Missing students at public schools puzzle officials

By Jeff South Update Staff Writer

rdinarily, Dr. E.C. Leslie's public-school enrollment projections are remarkably accurate. Each spring, he usually can tell how many students — give or take 100 — the school district should expect for the coming fall.

But this year, the prediction by the district's assistant superintendent for administration appears to have been off by about 1,000 youngsters. Leslie himself doesn't know why, but he is determined to find out.

"WE JUST DON'T KNOW WHAT caused this loss of students. It may well be a variety of factors," he said. Leslie added that court-ordered integration and busing might be blamed for part of the decline, but certainly not all of it. Also perplexing is where the missing students have gone. There are, Lubbock public-school officials note, two alternatives - private schools and surrounding public-school systems.

The city's private schools all are reporting higher enrollments this year. Lubbock Christian is up about 75 pupils; Christ The King, 50; All Saints, 50; St. Elizabeth-St. John Neumann, 35; Western Hills Baptist Academy, 60; and Winfrey Private School, 100.

BUT PRIVATE-SCHOOL ADMINISTRATORS say their enrollments had been on the upswing anyway, and that much of this year's growth came from families new to Lubbock. In any event, they do not attribute the privateschool enrollment jump to public-school desegregation or court-ordered bus

"Busing might account for some of the increase, but not the majority of it," said Cecil Murphy, Western Hills principal.

Added Harley Tefertiller, superintendent of Lubbock Christian; "There are a few who say, 'We don't like the busing situation,' but most come to us for religious reasons or because they have a general discontent with the public schools."

SOME SCHOOLS — SUCH AS St. Elizabeth-St. John Neumann, All Saints and Christ The King — said they actively have discouraged families trying only to escape public-school desegregation. They said they have turned away students who applied solely to avoid busing.

Surrounding school systems also have experienced growth this year, but they, too, say it's normal. Besides, as Lubbock school board president Charles Waters said, most neighboring districts already are well racially integrated and bus students (for reasons of distance).

Leglie said Lubbock rubbic schools will be checking up an students they be

Leslie said Lubbock public schools will be checking up on students they had last year but who have not reported — or had their records sent to another

THE SCHOOL DISTRICT ORIGINALLY predicted a peak enrollment this year of 31,485, down 273 from last year. But actual enrollment is running about 1,000 lower than that, which would put the peak at about 30,485.

Security forces called to stop vandalism at housing projects By Sylvia Teague Update Staff Writer ngaged in what seemed a losing battle with vandals at its three housing projects, the Lubbock Housing Authority has produced a not-so-secret weapon which may halt the combat. For about two weeks a newly-formed security force composed of 10 off-duty cooperate "will probably be evicted," Berry said. Lubbock policemen has been patrolling LHA's Green Fair Manor and hiring for a security program at Hub Homes is currently underway. SECURITY COORDINATOR FULTON Berry, a Lubbock Police Department veteran with eight and one-half years service, explained there had been 'no security up to now" in the housing projects.

With the advent of the new security program, Lubbock follows the lead of Houston, Dallas and San Antonio, all of which have security programs in publ-

"Police don't have the time or the manpower to take care of problems in the housing authority." Berry said, adding "a thousand policemen can't do the job within the apartments without the help of the tenants.'

THE MOST EFFECTIVE WAY TO prevent the main problem at the housing projects - vandalism - is to "educate the people that it's up to them,"

"The dollars spent to repair vandalism could be used to upgrade Green Fair." Berry said, and the renovation of the apartments which began recently

If residents "want a ghetto, that's fine, it's up to you," Berry said. But if "Green Fair can be beautiful — it can be a top-notch public housing area." he said.

MUCH OF WHAT THE SECURITY force does could be labeled community relations. Berry said the officers "patrol the area, meet and greet the tenants" and will be on call for emergency maintenance problems.

The force also will cooperate with tenant councils in the housing project in educating tenants on how to protect themselves or their homes and about the role of the police.

"I hope we can educate people to help Lubbock police," Berry said. "A lot don't know what police work is all about.

He said problems often arise when police officers must answer a call within

Many times a crowd gathers and the situation "mushrooms" with the police officers being called names. "Nine out of 10 times its youngsters," Berry said. "It's completely uncalled for."

He said the youngsters usually are "acting out something they've seen on SECURITY OFFICERS ALSO WILL act as liasons between the Lubbock police and residents. "Anytime police come in Green Fair, I want to know why." Berry said. "If it's something we can handle, we will. If it's a routine patrol, fine.

But Berry recognizes there will be times when Lubbock police will have to

A lot of the problem residents at Green Fair have been "weeded out" and Berry said "those guilty of recurring incidents will be evicted.

The security force should "help us give residents control of their turf again." Berry said, something the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has called "turf reclamation." "People who live in high crime areas stay in the house all the time and lose control of their turf and lose their pride," Berry explained.

"We'd like to instill pride in them."

THE SECURITY PROGRAM IN Green Fair was funded for a year with $49,319 from Community Development.

However, because Hub Homes is not located in a CD area, funding for its security will have to come from the housing authority's coffers.

In Hub Homes, tenants will be hired as security guards and will be able to mon assistance by radio. That hiring is going on now

Officers patrolling Green Fair also cruise Cherry Point, the third public housing project administered by the LHA.

16-year-old Lubbock girl was arrested Monday after she allegedly stabbed a woman to death. Dessie Nellows Ward, 24, of 1807 Ivory Ave. was pronounced dead at about 6:30 p.m. Monday by Justice of the Peace Wayne LeCroy, who ruled the death a homicide. Witnesses said the woman had driven by a residence in the 800-block of David Avenue when her car splashed through the mud. A group of persons sitting nearby reportedly laughed at the driver Moments later the driver backed the car up and an argu-

During the scuffle which followed, Mrs. Ward received superficial cuts and the single fatal wound to the chest. Police said the suspect reportedly asked a friend to remove the body from the yard, and officials found marks leading away from a large pool of blood. The teen-ager was arrested and taken to police headquarters where she gave officers a statement.

ELSEWHERE, POLICE WERE investigating the city's latest armed robbery reports.

Early Saturday an armed robber took $206 worth of goods from a 4th Street_convenience store after threatening the clerk with a kitchen knife.

Daniel Labowski, attendant at the 7-Eleven store at 2200 4th St., told police that a tall, thin Mexican-American man, believed to be in his early 20s, entered the store about 2 a.m. After selecting several items from the store shelves, the suspect placed the goods on the end of the counter, the clerk

But instead of waiting for the 21-year-old attendant to ring up the goods, the man walked behind the counter and pulled a knife, according to reports.

Labowski said the bandit told him to hand over all the money, which included $170 in cash, food stamps and personal checks, and the clerk put the items in a paper bag.

After taking the bag, the robber then ordered Labowski to the back store room where he demanded the clerk also hand over his wallet, containing $5, reports indicate. Before leaving through the store's front door, the suspect also took $30 worth of cigarettes, Labowski said. LAST WEEK, THE Southland Corp. suffered another robbery when an erstwhile jobseeker pulled a gun on another 7-

Clerk Brad Joseph Flaten said the man walked into the store at Ninth Street and University Avenue and asked if "7-Eleven was hiring." The clerk said yes. Flaten said he stooped behind the store counter to get an application when the suspect pulled a small chrome-plated revolver and ordered the clerk to the back storage room. At that point, another man entered the store and both suspects followed the clerk into the back room and one of the bandits took Flaten's store smock and put it on, according to Flaten said he was locked in a bathroom by the men when

AFTER OPENING THE machines and giving the men an undetermined amount of money, Flaten said the suspects then took the clerk's wallet, which held $26, and ordered him out to the parking lot.

AMERICA'S BALANCE of payments deficit is by now a much-told story seeming to acquire an unhappier ending with each re-

Current estimates are putting the United States some $40 billion in the red in its exchanges with the rest of the world by the end of this year, compared to $20-plus billion last year.

There is more to the story, however, than the spendthrift ways of American consumers which have been receiving most of the publicity and blame, particularly from the direction of our major trading partners.

When it comes to access to home markets, these same partners frequently do not play by the same trading rules as does the U.S.

TAKE AUTOMOBILES. The United States is both the world's largest producer, turning out some nine million units per year, and largest market for the worldwide industry.

Tariffs on a product long dominated by U.S. producers have traditionally been low - currently an effective 3 percent on passenger car imports. The situation has facilitated the flood of European and Japanesemade vehicles into the U.S. market in recent years and, in fact, provided a major incentive to the rapid growth of auto industries in countries whose limited home markets might not have allowed it.

Easy entry is not reciprocal, however. The European Economic Community, for example, slaps an 11 percent duty on auto im-

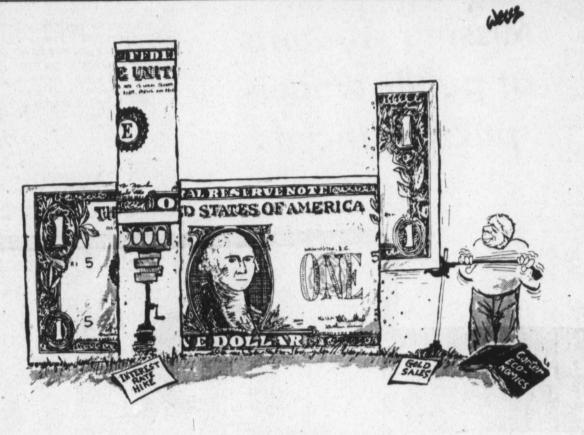

The discrepancy is even greater on commercial vehicles, where the U.S. charges 4 percent and the EEC 22 percent.

TRADITIONALLY THE U.S. auto industry, with a vast home market and an outsized product poorly adapted for mass use abroad, has not been export minded. Times and concepts are changing, however.

Surveying the situation in its monthly magazine, Across the Board, conference members note that the new scaled-down, fueleconomical U.S. models could become strong export items with Europe the most promising market.

But to enter it in strength requires EEC concessions on the barriers around a now fully competitive European industry no longer justifying such protection.

The issue is a prime one for negotiation at the current Geneva trade and tariff negotiations, and for the United States the stakes could be high. Last year, automotive trade accounted for $6.6 billion of the total deficit second only to oil as a loss item.

With a houseful of stamps of all kinds, colors and sizes, Wayne Stevens still has trouble mailing a letter.

Describing Stevens as an avid stamp collector is an understatement; his collection is approaching a total of 50,000 stamps. But he seems to find something special in all of them and hesitates to lose any of them through mailing.

"My wife will come in and say 'Have you got a stamp?' and I'll have a houseful and say 'No, don't touch anything'," he said. HE SAVES INDIVIDUAL stamps, stamps on rolls, stamps on sheets, canceled stamps, pre-canceled stamps and even postmarks. It's a time-consuming hobby and his wife groaned as she surveyed the thousands of stamps spread across the room. "There's usually at least one room in the house that looks like this," she

As music consultant for the Lubbock Independent School District, Stevens' topical collection of music-oriented stamps comes as no surprise. Many of the stamps in the specialized collection are commemoratives, celebrating musicians' birthdays or the writing of great music.

Stamp collecting, as a serious hobby, is more than just ripping stamps off envelopes and gluing them to display pages. Stevens has an odd assortment ot magnifying glasses, lighting tools and even special tongs for picking up the

"I usually don't let anyone touch them without tongs," he said, protectively moving some of the stamps to one side. "I cringe when the post office workers touch the stamps - it rubs the phosphorescence."

STEVENS EXPLAINED THE postal service marks some stamps with a phosphorescent material to activate a canceling machine. This procedure is a time-saving device for organizations with a large volume of bulk mail, he said. The phosphorescence is not visible to the naked eye but emits an eerie glow when Stevens shines a special light over it. "I enjoy the beauty of them," Stevens said as he eyed a collection of Japanese stamps, covered in what looked very much like gold leaf. Stevens describes his many volumes of "Scott's Standard Postage Stamps" as the stamp collector's Bible. His identification and cataloging of stamps is meticulous but his memory is amazing Stevens can remember the source of almost all his stamps.

"The ones I like best are the ones people have given me," Stevens said. Besides checking with Lubbock post offices periodically, Stevens has recruited his brother, who teaches Portugese at the University of Wisconsin, to obtain stamps from the foreign language teachers there.

HISTORY PLAYS AN IMPORTANT part in stamp collecting, according to Stevens.

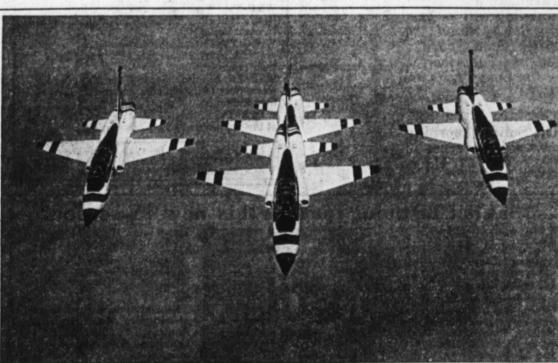

"I know of countries people have never even heard of," Stevens said with a grin. He offered several stamps from a newly developing nation in Africa as

and National Can Corporation are likely to have more stable prices than Midland

While most analysts said Zero Manufacturing was likely to increase in price, some analysts were quite negative about the company, saying that it had poor future prospects. Analysts also said that National Can Corporation and Midland Glass should benefit from increasing beer and soft drink sales. Owens-Illinois was liked because its new products such as insulated bottles were producing profit margins. J.L. Clark was liked because of its dominance in the custom container field.

Next five stocks

Analysts forecast that four of the next five stocks would decline more than they would rise. These were the NVF Company, Federal Paper Board Company, Inc., American Can Company and the Crown Cork & Seal Co., Inc.

On the other hand, Weyerhaeuser Company was expected to rise more than it would fall, 19 percent vs. 15 percent. This means that analysts believe Weyerhaeuser represents the best chance for growth in stock price among this group of companies.

Last five stocks

Diamond International Corporation was expected to rise by 17 percent but fall by 11 percent. The other four stocks, Westvaco Corporation, Maryland Cup Corporation, The Continental Group, Inc., and Inland Container Corp., were all expected to decline by more than they would rise in the next six months. The Continental Group, the nation's largest container manufacturer, was said to be hampered by rising costs. To combat this, the company has set up a new management structure which it hopes will bring the problem under control.

Overall, analysts indicated that Zero Manufacturing held the best chance for a gain in stock price while National Can Corporation was the stock most likely to have steady growth.

Family carnival grows into community project

By Raynie Hardesty Update Staff Writer

Lucy Edwards had "butterflies" only days before the carnival she had planned as a fund-raising event for the Jerry Lewis Telethon, when she realized that what she had begun as a family project had grown into a community project for Woodrow and surrounding cities.

The mother of muscular dystrophy patient Wesley Edwards, 15, still had not imagined that the event would grow into a 15-booth carnival raising $4,500 for the telethon. One hundred eighty-five merchants had donated more than $2,-500 in prizes and raffle items along with contributions of time and goods from other individuals and organizations at the end of the carnival's three-week planning period.

THE EVENT, WHICH had blossomed into "one of the largest backyard carnivals held in the state," kept about 1,000 visitors entertained from 2 p.m. to 9 p.m. Aug. 20 in an open field donated by a Woodrow businessman. It also provided funds for the final pledge made to the telethon broadcast Labor Day weekend according to Norman Sharp, district director at the Muscular Dystro-

Lubbock Youth Against Dystrophy (YADs), who also became involved in the carnival, are still amazed at the "wonderful people who helped put Woodrow on the map with one of the largest carnivals in the state," says one MD office "There's great reward," says Mrs. Edwards, who is still writing thank you notes and cleaning up from the event.

SHE SAYS THE BIGGEST money-maker for the carnival was the cake auction which cleared $1,000. Even though most of the cakes sold for between $60 and $80. one cake was auctioned off twice for $125.

Mrs. Edwards also says "we would have never reached $4,500 without KLLL (radio station)," whose four disc jockeys provided both disco and country music througout the fund-raising event and then sponsored a 30-minute dance contest in the disco and country divisions near the end of the day.

Mike Corbin, one of the disc jockeys who participated in the booths througout the day, felt the carnival "went over real well. It was a great turnout, more than I expected." Local personalities such as Sunshine Sally and Al Goforth added to the entertainment with Goforth manning the dunking board sponsored by Woodrow Lions Club, and Sunshine Sally entertaining youngsters. JIM WHITE AND BILL McCoy helped Mrs. Edwards bring community involvement to the carnival, drawing about 85 recruits in two public meetings at Woodrow and later drawing Cooper High School's student council into the

Mrs. Edwards emphasizes, "We did not pay for a thing, everything we had Guests at the carnival enjoyed pony rides, run by Mrs. Edwards' husband,

Dale, a variety of concession stands, which her 13-year-old daughter Annette helped with, and a dunking board, basketball throw, air rifle shoot, pie throw ring toss, apple bobbing and other booths.

Rey Dominguez: keeps going when work day ends

Rey Dominguez

Update Staff Writer

"The State calls Rey Dominguez."

The slender, bearded man strides into the courtroom and takes the stand. He's too late to help the child - the fouryear-old died as a result of a severe head injury.

But Dominguez doesn't think it was an accident As a social worker for the Lubbock County Childrens'

Protective Service, Dominguez sniffs out child abuse and tries to help both the abused and the abusive. But it's a hard problem to pin down.

HE ADMITS TO SPENDING a lot of time in the courtroom. But he displays the same intensity in the office he demonstrated in the coutroom.

"It's frustrating when you know a child is being abused; but hearsay is no good," he says. Evidence is apparently an elusive factor in many instances of child abuse.

"It's kind of hard to prove without a witness unless the perpetrator admits it or his testimony is conflicted. There's a lot of stress here; it's very demanding." he says. "Any time you are dealing with somebody's life you are responsible to a certain extent. "When I first started working here I felt like I was able to go through the door and leave it all behind," he says. "But when I got my own work load, I started taking it home with me

EVEN WATCHING TELEVISION reminds him of his work, he admits. A situation or person may remind him of a case he is working on and his time off becomes part of his working day.

"Most of the training is on-the-job. I don't think you can really show anybody how to do this," he says, grinning. But the grin fades quickly.

"Some people can't handle this; it's unnerving," he ad-

He cites incidents of threats against him and is used to less-than-enthusiastic welcomes in the homes of abused

"It was more difficult then than now," he says of his training period. "But the thing is, you don't know how they are going to react."

"I've been told to get out of the house or they'd beat me up," he says of a disgruntled set of parents. "You don't

"I took some kids from a family and had them come up here and threaten to kill me," he says, pointing to his small office. "I had a police escort home that night," he adds softly

CHILD ABUSERS DON'T fit a particular personality stereotype, according to Dominguez. But the abusers usually share some common problems, he said, including financial strain, marital problems, overcrowded living, few outside resources and a certain amount of isolation.

Parents usually don't set out to hurt their children, he said, but lose control in an emotional situation.

"I believe in spanking a child when he has done something to endanger his life. But a small spanking can lead to an abuse situation

"Sometimes parents lose their cool," he says. "They don't want to hurt their kids; they love them more than anything in the world."

INTENTIONAL OR NOT, the abuse situations still happen, more often than most people realize. The abuse is more concentrated in urban areas he said, but rural children are still taken advantage of.

Dominguez did not plan a career in social work. He rather stumbled onto the job while looking for something relating to his degree in personnel management.

He admits to some pretty big changes in his attitudes toward children since taking the job.

"I grew up in a low income neighborhood. Several fathers beat their kids with belts." He says it was an accepted aspect of family living at the time.

"I figured, 'That's life — they deserved it it'," he admits. 'But if child welfare had been around back then, I guess it wouldn't have been accepted."

DOMINGUEZ IS ONE OF six child abuse investigators for the county. The turnover rate is high in the department, and he admits that he will probably not make child abuse investigation a career.

"I know that when I go out that door I have to leave it behind. But you can let it get to you very easily," he says, almost as an explanation for his intensity.

YMCA Indian Guides seek participants

The YMCA Indian Guides organization has action in mind for the coming program year - two campouts, Indian ceremonies, racer derby, game day, skillarama displays and a Thanksgiving feast - and wants the community to get in-

Fathers with sons 6 to 9 years old are eligible to participate in the program, and on Tuesday and Wednesday descriptive folders and informational headbands were distributed to boys in the first, second and third grades of Lubbock

Organizational meetings will be held according to the following schedule: 7:30 p.m. Monday at Rush School; 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Bayless School; and at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Stewart School

At these meetings the Indian Guides program will be explained and the yearly program will be outlined.

The participants are divided into tribes which meet in family homes and study Indian customs and Indian lore.

"I also am in charge of all banquets held in the church and for the Sunday Encounter meal which feeds about 75-100 Texas Tech University students," she said.

Planning meals for the children in the day care center involves much work on Mrs. Holloway's part. "I have to make sure each child receives a balanced meal, plus mak-

Pamphlet helps children deal with wildlife

A baby raccoon looks like the perfect pet to a child. The temptation to carry the animal home is often too great to resist. But wildlife babies do not make good pets, according to a new publication from the National Wildlife Federa-

"Let It Be - Wild and Free" is a 12page pamphlet available free of charge for the first copy and 25 cents for each additional copy. It is designed to teach children what to do if they find an apparently orphaned baby animal.

The four-color pamphlet points out that while a wildlife pet can be cute and cuddly as a baby, the animal can grow up to be destructive and even dangerous. Catching and keeping a wild pet can also be a violation of wildlife conservation laws.

What should a child do if he or she discovers an abandoned or injured baby bird? The pamphlet answers that question in detail, outlining ways to repair broken wings and legs, how to keep birds warm and what to feed them. But, the pamphlet concludes, "Nobody is as good a parent to a baby bird as the parent birds themselves.'

and sense!

We have preached the values of a newspaper route for many years-for BOYS! We said a route helps a boy learn the principles of business, teaches him how to spend and save money wisely, instructs him on how to deal with people and even helps him do better at school.

Now, route work is not for the boys alone! A girl, too, can have a route of her own. . . for The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. Many already do! And they enjoy the same advantages of fun and profit a boy can get from route management.

Equal rights it is! If you're 11 years of age or older, fill out and mail the coupon below, or call 762-8844 today, young lady. There may be a route open to you in your neighborhood.

Still warm enough for fun ... and chores

Mr. and Mrs. M.B. Caughran, above, seem well on their way to licking a common chore - weed control. And the weather continues to cooperate with warm, sunny days. Crown Prince Reza Pahlavi of Iran, an avid soccer player, gets a good workout recently playing with members of the Reese Air Force Base soccer team. At top, in a copyrighted photo by Update photographer Milton Adams, he appears to gesture in frustration after sliding to the ground in an attempt to take the ball away from an opponent player. In the next College football really begins to blossom this Saturday with feature games in almost every section of the country. Nine of our Top Twenty from 1977 will see action.

Last year's post-season national champion Notre Dame opens defense of its "title" against Missouri. The Irish record was marred only by an early-in-the-season upset loss to Mississippi, but was climaxed by a fantastic 38-10 pummeling of unbeaten Texas in the Cotton Bowl. On paper, the Missouri Tiger, 4 and 7 in 1977, looks to be in for a long afternoon at South Bend. Unless Mizzou's new coach can pull a miracle from his sleeve - or elsewhere - Notre Dame will win by 18 points.

Conference action heats up quickly on the West Coast as Pac 8 (now Pac 10) champion Washington meets U.C.L.A. in Seattle. The surprising Huskies, 27-20 winners over Michigan in the Rose Bowl, host one of the prime contenders for their league crown in the Uclans. Last year's result: U.C.L.A. 20, Washington 12. This year's result, in spite of a smarting bunch of Bruins: Washington by an extra point.

Highlights Bowl, and is now ready to go after the Atlantic Coast Conference title held by intra-state rival North Carolina. The Wolfpack lost to the Tar Heels, 27-14, on its way to a third place finish in the conference last fall. Independent East Carolina is opponent 1 for '78, and State should win it by

> Two football teams with similar problems meet in an intersectional contest in Los Angeles Saturday. Heavily stripped by graduation, Southern California and Texas Tech will both be starting a number of new young faces. However, no cause for excessive weeping . . . as usual both squads have outstanding talent. From the Far East looking at the Far West . . . the youthful Trojans should clip the younger (?) Red Raiders by eight points.

Stanford's rather hairy schedule includes no less than four teams that were in major bowl games last year. The Oklahoma Sooners, humbled by Arkansas 31-6 in the Orange Bowl, are big favorites to win the Big Eight championship. And they'll be heavily favored over Stanford by 29 points.

THERE ARE five common wheel defects, the most common being bends or dents in the rim flange (the area where an inflated tire seals against the outer edge of a rim). This defect is caused by a vehicle hitting curbs, chuck holes and other road hazards.

Other common wheel defects are elongated bolt holes, excessive rust, center or bolt hole cracks and splitting or cracking along the wheel weld.

On the average, a new wheel costs about $26, according to an employee of the car engine, check the brakes and Lubbock wrecking yard employee said used wheels usually run about $15 for a common 15-inch rim. A 16-inch rim would cost about $20, he said.

L.V. Littrell, manager of a local service station, said the common bent wheel can be repaired by just remolding the metal. This would be much cheaper than going to a wrecking yard or purchasing a new

WHILE UPDATE was told by the employee of the car dealership that reshaping wheels is now seldom done. Littrell said there is a business on East 19th Street which will do such work.

It is recommended that wheels be checked periodically, especially with each tire change. The following are the most common wheel defects, their description, cause and result:

•Bent rim flange. Bends or dents in the rim flange where inflated tire seals against outer edge of rim. It is caused by the vehicle hitting curbs, chuck holes, etc. The result will be excessive tire wear, abnormal expansive tire pressure at point of damage and/or a slow air leak. •Elongated bolt holes. This is a bolt mounting hole appearing irregular and out of round. The cause is improper nut torque. The result is excessive tire wear, wheel wobble, shimmy and vibration, shearing off wheel studs and detachment of wheel from drum-rotor bolts.

•Excessive rust or corrosion. This is rust around bolt holes, center hole, wheel welds, mounting pad and inboard rim flange. The defect is caused by wear from bad weather, and will result in steel deterioration, weld separation and wheel fail-

•Center or bolt hole cracks. This is cracking or splitting laterally or radially along center hole-bolt hole circumference. It is caused by improper nut torque and overloading and will result in damage to the hub, spindle, and bearings.

•Splitting or cracking along wheel weld. This is hairline or greater cracks, splits where rim and spider are welded. The cause is improper overload of the wheel or some other extreme stress. The result could be excessive tire wear, loss of tire pressure and rim-spider separa-

Ready for dove season

Kevin Browning, 13, of 4314 55th St., checks his .410 gauge shotgun as his father readies the 12 gauge in preparation for dove hunting, with the season underway. Kevin likes his gun but would sure like to have a shotgun like dad's.

Traffic Update: people cause accidents

(Editor's note: The following article is presented by the Lubbock Citizens Traffic Commission in cooperation with Update to help keep local motorists better informed on traffic-related matters.)

WHY DOES LUBBOCK HAVE such a high traffic fatality rate? What caused the 26 fatal accidents that have claimed 28 lives this year?

Some feel location is the culprit, citing certain intersections as "the most dangerous corner in town." Others think times of day or days of the week are more hazardous than

Research shows that the locations with a high traffic volume, while producing numerous accidents, are not necessarily the scenes of the fatal crashes. In fact, Lubbock's busiest intersections, showing the most accidents, have recorded no fatalities this year. Each of the year's fatal accidents has occurred at a different location.

If you support the day-time theory, then Sunday and Thursday should be the safest days for driving. They showed two fatal accidents each, with four on Tuesday. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. Monday leads with six fatal crashes.

Three accidents occurred between 6 p.m. and noon; seven between noon and 6 p.m.; nine between 6 p.m. and 12 a.m. and seven between 12 a.m. and 6 a.m.

THE TRUTH IS THAT no matter where, or what time of day or night, people cause accidents. Those who create hazardous situations, and those who don't stay alert enough to spot potentially dangerous actions in time to prevent the ac-

On September 1, 1977, there had been 31 fatalities, compared to 28 at the time this year. That gap can be widened if every Lubbock driver will assume his responsibility for preventing accidents, drive defensively and keep alert so he won't be the victim of someone's else's mistake.

There are still openings in the Defensive Driving classes to be held at Hodges Community Center in September. Morning classes will be held from 8:30 a.m. to noon, Sept. 20th and 26th and 27th. Evening classes will be from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. on the 20th and 22nd, and 27th and 29th. For information, call 762-6411, ext. 2283.

DO YOU KNOW THE LAW? Is it legal to make a U turn at any point on a Lubbock street? This question was posed to the CTC this week. Not surprisingly, there were some mis-conceptions regarding the legality and permissibility of U The city code states that, "It shall be unlawful for any person to turn a vehicle so as to proceed in the opposite direc-tion, except where a street or roadway is crossed, or makes intersection with another street, roadway is crossed, or makes intersection with another street, roadway or highway.

It further states that, "It shall be unlawful for any person to turn a vehicle which he is operating so as to proceed in the opposite direction at any intersection where traffic is regulated by traffic control lights.

U-turns are always hazardous. The safest action to take is to go around the block, if necessary, and avoid U-turns.

Policeman wins medal at olympics

Lubbock police officer Kenneth Matney, a Texas Police Olympics medalist in discus and shot-put, continued his winning ways in police athletics by earning the silver medal in discus competition at the International Police Olympics, held Aug. 24-27 in San Diego, Calif.

Matney qualified for the San Diego meet by taking first place in discus and shot-put competition in senior division. ages 34-43, at the Texas Police Olympics held in June at Austin.

Anyone who can't find an excuse to get out of the house this weekend just isn't trying hard enough. Offering TV's football games and "Roots" some competition are club appearances by Joey Allen (who also will be featured in Sunday's Avalanche-Journal), The Hi Rollers, Circumstance and The Funny Farm.

Those who have enjoyed hitting the Sting or Continental Room for softer sounds should now make new arrangements, however. Both clubs have opted for taped disco music over live

Not many new movies in town this week. "Star Wars" has been taken out of release nationwide, so don't look for it to reappear anytime soon. Meanwhile,

"Saturday Night Fever" keeps packing them in.

The Country Squire Dinner Theater has a new Tevye, but the crowds are still of the immense variety. Better make your reservations very early for this Country Squire production of "Fiddler On The Roof." Reservations are now being taken, also, for Lubbock Theatre Centre's "Man Of La Mancha" and University Theater's "Romeo And Juliet."

Once again, if anyone is not yet included in the Take Your Pick listings, that person or organization should feel free to call 762-8844 or write Update, Box 491, Lubbock, Tex 79408. We both need and appreciate your support.

Acopulco Red's (3838 50th St.) - Payton & Raines will be singing bluegrass and country songs tonight and Saturday. There is no cover charge.

Chelsea Street Pub (South Plains Mall) — Four comic musicians calling themselves The Funny Farm will continue to offer songs and zany impressions tonight and Saturday. They'll be followed in next week by a California band called RSVP.

Cold Water Country (7301 University) — Bobby Albright and his band will be singing country tonight and Saturday, with the cover charge set at $2 for men. Women are admitted free.

Continental Room (1220 Broadway) — This will be the last listing in Nightlife for this nightspot, as club officials inform Update they are doing away with live entertainment. Starting tonight, patrons can dance to taped disco tunes. The club is located Copper Creek Mine (Monterey Shopping Center) — Joey Allen will be playing a wide repertoire of tunes tonight and Saturday: he's attracting quite a crowd and will be featured in Sunday's A-J entertainment section. Next week will see Carter & Haywood take the stage at the Copper Creek. There is no cover charge.

Cotton Club (six miles outside Lubbock on Slaton Highway) — Sting, a ten piece rhythm and blues band, will be playing dance music tonight at this historic night-spot. There will be a $3 cover charge. The club will be closed to the public Saturday Country Squire Dinner Theater (2½ miles outside Loop 289 on Brownfield Highway) — First rate dinner theater is back in Lubbock. Owner Peter Fox and managers Ray and Debi Chandler have revamped the theater nicely, and the food is extremely good. Direction of the musical "Fiddler On The Roof" is also admirable, with the large cast manipulating floor and stage space well, thanks to choreographer Larry Watts. Bruce Owen, who earned mid-scene applause as Tevye, has been replaced by professional Gary Brundage due to illness. Debi Franklin is now playing the role of Yente. These are the only changes in the able opening cast, which includes such standouts as Karen Hastings as Golde and Steve Foreman as Perchik.

Tuesday through Thursday prices are $10.95 for adults and $7.95 for students. Friday and Saturday, the price for dinner and this special musical is boosted to $12.95. And or Sunday afternoons, the theater will present a special matinee performance (no meal is served at this time only); that admission price will be $6 for adults and $3 for students and children. Early reservations are STRONGLY advised

Depot (1801 Ave. G) - Live entertainment will be offered, but club officials had Fot Dowg's (2408 4th St.) - This popular drinking establishment offers free movay. This weekend's attraction will be 4, 8 and 11 p.m. showings of Sam Peckinpah's fascinating "Straw Dogs," starring Dustin Hoffman and Susan George. Some say this film marks the last ounce of brilliance expressed by Peckinpah.

Hard Rock Cafe (2421-rear Broadway) — Owner Doc Savage says if it worked once, why not again? So he's repeating last weekend's lineup of talent. Playing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. tonight and Saturday, and again from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. Sunday, will be The Sphere Brothers. This band won the professional division in the Hard Rock's Catch ing Star talent contest. Playing after-hours tonight and Saturday, from 2 to 4 a.m., will be folk singer John Dawson Williams

, Hilton Inn (505 Avenue Q) — Rhyme And Reason, featuring Skip Skinner and Dianna Boulter, will be singing tonight and Saturday. Club officials say this twosome will continue through Sept. 30. There is no cover charge.

Henky Tenk (4815 Avenue H) - Chuck Cusimano and Country Enough will continue to provide the live entertainment tonight, Saturday and Monday through Thursday. The Vicki Turner Band will play Sunday. The cover tonight and Saturday is $2, with the admission dropping to $1 on Sundays. No cover is collected Monday through Thursday.

Hub Club (3201 South Loop 289) — Clay Cambell and his show band will be playing tonight and Saturday at this nightspot, located on the second floor at South Park

Longhern Club (3417 Avenue A) — The Eddy & Judy Jackson Show will be the featured entertainment tonight and Saturday, with Mel Way & The Waysiders coming in Sunday and Wednesday. The cover charge tonight and Saturday is $3 for couples and $2 for men arriving stag, with unescorted women admitted free. The cover charge Sunday is $2 for couples and $1 for men arriving stag, with unescorted women admitted free. No

Red Raider Nightclub (6025 Avenue A) — Live entertainment will be offered this weekend, but club officials could not be contacted for details regarding featured performers and cover charges.

Silver Dellar Restaurant (South Plains Mall) — Celebration will be playing rock and roll tonight and Saturday. There is a $1 cover charge.

Steak & Ale (4646 50th) - Talented singer Bill Ervin will be entertaining the lounge audiences tonight and Saturday. There is no cover charge.

Sting — This will be the last listing in Nightlife for this nightspot, as club officials inform Update they are doing away with live MOR music in favor of a disco dance floor. Music will be provided by tapes and records.

Stubb's Borbeque (108 East Broadway) — The Hi Rollers will be playing rock and roll at this popular eastside establishment tonight and Saturday. A $2 cover charge will get you in to enjoy the music, $1 pitchers of beer and 50 cents sandwiches.

Waterhole Number Seven (918 50th $1.) — Larrie Kinnie and Country Review will be entertaining tonight through Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. The Rounders will perform Tuesday night. The cover charge is $2 tonight and Saturday, and $1 on Sunday. No cover is collected on weekdays.

naire (4805 Avenue Q) - Wilburn Roach (who will be featured in the Sunday A-J's entertainment section) will be on stage tonight and Saturday, with the Mid-Nite Cowboys slated to perform Tuesday and Thursday and Tiny Lynn taking the stage every Wednesday. You can catch Roach and Lynn for a $2 cover charge, but the price for ladies drops to $1 on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

on screen

Arnett-Benson — "Saturday Night Fever." So far this movie has played at the Fox, Showplace and Backstage ... and now it's back again. Yet Lubbock movie-goers still swarm to it. John Travolta earned an Oscar nomination with his portrayal of Tony Manero, a Brooklyn youth who finds happiness and satisfaction only on the disco dance floor. His dance scenes are mesmerizing, but young Donna Pescow offers the most memorable acting performance. Watch out for the rough language and sex of the, shall Backstage ! — "Semi-Tough." Burt Reynolds is extremely likable in this film which, overall, fails to grab and hold our attention. Mind you, the use of Gene Autrey tunes is impressive - but director Michael Ritchie concentrates too much on consciousness raising and not enough on football. Indeed, a good filmmaker could still make a decent movie from Dan Jenkins' novel "Semi-Tough."

Backstage II - "2069: A Sex Odyssey." X-rated material. No doubt the best part is the title.

Cinema I, Mall - "Eyes Of Laura Mars." Ah, if only the movie had lived up to the promise of the previews. Faye Dunaway gives a merely adequate performance in this poorly directed film about a fashion photographer who, at the most inopportune times, sees through the eyes of a killer. If you haven't figured out just who is poking out women's eyes with an ice pick by the time it's all revealed at the end, you're concentrating too hard on your popcorn. Barbra Streisand sings the title song, and Tornmy Lee Jones shows vast improvement as the police officer who falls for his assignment.

Cinema II, Mall - "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band." With 29 Beatles songs performed in this film. there is very little time for dialogue. Indeed, the only spoker words are provided by George Burns, who is also entertaining while singing a Beatles tune. On the whole, the film is too slow, but the segments involving comic Steve Martin ("Maxwell's Silver Hammer") and Billy Preston ("Get Back") are both very good. The Dolby sound system also helps considerably. "Sgt. Pepper" also features performances by Alice Cooper, Peter Frampton, Sandy Farina, the Bee Gees, Earth, Wind & Fire and Cinema III, Mail — "National Lampoon's Animal House." John Belushi takes a break from his Not Ready For Prime Time stint on NBC and mugs his way through this wonderfully comic look at '60s campus life. The movie, often tasteless and totally lacking of redeeming social value, is nevertheless a scream. It's as funny as it is sick. So leave the kids at home and enjoy.

Cinema IV, Mall - "Revenge Of The Pink Panther." If you've seen one, you've seen them all - and now we're seeing them all again. "Revenge" doesn't even concern the Pink Panther: it merely concerns itself with Inspector Clouseau. In other words, director Blake Edwards is guiding Peter Sellers through a series of formula sight gags. Basically, if you liked the previous PP flicks, you'll probably like this one, too. If not,

Cinematheque — Each Wednesday evening, the Cinematheque Film Society presents classic films on the Texas Tech University campus. Tickets may be purchased by the general public, as well as Tech students. This week's offering is the 1936 film "Modern Times," written and directed by Charlie Chaplin. It is not to be missed by anyone who truly appreciates film history. It will be shown at 8 p.m. at the University Center theater. Tickets can be purchased at the special rate of 50 cents for this feature

Cinema West — "If Ever I See You Again." Last year Joe Brooks directed a little effort called "You Light Up My Life" and also wrote the title song. This year he's not only directing and writing more horridly sentimental little tunes — but he's also casting himself as the hit composer (such modesty!) who attempts to re-establish a relationship with the woman he loved years ago. Model Shelly Hack plays that woman and, in doing so, quickly earns our John Beck Award for most wooden performance of the year

Fine Arts Drive-In - "Private Arrangement" and "Drop Out." X-rated material

Fox I - "Grease." The soundtrack album will gross more money than the movie (just like "Saturday Night Fever"), but the young people are still making "Grease" a big winner. The film is a corny look at the 1950s, not at all accurate but occasionally enjoyable. Olivia Newton-John's performance is awful, but John Travolta supplies an admirable energy on screen. And if you'll accept Stockard Channing as a high school senior, well, I guess you'll accept just about anything...

Fox II — "Heaven Can Wait." Still the classiest cornedy in town. Warren Beatty plays a Ram quarterback priming for his big game against the Cowboys; but when it appears he'll be killed in a traffic accident, a Heavenly escort (Buck Henry) takes him upstairs before the crash. Oops. It turns out Beatty would have lived and, since his old body was cremated, Heaven has to find him a new body on Earth. That makes for hilarious consequences, all of which are aided by wonderful supporting performances by Dyan Cannon and Charles Grodin (both possible Oscar bids) and Julie Christie. It's a G movie in PG's clothing, so feel free to take the kids.

Fox III - "Hooper." Nothing but sheer entertainment. Leave your brains at home and go and enjoy Burt Reynolds and friends showing us the funnier sides of movie stuntmen. There's a new stunt every few minutes, staged by director Hal Needham, respected as one of Hollywood's finest stuntmen and remembered as the director of the nomenally successful "Smokey And The Bandit." Co-stars include Brian Keith, Jan-Michael Vincent and Sally Field.

Fox IV - "Foul Play." Goldie Hawn is the divorcee cast accidentally into a murder plot: Chevy Chase is the cop assigned to help her out. There aren't many laughs, none of the original variety anyway, but there are indeed a great many cliches stolen from Hitchcock films. The one who suffers most, though, is Dudley Moore, cast in the embarrassing role of an orchestra conductor who doubles as a sex pervert.

Golden Horseshoe Drive-In, Front Screen — "Piranha" and "Eaten Alive." The former film is a recent release, filmed in South Texas. It concerns the release of a gaggle of man-eating piranhas into swimming water. Lots of kids chewed up and all that. As for "Eaten Alive," I have no idea what's doing the eating. Neither did theater manager Steve Richerson at press time.

Golden Horseshoe Drive-In, Back Screen - "House Calls" and "Rollerco The former picture is a fine romantic cornedy starring Walter Matthau and Glenda Jack-son, very funny and quite enjoyable. The latter picture is a disastrous disaster film, with good actors (George Segal and Timothy Bottoms) unable to aid a silly plot line. "Rollercoaster" was released in Sensurround, but you'll have to do without that effect at the drive-in — unless, of course, you just want to order the kids to get out and shake

Home Box Office — This pay television station offers movies not presently on Lubbock's big screens. Premieres are held on HBO each weekend evening, and then repeated throughout the week. Tonight's featured attraction is a taped look at George Carlin in concert, his second such appearance (new material!) on HBO. Saturday will see "Handle With Care," starring Paul Le Mat and Candy Clark, featured; this film made most critics' Ten Best Films Of 1977 lists. Then on Sunday, everybody's favorite good ol' boy, Burt Reynolds, will instigate a flood of laughs when "Smokey And The Bandit" is Lindsey - "Greased Lightning" and "Drum." The former film, directed by Michael Schulz and starring Richard Pryor, is as appealing as it is simple in structure. The latter picture is the not so eagerly awaited sequel to "Mandingo." You can catch both films for just $1 at this downtown theater.

Red Raider Drive-In - "The Dragon Lives" and "Hands Of Death." If you believe in karate as a solid base for action and bloodshed, these films are right up your alley.

Showplace I — "Up In Smoke." Attracting stupendous crowds, "Up In Smoke" is a reenile look at the counter culture by way of ten-year-old gags and stupid plot direclook at the cou tions. High schoolers and those younger, the ones who see pot solely as a "brick" road to "munchie-land," may find it amusing. It was definitely not made to appeal to the older crowd since, when asked if the movie would succeed, Cheech & Chong said, "Sure. After all, millions of people smoke dope." Nevertheless, if this movie was grass, not even the kids would spend their money on it.

Showplace II - "Good Guys Wear Black." Chuck Norris, six time world karate champion, is the good guy here — but there's not as many fight scenes as one might expect. Norris is only barely plauible as an actor, but the film manages well enough as action fare. As one movie-goer said upon exiting, "Shoot, I've seen a lot worse.

Showplace III - "Jaws 2." Not a bad little suspense picture. Of course, it certainly doesn't stack up to comparisons with its predecessor, Steven Spielberg's "Jaws." But the direction is solid, Roy Scheider's acting is outstanding and the music helps. If the shark lacks mystery this time, the screenwriters help out by making the victims an aggravating lot. Indeed, this one may be the first flick which inspires audiences to cheer for the fish.

Showplace IV - "Piranha." See Golden Horseshoe Drive-In, Front Screen for com-

Village - Same as the Arnett-Benson.

Winchester - "FM." Another candidate for worst film of the year. The storyline is ridiculous, an FM station being saved by "the people" from crass commercialism. Martin Mull was supposed to be the saving grace, but even he fails to continuously impress. The music — including live performances by Linda Ronstadt and Jimmy Buffett — The music — including live performances by Linda Ronstadt and Jimmy Buffett — would attract many but for the fact the Winchester does not capitalize on its appeal. No stereo sound, and the film is not even played at high volume.

Coming Soon — The South Plains Cinema plans October openings for Robert Altman's "A Wedding," Woody Allen's "Interiors" and a new film called "Midnight Express." "Goin' South," starring Jack Nicholson and John Belushi, will open in October,

The Fox still has "Big Wednesday" and "The Driver" on hold, with October bookings slated for "Death On The Nile" and "The Boys From Brazil." The Winchester will follow "FM" with two weeks of "Avalanche" and a long run for "Born Again." And the Cinema West will come in next Friday with two weeks of "Skateboard," followed by Farrah Fawcett-Majors' debut film "Somebody Is Killing Her Husband."

Showplace will open "The Cheap Detective" and "Enter The Dragon," the latter starring Bruce Lee and Chuck Norris, next Friday. October bookings include "The Big Fix," starring Richard Dreyfuss and "Comes A Horseman," featuring Jane Fonda, James Caan and Jason Robards. Showplace manager Steve Richerson also informed Update that his Christmas package will now include "The Wiz," "Superman," "Force Ten From Navarone" (starring the late Robert Shaw) and "The New Invasion Of The Body

The latter picture is a remake of the classic '50s horror film; the new release will star Leonard Nimoy and Donald Sutherland.

Upcoming offerings on HBO this month include William Friedkin's "Sorcerer," Disney's "The Apple Dumpling Gang" and two films which never played Lubbock: "A Special Day" starring Sophia Loren, and "September 30, 1955" starring Richard Thomas.

looking ahead

September 11, Tom Petty & The Heartbreakers and Walter Egan — Petty should offer Lubbock one of its very finest rock shows, especially in the intimate surroundings of the small Civic Center theater. One can only hope Lubbock's rockers are familiar with Petty's excellent reputation. If not, they most likely know the warmup act, Walter Egan - since Egan has a hit single now called "Magnet And Steel." The show will begin at 8 p.m., with $6 tickets on sale now at B&B Records, Al's Music Machine, both Flipside Records locations, Hastings in Plainview and the Music Marts in Level-

September 13, Tommy Overstreet — A well-respected artist on ABC's country label. Overstreet will return to Coldwater Country. The cover charge will be $4.

September 15-16, Joe Ely - Lubbock's own current musical claim to fame will be back at Cold Water Country singing tunes off his excellent "Honky Tonk Masquerade" LP. The cover charge will be $4.

September 15-16, W.C. Clark - This musician will be back playing the blues at Stubb's Barbeque. There will be a $2 cover charge.

Harlan Reddell and Wayne Jennings in dramatic moment "Man Of La Mancha" dates approaching at Lubbock Theatre Centre

September 15-16, 18-19 and 21-23, "Man Of La Mancha" - Lubbock Theatre Centre will open its new season with this popular musical attraction. Doug Cummins will direct; James Toland is musical director. Harlan Reddell and Sarah J. Watkins have the lead roles. Tickets are priced at $5.50 for adults and $4.50 for children.

September 16, Rotogillo — Kicking off the 1978-79 New Artists Series at Texas Tech University will be this wacky show band. The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m. at the Center Theater. We'll supply ticket information as the date nears.

September 21, UK and Starcastle — These two rock bands will perform at 8 p.m. at the Municipal Auditorium. Ticket prices and outlets were not available at press time. UK, though, has earned rave reviews as its members come from such bands as King Crimson, Roxy Music and Yes. September 21, Alvin Crow - Country fiddler Alvin Crow will be back at Cold Water Country, and there is little doubt he'll be playing to a large turnout. The cover charge will be $4.

September 21-23, Stevie Vaughan - This accomplished blues guitarist will be making a return appearance Thursday and Friday at Stubb's Barbeque, and again Saturday at the Cotton Club.

September 22, Tammy Wynette - According to a Columbia Records itinerary I received in the mail, this country superstar will be making a one-night-only appearance at Coldwater Country. The lines will most likely form early. Ticket prices have not yet

September 24, Charley Pride and Dave & Sugar — The opening concert at the South Plains Fair, and it's becoming a tradition. Both acts have strong followings. Show times are 5 and 8 p.m. Tickets in the $4, $5 and $6 price ranges are now on sale at the September 24. Foreigner — This hit band will be performing before, no doubt, a large audience at the Lubbock Coliseum at 8 p.m. Last year, Foreigner had a hit in "Cold As Ice" and the group is now riding high on the charts with "Hot-Blooded." Tickets are all general admission, priced at $7 in advance and $8 the day of the show. You can pick them up at Al's Music Machine, B&B Records and Flipside Records.

September 25, The Statler Brothers - More country music for the thousands enjoying the annual South Plains Fair. The entertainment will be featured at both 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. Tickets priced at $4, $5 and $6 are on sale at the Fair Park ticket office.

September 26, Vincent Price - The talented Vincent Price will portray Oscar Wilde in the one-man play "Diversions And Delights" at 8:15 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium. Reserved seats are priced at $6, $5 and $4, with Tech students able to buy all ducats at half price. Call the Tech Cultural Events office for further details.

September 26, Johnny Rodriguez and Linda Hargrove — "Johnny Rod" will be the featured headliner in an 8 p.m. South Plains Fair concert. Tickets priced at $4, $5 and $6 are available at the Fair Park ticket office.

September 27, Jim Ed Brown, Helen Cornelius and Wendy Holcombe - Everything from established country singing to banjo strummin' yougsters will be on hand for this show at 8 p.m. at the South Plains Fair. Tickets priced at $4, $5 and $6 are on sale at the Fair Park ticket office.

September 28, Eddie Robbitt and Jerry Clower - Rabbitt is a relatively new addition at the top of the country music charts. Clower is a standup comedian. You can see both in an 8 p.m. concert at Fair Park Coliseum. Tickets priced at $4, $5 and $6 are on sale at the Fair Park ticket office.

won some publicity of late composing for ballets, will make a return appearance at the Cotton Club. The cover charge will be $3. September 29-30. Mel Tillis - B-b-better get vour tickets early, as Lubbock has

September 29-30, St. Elmo's Fire - This popular Texas rock band, which has long supported Tillis' appearances. The stuttering stops when Tillis sings, and he'll be doing both on the Fair Park Coliseum stage at 8 p.m. Sept. 29, and again at 5 and 8 p.m. Sept. 30. Tickets priced at $4. $5 and $6 are on sale at the Fair Park ticket office. October 2-3, Lubbock Symphony Orchestra — Few seats remain for performances by the local symphony in the Civic Center theater. These dates will see baritone William Walker featured as guest performer. Call the symphony office for details. October 5, Rusty Wier — Austin musician Rusty Wier will be turning Cold Water Country into a Black Hat Saloon as he provided a lot of progressive country and even more straight-out rock and roll. The cover will jump to $5 for his appearance.

October 12, Bobby Borchers - Country and western singer Bobby Borchers will be featured at Cold Water Country. There will be a $4 cover charge.

October 13-18, "The Killing Of Sister George" - This powerful drama will be staged at the Lab Theater on the Texas Tech University campus; we'll have more regarding ticket information and the theater itself, which has been in operation nearly 30 years, as the opening nears.

October 20-25, "Romeo And Juliet" — The Texas Tech University Theater opened its doors 14 years ago with a production of Shakespeare's tragedy, "Romeo And Juliet," directed by Ron Schulz. History repeats itself. Schulz is now directing "Romeo And Juliet" again, no easy task, and swarms of drama students are re-enrolling in Tech this fall just to get a shot at a part in the new production. It is an honor to Schulz and the Tech theater department, and promises to be a memorable theatrical event in Lubbock. Work began on the upcoming play more than six months ago.

October 26, Red Steagell — This mountain of a tradition in country music will be back performing at Cold Water Country. Ticket prices had not yet been determined at October 27-28, "Lo Boheme." — This Puccini opera will be performed at 7:30 p.m. in the Civic Center theater as a joint production by Civic Lubbock and the Texas Tech Music Theater. Call the Tech music department for ticket information.

October 27-28 and November 3-4, "Annie Get Your Gun." - This musical will be staged by Lubbock Christian College students on the campus Moody Auditorium stage. Tickets are priced, at $4 for adults and $2 for students. All productions start at 8:15 p.m., with the exception of a 7 p.m. curtain on Oct. 28. Tickets are on sale at LCC.

no pressing problem What's the most pressing problem facing women — especially college we every day? If men don't say it's "What to Wear" it's obvious they he spent much time around "the weaker sex." For one Lubbock Christian College sophomore, however, that problem of "What to Wear?" has been almost nonexistent the last two weeks. In fact, Cheryi Skaggs of Glendora, Calif., passed her clothes en route to Lubbock in mid-August. Only thing, she was bound for Texas; her clothes headed for California.

for California.

What happened? Miss Skaggs, who will play on LCC's initial women's volley-ball team this fall, decided to ship her belongings to Texas via United Parcel Service so she wouldn't have to worry about them.

But, alas, a mixup occurred when she wasn't informed of the 100-pound limit. In fact, her clothes arrived in Lubbock before the error was found (her package was more than 100 pounds) and then returned to California. In the meantime, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Skaggs, had departed for vacation. So UPS left the package at a neighbor's house ("I don't know which ones," Miss Skaggs reported) and then the neighbors also left on vacation without leaving word when they would return.

"Fortunately, I brought two suitcases with me and had one dress and a couple of pair of pants and tops, but nothing really coordinated," Miss Skaggs explained.

Mickey Condray, manager of UPS Customer Service in Lubbock, began working on the problem but on the eve of LCC's registration (Aug. 21), Miss Skaggs' clothes were still stored in her neighbor's house.

At this point, Dick Laird, LCC's Dean of Students, entered the picture. He convinced Condray that Miss Skaggs didn't have the proper attire needed at the beginning of school and that UPS should do something about it.

Condray took this to heart and that very day accompanied Miss Skaggs on a shopping trip to an exclusive Lubbock store. And she emerged from that trek with a dazzling new addition to her wardrobe.

World government control under fire

The great picture puzzle is falling into place since Carter's election. For years the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) has been the shadow government of the U.S., its goal unexposed because its main objective has been one world government. In his two major foreign policy speeches during his primary campaign - Chicago and New York - Carter repeatedly used such CFR code phrases as "a just and peaceful world order" and "a new international order."

A closer look tells the informed he meant when we have one world government. We already have the framework in the United Nations. Though few understood what he meant, the ones orchestrating his campaign did. The scenario was written while he was governor, a script for a man of his ability to be a pawn in the hands of the top elitists of the CFR. Quickly the mechanism was put into operation in 1971 to recruit him, for here was a man who could be devious and malleable in the hands of the international bankers and former key officials in past administrations. To understand this, let's examine a successful blueprint of the past.

AMSCHEL MAYER Rothschild in 1838 said. "Let me issue and control a or else. The prepared script called for nation's money and I care not who him to promise removal of some of our writes its laws." Anyone familiar with this internationally known family of European bankers and philanthropists knows the House of Rothschild epoused and practiced the theory that those who control the money control a nation's policies and its economy

The Rothschild banks greatly influenced European affairs, sometimes supporting wars or preventing them by refusing the necessary loans, as well as aiding in the industrial development of many European countries.

We have a very distinct parallel of this in the U.S. However, the greed of our nation's liberal eastern establishment, guided and spear-headed by key monetary figures, is manifesting itself in an insatiable appetite for world economy domination. Because of the complexity of our trade balance with the world, these moguls reason that the U.S. must take the lead in forming a one world government.

IF THEY ARE TO control the econo- 'unwarranted' my of the world, they must control poliexist for this to be feasible under the varied systems of government. Thus, if the U.S. can systematically, through political maneuvering, become a pawn of the U.N., these "invisible" leaders of our Nation can control the input of money, manipulate our lawmakers and the administration and their resultant economic policies.

It's intriguing that Carter served on the Trilateral Commission formed by David Rockefeller, head of Chase Manhattan Bank, and brother of Nelson, who, strangely enough, did not choose to run with Ford, an action which no doubt lost for the Republican, yet he was cultivating Jimmy Carter at the urging of Averell Harriman in 1970.

The Rockefellers, and others in the CFR's Trilateral Commission, recruited Carter in 1973 to serve with Leonard Woodcock (one of our most powerful union leaders). Fritz Mondale (our VP). Dr. Zbigniew Brzesinski (top adviser to Carter), and many others too numerous

SINCE BOTH political parties must be controlled to carry out the CFT scheme, obviously Ford did not fit the mold, but Carter did. Now Carter will continue to bend to the demands of his benefactors. troops from Europe and Korea. strengthen the U.N., promote international controls of atomic power, yield "part" of our sovereignty over the Panama Canal, kill the B-1 bomber, slash $5 to $7 billion from our defense budget, put the skids under the sinking U.S. dollars, and increase foreign aid.

These steps will whittle us down to size and tailor us for a minor role in the U.N., something that Thomas Jefferson must have "envisioned." A very astute man, he once said, "Government, like fire, is a dangerous servant and a fearful master." Incidentally, guess who in the 1940s so graciously bought and donated the land for U.N. Headquarters, which should have been in Geneva or The Hague? The Rockfellers of course!

Tower comments

Editor, Update::

Robert Krueger's regional campaign coordinator recently made a strong defense of her candidate and an equally strong attack against Sen. Tower.

In fact, those comments against Tower were nothing more than unwarranted personal attacks. The Krueger people know that the Senate Ethics Committee gave Sen. Tower a clean bill of health in the Korean inquiry. They're nit-picking and they know it. But I suppose I sympathize with them because it's obvious now that Krueger's campaign must rely on personal attacks rather than discuss the important issues that face Texas and the nation.

Tower was a leader in stopping to socalled labor reform bill, the bill that George Meany, AFL-CIO boss, said was the first step toward repeal of right to work. Krueger helped pass that bill in the House and carries the AFL-CIO endorsement in this election. He's their boy and there's no denying it.

Tower opposes the constitutional amendment to give Washington, D.C. two U.S. senators, who would cancel out our Texas votes on most major issues. With the northeastern states voting as a block against our economic interests, this liberal measure is against the best interests of Texas. Yet Krueger voted

These are among key differences between Tower, the conservative, and Krueger, the liberal. And I believe the citizens of this area are more interested in the important issues that affect their lives, rather than petty personal attacks.

QUESTION: How long has candy existed?

ANSWER: It is not known how long mankind has enjoyed candy, but it has probably existed as long as civilization itself. Early candies were probably in the form of fruits or nuts sweetened with honey and flavored with herbs and

The earliest records of candy are Egyptian and date back to 2000 B.C. Ancient Greeks, Romans and Chinese ate a form of candy made from barley

During the Middle Ages, sugar was thought of as a drug. For this reason, sugar candies were originally sold by apothecaries. Sugar was used to sweeten bitter medicines, and the sugar pill was often considered the cure for many

The advent of machinery enabled candy to be manufactured on a larger

Today, candy is one of the most popular of all foods. The popularity of the chocolate bar, mass produced during World War I to meet military needs, revolutionized the industry. It remains one of the most popular forms of candy.

Growing cauliflower is much the same as growing cabbage and other members of this family, except that as the cauliflower (curd) develops to the size of a small teacup the leaves need to be pulled up around the head and tied loosely to exclude light. This practice, called blanching, prevents the head from developing a dingy, spotted appearance. Space plants 14 to 24 inches apart in the row with rows 24 to 36 inches apart.
