Cold weather end in sight

By MARK VOGLER
R-T Staff Writer

Lots of "fender bender" car accidents, few reports of crimes, closed schools and delayed airline service to and from Midland Regional Airport — all can be blamed on the weather.

Cold temperatures continued to chill residents in the Permian Basin early today, but the National Weather Service today was predicting that the mercury may rise a bit, and the ice may melt by mid-afternoon.

Temperatures, having reached a high of only 29 degrees during the day Tuesday, dipped to 19 degrees overnight — just five degrees above the record low for today set in 1959. The record high for Jan. 2 is 75 degrees, set in 1964.

Freezing temperatures seemed to have had some benefits for the police, who enjoyed a relatively crime-free night Tuesday. But police were kept busy on the roads as motorists continued to slide their way into a stack of minor but annoying accidents.

From 7 a.m. Tuesday through 7 a.m. today, the Midland Police Department was called to 21 minor car accidents and three hit-and-run incidents. And since 7 a.m. Monday, the department had reported 59 accidents, including 10 hit-and-run. City police usually respond to about 10 accidents a day.

Icy road conditions late Tuesday forced school administrators in both Ector County and Midland school districts to cancel classes today for the second straight day.

Electricity crisis over, says TESCO

By LINDA HILL
R-T Staff Writer

Midlanders can feel free to go back to "a more normal use of electricity," Texas Electric Co. District Manager Winston Barclay said today.

The company Tuesday asked Midland customers to cut back voluntarily on electricity usage because of a series of generating problems caused by cold weather and icy conditions throughout the state.

Barclay said only minor problems had arisen in this area, though the request was being extended to Midland because some electricity normally destined for Midland was being diverted to other areas.

Warming temperatures today alleviated the major problems, though the situation was "not quite normal," said Barclay.

"Our system is in pretty good shape," he said.

TESCO lignite units today were back in operation, gas supplies to generating plants were improving and rising temperatures had thawed transmission lines and controls on generating plants, he said.

Barclay praised public response to the TESCO call for cuts in electricity usage, which, he said, "helped prevent an emergency situation from developing into a crisis."

Calls to major office buildings, stores and industries in Midland Tuesday indicated they were responding to the company's request.

"We've lowered some thermostats and cut off some equipment we could do without," said Drilco Industrial Co. manufacturing manager Ken Evers.

Evers said brief interruptions of power Tuesday, which TESCO said were caused by icing on "galloping conductors" rather than the power shortage, had forced his company to shut off some other equipment.

Power surges caused by the malfunction had made the equipment malfunction and some parts had to be scrapped, he said.

Although lasting only seconds, the power interruptions also caused problems for computer users in the city. Eagle Computing Co. reported a series of blown fuses, which put its computers out of service briefly.

In response to the TESCO request, Dellwood Mall Shopping Center Tuesday was on "half power, except for the heat," according to Shirley Bar-

County's employees get 10 percent pay hike

Midland County commissioners Tuesday started the new year by approving a budgeted 10 percent pay raise for county employees for 1979.

The commissioners also boosted longevity pay from $3 to $4 per month for each year over four an employee has worked for the county.

It was the first meeting for County Judge Bill Ahders, who along with newly elected commissioners Charlie Welch and Win Brown, was sworn in Tuesday morning. After adjourning the meeting, Ahders quipped, "I'm not a virgin anymore."

Also Tuesday, commissioners increased the rate paid foster parents from $5 to $5.50 per day for children through age 9 and $5.50 to $6.50 per

Iranians besiege California home

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Hundreds of rock-throwing demonstrators chanting "Death to the shah" besieged a hillside mansion occupied by the mother and sister of the Shah of Iran, torching two cars and setting at least a dozen fires.

Neither the princess nor her mother was injured, Los Angeles police said Tuesday night that the queen mother was moved from the house to an undisclosed location under heavy escort after the disturbance. The whereabouts of the princess was not known.

Mina Azad, a spokeswoman for the protesters, said there would be more demonstrations. "We're going to demonstrate as long as they (the shah's family) are here. We're not going to let them steal from the Iranian people and then come here and live in peace," she said.

At least 35 demonstrators were injured, two seriously, in the bloody confrontation Tuesday, as chanting Iranians and their supporters repeatedly tried to storm the home and were driven back by police using clubs, high pressure fire hoses and tear gas.

Sheriff's Department spokesman Chet Ballew said five or six demonstrators were arrested for investigation of various charges, including arson and assault on law officers.

The demonstrators carried placards calling for the death of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and an end to U.S. support of his reign.

Several demonstrators came near to entering the expensive home before about 200 protesters were forced from the steep slopes around the residence, herded down the hilly streets and corralled in a park.

The demonstrators were then released in groups of four or five without incident.

An unknown number of protesters were hit by police cars during the 15 minute melee in an exclusive residential area in the hills above downtown Beverly Hills. Ballew said the protesters were knocked down by sheriff's cars responding to a report of a female deputy being dragged from her patrol car. The deputy was unharmed and had not been dragged out of her car.

Several policemen were injured in the melee, none seriously.

At one point, dozens of screaming demonstrators surged past a large gate and battled with helmeted officers in the driveway of the home before retreating amid clouds of tear gas, leaving behind a burning police car. The protesters started at least a dozen other fires on the hillsides around the mansion, throwing placards and dry brush onto the fires while chanting "Death to the shah."

"It was like a combat zone," said Beverly Hills Police Capt. Lee Tracy. "Once they got to the front of the residence, they began throwing rocks and sticks at officers behind the gates. They stormed the gate and broke the lock and continued throwing missiles at the officers. They turned over a car in the driveway and set it afire and became more and more violent."

Some police officers drew their pistols during the disturbance, but no shots were fired. About 100 sheriff's deputies were called to aid Beverly Hills police.

The violence followed a peaceful march by about 2,000 persons through this community about 10 miles west of Los Angeles. When the first marchers reached the 80-foot hill surrounding the princess' mansion, they broke ranks and began throwing rocks and bottles.

U.S. encouraging Shah to leave strife-torn Iran

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In a major policy shift, the United States is encouraging the Shah of Iran to at least temporarily leave his strife-torn country while a civilian government is formed in an effort to end the turmoil, the Los Angeles Times said today.

While there has been no public change in the U.S. policy of support for the shah, American officials have thrown their weight behind an attempt by an opposition leader, Dr. Shapour Bakhtiar, to form a civilian government, the paper said. It quoted unnamed sources.

The Times' story from Tehran by Joe Alex Morris said U.S. officials in Washington have repeatedly raised the issue of a "vacation" in talks with the shah.

In Washington, White House spokesman Jody Powell told reporters the shah "would always be welcome in this country" if he decides to leave Iran.

Shah agrees to name council, will leave Iran for 'trip abroad'

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran moved another step toward the return of civilian government today, and the prospective prime minister said Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi has agreed to name a regency council and leave the country for a rest.

Both houses of Parliament recommended that the shah appoint Shapour Bakhtiar, the 62-year-old opposition politician whom the embattled ruler asked last week to try to form a government that might be able to end the nationwide crisis threatening his throne.

The vote in the Senate was unanimous, but a spokesman said several members of the Majlis, the lower house, spoke and voted against Bakhtiar. Informed sources said the dissenting deputies were offended by his statement in a TV speech Monday that Iran had been suffering from corrupt government for 25 years.

Bakhtiar was expected to announce his cabinet lineup on Thursday.

The parliamentary formalities were set in motion after Bakhtiar, former deputy chief of the anti-shah National Front, informed the 59-year-old monarch he had lined up a cabinet to replace the two-month-old military government headed by Gen. Gholam-Reza Azhari, the army commander.

Bakhtiar told a French TV interviewer Tuesday that the shah has "agreed to take a trip abroad, to take a rest and to name a regency council" to exercise the royal powers. But he did not say when the shah would leave.

The shah won Bakhtiar away from other opposition leaders demanding his abdication by agreeing to give up much of his power, although how much has not been announced. Meanwhile, the other political and religious leaders of the nationwide opposition to the monarch continue to demand his ouster and denounce Bakhtiar as a traitor to their movement.

Vietnamese forces go deep into Cambodia

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Vietnamese forces and their rebel Communist Cambodian allies were reported advancing deep into Cambodia today on four fronts under intense air strikes. The insurgents claimed one attack force was only 45 miles from Phnom Penh, the capital.

Reliable analysts in Bangkok reported the Vietnamese had opened a new front in the Parrot's Beak salient southeast of Phnom Penh, through which the U.S. and South Vietnamese armies invaded Cambodia in 1970. These observers believed the Vietnamese would advance westward, trying to cut the highways from the capital to the coast.

The three other fronts are northeast of Phnom Penh, between the Vietnamese border to the Mekong River

The aim appeared to be to amputate the northeast so that the rebel United Front for National Salvation sponsored by Vietnam could establish a government there.

The Bangkok sources reported widespread, intense air strikes by the Vietnamese using both Soviet and captured American-built warplanes. Cambodia claimed Soviet pilots were doing some of the flying and said one MIG was shot down New Year's Day.

Intelligence sources in Washington and Bangkok estimate more than 100,000 Vietnamese troops have been committed to the Cambodian operation, that more are in reserve, and that the Cambodian rebels could have as many as 200,000 men to fight. The Cambodian government is believed to have some 200,000 men under arms.

With just a flicker of imagination, you suddenly could turn the stray pigeon into one of Walt Disney's lost little critters.

But the blue bar pigeon wasn't just on film and in somebody's imagination.

From whence it came and where it was heading no one but the pigeon and its handler apparently know.

But the cooing bird, appearing exhausted after untold hours of flight, ducked out of the wind and sleet and snuggled up to the front screen door at Garrett Palmer's place at 101 Glenwood Drive in far west Midland.

The bird was unnoticed until late Monday afternoon, when Palmer's mother, Marie Cooper, stepped outside to pick up the afternoon newspaper.

"He was just as close to the door as he could get," said Mrs. Cooper, who picked up the feathered mass.

"He was huddled down in a knot," she said. "And, you know, he was nearly frozen to death."

Her son, like just about every other person in town, was watching televised football, when she took in the temporarily homeless cooer, placed the bird in a cardboard box and fed it cornbread and water.

That's about all she had in the way of grain. Feeding pigeons was not her habit, though raising and racing pigeons was her son's hobby many years ago when he was a youngster.

"I knew it belonged to somebody, somewhere," Palmer said. "It was a young pigeon. Undoubtedly, he had been in flight somewhere." He reckoned that the bird was a racing homing pigeon.

The bird had three bands — red, blue and yellow — on its legs. And the lettering and numbering on those bands were PFA 78, P 8388, 17 17, 3 3.

"I can't throw something like that out in the cold," Palmer said. "Neither can my mother. She'd throw me out before she would the bird."

The next morning, the thin and once-cold pigeon was a changed creature.

"He's very spirited this morning,"

Layton must stand trial for murder of Leo Ryan

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (AP) — A Guyanese magistrate has ordered Peoples Temple member Larry Layton to stand trial for the murder of Rep. Leo Ryan.

Magistrate Krishna Veni Chintia ruled against the 32-year-old X-ray technician from San Francisco Tuesday at the end of a three-week preliminary inquiry. Defense lawyers said the trial before Guyana's Supreme Court probably would begin next month.

"I am innocent of the charge," Layton declared. "I did not shoot at or conspire with anyone to shoot at Congressman Ryan or any other person."

Ryan, D-Calif., was killed with three U.S. newsmen and a defecting member of the cult at the Port Kaituma airstrip, six miles from Jonestown, on Nov. 18. Hours later the leader of the Peoples Temple, the Rev. Jim Jones, led more than 900 followers to their death in a murder-suicide ritual at their jungle commune.

The congressman had flown to Guyana to investigate reports that some members of the San Francisco-based Peoples Temple were being abused and held in the colony against their will. He was taking some of them out when a truckload of men from Jonestown opened fire on him at the airstrip.

Layton is also charged in the other four deaths, but a hearing date for those cases has not been set.

Prosecuting attorney Andram Kissoos said Layton prior to the attack was seen receiving a gun from Joe Wilson, the acting security chief at Jonestown who with others was seen shooting at Ryan and his party. Kissoos also said witnesses saw Layton not far from the bodies.

Ex-Texarkana manager died of broken neck

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — An autopsy report released Tuesday says that Howard Willingham, 54, former Texarkana, Texas, city manager, died of a broken neck last weekend.

Willingham was found dead at his home outside Texarkana Sunday afternoon.

The report also said that Willingham had been struck several times in the head by a hard, round object six or seven centimeters in diameter.

No arrests have been made.

Davis jurors hear more on strange meeting

HOUSTON (AP) — Jurors in the murder conspiracy trial of millionaire Cullen Davis were expected to hear more testimony today about a strange meeting prosecutors say never occurred.

James Stephens, 43, a used car salesman, said he saw three principals in the case emerge from a Fort Worth hotel two or three days before the defendant's arrest Aug. 20.

The trio included Davis' estranged wife Priscilla, 37, his chief accuser David McCrory, 40, and karate instructor Pat Burleson, 42.

That is the conspiratorial triangle, the defense maintains, that implicated Davis in a scheme to kill his divorcee judge and others.

"There's Priscilla Davis, a television star, and there's Pat Burleson" Stephens said he told two companions fixing a flat tire on the hotel parking lot Aug. 17 or 18.

He said he knew Burleson, recognized Mrs. Davis from newspaper and television pictures and identified McCrory from a defense photograph.

All three have appeared here since the trial began Oct. 30 and each testified such a meeting never took place.

Stephens said he did not overhear a conversation between Mrs. Davis and Burleson but they talked briefly before driving away in a white Lincoln.

The burly, wavy-haired witness wearing sunshades in the courtroom, said he did not see McCrory leave.

He could not pinpoint the precise day of the purported meeting but ruled out two days because he was attending car auctions and a third because he was home with a hangover.

He said "friends" in the sheriff's office and the district attorney's office advised him not to testify here but that he reluctantly told his story last week after being contacted by the defense.

"I don't remember telling this to nobody," he said. "If I did, I was drunk...I could have said something in a beer joint one night."

Stephens refused to identify his "friends" or the "dope-heads" who he said threatened him when word got out that he was going to testify.

Davis, meanwhile, ended his testimony after four days on the stand in which he proclaimed his innocence of the charges against him.

He retracted a portion of his earlier testimony but stuck by his claim that he thought he was cooperating with the FBI when he discussed mass murder with McCrory in August.

He said he never intended to kill anyone and denied that McCrory was the "go between" in a plot to arrange contract murders of the judge and others.

It was McCrory, he said, who lured him into the incriminating tape-recorded conversation which triggered the charges that could send him to prison for life.

Davis said one reason he "played along" with McCrory was because his one-time employee told him he could head off "hit men" hired by his wife to kill him.

Although skeptical of "McCrory's scheme," he said, he thought he might convince the purported killers to testify against Mrs. Davis at the pending divorce trial.

Communists put to death in Iraq

KUWAIT (AP) — The leftist Iraqi government has executed 18 Communists serving in the army, a Kuwait newspaper reported today.

The independent As Siyassa quoted travellers from Baghdad as saying the Communists were executed Dec. 24 after being found guilty of conducting illegal political activity in the army.

It was the second mass execution of Communist military personnel in Iraq in six months. Twenty-one Iraqi soldiers were executed in June for forming illegal political cells in the army.

Al Siyassa said the latest executions coincided with the arrest of eight members of the Central Committee of the Iraqi Communist Party, a minor partner in Iraq's coalition government that is dominated by the Baath Socialist Party.

The Baath Party has all along been opposed to any attempt by the Communists, or any other party, to increase its influence or strength, particularly within the armed forces.

An editorial in the Baath Party newspaper Al Thawra last summer warned that anyone conducting "illegal political activity within the armed forces faces execution."

Jones' plea, eerie chanting heard on suicide tape

ATLANTA (AP) — Accompanied by an eerie chanting sound, Jim Jones calmly persuaded his followers that suicide was the only way to avoid torture and destruction, according to a U.S. civil rights leader who said he heard a recording of the last moments of the Peoples Temple.

The Rev. Joseph Lowery, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said officials of the Guyanese government played the tape for him last month when he visited Jonestown, where more than 900 members of the cult died Nov. 18.

"I've ever heard," Lowery said Tuesday. "Jones' voice was extremely clear. He was preparing the people for an impending crisis, an impending attack. He was very calm. He never raised his voice."

Lowery said Jones told the people of plans by some of their fellow cultists to kill U.S. Rep. Leo Ryan, D-Calif., although Jones was personally against the attack.

Ryan, three American newsmen and a temple defector died in an ambush at a dirt airstrip near the isolated settlement shortly before the suicide ritual began.

"Jones said that once it was done, they would be attacked by parachute and other means and the children would be tortured and killed," Lowery said. "He was declaring that that's not the way they should die. It was better that they should die in protest as they had prepared."

"There was rather eerie music in the background," Lowery said. "Kind of like a chant being played too slowly on a tape recorder."

"Then there was screaming and shrieking of children and by what sounded like some of the adults. Then he (Jones) charged the parents to keep their children from screaming and resisting."

"He was challenged by one woman, who told him she didn't think this was the way out — that they should get their friends to help them escape," Lowery recalled.

"Jones responded to her, seemingly without anger, that his friends the Russians didn't want them now because they had been disgraced by the killings," Lowery said. "The thing was to take the peaceful way of death."

Lowery added that he heard no gunshots on the tape. He said Guyanese officials told him there were many tapes of meetings at the jungle settlement, and that the FBI had a copy of the 40-minute recording of the suicides.

Molinari replaces Dianne Feinstein

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John Molinari is the new president of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, elected 8-2 by his colleagues on the board in what he called "a bitter-sweet victory."

Molinari, 43, replaces Dianne Feinstein, who was elected mayor by the board after the Nov. 27 City Hall slayings of Mayor George Moscone and Supervisor Harvey Milk. Former supervisor Dan White has been charged with murder in both deaths.

Molinari said his election Tuesday was "sweet because I have attained a peak in my career that I desired, and bitter because I attained it through a series of events...that any of us would reverse if we could."

Texas medical group seeking definition of death

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Medical Association says it wants to give paraprofessionals more authority, but doctors are watching proposed bills carefully to make sure unqualified persons are not allowed to treat the sick.

The TMA also said Tuesday it will ask the 1979 Legislature to provide a legal definition of death, based largely on brain inactivity, and will recommend the creation of a statewide cancer registry run by the state health department.

death as a criteria for determining death," the TMA said. "But legal definitions put more stress on circulatory and other functions. Therefore, a doctor might be sued for using brain death criteria. TMA will support legislation that recognizes circulatory-respiratory criteria but also recognizes brain death, especially if life support equipment precludes using circulatory-respiratory criteria for determining death."

The TMA's legislative goals were published in a newsletter distributed to association members. The newsletter noted that 330 bills had been filed by late December, and the TMA was interested in about 75 of them.

In the 1977 session, the TMA said, more than 4,000 bills were filed, of which the association tracked more than 600.

The TMA said it also is supporting 1979 proposals that would:

- Decrease malpractice insurance problems for doctors rendering emergency care.
- Punish persons who file bad-faith malpractice suits.
- Provide financial assistance to the families of newborn infants with breathing disorders, if the families are unable to pay for the expensive treatment.

- Identify lay midwives.
- Provide more state aid for hemophilia victims.
- Provide financial assistance to teaching hospitals and medical schools for residency programs.
- Expand the medical examiner system.

The TMA said nurses, lay midwives, social psychotherapists, speech pathologists, audiologists and clinical laboratory technicians "are a few of the groups seeking licensing legislation."

"Generally," the TMA added, "the bills' supporters say licensing and delineation of responsibilities will improve the quality of service the group gives by eliminating ill-trained people and putting job responsibilities in proper boundaries. While TMA agrees with those goals, doctors are watching the bills to make sure nothing is included that would permit inadequately trained persons to perform services they are unqualified to do."

The TMA said "differences of opinion already have surfaced" between TMA and the Texas Nurses Association on expanded authority for advanced nurse practitioners, with nurses wanting to deliver primary health care, including the prescription of certain drugs.

Ice still hampering travel in Basin

Dr. James Mailey said today he was expecting classes to begin again Thursday.
The weatherman was forecasting partly cloudy and warmer weather through Thursday, with the high Thursday to reach into the middle 50s. Tonight's low should be around 25. Winds tonight are expected to blow from the south at 5 to 10 mph.
Meanwhile, cold temperatures continued to slow down air traffic at the airport.
There were no flight cancellations Tuesday night or early today, though most airlines experienced some delay because of the icy runway conditions, according to Col. Wilson Banks, city director of aviation.
Flights started coming in and out of the airport by mid-afternoon Tuesday, he noted.
"Conditions appear to be much better today. It was slippery-early this morning, but the runways are not nearly as bad as yesterday. When the sun comes out today, everything should be back to normal," Banks said in an early morning telephone interview.
Through this morning, area cities continued to experience chilling temperatures accompanied by ice-crusted roads which made traveling difficult. Temperatures ranged from the high teens to mid-20s.
Shivering Texans looked for relief today from a wintry blast that sent temperatures plunging, forced giant utilities to brace for power shortages, caused the death of a Dallas boy and threatened the multi-million dollar Lower Rio Grande Valley citrus crop.
Forecasters predicted a slow warming trend would thaw ice-gripped regions of North Texas and bring more pleasant weather.
Citrus growers in the Valley said it could not be immediately determined just how much of the $40 million current crop of citrus had been damaged.
Temperatures dipped into the mid-20s and remained there for up to seven hours in some citrus growing areas of the Valley. By 3 a.m., the mercury had been low enough long enough to damage the fruit.
Growers said there would be some damage to the current crop, but it would take up to a month or more to determine if there was damage to the trees.
Less than 10 per cent of the crop is protected by artificial heating devices.
An 8-year-old Dallas boy died Tuesday when he grabbed a dangling high-voltage wire that had snapped more than two days earlier under the weight of a heavy coating of ice.
Barton Clark was pronounced dead on arrival at a Dallas hospital after he touched the wire to see if it was still live.
State officials and power utilities warned Tuesday of possible electrical blackouts or brownouts if usage was not curtailed statewide.
Texas Public Utilities Commission member Alan Erwin urged businesses, industry and household customers Tuesday to reduce their consumption of electricity.
Major utilities echoed the warning and said the problem was not a shortage of gas, but a transmission problem caused when cold weather freezes controls.
In Pflugerville, north of Austin, Lone Star Gas Co. shut off gas to 348 homes Monday. An official of the gas company said the shut-off was a safety precaution because of low pressure readings in the gas lines. He said the cause of the low readings was unknown.

Carp now used to clean out canal

By TOM FENTON
GAMBOA, Canal Zone (AP) — Thousands of Chinese grass carp have been dumped in the Panama Canal in the hope that they will eat up weeds that foul ship propellers, plug water intakes and clog the gates of the canal locks.
"We've controlled the weeds so far by dumping copper sulfate and herbicide on them," said fisheries biologist Rene Sanchez, "but we'd like to get away from using chemicals and believe the fish may eventually save money."
Sanchez said in the 1978 fiscal year the Panama Canal Company dumped 625,000 pounds of toxic copper sulfate on thousands of acres of hydrilla, a plant whose tendrils may extend 40 feet. Four other kinds of aquatic weeds also can cause trouble in the waterway.
The biologist said the carp, also known as the White Amur because it is native to the Amur River on the Chinese-Soviet border, weighs 50 to 60 pounds at maturity and eats well over its body weight in weeds each day.
The fish has teeth in its throat and eats the weeds by sucking them into its mouth.
It is not expected to spawn in the canal waters, which will enable biologists to control the population.
"To spawn the fish eggs must float down a one-mile-an-hour current of stillness water for about 50 hours," Sanchez said. "We don't have conditions like that here."
The Panama Canal is an inland fresh water system covering more than 170 square miles.
It includes Gatun Lake, which stretches about halfway across the 50-mile-wide isthmus. The lake is 82 feet above sea level and drains through the canal locks into both the Caribbean and Pacific.
Some of the carp are expected to be lost through the locks while others will be eaten by predators. Sanchez said that beginning in two or three years about 25,000 fish will be added annually to replenish the population.
Sanchez estimated the cost of the project so far at more than $1 million. But he pointed out that the cost of copper sulfate has jumped to 50 cents a pound, while the fingerlings cost 40 cents each. On that basis, 25,000 fish a year would cost $302,500 less than 625,000 pounds of the chemical.
The carp were hatched at a hatchery in Arkansas where large tumblers simulate natural spawning conditions. They were put aboard a tank truck that was driven aboard a U.S. Air Force C-130 that was flown to the Canal Zone.
There have been three shipments totaling more than 500,000 fish since February. The first shipment of 135,000 died when they were unloaded from the truck into a pond.
"I believe a sudden temperature change killed them," said Sanchez.
The transport technique was improved, and few were lost from the second shipment of 200,000 fish.
The fish arrived as fingerlings, spent four months in the pond and grew to about 16 inches in four months in the pond. Then they entered Gatun Lake.
Sanchez said the pond was full of hydrilla when the fish arrived and was clean when they left.
A third shipment of 177,000 fish was put in another pond. But Sanchez said no one is certain how they are doing because no one has been able to catch one yet. The fish are easily spooked, and the weeds make netting difficult, he explained.
"Our objective is to control aquatic weeds, not eliminate them," said Georges Bouche, another employee of the canal company working on the project. "So far copper sulfate has been the only feasible way to control the weed problem."
Sanchez said the company has had up to 40 men spreading the chemical, which is thrown by hand from boats directly over the weeds.

The pigeon had a home somewhere.
"You could tell the pigeon had been handled," Palmer said. "You could pet and talk to him, and he'd just sit there...he belonged to somebody."
"If you take and let him loose," Palmer figured, "he'll make three circles about the house and take off."
But the bird's welfare and curiosity took over.
Mrs. Cooper, wanting to get hold of somebody who knew something about pigeons, telephoned Roustin' About who, in turn, called upon Howard Abernathy, a leading member of the Midland Racing Pigeon Club.
If anybody, this veteran racer and pigeon fancier could properly care for the bird should its ownership not be determined.
His interest, naturally, was whetted.
"Those little rascals go without food, and they get pretty weak, but they're tough," he said.
The "lost" pigeon soon came into Abernathy's fold and flock.
Rather than a speeding racing pigeon, Abernathy concluded the young bird was an aerobat.
"It's not a homer. It's a roller," he said. "It's not a fancy pigeon," as he had supposed. "It's somebody's demonstrations today in seven cities, including a march by 1,000 children in Hajikurd, northwest of Tehran. It also said a 16-year-old boy blew himself up with a homemade bomb in the riot-torn holy city of Mashhad, and that rioters there burned down a policeman's house during the night and killed him.

However, progress was reported toward a deal to get striking oil workers to produce enough for domestic needs. Sources said a package being worked out includes release of some prisoners, the return of homes seized from striking oil workers, back pay covering the duration of the 3½-month-old stoppage and a commitment to cut off oil exports to Israel and South Africa for their support of the shah.
The exodus of foreigners from the country continued, and a backlog built up by several days of strikes at the Tehran airport was clearing up.

Police doublecheck Gacy home

CHICAGO (AP) — Investigators say the ground beneath a northwest suburban home, site of the nation's worst mass murder of the century, has probably yielded its last body. However, authorities said Tuesday they will doublecheck the area with heat sensors to make sure they have unearthed all the skeletons buried at John Wayne Gacy's home, where the remains of 27 young males have been uncovered.

Sgt. Howard Anderson, supervisor of the Cook County sheriff's northern investigations unit, said snow removal and cleanup work occupied much of the day Tuesday. Crews working at Gacy's home contended with subzero temperatures and about nine inches of snow. "I don't think they expect to find anything more," said Anderson. "They will go back over ground that hasn't been dug up yet, the less promising areas. They just want to doublecheck." Meanwhile, a source close to the investigation, who asked not to be identified, said police don't plan to check out a report by a carpenter of a foul smell coming from the basement of an ice cream parlor and bakery he and Gacy remodeled two years ago. The source said police learned the smell came not from corpses, but from a cracked sewer tile that was later replaced. The bodies found at Gacy's residence were buried beneath his ranch-style home and his garage. The bodies of two other young men, which authorities say are linked to Gacy, were found in the Des Plaines River. Only six of the victims had been identified by Tuesday, according to Dr. Robert Stein, the county medical examiner.

The 36-year-old contractor and convicted sex offender has been charged with murder in the death of Robert Piest, 15, of Des Plaines. Piest's body has not been found.

According to published reports, police have said Gacy acknowledged killing up to 32 boys and young men after he had sex with them. The body total linked to the Gacy investigation has surpassed the 26 bodies found in a Houston homosexual-torture ring in 1973, and the bodies of 25 mutilated fruit pickers found in Yuba City, Calif.

Farm labor contractor Juan Corona was convicted in the California deaths. However, Corona's case and that of Elmer Wayne Henley, convicted of complicity in six of the Houston murders, have been overturned and sent back to district courts for retrials.

Gacy is in police custody and is currently undergoing a court-ordered psychiatric evaluation.

Gacy's attorney, Sam Amirante, appeared Tuesday in Circuit Court and obtained a continuance until March 2 on a battery charge filed in a March incident involving Jeff Rignall, 26.

Rignall accused Gacy of being the man who chloroformed and raped him before dumping him in Lincoln Park.

J.E. Barrington will review the history of the club, of which L.R. Shannon now is president.

The club's woman's auxiliary also will be celebrating its 25th anniversary at the dinner meeting. Betty Whitmore is its present president. Bess Baker, the unit's first president, will review its history.

Bryan, a native Ohioan, is executive director of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. He has spoken in Midland on previous occasions. He is widely known as a civic and industrial leader, as well as a world traveler.

All Midland Lions are invited to attend the anniversary party. Reservations, however, must be made in advance, according to members of the anniversary committee, including Marshall O. Whitmore, R.E. Womack and Tom Nipp.

Nipp and Morris Fitzgerald are the only two charter members yet active in the club.

The club lists the following past presidents: R.C. "Bob" Baker, Clarence Collins, Martin G. Browne, Frank Arnold, K.C. Light Jr., Robert R. Currie, R.E. Womack, Dr. E. Police investigate shooting incident

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — An incident reported first as "a sniper" and later determined to be "a shooting" was under investigation early today by Grapevine police.

No one was hurt, officers said. In the incident on Texas 114 near the north entrance to the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport and not far from where two persons were shot to death by a sniper last month, at least one gunshot penetrated the rear window of an automobile, police said.

Grapevine police first described the incident as "a sniper" and later changed that to "a shooting," according to Sgt. Larry Betik.

Betik said at least one shot was fired through the back window of a 1978 automobile from a pickup truck that was driving beside it. He said officers do not believe the shooting had any connection with the shooting deaths last month at nearby Irving of two persons.

Officers are not certain what type of weapon was used in the latest shooting and asked for assistance of Texas Department of Public Safety ballistics officers. It appears that officers found the remains of a bullet in the automobile, Betik said.

On Dec. 9, a sniper firing from an apparently concealed position on an overpass on Texas 183 in nearby Irving, Texas, shot and killed two persons. No arrests have been made in connection with the shootings although police in Dallas and Fort Worth questioned some persons.

The victims of the earlier shooting included Steven Thomas Gaudin, 12, of Plano, Texas, and Raymond Douglas Andrew, 43, of Arlington, Texas.

Officers said they could not find any sort of information linking the two victims and theorized they were victims of a sniper who was simply firing at random vehicles on the busy road leading from Dallas through Irving to the airport.

Officers also discovered that a third vehicle was believed to have been struck by gunfire as it passed through the area of the other two shootings near midnight Dec. 9.

Irving police said bullets taken from the victims and shell casings found on the overpass indicated that the sniper was armed with a .30 caliber rifle.

Archaeological Society sets January meeting

The January meeting of the Midland Archaeological Society will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Reddy Room at Texas Electric Service Co.

President Dave Dorchester said Dr. Frank Weir will be the speaker, bringing another outstanding program, "Overview of Texas Highway Archaeology in 1977."

Dr. Weir is supervising archaeologist for the Texas Highway Department. He resides at Austin. He received his master's degree from The University of Texas at Austin and his Ph.D. from Washington State University. He has had wide experience as an archaeologist, having worked in Texas, New Mexico, North Carolina and Washington, as well as in Spain and Northeastern Mexico.

Jim Barks and Arnold Sommers are among others who have brought interesting programs in recent months.

Dorchester said anyone interested in archaeology is invited to attend society meetings held regularly during the year.

New diet for chickens cuts cholesterol in eggs

BELLEVILLE, N.J. (AP) — A New Jersey pharmacologist has developed a dietary supplement for chickens he says will cut the cholesterol in eggs they lay by more than 30 percent.

Dr. Samuel Klein, the inventor, says the decreased cholesterol level reduces the risk of heart attacks and high blood pressure for people who eat the eggs.

Klein received a patent last month after three years of testing the vegetable-based poultry-feed supplement at Research Organic-Inorganic Chemical Corp. here.

The supplement contains ingredients such as capicum pods, licorice, parsley, elder flowers, rose hips and devil's aprons.

City officials behind bars

CHICAGO (AP) — Eight Carpentersville officials, including the town board president and manager, are in jail today for refusing to issue 11 sewer permits.

With "a bit of sadness and a great deal of reluctance," U.S. District Judge Frank McGarr Tuesday ordered Orville Brettman, town board president, manager George Shaw and six board members jailed indefinitely on contempt charges.

All eight brought suitcases to court, apparently anticipating a stint behind bars.

To emphasize his stand, Brettman said it was "like Davy Crockett going to the Alamo."

He told McGarr: "People told him not to go and he got shot. I'll go to jail and I won't vote to issue the permits until I die."

Brettman said if the 11 permits were granted sewage would begin backing up into homes. He said the overflow would also pollute the nearby Fox River.

The dispute began in 1973. A contracting company building 200 homes in Carpentersville went broke after the village ordered it to improve the sewer system. A bankruptcy court ordered the village to issue sewer permits so the final 11 homes in the development could be sold.

The village balked, and decided to appeal the ruling.

To further complicate matters, the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has banned new sewer hookups in Carpentersville until the area's treatment plant is upgraded, a spokesman said, adding that waivers would be needed even though the permit issue was decided at "several levels of federal courts."

McGarr, however, noted that the permit issue was decided at "several levels of federal courts." He said the officials' attorney, Richard Husted, had promised him in November that the village would issue the permits if given time to ask for a stay from the U.S. Supreme Court. The Supreme Court rejected the request.

The judge accused the board of reneging on the promise.

In a similar case in Michigan last week, seven members of the Van Buren Township board, near Detroit, were jailed Thursday and released Friday for defying a judge's order to approve a sewer linkup for a mobile-home park.

They were freed on recognizance after a Michigan appeals court ordered them released from jail.

New Yorker sues police on 'fingers'

NEW YORK (AP) — William Morales, charged with running a Queens "bomb factory" which exploded and blew off his hands and part of his face, says arresting officers confiscated his severed fingers for evidence rather than trying to get them re-attached.

Morales, 28, filed a $1.2 million damage suit Tuesday against three policemen and Queens District Attorney John Santucci.

The lawsuit, filed in U.S. District Court here, charges police found "several of the plaintiff's severed fingers... intact" after the explosion at a Queens apartment last July.

The complaint says police "made no effort to take the fingers to the hospital" so doctors could try to re-attach them.

Instead, Morales says, the police officers "confiscated the plaintiff's fingers to be used as evidence and identification, after the plaintiff was already in police custody."

Morales is scheduled for trial Jan. 15 on charges of possession of 56 sticks of dynamite, pipe bombs, shotguns and a rifle.

He faces up to 25 years in prison if convicted. Related federal charges carry a possible 10-year sentence.

His lawsuit charges that while Morales was being denied medical attention, Santucci was holding a news conference to accuse Morales of being a member of the FALN (Fuerzas Armadas Liberacion Nacional — Armed Forces of National Liberation).

The terrorist group, which seeks independence for Puerto Rico, has claimed responsibility for at least 50 bombings in the United States.

Couple to begin animal shelter sentence

AVON, N.J. (AP) — A self-described animal lover who tried to drown her sick kitten has been sentenced to work off a $50 fine by cleaning cages and feeding and watering animals at a humane society shelter.

Carmen Negron, 37, was charged Tuesday with abandonment and misdemeanor abuse. Starting today, she and her husband, Alberto, 40, will work to pay off the fine at the shelter's rate of $3 an hour. Her husband was fined for aiding and abetting his wife's action by driving her to the ocean.

Mrs. Negron said she was acting out of compassion for her sick pet. She said she took the kitten to a veterinarian last week to have its ringworm treated.

"He advised me to put it to sleep," she said. "I didn't want to and brought her home." She said she couldn't afford the $25 euthanasia fee, so she decided to throw the kitten into the sea.

Later, she said she was told that humane societies perform euthanasia at no cost to pet owners who can't afford it.

Four-month-old "Kitty" survived the dunking and was picked up by a man who gave the Negrons' car license number to police. The SPCA filed a complaint against Mrs. Negron.

At Tuesday's hearing, Municipal Court Judge Robert McKinley examined the sick kitten.

Lee Bernstein, executive director of the Associated Humane Societies of New Jersey Shelter in Tinton Falls, where the Negrons will be working, said at the hearing that the kitten's ringworm could have been treated. He said the only approved method of destruction is an injection of barbituate.

Bernstein said if the cat recovers, it will be returned to the woman.

"I'm an animal lover," said Mrs. Negron. "I'm very sorry this whole thing happened."

State capitol building has cosmetic surgery

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — State senators will be talking louder, House members will be voting faster and the capitol press will be walking softer when the 1979 Legislature begins Jan. 9.

Visitors might not notice the changes from the last legislative session two years ago. But Capitol regulars will notice results of minor face-lifts administered since 1977 to Texas' 90-year-old pink granite statehouse.

On the Senate side, construction crews have built three committee rooms, installed a new sound system, revarnished the 31 senators' desks and added other touches totalling $290,000.

"I don't think I can live through another interim like this one," exclaimed Secretary of the Senate Betty King.

Sawdust and varnish fumes penetrated the chamber this fall to the point that Capitol guides declared the Senate off-limits to tour guides.

"The old sound system just blew up in our face," Mrs. King said. "It just shorted out. It was held together with bailing wire though." Senators, who usually speak from their desks without microphones, won't even have to push a button with the new system, she said.

"It will just pick up their voices with no switch," the secretary explained.

Latest ruling favors Abilene 'wets'

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Saloon patrons in this West Texas city can down a shot of red-eye to toast their victory in the latest challenge to a disputed June 17 local option liquor election.

Retired State District Judge J.H. "Dick" Starley of Pecos made it official Tuesday with his ruling that said Abilene is still wet.

In a 13-page hand-written opinion the judge struck down an election contest filed by "dry" forces. He said of 29,985 votes cast during the June election, 11,557 were cast in favor of the proposition and 11,428 were cast against.

The often overlooked Capitol chapel has been moved from the first floor to the basement and a restroom constructed in its place.

Beginning fliers wanting to learn the "dos and don'ts" of model airplane flying are invited to some free ground-school lessons taught by members of the Flying Chaparrals each Friday night in January at the city's Parks and Recreation Gymnasium across from Dennis-the-Menace Park at 300 Baldwin St.

The lessons primarily will be for those who received ready-to-fly prop-powered plastic models for Christmas, said Chaparral Bob Meadows. Lessons will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. each Friday, he said.

Meadows said the lessons should be valuable to the serious flier of control-line models.

"They (control-line flying) requires some adult supervision in getting the engines started and getting them up in the air and keeping them in the air," he said.

"We like to see these youngsters started out right."

Lesson are open to flying buffs of all ages, he said. "Fathers, sons (and) mothers, daughters...we don't care."

After the model airplane fliers have more or less mastered the art of control-line flying, they might be interested in building their own miniature airplanes.

"Then, we'd like to show them down the line that (home-made) balsa models will fly a whole lot better than (store-bought) plastic (models)," he said.

Women head student engineering groups

LAS CRUCES, N.M. (AP) — When they were younger, Taryn Melkus and Sylvia Acevedo were discouraged from studying engineering in college.

Collegiates study facts about figures

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. (AP) — Bedtime snacks, "spot reducing" and canned peaches — not the usual content for a physical education class.

But students at Mount Holyoke College discuss the topics in a course designed to separate myth from fact in three areas nearly every adult American has an opinion on: weight control, exercise and nutrition.

Developed by Jessie Lie, a former member of the physical education faculty and a respected authority on physical fitness, the course is elected each year by some 100 young women.

Instructor Anne Abbott reports rope skipping, running, exercises and lectures are part of the program, which is based on Mrs. Lie's lively evaluation of 16 commonly held beliefs about weight control, exercise and nutrition. Her object is to help people approach the scores of fad diets, bizarre exercise regimens and nutrition controversies with a discerning and questioning mind.

In answer to the popular belief that spot reducing exercises are effective in reducing fat in the exercised area, Mrs. Lie states, "The fact is that we have very little to say about where we store fat or where we take it off... the best exercise for reducing fat on the hips or waist is the one which spends the most energy — jumping rope, swimming or running."

Bedtime snacks or rest after meals, she notes, are bad for people who want to lose weight only if the added food and rest are over and above their normal balanced caloric intake and expenditure.

"For the body's use of calories, it does not matter when you rest or when you exercise or when you eat," she says. "It's the balance between the total number of calories consumed and expended that determines weight loss or gain."

Fresh fruits and vegetables are more nutritious than canned or frozen ones, Mrs. Lie contends, if they are really fresh. She adds, however, that those picked before they are ripe and then shipped across the country are not necessarily more nutritious than most canned and frozen foods, which are picked with all their vitamins and canned with a minimal loss of nutrients.

'Light' garden ups collection

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Looking for something in the gardening line to do this winter?

How about propagating plants indoors under lights? This will help you increase your plant collection in a number of ways, such as through planting seeds, stem cuttings, leaf cuttings, division, root runners or air layering.

For suggestions for a "light" garden, we turn to Woody D. Bickford of the Duro-Lite Home Lighting Institute, who notes that some light gardens are in full view as the room's focal point. These include etageres, built-in bookcases and other cabinet arrangements. Or you can quite inexpensively buy a four-foot utility fixture at your garden-supply place. You could use two 40-watt, sunlight-simulating Vita-Lite tubes in the fixture.

Such units provide fluorescent light and the amount of ultraviolet needed by plants.

"The unit will sufficiently and uniformly light an area one foot wide and four feet long for many growing tastes," says Bickford. "Such fixtures often are hung over a table or bench used in the growing area in a heated basement, utility room, attic — or even a closet."

A unit with two 40-watt fluorescent tubes uses about 92 watts of energy. Bickford estimates operating this unit for 16 hours a day at an electrical rate of 5 cents a kilowatt hour would cost about 50 cents a week.

How about growing conditions? These, Bickford explains, include humidity, temperature, fertilizer, water, ventilation and control of insects and disease. "Plants under lights tend to gobble up humidity, but this can be restored with the help of humidifiers, pans of gravel and water under the plants, or misting the leaves daily.

"A good rule of thumb for temperature is 68 to 75 degrees during the day and 50 to 60 degrees at night," he adds.

The lights will increase the plants' appetites for food and drink, so feed at least once a week, using an all-purpose fertilizer with an organic liquid-type preferred.

"Water when a finger poked about one inch into the potting mix reveals the medium to be quite dry," he advises. "Ventilate by opening an occasional window away from the plants or by using a small electric fan to keep air moving."

It was suggested they might not be able to "hack it in a man's world."

Today Sylvia Acevedo and Taryn Melkus are top engineering students at New Mexico State University. And, for the first time, NMSU's major student engineering organizations are headed by women students.

Miss Acevedo, 21, of Las Cruces, is a senior industrial engineering major. She is president of the local chapter of Tau Beta Pi, a national engineering society; vice president of Alpha Pi Mu, the industrial engineering honor society; and an ex-officio student member of the NMSU Board of Regents.

Miss Melkus, 21, of Ponderosa Pines, is a senior chemical engineering student. President of the Engineers Council, a consortium of students representing student engineering groups, she is also a representative to Associated Women Students from the Society of Women Engineers and an advisory board member of the local chapter of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers.

With overall engineering enrollments increasing annually, female enrollment is going up even more rapidly, college officials say. Out of a total of 1,870 students in the college, 235 are women.

According to Miss Melkus and Miss Acevedo, their opportunities as women in engineering are vast — and carry a responsibility to be "careful" in how they handle themselves.

"Initially, because we are minorities, our chances for jobs are better than men's these days," Miss Melkus said. "It's not really fair to the guys at all."

There is also a danger that women will be "used as tokens for display," Miss Acevedo said.

It was to be a restful, relaxing vacation, poking along at 50 miles a day through Pennsylvania, the Hudson River Valley, and New England states.

Of course it's no trouble to eat on vacation. It certainly was no hardship on this trip, with fresh fish and succulent shellfish featured on every menu.

The first gastronomic orgy was at Bookbinder's in Philadelphia, still in its original location (although greatly expanded) which Samuel Bookbinder chose for his restaurant down by the docks of the Delaware River in 1865.

The restaurant is most famous for two things: the Old Original Bookbinder's Combinatin, a 13-inch platter holding oysters, fresh fish, broiled scallops, fried shrimp, French fries, coleslaw and tossed salad!...and that plainest-sounding of all desserts, rice pudding.

"We've almost perfected that rice pudding," said John Taxin, president. "We've been working on it for 100 years, and we still won't say it's perfect. All we'll say is that it's the best rice pudding anywhere."

Taxin very graciously gave me a copy of the "The Old Original Bookbinder's Restaurant Cookbook," by Charlotte Adams, distributed by Bookbinder's Food Division, Jelinek-Ronon Co. Inc., Colonial Building, State and Overhill roads, Media, Pa. 19063. The cost is $2.95. He also gave me permission to reprint favorite recipes. Here is the deviled crab cake:

DEVILED CRAB
 1/2 cup diced green pepper
 1/2 cup diced onion
 1/4 cup diced celery
 1 pimiento, diced
 1 tsp. salt
 1/2 tsp. black pepper
 1 tsp. thyme
 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 Dash of Tabasco
 1 tsp. dry mustard

1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
 1/2 cup flour
 2 cups milk
 2 lbs. crabmeat, well picked over
 Bread crumbs
 Butter

Melt the half stick butter. Add green pepper, onion, celery, pimiento and seasonings and cook in the butter over low heat for 10 minutes. Add flour and stir until smooth. Cook another 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add milk and stir until the sauce becomes very thick. Stir in the crabmeat. Mound into shells or individual casseroles. Cover with bread crumbs and dot with butter. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until nicely browned (about 20 minutes). Serves 6.

NOTE: This same mixture can be chilled, formed into cakes, dipped in flour and egg batter (recipe follows) and crumbs, and fried in deep fat (300 degrees) until brown. This is the way Bookbinder's usually serves it. The cakes can also be sauteed in butter.

EGG BATTER

1 cup milk
 1 egg
 1/2 tsp. salt

This is the "best anywhere, almost perfected" rice pudding recipe:
BOOKBINDER'S RICE PUDDING

1 cup rice
 1 1/2 qts. (6 cups) milk
 1 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. nutmeg
 1/2 tsp. vanilla
 1 cinnamon stick
 3/4 cup sugar
 2 eggs, well beaten
 2 tbsps. butter

Add rice to milk seasoned with salt. Cook on top of the range, very slowly, for 2 hours. (This slow cooking releases the rice starch to thicken the pudding, said the chef.) Add cinnamon stick, season with nutmeg, vanilla and sugar. Add eggs and butter and mix well. Pour into a baking dish and brown lightly under the broiler. Allow to cool. Chill thoroughly before serving. Serves 6.

Shellfish is prepared by Chef Larry Hargrove at Bookbinder's in Philadelphia, Penn.

AT WIT'S END

By ERMA BOMBECK

Wars may endure.
 Crime may increase.
 Disease may go unchecked.
 The quality of life may deteriorate.
 But by golly, I think we've got the problem of bad breath on the run.

You have to give the bad breath people their just due. They've taken something downright unpleasant and made it downright repugnant. And they've done it the hard way...no telethons...no lobbyists...no celebrity spokesman...no government endorsements...just plain hard-hitting commercials.

The other night I saw a commercial where a husband arrived home from a 12-hour day. He was beat. He opened the door and about 75 people who had had a chance to shower and change yelled out, "Happy Birthday! Surprise!"

The man grabbed his wife, kissed her and said, "Honey, what a surprise!" She backed off from him like he was a three-day-old dead chicken and said, "What a breath! You'd better do something...and fast."

Now if that doesn't take the hats and horns out of a birthday...nothing will.

The next scene, she had him in the bathroom where he was gargling and trying to make himself socially acceptable.

The final scene was one of joy. His bad breath in remission, he was kissing everyone in the room and had finally been allowed to attend his own party.

Bad breath was discovered just after World War II and has since worked its way up to a major cause of air pollution. You can't hold a job if you have bad breath. Can't lead a normal social life, have a successful marriage. You cannot ski with bad breath, nor can you teach Sunday School. Just about all that is left open to you is making an occasional obscene phone call. (Even then, if you don't floss, you can be traced.)

Look for the new signs to Stamp Out Bad Breath...
 THANK YOU FOR NOT BREATHING.

DEAR ABBY

His bedtime blues: She's booked solid

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After 22 years of marriage, I find I might as well be living alone. I'm 46 and my wife is 45.

We raised two fine children who are grown and gone, and now we have very little to talk about. My biggest problem is the way my wife shuts me out. She loves to read, and for the last three or four years she has been taking a book to bed with her every night. This is all the company she seems to want or need.

I realize that no marriage can maintain the level of passion that produces rockets and Roman candles indefinitely, but I feel cheated.

Any advice? Sign me... —LONESOME IN NEW CASTLE

DEAR LONESOME: Since your wife loves to read, do her (and yourself) a favor and get "The Ann Landers Encyclopedia." It contains a wealth of valuable information on a wide variety of common problems. But the piece titled "What Marriage is All About," by Dr. Eugene Kennedy, is well worth the price of the book, and should be required reading for both you and your wife. Trust me.

DEAR ABBY: Hello again. I'm the Manhattan

Bridal shower held

Lee Ann Tally of Midland, bride-elect of Don (Rip) Miller of Austin, was entertained with a miscellaneous shower and buffet Friday. Mrs. R. H. Davis, of 11 Bristol Court, was hostess.

Miss Tally, a senior student at The University of Texas, will marry Miller March 3, 1979, in the First Baptist Church in Austin.

Honored guests included Mrs. W. E. Tally, mother of the bride-elect of Midland; Mrs. Mable Scott, grandmother of the bride-elect from Midland; and Mrs. Don Miller, mother of the bridegroom-elect of Austin.

attorney who wrote to you sometime ago regarding an individual's right to keep unsolicited goods without paying for same.

Another letter in your column on a legal matter prompts a word of advice: it was Mrs. M.'s idea to photograph each of her valuable items and, on the back of each picture, write the name of the person to whom she wished to bequeath it. Her idea is totally without value; personal property may be given after one's death only by a legal document called a last will and testament. Please inform your readers that Mrs. M.'s plan will not work. Respectfully, GEORGE PINSLEY

DEAR GEORGE: Thanks for the valuable legal advice which I'll pass on to my readers. (P.S. If I'm sued for practicing law without a license, will you represent me?)

DEAR ABBY: When my husband courted me I was secretly flattered because he was terribly jealous. I thought it was proof of his love. Now that we've been married for a year, I'd give anything if he weren't so jealous.

He is jealous of every man I mention, look at, or even pass on the street. He accuses me of winking at them and giving them encouragement. He's even accused me of meeting men on my lunch hour, and says he "knows" I've been with a lover if I get home 15 minutes late.

No one is safe from his filthy accusations. (Even the boy who delivers the newspaper!) He keeps after me to "confess" things and there is nothing to confess! I will gladly go to the police station and take a lie detector test—anything to prove my innocence once and for all. Help me! —INNOCENT

DEAR INNOCENT: Your husband is the one who needs the help. Constant accusations without basis are symptomatic of a sick mind. Get the man to a doctor!

Hassle still swirls around new building

By W. DALE NELSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's uncompleted third office building — television anchor booths and all — is going to continue to be a bone of contention in the 96th Congress.

"When the fat comes along, I and several others will be ready to bite it away," Sen. John Chafee, R-R.I., said last week in releasing a letter to Architect of the Capitol John White.

Chafee, a consistent critic of the structure, asked White for a current estimate of the building's cost, a timetable for its completion and a report on what he calls "hidden" costs.

The new building is supposed to house 50 of the 100 senators. Chafee specifically wanted to know how much it will cost to enlarge the offices of the 50 who will remain behind in the existing buildings.

White's office said Chafee's letter had not been received, but Deputy Architect Elliott Carroll told a reporter he thought Chafee was the cause of "the biggest hidden cost." He argued that Chafee's efforts have delayed the building, causing its cost to rise because of inflation. Carroll said the building might have been finished by June 1981 under the original timetable, but he now has "no idea" when it will be completed.

The architect's latest cost estimate is $122 million, compared with an estimate of $48 million when the building was first authorized in 1972. Carroll conceded the renovations of existing buildings will be in addition to this, but said he didn't know how much they would cost.

Chafee contends $200 million is a more realistic total estimate, counting furnishings, renovation of the existing buildings and other items.

He tried unsuccessfully in August to get the Senate to call a halt to the building and convert the site into an underground public parking garage and a street-level park. The Senate did agree to cut funds for the building, but the architect is expected to try to have the money restored this year.

Supporters of the building say it is needed because, with the growth of Senate staffs in recent years, the present office space is overcrowded.

Opponents challenge the need for the building in the first place and charge that, in any event, it is far too grand. Present plans call for a rooftop restaurant for senators only, a marble atrium and a hearing room equipped with booths for TV anchor-men.

A report prepared for Chafee by his staff says $1.3 million could be saved by using masonry and plaster for the atrium, $600,000 by eliminating the dining room and $1 million by dropping the fancy hearing room.

The report also says a lot of room in the existing buildings is taken up by facilities which could be located elsewhere, making more office space available. For example, it says, barber and beauty shops take up 2,374 square feet and an upholstery shop an additional 1,213 square feet.

East signals with the nine of clubs, and South wins the first trick since East would play the king if he had on-ly K-9.

Now South must set up the diamonds and get to dummy for the rest of the suit. If South leads the ace and jack of diamonds at once, the defenders take the king of diamonds and their clubs, followed by a switch to spades. Dummy's ace is knocked out while South still has the queen of diamonds; and declarer never gets back to dummy for the last two diamonds or for the queen of hearts.

AVOIDS FATE
South avoided this fate by cashing the ace and king of hearts before playing the ace and jack of diamonds. The defenders duly took the king of diamonds, cashed their clubs and knocked out the ace of spades; but South then led dummy's queen of hearts to discard the queen of diamonds.

After this unblock declarer could lead dummy's ten of diamonds and then cash dummy's other diamonds to assure the contract.

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S-K Q 9; H-8 4 3 2; D-K 4; C-Q J 10 8. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs. The hand is too good for a raise to two hearts but a trifle too weak for a jump to three hearts. Indicate this in-between strength by bidding a side suit and raising hearts later.

Priest now operates 'Lend God' program

By MARK SULLIVAN

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Rev. Edmund S. Nadolny has cast $15,000 worth of his bread upon the waters and expects it will come back twofold.

The Roman Catholic priest is lending people money on the promise that they will double it and return the original investment and the profits within two months.

"What it comes down to is do you trust people," Nadolny said Tuesday as he went through a stack of letters proposing schemes to make money.

Nadolny, director of the Office of Radio and Television for the Archdiocese of Hartford, first proposed his giveaway plan last week, saying he would use the $15,000 the archdiocese gives him each year to run his office.

On Tuesday he said the $15,000 was all pledged and he expected to give out more money by asking people to lend him money that he could in turn lend to those coming up with ways to double the investment. Nadolny said he has gotten requests for loans from all over the country and from Canada. He said that so far his religious superiors have not become upset.

"It's just another one of my kooky ideas, but it is biblically based," he said in a telephone interview. He recalled the parable in Matthew 25 in which the master gives his servants money and rewards those who increase it.

Nadolny said one of his more unusual offers was from a man in the wig business who asked for $1,000 to buy more wigs.

"He said he could double my money because there is such a good mark-up on wigs and everybody is losing their hair," Nadolny said after okaying the loan. Nadolny is well-known for off-beat methods of raising money to support his broadcast ministry, which reaches 500 radio and television stations across the country.

Over the last five years, he said, he has made $100,000 from his "Lend God" program. That involves persons lending him money which he puts into a savings account. He uses the interest to help support the $400,000 annual budget of his office.

Informants get percentage of take, agent says

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A balding man with a triple chin shuffled from a jetliner at San Francisco International Airport, adjusted the lapels of his baggy sports jacket and headed for customs.

The fat man's problem was that he looked too skinny. Within hours he was in jail, charged with trying to smuggle Thai heroin worth $750,000 tightly taped to his body. His undoing was a pat on the back from U.S. Customs.

The man was on one of eight daily flights from foreign lands arriving at the airport, where polite customs agents and their wonder dogs match wits with the clever, the bumbling and the stubborn.

"When I saw the man with the three chins, I thought something was odd, but it took me awhile to realize that his body didn't look as fat as his face," said a baggage inspector, who like others asked not to be identified. They've gotten death threats after being named in the past.

The inspector alerted an officer who casually bumped into the fat man and patted him on his lumpy back. When they searched the man, they found the heroin in plastic packets.

The drug smuggler was one of 395,000 persons who passed through airport customs last year — and one of 172 who came to terms with Uncle Sam's drug and duty laws.

"This is not a major smuggling port. The big ones are Miami and New York," said Dennis Orphan, the agency's public affairs officer. "We get the small-timers ... people who don't want to pay customs duty."

Spotting the smugglers isn't pure chance. Inspectors and agents are trained to watch for telltale behavior and circumstances.

"Sometimes you'll spot someone going from line to line—looking for someone he thinks looks like an easy inspector, or maybe they're sweating, or acting nervous," Orphan said.

In one case, a young man and woman arrived at customs after a short trip to Thailand. The woman looked too poorly dressed to afford the trip and was questioned along with her boyfriend. She was clean. But her boyfriend had $400,000 in heroin in the run-down soles of his shoes.

"It was one of the best jobs I've ever seen," an inspector said. "The soles had been cut off, hollowed out and perfectly resealed on those old shoes." The tip-off? His walk looked odd.

"I was standing in the bar and I saw a man with a big watch and a lot of jewelry on," recalled one officer. "So I complimented him on the watch and asked him where he bought it. He laughed and said, 'I just smuggled it through customs.' His mouth fell open when I identified myself. ... It happens more than you would think."

Most who try to beat the government are small-timers who may be trying to get away with no more than a few dollars. Many yield to a reminder from the inspector that they can revise their customs claims. Others stubbornly persist and wind up paying penalties and face the prospect of jail.

"There are 77,000 different items that come into the country, and we have specialists to evaluate every one of them for import duty—from shark fins to mushrooms," Orphan said.

Informers also play a role in catching the unskilled smuggler.

"We encourage informers by paying them," Orphan said. "A guy who goes to Mexico and buys drugs doesn't have a chance. The guy he buys from calls us, gives his description, how much he bought, and how he plans to get it out of the country. We pick the guy up. The informer gets a percentage up to $50,000," Orphan said.

Drugs are found in boxes with false bottoms and shaving cream cans with brand name and dirty price sticker.

Trained dogs also are used to smell drugs in cargo and sometimes baggage. They don't sniff people because of the possibility the dogs might bite. "A dog can check out a car in two minutes, while it takes an inspector a half-hour. We run them through the 20 cargo areas every day. They don't miss," Orphan said.

session spread around the state, plans began forming for citizen motorcades to the Capitol on Friday.

Bernice Jackson of Sunnyland, a retired teacher who organized such a motorcade Dec. 13 from Peoria, said she had asked persons in 100 towns throughout the state to organize and lead motorcades that would arrive in Springfield shortly before the special legislative session is scheduled to begin.

Illinois lawmakers to have session

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. James Thompson's announcement of a special session to consider rolling back those $8,000-a-year pay raises for state officials appears to have struck a favorable chord with inflation-weary voters.

"I think it's to (Thompson's) credit that he recognized the will of the people," Patrick Quinn, spokesman for the Coalition for Political Honesty, said after Thompson's announcement Tuesday. "But obviously the victory won't be won until we roll back the pay raises."

Thompson set the special session for noon Friday, saying he was responding to citizen outrage, some of which was illustrated by members of Quinn's "Illinois Tea Bag Party" when they dumped more than 32,000 tea bags on his desk.

The governor said lawmakers would have to concentrate on a proposal he gave them a month ago. Under the plan, lawmakers' $20,000-a-year salaries would jump to $24,000 immediately, and go up another $2,000 each of the next two years to lift their salaries to $28,000 a year by 1981. Thompson's $50,000 salary would go up to $55,000 this year and $58,000 the next.

Audit report points to Navy mismanagement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional auditors say the Navy has failed to change construction plans for a new fleet of ships — still being built — though it knows they may have to be recalled for major alterations after being sent to sea.

In a report released today, the auditors also said the ships, 26 guided missile frigates, are "quite vulnerable to low-level enemy threats," and ways to improve their survivability are limited.

"The evidence points to serious Navy mismanagement," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in releasing the report by the General Accounting Office (GAO).

Proxmire, opening hearings by a Joint Economic subcommittee on the ships, said the guided missile frigate program "is one of the saddest cases of government procurement to come to my attention."

There was no immediate comment from the Pentagon.

The Navy has awarded contracts for 29 of the FFG-7 class frigates, including three for the Australian Navy. By the mid-1980s, the frigates are to be the backbone of the Navy's sea control fleet, protecting convoys and amphibious forces from attack by aircraft, submarines and other ships.

As of last October, construction still had not yet begun on 12 of the 26 U.S. ships, and each will take 2½ to 3½ years to build, GAO said.

In early designs, space and weight allotments were reserved on the ships for helicopters and a towed sonar system, both still being developed.

By September 1976, the Navy knew the ship's stern would require modification to accommodate the sonar system and a helicopter known as LAMPS-MK III, a larger airship than was originally intended.

By early 1977, the auditors added, "it became apparent that the compartments and bulkheads in the entire stern section below deck would have to be rearranged to install these systems on the ship."

The auditors said the Navy acknowledged it did not analyze the economic feasibility of putting the modified stern into some, if not all, of the 26 ships during construction.

Jaycees taking nominations for Outstanding Man 1978

Who is Midland's outstanding young man?

There are approximately 7,500 men between the ages of 21 and 35 in the Tall City, and one of those young men has contributed more to the community than others. Who is he?

The Midland Jaycees have launched a search for him. They want to give him the 1978 Distinguished Service Award.

From now through Jan. 13, the Jaycees are coordinating the "search" for Midland's Outstanding Man by soliciting nominations from churches, businesses, clubs, organizations and individuals. Judging will be conducted by a committee of seven prominent Midland civic and business leaders. Joe Campbell, last year's award winner, is the DSA selection chairman.

Nomination blanks are available at the Jaycee office, dial 694-1253; from John Williams, project chairman, 694-9663, and from Joe Campbell, 683-1818. Blanks also may be picked up at the office of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

Nominations must be mailed to Midland Jaycees, P.O. Box 135, Midland 79702. They must be postmarked no later than midnight Jan. 13.

The winner will be announced at the Jaycees' annual Distinguished Service Award Banquet, scheduled Jan. 18 at the Petroleum Club.

Raul Castro warns of U.S. pressure and intimidation

MIAMI (AP) — His speech punctuated by the roar of Soviet-built warplanes, Cuban Defense Minister Raul Castro charged America's diplomatic linkup with China is an attempt to divide world revolutionaries by bribery.

Castro's fiery speech during the annual military forces review in Havana Tuesday marked Cuba's second harsh attack this week on the warming U.S.-China ties and underscored the complaints of his brother, President Fidel Castro.

The speech was broadcast by the government radio and monitored in Miami.

"Imperialism is trying to divide the revolutionary movement throughout the world by establishing new alliances," Raul Castro said. "It is using its means of pressure, intimidation and bribe."

"It is degrading that the government of the U.S. has established official ties with China, only after China has become a collaborator of the CIA and the South African regime in backing the rebel forces ... in Angola," he said.

Castro said Cuba was sincerely trying to "put an end to 20 years of hostility" in relations with the United States, but he doubted the United States was doing the same.

He cited the American declaration of a 200-mile offshore fishing limit, which he said "implied the reduction of our traditional fishing zone."

Castro also denounced the overflights last fall by American SR-71 spy planes. U.S. military officials said in November the flights were ordered to determine whether new Soviet-built MiG-23 fighters were equipped with nuclear weapons.

But President Carter said at a Nov. 30 news conference, "We have no evidence at all that atomic weapons are present in Cuba."

Castro said the planes were added to Cuban forces "a year ago, but the information was withheld until now for propaganda purposes and as a means of political pressure."

was reported in good condition at Gresham Community Hospital, but his doctor told investigators Tuesday he was not in good enough health to be questioned.

Pete Chesney of the Federal Aviation Administration said the interview was the last remaining major gap in the evidence. But he said he wasn't sure McBroom would ever speak to investigators because of possible lawsuits.

"We don't know whether he's going to talk or not," Chesney said. "He's hired a lawyer and that's very unusual."

Chesney said he had investigated at least a dozen airline crashes and this was the first time a pilot had hired an attorney.

Pilot reportedly 'not able' to speak to investigators

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — An interview with the pilot of the United Air Lines jet that crashed here would plug the last remaining gap in the federal investigation of the crash.

But just when that interview will occur was in question today.

Federal investigators said they would make another attempt today to question Malburn McBroom, the pilot of the DC-8 that crashed here Thursday, killing 10 of the 184 persons on board.

The investigating team from the National Transportation Safety Board has spent five days examining the wreckage. They say evidence indicates the plane was out of fuel when it crashed.

McBroom, 52, of Loveland, Colo., organization claim.

In order to correct this situation, the movement said Tuesday it is demanding that amendments to the 1977 farm bill be implemented at the maximum levels as follows:

- Loan levels on all basic commodities should be set at 90 percent of parity.
- Set-aside provisions should be established at a level which will insure a balance between supply and demand.

Farmers not well off this year, charges agriculture movement leader

SPRINGFIELD, Colo. (AP) — The public is being misled by statements coming out of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and other Washington agencies, and in fact American farmers are not well off going into 1979, say spokesmen for the American Agriculture movement.

Low income and lower purchasing power are placing the farmer in a cost-price squeeze unparalleled since the Depression of the 1930s, leaders of the Springfield-based agriculture organization claim.

In order to correct this situation, the movement said Tuesday it is demanding that amendments to the 1977 farm bill be implemented at the maximum levels as follows:

- Loan levels on all basic commodities should be set at 90 percent of parity.
- Set-aside provisions should be established at a level which will insure a balance between supply and demand.

Drugs may react harmfully with your food, drinks

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The drugs you take for help can turn around and hurt unless you are careful about what you swallow and when.

Drugs interact with foods, beverages and other medicines and the results can cause illness and even death. Many drugs also have potentially serious side effects. Individual responses vary widely. "There are people dying every day from adverse reactions to drugs," says Joseph Graedon, author of "The People's Pharmacy," a guide to medicines.

Ask questions about your prescriptions. "It's the doctor's responsibility to communicate with the patient about the treatment," Graedon says. But doctors don't always have enough time. And they may not know about your particular problems unless you tell them.

Have the doctor write down the brand and generic names of any drug prescribed. Find out if there are any restrictions on taking the medicine; some drugs, for example, cannot be taken with fruit juice. Inquire about side effects and let the doctor know if you are taking any other medicines, prescription or non-prescription. Steven Strauss, author of "Your Prescription and You," warns against combining medicines without advice. "When certain drugs are taken together, they may produce certain effects that do not occur if the drugs are taken individually or at a different time."

Common foods also can cause serious problems with some drugs. "In general," the Food and Drug Administration says, "the presence of food in the stomach and intestines can influence a drug's effectiveness by slowing down or speeding up the time it takes the medicine to go through the gastrointestinal tract to the site in the body where it is needed.

The FDA says that it usually is unwise to take drugs with soda pop or with acid fruit or vegetable juices unless you check with your doctor first. These beverages can result in excess acidity that may cause some drugs to dissolve quickly in the stomach instead of in the intestines where they can readily be absorbed into the bloodstream.

Here is a look at some common types of drugs and foods they interact with:

TETRACYCLINE: Compounds containing tetracycline should not be used with milk or dairy products like cheese and yogurt. The calcium in the food cuts down the absorption of the drug.

Carter taking political risks, says Ham Jordan

By RICHARD E. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is taking what his top aide calls "considerable risks" with his political future.

Hamilton Jordan, presidential assistant and the person Carter values as his best political brain, argues that two of those risks will pay dividends. But the third looks like a crap shoot.

First is the budget. Carter is cutting back some traditional Democratic programs and holding others at current levels of spending. The programs are designed to help the poor and disadvantaged.

When Carter unveils his budget later this month, blacks, big-city mayors, consumer advocates and labor leaders are not likely to be very happy.

Carter has one more budget to prepare — a year from now — before the 1980 election. He can give back half a loaf. But then again, he might not.

"I'd argue that, although it's upsetting to some people to cut the budget, the option is for the government not to do its part in the fight against inflation," Jordan says. "And that's the single most pervasive problem the people face."

"If we did one thing poorly last year, it's that we did not make the argument, which is so valid, that the people that are hurt most by inflation are the people who are on fixed incomes and the poor and the disadvantaged."

"We're cutting the budget with the higher purpose of bringing the rates of inflation under control — and that will benefit the poor and disadvantaged people and working people more than any other group in the country."

The second risk is Carter's effort to make the government responsive politically and administratively.

To that end, the White House personnel office, under Jordan's supervision, began a review several months ago of second and third-ranking officials in the Cabinet departments. It sent evaluation reports in mid-December to Labor, Commerce, Justice and Energy.

The move resulted in public embarrassment.

Word leaked that the White House didn't like the way Under Secretary of Labor Robert Brown and Assistant Secretary Francis X. Burkhardt were performing.

Secretary Ray Marshall asked Burkhardt to resign. Brown was Marshall's personal choice for the No. 2 job at Labor. And Marshall said flatly that he would not ask Brown to leave.

The White House now says Brown was never a target.

Jordan considers such embarrassment an acceptable risk. The review will go on.

"They are our appointees — the Cabinet officers and these assistant secretaries," Jordan says. "We gave the Cabinet officers broad latitude in choosing these people. It's not unreasonable two years later for us to come back and say, 'Okay, we think you've made a mistake here. Let's talk about it.'"

"The bottom line is that if President Carter does a good job and stands for re-election, he'll be re-elected," Jordan says. "If he's judged over the next 12 to 18 months as not doing a good job, he will have political difficulties."

The crap shoot has to do with the image Carter will portray as an incumbent. Can a president, who is the biggest Washington insider of all, run again as a Washington outsider?

Can he still tell people he's not like all those politicians in Washington?

"I think he can really have the best of both worlds," Jordan says.

The question is whether any man, even a president, can have it both ways.

Producers potential project set

A pair of wells have been finished in the Ridge, South (Clear Fork) area of Crosby County, and the pool gained a new project.

Boone & Moore Oil Co. of Lubbock No. 3 Amoco-Collier Estate was completed 3/4 mile southeast of other field production for a daily pumping potential of 58 barrels of 25-gravity oil and 150 barrels of water, through perforations from 3,962 to 4,097 feet.

Gas-oil ratio is too small to measure. The pay was acidized with 500 gal.

Total depth is 4,303 feet in the Clear Fork, and 4.5-inch casing is cemented at 4,200 feet.

Wellsite is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 10, block 2, D&SE survey and 14.5 miles south of Ralls.

CADELL WELL

James Caddell and Dalton Caddell of Ralls No. 9 Wheeler, 1/2 mile northeast of production, was completed in the Ridge, South (Clear Fork) field for a 24-hour pumping potential of 12 barrels of 24-gravity oil, through perforations from 4,058 to 4,154 feet. Gas-oil ratio is too small to measure. Completion was natural.

Operator drilled to 4,275 feet and set 4.5-inch casing on bottom. Location is 2,034 feet from north and 1,767 feet from west lines of section 1036, J. P. Fugh survey and 13 miles southwest of Ralls.

NEW PROJECT

Dalton Caddell No. 7 Anna Belle will be drilled as a 4,300-foot operation in the Ridge, South pool of Crosby County.

The location is 486 feet from north and 1,671 feet from west lines of section 5, K. Aycock survey, abstract 432 and 14.5 miles south of Ralls.

Lesson can be learned says Wallace

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The crisis in Iran — which provides five percent of the United States' crude oil — should teach this country not to depend on oil imports, says Chairman Mack Wallace of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Wallace urged President Carter by letter to lead the United States in an all-out effort to raise domestic energy production in 1979.

Wallace said there are three essential elements in any program to give the nation "a greater degree of international respect and energy sufficiency."

These elements include: — Accelerated deregulation of oil and natural gas prices, with financial incentives for the industry so it will plough those incentives into energy development.

— Measures to settle energy-environmental conflicts promptly and to encourage development of energy resources controlled by the federal government.

— Measures to assist in the private development of high-cost energy resources, such as synthetics, coal and shale.

Wallace said "it is universally agreed" that the United States will be importing 12-16 million barrels of oil a day by 1985, rather than the six million barrels per day called for by the national energy plan.

The Iranian crisis, he said, has demonstrated the inherent instability of "critically important" members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

"We should never forget that they (OPEC members) are developing countries, experiencing all the inevitable strains and tensions of modernization," Wallace said. "They are also the target of maximum Soviet efforts to heighten that instability."

Wallace also noted the recent increase in foreign oil prices and said, "If this price trend continues, the objectives you (Carter) have set with respect to the control of inflation and the stabilization of the dollar will not be achieved."

"A nation which fails to react strongly and with determination to this lesson in excessive external dependence is unlikely to remain for long a great nation," Wallace said.

Field areas gain testers

Shabean & Son of Abilene No. 1-82 Bernice Williamson is to be drilled as a southeast outpost to the Pete Adams multipay field of Sutton County, 28 miles southeast of Sonora.

The project, 3/4 mile from production, will be drilled to 3,000 feet. The drillsite is 1,100 feet from south and 1,320 feet from east lines of G. W. Logan survey No. 82.

SCHLEICHER TEST

Delta Drilling Co. and Pauley Petroleum, Inc., of Midland No. 2 Delhi-Jones is to be drilled as a 6,900-foot project in Schleicher County, three miles north of Eldorado.

Located in the Eldorado (Canyon gas and Wolfcamp oil) area, it is 1,100 feet from south and 1,900 feet from east lines of section 36, block LL, HE&WT survey. Ground elevation is 2,404 feet.

Mexico jumps into sixth in production

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico has leaped into the sixth place among the world's oil producing nations with the increase of their proven reserves to more than 40 billion barrels, an official for the Mexican oil monopoly Pemex said Tuesday.

The figures were released by Pemex President Jorge Diaz Serrano in a New Year's Day announcement. The figures have been certified by the Mexican Institute of Petroleum.

The Pemex announcement said the new proven reserves will give Mexico enough oil to continue production at a level of 1.835 million barrels a day for 60 years.

The new reserves put Mexico behind the Soviet Union, Saudi Arabia, Iran, the United States and Kuwait among the world's oil producers. Mexico's 1.5 million barrels of daily production put it 13th in the world.

The Soviet Union has the world's largest daily production of 10.9 billion barrels a day. The Pemex spokesman said the new proven reserves include findings at a new discovery in Chicoutec, where in November the oil company announced an oil field with potential reserves of 106 billion barrels.

However potential reserves maintained at 200 billion barrels in the Jan. 1 announcement the spokesman said, because total resources in the Chicoutec find had not been evaluated.

The country's probable reserves were also estimated at 44.6 billion barrels. Mexico is experiencing a meteoric rise in its oil reserves with new discoveries taking place with increasing frequency. Just four months ago, Pemex said its proven reserves were only 20 billion barrels.

Foreign oil experts have indicated the Pemex figures are very conservative and have said the country proven reserves could reach 120 billion barrels, or three times the new figures.

Brown finals opener; wildcat projects slated

H. L. Brown Jr. of Midland has filed potential test with the Railroad Commission of Texas for a Pennsylvania detrital discovery in Reeves County, and wildcat operations have been announced for Hockley, Stonewall, Crockett and Sutton counties.

Brown's discovery is No. 1 Mary E. Rape, four miles west of Coynosa. A re-entry project, it originally was completed in 1927 as a discovery to open the D.A. (Devonian) field.

From the Pennsylvania detrital it completed for a daily flow of 38 barrels of 49.3-gravity oil and no water, through a 5/64-inch choke and perforations from 13,300 to 13,312 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 8,026-1.

The hole is bottomed at 14,775 feet, seven and five-eighths-inch casing is set at 14,445 feet and the plugged back depth is 13,802 feet.

Location is 1,167 feet from north and 899 feet from east lines of section 2, block C-2, psf survey.

Operator picked the following tops on ground elevation of 2,601 feet: Atoka lime, 12,842 feet; Barnett shale, 13,349 feet; Mississippian lime, 13,712 feet; Kinderhook at 14,057 feet; Woodford shale, 14,198 feet and the Devonian chert at 14,440 feet.

It is one location north of the John Allen (Gardner sand) field.

Anderson also will drill No. 1-A Presley as a 4,100-foot wildcat in Runnels County, two miles northwest of the one-well Vanderlaan-Freedman (Gardner oil) pool and two miles northwest of Crews.

It is separated from the field by failures. Location is 1,951 feet from south and 1,853 feet from west lines of M. J. Para survey No. 178. Ground level elevation is 1,891 feet.

Windfohr Oil Co. of Fort Worth will spud No. 1 A. J. Lange in Runnels County, 3.75 miles northeast of Norton.

Scheduled for a 4,900-foot bottom, it is 660 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of section 16, Burnett County School Land No. 271, abstract 19.

The location is 3/4 mile southwest of Goen production in the Dorman, West area.

Magnatex Corp., Oil Division, of Midland No. 2-2A Mahaffey has been spotted as an 8,000-foot operation in the Conger (Pennsylvanian) field of Sterling County, 12 miles southwest of Sterling City.

It is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 2 O. R. Wilson survey.

Aminoil USA, Inc., operation from Midland, will drill three projects in the East (Cisco) oil area of Nolan County, 10 miles west of Blackwell. The pool has three producers.

Each of the new tests will be drilled to 5,200 feet. No. 2-215 Arledge Estate is one location southwest of production and 1,980 feet from north and 1,830 feet from east lines of section 215, block 10-A, H&TC survey.

No. 3-215 Arledge Estate is 5/8 mile southwest of production and 2,461 feet from south and 2,250 feet from west lines of section 215, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

No. 3 Arledge Estate is 7/8 mile northeast of production and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 17, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

Operator staked location for the 10,400-foot test 660 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of section 27, block Y, TCRR survey.

National, union officials believe strike upcoming

By LARRY BORTSTEIN DENVER (AP) — National officials and local presidents of the 60,000-member refinery workers union appear convinced there will be a strike against the oil industry when their two-year contracts expire at midnight Sunday. Officials of several large union locals in Texas — where most major oil companies maintain corporate headquarters or large refineries — say a strike looms large because of one issue: President Carter's wage-price guidelines.

The negotiations between the oil companies and the union represent the first major showdown under the Carter guidelines.

"It's unfair to workers," said Al Grosproir, president of the Denver-based Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union. "The rate of inflation is currently approaching the double-digit range again, and the costs of the basic necessities... are increasing at even a faster rate."

Spokesmen for the nation's major oil companies declined comment on a possible strike.

UNTIL LAST WEEK, none of the oil companies had made contract offers. Gulf Oil broke the ice last Wednesday, and several other large companies followed by the end of the week, including Texaco, Shell, and Phillips.

Salary increases in the contract offers fell within the 7 percent figure of the Carter program.

Grosproir charged the oil companies with "wrapping themselves in the American flag" as justification for limiting pay raises and fringe-benefit improvements. "We're fighting an injustice and we must resist. We have no choice," he said in a recent interview.

He maintained he does not like the fact that OCAW is the first major union to negotiate since Carter issued his guidelines late last summer.

"I would prefer that we weren't first up," said Grosproir, a gravel-voiced former Texas City, Texas, machine operator who has been president of the international oil workers union since 1965. "This is getting us more publicity than I would like for us to have. But someone has to be first, and there's nothing we can do about it."

What Grosproir and other union leaders are attempting to do is bend the Carter guidelines to fit OCAW's bargaining program.

THE UNION HAS put no specific price tag on the package it seeks, but in keeping with gains made by other major unions in 1978 before Carter issued his guidelines, the oil workers are presumably after an increase of 11 or 12 percent, including major gains in company-paid medical coverage.

Although union locals negotiate individual contracts with the oil companies, they have voted Grosproir authority to call a national walkout.

Roy Barnes, secretary-treasurer of OCAW Local 367, a Houston unit of 3,600 members, most of whom are employees of Shell, said there was a strong possibility Grosproir would authorize a strike.

"I think there's an excellent chance," Barnes said in a telephone interview. He pointed out that OCAW "doesn't have the tradition of the United Mine Workers — 'no contract no work' — so we wouldn't necessarily go out at midnight on Jan. 7. We'll negotiate right down to the end if we feel we can get results."

Joe Campbell, secretary-treasurer of Local 227, the largest of three OCAW locals in Houston and one of the largest in the nation with 4,500 members, said, "I think there'll be strikes around the country."

"I'd hate to see it happen, because I feel strikes hurt the workers too," said Campbell. "But we feel Carter's really turned his back on us."

BILLY PARHAM, secretary-treasurer of Local 423, a Texaco unit with 3,600 workers in Beaumont, Texas, said, "I think the president's (Grosproir) going to take us out. It's as simple as that."

One president of a small local said he believed the industry and the union might agree to a short-term contract, instead of the two-year agreements which have become traditional.

"I think if nothing else works, a short-term contract, like for about six months, might be the way to go for right now," said David Briscoe, president of Local 2286, an Amoco bargaining group in Salt Lake City which has 160 members.

There are 245 oil companies and more than 400 contracts involved in the negotiations between the oil industry and the union, according to the OCAW research department. Approximately 17 million barrels of crude oil are processed daily in the United States. Of the 145 oil companies, the top 20 account for 14.6 million barrels of crude oil processed daily — or 85.8 percent of the nationwide total.

"Many of the companies are virtually mom-and-pop operations," said Dick Leonard, OCAW's director of research.

The largest domestic crude oil processor is Exxon USA of Houston, whose refineries process 1.3 million barrels of crude oil each day.

A spokesman for Exxon USA, Joe Tucker, said that the company was only slightly involved in the OCAW negotiations. "Our only union refinery is one in Great Falls, Montana, which has about 175 workers," Tucker said.

Four other oil companies process at least 1 million barrels of crude oil per day.

Re-entry scheduled

The Anschutz Corp. of Houston announced plans to re-enter its No. 1-A G. T. Randolph, 13,000-foot wildcat failure in Gaines County and cleanout to 10,000 feet for tests.

It is 1,200 feet from north and 500 feet from west lines of labor 10, league 285, Schleicher County School Land survey and 20 miles west of Lamesa. Ground elevation is 3,109 feet.

The project was plugged by Anschutz in November 1978. There is no nearby production.

Alabama captures national grid crown

By The Associated Press

The Crimson Tide of Alabama, conquerors of previously unbeaten Penn State in the Sugar Bowl, avenged last season's disappointing runner-up finish and was named college football's national champion for 1978 today by The Associated Press.

In a tight three-way race with Southern California and Oklahoma, Alabama received 38 first-place votes and 1,317 of a possible 1,360 points from a nationwide panel of 68 sports writers and broadcasters.

Alabama defeated Penn State 14-7 Monday and thereby captured the national championship it thought it should have won a year ago when the Crimson Tide wound up behind Notre Dame in a controversial finish.

Southern Cal, which defeated Michigan 17-10 in the Rose Bowl, received 19 first-place votes and 1,285 points. Oklahoma received the remaining 11 first-place votes and 1,251 points following a 31-24 triumph over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl.

Alabama, Southern Cal and Oklahoma all trailed top-rated Penn State in the final regular-season poll. But the Nittany Lions slipped from first place to fourth with 1,168 points after Alabama ended their 19-game winning streak.

Michigan held onto fifth place with 989 points despite its loss in the Rose Bowl. Clemson moved up from seventh to sixth with 950 points for a 17-15 decision over Ohio State in the Gator Bowl. Notre Dame's defending national champions finished seventh this time with 914 points. The Fighting Irish jumped from 10th place by edging Houston 35-34 in the Cotton Bowl.

Nebraska, the only team to beat Oklahoma this season, dropped from sixth to eighth after bowing to the Sooners in the Orange Bowl rematch. The Cornhuskers received 865 points.

The Texas Longhorns, who lost out on the national championship a year ago when they lost to Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl, climbed from 14th to ninth place with 706 points following a 42-0 rout of Maryland in the Sun Bowl.

Houston, ninth in the final regular-season poll, rounded out the Top Ten with 698 points.

The Second Ten consisted of Arkansas, Michigan State, Purdue, UCLA, Missouri, Georgia, Stanford, North Carolina State, Texas A&M and Maryland.

The final regular-season Second Ten was Georgia, Michigan State, Maryland, Texas, UCLA, Pittsburgh, Purdue, Missouri, Iowa State and Ohio State.

Stanford, which was ranked three times early in the season, reappeared in the Top Twenty by defeating Georgia 25-22 in the Bluebonnet Bowl. North Carolina State, which was ranked 20th for one week early in the campaign, made it back in with a 30-17 triumph over Pitt in the Tangerine Bowl. And Texas A&M, which was as high as No. 6 in October but had not been ranked for the final seven weeks of the season, got back in with a 28-12 triumph over Iowa State in the Hall of Fame Bowl. Pitt, Ohio State and Iowa State all dropped out of the rankings.

The 1978 national championship was Alabama's fourth, all under Coach Bear Bryant. The Crimson Tide won national honors in 1961, 1964 and 1965.

Alabama, Southern Cal, Oklahoma, Penn State and Clemson all finished with one setback as no team made it through the bowls with a perfect record.

The national championship capped a lengthy comeback for Alabama, which was ranked No. 1 in the preseason poll and also for the first two weeks of the season, but lost its third game 24-14 to Southern Cal and eventually dropped as low as eighth place. The Crimson Tide had been ranked second behind Penn State for the final three weeks of the season.

A year ago, the top five teams — Notre Dame, Alabama, Arkansas, Texas and Penn State — all had 11-1 records. At the end of the regular season, Texas was No. 1, followed by Oklahoma, Alabama, Penn State and Notre Dame.

The Fighting Irish trounced Texas 38-10 in the Cotton Bowl and vaulted over everyone to the national championship, drawing a bitter outcry from Alabama.

The Crimson Tide felt it should have been No. 1 since runnerup Oklahoma also lost its bowl game, and Alabama clobbered Ohio State 35-6 in the Sugar Bowl.

Malavasi predicts win

DALLAS (AP) — Los Angeles Coach Ray Malavasi said Tuesday he thinks the Rams will kick the Dallas Cowboys again Sunday in the National Football Conference championship game.

In September before a regular season National Football League game, Malavasi predicted the Rams "will kick the Cowboys' butts."

They then did so 27-14 in Los Angeles Coliseum.

Malavasi said in a telephone hookup with writers Tuesday, "I'm very confident our team can do the same thing Sunday."

Asked specifically what advantages he felt the Rams enjoyed, Malavasi answered, "It is to our advantage to play on grass and on our home field. We don't play many games on Astro-turf."

Also, Malavasi said "it is a possibility" the Rams have the emotional edge over the defending Super Bowl champions. The Rams have never been to the Super Bowl, trying and failing each time in the NFC title playoffs.

Coach Tom Landry addressed himself to Malavasi's prediction with a wry smile: "Well, they did it once. But I think we will be there (the Coliseum)."

Pressed whether the Cowboys have trouble playing on natural grass, Landry said, "I don't play on it myself. You'll have to ask the players. I guess the only reason this has come up is because we lost at Los Angeles, Washington and Miami on grass. Those were good teams. We didn't lose to many lower echelon teams on grass."

The Cowboys beat Los Angeles 37-7 in 1975 on grass.

Landry got some good news from the doctors Tuesday — quarterback Roger Staubach has recovered from suffering a slight concussion in a 27-20 NFC playoff victory over Atlanta Saturday.

"I'm confident Roger will be OK once we start work — if we can find a place to work," said Landry.

"The doctors said Roger will be OK and I don't think he will have any trouble," said Landry.

Landry said films of the victory over the Falcons showed Falcon linebacker Robert Pennywell delivered to Staubach "was not a deliberate blow. It was a clean tackle. His helmet might have caught Roger in the chest but I don't believe it was intentional."

Landry had lashed out at Pennywell after the game, saying he was told Pennywell hit Staubach with an elbow and that National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle should investigate.

"Somebody told me it was an elbow and my reaction was based on that," said Landry.

Pennywell was penalized for roughing the quarterback on the play. He said officials told him he drew a flag for driving Staubach into the artificial turf in Texas Stadium.

Landry said the ice that covered Dallas Monday and Tuesday, but was rapidly melting away, shouldn't hurt Cowboy practice plans for the Rams. "I'm not worried," said Landry. "The key days are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday."

The Cowboys will leave Dallas at 7 p.m. Friday to fly to Los Angeles.

AFC championship game already in 2nd quarter

PITTSBURGH (AP) — If talk counted instead of action, Sunday's American Football Conference title game between the Houston Oilers and the Pittsburgh Steelers might be in the second quarter by now.

As soon as the two NFL teams advanced in the playoffs with weekend wins, the banter began about which one would win Sunday's game and travel to the Super Bowl.

"We're the better team," crows Oiler defensive end Elvin Bethea. "We're going to win. There's no doubt about it. I'll guarantee it with a capital 'G,'" he says.

"If we play the type of ball we did against Denver, we can't beat it. It doesn't matter who we play," counters Steeler wide receiver John Stallworth.

"NOTHING PERSONAL, but we're gonna whomp the heck out of them," predicts Oiler defensive end Jim Young.

"Our attitude is we're not going to be denied," says Pittsburgh center Mike Webster.

"I feel we're a better team," repeats Oiler cornerback Willie Alexander.

"I think our only problem would be if we would stop ourselves," says Pittsburgh running back Franco Harris.

"We'll just slug it out with them and come out on top," says Earl Campbell, Harris' counterpart on the Houston team.

"It's going to be a tough, physical game between two teams that respect each other and want to go to the Super Bowl," observed Steeler defensive lineman L.C. Greenwood.

"Wait!," says Oiler Coach Bum Phillips. "We'll sever diplomatic relations with them. That's what you do when you declare war."

Time out! What's going on here, you ask? Defensive tackle Joe Greene, who's been in the National Football League 10 years, including Pittsburgh's two consecutive Super Bowl championships, has an explanation.

"It's that playoff fever, man." And so it is.

TO HOUSTON, playoff fever is something new. The Oilers climbed from the pits of the National Football League to just two steps from the top as they prepare to play in their first conference title game ever.

"I've been waiting 11 years for this," Bethea says.

With the added power of Campbell, a No. 1 draft pick with a fierce running style, the Oilers posted a 10-6 regular season record, good enough for a wild card playoff berth.

Quarterback Dan Pastorini, wearing a flak jacket over injured ribs, helped eliminate Miami with the best performance of his career in the first round of the playoffs.

Sunday's 31-14 whipping of the New England Patriots propelled the Oilers into the AFC title game Sunday here at Three Rivers Stadium.

The Steelers, on the other hand, have been afflicted with the fever before.

Pittsburgh is in the AFC playoffs for the seventh consecutive year, this time with the best regular season record in the NFL, 14-2.

The Steelers won the Super Bowl in 1974 and 1975. But losses to Oakland in the 1976 AFC title game and to Denver in last year's first round playoff game have whetted their appetites for an unprecedented third Super Bowl victory.

Quarterback Terry Bradshaw is having his finest year as a pro, and Harris has churned out his sixth 1,000-yard season.

At stake is the opportunity to play in the Super Bowl against the winner of the Dallas-Los Angeles game for the National Conference title.

But until the real Houston-Pittsburgh contest begins between the goal posts at Three Rivers Stadium, the other battle continues between quotation marks.

"I expect a knock down, drag out fight," says Phillips. "We're going to Pittsburgh to win."

"I think the Dallas defensive line is playing better and especially Ed 'Too Tall' Jones," he said. "Their secondary is pretty much the same."

Since Malavasi didn't become head coach until after the first two games of the preseason campaign, he had not had the time to put in many of his own innovations before that regular season game. There are more variations now.

Dallas works with multiple sets on offense and the flex defense devised by Coach Tom Landry and his staff, but Malavasi noted, "They are not much different than when we played them before."

The Rams' coach said he thought the game should be rated a tossup even though Dallas is listed as a three-point favorite.

Physically, both teams appear in good shape. Staubach suffered a concussion in the 27-20 victory over Atlanta last week but is reported all right now. Rams' defensive tackle Larry Brooks saw limited duty in the 34-10 triumph over Minnesota after being out with a knee injury. Defensive back Isiah Robertson suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in that game and his status remains doubtful.

Rankin nips Crane in double overtime

RANKIN — Rankin slipped past Crane, 29-25, here Tuesday night in a girls battle that was decided in double overtime.

Cooper takes 5-4A lead

Abilene Cooper took over sole possession of first place in the District 5-4A basketball race Tuesday night with a 44-38 victory over Odessa High.

Midland High and Midland Lee were idle Tuesday due to the icy weather, but the Lee-San Angelo game will be played today in the Lee gym at 8 p.m. The Midland High-Big Spring contest may also be played tonight in Big Spring at 8 p.m., but the final decision had not been made at press time.

In the only other District 5-4A contest Tuesday, Odessa Permian got into the win column for the first time with a narrow 42-41 win over Abilene High, who won their first outing last Friday. Both teams are now 1-1 in the loop race.

Cooper took the district lead with a 2-0 mark while both Midland schools stand at 1-0. Cooper, however, had a tough go of it against the 0-2 Bronchos with a narrow six-point verdict. Lee scored 81 points against Odessa High last Friday. Midland High defeated Permian by 10 points last Friday. Midland High is the pre-season choice to win the district title while Cooper is ranked second.

The girls state was also hit by the weather and only one game was played with Odessa High downing Abilene Cooper, 52-44. Both teams are now 1-1 in district play. Midland High, Midland Lee and Abilene High still share the league lead with 1-0 marks.

The girls may make up the lost games Saturday when Lee is scheduled to travel to San Angelo and Midland High is set to host Big Spring. Lee will travel to Cooper Thursday and Midland High will travel to Abilene High the same day in the next scheduled matchups for the girls.

Bum Phillips to carry blood donors to game

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Coach Bum Phillips, remembering the last time the Oilers played the Pittsburgh Steelers, will add some sideline personnel for Sunday's American Football Conference championship game.

"We're going to take along some hospital attendants and maybe a few blood donors," said Phillips, whose homey one-liners have eased the tension and helped carry the Oilers to the brink of the Super Bowl.

The last time these two teams met, Pittsburgh won 13-3 in a game where quarterback Dan Pastorini and rookie running back Earl Campbell suffered broken ribs, cornerback Willie Alexander received a broken jaw and wide receiver Mike Renfro was lost for the season with a knee injury.

Renfro was the only player to have his season ended in the game, spending the rest of the year on injured reserve.

Asked how many players Pittsburgh lost in that game, Phillips quipped "Pittsburgh puts other people's players on injured reserve."

Pittsburgh, with the best regular season record in pro football at 14-2, won the AFC Central Division title while the Oilers placed second with a 10-6 record and got into the playoffs as a wild card team.

But the Oilers, playing their best football of the season, have beaten Miami 17-9 and Eastern Conference champion New England 31-14 on successive weeks to gain the title game and their first chance at a Super Bowl berth.

Phillips says the Oilers forged their own way into the championship game.

"We believe we have earned the right to be playing for the AFC championship," Phillips said. "I don't think anybody can look back and say that we lucked out at any point during the season. I think everything we've done we've earned and when you do it that way you have a right to be proud."

"The Oilers are a much better team in the playoffs than they were early in the regular season, Phillips said.

"When we started out we could run the football pretty well but we didn't throw as well as we needed to," Phillips said. "But from the fourth game on, we started getting more play action passes, depending on what our runs were doing."

The Oilers resumed workouts today after getting an extra day off from drills Tuesday.

Jim Hess named top NAIA coach

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The coach who engineered a national college record 14 wins this season for Angelo State University (Texas), Jim Hess, has been voted NAIA Football Coach of the Year for 1978.

Hess, 42, was selected by his fellow NAIA football coaches after leading Angelo State to an NAIA Division I national championship this year. In five years at the school Hess has piled up a 40-15-2 record.

PHILLIPS says the Oilers forged their own way into the championship game. "We believe we have earned the right to be playing for the AFC championship," Phillips said. "I don't think anybody can look back and say that we lucked out at any point during the season. I think everything we've done we've earned and when you do it that way you have a right to be proud." The Oilers are a much better team in the playoffs than they were early in the regular season, Phillips said. Duke victory is two games late

By The Associated Press

The Blue Devils of Duke aren't No. 1 in the college basketball poll anymore, but now they are playing like it again, two games too late.

Forward Gene Banks and center Mike Gminski provided the spark for Duke Tuesday night in a 77-59 victory over Davidson. It was a spark that was missing over the weekend when the Blue Devils lost on consecutive nights in the ECAC Holiday Festival to Ohio State and St. John's, N.Y., after squandering huge leads. Davidson, playing a slowdown game, trailed only 26-19 at the half. But with Banks and Gminski playing aggressive, tough basketball, Duke, now 7-2, padded the lead to as many as 24 points in the second half.

Now ranked fifth in The Associated Press poll, Duke played with a second-half intensity it did not show in the Holiday Festival in New York.

"In the second half, we didn't want to hold the ball and get them (Davidson) out of their zone," said Duke coach Bill Foster. "We could have done that with a seven-point lead, but we wanted to keep the game going for 40 minutes and wanted to attack the basket better than we have in the last two games." Banks scored 18 points and had seven rebounds and Gminski added 13 points and nine rebounds. Guard Jim Spanarkel had 15 points for Duke.

John Gerdy had 28 points to lead Davidson, which led much of the first half until the Blue Devils went on a 12-2 tear to take a 20-15 lead with 4:16 left before intermission.

"I thought our aggressiveness was much better," Foster said, pointing to Banks and Gminski's domination of the boards. "I thought this was good experience for us. We made the adjustment to their slowdown without giving them easy shots."

In the only other games involving ranked teams Tuesday night, No. 8 North Carolina State defeated Appalachian State 58-50 and St. Joseph's, Pa., upset No. 12 Georgetown 37-36.

N.C. State waged a see-saw battle with Appalachian State and the Wolfpack didn't take the lead for good until midway through the second half.

N.C. State, 9-2, hit nine of 10 foul shots, several each by Clyde Austin and Donnie Perkins, in the final 1:22 to salt the game away. Austin wound up with 15 points and Perkins had 14. Renaldo Lawrence led Appalachian State with 16 points.

Michigan State captures top spot

By The Associated Press

Michigan State, winner of the Far West Classic, took advantage of losses by the top three teams in last week's poll to move into first place in The Associated Press weekly college basketball poll.

The Spartans, ranked fourth last week, defeated Washington State, Oregon State and Big Ten rival Indiana on the way to the Far West title. Those triumphs, coupled with two losses by Duke and one each by Notre Dame and UCLA, enabled Michigan State to collect 31 first-place votes and 969 points.

The top eight teams in this week's poll each received at least one first-place vote from the nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Notre Dame held on to second place, receiving seven first-place votes and 878 points despite its 81-76 loss to Kentucky.

North Carolina moved from fifth place to third after winning the Rochester Classic with convincing victories over Dartmouth and Niagara. Illinois, still undefeated at 12-0 and in fourth place, got four first-place votes. LSU, ranked seventh, received three and Duke, UCLA and North Carolina State got one each for the top spot.

Duke, a double loser in the ECAC Holiday Festival, dropped from the top for the first time since the preseason poll. The Blue Devils received 757 points, good for fifth place. UCLA, 75-72 which lost to Stanford in its conference opener, fell to sixth with 741.

Rounding out the Top Ten were LSU with 728 points, North Carolina State with 699, Kentucky with 584 and Texas A&M with 404 points.

Indiana State again leads the Second Ten. The Sycamores, who blasted Morris Harvey 99-63, received 387 points.

Georgetown, Michigan, Arkansas, Long Beach State, Louisville, Marquette, Mississippi State, Kansas and Maryland completed the weekly rankings.

Mississippi State, 8-0, is a newcomer to the poll, while Maryland returns to the Top Twenty with a record of 11-2.

Nevada-Las Vegas, runnerup to Temple in the Las Vegas Classic, and Syracuse fell from the ratings. Syracuse won its only game of the week, 82-72 over Illinois State.

Christian brothers face title game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Don Shell and Earl Campbell are two Christians who'll crusade on opposing teams Sunday as Houston challenges VPIttsburgh for the American Football Conference championship.

"I got to know Earl as a Christian brother and I'm thankful for the chance to play against him again," said Shell, the thick-necked safety for the Pittsburgh Steelers, who split two regular-season games with the thundering Campbell and the Houston Oilers.

That's the same Don Shell who jolted Campbell's ribs with a tackle in the first quarter of a Dec. 3 game in Houston, won 13-3 by Pittsburgh with Campbell aching on the sideline.

Yet that was professional, and Shell remembers a personal exchange he had with pro football's most potent rookie before the game.

"I introduced myself to him and we talked for about 10 minutes," said Shell, impressed by Campbell's talents early in the season when he ran for three touchdowns to help the Oilers beat the Steelers 24-17 in Pittsburgh.

As Shell recalls that 10-minute talk in Houston, it started like this: "I hear you're a Christian athlete," said Shell, a five-year pro who made the Steelers as a free-agent from South Carolina State.

"That's why I've been allowed to have the success I'm having," responded Campbell, who came to the Oilers with a Heisman Trophy he won at Texas and mighty humility instilled by his mother.

Late in the first quarter in Houston, Campbell swept right.

Steelers safety Mike Wagner stuck out an arm that straightened Campbell up and left his ribs open for the shoulder tackle by Shell, a muscular fellow who earned the nickname "Torpedo" with his potent tackling.

"It was just an ordinary hit, but he was up in the air, very vulnerable," said Shell.

After the hit, Shell went to the sideline and prayed that Campbell was not seriously hurt. "I hoped he could come back in-and-play," said Shell. "I'm a Christian young man, and he's a Christian young man — and you don't like to see anybody hurt."

It wasn't to be, but Campbell has come back strong in the playoffs to lead the wild-card Oilers into the title game against the Steelers, who beat out Houston for the AFC Central Division title.

"I told Earl after the game in Houston that I was looking forward to playing against him again this season," said Shell. "I'm also looking forward to playing with him in the Pro Bowl."

Only one will go to the Super Bowl. "We're both getting what we want — a chance to play against the best," said Shell.

Vilas sees hard work pay off

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, who has practiced in this country for seven weeks, saw it pay off today as he captured the $300,000 Australian Open by defeating John Marks 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

In the women's final, Chris O'Neill, ranked only 111th in the world, defeated American Betsy Nagelsen 6-3, 7-6 for the women's championship. It was the seventh straight year that an Australian woman had won the Australian national championship.

Vilas turned his back on his home country championship in November to prepare for the Australian Open, figuring a victory here would have long-term benefits for Wimbledon six months away.

"I decided in July that I wanted to play in Australia. I wanted to win one big tournament on grass. It was a very difficult decision to skip that (Argentina) tournament and come here to practice."

"I was so nervous out there because I wanted to win this tournament. How can I aim for Wimbledon if I don't win here, I thought? It is so pleasing because I was upset at Wimbledon last time when they said that I couldn't play on grass."

Woody's home becomes quiet

By DAVE KINDRED The Washington Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Cleve Rush is a balding redhead who played football for Woody Hayes at Miami of Ohio 30 years ago. Then he coached with Hayes at Ohio State before going to the pros.

A funeral rain fell. Hayes' home is in Upper Arlington, a fashionable suburb. A scarlet-and-gray van sat in the driveway alongside the white framed two-story house.

IT IS eerie here. It is as if Woody Hayes has died. A local television station did a half-hour special — all in the past tense. In a sense, that is the proper mood, for Ohio State football has been Hayes' life for 28 years.

IN THE day's gentle rain, the van sat at Hayes' home. It was empty. Neighbors didn't know, or weren't saying, where Hayes was. The man who fired him, Athletic Director Hugh Hindman, sent his wife to the door to shoo away a reporter.

Refs anger Bill Fitch

By The Associated Press

It's hard to say which infuriated Bill Fitch more — the calls referee Earl Strom made or those he and his crew didn't make.

Fitch, coach of the Cleveland Cavaliers, was angered because Strom called three technical fouls against his club in Tuesday night's 116-113 National Basketball Association loss to the Milwaukee Bucks. He was also upset because Strom, one of the league's senior officials, didn't blow the whistle when Fitch felt he should have, particularly down the stretch.

"This is a million dollar business," said Fitch, "but if you keep sticking your head in the sand, you're not going to bring the game around. Maybe that's why there weren't 10,000 more people here tonight (the attendance at Richfield, Ohio, was 4,459) — maybe they're tired of seeing that."

"He (Strom) has fined me, my trainer, everybody on my ballclub and he hasn't worked a good game yet. All I can remember is hand-checking and how they went to the (foul) line and we didn't."

Reminded that he can be fined for publicly criticizing officials, Fitch declared, "I don't give a damn. Why protect the guy just because he's got years in the league? Maybe we should put his name up in lights and say he blew one."

"I'm not emotionally involved," he added. "If I was, I'd be over there kicking his butt."

A jumper by guard Brian Winters with 1:04 remaining put the Bucks ahead, and baskets by John Gianelli and Marques Johnson kept them in front the rest of the way.

Fitch was particularly angry over a non-call in the final minute. With Cleveland trailing by just one point, Winters appeared to step out of bounds, but no call was made. A videotape replay shown in the Cleveland dressing room showed clearly that Winters did step out.

Chris O'Neill wins Australian net title

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Australian Chris O'Neill outplayed American Betsy Nagelsen to win the Australian Open women's singles crown 6-3, 7-6 today.

The lanky O'Neill, although ranked 111th in the world, joins such illustrious tennis names as Evonne Goolagong, Billie Jean King, Margaret Court, Virginia Wade and Maureen Connolly on the winners' cup.

She is the first unseeded player in more than a decade to win the title. The women's winner here has now been an Australian for the last seven years.

O'Neill seemed headed for an easy win when she led 6-3, 5-3 with her serve to follow. But nerves apparently got to her as she lost the next two games to Nagelsen, forcing a tiebreaker.

But Nagelsen lost the first two points and never recovered as O'Neill won the tiebreaker 7-5 when Nagelsen ballooned a backhand over the baseline on the final point.

Meanwhile, Polish star Wojtek Fibak not only flew out of Melbourne today with his half of the Australian doubles title, but he also was nearly $100,000 richer. Fibak paired with Australian Kim Warwick to win the doubles title 7-6, 7-5 from Australians Paul Kronk and Cliff Letcher.

The 60 points he collected from the tournament victory pushed him past Bob Hewitt on the final Grand Prix doubles points table.

Hewitt, who did not compete here so he could spend Christmas with his family in America, finished 14 points behind Fibak.

Fibak's win gave him the $90,000 for finishing on top of the GP points table, while Hewitt settled for $60,000 for second place.

Fibak also collected $7,750 for his doubles victory with Warwick.

Fibak said, "Bob took a chance by going home instead of coming to Melbourne. He knew I had to win the title to pass him, but he didn't think we could do it."

"Kim and I combined into a really tough team and we won a lot of matches after being down and having to fight hard."

Immediately after the final, Fibak flew to London to pair with his regular doubles partner, Dutchman Tom Okker. The pair is defending champion in this week's $200,000 World Doubles tournament, the richest doubles event in the world.

Rose Bowl is boring

Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Every so often a Rose Bowl game is one for the ages. Roy Riegels runs the wrong way. The Four Horsemen run wild. A Doyle Nave comes off the bench to score on a team that had never been scored on. USC and Wisconsin throw up 79 points.

The 1978 game was distinguished because it managed to cram more inaction into 60 minutes of football than the old Pitt-Fordham scoreless ties. If it was a fight, it would have been all clinches. It began with a whimper and ended with one.

It was a great game if you're crazy about 1-yard losses, passes behind the line of scrimmage, a whole lot of punts — 681 yards of punts — and a game that ends with the quarterback falling on the ball. It was trench warfare, as boring as a day at the office or guarding a cannon in the park.

STILL, IT will probably go down in the books as the game of the Phantom Touchdown.

I don't know about you, but where I grew up you were supposed to have the football with you when you went into the end zone for a touchdown. When Charles White "scored" for SC with 7:32 remaining in the second period, he seemed to have forgotten one small detail — the ball.

An official decided it was inconsequential. I guess he figured anybody could score carrying the ball. You have to admire a man who can put points on the board without it.

The situation was this: USC, with a 7-3 lead had just driven 47 yards to the Michigan 3-yard-line. It was second down, and the quarterback handed the ball off to Charles White who dove at the goal line in a soaring arc.

He had the football when he took off. But he didn't have it when he landed. A Michigan player had it by then.

One official, doubtless an old-fashioned type who thought the ball had to accompany the ball carrier, signaled it was Michigan's ball somewhere on the one-inch or one-foot line. He was overruled.

AND THAT, sports fans, was the old ball game. A field goal in the last 2 seconds of play at the half made the score 17-3. Michigan scored in the second half but spent most of the rest of it on their own 10-yard line looking like a fly trying to get out of a spider web.

Frankly, I wouldn't want to get into the same lifeboat with this Michigan team. In fact, I would not get in an elevator with them. I wouldn't want to back their play at a casino, but I would bet the limit against them even if they had three aces showing. Because these guys would have to get lucky to be even considered snake-bit. I'm surprised they didn't bring rain. These are the kind of guys who would be lucky enough to get a last-minute reservation on the Titanic.

Michigan had a quality team but they do some funny things. Like, with 2 minutes and 45 seconds left in the game, and THEIR ball on the SC 48-yard-line, and fourth down, they — you're not going to believe this — PUNT! You heard me. They gave up the football. It's like handing over your sword. They folded the three aces, and said, "I pass."

THEY HAD enough bad luck without getting that kind of advice or leadership from the bench. SC's running backs managed a couple of first downs and were in a position to do three fall-downs and end the game like a tilted pinball game.

It was typical of everything they did all day. The game was barely 2 minutes old when the Michigan quarterback Rick Leach tried a pass from his own 29-yard line and dropped it in the hands of the enemy, SC's Ron Lott. SC quickly scored. In three plays it was 7-0.

With only 8 seconds remaining in the first half, Rick Leach threw another interception and, with 2 seconds remaining, SC turned it into a field goal and, as it happened, their final scoring for the day.

That was the kind of a day it was for Michigan. Wide-open receivers twice dropped touchdown passes. With that kind of luck, you don't need phantom touchdowns. On a day when you cut yourself shaving, forget your wallet, miss the bus, get stuck in an elevator at work, get chewed out by the boss, you don't want to find a note on your desk saying your mother-in-law is on her way to spend a few weeks.

The game should be grateful for the mini-controversy. Apart from it, the rest of the inaction could be classified as a wall-to-wall bore. The only way this game could get in a Rose Bowl pantheon would be for somebody who played in it to get elected president some day.

Michigan and SC are getting like two crafty old boxers who know each other's moves so well they can't land a punch. It looked like Veloz and Yolanda out there.

STILL, A minimal requirement for scoring a touchdown would seem to be a ball somewhere on one's person. I'll tell you one thing. In the old neighborhood, you didn't get 6 points without the football even if it was an old beanbag. We didn't have any fancy language about the "plane of the goal line." If you didn't have a football to put down — well, tough. That's the way the ball bounces.

Actually, Michigan doesn't ordinarily need help to lose in the Rose Bowl. This is the fifth straight they have dropped, and it is the ninth loss in the last 10 games for the Big Ten. "Hurry Up" Yost must be chewing a carpet some place today. In his day, the Pacific Coast quit in the third quarter because they'd run out of 6's on the scoreboard. A phantom touchdown in those days would simply mean the score would be 49-6. He would hardly have noticed. These teams they're sending out these days can't even spare a point-after-touchdown. Particularly if you're going to kick the ball away to the other guys with a little over 2½ minutes to go and the ball in the enemy's territory. A team that does that doesn't need back luck, too. They bring their own.

Felker named to Tech staff

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Rocky Felker, a former Mississippi State assistant coach and quarterback, has joined the coaching staff at Texas Tech.

"We are pleased to get a high caliber person like Rocky," said Texas Tech Head Coach Rex Dockery. "He is a welcome addition to our coaching staff."

Felker, 25, will coach Red Raider quarterbacks and receivers.

"This is an excellent opportunity to coach at a first-class school and a first-class conference," Felker said. "Texas Tech has an excellent national reputation."

The loss negated a 35-point performance by Cleveland forward Campy Russell, who had 16 in the fourth quarter. Johnson led the Bucks with 24 points and Winters added 22.

Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson declined to comment on the officiating, but did note that contrary to Fitch's complaint, Cleveland was called for just 18 fouls while 25 were called against the Bucks, although the Cavs were in the penalty situation for the final 9:13.

Suns 114, Knicks 102 — Phoenix posted its 11th road victory, tops in the league, as Alvan Adams scored 28 points, grabbed 13 rebounds and handed out nine assists. Paul Westphal and Walter Davis added 20 points apiece as the Suns stopped New York's three-game winning streak.

Nuggets 99, Kings 97 — Dan Issel won a jump ball with two seconds left and tipped it to Tom Boswell, who beat the buzzer with a layup for the winning margin as Denver defeated Kansas City and moved within three games of the first-place Kings in the Midwest Division. The Nuggets can cut further into Kansas City's lead tonight, when the teams go to Denver to complete their home-and-home series.

Bullets 109, Bulls 86 — Washington raised its record to 25-12, best in the NBA, and moved one game ahead of Philadelphia in the Atlantic Division by coasting past Chicago. The Bullets jumped in front 21-7 and were never in trouble as Kevin Grevey led a balanced attack with 18 points.

Jazz 109, Lakers 105 — Pete Maravich scored 27 points and Truck Robinson had 26 points and 24 rebounds as New Orleans beat Los Angeles before a crowd of 31,127 at the Superdome, 25,000 of them courtesy of a local shoe store. The Jazz trailed by 19 points in the second half before overtaking the Lakers, aided by 11 points from reserve guard Gail Goodrich in the fourth quarter.

Clippers 137, Pistons 119 — Lloyd Free scored 33 points, his fifth consecutive 30-point game, to lead San Diego over Detroit, which lost its fifth in a row. Free, the NBA's second-leading scorer with a 27.8 average, had 21 first-half points as the Clippers rolled to a 71-51 advantage. The 137 points were a season high for the Clippers, who have won five of their last six starts.

Sonics 109, Blazers 108 — Gus Williams scored 10 of his 25 points in the final five minutes, including two free throws with 15 seconds to go, as Seattle edged Portland. The Blazers led 97-89 with 6½ minutes to go but could not hang on.

Pam Shriver wants Austin in quarters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pam Shriver is looking forward to a possible Friday meeting with the other teenage wiz of women's tennis, Tracy Austin.

The 16-year-old Shriver, who gained international attention by reaching the finals of the U.S. Open in September, wants another shot at Austin, the 16-year-old wonder kid of Wimbledon in 1977.

Then, says Shriver, she believes the record between the two will become ... 9-1.

"I don't set the goals," said Shriver after defeating Francoise Durr of France 6-2, 6-4 Tuesday night in the opening round of the $125,000 Washington stop of the women's pro tennis tour.

"I would like to get to the quarter-finals and have a good match with Tracy. If I get past Tracy, then I have a good chance of making it into the finals."

Getting past Austin, however, may not be too easy for Shriver, who has lost all nine meetings against her teenage rival, the last coming in August on clay in the 18-and-under nationals in Philadelphia.

Austin, the No. 2 seed here, plays her first match tonight against Barbara Hallquist, ending the opening round of the weeklong tournament, which offers $24,000 to the winner.

This exercise is designed to strengthen the upper trunk muscle groups. It also helps to increase coordination and build self-confidence.

And it's a heck of a lot of fun to watch the fat kids try it!

'God-awful' costs

A dollar today buys less than half what it did 11 years ago. People didn't need the government to tell them that.

And now the annual inflation rate is nudging 10 percent, called "God-awful" by the President's chief inflation fighter. Consumers at the supermarket and elsewhere are well aware.

And there's more not-so-good news. The nation's trade deficit in October rose sharply to $2.1 billion. This is $2.1 billion of our money shipped overseas to drive down the value of the dollar.

The government is better at keeping statistics than it is in finding solutions to these economic problems.

The truth is that nothing much can be accomplished without a lot of understanding and cooperation — not only in Congress but in homes and factories and offices and shops across the width and breadth of the land.

The crisis is real. Make no mistake about that. It calls for something more than "business as usual."

The leaders of labor groups will continue to apply pressure for high wage increases and the leaders of business groups will continue to apply pressure for price increases. This is the way pressure groups work.

But in the membership of these groups there are responsible individuals who recognize their responsibility to the country as a whole. We have faith that, given a clear understanding of the problems, they will respond.

As one government official said recently, the game of catch-up is just another name for inflation.

The President's wage and price guidelines must be observed.

The artificially low price of domestic oil should be increased to the world price for oil in order to discourage waste, encourage exploration and reduce dependence upon costly imported oil.

Sacrifices must be made by states, counties and cities and other beneficiaries of federal programs which must be cut back in order to reduce the federal deficit.

The federal government must take the lead in reducing spending if it expects others to follow suit. Excessive federal spending remains the basic cause of inflation and until this problem is handled, it is not likely that the overall problem will be solved.

Painful remedies, yes, but they are necessary.

Newsroom raid ban

The Carter administration has proposed federal legislation which would ban raids on newsrooms by law enforcement authorities seeking evidence of crimes.

The U.S. Supreme Court in a decision last May held in a case involving the Stanford Daily that the First Amendment gives news organizations no special rights to advance notice of a police search. But the court said the protection could be established by law.

The Carter proposal would not give any protection if the person in possession of a document was a criminal suspect. It would protect only "third parties" not involved in a crime except as holders of documentary evidence, and only if such "third parties" were reporters, free-lance writers, book publishers, scholars or anyone else who planned to use the documents for publication.

The Carter proposal appears to be satisfactory since its protection is not limited to newsmen. Special protection favoring newsmen is not recommended because any legal privilege involves the government in a determination of qualifications for such a privilege. Such determination could be the first step toward licensure and a government-licensed press certainly is not a free press.

The newsroom raid ban should be written as broadly as possible to protect the ordinary citizen against unannounced "third party" searches.

Sen. Kennedy ready to assume power at Judiciary

WASHINGTON — Whenever Sen. Edward Kennedy moves, sparks and rumors fly. Nowadays, he reads himself to take over the powerful Judiciary Committee from Mississippi's James O. Eastland, who is retiring after 23 years of gracious and restrained stewardship. So there is all manner of story waiting about the Hill that Kennedy, in planning the usual reorganization, is actually making a ruthless, heavy-handed power grab.

The title, "Judiciary," probably makes most people think of courts, the screening and confirmation of judges, and the dust-covered legal system. Actually, this is a powerhouse committee, dealing with issues ultimately concerning consumer prices, protection of the citizenry from crime, civil rights, how the FBI operates and what happens to juvenile delinquents and so-called illegal aliens. The workings of the Judiciary Committee can affect all of us.

The chairmanship is a plum for Kennedy, who, after 16 years in office, is an authentic senior senator. Though his liberalism is unsurpassed in the Senate, Kennedy enjoys warm relations with his colleagues, including such ideological opposites as Sen. Strom Thurmond.

Still, Kennedy is a hard-hitter, and as the two men he designated to run the Judiciary Committee staff — David Boies and Edward A. Merlis — took soundings and passed the word about "changes," eyebrows raised and worrisome allegations were uttered.

One is that Kennedy was going to cut the number of subcommittees from 10 to four, so he could consolidate power for himself and make sure that his favorite bills were not left to atrophy in subcommittee. This story held that Kennedy was so eager to clutch power that he was willing to incur the displeasure of incoming freshman senators, hopeful of landing a subcommittee chairmanship.

Boies, who has been chief counsel to Kennedy's Anti-Trust Subcommittee, (he calls himself a political independent though he worked in the late Sen. Robert Kennedy's 1964 and 68 campaigns), denies there will be only four subcommittees.

"There will be five and maybe six," he says, "but we won't really know until we know which senators are going to be on Judiciary. There must be some consolidation, and it is also unlikely that any freshmen will chair subcommittees."

Two years ago, the Senate passed a resolution forbidding any committee to establish a "subunit" of a committee "other than a subcommittee." The purpose was to prevent the subterfuge of a chairman killing a subcommittee and creating a "subunit" under his own wing. Though some critics argue that this is precisely what Kennedy is doing in reorganizing,

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Nazi may never pay for crimes

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — After 25 years, time may finally be running out for Andrija Artukovic, a former Nazi official alleged to be responsible for the murder of hundreds of thousands of Yugoslavs during World War II.

The aging Artukovic was minister of the interior in the Nazi puppet state of Croatia, and thus was in charge of the police and security forces. Official U.S. government estimates hold him responsible for 200,000 deaths; testimony at the 1961 trial of Adolph Eichmann connected him with the killing of 660,000 persons, mostly Serbs and Jews.

Using an alias, Artukovic managed to slip into the United States in the confusion following the collapse of the Third Reich. The Yugoslav government has been trying to have him extradited ever since.

In 1952, an immigration official ordered Artukovic deported. Seven years later, however, another official reversed the order on grounds that Artukovic might be "persecuted" if he were sent back to his homeland.

In his long fight against deportation, Artukovic has used a loophole in the immigration law that bars deportation of persons who might be persecuted because of race, religion or political beliefs.

But a recently enacted law, written by Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., has closed that loophole as it applies to suspected Nazi war criminals. The way is now clear for the Immigration Service to resume its deportation procedures.

Immigration officials are trying to subpoena Artukovic for questioning.

He is fighting this move, and a court will rule shortly whether Artukovic can in fact be required to testify. Even if he loses that round, Artukovic can demand additional hearings and appeals. But with the new law, he can stall off the day of reckoning only so long.

Yugoslav officials have assured the United States government that Artukovic will get a fair trial, and that American observers would be permitted to monitor the proceedings to make sure everything is on the up and up.

Meanwhile, congressional sources have told us that the special immigration task force, which handles Nazi war crimes suspects, is woefully understaffed and underfunded. There are, at present, approximately 250 active cases. In addition, one source estimates there may be as many as 2,000 Nazi war criminals hiding out in the United States.

Yet, incredibly, the Nazi-hunting task force numbers exactly five attorneys and two investigators to track down witnesses and documents, many in foreign countries, and to handle the massive legal paperwork.

In a private letter to Attorney General Griffin Bell, Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, described the situation bluntly.

"The Immigration and Naturalization Service is charged with investigating and, where appropriate, prosecuting individuals accused of concealing their involvement in Nazi war crimes to gain entry to the United States," he wrote.

"It is clear that time is running out for this effort to identify and bring to

ART BUCHWALD Tanklips suddenly sees error in '79 projection

WASHINGTON — Ebenezer Tanklips was pleased with himself. As chief economist for the Bigwater Corporation he had just handed in his projection for the year 1979. It was a masterful job, he thought to himself, as he returned from lunch. His report indicated a continual high inflation rate, more attacks on the dollar, a drop in the GNP, and what he considered his masterpiece — a prediction of a full-scale recession. Not only was Tanklips hoping to be congratulated by the powers upstairs, but he secretly thought that it would help him win the Nobel Prize for Economics.

When he walked into his office his secretary said, "The chairman of the board wants to see you."

Tanklips smirked. They had just read his report on the 86th floor and probably wanted him to verbalize it for them.

He entered the chairman's office and noticed his report on B.J.'s desk.

"You wanted to see me B.J.?" Tanklips said.

"Yes," the chairman replied, "I just read your projections for 1979. You're fired!"

"Fired?" Tanklips said, "but why?"

"You're predicting a recession. The board had a meeting and decided we had to cut back. You are the first one to go."

Art Buchwald

"But I could be wrong," Tanklips said. "Maybe there won't be a recession. It's possible we could have a banner year. Let me go back and check my figures again."

The chairman said, "You did a great job, Tanklips. Your predictions concerning the prime rate, when fed into the federal deficit, not to mention the debit side of our balance of payments, when orchestrated with the price of oil, confirm what we've been fearing for some time. The boom is over and the sluggishness is starting to set in. As you so ably state here on Page 45, it's time to retrench, get rid of the deadwood, and dig in for the long pull until the economy turns around."

"Did I say that?" Tanklips cried. "I must have been crazy. B.J., think how many times I've been wrong in the past. If you had followed my advice in 1976 the company would be a cooked goose now. Let me see that report. Oh, come now. I see my mistake right here on Page 23. I forgot to project that the price of coffee would go down by three cents a pound."

"We don't sell coffee," the chairman said.

"Yes, but it's an indicator. If coffee goes down labor can't make unrealistic demands on us, and at the same time we can increase the price of our seltzer valves, which could turn the profit picture around."

The chairman said, "I'm sorry it's too late. You predicted that, in order to resolve the inflation dilemma, we would have to live with an eight percent unemployment rate. This company is willing to live with it, as long as you are."

"But," said Tanklips, "I wasn't including myself in that unemployment rate. I was including everybody else. Economists never make themselves a part of the unemployment factor."

"Why not?" the chairman asked. "Because it would be a conflict of interest. We have to stay out of the unemployment projections or our figures would be tainted by self-interest. B.J., please don't fire me."

"I'm sorry, Tanklips, but your report speaks for itself. We're going to have to play hardball in 1979."

"Let me look at that a moment," Tanklips said, grabbing the report off the desk. "My God, I put a decimal point in the wrong place! And I forgot to carry the two over when I added up seven, four and nine. This changes everything. We can't cut back in '79! It's going to be our greatest year."

"You wouldn't be snoring me, Tanklips, just to keep your job?"

"Of course not, sir. As an economist that would be unethical."

The pipes, the pipes are calling

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Promise her anything, but give her a basin wrench.
It's what she wanted for Christmas, so I gave it to her.
"Gift wrap it, will you?" I instructed the kid down at the hardware store.
He looked at me like I had just stepped off Battleground. He was temporary Christmas help and for a minute there I could sense he hesitated between calling the manager and going across the street to the Town Hall to see if the patrol car was in the driveway. Or maybe getting the health officer.

Instead, being one of those know-it-all college kids in frizzy hair and tortoiseshell bifocals, he resorted to sarcasm.
"And the pesticide, you want me to gift wrap that too?"

"No," I put him in his place, which was back in the fertilizer section. "I'll eat that here. But let me have a gift card. I want to put my wife's name on it."

"The pesticide?"
"No, the basin wrench."
I guess they're still talking about me down at the hardware store that nut case who came in and had a basin wrench gift wrapped for his wife for Christmas. Too bad I didn't take it next door to the jeweler to have it engraved. People today are so lacking in imagination.

What else should I have done? Or, as Cyrus Vance tells the National Security Council before boarding the diplomatic shuttle: Let's explore the alternatives.

From way back in October, there was none. She had her heart set on a basin wrench. You see the adult education program in our town offers everything from conversational Russian and Restoration drama to belly dancing and Japanese flower arranging. My wife took plumbing.
She was the only woman in the class, but she hung in there. Or should I say, took the plunge? She said she was sick and tired of forking over a check for 60 bucks everytime a dude with a flashlight and a wrench want down into our basement.

Now a whole new world has opened up for us. We use to sit around at night in front of the fireplace talking about the new pope or high mortgage rates or Jimmy Carter's anti-inflation policies or sometimes even the poetry of Emily Dickinson or the novels of Francois Mauriac of which we are both fond.

Now we sit around talking about dry fields, leaching fields, J-joints, U-traps and shut-off valves.

"Do you know," my wife said the other night, "that if you put your ear next to the tank and hear a murmur, it means there is a leak in the toilet?"

We have lots of fascinating conversations like this, and I find myself like a heart surgeon going around and eavesdropping on the toilet tank as if I had a stethoscope around my neck. I thought I detected a faint murmur yesterday but it may have been psychomatic.

Last Saturday instead of watching the football games or lugging bags out of the supermarket, we had a new weekend activity. We went down in the basement with baggage tags and a marker pen and labeled all the critical valves and joints in case the pipes freeze over this winter or there is a leak somewhere. We also vented the dryer or dried the vent or something that is supposed to block an energy loss and impoverish a couple of sheikdoms with our resulting fuel oil cutbacks.

Of course, the basin wrench under the Christmas tree turned out to be quite a conversational piece. I never realized that many people were into septic tanks and S-joints. We had open house one night for the neighbors, and if you had dropped in you'd have thought you were at a plumbers convention.

"Soldering really isn't all that difficult," I heard my wife assuring the retired accountant up the road who never before had expressed an interest in anything but bridge or his most recent by-pass operation.

Even the good-looking blond who takes interpretative dancing and yoga up at the "Y" wanted to go downstairs in the cellar to see how we kept our pipes from sweating. My wife tagged along as technical consultant. The look in her eye suggested that the basin wrench had been moved to its fail-safe position.

"Do you do house calls?" some wag just had to ask. And the dentist offered to barter services on an hour-for-hour basis, plus cost of materials.

People who used to ask "What do you think of Carter?" or "Is Begin driving too hard a bargain?" or "What is Barbara Walters really like?" were all absorbed in issues like: "Do you favor wool hair or asbestos for cold weather pipe covering?" "Is the Delta Faucet overrated?" or "Will caustic potash damage galvanized piping in a clogged trap?"

Then my wife got into a really spirited conversation with a lawyer's wife who had just finished a course in advanced automotive transmissions and the talkative widow down the hill who was doing a correspondence course in roofing, shingling and siding.

Talk about talk. You'd have thought you were marooned in a blizzard at a truck stop. Or locked in an editorial conference at Popular Mechanics.

No one seemed to care whether Gov. Carey married Annie Ford or that Studio 54 got busted, just so long as they came up with a detergent that would break down in the dry field and knew where they could lay their hands on a coil spring auger and an engine block hoist.

The plumber left early. Seems he had to get down to the high school for his final exams in Pre-Raphaelite Poetry.

Mideast, South Asia due locust invasion

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Millions of locusts from East Africa will invade the Middle East and South Asia early this year, the chairman of a locust control group warned Tuesday.

Dr. Geremew Debele said in an Ethiopian radio report that the agricultural pests were "beyond the controlling power" of the Desert Locust Control Organization of East Africa and were bound to swarm over neighboring regions.

Debele, who is also Ethiopia's agricultural minister, blamed heavy rains on both sides of the Red Sea and Gulf of Aden for the infestation in East Africa, the radio said.

The report, monitored here, also said that control teams were unable to travel to breeding areas because of fighting between Ethiopian troops and secessionists in the northern Eritrean and eastern Ogaden provinces.

The locusts, large migratory grasshoppers, bred unhindered in northern Somalia, northern and southeastern Ethiopia, and parts of Sudan. They are known to consume vast quantities of vegetation.

The locust control organization last month reported that 55 swarms were spotted in Ethiopia in 1978 and each reportedly covered 10 to 40 square miles. An additional 31 swarms were seen breeding in Somalia and another 38 in parts of southern Sudan.

Kenyan officials here warned the insects would begin to move into Kenya this month on prevailing winds and also west into the Middle East.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Too much salt really harmful

Dear Dr. Solomon: Couldn't something be done about labeling food products so the buyer would know how much salt is in them? I am supposed to cut down on salt because of high blood pressure, but I've found that there is really no way to find out just how much there is in canned or frozen or any other kind of processed food.—W.L.

And it isn't as if we needed a substantial amount of salt. Our requirements are probably less than one gram daily—we get that amount from the salt in food naturally. But with all the salt that gets added to our food, in processing, in cooking, or at the table, our intake is something like 10 or 15 grams a day.

That, incidentally, is almost half the amount that would be actually poisonous.

So let's hope that we do get better labeling for salt content—and also less salt in all the packaged foods that can be such a convenience.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I've always been a big meat eater but your diet seems to stress fish and poultry in preference to meat. Is there any reason for this?—K.E.R.

Dear K.E.R.: Of all the protein foods, fish and particularly chicken are very high in protein. Per ounce of food, fish and then chicken will give you more protein with less calories than meats. That is why fish and chicken are emphasized in my diet and because they are not as high in saturated fats and cholesterol as red meats. The diet is deliberately planned to discourage excess consumption of both saturated fats and cholesterol-rich foods, while at the same time giving you as much filling food as possible so you will not be hungry. You can find my diet in detail in my book, "Dr. Solomon's Easy No-Risk Diet."

Peer counseling producing results in rural Wisconsin

By TIMOTHY HARPER

MENOMONIE, Wis. (AP) — The rural farm wife was going through a mid-life crisis. Her busy husband didn't talk with her much, the children had left home, and her life seemed empty.

She was tired all the time and had frequent headaches even though all she ever seemed to do was clean an already clean house.

But some of her doubts and fears came out one day while talking with the church secretary, a woman who happened to be one of 30 "peer counselors" now working throughout rural Wisconsin. She began recognizing her unhappiness and looking for ways to remedy it.

"They're not psychologists or professional counselors, but they are the first line of defense for mental health in some rural areas," says Lee Morical, director of the federally funded project at the University of Wisconsin-Stout set up to train the peer counselors.

Mrs. Morical says the aim of the three-year project was to train already empathetic women in the rudiments of counseling in a nine-week crash course, then return them to their communities. More than 400 women applied for the project, 39 were ultimately trained and 30 now are working throughout the state for churches, social service agencies and other counseling centers.

The professionals who oversee the former trainees are satisfied with their work because they do not try to do in-depth counseling and refer the more serious problems to professionals, Mrs. Morical says.

"They are mostly wives and mothers with natural nurturing and listening skills," she says. "That's what we were looking for."

They don't aggressively search out women in their areas with problems, she says, but rather make themselves available to listen and help however they can when a woman seeks help.

Their similar life experiences, Mrs. Morical says, help them relate to women with problems. "They're women, wives and mothers. They've been there," she says.

She says many professionals were at first skeptical, but now rely on the paraprofessional peer counselors. And, she says, "Client response has been 100 percent positive."

Citrus growers 'wait out' freeze

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — It was a pointless venture for many of the growers who manned the all-night Texas Citrus Mutual Weather Watch.

When the piercing cold front blew through the Lower Rio Grande Valley Tuesday there was little that could be done to protect the delicate oranges and grapefruit on the trees here. Less than 10 per cent of the valley's $40 million citrus crop is protected by artificial heating devices.

But they sat here early today anyway — drinking coffee, telling of past freezes and keeping meticulous temperature records from such citrus outposts as Texas Gardens and Monte Alto.

"There are people who come in and want someone to hold their hand," said Art Shull, a long-time citrus man who first sat out a freeze in 1930. "They just want someone to tell that it's not going to be as bad as they think."

But the overnight freeze was bad. By 3 a.m., the mercury had been low enough long enough to damage fruit on the trees. The temperature hovered around the crucial mid-twenties readings for up to seven hours in some areas.

That meant the growers in the 75,000 acres of citrus would have to hurry to harvest the fruit for juice.

Long range damage to the crop and trees cannot be estimated for about a week. But the promise of readings below 28 degrees for up to ten hours in some areas meant potentially large losses.

At sunrise today overnight temperature records showed a low of 21 in heavy citrus producing areas. That reading was recorded at Texan Gardens, northwest of Mission.

The records also showed that the citrus areas had remained at or below the 26-degree reading for six to 11 hours.

A Texas Citrus Mutual official said fruit damage was "significant" but added that tree damage would be rated at "minimal" until further checks can be made within the next week.

Extensive tree damage would hurt future Valley citrus crops.

Officials here estimated that growers with 25 acres in production could have lost up to $30,000 worth of fruit during the frigid night. Frenzied harvesting was expected to begin today as growers tried to get their crop to juice plants for immediate processing.

For Shull, it was not the first all night vigil. "I sat through a freeze in 1930, one in 1949, one in 1951, one in 1962 and one in 1973," Shull said. "And one in 1979."

Industry officials here said that the latest freeze will probably be somewhere between the 1973 and 1962 freezes as far as damage goes.

The 1962 freeze was among the most devastating to hit this area. Shull recalled that some of the previous freezes had taken trees out of production for up to three years.

As the record keeping and coffee drinking continued into the early morning hours one official here said "There'll be a lot of weeping and gnashing of teeth."

But while the locals wept, growers elsewhere may have been smiling at least a bit.

"Nobody really laughs," said Mike Wallace, director of the growers organization. "But let's face it, the market goes up. When California had its freeze a couple of weeks ago the market went up for us. Nobody likes to see another area have a freeze...but better them than us. I'm sure Florida feels that way also."

There are even some Texas growers who might benefit from the freeze.

"If you're the only one left with fruit you can name your price next year," said Charles Stickler as a $2,000 per acre heating system fended off the cold night air in a grapefruit grove he manages.

The grove features powerful $12,000 wind machines that throw 35 mph gusts over the heated fields. The heat rises from a system of diesel fueled-burners throughout the orchard northwest of Mission.

Stickler estimated it was 30 degrees in the heart of the orchard when the mercury read 24 degrees outside the grove.

He also said it was the first time the entire heating system had been used since it was installed five years ago.

Arctic cold front ends thaw, brings Northeast more cold

By The Associated Press

An Arctic cold front that brought sub-zero temperatures, snow and death to the nation's mid-section moved east today, ending a rainy January thaw in the Northeast.

The front turned balmy temperatures to an icy blast, with the temperature in New York City plummeting to 31 degrees early today from 57 degrees at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Snow was reported from Michigan through the Ohio Valley, in eastern Tennessee and the northern Rockies.

A heavy snow warning was issued for northwestern Pennsylvania, and winter storm warnings were posted in New York state and Vermont.

Travelers' advisories were in effect for New York, Vermont and Pennsylvania, western Massachusetts, northwestern Connecticut, and New Jersey, and from North Carolina to Ohio.

In Kentucky, icy roads caused at least one death. State police said James McBride of Louisville died when his car skidded on icy Interstate 64 near Midway, Ky.

Barton Clark, 8, of Dallas died Tuesday when he touched a live electrical wire that neighbors said snapped two days earlier under a heavy coat of ice.

William Aston, vice president of Dallas Power and Light, said the dangling wire had not been repaired because of the huge number of repair calls since the weekend ice storm.

Hospital emergency rooms in Dallas were crowded with victims of cold weather and icy conditions Tuesday, with one hospital reporting 22 persons brought in with broken bones after slipping on ice.

Growers in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas held an all night vigil as freezing temperatures threatened the area's $40 million citrus crop.

But in Florida, the citrus crop was reported safe despite temperatures in the 30s in the growing regions. Growers said winds would prevent frost damage in the central Florida groves.

"We don't worry unless the temperature goes down to 27 degrees for four hours or more," said a spokesman for Florida Mutual, a Lakeland-based growers' organization.

A few snow flurries were also reported at the inauguration of Gov. Bob Graham in Tallahassee Tuesday.

Southern Florida also felt the chill — the temperature was 52 degrees in Miami at midnight Tuesday, 64 degrees in Key West. Early morning temperatures in Key West have been in the 70s for weeks.

While residents of Worcester, Mass., enjoyed a spring-like day Tuesday with a record high temperature of 57 and in Baltimore it was a balmy 64, the thermometer dropped as much as 8 degrees below existing records in parts of Texas and the Mississippi Valley. Frigid weather continued in Minnesota, where Tuesday's high temperature reached only 2 degrees above zero in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

The January thaw and rain washed out skiing in Massachusetts. "It's just grass now," Robert Watroba of Jug End Resort in the western Berkshires said Tuesday.

Aftershocks of an earthquake that rattled five California counties continued Tuesday as winds of 90 mph and flooding closed an interstate highway and several bridges, stranding hundreds of motorists.

The California Highway Patrol said six cars and three trailers were flipped by high winds on Interstate 8.

Frank Vasquez, 17, of Chula Vista, Calif., said his travel trailer was one of them.

"I don't know how I managed to hold onto the pickup truck when the trailer overturned," Vasquez said. "The wind was so strong it spun the whole rig all the way around so it was facing east."

Rain and thundershowers were reported early today over southern Florida. Skies were mostly clear along the south Atlantic and Gulf coasts and from the eastern half of Texas and the northern Plains through the Mississippi Valley.

Temperatures around the nation at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 22 below zero in Kalispell, Mont., to 60 in Key West, Fla.

Here are some early-morning temperatures and weather conditions from key cities around the nation:

Eastern U.S.: Atlanta 13, clear; Cincinnati 1, clear; Cleveland -1, clear; Detroit -4, windy; Indianapolis -1, clear; Louisville 6, clear; Miami 49, windy; Nashville 14, snow; New York 36, cloudy; Philadelphia 32, windy; Pittsburgh -2, clear; Washington, D.C. 20, windy.

Central U.S.: Chicago -12, clear; Denver 10, clear; Des Moines -7, clear; Fort Worth 23, clear; Kansas City -1, clear; Memphis 18, clear; Minneapolis-St. Paul -7, clear; New Orleans 25, clear; St. Louis -3, clear.

Western U.S.: Anchorage 15, clear; Los Angeles 57, cloudy; Phoenix 47, cloudy; Salt Lake City 18, cloudy; San Diego 59, cloudy; San Francisco 40, cloudy; Seattle 30, cloudy.

Weather hinders visits to exhibit

DALLAS (AP) — Rivers of molten lava and tons of searing volcanic ash brought an untimely end to the ancient Roman city of Pompeii. But the icy grip of a winter storm got the blame for a disappointing opening at an exhibit of its relics Tuesday.

Museum officials expected 4,800 persons to crowd the "Pompeii AD 79" exhibit at the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts. However, only 3,900 braved the frosty temperatures to get a glimpse of a culture destroyed by Mount Vesuvius nearly 2,000 years ago.

"We were expecting a Tut-like onset before the weather got so bad," said Pat Losy, a museum volunteer distributing tickets. She was referring to the "Treasures of Tutankaman" exhibit that drew tremendous crowds during a tour of several U.S. cities including New York, Chicago, New Orleans and Los Angeles.

Forecasts include more snow for frozen Europe

LONDON (AP) — More snow is on-the way to Europe, British forecasters said today as parts of the Continent were still digging out from their worst weather of the century. Forty-seven deaths were reported so far.

The prediction also included more of the fresh to strong northeasterly winds which helped produce the freeze-up from Britain all the way across Europe, now in its fifth day.

Poland and East and West Germany called out their armies to help dig out.

"...A Concern Over The State of Literacy"

"...I share with you a concern over the state of literacy in America. It is estimated that upwards of 30 per cent of all elementary and secondary school students are poor readers."

For many years I have advocated the use of newspapers in the classroom. The newspaper is a fantastic teaching tool. Every page presents up-to-date, real-world reading material that is highly motivating. Practice in reading newspapers also builds reading comprehension, increases vocabulary and stimulates critical thinking for students."

Chinese demand free sex

TOKYO (AP)—A wall poster in Peking has openly demanded "liberation of sex," breaking with a conservative Chinese tradition dating back at least to Confucius and reinforced in recent times by communist leaders, Japan's Kyodo news service said today.

The poster also said some police officials have abused their authority by having sexual relations with female criminals, Kyodo reported in a dispatch from Peking.

Kyodo said an old man shook his head in disapproval at the poster but that many students and young people scribbled words of support on the poster, put up on Peking's "Democracy Wall."

The poster criticized the official policy of "delayed marriage and delayed love," saying, "It's a cruel crime that destroys young hearts and bodies," Kyodo said.
