U.S. government, like many families, seeks share of Temple funds

By BILL DRUMMOND The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — Along with numerous private individuals, the U.S. government is seeking a share of the $25 million in Peoples Temple assets reportedly scattered around the world.

The government's chief concern is to recover up to $4 million the Department of Defense spent in its emergency efforts in Guyana following the Nov. 18 slaying of Rep. Leo J. Ryan, D-Calif., and the subsequent mass deaths of the Temple cultists.

Meanwhile, dozens of Temple defectors and relatives of cultists who died in Jonestown have begun lawsuits to recover property turned over to the Rev. Jim Jones and the Temple in its heyday.

The claims process will begin Tuesday in San Francisco where the Superior Court will hold a hearing on a petition by the Peoples Temple to have the court take jurisdiction in dissolving the non-profit corpora-

Like a bankruptcy proceeding, the hearing is expected to lead to the appointment of a receiver who would gather together the assets of the Peoples Temple wherever they are and determine the claims and liabilities against the corporation.

Benjamin Dreyfus, attorney for the People Temple corporation, said Friday the Superior Court judge would also take action on the request for permission to spend upwards of $1 million in Peoples Temple funds to meet funeral expenses for the dead cultists. Most of these bodies are still in a refrigerated airplane hangar at a Dover, Del., Air Force base.

Many bodies have gone unclaimed because relatives lack the $1,700 needed to return the remains to the San Francisco area and bury

The major problem that remains to be solved in satisfying claims on the Peoples Temple assets is locating and returning money to the United States. According to sources in the California Attorne General's office, only about $1.5 million in Peoples Temple assets, largely real estate, remain in California

Nearly $20 million is believed to be scattered abroad, in bank accounts in Panama, Switzerland and Guyana, according to Department of Justice sources.

That figure is an estimate because no official audit has been provided by any foreign governments. Peoples Temple attorney Dreyfus said he did not know the full extent of the group's assets.

Terri Buford, a confidante of Jim Jones, head of the Peoples Temple, said thursday in San Francisco that she had given the grand jury there copies of records from a Panamanian bank. The records purportedly showed $7.5 million in Peoples Temple bank accouts.

The Department of Justice holds that the government's $4 million claim on the money should take priority and is considering a federal lawsuit against the group to recover the costs of its Guyana operations.

Davis jurors ordered to continue deliberations despite deadlock

50 reported dead in reprisal raid against Lebanon

By FRANK CREPEAU

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli paratroops and infantrymen, in a lightning reprisal raid under cover of darkness, struck across the Lebanon border early Friday and battered two Palestinian guerrilla bases. The guerrillas rocketed Israeli border towns in retaliation.

Reports in Lebanon said as many as 50 guerrillas, Lebanese leftist fighters and civilians were killed.

The Palestinians claimed there were about 60 Israeli casualties. many in hand-to-hand combat with guerrillas in the Crusader-era Beaufort Castle, But Israel reported only one soldier slightly wounded in Lebanon and four persons injured in the

The raid, coupled with a naval bombardment of coastal targets, marked an escalation in Israel's bitter conflict with the Palestinians.

It was the first Israeli ground strike north of southern Lebanon's Litani River, which had been regarded as an 'invisible border' between Syrian troops in Lebanon and Israeli forces making forays into the south.

The attack came as American diplomat Alfred Atherton was in Israel trying to end the deadlock in the Egypt-Israel peace talks, and as Palestinian leaders planned strategy at a summit in Damascus, Syria.

Egypt condemned the raid as a 'serious menace to peace." A State Department spokesman in Washington expressed regret over the attack and said the United States urges that 'all parties concerned exercise re-extension for the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon, which was sent into south Lebanon after Israel invaded that area last spring.

The mandate for UNIFIL would have expired at midnight Friday. The resolution extending the life of the 5.852 man international force deplored what it called Israel's lack of cooperation in restoring Lebanese control in the area. UNIFIL was formed to oversee Israeli withdrawal from southern Lebanon and to restore Lebanese control there

The two-pronged ground assault was Israel's biggest since its major invasion of southern Lebanon last spring. Witnesses in Lebanon estimated 600 troops took part.

It was launched at 1 a.m., 14 hours after a terrorist bomb exploded in a Jerusalem market Thursday and wounded 21 Israelis

About 12 hours after the raid, the Palestinians struck back with rocket barrages against the border town of Kiryat Shmona and the kibbutz Kfar Giladi in the inland mountains, and against the town of Nahariya on Israel's northern Mediterranean coast. The army said four Israelis were wounded.

The Palestinians and Lebanese Moslem leftists have maintained an alliance since the 1975-76 civil war against Lebanese Christians.

If, as the Israelis said, the attack force advanced on foot, it would have had to march through areas under the control of United Nations peacekeep ing forces. A U.N. spokesman in Jerusalem said his office had received no reports

'Dependably conservative' representatives gain posts

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Speaker Bill Clayton loaded key House committees with dependably conservative state representatives Friday and said that's the way Texans want it.

He also said his version of the general appropriation bill will be $500 million lighter than the Legislative Budget Board's, dangling the possibility of new tax cuts if it passes.

Representatives have anxiously awaited Clayton's committee decisions, which determine how important each will be in the legislative process.

"In making these assignments, I've attempted to express the philosophy which I believe the people of Texas have expressed at the polls last November.... They are structured along more conservative lines than at any time in the last few years," Clayton

He returned conservative Rep. Bill Presnal, D-Bryan, as chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, also a conservative, as head of the House cist, is a hard bargainer who does his

State Affairs Committee

Rep. Bob Davis, R-Irving, was named to the vacant chairmanship of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Rep. Hamp Atkinson, D-Texarkana, will chair the House Public Education Committee.

Both are considered conservative and are quite close to Clayton. Davis chaired the insurance committee last

Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, was moved from the chairmanship of the constitutional amendments committee to head the usually obscure committee on regions, compacts and commissions.

Clayton said he wanted Von Dohlen in charge of the between-sessions spadework involved in writing the House redistricting bill that lawmakers must pass after the 1980 census.

The census almost certainly will result in a bill that takes House seats from rural areas and gives them to the big cities, and Clayton will want to protect his closest rural allies as much as possible.

Von Dohlen, a lawyer and pharma-

Clayton granted the request of Rep. Tom Massey, D-San Angelo, to be relieved as chairman of the education committee and put him in charge of the powerful House Calendars Com-

The calendars committee assigns priority rankings to bills and sets them for floor action. In the final weeks of a legislative session, its decisions can kill bills or keep them

Demotions or second-rate appointments went to some House members who had bucked Clayton by running for speaker, voting against him or aligning themselves with the dissident Sam Houston Caucus.

Rep. John Wilson, D-La Grange, a moderate who is running for 1981 House speaker, lost a chairmanship and was assigned to the relatively unimportant criminal jurisprudence and liquor regulation committees.

Also on the criminal jurisprudence committee will be Rep. Bill Sullivant, D-Gainesville, who mounted a shortlived campaign against Clayton in

Clark, D-Tyler

But House rules allocating half the seats on a committee — aside from the chairman or vice chairman — by seniority enabled some dissidents to obtain influential assignments.

Rep. Buddy Temple, D-Diboll, who voted against Clayton last week and who was an active candidate against him until mid-1978, used his seniority to get on the state affairs commit-

Reps. John Bryant, D-Dallas, and Ronald Coleman, D-El Paso, both outspoken critics of Clayton who also voted against his re-election, obtained seniority appointments to the public

Rio, who will head the elections committee, which will decide whether Texas will have a presidential prima. ry in 1980 and, if so, what kind. Clayton told reporters his version of the general appropriation bill will be introduced early next week and will be different from the Legislative Budget Board's measure, for which he voted. A key difference will be an across-the-board cut of 21/2 percent, which would leave $500 million in unspent revenue if it passes. This, he said, would be available for tax relief.

Clayton is known to favor substituting state revenue for school district property taxes as the mechanism for additional tax reductions.

"I think you will find the makeup of the appropriations committee to be more conservative in membership than in a number of years. This may be more reason to believe that these reductions can be kept in the final appropriations product and that a half billion dollars can be returned to the people of Texas through tax re-

Sheriff resigns from post admitting 'pain and guilt'

TYLER, Texas (AP) - Sheriff Danny Stallings of neighboring Cherokee County resigned his office, publicly apologized and pleaded guilty in federal and state courts Friday to charges stemming from an incident in which a businessman was abducted by three men and beaten.

"It is with a tremendous amount of pain and remorse that I must admit to my family and my fellow citizens that I am guilty as charged," said Stallings, who was given a five-year probated sentence and fined $4,000 for felony aggravated assault by State District Judge Glenn S. Phillips.

Earlier Friday he pleaded guilty in federal court to misdemeanor civil rights charges, and U.S. District Judge William Steger set sentencing Stallings, 29, declined to reveal details of the Jan. 9 incident, but he said "These violations included my depriving a fellow citizen of his civil rights. Due to the foolish action on my part, I no longer deserve the respect of my fellow law enforcement offi-

One of Stallings' deputies, Thomas H. Glass, 21, who resigned a week ago, has also been charged in the incident. He has been ordered sent to the federal correctional hospital at Springfield, Mo., for psychiatric test-

Witnesses to the Jan 9 incident told police they saw a man fitting Glass' description holding a gun and standing over a man on the ground in south Tyler about 2:30 p.m. The man on the ground was identified later as Robert J. Antonacci of Tyler, who owns a construction firm. Antonacci was then forced into a nearby car, and witnesses alleged Stallings was the driver of the car.

The third man in the car has not been identified. Smith County District Attorney Hunter Brush said neither officer accused in the incident was on official business at the time. He said Antonacci was warned by his abductors not to complain to police, and he did not. Brush said police found out about the incident only because witnesses re-

Thailand fearing subversion

By WILLIAM CHAPMAN The Washington Post

BANGKOK, Thailand — Thailand fears that Communist subversion and renewed insurgency in her northern provinces will be the greatest danger resulting from Vietnam's military sweep of Cambodia.

Some Thai leaders are said to fear an eventual armed invasion by Vietnamese, but most believe the greater threat will be Vietnam-sponsored aid to Communists who have been active in Thailand for 14 years, according to well-informed sources here.

The installation of a Hanoi-oriented government in Cambodia has quickly altered Thailand's outlook on the Communist threat from Indochina.

A few weeks ago, the radical but anti-Vietnamese regime of Pol Pot was a buffer between this anti-Communist country and its historic enemy, Vietnam. Now the buffer has collapsed, Vietnamese troops are at her border and Thailand faces east ward on three aligned Communis. countries that look to Hanoi for lead-

With two of them, Laos, and Cambodia. Thailand shares a long meandering border that is impossible to patrol effectively and which Thais believe will become an avenue for Vietnamese subversion.

The Thais had thought they would have a respite because of the quarrels among the Communist nations," said one analyst here. "Now they are very uneasy. Some of them expect an invasion eventually, but the immediate fear is that the Vietnamese will send help and supplies across the border to the Communist Party of Thailand."

The Thai government has said little publicly, except to caution people not to panic and to assure them that Vietnamese forces will not try to cross the border. So far, Vietnamese troops in western Cambodia have stalled their drives just short of the frontier. In only one case have they driven so close that Cambodian troops were pushed into Thailand.

But in Tokyo Thursday, Thai Prime Minister Kriangsak Chamanand reportedly told Japanese officials that his country is the next "target" of Vietnamese aggression

Texans seeking to raise sunken Confederate Navy

By KEN HERMAN

RIO HONDO, Texas (AP) - A pair of Confederate Air Force colonels, with their sights set firmly on the bottom of the Gulf, have visions of a Confederate Navy - featuring a long-submerged vessel as its flag-

Now Jeff Burke and Charles Rose of Rio Hondo must figure out how to overcome a tangle of obstacles including the U.S. government, $2 million, 60 feet of water and 20 feet of Burke and Rose, both 57, want to raise the USS Hatteras. The 210-foot iron ship - a Union vessel during the Civil War - was sunk by a Confederate ship in a no-contest battle on Jan. 11, 1863. Using sophisticated equipment, Burke, Rose and friends ended a long search by finding the Hatteras near Galveston in January 1976.

'We intend to raise her and make her a floating museum. We could float it up the Mississippi. It's a great project. Can you imagine that damn ship ...?" Burke said, his voice tailing off as his mind's eye savored the

The Hatteras, a converted sidewheeler ferry, went down in 13 minutes after the Confederate ship Alabama opened fire. Burke said the Hatteras is a storehouse of artifacts.

"We're absolutely convinced it won't break up," Burke said, explaining that a system of powerful air bags could raise the old ship. "They built that ship to such specifications the son of a gun can go on forever."

The project will be costly — at least $2 million to raise and restore the Hatteras. The private corporation Burke and friends set up is now about $100,000 below sea level

The staggering cost is what prompted the idea of a non-profit Confederate States Navy. The CSN would be structured like the CAF - a Harlingen-based group that has col-

"We have the technology. We have the people ready to go. We lack the air bags and the money for the rest of the project. The salvage ship costs $5,000 per day," Burke said.

The ship is nestled in 20 feet of mud about 60 feet below the Gulf surface some 28 miles south of Galveston.

While Burke and friends are doing all they can to raise the Hatteras, Charles McKinney favors leaving the ship where it is.

'The general federal policy on historical properties is to leave it intact," said McKinney, manager of the federal antiquities program for the U.S. Department of the Interior in Washington. "It's the property of the U.S. Government.

The matter is in the courts now. Burke is convinced maritime law says the ship belongs to anyone who can salvage her.

Many of the artifacts salvaged so far are in a bank vault pending the legal action. Burke does have in Rio Hondo, however, some pieces of packing crates found aboard. One wooden piece indicates the crate car ried beef for the 126 men on board.

Rose also believes there are up to 400 tons of coal on board and perhaps a bonanza in well-preserved rifles. Both men are convinced the legal and financial problems can be tack

Long, inner struggle and an extraordinary round of prayer led to the decision to admit blacks to the Mormon priesthood, relates church president Spencer W. Kimball. He says the answer came so clear it couldn't be

The leader of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, in its official weekly, Church News, last week gave the first detailed description of the soul-searching process which resulted last June 9 in the abrupt change in the church's racial

It happened, he says, after he had spent days in lonely prayer about it in the church's temple in Salt Lake City, followed by an unusually extended gathering there of his Council of 12.

"I knew that the time had come," says Kimball, 83, who is considered prophet, seer and chief revelator of God's contemporary will for the 4million-member church.

He disclosed the details in an hourand-a-half group interview for a special issue of the church publication. commemorating his first five years in office. They have been marked by major gains in church membership, construction of temples and missionary expansion

HIS PRESIDENCY, coming after he had undergone open-heart surgery and suffered a bout with throat cancer, had "seemed likely to be pretty much a caretaker administration, observes William B. Smart, editor of the church-owned daily newspaper, the Deseret News.

But Smart adds that instead, Kimball's "administration has been, simply and unequivocally, the most dynamic five-year period the church has seen since its early formative

The historic highlight of that period was the church's dramatic change in the rules of its priesthood, closed to blacks since the church was founded in 1830, but under the new decree, opened to "all worthy males regardless or race or color.

Asked about the partiicular circumstances which produced the change, Kimball recounted that it came about after he had spent long vigils by himself at the Salt Lake City Temple. He said:

"I went to the temple alone, and especially on Sundays and Saturdays when there were not organizations in the temple, when I could have it alone. It went on for some time as I was searchiing for this, because I

THEN, HE ADDED, came a "meeting of the Council of the 12 in the temple on the regular day. We considered this very seriously and thoughtfully and prayerfully. I asked the 12 not to go home when the time number of church missionaries, up came. I said, 'Now would you be from 17,500 to 27,400; growth in willing to remain in the temple with us?' And they were." At the close of the extended session, he said, "I offered the final prayer he didn't want this change to come in the church that I would be true to it all the rest of my life, and I'd fight the world against it (any change) if that's what he wanted.

"We had this special prayer circle. Then I knew the time had come. I had a great deal to fight, of course, myself largely, because I had grown up with this thought that Negroes should not have the priesthood and I was prepared to go all the rest of my life till my death and fight for it and defend it as it was

But he said he "still thinks the Lord made a mistake" in making Kimball church president "unless he knew that I didn't have any sense and would just keep on working.

Landry, Noll look for Super shootout

By TED BATTLES R-T Sports Editor

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. - Coaches Chuck Noll of the Pittsburgh Steelers and Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys, with the final summations here today before the jury renders a verdict in the Orange Bowl Sunday, both charged that the opposition has improved since the last playoff meeting between the rivals in 1975.

The Steelers, using brute force and tactics, intimidated Dallas, 21-17, in one of the Super Bowls that approached the week long building as the "Greatest Show on Earth."

Noll agrees the Cowboy's have added two dimensions since then, like Tony Dorsett, but as far as he is concerned, the improved receiving Landry, on the other hand, used Terry Bradshaw, the kind of year he has enjoyed and the confidence he has instilled in the rest of the Steelers, as the big plus factor for Pittsburgh.

"AS A threat, I don't whether Dorsett widens the field, but he gets there a lot quicker. And Dallas has beefed up its receiving corps since 1975,' Noll added with specific reference to Tony Hill, who compliments Drew Pearson as the long threat.

'We have guys in the AFC who can run and catch, and we've managed to stop them," Noll said, conceding nothing to the Cowboys

On Bradshaw, Landry said, "It's not that Terry did not have a good year or gain in the last Super Bowl, but this has been his best year and has given the Steelers confidence. That's why they feel this is their best team

Noll also might have added that this is a more mature Dallas team than the one that came off an 8-6 season in 1975 to earn its way to the 1975 Super Bowl as a wild card long shot.

From the pregame talks, Sunday's game seems to be shaping up as finesse vs. intimidation, and Landry pointed out, "It's mostly defensive players talking. You seldom hear offensive players talking about this area. Defensive players don't have to carry the ball.

"Pittsburgh is a physical team. They are going to be physical in the ball game, therefore, you must match them. And that's where we have had to start. We have to match them physically, and once you do that, whether you call it finesse or execution, that's what's going to win the

FROM NOLL'S standpoint, "It will be the defense that holds the trump card," and for that reason, he contends labeling the Super Bowl game as "dull" over the years is unjust.

"Whatever two teams meet in this championship game, you've got to have good defense to get there, so you are going to have trouble moving the ball consistently. About all you can do is come up with the big play, and if you do it often enough, fans think it's a good game.

Noll elaborates, "It's defense that makes competitiveness. I don't want to knock the NBA, but there's nothing duller than a regular season NBA game when teams just run up and down the floor. It's only when the teams get into the playoffs and begin playing defense that it becomes competitive and interesting.'

DALLAS HAS been to four Super Bowls, going 2-2, and Landry was asked if this might be the best Dallas team ever. "This is a good football team, but I really can't measure how good it is until after the Super Bowl because I believe Super Bowl has been wrapped up into what has been our better football teams. When we beat Miami in New Orleans in the Super Bowl, it was our most experienced football team that we ever brought into the Super Bowl. There's no denying that I felt confident that we were going to win the game regardless of what happened. You can't often say that about a team.'

Landry said that the 1972 game culminated four years of frustration for the Cowboys, which fused into angry determination and "we caught Miami the year before and blossomed into a great team. This year's team could be the best based on the outcome Sunday.

In sizing up the philosophies of the Super Bowl rivals, Landry points out the Cowboys are "a team on offense of multiple sets and finesee, if you want to call it that. We have a broad selection of plays that we go into a game with. We don't strive for the individual execution philosophy.

"OUR DEFENSE is completely different in theory. It's a type of defense that plays on coordination.

On the Steelers, Landry said, "Their team is a strong offensive team that is an influence, surprisingly. Basically most people think of the Steelers as a strong power team, but they use a lot of influence type plays, the traps, pulling guards, and keeping you off balance on attack.

They rely very strongly on the passing of Bradshaw and the running of Franco Harris for the offense. It's not that the other players don't contribute, but when the game is over and you have slowed Bradshaw and Harris, you've got a chance to win. On defense, they are strictly a double zoned-type of team with double coverage on the outside, much more than we do. We don't play the zones that much ourselves."

Dallas is 0-2 for Super Bowl games in Miami and lost a regular season game to te Dolphins here this season, but Landry admits five trips to the Super Bowl makes for a more relaxed atmosphere ("Because you know what's coming"), exhibiting no qualms about playing in the Orange

"It's a great facility and the odds are going our way. We couldn't win on grass early this year, but we won a couple on grass late in the year...and in blue jerseys. This time we will wear white jerseys and have the home side of the field. Maybe that will help us.'

Strange voices predict Pittsburgh moment, the haze clears, the shadows fade, the shimmering visions flash into sparkling clarity and the eerie voices emanating from the "other side" become a strident chant:

"The Steelers, the Steelers," they say. "The Steelers will win."

The Dallas Cowboys, underdogs in the great beyond as well as here on earth, might as well not even show up, the voices seem to say. Beware, they caution. The doom which befell them three Super Bowls ago is about to befall them again.

Madam Diane goes even further. "I have a strong feeling that all of 1979 is going to be a good year for Pittsburgh, not just next Sunday. The vibrations tell me they're very eager. Oh, sure Dallas is good, is eager, too. But I feel better vibrations from the Ah, but Madame Wanda sees (or feels) things differently - albeit not too clearly. "I saw a picture of the Texans in the newspaper and I got very strong vibes on Texas," she says. "I think it's going to be a very close game and it's going to get very hectic in the final inning:

by at least 16 points. Wait a second Let's narrow that down. Make it a 23-7 final," says the 56-year-old King, the only licensed astrologer in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

"I did a quick chart on the Orange Bowl and the day and everything, then did a horary chart, checking what the planetary positions will be at game time relative to Miami and Dallas and Pittsburgh. Then I tried to see which one would have the favoritism in the stars at that time.

'It's extremely involved. What it all comes down to is that I came up with Pittsburgh on the charts and I came up with the points because I'm psychic. Everyone's figuring a final margin of maybe three or four points."

Team of the decade will emerge

MIAMI (AP) - By Sunday night, the Steelers or the Cowboys will be America's football team of the decade and the nation will have gorged itself on another Super Sunday, the closest thing we have to a national undeclared holiday.

The Big Bash is in this sun capital, where 3,000 people attend one party that costs $100,000. But television coverage of the Super Bowl carries the midwinter carnival to every corner of the nation, where people gather in bars or homes to watch, eat and

In Pittsburgh, a store that rents 4-foot television screens for home use is sold out at $600 per screen for the weekend. The devices normally go for $400 for the same period.

NBC's telecast will be shown by 218 U.S. stations and hundreds more in. countries from Canada to Spain to New Zealand. The Neilsen ratings people project an audience of 85 million U.S. viewers and 54 million more homes around the world. The number of American viewers who see at least a few minutes of the game will be well over 100 million of the nation's 215 million people.

THAT MAKES it the biggest sports event - and, indeed, the most watched event - of the year. Since Green Bay and Kansas City played in the first Super Bowl in 1967, this event has grown from a curiosity to a national passion.

And the teams that meet in this 13th Super Bowl have dominated it during the 1970s - each of them having won Franco Harris, Pittsburgh's awesome running back, acknowledged this week the mark on pro football this game will make: "Because of the ball we play and the way the guys are, we have a chance to say we dominated the 70s.

Dallas has the same opportunity. The Cowboys have won two of the four Super Bowl games in which they've played since 1970, are the defending champions, and are still smarting from their 21-17 loss to the Steelers in Super Bowl X in Miami in 1976.

Since the game has such worldwide attention, there is always some fear that a terrorist group will try to use it for publicity. CBS has been ballyhooing the movie "Black Sunday" which will air nationally just as the Super Bowl is ending. In it, terrorists seize the Goodyear blimp and attack the Super Bowl.

THAT MOVIE was shot during the 1976 game between the Steelers and Cowboys in this same Orange Bowl Stadium, where almost 80,000 will see Super Bowl XIII live.

Miami police, aware of the CBS promotion, announced they have assembled an anti-terrorist strike force for Sunday's game. Its coordinator, Capt. Mike Cosgrove, said, "Terrorism is coming. You're going to see it. It's just a matter of time.

From a command post atop the press box, Cosgrove will direct a 24man force trained in sniper and bomb detection, hostage negotiation, kidnaping protection, dignitary protection and demonstration control.

He said a police helicopter will be 'stashed away within seconds of the Orange Bowl" and that a bomb truck also will be nearby.

NEVADA ODDSMAKERS made the Steelers favorites by 31/2 points, but either team was capable of winning big. Bud Goode, the California computer and statistics man who sells his service to 16 NFL teams, said "You'd have to be a fool to bet this game. The teams are too close." Still, he picked the Steelers by 4.

"I think you have two total football teams here," said Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll. "The game could be decided by one big play."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry agreed. 'All one team has to do is to get the jump on the other team, to break the other team's concentration, and you have the possibility of a game getting out of hand," he said. "When you get this far, one or two plays will win or lose the game for you.

Neither coach thought this game would follow in the pattern of so many other Super Bowls - dull and onesided. Yet there lingered the question of whether any team can remain up for such a super hype after a long season. Many football people feel that NFL players have more drive just to get into the Super Bowl than to win

But the throngs of football fans who migrated to Florida to shake winter cold and put on a party were more concerned with whether the lobster, shrimp, spare ribs, chicken and lamb would run out at the NFL party at the Miami airport's International Arrivals Terminal. The whole building was turned over to the league for the Friday night soiree.

Bulldogs capture 5-4A's first half

By BOB DILLON R-T Sports Writer

Midland High reigns as first half basketball champions in District 5-

The Bulldogs, behind the great play of Walter Bryson, Roy Lee Jefferson, Charles Johnson and Herbert Johnson, gunned down the Midland Lee Rebels, 56-26, before more than 4,000 fans in the Chaparral Center on the Midland College campus Friday

It was a big night for Midland Coach Don Humphrey who was celebrating his 35th birthday. In fact, the Bulldogs called time out with 12 seconds left and the announcement was made that it was his birthday and the

MHS fans sang Happy Birthday to

Lee chose to come out in its fourcorner offense in order to hold the score down and it worked for the first period when the Pack took an 8-4 lead over the Rebels, but Midland came out and also played a delay game, and in the process, outscored Paul Stueckler's crew, 13-2, for a halftime lead of 21-6.

BRYSON, WHO wound up with 18 points, scored three baskets and had three steals in while playing a great floor game for the Purple Pack which is now 19-8 on the year and finishes the first half of the 5-4A race with a perfect 7-0 reading. Jefferson came up with a three-point play in the fading seconds of the second period to give the Pack its 21-6 lead at intermission. Midland scored five points, all at the free throw line at the offset of the third period for a 26-6 lead before Lee's Ernest Merritt hit a 15-footer to make it 26-8 with 4:31 left in the peri-

Tyler Alcorn hit a 20-footer for the Rebs, but Bryson stole the ball, dribbled the length of the court and hit a land crowd wild for a 28-10 advantage with 3:14 left in the third stanza.

Herbert Johnson, the promising 6foot-8 inch sophomore, scored two baskets on a tip-in and layup and then Bryson hit a basket to give the Pack a comfortable 34-10 lead going into the final period.

A PAIR of free throws by Bryson at the beginning of the final period made it 36-10 and it was just a matter of how much Midland was going to wind up winning by.

Besides Bryson's 18 points, Jefferson flipped in 12 while both Charles and Herbert Johnson added 10 each. Herbert fouled out of the game with 4:59 left and Lee did manage to score 16 points in the final period, but MHS was scoring 22 of its own in nailing down the title with no questions

Merritt was the only Reb in the double figures with the second highest scorer being Mike McGaha with five points: Merritt scored 10:

The loss gives Lee a 12-13 season reading and 3-4 5-4A mark as the second half of the race opens on Tuesday with Midland entertaining Permian and Lee playing Odessa in Odessa.

The two junior varsities got the big crowd fired up in the preliminary game when Coach Eddie Shirley's Bullpups pulled out a thrilling 65-63 victory on Pat Hickey's basket with only four seconds left.

Midland had taken a 63-61 lead with 2:09 left on a fast break basket by

Cubs still looking for right catcher

CHICAGO (AP) — "I have to do the best with what they give me," Manager Herman Franks said Friday at the Chicago Cubs' midwinter news conference.

"Bob's been trying to make deals, heaven knows.

"Bob" is General Manager Bob Kennedy who has reached almost a point of despair in trying to get the Cubs a front line catcher. Kennedy also is hunting for a center fielder but doesn't consider that as important as a catcher. The Cubs went all out in an attempt to land Barry Foote of the Philadelphia Phillies but failed. "I'm no closer than I was," said

Kennedy. "We just have to get a catcher and I'm not kidding myself. I know we have to give up a good player to get a catcher. Kennedy doesn't consider center field as big a problem since he acquired Sam Mejias, a defensive genius with a great throwing arm, from the Montreal Expos.

"It's just a question if he can hit enough," Kennedy said.

Kennedy was in a similar position a year ago when he dealt outfielder Jerry Morales to St. Louis for catcher Dave Rader. Rader turned out to be a total disappointment. He finished with a .203 batting average, some 65 points below his lifetime average.

The Cubs roster also lists Larry Cox, Mike Gordon and Tim Blackwell as catchers and if no deal is made, chances are Blackwell will get a shot at the job. "The reports are good on Blackwell in winter ball," said Franks. "Cookie Rojas has him playing in South America, and Cookie says he's playing up a storm. One thing I know is our pitchers all like to work with him.

Aside from catching and center field, the Cubs appear to be pretty well set.

"I can't cry about our pitching," said Franks. "Lynn McGlothen and Ken Holtzman are going to get the full treatment for starting jobs. If we can get Ray Burris to think April is August, we'll be okay.'

The Cubs picked up McGlothen from San Francisco and Holtzman from the New York Yankees during the 1977 season. McGlothen was 5-3 with a 3.04 earned run average. Holtzman, 0-3, was less impressive but is a left-hander and can fill a big void.

If McGlothen and Holtzman make it as starters, Franks can shove Burris in the bullpen to join Bruce Sutter. Willie Hernandez and Donnie Moore. Franks has no problems with the infield if Steve Ontiveros is over his shoulder problems and can take over third base again.

Woody finally breaks silence

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - It was anything but what Columbus Chamber of Commerce officials had originally envisioned - a quiet little meeting with a football coach.

Woody Hayes, a legend fired after his 28th season as coach at Ohio State University, was speaking for the first time publicly since his infamous Gator Bowl punching incident.

Almost 1,200 had jammed into a downtown hotel's ballroom. The national media were there - from New York, Washington, Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati, all of the national radio and television networks. Cameras whirred Friday as Hayes strode to the podium to launch 35 minutes of off-the-cuff remarks, apologizing to his staff and the Columbus media for breaking his post-Gator Bowl silence with an Atlanta writer. At first, Hayes was not going to back down for hitting Clemson nose-

guard Charlie Bauman at the Gator Bowl — a temper tantrum that cost Haves his job. 'The incident down in Jacksonville was a matter of an instant," recalled Hayes. "It was my attitude not to apologize and I don't apologize for anything.

'When I make a mistake, I take the blame for it and go on from there. I've seen too many people who quickly apologize and sorta cop out. I don't think there are any easy ways out of HAYES DID apologize to his staff, saying, "I feel very, very sorry for it for the wonderful people it has affected - my coaches, five of whom are without jobs through no problems of their own. "So we've got to help them get a job. If it's in industry, I'll come to you. I hope they can continue in football coaching." Hayes also said he misses his football players "very much. I hope they do too. I feel they do. We've always had close contact."

Of his interview with the Atlanta writer, Hayes said, "A lot of good newsmen who are friends of mine I cheated out of that story. I did not mean to. I did not do it purposely. I feel sorry the story was released yesterday. I thought it was not going to be released until next week.

And later, Haves said, "When I made up my mind to apologize, it was through the offices of men like Arch Griffin and Daryl Sanders (former players of his). There have been a steady stream of my former players in the last weeks (to his house).

Hayes reversed his field again when he talked of a post-Gator Bowl meeting with University of Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler and Doyt Perry, Bowling Green's retired men-"Woody, you ought to apologize,"

Hayes quotes Schembechler as saying. "But I'm as stubborn as Bo is. Confidentially, I like the man." SO HIS speech - mostly low key, sometimes emotional - boiled down to his refusing to apologize for his Gator Bowl actions.

But the 65-year-old iron-fisted coach does apologize for the hardships it has caused his dismissed staff, associates and former players.

Hayes, a loyalist all of his stormy life, refuses to criticize the university for his swift dismissal. His firing by Hugh Hindman, Ohio State's athletic director, came just hours after the Gator Bowl.

"Am I bitter toward the organization? No, I only carry bitterness toward me," he said. "I despise to lose. And that has taken a man of mediocre ability and made a pretty good coach out of him."

Hayes' voice quivered with emotion when he again asked: "My attitude toward the university? I gave the university about everything I've had. I'm only bitter about losing that game we should have won. I'll never take it out on this university. It means too much to me."

Hayes introduced his son Steve, a Columbus attorney, and told the audience, "He may be sorta ashamed of me now, but he'll have to live with it. And he will."

The crusty coach said he carries no bitterness toward Ohio State because 'I got what was coming to me. Let's have good things to say about everybody at the university - and I said everybody. Hayes raised his voice to its famous level only once, urging the media to support Earle Bruce, the Buckeyes'

"This organization needs all the help it can get," Hayes told the newsmen. "Now I tell you not to take pot shots. Later you will. But get on the bandwagon now.' Then Hayes looked at the school's 20th head coach. "How good is Earle Bruce? He's a great coach. He's honorable, smart, tenacious and will work. He'll get the job done. He's not perfect.

"My guess is that he'll improve on the record for the 28 previous years. But one thing he can't do: He won't last as long as the previous incum-

Steelers talk as game nears

MIAMI (AP) - When all was said and done, here are some things the Pittsburgh Steelers said before Super Bowl XIII:

"Pittsburgh is brick and cobblestone. Dallas is neon," defensive tackle Joe Greene said of civic differences between the two teams.

"He might get the butt whupping he's asking for," defensive end Dwight "Mad Dog" White said of Thomas Henderson. 'When I put on my wig, I feel young," quarterback Terry Bradshaw said of his hairpiece. "Empty barrels make the most noise," Coach

Chuck Noll said of Hollywood Henderson.

"Computerized football is not my kind of football. Quite possibly, playing in the old days was more fun," middle linebacker Jack Lambert said of Dallas' intricate Flex Defense. "Maybe he's right. We'll see," fullback Franco Harris said of Hollywood Thomas Henderson.

"There's usually more shade," 6-foot-2 offensive tackle Jon Kolb said of playing opposite 6-foot-5 Harvey Martin of the Cowboys. "He can say what he wants," linebacker Jack shaw said of Henderson. 'In Pittsburgh, we live tough, work tough. Dallas is flashy, modern," defensive end Dwight White said of civic differences between the two teams.

Ham said of Hollywood Tom Henderson. " I feel like I'm the best offensive guard in the league," Sam Davis said of playing opposite Dallas tackle Randy White.

"I don't get into that war of words stuff," Brad-

"Tom who?" Lambert asked. "We like to hit people. If they call that intimidation, so be it," rookie cornerback Ron Johnson said of the Steelers' defensive style.

"I wish I had the courage to talk like that," Greene said of Henderson. "It's just another big game," placekicker Roy Gerela said of playing his third Super Bowl.

"I don't play. But I prepare to play," quarterback Mike Kruczek said of his role as backup to Brad-

"What you say before or after really doesn't have much affect," Noll said of Henderson. "If they think we're too rough, maybe they should stay in the NFC," Lambert said of Cowboy claims that the Steelers get physical beyond the rules. "Talk is cheap. You have to do it on the field," Noll said of Henderson. And what does Hollywood Tom Henderson have to

"I put a lot of pressure on myself," he said, "to see if I can play up to my mouth.'

"Hollywood," by God, Henderson. Thomas ("Don't call me 'Tom,' you think I want my niece calling me 'Uncle Tom'?") Henderson.

TODAY, HE plays the Pittsburgh Steelers, tomorrow, Hamlet. Today, the Super Bowl, tomorrow, the Academy Awards. Hellywood's not going to play the guy guarding the hideout. No under-the-title billing for him. Hollywood goes up in lights, baby. First, there was Valentino who wore lip rouge. Then, the tough guy was "in." Cagney. Bogart. Then, the rugged he-man. Gable, John Wayne. You wonder if Barrymore started this Ordinarily, linebackers in a Super Bowl camp are about as sought-after as assistant trainers. You interview quarterbacks, ex-Heisman Trophy winners, man-eating defensive ends or, maybe, soccer kickers from the Isle of Crete if you don't want your editor waking you at all hours of the night to see if you missed the press bus - or the point - again.

Outside linebackers are usually la-fense with Roger Staubach while Hollywood Henderson was in another corner of the field suggesting the Pittsburgh Steelers should really be pushing pencils in an insurance office some place or sweeping out a steel mill. He could suggest that Terry Bradshaw was a quarterback only because every play only required him to count to two or that Art Rooney was 'All right, Hollywood, you said the Backbiting is standard Hollywood procedure. But, in this case, you have to consider that Burt Reynolds might need a linebacker for his next picture. Backbiting the Pittsburgh Steelers is safer and it keeps you in steady work from the Screen actors Guild. The worst you can lose to them is a lousy game, And, if that happens, you just shrug and say "Well, that's show biz." Besides, the critics might say of the game "Hated it, loved him!" Or "Thomas Henderson, as usual, rose above the material.

'Manster' White isn't trained football killer

By LEONARD SHAPIRO The Washington Post

MIAMI - The leading ladies in Randy White's life admit they cringe when they hear people refer to the Dallas Cowboys' all-pro defensive tackle as "The Manster (part man, part monster).

"Sure it bothers me," said Laverne White, his mother. "That's my son they're talking about. He's a very gentle, warm, sentimental person. not some kind of trained killer on the football field. Sure, he's involved in the rough stuff. But he's doing his

"Randy is a terrific kid. He loves animals, he loves children. He calls us three times a week. He sends me flowers. He never forgets a birthday. He's as gentle as a pussycat."

Vicci White, his bride of four months, also gets rather indignant when "people think of him as just another big brute. He's just the opposite. My husband is just a big old teddy bear, and nobody will ever tell

The Denver Broncos, among many others, would disagree. They probably recall Randy White, the grizzly bear, as a romping, stomping terror in the 12th Super Bowl a year ago, the game's co-most valuable player with teammate Harvey Martin.

A week ago, White was at it again. Late in the first quarter, he landed on Ram running back John Cappelletti. Crunch went Cappelletti's shoulder, and poof went the Rams' dream of a Super Bowl. Oh yes, that was White's helmet quarterback Pat Haden broke his thumb against late in the third quarter. Double poof.

When White talks about those wicked hits, he seems genuinely apologetic. "It's not like I tried to hurt those guys," he said today. "But football's a rough game. I broke my left thumb myself against those guys. I'm not a dirty player. I just play as hard as I can, and whatever happens, hap-

For Randy White, it has been that way most of his life. His mother says he was always a gifted athlete as a child growing up in Wilmington, Del., and he blossomed in a brilliant fouryear career at the University of Maryland.

Terrapin publicist Jack Zane recalled a game in White's freshman season, when he scored on a 29-yard touchdown run against the Virginia

White weighted 210 pounds in those days and, Zane said, "It was one of the most amazing runs I've ever seen. All 11 Virginia players had a shot at with the club.

Randy, and he finally caried three of over the field. If he was lined up on the left side, he'd knock people out over on the right side. The guy was just plain incredible."

Brandt also was the man who recommended that White, a down lineman at Maryland, be taught to play. middle linebacker with the Cowboys.

"He was just so big, so fast, so strong, we felt he could be another dominating force, another (Dick) Butkus," Brandt said. "The problem was, we just did not have enough time to do with Randy what Tom (Landry) had done with Sam Huff in New York.

"Say you're a Buffalo, a team that's really not gonna go very far right now. So you take a Randy White and you say, 'Son, just go out there and play, don't worry about mistakes.' But when you're in a position where you want to go to the Super Bowl, you just can't afford that luxury."

The first two seasons, White was used mostly in passing situations from a defensive end position, rarely playing linebacker. Before the start of the 1977 season, Landry toyed with the notion of using White at outside

Charges filed at Virginia Tech

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) - Police have filed criminal assault charges against three Virginia Tech football players, two football recruits and two prep school football players who were visiting the Tech campus last week-

Tech security director Isaac Ni-chols said the charges stemmed from an altercation Jan. 12 involving the football players and five Tech students. The students claim they were attacked by the players on a campus crosswalk.

The students, who were not identified by police, said that as they were crossing the street, a car failed to stop and that to avoid being struck, one student stepped up onto the sidewalk. He said the car followed him to the sidewalk and he was hit on the leg.

Several persons reportedly jumped from the car, knocked him down and chased his friends. The student who was struck charged that one of the passengers continued to beat him but that he escaped.

After returning to take down the car's license plate number, a student he recognized as a football player allegedly assaulted him and struck him in the face until he blacked out,

Proposed cuts in Social Security benefits denounced by leaders

By ROBERT SHOGAN The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - Leaders of groups claiming to represent more than 15 million older Americans Friday denounced President Carter's proposals to cut Social Security benefits by $600 million in fiscal 1980 and vowed to oppose the reductions on Capitol Hill.

ination of minimum monthly payments to low-income workers, lump sum death benefits and payments to motherless or fatherless post-secondary school students would mount to $1.5 billion in 1981 and more than $6.5 billion in 1984, according to David Crowley, chairman of the Ad Hoc Leadership Council of Aging Organi-

"To tamper with Social Security for the sake of short-term budgetary, economic or fiscal goals is to tamper with the faith of the people in the promises of government," Crowley told a press conference called by the Leadership Council.

IN RESPONSE, a spokesman for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the proposed changes "deal mostly with elimina-tions or conversions of outmoded or duplicative benefits.'

'It is difficult to see how anyone familiar with the administration proposals could think that they are in any way attacking the basic principles upon which Social Security was founded," the HEW spokesman said.

The criticism from the older citizen groups was the latest escalation in the widening poilitical battle over the budget. Even though the full budget document won't be made public until Monday, Carter's announced intentions to cut back on domestic spending to combat inflation have already embroiled him in conflict with key elements of the coalition that helped elect him in 1976.

Last week criticism of proposed budget cutbacks by the national Advisory Committee on Women led to the president's dismissal of Bella Abzug as co-chairman of the group, and subsequent protest resignations of more than half the committee's 40

EARLIER THIS WEEK, about 60 leaders of union, environmental, civil rights, consumer and other special interest groups voted to create a new coalition, called the Progressive Alliance, under the leadership of United Auto Workers President Douglas Fraser, that would be committed to restoring any cuts in social pro-

Adding prestige to the challenge to the Social Security reductions was the participation in Friday's press conference of Wilbur Cohen, who helped draft the original Social Security Act in 1935 and served as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare under former President Lyndon b. Johnson. He is expected to help broaden the base of opposition to the benefit cuts by drawing on the support of prominent union and civil righs leaders.

"Tragic, unsound, immoral and unjustified," were the words Cohen used to describe the proposed cuts. He said he was sorry to criticize HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano, who defended the proposed reductions in a meeting Thursday with leaders of senior citizen groups, and with whom Cohen worked closely during the Johnson administration.

But, Cohen added: "Casper Weinberger now looks like a raving liberal compared to Joe Califano." Weinberger was HEW Secretary under Presidents Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford.

The Leadership Council distributed a list of 10 proposed cutbacks, its leaders said Califano had confirmed were in the 1980 budget. For the most part, the changes would affect prospective beneficiaries under existing programs rather than those now receiving benefits. The HEW spokesman said they would affect less than one-half of 1 percent of total benefits to be paid in fiscal 1980.

ELIMINATION OF MINIMUM monthly benefits of about $122 would affect mainly low income and irregularly employed workers not yet receiving benefits. In the future, workers falling into this category would get benefits that reflect their earn-

Instead of automatic lump sum payments of $255 to help meet funeral expenses, payments would be made only to survivors who could demonstrate financial need. The post-secondary school benefits program, now covering about 900,000 young persons. would be phased out so that in the future such students would have to apply for federal aid on the basis of financial need.

Another significant change, according to the Leadership Council, would place a maximum limitation on benefits paid under the disability insurance program. In addition, the administration would change back the age at which benefits are paid without regard to earnings from 70 to 72. Congress had recently lowered this limit to age 70, effective in 1982.

Leaders of the Leadership Council said they planned to wage a lobbying campaign against the cuts in Congress and also use their membership to build grass roots opposition to Dallas Morning News said Friday. Jess Hay was in Hawaii and unavailable for comment about his political plans.

ton, the nation's largest mortgage banking company

The newspaper reported that Jim Sale, a longtime friend and political colleague of Hay's, has been making telephone calls around the state to line up key supporters for a potential campaign.

'Some of Jess' friends have talked to him and asked him to be openminded," Sale said. He said Hay has made no response to the overtures. "The main thing is just to be postured," Sale said.

The echoes hadn't faded from Republican Gov. Bill Clements' Jan. 16 inauguration when the speculation about Hay surfaced.

Clements, the state's first GOP governor in 105 years, bested Democrat John Hill in the gubernatorial election.

Clements is also a wealthy Dallas businessman who poured millions into his campaign, drawing on his income as chairman of SEDCO Oil.

Hay worked for Hill as well as for Dolph Briscoe, the man whom Hill defeated in the party primary and who served two terms as governor.
