Shah denies news report of abdication

sition leader said Friday he had agreed to form a civilian government for this riot-torn nation and palace sources reported Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi would not step down as is foes have demanded.

Ardeshir Zahedi, Iran's ambassador to the United States who returned to Tehran because of the year-long crisis, said the shah "has not abdicatd and has no intention to abdicate."

He told The Associated Press that the shah planned to meet with Parliament leaders Saturday, but he did not say what action might be consid

The abdication reports stemmed from a dispatch in the Iranian government news agency PARS dealing with he shah's request to opposition lead + Shapour Bakhtiar to form a gov inment. It would replace the miliry government appointed by the sonarch in November to quell the ots that have taken at least 1,500 ses this year and stopped Iran's tal flow of oil.

The official palace spokesman, Kambiz Yazdanpanah, said under the 1960 constitution the shah would have to leave the country for a regency council to be formed "and he has no plans to leave.

Bakhtiar, a 63-year-old international lawyer and prominent member of the opposition National Front, could not be contacted for comment.

He had been asked by the shah Thursday to form a government and agreed Friday.

The shah reportedly has agreed in principle to accept the role as a constitutional monarch, and much of his power could go to an advisory council: The shah as a constitutional monarcy would keep control of the army but would not name the prime minister, who would have to be nominated and approved by Parliament. ## Colder weather may bring snow to Permian Basin

Freezing temperatures expected to hit the Permian Basin may include light rains and possibly snow tonight and Sunday, the weatherman said.

Colder air drifting down from the northeast should pass through the Midland area today, bringing a high temperature in the 40s and the low tonight in the mid-20s, said a spokesman for the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

Along with those temperatures, the weatherman predicts a 20 percent chance for rainfall here today and a 30 percent chance for moisture to-

In fact, Midland football fans probably can stay inside without fear of missing pretty weather, as the weatherman said the outloof for New Year's Day is cold and cloudy.

Winds are from the northeast at from 10 to 15 miles per hour.

Friday's high was 66 degrees. How ever, it was nowhere near the record high of 77 degrees here set in 1945. Overnight low today was 45 degrees, far off the record of 16 degrees set in

With one day left in December and in 1978, the city has only a trace of precipitation this month. Total for the year is 17.09 inches of rainfall.

Envoys tell of Taiwan's outrage

TAIPEL Taiwan (AP) - Harassed U.S. envoys ended two days of talks with Taiwanese officials and hurried ly left for home Friday after President Chiang Ching kuo told them he was "outraged" by President Carter's decision to recognize Peking and sever diplomatic relations with Chiang, son of the late Nationalist leader Chiang Kai shek, told the Americans, led by Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher, that fu ture relations between Washington and Taipei must be both legal and governmental.

The U.S. delegation came here to discuss what the relationship between the two countries will be after Jan. 1. when diplomatic ties are officially severed. An American statement said the United States looks "forward to continuing these discussions here and in Washington in thecoming weeks" but did not define the U.S. position on future relations.

In Washington, Taiwanese desk of ficer Harvey Feldman told reporters the Christopher delegation left the island without announcing the depar ture time for security reasons

Feldman said Taiwan's insistence on continuing relations on a government-to-government basis is one of several points of disagreement the countries will try to resolve in future weeks. He said while Taiwan has not renounced its claim to be the legal government of the mainland, its leaders have asked the United States to recognize the Taiwanese administration as the "de jure" authority as the government controlling Taiwanese

He added the United States does not have sufficient information to determine if Taiwan is in fact moving toward a two-China policy, but in recent days, Chinag has ruled out such a possibility.

Carter to impose hospital cost controls if voluntary method fails

WASHINGTON (AP) The Curter administration, hoping to low the skyrocketing inflation in the nation's $60.5 billion hospital bill, will try again to impose economic controls over the industry, but only if volum tary compliance fails.

HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. urged the nation's 6,000 communi ty hospitals Thursday to make a voluntary effort to keep their expenses from rising more than 9.7 percent in

But he said the administration will return to Capitol Hill with a proposal for mandatory controls on hospital revenues starting Jan. 1, 1980, if the voluntary effort fails.

Califano left open the question of whether controls would be triggered automatically by a 9.7 percent rise in expenses, or if that figure would only be part of a more detailed screening and cost control mechanism."

He said the 9.7 percent goal would be adjusted if Carter's general antiinflation program fails and hospitals are faced with spiralling wages and prices beyond their control.

The HEW chief also called for a voluntary $3 billion national limit on capital expenditures by hospitals for projects and equipment costing more than $150,000 per purchase.

The inflation rate for hospital care was 15.6 percent in 1977, but fell to 12.8 percent this year. The hospital industry and the American Medical Assocation claim their year-old "Voluntary Effort" was responsible for the drop. Their two-year goal was a 4 percent drop in the rate of increase to 11.6 percent for 1979. Michael Bromberg, executive director of the Federation of American Hospitals, called Califano's 9.7 percent goal "very tough and unrealistically low."

He charged it would "limit growth of services unreasonably in light of increasing demands for care from a growing and aged population." And Alex McMahon, president of the American Hospital Association, said the guidelines "are unneccessary, unworkable and would undermine the health industry's successful anti-inflation program.'

Gacy manacled to bed in jail cell

DES PLAINES, Ill. (AP) — Suspected mass killer John Gacy Jr. was kept manacled to his bed in a jail hospital Friday while his pre-arraignment hearing went on without him and six more bodies were found at his Court officials apparently feared for Gacy's life, but his lawyer called it "misjustice.

Authorities said they had unearthed an additional six bodies from beneath Gacy's suburban home, bringing to 28 the total linked to Gacy, before the search was stopped for the day.

Gacy, 36, a convicted sex offender, reportedly has told authorities that he had sexual relations with 32 young men, then killed them, burying 27 on the grounds of his home and throwing five into the Des Plaines River.

With Gacy's help, police have now found the 27 bodies he said were at his home. But Cook County medical examiner Dr. Robert Stein said there are signs of still more bodies and that digging will resume Saturday.

One body was found in the river last month. A second body was found in the river Thursday but police have not linked it with Gacy. Thus far Gacy has been charged only with the mur-> nedy's death. Rep. Floyd J. Fithian, D-Ind., said it was "rather startling evidence" committee's long inquiry into Ken-that had probably raised more questions than it answered. The basis of the evidence is a Dallas police tape recording of the sounds of gunshots picked up by the transmitter of a motorcycle policeman near the president's car. James E. Barger, chief scientist of a Cambridge, Mass., acoustics firm, which filtered and then screened the tape for the committee, testified in September that there was a 50-50 probability of a shot coming rom the grassy knoll. Troubled by the 50-50 probability, the committee asked Weiss and Aschkenasy, who were recommended by the Acoustical Society of America, to attempt to refine Barger's results.

They focused on the shot believed to have come from the grassy knoll, by using what they told the committee were fundamental and long-accepted principles of physics and geometry. The shot was the third in a series of four that the committee's acoustics experts said were fired.

Stokes, commenting on the committee's record during its $5 million, two-vear investigation, said it "developed evidence of the outline of a likely conspiracy in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.," and had heard evidence that could point to a conspiracy in Kennedy's death.

His remark on the King conspiracy apparently referred to testimony the committee heard on cooperation between James Earl Ray and his brother in King's murder. The committee went into closed session later Friday night to vote on its findings, which will be submitted to the House and made public Wednesday.

As for what may be done with the findings, Stokes said only that it is the responsibility of the executive branch to investigate the question of guilt in Kennedy's and King's deaths and for the judicial process to weigh it.

But the Assassination Information Bureau, a group spearheading further investigations of the killings, said the committee "should call loud and clear for the formal reopening of the investigation. A Department of Justice task force or a special prosecutor along Watergate lines might be the most logical course."

Stokes asked Weiss whether the new evidence amounted to proof beyond a reasonable doubt - the standard for returning conviction in a criminal case — that a shot was fired from the grassy knoll.

Weiss said the experts had achieved "a confidence level of 95 percent or higher, which, I guess if I were a lawyer, I might well express as beyond a reasonable doubt. G. Robert Blakey, the committee's chief counsel, noted tht the Warren Commission had reviewed testimony of shots, smoke and the impact of bullets believed to have come from the grassy knoll.

"There is testimony in the commission's record of what may be fairly descirbed as suspicious conduct around the knoll - footprints by the fence, an individual who identified himself as a Secret Service agent when no agent was supposed to be in that area, activity that could be called flight," Blakey said.

"But the fact remains that no one gives credible testimony that he saw anyone with a rifle around the fence at the time of the assassination,' Blakey said.

U.S. preparing for long cut-off of Iranian oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is preparing contingency plans, including conservation measures similar to those invoked case the Iranian oil shutoff starts hurting world supplies, administration sources said Friday

For now, oil stocks and increased production by other countries are making up for the loss of Iranian oil. But officials said there is no way to determine how long the Iranian shutoff will last or what its future effects may be.

"The situation is totally unpredictable," said one member of a task force studying the problem.

Iran ordinarily produces about 6 million barrels of oil a day. About 5 percent of U.S. oil needs, or about 900,000 barrels a day, ordinarily are imported from Iran.

But anti-shah strikes by Iranian oil workers have curtailed production for weeks, and three days ago production virtually stopped.

Besides cutting immediate exports, American officials say the stoppage could permanently damage Iranian wells through a loss of pressure, water seepage and corrosion. Such damage cmuld make it difficult for Iran to resume full production.

Saudi Arabia has pushed its production from 6.5 million barrels a day to 10.5 million barrels, and with other countries has helped take up the slack. But U.S. officials say it is uncertain whether that production level will continue because of the Saudi's self-imposed average production ceiling of 8.5 million barrels a day. As a precaution, said officials, who asked not to be identified, contingency plans have been drawn up to deal with the lack of Iranian oil.

Although the officials were reluctant to discuss specifics, one source said the plans include implementing an international agreement by consuming nations to share the available

That would require a wide variety of conservation measures within the United States, but the sources said rationing is not part of the plan. One official said the "serious conservation measures" would be similar to those imposed after the 1973-74 Arab oil embargo.

There would be an emphasis on alternate fuels and "measures to discourage wastefulness." In 1974, the government curtailed hours that gasoline stations were open, ordered thermostat settings lowered in government buildings and imposed the 55 mph speed limit.

Dallas area crash kill four persons

LEWISVILLE, Texas (AP) - A twin-engine airplane crashed north of the Dallas-Fort Worth area Friday night, killing all four persons

The crash occurred about four miles northwest of the Addison Airport, where the plane had taken off moments earlier. It crashed near a farm road in Denton County.

The names of the dead were not immediately released. A witness, Terry Van Sickle, said the plane was a Beechcraft Baron. He said it struck the base of a small hill.

Department of Public Safety officers said the plane lost radio contact shortly after takeoff. The victims were thrown from the plane and scattered in an area several hundred feet around the aircraft.

The cause of the crash was not known. The crash site was near Farm Road 423 about a mile south of Texas

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Heiress Louise Vanderbilt, who joined forces with poor people during a rent dispute with her landlord, has been ordered evicted from the two apartments she rents in a Victorian mansion. But an appeal to Superior Court, which was started Thursday just three hours after the eviction order was issued, will keep Mrs. Vanderbilt from being moved out of the apartments for at least two or three

District Court Judge Vincent A. Ragosta issued the eviction order at the request of Harry B. Casey, the Newport County sheriff. He became Mrs. Vanderbilt's landlord last spring when he bought the Mailands, a Bellevue Avenue mansion.

LAY

NEE IKE IT WITH FIRE UITY LION GLOW

At the time, Mrs. Vanderbilt was renting two of the Mailands apartments for $950 a month. Casey tried to triple her rent, but Mrs. Vanderbilt refused, offering to pay only $150 a month

After the dispute began last summer, Mrs. Vanderbilt joined forces with the Newport County Tenants Association, a group that represents some of the city's poorest residents. The association has been urging the City Council to enact a rent-control ordinance.

Casey took the matter to District Court, and since Oct. 1, while awaiting the judge's decision, he'has refused to cash Mrs. Vanderbilt's rent checks.

Ragosta on Thursday ordered Mrs. Vanderbilt to write new checks at the rate of $950 a month for the period in which Casey refused to cash the checks. He also ordered her to continue paying rent at that rate during the appeal process.

But when she finished ringing up a sale, she found her long-lost half-brother, whom she had never met but had been trying to locate for a decade.

"I was ringing up a sale for a woman customer," Mrs. Butler explained Thursday. "I had to get her ID. She was Shirley Knighton of Newark. Mrs. Knighton told me the credit card was under "R" for Rodney - her husband."

Mrs. Butler then asked Mrs. Knighton where Rodney was. When Rodney walked over from another counter, he asked Mrs. Butler, "Do you know me?"

Mrs. Butler replied, "You should. I'm your sister."

She said their mother, Helen Tyler of Fort Wayne, Ind., last saw Rodney, who is 37, about 28 years ago when he was in a boarding school in Florida.

Food stamp benefits to increase

WASHINGTON (AP) - Government food stamp benefits that now help feed one out of 14 Americans will be increased Jan. 1 to help needy families cope with rising grocery

But the most dramatic change in 1979 — one that already is taking place in some states - will be the way in which food stamps are allocated to low-income families. A new program also will cut some 1 million people from food stamp rolls while providing benefits to an additional 3 million poorer people.

Since 1964, when Congress made the food stamp program a permanent federal program, recipients have had to spend some of their own money on stamps to get additional free coupons that can be used like money at retail grocery stores. That requirement was dropped by the Congress in the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977, and the Agriculture Department - which administers the food stamp program - has issued regulations to carry out the new law.

Thus, instead of having to buy some stamps with their own money, qualified families will get bonus coupons free of charge, depending on size of households, incomes and other factors, beginning Jan. 1.

The law also includes other provisions that generally are aimed at tightening up on abuses in the food stamp program and making it more easily available to older people and

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said in a year-end interview that the changes "have gone extremely well" and that he expects most states will put them into effect soon after

"Everything is on track," he said.

tial reduction in errors and in fraud because of the new system." Department officials estimate that when the new program is in full swing - including simpler rules for computing income requirements and the new method of distributing bonus stamps - it will funnel benefits more carefully to the poorest families and cut off some near the top of the low-income scale.

Under the new program, the maximum income that a four-member "I think we're going to see a substan- family can have to qualify for food year. The old program - which will still be in use for a time after Jan. 1 in some areas - will allow four-member families to have net incomes up to $640 a month, or $7,680 a year.

Eight states and Puerto Rico already are using the new system of issuing stamps without requiring families to buy some first. The states are Alaska, Florida, Minnesota, New Mexico, Oregon, Rhode Island, Ten-

Crown prince of Iran to make tour of U.S.

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - Crown Prince Reza Pahlavi, heir to his father, the Shah of Iran, is making a two-week tour of the United States while on leave from undergraduate pilot training at Reese Air Force Base

"He is now in the States, enjoying the holiday season with some friends," said Lt. Steve Headley in the base information office.

"However, he returns the second of January to begin the T-38 (aircraft) phase of the program," Headley Reza, 18, is first in line for the peacock throne of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, under increasing pressure to step down as ruler of the 34.8 million Iranians. Since July, the crown prince has been taking part in a 50-week course paid for by his country's government.

During the week, he lives in a guarded apartment at the base, but he

which in turn passed it along the the Iranian Embassy in Washington. An embassy spokesman said a higher-echelon official would have to return the call.

The constitution of Iran requires the prince to be 21 before he can wear the crown, and the shah has said he will turn the crown over to Reza when his son is 28. However, some observers speculate that if opposition to the shah continues to grow, he might step aside in favor of the soft-spoken teenager in order to stifle the revolt and

Davis denies ever seeing staged pictures of judge's dead 'body'

HOUSTON (AP) - Cullen Davis denied Friday that an FBI informant had showed him picture of what appeared to be the blood-stained "body" of a Fort Worth judge in an effort to prove the judge was dead.

Davis, under cross examination in his murder solicitation trial, also said he never considered any of his conversations with David McCrory, his chief accuser, as "damning."

The staged pictures of Judge Joe Eidson, showing him crammed in the trunk of a car, his clothes smeared with catsup, is one of the main pieces of prosecution evidence.

Davis is accused of attempting to hire a hit man to kill the judge and several other persons involved in his many legal entanglements. Eidson was the presiding judge in the bitter Davis divorce trial, but since has stepped down.

Davis will spend the New Year's weekend in the Harris County jail, after his defense attorneys decided to postpone filing an appeal for bond.

The hearing before Judge W.A."Pete" Moore was set for Friday afternoon, but after 30 minutes of private discussions, the judge ended the hearing saying only "Happy New Year to you all.'

Defense attorney Phil Burleson told newsmen "there is a further need for research on a new question that has arisen. The timing as to the filing of the motion is something that needs to be discussed. There are some other legal problems.

Burleson refused to say what the legal question that forced the delay nor would he say whether the defense or the prosecution brought up the

During an Aug. 18 meeting, McCrory said he showed the pictures to Davis and the millionaire industrialist said, "Damn, you're kidding."

Davis told the jury that he made that comment after McCrory had showed him "something that could have been a microphone" under his

Prosecutor Tolly Wilson countered Davis' claims by repeatedly reading statements Davis allegedly made during two meetings with McCrory.

Davis, appearing grim and tired, said over and over, "I didn't think anybody was dead. We weren't intentionally talking about killing any-

Wilson quoted from one of the tape recordings made during the McCrory-Davis conversations where McCrory said, "I got Judge Eidson dead for you. Davis replied, "Good."

The prosecutor asked what Davis meant by that statement.

Davis answered, "I didn't think anybody was dead. It (McCrory's statement) called for a response. It would have been silly for me to say No, you must be crazy.

In earlier testimony, Davis had said he went along with the meetings because an FBI agent had informed him McCrory might be engaged in an extortion plot. Wilson then read this exchange from the transcript:

McCrory: "All right. Who do you want next?'

Davis: "Uh, the ones we talked about.'

Wilson asked the defendant to explain that remark and Davis told the jury, "I didn't know what he wanted me to say. I was going along. I said the ones we talked about and that satisfied him. I was following the

drunk driver plan

PITTSBURGH (AP) - A judge who wants to keep drunk drivers out of jail is proposing use of a device that would prevent them from starting their cars. Allegheny County Criminal Division Judge Robert

E. Dauer, who says he handles about 400 drunk-driving cases a year, said the plan would be a voluntary part of probation for twice-convicted defendants. "Of course, if they refuse to put it on their car, I can always put them in jail," he said. Dauer is proposing the use of a gadget called Quickey, a small box wired into an automobile' ignition system and allows the engine to start only if the driver's reflexes are sharp. Directions for the device calls for a driver to press a button, which lights a small bulb. When the light goes out, the driver must immediately release the button. The device then compares the time the driver takes to release the button with what is considered his normal time, which is measured before the device is installed, and is permanently recorded in If the driver is more than 15 percent slower than normal, the box prevents the electrical contact necessary for starting the engine.

With Dauer's support, Allegheny County Clerk of Courts Wayne-Kelly and developers of the device hope to begin a pilot program producing a supply of the devices with federal money awarded through the state transportation department.

Coincidences saved many passengers

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Survivors, witnesses and rescuers marveled Friday at the string of coincidences that saved the lives of most of the 185 persons aboard a United Airlines DC-8 that crashed in a densely populated residential neighborhood.

"It was really a lot of luck," said Neil Heesacker of Multnomah County Fire District 10. "It's just really a blessing that this turned out the way it did.' Ten of the 185 people aboard the DC-8 were killed and 18 were hospitalized. An additional 51 were treated and released. And no one on the ground was Here are some of the factors cited by survivors, rescuers and witnesses as preventing the loss of Both houses flattened by the plane were vacant.

 One family had moved out last week; the other had left two weeks ago. The plane missed a house with a 22-year-old woman and her 2-year-old daughter inside by about 30 feet.

Dozens of high-voltage wires were scattered over the ground around the plane when the dazed passengers scrambled from the craft, but no one was electrocuted.

Although its tail section was touching a live wire, the plane did not catch fire, possibly because it had only a small amount of fuel on board. The DC-8 uses a kerosene-mixture fuel that is much lessvolatile than most other jet fuels, and the sub-freezing temperatures also helped prevent an explosion or

- A grove of large fir trees sheared off both wings and prevented it from plowing through several more blocks of the neighborhood.

normally packed with traffic at 6:14 p.m., when the crash occurred. But there were no cars in the area when the plane crashed through it.
Walt Porter, battalion chief for Fire District 10, said it was amazing that the people who escaped the craft did not touch any of the downed wires.

Fire Chief Richard Ham was among the first to arrive with an engine crew responding to a reported power outage in the area. The firefighters didn't know a plane had crashed until they reached the

First there was darkness, then silence before crash

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - First there was darkness, then an eerie silence as a United Airlines DC-8 jetliner lost power moments before crashing in a densely populated neighborhood, killing 10 of the 185 persons on board, investigators and survivors said Friday.

The plane cut a swath through power lines and trees, flattening two unoccupied houses before nosediving into a thick grove of fir trees three miles southeast of Portland International Airport at 6: 14 p.m. Thursday. 'The stewardess said 'grab your

"There is some information on the tape that he (the pilot) had some fuel," Driver said of the pilot's taped transmissions. But he added, "It is reasonable to assume that one of the causes could be lack of fuel."

A United Airlines official said the pilot had circled the airport for about half an hour while talking with maintenance workers in San Francisco about a malfunctioning landing gear.

Some investigators speculated the pilot also may have been trying to burn excess fuel to avoid a fire in case of a crash landing. Two crew members died in the crash of Flight 173 from New York

"I think the people were very, very fortunate," Driver Said. "I think it (the death toll) should have been much higher."

The front portion of the jetliner, including the cockpit and the first few rows of passenger seats, was ripped from the fuselage and wound up twisted beneath the almost-intact body of the plane.

New SALT agreement will do little to reduce chance of nuclear war

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed SALT agreement would do little to decrease the likelihood of nuclear war and could lead to the Soviet Union obtaining strategic superiority by default, a panel of the House Armed Services Committee said in a report

"A fatal miscalculation, a tragic accident, or an act of madness which could propel the world into nuclear war would, in the opinion of the panel, be no less likely with SALT II, as presently structured, than without

ODESSA----Midland's Bulldogs overcame a slow start to gun down the Odessa Permian Panthers, 65-55, here Friday night in a District 5-4A basketball opener in the Permian Fieldhouse.

Down by as much as 10 points in the first half, the Purple Pack trailed 19-13 at the end of the first period when the Panthers connected on nine of 11 shots while Coach Don Humphrey's team only hit six of 18 shots from the floor.

The Panthers cooled off in the second period and began forcing their shots while the Bulldogs roared back to outscore the Odessans, 18-12, to tie the game at 31-31 at intermission.

Brad Kerley, talented 6-foot-5 ju-nior, who wound up with 22 points on the night, gunned in 14 of those in the first half and when the Black Cats took a 23-13 lead early in the second period, it looked like Midland was going to be blown out, but the Bulldogs kept their cool and got back into the game, thanks to some great free throw chooting in the second stanza.

MIDLAND CASHED in on nine of 11 charity tosses in that second period and that more than made up for the cold shooting from the floor in the first eight minutes of action.

The Bulldogs outscored Permian, 34-24 in the second half to win going away as Walter Bryson, who was shut out in the first half, scored Midland's first eight points on four field goals. The 6-0 senior wound up with 14 points in the game as four Bulldogs finished in the double figures. Charles Johnson, 6-4 senior, chipped in with 15 points while Hebert Johnson, 6-7 sophomore added 11 and Roy Lee Jefferson 10 more to the Tall City team's attack. Tim Spirling just missed scoring in the double figures with eight points and his final basket of the night came right at the buzzer to give Midland it's 10-point margin of vic-

THE BULLDOGS won the game at the free throw lane, hitting 15 of 22 free tosses while Permian only managed to connect on seven of 15.

Both teams had players in foul trouble, but nobody left the game with five personal fouls.

Permian did manage to pull to within six points late in the game when Kerley's jumper cut the Midland advanatage to 57-51 with 2:02 remaining. Midland's delay game with a 57-48 lead with 2:52 left, helped to seal the victory which gives the Pack a 13-8 reading on the year, but much more important, a 1-0 5-4A

While Kerley was taking high-scoring honors for the game, teammates Scott Wynne and Mark Darville also were in the double digits with 14 and 10 points, respectively.

In taking a 19-13 first period lead, Permian was hitting from close range while Midland was gunning from the outside, and misfiring.

Midland made it a clean sweep for the evening, winning the junior varsity game, 64-53 with Perry Bolger, and Homer Brown paving the way for the Bullpups with 18 and 11 points.

The victory gives Coach Eddie Shirley's Pups a fine 14-1 record. Big gun for Permian's JV was Kenneth Wigley with 17 points. Midland's only loss thus far in JV action was to the Odessa Ector JVs during the Midland Tourney last month in the Tall City.

Rebels dazzle Bronchos behind Merritt's 28

By STEVE O'BRIEN R-T Sports Writer

Midland Lee's Rebels raised the curtain on their 1978-79 District 5-4A basketball season here Friday night and if the opening night performance was any indication, it could prove to be a long-running production.

With Ernest Merritt cast in the lead role and Tyler Alcorn and Ken Van Hoozer giving solid support, the Rebels simply dazzled Odessa High, 81-47, for a 1-0 mark in district action and their 10th win in 19 outings this

Merritt turned in a sterling performance, scoring 12 first quarter points en route to a game-high 28 markers. Merritt scored the game's first six points on three field goals to give Lee a quick 6-0 lead. The Rebels never trailed in the game.

Merritt opened the contest by canning a pair of 15 foot jumpers and then stealing the ball and driving the length of the court for an uncontested layup. Teammate Alcorn took over then, scoring Lee's next six points on a pair of free throws and two field goals. Merritt's 18 foot jumper at the buzzer gave Lee a bulging 26-10 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Guard Danny Wright, who was the leading Odessa High scorer heading into the district opener with over 17 points per outing, rode the bench throughout the first quarter before entering the game at the second period's onset. But that proved to be too little too late for the staggering Bronchos who fell to 3-11 on the season. Wright finished with just four points.

Odessa managed to cut three points off the Rebel lead in the second quarter, but still faced a considerable 13-point deficit at the halftime, 41-28.

If there were still any doubts about the game's eventual outcome after two periods, the Rebels quickly cleared them up in the third period Lee outscored Odessa 22-6 in that period, holding the Bronchos scoreless for 6:24 while scoring 18 unanswered points in the same span.

The Rebels, who seemed to derive a great deal of pleasure from their night's work, operated the fast break with deathly efficiency in the third frame, picking up a fair share of easy buckets in the process. Keeping the pace continually moving and passing the ball not only with accuracy but with plenty of style, the Rebels opened a gaping 63-34 lead before Coach Paul Stueckler began substituting freely.

While the Rebels had few problems finding the range, Odessa High's frustration was typified on the first play of the fourth period. Wright managed to control the quarter-opening tip and then made a spectacular pass to teammate Todd Heatly for an apparently easy layup. But, the ball hung on the rim, remaining motionless for what seemed an eternity before finally falling off and into the hands of a waiting Rebel.

Merritt fired off three field goals from the 10-15 foot range within a one-minute span for his final six points of the evening in the fourth period. His last bucket, a 10-footer off yet another Lee fast break, gave the Rebels a 71-30 lead with only 4:30 left in the game.

In action earlier in the evening, the Lee junior varsity and sophomore squads made it possible for their varsity counterparts to wrap up a clean sweep for the night by winning their games. The Lee JV crushed OHS, 94-52, while the sophomores were equally successful with a 64-46 win. Next action for the Rebels will be Tuesday night when they entertain San Angelo Central.

Abilene pulls two victories

Defending District 5-4A basketball champion Abilene Cooper got off on the right foot Friday night as they opened their title defense with a 46-41 win over San Angelo Central.

Cooper, who is the choice of the district coaches to finish second in the league this season, used a balanced scoring attack to dump Central. David Williams and Kyle Stuard paved the way for the Cougars with 13 points each while Kenny Henry added

Rene Deleon topped San Angelo Central with 21 points, all but one of those coming from the field.

Abilene High, picked to finish fifth in the league, made it a two-for-two for Abilene schools by dumping Big Spring, 46-36. Billy Cummings led Abilene to their 10th win of the season against nine losses with his 10 points. Abilene High had to overcome a sparkling 18 point performance by Steer star Mark Poss to pick up the win.

In the other two boys 5-4A games Friday night, Midland High defeated Odessa Permian, 65-55, and Midland Lee trounced Odessa High, 81-47.

In conference girls action, both Midland squads were again successful with Lee taking a 45-33 decision over Odessa while Midland High trounced Permian, 56-31. Also, Abilene High downed Big Spring, 44-31.

Kittle leads Rebel win

ODESSA - Deborah Kittle slammed home 16 points here Friday night to lead the Midland Lee girls' basketball team to a big 45-33 victory over Odessa High in the opening District 5-4A outing for both teams.

The Rebels led all the way to take the easy victory to go 1-0 in the first half 5-4A cage race. Lee is the defending champion.

Gayle Wilson dumped in 12 points to add to the Rebel attack and Leshia Watkins had eight points. Leading scorer this year for the Rebels Dee Dee Poole was held to a mere two points.

Teresa Adams led Odessa High with 13 points and was the only player for the losers in double figures.

Pistons may call in free agent McNeill

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) - The Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association have signed free agent Larry McNeill to replace Dennis Boyd, station WPON reported Friday. However, a Pistons' spokesman said that McNeill was "one of several names being considered," but had not been signed.

Boyd was signed three weeks ago but was dropped Thursday.

Destiny's darlings test Dallas beat their last six opponents. Coach Tom Landry's Cowboys have made 12 playoff appearances and been to four Super Bowls, winning two. "The playoff experience is important, there isn't any question," said Landry. "When you come into the circumstances where experience can pay off for you, it will pay off when you get into a game where pressure can carry you away."

The game to determine who plays the winner of Sunday's Minnesota-Los Angeles game features the NFL's No. 1 passer, Dallas' Roger Staubach, against a tough Atlanta defense which specializes in the blitz.

"Atlanta sends so many people on the blitz that you couldn't pick them all up with the National Guard," said that's their style.'

Cowboys' assistant Ermal Allen. Meanwhile, Bartkowski will face the Cowboys' Doomsday Defense featuring tackle Randy White and end Harvey Martin.

"I think the Falcons are a very good representative in the playoffs," said Landry. "They're an aggressive football team. They always have been,

When the Dallas Cowboys meet the Atlanta Falcons today in an NFL playoff game, these quarterbacks are likely to see most of the action.

Johnson hires Cal's Leahy

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) - Oklahoma State University head football Coach Jimmy Johnson hired the University of California's quarterback coach, former pro Bob Leahy, as OSU offensive coordinator Friday.

Leahy, once an understudy to Terry Bradshaw on the Pittsburgh Steelers in the NFL, will also have responsibility for coaching OSU's quarterbacks, Johnson said.

Leahy's appointment is the fifth announced by Johnson, Earlier, four members of the current Pittsburgh University football staff - Pat Jones, Tony Wise, Dave Wannstedt and Larry Holton - announced they would coach at OSU this year. All the appointments are pending approval by the OSU Board of Regents.

Mike Dunn leads Gray to victory

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) -Duke quarterback Mike Dunn scored one touchdown and passed for another to lead the Gray to a 28-24 victory in the annual Blue-Gray college football classic at Cramton Bowl Friday

But Dunn's most important play came in the fourth quarter after the Blue took a 24-21 lead on a 1-foot plunge by Colorado running back Jim Mayberry.

Dunn's 43-yard pass to Chris Hill of Kentucky put the ball on the Blue 3-yard line. Two plays later, Hill scored from 1-foot out to put the Gray ahead for good. The Gray team jumped out to an early lead, scoring on the fifth play of the game after taking possession of the opening kickoff, an offside kick that caught the Blue napping. The score came on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Tom Rozantz of William & Mary to Louisville running back Nathan Poole. On its next possession, the Gray team marched down to the Blue 5yard line, but the scoring threat died when Dunn fumbled and Keith Brown of Minnesota recovered for the Blue.

Minnesota plans air attack Sunday

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - The Los Angeles Rams have the best pass defense in the National Football Conference, but that won't stop Minnesota from putting its top-ranked passing game to work in Sunday's divisional Fran Tarkenton loves to pit his linebackers, a situation Vikings fullback Chuck Foreman says is nearly impossible to stop. "I don't think there's any set of runners one-on-one against opposing linebackers in the league that Rickey (Young) and I can't work on," says Foreman, who grabbed 61 passes this Young, picked up in a trade with San Diego for Ed White, led the entire National Football League with 88 receptions. The speed and quickness he and Foreman possess make it difficult for linebackers to react to their "The Rams linebackers are all good, solid football players," notes

Foreman, who led the NFL in receiving with 73 catches in 1975. "But they're not all that quick. The one guy they do have who has good quickness is Isiah Robertson, but I guess he's not playing." Robertson, a six-time all-pro selection, has been displaced this season by second-year man Bob Brudzinski on the right side. Jack Reynolds is the middle linebacker and the left outside man is Jim Youngblood, who knocked Vikings quarterback Tommy Kramer unconscious at Metropolitan Stadium in Bloomington, Minn., Oct. 15.

Although Tarkenton threw often enough to his wide receivers during the season, most of his success against the Rams will probably be of the short variety.

Overtime is ruled out

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Sugar Bowl coaches Bear Bryant and Penn State have rejected a plan by bowl officials and ABC to have a suddendeath overtime period in case of a tie in Monday's game.

The New York Times reported in Saturday's editions that the proposal for an overtime was meant to resolve questions about what team should be No.1 in case the game ends in a tie.

A Sugar Bowl official said the plan was rejected last week on the advice of Penn State and Alabama coaches and Frank Broyles, director of athletics at Arkansas and a member of the National Collegiate Athletics Association Extra Events Committee. Broyles also will be an ABC commentator at the game. Ralph McFillen, assistant director of events for the NCAA, said an overtime period would be against NCAA rules. "As I look at the rule, there is no provision for this," McFillen told The Times.

Don Bernstein, a member of the ABC Sports staff, said, "The Sugar Bowl made overtures to us and we were willing if the coaches went along with it. But, from what I understand Bear Bryant and Joe Paterno reject-

Statistical digits capture NFL eyes

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) - Statistics are the coins of the National Football League realm but it's a special four digit number with a dollar sign attached that's caught the fancy of the New England Patriots.

The winner of the AFC playoff semifinal here Sunday - the New England Patriots against the Houston Oilers — is guaranteed $9,000 just for appearing in the conference championship game.

"I'd say we're going to be a little more alert with that money on our minds," says Patriots' defensive lineman Richard Bishop.

To earn the payday, however, New England must improve on some more traditional football statistics. In a nutshell, the team hasn't been sharp since midseason when it routed the New York Jets 55-21.

"We haven't been playing as well recently as we were during the earlier part of the year," says Coach Chuck Fairbanks, in a burst of candor. "I'm just not sure whether we'll regain

A prime example of late faltering was New England's 26-23 loss to Houston last month. The Patriots initially held a 23-0 lead but were scoreless in the second half. New England nevertheless has been installed as the favorite by a margin of about a touchdown. What Fairbanks thinks of the odds is unknown because the coach bristles at the mere mention of a betting line. He won't discuss it.

Houston Coach Bum Phillips is no riverboat gambler on the sidelines, either, but he's had particularly good luck in Foxboro.

In addition to this year's victory, Phillips' Oilers beat New England 7-0 in his other appearance here. It was the coach's NFL debut, won when safety Willie Germany scooped up a fumble and ran for a touchdown.

Montana wants to uphold old Iris tradition

DALLAS (AP) — Quarterback Joe Notre Dame's opening upset losses to Montana is fully aware there's no Missouri and Michigan after the Irish national title at stake in the Cotton Bowl Monday against Houston but just as important to him is upholding 'Notre Dame tradition.'

Bowl gives us a chance to finish as winners and we also have to uphold Notre Dame tradition."

"We got behind in those games and "We got off to a bad start and we I started forcing a lot of passes when I closed the regular season with a shouldn't have," said Montana. "I loss," said Montana. "The Cotton was trying to get a lot of yardage with the big play and it cost interceptions.

Montana quickly learned to harness Montana, explaining the pressure his gambling instincts. He threw sixinterceptions in Notre Dame's first back, partially blamed himself for three games but was intercepted three times in the last eight.

"There's a lot of pressure in being a Notre Dame quarterback," explained the senior from Monogahela, Pa. "It almost gets to be strenuous. When you win, you get a lot of publicity. When you lose you get a lot of publicity. And you always know that the guy behind you isn't that far behind you."

Montana also is aware that an Irish victory over Houston's Southwest Conference champions might well rest on his rifle arm.

The Cougars have a knack of shutting off the opponents' running attack and forcing the opponent to pass. Houston gave up 1,863 yards rushing for its 9-2 record but the Cougars also allowed 2,209 yards passing.

"Houston's pass defense is misleading," noted Montana: "The pressure is applied by the front four. That poses a problem. We're big and strong but they are quicker."

Notre Dame ended the regular season with a dramatic 27-25 loss to Southern Cal on a field goal in the final seconds.

"Losing to Southern Cal was disappointing after the way we came back," said Montana, who threw two touchdown passes and set up another in a three-touchdown, fourth-quarter blitz that put the Irish ahead 25-24 before Frank Jordan booted his winning field goal.

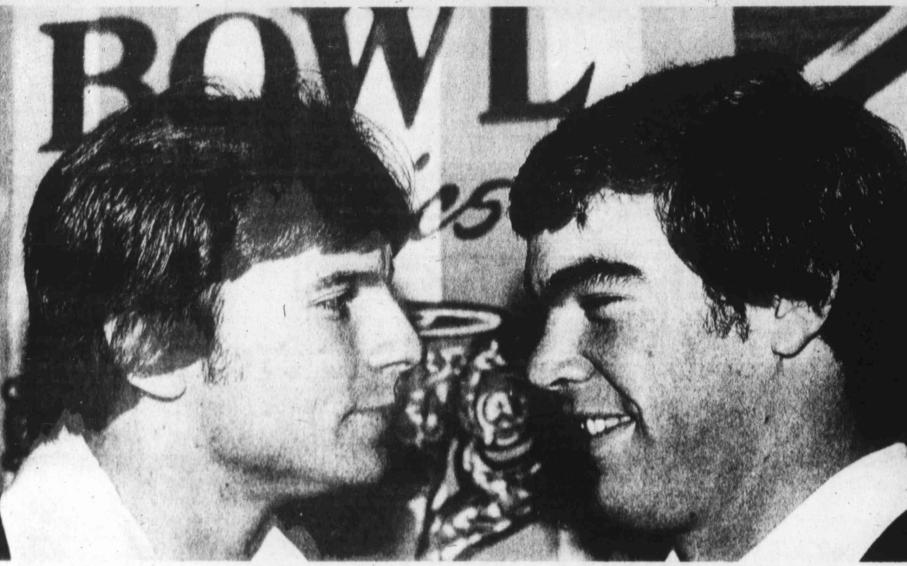

"We could have been blown out in that game if we had given up," said Montana. "We didn't give up. We came back fighting. That's what is important."

Had the Irish been able to hold off Southern Cal's final drive, it would have been another of many comeback victories directed by Montana.

"Sure," Montana said about the comeback triumphs, "But remember, the defense has to get us the

By The Associated Press

Penn State is ranked No. 1 and Alabama is ranked No. 2 in college football. Monday, the teams will meet at the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans and ne would seem to settle the national championship.

Unless, of course, you happen to be No. 3 Southern California or No. 5 Michigan, who will be playing in the Rose Bowl the same day.

Coaches John Robinson of the Trojans and Bo Schembechler of the Wolverines are wondering just how strong Alabama's bid for the national championship would be if the Crimson Tide beats Penn State.

They agree that State, unbeaten and untied, would have a legitimite claim to the crown if it beats Alabama. But if the Tide wins, that would leave three teams - Penn State. Alabama and the Rose Bowl winner with one loss apiece.

"To assume Alabama would be the national champion if it beats Penn State is a mistake," said Robinson. "After the bowls, you fellows who vote should sit down and re-think the whole thing," he advised.

With a victory over Penn State, Alabama's argument would be simple. Beating the No. 1 team in the nation in the final game should move a contender up. That was the formula Notre Dame used when it walloped previously-unbeaten Texas in the Cotton Bowl and leaped from No. 5 to capture the national championship last January:

But if Southern Cal beats Michigan, it also would finish with only one loss to Arizona State - and it would include among its victories a decision over ... yes, you guessed it ... Ala-

Michigan is in a similiar situation. By beating Southern Cal in the Rose Bowl, the Wolverines could finish with only one loss — to Michigan State, which was ineligible for any bowl action this season.

Schembechler agreed with Robin-

"If Penn State loses, it stands to reason that the winner of our game should be national champion," he said, "We don't want sentiment to enter into it, just logic.

A year ago, Alabama thought the logic was in its corner. But the Tide finished No. 2 behind Notre Dame, which plays Houston in the Cotton Bowl Monday.

Penn State, of course, is planning on making all the talk academic. A victory by the Nittany Lions would solve the dilemma and that's exactly what Coach Joe Paterno's team had in mind when it delayed its bowl selection, waiting to make sure it could play the No. 2 team, which turned out to be Alabama.

"We ean't forget the importance of No. 1 against No. 2," said Chuck Fusina, Penn State's quarterback. There are other complications in the poll picture. For example, there's the Orange Bowl, also scheduled for Monday, with once-beaten Oklahoma, ranked No. 4, against Nebraska, No. 6. The Sonners' only loss was against the Cornhuskers.

Sunday night, another team with only one loss, Georgia, plays in the Bluebonnet Bowl against Stanford.

Don't try and sell that to Clark, runnerup to Oklahoma's Greg Roberts for the Outland Trophy as college football's lineman of the year.

'This is business," said Clark, a statement which might shock the NCAA. "This is what we've been hoping to play for."

BUT WHAT about the sights, the fun, the reward for an unbeaten (11-0)

"I've been here, visited Tulane when I was being recruited," Clark said. "I've seen Bourbon Street, saw the Superdome (site of the game), saw part of the Mardi Gras. Hey, we're here for a purpose."

Clark was asked what he does during non-meeting or practice times. "I sleep, get plenty of rest," Clark replied.

40-yard dash in 4.8. He was captain of the football and basketball teams at New Castle, Pa., High School, com-peted in track and wrestling. He plans to try the decathlon this spring at Penn State.

Clark matriculated at Penn State because he wanted to be a pro football linebacker, and Paterno has turned out numerous pro linebackers.

It wasn't easy for Paterno to convince Clark to switch to defensive tackle. The 20-year-old is as strongwilled mentally as he is physically, and he bench presses more than 500

"I still want to be a linebacker," said Clark before Friday's practice at Tulane Stadium. "I hope the pros are looking at me that way.

Clark said Paterno explained that the first year he lets a player choose his position, the second he plays where the team needs him, and the third they'll compromise — whatever that means.

But then Clark is big enough, fast enough and mean enough to play two positions. The junior is one of four candidates alive for the Lombardi Trophy, awarded to the nation's top

Sorley boasts of Orange Bowl

MIAMI (AP) - Tom Sorley isn't worried about which team wins college football's national champion-

"Even though we won't slip on a national championship ring, within ourselves we feel the best two teams in the country will be playing in the Orange Bowl Monday night," the Nebraska quarterback said Friday of the sixth-ranked Cornhuskers' rematch with No. 4 Oklahoma.

Sorley, a 200-pound senior from Big Spring, Texas, doesn't expect the Orange Bowl winner to be declared the national champ in the final Associated Press poll because of this year's bowl schedule.

Most of the title speculation has centered around the Sugar Bowl where top-ranked Penn State faces No. 2 Alabama, one of only two teams to beat Nebraska this year. The Rose Bowl also features a team ranked ahead of the Huskers and Sooners, No. 3 Southern California, which meets No. 5 Michigan.

Nebraska beat Oklahoma 17-14 on Nov. 11 when the Sooners, ranked No. 1 at the time, lost six of nine fumbles in the game. When the Huskers lost to

Dils finally off bench

HOUSTON (AP) — Steve Dils' foot-ball career at Stanford University has been up and down enough to qualify as a roller coaster ride.

He came to the Pacific 10 school expecting to be the next Jim Plunkett. Instead, he sat on the bench three years watching Guy Benjamin lead he Cardinals. Benjamin led the nation in passing last season and Dils played in only one game. So when Dils took over as the starter this season and led the nation in passing it surprised even "I never dreamed I'd lead the nation this season," said Dils, who will lead the Cardinals Sunday night in the Bluebonnet Bowl against 11th-ranked Georgia. "I thought that honor would go to Jack Thompson (Washington State) or maybe Chuck Fusina (Penn State). Anybody but me."

Modesty aside, Dils completed an average of 22.5 passes per game and finished the regular season with 2,943 yards and 22 touchdowns. He set a single game Pac-10 record of 430 yards passing and 438 total offense against Washington State. Dils is the fourth league-leading passer Stanford Coach Bill Walsh has tutored in recent years. Prior to teaching Benjamin last year, Walsh helped Ken Anderson of the National Football League Cincinnati Bengals lead the NFL in passing in 1974 and

"Steve Dils is the best forward passer in college football today," Walsh said. "He's somewhere between Brian Sipe (Cleveland Browns) and Joe Ferguson (Buffalo Bills).

"He's as good as Benjamin was last year, thanks to hard work, poise and intelligence. But they're different types. Benjamin was more of the Namath type, quick with nimble feelt. Dils has more of the technical approach like Anderson.

Although he plays like Anderson, Joe Namath was his idol.

"Plunkett certainly was one of the guys I've admired, Namath too," Dils said. "Growing up, I guess Namath was my idol. I read his book on passing and I liked they he ran his teams. Plunkett was that way too." Dils only observed college football from the sidelines however, until this season. "It's not any fun not playing but I chose Stanford for other priorities besides football and when I ended up in th situation, I just adjusted," he said. "I knew Stanford would do more for me than the other schools, so I wasn't unhappy."

Both teams worked out Friday in the Astrodome in final tuneups prior to the New Year's Eve kickoff at 7

Bluebonnet Bowl officials said Friday about 40,000 tickets had been sold for the 20th annual classic. The Astrodome seating capacity is 51,056. Stanford has been installed as a six-point favorite.

NEW YORK (AP) - Dede Nikollaj, who escaped Communist Albania and last year became an American citizen, is on the run again.

His small Bronx grocery store is closed. Anthony Rossetti, 19, is dead of gunshot wounds inflicted, police say, by the grocer after a snowball smacked into the wall of Nikollaj's store on Nov. 29.

The snowball had been thrown not by Rossetti but by a friend at another boy. But its impact was apparently more than Nikollaj could bear after months of harassment by neighborhood youths. In an alley opposite the grocery, five .25-caliber bullets struck Rossetti as he urinated against a wall. And Nikollaj's subsequent arrest pushed him one step further. Two weeks ago, he vanished while free on $15,000 bail. Even his lawyer thinks he jumped bail rather than face the consequences of the death. 'His life is now as destroyed as that of the youth," defense attorney Murray Richman says. And something more died too.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD IS close-knit. The ethnic groups living beside each other - Italians, Albanians, Jews, others - had been tolerant. Now neighbors cluster on street corners, questioning, debating the events of

For them, it was the night when fear and division, long simmering beneath a surface of friendship and calm, were finally bared.

Nikollaj, 24, entered this country seven years ago. Last year he bought the grocery on East 205th Street in the quiet, predominantly Italian, Bedford Park section. He settled nearby with his wife, Julie, 22, and sons Chris, 6, Joseph, 4, and Paul, 2.

But after the shooting, Nikollaj went into hiding because of threats on his life. Police guarded the closed grocery 24 hours a day.

Some made light of the threats. "Nobody's going to blow up that store. There's an Italian family living upstairs," said one youth. But even he, like many in the neighborhood, would not identify himself. "We don't want to get killed," he said.

"THE NEIGHBORHOOD'S kind of split," one man said, "between those who feel the grocer was justified, those who feel he was not justified and those who don't give a damn. There are people who feel he was harassed to the point where he just lost control. But he had a temper. He comes from a different culture than ours.'

Stunned residents repeatedly cite a "violent" Albanian nature they saw in Nikollaj. Defense attorney Richman calls it "a crime committed in the heat of passion.'

"A man who has no criminal background, a working stiff who works 24 hours a day, does not suddenly commit a violent act unless there's something substantial to precipitate it," Richman said.

"The neighborhood's kind of split," one man said, "between those who feel the grocer was justified, those who feel he was not justified and those who don't give a damn. There are people who feel he was harassed to the point where he lost control..."

That something, said Richman, was a chain of abuse - broken windows, "business disruption, threats, verbal abuse" - which youths inflicted on "Danny" Nikollaj since he bought the store.

A WITNESS SAID "Tony" Rossetti was across the street from the store when the snowball hit. But neighbors said tension between Rossetti and the grocer had been building for some time. "Danny threatened to kill this kid Tony more than once," and Rossetti once challenged him to fight 'one-on-one," said one youth.

"He couldn't take him. He used to push the kids around, but he couldn't push Tony around," a friend of Rossetti said of Nikollaj.

One youth said the muscular Rossetti - he did construction work -'was great, a great guy, great with the girls — a good-looking Italian kid. He wore a black leather jacket and liked 1950s music ... Tony was tough, but he didn't look for trouble.

Next to the grocery is a game room with pool table and pinball machines that Nikollaj opened and then closed when tensions between him and the youths began to mount. They resented him, saying he wouldn't give back money they lost in his pinball machines.

"There are a lot of reports of him hitting the kids," a man said. "I personally saw him hit one kid - shoved him against a wall. Nikollaj's store windows were broken three times, his van damaged. Police say he reported harassment, but didn't single out any youths.

THEN CAME THE MOMENT the snowball hit - about 8 p.m., Nov.

"Danny came out, looked at the wall, looked around," related Rossetti's friend, who said he saw Nikollaj walk across the street and into the alley where Rossetti had gone to urinate. "He walked down the alley. I heard about five or six shots," the friend said. Police say Nikollaj left the alley and surrendered to off-duty Police Officer Michael Goodwin, a neighbor alerted by the shots. Now neighbors grope for explanations, for who was right or wrong.

'The Albanian culture is very heavily macho. There have been family feuds for years over some kind of insult. Albanian men are very used to violent outbreaks to settle problems," a young woman said.

Told of that, an Albanian woman smiled shyly. "I guess that's right. That's what they do. The men don't take too much. They blow up." But, she added, youths "were always making trouble" for Nikollaj. "He couldn't stand it any more. He had the right to beat him but not to kill

AN ELDERLY MAN agreed. "He shouldn't have used a gun. Get a baseball bat, break a guy's arm, slap him around. But today they pull out guns. I don't think it's proper.'

Nikollaj has been indicted on a charge of second degree murder, punishable by 25 years to life in prison. Police say they have contacted authorities in Detroit, where he has relatives, on a tip that he would go there, then to Canada, then back to Albania.

Richman says he has tried many times to contact Nikollaj through relatives. "I'm very annoyed at my client. We didn't get the full fee," he says. But, he adds, "I think it's a lost cause."

"Suddenly no one speaks English," the lawyer says. "It's a reverse Iron Curtain.

Fire in Oriental Theater stirs tragic memories

By STEVE WEINER

CHICAGO (AP) - The match fell from the ashtray onto the carpet, and as they did once before, flames ate their way along ornate corridor and

As smoke slowly filled the Oriental Theater last June 4, moviegoers inside quickly realized something was

This time, the 2,000 people inside escaped safely and the building was saved. But 75 years ago Saturday, 600 people died when they tried to flee a fire that gutted a theater that stood on the same spot — the famed, supposedly fireproof Iroquois.

In part because hundreds died at the Iroquois - many of them jammed against doors that wouldn't open the thousands inside the Oriental during this year's fire lived

'It's an example of what can be accomplished through effective fire codes," says Edward Prendergast, a city fire prevention engineer.

"SINCE THE IROQUOIS Theater

fire, in the city of Chicago, we have had only one fatality in a theater. Literally millions of persons have sat through thousands of performances in theaters that have been altered to meet codes that were passed as a consequence of the Iroquois fire."

The same can be said for hundreds of theaters around the country.

The Iroquois was a proud, 38-dayold addition to Chicago's Loop area on Dec. 30, 1903, when the late Eddie Foy brought his extravaganza "Mr. Blue Beard" to its stage. The show began, and he was making up backstage for his appearance.

A standing-room-only crowd about 1,900 people, many of them children - packed the auditorium. So prized were tickets that Foy's son Bryan, then 4, could not get one. He had to watch from backstage.

At 3: 15 p.m., Frank Holland and his seven Hussars were singing "Let Us Swear by the Pale Moonlight." Unseen by the audience, a strip of gauze hanging from the draperies was blown onto a sputtering, open arc light at the right side of the stage.

INSTANTLY, THE STRIP ignited. A stagehand tried to kill the flame with a fire extinguisher, but failed. Quickly, the fire spread to the draperies, then up to the ceiling and across the stage.

Foy, his face halfway in makeup, rushed to the stage and faced the audience with flaming embers falling around him, trying to calm the

'See?" he called out, catching one of the embers. "I'm a pretty good catcher." Then, turning to the orchestra, he ordered, "For God's sake, play, play, play and keep on play-

But by then, the spectators had run tos curtain, which was designed to prevent the spread of flames, jammed and would not close. Someone opened the back stage door, and the draft that gushed in swelled the fire into a pillar of flame that filled the interior.

The screaming mob inside found many theater doors locked. Others opened only inward, and couldn't be used because people crushed against them, terrified.

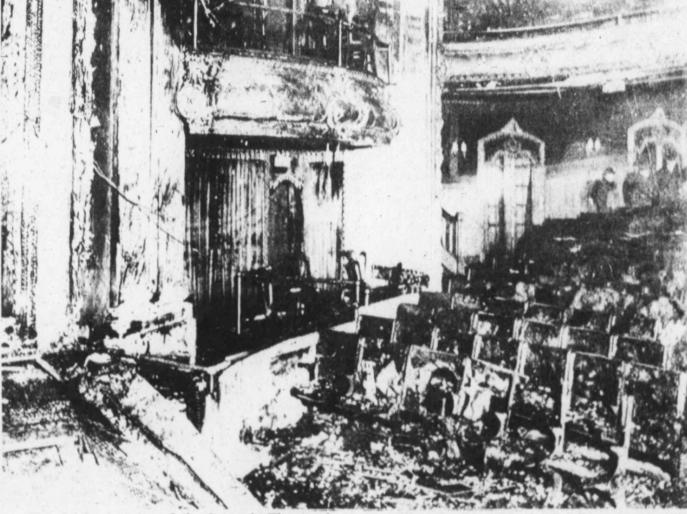

SOME PEOPLE REACHED fire escapes, and others jumped from windows. But when firemen finally were able to see the charred interior, they found 575 bodies - 200 piled dead on the staircase, lying six to 10 deep around exits. About two dozen others died of their injuries during the next two weeks.

The final death count was 602 -"the most serious theater fire of modern times," according to a National Fire Protection Association assessment 25 years ago. No one was ever punished for the tragedy, though the theater's managers and several city officials were indicted. Civil suits dragged out for vears.

The disaster touched off a theater safety movement, and regulations that came into general use as a consequence included use of quick-opening vents over stages and automatic sprinklers, reinforced asbestos or metal fire curtains, flame-resistant scenery, emergency lighting systems and exit doors clearly marked and opening outward.

THESE MAJOR SAFETY precautions were built into the Oriental Theater, a 3,100-seat house which opened on the Iroquois site in 1926. At first, the Oriental was a posh addition to the Loop theater district and last September its architecture earned it a place in the National Register of Historic

End of holiday season spending brings start of January sales

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

The bills of Christmas past may still be with us, but it's time to start thinking about spending again.

Here is a month-by-month look at some seasonal bargains:

JANUARY: Stores traditionally have post-holiday and inventory sales as well as white sales during the first month of the year. You should be able to find toys, books, Christmas wrapping and decorations, drugs, clothing, furniture, appliances and bicycles. Hams and holiday luxury foods also may be good buys.

FEBRUARY: Washington's and Lincoln's birthday sales offer a wide range of goods, but you may find a smaller selection than you did in January. Look for sports equipment, curtains, hosiery, storm windows and air conditioners. Order bulbs for spring

MARCH: You should find washers, dryers, winter coats, boys' and girls' shoes, luggage and ski equipment on sale. Wait until after Easter - April 14 - to buy spring clothes. If you can storm windows. take an early vacation, consider ski resorts; rates start to drop in March

APRIL: Post-Easter sales feature

children's clothes, lingerie, infant's wear, outdoor paints and garden items as well as spring fashions. Look for good buys on hams after the middle of the month. MAY: Mother's Day and Memorial Day sales spotlight clothes for the whole family, blankets, linens, handbags, tablecloths, toweLs, housecoats, children's camp clothing, paint and wallpaper.

JUNE: You'll find Father's Day specials, plus supermarket sales of dairy products and frozen foods. Look for sportswear, men's wear, floor coverings, bedding, building materials and tires. Check for outdoor furniture and playthings after the middle of the

How to stop that spinning

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN AP Special Correspondent

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) - Many of our readers on the morrow, and many mornings-after thereafter, will be suffering from a crapula, which is Latin vulgate of course - for a hangover.

'A sickness of the head from gross overindulgence," Pliny the Elder isolated the virus and betook himself to the public bath seeking a cure.

The search has gone on ever since with no foreseeable medical breakthrough, although every now and then one of those journalist-doctors who write columns on acne and psoriasis will recommend ribofla-

yin, folic acid with intrinsic factor, aluminum hydroxide or an infusion of ascorbic acid that no sufferer in extremis could possibly endure on a tongue tasting like the proverbial motorman's

"The only known cure for a hangover," said the humorist H. Allen Smith, "is to lie face down in a

In the absence of scientific relief, the world staggers on, finding imaginary solace in local folk remedies

IN HOLLAND, when afflicted with what AP columnist Hal Boyle used to call "the feebles, mumbles and rattles," they clog on down to the zee and consume great quantities of pickled herring from a zeeside vendor. The odoriferous delicacy is washed down with great flagons of Dutch beer.

Italians also favor a modified hair-of-the-dog treatment: a blast of a bitter-tasting liqueur called Fernet-Branca, then a trot down to the trattoria to sop up last night's booze with a plate of pasta aglio e olio arrabbiata, which is spaghetti in olive oil and garlic liberally donsed with hot peppers and basil.

Mexicans and Texans are inclined to burn off residual alcohol with high octane chili smothered in chopped onions and ignited with a couple of fingers of tequila. Russians with a tongue like a cossack's fur cap favor vodka kept at sub-Siberian temperatures so it almost solidifies. Eskimos eat whale meat and blubber, as you would too, if you had to eat whale meat while so stricken.

IN VIETNAM before the fall, we used to drive away the many dragons of overindulgence with a dragon repellent called pho, which is the watery noodle soup of Hanoi, reinforced with a couple of tablespoons of nuoc mam, the pungent dried raw fish sauce of the South China Sea coast. Pungent is too kind a word. The American GI's with their flair for a delicate phrase called it "armpit'sauce." Its aroma has been likened to a garbage truck running over a skunk in front of a whaling factory in a pulpmill

For those who tie one on in Taiwan, the practitioners of ancient herbal medicine prescribe a belt of ginseng-root juice, a couple of 100-year-old egg yolks and some pigeon heads in a sweet and sour plum sauce. Beating of gongs is also supposed to be

Apparently neither these cures nor any others are in 1972 with President Nixon and had occasion to research the subject out of necessity. In other countries, the press is at best permitted but briefly to peek in on official banquets. In the People's Republic, we were always honored guests at all their blasts, joining in those endless toasts to peace and friendship with Kissinger and Chou En-lai. We drank a Chinese white lightning called "my tai" and a brandy called "Seven Cups and You Cannot Cross the Mountain." Most of us had trouble tracking in the hotel lobby after two cups.

ONE MORNING, seeking relief after another of those interminable banquets of uncountable toasts. the late Bob Considing and I went across the street from our hotel in Peking to a drugstore that, among other items, did a thriving business in hair restorers, birth control devices and aphrodisiacs. But when we told the Mao-suited clerks through our interpreter that we wanted a hangover remedy, they all put on the perplexed, vacuous faces that Chinese waiters everywhere wear when you ask for separate checks. Finally, they went into the back of the store to summon the head pharmacist, whose title actually was chairman of the revolutionary committee.

"Chinese do not have hangover cures," he lectured us sternly, "because Chinese do not have hangovers. They do not wallow in drunkenness. Since the revolution, we have severed ourselves from such decadent Western habits.

Which reminds me that for cases of advanced Western decadence, the late Toots Shor, who did as much as any man to advance the cause of Western decadence, always recommended a "bull shot" as an eye-opener. It was the only purely medicinal potion he dispensed at his famed midtown anti-health spa. Made mainly of beef bouillon it is only slightly more palatable than the "prairie oyster cocktail" listed as a corpse reviver in the Savoy Hotel of London's. unsurpassed barman's guide. The ingredients here are two dashes of vinegar, two teaspoons each of Worcestershire and ketchup, a dash of pepper and the yolk of a raw egg, which must be swallowed unbroken. Ugh.

MY FATHER, who was not much of a drinker and suffered greatly when doomed by a convivial glass, always sought to head off a hangover by consuming a fried egg and raw Bermuda onion sandwich just before retiring. Several friends with a bon vivant's purplish tinge to their nostrils similarly urge the merits of a pre-dawn malted milk as excellent preventive medicine.

Others with "the failing" or "the weakness," as a liking for the dropeen is known in Ireland, simmer themselves in a sauna to exorcize the lurking demons of the demon rum. A neighbor up the road, whose drinking buddy is the high school janitor in a nearby town, drives over to the gym on crucial mornings-after for a life-giving snort of oxygen from an apparatus belonging to the football team. Claims it works wonders. But he can't say the same for his kid's bi cycle pump, which he resorted to when the ianitor went on vacation.

Oh well, time usually applies its patient poultices and there is life beyond the grave. As the long-suffering Dean Martin once so plaintively put it after tying on the granddaddy of them all: "I feel sorry for people who don't drink, because this is the best they're going to feel all day,"

Where did the Spirit go? John 1:1-18 Monday John 15:1-14 Tuesday John 15:18-27

> Baubles hanging from a tree . . . rainbow colors shining bright music wafting through the house, telling tales of Rudolf or promising that Santa Claus will be coming to town. Frantic last minute shopping, settling for second best for some of the people on the list because it is so

Sometimes it seems a long way from Bethlehem.

There's nothing wrong with celebrating Christmas. True, the build-up is commercial, yet there's more good than bad in the tree ornaments and the Christmas records and even the last minute gifts. But, it is a long way from Bethlehem

Get back some of the basic spirit this Christmas. Remember the Manger, the Star in the East, and the three Wise Men who traveled by its light to see the Saviour. Celebrate at least part of Christmas in church.

Group to start fight for religious freedoms

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - A new transdenominational organization of U.S.. Christians has been formed to fight for religious freedoms which it sees as increasingly suppressed in the world by all sorts of regimes, left, right and in between.

The trend includes subtle, but rising assaults on religious liberty in this country, leaders of the organization said, particularly in recent government regulations that seek to define limits of "religious activities."

Protestant, Roman Catholic and Eastern Orthodox leaders joined in launching the new unit, "Freedom of Faith: A Christian Committee for Religious Rights," specifically to fight religious restrictions. "It's one of the most important issues of our civilization in the 20th century," says the Rev. Alexander Schlmemann, a religious historian, dean of St. Vladimir's Orthodox Seminary and one of three presidents of the new organization.

It has named a Manhattan attorney, Robert R. Andrews jr., as its executive director, on the premises involves legal battles, whether in this country or abroad.

"Never before has there been a national network of Christians working specifically on religious rights," says the Rev. William Sloane Coffin, a Presbyterian, pastor of New York's Riverside Church and also a president of the new organization.

Adds the other president, the Rev. Joseph O'Hare, editor of the national Catholic weekly, America: "We want to make sure that the victims do not

'The most tragic victims are the faceless victims. We aim at least to make known the names and faces of the victims."

To do that, the group in its first monthly "Alerts" newsletter this week cited specific cases of religious oppression in the Soviet Union, Argentina, the Philippines and South Korea, calling on local churches throughout the country for "intercession and action.

About a score of leaders of the new organization, including top officials of several major denominations, took

Besides the churchmen directly involved in the new effort, endorsements have come from many denominational executives, including leaders of all three of the major branches of Christianity.

Several denominational agencies have pledged funds to the group, with support also sought through local congregations, which are expected to form a key part of the religious rights network.

Serving as a kind of clearinghouse to gather and disseminate information on specific cases, the organization seeks to develop "prayer and action groups" in local churches across the country.

Parishes are encouraged to focus on particular religious rights cases in Sunday services, to become "paired" with congregations in other countries where religious rights are systematically violated, and to join in persistent letter-writing to governments, embassies and congressmen about known instances.

The opening statement cited a long litany of religious oppression in Africa, the Soviet Union, South America, China and southeast Asia, and also the United States, including new Internal Revenue Service rulings that set limits to religious activities.

This week's newsletter detailed specific cases in the village of Hotovitz, the Ukraine, USSR, arrest by Soviet police of Vladimir Shelkov, 82, leader of Free Adventists, banning of Jehovah's Witnesses in Argentina, registration requirements for others, arrests of two ministers in South Korea and seizure of Christian communications facilities in the Philippines.

Also likely to face losing votes are practically all the sayings attributed to Jesus in the Gospel of John. The fourth Gospel is replete with sayings of Jesus that become become favorites of Christians for centuries, such as the "I am" statements ("I am the door...the light...the way").

But contrary to the criticisms of conservative teachers and churchgoers about "liberal" scholarship, Funk said, "The most liberal among us would agree that a substantial number of sayings in the Gospels of Matthew, Mark and Luke go back to

"I don't think we would take more than 30 seconds to vote 'yes' on the parable of the good Samaritan and the parable of the sower," Funk said. Those and other sayings referring to the kingdom of Heaven are generally believed to come from the historical Jesus.

The scholars probably would also readily concur on the veracity of sayings such as "the prophet is not without honor except in his own country" and most of the Lord's Prayer, Funk and MacRae said.

Apocalyptic predictions attributed to Jesus — including passages that are fodder for modern-day fundamentalists that the "last days" have arrived - might draw divided votes. 'We might have a real battle on that," said MacRae.

Some evangelical scholars will be Funk and MacRae agreed that the added to the committee, but only so-called "Great Commission" that those who use modern critical meth-

Among other members now involved are James M. Robinson, Claremont, Calif., Graduate School; Joseph A. Fitzmyer, Catholic University of America; Paul J. Achtemeier, Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va., and J. Dominic Crossan of DePaul University.

The committee expects that it will have to put some sayings into a "maybe" category, including a few from nonbiblical sources such as the Gospel of Thomas.

The New Testament gospels were written in the last third of the first century, several decades after the crucifixion of Jesus about AD 30. The gospel writers are assumed by biblical scholars to have pieced together faithfully remembered stories and sayings with other accounts and say ings influenced by the developing theology disputes and needs of the early

But scholars willing to go on record, somewhat daringly, on the authentic sayings of Jesus also say this does not make the other sayings worthless to Christians. The sayings which might be "voted down" still reflect the insights into Jesus' significance and how early followers felt they should act in allegiance to a Messiah they believed was raised from the dead.

Though most of the New Testament specialists expect some heat from Christians who believe the Bible is unerringly historical, Funk said that scholarship has actually shifted from the late 19th and early 20th centuries when many liberal scholars insisted it was impossible to say anything confidently about the historical Jesus.

Religion dominates news events

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer

Religion, both of the historic and newly bizarre kinds, shaped the topnews events of 1978, evoking horror in one case, and in another, both grief and fresh hope. In stunning sequence, two popes died and a third was elected. Pope John Paul II, the first non-Italian pope in 455 years and the first eastern

Their leaders - and President Carter, a Southern Baptist Christian - credited faith in God for their measureable, yet still hesitant, contentious steps toward a settlement in the Middle East.

While these events overshadowed the year's news generally, other developments also drew major attention in the religious field. Among them:

-Sharp dissent and controversy arose from the World Council of Churches' $85,000 grant to Zimbabwe's Patriotic Front guerrillas fighting the internal settlement in Rhodesia between other black leaders and the white regime for gradual ernment agencies and the churches, which protested new and expanding regulations which churches saw as throttling religious activities and violating constitutional guarantees of religious freedom.

-United Presbyterians rejected moves to allow ordination of homosexuals, the first major denomination to take an explicit stand on the issue. which also continues smouldering in many church bodies. -On the basis of an asserted revelation from God, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints removed the ban that had barred blacks from the Mormon priesthood.

-Garner Ted Armstrong, the smooth-voiced broadcaster for the World Wide Church of God, was ousted by his father, the founder of the California-based, personally dominated organization.

Robert Beusse, the conference secretary for communication, made the statement to state Catholic communication directors.

He said that local broadcasters are replacing free air time for mainline religious programming with paid programming by fundamentlists and "entrepreneurial types that masquerade under the name of religious broadcasting."

NEW YORK (AP) - The United Methodist Church's chief ecumenical officer, the Rev. Dr. Robert W. Huston, says he has received more mail about the World Council of Churches' $85,000 grant to the Patriotic Front of Zimbabwe (Rhodesia) than about any other issue in his 13 years in his job.

"there is much current misinformation and misin- nent. terpretation of the grant... For both theological and pragmatic reasons, United Methodist Christians need more persistent and positive information about all ecumenical agencies.

Controversy about the grant is a major item on the agenda of a meeting of the World Council's policymaking Central Committee in Jamaica Jan. 1-11.

Dutch name for the town, "De Bott" or "The Bowl.' One look at the sur-rounding hills explains why the sturdy burghers settled on that description. Because of the island's largely vertical terrain and unapproachable coastline, roads, taxis, airports, even electricity, are relatively new additions to the Saban scene. Until 35 years ago Saba had no roads. Flights of steps carved by hand from the volcanic rock connected one village to another. Two hundred steps rose from the small landing stage at Fort Bay to The Bottom; 900 more linked the capital to Windwardside, the island's second largest vil-

During World War II, tales of the wondrous "Jeep" reached local ears and thoughts that perhaps here at last was a vehicle that could conquer the precipitous Saban landscape prompted officials to construct a road from Fort Bay to The Bottom . just in case.

Even not-so-old-timers reminisce about the arrival of the island's first car - a second-hand Jeep - in March 1947. The novelty was swung over the side of a freighter that arrived every month from Curacao, eased onto two longboats, hauled through the surf and finally deposited at the foot of the Fort Bay road.

When the key was turned in the ignition, however, nothing happened; the shipper had forgotten to have the engine overhauled. Hurried consultations were held; the ship's engineer was summoned ashore. A few adjustments, a couple of

Day trippers step off the 19-passenger planes to spend a few hours exploring the gingerbreadtrimmed villages, lunching at one of the island's picturesque inns, visiting the newly established museum, and shopping for the delicate handmade drawnwork called "Spanish Lace" that is unique to the island. When electricity finally reached the island in 1963, it was a sometime thing - from 6 p.m. till midnight. Gentlemen staying at the Government Guesthouse in The Bottom had to step across the street to the telegraph office, which had its own generator, to use their electric razors.

City of Pittsburgh drives postal service crazy

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Pittsburgh has a special place in the heart of the U.S. Postal Service.

With its chaotic jumble of absent address numbers, duplicate street names and missing blocks, the city is a mailman's nightmare.

"It's the craziest thing you'll ever see," said Marjorie Matlock of the Postal Service's area complaint office. "I can't find numbers on anything. You go two blocks beyond where you should be, because they just don't post the numbers."

The problem apparently has its origins in the city's erratic growth among winding rivers and steep

"The streets are segmented," complained the Postal Service's Morris Hill. "They'll start in one place, break off and then start somewhere else. If you don't know the area, you'll never find what you're looking for."

Lack of originality in selection of street names over the years has made things even more confusing.

"There used to be 30 or 40 Main streets in the area and 50 or 60 Water streets," recalled Ed Roberts of the city's Survey Department. "Every street that went near a river was Water Street."

But the real mind-bender for rookie mailmen and newcomers is the numbers. In many areas there just are not

"I think it's just habit or something," Roberts said. "Some of the main buildings downtown don't have numbers on them. Some have never even had them assigned. They just use intersections. It's a real problem

Mrs. Matlock said the Postal Service gets the complaints, but local governments are responsible for naming streets and designating num-

Pittsburgh tried in 1907 to straighten out the mess with a new ordinance and an extensive campaign of renaming and renumbering of streets. But in some areas, it only made the problem

Roberts said the new street names did not stick in some cases, and many residents decided they liked the numbers they already had and just kept using them.

'We had some places where you had a four-digit number on a house say 6635 - and the house next door was supposed to be 6637," Hill said. But some time back, the first digit dropped off, so it was 637 next to 6635. And they just went with it. It's even in the official records.

Roberts said the 1907 ordinance required that every house and building have a number clearly posted.

"It doesn't look as if it's been enforced," he conceded. "Why don't you get yourself a map with the block numbers marked on it?"
