Shah Will Leave For Egypt, U.S.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, his 37-year rule rocked by months of mass protest and bloodshed, will leave Iran on Tuesday for Aswan, Egypt, on his way to the United States, informed sources reported today. Many here believe he may never return.

New political violence flared across the country, and it was reported that 20 persons had been killed Sunday and today, including a former U.S. Air Force colonel in the southeastern city of Kerman.

U.S. Embassy officials identified him as Martin Berkowitz, 53, of San Francisco. The embassy gave no further details, but the newspaper Khayan reported Berkowitz was apparently stabbed Sunday night in the kitchen of his home in Kerman and that the words "Go Back To Your Country" were found scrawled on the wall of the house.

Khayan said Berkowitz was head of the Parson-Jordan Co., a copper-mining concern. The paper said his killers had not yet been identified. The sources here confirmed an earlier report by Egyptian officials that the beleaguered 59-year-old shah would travel to Aswan. The Cairo officials said he would meet with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in the southern Egyptian town. The shah had been a guest of Sadat's in Aswan last January.

Before departing, the shah is scheduled to hold a rare news conference late Tuesday morning at his palace outside Tehran.

The Iranian Senate today hurriedly gave its endorsement to the new civilian government of Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar. It had been expected that once the lower house of Parliament gives its approval — the vote is scheduled Tuesday — the shah would leave the country, clearing the way for Bakhtiar to take over full control of the nation.

The shah's journey, ending in the United States, has been described as an extended vacation, but many political observers here believe the popular opposition to the monarch will make it impossible for him to return. He has named a Regency Council to replace him during his absence.

Once the shah leaves, Bakhtiar will face the opposition of the exiled Moslem holy man Ayatollah Khomeini and his huge following, who demand an Islamic republic guided by religious leaders. Khomeini has denounced the Bakhtiar government as "illegitimate" because it was established under the shah.

In Tehran today, more than 100,000 people, in a festive mood but as usual chanting "Death to the shah!" and "Long live Khomeini!", jammed the streets around the main bazaar for the second successive day of massive anti-shah demonstrations.

Berkowitz was the second American slain in the year-long political upheaval.

Schools Set Guidelines

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The Lubbock Independent School District today sent out guidelines for students who are scheduled to change schools next week as the district's court-ordered desegregation plan enters its second semester of implementation.

Under the plan, white elementary pupils being bused the first semester of the 1978-79 school year are slated to return to their neighborhood campuses. In turn, a different group of whites will be bused the second half of the year.

"We've met twice with principals on this. Everything seems to be in good shape," said Dr. E.C. Leslie, the school system's assistant superintendent for administration.

School administrators are making minor adjustments in bus routes and faculty assignments and are using an elaborate record-keeping process to ensure that the right academic materials follow each child, Leslie said.

"We expect a very smooth start of the year," he said.

in Iran. On Dec. 23, Paul Grimm, an American executive of the Western-run Oil Service Co. of Iran, was ambushed and killed by terrorists in the southwestern city of Ahwaz. Anti-Americanism has been strong among anti-shah elements because of Washington's support of the monarch and because of what many Iranians see as Western domination of their country.

The Khayan newspaper said 17 persons were killed in political violence.

Witnesses Criticize City Voting System

By SYLVIA TEAGUE
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Testimony resumed in federal court this morning in a suit questioning the city's at-large method of electing its officials, but most of the witnesses concentrated on Lubbock school board elections rather than city council elections.

State Rep. Froy Salinas, unsuccessful city council candidate Maria Mercado and school board member Jose Ramirez testified this morning that the low turnout in school board elections prior to 1976 made it easier for a minority candidate to be elected.

However, since that time city and school elections have been held jointly, thus reducing the chances of minority candidates, they said.

Salinas, elected to the legislature in 1976 after the city was divided into two single-member districts, testified blacks and Mexican-Americans generally turn out in lower numbers when no minority candidate is running.

Salinas said that in the 1976 election he benefited from a larger drop-off in voters in Anglo boxes between the primary and the runoff election and the increase in the turnout in some Mexican-American boxes.

He received about 95 percent of the Mexican-American vote in his district, Salinas said, and between 90 and 95 percent of the black vote in the runoff. District 75B, which encompasses East and North Lubbock, is comprised of 62 percent white voters, 25 percent Mexican-American and 13 percent black, Salinas said.

Salinas said he probably would have lost the election had a black candidate not been involved in a county commission race at the same time, thus drawing black voters to the polls.

Salinas said it is more difficult "to raise the kind of money to run at large" than is required to wage a city council or school board race.

Salinas said it is now harder for minority candidate to win a school board seat since city and school elections are combined, and said he thinks former school board member Joan Ervin "would have been re-elected if not exposed to the large number of voters."

"I think she was not re-elected because she is black," Salinas said.

Maria Mercado, who was unsuccessful in her bid for a city council seat last year, said she would not run again because, "I'm just not going to win."

She said this "defeatist attitude" is pervasive among minority voters therefore they turn out in lower numbers at the polls.

"They feel their vote doesn't count if the candidates they are voting for are not going to win," she said.

She also said a recent switch to punch-card voting in city council elections further discouraged minority voters.

During the 1977 council election, Miss Mercado said she appeared in north and east Lubbock with Councilman Alan Henry, who was running for mayor plot.

However, when she sought Henry's support in Southwest Lubbock, she said the councilman told her "it would be political suicide to do so."

Miss Mercado, who now lives in Washington, D.C., testified she received the majority of her votes from blacks and Mexican-Americans. Travis Shelton, representing the city, noted Miss Mercado had received more contributions than her three opponents and that she had received more votes than one Anglo man in the race.

Shelton also questioned her regarding her decision not to campaign extensively in predominantly white areas of Lubbock.

Jose Ramirez, who was the first Mexican-American school board member when he was elected in 1974, testified he was unsure that he would be successful in being elected again because of the joint city-school board elections.

Ramirez said he received a substantial amount of votes as well as financial support from the white community.

Plaintiffs' attorneys were successful this morning in introducing into evidence a 1923 city ordinance which prohibited anyone of black descent from living in certain areas of the city.

Snowy Midwest Digs Out Again

A-J News Services

Chicago and the upper Midwest dug out from the second-worst blizzard in the region's history today, while the Southwest thawed out between Arctic cold fronts.

The Lubbock area was expected to experience a general warming trend, with highs today and Tuesday in the upper 40s and lows tonight in the middle 30s. Sunday's high was 37 degrees and the low this morning was 23 degrees.

The approach of an upper level disturbance will cause considerable cloudiness today and a 40 percent chance of precipitation Tuesday.

Wind warnings were in effect on area lakes today, with winds 15 to 25 mph and gusty, becoming southeasterly at 10 to 15 mph tonight.

A natural gas line break in the Panhandle caused six school districts to close because of a lack of heat and forced residents of several towns to turn down their thermostats in sub-freezing temperatures this morning.

Lone Star Gas Co. officials determined the break was caused by expanding and contracting of the gas pipes. The break occurred five miles south of Chillicothe in Hardeman County, closing schools at Hedley, Clarendon, Paducah, Childress, Memphis and Wellington.

A gas company spokesman asked residents in Clarendon, Hedley and several other towns to turn their thermostats down "as low as you can stand it." Officials said they hoped to have the line repaired sometime today.

Early morning temperatures dipped below freezing all across the state except for the Lower Rio Grande Valley and along the Southeast Texas coast.

Temperature extremes ranged from 18 degrees at Longview to 39 at Galveston and 36 at McAllen.

High level cloudiness will continue to spread eastward across the state today ahead of an upper level disturbance which will cause a threat of showers with some possibly beginning late tonight in the extreme western portions of the state.

The extended forecast calls for cooler weather and a chance of showers through midweek, but by Thursday the area should become partly cloudy with a warming trend continuing throughout the remainder of the week.

At Chicago, a special army of 2,500 workers helped the city to dig out from a near-record blizzard. Crews reopened one runway at O'Hare International Airport, the world's busiest, after snow forced a weekend shutdown.

But the forecast was for possibly more snow by midweek.

Helicopters were used today to take sick and injured to Chicago-area hospitals because ambulances could not get through the 30 inches of snow, 20.9 inches of it from the weekend storm that hit the Midwest and left at least 29 persons dead — seven in Chicago alone.

O'Hare was closed to all flights from

KENT HANCE
Honored At Breakfast

WEST TEXAN TAKES OATH TODAY

Solon Joins In Tribute To Hance

By MILLER BONNER

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of West Texans got a spicy lesson in Texas-style politics along with their eggs and bacon this morning from Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, the new dean of the Texas delegation on Capitol Hill.

Brooks, presiding over a breakfast honoring Rep.-elect Kent Hance, quickly explained that the Lone Star State has enjoyed "considerable power, some prestige and, on occasion, some influence," by electing young men to Congress and keeping them there.

Texas voters, said Brooks, differ in that regard from their counterparts in other states who "elect a Democrat one year, a Republican two years later."

"I grin every time I hear of such things, because I know that means just that much more for my folks and that much less for them."

Brooks said he never wanted to visit such districts because, "I don't even know if they've got roads...I know they don't have any dams or big (federally funded) projects."

"It's strongly to your benefit and to the benefit of our state to elect a man who is young and keep sending him up here."

"As for myself, I don't want to make a career of it," joked the man about to begin his 14th term. "Twenty more years, when all the kids are out of school..." Hance and eight other newly elected Texans were to take the oath of office this afternoon, marking a dramatic change in the makeup of Texas' 24-member delegation to the House.

Hance replaces the retiring dean of the House, George Mahon, who had been the only person to represent the 19th congressional district in its 44 years of existence. Last year, the Texas members averaged nearly 57 years of age with almost 16 years of House experience.

Beginning today, the delegation averages 47 years of age and nearly 8 years of experience.

Brooks, the chairman of the House Government Operations Committee that will oversee any reorganization plans President Carter has in mind this year, said Hance and the other rookies already have begun to rely on the unity of the Texas delegation.

"Kent already wants me to come to a meeting with a bunch of his farmers who want to drive tractors up here," began Brooks. "I said I would, although my farmers have more sense than that."

Hance told the 38 constituents attending his breakfast that Brooks had offered some advice to the freshman.

"He told me, 'don't be organizing a bunch of those breakfasts and if you do, don't be asking me.' I waited until I knew he wasn't in his office and called one of his aides and set this breakfast up."

Death Takes Civic Leader

Preston "Presto" Johnston, well-known Lubbock businessman, civic leader and former star athlete, died at 8 a.m. today in Methodist Hospital.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Rix Funeral Directors.

Johnston, 57, was a star running back and kicker for Southern Methodist University in 1940-41. He still holds the Southwest Conference punt record for a 94-yarder against Pitt in 1940 and was twice named to the all-SWC team.

Johnston, who was in the investment field and co-owner of Pioneer Lincoln-Mercury in Lubbock, was appointed by the Lubbock County Commissioners Court on Jan. 14, 1976, to serve on the Lubbock County Hospital District board of managers. He was reappointed in January, 1978, but resigned in October.

He served during the district's most trying period, during efforts to complete and open the Health Sciences Center Hospital. He served on the hospital district's administrative and community

Teng will arrive in Washington Jan. 28. His formal state visit will run from Jan. 29-31.

He will visit Atlanta in President Carter's home state of Georgia Feb. 1-2; Houston, Feb. 2-3; and Seattle, Feb. 4-5, from where he will fly home.

Ambassador Leonard Woodcock, chief of the U.S. liaison office in Peking, will accompany Teng on his travels in the United States as President Carter's personal representative.

The White House released Teng's schedule during Carter's visit to Atlanta in connection with the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday.

The United States and China established full diplomatic relations on Jan. 1, with Carter personally inviting Teng to visit the United States.

Haley Will Quit Writing

NEW YORK (AP) — "Roots" author Alex Haley, apparently feeling the sting of two separate lawsuits charging him with copyright infringement, has decided to abandon writing and concentrate on producing dramatic series for television, Newsweek magazine reports.

"A whole lot of the thrill of writing books has been taken from me by this experience. I'd rather go into something where I can be more creative," Haley says in the current issue of Newsweek.

One of the suits against Haley, who won the Pulitzer Prize for his best-seller, was brought by Margaret Walker Alexander. She claimed in 1977 that Haley had copied parts of her 1966 novel, "Jubilee." That case was dismissed, but Haley, according to Newsweek, paid $100,000 in lawyers' fees.

Last month, Haley reportedly reached a $500,000 out-of-court settlement with Harold Courtlander, who charged that passages from his novel "The African" appeared in "Roots."

Newsweek says that before abandoning his writing career, Haley plans to complete two previously contracted books, "Search," describing how he wrote "Roots," and a children's novel.

Shah Not Moving To Beverly Hills

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — This wealthy suburb of Los Angeles will not be a haven for the embattled Shah of Iran, says Mayor Joe Tillem.

"I can tell you authoritatively now that the shah is not coming here to live," Tillem said Saturday after a private conference with a U.S. State Department official, adding that he was "relieved" by the news.

Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi has promised to take a foreign vacation after Parliament endorses his nation's new civilian government. He has not said where he will go.

Tillem also said the unnamed official reported that the shah's sister, Princess Chams, might permanently leave her Beverly Hills home, which was the scene of a violent anti-shah demonstration by Iranian students Jan. 2.

Meanwhile, the shah's ailing 90-year-old mother and the princess were once again being sequestered at an undisclosed location after leaving the Palm Springs desert estate of Walter Annenberg, former U.S. Ambassador to Great Britain. They had gone there following the demonstration.

Pope's Itinerary Announced

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II is seeking a "profound" contact with the Mexican people during his upcoming visit here and will meet with the poorest of its elite, a top church official says.

The pontiff will tour four cities and several small villages from Jan. 26-31. His trip begins Jan. 25 with a stop in the Dominican Republic. Archbishop Ernesto Corripio Ahumada said the pope's program was full, but he wants "to have profound contact with the Mexican people."

Day trips are scheduled to Guadalajara, Oaxaca and Puebla, where he will take part in the third general conference of the Latin American Episcopate and meet with selected bishops from Latin America.

Each night the pope is expected to return to Mexico City to meet with priests, diplomats and government officials, although there are no plans now for him to meet with President Jose Lopez Portillo.

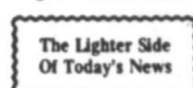

During his trip to Oaxaca, the pope will travel by helicopter to a remote Indian village where up to 500,000 Indians are expected to gather to receive his blessing.

Officials predict five million persons may line the streets of Mexico City in a "human valley" to welcome the pope Jan. 26 on the 3 1/2-mile motorcade from the airport to Metropolitan Cathedral in the national square, where he will preside over Mexico's first papal Mass.

Vatican sources said Sunday 12 Vatican officials, including two Swiss guards, will accompany the pope on the trip, his first overseas since becoming pope.

Stolen T-Shirts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Edward Heckman knows I can be tough to live in Cleveland.

Thieves broke a plate glass window over the weekend at his small eastside store and made off with 50 T-shirts. Most were imprinted with a decal of Cleveland's skyline and the words, "You Gotta Be Tough To Live In Cleveland."

Heckman estimated the uninsured loss at about $500 and said: "I don't see anything humorous in this. It's about $500 worth of non-humor."

"But we're gonna stay there and sell T-shirts. You gotta be tough to live in Cleveland," the 40-year-old storeowner added.

More Black Judgeships Among Carter's Goals

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says he would like to nominate blacks for judgeships throughout the Deep South and the rest of the nation and that he is pressing senators to include blacks and women among recommended candidates.

At the same time, Carter indicated he is facing difficulties in getting senators from several northern states to submit suggestions for minority and women judges.

The president also said in an interview that if Congress passes legislation making today, Jan. 15, a national holiday to mark the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King, the slain civil rights leader, he would sign such a bill. King would have been 50 years old today.

The president made his comments in an interview with five black journalists. The White House made a transcript of the interview available for release today.

Carter reiterated at a speech in Atlanta yesterday that he would support such legislation, which Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Friday he would introduce.

In the half-hour discussion with black reporters, Carter answered questions on the economy, the judiciary, the administration's policy in Africa and his overall relationship with black voters.

"My goal is to have black judges in Georgia, Florida, the Carolinas, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, indeed throughout the country," Carter said in response to a questioner who asserted that only one federal judge among approximately 136 in the South is black.

"One of the problems in the district judgeships is that the individual members of the Senate in effect have veto power over the appointments," the president said. "When the senators have refused to include in their list of recommended judges those who are black or other minorities and those who are women, then we are delaying any appointments, going back to the senators and asking them to enlarge their list."

"In several of the northern states we are also having a problem getting the members of the Senate to change their long-standing policy and to make it possible for me to appoint black judges," Carter said. "But I am determined to succeed."

Carter has nominated U.S. district judges on the basis of recommendations made by individual senators in whose states the judges serve.

Nominations to U.S. circuit courts of appeals have been made from pools drawn up by advisory panels the president has created.

"I can guarantee you in the circuit judgeships that you will be well pleased," the president told the interviewers.

On other issues, Carter said: "His administration has tried to concentrate on jobs for minority groups and that about 3,500 black-owned businesses have benefitted from the allocation to minority-owned firms of 10 to 15 percent of the funds in a $4 billion public works program.

"While he is in office, no federal agency will mount such a campaign against a leader as the FBI did against King during the 1960s."

"Progress in eliminating apartheid and moving toward majority rule in southern Africa 'has been too slow.'"

"Although no blacks hold senior staff positions in the White House, he considers himself 'to be a good spokesman for the well-being of black citizens.'"

Bella Abzug Raps Firing

NEW YORK (AP) — Bella Abzug says President Carter misjudged members of the National Advisory Council on Women when he fired her as the council's co-chairperson.

"We don't have to be lectured and scolded by the President, and told that we can only talk about this parameter of activities, and if you talk someplace else you're going to be spanked," she said Sunday during an interview on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers" program.

The former Democratic congresswoman, whose firing on Friday led to the resignation of 26 of 40 council members, said her dismissal may have been triggered in part by strain caused by Carter's brother, Billy.

Billy Carter's remarks last week about Jews and Arabs stirred a storm of protest.

"What happened the other day at the White House was like — when a guy has a bad day at the office and he comes home and kicks his door. Well — our president probably had a bad day and instead of kicking Billy Carter, he kicked me," said Mrs. Abzug.

First Test-Tube Boy Born

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI) — The world's third test-tube baby and the first boy conceived outside his mother's womb was born Sunday in a Glasgow hospital to a 32-year-old cookery teacher.

Doctors said "everything is perfect" with 5-pound 12-ounce Alastair Montgomery and his mother, Grace.

Alastair is Britain's second test-tube baby and the second triumph of gynecologist Patrick Steptoe and physiologist Robert Edwards, the doctors responsible for the birth last July 26 of Louise Brown, the first baby conceived outside the womb of its mother, in Oldham, England.

Another test-tube baby was reported born last October in Calcutta, India, to a couple who had been childless for 15 years.

The baby girl, Durgwa Agarwal, was fertilized under a different procedure involving the storage of the embryo in liquid nitrogen, then placing it in the mother's womb during her menstrual cycle.

An Indian investigating commission expressed doubts over the Indian birth and said the three doctors involved were uncooperative in explaining their work. However, the doctors said they will publish their findings.

Alastair's birth Sunday at Glasgow's Stobhill Hospital was about one month premature. Mrs. Montgomery had expected to give birth around St. Valentine's Day.

But the birth was natural and a doctor on night duty at the hospital said "everything was perfect."

"I cannot say any more, a statement will be issued in the morning," he said. The London Daily Mail announced the news in an exclusive story and said the baby would be called Alastair James Lauchlan Montgomery.

The birth fulfilled a long-time wish for Grace and Jimmy Montgomery, an insurance agent. They have been married 13 years and were childless.

The expected Valentine's Day birth was appropriate.

Grace and Jimmy were childhood sweethearts who attended the same high school.

Even then, Grace said, she knew she wanted to marry Jimmy.

"I was only 15, but I refused to go out with other boys. There was no one else I wanted." Her pregnancy was announced last November.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your usually prudent judgment could be distorted tomorrow by unrealistic thinking. Take off your rose-colored glasses and see things as they really are.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Even though you may feel a pal owes you a favor, tomorrow will not be a particularly good day to request it. Wait till you pal volunteers.

PISCES (Feb. 20-May 20) An ally who usually delivers what he promises may let you down tomorrow because of circumstances beyond his control. Be ready to carry the ball if necessary.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be on your best behavior in career matters tomorrow. Take care not to do something outlandish that could lose you an important admirer.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Take pains not to be overly possessive of a loved one tomorrow. You'll drive the one you care for further away if you try to draw him or her too close.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) To sustain harmony on the home front tomorrow you might need to pamper your mate a bit more than usual. Why not? Your turn will come.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today, don't attempt to flatter unwilling helpers to do your bidding. The tactic will prove unproductive, and could even cause you some embarrassment.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your prudence could be tossed to the winds tomorrow if you see items you desire but cannot afford. Live within your means.

In 1964, the U.S. Supreme Court struck down a Louisiana law requiring the race of a candidate to be put on ballots.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Aug. 22) Be careful tomorrow that you do not establish a precedent serving no useful purpose with person for whom you are responsible.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be self-sufficient tomorrow. Don't rely too heavily on others. Disappointment is likely if you expect them to do what you should be doing for yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not keep company tomorrow with persons who are able to spend more lavishly than you are.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Important goals could be postponed tomorrow because you lack ambition and drive. Putting matters off will only cause future complications.

U.S. Firms Seek Chinese Markets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stanley Young says the telephones never stop ringing and he's looking for more help and office space at the National Council for U.S.-China Trade.

"Everyone's come out of the woodwork who thinks that China is for them," says Young, who is vice president of the association that often acts as a go-between for American companies seeking to sell to the Chinese.

It is not that the council objects to the new business and interest. But even to veteran watchers of China trade, the avalanche of inquiries since Dec. 15 when President Carter announced normalization of diplomatic relations with China has been mind boggling.

"There's a China mania. It seems to be sweeping the business world," says a State Department official who is helping to plan a special China seminar for business leaders today.

The seminar is by invitation only and is expected to be attended by more than 500 executives from the country's giant as well as small corporations. But says the official, "We've got companies calling up and saying 'Why weren't we invited?'"

The Commerce Department says exports to China rose to $653 million in the first 11 months of 1978 from $171 million in all of 1977. With the U.S.-Chinese normalization and a growing desire by the Chinese to industrialize, 1979 exports are expected to be about $1.2 billion.

A number of American companies have already arranged big deals. U.S. Steel will build a $1-billion iron-ore processing complex and Fluor Corp., an $800-million copper mining-processing facility. Coca-Cola Co. soon will sell Coke to the Chinese and Pan American World Airways is seeking direct flights to China where it plans to build hotels.

Smaller firms selling anything from electronics equipment to drill bits are also seeking out the Chinese. And American bank officials, who have seen their Japanese and European competitors get the jump, are anticipating large-scale loan transactions.

China, which not long ago avoided extensive business dealings with any non-Communist country, already is firmly imbedded in trade with Japan and Western Europe, though until very recently it has largely ignored the United States except for timely grain purchases.

But, says Robert Strauss, the president's special trade negotiator, it is hoped that exports to China will greatly help reduce the United States' $30-billion balance of trade deficit.

CIA analysts suggest that before 1985 China will import more than $150 billion in goods and services if Peking's leaders stick to their anticipated 15 to 20 percent yearly increase in industrial output. Some private sources say the China connection will not be one-way.

"In 10 years' time, China could grow to rival Japan in exports of radios, TV sets, and other consumer electronics products," says Christopher H. Phillips, president of the National Council for U.S.-China Trade, which has 450 U.S. business members.

The Chinese attitude toward trade has changed much in the past few years. Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping is determined to put China's great leap toward the West on firm footing as soon as possible.

"In the past, there was a taboo on borrowing in general," says a China trade expert. "Self reliance was the key word. Now China is seeking out loans, even government loans."

A consortium of British banks recently agreed to lend China $1.2 billion over five years and Japanese banks also have been dealing with the Chinese. At the same time, the shortage of Chinese capital and questions on whether China may be over-extending itself have some U.S. bankers concerned, one government source says.

China trade experts both in and out of government are apprehensive about the speed and magnitude of developments and about whether the push toward industrialization under the 74-year-old Teng will maintain its momentum after his departure.

"China has had many pendulum swings in the course of its history. This may be just another pendulum swing," one source said, while agreeing with others that Teng's policies seem to have broad support.

Although Carter's decision to establish full diplomatic relations gave U.S.-China trade its biggest boost, barriers remain. Foremost is the so-called "frozen assets issue" stemming from the Korean War when Chinese assets in the United States were frozen and the Chinese reciprocated, leaving claims from both countries.

Government and private trade experts predict the problem will be resolved when Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal and Commerce Secretary Juanita M. Kreps visit China in the next few months.

There is also uncertainty over China being given most favored nation status, which would allow China tariff advantages and clear the way for low-interest U.S. Export-Import Bank loans.

A White House official said the administration is seriously considering pushing for most favored status for China — but this would involve congressional action.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

Candor Lightens Service

LIKE LAUNDRY soap periodically repackaged with a label proclaiming "all new ingredients inside," the national legislature that convened in Washington today will be widely identified as the "new" Congress.
But just as the detergent too often turns out to be merely a minor variation of the same old formula, the 96th Congress will differ little from its recent predecessors.

Hill Club—whereby the unions, corporations, trade associations and lobbyists are systematically though legally milked—is just...nauseous.
In last month's television documentary, "A House Divided," Rep. Leon Panetta, D-Calif., was refreshingly honest in describing what too many of those donors demand in return for their money:

THE DOCUMENTARY cited a dawn-to-dusk workload too exhausting for even the most dedicated and ambitious representative and last year's record-breaking 1,540 votes in the House, many on trivial issues.

"There is no way," concludes Rep. David Obey, D-Wis., "that any human mind can absorb enough information to be intelligently informed on all those issues."
Tradition-bound institutions like the House invariably are reluctant to accept change, but there's hope for needed future improvements if other lawmakers will join Panetta, Obey and Pike in a candid discussion of the issues.

John D. Lofton:

Bosses Want Special Privileges

WASHINGTON—When President Carter's chief speech writer, James Fallows, resigned not long ago, he declared:
"I'm inclined to doubt that this government can be changed by any President. You can predict a bureaucrat's reaction to almost any issue by the way it will affect his job or fiefdom. That's what comes first."

AMONG OTHER things, the President is expected to call for an end to the twice-a-year cost-of-living adjustment in federal pensions, the cost of which reached $10 billion in 1978. Federal pensions rose 102 percent from 1966 to March of 1977, compared to a 72 percent rise in the consumer price index.

NOTING THAT most federal workers supported Carter's candidacy and were "elated" when he won, Blaylock says that they thought the President would "end the disparity in treatment between federal employees and employees of the private sector."

IN A STUDY done for Princeton University's Economics Department, Dr. Sharon Smith found consistent and positive evidence of substantially higher pay in the federal government than in the private sector or state and local government.

TO REMEDY THIS situation, Mrs. Smith suggests that the present federal-private pay comparability system be restructured in a major way. She says: "A welfare goal should be achieved directly through income redistribution, not superimposed on government pay policies."

The Long Journey

SHE SAT QUIETLY in the Dallas Love Field waiting room, her hands clasped in her lap as she reflected on what had brought her—at age 73—to be about to take off into a snowy night on the first airplane ride of her life.

about what her future will be like without him.
His long illness had given her time to prepare, as well as anyone can prepare, for his absence. It was a measure of her own faith and strength that she could wrap herself in a cloak of confidence and mourn not for herself but for him.
And, yet, her greatest comfort was in being able to say, "he is in a far better place."

Nuclear Waste At Our Disposal

WASHINGTON—Nobody really counts on getting out of the world alive, and yet rare is the scientist, economist, politician and general cogitator who isn't trying to beat the system.

NUCLEAR WASTE can emerge as a radioactive species in almost all chemical elements, as well as manmade particles.
It exists as gases, liquids and solids, can bring death by intense exposure or by inflicting fatal diseases, including cancer. But the most salient feature of nuclear waste is its longevity.

FINANCE IS almost as mysterious as nuclear physics. Alfred E. Kahn, chairman of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, is a non-believer in utopian solutions.
He actually looks for methods that are second-best. He says this is because we live in a world we never made, and couldn't improve it much by trying.

Sylvia Porter: Who Totes The Note: Creditor Or Debtor?

IS IT FAIR for you to be compelled to pay the creditor's attorney's fee if you, a debtor, are sued for not paying a bill and lose? Many contracts provide for precisely this.

THE WHOLE emphasis of this report to you on a virtually unknown aspect of our debt collection system is that the system is still in the process of being molded and remolded. To work, debt collection must be fair, effective, a two-way street.

AND IT PENALIZES you, a consumer, if you believe a product is defective, a contract unconscionable, or a sales pitch misleading—and you choose to fight.

IN CALIFORNIA, this "saucer for the goose is saucer for the gander" is the approach taken, for the law now says that the winning side, consumer or creditor, can collect legal fees.

Jury Selection Process Under Way In Flood Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Selection of a jury to try veteran U.S. Rep. Daniel J. Flood on perjury, bribery and conspiracy charges began today shortly before the Pennsylvania Democrat was to begin his 16th term in Congress.

The jury selection process, being conducted by U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch, was to be interrupted at noon so the 75-year-old Flood could go to the Capitol for the swearing-in ceremonies.

"I'm a little hoarse," Flood told a reporter, pointing to his throat, after he sat down at the defense table in the courtroom.

"I think the hoarseness has something to do with the cancer operation I had 15 years ago," said the usually flamboyant Flood, who wore a navy-blue vested garb and matching suede shoes. His moustache was waxed dagger-sharp.

Gasch told the panel of about 120 prospective jurors, "The first order of business is to select a jury who will be completely objective and impartial."

A jury of 12 persons and six alternates will be chosen before testimony in the trial begins. The jury will be sequestered.

Flood is accused of conspiring to collect $65,000 cash and 100 shares of bank stock in exchange for contracts, grants and others favors. Indictments were handed down last year by federal grand juries in Los Angeles and Washington.

He could be sentenced to 155 years in prison and fined $220,000 if convicted on all counts — nine bribery, three perjury and one conspiracy.

The 13 counts, which were produced after an investigation by more than 100 FBI agents, were consolidated for a single trial in the nation's capital.

"I deny all these allegations totally and unequivocally," Flood said when he pleaded innocent.

"Those absurd charges (were) brought by desperate men," said the flamboyant congressman, who is known as "Dapper Dan" for his fancy white silk suits and fur-lined capes.

Gasch has ruled that the 12 jurors and six alternates chosen for the trial will be sequestered — placed in the custody of federal marshals and locked up until the trial is complete.

Flood is a skilled orator, and left the stage to pursue a law career as a student at Harvard University. He got his law degree from Dickinson School of Law, and has served 15 terms in the House since 1944. He lost re-election bids in 1946 and 1952, but has not been defeated since.

Flood is accused of improperly trading his influence as chairman of a House Appropriations subcommittee that oversees about $75 billion for hospitals, schools, labor, welfare and defense.

"Nobody has more clout than Dan Flood," the congressman, who wears a long, waxed moustache, said a few years ago.

"Defense and HEW means two-thirds of the budget goes through my hands," he boasted. "Chum, that's a big role for an old actor. Luckily, I'm a nice fellow. I can help out a lot of nice people."

The FBI began investigating Flood's activities in mid-1977 after his former administrative assistant, Stephen B. Elko, was accused of influence peddling.

Elko, who has since been convicted of bribery and is serving a three-year term, is Flood's chief accuser. The indictments naming Flood listed Elko as a co-conspirator.

The perjury charges stem from Flood's testimony before a grand jury that was investigating Elko and his testimony as a witness at Elko's trial in California. At the time, Flood denied receiving bribes. Flood's lawyer, Axel Kleiboomer, said at pre-trial hearings that the defense hoped to prove that Elko kept the money he claims he collected to give Flood.

Firms Attempt To End Strike

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Seven major steel companies went to court today in another effort to stop a strike by independent steel haulers aimed at paralyzing the nation's steel shipments.

The companies filed a brief with U.S. District Judge Louis Rosenberg contending the Fraternal Association of Steel Haulers has failed to comply with Rosenberg's Jan. 9 directive, which ordered the truckers to end their strike.

"By suggesting conditions to ending the unlawful work stoppage," FASH has violated the court order, the steel firms said.

The companies also said FASH President Bill Hill had given false information in court last Friday. Hill told Rosenberg he had complied with the judge's directive by relaying to his men Rosenberg's order to end the strike.

Earlier, the steel companies filed suit in U.S. District Court seeking an end to the strike and asking for damages.

Hill said reinstatement of fired FASH members is a main stumbling block to the end of the prolonged shutdown.

He said FASH members planned to stay off the job at least until Wednesday, when the next membership meeting is scheduled.

"One of the main things holding up the return is that the fired truckers have to be offered their jobs back, with full seniority," Hill said, referring to members who were fired by their companies during the nine-week shutdown, which has crippled the shipment of steel products by truck.

Hill said he would ask Rosenberg to help the truckers get back their jobs, noting the judge said in his return-to-work order "the court was available to help resolve the dispute."

Hill has told his members that support for the shutdown had sagged in every steel center except Pittsburgh, where the organization is headquartered.

The FASH leader stayed out of jail last week by swearing under oath before Rosenberg that he told strike coordinators they could not engage in strike activities.

"I told them they are not supposed to be picketing at steel plants or stopping trucks," he said.

But he added, "I did not order them to go back to work."

The strike, which started Nov. 10, had been marred by shootings and acts of vandalism, but there was evidence the violence had tapered off when the court action heated up.

Miss Marvin To Begin Testimony In Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The next step in the so-called Marvin trial probably would be on the witness stand several days and then he would call Marvin as the next witness.

Several dozen other witnesses are expected to testify about the relationship between the two. Mitchelson has estimated the trial, being heard without a jury, may last about four weeks.

The trial was in recess today. Superior Court Judge Arthur K. Marshall ruled last week that Miss Marvin had to establish that there was such an agreement with the actor and not just that the couple lived together from 1964 to 1970 as husband and wife in every way except having a marriage license.

She won the right to sue in a landmark 1976 state Supreme Court decision. Marvin, 54, who remarried shortly after their breakup, told reporters he was pleased the judge had set such guidelines.

"Now we won't go flying off in all directions," he said. Mitchelson, in his opening statement, said the Oscar-winning actor promised to care for Miss Marvin for the remainder of her life and that she gave up a career for him.

"It's not a question of whether she gave up a lucrative career," Mitchelson said. "That is a relative term. We are not saying that she would have become a superstar or a famous singer."

"But she had a career and, as they say, however humble, home is still home."

Miss Marvin is seeking half of the actor's earnings during the six-year period they lived together, plus half the worth of a house in Malibu and a recording company.

Her attorney, Marvin Mitchelson, said Miss Marvin probably would be on the witness stand several days and then he would call Marvin as the next witness.

Reunited Pair Optimistic

NEW YORK (AP) — John and Greta Rideout, antagonists in Oregon's nationally publicized wife-rape trial, said today they believe they can make their marriage work if they "read the Bible every night and talk to each other."

"If it weren't for the trial, there would be no way we'd be together now. It made us realize things can be really better," Rideout, 21, said on ABC's "Good Morning America" program.

The Rideouts announced a decision to reconcile last Tuesday after they met to discuss the future of their 2½-year-old daughter, Jenny.

"So much has happened to us emotionally through the trial and has forced us to be honest with each other like never before," Mrs. Rideout said.

"We had many problems before, now we're both Christians. Well, I'm a reborn Christian. He has always been a Christian," said Mrs. Rideout, 24. "We didn't have any family outlet before, such as religion, Christianity, church or anything. We didn't turn to anyone."

As an example on how they were getting along, Rideout said he and his wife started arguing only recently "and we looked at each other and realized what we were doing and we knew how to stop ourselves."

Rideout was acquitted Dec. 27 after a six-day trial under an Oregon law that eliminated marriage as a defense against rape.

Asked whether he now thought he had raped his wife, Rideout hesitated. "I don't think at this point it can be answered by me or anybody," he said.

Images From Classic Tale Haunt TV Movie

By PETER J. BOVER
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Try to imagine a television telecast on "Gone with the Wind." An unsettling prospect, isn't it? Well, brace yourselves, because such a creature exists, and it's coming tonight on NBC. Mind you, "Charleston" isn't really supposed to be "Gone with the Wind" — the names and places have been changed to protect that epic's memory.

Actually, it's not that "Charleston" is so awful, it's just that so many elements in this TV movie are "inspired" (if not lifted) from the film classic that comparisons are forced upon you, try as you may to fight it.

Images from "Gone with the Wind" haunt this imitation like a wronged ancestor. And somehow, it seems that Gable, Leigh and Selznick did it better.

"Charleston" is the story of three women — two aristocratic cousins and their slave-pal — and their adventures in post-Civil War Charleston. Lots of rescues here — scalwags, carpetbaggers and the like, and there's a roughish hero.

Delta Burke (a beautiful actress new to television) plays Scarlett O'Hara. I mean, Stella Farrell, a tough Southern lass who is determined to survive those vexing Yankees and their hateful Reconstruction. Her mother is a little wacko, her cousin is "overly sensitive," but Stella grits her teeth and holds them together.

There's even a scene in which Stella, her gaze fixed skyward, vows to rebuild her wrecked family estate. "Just like it was be-foah Sherman used it for fire-wood."

Sound familiar?

Many are the woes blocking our young heroine's path to happiness. For one thing, Minerva, the slave Stella has owned since her childhood, tells Stella the lover she's been waiting for is Stella's brother. This upsets Stella, and threatens their happy friendship.

Then Cousin Valere gives away all their money to a con woman-psychic, who claims spirits will reveal the fate of Valere's husband, who had gone off to war with Stella's brother. This also upsets Stella. She agrees to marry a rich but repulsive merchant to keep the taxman from the door.

Enter our hero, Greg Morgan, played by Jordan Clarke, is a carpetbagger with a heart. He keeps saving Stella and they commence a love-hate relationship just like the one Rhett and Scarlett had. Well, something like it.

Although the network touts this movie as a drama set "in the romantic spirit reminiscent of 'Gone with the Wind,'" producer Beryl Vertue says she didn't have "GWTW" in mind when she made "Charleston," at least "not consciously."

Miss Vertue thinks viewers will take to "Charleston" because "there's a slow creeping back toward something with a story, a romantic story."

"I think people like period pieces when they're done well."

Uh-oh. Sounds like a series.

"Series? We hope so, yes." In the meantime, take a look at Charleston. If you didn't already believe that "Gone with the Wind" was the best movie ever made, seeing this imitation will convince you that it was.

Joel Grey Shines In Show That Lacks Force, Sparkle

By JAY SHARBUTT
NEW YORK (AP) — Joel Grey, burdened with a briefcase, bags and rugs, walked out on a bare stage. "Flight is such a word of desperation," he said with a gentle smile. "I prefer migration."

Thus began Thursday's premiere of "The Grand Tour," a Broadway musical starring the small, talented man who was so good in "Cabaret." Sad to say, "Tour" lacks his old show's tuneful force and sparkle.

Based on a 1944 comedy, "Jacobowsky and the Colonel," its plot basically remains the same.

S.L. Jacobowsky (Grey), a Jewish refugee from Poland, and a haughty colonel (Ron Holgate), find themselves on the run in France, fleeing the advancing Nazi hordes in 1940.

The refugee just wants to get out. The colonel is on a mission to London for the Polish resistance movement. They have nothing in common except survival.

Oh, yes, they fall in love with the same French girl (Florence Lacey), the colonel having fallen well before Jacobowsky.

Their flight starts when Jacobowsky buys a Rolls-Royce, at war-sale rates. He doesn't know how to drive. He meets the colonel, who does. But the pompous, aristocratic officer refuses to join him.

"When I travel with company, it is company I choose," says he.

But drive he finally does, goaded by a patriotic ditty, "Do It For Poland," in which Grey and assorted Parisians engage in a sprightly dance number that bodes well for the rest of the show.

Alas, the rest of this "Tour" is only sporadically entertaining.

It pauses at Miss Lacey's village for a song, some chat about a modern colonel with a romantic's 19th century mind and whisks her off. Then it's on to a train, a carnival, a near-duel, a Jewish wedding, a convent and a gentle finale.

A chap named Ming Cho Lee has some imaginative sets in this show, the book of which is by Michael Stewart and Mark Bramble. The tunes are by Jerry Herman, the choreography by Donald Saddler and the direction by Gerald Freedman.

As might be expected, Grey is the best part of the program. His study of a sly, brave, quick-witted little man on the move is superb, ditto his singing.

He's a fine contrast against the huge Holgate, who has a powerful voice but tends to sound as if he's singing Wagner, not Herman.

There are lively moments, particularly the rousing wedding number or a nifty two-man dance routine in which the colonel decides he likes the little guy after all and does it quite vigorously.

But such moments are infrequent. "You I Like," sung during the duo dance, is a catchy tune. "Mrs. S.L. Jacobowsky," sung earlier by Grey, has funny lyrics and a lovely melody. As for the rest — pleasant, and that's all.

KIDS-ONLY CLUB Game Challenges Friends' Abilities

SHARI LEWIS
Some folks like to compete against other people. Others prefer to compete against their own abilities. Here's a game that will let you do both!

One at a time, you and your friends each lie down on the floor. Fold your arms across your chest so that the left hand is holding the top of your right arm (below the shoulder) and your right hand is grasping your left forearm. (Your arms will now look like a three-ring pretzel.)

So far, so good, huh? Here's the challenge.

Without letting go, or using your hands or your elbows, try to get up.

The one who gets up the fastest is the winner, hands down! (No, that's not right — your hands should not come down. Don't be too cocky — you'll find that this challenge is a lot harder than it sounds!

TODAY'S BRAIN TWISTER: If "once upon a time" can be written ONCE and "you are overtured" can be written UR, then how could you write "work overtime?" (Look for the answer in tomorrow's Kids-Only Club column.)

Stress, Sex Problems Linked

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sexual problems and stress go together like love and marriage.

Dr. Ronald A. Chez, chief gynecologist at Pennsylvania College of Medicine in Hershey, says the two are inseparable — since one may cause the other.

"I would be very surprised if a patient came to see me with sexual or other stress complaints if she were blissfully happy with her bed partner in all regards," Chez said Wednesday.

"I believe that people function with each other in bed as they do out of bed," he said.

Chez, attending a "Stress Seminar" at Cornell University Medical College, was among eight medical specialists reporting effects on health — some even fatal — from stresses and recommending methods of handling them.

"I perceive sexual dysfunction, lack of libido, sexual unhappiness, and nonorgasmic response in someone who is ordinarily orgasmic, as manifestations of stress," he said.

Chez urged patients to be candid with their doctors about such problems — and suggested that doctors in turn try to respond in plain terms.

"Stop your doctor if you hear a word you don't understand... and be sure you understand the plan of action before you leave at the end of the appointment," he said.

"Get away from the belief that your doctor is god-like. Permit your doctor to say, 'I don't know but we'll find out together.'"

Chez said patients should understand what the doctor says about the side effects of any medication.

"Particularly understand the effects of alcohol and drugs that depress the central nervous system. If you are taking tranquilizers, this is... important," he said.

Fifteen percent of Americans take tranquilizers, according to Dr. Theodore Cooper, dean of Cornell Medical College and former assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, who ran the seminar.

Cooper is executive editor of a new national education program for physicians and the public. It is entitled "The Consequences of Stress: The Medical and Social Implications of Prescribing Tranquilizers." The seminar was a preview of the program which will be presented to doctors in March.

Marriages Fall Into Categories

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A researcher at the University of Wisconsin-Madison says nearly half of the married men in America are "emotionally divorced" from their mates.

Professor Mary Anne Fitzpatrick of the communication arts department says interviews with some 2,000 persons indicated nearly all marriages fall into one of four categories:

—Traditional, in which people enjoy having a companion and sharing their time with someone else.

—Separate, with husband and wife emotionally divorced, not much togetherness and a sense of coldness.

—Independent, with couples who fight, a good deal of sharing, and both partners having many friends.

—A combination, in which the husband is separate and the wife is traditional. In this case, the wife's perception of the marriage is one with a great deal of sharing and openness, while the husband views the marriage with disinterest, according to Miss Fitzpatrick.

"People go through phases," she says.

Maxine's Accent January Sale Featuring Exceptional Values

It is January Clearance time at Maxine's Accent, in Briercroft Shopping Center!

And for this once-a-year event, Maxine's not only is offering many racks at 50 per cent reduction, but also is arranging storewide reductions of 30 per cent and more on all fall and holiday sweaters, coats (including rabbit, leathers and fake furs), jeans, short and long dresses, sportswear, robes and gowns, and accessories. Also, reductions in the Designer Room includes some ultra suedes.

Beginning their tenth year, Dr. and Mrs. Willingham especially invite their many friends and customers to come in for this storewide clearance sale.

Two years ago this February, the store was expanded to twice its original size, and a beautiful new "Designer Room" was added. Here merchandise from top designers is displayed, and privacy is afforded the discriminating customer looking for uniqueness and many lines exclusive to Maxine's Accent.

Fur Showing Looms
Another situation merits special attention at this time:

An added venture for the store has been the association of Maxine's Accent with Pam Mahoney, noted furrier of New York and Dallas. Mrs. Mahoney is bringing a $500,000 collection of exciting furs for an early February sale.

"Maxine and Pam extend a joint invitation for you to watch for specific dates and details and to come by at that time and see this collection at most competitive prices before you purchase a fur."

Referring to the shop's current January Clearance, Maxine emphasizes:

"We've had a most enjoyable and rewarding nine years in ladies' junior apparel here in Lubbock and have met with tremendous response from not only Lubbock but from many of the surrounding cities.

"We are happy to offer the exciting savings during the January Clearance, and we hope our many friends will be able to take advantage of these values.

The storewide reductions (30 to 70 per cent, remember) involve fall and holiday lines, long dresses and short restaurant dresses, beautiful mix-and-match sportswear for both juniors and misses, fall coats, sweaters, ultra suedes, party pajamas, lingerie and accessories.

Outstanding Labels
Some of the lines are Pant-Her, Corinth Street, Collegian, Lady Wrangler, Body English, Panther, Melissa Lane, Lilli Ann, College Town, Victor Costa, Dorce, Hearsay, Gloria Vanderbilt, Halston, Mollie Parnis, Eleanor Brenner, Strawberry Plant and many, many others.

The capable staff at Maxine's includes full-time staffmembers Maxine Willingham; her daughter, Sharon, who is assistant manager; her mother, Mary McColom; also Lue Ree McGee and Kay Shook and part-time members including Paula Marberry and Julie Hunt, a Distributive Education student. Other part-time staffmembers include Poppy Burnette and Kaye McGee.

Kay Shook is a native of Petersburg and in the past has been quite active in modeling and retailing and is a former runner-up in the South Plains Maid of Cotton pageant.

Maxine is the fashion coordinator each year for Miss Lubbock, and she also assists other pageant entries locally in their wardrobe rightness. She also has served as a consultant in the Dallas fashion seminars during markets.

Maxine has attended many different markets seeking new resources for her store, and this past June she and Dr. Willingham were in Europe making contacts for more unusual and exceptional apparel items for the store. She feels that the new lines selected on these buying trips have helped earn Maxine's Accent the enviable reputation as a leader in a fashion-oriented community, with customers looking to it for new directions.

Everything, from the capable staff, the famous labels, the attractive decor, the management's devotion to rightness and leadership in fashion, and currently the storewide reductions on current merchandise, contribute to the true Maxine's Accent image.

Texas Insulation Systems, Lockney, Afford ThermoCon Products, Process

"Know Texas Insulation Systems, Box 591, Lockney, Texas, phone 652-3348, and profit."

Specializing in ThermoCon spray-on and loose-fill for residential, commercial and industrial applications, Jerry Ulmer and staff are masters in their field. For full details see Ulmer at the Lockney facility, write Box 591, Lockney, Tex. 79241, or call (806)652-3348.

Multiple Benefits
Spray-on ThermoCon afford temperature, sound and fire control in one application!

Because of its chemical content, it permanently bonds to steel, wood and masonry surfaces painted or not! It provides a strong color-stable environmental system that will not chip, shed, flake, dust or be subject to rot or fungi. ThermoCon is odorless and non-toxic.

Because it forms a monolithic seal, it can be used wherever temperature, sound or fire control is needed on ceilings or walls, exposed or unexposed. No lathing, undercoating or preparatory base is required!

Because of its workable fibrous texture, ThermoCon can expand and contract with your building without losing its hold. Its built-in flexibility makes it easy to cut, saw, mold, shape or paint.

Economy Explained
Because of its application by pneumatic spray, it is much faster and more economical than conventional insulation, Ulmer emphasizes.

(ThermoCon, incidently, is a national company with dealers throughout the nation and in Canada.)

Appropriate buildings for this ThermoCon system include farm buildings, airplane hangars, industrial plants, warehouses, auditoriums, gyms, showrooms, supermarkets, mobile homes, apartments, condominiums, office buildings, etc.

"It is twice as effective as wire-backed fiberglass batts; heat intense enough to melt metal will not penetrate ThermoCon's protective barrier!"

BOWMAN MAKES IT POSSIBLE TO FIX YOUR HOME THE WAY YOU WANT IT

Bowman's January Sale Prices Beckon Regardless Of Weather

"Has the weather discouraged you from taking advantage of the special January markdowns at Bowman's?"
"If so, we can well understand, but we want to re-emphasize that the sale is in full swing, and a full selection is on hand; and there still is time to save during the sale... but hurry! The short drive will be well worth it, snow, rain or shine!"
Bowman is going all out to prove again in 1979 that this is the firm (Bowman's, 8301 S. University) that "makes it possible to fix your home the way you want it."

The several departments at Bowman's are represented in the sale, and items are listed here at random to hint of the economy possible in home remodeling, building, etc., but the full picture can only be viewed by coming on out to Bowman, 8301 S. University in Lubbock; see for yourself!

HIGH-QUALITY CONSTRUCTION NOT TO BE MINIMIZED

Pharr Keeps '78 Prices On New 1979 Coachmen Mini-Motor Home Selection

"No doubt you envy that friend who owns and enjoys the pleasures of a Coachmen mini-home!"
"That same enjoyment can be yours thanks to Pharr Trailer Sales & Service, 1702 Clovis Road in Lubbock. Pharr has made ownership of RV units really easy, with a special opportunity presently made available on mini-homes."

A good stock of the sought-after Coachmen Leprechaun mini-motor homes has been received, with eight floor plans on the lot for inspection and comparison.

'78 Price Offer
Furthermore, these new '79 Coachmen mini-home models are marked at '78 prices. That's right; Pharr has made no increase at this time in these prices as a special inducement for folks to secure one of these units and enjoy respite from the cold weather in a location of their choosing, and in comfort.

Also, Pharr stocks travel vans and van campers, also by Coachmen; with Apollo motor homes and Silver Streak, 5th wheel units and all.

Pharr likes to prove that travel and relaxation can take on a new enjoyment, new convenience and new thrill with the right RV unit, accessories, equipment and service from Pharr, phone 765-6088, at the Amarillo Highway-Clovis Highway "Y" on Avenue Q in Lubbock, and at 1820 E. 8th in Odessa.

All units are available at 10 per cent down with up to seven years to pay, on approved credit. Bank rate financing is provided.

Coachmen's Finest
More about the '79 Coachmen Leprechaun mini-motor homes:

This model is designed around the family's RV needs... a practical traveler with just the right touch of luxury. Featured are beautiful but family-tough interiors with pre-finished wood paneling with an easy care surface, stain-resistant color-coordinated draperies and comfy five-inch foam cushions with stain-resistant covers and no-fall hinges.

Standard is a 24,000 BTU furnace with ducted heat, wall thermostat and electronic ignition. The water system features a 12-V demand pump, water tank with drain, 6-gallon fast recovery hot water heater and freeze-resistant polybutylene plumbing lines.

The '79 Leprechauns are Coachmen's finest, available with Ford 460 or Chevy 400 engines right here in Lubbock at Pharr Trailer Sales & Service.

Depending on the model, one can enjoy three-way dinettes, Flexsteel sofa beds or rear hide-a-beds.

The fully-equipped and efficient kitchens are designed to make food preparation, service and clean-up quick and easy. All-wood cabinets, easy-slide drawers, four-burner range and double stainless steel sink are efficiently arranged.

Coachmen is the world's largest full-line manufacturer of recreational vehicles.

"Consumer designed, Coachmen built" has become a motto well recognized for its truth.

See Pharr now... for a new unit at last year's price, for accessories for trips to come, or for readying the present RV unit for vacationing ahead.

"Ask the man who owns a Pharr unit."

Beck's Warp 'n Weave Tells New Class Schedule, New Arrivals, Sale Pricing

Three situations might well come in for special note at Beck's Warp 'n Weave, 3021 34th St.:

(1) Adding to the already-large stock of yarns and supplies for fiber arts, new arrivals add even more to the unique shop.

(2) A sale has been arranged throughout January on selected books and yarns.

(3) Classes start this week, with a comprehensive instruction schedule "second to none."

Add to all this the recognition that Warp 'n Weave is said to be the only complete spinning and weaving shop in a vast southwestern section of the nation, and appreciation of this Lubbock facility can take on new dimension.

Owned and operated by Tom and Nancy Beck, the shop has a most inviting selection including great yarns not found elsewhere (most in wools and wool blends).

New Arrivals
Lots of new yarns for knitters and crocheters desiring better yarns have been received.

Natural silk yarns are stocked (with one customer presently crocheting a wedding gown from this yarn).

A new supply of handspun yarns from Uruguay, for any fiber craft, is among recent arrivals, as is a tremendous stock of new textured yarns.

See the camel hair and Linsey-Woolsey yarns that are like those from which the Colonials made homespun clothes (a blend of war flax and virgin wool).

An expanded line of dyed wool fibers for spinning or macrame has been stocked.

And about those classes: Immediate inquiry and registration is advised; for full details call 799-0151 or come by at 3021 34th Street.

Classes include Harness Loom, Beginning Frame Loom, Natural Basketry, Tatting, Cardweaving, and Workshops in Advanced Basketry, Twill Trunks and others.

From time to time special workshops are available, even including added subjects.

Beginning Frame Loom classes will be under instruction of Nancy Beck, Malinda Anderson and Lynn Haney, with one class by Nancy beginning Jan. 18.

Nancy is most adept in the field, as is Lynn and Malinda.

Then even earlier (Jan. 16), Nancy commences a class in Natural Basketry.

Tatting, under direction of Betty Bradford, begins Jan. 16.

Cardweaving, with Virginia Riggs instructing, will follow at a later date.

Tom Beck will begin Harness Loom classes Jan. 20.

Other class beginning dates and schedules have been arranged, and one is advised to come by Warp 'n Weave to learn of the many opportunities and how they can be fitted into one's schedule.

Rigid Heddle, Coiled Basketry, Spinning and Navajo Weaving are among the often scheduled classes.

New class schedules are available three times annually, beginning in January, May and September.

Minimum/maximum enrollment totals will be adhered to, assuring that each student has adequate personal instruction.

For classes, materials and supplies, all at modest cost, one should without delay learn more of Beck's Warp 'n Weave, 3021 34th St. in Lubbock.

Stork Shop January Clearance Enables Specific Cost Saving

January Clearance is underway at The Stork Shop!

"More than ever, for everything in maternity wear, it makes sense to patronize Lubbock's only exclusive maternity wear shop, The Stork Shop, 3416 34th St., in Indiana Gardens."

For this sale, note the following: A select group of jeans is marked at half price!

Also, there are groups of in-season dresses, blouses, slacks and slacks suits reduced one-half or even more!

While one is availing herself of these fall and winter item sale prices, further inducement is afforded on the spring and summer arrivals now making their appearance at The Stork Shop.

Free Hose Offers
With purchase of any full-price spring dress, The Stork Shop will give, absolutely free, a pair of support hose, while supply lasts.

And with purchase of a regular price blouse or slacks, a pair of regular hose is given.

(Limit, one pair of hose to a customer on these special offers.)

Double Advantage
"So... come and take advantage of the sale, at the same time inspecting and purchasing new arrivals for the season soon to be here. And don't overlook the free hose offers!"

Selection is always enabled from a wide stock at The Stork Shop where a complete line of maternity lingerie is included.

Brand names are important at The Stork Shop where quality is assured without exorbitant price. Lines such as Phil Jacobs, Daran, Marion Sue, Charles Lewis and Maternity Circuit are featured.

Use of Visa and Master Charge is welcomed.

Store hours are 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., six days a week.
Under ownership and active management, since last February, of longtime Lubbock resident Mrs. Doyle (Ida) Langford, The Stork Shop actually dates its record of service back some 30 years.

Since its establishment, it has been in the same Indiana Gardens location; and under the ownership of Ida Langford it has been remodeled, rearranged and stocked most admirably.

Everything at The Stork Shop says "welcome."

It seems that Indiana Gardens, Lubbock and the South Plains region all are most fortunate in having the kind of shop as is The Stork Shop where the right merchandise and the attention of service-minded personnel are evident.

Selection, fashion and attractive pricing is the rule, without exception.

"One's budget must and should be respected, and A & J, at 1917 19th St., phone 762-4013, in Lubbock, does all in its power to befriend your budget for home improvement."

Kirby, On Slide, Invites Trade-Ins, Posting Special Deals On New Units

"Very, very liberal trade-ins on your present vacuum cleaner when purchasing any new unit at Kirby Sales and Service, 5410 Slide Road... this should help get the year off right for you!"
 Not only does this Kirby firm have a quite good selection of new cleaners (including the sensational new Kirby Classic III) but the firm is in need of trade-ins, so special deals are being made at this time. But don't delay!
 (Reconditioned units are sold with a full one-year warranty!)
Maintenance Special
 Another good reason for knowing and patronizing Kirby Sales and Service, phone 792-3718, is the Maintenance Special that enables tuneup on any Kirby vacuum cleaner for just $7.95.
 There is no labor charge on fixing any Kirby unit... just a charge for parts only.
 New Kirby units carry a two-year warranty!
Super Upkeep Line
 So come on out to Kirby Sales and Service, on the way to the Mall, at 5410 Slide Road, and see the many products including the Super Upkeep line now made available there.
 Super Upkeep is a carpet cleaner, stain remover and deodorizer, fully guaranteed to spot clean and completely deodorize a long list of stains on carpets, fine furniture and auto upholstery, ceramic tile, shoes and clothing, etc.
 There is more to merit one's patronage of the firm:
 Reasonable prices always, as example.
 "The new Kirby Classic III is presently featured, a system that gives more versatility, quality, reliability and performance than in any other appliance!"
 "Suppose you had to shampoo a rug, clean, sanitize, buff, wax, polish and paint — all in the same day; how many appliances would you need?"
 "Just one... when that one is the Kirby Classic III System with its 80 different uses!"
 See this and the entire Kirby line at Kirby Sales & Service, open 9 a.m. until 6 p.m., six days a week, at 5410 Slide Road, phone 792-3718, in Lubbock.
 The firm is essentially a family operation, with Dale Bramlett and his son-in-law, Dan Wilbanks, as owners-operators, and with Sandy Everitt, daughter of Bramlett, also on the job. They assure a personal interest in every transaction.
 Repairs and parts are stocked, and the skilled staffers work on any kind of vacuum cleaner.
 A complete line of rebuilt Kirbys is stocked at "a price you can afford."
 Rental is available on vacuum cleaners and shampoo machines.
 Visa and Bank Americard are honored, and in-store financing is available.
 Take a good product, represent it well, with the customer's welfare considered foremost, and you have a business worth knowing and patronizing. The business concept and everyday practices of Kirby Sales & Service, 5410 Slide Road, place it as just such a business.

Banner Buys Throughout Stock Continue In Self Red Tag Sale

There still are tremendous buys and a huge selection in the annual Red Tag Sale at Self's Furniture in Slaton; and this underscores a fact that a lot of area people have long recognized:
 "See Self's and Save!"
 Special prices are clearly defined on the red tags throughout the store.
 For 36 years, residents of the region have benefitted from this gigantic and meaningful sale; a tradition at Self's, on West Garza Street in Slaton.
 Not only are the sale prices most inviting, but the items all are recognized for quality, backed by well-known and respected brand names.
 Every department of the large store is involved.
 Among these specials are:
 La-2-Boy Rocker-recliners starting at a modest $166 (with about 50 in stock).
 And Kroehler sofa sleepers, values to $599, for just $399!
 Then there is the official NFL lounge chair and ottoman with the Dallas Cowboy insignia, both units for $299.
 See the exceptional buy in traditional dining room suites by Hiltiten, including credenza hutch on a large buffet, large trestle table with two leaves, two padded arm chairs and four side chairs, regularly priced $3,495 but on sale now at $2,795.
 One of the newer arrivals included in the Red Tag Sale is the Broyhill colonial bedroom suite in honey pine, including a governor's poster bed, triple dresser with door, large hutch mirror, door chest and two night stands, regular $1,995 but during January at $1,750.
TV Specials
 All electronic tuning models of Admiral color television sets are on sale, at up to a whopping $300 off!
 Some 40 rolls of carpet are in stock in that department, and kitchen carpet starts at just $7.88 installed. Or select Brinkcrest Carousel sculptured earth tone nylon carpeting, regular $11.95 per square yard but on sale now at $9.25 installed with pad.
 Self's has its own skilled installation crews to insure complete satisfaction.

THE CARPET STORE WHERE YOUR DOLLAR BUYS MORE

Tuftwick Extends End-Of-Year Carpet Sale As Customer Aid

"We've surely had some bad weather... but that has not diminished your need for new carpeting. Right?"
"Likely you didn't venture out on the ice, and we don't blame you, even though we at Tuftwick have been staging a very meaningful End-of-Year Sale."
"So, what does Tuftwick do?"
"We are extending the End-of-Year Sale for a limited time to thwart the weather and still give you as a valued customer the opportunity to buy at reduced prices."
It is Tuftwick's way of saying "the very best to you in 1979, we want to prove our cooperation."
Such clearance sale prices make entry into the new year most interesting, for the pocketbook and for the home's decor. Prices are reported slashed throughout the stock of thousands of yards of first-quality carpet.

"Come early for best selections."
Remember... low prices always are the rule at Tuftwick, with exceptionally attractive bargains awaiting in situations such as the current sale.
Extraordinary savings, even for Tuftwick, are presently enabled. Don't delay, shop now at Tuftwick Carpet, Inc., at Slide Road and Brownfield Highway to your profit, selection and complete satisfaction.
All the carpet is first quality, as traditional at Tuftwick, and expert installation is assured.
Easy terms are available, with no money down, and with up to 36 months to pay!
"If you have not been through the showrooms of the big Tuftwick Carpet, Inc., within the last few weeks, you are in for a real treat at your next visit."

First, there is a thrilling selection of patterns and materials.
Secondly, the prices and values simply cannot be beat.
Third reason for a trip to Tuftwick Carpet at Brownfield Highway and Slide Road could well be the most attractive display yet. Everything in the showroom has been conveniently displayed for easy-viewing, comparison and selection. It is an attractive, inviting place in which to shop.
The basic reason for shopping Tuftwick has not changed, however, and that is the integrity and experience of a capable staff devoting all efforts to serve the customers carpet needs as only possible with an experienced staff that "knows carpeting" and knows how to please in every transaction.

In selecting an environmental system, choice may be made from several Coleman units including the Presidential II deluxe energy saver and the heat pump.
Coleman advertises "the only heating system with a matched air conditioning unit for total year-around comfort, designed specifically for the manufactured housing industry."
"Quality you can depend on" is cited as one of the good reasons that about half of the mobile homes manufactured today contain Coleman furnaces.

Each Coleman product is subjected to one of the most rigid and complete testing programs in the industry.
Five atmospheric gas heating systems, from 45,200 to 80,000 BTU output are available, together with oil and gas gun heating systems to 77,000 BTU output.

"Lee Bert Maze and the fine folks at Western Mobile Air, 1825 N. University in Lubbock, explain in detail how Coleman can make your life more comfortable, and how the new offer of the free furnace with purchase of an air conditioning can be of special savings."

High Court Accepts Case Involving CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, agreeing today to study a case with roots in a 20-year secret CIA mail-opening program, will decide whether persons may use any federal trial court to sue government officials who commit illegal acts.

At the same time, the justices left intact a ruling that only certain courts may be used to sue officials after they leave public office or no longer hold the same job they did when the illegal acts were committed.

At stake is a lawsuit that had sought more than $1 billion in damages from 25 present and former federal officials, including former CIA Directors Richard Helms and William Colby and former FBI Director L. Patrick Gray.

The suit, filed in a Rhode Island federal court in 1975, charges that the constitutional rights of thousands of U.S. citizens were violated when the CIA opened letters addressed to them from such countries as the Soviet Union and China.

The now-defunct surveillance program operated from 1953 to 1973. It is estimated that more than 200,000 pieces of incoming and outgoing mail were opened without search warrants.

In other matters today, the Supreme Court:

— Granted a hearing to a Texas sheriff who was sued by a man arrested when mistaken for his brother. The court agreed to decide if Potter County Sheriff T.L. Baker is immune from suit in the case, stemming from the arrest in 1972 in Dallas of Linnie Carl McCollan.

— Agreed to decide whether a group of anti-war activists known as the "Gainesville 8" may sue two federal prosecutors and an FBI agent for allegedly violating their constitutional rights during a case in which they were acquitted.

— Left intact the death sentences of convicted murderers in Arkansas and Alabama, who had claimed that the capital punishment laws under which they were condemned do not conform to Supreme Court guidelines.

— Refused to review an appeals court order that kept alive a lawsuit that seeks to racially balance public schools in East Baton Rouge Parish (county), La.

— Declined to involve itself in a 13-year-old legal fight over alleged on-the-job racial bias at a Birmingham, Ala., factory.

The CIA lawsuit is a "class action" representing all persons whose mail was opened. But it was filed in Rhode Island because one of five named plaintiffs, University of Rhode Island mathematics professor Rodney Driver, lives there.

None of the government officials named in the suit lives in Rhode Island, but U.S. District Judge Raymond Pettine ruled that a 1962 law passed by Congress concerning civil suits against government officials empowered him or any other federal trial judge to hear the case.

While Pettine froze the trial proceedings, the officials appealed to the 1st U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

That court upheld Pettine's ruling as it applied to those officials who were holding the same jobs in 1975 as they were when some of the mail openings occurred.

But the appeals court ruled that officials who had left government service or switched jobs before the suit was filed would have to be sued in those jurisdictions in which they now reside.

The ruling effectively removed Helms, Gray and 14 others as defendants in the Rhode Island lawsuit, but Colby and nine others were not released as defendants.

Now the Supreme Court will decide whether the trial against Colby and the others can be held in Rhode Island.

The appeals court ruling actually sparked three separate Supreme Court appeals.

— Colby and his CIA deputy director, Vernon Walters, asked the court to rule that the Rhode Island court had no jurisdiction over them.

— The 16 officials released as defendants in the case filed a "conditional" appeal arguing that the Rhode Island court should have no jurisdiction in the matter.

Viet-Led Force Still Advancing

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Fighting was reported in many parts of Cambodia today, but the new government claimed normal life is being restored after three years of oppression.

Senior Thai intelligence sources said Vietnamese forces were engaged in heavy fighting near Sisophon, 30 miles east of the Thai border. Clashes also were reported at Nimit, about 13 miles from the frontier.

Thai and Western sources said they had reports of clashes in many other parts of the country between troops still loyal to the ousted government of Premier Pol Pot and the Vietnamese and Communist Cambodian rebel forces which drove the other Communist government from Phnom Penh eight days ago.

These sources said loyalist troops bypassed in the two-week Vietnamese blitz apparently were striking back. But there were no reports of any serious reverses suffered by the Vietnamese and their Cambodian proteges.

Thai sources said Battambang, in northwest Cambodia and the old government's last major city, had fallen to the invaders, but fighting continued in the area. Fighting also was reported around Kompong Som, the nation's only deep-water port which the provisional government proclaimed by the rebel Kampuchea (Cambodia) United Front said it had taken.

There were reports officials and troops of the former government were taking refuge in the Cardamom and Elephant mountains of southwest Cambodia and on the island of Kong, in the Gulf of Thailand, preparing to carry on a guerrilla campaign.

Western sources said the island would provide a natural supply link to guerrillas in the mountains if China carried out its promise to back the holdouts.

Legislators Await Committee Posts

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas House members hoped to get their committee assignments today while senators began study of state spending proposals for 1980-81.

The Senate met during the morning, while the House returned at 2:30 p.m. to resolve a pending election contest.

The Senate Finance Committee had an afternoon meeting set.

Both houses recessed last Thursday after session-opening ceremonies and a final state-of-the-state speech from outgoing Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

This week's legislative business was expected to be brief with most attention going to the inauguration of Gov.-elect Bill Clements, the state's first Republican governor in 105 years, taking place on Tuesday.

Speaker Bill Clayton said Friday he could not name the chairmen and membership of the House standing committees until the House acts on an election contest filed by Republican Kae Thomas Patrick, who lost to Rep. Don Cartwright, D-San Antonio, by 738 votes.

A select committee headed by Rep. Bob Davis, R-Irving, heard Patrick's case and found that Cartwright should be seated permanently. Cartwright received temporary seating when the Legislature convened last Tuesday and has voted on various matters.

Lawyers for both Patrick and Cartwright will have 30 minutes each to argue their cases before the House.

Clayton said the contest forced him to delay committee appointments because approximately half of the jobs are assigned by seniority.

Schools Set Busing Guidelines

second semester," he added. Friday is the last day of the first semester and also the end of the elementary schools' third 6-week grading period, Leslie noted.

To facilitate the semester switchover, all of the city's elementary schools will dismiss students at 1 p.m. Friday, Leslie said. (This includes kindergartners, he said. Half-day kindergartners who attend afternoon sessions will start class Friday at 11:30 a.m. instead of the usual 12:15 p.m.)

Teachers will be using Friday afternoon to complete grade reports and academic checklists and pack up materials that will be sent with students changing schools, Leslie said.

Monday, Jan. 22, marks the start of the second semester, he said. Unless they have requested otherwise, members of the group bused the first semester will report Monday morning for classes at their neighborhood schools; and the second-semester group will begin riding buses to non-neighborhood "sister schools."

Students scheduled to be bused the second half of the year already have been notified by their neighborhood principals, Leslie said. Additional guidelines are being sent home with those children this week.

The guidelines explain such things as how the students were selected, what to do in case a child misses the bus, and when bus riders will be dismissed each afternoon from their sister schools.

At the elementary level, the court-ordered integration plan for the first semester involves mandatory daily busing of about 680 minority students and 1,050 whites. (Another 150 children, mostly whites, are bused voluntarily to the Iles magnet school.)

Under the plan, minorities remain in their cross-town sister schools for the full year. But whites are scheduled to switch at midyear.

Each predominantly white elementary school is sending one or two grades to a

SHOVEL THAT SNOW — Framed by snow-covered evergreens, Bill Meyers of Elmhurst, Ill., shoves snow from the roof of his home. A blizzard Saturday night dumped more than 20 inches of snow on the region, paralyzing traffic and collapsing many roofs. A new storm is forecast to hit the upper Midwest area again Tuesday. Midwest Faces Threat Of Another Big Storm midday Saturday until early this morning, when one runway reopened. United Airlines said its service to and from Chicago would be reduced by at least 70 percent during much of the day.

Seven of 11 emergency centers set up in the city to distribute food reported their supplies were exhausted by Sunday, and request for emergency fuel supplies depleted the reserves at two city storage facilities, officials said.

Elsewhere in the Midwest, the snow combined with sub-freezing temperatures to cause traffic accidents, break weather records, strand travelers and leave thousands without electricity.

Meanwhile, high winds, occasionally heavy rain and snow continued in Southern California, prompting travelers' advisories and small-craft warnings at sea because of near gale-force winds.

An unexpected snowfall stranded 60 carloads of travelers for seven hours at the 5,000-foot level on Mount Baldy in the San Gabriel Mountains, 40 miles east of Los Angeles.

Police located a snow plow to clear the path and lead the convoy down the snow-decked highway at about 1 mph.

The temperature plummeted throughout the Midwest, with South Bend, Ind., reporting a record low of -14 degrees at 4 a.m. today. It was -13 in Chicago.

Northern Illinois, Kansas and eastern Iowa were under states of emergency.

There were 11 weather-related deaths in Illinois, two in Iowa, five in Kansas and two in Missouri, where the National Guard was called out over the weekend to rescue motorists. Kansas deactivated its guardsmen today.

Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana all struggled with more than a foot of new snow following the weekend storm. There were eight deaths in Wisconsin and one in Indiana.

The forecast for the snow-buried areas was grim. The National Weather Service said another major storm could be in store for the Midwest by mid-week. Chicago faced a 40 percent chance of more snow by tonight.

Most deaths were attributed to exposure. Travelers died attempting to walk from stranded automobiles to safety, and some pedestrians who slipped and fell were unable to get up due to their injuries. Others died in traffic accidents or of heart attacks.

The National Weather Service said a 23-inch snowstorm in 1967 was Chicago's worst, but that there had never before been more than 29 inches of snow on the ground.

Chicago Mayor Michael A. Bilandic toured the city by helicopter Sunday, and 2,500 city workers were ordered to begin the massive snow removal effort today.

Motorists who dared to venture out were warned to be prepared for long delays, and the mayor asked businessmen to order staggered work shifts to minimize congestion.

The roofs of several buildings collapsed under the snow, authorities said. But there were no reported injuries.

One man was shot and another was arrested when an off-duty policeman tried to stop one of three looters reported on deserted city streets over the weekend. The wounded man was hospitalized in good condition.

National Guardsmen on their way to a Rock Falls, Ill., army were diverted to evacuate stranded motorists on Illinois roads, and the Guard's army was used as a shelter for travelers Sunday night.

A fire department helicopter plucked four people from Lake Michigan Sunday morning after they abandoned a stranded fishing boat and started walking across the frozen lake.

Illinois Gov. James R. Thompson has asked President Carter to declare Rockford and Winnebago County, about 75 miles northwest of Chicago, as a snow-emergency area, making the city and county eligible for federal money under a new program that deals with blizzards. On Sunday, Thompson toured the area which was nearly paralyzed by the storm.

Iowa Gov. Robert Ray declared a state of emergency after a blizzard accompanied by winds up to 50 mph dumped up to 16 inches of snow in the eastern part of the state.

A 2-year-old Des Moines boy was listed in serious condition at an Iowa city hospital today after he was found curled up inside the wheel of a semi-trailer truck following a blizzard. He had been separated from his parents as the family walked from a snow-bound car to safety.

Two storm-related deaths were reported Saturday and Sunday in Iowa where ice-covered highways and snow blown into drifts by high winds caused highway closings and power outages.

Some 26,000 residents of Frankfort, Ky., were without power late Sunday due to an overloaded circuit at a substation in nearby Lexington. Temperatures hovered near zero in the state's capital city and a spokesman for the utility said it was not known when power would be restored.

In Colorado, authorities feared an automobile may have been caught in an avalanche on Red Mountain during a severe snowstorm Sunday.

Texas Farmers Start Trek To Washington

By The Associated Press

Texas farmers — saying they are more experienced, more realistic and, they hope, more numerous than last year — set out in the early morning chill today on an 1,800-mile journey to Washington, D.C., to protest for agricultural parity.

The tractorcade will join other farmers from the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Florida and Georgia in Washington Feb. 2, in mass protest of the Carter administration's farm policy.

About 100 tractors left Amarillo shortly after 9 a.m., accompanied by another 100 campers, motor homes and pickup trucks bearing American Agricultural Movement signs and slogans. The caravan snaked its way through Amarillo along Interstate 40 accompanied by a Department of Public Safety escort and continued east. The caravan is expected to camp on the outskirts of Oklahoma City by nightfall.

A four-and-a-half-mile long caravan of 50 tractors and 100 support vehicles moved eastward out of Abilene shortly before 9 a.m. with a DPS escort.

Organizers, who had hoped to double the 1,000 farmers and supporters who went to last year's protest to Washington, said the caravan was larger than last year's, but had no immediate head count.

The big difference between this year's protest and the last one, organizers say, will be the tractors on the streets of Washington.

Gerald McCathern, a Hereford farmer whose outspoken criticism of the Carter farm policy gained national attention during the 1978 protest, led the tractorcade out of Amarillo. He said the movement would be successful only "if we can get 1,000 tractors or more in Washington."

J.L. Cox of Littlefield said the presence of the tractors would make the difference.

"I don't think all the farmers walking around Washington (last year) will have the effect the tractors will," Cox said, calling last year's protest mainly a publicity effort.

"At least we got to inform the people in the big, urban areas like New York and Chicago and the consumer groups" about farmers' problems, he said.

Many of the organizers, though the stated goal of the movement is 100 percent parity for agricultural commodities, admitted that last year's experiences have lowered their expectations. The 100 percent parity the farmers are seeking means that farm prices would be comparable to what they were in 1914 in relation to the price of other goods.

Spokesman Marvin Meeks said the farmers would be willing to settle for 90 percent this time out.

Initiation into football came early for Johnston, who played in high school years at Newcastle in Young County, where he was born.

Many labeled him the "greatest sophomore player of all time" at SMU.

He was known affectionately by his fans as "Presto" during his playing years.

Besides playing on the SMU team, Johnston played professionally for one year in the All-American Football Conference, splitting the season between the Yankees and the Buffalo franchise.

He also had a brief fling in the coaching field, helping coach the College of the Pacific football team while in the service. Johnston said later, "I was a naval officer, and could play for Pacific, but only in non-conference games." His coach was the legendary Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Johnston once remarked, "Kicking is just a talent some people have. It's like pitching a baseball. Some can do it; other's can't. Besides, I had awfully good coaches who helped me out a lot."

After the war, Johnston returned to sports in 1946 and played a year in the now-defunct AAFC.

In June, 1952, Johnston was honored by members of the Lubbock American Business Club and other civic leaders in recognition of his election as national president of the American Business Clubs.

Lubbock Attorney Urges Zone Differentiation

By LISA PAIKOWSKI
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Assistant City Attorney Leon Bean emphasized the need for differentiation between historic landmarks and historic landmark districts to Urban Design Commission members today, saying that objects in a landmark district can be demolished without approval of the Commission.

In a review of Section 22A of the Lubbock Zoning Ordinance, Bean noted that "things which are landmarks can't be demolished without the commission's approval, but things in a district can be, without approval, if not included in the landmark."

Section 22A pertains to the development of a historical preservation and urban design district "to provide means by which citizens can initiate action to preserve archeological, historical, cultural, architectural and landscape architectural landmarks as part of the heritage of this city."

Bean defined an historical landmark as "something attached to the land such as construction, or the land itself."

A landmark district, said Bean, "is the area encompassed by the landmark itself and the land around it that you want included as a buffer."

He said that the two terms overlap and that "you must have one with the other."

Because objects within a district can be destroyed without commission approval, Bean suggested that the commission designate objects as landmarks or landmark architectural features should they wish those objects to be preserved.

"Let's say you have an area of land that is unique and you want to preserve it," said Bean. "Intermingled with the things you want to save are things of no particular value."

"Assuming that the buffer area is related to the use and enjoyment of the landmark, everything within the buffer area is in the district. Those things you want to save you must specify and those you don't want to save, you must specify."

Bean said that "the more restrictive you want it, the more specific you'd better be. Written standards are the least restrictive, but when used with photos and drawings, it can make a very good combination."

In further review of the section, the attorney noted that the commission is an advisory group and the City Council can pass an ordinance even though the commission recommends against such approval.

"But you are the experts and you're here to insure that the council understands all aspects of a case," said Bean.

The commission also proposed a bus tour of specific landmarks for members within the next several weeks.

Chairperson Beverly Stribling set March as a tentative target date for the beginning of hearings on proposed ordinance requests.

Wayne's Condition Good

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — In his films, John Wayne is noted for his rugged physique and tough characters. Doctors say the actor is as rugged as he looks, and that is helping him recover from cancer surgery.

A spokesman at UCLA Medical Center said early today the 71-year-old actor's condition is "good" and his vital signs normal. He was being fed through tubes in his veins because his stomach was removed in a nine-hour operation, but doctors said they hoped he would be able to take some food orally today.

Wayne was in the intensive care unit. Sunday, another spokesman reported, after talking with a surgeon, Wayne was "progressing exactly as hoped" and there were no signs of the cancer spreading.

"The two most important factors contributing to his excellent early post-operative recovery are his general strong physical condition and his positive attitude," said UCLA Medical Center spokesman Bernard Strohm.

Strohm said doctors were eager to see if they could change to a partial oral diet to feed into a "substitute stomach."

Surgeons performing a gallbladder operation Friday found a low-grade cancer tumor in Wayne's stomach. The scheduled two-hour operation stretched into nine while the surgical team removed the stomach.

Wayne's surgeons said they were confident they had removed all the cancer.

Auto Accident Claims Life

LAMESA (Special) — A one-car accident here early Sunday claimed the life of a 19-year-old man and critically injured the other occupant of the vehicle.

Jesus Vasquez of Lamesa was pronounced dead on arrival at Medical Arts Hospital shortly after the 3:45 a.m. accident.

Listed in critical condition today at the Lamesa hospital was Jose Baltazar, 20, also of Lamesa.

The car in which the victims reportedly were traveling at a high rate of speed went out of control on a curve, hit a median and overturned three times, according to the Department of Public Safety.

Services for Vasquez will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at St. Margaret-Mary's Catholic Church with Monsignor Jerome Vittek, pastor, officiating.

Burial will follow in the Lamesa Cemetery under the direction of Brannon Funeral Home.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Faustino Vasquez Sr. of Lamesa; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Jane Sanchez of Lamesa, and Roselinda and Gloria Vasquez, both of the home; and six brothers, Faustino Jr., Vincent, Ray, Joe, Frank and Rupert, all of Lamesa.

Woman Forced To Watch Rape

A 36-year-old Lubbock woman reportedly was raped this morning while her sister was forced to watch the assault.

Police said the rapist entered the kitchen of an East Lubbock residence shortly before 9 a.m. today and displayed a knife to the victim.

The woman reportedly could not speak English, so the intruder called her 30-year-old sister, who was in a bedroom, to come in and translate.

Using the sister as an interpreter, the man ordered the woman to take off her clothes, reports indicate. The victim was then forced into a bedroom where the man raped her while the sister was made to look on, police said.

After the assault, the rapist, described as a young black man about 6 feet tall and wearing a knit cap, blue shirt and jeans, fled the residence. The woman was treated at Health Sciences Center Hospital.

DR. LAMB

Foot Odor Cures

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — I must comment on your column about foot odors. I am 55 and wear sturdy nurses shoes daily and have tried everything. I find standard foot soaps and powders irritating. Feminine deodorant sprays, mild and effective, do the trick. Cleanlines comes first. Plain cornstarch sprinkled lightly in the shoes helps also. Stockings with cotton feet are better than nylons.
 A wintergreen lotion for the feet after cleansing is heavenly at the end of a hot summer day. And, as you said, open sandals for off-duty hours are great. I also sponge the insides of my shoes periodically with a mild solution of water and laundry bleach and I haven't had a complaint in years.

DEAR READER — Thank you for your comments. I've received a lot of letters from people who have had foot odor problems. This merely serves to point out how common the problem is. I'm also intrigued about how many different forms of treatment people use.

The most important thing, of course, is to find a treatment that works for you. As I stressed in my earlier column, frequent washing of the feet is important. Changing shoes so that you have a different pair of shoes each day while another pair is airing out is also important.

I agree that you should use cotton or wool socks and change them as often as twice a day if need be. These are much better than any of the synthetic socks which tend to trap moisture and enhance odors. The same can be said in regard to leather shoes as opposed to plastic shoes.

Since you are interested in this problem, I am sending you The Health Letter number 11-8, Your Feet And How To Care For Them. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I see mangoes for sale and want to put up a sign, "Mangoes May Be Dangerous To Your Health." My husband had never had a bad reaction to any food in 48 years. Then when we were in Honolulu, he had a fruit salad that contained mangoes. He was rushed to the hospital and was given adrenaline because he had trouble in breathing. He was the only one of 70 guests who had trouble although they all ate the same food so it wasn't the quality of the food.

At first the doctor thought it was a fish allergy but that didn't prove to be the case. Then I read an article in a magazine where a man said he broke out in hives within minutes of eating his first mango and nearly passed out and had to be hospitalized and given cortisone and adrenaline.

Apparently, mangoes seem to have this effect in less than 3 percent of the population. I wish you would tell those 3 percent what might happen if they eat mangoes. I realize that writing this, if you publish it, might not be good for the mango market but it might save a few lives in the process.

DEAR READER — You're describing a severe food reaction and there are an awful lot of commonly used foods that will produce reactions in susceptible people. The reaction can be very severe as your husband experienced. There are people who are allergic to strawberries, tomatoes, various kinds of pickles and peppers and the list goes on to be as long as your arm. That doesn't mean that any of these foods are bad.

Certainly mangoes are excellent food and I personally enjoy them very much. If you have reactions to any food, whether it is mangoes or strawberries, then you ought to avoid that particular food.

Grant Knocks Practices

MIAMI (AP) — The head of the American Farm Bureau Federation today attacked church leadership, federal spending policies and what he called a "do-less-but-demand-more" attitude of labor unions.

Allan Grant, president of the federation, said also that farm issues have "become part of the Washington game of political handball."

"The signs are evident in welfare programs which encourage people to make careers out of not working, in a Social Security program so out-of-hand that its structure now includes 630 administrative law judges, compared to 495 in the entire federal court system," he said.

Grant's remarks were prepared for the federation's annual meeting here. The federation says it is the nation's largest farm organization and has almost 3.1 million members.

He criticized church leaders for seeking "secular goals" instead of concentrating on "spiritual faith and a belief in God."

"Church militancy, which once meant militant pursuit of the Kingdom of God, too often has been revamped to mean support for the Marxist view; denial of the market system, and of property rights; support of land reform and redistribution of the wealth," he said.

Grant urged the group to push Congress for spending limitations and for changes in laws and programs that it excludes itself from obeying. He cited these examples:

— "Members of Congress and about 17,000 of their employees are exempt from Social Security taxes. Understandably, large increases in Social Security taxes have little meaning to them.

— "Members of Congress are exempt from the National Labor Relations Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Civil Rights and Equal Employment Opportunity Act and from ... the Occupational Safety and Health Act which has been so trying for farmers."

— "Members of Congress do not pay state or local income taxes in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia, the three areas in which most of them live."

Grant said that "by granting themselves substantial pay raises, members of Congress have further insulated themselves from the crushing load of inflation which they, as congressmen, have helped create by deficit federal spending."

Members of Congress who think "the people want to give more power to labor unions" or want "massive programs of health care" are in for a surprise, he said.

"The theory that the people of this country suffer from a tremendous gap in health care which only the government can bridge is a political fraud being worked upon the public," Grant said.

Government-sponsored universal health care in Canada has been costly and has not met with the kind of success which Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., "would have us copy," Grant said.

The "socialized medicine experiment" in Britain recently marked its 30th anniversary, he said, and "its deficiencies have become an international joke."

Dollar's Future Hinges On Inflation

By MARY TOBIN
 United Press International Writer
 The Germans are cautious, the French are pessimistic and the British say the outlook is favorable. But the U.S. dollar looks to remain on a merry-go-round in 1979 and the U.S. inflation rate is the spoke that will determine which way the wheel turns.

Money traders queried by UPI generally agreed the dollar's recent gains will be maintained, but almost every one of the foreign exchange specialists hedged all bets on the effectiveness of the Carter administration's campaign to fight inflation.

"There has been a substantial shift in the market attitude toward the dollar the last week — traders are much more positive," said Ann Parker Mills, vice president of Irving Trust Co. of New York. "But this shift has occurred before and has been quickly eroded."

"At present, it's a volatile, nervous market with traders looking for continuing evidence that the administration and the Federal Reserve intend to stick to a policy that will bring down inflation rates," she said.

The dollar has fluctuated widely in the first two weeks of the year.

Bandit Strikes Clerk In Face With Pistol

A bandit, refusing to believe a clerk's plea that a safe could not be opened, struck the attendant in the face with a gun butt during an early morning robbery at a Lubbock convenience store.

John Allen Bonneville, the clerk at the 7-Eleven Store at 313 N. Detroit Ave., told police the gunman entered the store about 4 a.m. today armed with a blue steel revolver and demanded money from the register and safe.

Bonneville, who was not seriously hurt in the assault, said the man made off with $2,020 in cash, checks and food stamps.

The bandit allegedly cocked his gun and struck the attendant after he was told the safe could not be opened. Reports indicate the clerk then opened the safe and the gunman emptied it and the register and fled the store after ordering Bonneville to go into a back room.

It was thought the bandit, described as a fat Mexican-American in his early 20s and wearing a blue jump suit, was accompanied by another person waiting in a car outside the store.

In other police activity, a 31-year-old Lubbock man was jailed Sunday afternoon after he allegedly kidnapped a young woman.

Police were told the suspect jumped into a car about 5 p.m. Sunday, wrestled with an 18-year-old female and forced her into his van.

When police stopped the man's vehicle in the 2500-block of Avenue U, the woman jumped out of the van and ran to the officers, according to reports. Her alleged abductor was transported to the county jail.

Gay Rutherford, 35, of 5206 Kenosha Ave., told police she was leaving a club in the 900-block of Main Street about 10 p.m. Sunday, when a man came up and hit her in the face, breaking her nose.

The woman, who was treated at Methodist Hospital, described her attacker as a 45-year-old white man, weighing about 160 pounds.

The sweet tooth of two youngsters, ages 13 and 14, got them in trouble about 5:40 p.m. Sunday when they reportedly were caught stealing candy from the United Super Market at 3209 Ave. Q.

A policeman said he watched as the young suspects put $3.53 in candy in their coat pocket and then tried to leave the store. The kids were stopped outside the store and placed in the custody of juvenile officers.

R.U. Stalter, owner of G&U Motor Sales at 316 Idalou Road, reported two camper shells valued at $735 stolen from his business between Saturday and 4:40 p.m. Sunday.

In one of several burglaries, David Mark Vail said $2,000 in chemicals was taken from his car while it was parked in front of his 2001 Ninth St. apartment between midnight Saturday and 5 p.m. Sunday.

The loot reportedly taken in the break-in at Ester Flores' 2816 Bates St. residence amounted to $1,655 in stereo equipment, clothes, jewelry, camera and a rifle. She said the burglary apparently took place between noon Sunday and 12:30 a.m. today. Florenda Gomez of 313 Ave. T, Apt. 9, told police burglars entered her car while it was parked in front of her apartment from Friday through Sunday night and stole a stereo, tape player and television, totaling $380.

Equespo Garcia Sanchez, 37, of 907 31st St. remained in serious condition today at Methodist Hospital with multiple gunshot wounds sustained in front of his house early Sunday.

Sanchez was suffering from wounds in the arm, leg and abdomen. He told police a Mexican-American man riding in the back seat of a car fired at him through the vehicle's window.

In another shooting incident, Lonnie Portee, 29, of 2903 E. Colgate St. was admitted to Health Sciences Center Hospital early Sunday with a gunshot wound in the leg. He was in satisfactory condition this morning.

The victim reported to police that a Mexican-American male shot at him five times and attempted to run him down with a vehicle while he and another man were walking in the 2600 block of Parkway Drive.

John D. Hagood told police a tall black male wielding a six-inch switchblade took $7 in cash from him about 12:35 a.m. Sunday while he was sitting in a car in the parking lot of a club at 4900 Ave. Q with a companion.

Hagood said the suspect reached through the open door and stuck the knife in his ribs and demanded money.

Robert Palomo was treated for a cut lip at West Texas Hospital and released Sunday after reportedly being assaulted at a club at Fourth Street and Quirt Avenue.

Counselor Helps Blind To Help Selves

By RHONA SCHWARTZ
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Margaret Fulkerson is an attractive woman with coiffured red hair and striking blue eyes. She arrives at her cartoon-decorated office smartly attired in a jade green three-piece suit with contrasting jewelry.

As she talks about her job as a rehabilitation teacher for the State Commission for the Blind, she frequently faces her visitor and often smiles.

She is part teacher and part counselor. She helps her clients learn daily tasks sighted people take for granted, such as shaving and applying makeup.

What surprises some people about Margaret Fulkerson is that she, too, is blind.

Miss Fulkerson is one of the commission's two rehabilitation teachers who, along with children's counselors and rehabilitation counselors, work with legally and totally blind individuals to help them live as independently as possible.

The commission provides vocational rehabilitation counseling and training to persons whose visual problem "is a handicap to employment and who have the potential for rehabilitation," according to the commission's supervisor, Gerdean Tan.

"Prospective applicants either call us directly or are referred by a doctor who says for us to contact them," Mrs. Tan said. "We take the application, discuss services needed and obtain an exam with an ophthalmologist for the applicant to determine the extent of the visual problem."

"If the person is legally blind (20/200 vision in the best eye with the best correction or a field restriction of 20 degrees), we pay for vocational technical-type training" for them, she said.

Each applicant talks over the most feasible vocational objective, Mrs. Tan said. Rehabilitation teachers at the commission provide blind skills training, which include mobility skills training, braille typing, script typing and home and personal management skills for a short-term program.

Margaret Fulkerson works with blind adults, the majority of whom are adventitiously blind — those who lost their sight after birth — or who are gradually going blind.

For the latter, it is a matter of relearning daily tasks, such as identifying clothes or cooking.

"I try to teach them to do things as nearly as they did before so that they will be happier and more comfortable," Miss Fulkerson said. "One woman I work with is married with a family. She is in the process of losing her vision, and her greatest need is personal adjustment and making the social adjustment."

Another client is a blind young man learning to cook. "I'm teaching him to prepare vegetables and meat and how to store things in the kitchen in an orderly fashion," Miss Fulkerson said. One trick she teaches is to use braille labels to mark settings on oven and washing machine controls.

Some of the special aids available to the blind include a braille writer, which Miss Fulkerson uses to type notes on, and a dictaphone for listening and transcribing.

Miss Fulkerson also uses a braille watch with a pop-top crystal to help her keep track of the time, and a braille

Davis Trial Judge To Advise Jury

HOUSTON (AP) — State District Judge Wallace Moore ruled today that he would advise the jury that it could convict Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis of either solicitation of capital murder or conspiracy to commit capital murder.

The ruling came over objections from the defense that wanted the charge to the jury to include only the solicitation count.

The ruling will give the jury greater leeway in considering the evidence presented during the lengthy trial.

It may find Davis guilty of either count or bring in a verdict of innocence. Defense lawyers said there could not have been any conspiracy because the chief prosecution witness was an FBI informant and had no intention of carrying out a conspiracy.

The prosecution argued that there was evidence of a conspiracy and the judge agreed.

Both offenses are punishable by five to 99 years in prison.

Moore plans to read his charge to the seven-man, five-woman jury Tuesday morning.

Then they will listen to eight hours of final arguments and begin deliberations of one of the most bizarre and expensive cases in Texas history.

Since the trial began, one witness has been charged with perjury, another may face the same charge, and others have testified they are former convicts and one said she earned part of her income as a prostitute.

The testimony alone lasted 10 weeks, with 94 witnesses, more than 200 pieces of evidence and hundreds of thousands of dollars spent on lawyers, investigators, daily transcripts and related legal expenses.

The jurors have been allowed to return to their homes each night, but now they will be sequestered. As Judge Moore said, "Time to bring your toothbrushes."

The charge from the judge gives the seven-man, five-woman jury the options it has in deciding the guilt or innocence of the 45-year-old Fort Worth millionaire.

Prosecutor Tolly Wilson said of the trial, "At this point in time compared to the Amarillo trial I feel 180 degrees better."

Wilson, who on several occasions in the fading hours of the lengthy trial appeared to let his temper escape, said the defense witnesses "ended up testifying for the state."

Not so, said defense attorney Phil Burleson.

"I think the jurors will find Cullen innocent. I believe the evidence showed there were other people who had something to gain by framing Cullen Davis."

Asked about the jury, Wilson said, "I never predict what a jury will do, although I think our case is solid."

A Houston defense lawyer said, "It is extremely hard to read this jury. In fact, this is the most difficult jury to sense that I've seen in my entire career."

Should Davis be found guilty, the jury then must decide the punishment. The maximum penalty is life imprisonment.

It was a trial marked with frequent clashes between lawyers, especially in the final days. At one point, Moore said, he had done little more than referee shouting matches between attorneys and "this is not suppose to be a contact sport."

Walkouts Idle Texas Plants

By United Press International
A strike by 7,000 workers at a Texaco Inc. Port Arthur refinery was averted at least temporarily today, but walkouts idled more than 3,500 workers at two other Texas refineries and two chemical plants despite the apparent nearness of a national labor contract.

Some 275 members of Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Local 4-448 struck an Amoco Chemicals Corp. plant in Texas City Sunday over local issues including shift schedules and assignment of day work.

More than 250 other members of the same local simultaneously struck Marathon Oil Co.'s Texas City refinery over local issues. Supervisory personnel were operating both plants.

OCAW members employed at Texaco's giant Port Arthur facility voted Sunday for a strike over company efforts to reduce lump sum retirement settlements.

But company negotiators removed those issues from the bargaining table at 1:30 a.m. today and work continued for the seventh day without a contract.

Larry Steffler, chairman of OCAW Local 4-23's Texaco committee, called Texaco's contract offer "grossly inferior to the national pattern set by Gulf Oil and approved by the OCAW International Policy Board Friday."

Union officials earlier had said negotiations with Texaco were going well, but Steffler said Sunday the company had placed "new issues" on the table.

Meanwhile, despite a tentative agreement nationally, 150 members of an OCAW clerical unit at Gulf and more than 400 workers at ARCO in Port Arthur continued their walkouts over job security issues.

Although all union members refused to cross the picket lines, the plants continued operating with supervisory personnel. Gulf was running at two-thirds capacity.

The tentative national settlement with Gulf calls for a 73 cents-an-hour pay raise the first year, about 8 percent, and 5 percent more the second year. The average worker now earns about $8.80 an hour.

National negotiations at Denver between OCAW and more than 100 companies were a key to settlement, but local contract talks — and the threat of local strikes — continued at locals nationwide.

Luke 8:40-49. The Living Bible

40 On the other side of the lake the crowds received Him with open arms, for they had been waiting for Him.

41 And now a man named Jairus, a leader of a Jewish synagogue, came and fell down at Jesus' feet and began to beg Him to come to his home, 42 For his only child, a little girl twelve years old, was dying. Jesus went with him, pushing through the crowds.

43, 44 As they went, a woman came up behind and touched Him for healing, for she had been slowly bleeding for twelve years, and could find no cure (though she had spent everything she had on doctors'). But the instant she touched the edge of His robe, the bleeding stopped.

45 "Who touched Me?" Jesus asked. Everyone denied it, and Peter said, "Master, so many are crowding against You . . ."

46 But Jesus said, "No, it was someone who deliberately touched Me, for I felt healing power go out from Me."

47 When the woman realized that Jesus knew, she began to tremble and fell down before Him and told why she had touched Him and that she was now well.

48 He said to her, "Daughter, your faith has healed you! Go in peace."

49 While He was still talking with her, a messenger arrived from the Jairus home with the news that his little girl was dead. "She's gone," they told her father; "there is no use troubling the Teacher now."

"SLIP DRESS" — Floral printed silk crepe de chine makes a smashing entrance in this "slip dress." Draped over it is a self-belted crocheted cardigan.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I take strong exception to the writer who took you to task for addressing a clergyman as "Reverend So and So."

She wrote, "Reverend is an adjective, meaning honorable. You may say, 'The Reverend Mr. Blank,' or 'The Reverend Dr. Blank,' but, Abby, please do not address a clergyman as 'Reverend Anybody.' It's simply not done!"

How wrong! As a minister of the United Methodist Church I have always been addressed as "Reverend" — same as my father and father-in-law, and I love it. I would object vigorously were members of my congregation to address me as "Mister."

Our Episcopal friends address their bishop as "Right Reverend." I maintain that common usage by countless thousands makes it OK to call a pastor "Reverend."

If it's correct for our Catholic to call their priest "Father," or for our Jewish friends to call their clergyman "Rabbi," then it should be OK for my parishioners (and others) to call me "Reverend."

Sign me...

Reverend H. In Ill.

Dear Reverend H.: The English language purists will probably shoot me down, but adjectives serve well in addressing people. However:

The hassle over the use of Reverend Will neverend.

DEAR ABBY: K In Pontiac wrote to say that during a job interview she was asked if she had plans to start a family in the near future. She said, "I never dreamed that such an inquiry would be made in this day of equal rights." Then she asked if you thought that was a proper question to ask a woman applicant.

You replied, "When a new employee is hired, the employer makes an investment in time and training. He therefore has a right to know if the applicant plans to have a family — and, if so, when. Some women take a leave of absence from their jobs to have and raise children. Men do not."

Abby, your response may sound reasonable, but unless an employer asks the same question of men applicants, he is in violation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 for sex discrimination.

L In Tucson

Dear L: My response was valid as far as it went, but I should have added, "However, employers must ask the same question of men applicants in order to stay within the law. Since that is a difficult rule to follow, most personnel directors now advise that questions about family plans not be asked."

...

DEAR ABBY: I see by your column that chastity belts are making a comeback.

Do you know of an orthopedic surgeon-blacksmith team who could design a combination neck brace and side-blinders for my husband?

When we walk down the street, he practically twists his neck off every time he sees a pretty girl.

Lollie In Phoenix

Dear Lollie: Let him look. When he's through looking, he's through.

BEEF ROLLS AND SPAGHETTI RAGU

- 1 1/2 lbs. round steak, cut about 1/4-inch thick
- Pepper
- 1 cup fresh bread crumbs
- 1 tbsps. minced parsley
- 1/4 cup diced celery
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 2 eggs, beaten
- Water
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1 jar (32 oz.) spaghetti sauce
- 3/4 lb. spaghetti, cooked
- Grated Parmesan cheese

Pound or score round steak and sprinkle with pepper. In large mixing bowl, combine bread crumbs, parsley, celery, garlic, salt and eggs. If needed, add just enough water to form a thick, spreadable mixture.

Spread steak with mixture and roll up lengthwise like a jelly roll. Tie with kitchen cord or fasten with skewers.

Heat oil in large heavy skillet. Add meat and slowly brown on all sides. Drain off excess oil. Pour spaghetti sauce over meat, cover and simmer until fork tender; approximately 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Turn meat occasionally while cooking, adding water or more sauce if necessary. Remove meat from skillet; remove string or skewers and cool briefly. Cut crosswise into 1/4-inch slices. Place spaghetti on large warm serving platter. Top with beef slices and cover with hot sauce from skillet. Serve with grated cheese.

Yield: 6 servings.

The Slim Gourmet

By Barbara Gibbons

Some foods with a "healthy" image are more fattening than you think. Here are 10 to think twice about:

1. FRUIT JUICE — more healthful than soda pop, yes, but not lower in calories. Eight ounces of soda pop is about 105 calories, but apple juice is 125 calories, orange juice is 110; pineapple, 135; grape, 135; even unsweetened grapefruit, 90 to 105, depending on the type. (A waistline-watcher is better off eating fruit than drinking juice: the fruit contains appetite-appealing bulk and fiber, and provides more satisfaction!)

2. YOGURT gets its diet-wise image from the low calorie count of plain low-fat yogurt (130 calories a cupful). But most of the yogurt consumed by Americans is sugar-sweetened and fruit-flavored... and double the calories!

3. CORN OIL, safflower, soy, sunflower, all the "polyunsaturated" oils enjoy a "health food" image because they're usually recommended in place of (not in addition to) animal fats on cholesterol-lowering diets. But that doesn't make them any lower in calories. Fact is, salad oil is the most fattening food there is... a whopping 125 calories a tablespoon. Nothing is more fattening than that!

4. 'DIET' MARGARINE is half the calories of regular margarine — 50 calories instead of 100. But 50 calories a tablespoon is still a lot of calories. Some should-be dieters tend to slather bread with diet margarine as if it were calorie-free.

5. 'DIETETIC' SWEETS — cookies, candies, cakes and ice creams labeled "sugar-free," "dietetic" or "diabetic" may be just as fattening as their regular counterparts... or more so. Many "dietetic" products are intended for diabetics who can't metabolize sugar properly. They're sweetened with Sorbitol, a slowly absorbed sweetener that contains just as many calories as sugar. But it's not as sweet, so more of it is needed. Sorbitol-sweetened foods should be avoided by anyone who needs to weight-watch.

6. PART-SKIM CHEESES — depending on the type, these may contain just as much fat and calories as ordinary cheese. A label that says "made from partially skimmed milk" may not tell the whole story. Additional butterfat may be added in the final processing, raising the fat and calorie content to equal that of ordinary cheeses. Part-skim Jarlsberg cheese has 107 calories per ounce, compared with 105 calories an ounce for Swiss.

7. BEEF OR VEAL SAUSAGE may be just as calorie-laden as pork sausage since the legal standard for sausage permits a fat content of up to 50 percent.

8. 'NATURAL CEREALS' may contain oil and other high-fat ingredients and "natural" (but fattening) sweeteners like brown sugar, syrups or honey. These can contain many times the calories of traditional cereals like cornflakes (112 calories a cupful)... or even sugar-frosted flakes (about 145 calories a cupful). Most "natural" granola-type cereals average 480 calories a cupful.

9. GELATIN DESSERTS are not the caloric innocents they appear to be! They're pure calories, with virtually no vitamins or minerals, little protein or appetite satisfaction... mostly sugar, with a little gelatin, chemical colorings and phony fruit flavor added. The waistline-watcher is better off spending the calories on real fruit.

10. THE 'DIET PLATE SPECIAL' served up on most restaurant menus — hamburger and cottage cheese — is neither balanced nor low-calorie. A greasy fried hamburger, creamed cottage cheese and sugar-packed fruit or gelatin can add up to 400 calories or more. Too much protein, fat and cholesterol; not enough fiber! Lots of items on the regular menu have a lower caloric bottom line: a turkey and tomato sandwich, for example, or a ham sandwich with a dill pickle.

CALORIES COUNT! If you have to count them, don't assume that every food with a "healthy" image is non-fattening. Look for the calorie count on the label to be sure.

Proper Exercise Reduces Chance Of Tennis Elbow

NEW YORK (Special) — Tennis is now a year-round sport and it is being practiced and sometimes malpracticed by more than 30 million Americans, an article in Medical Tribune reports.

Almost all cases of "tennis elbow" can be prevented or ameliorated nonsurgically, advises the author, Willibald Nagler, M.D. of New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center. He suggests consultation with a good tennis coach or manual to learn proper tennis strokes, and conditioning the racquet arm through proper exercise. Dr. Nagler explains that clumsy moves put intolerable strains on affected muscles and tendons and infrequent but frantic tennis weekends overtax flabby arms.

By ERMA BOMBECK

I don't know how a car knows when you're ready to sell it...but it knows.

We bought a four-wheel drive about seven years ago and there is nothing you can say to me that will convince me that car didn't understand every word we said.

A lot of marriages between new cars and owners are made in heaven. Maybe that's why we couldn't get parts. The honeymoon lasted exactly three hours. Then the light knob fell off in our hand, the rear window went down automatically and the floor burnt our feet up.

We didn't talk trade-in in front of the car for almost a year. Then one day my husband said, "Maybe we should trade in this clunker while it is still running."

We climbed in the car and the motor refused to turn over.

After we bought the new battery, we figured we might as well use up our investment. So we hung in there until seven months later when my husband said, "As long as we've got the original tires, we might as well turn it in." At that precise moment, the left rear tire expired.

With four new tires, the car had bought itself another year of residency. It was not ready to let us go. The least little thing could set it off. One day I just got out of my side of the car in a parking lot and remarked what a good-looking compact was parked next to us. Our car would not go into reverse and we had to have it towed to a garage where they duly recorded on our bill, "Stubbornness: $65."

We never knew why the transmission went out suddenly the way it did. We had been very discriminate in placing the ad for the car in the paper, being very careful never to mention it within hearing distance. But by the time the first caller inquired as to when they could see the car and we told them they could view it from a rack at Ed's garage, they backed off.

When we decided to trade the car in, we pretended we were going to the grocery. Then, at the last minute, we turned into the car lot. The salesman said he had never seen a car with the motor off and the emergency brake on, roll uphill to smash into a guard rail before.

I cannot believe he was that naive.

SLOW COOKER STUFFING

1 stick (1/2 cup) butter or margarine
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup finely chopped celery
8 oz. can sliced mushrooms, drained
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 1/2 to 2 tps. poultry seasoning
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
12 cups toasted bread cubes*
2 eggs, well beaten
1 1/2 cups chicken bouillon
Melt butter in skillet. Add onion and celery and saute until tender. Stir in mushrooms and parsley. Combine seasonings and sprinkle over bread cubes. Add eggs, bouillon and onion mixture. Toss thoroughly until well combined. Spoon lightly into slow cooker. Cover and set on HIGH for 1 hour, then reduce to LOW and cook for 1 to 2 hours.
Roast the turkey unstuffed as a time saver. As the turkey roasts, prepare this stuffing and put it in a slow cooker. The stuffing will be ready when the turkey is done.

*22 bread slices (24 ounce loaf) cubed and toasted for 15 minutes in 300 degree oven equals 12 cups toasted bread cubes.

THOUGHTS ON REALITY

A man saw a ball of gold in the sky;
He climbed for it,
And eventually he achieved it —
It was clay.
Now this is the strange part:
When the man went to the earth
And looked again,
Lo, there was the ball of gold.
Now this is the strange part:
It was a ball of gold.
Aye, by the heavens, it was a ball of gold.

Q.1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠KJ1062 ♥KQ83 ♦Q94 ♣K

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

Pass Pass 1 ♦ Pass

2 NT Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Despite the fact that your hand is aceless and partner is a passed hand, we would bid on. Your 14 points, combined with partner's 11-12, should give you enough for game. The obvious rebid is three hearts in the hope of finding a major suit contract. However, we would also accept a raise to three no trump because of the wide distribution of your honor cards.

Q.2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠7 ♥A92 ♦10987542 ♣84

The bidding has proceeded: East South West North

Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Bid five diamonds. While partner's action is mainly for penalties the could have bid four no trump for takeout, it is surely based on high cards rather than trumps. Your diamond length detracts from partner's defensive potential, but it's a useful trick-taking weapon on offense. With distributional hands such as this, the wisest policy is to try and play the hand, if at all possible.

Q.3—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠6 ♥852 ♦J72 ♣AQ10943

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

Pass Pass 1 ♦ 2 ♥ ?

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. You do not have anything near the values for a response of three clubs. If partner doesn't have a fit, he may be forced to rebid three spades, and from that point on things could start getting expensive if the opponents double. If partner has a good hand, he will not allow the bidding to die at a low level, so rely on him to protect you.

Q.4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠KQJ92 ♥873 ♦852 ♣94

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South

1 ♦ Dble. 4 ♦ ?

What action do you take?

A.—Your opponent's barrage tactics have forced you to guess at a most uncomfortable level. If you elect to stay out of the bidding, partner might not have enough to act again at this level. But if you venture four spades, you could run into a 500-point penalty if partner has a minimum double. Despite the risks, we would bid because the hands appear to fit well and the possibility of collecting a vulnerable game is too appetizing to pass up.

Q.5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠105 ♥K106 ♦AK1082 ♣954

The bidding has proceeded: North East South West

1 ♦ Pass 2 ♦ 3 ♦

3 ♦ Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—While you have as little as the law allows for a two-over-one response, you shouldn't pass. Partner must have a better than minimum hand, for he was not compelled to bid over three clubs—he could have passed that round to you. Since partner must have a long spade suit, your doubleton is adequate support, especially since it includes the ten. We would raise to four spades.

Q.6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A10962 ♥A83 ♦84 ♣952

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

Pass 1 ♦ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades. In response to a takeout double, a five-card major suit headed by two honors with an ace in a side suit is a pretty reasonable hand. We would invite game by jumping in our long suit.

Q.7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AK83 ♥Q7 ♦AK93 ♣762

The bidding has proceeded: West North East South

1 ♦ 1 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Even though partner could do no more than make an overcall, we would not permit the auction to die short of game. A jump to four hearts is a possibility, but that could land you in the wrong contract—the hand might play better in another suit or no trump. We suggest you start with a cue-bid of two clubs. In this sequence, the cue-bid simply creates a forcing situation and does not promise control of the enemy suit.

Q.8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠A76 ♥AQ ♣A92 ♦AK954

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East

1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ 1 ♦ ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Again we recommend a cue-bid—two spades in this case—to alert partner to the fact that we want to play in game somewhere. This, too, is unconditionally forcing to game, but unlike the previous example, it guarantees first- or second-round control of the opponent's suit. The difference here is because South has available a variety of forcing actions, so the cue-bid is reserved for hands with control in the opponent's suit.

Vintage Base Barracks Ready For Removal

By GERRY BURTON
Avalanche-Journal Staff

In 1942, the two-story open-bay barracks were only one of many standing in a row paralleling War Highway at the newly built Lubbock Army Air Field.

Today, Building 411 is the only vintage barracks-type structure visible from the Reese Air Force Base gate. And it won't be there long.

A Jan. 24 bid date insures that the building will leave the base by spring, 37 years after it was designated as "temporary" — meaning it would last up to five years.

When it is gone, there will be three of the 30x80-foot two-story buildings at Reese — the library, the guest house and the pilots' locker building. Renovation elsewhere already is writing final to the locker rooms.

All other barracks have disappeared, along with many single-story structures, as the permanent look, recently described as 95 per cent modern, replaced the wooden facilities thrown up hurriedly for temporary quarters for WW II trainees.

Changes came to LAAF when the field, closed after World War II and used as housing for veterans attending Texas Tech University, was re-activated and named for a Shallowater pilot killed in the war.

Single-story structures were jacked up and moved together to form whatever facility was needed. Two-story barracks, too heavy with boiler mechanisms for easy moving, were remodeled for use where they stood.

Building 411, once merely two floors of open space for community living, was remodeled as home for the security police division. Included in the new arrangement were cells, two of them maximum security with steel-plated walls, ceilings and floors.

Alongside the smokestack for the barracks' extensive heating system, an incinerator now towers. It was used daily by the Office of Special Investigations which shared the structure with the police.

When the look of brick and mortar began appearing at Reese, corresponding wooden structures began disappearing.

According to the rules of military construction, Reese really officer Ray Baldwin explained, an old building must be obligated for loss when a new one is requested.

When the new one is completed the one obligated must be sold by bid.

Through bids opened by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers which also built them in 1941-42, Reese's obsolete structures went all over the South Plains and into Eastern New Mexico.

Though no longer usable at Reese, the structures filled many needs in the civilian community — as homes, apartment houses, business, churches, schools and farm and ranch buildings of many uses, including homes for migrant workers. Lubbock Christian College opened its doors with many Reese buildings on the campus.

Building 411 was obligated for removal when a new facility was built for the security police. The new facility opened two years ago, but the base got a waiver so the building could be used longer.

Now the two-year stay is over and potential bidders are now stomping on the unyielding floor of the old 1942 barracks building and wondering at the term "temporary."

It probably won't ever be seen again as it appears across from the 4th Street deadend at Reese. It is too big and heavy, Baldwin noted, to be moved intact. Probably, the new owner will choose the option of razing the structure on the base in his three-month time span.

When it is gone, brick and mortar will have gained one more step toward the permanent status of Reese, with the next construction due to take the pilots' locker room.

Then, there will be only two barracks to tug at the memory when oldtimers return to the base.

Reese AFB Names Top Enlisted Men

Two members of Reese Air Force Base's 64th Civil Engineering (CE) Squadron and a member of the 3500th Resource Management (RM) Squadron Friday were named Reese's top enlisted personnel of 1978.

Senior Master Sgt. Guy A. Chauvin, traffic management office supervisor of resource management, received the Senior Noncommissioned Officer award during a special awards banquet.

Tech. Sgt. Bradley L. Charters, quality control technician for civil engineering, was chosen Noncommissioned Officer of the year and Airman 1st Class David J. Anderson, construction equipment operator for civil engineering, was airman of the year.

Nineteen persons were nominated for the awards and winners were selected for on-the-job knowledge and performance and off-duty involvement in community affairs.

Each candidate also was interviewed by a selection board.

Col. Charles E. Bishop, base commander, presented each winner with a certificate of recognition and Bill McMillan, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Armed Services Committee, presented each man with a special plaque.

U.S. Savings Bonds of $50 from the NCO Academy Graduates Association and desk sets from Reese Federal Credit Union and Lubbock National Bank also were presented to each winner.

Chauvin, Charters, and Anderson will represent Reese in the Air Training Command Senior Noncommissioned Officer, Noncommissioned Officer, and Airman of the Year competition during the last weeks of January.

Venue Change Possible In Burnett Trial

BEAUMONT (UPI) — The trial of Linda Burnett, charged with capital murder for allegedly helping kill five persons during the Fourth of July holiday, could be moved if a judge rules an impartial jury can not be selected.

District Judge Larry Gist, who Friday rejected a change of venue request, began jury selection today but has reserved the right to move the trial if selection of an impartial jury proved impossible.

Before jury selection, the judge also planned an unusual hearing today to check on the legal qualifications of one of Mrs. Burnett's attorneys. He said he wanted the hearing as a safeguard against an appeal.

Mrs. Burnett, 30, who fainted at her arraignment and wept at her change of venue hearing, is accused of helping former mental patient Ovide Joseph Dugas, 32, murder five of his former in-laws.

Dugas, a Port Arthur refinery worker and former mental patient allegedly motivated by anger arising from his divorce, will be tried later in Corpus Christi.

He and Mrs. Burnett are charged with abducting and killing Bishop and Ester Phillips and their son Elmer, his wife, Martha, and their son, Jason, 2, who were visiting his parents from Woodward, Okla., on July 1.

Discovery of the bodies nine days later stirred lurid publicity and attracted crowds to police stations and courthouses to try to catch a glimpse of the accused.

Prosecutors, through an unnamed "informant," have obtained a mysterious tape recording in which Mrs. Burnett allegedly described the murders while under hypnosis.

Previously free on $150,000 bond, she has gone to jail on a contempt citation rather than give a voice sample so prosecutors can try to prove the voice on the tape is hers. The tapes could be key evidence against her.

Medical School Honors Doctor

Lubbock cardiologist Brandon Hull was honored Sunday for initiating the drive establishing the Health Sciences Center Hospital-Texas Tech School of Medicine complex during ceremonies in the hospital's main lobby.

Hull, who long has been active in civic affairs including the Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club, was honored with a bronze bust sculpted by internationally-known artist Glenna Maxey Goodacre, Mrs. Goodacre, who was present at the ceremonies, was chosen because of her artistic reputation and because she is a Lubbock native.

A fund-raising drive for the bust was conducted by an eight-member team of Chas. A. Guy, Robert P. Fuller, J.T. Talkington, Dr. Barbara Way, Bill Parsley, Marion Sanford, John Logan and George Wilson.

During ceremonies Sunday, Hull was honored in speeches by Dr. Cecil Mackey, president of Texas Tech, Bill J. Parsley, Tech's director of public affairs and J.T. Talkington, Lubbock businessman.

The bust was unveiled in a presentation by Jack Strong, chairman of the county hospital board.

A medical school scholarship also was established in Hull's name.

LP&L Suffers Brief Blackout

Electricity to many of Lubbock Power & Light's customers in the north and northeast parts of the city went out for about 20 minutes Sunday night after an animal caused a breaker malfunction at a substation.

Carroll McDonald, LP&L's director of utilities, said the animal, probably a cat, evidently walked across a transformer at the Erskine Street Substation, creating a loud explosion when it struck the high voltage equipment.

The explosion caused a breaker malfunction, resulting in the power outage that lasted until 8:40 p.m., he said.

Streetlights, traffic signals and residences were without electricity primarily in the Arnett-Benson neighborhood. University Avenue, Fourth Street and Avenue A also were affected briefly.

"Mineral Resources of the Southwest," Feb. 7; and "Ground Water Resources of the Southwest," Feb. 14.

Cost of the series, arranged by the council's Heritage Projects Committee, is $12.50 for the public, $10 for WTMA members and $4 for individual lectures. Early registration is possible by writing the West Texas Museum Association, Box 4499, Lubbock, 79409.

Coueselman is past president of the American Association of Petroleum Geology, American Geological Institute and American Institute of Professional Geologists. He is former director of the International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies at Tech University.

Mother Held In Incident

DALLAS (AP) — The 32-year-old mother of two mutilated children, both still in critical condition, has told police she disciplined the youngsters severely last Friday morning but was not responsible for their serious injuries.

The mother was held on $200,000 bond in a Dallas jail, but had not been formally charged Sunday.

An 11-year-old boy was in critical condition at Parkland Memorial Hospital after two weekend operations to remove a screwdriver from his eye. Police said the tool was buried to the hilt through the boy's right eye.

His 8-year-old stepister was in critical condition at Baylor University Medical Center with head wounds.

Police officers found the children Friday in the northside apartment they shared with their mother. A neighbor called police after she heard other children screaming at the blood-spattered scene in the apartment.

Police arrested the mother of the children Saturday. She was notified of the incident Friday as she worked at an insurance company.

In a statement to police, she said she disciplined the children Friday morning because they had stolen money from her purse.

"She said she didn't know how those kind of injuries could have happened," said juvenile investigator B.F. Miller. "She's also concerned about her children's condition and has been asking a relative to check on them."

Police said the apartment was littered with blood and broken furniture. They theorized that the attacker used jagged ends of the furniture to further harm the children. They said trails of blood indicated the children had run through the apartment while being attacked.

Reports Say Carter To Propose Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Published reports say President Carter will soon propose cuts in Social Security tax increases due in 1981.

The Washington Star and The Washington Post reported Sunday that Carter will propose the cuts in his budget message to Congress next Monday. The newspapers said Carter will not specify the size of the proposed reductions and has not decided whether to link them with Social Security benefit reductions.

Upsets Dot Weekend

By MIKE RABUN
UPI Sports Writer

The bloodbath that took place during the weekend in the Southwest Conference left some reputations soiled and some egos bruised.

And when it comes time to find the team that benefited the most from the wave of upsets, it would be hard not to choose the Texas Longhorns.

It was only a week ago that Texas, the preseason favorite in the SWC, was all but being counted out of the conference race. The Longhorns had lost by 18 at Texas Tech after putting together a not-so-brilliant inter-sectional campaign.

Now Texas has not only moved into a tie for the league lead, but the Longhorns have managed to end Arkansas' 35-game home winning streak and escaped the brutal early part of their conference schedule with a 3-1 record.

After beating TCU at home to start the league race, Texas then had to make trips to Texas Tech, Houston and Arkansas — none of them known for being pleasure cruises.

And after the Longhorns visit Rice Tuesday night, which might be a tough chore considering the fired-up manner in which the Owls have been conducting themselves lately, they return home for five of their next six games — including a nationally televised date with Southern California next Saturday and a crucial meeting with Texas A&M the following Monday.

No matter who has the advantage in the schedule, however, no team has much of an advantage in the current standings following last weekend's activities. And there are some critical games coming up this week.

The highlights will be Texas Tech (3-1) at SMU (1-1) Tuesday night, Arkansas (2-1) going to Texas A&M (3-1) Wednesday night and the Texas Tech-Texas A&M battle in College Station Saturday night.

Arkansas' visit to A&M follows two tough losses for the Hogs, the latest being a 63-57 nationally televised setback at North Carolina Sunday.

The three games that turned the conference race into a fascinating scramble were Texas' 66-63 decision over previously unbeaten and 10th-ranked Arkansas in Fayetteville; Rice's 62-56 stunner over Texas Tech in Lubbock, by far the biggest win in Mike Schuler's two-year tenure with the Owls; and SMU's thrilling 78-76 win over 12th-ranked Texas A&M in Dallas, where a record Mustangs' crowd turned out despite a chill factor of minus 20 degrees.

The SMU victory was surprising enough, but the win by Rice, a team that has been down for years, in a place like Lubbock, was particularly amazing.

A Day To Remember

SOMEONE SHOULD WARN NBC that Super Bowl XIII may be too gory to show on television during the hours when kiddies are in the viewing audience. They don't dare show Clint Eastwood's blood-spattered epics in the afternoon, do they? And this Super Bowl may make Dirty Harry look like a Sunday school teacher who collects butterflies as a hobby.

It all goes back to Super Bowl X, when the Dallas Cowboys and the Pittsburgh Steelers met in the Big One at Miami's Orange Bowl. Pittsburgh was the defending world champion, after thumping Minnesota in SB IX. The Steelers were large, aggressive and extremely unfriendly.

The Cowboys were no strangers to the ultimate contest, either. Dallas had won the Lombardi Trophy four years earlier by drubbing Miami. But the Cowboys had slumped in 1974 and were rebuilding '75 with a bunch of talented rookies they called the "Dirty Dozen." Even Coach Tom Landry was surprised to find the "Pokes playing for it all.

A's Move Apparent

By PETER FINNEY JR.
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Superdome boss Deniz Skinner today said he and a representative of sports millionaire Edward DeBartolo Sr. were flying to Chicago for an afternoon meeting with Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley to finalize an agreement to buy the American League team and move it to Louisiana.

Tom Rossetti, DeBartolo's chief financial adviser, was expected to sit in on the meeting, the second with Finley in five days.

"Mr. DeBartolo wants to have an itemized listing of everything he purchases," Skinner said. "We will zero in on all of the player contracts and have identified the total purchases. At that point, unless there are surprises, I think they can finalize an agreement with Finley."

"Then it will be up to Mr. Finley and the Alameda County (Calif.) officials to negotiate some sort of settlement (on the Oakland Coliseum Stadium lease)."

Finley told the San Francisco Examiner he has asked, through Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office, for a meeting with Oakland and Alameda County officials to try to negotiate the A's Oakland Coliseum lease, which still has nine years to run.

Finley said he spoke with Robert T. Nahas, president of the Coliseum Board, last week but commented, "I have to say the impression I got...I can't say it was encouraging."

The lease is the major stumbling block in DeBartolo's plans to purchase the A's and move them to New Orleans.

"That's the only stumbling block," Skinner said. "I worked all day Saturday and Sunday with Mr. DeBartolo's financial adviser, who is Tom Rossetti. We have our numbers together."

Skinner said the Cleveland millionaire has the inside track on a possible purchase, even though Denver oilman Marvin Davis was reported to still be in the picture.

"I think Davis is a day late and a million dollars short," Skinner said. "I know he's on the back burner. That's the way I deal. I'm on the front burner until something else happens."

Skinner, president of the Hyatt Management Corp. that runs the Superdome, has searched for more than a year to put together the financial clout to buy a baseball team. He announced last week that DeBartolo, the owner of the National Hockey League Pittsburgh Penguins, three race tracks and numerous shopping malls, had agreed to buy a franchise and shift it to New Orleans.

"I think Mr. DeBartolo will be prepared to conclude his phase of the operations within the next 48 hours," Skinner said. "I don't know if there is any deadline, but time is of the essence for everyone."

Mahaffey Talks Self Into Crown

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — John Mahaffey was talking to himself as he surveyed the 15-foot birdie putt he had to make to win the Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

"You've been here before," he told himself. "Make up your mind, get the line and hit a good, solid putt."

He did just that. "It's as good a putt as I've ever made," Mahaffey said Sunday. "I knew it was in."

The putt broke a tie with Lee Trevino, completed the first PGA Tour event of the season and vaulted Mahaffey to his fourth victory in his last 10 American starts.

"I'm surprised," said Mahaffey, who capped one of golf's more dramatic comebacks with victories in the PGA national championship and the World Cup late last year.

"Nobody expects to be playing well in the first tournament of the year. It's a carry-over from last season, I guess," he said.

And it was a carry-over for Trevino, too — but a less happy one.

Playing immediately in front of Mahaffey, the leader through four of the five rounds of this unique event, Trevino finally caught him with a birdie on the 90th hole. He could do nothing but chomp an apple, throw a one-liner at Arnold Palmer and watch while Mahaffey matched his birdie to win by a stroke.

It was the sixth time in less than 12 months that Trevino had been a runner-up. And it kept intact his California jinx: He has yet to win in this state.

Mahaffey won this one with a final round 69, 3 under par at the Indian Wells Country Club — one of four desert lay-outs used for this marathon five-day event. He had a 90-hole total of 343, 17 under par.

Trevino, who chased him all over the resort area, had a closing 69 and a 344.

Mark Hayes got in the chase with a no-bogey, 6-under-par 66 in the last round and took third at 345. He was followed at 346 by Grier Jones, who had a 68. Lanny Wadkins and Keith Fergus were at 348, Wadkins with a 68, Fergus a 69.

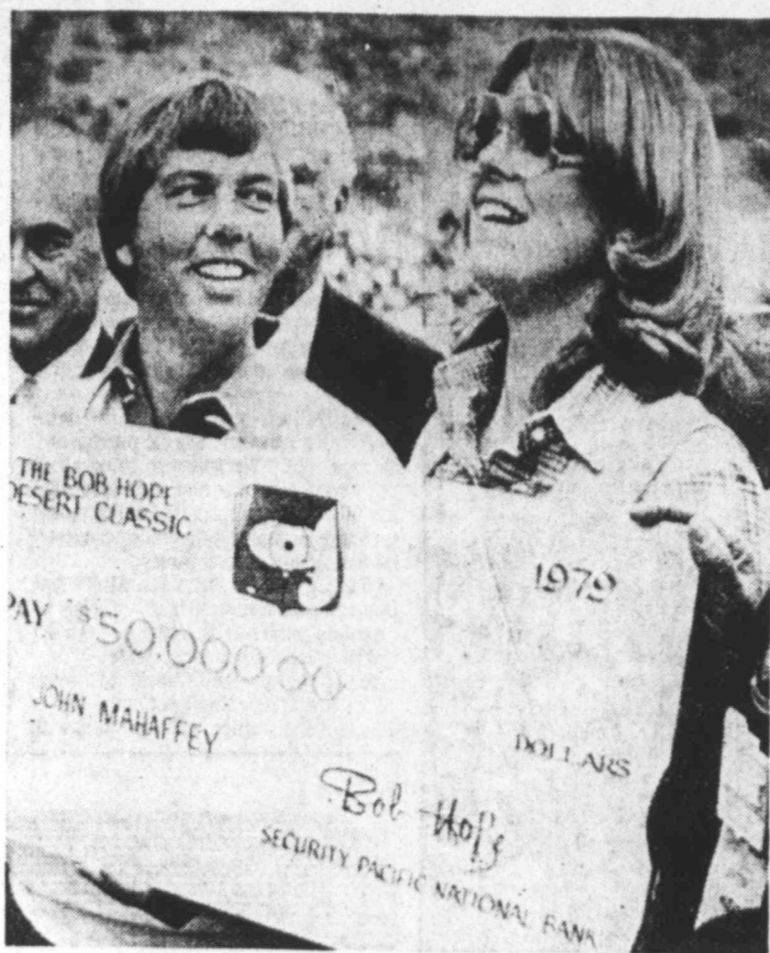

Jack Nicklaus scored his third competitive hole in one, dropping a 146-yard 8-iron shot on the sixth hole. He finished with a 69 and a tie for 11th at 350.

Mahaffey, who had a 1-shot lead when play started Sunday, built it to two at the turn. But Trevino kept chipping away and finally caught him with a birdie on the par-5 18th.

Then he watched while Mahaffey made his bid.

Mahaffey had to hit his second shot from an awkward lie, laid up, then chipped over water to the green. Then he faced a 15-foot, uphill putt for the title and a $50,000 prize.

"You can't think about winning the tournament until it's over," he said. "I wasn't thinking about the money or anything else. I was thinking about winning the golf tournament."

Waltrip's Star Rising

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — "People go to college for four years to get a degree so they can go out in the world and be qualified to earn a living. I feel like that's what I've been doing the last three or four years," said Darrell Waltrip.

"Now I'm ready to go."

Waltrip, the boyish looking, controversial rising star in Grand National stock car racing, left no doubt he's completed his practical training as he mapped a well-calculated, convincing route to victory Sunday in the Western 500. The race opened the 1979 season.

A victory on the demanding nine-turn Riverside International Raceway road course is considered a good indicator of a driver's skill. Past winners have been Dan Gurney, Parnelli Jones, Mark Donohue, David Pearson, Richard Petty, Bobby Allison and Cale Yarborough.

Asked if he thought his training years were over, the colorful Waltrip replied: "If I'm not good right now, I hope I hurry up and get good."

Waltrip said half-kiddingly before the race he wasted a whole day of practice because he and his crew set up his race car to turn left, which is usually the only direction stock cars turn. At Riverside, they race clockwise and turn right most of the time.

"Make a right turn anyplace else on the circuit and you'll wind up in the concession stand," Waltrip said. "Seriously, you have to work at this place. It takes a couple of days to get the rhythm. That may sound strange, but that's the best way I know how to describe it."

"You rock the car, you don't really steer it. You get a rhythm to swing and sway up through the esses. When you're doing that, you're driving this place the right way."

Waltrip injured a shoulder here in 1977 when he rocked his car into a wall of railroad ties in the esses.

"The on-the-job training in this business is tough," Waltrip observed.

Waltrip's education took another dimension Sunday before he was through: rain driving. The final five laps were run in a steady rain.

Rogers In Giant Job?

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — The New York Giants, hoping to name their new coach inside the next two weeks, would like to have Darryl Rogers of Michigan State — if they can get him.

At his home in East Lansing, Mich., Rogers had no comment regarding the Giants' interest in him other than to say he had not been contacted by them. But it was learned from an excellent NFL source among those already on hand for the next Sunday's Super Bowl game that the low key, 43-year-old Rogers has emerged the No. 1 candidate for the job.

There had been previous reports that Gil Brandt, vice president of scouting and development for the Dallas Cowboys, and Dan Reeves, one of the Cowboys' assistant coaches, might come to the Giants together. Brandt was to have taken over as director of operations and Reeves as head coach, but that becomes unlikely because of existing differences between the two men.

Brandt, however, is still considered a possible replacement for Andy Robustelli, who announced he was leaving the Giants' the same day John McVay was fired as coach at the end of the season.

Rogers, who helped restore Michigan State to national prominence after the Spartans had been slapped with a three-year suspension by the NCAA in 1976, guided them to eight victories in 11 games this past season. He still has more time left on his present contract, with Michigan State.

Steelers not only were the defending champs, but they had just posted an impressive 12-2 record in winning the AFC Central title.
The Cowboys, on the other hand, finished second in the NFC East with a 10-4 mark and only sneaked into the playoffs via the wild card route. But Dallas surprised everyone by upsetting the Vikings on the Minnesota tundra and then stunning the Rams at the Coliseum. So much for favorites.
Meanwhile, the Men of Steel were devouring everything in their path to Super Bowl glory. Pittsburgh bombed Baltimore in the first round of the playoffs and then downed tough Oakland for the AFC title.
So the Steelers, talented and combat-ready, headed for the Orange Bowl to meet a Dallas team which featured an offense that had been branded as "rinky dink" by the scornful Rams.

THE COWBOYS CAME out smoking, though, and took a 10-7 halftime lead on a pass from Roger Staubach to Drew Pearson and a Tony Fritsch field goal. The game settled down to a grim defensive duel in the third quarter, but the Steelers got the break they needed early in the fourth period when they blocked Mitch Hoopes' punt for a safety.

Roy Gerela added a couple of field goals, then Terry Bradshaw nailed the lid on the coffin by connecting with Lynn Swann for 64 yards and a touchdown just before blitzing D.D. Lewis turned out his lights.

Staubach never surrendered, however, and before the fans could blink Roger passed to rookie receiver Percy Howard for a TD that cut the Steeler margin to 21-17. Pittsburgh tried to run out the clock, but Doomsday held and the 'Pokes got the ball back with 1:22 remaining.

Two Staubach passes put the Cowboys in scoring territory, and Roger was throwing into the end zone for Howard as time ran out. Percy, a converted basketball player, actually had a chance to win the game on the next-to-last play. He raced into the end zone, covered by two defenders who lacked his height and jumping ability. So Roger tossed him a high lob that he could grab out of the reach of the secondary men.

As Percy related it later, he went high for the ball and was briefly paralyzed by a very sharp elbow in his lower abdomen, or thereabouts. Percy came down with considerable pain, but no football. That was the game.

WHY, IF HOWARD was fouled so flagrantly, didn't the zebras throw a flag? That is the question that Dallas fans, players and coaches have been asking ever since. Rumor has it that Commissioner Pete Rozelle told the zebras before the game that he hoped they wouldn't spoil all the fun and mess up the TV commercials with a lot of penalties.

If so, no one told Dallas. The 'Pokes went into the tilt expecting the usual restraints on holding, kicking and gouging. Boy, was that a mistake!

From the start, Pittsburgh's burly defensive secondary batted Dallas' 170-pound wide receivers around like tennis balls. One famous Eastern sportswriter said it was the first time two guys (Drew Pearson and Golden Richards) had been mugged in front of 80,000 people.

Dallas safety Cliff Harris, who tends to get a bit smug at times, patted Gerela on the helmet after he missed a field goal and said, "Thanks, we needed that!" It was an unsportsmanlike thing to do, admittedly, but nothing was hurt except Gerela's pride.

Steeler linebacker Jack Lambert, who outweighs Harris 30 pounds, picked him up and slammed him to the ground. That hurt more than pride and should have been instant disqualification. But no zebra threw a flag.

It was a very physical game.

LITTLE HAS CHANGED since that January day three years ago. The Steelers are riding high with 16 victories in 18 games this season. They still are the intimidators and the hard-nosed guys who relish contact and conflict. Their games with Houston sent a half-dozen Oilers to the hospital for major repairs and Blue Cross threatens to cancel insurance on their future opponents.

The Cowboys still are the finesse team of the NFL and the glamor boys of TV. They still rely mostly on Staubach's arm, although Tony Dorsett now gives them an outside threat.

One thing is different about Dallas, though. The defense has matured and there are some large, hostile guys in the defensive line who can meet the intimidators jaw to jaw. Randy White, Ed Jones and Harvey Martin play it tough.

So call out the medics and tee up the ball! The Cowboys are ready for the rematch!

Tar Heels Win Two

By The Associated Press
With Phil Ford gone, North Carolina's four corner offense is only a ghost of its former self. But it's still enough to scare the daylight out of the opposition. While probably nobody will do it as well as the redoubtable Ford did it for four years at Chapel Hill, the Tar Heels still did it good enough over the weekend to beat two Top Twenty college basketball teams.

"We didn't run the four corners as well as usual, but we were using a lot of new people," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith after a 74-68 victory over seventh-ranked Duke Saturday and a 63-57 decision over No. 10 Arkansas Sunday.

In both games, Mike O'Koren played key roles for the nation's third-ranked team. He scored 18 points and collected 20 rebounds against Duke, then helped run the show against Arkansas.

"O'Koren played very well, I thought," said Smith. "He wasn't looking to shoot as much (Sunday), but was content with making the good pass to set up somebody."

Two of those on the receiving end of O'Koren's passes were Rich Yonakor (13 points) and Dudley Bradley (12 points).

"They did an excellent job of running their four corners down the stretch," said Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton, losing for the second time in a row after 10 victories. "We didn't play as well as we have at times in the past. The Texas game (which Arkansas lost Friday night) and the long trip (to Greensboro, N.C.) took something out of us. But I'm sure the Duke game took something out of North Carolina, too."

Upsets studded the weekend's activities. Seven Top Twenty teams went down to rank outsiders — including No. 4 Illinois, which lost 69-66 in overtime to Ohio State, the Illini's first defeat this season after 15 victories.

Top-ranked Michigan State lost for the second time in a row, dropping a 52-50 decision to Purdue; Virginia beat No. 8 North Carolina State 67-62; No. 11 Texas A&M lost a 78-76 decision to SMU; No. 16 Michigan was beaten by Wisconsin 77-66; Alabama whipped No. 17 Kentucky 55-52, and No. 19 Long Beach State lost to Cal State-Fullerton 81-77 in overtime.

Elsewhere, No. 2 Notre Dame stopped No. 13 Marquette 65-60; No. 5 LSU whipped Florida 80-72; No. 6 UCLA beat Southern Cal 89-86; No. 9 Indiana State downed Bradley 93-74; No. 12 Louisville beat Maryland 99-84; No. 14 Georgetown routed Manhattan 78-64; No. 15 Kansas stopped Oklahoma State 82-70; No. 18 Temple defeated Lafayette 72-51, and No. 20 Syracuse trimmed Connecticut 74-60.

North Carolina's victory over Duke avenged a loss earlier this year. The Tar Heels used 21 steals and forced 21 turnovers to beat their tough Atlantic Coast Conference rivals. O'Koren was usually in the center of everything for the winners.

"We hung tough," said Duke Coach Bill Foster, "but we couldn't sustain anything offensively. We seem to be on a rollercoaster. We play well for a while, then have dry spells."

North Carolina's victory Sunday was just as uneasy. Grimly holding on at the end, Smith ordered the Tar Heels into their well-known spread offense and Jeff Doughton and Jimmy Black ran the four corners rather effectively, turning the ball over only twice in the last four minutes.

Center Herb Williams scored 29 points and Kelvin Ransey delivered a field goal and two foul shots in overtime to pace Ohio State over Illinois.

"There might not be a better center in the United States, potentially," said Ohio State Coach Eldon Miller. "Herb Williams has not come close to his potential."

Williams has been averaging 21 points a game and helped the Buckeyes knock off two other Top Twenty teams this year, Louisville and Duke.

Jeff Lamp's 25 points led Virginia over North Carolina State. Clutch free throws by Billy Allen and Gordon Welch in the last minute paced SMU over Texas A&M. Claude Gregory scored 28 points as Wisconsin rallied from a 12-point deficit to beat Michigan.

Robert Scott and Eddie Phillips teamed for three big free throws in the last 24 seconds to lead Alabama over Kentucky. Mike Niles had 25 points and 16 rebounds to power Cal State-Fullerton past Long Beach State. Tracy Jackson's 21 points paced Notre Dame over Marquette.

No Chumps In Steel City

By GARY MIHOCES
PITTSBURGH (AP) — In 1952, the Pittsburgh Pirates had a baseball team that lost a record 112 games.

"We lost 10 of our first 14 — then we had a slump," remembers catcher Joe Garagiola.

In 1968, the University of Pittsburgh football team listened to a rousing recording of "To Dream The Impossible Dream." Then it rushed onto the field and was crushed 56-7 by Notre Dame.

For nearly four decades, the Same Old Steelers labored without winning one division title.

"I guess I could be so dumb that I don't know I'm dumb," team owner Art Rooney once said. "But I think we have a good organization. We work harder than most other team offices. We have to. We're losers."

Not anymore. Sunday in Miami, Rooney's Steelers of the Seventies meet the Dallas Cowboys in Super Bowl XIII.

No matter what happens, it's already been a decade of sweet, all-around sports success here in a city that once lamented its losers.

"Once, we were at the bottom. Now, Pittsburgh is something special," said Bob Kubacki, 41, who's gone to every Pittsburgh Steelers home game since 1971 — wearing a gorilla suit.

"We're at the zenith. It's the greatest," said John Halas, 45, bound for the Super Bowl with fellow members of the tavern-based Chiodo's Football Club.

"We'll get those 'Terrible Towels' going in Miami," added Halas, referring to the thousands of yellow, terry cloth towels that signaled Steelers support in the playoffs.

If Dallas wins, it will be the first time in this decade that a Pittsburgh team's made it to the big one — and lost.

In 1971, the Pirates won the World Series. In 1974 and 1975, the Steelers took Super Bowls. In 1976, Pitt was No. 1 in college football.

"We don't have pro basketball, but our hockey team is coming," said Halas.

"Maybe we'll get a Stanley Cup," said Bubanic, who wears his gorilla suit as a member of "Gerela's Gorillas," fan club for Steelers kicker Roy Gerela.

Why the Pittsburgh success? Maybe it was just the timing of talented people coming together in a town where winning was overdue.

Mrs. Myrtle Dorsett of Aliquippa, Pa., said something like that about her son, Tony, who'll be in uniform with Dallas Sunday.

"God gave him the ability ... and Tony has also been lucky. He's been in the right places at the right times for a lot of things to happen," said Mrs. Dorsett.

Dorsett and Coach Johnny Majors arrived at Pitt in 1973. Within four years, Pitt had gone from a 1-10 season to the national title. With new rules on numbers of recruits, college football may never see another turnaround so sudden.

Last season, the Pirates were second in their division for the third straight year. Before that, they won five of six division titles. It's the most successful decade in the history of the ballclub.

In 1971, Art Rooney, an avid Pirates rooter, delayed a cataract operation so he could see the World Series.

Now Rooney has his own winning team. The key to the turnaround has been Coach Chuck Noll.

When he took over, Noll was asked what he remembered about the Steelers when he played for Cleveland. "We used to make fun of Pittsburgh. They'd wear different color helmets sometimes," he said.

The helmets will match Sunday. So will the mental attitudes. Noll sees to that.

"To me, the time after a game is a let-down," Noll says. "When the seasons end, even if you have won the Super Bowl, there's no next game to prepare for. To me, the challenge of preparing is the enjoyment."

The Steelers once had a coach, Johnny Blood, who missed a game because he thought Pittsburgh wasn't playing that day.

"You couldn't depend on Johnny a whole lot," Rooney said.

The Steelers can depend on Noll. Indeed, Rooney no longer has "fun" just watching his team.

"Now it's fun winning," he said. "You can't beat that feeling."

Caulkins Runs Meet

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tracy Caulkins spent her first weekend as a "sweet 16" adding more treasures to her already abundant collection of silver and gold. For an encore, she put her name in the record book — one more time.

The lanky high school sophomore captured five events — including an American record in the 100-yard breaststroke — at the second annual Nashville Aquatic Club International Invitational swim meet.

More than 400 swimmers, including 70 from nine foreign countries, competed in the three-day meet which ended Sunday night.

In her competitive debut in the 500-yard freestyle, Miss Caulkins, holder of four world records and five gold medals from the World Games in Berlin, finished first in 4:41.72 — two seconds off the American record.

She also collected silver trophies for top honors in the 200-yard individual medley, 2:04.60; 400-yard individual medley, 4:20.40, and the 200-yard breaststroke, 2:15.93. And, her American record of 1:02.06 in the 100-yard breaststroke bettered the previous mark — her own — of 1:02.20.

"I was satisfied with the way I swam," she said after the meet. "A lot of it is thanks to the crowd like when I was swimming the 100 breast. The crowd really helps a lot. I can hear them and that helps me."

With a smile, she said she will be back in the pool for practice today.

"I'll be getting ready for the national championships in April in Los Angeles," she said. "I really don't know what Coach (Don) Talbot will have me concentrating on, but maybe I'll be working more on my freestyle."

McEnroe Needs Some Maturity

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

The kid is good, but he's got some growing up to do. John Patrick McEnroe Jr. Mark the name well. Store it in the recesses of your mind. No morning glory. No flash in the pan. No fresh punk on a hot streak. The genuine article. At 19, in the course of a few weeks he has won the Davis Cup for the United States and captured the $100,000 first prize in the Grand Prix Masters, the climax of the men's $11 million tennis tour. Let's face it, he can play. He could be No. 1 in the world, as many say, but that is a claim that requires some aging. He has the shots. He has the quickness, the fire and a cold nerve. All he needs is a little polishing. At 19 he is not to be chastened by his elders — an old guy, for instance, like Robert Arthur Ashe Jr. The 35-year-old Ashe, snubbed by the Davis Cup team that last month made a hero of young McEnroe, wasn't given a chance in the Masters final. McEnroe had crushed him easily in an earlier match and then steamrolled over all foes, including a sore-heeled Jimmy Connors, forced to retire because of a blood blister. But the skinny little man with spectacles gave the kid a lesson both in tennis strategy and court behavior before bowing before a nearly full Madison Square Garden house 6-7, 6-3, 7-5.

At the finish, young McEnroe wearing a familiar red headband around curly hair, lifted his arms in a fashion of a conqueror and seemed prepared to emit a Turyanic yell. It wasn't fitting for the occasion. After all, Ashe had battled him every step of the way and twice had come within a single shot of winning the match. Humility would have been more in order. Ashe turned out to be the sentimental favorite of the crowd and undoubtedly the thousands who watched on television. After all, there are a lot of championships ahead for young McEnroe and Arthur deserved one more big moment of glory. He had it tough. He broke into the game when it was a snobbish country club sport and blacks were a rarity in the game — as they are even now. He clawed his way to the top, won the first U.S. Open as an amateur in 1968, beat Jimmy Connors in the Wimbledon final in 1975 and played on a half dozen U.S. Davis Cup teams. They say he never reached his potential. Over the years, he has been bothered by bad eyesight and a heel ailment. Yet, he always performed with grace and dignity, a credit to the sport. McEnroe, at 5-foot-10 and 160 pounds, is a carbon copy of the fiery Jimmy Connors. Left-handed like Connors, he has a devastating high kicking service. He is agile as a cat. His reflexes are quick as a flash of lightning. But his greatest forte, the ingredient that separates ordinary players from the greats, is what some call "mental toughness." The less you refer to it as "guts." Others call it "the killer's instinct."

Billie Jean King has it by the bushel baskets. So does Chris Evert. Graceful Evonne Goolagong and Martina Navratilova do not. Jack Nicklaus and Tom Watson have it in golf. Most of their rivals lack it. Reggie Jackson has it. The Los Angeles Rams do not. McEnroe has it. Connors, Bjorn Borg and Guillermo Vilas will learn it soon enough. But McEnroe has a less admirable quality which may be written off to callow youth — a spoiled court behavior that distracts from his image. He yells at himself, he frets, he hems and tosses rackets when he loses points. Kid Stuff. Immaturity. He should have stopped a moment and watched Arthur.

HAPPY WINNER — John McEnroe celebrates after topping Arthur Ashe 6-7, 6-3, 7-5 in the championship of the Grand Prix Masters tennis tournament. (AP Laserphoto)

Short Mustangs Post Top Mark

By BOB BAJACKSON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
If the farmers received parity from the federal government the way height is distributed on the Andrews basketball team, then there would be no need for a tractorcade to Washington. "Yes, our team is equally small," laughed Mustang coach Frank Bice. "In fact, the tallest player on our team is only 6-3. And we only have one of them."

That one player is postman Lance McCain. McCain, a senior, is a two-year starter. "He's an exceptional athlete," said Bice. "Lance has been averaging 25 points a game. But we don't have a one-man club. Our strength is experience and depth." Experience and depth have led the Mustangs to a 21-2 overall record and a 1-0 mark in Dist. 2-AAA.

Andrews starts four seniors and a junior. Besides McCain, 6-0 seniors Tim Trower and Steve Bailey also play post positions. The guards are 5-11 senior David Hill and 5-9 junior Robbie Jones. "It's such a great feeling to have a strong bench like we do," said Bice. "For instance, in one of the tournaments we played, we had one kid come off the bench and he hit 15 of 18 shots from the field. Also, playing our whole bench allows them to acquire game experience which will help later on."

The Mustangs like to run a fast break on offense and full-court press on defense. "Because we're so short, the fast break is really the only way we can get the ball inside," said the Andrews coach. Does the full court press bother the Mustangs? "Because we work with it and against the full-court press every day in practice, I'm not sure it's that much of a disadvantage to our team," said Bice.

However, Friday night in Fort Stockton against the Panthers in the district opener for both teams, the Mustangs faced a press of a different kind. "They (Fort Stockton) like to halfcourt trap," said Bice. "Fort Stockton also has the size to make the halfcourt trap effective." Andrews was able to break the press and went on to defeat Fort Stockton 83-66. "The key is constant movement," said Bice. "That's the way to break the press." Bice admits that this year's team has been the easiest to coach in his four years at Andrews. "We don't have exceptional quickness," said Bice. "But we do have exceptional intensity." "Without question," added Bice, "I have never seen a team sprit like the way our players get up for a game." Though Bice has made the point exceptionally clear that the Mustangs' disadvantage is a lack of height, Andrews continues to get its share of rebounds. McCain leads the team in karoms, averaging 12 a game, with Little grabbing 11 per contest. When the Mustang starting lineup has been introduced to the crowd, Andrews size has attracted such comments as "take out the junior varsity," or "how many junior varsity teams does Andrews have?" But 21 times so far, the Mustangs have been able to provide the biggest amount of points on the scoreboard.

Schoolgirls Face Final Warmup Tilts

By CHUCK McDONALD
Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

With 20 or more games behind them it seems difficult to believe that the high school girls teams have been doing little more than practicing for the real season. But that's the case, and tonight Lubbock schoolgirls will once again play just for fun. But after tonight's nondistrict affairs, the girls can prepare for the real thing. District play for 4-AAAA and 1-AAA teams begins on Friday. Tonight's schedule has Monterey traveling across town to Estacado, Coronado goes to Loveland and Lubbock High visits Dunbar.

The Plainwomens currently boast the city's best slate, 18-5, and their game against Estacado would seem like a mismatch. The Matadoras are 7-11. But Estacado coach Nan Barber doesn't see it that way. "Actually I think it (the Monterey game) is one of the best things that we could have happen to us prior to our district opener," said Miss Barber. "We'll get a chance to see what we are able to do against a good team." Barber's concern about "good teams" is understandable. Her Matadoras open 1-AAA play against Dumas — in Dumas. The Demon girls are currently ranked as the No. 1 Class AAA team in the state.

"I'd say that Dumas just might be considered the district favorite," said Miss Barber with a laugh. Meanwhile, Monterey coach Phil Hood knows all about being considered as the district favorite. "I guess we were the preseason pick," said Hood of his 4-AAAA Plainwomens. "Everyone was pointing the accusing finger at us since we did have six returning lettermen." And one of those lettermen happens to be Margaret Grennell who not only started last year, but made the all-district team.

"But, now I don't know," said Hood. "I think Plainview will be the team to beat. They (Plainview) have just an awesome amount of talent." Hood knows all about the Plainview talent. His Plainwomens dropped a 63-41 decision to the Bulldogs in the finals of the San Angelo Tourney back in December. Plainview is currently ranked No. 3 in the state AAAA polls, but Monterey isn't far behind at No. 9. "All I know about Estacado is what I've read in the paper," said Hood. "I haven't got a chance to see them play yet." "I watched Monterey play Caprock Friday night," says Miss Barber, "and they sure didn't have any trouble. Maybe we can find some answers tonight." Everyone may be experimenting a little tonight. Because the fun-and-games portion of the season is about to end.

Knoetze Says He's Ready For Ali

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Heavyweight Kalie Knoetze, a no-frills power puncher, says he can whip Larry Holmes anytime and would like nothing better than to meet his idol, Muhammad Ali, in the ring. But it will first take some fancy footwork by his attorneys to keep the South African boxer's title hopes alive. Knoetze knocked out Bill Sharkey Saturday in the fourth round for his 17th victory, including 16 knockouts, in 19 professional matches. After overpowering the smaller Sharkey, Knoetze predicted great things for himself. "I will be the next champion," he said. "I took Muhammad Ali 15 years to bring boxing up to where it is now. I want to take it further." Asked how he would do against the quick Holmes, the World Boxing Council's champion, Knoetze said: "I can beat Holmes anytime. He has a big jaw. One bomb and he's gone. You can hit his jaw with your eyes closed." Ali is the champion of the World Boxing Association, which ranks Knoetze as its No. 2 challenger. "I hope my next fight is for the world championship — Muhammad Ali's world championship. But my manager says I must go up the ladder," Knoetze said. Knoetze will have trouble getting the bouts he needs to move up the ladder unless he is able to fight in the United States. His first U.S. fight came after two weeks of civil rights protests and legal moves that will continue this week. The Rev. Jesse Jackson has brought pressure on the State Department to revoke Knoetze's visa, publicizing a 1977 inci-

Stock Mart Continues To Climb

NEW YORK (AP) — The volatile gambling issues led the way as the stock market continued its early-1979 rally today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up nearly 33 points in the first two weeks of the new year, added another 2.51 to 838.79 by noon today.

Gainers outpaced losers by more than a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The dollar advanced in most foreign-exchange markets today. Analysts noted that the recent strength of the U.S. currency has supported the rally in stock prices since New Year's.

The fourth-quarter earnings reports which began to appear last week have so far been mostly strong.

Brokers also cited persisting hopes that the recent slowdown in the growth rate of the money supply will prove to be a sign of progress in the Federal Reserve's effort to reduce inflation.

Del E. Webb climbed 1 1/2 to 19. Late Friday the company said it had signed a letter of intent covering plans for a hotel-casino in Atlantic City, N.J.

Other actively traded gambling issues included Bally Manufacturing, up 2 1/4 at 56 1/4; Ramada Inns, 1/2 higher at 11 1/4, and Caesars World, up 2 1/4 at 31 1/4.

The NYSE's composite index rose .25 to 56.16, and the American Stock Exchange market value index was up .36 at 160.69.

Volume on the Big Board came to 11.70 million shares by noon-time, down from 19.24 million at the same point Friday.

AMARILLLO (AP) — Panhandle area car lot trade (i.e., the plant) as of 11:15 a.m. (base trade: Texas Panhandle, western Oklahoma and New Mexico)

No sales any class reported. Some packing houses closed on the area closed due to holiday and major storm in mid-west also hampering interest and inquiry from all areas.

Work Stoppages Cripple Britain

LONDON (UPI) — Britain today faced another strike-bound week with the prospect of more than a million workers being laid off within a matter of days because of a series of work stoppages crippling the nation's transport network.

Prime Minister James Callaghan and key ministers spent the weekend at their desks receiving blow-by-blow reports of the grimmed industrial strife since the coal strike of 1974 that forced the country onto a three-day week and toppled the conservative party government of Edward Heath.

The cabinet met Monday morning at 10 Downing Street to hear reports on the strike crisis from Home Secretary Merlyn Rees and Transport Secretary William Rodgers.

It was expected to discuss ways to impose tougher price controls on companies that give price hikes well above the government's five percent "norm."

However, it was considered unlikely that the government would proclaim a state of emergency, as the opposition had demanded, unless the crisis worsened considerably.

A general election must be called by November of this year and political observers regard the Labor party's relationship with the unions as one of its trump cards in an election.

After three years of relative cooperation with Labor's wages policy to keep the lid on inflation, the unions are taking a firm stand against the government's declared maximum of 5 percent wage hikes this year.

Railway engineers are demanding 40 percent hikes. Truck drivers have rejected an offer of 17 percent and are pressing for around 25 percent on top of their $100 basic wage. There are also plenty of double-figure pay claims in the offing.

The only good news so far is that a strike by gasoline tankers in northern Ireland was settled and a state of emergency called in the province because of the lack of fuel was being lifted.

But the country still faces a nationwide rail strike on Tuesday and Thursday when 28,000 locomotive engineers walk out.

In northern England, a walkout by 600 water supply workers has left around 1 million people without purified water supplies.

Manufacturers warned of even more severe disruption this week and said as many as 4 million of their workers will stand idle by next Saturday.

Examiner To Rule On Child's Death

BOSTON (AP) — A medical examiner says it may be three days before he rules on what caused the death of a 23-month-old child found lying in a pool of hot water in a locked bathroom.

Dr. George Curtis said Muhammad Islam was found dead early Sunday when police broke down the bathroom door after a neighbor complained water had been running in the apartment for more than an hour. Police said a 9-year-old boy was the only other occupant of the apartment at the time, but that the rest of the family returned home shortly after police arrived.

Billy Carter Buttons Up

ATLANTA (AP) — Billy Carter in a black cowboy hat, lip-for-hire now on the dodge, dumped his vodka and orange juice in a plastic cup and fled the hotel bar at full stride.

"Why won't you talk, Billy?" a reporter asked as the presidential sibling reached the sanctuary of an upbound elevator.

For the first time, Carter put on his good 'ol boy smile.

"We got so much bad press, we just quit talking," he said.

All in all, it was a lousy week for President Carter's younger brother, the professional redneck who has scattered his down-home homilies from the swamps of Immokalee to the shores of Tripoli.

First off, he had outraged the Jewish community by bringing to Georgia a group of Libyans who had feted him in Tripoli last Fall and even given him a $25,000 silver-studded saddle, complete with a horse that he had to leave behind in the desert.

When the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith denounced Carter for playing it cozy with Col. Muammar Kaddafi, the Libyan head of state it described as the "godfather of international terrorism," the Georgian responded, "All I can say is there is a hell of a lot more Arabs than there is Jews."

Then Republican National Chairman Bill Brock got into the act, calling Billy Carter a bigot and urging the president to pull in the reins on his brother.

Now enters the Justice Department, which questions whether Carter should register as a "foreign agent" for hosting the Libyans, a mission apparently more bent on establishing trade relations than anything else.

There is nothing particular sinister about being a "foreign agent" — some of Washington's most important lawyers and lobbyists are on the list — but the law says if you accept money from foreign governments to promote their interests, you must sign up.

"I ain't a foreign agent in spite of this crap," responded Billy. "We ain't took a damned dime, babe."

But, speaking of dimes, things took a serious turn late in the week when Billy's politics started cutting into his pocketbook. He lost a gig on the "Hollywood Squares," because, producer Jay Redack said, "We didn't want to embarrass the president."

(Billy has often bragged that his personal appearances at $5,000 a throw earn him more than $200,000 a year, better than brother Jimmy's presidential salary.)

Moreover, the media that had molded Billy Carter's image as the loveable redneck were beginning to turn against him.

While waiting for the Libyan delegation at the Atlanta airport, one reporter wrote, Carter urinated on the runway, an event that Johnny Carson tsk-tsked on the "Tonight" show.

A newspaper cartoon described his hosting of the Libyans as "pickup truck diplomacy."

On Wednesday, in his own home state, The Atlanta Journal editorialized that Billy Carter "isn't funny anymore" and added, "He's getting to be downright dangerous."

The editorial said Carter "probably would have faded into the background if people in other parts of the country hadn't been willing to pay money to see him as if he were a talking jackass or something."

So, it was not surprising that by the time Carter arrived at Atlanta's Townhouse Motor Inn Friday night — after a week of traveling around Georgia with the Libyans on a "goodwill" mission — he was getting skittish.

He scheduled a news conference at 8 p.m. Friday night, then failed to show.

Randy Coleman, Carter's aide and friend from Plains, Ga., Saturday referred requests for interviews to Tandy Rice of Top Billing Inc., the president's brother's business agent.

Rice, contacted by phone at his Nashville office, refused to intercede. "Call me next week," he said.

King Assassination Investigation Termed 'Hoax' By James Ray

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray says the congressional investigation that determined he murdered Martin Luther King was a $5 million "hoax" orchestrated by professional hoaxers.

Ray, responding to the preliminary findings of the House Select Committee on Assassinations, said the committee relied on the work of two novelists and denied him the opportunity to provide evidence that would have cleared him.

He made the allegations in a 1,320-word, four-page letter he typed at Brushy Mountain Prison, where he is serving a 99-year sentence for the assassinating King in 1968.

"So the taxpayers have received from the select committee a five million dollar hoax orchestrated by professional hoaxers," he wrote. "In other words the committee's findings were to be just for their propaganda value with little interest in the truth surrounding the Martin Luther King Jr. and John F. Kennedy homicides."

After a two-year investigation, the committee issued a preliminary report Dec. 30 in which it said there was evidence Ray, aided by his brother Jerry, murdered King in Memphis in a vain hope to collect a $50,000 bounty.

To avoid the electric chair, Ray pleaded guilty in 1969 but later recanted, claiming he was coerced. During three days of testimony before the House assassinations committee, he placed the blame for the killing on a shadowy Latin smuggler he knew only as "Raoul." The committee discounted Ray's account.

Ray, reacting to a reporter's request for his reaction to the committee's report, mocked the panel's work.

"The committee's motive and overriding interest," he wrote in his Jan. 8-dated letter, "to see that there is never a public trial in the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. homicide."

He said the committee "apparently relied heavily on the writings of novelists William Bradford Huie and George McMillan (both of whom have published novels about the King case), in that the committee's 'preliminary report' sounds remarkably like Messrs. Huie and McMillan's published material, even including the committee allegations that my brother...performed certain conspiratorial acts that I could not have."

"Not only did the committee not call any witness before them that did not substantially follow the official government line but did not even have the fortitude to recall me for interrogation about the conspiracy allegations the committee was mandated to investigate."

He said that given the opportunity he would have "offered substantial documentary evidence from FBI files contradicting the committee's mostly false and misleading accusations they offered during my first appearance before them."
