Escapee Gets Head Start

A convicted armed robber, thought to have escaped Friday from the Lubbock County Jail, was not discovered missing until 1:30 a.m. today, bringing sharp criticism of his staff's "sloppy" handling of inmates from jail administrator Gary

"There's no sweet way to put it," McGrew said. "We just got sloppy in our count (of prisoners) procedures.

Authorities early today were looking for Danny Burtis Eoff, 24, of Midland, convicted and sentenced to 15 years in prison for the April 2, 1978, armed rob-

McGrew said Eoff apparently slipped past jailers between noon and 1 p.m. Friday when inmates were sent down from the fourth floor for a recreational period in an adjoining annex.

The administrator, who was visibly upset by the escape and the staff's long delay in discovering it, said Eoff apparently got into the basement and hid while prisoners were being led between the cell block and the annex, before or after the recreational workout.

The prisoner, who was scheduled to be moved this week to the state prison in Huntsville, apparently climbed up a plumbing access corridor to the ground

Then he lifted the plumbing cover up and went over a fence," McGrew said.

He said jailers were "counting forms, not people" during their routine check on prisoners. Deputies found that Eoff had wadded up several blankets beneath the cover to make it appear his bunk was oc-

It was deputy Jimmy Richardson who discovered the escape this morning. "He counted a little more thoroughly, McGrew said, adding, "There's no kind way of putting it; it was just complacency on our part.'

McGrew said that as of this morning. no guards had been placed on suspension in connection with the break-out, but he did not rule out the possibility that such action may come in the future. "There could possibly be some suspensions," the administrator said.

The sheriff's department was getting conflicting statements from Eoff's fellow inmates. Some of the prisoners had told McGrew that Eoff made his escape

Thursday night. But McGrew said Eoff was pulled from his cell block Thursday night to take a cell. The only possible time the prisoner could have dropped out of sight was during the recreational period, he said.

Some of the other 48 prisoners on the fourth floor appeared to be "covering up" for the escapee, McGrew said. Authorities said Eoff may have headed for the Midland area, judging from phone calls made by the prisoner. Eoff was convicted Dec. 12 of the April

2, 1978, armed robbery of Smuggler's Inn restaurant at 1919 50th St. In that holdup, a masked gunman entered the restaurant and made off with $999. The robber reportedly confronted dered him back inside the business

The gunman led her into the dining area, where several employees were gathering after work, and ordered them into a cold-storage vault.

The bandit had the assistant manager lead him to the bar, where seven more employees were ordered to lie face down on the floor while he and the assistant manager went into the office and emptied the safe

After taking the money, the robber ordered employees into the vault, which he

Carter Budget Facing Challenge In Congress

Carter today signed and sent Congress a "lean and austere" budget for 1980 that he said will increase outlays for defense and the poor while helping to throttle the government's voracious appetite for $37.4 billion. The administration also declined to make a commitment to continue revenue-sharing beyond 1980. The cuts are certain to cause problems for Carter within his own Democratic

"Obviously, there is no way to please everyone," Carter said.

He said controlling inflation was his overriding concern in drafting the proposed budget, and added, "This is a budget that is good enough that the American people will support it. ... I will fight for it.

Carter said his 1980 budget, for the fiscal year beginning next Oct 1, emphasizes spending restraint and fighting inflation and makes "the federal dollar work tion and makes "the federal constant harder and better." It also will ensure atthough at

The budget is important politically for Carter, since it will be in effect during most of the 1980 presidential election most of the 1980 preside year and he may be held a his party and voters on whether it does what he promises it will.

Battle lines already were being drawn between those who feel the budget will not slow federal spending enough and those who think it goes too far.

Sen. William Roth, R-Del., said, "To describe Carter's budget as lean is like looking at the package of bacon in the supermarket - you don't see the fat until you open the package."

But Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a possible challenger to Carter for the Democratic presidential nomination. says the budget is "seriously defective, alleging that those who can least afford it are bearing the brunt of the spending re-

Carter said his budget slows the growth in federal spending to 7.7 percent in 1980, down from an average annual increase of 12.1 percent during the period from 1973 through 1978. The 1980 increase is only 0.7 percent after discounting for a 7 percent inflation rate.

Spending would be $12.6 billion lower than if federal programs had continued to grow at the same levels as before, the ministration said.

The budget includes a previously allo-program for state and local gove but it said no decision has be about continuing the program after 1980. Any attempt to dismantle revenue sharing would be certain to invite new conflict with mayors and local government executives already unhappy with Carter.

Replacement Could Hurt Corruption Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration's apparent decision to replace the head of the General Services Administration could seriously harm the examination of corruption at the scandalplagued agency, a top investigator says.

Irwin Borowski, the agency's general counsel, said Sunday that ousting GSA Administrator Jay Solomon would undermine confidence in the corruption investigation that Solomon helped launch.

People might get the impression that the administration is not prepared to clear up corruption," Borowski said.

Presidential press secretary Jody Powell confirmed Sunday that the White House is looking for a successor to Solomon whom President Carter named to head the GSA in 1977.

'None of this should be considered evidence of a lack of confidence in Mr. Solomon," Powell said. "We think he's done a very good job under very difficult cir-

Dallas Among Leaders For GOP Convention

Detroit are viewed as the leading conenders as the Republican National Committee meets this week to pick the site of the 1980 presidential convention.

New York and New Orleans also have a chance at the convention, according to party sources, with Miami, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Kansas City virtually ruled

The final review of all the convention bids will be made by the GOP site selection committee Monday night. The committee will vote its recommendation Tuesday and the full RNC will act an hour later. The RNC normally accepts the recommendation.

None of the seven cities in the running can give the Republicans everything they want, and the committee has to decide what tradeoffs can be made.

Detroit, with its huge Cobo hall, comes the closest to providing the GOP with everything it needs, although a shortage of hotel space would require some delegates to be housed in Ann Arbor, 38 miles from downtown.

"I'd say Detroit has a 50-50 shot and I really believe that," said Ron Steffens of the Detroit Convention Bureau. Dallas also has adequate facilities, but its convention hall is not free on the Republican's preferred date of July 14. If the GOP picks Dallas, it will have to be for its backup date of Aug. 11.

Many in the party would like to go to Texas to celebrate the election of the first Republican governor of the state in 105

Many Republicans would love to go to New Orleans, and the Superdome might have won hands down were it not for a major political problem. Louisiana is one of 15 states being boycotted by women's groups for failure to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment

The argument will boil down to whether the Republicans can politically afford to overlook the ERA problem to go to a city that is both attractive and has all the

After a computer challenge, university electronic sleuths joined forces with police and finally caught the culprit: a bright 15-year-old boy.

Campus police, armed with a search warrant, arrested him last week and pulled the plug on the $60 teletype terminal with which he was "talking" through telephone lines to the computer.

The whiz kid admitted that for months he transmitted instructions to the computer at all hours from his home in nearby Concord. He was not identified.

'He is bright ... but it took a while for him to grasp the gravity of the situation,' said campus police detective David M.

University officials said it cost $10,000 to clear up the problems caused by the youth's electronic tinkering.

But the boy, who Huff said has had legitimate access to some campus computers in the past through extracurricular organizations, reportedly said he really didn't cause that much trouble.

"I think they are over-exaggerating," he was quoted as saying in in Sunday's Oakland Tribune. "I never cost anyone

Students and faculty members said information that wasn't supposed to be a part of their work had showed up unexpectedly on their printouts since fall, and the garbling forced them to rewrite programs and use hours of additional computer time.

At one point, frustrated campus officials ordered the computer to print a message at the beginning of each re-searcher's file saying: "Unauthorized Use of This Computer is Illegal." The computer printout then produced this startling response:

come tax is inevitable if the trend toward 'reform" of the property tax continues is provided by a Senate study committee re-Many good reasons to think about levying

FURTHER EVIDENCE that a state ina personal income tax" are cited by the committee, according to Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler, chairman.

A 5 percent refinery tax and a 2.5 percent value added" tax on all business in Texas also were listed as valid future revenue sources for the state.

A "value added" tax is a gimmick European politicians devised as a hidden sales tax. Applied to every transaction from the producer through the processor to the wholesaler and retailer, a VAT is disguised as inflation and thus business, not government, gets blamed for it.

A STATE INCOME TAX would be another way to give state and local governments more of our money without so many awks.

The property tax, because it is so highly sible as a lump sum, draws the ire of city and school district taxpayers and especially organized groups such as the Lubbock operty Owners Association.

An income tax, on the other hand, is a relatively painless form of taxation and enables government to get more revenue with less complaining.

Or, as the Senate committee concluded after a two-year study, a personal income tax "is easier to administer than property taxes," can be indexed to inflation and will spread the tax burden "over a larger number of people."

The phrase "can be indexed to inflation" means that an income tax goes up automatically without a City Council, school board or Legislature having to take the politically unpopular step of formally raising the tax rate or re-evaluating property.

ALTHOUGH THE committee merely "suggested" the income tax, the refinery tax and the value added tax, rather than "recommend" them, it takes no genius to see that the thrust is toward sugar-coating taxes rather than toward reducing them.

If state revenue is used to replace local revenues lost through reform of property taxes, the study concluded that additional state taxes can't be far off.

It's something to remember during this legislative session, when "tax relief" will be on every politician's tongue.

Somebody had told him state workers are eating high off the hog.

"THE NATIONAL School Lunch Program provides lunches to approximately 1.5 million Texas school children each year," the Texas Education Agency Reports, "with 775,000 served free or at a reduced price.

There's no way that more than half of the children in Texas who eat school lunches can be classified as "needy" under any rational criteria.

The School Breakfast Program provides meals to approximately 180,000 children each year with 160,000 served free or at a reduced rate," the

ONE MAN'S OPINION

IN THE YEAR just ended, Lubbock County taxpayers shelled out $94,531 for lawyers to defend criminal suspects here.

That compares with a budget of $490,000 for the criminal district attorney, whose staff the taxpayers hire to prosecute criminal suspects here. To put that in perspective, for every $5 the taxpayers spend for prosecutors, they spend another to defend suspects who claim they are too poor to hire a lawyer.

This raises the question: At what point should Lubbock County consider putting a public defender on the staff instead of paying lawyers in private practice for each case they handle? That point's not here yet, but...

COUNTY AUDITOR Dale Gallimore tells me that court-appointed defense lawyers handled about 360 cases here last year.

That means that the average case cost the public $263 for a defense lawyer. Eliminating the two most costly capital murder cases, the average drops to $184 per case, Gallimore says. These are for defense lawyers in criminal cases

WHEN A SUSPECT in a criminal case filed here says he can't afford a lawyer, the judge is obligated to appoint a lawyer for him.

If it's a simple matter of entering a plea of guilty, a young lawyer can pick up fifty smackers for "a portion of a day in court" and a little experience in the courtroom.

If it takes longer, he makes more.

Older, established lawyers who specialize in lucrative civil law aren't too happy about taking their turns as court-appointed counsel.

SOME ALSO SAY the rotation plan is not too good a deal for the defendant, who might fare better with a lawyer who deals in criminal law every day-but judges say they take care on that

Yet, an objection to establishing an office of public defender is that, with so many courts, it would take a fair-sized staff to handle even 360 cases a year as they are called.

If the cost of hiring private-practice lawyers goes above $100,000 a year on a regular basis. though, it might be worth considering that salaried defense lawyers for indigents make as much fiscal sense as do salaried prosecutors.

Our Doomed Alliance With Evil

WASHINGTON-Chinese Communist leader Teng Hsiao-ping has at least three far-reaching objectives in his visit to the U.S.

The first is to obtain U.S. economic and political support for a new stage of great construction and industrial and scientific advance on the Chinese mainland.

The second is to involve the U.S. in the triangular game of big power diplomacy between Mos-cow, Peking and Washington.

The third is to plant the first seeds for a future Communist revolution in the U.S.

These bold objectives were spelled out more than a year ago by Huang Hua, considered to be the No. 2 Chinese Communist leader, in a secret foreign policy presentation to top leaders of the Chinese Communist party in Peking

WHILE POLICYMAKERS of the Carter administration have paid a lot of attention to the first two objectives cited in the speech, the third has been completely ignored except for a handful of government security-intelligence experts.

So far, the only administration official who has taken the third Chinese objective serious has been FBI Director Webster.

Webster forecast that Peking would send several thousand agents to the U.S. in connection with their diplomacy mission here and the numerous exchange programs that are being planned.

But this is only the tip of the iceberg, according to aides of the FBI Director, if Huang Hua's pronouncement is to be taken seriously.

IN ADDITION to using U.S. trade benefits and Communist regime plans to export revolution to the U.S. Here is how he puts it:

"We are discussing trade with the U.S. with a view to expanding it and opening the door wider to take full advantage of the opportunities it pre-sents to build socialism at home and abroad. "In the next few years, we will need to learn the experience of advanced science, technology and business management of the U.S. We need through diverse forms of exchanges to obtain more data on industrial construction and scientific research for our reference. These advances can only be obtained from the U.S. "By means of such exchanges, Marxism-Leninism and Mao Tse-tung's thoughts will be propagated there and, like seeds, will take hold, grow and flourish

"By opening the door of Chinese-U.S. relations, we are opening wide the door which leads to revolution in the U.S. As part of an effort to alert other government agencies and their heads to this potential danger of the new U.S. Chinese relationship, the U.S. intelligence community has been quietly circulating Alexander Solzhenitsyn's legendary commencement speech at Harvard.

Sylvia Porter:

The Willy Loman Loan: Pay Now Or Pay Later

IN ARTHUR MILLER'S unforgettable play, "Death of a Salesman," Willy Loman yearned for a car that didn't break down before he had repaid the loan on it.

In Willy's day (1949), typical auto loans ran two to three years against today's loan of as long as five years. And due to Detroit's great mechanical improvements on modern autos, your wheels are likely to last at least five years, and probably 10, at normal mileage rates.

But if you're a high-mileage driver with a fiveyear loan, you still might find yourself in Willy's shoes-driving a car worth less than the unpaid balance on the loan and suddenly faced with essential, costly major repairs.

For more than 75 percent of all car loans now are for more than three years and mounting numbers of banks are offering five year car loans, an American Bankers Assn. study discloses.

THERE ARE BOTH advantages-and severe drawbacks-to such 60-month loans.

Their big appeal is that the long-term loans let you reduce your monthly payments-thus permitting you to buy a more expensive (presumably better) car or enabling you to purchase a car sooner, with a lower down payme

For a typical $4,000 loan on a $6,000 1979 intermediate sedan, for instance, monthly repayments over the 60 months at a 11 1/4 percent annual interest rate are just $87.49.

In contrast, a four-year loan, even at a slightly lower 11.15 percent annual rate, will require monthly repayments of $103.67.

Or that same $103.67 a month, spread over five years instead of four, will enable you to borrow $4,740 rather than $4,000—allowing you to buy the car sooner, or spend the extra $740 for a more expensive auto.

NOW, THOUGH, for the drawbacks. You may not even be able to get a five-year loan. One leading bank, as an illustration, has far more stringent requirements for five-year auto financing than for other car loans, reports Bank Marketing magazine.

In addition to meeting the traditional standard ncome and credit-rating rules, a five-year borrower must have continuous employment in the ame occupation for three years, own his or her home and anticipate driving under 12,000 miles a Which brings us back to the traveling salesman,

Willy Loman, who typically drives his car 25,000 to 30,000 miles a year-and was lucky if his jalopy tasted three years without major repairs. Even today, a five-year-old car with 50,000 miles on it has depreciated more than 80 percent;

Overheard: "Crime must be rampant if even McDonald's has to warn us to keep our eyes on Overheard: "She has a Supreme Court-like figure-one that has no appeal."

AFTER ONE YEAR, a typical car has lost 30 percent of its original value; after two years, more than 55 percent; in three years, 75 percent; in four, over 80 percent.

Because of recent rapid inflation, used car wholesale values have been higher than these figures indicate, so the banks can afford the five-But with the new anti-rollback odorneter laws, high-mileage units can bring significantly less on used car lots than a moderate mileage car-and thus depreciation can be higher Repair costs rise with higher mileage, too. If you drive 15,000 miles a year, your fourth-year maintenance costs will equal those for a six-year-old car which travels only 10,000 miles annually. So, if you opt for a five-year car loan: (1) Pay at least 25 percent of the purchase price

(2) Drive no more than 15,000 miles a year: (3) Pray that the inflation rate does not drop much under 7 percent a year.

If you obey these rules and your prayer is answered, you'll probably be safe with a five-year

YOUR CAR will always be worth more than the unpaid balance on your loan and if you're hit by a big repair bill, you'll have the financial freedom to decide for yourself whether to service the car or to sell it.

But your wisest move is to stick with a maximum four-year loan-three, if you can manage it. It will cost you more up front, on a regular basis. Borrowing is much like servicing your car: you can pay for the servicing now, or pay for it later. Usually, it's cheaper to pay for it now.

next few weeks whether to uphold Bhutto's death sentence, commute it, send the case back to a lower court or acquit him. Bhutto was convicted last spring of ordering the police to kill a political oppoman's aged father.

"More than my life is at stake, make no mistake about it." Bhutto wrote in the 80,000-word defense he submitted to the Supreme Court. "The future of Pakistan is at stake."

He remains in Rawalpindi Jail, in sight of the official residence where he lived until Gen. Zia Ul-Haq ousted him in a coup on July 5, 1977. He spends his days reading newspapers, magazines and President Richard Nixon, according to

The military government says it doesn't expect trouble if the court upholds the death sentence. Officials suggest that the verdict would prove anti-climactic following the long trial and months of exhaustive speculation on the verdict.

But Bhutto for years before his ouster was the country's only politician with a nationwide following, and other Pakistaviolent protests if his life is not spared.

Everyone who has a grievance, even if it has no connection, will try to take advantage of the Bhutto situation." said

In an attempt to defuse the Bhutto bomb, the government is waging a mas-sive media campaign to discredit him and erode some of the public sympathy generated by his trial.

The government television service broadcasts a nightly program called "Tales of Tyranny" attempting to show Bhutto as a power-mad leader who used cruel, ruthless tactics to sweep aside those in his way.

The program depicts torture and other llegal acts allegedly committed by the Bhutto regime.

Several viewers said some of the selfproclaimed victims lacked credibility. But they said an interview with a respected diplomat-turned-politician, Jalal A. Rahim, was believable and gripping.

Rahim, a co-founder of Bhutto's Pakistan People's Party, told how he and his son were kidnapped and tortured in 1975 after he broke with the prime minister. The 72-year-old ex-ambassador said his nose was broken and he was beaten unconscious by members of the federal security force. Bhutto's political enforcers. He also said he was held illegally until after the 1977 coup that ousted Bhutto.

Despite the propaganda blitz, Bhutto's supporters say if he is not sent to the gallows, his party could sweep the national election Zia has promised and then free him when it takes over the government.

However, the party was recently split by internal dissension, and two parties have emerged. In addition, the government has disqualified many of the politicians of both factions from holding office for seven years.

Bhutto is a bone stuck in our throats," said a government source.

Altering Metabolism

DEAR DR. LAMB - I know that the thyroid gland is somehow related to one's metabolism - that it affects the processing of food calories into fat or energy. I also know that usually the cause of obesity is one's poor

But I don't understand the extreme variation. I see some people consume a lot of calories every day and yet they are slim. Others who smoke, eat fattening foods such as burgers and sodas and ice cream cones for lunch and yet they are slim

Is smoking related to metabolism? Can an individual do anything to increase his metabolism? If one were on a very low calorie diet of under a thousand calories a day for more than a year would this actually decrease the person's need for the normal amount of calories to survive? I'd appreciate any information you can give me, particularly on how to quired because less food is broken down to release energy. Instead, the food is converted to fat, the body's way of storing energy. It doesn't require oxygen to convert calories into fat the same way it does to release calories from food.

What happens if you're on a starvation diet? Your metabolism slows down markedly as soon as your diet is severely restricted in calories. This is nature's way of enabling your body to survive a fast, starvation or semistarvation period.

Your body is designed to protect it against such wretched excesses to some extent. By slowing down all of your metabolic processes and actually decreasing the metabolic rate, it does require less energy and less food

But there are a lot of unpleasant changes such as loss of energy, changes of personality, some people's hair falls out. Studies have shown that individuals on low calorie diets may have a loss of sex drive. Yes, you can get along on less food in a less than optimal state of health. It is in a state of survival.

Cigarettes do affect metabolism. They contain nicotine, which is a tissue poison. Tissues don't thrive when they are being poisoned anymore than plants thrive when they're being poisoned. The other problem is that some people respond to their nervous activity by smoking and others respond by eating. When a person stops smoking he may substitute eating for

There was no wavering, as there hadn't been since he first made the forecast in December 1974 at the University of California, Los Angeles. The only change, he said, was to "stretch it a year or two."

But it was coming, he said, and he was stahing a reputation built slowly through the Grent Depression, when he founded Amoid Bernhard & Co., whose chief service is the Value Line Investment Survey.

Why is Bernhard so certain? Because, he says, 1500 to 2000 points on the Dow would be "normal." Based on various mathematical criteria the Value Line has tendered by says, process your are out of

Fighting Reported Near Phnom Penh

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - Fighting was reported today in the vicinity of the Cambodian capital of Phrom Penh as resistance to the Vietnamese invaders and their Cambodian rebel allies continued 16 days after they claimed control of the entire country.

Reliable sources in Bangkok also reported fighting around Cambodia's second largest city, Battambang, in the northwest; Ratanakiri, in the northeast; the central city of Kompong Chhnang; Takeo, in the southeast, and the southwestern coastal area near Kompong Som, the nation's only major seaport.

Thai military sources said the troops of ex-Premier Pol Pot were apparently trying to put pressure on Kompong Chhnang, which the new government installed by the Vietnamese declared "liberated" last week, because it was being used as a key supply point for the 100,000man Vietnamese force now spread across the country

Kompong Chhnang, a western provincial capital 56 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, also has a recently improved military airfield, they said.

The police chief of Thailand's Sisaket said in a telephone interview that fighting also was continuing near the ninecentury-old Buddhist temple of Preah Vihear, held by Pol Pot's troops. The Vietnamese reportedly brought in long-range artillery to try to blast the loyalists from the cliff-top stronghold on the Thai

Withdrawal To Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) - Defense Secre- land China. Some U.S. experts believe tary Harold Brown said today that a recent intelligence re-evaluation, which has raised previous estimates of North Korean military power, is unlikely to change U.S. plans to withdraw American ground forces from South Korea.

"I don't anticipate it's going to change the decision to withdraw ground combat forces, which ... won't be completed for a number of years yet," Brown told a briefing on President Carter's new defense

U.S. Army intelligence officials started a train of restudies by concluding last fall that they have previously underestimated North Korean strength facing South Ko-

They boosted their estimate of North Korean divisions from 28 to 40, the number of troops in North Korea's armed forces from about 500,000 to 600,000 and its tank-type fighting vehicles from under 2,000 to about 2,500.

Army officials said there was no suggestion of a dramatic buildup of North Korean strength, but that the reevaluation resulted from a more thorough analysis and consideration of a wider range of information.

The Pentagon has acknowledged that other intelligence agencies are conducting their own restudies in the wake of the Army conclusions. The Joint Chiefs of Staff, too, are taking another look.

In a cautiously worded statement, the Pentagon acknowledged early this month that it became evident last summer "that the study would lead to an upper revision in estimating the strength of North Kore-

The pullouts so far have been on a small scale, and the withdrawal is not due to be completed for about four more years. Meanwhile, the United States has increased its air power in South Korea to back up the South Korean armed forces, which, according to the latest informa-tion available, total about 640,000.

South Korea's army is considered less mobile than North Korea's tank-heavy

Under questioning at the budget briefing. Brown did not comment on the substance of the intelligence re-evaluation, which he said is now going on.

However, he suggested that any agreed change in the estimate of North Korea's military striking power will be one of only a number of factors that will be considered in determining what South Korea needs in the way of military hardware and other support "to assure stability on

An electronic check this morning showed there was no detectable signal coming from the burned out transmitter atop a 10-story apartment building directly across Tchaikovsky Street from the embassy, said the officials, who declined to be identified.

However, they said sophisticated moni-tors showed that a second transmitter south of the embassy was still operating. The apartment building was hit by a fire late Friday night that reduced the transmitter site — a small, shack-like structure on the roof — to a charred ruin. But U.S. officials had to wait until today to verify that the transmitter was lost because the Soviets generally operate them only during the week.

The specific purpose of the microwave transmissions has never been disclosed. But U.S. officials have theorized they could be aimed at jamming American electronic intelligence-gathering equip-ment or triggering Soviet surveillance de-vices planted inside the embassy.

Motor Home Rental Business Booming

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) - Deputy Sheriff Rob Palmer is becoming the American success story

After 17 years as a Los Angeles County officer, Palmer has his own business one that seems an answer to everyone's financial dreams. His customers get a tax.

credit for dealing with him.

With a partner, Palmer started several months ago a motor home rental and sales business, and very soon had a contract with KLM Airlines in Europe and two European travel agencies.

"It's a good time of year to think of

He also works with local travel agen cies including the one his partner, Rob Rascoe, owns The business is called "Vacation Enterprises," a name Palmer thought of while returning from e vacation. Simply. Palmer sells a customer a luxury motor coach, leases it back and then rents it to third persons for enough togive his customer the monthly payment on the coach, plus some. "For this the customer also is eligible for a 10 percent tax credit, because he or she is then in the rental property business," Palmer said: "They qualify for the investment tax credit on the price of the coach, plus de-handled over seven years. The laws per-mit this to encourage people to invest." The coach is leased for 21 weeks a year and the payments to the customer are preciation on the vehicle. And that can be spread out over the year. The customer has the coach for the rest of the year, but Vacation Enterprises, Inc. (V.E.I.) stores it free. "Three years ago we got into motor home storage part time," Palmer said. But they're difficult to store and it's very expensive. Then we started getting into rents and leases and thought, why not go all the way?" Under his arrangement with the Dutch airlines. KLM, Palmer packages vacations for Europeans coming to the western United States on tours. "We pick them up at the airport in a new motor home." Palmer said, "then drive them down the freeway to give them the feel of it." The firm also plans the trips and other services, including insurance, emergency assistance, maps and a housekeeping package, and sends them on the way

"Everything they will need is in the motor home," he said."

The family or group renting one of the coaches would pay $665 for a five-day trip and up to $2,675 for a 28-day trip.

The customer who bought the coach from Palmer would have paid $16,996 for a 21-foot coach and would receive each month $350 for its rental, get free storage, total upkeep during the 21 weeks it's rented - "and the tax credit."

So what has the buyer put into it for his tax advantage?

"He's put in 20 per cent of the purchase price as down payment, and there's a bonus depreciation on the purchase price.

"We recommend turning it over after three years," he said, "and starting again. That way you can recapture a portion of the tax credit, about half of it on the original tax credit, and then qualify for a new investment credit." The idea isn't new, Palmer said. There are larger firms doing it, but few with the total vacation packaging. Palmer's point, however, is that such tax advantages are not widely known except by those with a lot of money. "The average family can get into this,"

he said, "get the tax credits, and have their own motor home for their own fun. It's good business all around.

A.—Since you have con-siderably more than the minimum for a simple overcall at the one-level, game is a possibili ty. It is simply a matter of deciding on the best way to make your try. A raise to three spades conveys your intentions, but might not elicit the information you need. Partner's club holding is the key, so we feel you should make a trial bid of three clubs-and be content with a part score if partner can do no more than rebid three spades.

"You know?": These two words are used in place of periods at the end of a sentence. They are not to be taken literally. "You know?" does not require an answer...or for that matter does it deserve one.

"Really!": One "Really!" is worth a thousand kisses. It's as close to civility as you get. It means they agree to some thing you have said

'Who used up all the hot water?" This is another rhetorical question. They know before they asked, but they're trying to make you feel guilty about rinsing your toothbrush in hot water when they, in effect, have just emptied a 30gallon tank to rinse their hair.

"When do we eat?": Teenagers do not consider this a question, but a salutation. It takes the place of "Hello, how are you? Was your surgery bad? Did anyone get hurt in the other car? You and Dad are getting a what?"

My favorite is "Everybody Else's Mother." A lot of parents interpret this saying as a collective group of liberal mothers who allow their kids to do as they please. College Offers Course On Weight Control

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. (AP) - Bedtime snacks, "spot reducing" and canned peaches - not the usual content for a physical education class. But students at Mount Holyoke College discuss the topics in a course designed to separate myth from fact in three areas nearly every adult American has an opinion on: weight control, exercise and nu-

Developed by Jessie Lie, a former member of the physical education faculty and a respected authority on physical fitness, the course is elected each year by some 100 young women.

Instructor Anne Abbott reports rope skipping, running, exercises and lectures are part of the program, which is based on Mrs. Lie's lively evaluation of 16 commonly held beliefs about weight control, exercise and nutrition. Her object is to help people approach the scores of fad diets, bizarre exercise regimens and nutrition controversies with a discerning and questioning mind.

In answer to the popular belief that spot reducing exercises are effective in reducing fat in the exercised area, Mrs. Lie states, "The fact is that we have very little to say about where we store fat or where we take it off ... the best exercise for reducing fat on the hips or waist is the one which spends the most energy jumping rope, swimming or running.

Bedtime snacks or rest after meals, she notes, are bad for people who want to lose weight only if the added food and rest are over and above their normal balanced caloric intake and expenditure.

"For the body's use of calories, it does not matter when you rest or when you exercise or when you eat," she says. "It's the balance between the total number of calories consumed and expended that determines weight loss or gain.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are more nutritious than canned or frozen ones, Mrs. Lie contends, if they are really fresh. She adds, however, that those picked before they are ripe and then shipped across the country are not necessarily more nutritious than most canned and frozen foods, which are picked with all their vitamins and canned with a minimal loss of nutrients.

when grandmother was a young lady, she had no such problem. If it was food she was looking for, she went to the corner grocery. Drugs were found in the drugstore. The five-and-dime was the place for inexpensive sundries. She went downtown to the department store for larger items for the house and for the family's clothing. If she happened to live in the country, she did a good deal of her shopping through the mail-order catalogues.

Things are much different today, the result of shifts over the years. The chain store all but pushed out the small shopkeeper. The corner grocery fell before the onslaughts of the supermarket. The drugstore became a minor department store, as did the variety store and, ultimately, the supermarket.

For its part, the department store branched out into the suburbs and then across the country. And one mail-order house opened up nearby stores, where it has been selling over-the-counter now for

Meanwhile, even newer dimensions of this retailing revolution keep coming up. Here are some of the newer ones:

Street vendors are selling all sorts of merchandise — jewelry, pottery, clo-thing, leather goods, every kind of food, books, records, flowers - and many of them at prices far below those offered at regular shops. Obviously, that is because the street merchants are not subject to normal overhead costs. While the police in many cities try to get them off the streets, the fines imposed on them are considered a part of the cost of doing business and they simply come back.

Many of these street vendors got the bug from selling merchandise at garage sales, a phenomenon of recent years. Garage sales generally are run by homeown ers who have gone through spring clean-ing and are eager to get rid of unwanted items they bought, put aside and found they rarely if ever used. A sale in the garage, or even in the living room, seems like a good way to realize some cash out of this merchandise, as well as a way to make room for newer things - items that conceivably would be offered at a later garage sale.

Flea markets, which some consider giant garage sales, have sprung up in writer named Jean Bird has written six regional Factory Outlet Shopping Guides, telling readers where such shops are to be located. Some large companies have set up such shops around the country, while other manufacturers simply open outlets in or near their factories. In a reverse twist, the mail-order cata-logue days have evolved into an elegant way of life for althurnt Americans who use catalogues these days to buy costly items from furs to diamonds, particularly at Christmas, while the catalogues them-selves have become expensive works of

Meanwhile, our conventional types of stores are fighting back. Supermarkets, for example, not only are adding more nonfood lines, but they are opening restaurants, buying out distress merchandise to lure bargain-hungry shoppers, and setting up computer checkouts in an effort to cut down frustrating waiting time on lines. And denariment stores have on lines. And department stores a changed their merchandising, plat their heaviest emphasis on fashion their heaviest emphasis exclusivity in their lines, from apparel to housewares, rather than on stocking goods in a wide variety of scirc ranges.

Confusing? Certainty. And it puts even greater pressure on us consumers to keep alert to changes, all in the interests of getting the most and the best for our getting the most part inflation buck in an era of rampant inflation caught a glimpse of the shah passing by in a motorcade en route to a guest palace. Officials have indicated the Iranian monarch will stay here two or three days before flying on to America. Extraordinary security measures were taken to keep the news media and public away from the airport to witness the shah's arrival. Moroccan officials refused even to confirm that he had arrived.

Information Minister M'hamed Boutaleb told reporters earlier "the most absolute discretion" would be observed during the shah's private visit.

Moroccan sources said privately that although the shah had come following an official invitation from Morocco's King Hassan, the invitation was issued "reluctantly" and the king was acutely embarrassed by the Iranian monarch's visit.

In Aswan, President Anwar Sadat saw the shah and Empress Farah off, giving the shah a 16-gun salute and the traditional Arab kiss on both cheeks.

The shah left Iran last Tuesday, forced into an indefinite "vacation" by yearlong disturbances aimed at toppling the Pahlavi dynasty.

Reporters in Egypt said the 59-year-old monarch looked more confident and rested today than when he arrived pale and tired at the Egyptian winter resort, 500 miles up the river from Cairo. Vice President Hosny Mubarak told reporters the shah felt "much better" after strolling through the gardens in the sunshine at his hotel isolated on an island in the Nile.

The Aswan hotel was emptied for the shah's stay, and he ventured away from it only three times. He went to a botanical garden on a neighboring island, joined Sadat at a mosque for prayer services and took a boat trip to the Aswan Dam.

Sadat's security forces kept reporters away from the visiting monarch, constantly warning them not to question him, but he was photographed several times.

"The silence was his own idea," said an Egyptian diplomat. "When he arrived, he was depressed and he didn't want to say anything because it might sound venge-

The diplomat suggested the shah "still had his eye on the throne" and did not want to make provocative remarks. Other Egyptian officials who asked not to be identified said the shah was keeping in touch with the situation in Iran.

A leading Egyptian newspaper editor said Sadat was host to the shah, despite the possibility of criticism from Arabs oposed to his selling oil to Israel, because of the economic aid the shah gave Egypt.

the Gray County jail Sunday night. A U.S. customs interceptor aircraft landed just behind the marijuana-laden plane when it put down at Perry Lefors

SER May Lose Contract

Avalanche-Journal Staff
Because it has not met monthly service goals, a federal job training agency that faced the same problem last year may lost its contract with the South Plains Association of Governments.

Juanita Forbes, overseer of the Comprehensive Employment Training Act programs for the area governmental panel, told The Avalanche-Journal that if the agency, SER, fails to meet its goals again this month, "I will have to recommend to SPAG" that the contract be canceled.

It then will be up to the board of directors either to extend the agency's grace period or give it 30 days notice that its contract is being invalidated because of

If the board chooses the latter course, it will invoke for the first time a new clause it defensively inserted in agency contracts this year because of past unchecked in-

SER, which takes its name from the Spanish verb form, "to be," was one of the agencies spotlighted recently as a prime violator. The area panel of govern-ments board learned that with only three months remaining in the fiscal year, SER had spent only half the money allocated for client training and job placement, falling far short of expected goals.

In addition to the cancellation clause the board initiated monthly goals at the outset of the fiscal year and monthly reviews to replace the ineffective quarterly ones previously used.

SER's goal problems surfaced during the latest review. According to monitorthe latest review. According to monitor-ing staff findings, as of Dec. 31, 1978, SER showed "underperformance" in:

— Individuals served for the program year to date (48 of the planned 62, for 77 percent of plan);

— Individuals entering this program year (9 of 24 planned, for 38 percent); and — Total number of participants entering employment (11 of the expected 28, for 39 percent). Even with the 15 percent variance allowed monthly, the agency misses its zoals by a wide margin. In December, only one Comprehensive Employment Training Act participant was placed in SER's on-the-job training program.

Johnita Franklin, SER director, declines to comment on the situation. But Tony Reyes, chairman of SER's board, acknowledged "It's a pathetic report."

The board is "very concerned regarding that report," Reyes said. But, he stressed, there are "justifiable reasons and causes" for the unmet goals.

One major problem, he said, is the type of clients referred to SER by the area governmental panel's intake office, which processes all initial applications to the training program. 'In the intake office's precipitateness to get people referred, we believe they have from the outset and even now referred people who lack job readiness," Reyes Because many clients are not "entirely job ready," he added, "We do have to send them back. Otherwise we lose more than we gain because we get in trouble

Mrs. Forbes acknowledged to The AJ that referrals are a problem. But, she said, it is a matter of numbers, not quali-

She explained that in a meeting earlier this month with SER staffers, Mrs.

Franklin complained the agency was not getting enough referrals from the intake center. According to Mrs. Forbes, the SER director claimed she needed about 35 referrals to place five clients in jobs.

In order to do that, Mrs. Forbes claimed, the intake office would have to refer about 3,000 people to SER during the year. "There's no way" that number can be met, she added. And, in response to the claim that many of the clients are not skilled enough to be placed immediately, she said, "I cannot give them people completely ready for on-the-job training with no purpose if the program would have no purpose if that were the case, she explained.

Mrs. Forbes also said some of the referral problem is that SER seems to take so long to identify unqualified clients.

"They should be able to identify them after one hour of counseling. But instead they're returning them after five to 10 days," Mrs. Forbes said.

"I would expect her (Mrs. Franklin) to do a little assessment on the individual."

Reyes says, and Mrs. Forbes agrees, that another problem meeting expected goals was the delay — until Nov. 10 — in Many Taxpayers Happy Over Simplified Forms

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the year of the tax form break. That's right, tax form break, not tax break, although some taxpayers may have that, too.

There probably has never been a year in recent memory of taxpayers when there have been so few changes in the forms. The only changes in both the 1040A short form and the 1040 long form have been to simplify some of the wor-

The taxpayer will find it easy to use last year's form to help fill out the 1978 re-

"We had a good experience with it last year," said Robert Brauer, assistant IRS director for tax forms. "The largest single comment we had from the public was to leave it alone this year.

The colors will even be the same, blue shading for the long 1040 form, and pink for the short 1040A.

The forms were received by most taxpayers in the last week of December, and they will be due on April 16, since the 15th falls on a Sunday this year.

Employers: are supposed to give workers their W-2 forms by Jan. 31. As always, taxpayers who file early will get their refunds faster than those who file

Taxpayers should get refunds within about four weeks if they file returns in January, or about eight weeks if they file

Not only is the format similar this year. but so are the tax tables. Taxpayers who received a cost-of-living pay adjustment shouldn't be surprised if they end up paying a higher percentage of their income

That's what inflation does.

The new tax reductions Congress approved late in the year will apply to 1979 axes. There also will need to be whole sale changes in the 1979 forms, because of other changes in the tax law, but that's There are three changes in the 1978 tax returns that may affect many taxpayers: -Some of the costs of home ins and energy improvements can be taken -The amount of long-term capital gains excluded from taxation has been increased from 50 to 60 percent effective Nov. 1, 1978. -Home owners over age 55 can take a one-time exclusion of up to $100,000 on any profit from the sale of their personal residence on sales occurring after July The one almost universally approved feature of the tax returns that was introduced last year and is being kept this year, is that the returns can be filled out from top to bottom, on both sides, so no flip-flopping of the forms is required.

The IRS has included separate instructions in the instruction booklet for each line of the tax return, an innovation that it hopes will make things even simpler.

First In A Series

If things are simpler for the taxpayer, of course, they are also simpler for the IRS - fewer errors means less work in checking and correcting the forms. There was a dramatic decline in errors last sible greater use of the short form last year are being retained for 1978 returns. The IRS says increased use of the stickt form resulted in a decline in the percentage of taxpayers seeking outside helplast year from 47 to 42 percent.

"The greatest simplification possible is to keep the form the same year after year," Brauer said, although he added that changes by Congress in the tax law often makes this impossible.

Taxpayers can count their blessings asfar as the forms are concerned this year. It will be a different story next year.

Or listen to three 12-year-old kids banging a conga rhythm out of a tin can, a gourd and two bars of steel, or watch the loud backslapping conversations between friends over tiny cups of syrupy coffee at, the corner bar.

But above all he should pay close attention to the knots of young Cubans walking hand in hand down Havana's streets, joshing and jostling each other. When schools let out in the afternoon, the streets come alive with groups of teenagers walking home in giddy little groups like teen-agers all over the world.

They'll usually be humming the latest American disco hits captured from Florida radio stations or trading the latest jokes - "What is red and grows well in Cuba? Fidel's revolution.'

"I know a lot of tourists come here only for the beaches, thinking the Cubans will be very dull, thinking we'll be really serious like the Russians," said Amador Castillo, a young waiter at a Havana cabaret.

"But they leave surprised that Cubans are still Latins and Caribbeans, that we are not Russians, that we like to sing, laugh and dance, that we are friendly and open with everyone - even Americans,"

In fact the serious mien of most Russians working or vacationing in Havana makes them unpopular among Cubans, who derisively call their Soviet allies "bolas," or bowling pins, for their stocky

No doubt 18 years of Marxism has left its imprint on the Cuban psyche, especially since the government has gone to great lengths to mold the "New Man" a Cuban more aware of the responsibilities of life in a classless society.

Once considered among the most individualistic in Latin America, Cuban society now requires "from each according to his abilities and to each according to his needs" and offers little monetary rewards for individual excellence. President Fidel Castro himself has been quoted as saying that too much individualism "is a bad thing. It leads to selfishness that is at the heart of the ills of

But to the unscientific eye - no psychological profile of the "New Man" and the changes he represents could be found the average modern Cuban appears as boisterously Latin as the pre-1959 model.

New Year's Eve saw Havana explode into a cacophony of rumbas, congas and even American disco music as everyone joined in the "pachanga" - once the name of a whirling dance but now the equivalent of "parr-tee."

Most of the parties were at private homes, where numbing quantities of fiery Cuban rum and bubbly Bulgarian champagne seemed to seep right into the bone joints of dancers from matronly

There will be dresses, pants, tops and formal wear. We're listening, shoppers; you name it and we will try to provide it!"

Baby Gifts
The baby department at Storkie's is growing, and there are many selections of handmade items in the gift department. Precious little spring dresses with lace and ruffles are now arriving; pretty reds for Valentine's Day and yummy Easter egg colors with lace and frills to choose from for Easter! There are pretty spring knit Hobby suits for our baby boys, as well as christening sets for both boys and girls.
"Make that New Year resolution to visit Storkie's. One trip there will convince you it was worth the effort!"

Don't forget to bring the story for your discount in the maternity department or in the baby department (this would be a good time for you grandmothers to shop the baby department).

"Aren't you glad there is a Storkie's in middle name means business, and our business is service.

You probably don't think of the impressive Texas Commerce quarters as service stations, but they are . . . money-service stations! At Texas Commerce our business is service — the service of providing money for your opportunities . . . or keeping your money safe and profitable.

If your need is a business or professional loan, remember that Texas Commerce people have experience in local, state, national and even international business.

For your personal banking service Texas Commerce Bank has two locations with longer hours at the Broadway office. If you want to discover real banking service, come in soon to the moneyservice station that's most convenient for you!

It Was Steeler's Day In A Super Game

Especially For Bradshaw

AP Sports Writer

The noise Tom Henderson ultimately heard was not his own. It was the turbulence churned up by Terry Bradshaw's Hollywood Henderson had played his big scene too early in the drama. But Bradshaw saved his best for last - for the final curtain in a decade of Super Bowls. And, when the last cheers faded. the Pittsburgh Steelers were proclaimed unquestioned champions, 35-31, over the

No one had ever thrown more than two touchdowns in one of these National Football League extravaganzas.

Bradshaw threw four of them. No one had ever thrown for more than 250 yards in one of these games.

Bradshaw threw for 253 in the first half alone and wound up completing 17 of 30 passes for 318 yards, more than he'd ever thrown for in any pro game.

And no one - not legendary Vince Lombardi's Grenn Bay Packers, not Don Shula's once-perfect Miami Dolphins, not Tom Landry's defending champion Cowboys, not even Chuck Noll's Steelers had won this Hope Diamond of pro foot-

Doak asserted, time just ran out on him now and then

- by the defeat. "As you can see, I'm a little sad," he said, letting tears flow freely. But he vowed that his brashness would continue to flow just as freely.

"I want to keep the competitive sprit of football and any time I don't, I'll get out ... Now I'm upset. Right now, I'm on the verge of a heart attack. I'm hurt that we lost. I'm hurt that I didn't make the big play to win the game."

And Noll, when asked in the postgame bediam about Henderson's pregame bragging literally leared as he replied,

In a Super Bowl XIII that turned out to be Super Rematch I. Bradshaw and the Steelers re-enacted their drama of three years ago, once again using the Cowboys as foils. Once again they grabbed the seemingly insurmountable lead — and once again they held their collective breaths before hanging on for the narrow four-point victory.

And once again, Lynn Swann, the Nureyev of wide receivers, was on the receiving end of Bradshaw's game-winning touchdown pass. Last time, it had been a 64-yard bomb and a 21-17 victory. This time it was an 18-yard coffin nail for the final points.

That made it 35-17 with less then seven

The Clock Runs Out

FOR A FEW MINUTES there at the end of Super Bowl XIII, it looked as if

Roger Staubach had another miracle in the making. It was impossible, of course, for any mortal man to overcome an 18-point deficit against the mighty

Pittsburgh Steelers in the last four minutes of play, but Roger was giving it the

Up in the broadcast booth, former San Francisco quarterback John Brodie kept reminding his fellow golden throats how Staubach had passed for two touchdowns in the last 90 seconds to defeat the 49ers in an NFC playoff tilt in 1972. Incredibly, Roger then tossed two touchdown passes against the Steelers

All of which brings to mind Doak Walker's great tribute to his former teammate and good friend, Bobby Layne. Bobby never was defeated on the gridiron,

So it was with Staubach Sunday at the Orange Bowl. He looked like the winner - not the loser - as he moved his team down the field in those waning minutes. But the clock ran out before he could get his hands on the ball again.

Pittsburgh partisans no doubt will write off that last Dallas surge as the result of a big lead and a prevent defense, but the fact remains that the Cowboys moved the ball and scored the points against the same guys who had been in

THERE ARE SOME who will say that the Cowboys didn't deserve Staubach's gutty performance, after many of the 'Pokes played so poorly during the contest. This Super Bowl was exciting for the fans, but it was the Cowboys' most erratic day ever in the Big One. Missed tackles, dropped balls, stupid mistakes — you name it and the Cowboys were guilty of it.

Individual heroics were the only thing that kept Dallas in the game. Staubach was the heart of the offense, of course, and kept things from coming completely unglued despite the erratic play of his teammates. Time after time Roger held the ball until the last instant, knowing he was going to be demolished by onrush-minutes to play. On the sidelines, most of the Steelers were celebrating, but Brad-shaw was furning. Too soon, he kept say-ing. The Cowboys aren't out of it yet.

"It made me mad the way our guys were whooping it up because I'd been in this game the last time with Dallas where they came back, throwing the ball. Roger Staubach was scrambling well, throwing well, moving them down and they scored twice. Yeah, I was very upset because I hated knowing that we'd scored 35 points. hated knowing that we'd scored 35 points against this team, which is seldom if ever done, and that we could still lose a Super Bowl just because we thought we had it

Staubach, who also completed 17 of 30 passes but unlike Bradshaw did most of his throwing in the second half, found Billy Joe DuPree on a 7-yard scoring pass with 2:23 to play. Then he connected with Butch Johnson on a 4-yarder two minutes later after Dallas had pulled off a successful on-side kick.

The only way the Cowboys could win, of course, was to get the ball back once more on an on-side kick and pray for a miracle. It didn't happen.

Rocky Bleier's jumping catch of Bradshaw's third scoring pass of the day, a 7-yard looper 26 seconds from halftime, had put Pittsburgh in front for good. The task of keeping the Steelers there also fell to Bleier, who pounced on Dallas kicker Rafael Septien's soft roller with 22 seconds to play. Bradshaw then fell on the ball twice more to run out the clock.

Bleier thought for a moment about his two key plays. "The catch has to be the big one for me. It put us ahead 21-14, gave us that good feeling going into the locker room in front and all that"

He paused. "Oh, wait," he said. "If I hadn't caught that kick, hey, maybe See STEELERS Page 2

Henderson's Predictions Sour

MIAMI (AP) - Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson flunked the final course Sunday in his self-taught Muhammad Ali School of Boasting. Hollywood couldn't back up his mouth. The big-mouth of Super Bowl XIII, riding a heady tonic of correctly predicting a 28-0 demise of the Los Angeles Rams, was reduced to sobs, head bowed and even to moments of silence.

"I felt I gave all I could," Henderson said tearfully. "Right now, I'm on the verge of a heart attack."

Henderson was the next-to-last Dallas Cowboy to enter the dressing room after the Pittsburgh Steelers unseated the defending World Champions 35-31 in a clas-third Super Bowl title, the Pittsburgh Steelers saluted every twirl of those Terrible Towels.

"Our fans made me feel like the whole stadium was for the Steelers," wide receiver John Stallworth said after Sunday's 35-31 Super Bowl XIII victory over the Dallas Cowboys.

"The Steeler fans were as ready for this game as the Steelers," added Stallworth, who caught two touchdown passes in the first half, then became a rooter himself in the second half after he was sidelined with leg cramps.

"It was more exciting this time. Maybe it was the fans," running back Rocky Bleier said of the Steelers thousands who waved yellow terrycloth towels in sup-

"Before the game, Jack Lambert said, 'If the fans are going to play this game, I'll tell you who is going to win.

"You could hear them from the moment we arrived. They were really pumped up," added Bleier, who jumped between a pair of Cowboys for a 7-yard touchdown catch.

Towels aside, it was Terry Bradshaw who made the difference for Pittsburgh, passing for four touchdowns and 318

"All I want you to say is, 'By God, this was an exciting game," Bradshaw told dozens of reporters who surrounded him in an interview room after the game. Bradshaw, nobody's bumpkin any-

"The Cowboys did some talking this ek, but it didn't really bother us," said Jack Ham, a quiet linebacker who didn't have much to say in the pregame build-"We're used to the Super Bowl, the whole thing. We know about the talk. But it all stopped at 4 o'clock today.

"Talk is cheap. I think Hendersonfound that out today," said Pittsburgh reserve linebacker Dennis Winston It was Winston who knocked Henderson off his feet in the first quarter on perhaps the hardest hit of the game.

The play came on a Pittsburgh punt return. Henderson, a member of the Cowboys' coverage team, was caught by surprise and given a jolting shot by Winston. "I got after him pretty good," Winston going to be like that the whole game, no matter what the score, no matter what Midway through the fourth quarter, Other Steelers were more subdued in Henderson apparently helped inspire a 22-yard touchdown run by Steelers fullback Franco Harris.

Bradshaw had taken too much time before the snap, and the officials blew the play dead as he retreated. But Henderson grabbed Bradshaw and threw him to the turf. Harris didn't like that, and he let Henderson know about it.

On the next play, Harris ran up the middle on a quick trap and raced to the

"That was the hardest I've ever seen Franco run. I thought he had a jet engine in him," said center Mike Webster. "He had that little exchange of words with Henderson on the play before and I think Franco was not going to be stopped."

That was the long gain of the game for Harris, who managed a total of 68 yards on 20 rushing attempts.

"The two best teams in the NFL played today — and the best team won," said Harris. "I don't think we've reached our peak yet. We still have a way to go. I think the Steelers will be on top for quite awhile. We have a lot of veterans who still have a lot of great games left."

they'd have gotten the ball again and Then Bleier shrugged. "Doesn't mat-ter, does it?" he said, a smile creasing his sweat-and-dirt-smeared face. "They were both big, weren't they?" They were - and so were plenty of other plays. Perhaps the two biggest ones cost Dallas dearly. The first came only moments before Septien's 27-yard field goal, the only points scored in the third period, and shaved Pittsburgh's lend to 21-17.

Jackie Smith had spent 15 years in a St. Louis uniform, waiting in vain for a trip to an NFL championship game, and he fi-nally made it with Dallas following a brief retirement. And there he was, all alone in the end zone, poised to make a game-tying catch.

Staubach was shielded from Pittsburgh's thundering line, linebackers and defensive backs. They said they were expecting a run on the third-and-three situation. The quarterback flipped the ball almost - but not quite - perfectly.

And Smith dropped it.
"It hit me in the hip," Smith moaned.
"The pass was just fine. I was wide open and I just missed it. I think I slipped ... what great guys on this team, and I let them down. It was a play Coach Landry conceived for this game. It might have been a matter of being over-cautions. Maybe I would have caught it with my hands, but I was trying to use my chest. Landry thought Staubach might have been the over-cautious one. "Jackie was so wide open that Roger tried to throw it soft," he said. "It came in low. When Jackie tried to stop, his feet seemed to come out from under him."

The next play in the series of Cowboy back-breakers came with the score still 21-17 about four minutes into the final period. Swann, who caught seven passes for 124 yards, sprinted down the right side, almost stride for stride with corner-and they went down in a tangle of legs and arms.

"There was a blitz and no pickup on it by our guys. And I knew it, so I just put the Hail Mary on it," Bradshaw said, alluding to the now-famous Hail Mary pass by Staubach that went for a touchdown in a playoff game against Minnesota. This one didn't go for a TD - but it went a long way toward one.

"I saw it and I figured, our ball down there." It was. Field judge Fred Swearingen flagged Barnes for pass interference

— 33 yards and a first down at the Dallas

A few plays later, Franco Harris roared through the line for 22 yards and the touchdown that made it 28-17.

"It was a judgment call on a pass play," Swearingen said. "The two players bumped before the ball was even close to them ... they were both looking back and the defender went to the ground. The Pittsburgh receiver, in trying to get to the ball, was tripped by the defender's

Barnes was understandably miffed.

The ref said I flung my foot back to trip him. The call made me so mad, I wanted to hit him," Barnes added. He suggested that Swann had pushed his way into the vital collision. But Swann, his palms held aloft in a gesture of supplication, claimed, "My hands are clean. I am one of the good guys."

Nineteen seconds after Harris' TD, came Swann. Randy White of the Cowboys, who shared last year's Super Bowl MVP award, was one of this year's goats when he fumbled a kickoff after the Harris score.

"I just picked it up and began to run and a guy hit me and the ball just popped out. I blame myself." he said. Dennis Winston recovered, and on the first play, Swann made his scoring catch.

Bradshaw opened the scoring with a TD pass, covering 28 yards, to the guy back Benny Barnes. There was contact known primarily as Pittsburgh's "other". receiver, John Stallworth. He made a leaping catch in the left corner of the end zone, just 5:13 into the game.

On the final play of the quarter Statibach tied it with a swing pass to Tony Hill, who took the ball on the Steelers 26. and raced the rest of the 39 yards down the left side for the score.

Henderson, who had two of Dallas four sacks of Bradshaw, clutched the Steelers quarterback and fellow linebacker Mike Hegman swiped the ball and sprinted 37 yards for a TD that gave Datlas a 147 lead less than three minutes into the second period. Less than two minutes later. Bradshaw and Stallworth struck again.

Bradshaw faded back from the 25 and dumped off a pass to Stallworth at the 35, Cornerback Aaron Kyle, burned by Staffworth once, was charred again. He divedat the receiver's feet, missed, then could only watch as the play went for 75 yards and a tying touchdown.

The pattern of Pittsburgh's game was passing into the soft underbelly of Dallas' defense, a defense dependent on getting to the quarterback to prevent the pass,

"That's the key to their success, putting pressure on a passer," Noll said. "I felt the key to ours would be our ability to keep them off Terry."

The crusher came a little later, when White tried to handle that squib kick and fumbled the pigskin right back to the Steelers. It wasn't the smartest thing for big Randy to do, admittedly.

There were a couple of little things with the nebras, too. One of the striped shirts effectively screened safety Charlie Waters out of the play when Franco Harris made his touchdown run up the middle, And the camers showed Tony Hill was chucked, grabbed and thrown to the ground by a Steeler without a flag being thrown.

But what's new about that when the Steelers and Cowboys get together?

IT'S HISTORY NOW, though. How about the upcoming season? Any chance of these two talented, exciting football teams meeting again a year from now? There is a reasonable chance for such a rematch, although it takes a lot of luck.

MIAMI (AP) — Bunny Bickel isn't much of a football fan, but she loved Super Bowl XIII.

It meant a bonanza when Mrs. Bickel and her husband found a bowl-happy Missouri couple willing to pay $10,000 for just two days on the Bickels' 83-foot

That's the way Super Week was in Miami, as an estimated 60,000 out-of-town visitors went through food, lodging, air travel, rental cars, buses and booze in a $69 million binge of Super Bucks.

"Super Bowl money — it's incredible how it flows," said executive vice president Lester Freeman of the Greater Miami Chamber of Commerce.

"These are not your average bowl couples that come down because of the old college spirit," said Freeman. "This is the super convention of high rollers." Mrs. Bickel said she and her husband, Bob, normally use their luxury yacht "Tulip II" in a travel club charter operation but decided to try renting it to fans here for the annual National Football League championship game, in which Pittsburgh beat Dallas 35-31.

Tulip II came complete with three staterooms, a crew of six and cordon bleu

Mrs. Bickel wouldn't reveal the identities of her customers or how much they paid, but a source with access to the deal said the Missourians paid "close to $10,-000" for a two-day stay.
Small problem: The Bickels had paid a scalper $1,500 for six Super Bowl tickets to offer with the yacht package, then were left holding them when the Missourians already had tickets.

"We gave two to friends and sold four for $250 each," Mrs. Bickel said. "Isn't that incredible?"

It was incredible. Everywhere. Gulfstream Racetrack, which staged a "Super Bowl Handicap" on Saturday, handled a state record betting total of $3,333,656. All hotels were jammed, even in a city with 65,000 available rooms.

A woman accosted her tour guide in a Miami Beach hotel lobby, "The travel agency promised us first-class rooms," she shouted. "We are in a D-U-M-P!"

The Lamesa boys basketball team is so only the jury in the T. Cullen Davis trial has spent more time in reaching a verdict than it takes the Golden Torna-does to travel the distance of a basketball

However, lack of team speed hasn't hindered the fact that Lamesa is off to a fast start in the 3-AAA basketball race.

After three encounters, the Golden Tornadoes are yet to lose a loop contest. Overall, Lamesa sports a 15-5 record.

Among Lamesa's victims is preseason district favorite Snyder. The Golden Tornadoes edged the Tigers 51-50.

Longhorns Stampede In SWC

time to be a

By The Associated Press Texas Aggie cagers will be looking for a way to corral the stampeding Texas Longhorns tonight when the two old rivals clash in Austin for sole possession of first place in another wild Southwest Conference basketball

"At this point, I just don't know what defense to run against them," said Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf. "Maybe there isn't one. They may not have a weakness offensively.

The Longhorn herd warmed up for the Aggies by trampling Southern California 87-68 in a nationally televised game Saturday.

"I couldn't believe we played that well." Texas Coach Abe Lemons said after the game."I was real happy to play so well on a national TV game.

It's real good for our program. Meanwhile, the 15th-ranked Aggies held on to whip upstart Texas Tech 68-63 Saturday to set the stage for the Southwest Conference showdown.

We had to get out early and not let them sit on the ball, because they were perfect in the first half," Metcalf said after the game. "They were only getting one shot, but they were mak-

"I'm pleased with our effort and poise, but we were really playing a fine team," said Tech Coach Gerald Myers. "It's tough when you lose, but I don't feel that bad about our effort and poise.

Both the Longhorns and the Aggies are 4-1 and hotly pursued by Arkansas and Baylor, both 3-2.

Texas Tech is right behind at 3-3 and Southern Methodist is 2-2. Houston and Rice are still in the hunt at 2-4,

Confidence Starts Here

"I'm embarrased," said Rice Coach Mike Schuler, predictably upset by the Owl's loss to Houston. "This was the worst game we've played all year. It was just an old fashioned kicking. But Houston Coach Guy Lewis thinks his team has recoved from last week's loss to Baylor. "Although we lost to Baylor, we played well. We are playing well now. We need improvement on our rebounding and what we do inside.

The 11th-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks crushed TCU 90-51 Saturday, but TCU Coach Tim Somerville and Razorback boss Eddie Sutton agreed on one thing. "We played great basketball for 19 minutes," Somerville said. "We substituted to couple of guys, and then instead of four down at the half, we're down 12. "We had to play good defense and rebound," said Sutton. "TCU played very well for 13 or 14 minutes

A. That was the type of statement that was made.

Fleming, who once worked for the Kellogg Corp. cereal firm, told a federal jury at Flood's bribery-perjury trial Friday that in August 1972 he handed Flood a money-filled envelope, and the congressman stuffed it into his pocket without looking in to it or asking what it was for. "Had you previously stated (before this trial) that this event never occurred?,"

Kleiboemer asked Fleming today. "It may have been before I signed an

President Eyes Ag Reductions

WASHINGTON (AP) - Reduced costs of farm price supports could help cut the Agriculture Department's spending by 8.9 percent next year, according to President Carter's budget proposals released

Total department spending was projected at $18.4 billion in the 1980 fiscal year that will begin Oct. 1, compared to an estimated $20.2 billion that will have been spent by the end of this fiscal year.

Department budget experts said price supports and income payments for key crops - and other programs financed by the department's Commodity Credit Corp. - are projected at $2.55 billion, down from about $4.78 billion this year. But Stephen B. Dewhurst, the department's acting budget director, told reporters the projection was based on an "average yield" estimate that assumes for planning purposes that farmers will get normal weather this year. However, Dewhurst said it would be 'misleading to the American people" not to include other possibilities. So figures prepared by his office show that if farm-

In such a case, federal payments would not have to be made to farmers to make up for any deficiency between the market price and the target price set under government farm pro-

If that happened, he said, costs of operating the programs could soar to an estimated $5.58 billion next fiscal year.

That, in effect, would shatter the conservative budget Carter proposed to operate the Agriculture Deparment next

A budget book prepared by Dewhurst's office said "many 1980 estimates are very tentative at this time" and that various Agriculture Department programs "are sensitive to uncontrollable factors, including the weather and changing economic conditions."

Government food programs, including food stamps and child nutrition, will cost more next year and at a projected $10.8 billion will account for almost 59 percent of the Agriculture Department's total proposed budget, compared to $9.6 billion or 48 percent this year.

Although costs of crop programs are highly variable, proposed outlays in other areas were more definite, including these Agriculture Department cuts for next

-$18.6 million less for science and education, including reductions in research assistance.

-$80 million less for the Agricultural Conservation Program, putting it at $110 million next year against $190 million currently.

-A reduction of $107.4 million in operations and programs of the Soil Conservation Sevice, including cuts for watershed planning, resource conservation and development, and watershed and flood prevention operations.

Texas Gets Funds For Project

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas is in line for a new $34 million flood control project but, like other states, should feel the pinch of President Carter's "lean and austere" 1980 budget proposal.

Carter's 2,205-page shopping list — including three volumes of explanation and analyses - officially arrives on Capitol Hill today.

The "lean" portion of Carter's budget calls for slicing 158,000 jobs nationwide under the Comprehensive Employment and Training program, cutting by $97 million funds for highways, railroads and mass transit systems and replacing the $1 billion anti-recession aid program to states, cities and counties with a $150 million program targeted to help cities with especially high jobless rates.

Also, the president proposes an acrossthe-board cut in Justice Department personnel that will cost the country 43 Drug Enforcement Administration agents, 281 FBI agents and 574 Immigration and Naturalization Service agents.

The president did note, however, that the INS, FBI and DEA would shift remaining personnel to top-priority areas: white-collar crime and investigation of illegal drug rings.

On the other hand, Texas should fare well in areas of defense and education spending. Carter has proposed a record $122.7 billion defense budget, and Texas ranks second only to California in receiving defense-related monies.

Texas would also be a prime recipient of bilingual education funds, which were tabbed for a $23 million increase. Almost immediately, Congress will begin its annual fight with the White House over the spending of tax dollars.

When the 1980 budget goes into effect

- Oct. 1, 1979 - Carter and Congress will have determined which programs and states - emerged as winners in the budget battle. Last year, Carter and the Democratic-controlled Congress differed sharply on public works. The president wanted Congress to fund new projects in one tump sum: Congress wanted to continue authorizing new project funds on a year-toyear basis

Carter branded Congress' public works bill - which contained 27 more new projects than the president requested - as inflationary and vetoed it. The enraged House leadership tried to override the ve-

Record Arms Budget Calls For Missile

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter set a record today with a $122.7 billion military muscle-building budget that includes a financial push for a new mobile long-range missile designed to be secure from Soviet surprise attack.

Carter's fiscal 1980 budget proposal would increase defense spending by $10.8 He and Defense Secretary Harold

Brown claimed the increase represents "real growth" of 3.1 percent after allowing for inflation, which would meet their stated commitment to this country's North Atlantic Treaty Organization part-But the administration has drawn strong criticism from members of Congress and others for cutting some social and domestic programs while boosting defense spending. In his budget message to the new Congress, which some conservative groups predict will be more defense-minded, Carter said his 1980 package was pared to programs "essential to meet national security needs.

Brown said the 1980 budget "proposes resources which reflect President Carter's determination to counter the Soviet military buildup and to fulfill his pledge to NATO to increase U.S. defense spending by 3 percent per annum in real

At the same time, both Carter and Brown stressed that they were squeezing the most out of every defense dollar through "increased price competition in contracting and efficiencies in supply op-

Carter accompanied his proposals for fiscal 1980, which begins Oct. 1, with a $2.2 billion request for additional defense budget authority for priority programs this year. The last Congress deni this authority after Carter vetoed a bill that would have provided for a new nuclear-powered supercarrier. Little of this additional authority would be spent in 1979, but it would permit the Pentagon to make contract commitments for future spending.

Carter urged approval of a total of $935 million "to pursue full-scale development of a larger, more accurate intercontinental ballistic missile capable, with modifications, of being deployed in sub-marines, aircraft or land bases." Carter's request to push ahead with the twice-delayed new mobile missile was made in anticipation of a decision, probably by April 1, on how the missile should be based in order to elude increasingly accurate Soviet missiles. The new weapon would replace the present Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles, which the Pentagon expects to become vulnerable to knockout in their underground silos by the mid-1980s.

The new missile is likely to run into some opposition on Capitol Hill by those who believe it would be inconsistent with the impending strategic arms limitation agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union, and because the mobile missile project eventually could cost as much as $30 billion.

Carter said the new SALT treaty "will not automatically make our strategic forces secure or end the arms competi-

But, he added, that agreement "and the strategic force improvements it will permit will help make the nation more

The Carter program for 1980 also calls for accelerating work on the advanced Trident II submarine-launched missile, which would have a range of about 6,500 miles. It also calls for a major step-up in production of the new cruise missile, which would be launched from B-52 bombers while they were well outside the reach of Soviet air defenses.

The new budget restores to the Navy an eighth Trident nuclear-powered submarine, which was dropped from the 1979 budget because of delays in the program.

The Navy also would get a new $1.6 billion carrier under the new budget, but it would be a smaller one than the Navy sought - and it would be oil-powered. In fact, the president's budget message had chilling news for advocates of nuclear propulsion in surface warships of the "In recent years, there has been a trend toward building fewer and more expensive ships," Carter said. "This trend must be changed or the Navy in the future will have so few ships that our continued naval superiority may

Texas Voters Eye Money Issues Differently

By The Associated Press Voters eyed increased services and tax ctions differently in various cities over Texas Saturday. Some said yes; oth-

Dallas voters overruled their City Council and gave firefighters and police-men a bigger raise. Voters in Baytown put a ceiling on the local property taxes in their community.

And Austin's electorate went both ways tion from the current rate of 80 cents. - okaying $141 million in new projects but turning down the City Council's request to double Austin's dollar-share in a proposed nuclear plant near Bay City to keep the city's ownership at about a sixth of the total.

In Corpus Christi, two tax-reducing proposals failed. Harry Hoag, a Corpus Christi lawyer-engineer, waged a grassroots campaign via petitions to get onto the ballot his proposal that the city's property tax rate be slashed to 26.5 cents per $100 valua-

Fearing voters in a tax-cutting fever might approve Hoag's proposal, city officials came up with an alternate that would cut taxes less drastically, to 71 cents per $100 valuation. However, voters declined to go along with the resulting reduction of city services that would have resulted and defeated both proposals by similar 3-to-2 margins, with about 25 percent of registered voters making it to the polls.

Hoag's proposition, patterned after California's Proposition 13, would have cut taxes by 44 percent to 75 percent, depending on whose estimates you accept-ed. Besides cutting the tax rate, it would also have cut the assessment to 1975 levels. The alternative would have cut taxes by 11 percent.

Dallas voters approved a 15 percent pay hike for police and firefighters. City leaders had offered a 9 percent pay raise, but the policemen and firemen petitioned to put the issue to a vote in the form of a binding referendum and won 57 percent

But Baytown voters passed four tax-restraining proposals. They approved four separate amendments to limit their local property taxes. The measures:

- limit property taxes to six-10ths of 1 percent of the market value;

- call for a moratorium on adding new property taxes to the city's tax rolls until all property in the city is revalued;

- limit property tax valuations to 10 percent per year; and

- exempt all ad valorem tax levied to pay off the city's bonded indebtedness from the limits set by the first proposal.

The package of improvements in Austin, spread over 12 propositions, includes new parks, a new police station, remodeling of the airport, more traffic signals, and expansion of the electric system.

Funds under part B are intended for liheary books and other media materials. Eunds under part C are for innovative achool projects.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The federal Street area employs some 300 persons, 85 of them in its refinery operation. The storage section holds about one-fifth of the nation's gold reserves. Treasury re> ports indicate. Treasury spokesman Joseph Laitin said the possible closing had nothing to do with the disappearance of at least 5,200 ounces of gold from the refinery operation. Silver bullion also is processed there "Preliminary studies show that private industry can do it (smelting) cheaper," Laitin said.

The 1980 budget includes money to phase out these operations," A budget document said. "However, the final decision awaits additional study results.'

Budget figures show that an estimated $2.9 million will be spent for Assay Office operations in the current spending year. The proposed 1980 budget calls for $4.1 million.

Laitin said the additional money would be needed to close the refinery because "it's more expensive to phase an operation out than to keep it going."

The loss - due either to theft or emissions during the smelting process or both - was discovered in a Treasury Department audit of records from 1973 through 1977. The continuing audit could turn up more losses, Laitin has admitted.

In addition making gold bars from jewelry, coins and other items sold to the government prior to 1969, the Assay Office analyzes and stamps gold bar sent by the United States to settle foreign ac-

It also analyzes incoming gold, which can be sent on for storage at Fort Knox or West Point or kept in New York.

Treasury audits indicated that the losses had been in the refining areas of the Assay Office, not the storage section.

flames, engulfing the vehicle in fire, police said. Three passengers burned to death, and officers said the other three were saved only because passers-by pulled them from the burning car.

The two passengers in the Buick suffered minor cuts. Police jailed the driver of the Buick, pending further investigation. No charges were filed Sunday.

The Pinto is one of 1.5 million Pinto and Mercury Bobcat sedans from the 1971 through 1976 model years recalled last June by Ford for modification of their fuel tanks. The Pintos and Bobcats are nearly identical.

The Ford Motor Co., which produces both models, was indicted by a grand jury in Elkhart, Ind., after a crash Aug. 10, 1978, in which three young women died. The grand jury charged Ford with reckless homicide for the company's alleged failure to change the fuel tank after July 1. 1978 - the first day after the June recall period. That case is still in the pre-

Several suits have been filed against Ford Motor Co. in connection with rearend fires in Pintos and Bobcats. The most notable resulted last year in a California jury award against Ford of $128 million, reduced by the judge to more than $600,000 and now on appeal by

Ford is arguing it cannot be held responsible for violating a 1977 federal law with a vehicle manufactured before then, and that, at most, it has a duty to "warn or to offer to repair."

Crash tests by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration have shown that the fuel systems consistently leaked large amounts of gasoline when struck from behind at moderate to high Braniff Concorde service from Dallas-Fort Worth to London and Paris.

Saving time is what Concorde is all about. This is the first daytime jet service to Paris and London from Mid-America. You'll be there in time for dinner.

Total flight time from Dallas-Fort Worth to Europe will be about seven hours including the stop at Washington.

Concorde has only 100 seats. Each of the two cabins has a digital display that clocks your changing speed. Across the Atlantic it will register Mach 2.0 which is 1.350 mph. That is one mile every three seconds.

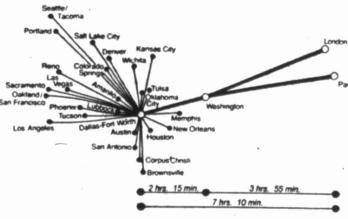

Braniff Concorde Service to Washington -Daily except Monday and Thursday. This is the only Concorde service within the U.S.A.

Between Dallas-Fort Worth and Washington, Concorde flies at Mach 0.95 or 650 mph. That is 100 mph or 20% faster than conventional jets.

Braniff 747 Non-Stop Service to London - Daily at 6:45 p.m.

The Concorde flights complement the only daily 747 Non-stop service from Dallas-Fort Worth and the Southwest to London, gateway for Britain and Europe. The result is a choice of departure times at Dallas-Fort Worth with Concorde leaving in the morning and the 747 leaving in the evening. Likewise, there is a choice of arrival times in Europe with Concorde arriving at London Heathrow in the evening and the 747 arriving at London Gatwick in the morning. There's the same choice returning, with the 747 departing London Gatwick in the late morning and the Concorde departing London Heathrow and Paris Charles de Gaulle in the evening.

For reservations, call your Travel Agent or Braniff at 763-7081...24 hours a day.
