Price of hamburger expected to go up ... and up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hamburger meat will cost $1.70 or $1.80 a pound next year, but consumers could slow the price increase by switching to pork and chicken, a meat industry

If ground beef prices do rise 40 to 50 cents a pound as predicted, hamburger will cost about as much in 1979 as round steak did last winter, said Richard E. Lyng, president of the American Meat Institute.

Steak prices also will go up, he said, but not as drastically as hamburger especially on a percentage basis.

Lyng said Wednesday retail hamburger prices rose about 40 cents a pound in 1978 and now average around $1.30 a pound. According to Agriculture Department statistics, the average retail price of bone-inround steak last February was $1.77 a

It is doubtful hamburger prices will rise above the $1.70-$1.80 a pound range next year, Lyng said, because many consumers may switch to alternatives such as pork and poultry, which are in good supply, rather than pay more and more for hamburger.

"I'm always uncertain as to when the consumer will decide that 'this is far enough," Lyng said. "We simply can't predict it with any degree of precision, and neither can USDA.'

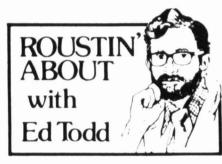

One department official, who asked not to be identified, called Lyng's estimate "a very pessimistic forecast" in light of consumers' expected switching to pork and chicken.

Ground beef prices in October, the most recent month calculated by USDA, averaged $1.18 a pound compared to 81 cents a pound one year earlier, the department said.

Lyng and the USDA agree on why beef prices - particularly hamburger - are going up: There are fewer cattle on farms and ranches, down 21 million head from a peak of 132 mil-

Hamburger is going up more quickly because it is made mostly from leaner animals whose numbers have been diminishing in recent years as farmers trimmed their inventories.

Feedlot operators who produce "fed" beef that makes the choicest steaks and roasts found in supermarkets have stepped up their operations. But those increases are not enough to offset the decline in the supply of the aner beef for hamburger.

The broadcast also said 18 of Tehran's 108 gasoline stations closed after running out of fuel, and that the Senate will hold a special session Saturday "to review the situation" in the country

The radio had been broadcasting appeals to oil workers and religious leaders every 30 minutes, urging them to permit the nation's strikecrippled oil industry to produce at least enough fuel for domestic needs.

Iran had been the world's No. 2 oil exporter after Saudi Arabia. But production Wednesday hit a record low of 300,000 barrels, compared to anormal daily average of 6 million barrels,

Deficit sets record; Barometer down WASHINGTON (AP) - The nadeclines in stock prices, orders retion's trade deficit for the year surged past the record set in 1977 and the government's economic barometer turned downward in November, the Commerce Department said today.

The 30-month trade deficit has been a major cause of the dollar's decline against other currencies and has contributed to inflation in this country.

In its monthly report on trade, the department said Americans bought $1.95 billion more than they sold to other countries in November, a small improvement from the $2.13 billion deficit in October.

That pushed the trade deficit for the first 11 months of 1978 to $26.74 billion, past the record $26.5 billion set for all of last year.

In another report, the department said its Index of Leading Economic Indicators decreased 0.6 percent, the first decline in four months

The index is designed to predict future economic activity, but it would take several months of declines to establish a clear trend. Contributing to the downturn were ceived by factories, speed of deliveries and the money supply.

While the index was declining, other indicators, such as employment, industrial production, sales and housing construction, remained strong last month.

The report on trade indicated slight improvement, but the November deficit was still about average for 1978.

A bright spot in the report was a $359 million surplus in manufactured goods, such as airplanes and automobiles. Americans reduced their purchases of foreign cars by $117.2 million last month; at the same time, U.S. companies sold $119.9 million more airplanes to other countries.

So far this year, the total U.S. trade deficit has grown to $26.74 billion, well ahead of the $24.08 billion gap in the first 11 months of 1977.

However, the Carter administration predicts asubstantial improvement next year as other countries' economies grow and foreigners are

Gacy attempts suicide; Body count now at 17

W. Gacy Jr., who reportedly confessed to the sex slayings of 32 persons, tried to kill himself while in the Cook County Jail's Cermak Hospital. it was reported today.

The suicide attempt was made Saturday, a source told the Chicago Sun-

Gacy, charged with murdering one youth and suspected of killing perhaps as many as 31 more teen-agers and young men, reportedly tried to strangle himself with a towel, the Sun-Times said. Authorities were not immediately available for comment on the Sun-Times story Since the suicide attempt, Gacy has been kept in restraints and strapped to his bed, released only for brief exercises under watch of guards, the Sun-Times reported. Police say they have found 17 bodies in Gacy's home since last week. Another one was found last month in the Des Plaines River and allegedly linked to Gacy by items found in his home. Investigators say a burial map drawn by Gacy led them to more bodies Wednesday.

The Chicago Tribune has reported that Gacy told authorites he had sexual relations with boys and young men and then strangled them. Investigators discovered the skeletal remains in a crawl space under the ranch-style home, said Cook County Medical Examiner Dr. Robert

"The scene inside that house is indescribable in its horror," said Stein. "... It's like a battlefield. People are digging trenches, filling trenches. And as they work, their faces have such looks of despair.'

About 100 people stood in the cold outside the contractor's modest house as police removed bodies and debris. Gacy, who served a prison term in Iowa for a sodomy conviction, allegedly has confessed that he buried 27 bodies beneath the house and threw five others into a river.

He drew a rough map of his home last Friday to assist authorities in their search, the Chicago Tribune reported in today's editions.

"So far, the map has been completely accurate," an unidentified investigator told the Tribune. "We have no doubt that we will find 27 bodies in the

Jury decides husband Individual bank branches have innocent of raping wife

Greta Rideout's intimate lives and marital troubles were exposed in a rape trial that ended with his acquittal, a trial Rideout says they will both be "a long, long while" getting over. But his 23-year-old wife says she does not regret bringing the charge. "I was right what I did, but whether it was worth it or not, I'm not sure,' Mrs. Rideout said. The case was believed to be the first prosecution of a husband charged with raping his wife while they lived Rideout, 21, was found innocent Wednesday of raping his wife by the unanimous vote of a four-man, eightwoman jury that deliberated for three hours before returning its verdict.

He said both he and his estranged wife "have been hurt pretty deeply" by the trial. "I'm so nervous I can't say anything but that I'm happy,' Rideout said. "I'm just going home and going back to work..

"It will be a long, long while before either of us gets over it.'

Asked if he felt bitter toward his wife, Rideout said, "I don't know how I feel about her.'

Mrs. Rideout, who has filed for divorce and custody of the couple's 21/2-year-old daughter, said she feels "no hostility" toward her husband. But she said: "I think men who are probably a lot worse than John will be sitting back and snickering.. "A lot of women who are beaten a lot worse than I was beaten and forced into sex afterwards were waiting to see whether a man could be convicted and punished for what men are doing to them ...," she said of the "They will feel now that they have no recourse, that they have to put up with it," she said.

Mrs. Rideout testified her husband beat her and forced her to have sex Oct. 10 during an argument at their Salem apartment. Rideout told the jury he slapped his wife during the argument, but they then made up before having intercourse.

The prosecution stemmed from a 1977 change in Oregon's rape law that removed marital privilege as a defense against rape. Iowa and Delaware have similar laws.

A request was filed Wednesday by Peter Applegate of Jacksonville to change the law so a married person cannot be charged with raping his or her spouse. No group has endorsed his petition drive, which needs 72,891 signatures to reach the ballot as a constitutional amendment. Applegate has previously originated several unsuccessful initiatives.

State Sen. Short says West Texas must import water eventually

BY GUY SULLIVAN R-T Staff Writer

ODESSA — Water importation into West Texas eventually will be necessary, although plans for such a decision may not be implemented for 25 or 30 years.

So said state Senator E.L. Short, D-Tahoka, Wednesday afternoon here during a two-day visit.

Short was in Odessa after appearing earlier in Stanton to get acquainted with the people he will represent in the sprawling 28th Senatorial District, which stretches from the High Plains down past the Permian

Although he stressed water as a priority issue, Short also had something to say on illegal aliens, nursing homes and drug traffic during an informal interview.

Short said he talked Wednesday with city officials about the possibility of converting the Odessa Municipal Court to court-of-record status. However, he remained non-committal about the idea. Such a step would require state legislation designed to speed up the paperwork backlog, which now plagues the court, by providing a transcript for appeals, officials have

Davis testified that McCrory contacted him in June and "said there was going to be some things perpetuated by Priscilla that they were going to try to blame me for."

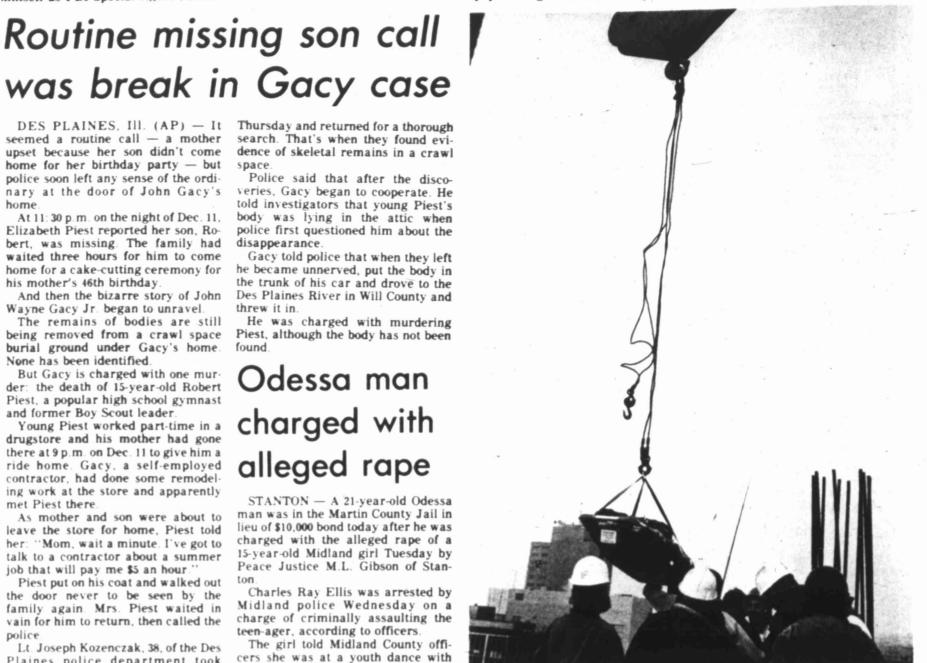

McCrory later told Davis his wife was "negotiating" with unnamed people to have Davis killed. McCrory said he had "talked them into turning the tables on Priscilla," Davis said.

He quoted McCrory as saying that 'If I was willing to pay them more than Priscilla was paying them, they'd be willing to work for my side" by providing information helpful to the divorce case.

Short says little-known Texas Water Plan good

Short said at least five ways to get water from one West Texas lake to another have been surveyed. "In fact, the city of Andrews would have one if the proposed channels go by it," Short said

He described the survey as providing "feasible" data on the possibility of importing water into the area.

'Of course, the users would have to pay for the water. I think the importation of water is needed.

BUT, HE SAID, although the effects on the environment in the Permian Basin would be "positive... the impact in other areas would probably be detrimental."

Short added, "We've got to have some harmony in the Legislature and understand what other people in different areas think on this issue." And it may be 25 or 30 years, he said, before any importation of water

"I'm going to really be looking closely at this." Answers to the projected problem, he said, could come in the form of either legislation or resolutions.

Short said a staff to investigate the problem and assemble the facts, plus out of state trips to water-enriched areas such as Arkansas, might be involved.

"It's more than a mutual problem for many states," he noted. "If there is a tremendous amount of water north, well, we really want to put that water where it is needed."

On another topic, Short described illegal aliens as "strictly a federal problem. I don't believe there is a thing the state of Texas can do about it. I believe there is a problem.

"But sometimes these people (illegal aliens) can be of assistance to us, especially in peak seasons," said

He said there have been federal laws pending on this matter. But Short said most of these would be 'unworkable" because "how can someone tell if someone hired a person knowing they were an illegal worker?"

THE 52-YEAR-OLD native of Lynn County said he agrees with state Attorney General John Hill that there may be some nursing homes with problems, but added, "I don't believe nursing homes, per se, are bad. If you look at all of them, your're bound to find something wrong.

Short said Texas does have a drug traffic problem. However, on crime in general, he said he felt "very confident" in state lawmen.

"Col. Wilson Speir, head of the Department of Public Safety is a personal friend of mine and I believe he is doing a tremendous job.

He said local lawmen and state portant.'

authorities "seem to work closely together in such cases, and the DPS doesn't have enough people to infiltrate the ranks" of drug smugglers. Fighting drug-related criminality starts at the local level, said Short. It's a pretty bad problem and it's not going to go away. Short said wire-tapping, as has been proposed in recent weeks, isn't necessarily the answer.

"WHEN YOU START talking about wire-tapping, you have to stop and think about the rights of people. Checks and balances must be part of any state bills which come out on this matter. The rights of people are im-

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal had blamed erratic sales of gold for the large overall trade deficit in October.

In November, exports totaled $13.26 billion, while imports were a record $15.2 billion, the Commerce Department said.

Witnesses said the driver locked himself in his cab, doused himself with gasoline then lit it, shouting: "Long live the Republic of China." Several thousand demonstrators calmly sang the patriotic song, "I Love China," as the man went up in flames.

But several bystanders pulled the cabbie from the taxi and doused the flames, and the driver shouted to them: "You must get revenge for me." Demonstrators cheered and the cabbie, 40-year-old Chiao Shaoying, was taken to a nearby hospital in poor condition.

Ohio grand jury adds 3 murder indictments

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) - A grand jury has added three murder indictments to six already pending against two brothers accused in Ohio's ".22-caliber"

A Licking County grand jury returned indictments Wednesday against Gary and Thaddeus Lewingdon in connection with the deaths of Karen Dodrill, Joyce Vermillion and Jenkin Jones.

Each brother was charged with three counts of aggravated murder, three counts of aggravated robbery and a single count of aggravated burglary. They earlier had been charged in the deaths of six Franklin County residents, and are being held in the Franklin County jail in lieu of $600,000 bond each. Authorities said the three Licking County victims were shot with the same .22-caliber weapon. The women were shot on Dec. 10, 1977, as they left a cafe in Newark. Jones, 77, was killed in his rural home. Arraignment would be on Jan. 5 under normal conditions, but Licking County Prosecutor David

Lighttiser said he may ask for a postponement until after the Franklin County trial, scheduled for Feb. Gary Lewingdon, 38, of Kirkersville, and Thaddeus Lewingdon, 41, of Glenford, are charged with six other counts of murder each. In each case, officials said, a .22-caliber weapon was used.

Forecast calls for fair skies after early morning clouds

Early morning cloudiness, fog-like in appearance, covered much of the Midland area today, but was expected to give way to fair skies later in the day and to partly cloudiness tonight and Friday.

Dust today was to be whipped up by gusty southerly winds. Wind warnings were issued at area lakes.

The temperature today was to peak in the low 60s and is expected to drop 20 degrees to the low 40s tonight, said a weatherman at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. Cooler temperatures should visit the area late Friday.

Southerly winds at 15 to 25 mph were blowing today. Wind warnings in-effect early today were to be lifted by tonight.

Winds tonight should diminish to 10

Davis claims he was cooperating with FBI

HOUSTON (AP) - Texas millionaire Cullen Davis says he discussed guns, murder and money for a purported plot to kill a judge and others because someone posing as an FBI agent told him to do so.

Davis, on trial for solicitation of murder, testified Wednesday on his own behalf. He acknowledged meeting with state witness David McCrory, the middleman in the alleged murder plot.

The Fort Worth industrialist told the jury he received a telephone call on Aug. 10 from a man who identified himself as FBI Special Agent James McCrory later told Davis his wife was "negotiating" with unnamed people to have Davis killed. McCrory said he had "talked them into turning the tables on Priscilla," Davis said.

He quoted McCrory as saying that 'If I was willing to pay them more than Priscilla was paying them, they'd be willing to work for my side" by providing information helpful to the divorce case.

Short says little-known Texas Water Plan good

Short said at least five ways to get water from one West Texas lake to another have been surveyed. "In fact, the city of Andrews would have one if the proposed channels go by it," Short

He described the survey as providing "feasible" data on the possibility of importing water into the area.

"Of course, the users would have to pay for the water. I think the importation of water is needed."

BUT, HE SAID, although the effects on the environment in the Permian Basin would be "positive... the impact in other areas would probably be detrimental."

Short added, "We've got to have some harmony in the Legislature and understand what other people in different areas think on this issue." And it may be 25 or 30 years, he said, before any importation of water occurs.

"I'm going to really be looking closely at this." Answers to the projected problem, he said, could come in the form of either legislation or resolutions. Short said a staff to investigate the problem and assemble the facts, plus out of state trips to water-enriched areas such as Arkansas, might be involved. "It's more than a mutual problem for many states," he noted. "If there is a tremendous amount of water north, well, we really want to put that water where it is needed."

On another topic, Short described illegal aliens as "strictly a federal problem. I don't believe there is a thing the state of Texas can do about it. I believe there is a problem. "But sometimes these people (illegal aliens) can be of assistance to us.

Short said Texas does have a drug traffic problem. However, on crime in general, he said he felt "very confident" in state lawmen.

"Col. Wilson Speir, head of the Department of Public Safety is a personal friend of mine and I believe he is doing a tremendous job."

Despite President Carter's category. The 117 district judgeships are not covered.

California's Sen. Alan Cranston and Sen. S.I. Hayakawa already have subscribed to the commission concept sought by the President. There will be merit screening of all federal judicial appointees.

But about one half of the pending district judge nominations will come in states where the senators have refused to appoint merit commissions. In other states, commissions have been appointed which do not meet the President's standards for independence. Attorney General Griffin Bell has conceded that the President will not reject nominations initiated by these commissions.

The principal basis for optimism that more qualified judges may be selected lies in the interest generated by the merit selection debate. The composition of the federal judiciary for many years to come will be decided in the next few months by the lifetime appointments.

Candidates are likely to receive closer scrutiny by press and public as a result of the controversy - and senators may be more cautious in their use of the nominating power.

ART BUCHWALD Cola for Chinese could be both good and bad

WASHINGTON — The China-watchers at the State Department have had a busy time of it in the last few weeks. The biggest news, of course, is that Coca-Cola has struck a deal with the People's Republic of China, which could affect our foreign relations for years to come.

Rodney Pinstripe who mans the China Desk in Foggy Bottom was my main unidentified source for this "Is the Coca-Cola deal good or bad for the United States?" I asked.

"It is both good and bad," he said. "It's good in the sense that if we can get 900 million Chinese to drink a bottle of Coca-Cola a day, it will solve our balance of payments problem."

"What's bad about it?" "The bad thing is if someday the 900 million people decide to wade up on the shores of California and demand five cents deposit back on each empty bottle."

"That could break us," I said. "Of course the good thing is that it puts the Kremlin under tremendous pressure," he told me, "since the Soviets only have 250 million people, they will have to drink three and ahalf times as many Pepsi-Colas just to stay even with the Chinese.'

"I read somewhere where the Soviets had vowed to drink the Chinese under the table. Does this mean there will be war between the Russians and mainland China?" I asked.

"It's hard to say. There is a definite ideological Marxist split between the two countries. The Chinese believe

Admittedly, Kersey has a

had made in his best year of farming, saying only, "I've lost $100,000 in the

"That does worry the Soviets. 1 don't think they object to us recognizing Red China - nor do they care if we give them Coca-Cola out of a spigot. But if we help the Chinese develop a flip-top Cola can, the Kremlin could get very cranky.'

"Why are they so uptight about the flip-top can?"

Because it would make the Molotov Cocktail Bottle obsolete."

"What evidence do the Soviets have that the Chinese are trying to develop a flip-top can of their own?

"Their agents report that all over China people are walking around with bandages on their index fingers. Peking has also asked the Coca-Cola Co. to throw in one Band-Aid with each can of soda they buy."

"It seems a crying shame," I said. 'Nixon opened the doors to China and his best friend was Donald Kendall, chairman of Pepsi-Cola. Now that we plan to have normal relations with the People's Republic, Coca-Cola is going to wind up as their national drink."

"Carter will make it up to Pepsi some way.'

In between, the president will be unveiling his budget for the 1980 fiscal year and go before Congress to deliver his State of the Union address.

There's also a chance Carter could meet with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev to sign a new strategic arms limitation treaty, although the president said last week that appears

Proxmire predicts big cuts in next federal budget

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. William Proxmire predicted today that Congress will make deep cuts in the next federal budget even though liberals and others already are upset with reductions planned by President

"Contrary to public opinion, Congress will cut even a tight-fisted presidential budget in the new fiscal year," said the Wisconsin Democrat, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee.

"Congress has cut every president's budget every year for the last quarter of a century with only one exception," Proxmire added. "As a result, Congress will find that as the year goes on the president, and without question the executive depart-ments, will be fighting to restore funds that Congress has cut from their budget."

He noted that the $500 billion budget sent to Congress last January eventually was trimmed by $12.5 billion.

Carter reportedly is planning a $533 billion budget next year with a deficit of $29 billion. His plan for curtailing some social programs while moving ahead on defense spending has angered liberals, blacks, urban leaders

Agreement on a peace treaty between Israel and Egypt by the end of January isn't out of the question. But one White House aide confided: "I'm not putting it on my calendar."

If there is an agreement, Carter likely would visit the Middle East to take part in a signing ceremony.

Tim Kraft, a presidential assistant for political affairs, said "we didn't assess the domestic political picture" in arranging the January events. However, many of the January issues are likely to trigger emotional reac-

To avoid the pitfalls each offers, Carter must walk a fine line. He will be subject to pressures from liberals opposing budget cuts, conservatives favoring Taiwan, liberals pressuring for arms control, conservatives seeking defense commitments. The White House is concerned that too much emphasis on diplomatic activities in January could distract the country from the No. 1 item on Carter's 1979 agenda: holding down

"Our longest, toughest, most important fight will be the budget and inflation, and we'll have to keep the country and the Congress and the administration from losing sight of that goal," said White House press secretary Jody Powell. There also is a chance, one top White House aide suggested, that 'the interest in China will be so great people will focus on that" rather than, say, on the strategic arms limitation

But this aide, who asked to remain anonymous, said it is best to deal at once with the controversial issues "to show they fit into an overall theme of having control of foreign affairs."

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Thieves used a block and tackle to lower a half-ton safe out a window of the University of Michigan Hospital, making off with $1 million in drugs, some so experimental that officials say they "don't know what the drugs will do.

However, Jack Karlin, an employment analyst for the Labor Department, said that the estimates are based largely on guesswork and it is difficult to say what changes will occur initially or what the long-range impact of the law will be.

Economist to speak

LUBBOCK - A senior economist in the Carter administration who has been involved in making current farm policy will be keynote speaker at the annual state convention of the Texas Farmers Union in Lubbock Jan. 12.

J.B. Penn, former staff economist for food and agriculture with the Council of Economic Advisers during the layout of the 1977 Farm Bill and now deputy administra-tor of ECSC within the Department of Agriculture, will address the gathering of family farmers.

His main thrust is expected to be that of defending Carter's farm policies and pointing to increased capital gains, particularly in land values, as an offsetting factor to limited farm income in the face of growing debt. He also is an advocate of the administration's grain reserve program which, he says, "prevents this boom and bust."

The members and delegates of the statewide farm organization will conduct their business at the Lubbock Civic Center from Jan. 11 to 13, including the adoption of a 1979 policy and the election of top state officers.

National Farmers Union president Tony Dechant will address the final banquet.

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a year of negotiations, Richard Nixon and the government may soon agree on ways the public can see the records of his presidency.

But the case may wind up in court, anyway, over a familiar sticking point: the White House tapes.

The government wants to make the recordings — 5,000 hours worth — available for public listening at federal facilities around the country. Nixon thinks written transcripts should suf-

White House tapes prevent public

He said the two sides may settle a suit now before U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr., dealing with access to the Nixon materials generally. The tapes matter would then be filed as a new lawsuit. "We told Judge Robinson last Friday that we will either make or break a settlement by the end of January," said the lawyer, who asked not to be identified.

About a year ago, Nixon's lawyers challenged proposed federal regulations spelling out how the 42 million documents and 880 reels of tapes

'There is a tremendous difference in terms of invasion of Nixon's right to privacy and dignity of the office." the lawyer said. "These recordings never were made with intentions of being aired generally in public."

The Nixon materials were seized by the government under a law passed after Nixon resigned in August 1974. The Supreme Court upheld Nixon's challenge to the law.

Arthur Fiedler leaves hospital weak, but determined to return to podium

BOSTON (AP) — Weak from brain surgery but determined to return to the Boston Pops orchestra podium, 84-year-old maestro Arthur Fiedler has returned home from a 16-day hospital stay. Doctors are optimistic that rest and home cooking will allow Fiedler to resume his conducting career, but won't speculate when. Fiedler's wife predicted he would be waving his baton by spring.

A frail yet cheerful Fiedler exchanged quips with reporters Wednesday as he checked out of the Tufts New England Medical Center, where he underwent the brain opera-scared to look at myself." When asked what he would do when he got home, Fielder responded, "Go

Will he retire? "Eventually, yes." But for now, Fiedler wants only to return to the Boston Pops, the orchestra he has personified since 1930. "I'll try to get well as soon as possible and then go back to work and continue my career," he said.

Fiedler underwent surgery for a buildup of fluid on the brain, a condition that made it difficult for him to walk. Doctors drilled a hole in his skull to drain the liquid.

Course set in Chicano literature

ODESSA - A blending of cultures, old and new, is involved in the study of Chicano literature at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

Dr. Genaro J. Perez, assistant professor of Spanish, will be the instructor for the course which meets on Tuesday and Thursday at 2 p.m. in CR 220.

According to Perez, Chicano literature is a study of human experience within the two cultures of Mexico and the United States.

"The Mexican War of 1846-48 brought about a mingling of cultures creating new themes, new language, new expressive forms and in another sense continuing ancient Mexican myths and stories," he said. Perez said Spanish 452, Mexican- American Literature, will introduce the students to Chicano literature and how it relates to Mexican and Latin American literature. The course, conducted in English, is open to Spanish and literature majors as well as anyone wishing to become better acquainted with the Mexican-Ameri-

Spring registration at UTPB is Jan. 11 and 12 in th student lounge from 9 a.m. to noon and from 2 to 7 p.m. with late registration continuing through Jan. 30. Students can enroll in this course through Encore, the no-grade op-tion. The student receives a no-grade on his academic record, which does not affect his grade point average. The only requirement in 60 semester hours of previous college work, as set forth by the Texas Legislature for all upper-level schools.

Minority firefighters fight ruling

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Minority fire-fighters in Oakland say they probably will go to court to seek reinstatement of a preferential hiring plan that has been thrown out by an appeals

James White, a lawyer for the minority firefighters, said in an interview Wednesday: "It's likely the case will be appealed because of its importance. This has placed the Bakke decision in the employment field."

The 1st District Court of Appeal cited the U.S. Supreme Court's Bakke decision when it ruled 3-0 Tuesday that a Superior Court judge acted uncon-stitutionally when he ordered Oakland - because of past discrimination - to hire two minority firefighters for every new white firefighter.

In the Bakke case, the Supreme Court ruled that the University of California at Davis vio-lated the civil rights of Allan Bakke, a white applicant to the medical school, with a special admissions program that admitted some minorities with lower test scores. The executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union in California, Dorothy Ehrlich, called the Court of Appeal decision "inexplicable." She said the ACLU would support an appeal to the state Supreme Court.

This drawing illustrates the FAA's new regulations on controlled air space around airports and increasing radar services at 80 carrier airports, including Midland Regional Airport.

Pilots will oppose program

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Federal Aviation Administration plan to tighten traffic controls around the nation's airports faces strong opposition from a powerful private pilots' group.

John L. Baker, president of the 220,000-member Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association, contended after the FAA announcement Wednesday that the new policies would restrict private pilots' freedom of access to many airports.

He said his organization "will call on the more than three-quarters of a million pilots and their families and their business associates to form a massive attack on the FAA's programs.

Baker said AOPA will take its case to Congress and the public, but did not elaborate.

There were other indications, however, that the opposition might take the form of an organized "fly-in" in which hundreds of planes would be flown to Washington.

It is expected that the private pilots will state their case during public hearings on the FAA plan to upgrade 44 airports to terminal controls areas, the agency's highest safety rating.

In announcing the plan, FAA administrator Langhorne Bond said he did not feel it would result in a dislocation of the private general aviation sector. But he said some small user groups, such as non-licensed student pilots, might be affected at some airports during certain periods.

"Business and private aircraft with the right equipment will be perfectly eligible to go into the major airports,' Bond said. He added that "this program will provide greater safety for all concerned.

The FAA action was spurred by the Sept. 25 aerial collision over San Diego between a jet airliner and a small Cessna flown by a pilot making a practice landing approach. The crash, worst U.S. aviation disaster in history, killed 144 per-

The FAA plan will improve safety at 124 U.S. airports serving 97 per-cent of the scheduled airline travelers. Bond said it will provide increased protection against inflight collisions and estimated it would reduce by 80 percent the number of near collisions involving aircraft operating above 10,000 feet.

The program calls for increasing radar services at 80 airports, establishing terminal control areas at 44 and putting most of the bu-siest air routes above 10,-000 feet under direct air traffic control. An additional 330 air traffic controllers will be hired.

Midland airport to increase radar capability

Midland Regional Airport should be increasing its radar services by December 1979 as part of Federal Aviation Administration's nationwide program for airports.

The FAA Wednesday outlined its plan to upgrade its air safety programs around the country to avoid another San Diego incident in which 144 persons died in a crash involving a private plane and a Pacific Southwest Airline jet.

Midland is on the FAA's Phase I list for terminal radar service which calls for the establishment of this program in salected airports by December 1979. The first Terminal Radar Service Area will be established within six months in San Diego, according to an FAA spokesman.

control tower said Midland has been in Phase II for several years, which is a prelude for Stage III, to which it will now be upgraded:

Stage II provides radio advisory and sequencing now. Stage III will take it one step further to sequencing and separation of aircrafts. "It's a voluntary participation on the pilot's part," Stevens said of the radar services. "But about 90 percent of all visual fight rule pilots use it." Basically, the service will make the area "safer," said a spokesman with the Southwest Regional office of FAA

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)

— In all the months Lu Rogers Schroeder has been preparing her orchestra for monthly concerts, not one musician has missed rehearsal. Quite a feat, she says, considering the average age is 86.

During a recent con-cert of the Chateau Nursing Home Symphony, the 22 musicians sat at attention, waiting for the downbeat from the maestro, who introduced a program including Bach, Beethoven and even the Grateful Dead.

Mrs. Schroeder swung around to the piano, her assistant conductors waved their batons and the Chateau Symphony percussionists began to play their bells, triangles and drums.

"Give me more bells ... no, softer now ... just a soft twinkle with the triangles ... all right, hit with those sticks. This is Beethoven's 'Ode to Joy' ... I want to hear lots of rhythm," the maestro urged.

Some musicians could only shake the bells with stiff wrists; others had difficulty hearing Mrs. Schroeder's voice, but they could see the maestro and her assistants. One man can't see, but he got the beat and swung into a drum solo and roll he could be proud of.

Arms and hands, crippled and barely mobile from strokes, arthritis and various other encumbrances of age and ills somehow kept the tempo, never tired and all ended together.

"It's amazing how much music they can get out of bells, triangles and sticks," said Chateau administrator Jerry Sansby To the musicians, Mrs. Schroeder is the maestro, but Sansby said her real title is music thera-

"She had the notion that it was a lot more fun exercising and coordinating and getting the brain cells functioning again if everybody could play an instrument," Sansby said.

Encore popular

Learning is a continu-ing process for everyone, especially for those in the professional field.

Encore, a new program now in its second semester at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin, requires no degree, no study and no exams.

It is designed to bring to campus various students with different hopes, interests and reasons for taking the courses they choose. Robert Warmann, director of admissions, said Encore attracted 20 students this fall, including several area professional people.

"Some chose to take courses to increase their knowledge in their specific area of expertise, update their training with new information from recent research or broaden their educational training to encompass new duties and responsibilities in their jobs," Warmann said.

Taking courses the Encore way eliminates worry about exams, outside assignments or grades. The encore student receives a no-grade (NG) on his academic record which does not affect his grade point aver-

'We think this offers a great opportunity for those persons who really do not need another degree, but who may be interested in getting updated information acquiring new manage-ment or financial skills, or just taking a course for a complete change of pace," Warmann explained. More than 350 courses are being offered at UTPB this spring ranging from psychology to computer science. All courses are open to Encore students. Spring registration is Jan. 11 and 12 in the student lounge from 9 a.m. to noon and from 2 to 7

Levi denies blue jean conspiracy

NEW YORK (AP) — Levi Strauss & Co. denies conspiring to keep the prices of its blue jeans high by pressuring re-tailers but has agreed to pay $25,000 in penalties and costs to end a suit brought by New York

The state's suit, filed in 1974 by Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, alleged the company stopped dealing with stores which sold the firm's jeans at less than the suggested retail price. The attorney general said they also withheld supplies from stores which cut prices below the suggested price and threatened dealers with termination if they advertised "close-outs" or "seconds" using the Levi's trademark. Levi Strauss denied the allegations but agreed to pay the $25,000 in penalties and costs, Lefkowitz said Wednes-

The suit also said some retailers had participated in the conspiracy with Levi's by informing the company of retailers who were selling Levi's products at a discount and then asking the comcounters

Sporadic Hawks hold off Spurs to halt win streak

By The Associated Press

The Atlanta Hawks had just ended a record-tying winning streak by the San Antonio Spurs and tied a clut record of their own by scoring 40 points in the first quarter, yet Coach Hubie Brown was still fussing.

The Hawks led San Antonio 100-75 after three quarters but managed only 15 in the final period to beat the Spurs 115-107 Wednesday night.

"We lost our composure in the last 12 minutes," said Brown, "and that kind of detracted from the win."

John Drew scored 28 points for At-lanta and Eddie Johnson nad 21 to help pull the Hawks within two games of first-place San Antonio in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Conference Central Division. San Antonio brought an eight-game winning streak into the game, tying the longest string in the club's history.

In other NBA games, Detroit clobbered Houston 131-119, Philadelphia downed Indiana 122-110, New York defeated New Jersey 115-104, Boston beat Kansas City 112-103, Los Angeles edged Golden State 106-104 and Seattle walloped New Orleans 122-103.

Brown attributed Atlanta's fourthquarter doldrums to two things: "First, fatigue to some key people and secondly, to turnovers. Definitely turnovers. They had no second shots for three quarters. In the last quarter, it's hard to explain how we blew a 25-point lead."

Atlanta led all the way. After the Hawks' 40-point first quarter, they led by 11, and they went in front by 14, 68-54, at the half, avenging a 124-111 loss in San Antonio Tuesday night.

"It was a big game for us," said Drew. "We really needed it. San Antonio is a team we're going to be battling all the way for a playoff spot, and we had to beat then at home.

Pistons 131, Rockets 119

M.L. Carr scored 21 of his 36 points in the first half as Detroit rebounded from the worst defeat in its history the night before - a 143-84 drubbing in Milwaukee. Carr and Bob Lanier. who scored 29 points, led a first-half surge that saw Detroit lead by as many as 23 points.

Rudy Tomjanovich helped keep Houston in the game with 18 points before he left with a broken nose with 14 seconds remaining before halftime. Tomjanovich sustained multiple fractures of his face last season when he was punched by Kermit Washington, then with Los Angeles. but this time it was an accident. Randy is very important to out football team, mainly because at this point Martin hasn't regained the level of performance that he had last year."

Landry openly pumps White for the NFL Defensive Player of the Year, something he seldom does.

"I feel real good about my season," said White: "I was just reacting on instinct last year. I know the system much better now. Of course, I don't think anyone has ever learned The Flex all the way except for Tom and (defensive coordinator) Ernie

"This is the second season now," said White. "This is what it's all about - the playoffs. This is what we've been sweating since August for." And now young Kenn and Scott can join in the sweating at 3 p.m. in Texas

One more time for Tomjanovich

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) - Rudy Tomjanovich, the former Michigan star whose face was badly battered in a notorious fight last year, suffered another broken nose Wednesday night, this one accidental.

Playing for the Houston Rockets, Tomjanovich was whacked by Detroit's M.L. Carr just 14 seconds before the first half ended.

As Carr remembered it, he was in his follow-through on a pass, but those who saw the game thought he was taking a shot. Tomjanovich was guarding him.

"I just hope nobody was too bored," said Southern Methodist Coach Sonny Allen after his Mustangs romped to an 89-61 nonconference basketball victory over winless California-San SMU's win was the only Southwest Conference action Wednesday, but the conference slate fills up a little tonight. Texas plays at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif., and Texas Tech takes on No. 8 Michigan in the first round of El Paso's Sun Bowl Classic.

Allen's son Billy, a SMU freshman, made his father proud in Wednesday's game. He scored 21 points, tops for the Mustangs.

and never trailed, but both clubs were sluggish at first. After 10 minutes of play the score was SMU 8, San Diego 4.

The win raised Southern Methodist's record to 4-5. San Diego, which stays in Texas for a match against Texas Christian Friday night, dropped to 0-7.

Gallagher, Delk win tourney

By RANDY ISENBERG

Brent Gallagher and Jerry Delk won their second straight Air Park Holiday Tournament Sunday after overcoming a second round defeat to Bobby Bumpass and Jim Newton, who eventually finished in third Gallagher averaged 204 for the 14 games and with Delk averaged 199. To win the championship and $140 first place prize money, the winning twosome defeated the winner's bracket team of Mark Triplett and Rick Daughtrey in two straight matches.

GALLAGHER BOWLED games of 244 and 234 in the first match for a 478 set, pacing his twosome to an 893-803 victory over Daughtrey and Triplett. In the final game, Daughtrey rolled 222, Triplett a 200, Delk a 224 and Gallagher a 234.

Bumpass, who will be joining the Pro Tour this week in Anaheim, Calif., bowled the tournament's high game of 247 while Gallagher's 478 edged out Bumpass's 459 for high two-game honors. Daughtrey and Triplett finished in second place, earning $90.

It's the old master against the heir apparent in the 45th Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans on New Year's Day.

Rarely has college football cooked up a game with more impressive credentials - physical and intangible. Penn State and Alabama are two fine teams, No.1 and No.2 in the national rankings, each strong, quick and aggressive, so closely matched that odds-makers can't make up their

They have tabbed it a "pick 'em" game

Most observers feel it will be decided on the sidelines — a battle of wits and wizardry between Alabama's 65year-old Paul William Bryant - the fabled "Bear" - with his record of 283 victories, and Penn State's clerkish Joe Paterno, 52, whose 13-year record of 123-24-1 for .834 gives him the best winning percentage among active coaches.

Different in background, methods and personality, they share a common harness in their philosophies of the game. Both like the challenge of the campus sport, the opportunity to take a hunk of awkward flesh and turn it into a skilled artisan. Both have repeatedly spurned attractive offers to go with the pros.

Bryant is a tall, stoop-shouldered man always distinguished by a checkered hat. Arkansas-born, an Alabama end, he was renowned as a strict disciplinarian — but always a winner — as his head coaching career took him from Maryland to Kentucky to Texas A&M, finally lodging at his alma mater, where he has been for the past 21 years.

"I don't do much coaching any more," Bryant drawls modestly. "I am a chairman of the board." He says he has mellowed, but don't believe that. He still is the boss - and a good

Both Alabama and Penn State have strong incentives. The Crimson Tide still is smarting over the selection of Notre Dame as No.1 a year ago, the Fighting Irish leaping over the second-ranked Tide after beating undefeated, top-rated Texas in the Cotton Bowl. Penn State will be striving to

With little to choose between personnel, Alabama likely will be at a higher emotional pitch and play the more physical game.

Here's a look at the major bowls: SUGAR BOWL

Alabama 25, Penn State 17: Although Penn State has the country's best defense statistically, Alabama has the more resourceful offense with Jeff Rutledge and Tony Nathan overshadowing gifted Chuck Fusina.

ROSE BOWL Southern California 33, Michigan 24: The Wolverines can't shake their Rose Bowl jinx. It's doubtful that Rick Leach, at his best, will outshine Charles White. The winner could lay claim to No.1.

COTTON BOWL Notre Dame 19, Houston 15: The Fighting Irish waited a long time to get into the bowl act. They seem to relish it, always play well. ORANGE BOWL

Nittany Lions to close practices

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Penn State Coach Joe Paterno says he is closing his practices for the New Year's Day football showdown against Alabama because he plans to make some changes and doesn't want strangers to see what is going on.

"We draw all kinds of people - the pros, the Tulane (University) staff, and some you don't even know,' Paterno said after his 11-0 team's second day of practice at Tulane Stadium. "For example, defensively, we're bama's Wishbone," he said. "It only takes one person to tell someone else that 'I've been over watching Penn State, and they're going to play the Wishbone this way. "I know it's not malicious, but it gets around." He also said he never likes people watching his practices - watching the way he coaches - even at home during the regular season. "If I want to chew out a kid, I don't want an audience," he said. "Who knows, maybe later, I'll feel that I making adjustments to handle Ala-

Paterno said that Alabama Coach Bear Bryant also practices behind locked doors and that he doesn't blame him.

The Penn State coach talked a little about what he expected in Monday's contest for the national collegiate football championship.

He said Bryant likes to use the Wishbone so he can get one-on-one pass coverage whenever he wants. "I'm sure he's planning some surprises. He plays more offense than the Wishbone," Paterno said. "He uses the I formation, and when we played him in 1975 (in the Sugar Bowl), he came out with split backs. We may see the double wing."

He said he wouldn't be surprised if Bryant did what Temple tried on Penn State in the opening game of the season when the Owls from Philadelphia had their kicker throw a pass. "His (Bryant's) kicker can pass a little," Paterno said. The coach said that Penn State doesn't do as many things on offense

'We're more conservative," he said. "And you have to remember that Alabama is one of the few option teams that doesn't kick the ball around. They're well coached."

Paterno was asked if he felt that Alabama had a psychological edge because it was ranked No. 2, a notch behind Penn State.

"Not really," he said. "I think we're the hunter. We've been hunting (a national championship) for 29 years (since Paterno took a job as an assistant coach at Penn State.) We've felt we had to win them all to get the national title. I think both teams are in the same spot. It's a one-game shot to win the national championship."

Gems slate meeting

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) - The Dayton Gems have scheduled a meeting of principal owners today in hopes of gaining a general manager and revitalizing the franchise.

The International Hockey League team hopes to convince Keith Sprunk to accept the job of general manager of the club, which has been held in suspension for the last two winters.

Crimson Tide spending time at Bear Bijou

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — There's nothing much to do in Tuscaloosa these days. Except for the football team, the Alabama campus is fairly deserted for the holidays. And the football team is spending much of its time at the movies.

Not the Palace Theater or the Cinema One but rather the Bear Bryant Bijou, where there are 11 G-rated for Great — feature football films to choose from, one for each of undefeated, No.1-ranked Penn State's 11 victories this season. The Alabama team is so impressed it appears the stars were Clark Gable and Greta Garbo rather than Chuck Fusina &

If Alabama had any doubts about Penn State's ability - which they did those doubts have been erased.

"The impression I got from watching the films is a good one, I'll tell you," quarterback Jeff Rutledge said Wednesday after Bama's next-to-last on-campus Sugar Bowl workout. The Crimson Tide was to arrive in New Orleans Thursday for Monday's shoo-

"They're a great football team. It's hard to find any weaknesses on their defense. They've held the opposition to 54 yards a game rushing and that tells you a lot. They don't have any weaknesses. They deserve the No.1 ranking. They're a big, fast, smart football team.

"I've seen all the films and they look good in all of them. Their defensive tackles control the run pretty good. What great teams have, they have, and I'm not saying that just because we're going to play them. It's the truth. It's hard to win 11 straight games, I don't care who you play.'

Rutledge admits he had some doubts about Penn State's No.1 ranking because the Nittany Lions didn't play teams like Southern California or Nebraska.

"They didn't play the schedule we did," he said. "I wondered how good the teams were they played. But after seeing how North Carolina State killed Pitt in the Tangerine Bowl ...

While Rutledge was watching Penn State's defense, linebacker Barry Krauss zeroed in on the Nittany Lions' offense, run by All-America quarterback Chuck Fusina.

'They execute well, they don't fumble, they don't take too many penalties, they're well-disciplined and they show a lot of class," he said. "They don't run anything fancy, just basic plays, but they execute very well, they have good blocking techniques and Fusina hits his receivers well. It will definitely be a test for our defense because they can run and pass.

"They might try one or two gimmicks, but I think they'll do what they've done all year - try to blow you out. They come straight at you and bowl people out of there. It will be a physical game.

'When I first saw their schedule, I said they didn't play anybody good. Then I saw the films. We'll have to go out and hit them because their backs aren't afraid to take on people like linebackers. But I like a good hardnosed football game. I don't go for yelling and stuff like that. I like to hit someone and help them up. We're trying to have a good time out there."

Sealy superstar denies committment to Texas

CONROE, Texas (AP) - Highly sought Sealy High School running back Eric Dickerson acknowledges he has made a few visits to the University of Texas, but he complains people have taken that to mean he has made up his mind to attend UT. Dickerson says he is still undecided.

"One thing that makes me mad is that I keep reading that I'm going to Texas," Dickerson, who gained 297 yards in his final schoolboy game last week, told the Conroe Courier. "I have been up to Austin three times (once to see Texas play and twice for playoff games). To tell you the truth I'm not impressed with the Dickerson admitted "I'm so con-

Dickerson says he knew that Tech and SMU needed running backs. Asked about rumors he had a bad attitude, Dickerson says "Yes there have been rumors I had a bad attitude. Those kind of rumors have really hurt." Dickerson was once kicked off the track team after a disagreement with Coach Ralph Harris. "When Coach Harris came here from Dublin he used to pick me out of a group when he found it necessary to reprimand someone," says Dickerson. "I got the feeling he was picking on me.

Harris says he hopes Dickerson goes to Texas. 'We think it would be a great place for him to be," says Harris. "We were really impressed with Coach (Fred) Dickerson says he was not ruling Akers and their staff."

Detroit lawyer not upset about losing Leon Spinks

DETROIT (AP) - Detroit attorney Edward Bell says he's not upset about losing perhaps his best known client.

"You know, clients come, clients go," Bell said Wednesday after he was fired by former world heavyweight boxing champion Leon

'He didn't give any reasons. He and his wife just came in and told me," said Bell, who has a lucrative practice representing many professional athletes.

Bell said he had only an oral agreement, entered in March, to represent the trouble-prone fighter. "I told him anytime he was unhappy with my work, he could leave,'

said Bell. "Apparently he was unhappy ... but the parting was amica-Bell and associates in his firm have

Army couldn't win recruiting war

Los Angeles Times Syndicate

The United States Military Academy is an imposing structure of stone and cathedral glass that stands as a gray battlement overlooking the majestic Hudson River at West Point.

Robert E. Lee went there. U.S. Grant, MacArthur, Pershing, Patton. It has always been America's pride. It is to us what St. Cyr was to France, Sandhurst to Britain. Families used to flock to the parade drills to thrill to the precision marching of the cadets. Officers and gentlemen, all. The Long Grey Line.

Movies like "Flirtation Walk," with Dick Powell playing First Captain in his dress grey-and-whites and Priscilla Lane on his arm, filled theaters and the dreams of young boys all over the country. Old generals spoke of the "Corps," the way old prophets spoke

Someone decided that just the thing this citadel of American history needed was a football team. A winning football team. Although the word wasn't in use at that time, it was thought the academy's macho image demanded it.

in the consolation game.

Still, if you were over 6-4, you were too tall for the cadet corps. If you were over 200, you were too heavy.

Army found a way aound this in the old days. You could be eligible to play at West Point even after you had completed your four-year eligibility at Purdue or wherever. Army just reached out and persuaded the cream of the graduating football classes to enroll at the Academy. They were fielding a team that, in another era, would be the Green Bay Packers.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT put a stop to this and the medics got around the weight-height requirements with waivers. But nobody could do anything about the trigonometry. You needed officers who could be counted on not to fire cannon on their own troops, and could not only read Clausewitz but understand what he was talking about.

But, once the recruitment infighting began as colleges realized how much big money there was in football, the kind of kids you needed to beat Ohio State took one look at the cadet regimen and laughed.

Noboby wanted to get up at 5:30 in the morning, march in formation, clean his room, change his uniform, sweep out the barracks, march to breakfast (30 minutes, gentlemen, eat up!) and then attend classes all day inthe kinds of subjects that give you a headache. At call-to-quarters, 7:30 p.m., you had to be in your room. At 10:30, lights out. As a reward for all this, you might be the first guy shot in a rice paddy some day.
You can see where this made Bear

Bryant's work easier. But, in August, 1951, a shocking blow struck the cadets' hallowed "Honor Code." Ninety cadets were caught cribbing on exams, 37 of them football players, given the answers to tests the day before they took them.

A large body of opinion in this country has never been in favor of the military elite anyway - although they're glad enough to have them when someone bombs Pearl Harbor, or Hitler turns west - and this seemed to them proof positive the war machine is born corrupt.

THE ACADEMY had to retrench further, but since it could not offer courses on "Theory of the Modern Dance" or "Rug Making II," and since most playes were going to college to get a million-dollar contract, not an education or a commission, Army was out in the cold. Even the Army-Navy game no longer sold out. In fact, people only went to see the halftime show.

It got so our army not only couldn't win in Korea, it couldn't even beat Boston College. The Lafayette game became a biggie.

The other day, a coach whose record at the Academy was 21-33-1 was fired. He did not go quietly. He took the "Honor Code" with him. Homer Smith charged our bastion of American history, that parade ground of officers and gentlemen, with recruiting excesses and cheating ranging from prepschool scholarships to illegal on-campus recruiting visits and practice sesson tryouts for prospective recruits in violation of NCAA rules. Homer made John Dean look as if he was holding back.

There would seem to be two solutions to the dilemma: either drop football - or drop West Point. That would be a real tragedy to the country. I mean, what would we do without the Army-Navy game?

Cards shock third-ranked UCLA

By The Associated Press

The first thing Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps thought about after ending an 18-day layoff with an easy win was a weekend visit to Freedom Hall in Louisville. And the first thing Stanford Coach Dick DiBiaso thought about was calling home.

The second-ranked Fighting Irish had an easy time with St. Francis, Pa., Wednesday night, scoring a 96-43 victory. Later in the evening, thirdranked UCLA was upset 75-72 by Pacific-10 rival Stanford.

"Everyone is eligible after exams," Phelps said, "And we're looking forward to Saturday's game in Louis-

PHELPS WAS happy with the way his team readjusted after the Christmas break. Orlando Woolridge scored 18 points and Bruce Flowers added 16 for Notre Dame, which opened a 33-16 lead with 4:04 left in the half after a

"We needed this game to get back into the flow," said Phelps. "The first three minutes, we were obviously not in the flow. We started to play sound defense when we widened the margin to 17 points.'

Stanford also got back into the flow Wednesday night, but it had to be a strange feeling for DiBiaso. The win was the first for his Cardinals over UCLA in seven tries over four seasons. And it was UCLA's first conference loss in three seasons.

"I think I'll call home and say 'Dad, I forgot to be humble," said.

There were only two other games involving ranked teams Wednesday night, which also marked the start of several traditional yearend tournaments. No. 15 Georgetown clobbered Southern University 97-58. No. 18 Kan-

As Phelps substituted liberally in the second half, St. Francis, which had cut Notre Dame's lead to 39-26 at halftime, went cold, hitting on only six of 33 shots from the field. The Red Flash also had 20 turnovers in the second half.

THEN THINGS came unraveled.

UCLA went into a stall after a Stanford basket closed the gap to 72-70 with 3:49 left. That backfired when David Greenwood missed a free throw with 1:37 left and Stanford got the rebound.

Stanford's Orlando Ward was fouled and made one of two free throws to make it 72-71. The ball bounced out of bounds off Greenwood after the second free-throw attempt missed, and Stanford stalled until 15 seconds were left.

Reserve center Jeff Ryan then hit a bank shot with two seconds to go to put Stanford ahead 73-72, and he was fouled. Ryan missed the foul shot, but Ward tapped it in for the final mar-

Another year passes and again it is time to pause and consider. The parade of televised sports events continues. Eventually it will reach overexposure and begin to decline, but we are not there yet.

The important thing is that, with precious few exceptions, sports is the only spontaneous commodity left on TV. Almost everything else is prerecorded and packaged, worked out according to a script, spoon-fed to a target audience according to a market-tested formula. The bad guys win guys finish on top in the final 15.

But there are no good or bad guys in sports, only fan preferences. And no one knows who will win or lose. Sports is live drama, for the most part, and the ending is never known until it happens. True, TV has added its own brand with special packaging, hype and technology, but the basic ingredients remain — two or more forces striving for victory that only one will Football continued to prosper although there were some signs of slippage in the ratings, particularly in college football. Baseball, boosted by Pete Rose and four good division races, did well in the ratings.

College basketball was up slightly and pro basketball was down significantly, particularly the NBA championship series. Boxing continued as a solid draw, hockey failed to make a network comeback, soccer got a TV contract, golf and tennis remained of interest to a limited but influential

The so-called "minor" sports, like gymnastics, ice skating and weightlifting, found a welcome home on the anthology shows. And bowling continued to plug along successfully on Saturday afternoons.

USAC opts for low speed, costs

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club has decided to conduct its top level of auto racing with less speed, lower costs and hopes that combination will produce more competitive racing, the organization's president said Wednesday.

The slower speeds will come from decisions to allow modified American stock engines in the 1979 Indianapolis 500 and to limit manifold pressure on turbocharged engines participating in championship car events. USAC

Error could make Horner free agent

ATLANTA (AP) - The Atlanta Braves may have made a mistake in their contract offer to Bob Horner that could make the National League Rookie of the Year a free agent for 1979, The Atlanta Constitution reported today. The newspaper quoted Marvin Miller, director of the Major League Players Association, as saying the Braves "may have been the victims of some bad advice when they made their contract offer to Horner condition-

Miller was called into the negotiations at the request of Horner's agent, Bucky Woy, and the newspaper said he was interviewed in New York by

"I think that if this goes all the way to an arbitrator, he will be forced to conclude that the Braves did not make a firm contract offer by the Dec. 20 deadline as stated in the players-management basic agreement and that Bob Horner is, in fact, a free agent," Miller was quoted as

The Braves mailed Horner, their 21-year-old third baseman, a contract the day of the Dec. 20 deadine and simutaneously filed a grievance. The contract called for a salary of $146,400 for 1979, meeting the 80-percent minimum which Woy computed the Braves must initially offer his client. But Miller and Woy cited a stipulation that the figure must be upheld in arbitration. "Because of the stipulation ... that is not a firm tendered offer," Miller said. "The Braves are dealing with ifs and qualifications and it is very clear that a firm offer must be made by Dec. 20. I don't know why the Braves filed a grievance. All Mr. Woy has done is express an opinion of what he feels Mr. Horner is worth to the Braves. That's hardly a reason for the Braves to file a grievance.'

President Dick King made the announcement after meeting with operators of seven major auto racing tracks. Joe Cloutier, president of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, said the entry blank for the Indy 500, which is USAC's major event of the year, will be revised to allow the modified stock King said a formula will be worked out to determine how much reduction will be required in the turbocharger manifold pressure so that cars driven by the stock engines will be able to compete on an equal basis with engines like the Cosworth V-8.

USAC's board of directors approved the revisions in a telephone poll, said Cloutier, who is a member of the board. He added that formal approval is expected at the board's next meeting on Jan. 6.

An 11-event schedule for 1979, starting with the Ontario Twin 200 in California on March 18, also was announced by King.

The new rules for USAC races come after a group of unhappy championship car owners broke away from USAC to form a group known as Championship Auto Racing Teams CART, which includes top race car owners such as A.J. Foyt, Dan Gurney and Roger Penske, has been sactioned by the Sports Car Club of America. The group has said it will run its own events.

USAC's decisions represent an apparent setback to CART, which had said it hoped to conduct a full schedule of events with stops at the tracks which have now decided to maintain old ties with USAC.

The only CART races announced thus far are in Phoenix in March and in Michigan in July. Both events will be held at tracks headed by individuals who have joined CART.

"We didn't ask them to go away, and we would welcome them back, said King about the CART owners. He said they would be eligible for the USAC events as long as the drivers hold valid licenses and the cars meet USAC specifications.

Other dates announced by King

Facing the ax after this season are several Alpine skiers who were demoted from the A to B team, including downhiller Karl Anderson, 25, of Greene, Maine; Geoff Bruce, also 25, Corning, N.Y.; Maggie Crane, 21, Plymouth, N.H.; Mary Seaton, 22, Hancock, Mich., and Eric Wilson, 21, Montpelier, Vt.

he's waived out. The new, more professional Ski Team is significant because it marks the emergence of this country's international ski racing program from adolescence into early adulthood.

skier is Heidi Preuss, a 17-year-old from Lakeport, N.H.

Preuss, an A Team member last season who had several top 10 results in the 1976-77 World Cup season, was demoted to the B Team this season after spending much of the 1977-78 season sidelined by a back injury.

"Exceptions to the above general policies and guidelines may be made from time to time ...," the statement says. "Injuries to competitors will be considered in making any such exceptions.'

In addition, USSEF is putting its emphasis on youth this season, and this is clearly spelled out in the trustees' statement.

"Young competitors 'on the way up will generally be given priority in team selection over older competitors of approximately equal ability," the statement says, "particularly with respect to older competitors whose athletic performances appear to have

Holocaust victim never suspected he was adopted

By CYNTHIA VICE ACOSTA

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) - When Charles Kane's mother died, he discovered she was not his mother at all, that the sister he had grown up with was not his sister — that 30 years after World War II he had become another victim of the Holocaust.

Kane's real parents were executed in the ovens that exterminated six million Jews during World

"It was such a big surprise ... I felt disjointed," he said. "I think that the modern trend is to tell children the truth. I think they should be told regardless of the circumstances."

Kane said he had never suspected he was adopted. The death of his adoptive mother led him to unravel the mystery of his early childhood. A month after she died he found a dusty, sealed envelope containing his adoption papers. Henry and Jacqueline Kane, both Jews, had adopted him when he was 5 years old.

Then, at age 35, Kane set out to find his real identity through letters and telephone calls to Jewish relief agencies around the world. One of these inquiries produced a short typewritten letter that told him he had two older sisters in Belgium: Astrid and Madeline.

Astrid wrote: "Now, after 35 years — such a long time — we have found one another."

The discovery of a new family put a strain on Kane's relationship with his adoptive sister in San Juan. "I act the same toward her, but she doesn't want to talk about it. I guess she feels that I'm gaining two sisters and she's losing a brother," he Kane feels he has satisfied himself about his past, saying, "The obsession is over now." Yet he devotes much of his salary as a high school teacher to trips that will reveal secrets about his family.

He flew to Brussels to meet his sisters last December, plans a trip to Israel next summer and talks of going to Germany for information on his family. He also said he wants to write a book about his experi-

Kane recalls with tenderness his first meeting with his sisters at the Brussels airport. He said they kissed and hugged each other as if they had known each other all their lives.

The three Eckhaus children's parents, Benjamin and Celli, were living in Belgium at the time of their deaths. A Romanian, Eckhaus was arrested in 1943 in front of a crowded marketplace while trying to escape Hitler's SS troops. Sworn statements made by concentration camp survivors said that he was seen taken to the crematorium.

When his mother learned that she also would be taken prisoner, Kane said, she put her daughters in a Catholic orphanage near her home.

"I was 6 months old," he said. "The orphanage would only take 1- and 2-year-old children and I had already been circumcised" — making it easier to tell he was a Jew. Kane said his mother put him in the care of a woman friend should the mother not

She was arrested a few days later, and two sworn statements attest that she was seen on the back of a truck taking prisoners to the ovens in Birkenbau. Astrid and Madeline, 1 and 2 when they went to the orphanage, were told by the nuns when they turned For years they searched vainly for another Eck-haus through the different organizations that listed families torn apart by the war, and their inquiries and his crossed in one agency's file.

If only for his sisters, Kane is glad he pursued his identity rather than follow the advice of some who told him to let the past rest.

"It wouldn't have been fair to them," he said. Now he speaks proudly of a cousin-a rabbi-he recently discovered in Los Angeles, of the uncle he found in New York, and of a cousin living in Israel.

He wants to visit the cousin in Israel but he has another reason to go there, he says. "I'll go with much more fervor to inscribe my mother and father's names of the list of war heroes.'

JIMMY'S WHITE HOUSE

White House aides almost stranded by Carter's illness

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) - If President Carter's painful hemorrhoid attack had forced him to cancel his holiday trip home, several White House aides who hitched a ride home to Georgia on Air Force One would have been stranded.

The president's bout with hemorrhoids caused him to cancel his appointments and stay in bed Thursday, the day before he was scheduled to leave. That threw the trip in doubt until Friday morning.

But since Carter's condition improved, his plane took off as scheduled in mid-afternoon carrying not only the first family, but Carter's chief adviser, Hamilton Jordan; press secretary Jody Powell, his wife Nan and daughter Emily; and Carter aides Phil Wise and Hugh Carter Jr.

Rex Granum, deputy press secretary, and his wife flew to Georgia on the press plane that would not have gone either if Carter had canceled his trip.

Granum said that since both he and Powell spent part of the time in Georgia working they did not have to pay their own fare, although they did pay for their families' transportation. He said he did not know what arrangements the other aides made.

A White House spokesman said the administration policy is to charge aides who use the president's plane for personal transportation first-class air fare plus tax plus one dollar.

Though his destination was Plains, the president stopped first at an Atlanta hospital to visit his first stopped first at an Atlanta hospital to visit his first granddaughter, who was born three days earlier.

Reporters were not permitted to see the baby, so when they boarded Air Force One for the continuation of the journey they asked Hamilton Jordan to ask Rosalynn Carter what she thought of the baby.

Mrs. Carter sent Jordan back to tell the reporters that the baby, Sarah Rosemary, was beautiful, but added for Jordan's benefit that she had the president's tops.

Unbeknownst to Mrs. Carter, Jordan relayed that comment, too, creating some confusion as to how it is possible to identify such a resemblance.

At a fish fry the next day, Mrs. Carter was asked about her cryptic comment and explained that the baby had long, slim fingers and toes like the president, not the short stubby variety that apparently is also found in the Carter family.

"That's our provincial thinking," Harris says.
"Anywhere else in the world, like even in England, a standard-size Toyota would be considered a big car. They make great limousines. They're only three inches shorter in width than a Cadillac." Harris even stretched out a Volkwagen Beetle for an area dealer. He said it was the most expensive conversion he's done, costing $5,000 in 1972. "We couldn't do it now for $30,000," he said.

bars and refrigerators in their limos.'

WHEN HARRIS SAYS custom-made, he really means it. In his plant sits an auto in the process of conversion, destined for a dealer who won't tell Harris who is buying it. Included in the specifications are four hidden gun compartments and a safe. The gun compartments range in size from .45 caliber pistol to automatic rifle.

Manufacturers maintain warranties on the front half of the car, and Harris warrants the rear end and drive train, which must be adapted to the car's new length. The car's additional length, usually around two feet, is added in the center.

If you want a purple-and-orange Eldorado stretched out, with zebra-striped upholstery and a "Like one of our friends with Ford said, 'We'll work with you as long as you keep our reputation in tact," Harris said. Sooner or later, one has to ask about gangster cars. Harris has no doubt that some of his products end up carrying organized crime figures. "I don't know for sure, but there are signs," he said. "For instance, they would never buy one as ostentatious as the one on the floor (a sedate-looking, dark blue Cadillac). The tip-off is usually how the business is handled. "I got a call from a woman in California who said she saw a picture of one of our cars in a newspaper," Harris said. "I told her about a car we had available and she said her dad would call back. In an hour, he did. Then he flew in, and he had a big gorilla (bodyguard) with him.

"HE HAD A CASHIER'S check for $10,000 and wired me the rest the next day. There was no mistaking his name. His business was finding personnel for hotels. I told him about my brother-in-law, who was a chef. He said all he handled were croupiers and dealers and other gambler-type jobs. Now don't you think he was Mafia?"

The typical limo costs from $25,000 to $40,000, depending on what "toys" are desired.

It'll costs you $1,000 plus a third of the conversion cost up front, with the remainder due on delivery. Harris' market is international, and sales in Texas

"People in Texas drive their own cars," he said.
"I'd say 50 percent of the limousines in this country are in the Northeast, where there's no parking and a lot of elderly rich people who can't drive them-

Number of Iranian students studying in U.S. increases

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Despite the wave of anti-American feeling sweeping this country, the number of Iranian students seeking to study in the United States has increased dramatically this year, U.S. officials say.

American Embassy spokesman Barry Rosen said consular officials have approved some 25,000 requests for student visas, compared with 18,000 last

In addition, the number of Iranians receiving non-immigrant visas, which allow them to live temporarily in the United States, has increased between 20 and 30 percent this year, Rosen said.

"This is just issuance," he noted. "The refusal rate is about doubled." Precise figures were unavailable.

"We have more chaos here with visa applications than with people in the streets demonstrating against the shah," said a consular official in an outlying city who asked not to be identified.

The British Embassy reports a similar jump in the number of Iranians studying in Britain.

The exodus of young Iranians, many of them from wealthy families loyal to Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlayi stepped up after authorities decided against Pahlavi, stepped up after authorities decided against reopening Tehran University in September. Campuses had been hot-beds of anti-shah activity. Martial-law authorities have now closed all schools in Tehran because of anti-shah disorders.

One Iranian who sent his 16-year-old son to study in Britain said he had no choice because the schools had

"We really didn't want to do it," said the Iranian, who asked anonymity." But he's lost a whole year of school already, and with all this uncertainty we had no choice."

40-year-old Bowen has earned 'triple crown'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) -Jimmy Bowen says he always sang off key and has grown too old to disco. But he's earned music's triple crown as a singer, record producer and record company executive.

Bowen, a cheerful 40-year-old with a penchant for whaler's hats, made the winner's circle in 1957 with the rock 'n' roll hit, "I'm Stickin' With You." He gave up singing, switched to record producing and turned out a daily double of "Strangers in the Night" by Frank Sinatra and "Everybody Loves Somebody Sometime" by Dean Martin. And he's been an executive for MCA and MGM record companies here and in Los Angeles.

His musical derby began in Texas when he teamed with Buddy Knox of "Party Doll" fame. It continued in Los Angeles when he hooked up with Sinatra and Martin. And now he's in Nashville where he's associated with country music artists like Mel Tillis.

As a rock 'n' roller, he was a contemporary of Buddy Holly, Rick Nelson, Jerry Lee Lewis, Carl Perkins, Roy Orbison and Conway Twitty. In Nashville, he has joined other ex-rock stars like Bill Justis of "Raunchy" fame, Jimmy Gilmer who had "Sugar Shack" and "Bottle of Wine," Dave Burgess of the Champs and "Tequila" fame and Larry Henley of the Newbeats who recorded "Bread and Butter."

"I was a bad singer," Bowen recalled in an interview in his spacious second floor office. "I was always a one-eighth tone flat. But I was consis-

"The girls screamed all the time so I didn't know how bad I was," he said. "I just shook my butt and hoped they screamed.

"I quit making records in 1959 by mutual agreement with the public. I had eight people at a couple of shows and 20 at another."

He said he believes the disco rage today is much like the "Big Band" popularity three decades ago.

"I'm too old to dance, but disco is very important today. It's a parallel to the 'Big Band' days when everyone danced. Discos seem like places where people are the stars as opposed to a place where you sit and listen. It's like a big party.

He's not as complimentary of punk rock, which he calls "a passing

But he's betting someone will emerge soon to rival Sinatra, Elvis Presley and the Beatles in musical importance and success. "Music is spread again now, but usually there's one force like Sinatra or Elvis or the Beatles. In the next year or two, I think there will be another monster artist. For a while, I thought it might be Elton John. "The quality of rock is better than ever. The musicianship is better and the writing is better. It's better technically, too, with all the equipment you can use." For him, though, his career as recording artist has made one too

Miss Dickerson, who became the first woman network news correspondent in 1960, anchors an hour-long special, "A House Divided," that has been syndicated to nearly 150 stations for broadcast tonight.

'The House has changed fundamentally since I began covering it," Miss Dickerson says. "There is a different kind of politician on the Hill today. They're not nearly as responsive to party discipline. They came here with a tradition of opposing the leadership - the president.'

The program features interviews with a number of influential congressmen, including House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill and Reps. Morris Udall of Utah, David Obey of Wisconsin and Bruce Caputo of New York. It's an attempt to portray a House more responsive to the demands of well-organized special interests, one in which the voice of the public is threatened.

American firms take a beating in Iran turmoil

By GLENN RITT Associated Press Writer

The bloody hostilities befalling Iran are taking a severe toll on American corporations doing business there — from aerospace firms facing lost defense contracts worth billions to farmers staring at stacks of wheat for which Iranians cannot get credit.

The slaying of U.S. oil executive Paul Grimm last week highlights the physical danger in Iran for Americans, thousands of whom have fled the country in recent weeks.

Strikers in Iran have burned factories owned by Pepsico Inc., bottlers of Pepsi Cola. A plant assembling Cadillacs and Chevrolets has come to a virtual standstill. "With riots and curfews, people aren't out buying cars," says a General Motors Corp. official. U.S. exports to Iran, which skyrocketed in recent years to a record $3.4 billion in 1978, will plummet nearly $1 billion in 1979 because of tensions there, the U.S. Commerce Department projects.

Iran's problems have brewed for years, but few executives predicted they would erupt so violently in strikes and riots that have paralyzed supply lines, closed banks, dried up credit and dashed investor confidence among about 300 U.S. companies in OIL HAS BEEN THE MAGNET for many investors - from giant Exxon and Texaco to independent drillers, engineers, machinery makers and construction companies. Iran's oil reserves — estimated at 70 billion barrels - make it second only to Saudi Arabia as an oil producer among the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi has used the $20.7 billion in annual oil exports to fuel a highly ambitious modernization program attracting billions in U.S. contracts to expand the military, build highways, and develop telecommunications. The rude pace of Iran's modernization, however, has ignited old hatreds and brought new opposition to the shah. Strikes by oil workers have devastated the nation's oil exports, slashing about $2.5 billion from Iran's foreign exchange earnings this year.

"Religious Moslems are offended by the shah's attack on custom; the poor see revenues going to technology, not people; the middle class wants more democracy and the wealthy want more money," says Abe Moses, a Middle East specialist with Chase World Information Corp, an investment counselling

Street strife is reflected in lower U.S. corporate sales, and defense contractors are among the hardest hit. Contracts worth $12 billion to U.S. firms are now in the pipeline, Defense Department officials say, but their fate is in jeopardy.

BELL OPERATIONS CORP., a Textron subsidiary, suspended a $575 million helicopter production program after Iran missed a payment.

The shah has deferred contracts involving more than $2 billion for 140 F-16 fighters built by General Dynamics Corp. McDonnell Douglas Corp., Grumman Corp., and United Technologies Corp. also could lose hundreds of millions in future contracts.

"It must be stressed that no program, regardless of how much support it may have enjoyed in the past is immune from the pruning shears," says Michaell Smith of the U.S. Commerce Department.

"The market for construction equipment, in which U.S. suppliers have long excelled, will be particularly hard hit, as will sales of building materials of all kinds," Smith adds.

Even American farmers are feeling the pinch as Iranian buyers can't find credit. An affiliate of Louis Dreyfus Corp. refused to allow shiploads of wheat, worth about $10 million, to reach Iran because the government did not meet payments.

Quarterly U.S. rice exports to Iran have dwindled from an average of about 100,000 tons to 24,000 tons, says Michael Kurtzig, an Agriculture Department

AND THE DEPARTMENT'S Michael Phillips relates this story. "A soybean exporter I know asked an Iranian poultry producer if he was paying for soybean with money deposited in the United States or Iran. The poultryman said, 'Iran,' and the exporter said, 'No way.'

Rioters, meanwhile, have sacked almost 400 bank offices in Tehran alone and employees of the govern-ment's Central Bank have struck in recent months. About $3 billion has left the country for safer investment, and banks report difficulty maintaining depos-

The lost revenue comes as the shah, under political pressure, has awarded large salary increases to Iran's 900,000 government workers. This and the revenue pinch have led to an inflation rate some experts believe will reach 30 percent and to budget cuts that have forced cancellation or slowdowns of projects involving U.S. companies.

Westinghouse Electric Corp. hoped to cash in on Iran's ambitious program to build 24 nuclear generators, but the program has been cut to only four generators. "It looks like a lot of business we would go after is deferred. That hurts," says Marvin Thurn

General Telephone and Electronics Corp. has a $500 million contract to provide equipment for a $15 billion telecommunications project that may be cut back. GTE also has supply problems due to strikes.

STRIKES HAVE SEVERELY affected E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., which operates a polyester and acrylic factory in Iran. The factory has been safe from physical danger, says du Pont spokesman James Adshead, but riots elsewhere have reduced operations to 20 percent of capacity.

"Our problem really begins in the streets," he says. "Rioting and strikes close down shops and bazaars. Wholesalers have no merchants to sell garments to. Orders are halted ... inventories pile up. Sooner or later, it doesn't pay to stay open."

The Commerce Department's Smith says American businesses in Iran are a "day-to-day proposition." Moses agrees, telling his corporate clients "not to pull out or to invest heavily. Just hope a

He tells them, too, that Iran still represents "one of the greatest markets in the Middle East."

Report shows waste dumped at Hyde Park

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — A state enviornmental task force has released a report showing that four times as much hazardous waste was dumped at a Hyde Park site than in the Love Canal that was declared a disaster area last August.

Hyde Park is at the northwest corner of Niagara Falls, and the Love Canal is at the southeast corner about 5 miles away

The state Inter-Agency Task Force on Hazardous Waste also reports that Hyde Park was the burial site for 3,300 tons of trichlorophenol, which is associated with dioxin, described as one of the most dangerous chemicals ever synthesized.

Scientists said 3,300 pounds of trichlorophenol could yield up to 100 pounds of dioxin.

Gas war rages in Nevada town

ELKO, Nev. (AP) - Maybe some gas dealers here haven't heard of Abu Dhabi or the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

While most of the world shivers at the prospect of rising oil prices, a gas war rages here that has dropped the price of a gallon of regular gasoline from 69.9 cents to a reported low of

One service station owner who has not lowered his price is Cal Kyllonen. "I would like to compete, but can't because the price has dipped below the wholesale cost I pay," he said. "Most of the major brands won't support us on the gas war."

However in the spirit of competition, Kyllonen has announced that he's selling self-serve water for 55.9 cents a gallon. So far, no takers.

NEW YORK - As Disco Mania continues to sweep the country fashion designers are rushing to produce the "look" to accompany the

There's a new look coming into the fashion scene and it has nothing to do with the retro or 50's return. And while it may be feminine, it's generally more sexy than ladylike.

This is the consensus of top New York designers who recently showed their spring collections here. Many are supplementing their regular lines with disco dresses and evening pants.

Further influence from the disco world is seen in the wrapped or drape skirts, the tapered full length pants, the biased slits for dancing movement and the graceful, high heel strap

Designer Bill Atkinson puts it this way, "It's important to know who you are. The body ... that body that you've been jogging, biking, tennising, yoga exercising, yogurt eating, breathing, meditating, thinking into shape must now be seen ... sometimes on the disco dance floor. So the body-revealing clothes, the shorter, slitier skirts, the strapless tops, the shorter pants, the see-throughs, are all part of the scene. It's as direct and healthy as that.

"The changes in fashion right now are diametric. What was, isn't. What is, wasn't. The change has been coming, yet it's a shock. For the perceptive, the leader, it's new, exciting, freeing, exhilarating. For the conservative, it's confusing.'

Atkinson says, "Fashion as a language, means of personal expression, is particularly important right now. Inflation is insistent, business is bad, the dollar is down, recession rumbles. We can do something about it. We can keep things up ... things like colors, clothes, people, business, the news ... so, if those other things are down, they won't seem so bad, or be so bad."

That attitude which typifies the spring '79 look also explains the disco dress with its no bra, cinched waist, short skirt or tunic-over-pants look. And there's more to the look than just the dress. Atkinson believes that "details of dressing are not fussy commas but exclamations pointing up the body when it comes to fashion. "The head, the neck, the shoulders, the breast, the waist, the hip, the thigh, the calf, the ankle, the foot, must all be considered," he said. "See the dancer, see her extension reaching upwards, outwards, downwards. See her suspended lightness, her joy. That's the look for

Cheesecake has a golden glow

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

AP Food Editor
DEAR CECILY: I have invited about a dozen friends to a New Year celebration and would like to serve cheesecake for dessert because it's always so popular. Have you a recipe that is new and really delicions? -ENTERPRISING.

DEAR ENTERPRISING: Yes. And it also looks sumptuous. When I heard that this cheesecake had won a prize in a contest, I asked for the recipe and we tried it in my test kitchen. All my tasters gave it top rating. It makes 16 healthy servings but I figure you won't mind that: party-givers sometimes enlarge their guest lists at the last moment.

The flavor and texture of this cheesecake are extra-special, but it's the glaze that makes it unusually attractive. Made from canned apricots, the glaze gives the cake a golden glow. Just right for a new year. - C.B.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) - Here's a new recipe for microwave cooks.

Take hundreds of inheritance, sales and income tax records - soaked by waters from the Kentucky River and bake in microwave ovens.

"It was an emergency situation," state Revenue Commissioner Maurice Carpenter said Monday of the inspired restoration project.

The first batch of files, waterlogged in last week's floods, was placed in an oven for 15 minutes, but the finished product was a bit well-done, said Carpenter.

Carpenter relied on trial and error to find that perfect formula.

'We found out that if you put a file folder in a microwave oven for a minute and a half, it works rather well," he said

Welfare has some tough rules tacted by welfare applicants for

Copley News Service

Can a mother of two really feed and clothe and shelter herself and two children on $356 per month?

That's the maximum a single parent with two offspring can draw from the federal, state and local money in the welfare pot. If the rent bill is $100, that leaves

If the food bill is $160 per month, that leaves a little less than $100 for clothing, the utilities, repairs on the car and maybe a movie.

That's how it goes for welfare mothers, the disabled and the blind generally.

The best known public assistance program is Aid to Families with Dependent Children, or AFDC as it is sometimes called without affection.

Its benefits often do go to that symbol of hard luck and deprivation - the woman whose husband has suddenly left her with a baby or grade-school child clutching her knees, with no job on the horizon and no time or transportation to devote to one if she could find it.

"In the public mind, she's not really a demon, she's a burden that is acceptable to the taxpayer," said a welfare worker.

A single parent with but one child is allotted no more than $287. Those with three children are allotted $423. Those with four children can get no more than $483.

It is impossible to receive AFDC without children, but the aid can be received by families where there are two parents in the home as long as neither is able to work or, if one or both are able, they are seeking a job.

There is no sexism in the program. A father with children but no wife can draw AFDC just as a mother without a husband can.

So, who can't get AFDC? Any family where a parent is working is ineligible, regardless of its income or lack of one. A vacuum cleaner salesman working on straight commission cannot receive AFDC even if he has sold no vacuums for Salesmen are considered by the Welfare Department to have full-time work, lack of pay notwithstanding.

Anyone with a car worth more than $1,500 or equity of more than $5,000 in a house is ineligible.

Those possessions must be sold and the proceeds almost used up before a family becomes eligible. Cash on hand or in checking and savings accounts may not total more than $600 or welfare is refused.

Those are the major qualifications and also the ones that most commonly lead to disqualification of applicants.

Another common ground for denying an application is the applicant's eligiblity for unemployment compensation.

A person recently laid off, with no savings, no car and no house, may still be rejected because unemployment money can be drawn. It doesn't matter if that money has not been applied for and will not be received for weeks. Another reason for rejection, according to Merkel Harris, director of the Welfare Rights Organization - a group that battles the bureaucracy on behalf of welfare recipients - is child-support orders, whether or not statements attesting to the lack of payment.

"We're talking about a time difference," Harris said. "It may take weeks and weeks for that agency to mail a letter.'

One reason for disqualification after aid has been granted is the sheltering of another in one's home. Welfare applicants not uncommonly seek shelter and help from other welfare recipients, who tend to be sympathetic.

"It can be determined that the aid payments are being misused because they are supporting someone other than those designated," Harris said. The other major welfare program-is general relief.

The federal government demands of all the states an aid program for those who do not qualify for AFDC because they have no children and for those who are not aged, blind enough permanently disabled in ways that qualify them for other public support. One study found that 60 percent of those on general relief are too old to be hired but not old enough for Social Security payments or are mentally or physically unable to work.

A high percentage of those receiving relief are, as one social worker called them, "loony birds." General relief, though ordered of all the states by the federal government, is the only program that must exist solely off local property taxes. Susan Stowell, a Welfare Department information officer, says GR is dezigned to keep alive those who "fall through the slats" of the other welfare

Hairstyle predictions for '79: short shaggy or basket weave?

By NATALIE BEST Copley News Service

NEW YORK - There's no doubt about it. Hairstyles '79 will be a radical departure from the traditional American girl bob we've long come to accept. Even the variations will be shockers.

With names like shaggy, braided, twined, knotted, frizzled and modified basket weaving, we're told to expect hairstyles to reflect the disco craze.

"From the shape of the head to the wave of the hair, the coif is new,' says John Chadwick, international hair fashion innovator who, with his wife Suzanne, serves as head of technical education for one of the world's largest beauty shop chains, Seligman and Latz.

During previews of hairstyles and preparations that will make their appearance about March, we learned that simple permanents, roll-ups, natural straight, shiny tresses are old hat. In their place are new techniques, such as self-timing hair foam that texturizes and curls in less than 20 minutes.

"Not only are the styles different, the methods of achieving them are something for the '80s," said Chad-

"Today's woman wants an easycare style for every day and then for special occasions - she may want enough versatility in that style for a change, or several changes. With the right preparation she can have these changes.

Curling foam is followed by precision cuts and texturizing so women will have thicker, more manageable hair.

'While they can return to the more traditional lamp or blow-drying and setting, why would anyone want to when she can enjoy the modern looks and freedom?" asks Chandler. "With the new no-drip foam cap that is activated by body heat, the following can be achieved:

'A woman can have a hairstyle that meets everyday wear, that is, the hair need only be shampooed and toweldried, saving time under the dryer. Some call it shaggy.'

Chandler says this will be a favorite

"A woman with long hair can get a different foam 'finish' that can totally change her basic look," he said. 'With the use of combs, barrettes, twisting, knotting and braiding ... even basket weaving ... a woman can achieve the small-head look and a design that needs no further primping or combing once it is in place. John Dellaria, fashion director for the Intercoiffure America hairstylists organization, says the Expose Collection '79 of hairstyles has been inspired by the summer '79 fashion collections which reveal and expose more of the body than ever before. He says this marks the return of the haircut which reveals the shape of the head, is totally unstructured and will go with the active and youthful clothes.

"To tie in with all the revealing clothing styles which are highlighting more leg, more chest and barer everything, there is a new concept in hairstyling," he says. "The fashion statements are for feathery, weightless hair with a haphazard look; the pompadour coming forward, sides up and larger curl and the haircut within a haircut, short hair with a long-hair look.

Stock Cloud seeding market alters rainfall

BIG SPRING - After seven years of research and operation, a Colorado River Municipal Water District scientist has concluded that weather modification efforts result in a 15 to 20 percent increase in

While this has not necessarily been reflected in a greater runoff into CRMWD reservoirs - Lakes J.B. Thomas and E.V. Spence — there is evidence that it has contributed to substantially larger increases in crop yields than for areas outside the weather program's target, said district officials.

Still another conclusion drawn in the annual report of John Girdzus, CRMWD meteorologist, is that with cloud-seeding there are no unbroken patterns of weather, just as from 1950 to 1970 when cotton yields varied from 290 to 500 pounds per acre. This was neither a good year for farming, nor for cloudseeding, said officials.

In fact, it provided the second fewest seeding opportunities of any year since 1971, Girdzus report-

Time running out on conventional automobile engine

WASHINGTON (AP) - Time is running out on the internal combustion engine and a joint governmentindustry effort like that which sent men to the moon may be necessary to develop the automobile of the future, says Transportation Secretary Brock Adams.

And because of the deteriorating world petroleum situation, a replacement for conventional auto en-gines must be found within the next decade, Adams said in an interview.

"The motor vehicle is the prime mover of our society, and our mobility and much of our economy depend on a fragile alliance with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries," he said. "The recent OPEC price rise and events in Iran reinforce my belief that we must have a new type of propulsion unit.

"The government is going to have to be involved very heavily in the basic and advanced research." because the automotive companies say they just do not have the resources or the inclination to get into he said.

It ought to be a cooperative effort, the secretary said, noting the automakers have 30,000 engineers and the Departments of Transportation and Energy together have invested $100 million in research on

"I don't want to get into a situation where we have a set of government engineers independently developing some great new thing, and then having the SLAV

Develop right suit to yield that trick

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you need two or three additional tricks you must usually develop a long suit. When you need only one additional trick, your best chance may be in a short suit.

South took the ten of spades and tackled clubs, the longest suit in the combined hands. East won the second trick with the ten of clubs and return-

West let South win and was then sure of three spade tricks whenever either defender gained the lead.

It would be correct to go after the clubs if South needed two or three additional tricks. South would have less than an even chance to get his club tricks quickly enough, but no other suit would do the job

BETTER ODDS

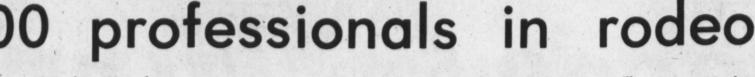

Since South needed only one additional trick he should lead a diamond to dummy's jack at the second trick and return the ten of hearts for a finesse. West would win and return a low spade to the queen; and then South would return to dummy with a diamond to lead another heart.

The second heart finesse would give South his contract.

The odds are about 3 to 1 that East has one or both of the missing heart honors. A good rule to follow with the odds is that it's better to be an overdog than an underdog.

D-72; C-K75. What do you say? ANSWER: Bid three spades. Partner will raise to four spades if he has three or more cards in the suit and will bid three notrump if he has only two spades. You will be content with either game contract.

ODESSA - More than 300 professional cowboys are expected to participate in the annual Sand Hills Hereford and Quarter Horse Show and Championship Rodeo, scheduled this weekend in Odessa.

The event is the first stop of the Rodeo Cowboys Association circuit, and most of this year's top money winners from the national rodeo finals will be in Odessa to begin another rodeo year.

Action begins Saturday in the Ector County Coliseum. With no performances scheduled for Sunday or Monday, the rodeo begins again Tuesday and continues through the following Saturday.

All performances begin at 8 p.m.

Tickets are on sale in the Coliseum

Harry Vold Rodeo Co. of Fowler, Colo., will produce the rodeo again

Also making a return appearance will be the John Shidler rodeo band of Baton Rouge, La. A rodeo dance will be held in Barn A following the appearance of the entertainment stars. Hoyle Nix will appear the first and last Saturday night. Appearing with Nix on the first Saturday will be Leslie and Adrian Logan, daughters of rodeo announcer Pete Logan. Appearing on Tuesday and Wednesday will be Fiddlin' Frenchie Burk and the Sound Masters. Larry Mahan, former world champion cowboy, will entertain Thursday and Friday nights with his Ramblin' Rodeo Revue.

The livestock show also begins at 8 a.m. Saturday. The first livestock event is the Youth Activity Horse Show. Events there include mares and geldings at halter and activity classes of bridle path hack seat, western pleasure, western riding, trail class, reining, pole bending, barrel racing and cutting.

The horse show continues Sunday with the registered Quarter Horse show which begins at 9 a.m. Calf roping, as well as heading and heeling classes, will be judged at 9 a.m. Monday. FFA and 1-H lambs will be judged

Authorities now have 2nd art theft puzzle

might also be asked to take polygraph tests.

By KATHY OSOBA

CHICAGO (AP) — Fingerprint experts are dusting empty picture frames that used to hold three paintings by Paul Cezanne, looking for clues in the theft of the masterpieces which The Art Institute of Chicago values at $3 million.

The fewer than 10 museum workers who had special keys to the storage room from which the 19th century post-Impressionist works disappeared have been fingerprinted, and police said those employees

Police said they also planned to search the museum thoroughly in hope the French paintings may be found in the building. The stolen Cezannes give authorities a second major art-theft puzzle in as many days.

The theft of the 19th century post-impressionist paintings was discovered Wednesday, two days after thieves slipped through a skylight of the M.H. de Young Memorial Museum in San Francisco and stole a million-dollar Rembrandt, "Portrait of the Rabbi," and three other Dutch Renaissance paint-

The paintings at the Chicago museum were among its Cezanne collection of 10. The museum has one of the leading collections in the world of Impressionist and post-Impressionist paintings.

Museum officials said the paintings - "Madame Cezanne in a Yellow Arm Chair," "Apples on a Table Cloth" and "House on the River" — were being stored during a gallery renovation.

Police said there was no sign of forced entry. The works were removed from their frames sometime after Nov. 28, said J. Patrice Marandel, a museum curator. He said he believes he was the last museum official to see the paintings.

Marandel said there is no market for the works because they are internationally known. "Every dealer and collector of art knows these paintings. Everywhere in the world these paintings are well known," Marandel said.

Larry Termolen, museum vice president, said another Cezanne and a work by Toulouse Lautrec had been stored with the stolen paintings. "We have insurance for the whole collection," he said. "The sad part is they're irreplaceable."

Police investigating drug-induced comas

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Authorities are investigating at least four cases in which terminally ill cancer patients at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center lapsed into comas after receiving an opiate-based narcotic, sometimes in multiple doses, The Los Angeles Times reported today.

'We feel someone out there may have wanted to end their suffering," an unidentified hospital source

Hospital spokesman Larry Baum said no permanent harm was done to the patients. The Times said that private security guards were stationed at each hospital entrance shortly after the first case of a patient in a drug-induced coma was discovered by a nurse last week.

Hospital officials were in an "absolute panic" by last weekend when the last incident was discovered. the source told the Times.

The paper said each of the four patients may have been drugged at least twice.

In each case, the unknown narcotic was neutralized by giving the comatose patients an anti-opiate drug called Narcane, leading authorities to believe the unknown drug was opiate-based, the newspaper said. Tests are being conducted to identify the

The Times said that according to hospital sources, the unknown drug might have been introduced into the patients' intravenous solutions. The patients, who were in a 30-bed cancer unit for the critically ill, routinely receive some narcotics.

ERA said good for men at conference meeting

Rights Amendment is not just a women's issue and may be the best thing that's happened to men, organizers of a conference on men and masculinity contend.

"We are saying that men's lib is women's lib - that it's not a men's or a women's issue. The suppression of one is the suppression of all," said Craig Scherfenberg, a member of the Los Angeles Men's Collective and who is on the conference steering commit-

There are 125 plots reserved in the old graveyard - at $5 a plot a total annual income of $625 to the community-owned cemetery. When the annual dues fora plot were $1, the income was only $125 a year.

Then, after-claiming he would use a gun if he didn't get cash, he agreed to let the teller summon the bank manager to get the large amount of cash he demanded, taking $1 as a sign of the teller's good faith. The bank manager called police.

were en route, the apparently polite robber motioned to the only car behind him, driven by bank director Raymond Gottlieb, to go ahead. Gottlieb later said he had no idea a robbery was in progress, but he declined the courtesy and had a good view of the events.

Police arrived to find a suspect with no gun. They arrested Lawrence White, 20, who was charged with robbery. White was being held Tuesday in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Jaycees on spot

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Jaycees' refusal to admit women makes it illegal for colleges to give special privileges to Jaycee chapters on campuses, HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano said Wednesday.

Califano said the same general standard applies to any organization that discriminates on the basis of sex. Title IX, a 1972 law, makes it illegal for colleges receiving federal funds to provide "significant assistance" to any organization that practices sex discrimi-

But Califanto said: 'The effect of Title IX on specific activities of Jaycees' chapters on particular college campuses requires a case-by-case determination under that general standard."

He said special privileges might include "official recognition of the organization, the designation of faculty sponsors, or the use of campus facilities at less than fair market value." Some Jaycees chapters have admitted women as members, but the group as a whole recently reaffirmed that it is open to men only. An HEW lawyer, de-

Overall, the group has 380,000 members between ages 18 and 36 in 9,000 chapters. Some 90 chapters were notified recently that they stand to lose their charters for having women members, he said.

Seever said the Jaycees have been trying for more than a year to get a special exemption from Title IX, such as that enjoyed by the Girl Scouts. Congress wrote that exemption into the law.

The cleanup will require $1 billion in capital improvements and annual expenditures totaling about $447 million a year until the project's completion

The federal Environmental Protection Agency described the settlement as "the largest ever made with a major source of pollution."

"In the past, TVA has kept its rates down but at the expense of people's health and the environment," said Dean Rivkin, an attorney for 10 environmental and health groups who were among those who fought for the cleanup. "This represents a new era in its policies."

The federal government estimates power plants run by TVA are responsible for 52 percent of the sulfur dioxide pollution in eight southern states, and 14 percent of the nation's sulfur dioxide pollution.

Plaintiffs in the suit said the agreement's terms should end TVA's reputation as the worst industrial polluter in the South and the worst sulfur dixoide polluter in the nation.

Sulfur dioxide and dust, which sometimes travel hundreds of miles, can cause emphysema, bronchitis, asthma and other lung diseases, the

The cleanup agreement came in an out-of-court settlement Thursday of a 1977 suit filed by the EPA, Alabama, Kentucky and 10 environmental and health groups.

The measures, most of which are already under way, include erecting costly scrubbers at four power plants and the $7 billion purchase of higher quality coal completed last summer. The TVA will be fined $35,000 daily if it fails to meet deadlines established in the agreement. The settlement was approved Thursday by TVA Chairman S. David Freeman and Director Richard Free-

Jim Darling, head of TVA's power planning staff, said the cleanup measures will cut annual sulfur dioxide emissions from power plants by 900,-000 tons and flyash emissions by 85,-000 tons. The EPA estimates TVA plants dumped 2.1 million tons of sulfur dioxide into the air in 1975. The settlement was negotiated last March by David Freeman after TVA admitted it was liable for $260 million in fines for violating clean air laws at 10 of its 12 coal-burning plants in Tennessee, Alabama and Kentucky. The two other plants, the Bull Run and John Sevier operations in Ten-

The cleanup measures include installation of scrubbers at TVA's Cumberland and Johnsonville power plants in Tennessee, at the Widows Creek plant in Alabama and at the Paradise plant in Kentucky at a cost of almost $750 million.

Location is 100 feet from north and 550 feet from west lines of section 3, block A-47, psl survey and 10 miles west of Andrews.

Total depth is 11,030 feet and 5.5inch casing is cemented on bottom. No. 2 Bush is one location south of another Ellenburger well. The field also produces from the Wolfcamp.

Extra push could double output of solar energy

By STAN BENJAMIN

WASHINGTON (AP) - A major policy study suggests that with a little more money and a lot more push the United States can double its expected use of solar energy over the next 20

The study was sent to President

ENERGY

Carter by Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger, who is said to favor setting a national goal of using solar energy to provide as much as 20 percent of the United States' total needs by the year 2000.

The policy review itself suggested a similar target, warning the president that a half-hearted goal might be worse than none at all.

The White House has not made public the "Domestic Policy Review of Solar Energy," which was ordered by Carter last May 3 when he joined in the nationwide "Sun Day" celebra-

A copy was obtained by The Associated Press.

Solar energy in its many forms provided only about 5.4 percent of the nation's energy in 1977.

Representatives of the budding solar industry as well as some citizen groups, labor unions and others have said pollution-free sunlight, converted into heat or electricity, should play a much larger role. Congress agreed, including tax credits and other incentives for solar development in the National Energy Act passed last October. The policy review sent to Carter

Dec. 4 estimates solar energy may provide some 8.6 percent of the total energy demand by the year 2000 as a result of the incentives already enacted and a possible rise in oil prices from today's $14.50-per-barrel to around $25. The government could stick with its present solar programs, improving them a little here and there to increase solar energy slightly, the review said. As a second option, it said Carter could adopt or propose new programs costing some $2.5 billion over a fiveyear period from 1980 to 1985 and expect the solar contribution to be about 10.4 percent of total needs by the turn or the century.

Thirdly, it said Carter could adopt the all-out approach solar advocates want and propose drastically increased tax incentives and other measures that could cost the nation some $113 billion over 20 years but push solar energy to as much as 25 percent of the nation's total energy consumption.

The costs to the federal treasury would be substantially offset by reducing the effect of other tax breaks that support production of the oil, natural gas, coal and nuclear electricity which would be replaced by solar

The review did not estimate the size of those savings.

It suggested, however, that the best value might be gained by combining the low-cost "option two" measures with selected items from "option That combination, it says, could support a national goal of having solar energy account for 20 percent of the total by the year 2000, which would "demonstrate a major federal commitment to solar development, provide strong stimulus to the solar industry and appeal to a broad spectrum of those concerned with solar

For example, the review estimates that a combination approach could Ilmost double the amount of solar energy that might be expected from using "option two" alone at roughly the same $2.5 billion price. At $125 million a year, that would be a relatively minor item in the federal bud-

But the greater effectiveness of the combination approach would be made possible only by incorporating items from "option three" that, while low in cost, would involve substantially more government intervention than would be used in the more politically

A source familiar with the combination approach said Schlesinger personally favors its goals.

The policy review was prepared by the Energy Department with the participation of more than 30 federal agencies plus outside advisers and more than 2,000 individuals and organizations who submitted written comments or testified at a dozen regional public forums held last June and

west of Elida, 4,350. DR. NEIL SOLOMON Driving drinking

Dear Dr. Solomon: Here we are again with holiday parties and the drinking and driving problem. And you are goint to think I'm a real killjoy, but I thought maybe a few words of caution from a doctor like you might-be helpful at this time. Last year in our small community there were three serious accidents over Christmas-none of which would have occurred if people had not been drinking earlier in the evening. I have two teen-age sons, so I admit I am the typical worried mother. However, if there were some way of getting averyone more aware of the problem, we might save some lives .- Ellen S. Dear Ellen: I agree with you that anything that can be done to urge people to be careful about drinking when they have to drive would be well worth the effort in dealing with this menace. But one interesting note is that bars and liquor stores in certain states are beginning to tackle the problem-right there at the point of sale.

In Utah, for instance, the following sign is now posted wherever alcohol is sold (either in the bottle or in the glass): "WARNING. The consumption of alcoholic beverages purchased in this stablishment may be hazardous to your health and the safety of others." Modern Medicine reports that T-shirts bearing a reproduction of the sign are a big fad in the state—especially among barmaids. Another straw in the wind, perhaps, is the electronic breath analyzer that up until now has been study, about 10 percent of the people who had taken the test and had more than 10 percent of alcohol in their blood decided not to chance it at the wheel. A similar machine, incidentally, is sold by Neiman Marcus in Dallas, Texas, so that guests at a party can check their status as they head for home. The gadget is called Alcohol Guard and costs well over $2,000—far too high for something that tells you if you yourself, or your friends, are high. But certainly a way of making people more aware of the problem, if it is used as it is intended to be.

Dear Dr. Solomon: In a recent column you carried a letter concerning a woman who had lost her sight. Your reply suggested that she write to the National Braille Press, Inc. for a Braille edition of the New York Times. I would like to inform you of another service for visually impaired and physically handicapped people. It is the Radio Reading Service available in many cities. These radio reading services provide news and information for visually impaired people not available to them through commercial radio or television sources .- Mrs. Tim Latta. Dallas

Buying a used car is no joke.

There have probably been more jokes told about used cars and used-car salesmen than practically any other subject. But when you buy a used car, it's no joke!

In fact, it's serious business!

Used cars are a very important part of our business. We maintain an excellent selection of hand-picked used cars. Then we price each one competitively. Finally, our reputation for service comes with every car at no extra cost. Here are some
