy has been in effect for two years, under this unique guaranteed provision your beneficiary will receive as a cash death benefit a sum equal to all the premiums you have paid in PLUS an additional cash accumulation at the annual rate of 10% compounded daily.

During this period (three years if you are under 65 and two years if you are 65 or over) there is a DOUBLE INDEMNITY accidental death benefit—double the amount of the natural death benefit poyable during this period—if death should occur within 90 days following the date of an accident which is the sole and direct cause of death.

*ACCIDENTAL DEATH does not include death resulting from acts of war or insurrection, participation in riot, taking of poison or inhaling of gas, suicide, mental or bodily illness, and aircraft travel except as a fare paying passenger on a regularly scheduled passenger flight. Death from these causes is defined in the policy as death from NATURAL CAUSES.

After this period has been fulfilled, the full Guaranteed Ultimate Face Amount shown on the front of the policy is paid for death from any cause, including accident.

You cannot be turned down.
Absolutely not. If you are 40, 50, 60, 70, even 80 years of age. We guarantee you life insurance. And you can make all the arrangements yourself, in the privacy and comfort of your own home. No salesperson will ever call. No health questions, no physical exam. There's not a single medical question on the application. - and you cannot be turned down - unless you are under forty or over eighty. You do not have to see a doctor or submit to a medical examination of any kind, regardless of your current state of health. Your premium can never be increased. Once you are enrolled, your payments never go up. And we cannot cancel your policy for any reason, as long as you keep up your payments.

Your benefits can never go down. We cannot decrease your benefits at any time, for any reason. No matter how long you own your policy, and no matter what your state of health, your benefits are guaranteed to remain the same.

This policy accumulates cash values. Over the years, your policy's cash values increase, creating a reserve fund that you can count on to be there. And to always be growing. These are living benefits, life insurance benefits you can enjoy while you are alive.

YES You are building a final estate.
No one wants to be a final burden on loved ones. That's why it's a good feeling to know that in the event of your death the policy's cash benefits - Preliminary or Ultimate Face Amount - are available immediately to your beneficiary. There's no long waiting period at a time when the bills might be piling up.

The Citizen, The Lawmakers

IF THE PAST is any measuring stick. what takes place in Austin and Washington the next few months will have a major impact on every citizen in the state and nation. And if the past is any indication, much of it will not be in the best interest of the citi-

All of which is a way of saying the Legislature and Congress are on the verge of convening. The agenda ranges from taxes -more or less-to energy and, at a national level, how to deal with a growing Russian military might.

MOST AMERICANS likely will view what happens with a mixture of apathy and concern, feeling helpless to do anything to shape the course of events.

Members of the Legislature, as well as a newly-named Republican Governor, will not only be seeking to reflect the mood of the people, as they interpret it, but will be facing tremendous pressure from various special interest and ethnic groups The same can be said of Washington, with the outlook in Congress being the most confusing in years. A new breed of Conservatives has been injected into the picture, but overall, the heavily dominated Democratic Congress still is vulnerable to the big-spending demands of the cities, minorities and libcral do-gooders.

HOW MUCH IS accomplished may rest on how President Carter approaches a Congress already rebuffed by the White House's unilateral action on Taiwan and China.

While seeking to control inflation, the President faces tremendous pressure to break his pledge to "hold the line" on spending.

On the foreign front, the nation faces decisions as traumatic as any since the Vietnam War. The situation in Iran, the Mideast peace talks, Soviet-Cuban incursions in Africa, Russian Mig-23s in Cuba, and finally SALT II-all hold the potential for volatile confrontations with Moscow.

What role, actually, can the individual play in shaping what happens in any of these areas? Perhaps more than most think. All citizens have an obligation to keep informed, to keep abreast of the news-in Lubbock and the area, in Austin, in Washington and abroad. Only an informed citizenry can communicate its thoughts to the proper officials.

The mood of America, we feel, is one that says the nation must survive at all costs, that the nation's affairs must be run in a more businesslike manner. If that means sacrifice, we feel most are willing to do so. Good government is still possible, but only if we de-

AN EDITORIAL:

Who's Afraid Of Big Brother?

IT MAY NOT look like much at the outset, but at least 1979 is still five years away from 1984. Not that anyone should flinch at the approach of that ominous numeral on the calendar. After all, who's afraid of George Orwell in this day and age?

Big Brother Is Watching You may have spunded pretty scary 30 years ago when 1984 was first published, but, shoot, it's obvious by this time that Orwell's dyspeptic vision of the future was pure poppycock.

Think about it. Here we are, just five years shy of 1984, and nobody is watching us... Well, unless you count all those hidden TV cameras at the bank, the airport, the department store, the apartment lobby, etc.

OUR SOCIETY bears no resemblance to Orwell's mythical Oceania, with its massproduced food, vulgar entertainment, constant shortages of essentials like energy and eclining standard of living

Why, hardly a month goes by when the government doesn't report a rise in the personal income of Americans. And, so what if "real" wages actually are falling because of inflation and taxes? Surely that's just a fleeting aberation.

Americans certainly do not all dress alike 'in a uniform which was at one time peculiar to manual workers." Heck, no manual worker ever wore jeans quite like those worn on the streets today.

Likewise, the power structure of our society is-totally-different from the party oligarchy which ruled Oceania in 1984.

Why, in Orwell's book "the new aristocracy was made up for the most part of bureaucrats, scientists, technicians, trade-union organizers, publicity experts, sociologists, teachers...and professional politicians."

IN 1984, Oceania was just one of three world superpowers locked in perpetual warfare which none could ever win, since none dared risk the use of atomic weapons.

Indeed, each spent its time shifting alliances so that Oceania one year might be at war with Eastasia and aligned with Eurasia, while the next year fighting its erstwhile ally with the aid of its former enemy.

This peculiar lineup, like the rest of 1984, is difficult to imagine in 1979 when "once an enemy, always an enemy" is the prevailing rule-unless, of course, you want to count Jimmy Carter's playing the China card so forcefully.

All in all, it's a great comfort to read Orwell's preposterous novel now that 1984 is actually within hailing distance. Shucks, even Big Brother recommends it highly.

M. STANTON EVANS:

Conspiracy Trail Cold But Evidence Is Not

WASHINGTON-If past experience is any guide, recent evidence that there was more than one assassin involved in the murder of President John F. Kennedy will be of interest mainly to assassination buffs and crackpots.

This is unfortunate, since the idea that someone other than Lee Harvey Oswald was mixed up in the assassination has a lot to recommend it, and in light of the total evidence seems more plausible than the contrary notion that he proceeded on his own.

It seems unlikely to us now, only because Oswald-as-lone-assassin has been the official line from the beginning, and because official inquiries have been conducted in rigid conformity with this outlook.

GRANTED THAT new acoustical data reviewed by the House Committee on Assassination suggesting four shots instead of the three that have been traced to Oswald-are a bit obscure

Granted also that, at this late date, the trail of an additional assassin would be so cold that no one is likely to follow it very far. The fact remains that Lee Harvey Oswald could

The problem from the outset has been the kind of conspiracy in which Oswald was most likely to ave been engaged.

The evidence at the time of the assassination was massive—and since has become overwhelm-ing—that he was connected by multiple ties of in-terest and affiliation to the apparatus of global zen to wonder whether Oswald was encouraged in his actions by Communists of one sort or another-or whether, at a minimum, he had confederates recruited from the fever swamps of the revolutionary left.

The response of the American government, however, was exactly the opposite.

As spelled out in detail last year by writer Michael Eddowes, President Lyndon Johnson and his advisers were sore afraid that any finding of Soviet or other Communist conspiracy to murder Kennedy would lead to war; they therefore r:oved to insure that no such findings would emerge from the investigation.

"SHORTLY BEFORE 9 p.m. (on the day of the assassination)," Eddowes writes, "the White House telephoned Waggoner Carr, the attorney general of Texas, and asked him to contact Henry Wade, the attorney general of Dallas, to ensure his cooperation in seeing that no charge suggesting Soviet conspiracy be preferred against the arrested man.

"Henry Wade testified that, in a telephone con versation with Waggoner Carr, the latter had referred to the undesirability of such an allegation for fear of international complications."

This was the mind-set, also, that governed the proceedings of the Warren Commission. We now know what was suspected at the time, that the Warren inquiry avoided leads that could have suggested Soviet or other Communist complicity in Oswald's deed.

THE TASK OF the commission was conceived as being to "prove a negative"—that nobody other than Oswald was involved.

This was the idea the commission began with, and the idea that crowned its labors when it issued its report.

Indeed, the very fact that Oswald was himself a species of Communist was constantly played down, as spokesmen in the government and media tried to pin responsibility for the killing on the "climate of fear" in Dallas.

Small wonder that, in the resulting fogbank. specific connections to any specific kind of conspiracy were not discovered and illuminated

THE NEA AND its affiliates far outnumber all other public employe unions, and among all unions rank second to the Teamsters.

The NEA's annual budget is $250 million, more than 10 times that of the AFL-CIO. As such, the NEA has plenty of political clout.

Candidates endorsed by the NEA won 291 of 349 House and Senate contests last November. But it is permissible to remark upon the inconsistency of those legislators who still oppose attempts to make union membership voluntary in all 50 states. Federal law authorizes a labor union to arrange an agreement with an employer whereby all employes must pay dues to a union as a condition of ployment.

If a worker refuses, the employer must send him packing.

THUS. I SUGGEST that right-to-work legislation should be equated with our civil rights laws. If it is unconstitutional to deny an individual employment because of race, color, religion, or sex, surely it is the height of discrimination to deny somebody a job because he refuses to join a

But in the field of trade unionism, civil rights forces have availed themselves of picking and choosing their principles.

In Congress especially, they consider it noble to give their concern for blacks a run in the yard. It is also pretty safe, because most voters are fair minded on the issue of race.

At the same time, these crusaders always seems to be out to lunch when somebody brings up the right to work.

PERHAPS THEY have mislaid their copy of the Bill of Rights. They never mislay the documents littered with dollar signs that remind them of the fat contributions Big Labor makes to its pet candidates. But Susan Lavine has put our selective liberals on the spot. How can they disagree with a young woman who says: "I feel that no one should be fired for reasons other than poor teaching"? At the minimum, I hope Susan Lavine will force members of Congress to think some unwelcome thoughts about the limits they place on

The difficulty was seen well ahead, and so was a way to avoid the default on $15.5 million of obligations. But Kucinich's populism would not permit him to sell the city-owned Municipal Light and Power System for $159 million.

That is why it is fair to say that he chose to plunge the city into default.

NOW CLEVELAND'S government may invite 'the people" to recommend, by referendum, sale of the power company, and higher taxes. Thus does populism provide a cover for political cow-

One's sympathy for Cleveland is tempered by knowledge that the city asked for trouble three times: by tolerating the misgovernment that preceded Kucinich; by electing Kucinich; and by defeating the attempt to recall him.

Granted, Cleveland's recent history of misgovernment is not different in kind than that of many other cities. But in politics, as in love, degree makes a difference.

Granted Kucinich was barely elected and he barely survived the recall vote. But Kucinich is different in kind from other mayors.

TO SUGGEST that he is adolescent is unfair to adolescents. He is a poisonous product of the recent school of business-baiting populism-petty, rude and vicious to Cleveland's business com-He is utterly uninterested in the politics of con-

The fact that Kucinich is mayor of a large city expresses the decline of the mayoral office in the United States.

Even just a decade ago there were mayors of national stature. Some were considered potential Presidents; others were considered President-

The decline of the mayoral office is, in part, a consequence of federalism under a "welfare" or services" states.

Newspaper accounts call Cleveland's default the first by a large city since the Depression. Not true. In 1975, New York failed to pay some creditors when payment was due.

But New York called this default a 'moratorium," and obviously the deceptive labeling worked.

New York, capital of the advertising industry, understands this rule of creative government: When the going gets tough, the tough get a new

JAY HARRIS: Still The Enigma

WE WERE STANDING in a cafe near the top of the Jungfrau in Switzerland. A portable radio was playing in the background. Suddenly, there was a break in the music, a voice came on and the lady behind the counter said: "Carter has won the election...

That night, watching commentaries from various parts of Europe, the overriding theme was that the new President was an enigma, a man about which little was known, a man whose background in international diplomacy and monetary affairs was a puzzle.

It is safe to say that in many ways, the assessment from various European capitals, and numerous others since, remains essentially the same. Jimmy Carter still is an enigma, to friend and foe alike.

BUT. WHATEVER President Carter is, or is not, the world most likely will find out in the immediate months ahead.

Events which have been building before and during his first two years in office seem to be reaching the point of no return. At home and abroad, decisions must be made.

Ironically, at the midway point in his term, Mr. Carter has shown some signs of a "take charge" President. In taking his big gamble at Camp David, promising to cut back on federal spending and getting tough with rioting foreign students, the President acted like a President.

But, in numerous other areas, from Tehran to Taiwan, the man in the White House still confounds his critics and puzzles many of his friends.

His major asset is that he seems to be learning from past mistakes. His major flaw is that he continues to ignore the advice and consent of Congress as well as millions of Americans, and that he does not understand the realities of geopolitics as it relates to U.S. interests, human rights notwithstanding.

WHILE MUCH is to be said for the observation that too many cooks spoil the broth, one trying to handle the whole kitchen also has its drawbacks.

Such is the situation the President finds-himself in. The pots are boiling over all over the place. It has been Mr. Carter who turned up the heat on many of the burners. We are not alone in this view of the man who holds what once was regarded as the most powerful office in the world.

Note these quotes: "In the early days of the Carter administration, statesmen around the world were startled by the amount of diplomatic crockery that the new American President managed to smash in a matter of a few months

"In his rush to manage all the world's problems immediately and simultaneously, Carter alienated allies, dismayed adversaries and spread consternation through just about every important

THOSE COMMENTS are from Marvin Stone in his Editor's Page in U.S. News & World Report. Going further, Stone observes: "Now, the President seems to be drifting back into the bad habits that got him into so much trouble in those early months. "He has just cruelly and callously abandoned a weak ally on Taiwan. He is eager to sign a strategic arms treaty with Russia before he has decided how to deal with critical defense problems that would be aggravated by such an accord. And he has been doing some crude public arm-twisting to get an Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty signed on a timetable that he demanded-but that was unrealistic from the start." The prestigious magazine adds: "There are other examples of presidential diplomacy that give pause: In the Iranian crisis, Carter equivocated in public about the fate of the Shah, which only exacerbated the monarch's already desperate predicament. His Rhodesian "policy" is foundering. OPEC has just laughed off the President's indignation at its latest act of greed...

IN THE WANING weeks of the past year, one of the visitors to Washington was King Hassan II of Morocco, one of America's closest friends in the Arab world.

As he got ready to leave Rabat, capital of Morocco, King Hassan said he planned to give Mr. Carter "a geography lesson."

The 47-year-old monarch is not only gravely concerned over the stalemated guerrilla war his nation is waging with Algerian-backed forces in the former Spanish Sahara, but with the spread of Soviet influence in Africa and the Mideast.

He was quoted as saving he feared the U.S. was blind to the disastrous consequences of a Soviet power grab of strategic oil and mineral resources in that part of the world.

ONE OF THE major worries of U.S. friends abroad and knowledgeable observers at home is that things may be past repair in some areas.

It is startling to read that top administration people just now seem to realize the gravity of the possible loss of Iran as, a pro-Western anchor, or the effects a pro-Soviet government in Iran could have on Saudi Arabia.

And while Moscow and Cuba are putting on a low profile in Africa at the moment, plans for new adventures are still on the drawing board. Half a world away, reality perhaps did demand recognition of China's 800 million. But to say this means vast new markets for everything from soft drinks to chicken take-outs is far-fetched.

How does Mr. Carter fit into all this? Well, he can continue to be as decisive as he was in the case of the foreign students who got out of line. He can take the initiative as he did at Camp David, but be realistic about what can be done and how soon. He can tell the Russians the U.S. intends to look after its own interests, in Iran and elsewhere, come hell or Soviet threats.

In brief, he can be President, the holder of what should be the most powerful office in the

'It's really a drag listening to people from New York talk," she says, her breathy voice untainted by regional color. "It upsets me when I hear a New York accent, or anything that grates my ears the way that does."

So she decided to do something about it. In the spirit of enlightened benevolence, she established California Diction, a sort of accent therapy center which, at 25 bucks a throw ($35 for house calls), will teach willing New Yorkers how to

Indeed, "My Fair Lady" is daily enacted in offices like Cooper's, with recorders and microphones and funny little gadgets to aid the accent-impaired.

A few months and a couple of thousand dollars later, the man walked out talking like a native Californian, which is to say, sounding like he came from nowhere at "That's what they want." Cooper insists. "They want to sound like a person who comes from nowhere."

There is a problem with all this, of course - every time Cooper and his colleagues exterminate an accent, they erase part of a personality.

"But they want it taken away," he protests, "that's why they seek help — to get rid of the pain. An accent stamps you. We give them greater acceptability."

Cooper knows. He was once a New Yorker himself.

Fossil Hunters Find Urban Dig

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) - Fossil hunters in urban areas need not leave the city to pursue their hobby. They can join the growing trend of spotting fossils in building stones.

Syracuse University geologist Osborne Nye says more and more fossil hunters and rock hounds are combing urban areas, enjoying the abundance of fossils to be found in building stones.

"If you are very lucky you might find some dinosaur footprints, but that would be unusual," Nye says. "I think the only place that would be likely would be in the brownstone houses in the New York City area.

"In almost every city and small town are buildings made of slabs of limestone that may contain fossils of clams, coral, sponges, even the lowly snail. Or you

Gacy Questioned About Disappearances In 1975

CHICAGO (AP) - John W. Gacy Jr. ground after officers found he had been in January 1976. had been linked to five sex assault or disappearance cases dating back to August 1975 before a sixth case led police to the first of 27 skeletal remains at his home last month, according to law-enforcement officials

The authorities had previously acknowledged Gacy's being linked to two earlier investigations.

Gacy, who reportedly has confessed to killing 32 people, has been charged with murdering 15-year-old Robert Piest, whose disappearance led suburban Des Plaines police to Gacy's grisly burial convicted of sodomy on a young boy in

Among the first five cases were two accusations of kidnapping and rape against Gacy - by a 19-year-old Chicago man in December 1977 and by a 27-year-old Chicago man in March 1978.

Police also questioned Gacy in August 1975 and December 1976 about the disappearances of two young men whose remains were among those removed from Gacy's home, and officers watched Gacy's home for two weeks while investigating the disappearance of a 9-year-old boy

The Chicago Tribune quoted the 19year-old who charged Gacy with kidnapping and rape as saying: "They (the police) would only say there was insufficient evidence. Both the cops and an assistant state's attorney said that he (Gacy)'was a solid citizen.

"I was practically pleading with them. I even told them that he bragged to me that he had killed people and said he was going to kill me, but my pleas didn't do any good," said the young man, whose identity was withheld at his request.

Assistant State's Attorney Jerry Latherow, who made the decision not to prosecute, said he could not explain why no charges were filed because of a court-imposed gag order in the current investiga-

Last March, Jeff Rignall, 27, also reported he had been kidnapped and raped by Gacy, but the investigation led only to a misdemeanor count of battery being filed against Gacy in a case that is still

Police also had questioned Gacy about the disappearance of two employees of his construction firm whose bodies were among those found at his home. Commander Harold Thomas of the Chicago Police Youth Division said the officers who questioned Gacy about the December 1976 disappearance apparently were unaware he had been questioned about the August 1975 disappearance.

Youth division officers also kept Gacy's home under 24-hour surveillance in January 1976 in connection with the disappearance of a 9-year-old Chicago boy who

FASTER DEVELOP-

ment-funded study released Sunday has found that too little is being done to rehabilitate sex offenders.

The report, published by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, said that in 1976 there were only 20 treatment centers for sex offenders in 12

"Most of the treatment programs for sex offenders currently in operation arose, almost by accident, through the activities of one dedicated individual or one institution baffled by what to do about the sex offenders lodged in its custody," said Edward M. Brecher, the report's author.

Treatment programs of this sort concentrate on only part of the overall problem and only serve a portion of a state's needs, the report said. The typical sex offender is treated exactly like any other jail or prison inmate," the report said.

Nothing in particular is being done about them and little or no attention is being paid to the particular factors which made these men sex offenders."

The report said treatment programs are needed to reduce repeated offenders and to provide an environment for re-

It noted that a variety of programs are provided for the physically ill, the mentally ill, the mentally retarded, the exceptionally bright, and the very poor.

"Sex offenders similarly need, and many of them want and seek, treatment," the report said. "The treatment they need and want should be supplied, like any other social service, for the benefit of the recipient.

"Many sex offenders, including rapists and child molesters, can in fact be rehabilitated through soundly planned, staffed and administered programs," Brecher wrote.

The study, financed by an 18-month, $60,000 LEAA grant to the American Correctional Association, called for dissemination of information about existing programs and expansion of the more successful efforts. It also recommended modernization of criminal laws and im-

Drugs Believed Involved In Two Deaths

EPPS, La. (UPI) - Two men found head in a wooded area of West Carrol Parish apparently had been arguing over a drug deal, authorities

Sheriff T.W. Auger said small quantities of drugs were found late Saturday near the bodies of Lamar Eugene Cook, 28, of Vicksburg, Miss., and Samuel Lawson Hudson, 24, of Austin. The victims were found shot in the head Saturday night after hunters alerted deputies of shots being fired.

Auger said the shootings apparently were a murder-suicide.

"It appears to be a drug-related incident." Auger said. "They were in an isolated, wooded area. One gun was used and both subjects received head wounds. At this time, we're having a pathologist conduct an autopsy to help determine the cause of death.

Auger said the men were found about a mile west of Epps, off Louisiana 134. He theorized the men may have been driving along Interstate 20, about 15 miles away, when they decided to turn

"I'd say they were probably following Interstate 20 and either got into a hassle or got drugged up," Auger said.

The autopsy will be completed today, Auger said.

JAN. 10. 1979

This problem is very large among older Americans on constant medication.
According to medical consultants for Consumer's Union, the following four rules should help:

1. Discuss with your physician the cor-rect dosage and time for taking a pre-scribed drug. Ask that the prescription state that these instructions be included on the drug label. Advice to take as directed is not much help if you forgot the doctor's instructions - or never clearly understood them in the first place.

2. For drugs that are taken regularly, check to see if you can save money by buying as large a quantity as will stay fresh at the rate you use them (ask your pharmacist).

3. If your state does not already have such a requirement, ask your physician to direct the pharmacist to include on each prescription drug label the name of the drug, its strength, the amount (number of tablets, ounces, etc.), and the expiration date (the date after which the medication is no longer sure to be fully effective, or may be harmful). With this information available to you, leftover portions of some prescriptions could still be used if the family physician pre-scribes the same medication again. Do not, however, use such leftovers until you have checked with your doctor and comfirmed that they are the correct medicine in the proper dosage. Such information on the label could also be lifesaving should anyone take an overdose of a medication.

4. Discard all prescriptions by their expiration date.

HEARTLINE: I drew Social Security disability in 1975 and then was able to goback to work. I have recently become disabled again and have been reap-proved for Social Security disability. Do I again have to wait five months before drawing? - G.B.

No. If you become disabled a second time within five years after your disabled worker's benefits stopped because you returned to work or recovered, you are not required to again wait five months for your Social Security disability to begin. Benefits are payable the first full month of disability.

HEARTLINE: Can you tell me who is eligible for a vocational rehabilitation benefit from the V.A.? - P.M.

Veterans who served in the armed forces during World War II or thereafter are eligible for vocational rehabilitation if all three of the following conditions are met:

1. They suffered a service-connected disability in active service which entitled them to compensation, or would do so but for a receipt of retirement pay;

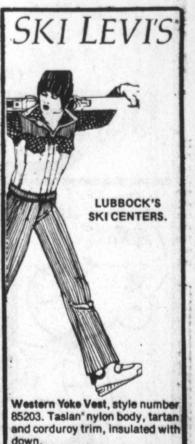

2. they were discharged or released under other than dishonorable conditions; and 3. the VA determines that they need vocational rehabilitation to overcome the handicap of their disabilities. A veteran is eligible for nine years following discharge or release. An extension may be made under certain conditions.

HEARTLINE: My father was admitted to the hospital Jan. 3. He has Medicare. I know there is a $144 deductible when you enter the hospital, but he was charged $160. Can you tell me why there is a difference? - G.B.

The Medicare deductibles changed on Jan. 1. The new hospital deductible is $160. Your father was charged correctly.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

DR. PAUL E. RUBLE

'Bloated' Generation?

Dear Dr. Ruble: Can you tell me anything about bloat? I am 5-foot-4 and weigh 120 pounds. But after I eat my stomach bloating makes me look and feel about 160. I have a lot of gas with it. -

The key phrase in your letter is "after I eat." I'm sure you've heard of air swallowing. You can always look to that first as a cause of bloating. When you eat fast you can take in a great amount of air. It just doesn't disappear but remains in the stomach much like an inflated balloon. Bloating after a meal usually means this.

But if bloating persists for very long, say throughout the day, it means increased gas in the lower digestive tract. Most of the stomach gas is lost through belching. The gas lower down is a result of normal digestion of food, and the quantity and composition of the gas varies with the kinds of food. Distress from fatty food is associated with gall bladder disease in some. But perhaps the biggest offender is carbohydrate food. In some, there may be an enzyme deficiency, for example, those that act on carbohydrates or milk sugar.

But I suspect that if you pay more attention to how you eat you will see some improvement. You can often see a young person arise from a hastily devoured meal looking swollen about the upper abdomen. The fast-food emporiums, so popular with young people today, are convenient, but don't lend themselves to leisurely dining. The gulping of high carbohydrate meals in an excitable environment may be causing much bloating in young people. If we don't watch out, we may become the bloated generation.

cod liver oil for hers. It didn't seem to help much. Is this still recommended? -Some thought at one time that the virheumatoid arthritis? Seems to me my mother was always taking large doses of tamin D in cod liver oil might be helpful. But it isn't unless a person has a lack of it. Too much might cause calcium deposits in the body because vitamin D has to do with how that mineral is utilized.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I had an eye examination recently and now wear corrective glasses. My eye doctor told me that glasses are merely a tool and are worn for convenience and comfort. He said they allow one to see as clearly as possible, but they do not strengthen your eyes in any way, and that wearng them will not exercise your eyes. I thought that they would exercise your eyes so that possibly in later life you would not need them. What do you say? - G.H.

I agree with your doctor and think he put things well. The lenses are tools of a sort. They allow the light waves from objects to focus properly through your natural lenses and onto the retina. That improves your vision. The shape of your eyeballs before were such that the natural lens could not do that unaided. The glasses do not strengthen eye muscles, for example. In rare cases, the eyeball shape may change with age and someone who once needed spectacles may not need them or require correction.

Dear Dr. Ruble: How does someone get a hole in the eardrum? Just wondering. - C.P.

I can think of three ways. The commo-Dear Dr. Ruble: What about diet in nest is from an infection of the middle ear, which lies just within the drum. With infection, fluid may accumulate and cause rupture of the drum from within. Drainage would result. Poking around in the ear canal to remove wax or relieve an itch is probably the second most common cause of perforation. It is also conceivable that a sharp blow on the head might cause it.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF to 1979 by Chicago Tribune

Q.1-Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♦ KQJ72 ♥ KQ1083 ♦ AQ ♦ 7 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 + Pass 1 NT Pass

What do you bid now? A .- Your hand is worth 20 points at a major suit contract, and partner has shown at least 6 points. Therefore, you want to be in game. Since partner should have at least a three-card fit for one of your suits, we suggest you bid four hearts. Three hearts is acceptable, but it wastes time since you have no intention of playing three no trump if partner bids it.

Q.2-Neither vulnerable, as South you hold: ◆Q8652 ♥A106 ♦KJ5 ◆83

Partner opens the bidding with one heart. What do you respond?

A .- One spade. With 10 points in high cards, a good three-card fit for partner's suit and a ruffing value, your hand is just too strong for a simple raise to two hearts. You are worth two bids, so you should start by introducing your five-card major suit.

Q.3-As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♦74 ♥AK1082 ♦K94 ♣J93 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pass 1 7 1 4 1 NT Pass

What do you bid now? A .- Partner must have a better than minimum opening, for he made a free bid when he could have passed the one spade overcall. Therefore, your 11 points should be enough for game, especially since you also hold a good five-card suit. The only bid that does justice to your hand is a jump to three no trump.

Q.4-Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♦K872 ♥ AQ10 ◊ J72 ♦ AK4

Partner opens the bidding with one diamond. What do you respond?

A .- We are usually reluctant to conceal a four-card major suit, but here you have a perfectly balanced hand with a far from robust major suit. In view of your double stoppers in both of the other unbid suits and 17 high-card points, we feel a bid of three no trump is more descriptive of holding. Even if partner holds four spades, no trump is likely to play as well as the suit contract - perhaps better.

BULGE BATTLE

Fifteen million Americans are obese to a degree that actually shortens their lives, reports Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The obese are getting fatter, and the absolute number of obese Americans is increasing each year.

Q.5-Neither vulnerable, as South you hold: ♦KJ ♦AQJ762 ♦KQJ63 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass 1 ♥ Pass

Pass 3 4 Pass What action do you take? A. - Although partner has taken two bids, he does not promise much of a hand-the raise to three clubs was not forcing. Nevertheless, we feel your hand should offer excellent play for game even though you are void in partner's suit. The surest way to get there is to bid five clubs

Q.6-Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♦83 ♥96 ♦ AKQ7 ♦ J8752 The bidding has proceeded: West North East South Pass 1 + Pass 2 Dble. Pass ?

What action do you take? A .- Partner has shown a red two-suiter. He did not double at his first opportunity because he was short in spades, and he did not overcall in hearts perhaps because his suit wasn't strong enough. However, you have a most useful hand on this auction and should invite game. We feel that a jump to three diamonds is the prudent way to do this.

Q.7-East-West vulnerable, as South you hold: ◆Q87642 ♥A92 ♦A ◆AQ5 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East Pass 2 0 Pass Pass 3 Pass

What action do you take? A.-This is by no means clear-cut. North might well have a subinimum two-over-one response with a good six- or seven-card diamond suit, so we would not fault you greatly if you elected to pass. However, North is likely to have cards outside the diamond suit since he can have no more than 6 points in his suit. Therefore, we would gamble on three no trump.

Q.8 - Both vulnerable, as South you hold: ♦AQJ7 ♥K83 ♦95 ♦AQ93 The bidding has proceeded: West North East South 1 NT Pass Pass Dble. Pass 2 4 Pass What action do you take?

A. - Pass. Partner should have a weak hand and a long club suit if he had a fair hand, he would have sat for one no trump doubled. Just be thankful that partner took out into clubs, rather than diamonds.

Meanwhile, combine pineapple juice with 1 tablespoon brown sugar, 11/2 tablespoon cider vinegar and 1 tablespoon cornstarch mixed with 2 tablespoons water in small saucepan. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Reduce heat and simmer few minutes. Add 1/2 cup chopped green pepper if desired. Serve burgers open face on hamburger buns topped with pineapple slice; spoon sauce over all. Garnish with skewer of green pepper squares and cherry tomatoes if MEXICANA TOPPING: Mix together ½ cup crushed tortilla chips, 2 cups shredded lettuce, 1 tomato, chopped, ½ cup grated Cheddar cheese and 1/4 cup chopped green onlons. Toss with guaca-mole or oil and vinegar dressing, if desired. Serve burgers on buns topped with generous amounts of lettuce mixture. Pass taco sauce.

ITALIANO TOPPING: During the last few minutes of grilling, melt a thin slice of mozzarella cheese on top of each patty. In small saucepan, combine 1 (8-oz.) can tomato sauce, 1/4 teaspoon sweet basil, 1/4 teaspoon EACH garlic powder, oregano and sugar. Bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes. District President Notes Need To Help Children

By CONNIE CHAPMAN Family News Staff

"Children need an advocate because they can't vote," said Virginia Morriss of Sherman, president of District Nine of Altrusa International, on a visit to Lubbock last week.

Mrs. Morriss was here to address the Thursday evening meeting of the Altrusa Club of Lubbock. District Nine covers the state of Texas and is one of 14 districts in the organization, which has clubs in 13

The whole subject of children's needs and rights will become part of the club's program as it participates in the study of the International Year of the Child, a United Nations program for 1979.

"Anything we do for the parents helps the child and there is no end to what we can do," Mrs. Morriss said Friday. She explained that continuing stress on worldwide literacy is also a part of that program. Altrusa International is involved in teaching reading to adult nonreaders on a one-to-one basis by the Laubach method.

Mrs. Morriss cited specific examples from her own town where people have been taught by this method.

"Often a person will be hesitant about filling out an application for a driver's license or soemthing like that and it will be discovered that he or she can't read. Then our volunteers can work with that person and give him or her the help that is needed on a one-to-one basis. This might be a person too preud to go to a class or a group situation otherwise."

The state president mentioned several other areas of concern for the well-being this region.

of children which are part of the study and action program of Altrusa. Health is one such area and since Mrs. Morriss is herself a school nurse, she sees the urgent need for more and better programs in this area. She mentioned vision screening, dental checks, and hearing tests. Far too many children do not have the recommended immunization, she said, citing another aspect of the prob-

Adequate housing and its attendant problems of sanitation, especially where the protection of children is at stake, concerns this Altrusan also.

Adequate and quality day care facilities for children of working parents is another area of concern for children which interests Mrs. Morriss. Altrusa has been supportive of the Child Care '76 progam since the beginning of that emphasis.

Mrs. Morriss, who has served several years on the Sherman City Council and as deputy mayor for that Texas city, urges all who are concerned with the welfare of children "to get to public hearings on community development funds and see that they get used where most needed.

This state officer who began her term in October said she was "impressed with the local Altrusa organization because its membership is so involved in many of these concerens."

Mary Butcher, vice president of the Altrusa Club of Lubbock, said that the local members are presently involved in enlisting volunteers to help with a language bank here and plan to work in cooperation with other agencies and service clubs in Lubbock looking at the implications of the International Year of the Child for

It took me quite awhile to narrow it down. I sat on the floor for hours trying to separate the good, best, greatest, newest, etc.

I really got stuck at about 10, and finally had a conference with the girls in the office, and we got what we thought were the five most unusual, and our favorite hints.

LONDON (WNS) - Mistresses as well as wives may get legal recognition by the courts now in Great Britain, judging from a recent decision by Sir George Baker, president of the High Court Family Division. He ruled that mistresses as well as wives deserve protection under the Inheritance Family Provision Act. The case involved a woman who became her lover's housekeeper when she was 18 years old. She had borne him a son, received no pay except gifts of one ring and one watch, cared for her employer-lover until he died in her arms. Neither she nor her son was remembered in the man's will. The court awarded her $14,000 and ordered that the balance of the estate be divided between her son and the lover's legitimate son. The names of the principals in the case were not revealed.

New 'Rainbow's End' Program Designed To Aid Deaf Children

NEW YORK (AP) — Imagine a TV studio, someplace, where the people communicate in sign language. Picture a secretary whose secret identity is "Supersign," and a couple of kids who sometimes deliver "Kidsign News."

There is a place like that, in downtown Anywhere, U.S.A., and it's the setting for 'Rainbow's End," an innovative program on public TV for youngsters with hearing problems.

"Television has a way of grabbing children," says Bruce Hlibok, deaf star of the Broadway musical "Runaways," 'and 'Rainbow's End' does it several ways, with slapstick, drama, a little bit of everything.

"There have been other programs for the deaf," he says, "but they have been captioned, and it's more effective to use sign language than subtitles.

When deaf children come into contact with other deaf children," the actor says, 'they always sign."

Hlibok does not appear in "Rainbow's End," but is an active booster for the series of five half-hour programs from San Francisco's KQED. The premiere is today on many Public Broadcasting Service stations (10:30 a.m. on Channel 5 in Lub-

PBS calls "Rainbow's End" "a pioneering effort to reach hearing-impaired youngsters through television. Its specific purpose is to enhance the selfimage and improve the language skills of deaf or hearing-impaired children between the ages of 7 and 12.

But the series is also directed at children with normal hearing ability, teachers of the deaf, parents of hearing-impaired children and children with other disabilities who use manual communications,'

The dialogue on "Rainbow's End" is sign language, as well as "voice-over" narration and some captions. Most of the actors are deaf, and each segment is built around a specific language principle or grammatical term. The premiere episode, for instance, considers "plurals."

"Deaf children learn more slowly than others," Hlibok says, "and this will help them with vocabulary and grammar. You will say, 'You like me,' but a deaf child Roaches Catching will say, 'You like TO me.'

"This series will help children learn the language, and with that language, they will feel like everyone else," he says.

"And the program is for a much wider audience, too. A lot of people have never met a deaf person. Maybe now, when they do, they won't be afraid to commu-

The scientists said a number of studies have indicated that the use of such drugs, mainly one named Ritalin, is safe and effective. But, the scientists said, there is a failure to monitor the drug's effects on the children and that it sometimes is precribed in unnecessarily large doses.

In one preliminary finding, Dr. Lily Hechtman, clinical director of the department of psychiatry at Montreal Children's Hospital, said a study of 19- to 22-year-olds who had been given Ritalin in childhood, in relatively high doses, did not seem to display any supression of normal growth. But she cautioned that the answers are not all in.

Another key finding what was that hyperactivity in children is not a signal that the child will become a juvenile delinquent. Aggressive behavior is more likely to be a warning of problems, according to Dr. Jan Loney of the psychiatry department at the University of Iowa.

"We can assure parents of a wiggly 5year-old that he is not necessarily not going to turn into a juvenile delinquent." Dr. Loney said.

This was confirmed by Dr. Hechtan, who said her study of the 19-to 22-yearolds showed that while the hyperactive children continued to have problems as they grew up, such as tending to drop out of school, "they did not load the anti-so-

The use of stimulant drugs in the treatment of hyperactivity in children has been the subject of great controversy in recent years.

Some critics, for example, have said that prescribing these drugs is unnecessary. The reports given here Sunday did what happens when they are given.

Hyperactivity is a persistent pattern of excessive restlessness in children accompanied by inattention, especially in

Dr. Kenneth D. Gadow of the State University of New York at Stony Brook, said he found that efforts to monitor the effects of Ritalin "are far less than satis factory," but added that he did not find any instance when doctors "pushed" the medicine on students or parents.

es in music and piano, French, carpentry, art, physical education, gymnastics and speech and drama. The classes are open not only to children attending lles but also to the 94 students who live in the Iles zone but attend Wheelock Elementary for desegregation reasons.

About 125 students, many from homes in which both parents work, take afternoon classes. They may enroll in up to three different subjects.

Other features at Iles are more subtle. In keeping with its "exemplary school status. Iles seems more willing to try new ideas in education, for instance.

Innovations initiated from within the school system or by Tech include extensive (and tricky) use of calculators - not just for math, but for spelling, Chisanbop, a new kind of math in which students are supposed to count on their fingers; rorschach-like "blob beasts," which serve as a springboard for student storytelling; audio-visual equipment for self-paced work; and Otter's Hour, a schoolwide time of silent reading held every Friday afternoon. (Students warmly embrace such activities, as evidenced by corridor posters. Proclaims one: 'Reading's fun, reading's nice, I never read the same thing twice.")

ILES HANDLES DISCIPLINE problems in a way different from most other elementary schools. Iles uses in-school suspension, a technique borrowed from

Also unusual is the school's way of reporting student progress. Conventional report cards have been replaced by a Tech-developed system of conferences, Anderson said. First, the teachers in a team get together to evaluate a student Then the student's "home teacher" holds a conference with the child, followed by a conference with the child's parents. Finally, the youngster and his or her

Mrs. Knight said lles tries to facilitate communication among students. There is much verbalization, much moving about, much talking," she said. We stress being considerate of others, but it doesn't have to be like a tomb." Hes is heavy on student involvement. Children as young as 4 serve on the student council, cafeteria council and cleanup brigade.

PARENTAL INVOLMEMENT is emphasized, too. Besides conferences, parents have shown their support by donating items (one contributed 169 square yards of old carpet) and backing such PTA fundraisers as the sale of Iles Cru-

Most of Iles' strong points are not unique to that school, Lubbock school officials say. Williams Elementary is more "open" in physical layout; Mahon Elementary is just as non-graded; several schools use team teaching; almost all campuses have student teachers and employ creative instructional methods. But Iles is the only school where all those qualities are pulled under the same roof, said Ed Stokes, elementary education director for Lubbock schools. And there's something else.

"Most of the kids who attend Iles volunteered to go - and it's the same way with the teachers," said Monte Hasie, school board vice president. "This creates an exceptionally good atmosphere.'

Hasie, who has a son attending Iles, said Iles gives students independence -"like they would experience in jun for high" - and that the youngsters respond

THE ILES FACULTY was specially selected, and PTA treasurer Mrs. Brown says it shows. "There seems to be more of a concerted effort among the teachers. They don't mind putting in extra hours if it means better opportunities for Added Anderson, who visits Iles almost daily and serves as overall coordinator: "There's a certain amount of tender loving care going into lles that you

"It's no utopia," Mrs. Knight said. "We have flare-ups, just as there are in

Novel Playground Envisioned For Iles Elementary School

Hes Elementary School wants to build the kind of a playground that's more than a jungle gym on asphalt. For starters, Principal Kay Knight envisions a soft base of eight to 10 inches of sand. On that there would be a tricycle track, a stripped-down automobile, an old boat set on springs, large wooden structures and frames, swinging bridges and a small pond. Children would get to peddle, jump, rock, climb and just relax, Mrs. Knight said. In doing so, they'd not only be developing their muscles - they'd be developing their creativi-"We see this playground as an opportunity to take our indoor curriculum outdoors," Mrs. Knight said. "Besides helping students with motor (muscle) development, this will be a great setting for drama, puppet shows, art projects and

Texas Tech University and the Lubbock Independent School District, partners in making lles a magnet school, are working together on the "model creative playground project." It will serve about 120 children age 4 to 7.

What Mrs. Knight needs now are materials. The school. 2401 Date Ave., is seeking such donations as telephone poles, railroad ties, cable spools, sand, lumber, pipe, galvanized sheet metal, brick, shipping flats or skids, nails, a cargo net, a large rubber conveyor belt, used tires, large metal washers

Some contributions already have been received, Mrs. Knight said. Those include an old boat, a 1969 station wagon (doors and other possible hazards will be removed), 120 feet of telephone pole, two large spools and 15 tires.

Mrs. Knight said one of the most important items for which lies is appealing is 155 feet of chain-link fencing and a gate, to divide the playground from the adjacent street and ensure youngsters' safety

After materials are collected, individuals and groups of volunteers will be needed to construct the project, Mrs. Knight said.

Persons and companies wishing to donate materials or labor may call the school, 744-2746.

Coordinating the project are Mrs. Knight and Linda O'Neal, a former San Antonio principal and now a doctoral student in Tech's college of education.

As a class project, Randall Gilbert, senior student in the university's department of park administration and landscape architecture, constructed scale designs of the plans.

Also contributing ideas or materials were Dr. Libby Vernon, a Texas Education Agency consultant, and various professors in education, home economics, health, physical education and recreation. - JEFF SOUTH

Davis, 45, ended four days on the stand last week in which he repeatedly denied involvement in a scheme to kill his divorce judge and others.

The Fort Worth industrialist said he was framed in a conspiracy masterminded by his estranged wife Priscilla and triggered by FBI informant David McCrory.

The nation's oil output was reported up to about 260,000 barrels a day Sunday against a low of 150,000 barrels one day last month. About 900,000 barrels are needed for daily domestic purposes, Exports have plunged from 5.5 million barrels daily to zero.

Many striking oil workers were reported returning to their jobs after Khomaini called for limited production to meet Iran's needs, but labor and technical problems were delaying restoration of fuel supplies to major cities. Sources said Sunday that oil was being brought to Tehran by trucks and railroad cars, but added the city's gasoline and kerosene supplies will be fully restored only when a pipeline from the oil-producing southwest is reopened.

Sources said Mehdi Bazargan, Khomaini's oil specialist, visited refineries Sunday at Kermanshah and Shiraz and received an employees' promise to return to work. He also appealed for reopening of the Tehran and Tabriz refineries.

AMARILLO (Special) - American Agriculture Movement delegates from 15 states met in here Sunday to plan a tractorcade to Washington, D.C., expected to attract as many farmers to the nation's capital as a similar demonstration last The number of tractors that will begin travel along interstate highways toward Washington on Jan. 15 has not been determined, said Gerald McCathern of Hereford, planner of the organizational meeting. But once the tractors arrive at the Capithat the issue is only 100 percent of parity - an economic issue - you'll be perceived as being just another group looking for the government to bail you out,"

Instead, Harris said, farmers need to explain that the quality of rural life is threatened by the loss of farm profits.

Harris told reporters he first became interested in the American Agriculture Movement last year when a tractorcade came to Atlanta and he saw that the only political leader in Georgia interested in the farmers' cause was Atlanta Mayor Maynard Jackson.

Harris, who researched rural poverty for four years, said the problems of the rural poor are growing and failure by American Agriculture to boost farm income will boost the numbers of those on "The poor wind up in cities," he said.

There's no plan to help people stay in the countryside.

Total farm debt now stands at $139 billion. Jenkins said, which includes land mortgages and equipment-supply debts. According to agriculture department figures, debt of farmers nationwide for equipment and supplies has risen from $46 million in 1977 to an estimated $55.4 nillion last year.

Nationwide Strike Of Refinery Workers Feared

DENVER (AP) — Oil companies and a union of 60,000 refinery workers remained at an impasse Sunday in a contract dispute focusing on President Carter's wage guidelines. A nationwide strike was feared when the workers' contract expired at midnight.

"Nothing has changed, there have been no breakthroughs," Jerry Archuleta, a spokesman for the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union, said Sunday.

"I don't see anything happening in the immediate hours. There's still time, but not much," he said.

A.F. Grospiron, president of the Denver-based union, said earlier, however, he was keeping the bargaining lines open in hopes of receiving "improved offers" from the oil companies prior to the expiration of the current two-year contracts.

"We may not be able to reach an agreement before our contracts expire, but we intend to keep trying." Grospiron said. Grospiron noted that he has the discretion of calling a nationwide walkout or those offers. Traditionally, an agreement with a major oil company is used as a pattern for settling with the rest of the industry.

Spokesmen for the oil companies have been unavailable for comment on the talks.

The negotiations represent the first major showdown over Carter's voluntary wage-price guidelines. At issue was the oil companies' determination to adhere to Carter's policy, and the union's vow that limiting wage and fringe-benefit improvements to 7 percent was unfair to

On Saturday, Grospiron insisted that Carter's guidelines "would limit the pay raises of the wage earners of the country, but will do nothing to keep prices from rising at their usual rapid rate." Meanwhile, he said, the oil industry "is exempt from the price guidelines, even though high energy costs are one of the causes of inflation."

He contended that the oil companies were "hiding behind the voluntary Carter guidelines to deny their hourly employees sufficient wage and fringe benefit improvements."

Grospiron also charged that negotiations were being hampered by proposals from some oil companies to "exempt various classifications of employees from receiving any general wage increase."

He said the oil worker is "not the cause of high gasoline prices. The refinery wage cost of a gallon of gasoline is less than nine-tenths of one cent."

The union was asking for a "substantial" wage boost and fringe benefits in the new contract. Under their current contract, oil workers average $8.82 an hour.

A strike was not expected to have a significant effect on oil production and supplies in the short run because refineries are highly automated and generally can be operated by supervisory personnel. But a long strike was expected to create more problems.

Poison Attacks Kill Tribesmen

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Some 1.200 Laotian hill tribesmen were killed in a air attack by government planes believed to have been carried out with poison gas, an American researcher reported Sunday.

Communist forces blockaded a string of villages and fired artillery and mortar rounds to keep their intended victims penned inside a limited area during the attack, survivors told the researcher.

Thomas Stearns, who describes himself as a free-lance researcher and magazine writer, said survivors of attacks during the past three years have been interviewed in refugee camps in northern Thailand.

The Atlanta man said no proof yet exists that the substance used in a string of attacks against Meo tribesmen is actually poison gas.

But he, refugee camp doctors and reporters have been unable to find another explanation for the stories from refugees from different villages and refugee camps.

Survivors of attacks have told similar stories of "gas" fired by small warplanes, and persons coming in contact with the substance developing red eyes, diarrhea and vomiting. In many cases, they have died.

At least 2.000 Meo are so far reported to have been killed in the attacks, which by inference would have to be by Pathet Lao or Vietnamese forces trying to stamp out a hill tribe rebellion in central Laos north of the capital of Vientiane.

The worst incident so far reported was at a three-hamlet village near Phu Kongtao, a mountain near the Plain of Jars, where most of the Meo live.

One survigor, Tsia Xiong, told interviewers chiefs of the villages eventually compiled a list of the dead with 1,200 names. The attack took place March 1, 1977.

He said 20 flights of L-19 light planes — used by both Vietnamese and Laotian air forces — fired rockets containing red, green and white "gas" during the attacks.

The villages were then blockaded inside a Communist troop cordon for 15 days, following which Pathet Lao forces attacked and surviving villagers fled. Because of the hardships of the trek from the Laotian mountains to Thailand, no one inflicted with the suspected gas has yet been examined by competent medical authorities.

Diplomats have been slow to investigate refugees' charges that poison gas has been used against the Meo, who once formed the core of the so-called "secret army" of the CIA in Laos.

But other investigators familiar with herbicides, pesticides, riot control agents and war weapons such as white phosphorus say they believe the suspected gas produces symptoms — including death — which are not similar to any of these.

February Release Set For Strip Mining Rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Strict new regulations on strip mining will go into effect as planned next month, the Interior Department says.

An official in the Office of Surface Mining made the statement after the New York Times, in its Sunday edition, said the department was delaying the costly new curbs for six months, until August, because of fears they may be inflation-

The Times said the coal industry and the Department of Energy had enlisted White House economists to force the sixmonth delay of the regulations, which are reported to cost the industry as much as $3 billion a year.

But the Interior Department official told UPI the regulations are planned for release in mid-February and the only sixmonth delay would be of a requirement for states to submit their own plans, if any, for regulating strip mining in place of the federal government.

The regulations, signed by President Carter in August 1977, will replace temporary controls that have been in effect for the past year.

There are more than 17 million tractors at work in the world, according to the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization. Some 12 million are used in North America, Western Europe, Australia and New

The new rules, which require the Interior Department to establish uniform standards for strip mining, have been praised by environmentalists who say they will curb environmental abuses in strip mining operations.

Environmentalists have worried the regulations will be weakened or delayed in order to avoid increasing the costs of mining operations; and thus inflating coal prices.

The Interior Department has insisted the new rules will not be inflationary.

The regulations were due out several months ago, but were delayed by problems in getting the Office of Surface Mining funded and staffed.

The Interior Department plans to release an environmental impact statement on the regulations at the end of January.

'People Issues' To Face Legislature

AUSTIN (AP) - Hairy "Bandidos" will mingle with fundamentalist preachers and pin-striped savings and loan lobbyists in the crowd of Texans trying to sway legislators in the next five months.

True, the 66th Legislature will spend much time in the stratosphere of multibillion dollar budget, school finance and tax relief questions.

But there will be plenty of issues that are grounded in the flesh-and-blood reality of consumer life, crime, driving a car or motorcycle, renting an apartment, child care, buying an insurance policy, borrowing money or even smoking a ciga-

Commerce Head Sees No Recession

NEW YORK (AP) - Commerce Secretary Juanita M. Kreps said Sunday that national economic growth will be sluggish and unemployment will rise in 1979, but there will be no recession.

Mrs. Kreps, who a year ago was pressuring President Carter to adopt job-creating policies, said on NBC's "Meet the "we all underestimated the inflationary pressures in the economy a vear ago

"Facing that reality, I think it is extremely important that we take the measures necessary to hold the rate of inflation down," she said. "It is more important to the American people to slow the inflationary rate than it is to adopt policies which will stimulate the economy and generate more jobs."

She said it appeared the growth rate would be between 2 and 21/2 percent for "sluggish by the standards of

She said she hopes unemployment will be held below 61/2 percent, but added, 'we may not be able to do quite that."

On a more optimistic note, Mrs. Kreps said there should be substantial improvement in the American trade-deficit situation, which she said could be pared from $17 billion down to $10 billion. She also said that there were great prospects of increasing exports to China, the Soviet Union and Japan.

Course On Editing Small Publications To Begin

Workshops, Classes, Products Galore Marking Village Craft A most outstanding workshop and classes and workshops are much in de-class schedule, involving former and new instructors, ushers in the new year at Village Craft Corner in South Plains

Really exceptional opportunities are afforded in the instruction program beginning immediately.

To be assured of a place in one of the classes or workshops, immediate inquiry and reservation is necessary. Don't delay! Have fun this year! And achieve! Workshops

Among the significant workshops are those to be conducted by Ann Harris and by Danny Gamble, both outstanding in their fields.

Anne Harris, of Houston, will conduct oil painting workshops Jan. 22 through Jan. 26, with choice of two classes, one from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m., daily and the other from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Three complete paintings will be involved; (1) floral including roses, (2) landscape with emphasis on clouds, and (3) horse.

Ann has studied under such authorities as Dick Turner, Fernie Parker and Robert Schuhsler. Danny Gamble, always accorded a tremendous welcome here, and whose mand, will conduct two classes in a watercolor workshop Jan. 29 through Feb. 2. Morning and night class choice will be afforded in this workshop, too, at Village Craft Corner.

Regular classes are beginning in the very near future (inquire for exact dates, with some beginning immediately) include:

On Mondays, Barbara Bilberry will conduct oil painting classes on a morning and evening schedule. Barbara is one of the more popular and well-qualified artists in the area.

Jane Hodgkins, another who hardly needs introduction, will have a Monday schedule, too, offering tole painting classes from 6:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m.

Then on Tuesdays, Barbara Bilberry will conduct other classes, and Mac Carow, will have an impressive schedule, Mac will teach portraits in pastels or oils from 10:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m., and beginning oils from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m. Mac's paintings have won enviable awards in area and national competition. Barbara Bilberry's Tuesday classes will include a morning tole painting session, early afternoon mini-painting, and evening tole painting. Wednesday calendars will be marked by instruction from James Ivey Edwards and Mac Carow.

Edwards, familiar throughout the region, will have a 2 p.m. until 5 p.m., class on oils or acrylics, with another at

Mac Carow will have a 6 p.m. classs on portraits (pastels or oils). Paul Wylie and Jon Birdsong will be on hand in a Thursday schedule!

Wylie, whose western art is readily recognized and appreciated, will have a 10 a.m. landscape class and a 2 p.m. western art class (both in oils) and an evening (6 p.m. until 9 p.m.) sculpture instruction period.

Jon Birdsong, expert in watercolor techniques, will conduct basic watercolor classes at 10 a.m. and at 6 p.m. Mac Carow will have a beginning oils class on Fridays beginning at 10:30 a.m. Then on Saturday, Jan. 13, Georgia Bartlett will conduct an oil painting session (10 a.m. until 5 p.m.) with a windmill subject. Georgia teaches classes two Saturdays each month at Village Craft Corner. A master of floral landscapes, poppies, etc., she is one of the really qualified instructors in her field.

Enrollment Still Possible In Industrial Technology Classes

enter the world of work in technical trades, one could do well to learn all details and register now in new classes of the Industrial Technologies Division at Lubbock Christian College.

But don't delay . . . classes begin immediately.

As example of the practical approach in instruction there, the Automotive Technology courses include introduction to auto engines, chassis and tune up; carburetion, installation of kits and major tune-ups; overhaul, diagnosis, removal, overhaul and installation of V-8 and six-cylinder engines; transmissions, automatic and manual: inspection, servicing, removal and installation; automotive electrical and air conditioning systems, repair and maintenance; brakesdiscs and drum, master, cylinder, and chassis maintenance; and welding introduction to oxy-acetylene welding, cutting and brazing, and introduction to are Similar complete instruction is noted in the other areas of training (Drafting, Electronics, Machine Trades and Welding Technology).

"The opportunities afforded through these several fields could be of significant benefit to you, or someone of your acquaintance, we are sure.

Registration is now underway, and full details can be obtained from Reginald Duncan, director of Industrial Technologies, Lubbock Christian College, 5601 W. 19th St., Lubbock, phone 792-3221.

Schedules are available in day and night classes in all areas except dafting that is offered only at night.

Many people, in a wide age range, take the classes to aid in their job change or to develop new skills with which to enter the job market. Industry needs skilled craftsmen, and the programs at LCC train and provide such individuals.

Operating in its 13th year, the Industrial Technologies Division has built a tradition of good training and has many satisfied graduates (check with us for documented testimonials.

Non-Academic

Courses are non-academic in nature, with one taking only the courses that pertain to a chosen field of study. Students enrolled in the Industrial Technologies program receive CEU's credit (continuing education units). All courses are NC non-college credit) and do not lead to a degree: however, students completing a program will receive a certificate of completion and will have on file a permanent record of course work they have taken at

Financial aid also is available to qualifying persons, in the form of grants, student loans and scholarships. All courses are approved for veterans training. Full explanation of costs is given upon

In general, all the courses are open to high school graduates or those over 18 years of age. Admission is an individual matter and LCC reserves the right to admit any student upon the basis of personal qualifications.

Each course is set on a "clock hour" basis, with 798 clock hours involved in automotive technology, as example, and in machine trades and in welding; with even more hours in electronics technoligy, and 528 hours for drafting.

Located in adjoining buildings on the west side of the campus, the division has all the up-to-date facilities a good program needs. The student learns under qualified instructors and with the use of

Not all classes start and end at the same time, and in some courses a student may enter the program at any time. To learn how any part of the program can work for you, a visit is invited, with full details gladly given and with inspection

A very comprehensive and practical program is afforded in this unique division at Lubbock Christian College. Participation could well open new fields of achievement for you or a friend or family member. We at the LCC Industrial Technologies Division invite your inquiry, wishing for you the best in the new year.

Endura Steel Siding Savings, Other Benefits Explained By House Clinic

"Did you realize just how very much 10,000 S & H or Gold Bond stamps with the house Clinic can do for you in 1979 in assisting your budget, in energy savings and in overall beauty and comfort of your home?"

The House Clinic, at 1922 Ave. E. phone 747-4436 in Lubbock, points out the following:

(1) House Clinic can cover your complete outside walls with quality Endura vinyl-coated steel siding that is especially designed to go over any outside surface of the home, regardless if it is stucco, asbestos or even brick!

(2) The turnkey job includes insulation behind this siding, and storm windows, too, as optional benefits especially desirable for comfort and qualifying for tax credit. That's right, tax credits are available: see the House Clinic for details.

(3) Buying now can avoid the increase in steel costs expected very shortly.

(4) Also, no payments need be made until March if one desires to finance (financing is available; ask for details). (5) As added assistance, the House Clinic is now giving one the choice of all complete jobs!

Aren't these convincing reasons for letting the House Clinic work for you for a better 1979 and years to come? We think so.

"Endura is the only steel siding in the industry that is guaranteed against hail," the folks at House Clinic emphasize, inviting inquiry about the special benefits and provisions of this guarantee.

The House Clinic has over 85 years of combined experience on its staff; so you know you can depend upon them to get the job done, right.

House Clinic, 1922 Ave. E. Quality Foremost In Wide Selection

Yes, again in 1979, quality lines in frames and lenses are just as near as The Optical Store & Boutique, just south of 50th and Slide, clearly marked on the west side of Slide, phone 792-0901. There is plenty of off-street parking immediately to the front of our entry.

A departmentalized arrangement of rooms and areas provides four distinct categories in our service: (1) utility selection, (2) another where quality is the sole consideration, (3) designer frames, and finally (4) the Boutique. So, whether the attractively priced lines in frames and glasses for the student, as example, or the very finest in choices from the Designer collection or the unusual and expensive lines within the Boutique are preferred, this Lubbock facility is outstanding, in a class by itself.

Fireplace Screens, Tools, Accessories Included In Childress Hardware Stock

"There's nothing like a home fireside when the cold envelopes the area, when snow swirls outside and when the chilling wind whistles around the corners!

And in the Lubbock region, the heating units have come in for early-season use. Right? Did you find in your own situation that possibly a new screen was needed for the fireplace, or that tools and acessories were inadequate?

In any event, consider this: One can turn to Childress Hardware for the best in gas logs, stoves, grates, logholders, fireplace sets, screens, Dearborne space heaters, radiant heaters, wood stoves, andirons and other fireplace accessories and heat-related needs.

Childress Hardware Store, at 902 Main St. in Lubbock, has a long, long record of stocking needed items - and the heating line is no exception.

Fireplace Accessories A complete stock of accessories and major items is maintained, and one has only to see the wide selection grouped on the second level at Childress Hardware to recognize that here is the onestop shopping center for winter heating

Replacement Radiants Even replacement radiants are stocked among the practical items for which

Tools For Builder For completeness, shop Childress Hardware, on the corner at 902 Main. Whatever the job at hand, there is no reason for it being made more difficult by inadequate tools and equipment. So - rely on the Fred Childress Hardware Store where again the finest build-

Remember the old-fashioned hardware store, where one could buy just about anything from a box of nails to harness snap or a pulley wheel for the The Fred Childress Hardware Store still retains that well-remembered atmosphere, while at the same time stocking the most up-to-date items offered by spaceage hardware suppliers.

No Newcomer

There has been a hardware store at this location, right across the street north of the courthouse, for more than 50 years, and the Childress name has been associated with the hardware business in Lubbock for nearly half a century. Old traditions of quality and services survive amid the attractive, modern dis-

Here you can purchase an old-fashioned sprinkling can or a lawn watering device that negotiates your yard: a well pulley (believe it or not they're still in demand) or a lamp chimney.

Wide Selection "If it's in the hardware line," partners Leslie Duncan and Dick Jay emphasize, 'you can get it here."

'And at inventory time we show more than 10,000 different items!"

Childress Hardware is a popular place with carpenters and craftsmen, who make it headquarters for nails of all sizes, as well as a wide range of other fastenings - capscrews, stove bolts, carriage bolts, machine screws and brass

Then there's chain and rope in all sizes for anything from home to industrial or farm use.

Cabinet Hardware Hand tools of all kinds are displayed and brands - Stanley, Crescent, Thor-son, Nicholson, Bluegrass, Disston, Lufkin and Plumb - are those associated with quality and integrity in tool-making for generations. Fred Childress Hardware also stocks one of the most extensive line of cabinet hardware in the city, with latest designs in hinges, pulls and latches attractively displayed. Here again brands such as Stylecraft, Christensen, Wicker-Stamey, Phylrich and Pfanstiel are indicative of top quality and design.

El Paso Wholesale, Lubbock Division, Serves All Year Long

Happy New Year from all of us at El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division. We mean it!"

"We feel that our firm has made the past year more profitable and certainly more convenient for retail firms throughout the region, ultimately saving for the consumer. Continuation of this service is pledged in the new year that we trust will be most bountiful for each of you, our friends, neighbors and cherished custom-

Selling wholesale only, the El Paso Wholesale Company in Lubbock is the city's complete wholesale firm.

Customers include grocery and hardware stores, auto supply houses, service stations, toy stores, sporting goods stores, etc.

Located at 206 23rd St., phone 747-1841, in Lubbock, the El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division carries and stocks a full selection of hard line merchandise.

From time to time partial lists of the products have been published on these pages of the Avalanche-Journal, and readers have noted that the products and brand names are ones that can be appreciated, together with the completeness of this wholesale firm.

Among the benefits area merchants find foremost at El Paso Wholesale Company Lubbock Division, aside from the selection, is the freight situation.

Doesn't it make sense that savings are enabled through the regions by virtue of the big-stock Lubbock warehouse that features faster, shorter delivery transport? Let this Lubbock wholesale firm prove it to your own benefit with products such as:

Guns by Remington, Marlin and H. and R.: ammunition from Federal and Remington; and gun accessories such as Outer & Hoppes solvents and gun cleaning kits.

C.B. radios by Midland and Cobra, and the Fuzzbuster radar detector, plus Mr. CB accessories and Antenna Specialists

Of course there are lots of quality housewares, including Corning Ware and Pryer, Nordic Ware and Rubbermaid. Among the many appropriate items for young birthdays are toys by Fisher-Price, Mattel, Playskool, Tonka and Marx. Electronics

In the electronics field, select from television sets by G.E., Midland, Hitachi and Sony; and stereos by Soundesign and Hitachi; plus miscellaneous items including eight-track and cassette recorders, walkie talkies and TV video games.

Quality cameras and supplies include Polariod and Kodak cameras, projectors and film, and accessories such as camera cases, viewers and film reels. Sporting Goods

For camping, select from Coleman, Igloo, Ray-o-Vac batteries and Nelson Sales camping accessories, and Buck knives. For outdoor sports, the lines of Rawlings, Spalding, Wilson and General Sportscraft are represented. And there are Daisy and Crossman BB guns and Huffy bicycles.

Small appliances are stocked in abundance, including coffee makers by Norelco. Mr. Coffee and Proctor Silex; and pressure cookers from Presto and Mirro Aluminum; and Hamilton Beach, Waring, G. E. and Sunbeam appliances, together with such lines as Dazey, Munsey, West Bend, Oster and Rival. Hardware is not neglected, either, and includes Stanley Tools, Black & Decker power tools, Crescent wrenches and Nicholson files, Peerless and Hancock Gross plumbing supplies.

In the personal care category, there are hair dryers by Gillette, Clairol, Conair and Sunbeam; and hairsetters and makeup mirrors by Clairol, Gillette, G. E. and Hamilton Beach, and WaterPik, too.

Automotive items include Hollywood and Cal custom accessories, Fram Filters and Autolite tune-up accessories; and Rubbermaid, Lifeline and Roberk automobile accessories.

'The heating season is upon us, along with those expensive heating bills!" So . . . now is a good time to try and reduce some of those costs and maybe even some of the dangers of the heating

This is the very practical word from Lellem Welch, Inc., 1401 Ave. J, phone 762-8797, in Lubbock.

"Most people actually don't pay much attention to the appliances used for home heating, but with the cost of energy going up for both gas and electricity, we need to begin to attempt reduction of heating costs in the home. Right?" Filters Important Therefore, clean filters are a "must" for efficient heating operation. Dirty filters eat up energy by making the furnace motor run longer and harder (because less air is pulled over the heatexchanger and a burned up motor is expensive to replace. Setting the thermostat lower also helps.

Humidifiers Advised The addition of a humidifier will help, too, making lower room temperatures

You have read in this newspaper and have heard on radio and T.V. that the housing market in Lubbock is depressed and that mortgage money is virtually unobtainable. Mortage loan companies always take a conservative stand when the National economy varies from the norm and the news media, hearing only the negatives, build on this and present it out of proportion.

The fact is that the housing market in Lubbock is not depressed and mortgage money is available. You can and should purchase that new home new. Why now? The selection of homes in Lubbock has never been better, interest rates will more than likely continue to go up, and inflation is certain to continue driving house prices up. Waiting for interest rates to came down before buying is not in your best interest, because the escalated values of property will more than offset any savings on interest rates.

Ownership of a home is the only way most people have of protecting their savings from inflationary trends. It is also a fact that the purchase of a previously owned or new home in Lubbock is still a bargain. Compared to the rest of the Southwestern United States, Lubbock housing is inexpessive. Those of us who live here do not think of it as being inexpensive, but the truth is we have become spoiled to our good fortune. We must face the fact that the cost of housing in Lubbock will not remain as realistic, as geo graphic trends predict.

The Real Story is: you cannot go wrong with the purchase of a home in Lubbock. If these facts are of interest to you, call Lubbock's most progressive Real Estate firm and allow us to visit with you about you future home buying plans, desires or needs. Landmark wants to help.

Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps has been battling fiercely to stop the losses, and apparently her struggle had a major role in salvaging the department.

New Civil Service Regulations Become Effective On Thursday

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Beginning Thursday, government employees can no longer goof off with impunity. They may even get fired.

That day, the long-awaited Civil Service Reform Act goes into effect, making it easier for Uncle Sam to fire shirkers.

But according to the man most responsible for seeing that federal employees do a day's work for a day's pay, a dramatic increase in dismissals is not too likely to

'I'm not sure the new law will result in more people being fired." said Alan K. Campbell, director of the new Office of Personnel Management.

Instead, he said in an interview, it should encourage federal employees to work harder in return for merit rewards and in the knowledge they are no longer virtually immune from being fired for incompetence or laziness.

In 1976. Campbetl noted. only 225 of the federal government's 2.8 million employees were dismissed "for inadequate performance."

Campbell was chairman of the Civil Service Commission before it became the Office of Personnel Management Jan. 1 under President Carter's reorganization Still to be confirmed by the Senate as head of the new agency. Campbell will oversee the recruiting, training, productivity, pay and benefits of most government employees.

He said the intent of Carter's reforms, approved by Congress last year, is to make government more efficient and to provide "a great deal more management

In the past, he said, too many rules and regulations made it "very difficult" to make management decisions - such as dismissing incompetent workers.

Courts had held that a "preponderance of evidence" was necessary to support the firing of a government worker under

This, Campbell said, made it almost impossible to do anything about employees who reported to work on time and who did not skip out early, even if they

White House Task Force To Push Carter Budget The budget also projects that by the WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Carter is setting up a special White House budget task force as part of a major effort to push his scaled-down spending plan through Congress without substan-

The task force, to be headed by Hubert Harris, the Office of Management and Budget's congressional liaison, will operate out of the office of White House congressional liaison Frank Moore.

White House and budget office spokesmen said Sunday the group was formed to better handle the problems Carter foresees in getting his budget-cutting proposals for fiscal 1980 through Congress over the opposition of some liberals and many special-interest groups.

The task force concept is a departure from previous years when the progress of the administration's spending plan through Congress was handled almost exclusively by OMB and the departments.

Carter's 1980 budget, due to reach Congress Jan. 22. proposes spending of about $532 billion, with an anticipated $29 billion delicit. One of the president's promises has been to keep the deficit under the government's civilian payroll will stand at 2.1 million persons, the New York Times reported Sunday. That would be a decline of 10,000 from the level projected for next Sept. 30, and a reduction of 31,000 from the level of last William Cable, Moore's deputy, said the White House was getting more direct-

"Agency people are generally advo-cates for programs and have a difficult time not taking more money tif Congress offers it)," he explained. "And whether it's true or not, OMB is perceived on Capitol Hill as being more concerned with making the numbers come out right than with making political or programmatic judgments.

Harris, whose task force will hold its first meeting Monday in the White House with Budget Director James McIntyre. said the group also will be concerned with explaining Carter's program cuts to

OMB Budget Control Causes Controversies In Government

WASHINGTON (AP) - As each new year begins, some of the biggest controversies in government surround the Office of Management and Budget, an agency that has control over more than $500

Many people remember the OMB only as the Cabinet-level agency once headed by Bert Lance, the close friend of President Carter who was forced to resign more than a year ago.

But people who run government programs and special interest groups recognize it as the powerful agency that can wipe out entire projects with a stroke of the pen. About Jan. 22, Carter, who makes the final decisions, will announce the first federal budget that exceeds $500 billion. So far, the administration is planning on reducing its budget deficit from about $41 billion in this fiscal year (1979) to about $29 billion next year. Because of more tax collections, however, spending would increase from $494 billion to about Carter started his term promising a balanced budget for 1981, but that possibility became increasingly unlikely in his first two years in office. However. Carter has been trying to make sharp budget cuts because of the increasing problem of inflation. The government is also able to reduce the deficit because it has overestimated the amount of money it will need. In the last fiscal year, the government reduced its spending estimates by $12.5 billion partly because it had allocated more money than it ended up spending.

The new budget Carter will send Congress is expected to project a balanced budget or even a surplus for 1981.

But even Carter's decision will not be final. Congress must approve both the programs and the spending amounts for them, and it also sets its own budget tar-

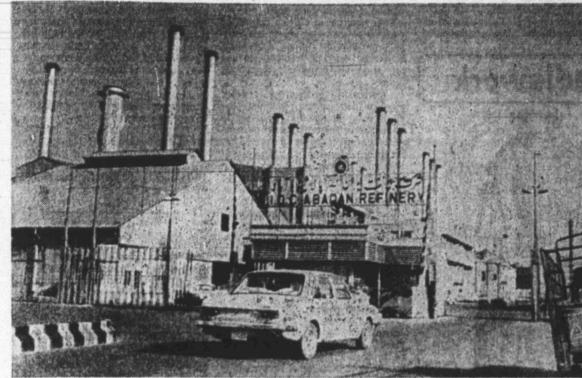

The OMB's influence is decided mainly by how much backing it gets from the president. As Carter's first budget director, Lance had considerable influence over all economic decisions.

The present director, James T. McIntyre, is not as vocal as Lance but has drawn up most of the details of the budget with little interference from Carter.

The budget process begins in the spring, when the OMB submits broad policy recommendations to the president, and the president sets tentative spending goals. After that, the agencies submit their requests and their breakdown of programs.

The OMB holds hearings and sets tentative budgets for each department, giving department heads a chance to appeal The budget is put together in late December, and after that, the president makes his final decisions. Under Carter, the OMB has required zero-based budgeting from each department and agency. That means they have to justify all of the money they spend, not just requests for increases

Portuguese Farmers Defend Cooperative System

Patterns/Needlework

AVIS, Portugal (AP) — With the year's work done, dozens of plows stand in rows outside whitewashed cottages, pumpkins lean against the barn and dunes of seed corn dry in the sun. These gentle hills don't look like a battlefield.

But this is the "May 1 Cooperative." whose workers tell you they are fighting for survival. Their enemies, they say are bureaucrats in Lisbon and the clubswinging national guardsmen who may evict them from the land on bureaucratic orders.

"It's the class struggle. We play this game in Portugal," Jose Luis da Silva, the mayor of the medieval town of Avis and president of the cooperative, said in explaining the conflict that has embroiled much of Portugal's agriculture for more than three years.

Our fight is for the right to share the rewards of our work," he recently told a group of reporters who got a rare tour here under arrangements made with Communist officials in Lisbon.

Da Silva's farm is one of about 600 cooperatives that grew up when land was seized from private owners after the April 1974 revolution that toppled Portugal's dictatorship. Now the new government wants to give some of the land

This farm has 1,100 cows, 12,000 sheep and 29,250 acres of land. Da Silva said of its development: "Physically, we are worse off than before. We work harder. But we live much better. We have liber-

No issue bears more heavily on Portugal's future than the fate of the cooperatives. No question stirs more bitterness than who controls the land that produces most of the grain, olives and cork. No struggle has more to do with the fate of the Communist Party, which is staking its main electoral stronghold - the poverty-stricken countryside - on the success of the cooperatives.

And, if productivity could be increased. few sections of Portugal would hold more promise for self-sufficiency than the "Alentejo," the rolling plains beyond the Tagus river, stretching east and south toward Spain. Now half of Portugal's food is imported.

Once these plains were largely a preserve of the wealthy, much land lay fallow, and seasonal hiring kept the work force small and poor.

The reaction a year after the dictatorship's collapse seems now to have been inevitable. Peasants swarmed onto big estates and barred absentee landlords. In a region of nearly 10 million acres, nearly half of Portugal, they occupied more than 2.5 million acres.

With help from left-wing organizers, some 75,000 workers - more than half the estimated number of the region's farm laborers - settled on cooperatives. It was a dramatic increase in employment that, at first, brought about a big gain in production.

But output was disastrously low in 1977 and again this year. Peasants cited destructively heavy rainfalls, although reports of good harvests came from just across the border in Spain.

Politics became a key factor in laying blame. In the Agriculture Ministry, conservative spokesmen say a return to private enterprise is the only way to rescue Western Europe's most primitive farm system, which employs 27 percent of the national work force but provides only 15 percent of the national product.

Some government officials accuse the cooperatives of waste and fraud. Peasants contend that Lisbon deliberately withholds loans and technical aid and sets prices low to try to bankrupt the A government program under which some land is being taken from the cooperatives and returned to private owners is intended to destroy the farms, peasants say. The scope of land to be returned has never been defined but, according to non-Portuguese agronomists, it could include up to 80 percent of the land in some

Clashes between evicted peasants and armed guardsmen have occurred on a number of Alentejo farms since September, and da Silva said of his own cooperative's experience:

"Some of the guard came in here recently like an army, turning families out of houses and wrecking gardens If the government tries to give this cooperative back, we shall go away. But when the national guard leaves, we shall return.

Reinstated landowners have complaints, too. Some say peasants sold cattle to meet expenses and left broken equipment in fields rather than repair it. One found a tractor engine used to dam a

No such mismanagement was evident on the May I Cooperative, an acknowledged showcase. Rubbing a week's beard with a calloused hand, da Silva stood in a barnyard and assessed the cooperative.

This land belonged to several owners. A lot of it was not worked." he said. People from Avis were emigrating to France to find jobs. We occupied the farms.... We found 18 tractors here and now there are 60. The same land that used to support 97 workers now has 524. We have four times as many sheep as before. We've begun growing rice - 800 tons this year. Next year, tobacco.

Nobody emigrates from Avis anymore," he said. "Some have even come back from France.

Da Silva said the cooperative's 11-man executive committee controls a monthly budget of about $300,000. The farm has erected new buildings with surplus funds, he said, and pays wages regularly.

As president of the cooperative, da Silva earns $150 dollars a month, the same as a tractor driver. Antonio Manuel Varela earns more because of his special skills in caring for dairy cattle.

The best I ever made before the revolution was 6,800 escudos ($150) a month but only for five or six months a year.' Varela said. "Now I'm paid monthly. Last month I made 9,000 escudos ($200).

'That's what the cooperative means, as far as I'm concerned.

A DAILY MESSAGE FROM

Luke 8:22-29, The Living Bible

22 One day about that time, when He and His disciples were in a boat, He said, "Let's go across to the other side of the lake."

23 On the way He lay down for a nap, and while He was sleeping, the wind began to rise. A fierce storm developed that threatened to swamp them, and they 24 They went over and woke Him up, screaming,

"Master, we are sinking!" He woke up and told the storm, "Quiet down," and wind and waves subsided, and all was calm! 25 Then He asked them, "Where is your faith?"

And they were filled with awe and fear of Him and said to one another, "Who is this man, that even the winds and waves obey Him?"

26 So they arrived at the other side, in the Gerasene country across the lake from Galilee.

27 As He was climbing out of the boat, a man from the city of Gadara came to meet Him. This man had been demon-possessed for a long time. Homeless and naked, he lived in a cemetery among the tombs.

28 As soon as he saw Jesus, he shricked and fell down before Him, screaming, "What do You want with me, Jesus, Son of God Most High? Please, I beg You, oh, don't torment me!" 29 For Jesus was already commanding the demon to leave him. This demon had often taken control of the man, so that even when he was shackled with chains, he simply broke them apart and rushed out into the desert, completely controlled by the demon.

Steelers Freeze Oilers

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier gave Pittsburgh a couple of early touchdowns, then Houston started giving the Steelers the ball over and over again.

And before Sunday's American Football Conference game was over, the Oilers had given Terry Bradshaw a chance to tear them up in a devastating 19-sec-ond span. And that gave the Steelers a 34-5 victory and a berth in Super Bowl XIII.

A driving rain and near-freezing temperatures turned what was supposed to be a hard-nosed battle into a farce. There were seven intercepted passes, five picked off by Pittsburgh. And there were 12 fumbles, a record for a National Football League championship game.

Even before Houston began giving the game away. Harris' 7-yard run and Bleier's 15-yard dash had given Pittsburgh a 14-0 lead in the first period.

"The difference was that we got an early lead," said Steelers' linebacker Jack Ham, who had an interception and two fumbre recoveries. "They had to throw the football. They won all those games this season because nobody knew what they would do, run or throw. But our offense got the big points early and they had to throw. That was the difference. They couldn't just give the ball to Earl Campbell."

And when they did give it to him, he gave it away, committing half of Houston's six fumbles. "I've never fumbled three times in a game before," he said. out there because your hands just froze. But I guess Franco's did, too. It seems every time we got something going, we committed one of

Surging Raiders Travel To TCU

Tonight, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in TCU's Daniel-Meyer Coliseum. Somerville will get a closer look at Tech. And he has complimented the way the Raiders played.

Tech will take the floor with a 9-2 sea son record, but more importantly, a 1-0 mark in the league. It swamped the Longhorns in Lubbock in a regionally televised game Saturday afternoon to raise some eyebrows around the league. Somerville's were not stretched.

"Everybody about them (the Raiders) impressed me," said the TCU coach, Tech really has a fine basketball team. They've played well the last couple of "The big thing about them is their quickness, one through ten men. They're really so much better than last year," he added.

Somerville, although only in his second year as head coach, knows about playing on a foreign court. His Frogs sustained a 92-63 loss to Texas in Austin last Thursday night in the SWC's first game

Cowboys, Steelers Advance To Super Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Call it the Flex - a proud, determined defense that has led the Dallas Cowboys back into the Super Bowl for a record fifth time: The computerized Cowboys forced Los Angeles into a frightening seven turno-vers — five of them interceptions — and shattered a tight ball game with three last-quarter touchdowns, building a 28-0 victory over the Rams in the National Football Conference championship game

And it went just the way Dallas coach Tom Landry had programmed it.
"It was a great defensive battle until we opened it up with the interceptions," said Landry, whose Flex produced the first NFC title game shutout since 1968. The whitewash moved the Cowboys into the Super Bowl against the American Conference champion Pittsburgh Steelers. The teams, who met in the 1975 game won by the Steelers 21-17, will collide at Miami in Super Bowl XIII on Jan. 21

Two of the interceptions were by safety Charlie Waters, whose pickoffs set up the first two Dallas touchdowns.
"I thought the receivers were open on each play," Landry said. "Charlie made the great play on both. He reflected our delense. He was that good. We had the good rush and intensity. Defense sparked the same." the game.

Despite the interceptions, Waters was critical of his play.

"That wasn't my finest game," said Waters, who also recovered a fumble. "I had several missed assignments, I had a better game against the Rams in 1976, but that one won't be remembered because we lost."

Waters said the interceptions were the result of a couple of gambles on his part. "We faked some blitzes and that helped," he said. "To make interceptions, you have to force the quarterback to pass in a hurry, and that's what our line was doing."

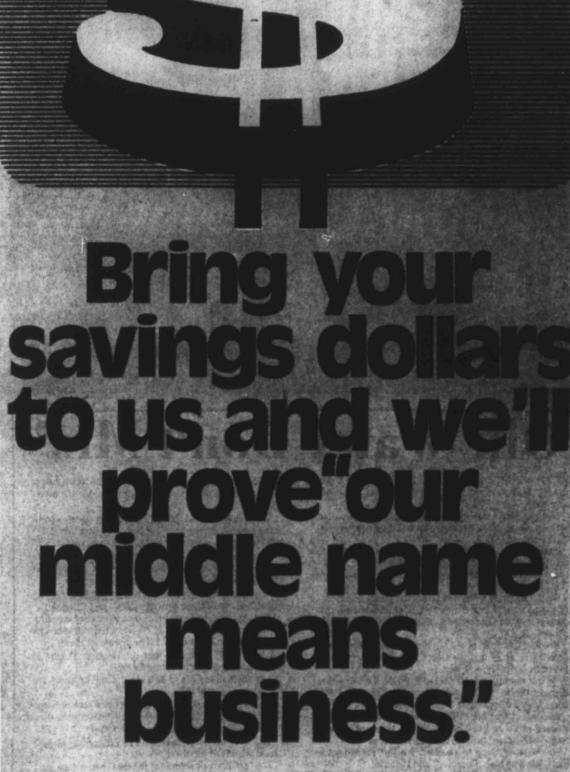

ine was doing.

It was the fourth NPC title game loss in the past five years for Los Angeles.

Cowboys tackle Randy White wiped out two-thirds of the Rams' starting backfield with jarring tackles that knocked running back John Cappelletti and quarterback Pat Haden out of the game.

Cappelletti suffered a dislocated right shoulder after being hit by White at the end of a 15-yard pass play in the first quarter, and Haden suffered a compound fracture of his right thumb when tackled by White near the end of the third period. The injury to Haden came on Waters' second interception of the game and set up Roger Staubach's 4-yard touchdown See COWBOYS Page 2

Dallas Defense Keys Title Win Over Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Randy White, the 250-pound Dallas Cowboy defensive tackle who knocked two key Los Angeles Rams out of action Sunday, said he didn't even realize it at the time.

A White tackle injured the right shoulder of fullback John Cappellitti early in the game, and in the second half, quarterback Pat Haden suffered a fractured right thumb when hit by White:

It was the defensive power of the Cowboys that was primarily responsible for the 28-0 victory by the defending Super Bowl champions over the Rams in the National Football Conference champion-

In addition to White, safety Charlie Waters intercepted two passes leading to the first two Cowboys touchdowns, and also recovered a fumble.

Describing his tackle of Cappelletti. White said, "I caught him from behind and he must have fell wrong. He caught the pass (15 yards) and I don't think he saw me coming and cut back. I didn't know until after the game that he was hurf.

Haden was hit by White as he threw what turned out to be the second interception by Waters.

'I didn't hit him as hard as I could. I had my arms up and was trying to hold White said. "Maybe he was hurt when he fell. I didn't know about it until our defense started talking about how to work against Ferragamo.

With Haden out, little-used reserve Vince Ferragamo had to finish up at quarterback for the Rams.

Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach said he didn't realize that at the end of the second quarter and the start of the third he had thrown 11 straight passes.

"We did come out starting the third quarter with a passing game because our running attack hadn't been working well," said Staubach. "Our game plan originally was to get the running game

Staubach wound up with two TD passes for the game.

He said the Cowboys went to the shotgun attack early on several series of plays because the Rams were sending in an extra defensive back. We tried to go with what was best against that," he said. "Turnovers and Charlie Waters were the difference in this game.

The Rams had seven turnovers, five of them interceptions.

Staubach said. "This was not really a 28-0 game. We were just able to make the most of our oportunities and convert the turnovers. If we could not have done it. we still might be on the field now.

The Rams had beaten Dallas 27-14 during the regular season and Staubach admitted, "We learned some things from that game. We knew they could move the ball and we would have to play our best game. We were better mentally this time. Their defense did an excellent job and so

While the Dallas Cowboys yelled "Bring on the Steelers" in their locker room, the Los Angeles Rams sat silently, speaking only to answer reporters' questions in abrupt, low monoton

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Oilers and water didn't mix Sunday. Dan Pastorini wore his flak jacket; he should have worn a life jacket.

'We just didn't play up to our potential," said Houston defensive end Elvin Bethea, who had "guaranteed" an Oilers' victory.

Instead, Houston lost 34-5 on a slippery, sloshy field to the Pittsburgh Steelers, who claimed the American Football Conference championship and a trip to the Super Pastorini, wearing the flak jacket to protect his injured ribs, was sacked four times by a Steelers' defense that covered him like the near-freezing rain that fell throughout the game. Houston lost four of six fumbles, Pastorini was intercepted five times and the Oilers managed a net of only 142 offensive yards. "It was raining on both sides of the field. That's neither here nor there." said Pastorini, forced to pass after Pittsburgh took a whopping 31-3 halftime lead. Because of that big Pittsburgh lead, Pastorini was restricted in his use of Earl Campbell, the hard running rookie who helped to make the Ollers' season. "It's a sorry thing to swallow. We just came up too short. We'll be back, I'm sure," said Pastorini.

committed one of those darn mistakes," said Campbell. 'The Steelers are a great bunch of guys. They are hardhitting, but they show a lot of class and regardless of who they play in the Super Bowl, I'll be pulling for them." A season ago, Campbell won the Heisman Trophy as the oustanding player in college football.

"I've tried all my life to be a champion," he said. "Today, it wasn't meant to be."

Pittsburgh linebacker Jack Lambert and several other Steelers' players visited the Houston lockerroom after the game, offering handshakes and kind words.

Jim Jodat, replacing the injured Cap-pelletti, tried the middle of the Cowboys' line but was stopped with rookie Larry Bethea making the first hit.

The next time the Rams had the ball. Waters intercepted Haden again, this time at the Los Angeles 49. He returned the ball 29 yards to the 20 and five plays later Staubach took the Cowboys into the end zone for a 14-0 lead.

Vince Ferragamo, replacing Haden at quarterback for the Rams, connected on a 65-yard pass play with Willie Miller that gave Los Angeles the ball at the Dailas 10-yard line midway through the fourth quarter. But on the first play from scrimmage after that. Harvey Martin recovered a Cullen Bryant fumble for the Cowboys pleted the Dallas devastation when he in tercepted a Ferragamo pass in the final two minutes and returned the ball 68 yards for the wrapup touchdown.

Henderson, who had said before the game that the Rams didn't have enough class to reach the Super Bowl, spiked the ball over the crossbar to celebrate the interception. It was the longest interception for a touchdown in NFC champion ship history, and it finish the Rams'

By The Associated Press After all these years, they were saying it would be a freak for Louisiana State to beat Kentucky's basketball team at Lexington

That's actually what it took Saturday night.

Using what they called a "Freak Defense", the Tigers beat the Wildcals on their home court for the first time in history with a tingling 93-89 decision.

We practice it a lot, but this was the first time we've used it." said Dale Brown, coach of the seventh-ranked Tigers. "It's a three-man zone in the back, where we form a triangle, and we play the guards man for man. It worked pretty well for us tonight." The unique defense helped break the backs of the ninth-ranked Wildcats, and complemented an offense led by De-Wayne Scales, who scored 25 points. 'We played composed and that really had a lot to do with the win," said

Brown. "We shot some miserable free throws in the first half (7 of 16) and I told the kids we would just have to forget about that. And they did. Three other Top Twenty teams were not as composed Saturday night, Iowa upset 13th-ranked Michigan 85-79; Georgia edged No. 18 Mississippi State 69-67 and Wake Forest defeated No. 20 Maryland 66-60. Elsewhere, top-ranked Michigan State

Dame stopped Villanova 75-64; No. 3 North Carolina tripped Virginia 86-74 in two overtimes; No. 4 Illinois swept past Northwestern 74-56: No. 5 Duke trim Tulane 74-64; No. 6 UCLA whipped Rut-gers 78-57; No. 8 North Carolina State routed 15th-ranked Long Beach State 100-73; No. 11 Indiana State beat West Texas State 98-77; No. 12 Georgetown hammered Samford 73-50; No. 14 Arkansas nipped Houston 62-61; and No. 16 Louisville turned back Southwestern Louisiana

Kentucky had an eight-point lead at one stage late in the game, but had problems against LSU's "Freak Defense" and was able to score merely six points in 81/2 minutes. The Tigers, meanwhile, were scoring 25. Later, Ethan Allen's two free throws with one second remaining nailed it down for LSU

That scoring streak was the big turning point," noted Kentucky coach Joe Hall, "Right at the last, there probably were some things that could have been called that would have swung the game our way. But I give credit to LSU. They played well and shot well (61.8 percent). They hit their free throws down the stretch and did what they had to do to win. They've got a great future."

Ronnie Lester scored 29 points including six straight free throws in the final 90. seconds, to lead Iowa's upset of Michigan. With 8:50 left, Michigan held a 62-61 defeated Minnesota 69-62; No. 2 Notre margin, but then Lester took command of the Hawkeye offense — scoring eight points and dishing out two assists to lift lowa into a 75-70 advantage. The Hawkeyes never trailed thereafter.

Mark Slonaker's controversial tip-in at the buzzer gave Georgia its victory over Mississippi State. Mississippi State, losing for the second time after eight victories against opposition outside the South-eastern Conference, claimed that Slonaker's basket had come after the final buzz-

Frank Johnson and Mark Dale combined for 41 points to help Wake Forest upset Maryland. The Deacons, normally a fast-breaking team, played a ball-control style most of the game.

"I felt things had been going badly for us when we tried to play from behind," said Wake Forest Coach Carl Tacy, "so I wanted to keep control of the game. I told them yesterday that we would use it. And I'm sure they were a little concerned. As a fast-break team, it's probably the last thing they wanted to hear.

Ron Charles scored 19 points, including 11 in the second half that led Michigan State back from a 13-point deficit. Trailing 42-29, the Spartans outscored the Gophers 27-8 behind Charles.

Kelly Tripucka scored a game-high 26 points to lead Notre Dame past Villanova. Tripucka and Rich Branning sparked an Irish attack in the second half that gave Notre Dame an insurmountable 59-

Mike O'Koren scored 22 points to help North Carolina beat Virginia. The regula-tion game was tied at 62 and the first overtime at 69 before the Tar Heels outscored their Atlantic Coast Conference colleagues 11-1 over the final 2:11 to re-cord their 10th victory in 11 games.

Mark Smith's 16 points led undeleated Illinois over Northwestern for its 14th straight victory. I can't believe we're 14-0," said Illini Coach Lou Henson. "It's a stronger club than I'd thought we'd have. Our success is a result of our closeness as a team, our defense and our unselfishness.

Ivor Heads South Plains AAA Team

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff In the Fort Stockton lockerroom following the Panthers' bi-district loss to the Estacado Matadors, it was so quiet that you could hear the blades of grass, which had attached themselves to some of the players' jerseys during the contest, hit the floor as the Panthers took off their uniforms for the final time.

Fort Stockton quarterback Rick McIvor was quoted as saying, "I feel bad going out this way for some of my teammates who played their last game to-

McIvor was the 2-AAA passing leader. The Panther quarterback completed 39-102 passes for 737 yards and had only seven tosses picked off. Meanwhile, McIvor threw for 10 touchdowns as he led the district in passing by 349 yards.

Defensively, the Fort Stockton senior proved to be a better receiver to opposing quarterbacks than intended pass eatchers. McIvor had 14 interceptions. Joining McIvor in the offensive backfield are runningbacks Van Pearcy of Andrews and Kelvin White of Estacado. Both Pearcy and White are sophomores

Pearcy (6-2, 168 pounds) dashed for 1, 135 yards and scored 17 touchdowns in 10 games. Pearcy, who runs a 4.6 40-yard dash, tabulated a 6.1 rushing yards per

Cooper graded out at an average between 85-90 percent. The Sweetwater guard (6-0, 225-pound Sr.) also has good. speed to go along with his large frame. Cooper runs a 4.9 in the 40-yard dash.

Parks (6-1, 235-pounds) is known for quickness, Parks was often used as a pulling guard and with 4.8 speed to match his 235-pound frame, he was constantly a thorn in the defensive line's side. In I-AAA, tackle Milliard graded at an 85 percent average. Milliard, who made the I-AAA All-District team both offensively and defensively, is a better offensive player, according to Dumas coach Don Barton. July Land was the best blocker on the Snyder Tiger football team this season. Land is best known for trap and pass blocking. Estacado coach Louis Kelley says Escamilla, "is the best blocker I've ever coached." Escamilla kept a 85-90 percent grade throughout the season.

On defense, Terry Tennison (6-0, 200pound Sr.) of Canyon, Steve Wright (6-2. 210 Sr.) of Estacado, Jerry Joplin (6-3 225-pound Sr.) of Fort Stockton, Morris Anderson (6-2, 218-pound Jr.) of Snyder and Steve Kolb (6-2, 240-pounds Sr.) of

Snyder Picked In Poll

By BOB BAJACKSON Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

Since weather forecasts have garnered the main interest of South Plains residents the past couple of weeks, here's something that ought to grab your attention: The 3-AAA basketball forecast looks like there's an 80 percent chance that Snyder will snowball the district race today, turning to reign by season's

The Tigers currently sport an 18-4 record and are ranked third in the latest Fort Worth Star-Telegram AAA basket-

And though the cold weather conditions over t he South Plains haven't changed the fact that Snyder has been a hot basketball team, the hazardous conditions have hampered the Tigers from improving on their record.

We've been forced to cancel our last two games," said Tiger coach Jack Stephenson. "But I don't think the lack of playing time will hart us too much, because we've had excellent practices." According to Stephenson there are three reasons for Snyder's success. "Depth, lack of injuries and no illnes-points to 6-3 seniors Greg Hinton and three-year letterman senior Sid Everton.

"We don't keep scoring average," said Stephenson. "But Greg is hitting over 50 percent from the field and I would say our leading shooter."

But after digging through past records, Stephenson said that Hinton has put 142 field goals through the hoop and 86 free

"What's that, 370 points and an 18point average?" asked Stephenson. Close

And in regard to Everton, Stephenson commented, "Sid is one of those players that helps us keep control."

What Stephenson means when referring to "control" is set up and run the Tiger offense when the fast break isn't

We like to work the ball inside like anybody else," said Stephenson. "But I don't want to draw the impression that we'll take the ball only inside on offense." End Of 'Baby Boom' Might Reduce Crime

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) - Connecticut Corrections Commissioner John Manson says more prisons, tougher judges and stiffer penalities won't put a dent in the nation's growing crime problem, but the end of the post World War II "baby boom" will.

"Politicians, judges, law enforcement officers, social scientists and corrections commissioners can do what they want, but the only thing around the corner that's going to deter crime is that 'baby boom," Manson said in a recent inter-

"In 1983 or 1984, we should begin seeing a big reduction in crime," he pre-dicted.

"Studies show people under the age of 30 commit the bulk of all crime," Manson explained. "In 1983 or 1984, all the children born during the 'baby boom' in the early '50s will be over 30." "Thank God for that phenomenon,"

This year, the Connecticut Legislature has been flooded with anti-crime bills. prison sentences for drug pushers, burglars who mug people in their homes and persons who commit violent crimes with guns.

There are also bills to abolish plea bargaining in the courtroom and set strict sentencing guidelines for judges. One bill would make setting a fire that kills someone a crime punishable by death.

"Those are great ideas," Manson said, "but they won't do too much." Manson suspects the legislative session will also produce the traditional call for more prisons. And if Manson's predictions of a reduction in crime come true, what will the state do with the extra prisons?

"You can't convert them into bowling alleys," Manson said. "We'll be left with a bunch of white elephant prisons."

ENGLAND THAW STARTS

LONDON (AP) - Britons began thawing out Sunday as westerly winds brought milder weather to their island nation, wracked by a week of snowstorms and freezing temperatures. The thaw was particularly welcome at London's Heathrow Airport, where icy conditions had delayed thousands of passengers. Snowstorms during the week isolated entire regions, led to food shortages in shops, and caused many storm-related deaths. Among them was an elderly woman who reportedly froze into a block of ice on her kitchen floor. She reportedly collapsed while turning on the tap to fill a kettle, the water overflowed and froze.
