'...Yes, Virginia...'

For many years — almost from its founding in fact — it has been the tradition of newspapers across the country at this time of year to reproduce an editorial that appeared in the old New York Sun in 1897, and which has been handed down as a journalistic classic. The author was Francis Pharcellus Church, but it was not until his death in 1906 that The Sun revealed that the editorial came from his pen.

Church himself viewed it as merely a friendly reply to a little girl's query concerning Santa Claus, with never a thought that it would become immortal and that fathers and mothers the world over would look to his editorial at Christmas time to read to their children.

So here is the letter Little Virginia O'Hanlon wrote The Sun, together with the editor's reply:

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of the Sun:

"Dear Editor — I am 8 years old.

"Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus.

"Papa says, 'If you see it in The Sun it's so.'

"Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

"VIRGINIA O'HANLON
"15 West Ninety-Fifth St."

VIRGINIA, YOUR LITTLE friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they bound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Virginias. There would be no child-like faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We would have no enjoyment, except in the sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

NOT BELIEVE IN SANTA CLAUS! You might as well not believe in fairies. You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies, dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive nor imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest men, not even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance can push aside the curtain and view and picture the supernatural beauty and glory beyond. It is all true. Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding!

No Santa Claus: Thank God He lives and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay ten times ten thousand years to come, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

Schools' religious absence policy penalizes kids for going to church

By Jeff South
Update Staff Writer

Payer in the public schools grabbed the headlines, but that wasn't the only religious controversy the Lubbock school board faced this week. Indeed, the other issue may prove equally difficult: How many days should a student be excused from class for religious reasons?

Raising that question was Jeffrey P. Booth, a member of the Worldwide Church of God.

often foreign to other denominations. Depending on the year, up to 11 such "days of worship" may fall on public-school class days, Booth says.

BOOTH ISN'T asking the Lubbock Independent School District to call off classes on the worship days — although he points out that, for the more traditional celebrations of Christmas and Easter, the district is closing schools for a total of 15 days.

All Booth asks is that the 34 public-school students who belong to the Worldwide Church of God be allowed to take "excused absences" on the religious holidays designated by that denomination.

This may take some explaining. When a youngster misses school, it goes down in the attendance books as either excused or unexcused.

An excused absence — usually for illness, a death in the family or a doctor's appointment — can be "made up" by the student. The youngster is permitted to stay after school, for instance, to do compensatory work and take tests that may have been missed.

AN UNEXCUSED absence — say, if a parent keeps a child out of school so they can go shopping — cannot be made up. The student receives an F in the daily grade book and an F on any assignments or tests taken that day.

The school district's current policy on absences for religious reasons is taken directly from the Texas Education Code, said Dr. E.C. Leslie, assistant superintendent for administration.

The state-adopted code recognizes as the only excused religious absences the missing of school by Jewish students on Rosh Hashanah (the Jewish New Year, the start of Tishri) and Yom Kippur (the Day of Atonement, a fast day observed on the 10th day of Tishri).

Students excused for religious reasons on the state-approved days still can be counted in the school system's average daily attendance (ADA), the basis for state funding, Leslie said.

THE SCHOOL district is permitted to designate additional religious holidays for which excused absences would be given, he added. But students missing school on the locally designated days could not be counted in the ADA.

The Worldwide Church of God observes Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, Booth said. As a result, students who belong to the church have been granted excused absences for those days under the state-based policy, Leslie said.

But Booth complains the "two-day limit" ignores the fact that the Worldwide Church of God also recognizes several other religious holidays.

This year, for instance, 10 of the church's worship days coincide with school days, he said.

Though school policy allows church members to be excused for two of the days, the other eight go down in grade books as unexcused absences, Booth said. He says that's unfair because it "punishes innocent children."

"Our children's grades have suffered drastically," Booth said, because the students are not allowed to make up tests or other work their classmates did on the religious days missed.

"OUR CHILDREN are getting into trouble by going to church" as a result of school policy, Booth continued.

Booth asked the school board to designate up to 10 religious holidays for which students would be excused from class. That way, he said, young members of the Worldwide Church of God could practice their religion "without penalty."

Leslie said he has no objections to excusing students on religious holidays. "But someone has got to interpret what is a religious holiday," he said.

From an administrative standpoint, designating 10 days seemed excessive, Leslie said. Thus Booth was urged to make his request directly to the school board.

Board president Charles Waters said the issue probably will be settled next month — the same time the board decides what to do about complaints concerning school-sponsored prayer.

ONE THING the board must consider, Leslie said, is that "many other religious groups" also want various days designated for excused absences. He said the district could be "flooded" with such requests as the Worldwide Church of God's.

Leslie suggested that religious leaders seek help from the state legislature, which could change the Texas Education Code to include more excused religious holidays. That way, state funding to local schools on the basis of ADA would not suffer.

Pair of fatalities end streak of street safety

After almost two months of no traffic fatalities, two city men were killed in car accidents within 27 hours of each other during the week-end.

Police were called to the 500-block of E. 50th Street at 10:45 p.m. Friday and discovered John Jose Mendoza, 28, trapped inside his vehicle which had collided with the cab of a semi-trailer tractor.

Fire Department rescue workers rushed to the scene and were able to free Mendoza, of 502 51st St., from the wreckage in less than five minutes. However, Mendoza was dead on arrival at West Texas Hospital.

POLICE SAID the 1957 Chevrolet Bel Air which Mendoza was driving collided with the rear of the truck cab, driven by Joe A. Green, 42, of 6120 Ave. P. Green was uninjured.

Justice of the Peace L.J. Blalack ruled the death accidental. Mendoza's death was the city's 36th traffic fatality of the year and the first recorded since Nov. 6.

However, at 2:15 a.m. Sunday, the death toll climbed another notch when Esequiel "Zekio" Rivera Torres, 32, was pronounced dead at the scene of a head-on collision in the 1700-block of North Loop 289.

Torres, of 3006 Shallowater Drive, was killed when the 1974 Dodge van he was driving collided with a semi-trailer tractor driven by 63-year-old Dock Robison of 2634 E. Bates St.

ROBINSON, WHO was seriously injured in the mishap, was trapped inside his vehicle and the Fire Department's "Jaws of Life" metal-cutting device once again was needed to free the injured man. He was taken to Health Sciences Center Hospital for treatment.

Blalack ruled Torres' death accidental. In other activity this week, police were searching for the three suspects Theron E. Milam said robbed him after forcing him to drive to an apartment complex in East Lubbock.

Milam told officers he was getting into his car on the parking lot of the South Plains Mall about 12:15 p.m. Tuesday when the trio entered his car.

HE SAID A black man got into the front seat of the vehicle and the other two robbers entered the back seat. Milam said the man in the front seat kept his right hand in his jacket pocket and pointed it at the 71-year-old victim, telling Milam to drive or he would get hurt.

Milam said the apparently armed man directed him to the Coronado Apartments, East 26th Street and Quirt Avenue, where he told Milam to stop the car.

The elderly victim said that once he had parked the car, the bandits in the back seat grabbed him, hit him over the head with an unknown object and held him while the man in front removed $11 cash from Milam's wallet and took six credit cards.

Milam said the trio then jumped from the car and fled on foot behind the apartment building.

TWO MEN TOOK about $125 from the elderly attendant at the Phillips 66 service station at 2902 Parkway Drive at about 2:20 p.m. Sunday.

Roy Mitchell Herron, 60, told officers that he was sitting behind his desk when the pair entered his office. He said one of the men began talking about the weather before suddenly leaning over the counter and pointing a .32-caliber pistol at Herron.

Herron said the man told him to "open the cash register or I'll blow you in half." In addition to the station's cash, Herron said the pair also took $4 from his billfold before fleeing the station in a small orange car.

Stock price forecast

(c) 1978 Frederick G. Hohagan

For this week's survey we interviewed 30 security analysts who specialize in conglomerates. They were with such important firms as Prudential Corporation, Western Asset Management, National Securities and Research and Fahnstock & Company. Each security analyst was asked how high and how low he thought each stock would go in the next six months.

Top five conglomerate stocks

Analysts said that the stocks of Olin Corporation and Zapata each would rise by 29 percent in the next six months. Standex International was forecast to rise by 26 percent and International Telephone & Telegraph by 20 percent. U.S. Industries was expected to go up by 19 percent.

When asked how low conglomerate stocks might go, analysts forecast that U.S. Industries would go down by more than it would rise, 25 percent. Zapata was forecast to drop by 16 percent, Olin Corporation by 11 percent and International Telephone & Telegraph by 8 percent. On the other hand, analysts forecast that Standex International was not forecast to drop at all, and therefore was said to have no downside risk.

Standex International has the best chances for a rise, 26 percent. Analysts said the company's diversification into kitchenware, home and hospital furniture and electronics has been highly successful. Zapata has diversified into energy and construction, but recently has taken large losses in its tanker group. ITT continues to take the bulk of its profits in the communications field. However, its consumer products groups remain weak. Olin was expected to rise because of increased sales in its chemical group. However, U.S. Industries was expected to drop because of weakness in the housing and building markets.

Remaining conglomerate stocks

All of the remaining conglomerate stocks were expected to drop with the exception of Midland-Ross and IU International. Martin Marietta was expected to have the worst net loss, 22 percent, and was expected to have no gain at all.

Overall, analysts were saying that most conglomerate stocks could be expected to show declines in price during the next six months. Standex International was the on-

Message there for whole world

IN A WORLD which seems to keep trying to come unglued at the seams on one hand and seeking every avenue for a better understanding on the other, perhaps this Christmas Season is an appropriate time to take stock—in both a personal and broader sense.

For most of us, the Holiday Season of the year is one of the warm and memorable things of a lifetime, from the earliest moments to the fading ones.

Christmas and all it means, from a feeling of Love and Sharing to Family and Friends and Honor to the Christ Child, is a thing apart for the Christian world, and indeed, for that matter, to many others.

IT IS NOT too hard for most of us as individuals to relate to reaching out to one another, for a few hours at least donning a mantle of Joy to the World, Good Will To Men.

Even the "meanest" among us find that surprisingly there is after all a soft spot there in our hearts.

Even the most pessimistic suddenly find that in the Star, the candles and baubles of man-made cheer, there is Hope.

And even among those who may put down other holidays and celebrations, the glow of Christmas has a tendency to overshadow the commercialism, the greed, the thoughtlessness which sometimes permeates those other events.

Christmas and Easter—those two events significantly "say something" to those who will only listen.

IT IS NO wonder then that across this nation, so busy much of the rest of the year, with its own problems and personal desires, millions find time and the inclination to want to do something for someone else.

Most often, it matters not that the someone else may be a perfect stranger. On one day or one night, there are no strangers.

With that in mind, it seems inconceivable that there should, in a broader context, be Men of Bad Will anywhere. Or should there be, it seems equally incongruous that they should not also feel the warmth of the Christmas glow, or that we might not be able to reach them with a Message of Good Will.

AT THE RISK of sounding pedantic, really there is no real reason, other than those man has dreamed up, put in practice or failed to implement.

If you really think about it a moment, the Spirit of Christmas—Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward All Men—is The Message.

It is a theme and concept which can be found not only in the Christian religion, but in most others, in one form or another.

Ironically, it does not say anywhere, to our knowledge, that it is a Spirit that is to be felt, exchanged, practiced and made to work only at this season of the year.

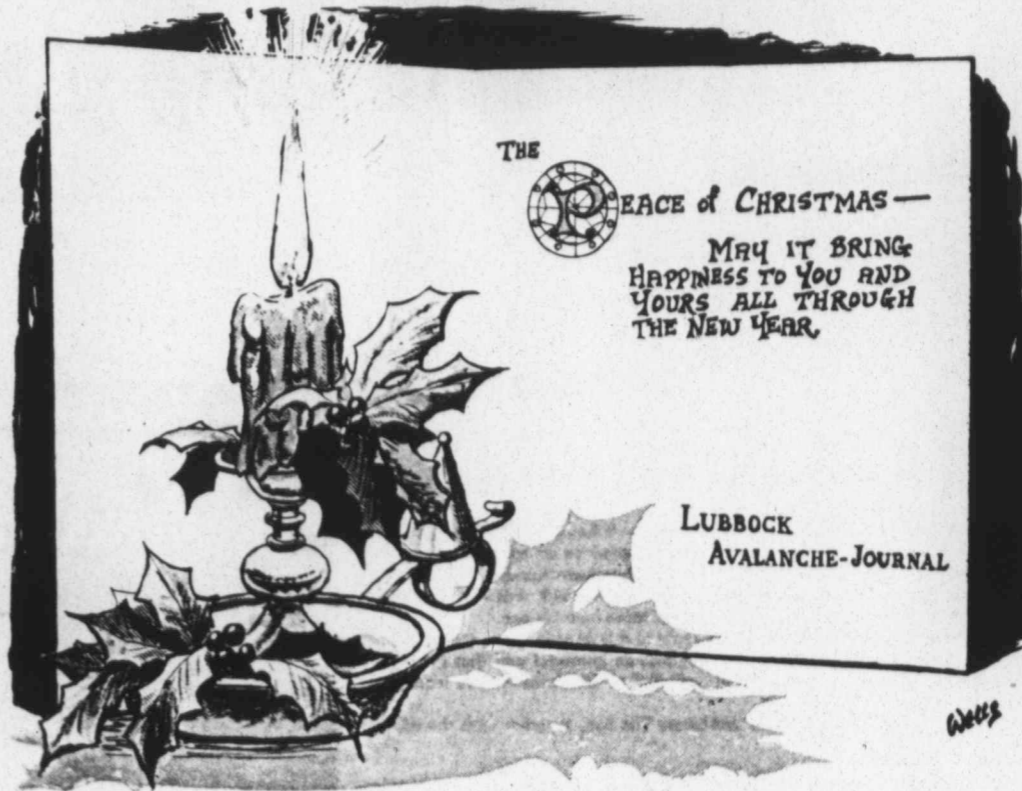

IT SEEMS MOST ironic that only a year ago, the world was basking in the glow—there's that word again—of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's peace mission to Israel.

As a result, much was expected, and much came about.

Today, a year later, there is still Hope. But, the Spirit of Good Will has been threatened by the spirit of suspicion and distrust. Certainly, peace pacts ending centuries of hatred and distrust aren't the total answer to such problems. But, they are a start.

And whether the problem is in the Mideast, in Iran, Asia or in one's home town, in the final analysis, until all men accept the basic Spirit of Good Will Toward All Men, then Christmas will be a symbol more than a season.

Quite simply, it should be a way of life...

Lubbock High's vice principal Bill Carter wins top city honor

By Jeff South
Update Staff Writer

In the Lubbock public-school system, vice principals are supposed to be the "bad guys." Their responsibilities include enforcing the rules, handling discipline problems and punishing violators.

That role — some teachers call vice principals the "hatchet men" — often makes it hard to make friends. Not so with Lubbock High School's Bill Carter.

He has been named the local school Administrator of the Year by the Lubbock Classroom Teachers Association. As such, Carter is in the running for the state honor which the Texas Classroom Teachers Association annually awards.

"Bill works well both with students and teachers. The great thing about him is that you always know where you stand with him. There's no guessing, no games. He is honest and straightforward," said Barbara Roe, a Lubbock High faculty representative.

FOR TEACHERS, CARTER "does his best to even the classloads so that everyone's is at a level minimum," Miss Roe, a math teacher in her third year at Lubbock High, said.

She also said, "He supports you on discipline. He backs up the teachers." And to students, Carter is "sympathetic yet stern. He lets them know that he's the boss, but he is fair. Even though he's the bad guy, they still call him Uncle Bill," Miss Roe said.

Carter, who is serving his seventh year as vice principal, said he tries not to come on as the heavy-handed enforcer. Instead, his role is "seeing that kids recognize what their potential is. When they do that, they develop self-discipline — and that's the kind of discipline they need."

WHEN YOUNGSTERS HAVE broken school rules, Carter explained, "The key in disciplining them is getting them to realize they were wrong and they made a mistake. When they realize that, whatever disciplinary action you take has some meaning."

At 39, Carter said he can "still relate to when I was in high school. I know what kids are going through when they are experiencing something for the first time. And I can sympathize with them that even though their problems may look small to adults, they are huge to kids.

"I don't think kids have changed all that much. What has changed is the speed in which kids learn things — and I'm not talking about academic things. Kids today are exposed very early to violence, sex, drugs. It's a different society than when we were growing up," Carter said.

CARTER GREW UP IN Kansas, spent adolescence in Dallas and attended college at East Texas State University at Commerce.

He was headed for a career in photojournalism but — after taking some education classes at the university and conducting reconnaissance briefings for Marine Corps pilots — eventually switched to education.

He graduated from East Texas State University in 1965 with a bachelor's degree in photojournalism and physical education and a master's degree in school administration.

Carter started at Lubbock High as a health teacher and athletic trainer. Two years later, when he was about to take a job with the Aldine school district, Carter got the job of student activities director at Lubbock High.

AFTER TWO YEARS IN that position, he was made assistant principal — "someone's been looking out after me," Carter says. Including his stint as vice principal, Carter is in his 13th year at Lubbock High.

The local Administrator of the Year is chosen by Lubbock Classroom Teachers Association faculty representatives from nominations by each school.

Carter had been elected by the Lubbock High faculty to represent Lubbock High, Miss Roe explained.

Carter said he shares the honor with Knox Williams, Lubbock High principal; Ramon Abarca, assistant principal; "and the other members of our outstanding faculty and staff."

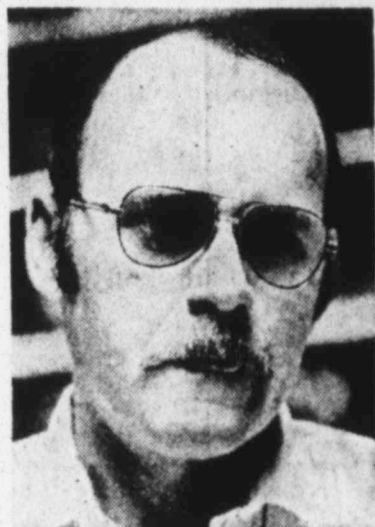

"I represent all of us — the entire school — not just myself," Carter said.

"That's how we treat each other here at Lubbock High. Students, teachers, administrators — we are all family. What we do at school reflects on the family. That is why there is a strong feeling of pride at Lubbock High."

Carter is married to Sandra Carter, a physical education teacher at Hardwick Elementary. They have twin sons, Brian and Chad, age 9, attending Haynes Elementary.

Christmas to most of us is sleeping late (or at least until the kids wake up) and spending the whole day at home with the family.

But some things don't stop, even for Christmas.

There are telephone calls to be connected, fires to be put out, lives to be saved, out-of-town visitors to be fed and housed, planes to be flown, and yes, news to be reported. And that means people who won't be able to spend Christmas Day relaxing at home.

Christmas is the second busiest calling day of the year at Southwestern Bell.

Wayne Sartor, a switching equipment technician for Bell here in Lubbock has worked a number of holidays during his career with the company and considers it "part of his job."

"It interferes with the celebration to a certain extent," he said, "but it's really not that bad."

Dorcas Carleton, a dispatcher at the fire department, formerly was a police officer in New Mexico, so she's "always worked Christmas."

"Nobody likes to work on holidays," she commented, "but if you like your work, I guess it doesn't matter. When you get used to something, it's okay."

The pace in Methodist Hospital's emergency room is "pretty slow in the morning, but it picks up some in the afternoon" on Christmas, according to Judy Williams, who will be working there Dec. 25.

She says it doesn't really bother her to work holidays. "We try to switch off working Christmas every year, but basically you get used to not having weekends off anyway and adjust to it."

Christmas at the Hilton Hotel is one of the busiest days of the year, says Alain Pelletier, general manager who has "always worked Christmas" and will do the same this year.

He's different, though, in that his wife and six-year-old daughter will be there with him. His wife will be working, and as for his daughter, "we always find something for her to do."

Pelletier explained the family celebrates Christmas Eve, and opens presents early Christmas morning.

Christmas Day at Lubbock International Airport will be especially busy this year since the holiday falls on a Monday, making a three-day weekend perfect for travel.

But it won't be anything special around the Texas International counter, says Jim Peoples, assistant manager. "It'll be busy, just a lot of work."

Peoples says he doesn't mind not spending the day with his family. "Somebody has to do it — I guess it just goes along with the job."

Spike Wideman, Farm Director at KFYO will be up at 4:30 a.m. as usual Christmas Day, and soon thereafter on his way into the station for his 5:30 a.m. sign-on.

"I've been in this business for years," he says, "and have only had two Christmases off."

Since part of Wideman's job is in sales, he'll have most of Christmas Day off, but says "it's kind of a dud deal getting up so early, cause my mom always makes a great big country breakfast for the family and friends, and I won't get back in time to eat it."

Things at the station are generally pretty quiet, and Wideman says he plans to observe the holiday on the air by reading and responding to Christmas cards, playing carols and taking phone calls from listeners.

Holiday spirit of olden days

An Old-Time Christmas

Small American flags and candles in tin holders decorate a tree in the Henry Ford birthplace. The flag idea came from a picture in an 1866 magazine. Ford, the car builder, remembered a tree decorated just this way.

Children of today watch while a craftsman shows how wooden toys were made many years ago. Craftsmen also demonstrate how to make wreaths, dolls, quilts, cookies and brooms.

A suckling pig on the dining room table is featured in this well-to-do Maryland plantation home of the 1650s. (A suckling pig is a baby that was still nursing from its mother.)

Sleigh rides give holiday visitors a glimpse of winters past.

Dearborn, Michigan — Greenfield Village is an unusual place.

It is a site that contains nearly 100 historic buildings.

Old stores, offices, businesses and factories have been moved here from many parts of the country.

Some of the buildings are homes. Some of the homes once belonged to famous Americans.

Each year at Christmastime, 40 of these buildings are decorated the way they were in years past.

Thousands of visitors flock to see the joys of an old-time Christmas.

Strings of popcorn and candles decorate this early 1900s' tree in the Wright brothers' home. This year marks the 75th anniversary of the Wright brothers' first flight at Kitty Hawk, N.C., on December 17, 1903.

A kissing bell made with laurel, mistletoe, apples and candles hangs from the ceiling in an 1840s' house. The story is that young couples would make a game of trying to bite the apples and while doing it, exchange a kiss.

Old-Timey Apple Pie

Now that school is out, you might have more time to bake up an old-timey apple pie. This is a recipe from Greenfield Village, Mich. It's the way they made apple pies many years ago. It still tastes good today. You'll need an adult's help cutting and grating.

Crust: Use two prepared pie crusts. Cut one in strips to cover the top.

- Filling:
- 1½ cups sugar
  - ¼ teaspoon salt
  - ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
  - ½ teaspoon nutmeg
  - 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
  - 6 to 8 tart apples, peeled and sliced
  - juice of one lemon
  - ½ teaspoon lemon rind, grated
  - 2 tablespoons butter

- What to do:
1. Mix sugar, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and flour in a large bowl.
  2. Add sliced apples and mix so they are coated.
  3. Place apple slices in pie pan. Lay slices first along the outside and work in toward the center.
  4. Sprinkle with lemon juice and rind and dot with butter.
  5. Bake at 425° for 50 to 60 minutes until apples are done and the crust is a golden brown. Serves 6 to 8.

A tart apple is one that has a slightly sour taste.

New Version of "A Christmas Carol" on TV Dec. 23

"A Christmas Carol" is the famous story about Tiny Tim and his family. It was written by the English writer Charles Dickens.

On the night of December 23, there will be a cartoon version of this favorite on NBC-TV. It is called "The Stingiest Man In Town."

A new character, the London Humbug, has been added to the story.

The Humbug lives in the house of Ebenezer Scrooge. At one time, Mr. Scrooge

The London Humbug looks very much like Tom Bosley, don't you think?

was known as "the stingiest man in town."

Actor Tom Bosley provides the voice for the Humbug.

Bosley is best known for his part as the father on TV's "Happy Days."

Bosley has won many awards for his acting in plays. He has also been in movies and on other TV shows.

Bosley is married and has one daughter. He is a sports fan who plays golf, tennis and softball. He also enjoys reading.

Mini Jokes

What happens to boys who eat butters?

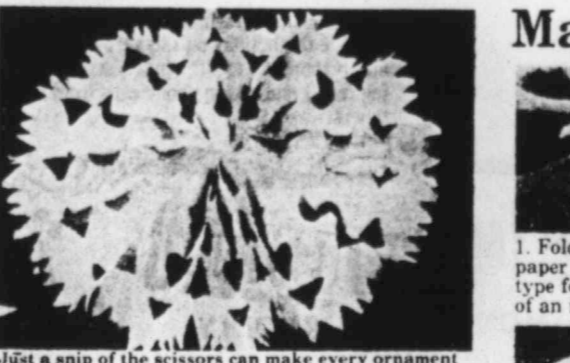

What was your name?

They grow up to be big shots.

Match these Punch Lines

What was your name?

They grow up to be big shots.

Just a snip of the scissors can make every ornament different.

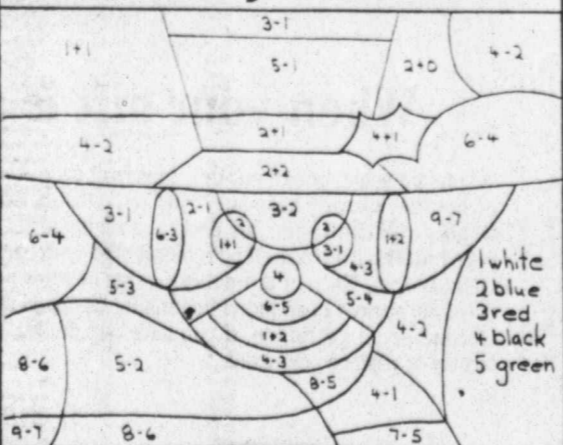

Years ago, making ornaments for decorating trees was a family activity at Christmastime. Families strung popcorn and made other ornaments. Decorations were not "store bought."

Here are some instructions for old-timey ornaments from Greenfield Village, Michigan.

Make paper ornaments

1. Fold 5x11-inch paper in accordion-type folds about 3/4 of an inch wide.
2. Fold the accordion folds in half.
3. Make a slanted cut at each corner of the folded end of paper.
4. Open the folded paper again. Tie a string across the narrowest point.
5. With ornament still pleated, cut notches in each side of the paper.
6. Open the ornament up, and tape the inside edges of the ornament together.

Color by Number

Puzzle-le-do

This puzzle is about Goldilocks and the Three Bears.

Across:

1. Goldilocks sat in each bear's _____.
2. Mama Bear's bed was too _____.
3. The bears found Goldilocks asleep in Baby Bear's _____.
4. While the porridge cooled, the bears went for a _____.

Down:

3. Goldilocks ate some porridge from each _____.
5. Papa Bear's porridge was too _____.
6. Goldilocks ran _____ when she saw the bears.

This year's Christmas stamps are the regular size

Special Christmas stamps issued by the Postal Service used to be larger than the regular size. This year, they are the regular size. This saves the Postal Service money. One stamp has a picture of the Madonna (Ma-DON-a) and child. A Madonna is a picture or statue of the Virgin Mary.

The hobbyhorse stamp shows a little boy on a horse with a Christmas tree in the background. The hobbyhorse was a favorite toy of little boys for hundreds of years. In the 1700s, some rich families gave their sons hobbyhorses that were half life-size. Sometimes they had real horsehair tails and manes.

The Paper Box

Look through the want ads in your newspaper. Do you see anything that you would like to give someone for Christmas? Are there any pets advertised?

Next year is a special year for kids. It's sponsored by the United Nations to call attention to children's ideas and problems. It's called "The Year of the Child." Read about it in next week's Mini Page.

For use by teachers and parents at home and at school.

For use with issue: AN OLD-TIME CHRISTMAS

Creative writing: Ask the children to interview their parents and grandparents about the kind of Christmas they remember when they were growing up. Ask the children to write a story about the remembrances. Ask the children to compare the Christmas of today with the Christmas of their parents.

Ask the children to close their eyes and imagine an old-time Christmas. Talk and write about the smells and sounds they might hear.

Ask the children to pretend that they are making a collection of homes of famous people. What homes would they like to collect?

Feathered freeloaders flock from fields

By Kim Palmer Update Staff Writer

They come a few at a time, then in flocks and by sunset the sky resembles a scene from Alfred Hitchcock's suspense-thriller, "The Birds," as thousands of the winged creatures converge on downtown Lubbock.

For the past month and a half, the sound of beating wings and raucous chirping have filled the air in the late-afternoon as a dense black cloud of birds hover above Southwestern Bell's microwave relay tower at Broadway and Avenue M.

With their chatter mingling with rush hour traffic, the birds flock to the tall structure, settling in thick clusters for their night's lodging.

For some unexplained reason the assemblage of cowbirds, Brewer's blackbirds and grackles make their journey to the tower only on calm, fair-weathered November and December afternoons, according to James Hogan, mechanical engineer for the Medical Arts Building located across the street from the telephone company.

"About 30 years ago when I was a child, I remember the same kind of birds flocking to the trees in front of what used to be Lubbock Memorial Hospital (1300 Broadway)," Hogan said.

The birds flock from all directions beginning around 5:30 p.m. and continue their evening pilgrimage until about 7 p.m., Hogan said.

"If a car backfires or a loud noise is made, they all will scatter and the sky becomes black," Hogan said.

During the day, the birds feed in fields and feedlots outside of the city, according to Dr. Michael K. Rylander, professor of biological sciences at Texas Tech University.

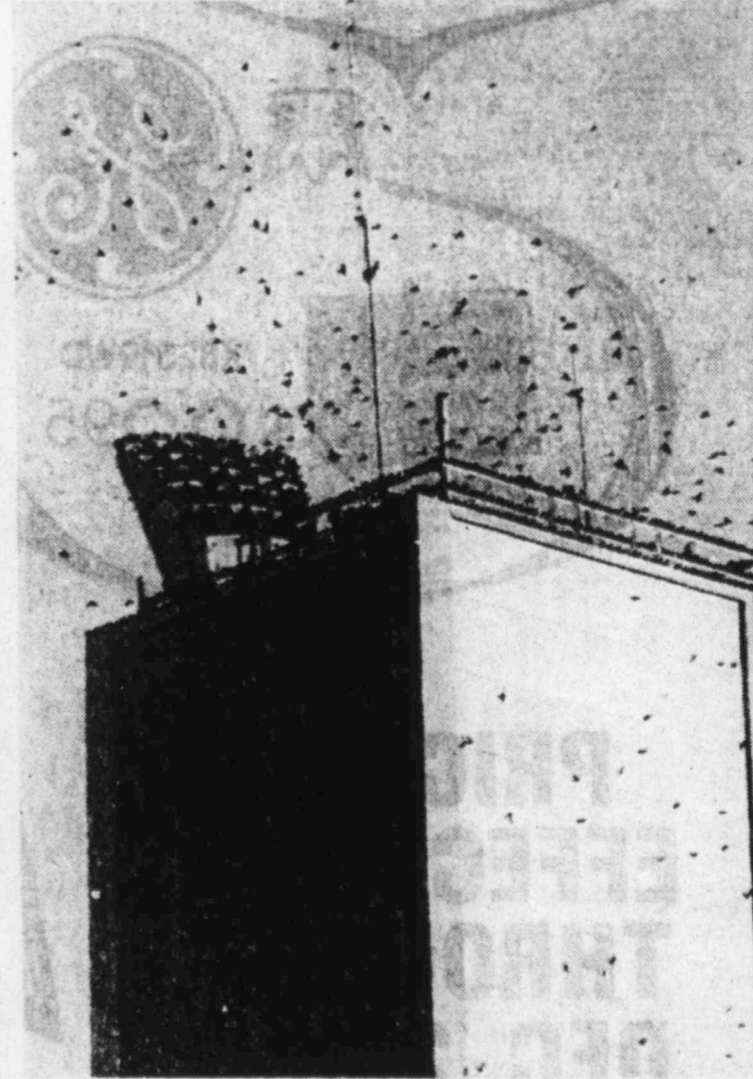

Rylander said the birds are of a flocking variety and it is characteristic for them to roost in large numbers. "I have no idea why they chose the tower as a roost, but they always seem to choose some conspicuous landmark," Rylander said. "There is no rhyme or reason to their choice, but once they start roosting somewhere they always seem to return."

The Texas Tech professor noted the birds will separate in the spring for nesting purposes, but in winter their flocking instincts dominate. Other than creating a messy roof, the thousands of roosting birds have not interfered with the microwave signal emitted from the tower, said Jim Goodwin, Southwestern Bell spokesman.

"Because the transmitting dish is curved, the birds cannot roost in it, therefore creating no problem," Goodwin said.

The tower is used to transmit and receive long distance interstate telephone calls.

Goodwin added that the telephone company has made no immediate plans to encourage the feathered freeloaders to seek other accommodations.

In 1977, General Electric won an Emmy for being the first to use the broadcaster's VIR color signal in home television. This year, we bring you a revolutionary new big picture television with the incredible VIR color system built into it. We call it Widescreen 1000. Like every GE VIR set, computer-like circuitry uses the broadcaster's VIR signal on many programs to automatically adjust flesh tones, background colors, blue skies and green grass. Giving you vivid lifelike colors. And all of this happens an incredible sixty times a second. The Widescreen 1000 is a super-size TV with a picture three times as big as a 25" diagonal console. With all the advanced engineering found in GE sets. Including electronic tuning and the "chairside convenience" of random access remote control. Call toll-free 800-447-4700 (in Ill. 800-322-4400) to find out where you can see the Widescreen 1000 and other GE VIR color TV sets.

Ski equipment costs compared between Lubbock, resort areas

By Tom Griess
Update Staff Writer

Snow skiers are a humorous bunch. From the first day of distant mountain ski condition reports crackling over the radio to the final snow-killing balmy spring day, they are disciples, worshippers of the long trail and thick powder. But they also are chronic complainers. No lift line is short and no lift ticket is cheap, our ears are accustomed to hearing through the winter months. Better the experienced skiers should sing the high praises for the exhilaration of a downward swoop, I say. It is the beginners and poor who suffer the wait of the equipment rental line.

THIS WEEK'S Consumer Update addresses the age-old dilemma: whether to rent equipment in Lubbock and transport it to New Mexico or take your chances across the border.

Ski shops everywhere — and that includes Lubbock and New Mexico — claim to offer quality equipment. Several places contacted say they only rent new equipment, but the majority say up to three years' use is acceptable.

Chances Lawn & Leisure is the only ski shop among four contacted in Lubbock to rent equipment older than three years. "Old skis are still in good shape, but they are not pretty," says owner Sid Chance. "They are fine for the person who has economy in mind."

THE EQUIPMENT, which typically includes skis, bindings, poles and boots, is available in different manufacturers' brands depending on the shop. For most beginners and budget-minded skiers, though, the rental price tag rather than the make may be the first priority.

Based on conversations with four Lubbock ski shops and five New Mexico ski resorts, the choice between the two options is not great — at least in cost.

Renting newer (three years or younger) equipment for a day from the Lubbock shops will range in price from $7.50 to $8.50. Chances Lawn & Leisure rents its older equipment for $5.00 per day, Chance says.

Recognizing the distances skiers must travel to practice their art, the Lubbock shops provide two free travel days. Assume a person wants to pick up equipment on a Friday, ski Saturday and Sunday, and return the stuff on Monday. The Lubbock owners say the person would be charged for two days only.

MOST OF THE Lubbock ski shops multiply the daily rate by five to determine the weekly rate, but The Backpacker is an exception. Owner Robin Roberts says he rents new equipment for a week for as little as $35.

Beginners may also be interested in the controversy over short skis. Chance, whose shop stocks them, says they are easier to control than the regular length and are not as fast. He carries both new and old short skis, he adds.

Most ski schools are shying away now from short skis, argues Phil Sooter, owner of the Varsity Ski Rentals shop in Lubbock. The short skis don't teach as well as the longer skis, he says, and pose an adjustment problem when the student is ready for regular skis.

Regardless of the length ski you choose, unless your car is roomy or possessed with a ski rack, the equipment may go no further than the renter's parking lot.

Ski racks are available at many Lubbock sporting shops, beware of those that charge per day. Several owners say they rent racks from one day up to a week for a flat fee.

CALCULATING SOME rough totals, a weekend trip to the mountains will cost $17 for newer equipment and $4 for a rack. Extended to a week, the trip will cost between $35 and $43 for newer equipment and from $3 to $12 for the rack.

Equipment rentals at five popular New Mexico ski resorts are quite comparable, in some cases cheaper than the Lubbock rates, according to spokesmen there.

The most accessible skiing for Lubbockites is found in Ruidoso, N.M., approximately a four-hour drive, says Sooter.

The Ruidoso Ski and Recreation Area rents equipment for $8.50 the first day and $8 each day thereafter, says a spokesman at the resort.

The Sierra Blanca ski area at Ruidoso offers $8 adult daily rentals, says a spokesman, and the two-day fee is $14.50. The spokesman says children older than 12 are categorized as adults.

THE RUIDOSO resorts have a reputation for crowded conditions at peak times, which likely means long waits to rent equipment. Compounding the problem, the Ruidoso Ski and Recreation Area will only accept equipment reservations in advance for groups of 20 or more, the spokesman says. A long wait in line to find little or no equipment left is not an appetizing prospect after a four-hour drive.

Further to the north and a longer drive, Santa Fe rents equipment for $8 daily and accepts no reservations, a spokesman there says.

Taos, well known for its fine skiing conditions and facilities, provides the best rental rates for those desiring a longer trip, according to a spokesman at the resort.

Renting equipment the first day at Taos costs $8, he says, and $6.50 thereafter. The weekly rate for adults — 12 years or older — is $44 and for children $28.50.

ANOTHER NICE feature of Taos is their willingness to accept reservations. An $8 deposit in advance, received by the resort prior to the rental date, allows a person to rent equipment for the future and save worrying. Red River operates in a similar fashion to Taos.

The bright, flickering lights, loud, happy noises and mobs of chattering children gathering nightly on the east end of the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center lot means only one thing — Santa's back in town! The rotund, whiskered, jolly fellow in charge of the world's Christmas presents brings his wife to Lubbock's Santaland, at 8th Street and Avenue L, from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. through Saturday night. Bedecked with a monumental tree and a nativity scene, Santaland is a magical place where brisk troupes of carolers and bewildered parents watch children — plenty of children — meet the man who can grant their secret Christmas wishes.

SANTA AND MRS. CLAUS have been visiting Santaland for 15 years, and Santa says he's noticed the differences in children as different age groups grow up.

"When I first started coming here," he said, "all the little boys wanted building toys and race cars. Now, they all want Star Wars and Battlestar (Galactica) toys."

He laughs. "Used to be, Santa was the only one flying way up in the air." "And the girls," he said, "used to all want kitchen things and sewing kits. Now they want all kinds of things, from dolls to space toys. I guess children are a little more grown up than they used to be."

SANTA'S HELPERS AT Santaland, members of the city Parks and Recreation Department, said that Santaland has been running smoothly so far this year.

"The first couple of nights were really cold," said a helper, "so the crowds might have been down just a bit. But the early part of this week was very pleasant and we've had great big crowds."

Parents are not crazy, laughs Santa, who reminds the helper that many families remain inside their warm cars on the colder nights, and only venture out into the cold when the lines are shorter.

On pretty nights, like Monday and Tuesday, the lines can be imposing — but not to the excited kids, who are more than eager to wait their turn to sit on Santa's lap and talk with Mrs. Claus about such important topics as the reindeer and the elves back at the North Pole.

Mrs. Claus tells the youngsters that the reindeer are kept in a field outside of town so they can eat and get their strength for the long haul on Christmas Eve. The elves, she explains, are still very busy back at Santa's workshop, building the toys that the children requested the night before.

Some of the youngsters ask if Santa will be back next year. Mrs. Claus tells them, "We'll keep coming back as long as Lubbock wants us."

Judging by the beams glowing from the enthusiastic children's faces, Santa and Mrs. Claus will be Lubbock's most popular visitors for years to come.

Last-minute rush

With only today and Saturday left to shop before Christmas, stores across Lubbock have experienced heavy flows of shoppers ready to battle the long lines for their last-minute needs. South Plains Mall is only one of the many shopping centers across the city experiencing heavy crowds.

Ready for delivery

Thousands of packages of toys, fruit, candy and nuts are readied by a member of Reese Air Force Base for delivery to needy children across the city on Christmas morning. The Goodfellows still need contributions to finance the 44th annual Christmas project for needy and also still need volunteers to distribute packages, beginning at 4 a.m. Monday at the East Broadway entrance of the South Plains Fairground.

Take your pick

By John Davenport and Rhena Schwartz
Update Staff Writers

The second shipment of Christmas movies hits town this week. And this batch is bigger and more diverse than last week's new offerings, which were headed up by "Superman."

Tops on the list of films opening today are "California Suite," in which writer Neil Simon takes his "Plaza Suite" premise and moves it to the West Coast, along with an all-star cast: "Moment By Moment," which should please the sizeable followings of its two stars, John Travolta and Lily Tomlin; and "The Wiz," an adaptation of "The Wizard of Oz" with all new music and starring Diana Ross as Dorothy and New York as the Emerald City.

"Watership Down" will no longer be the only animated feature in town, with today's opening of "The Lord of the Rings." Innovative animator Ralph Bakshi, of "Fritz the Cat" fame, gives shape to the characters of J.R.R. Tolkien's famous trilogy. But don't worry — this isn't nearly as bawdy as Bakshi's past works, which have included "Heavy Traffic" and "Wizards." Walt Disney's "Pinocchio," in re-release, also starts today.

There is a little bit of everything in the offering, as far as types of films go. For fans of suspense movies, there is "Magic," starring Ann-Margret, Anthony Hopkins and a dummy (the ventriloquist's kind). "Force Ten From Navarone," based on the Alistair MacLean novel, should appease those hungry for a war movie. "Every Which Way But Loose" might interest lovers of Clint Eastwood and orangutans. "King of the Gypsies" and "Invasion of the Body Snatchers" round out the new films opening today.

Making return trips to Lubbock are "Heaven Can Wait," "Corvette Summer," "Convoy," "Up in Smoke" and "The Chicken Chronicles."

On the club scene, choices are made from among rock groups Axte and Richmond, country-western band Sideshow and music-comedy group The Funny Farm, plus others, for an evening's entertainment.

If anyone is not yet included in the Take Your Pick listings, that person or organization should call 762-8844 or write Update, Box 491, Lubbock, Tex. 79408. We both need and appreciate your support.

nightlife

Blue Bear (5023 34th St.) — Joey Allen will play a variety of music tonight and Saturday night. There is no cover charge. The club will be open New Year's Eve with bluegrass music by Chicken Lips.

Chelsea Street Pub (South Plains Mall) — Acoustic duo Welch and Griffin will play tonight and Saturday night. There's never a cover charge at Chelsea's.

Cotton Club (six miles outside Lubbock on Slaton Highway) — Axte will be playing rock and roll from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. New Year's Eve.

Country Squire Dinner Theater (2 1/2 miles outside Loop 289 on Brownfield Highway) — Ed Hazar and Steve Bernier are the current stand-outs in this popular dinner theater's production of Woody Allen's "Play It Again, Sam." It's an hilarious play, made that much funnier by Hazar's interpretation of Humphrey Bogart. It's also a very popular play, as the Country Squire is approaching sellouts every night. Extra performances have had to be added. Tickets are priced at $9.95 for Tuesday through Thursday performances, and at $11.95 for Friday and Saturday shows. Students may purchase tickets at the reduced price of $7.95 for Tuesday through Thursday performances. The ticket price includes both meal and performance. Needless to say, early reservations are advised.

Hilton Inn (505 Avenue Q) — Drew Arbin returns to the hotel's Garden Pub tonight. There is no cover charge.

Johnson House Motel (4801 Avenue Q) — Zodiac will play tonight and Saturday night at this hotel's Jigger's Up club. There is no cover charge.

Joker's Wild (1813 Texas Avenue) — Sideshow will play country and western music Dec. 29-30. There will be a $2 cover charge each night. The Joker's Wild also offers burlesque on a nightly basis.

Langhorn Club (3417 Avenue A) — The Eddy and Judy Jackson Show will be the featured entertainment tonight and Saturday, with Traction coming in to play more country music on Sunday and Wednesday. The cover charge tonight and Saturday is $3 for couples and $2 for men arriving stag, with unescorted women admitted free. The cover charge Sunday is $2 for couples and $1 for men arriving stag, with unescorted women admitted free. No cover is collected Wednesday.

Red Raider Nightclub (6025 Avenue A) — Larry Trider will be on stage Saturday and Sunday nights. There is a $2 cover charge Saturday and a $1 cover Sunday.

Rox (2211 4th Street) — Rock and roll fans can hear Axte tonight and Saturday for a $2 cover and again on Christmas night for the same. There will be no cover Wednesday and Thursday for High Roller.

Silver Dellar Restaurant (South Plains Mall) — Richmond will play rock and roll tonight and Saturday. The cover has been set at $1.

South Park Inn (South Indiana and Loop 289) — The wacky Funny Farm puts in another appearance beginning tonight through New Year's Eve. There is no cover charge.

Steak & Ale (4646 50th Street) — Local favorite Laurie Hutson will be supplying the folk music tonight and Saturday.

Westernaire (4805 Avenue Q) — Wilburn Roach will be on stage tonight, Saturday and Wednesday. Tiny Lynn takes the stage Tuesdays and Thursdays. The cover charge each night is $2.

The Funny Farm's back at the Hub Club
Hilarious comedians return through Dec. 30

on screen

Superman as babe impressing Earth parents
Big-budget film now at Showplace Six

Arnett-Benson — "Que Te Vaya Bonito" and "Hasta Viento Tieneo Miedo." Spanish language material.

Backstage I — "Blazing Saddles." An uproarious, outrageous, irreverent comedy from the Mel Brooks stable begins today. You haven't seen a western like this before, and traditionalists won't want to! Gene Wilder gives a superlative performance, but receives ample help from Cleavon Little, Slim Pickens and Harvey Korman. Not to mention Madeline Kahn, who earned award nominations.

Backstage II — "Happily Ever After." X-rated material.

Cinema I, Mall — "Invasion of the Body Snatchers." Science-fiction horror story. Starts today.

Cinema II, Mall — "Moment By Moment." Younger-boy-meets-older-girl love story starring John Travolta and Lily Tomlin. Starts today.

Cinema III, Mall — "Brass Target." Concerns the death of Gen. George Patton, which was supposedly an accident. This film suggests it was an assassination. Stars George Kennedy, Sophia Loren, Robert Vaughan. Starts today.

Cinema IV, Mall — "Foul Play." Goldie Hawn is the divorcee cast accidentally into a murder plot. Chevy Chase is the cop assigned to help her out. There aren't many laughs, none of the original variety anyway, but there are indeed a great many clichés stolen from Hitchcock films. The one who suffers most, though, is Dudley Moore, cast in the embarrassing role of an orchestra conductor who doubles as a sex pervert.

Cinematheque — Due to the holiday season, the Cinematheque program of classic films on the Texas Tech University campus has been put on "hold." That is, no more films will be shown until Tech students return to classes in January. The first spring Cinematheque film will be Charlie Chaplin's "The Goldrush" on Jan. 17.

Cinema West — "California Suite." Something of a "Plaza Suite" on the West Coast. The cast of this Neil Simon comedy includes Alan Alda, Jane Fonda, Michael Caine, Walter Matthau, Bill Cosby and Richard Pryor. Starts today.

Circle Drive-In — "Swedish Mink" and "Bibi." X-rated material.

Cerrol Drive-In — "Reflections" and "Pleasure Cruise." X-rated material.

Fat Dawg's — "Beneath the Planet of the Apes." Fat Dawg's offers full-length feature movies every Sunday at 5, 8 and 11 p.m. Admission is 75 cents for the first two screenings, while the 11 p.m. screening is free to anyone who shows up. This Sunday's attraction, "Beneath the Planet of the Apes," is the first of four sequels to the original "Planet of the Apes." In this one, James Franciscus is an astronaut who is sent to rescue Charlton Heston, who got stuck on the planet in the original film, as you may recall. It's amazing that they were able to get three more sequels after this one, since the world is blown up at the end of the movie.

Fine Arts Drive-In — "Do You Wanna Be Loved?" and "Misty." X-rated material.

Flick — "Count the Ways." X-rated material.

Fox I — "Every Which Way But Loose." Clint Eastwood plays a laborer who pals around with an orangutan. Change of pace for Eastwood, who also directed the film. Starts today.

Fox II — "Pinocchio." Walt Disney's animated classic. Starts today.

Fox III — "Magic." Anthony Hopkins plays a schizophrenic ventriloquist in this suspense film, which also stars Ann-Margret and Burgess Meredith. Starts today.

Fox IV — "Oliver's Story." The long-awaited (that's what it says in the press material) sequel to Erich Segal's "Love Story." Ryan O'Neal is still the grieving widower, but he finds a new love interest in Candace Bergen. Ray Milland repeats his role as O'Neal's father. This film had not been screened by press time, so I'll have to reserve judgment a while longer.

Golden Horseshoe Drive-In, Front Screen — "Up in Smoke" and "Chicken Chronicles." Both films are comedies, the first starring Cheech and Chong and the second done in the style of "The Groove Tube." Starts today.

Golden Horseshoe Drive-In, Back Screen — "El Miedo No Anda En Burro" and "Chanoc." Spanish language films.

Candice Bergen and Ryan O'Neal have office meeting
'Oliver's Story' now playing at Fox Fourplex

Home Box Office — This pay television station offers movies not presently on Lubbock's big screens. Premieres are held on HBO each weekend evening, and then repeated throughout the month. Tonight's feature attraction is "Which Way Is Up?" starring Richard Pryor playing three different roles. Saturday's premiere is Walt Disney's "The Small One" and "Emmett Otter's Christmas," starring the Muppets. Sunday's premiere is "The Turning Point," which received several nominations at the last Academy Awards ceremonies, including best picture, best actress (Shirley MacLaine and Anne Bancroft), best director (Herbert Ross) and best screenplay (Arthur Laurents).

Lindsey — "Corvette Summer" and "Convoy." The first film stars Mark Hamill (of "Star Wars") as a man without a car. The film follows his exploits as he tries to retrieve his stolen Corvette. "Convoy" stars Kris Kristofferson as a trucker and is loosely based on C.W. McCall's hit single of a few years back. Also starring Ali MacGraw and directed by Sam Peckinpah. Both films for $1. Starts today.

Red Raider Drive-In — This drive-in will be closed this weekend for repairs.

Showplace I — "The Wiz." Film version of the Broadway musical adaptation of "The Wizard of Oz." Stars Diana Ross as Dorothy, Michael Jackson as the Scarecrow and Nipsey Russell as the Tin Man. Starts today.

Showplace II — "Lord of the Rings." Ralph Bakshi (creator of "Fritz the Cat" and "Heavy Traffic") pays homage to the J.R.R. Tolkien trilogy with this animated epic. Starts today.

Showplace IV — "Force Ten From Navarone." War movie based on the Alistair MacLean novel. Stars Franco Nero, the late Robert Shaw, Harrison Ford, Edward Fox and Carl Weathers. Starts today.

Showplace V — "Watership Down." Yet another animated adult Christmas film, this one is based on the already classic novel by Richard Adams. There is much more to this film than "bloody bunnies." I'm sure I have not seen the complete version yet, but I am most anxious to catch it. I expect good things.
An added note: This picture is being shown in Dolby stereo.

Showplace VI — "Superman." The most expensive Christmas film, the most hyped and the one inspiring the most anticipation. Starring Christopher Reeve as Clark Kent and Margot Kidder as Lois Lane, and with the guest roles filled by everyone from Marlon Brando and Glenn Ford to Valerie Perrine and Gene Hackman, it should be something to remember. Odds are this film will either be great or a laugher. The special effects are the key. If they live up to their million dollar price tag, we may be in for something special. Either way, we'll have to wait over a year for the second half of the film, which has already been filmed.
An added note: "Superman" is being screened in Showplace's new, large auditorium. It, too, is in Dolby stereo.

Varsity — "En Esta Primavera" and "Un Compadre." X-rated material.

Village — "Heaven Can Wait." Warren Beatty plays a pro quarterback who goes to his reward ahead of schedule. James Mason, as the heavenly counterpart of a department store floor-walker, tries to rectify the situation. A tour de force for Beatty, who also produced, co-directed and co-wrote the film. Also stars Julie Christie, Jack Warden and Buck Henry. Starts today.

Terry Funk arm-wrestles Lee Canalito
'Paradise Alley' now playing at South Plains Cinema

Winchester — "King of the Gypsies." Done in a vein somewhat similar to "The Godfather," except with gypsies instead of Italians. Stars Sterling Hayden, Shelley Winters, Judd Hirsch, Susan Sarandon and Brooke Shields. Starts today.

Harrison Ford as commando in Yugoslavia
'Force 10 From Navarone' now at Showplace Six

looking ahead

December 29-31, Stevie Vaughan — Blues guitarist Stevie Vaughan will be making a three-night appearance at Fat Dawg's — but the engagement becomes even more noteworthy because the Dec. 29-30 shows will be taped for a live album. The engagement will end with a New Year's Eve concert. Call the club for cover charge information.

December 31, Joe Ely — Ely will be the main attraction at Cold Water Country's annual New Year's Eve bash. The cover charge is $15 for couples and $8 for persons arriving stag. The price includes free party favors, free champagne and lots of music by local favorite Ely, who has two well received albums out on the MCA label.

December 31, Tony Solo — Popular nightclub entertainer Tony Solo will make his third Lubbock appearance a special New Year's Eve show. He'll be performing at the Hub Club at South Park Inn.

January 31, Ted Nugent — Rock of the loud and heavy metallic variety will return to the Lubbock Coliseum with the always popular Ted Nugent. His shows usually draw very well in this area. No ticket information was available at press time.

December 31, Peyote — Local rockers Peyote will provide rock and roll music at the Rox on New Year's Eve. Advance tickets are on sale for $4 at the club.

December 31, Laurie Hutson — Local favorite Laurie Hutson will be supplying folk music at Steak & Ale on New Year's Eve. There is no cover charge.

January 20, The Harlem Globetrotters — Internationally known Harlem Globetrotters will be appearing at the Lubbock Coliseum. Call the Coliseum box office for ticket prices.

February 2-3, "Brigadoon" — The Music Department of the First United Methodist Church will present Lerner and Loewe's popular American musical love story about two hunters who stumble upon a magical, mystical city at 8:15 both nights in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center. All seats are reserved and tickets are available for $4 and $5 at the church office.

February 2-3 and 9-10, "Night Must Fall" — This drama, already being cast, will be staged at Lubbock Theatre Centre. Direction will be by Claudia Beach. Tickets will be priced at $4.50 for the general public and $3.50 for all students.

February 8, Boston — Rock band Boston, which had one of the most successful debut albums in music history, will be headlining an 8 p.m. concert at the Lubbock Coliseum. The front band and ticket prices have not yet been released.

February 19-20, Lubbock Symphony Orchestra — The Lubbock Symphony will again be featured at the Civic Center theater, this time with guest pianist Youri Egorov. Call the symphony office for tickets and reservations.

February 23-28, "Mrs. Warren's Profession" — The first University Theater production of the spring semester, this play will be performed at 8:15 p.m. nightly under the direction of Ronald Schultz. Tickets will be priced at $3 for the general public and $2 for all students.

March 2-7, "Waiting For Godot" — Steve Peters will direct this play at Tech's Lab Theater. Tickets will be priced at $2 for the general public and $1.50 for all students.

Variety of recipes add spice to upcoming holidays

By Connie Chapman
Update Staff Writer

"Now that I'm retired, I don't like to spend a lot of time in the kitchen, and I don't," said Melba Conner.

Mrs. Conner worked for 26 years in the lunch program of the Lubbock schools. Two years ago she retired as one of the field supervisors.

Now she and her husband, N.T. Conner, have time for the many interests they both have. Among her many hobbies, Mrs. Conner includes taking part in the Homemaker's Club of the extension service. Through that club she has learned many new skills and crafts to fill her time in retirement. She proudly displays several of the beautiful handbags she has crocheted and also some she made with macrame. Making silk flowers is yet another craft she enjoys.

BUT FAR AND AWAY Melba Conner's main interest now is in working with Reach to Recovery, the local support group for cancer patients and their families. She will go to San Antonio in January for further training to become a leader of other training seminars for that program.

The couple also likes to travel and they are planning a holiday trip to Hawaii. Conner wants to go back to France someday and revisit the D-Day beach where he landed during World War II.

For medical reasons, the couple does not favor big meals during these retirement years. "Our favorite is a broiled steak and a baked potato," she said. Mrs. Conner also commented on their love of the fresh fish which their son-in-law catches and gives to them.

THE RECIPES MRS. CONNER shares here with Update include some with holiday usefulness. For instance, the recipe for cornbread dressing is preceded by the recipe for her cornbread itself.

In keeping with her belief that the easy things are the best, Mrs. Conner has included in this collection a no-bake fruitcake and a frozen Neapolitan Delight.

The Mexican dinner casserole is one suggestion Mrs. Conner has for a dinner party of about 20 people.

The pecan pie and Snow White Fruitcake are family favorites.

1 cup yellow corn meal
2 eggs
1 cup sweet milk
1/4 cup soft shortening (or oil)
Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Stir in cornmeal. Add eggs, milk and shortening. Beat just until smooth.
Pour batter in cornstick pans or a greased 9x9x2-inch pan. Bake in hot oven at 425 degrees for 20-25 minutes.

FROZEN NEAPOLITAN DELIGHT
1 package of frozen pound cake
1 pint of Neapolitan brick ice cream
1 package (4 1/2 oz) frozen whipped topping, thawed
14 pecan halves
8 maraschino cherries
heavy duty foil to wrap cake
Cut pound cake length-wise into two equal layers. Place one layer on an 18-inch square of foil. Cut ice cream brick length-wise into 2 equal slices and place on cake layer. Top with second layer. Frost tops and sides with whipped topping.
Decorate with nuts and cherries. Place in freezer covered, for about 2 hours. Then remove from freezer and bring foil up double over the top. Return to freezer until ready to slice and serve.

NO-BAKE FRUIT CAKE
1 lb. dates chopped
1 lb. pecans, chopped
1 lb. walnuts, chopped
1 small jar maraschino cherries, chopped
1 lb. fruit cake mix
1 lb. graham crackers, crumbled fine
1 lb. marshmallows
1 small can of condensed milk
Pour condensed milk over marshmallows. Mix everything else together in a large pan and add melted marshmallows. Mix well. Line a 1 lb. loaf pan with waxed paper. The mixture will make two loaves. Wrap pan and all in dish towel and put in cabinet to cure. This also can be frozen for later use.

SNOW WHITE FRUIT CAKE
1 can condensed milk
8 oz. pecans, whole
8 oz. dates, chopped small
2 4 oz. boxes of coconut

2 4 oz. packages candied cherries, whole
2 4 oz. packages of pineapple, chopped small
Line loaf pan with brown paper. Mix everything together and pour into pan. Bake at 250 degrees for an hour and a half. Place small pan of water under cake in oven. Allow to cool. Wrap in foil until Christmas. Also, it can be frozen.
Heat 1/2 cup white corn syrup with 1/4 cup of water and heat over low heat. Put over top of finished cake.

V.I.P. PECAN PIE
1 cup white corn syrup
3 eggs slightly beaten
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup sugar
2 tbs. melted margarine
1 cup pecans
1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell
Mix all ingredients for filling together, adding pecans last. Pour into pastry shell.
Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 30 to 35 minutes longer. when pie is done, outer edges of filling should be set and the center slightly soft.

MEXICAN DINNER
1 large onion, chopped and sauted

2 cloves garlic
2 lbs. ground round, browned
In a large saucepan bring to boil the following:
2 small cans of tomato sauce
5 1/2 cans water
3 small cans of tomato paste
4 tbs. sugar
2 tsp. oregano
2 tsp. salt
2 tsp. chili powder
2 tsp. ground cumin
2 tsp. m.s.g.
Simmer at least an hour after adding onion, garlic, and ground meat.
Garnishes:
2 chopped onions
2 avacados
2 tomatoes
1/2 head of shredded lettuce
1 lb. grated sharp cheese
2 cans of chopped chilis or 2 green peppers, chopped
3/4 cup stuffed olives, chopped
1 pt. sour cream
1 can taco sauce
cooked pinto beans
Line your plate with corn chips, add meat sauce, pinto beans, and garnishes and then sour cream and hot sauce.

Business & Industrial Review

Robert Spence School Relates New Class Schedule, Deadlines

With the start of a new year just around the corner, Robert Spence is now making plans for its new session of classes. The staff at Robert Spence is very excited about their new, larger location in Terrace Center, 4902 34th Street, Suite 15, phone 797-8134, in Lubbock.

Gift certificates are available for those who want to give the perfect gift that can be enjoyed for years to come.

"Have you decided what you want to accomplish this next year? If the answer is 'no,' why not give Robert Spence a call. Maybe you want to be a model, or maybe you want to be poised, assured, looking and sounding your best. Robert Spence School, in any event, has the training you desire."

With the new facilities, many more classes can be offered for the individual person. New classes are soon to begin in exercising, television and radio advertising for the model, and male self-improvement and modeling classes. Rooms are available for small group meetings and seminars.

Registration is now underway for January classes which will begin Jan. 8. The deadline for registration is Jan. 5.

Classes will be offered with various weekly schedules from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon or 1:00 - 3:00 p.m. Evening classes meet once weekly from 7:00 - 9:00 p.m.

Fully Certified

All schools in Texas that are teaching any course of instruction must be certified by the Texas Education Agency. This is not only a protection for the school but for its students. The Robert Spence School and its staff are certified by the Texas Education Agency and is owned and directed by Brenda Becknell. In January, the school will begin its 17th year of operation in Lubbock.

Classes are offered in Self-Improvement and Personal Development, Professional Modeling, the Classic Woman Course, the Little Princess Course and the Young Miss Course, and are all designed to assist girls and women toward the self-realization that leads to mature confidence in one's own image. No more than eight students are assigned to a class, so instructors can devote individual attention to the needs of each.

The basic course in self-improvement consists of instruction in several fundamental elements which combine to develop the truly poised person. The elements include posture and walking, skin care and make-up application, hair styling, figure correction, speaking, wardrobe coordination and personality development.

Beyond the self-improvement course, Robert Spence offers instruction in professional modeling which opens career vistas to many women. The school functions as an agency and has placed many women in modeling jobs in the Lubbock area, Dallas and New York.

The Classic Woman course is designed for the woman who is interested in updating her wardrobe, make-up and being poised in all situations she may encounter. This course is especially successful for business organizations, clubs and area groups.

Qualified Instructors

Instructors other than Miss Becknell include Mrs. Jerry (Lynette) Thuet, Mrs. Ralph (Gloria) Madrid, Mrs. Ron (Donna) Chandler, Miss Linda Wilks, Mrs. Bill (Johnnie) Hardage and Miss Robin Becknell. They are members of the World Modeling Association. They attend workshops and seminars in New York, Utah and Nevada to update their curriculum and keep abreast of the current trends in the high fashion industry of the New York area and other areas.

The instructors have been speakers in the public schools, social organizations, banking institutions, small groups and clubs. They are available to give lectures and demonstrations to groups and organizations for a minimal fee. They also teach the short courses for groups of eight or more in Lubbock or small area towns.

As a model agency, Robert Spence makes available its professionally trained models and instructors for those special occasions such as conventions, grand openings, fashion shows, commercials and photography.

Aside from being a modeling agency, Robert Spence also represents talented men, women and children involved in the performing arts area. They are available for entertainment at meetings, conventions and special functions.

Miss Becknell is the owner-director of the school. She is a graduate of Texas Tech and former teacher for Idalou Public Schools. She has taught professional modeling, pageant modeling and self-improvement in Lubbock for 6 1/2 years. She appears periodically on "People Place" show and has modeled and lectured for various organizations in the area.

Season's over

Polly Kiker, a typing and shorthand teacher at Estacado High School, starts dismantling the bulletin board she kept during the school's successful football season. Among the items was a chinstrap from the helmet of senior Michael Chatham, an all-district linebacker. The school board this week passed a resolution commending the Estacado Matadors, who reached the semifinals in the state's Class AAA playoffs.

Traffic Update: Use care

(Editor's note: The following article is presented by the Lubbock Citizens Traffic Commission in cooperation with Update to help keep local motorists better informed on traffic-related matters.)

LAST MINUTE shopping, sharing Christmas with friends and taking cross-country trips are some of the reasons that make the Christmas season special.

But that combination can make the holiday season hazardous, too.

People in a hurry get frustrated; people have a little too much "spirits" at parties, or they try to drive a long distance in a short time span. All these affect their driving ability. Add them up and they spell traffic accidents. The following tips will help you have a happier holiday — and a safer one.

AVOID HURRY-UP holiday stress and fatigue by starting preparation as early as possible. Plan shopping trips for the greatest amount of efficiency and the least amount of stress.

IF YOU KNOW you have to drive home from a party: think — don't drink! (that's the best thing.) However, if you intend to drink, the next best thing is to:

Eat first — have something in your stomach to slow down the rate of alcohol absorption.

Drink slowly — sip, don't gulp. Space out drinks to give your body time to handle them.

Set a limit — plan beforehand to stop after a certain number of drinks — stick to your decision.

Stop in time — give your body a chance to reduce alcohol to a safe level before you drive.

Be honest with yourself. If you know you've had too much to drink, be smart — don't drive!

IF YOU LEAVE on that Christmas trip right after work, or have a great distance to drive, fatigue will be a hazard which could spoil your holiday.

Recognize the signs of fatigue: Your car drifts into the other lane occasionally; you forget to lower your high beams, or your speed is erratic.

Causes of fatigue: Lack of sleep, poor vision, stress and physical problems such as headache, indigestion, or sore throat can keep you from driving your best.

Ways to fight fatigue: Change your routine. Turn on the radio, concentrate on the news, music, time, weather. Open a window for some fresh air. Overheated or poorly ventilated vehicles make you tired and drowsy.

Take a break. Stop every two or three hours for coffee or a soft drink. Or just take a walk around your vehicle — stretch your legs, take a few deep breaths.

Poor posture causes fatigue. As the hours pass, you may tend to slump, putting a strain on your shoulder muscles and back. Before you start out, take time to adjust your seat so you can sit erect well back in the seat, to prevent back and muscle strain.

Two local students chosen to appear in 'Who's Who'

DENTON (Special) — Suzette Ann Morris and Carol Elaine Snyder, both of Lubbock, senior nursing majors at Texas Woman's University, have been selected to appear in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

Miss Morris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Morris of 3413 57th St. Miss Snyder is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lowell E. Snyder of 3801 63rd Drive.

Miss Morris is a member of Sigma Theta Tau, an honorary nursing society, Texas Nursing Students Association, Mortar Board, and Tex-N Cap, an organization directed at the political aspects of improving nursing care. She is a recipient of the Mary Gibbs Jones Scholarship Award.

She attended Texas Tech University for two semesters where she was a member of the Tech Band, Tau Beta Sigma, a national band sorority, and Kappa Kappa Gamma National Fraternity. She also was a President's Hostess.

Miss Snyder is president of the Inwood Center student chapter of the TNSA and a member of Sigma Theta Tau, Mortar Board, Tex-N Cap, Chaparrals, and Omega Rho Alpha, an organization for students with high scholastic standing in English.

She was the recipient of the Dallas Banker's Wives Association Scholarship and a Redbud Princess. She also has been a Yell Leader and a member of the Spirit of Agape. She serves as adviser for Explorer Post 806 in Lubbock.

Six buildings were completed before the opening day on the Tech campus, in 1925, including the Administration Building, Home Economics Building, Textile Engineering buildings, the college president's home, a livestock pavilion and a dairy barn.

views and opinions

By Barbara Brooks
Update Staff Writer

Another year is coming to an end and during this time, many people are wishing friends happiness and good luck for the coming year, having parties, watching football on television and relaxing during the long weekend.

To many, it is also a time of year to reflect on the past 12 months and the things that have happened in this changing world...things that may be far-removed by miles from Lubbock, yet still touch its citizens.

On the minds of many people we asked about the top events of 1978 was the slaying of Rep. Leo J. Ryan and three newsmen in Guyana in November. This incident was followed by the massive suicides led by the Rev. Jim Jones, in which more than 900 people died.

Tracy High said that she would remember the Jonestown incident for "a long time to come."

According to Robert Mendez, "You think about it and it's unbelievable...it just has not sunk in yet."

Velda Jean Gilbert and Irene Edward also agree that the Guyana suicides was the event they would remember most about this year.

"The economy is down; and no money is circulating," said Preston Cheeks. Inflation and the constantly increasing cost of living will remind Cheeks of 1978, he said.

George Willard commented he will remember the decision by President Carter to sever ties with Taiwan in favor of Communist China as the most significant event of the year. Willard said that he will "remember this action by President Carter for quite some time."

Both Janie Cisneros and Elvira Estrada were shocked, along with the rest of the world, with the sudden death of Pope John Paul I. The pope died of a heart attack on Sept. 28, just 34 days after his nomination.

The College of Cardinals then elected Cardinal Karol Wojtyla of Poland to become the new pope. The pontiff chose the name Pope John Paul II, and is the first non-Italian pope in 455 years.

According to Mrs. Estrada, "We lost our pope so soon, and now we have another one." Both women said that they would remember this when looking back on 1978.

Prosthetist who knows helps amputees cope

Amputees often paint a pretty dim picture of themselves after the loss of an arm or leg. As a prosthetist, Cecil McMorris is one of the first to help amputees deal with the loss.

And he knows what he's talking about. After losing the lower part of his legs during the Korean War, McMorris prepared himself for a "sit-down" job as a watch and jewelry repairman. He thought his veterans training could be best applied to a job which required as little extra movement as possible.

But he found that sitting for long periods of time made the remaining portion of his legs, just below the knees, go numb.

A visit to a Lubbock prosthetist, Clouston England, was the turning point for McMorris. As the original owner of the Lubbock Artificial Limb Co., England fitted McMorris with a comfortable, functional set of legs and gave him an interest in another career.

England encouraged McMorris's interest in the business, which grew quickly.

It took McMorris almost seven years to complete all the courses needed for certification by the American Board for Certification.

By the time he was certified in 1968 he was already the senior partner in the business. England was teaching at New York University and McMorris had gradually been buying into the business.

McMorris has a bit of a monopoly in this area. As the only prosthetist in Lubbock and one of the few on the South Plains, he fits limbs for farmers, veterans and industrial workers.

The first visits to a prosthetist can be hard for the new amputee, McMorris said.

"Some people are disappointed if they come in and can't run like the Six Million Dollar Man," he said with a chuckle.

He finds that an innocent trick is sometimes all that's necessary to renew a person's confidence. McMorris often asks his clients to guess which of his legs is artificial.

When the client finds out both legs are aided by prosthetics, the realization that even they can be fooled is a great confidence builder.

McMorris is sometimes asked by physicians to make hospital visits to recent amputees. McMorris is often able to deal with the problems of fellow amputees better than a physician.

But McMorris tries not to make too many hospital visits. He said he would hate for people to think he was out trying to drum up business.

More people have witnessed McMorris's work than probably realize it. The prosthetist is responsible for building the kicking foot ex-Tech kicker Brian Hall used during several football seasons a few years back.

"I took a real interest in Brian," McMorris said, nodding to the picture of Hall he keeps on a file cabinet. He came to McMorris to have a foot built to fit a kicking shoe, the prosthetist said.

McMorris described the first time he saw Hall kick, saying he was taken completely by surprise by the athlete's ability.

"He kicked that ball through the goal posts from the 45-yard line," McMorris said, still a little bit awe-struck.

Designing Hall's foot was a hit and miss process, according to McMorris. The foot had to be built with a flat toe section, which was easy enough to manage. But the angle of attachment at the ankle posed some real problems.

Tilting the foot too low meant Hall could kick for long distances but couldn't get any height. Another adjustment allowed the athlete to get all height but no distance.

It took several fittings and a lot of time on the football field before Hall's kicking foot was perfected.

The coach didn't realize Hall was an amputee when he allowed him to try out, McMorris said.

"It was a long time before people would believe Brian had an artificial leg," McMorris said proudly of the audiences who watched Brian play. McMorris said the coach wouldn't have let Hall try out if he had known his kicking leg was artificial.

Hall was given the Kern Tips award his senior year for the Southwest Conference football player who displays the most sportsmanship, scholarship and athletic ability.

McMorris and his staff operate a complete limb building and fitting operation. Knees and feet are purchased but the rest of the leg comes from McMorris's shop.

After the leg or arm is built, the client is given a brief training in how to use the limb. McMorris said each limb is built for an individual's needs or occupation.

But though each limb is built according to the individuals wishes, he discourages people from buying artificial hands, since a hook is so much more practical.

"I don't like to see them (his clients) buy anything they won't use."

Odessa indoor rodeo among top Texas attractions

Award winner

This "spirit doll" was made by Sheryl Haler of Lubbock for the annual "Toys Designed by Artists Exhibition" at the Arkansas Arts Center in Little Rock. The fabric and wood doll was one of eight entries to win Purchase Awards out of 105 objects accepted for consideration by the judges. It will be added to the permanent collection of The Arkansas Arts Center Foundation.

The following events, selected by the Texas Tourist Development Agency, are but a few of the many excellent recreational opportunities offered by communities across the state. A more complete listing of Texas events may be obtained free of charge by writing TEXAS, Dept. C, Box 5064, Austin 78711.

Dec. 30-Jan. 6 Sandhills Hereford and Quarter Horse Shows and World Championship Indoor Rodeo, Ector County Coliseum, Odessa. The shows start Dec. 30 and run through Jan. 5. The Hereford show will draw 300 steers and 100 heifer entries. Two hundred and twenty-five quarter horses are expected to compete. The rodeo, at 8 p.m., will be Dec. 30, Jan. 2-6. Admission is $3 and $4, all seats reserved. For additional information contact the show office, Box 638T, Odessa 79762 (915-366-3951).

Jan. 2-March 18 Pompeii AD 79 Exhibit, Dallas Museum of Fine Arts, Fair Park, Dallas. After breaking attendance records in Europe, this exhibition will be on tour for one year in only four American cities, Boston, Chicago, New York and Dallas. On Aug. 24, 79 A.D., the volcano Vesuvius destroyed Pompeii and saved it at the same time. The hardened ashes have kept the forms of the people, art, even the bread in the bake-shops intact for 2,000 years. The exhibit lets one sample that life as it was on the day of the disaster. The exhibit is free, but tickets are required. Tickets may be obtained from the box office across the street from the museum in Fair Park. The tickets designate the time a visitor may enter the museum. Forty-five minutes to an hour is the average time taken to view the exhibit. Hours are 11 a.m.-6 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday. The box office opens at 9 a.m. The Museum of Natural Science Museum in the Fair Park complex will have corresponding exhibits and should be included in the Pompeii visit. While the three museums are in easy walking distance, a shuttle bus will be available for those two desire to ride.

Jan. 19-21 Neches Valley Singing Convention High School Auditorium, Woodville. With quartets from Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas participating, this event begins at 7 p.m., Friday. Seventeen to 20 quartets will each present 20 minute programs. Saturday afternoon from 1:30-4 the younger quartets perform, then from 6:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m. Sunday. Last year 300 plus singers drew crowds of up to 1,500 for Friday and Saturday night sessions. Admission is free. For a brochure contact the Tyler County Chamber of Commerce, 118T West Pavillion, Woodville 75979 (713-283-2632).

Jan. 26-27 Texas Junior Miss Pageant, New Braunfels. Three junior miss pageant events are open to the public — talent and youth fitness judging Jan. 24 and 25, and the finals Saturday night, Jan. 27. Starting time each night is 7:30. For more information contact the Chamber of Commerce, Box 180T, New Braunfels 78130 (512-625-2385).

Jan. 27-28 Fredericksburg Rockhounds Club Show, Fairground Exhibition Hall, Fredericksburg. Last year this event drew 4,000 visitors. Opal, fossil, mineral and general rock dealers will participate. There will be demonstrations in filigree work, inlaying, silver and rock carving.

Admission and parking are free. Hours are 10 a.m.-9 p.m. Saturday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday. For additional information contact show chairman Dick Pohly, 108T North Llano St., Fredericksburg 78624 (512-997-2426).

Jan. 28 The 26th annual State Championship Domino Tournament, Hallettsville. Dom no buffs from all over Texas converge on Hallettsville vying for honors. Four hundred are expected this year. Registration begins at 7 a.m. Cost is $8 per person in this double elimination partnership event. Playing starts at 9 a.m. Only participants are allowed in the Knights of Columbus Hall, one-half mile south of town on Highway 77. Approximately $500 in prizes will be awarded to first, second and third place finishers. For additional information contact G.H. Gerdes, Box 283T, Hallettsville 77964 (512-798-2711).

Greenhouse heating and accessories

Due to low insulation values, the greenhouse heats rapidly in full sun and cools rapidly when night falls. To avoid freezing, some form of heat is necessary in almost every part of the continental United States. Also, if plant growth and/or blooming plants are desired in January, night temperatures of 55-60 degrees are absolutely necessary.

If you intend to use the greenhouse all winter, a permanent heating source must be arranged. The great advantage of the southerly situated lean-to greenhouse is that heating may be extended from the house at less cost than most heater installations. However, greenhouse heaters can be inexpensive or costly, from simple vented gas stoves to deluxe hot water systems.

City employee Nora Herring says job never boring

Phrases such as "can't you ever buy anything that was made in America" and "none of these pens you gave me this morning write worth a darn" are a small sample of the remarks and requests Mrs. Nora Herring, staff member in the City Office of Printing and Supplies, faces every day.

Mrs. Herring has spent the last six years providing pencils, rubberbands, paper clips, glue, typing materials, and a multitude of other office supplies to city personnel, but she said she has never had a boring day at the office.

"People would expect this job to be very boring just by looking. However the people I meet every day come from all walks of life, and that can be an interesting situation," she said.

Mrs. Herring said, "About 100 people come into this office every week to get supplies, and when you know that many people on a first name basis the job can't be boring."

Mrs. Herring described her work in numerical terms when she said that there were 1,600 city employees, and every one of them has to have a pen and other materials.

"When you look at our job in that respect you can imagine how hectic it gets over here at times. Also, office supplies are just a small part of our job. We print everything except smapouts (carbons) and business cards for every department in the city. Now that's no small task!" she said.

In order to process the thousands of pounds worth of printing jobs each week the staff utilizes a wide variety of machines.

These machines include: An A.B. Dick Machine that addresses envelopes and processes IBM cards, folding machines that fold large sheets of paper, an addressograph for forms and letters, an offset printing press, a large stapler that uses one-half inch staples, a hole driller capable of drilling one and 1/8-inch-wide holes for binders, a 19-hole punch, a paper cutter, and a collator that sorts, stacks and staples.

Mrs. Herring said, "As far as printing we do everything except set the type face (determine what size type will be used). When someone brings in something to be printed it is already typed or laid out, and we take that and shoot it on a sheet of metal which is one aspect of offset printing."

"There are usually only three people back here to do all the printing brought in to us each week. The supervisor, myself, and another staff member do everything, and the task gets pretty tough sometimes. In fact, I hate the printing aspect of the job more than anything else," she said.

Constant shortages in departmental supplies could cost the city needless expenses, yet Mrs. Herring said that the departments were never reprimanded for such shortages.

"No, we don't get after the city departments for shortages because these departments deal with the public, and it's the public who runs off with the supplies. The public is the source of the shortages rather than the departments," Mrs. Herring said.

"We usually distribute material that isn't very expensive in order to lessen the cost of these departmental shortages," Mrs. Herring added.

Mrs. Herring said the city buys all its supplies in bulk quantities because of the cheaper price, and the city always takes the lowest bid offered by supply companies. She also said that the city received all merchandise at 10% off regular cost, and in addition to that savings, the city was tax exempt.

The temptation to take small articles such as pens or pencils for personal use was confirmed by Mrs. Herring.

"Yes, there is a temptation there I'll have to admit, but we're held responsible for all this merchandise, and we must be able to answer for any missing items," Mrs. Herring said.

"I take a lot of pride in the successful function of this office, and I don't let anything leave unless a requisition has been filled out on it first," she said.

Looking like any other major construction project, beams and girders of the new Lubbock County Jail frame the old lock-up in the background. The $3.5 million facility won't be quite so open and breezy, however, when it is finished late in 1979. Construction of the new jail was necessitated by a federal court order.

Honor society inducts member

Carol Aline Otey has been inducted into the Alpha Chi National Honor Society at Trinity University.

Miss Otey is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John Otey of 2010 53rd St. She is a junior majoring in biology.

To be eligible for membership in Alpha Chi, a candidate must have been a student at Trinity for at least one academic year and must be currently enrolled for at least 12 semester hours.

The entire record of the student is used in the calculation. The top 10 percent of those otherwise eligible may be chosen for membership.

Students in all disciplines are eligible.

What the Best-Dressed SHOPLIFTER is wearing...

Handcuffs — they may not look very costly, but they're more expensive than you'd imagine! And as any shoplifter knows, they're not returnable! Shoplifting is not a lark, not a prank and not taken lightly. It's a crime that will blot your record and may even put you behind bars. And at holiday time, shoplifting is even more of a temptation. Next time someone tries to sell you a bill of goods about shoplifting, don't buy it. All you may get is a new set of bracelets...and a lot of time on your hands.
