

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are under unusually good influences to add modern and up-to-date formulas and inventions to whatever your occupation happens to be. Be on the alert for improvements at your vocational outlet. Evening is not good for taking any chances.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Look for support from a community leader and better your position in life considerably. Don't take any risks in the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have fine ideas so be sure to put them in operation to your benefit. Make an excellent contact during the day.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Carry through with promises made to others and gain good will. Benefit. Make an excellent contact during the day.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can carry on intelligently if you know exactly what partners expect of you, and then all works out smoothly. A problem arises, but you are able to handle it well.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get into the work ahead of you and clear the slate for more important activity in the offing. Kin can be very cooperative during the day but be careful of arguments in the evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be more willing to go along with amusements suggested to you by good friends. Find better ways of getting your creative ideas across.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study your home surroundings and see how best to make it more functional and attractive. A new interest arises that has fine potential.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find day to get the information you need so you can improve daily routines. Clear your desk of odds and ends. Drive carefully.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Show you are practical where finances and property are concerned, and add to present abundance. Set up a better budget that is more workable. Avoid that tendency to drive too fast.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Go after your most cherished aims and get good results during the day, but take it easy in the evening. Enjoy group affairs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Ideal day to make plans for carrying on with practical affairs more intelligently and profitably. Be wary of newcomers.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Know exactly what your personal aims are and how best to attain them. Get good ideas from friends during day, too. Evening is best spent at home.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will do well in government work, or in connection with large corporations, dealing with the public, etc. Teach the importance of discipline early in life. Stress arithmetic. Permit to participate in healthful sports early.

Reye's Syndrome, Flu Epidemic Shutter Schools

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — More schools were shut down in lower Michigan school districts Thursday as health officials fought an outbreak of influenza and the sometimes-fatal Reye's Syndrome.

There was no immediate estimate of the total number of pupils out of school in the nine districts now closed, but 6,900 were sent home in the first four districts alone.

Reye's Syndrome, a complication in some flu patients, has stricken 20 children and adults this month, state officials in Lansing said.

Although health officials report most cases of the disease have been mild, Reye's already has resulted in two deaths in the state.

Dr. Norman Hayner, chief epidemiologist for the Department of Public Health, said that although the flu season may be tapering off he could not predict whether reports of Reye's Syndrome would level off soon.

"I don't see any particular reason why we would have another 20 cases of Reye's Syndrome," he said. "But I just can't say whether we will have a few more cases or not."

Three researchers from the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, who are in Michigan to pursue a possible connection between the flu and Reye's Syndrome, are expected to finish their work this week.

Hayner said state health experts suspect complications of Type A-Brazil flu, the most common to strike the state this year, are also to blame for Reye's Syndrome among children.

Hayner expects the flu outbreak to end soon.

Man Not Bitter After Eight Years In Prison

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — A 45-year-old man who served eight years of a life sentence for murder has been set free because scientific evidence at his trial turned out to be incorrect. He says he is not bitter.

"It just happened," said John Henry Harrison of Flint, who was released Tuesday with $16 in his pocket and is looking for a job "maybe as a truck driver."

Genesee County Circuit Judge Thomas C. Yeotis threw out Harrison's conviction and ordered his release after prosecutor Robert F. Leonard said incorrect results of a saliva test were presented as evidence at the trial.

Leonard said he would not try the case again because the physical evidence had deteriorated.

"It frightens me that scientific evidence introduced in testimony could be wrong ... all we can do is try to undo this today," Yeotis said.

Harrison was convicted of first-degree murder in the March 3, 1970, rape and strangulation of 16-year-old Jan Logsdon, who was babysitting next door to Harrison's home. Her partially clad body was found four days later on a farm near Flint.

A crime laboratory chemist testified at Harrison's trial that semen stains found on the girl's clothing and saliva on a cigarette butt indicated the assailant had Type O blood. A saliva test indicated Harrison had Type O blood, but Harrison did not have his blood tested, says attorney Robert J. Dewey.

The prosecutor said the chemist could have made a mistake in his testimony, he could have mixed up the evidence in his laboratory by mistake, or the evidence could have been fabricated.

After he was sent to Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, Harrison found out that he had Type A blood. He tried repeatedly to get his case reopened.

Eventually his pleas drew the attention of Leonard and Yeotis and he was moved from prison to the Genesee County Jail.

In July 1978, Yeotis ordered Harrison to undergo further blood tests. Those also showed he had Type A blood.

There was no immediate explanation of Harrison did, in fact, murder Jan Loes-why it took seven more months to free Harrison.

"It remains possible that John Henry did," the prosecutor said. "But this defendant has not had a fair trial on that question."

Billie Sol Estes Indicted On Four Counts

DALLAS (UPI) — Billie Sol Estes, still on parole from swindling millions in the 1960s was indicted Thursday on charges of income tax evasion, mail fraud, interstate transportation of stolen property and concealing assets.

Estes was ordered to appear for arraignment before U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes March 1 in Dallas.

Jim Rolse, assistant U.S. Attorney for the Northern District of Texas, said the federal grand jury returned four separate indictments.

The charges included, Rolse said, concealing assets, mail fraud, interstate transportation of stolen property and making false statements on an income tax return filed in 1976 on 1975 earnings.

In late January, a federal judge rejected a plea bargaining agreement involving fraud charges against Estes and ordered the convicted Texas swindler to stand trial April 2.

In Fort Worth, District Judge Eldon Mahon said he would not accept a deal made with Estes by federal prosecutors in October 1978 because provisions dealing with the amount of time Estes would have to spend behind bars were "unfulfillable."

Mahon then allowed Estes to withdraw his earlier plea of guilty and ordered him to appear in court in April to answer charges of mail fraud and concealing assets from the Internal Revenue Service.

Federal prosecutors, however, asked the judge to strike the charges from the record so new evidence could be presented to a grand jury and new charges filed.

Estes had pleaded guilty to the earlier charges in October and the government agreed to drop efforts to indict other associates of Estes — including his former attorney, oldest daughter and a brother.

A part of the voided agreement had also been that Estes would only spend about 15 months in prison, then be released under a complicated parole guarantee. The entire deal broke down, however, when the U.S. Parole Commission refused to agree to technically revoke Estes' parole on an earlier conviction

Slain Man's Family Seeks $5.6 Million

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The wife and seven children of slain polygamist John Singer are seeking $5.6 million in a wrongful death action against state and county officials, the family's attorney said Thursday.

Singer was shot to death Jan. 18 at his Marion, Utah, farm by law enforcement officers attempting to arrest him on contempt of court and other charges that had grown out of his refusal to send his children to school. Authorities said he was pointing a gun at one of the officers when he was shot. Attorney Stephen R. Gilliland said he has filed notice of claim with Summit County and will do so with the state, seeking $700,000 each for Vicki Singer and the seven children.

McGraw-Hill Takeover Questionable Now

NEW YORK (AP) — Two major stockholders of McGraw-Hill Inc. said Thursday they were withdrawing from any shareholder efforts to get the publishing company to accept a $976 million merger offer from American Express Co.

The move seems to have ended chances of a proxy battle for control of McGraw-Hill. American Express has said it would drop its offer if it is not accepted by March 1.

The McGraw-Hill board has adamantly opposed merger with American Express, which is best known for its credit cards and travelers checks but also is involved in a wide range of financial services.

The dissident shareholders have been led by Donald C. McGraw Jr., a former McGraw-Hill director, cousin of the firm's chairman and holder of 622,000 shares; and Maxwell Geffen, a former McGraw-Hill executive and holder of 100,000 shares. But McGraw and Geffen said Thursday they were withdrawing from the fight.

"We've decided this whole thing has become too complicated and there's too much risk of civil lawsuits to continue, so we're withdrawing any actions," Geffen said, according to Dow Jones News Service.

prior to sentence being imposed. The Parole Commission decided, it would only consider the deal once sentencing had been made — which was not agreeable to Estes or his attorneys. The lawyers then filed the successful motion to withdraw Estes' earlier guilty plea.

Estes was previously sent to prison for 15 years stemming from a 1965 conviction for inducing farmers to invest in fertilizer tanks which never existed. He was paroled in 1971 after serving six years of the 15-year sentence.

At the age of 14, Estes bought 400 pigs and began his entry into the world of high finance on the West Texas plains.

He eventually became known as one of the nation's biggest swindlers, however, when he was convicted of skimming millions of dollars in the fertilizer tank scheme.

A political supporter of Lyndon Johnson, Estes' latest indictment, sources said, stemmed from recent business transactions in his hometown of Abilene. Under terms of his parole, Estes was forbidden from engaging in promotional schemes — which led to his latest problems with the law.

In a Mailgram this week to President

Carter, Estes' attorney, Michael Thornell of Houston, asked Carter to have Attorney General Griffin Bell review the entire handling of the case by U.S. attorneys.

"The case has been, as you are aware, grossly mishandled by the local assistant United States Attorney," Thornell wrote Carter.

Thornell said the plea bargaining agreement was made in bad faith and prosecutors knew they could not uphold their part of the agreement. Their plan, the attorney told Carter, was for "the sole purpose of having the news media carrying this story of Mr. Estes' guilty plea."

The telegram was seen as an attempt to head off the Thursday indictments. In the telegram, Thornell said he had information that Rolse, the assistant U.S. Attorney, would seek the indictments Thursday or Friday.

Voyager I, Working Well, Enters Solar System Of Jupiter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Voyager 1 spacecraft has entered the miniature solar system of Jupiter and its swarm of moons. And the unmanned spacecraft — its cameras and instruments clicking away — is beginning the most detailed study yet of the colossal planet.

Scientists said Thursday that Voyager is about 7.6 million miles from Jupiter and closing at about 600,000 miles a day. On March 5, the spacecraft will soar within 173,000 miles of the planet and spin away to begin a 20-month cruise to Saturn.

Project scientists told a National Aeronautics and Space Administration briefing that the 1,820-pound Voyager 1 is working well, with nine of 10 scientific instruments functioning normally. Problems with one instrument will not affect the mission, they added.

Robert Parks, project manager, said there was a potential problem at the Earth end of the mission with radio receiving stations. Three huge antennas in California, Spain and Australia bring in the spacecraft signals.

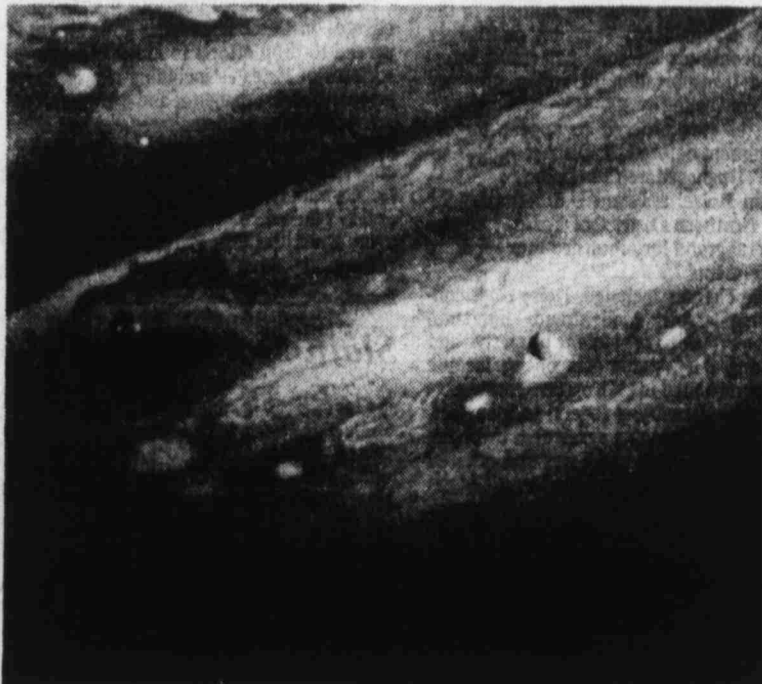

In a test in Spain last month, scientists found that water from a rainstorm absorbed most of the frequency used by the key spacecraft transmitter. If this happened during key transmission times, some valuable information could be lost, scientists said.

"So we may have to take less data at some ground stations on the S-band because of weather," Parks said.

Another potential trouble area is the powerful radiation field surrounding Jupiter. In 1973 and 1974, two U.S. Pioneer spacecraft became the first to visit the planet. They encountered radiation trapped in Jupiter's powerful magnetic field that almost knocked out the spacecraft.

Parks said the Voyager spacecraft are better designed to survive the radiation encountered by the Pioneers, but he added that no one knows if the radiation may have intensified.

Voyager 1, launched from Earth 18 months ago, will arrive at Jupiter four months ahead of an identical sister ship,

JUPITER AND COMPANY — Voyager I photographed Jupiter and two of its satellites, Io, left, and Europa Feb. 13. Europa is darker in color. Jupiter is about 12.4 million miles from the spacecraft. (AP Laserphoto)

Voyager 2. With the gravity of Jupiter working as a kind of sling, the two craft will use the momentum of going around the planet to propel them on to Saturn.

If the Saturn encounters go well, Voyager 2 may use the same effect to propel itself on to Uranus.

Jupiter, bigger than all the other planets combined, is a brightly colored sphere 1,200 times larger than Earth. The planet, with its blue, white, brown and red stripes, is believed to be a turbulent mixture of liquids and gases with a small solid core.

Voyager 1 has crossed the orbit of Sinope, the most distant of Jupiter's 13 known moons, and will spend six weeks cruising through the Jovian system en route to Saturn.

The $500 million, two-craft Voyager mission will not only photograph Jupiter and its giant red spot, but also its five inner moons. Voyager 1 will photograph a small moon called Amalthea from a distance, but it will make closer passes by the largest ones, named Io, Europa, Ganymede and Callisto.

Mission scientists say Voyager pictures returned so far are much superior to the best previous images from Pioneer spacecraft, and only promise to get better as the spacecraft comes closer to the planet.

Scientists say mighty Jupiter and its flock of 13, or possibly 14, moons is like a miniature solar system, worthy of study because it may provide information about the sun and its nine planets, including Earth.

Heartline

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 43081. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: My husband and I are both retired on Social Security. I am drawing benefits from my own account as it is higher than what I would have received on wife's benefits. I am concerned about the future in that I don't know if I could meet financial obligations on my benefits were my husband to pass away before I do. Would I be able to draw my own benefits and his also, if this does happen? — B.M.

In most cases, this can be done. You would continue to receive your own full Social Security benefits and then a portion of your widow's benefits to give you a total Social Security benefit equal to the amount of your Social Security widow's benefits. If your Social Security benefit on your own work record is equal to or larger than what you could draw on widow's benefits, then you would not be eligible for any Social Security widow's benefits. You could not, however, draw your own full benefits plus your husband's full benefit.

HEARTLINE: I am not yet of retirement age, but have paid Social Security taxes for nearly 40 years. It never occurred to me until recently to wonder where money I paid in was placed. I know from reading something many years ago that our Social Security taxes are placed in a trust fund. Does this mean that all money collected through Social Security taxes are placed in this trust fund? Just curious? — R.L.

No, these contributions are deposited in three separate trust fund accounts. They are:

1. The Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund.
2. The Federal Disability Insurance Trust Fund.
3. The Federal Hospital Insurance Trust Fund.

HEARTLINE: I recently elected to take Medicare and am wondering how many days of coverage one may have while in the hospital. Also, how much we have to pay in regard to a hospital stay which could be lengthy. Could you explain? — M.G.

You have up to 90 days for each benefit period. The first 60 days, Medicare covers all hospital charges except for the first $160 in charges. From the 61st through the 90th day, Medicare pays all the charges except $40 per day. These patient share amounts are subject to change on January 1st of each year. After 90 days of continuous stay in the hospital, your benefit period expires, but you can elect to use your 60 Day Lifetime Reserve.

This is 60 more days of coverage in which Medicare pays all the hospital charges except $80 per day (during the calendar year 1979). Once you use all or any part of your 60 Day Lifetime Reserve, that part can never be replaced. For example, if you use 10 days, you would have only 50 days left for use at another time. If you use all 60 days, you will never have any reserve days again. But remember that your regular 90-day benefit period will automatically renew itself after you are out of a hospital or skilled nursing facility for 60 consecutive (or in a row) days.

HEARTLINE: My husband is retiring at age 65 in July. I am age 63 but am still employed. I really love my work and have worked with this company for 12 years. I know I became eligible for my own benefits at age 62, and that when my husband retires, I will be eligible for Social Security wife's benefits on his account. My husband says I should draw wife's benefits, but I have no intention of quitting my job. If I draw wife's benefits, can I still work, or will I have an income restriction as well? — R.C.

You can draw Social Security wife's benefits and continue working. However, you will have income restrictions. You are allowed to earn the same amount as a person drawing regular Social Security retirement, which is $3,480 if you are under age 65 and $4,500 if you are age 65 or older. To earn more would cause you to have to repay an over-payment or stop your benefits altogether.

'Not Even Thinking' About Presidency, Clements Asserts

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says he is not a candidate for president and is not ready at this time to take sides among his friends and supporters who are.

"I have not been considering it. I am not even thinking about it," Clements said Thursday when asked about reports from the Northeast that he might become a "favorite son" candidate.

A "favorite son" candidate would hold Texas delegates' votes, then cast them for a regular candidate at the National Republican Convention.

"I have all I can say grace over here. My plate is full," Clements told a news conference.

Clements added, "It is far too early for me or anyone else to get locked into position. The real race is a year away."

"We have two good Texas candidates" — John Connally and George Bush. "Both are good friends of mine. There are two others, Ronald Reagan and Gerald Ford, who helped me in my campaign," Clements said.

"Under no circumstances will I get into any controversy with any of these candidates at this time," Clements said.

Clements said he had not made up his mind on details of a presidential primary. He has said previously he supports the idea of a preference primary.

"I think this will be much talked about," Clements said. "There are several bills.... This may be the most significant question before the legislature; it could be."

He repeated he would veto any bill that attempts to move the party primary elections back to July, August or September. "That is very clear," he said.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Bill Clayton are backing a measure that calls for a presidential primary in March and changes the dates of the primary elections from May and June to July and August.

Clements also said he wants it made clear he has not yet taken a stand on increasing home mortgage interest rates from 10 percent to 12 percent.

"I'm getting tired of reading that my standing is this or that," Clements heatedly told reporters.

"I have said many, many times that I have not made a determination in this regard. I have received a lot of comment pro and con. I have consistently said that I have not made up my mind," he said.

"And I don't intend to make up my mind this week or next week," Clements added. "I am going to think about it, and anyone who says I am leaning one way or the other is a gross misrepresentation of where I am."

News Briefs

Johnny Rangel, 28, of 1316 33rd St. remained in serious condition Thursday at Methodist Hospital. He was shot in the stomach about 2 a.m. Monday as he was getting out of a car in the 1100-block of 37th Street.

Francisco Diaz Herrera, 28, of Slaton remained in serious condition Thursday at Methodist Hospital with injuries he suffered in a three-car collision southeast of Lubbock early Wednesday.

Truett Mayes of Plainview, executive director of the South Plains Association of Governments, was in serious condition Thursday in the coronary care unit at West Texas Hospital in Plainview. Mayes suffered a heart attack late Wednesday afternoon while in Lubbock.

Appeals Court Declares In Dangerous Job Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — A federal appeals court ruled Thursday that industrial workers have the right to walk off a job they believe is dangerous without fear of punishment by their employers.

The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed lower courts by upholding U.S. Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall's regulation "limiting the power of an employer to discipline or discharge an employee who refuses to work in the good faith belief that to do so would subject him to danger."

The case involved interpretation of the Occupational Safety Health Act of 1970 brought by Empire-Detroit Steel Division, Detroit Steel Corp. and Whirlpool Corp. The corporations contended that Congress specifically refused to include provisions allowing workers to walk off the job with pay or allowing OSHA inspectors to close down plants for safety reasons.

The government contended that three maintenance workers at Whirlpool's Marion, Ohio, plant were within their rights to refuse to perform dangerous work.

Briefs indicated that the workers, who were disciplined, defied an order to work on an overhead screen in the plant believing it dangerous. One worker had already fallen through and was killed.

The screen was installed to protect workers below from appliance parts falling from overhead cranes.

The company ordered the screens repaired following the fatal accident. The company also forbade workers to walk on the weakened sections of the screen until repairs were made. The workers notified the company of plans to complain to the Occupational, Health and Safety Administration when the work was not completed.

The briefs said an irritated supervisor ordered them onto the screen.

The corporations argued that the law prescribes that OSHA inspectors must determine whether working conditions are unsafe before workers can leave.

The appeals court noted that Mine Safety Act permits miners to determine whether their jobs are unsafe and other workers should be afforded the same privilege.

"The district courts have sanctioned an employer's right to make workers choose between their jobs and their lives," the appeals court said.

"We cannot agree that the statute was ever intended to require placing an employee in such an untenable position."

 The case was sent back for trial in U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Ohio.

Citing other precedents, the court said the secretary had wide ranging powers to interpret laws to carry out the intent of Congress, and concluded:
 "A worker should not have to choose between his job and his life without the reasonable safeguard provided by this regulation."

Mitchell Blames Colson, Calls Dean 'Classic Stool Pigeon'

MIAMI (AP) — While in prison, former Attorney General John Mitchell blamed ex-White House counsel Charles Colson for the Watergate scandal and called John Dean "the classic stool pigeon," according to an article in "Miami" magazine.

"If it weren't for him (Colson), Watergate would have never happened," Mitchell is quoted as telling other inmates at the Maxwell Federal Prison Camp in Montgomery, Ala.

"A born-again Christian?" Mitchell is quoted as saying, alluding to Colson's professed religious conversion. "Ha! I'd take my chances with the lions."

Mitchell was released from the federal facility Jan. 19 after serving 19 months of a maximum eight-year sentence for conspiracy, obstruction of justice and lying under oath.

Since then, his whereabouts have been unknown and he was unavailable for comment on the magazine article.

The copyright article, appearing in the magazine's March issue, was written under the pseudonym Ronald James by J. Ronald Beasley, a former Miami television news producer who met Mitchell while serving part of a 14-month sentence for cocaine possession and conspiracy.

The article, titled "Sharing the 'joint' with John Mitchell," says the former attorney emerged as another target of Mitchell.

The article said an inmate once tried to argue in favor of drug use by telling Mitchell that a federal commission headed by Shafer in the early 1970s had recommended decriminalization of marijuana and cocaine.

According to the article, Mitchell criticized both Shafer, a Republican, and the commission's suggestions, saying, "There's nobody in the world going to tell me that marijuana and cocaine are not harmful to the human body."

The magazine also said that Mitchell, nicknamed "Big John" by other inmates, rejected repeated offers to join others in smoking marijuana.

granted parole, effective March 21, his lawyer said Thursday.

Elizabeth Fink, the lawyer, said a job has been lined up for Hill and friends are trying to find an apartment for him, his wife and 3½-year-old son in New York City.

The job is with the Native American Treaty Council, she said. The 26-year-old Hill is of Mohawk-Sjoux heritage, and also uses his Indian name, Dacajeweah.

The job and a place to live were the requirements set when a three-member Parole Board panel announced Wednesday that Hill could go free in a month. He has been held at Sing Sing, in Ossining, according to the Correctional Services Department.

He was found guilty in April 1975 of murdering William Quinn, an Attica guard who was beaten fatally the first day of the riot in which inmates took over part of the prison and held hostages from Sept. 9 to 13, 1971.

Three inmates died of stabbings during the takeover and 29 other prisoners and 10 hostages were killed by police bullets in the bloody assault to retake the prison.

Sewer Fumes Kill Two Workers, Rescuers Overcome

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Two sanitation workers were killed and seven would-be rescuers were overcome by toxic fumes Thursday at an underground city sewage station, police said.

The workers were stricken after they descended below ground to change a pump, said Capt. S.R. DeWitt of the Brevard County sheriff's office.

"Apparently the workers down in the well became overcome with this sulphur gas and the mixtures that go with it," he said.

After the first two workers were overcome, rescuers, including fellow workers, an emergency medical technician and an insurance agent who was passing by, tried descending into the hole, but they, too, were felled, DeWitt said.

Firefighters wearing oxygen masks finally pulled the victims out, he said.

DeWitt said the noxious gas was being analyzed.

Names of victims were withheld until families could be notified. Conditions of the injured were not immediately available, but DeWitt said he believed only two would be hospitalized.

Shah Said In A State Of Shock Over Executions

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — People claiming frequent contact with Iran's exiled Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi in his lightly guarded palace here say he is so much "in a state of shock" over the executions of eight Iranian generals that he cannot plan his own future.

"Many of them had been his close friends for years," said one source.

The sources, who asked not to be identified, said the shah was horrified by the executions on the roof of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's headquarters after brief, secret trials before an Islamic court.

"He felt their brutal killing as a terrible personal loss. He also shares with many Iranians a sense of shame and outrage at the barbarous way in which the generals were put to death, without even the semblance of a proper trial, as an act of vengeance by the new regime."

Another official said the shah regards the executions "as a tragic stupidity by the new regime. Khomeini has no need to indulge in a bloodbath to keep himself in power, because he knows the shah has given up all hope of returning."

The source said the shah fears that "as a result of the executions, Iran's armed forces could disintegrate into an uncontrollable rabble and deprive Khomeini of his only effective instrument for restoring order in the country."

Sources close to the shah said earlier he was considering abdication but would not do so from Morocco.

Moroccan authorities say the shah and his family can stay at the Dar es Salaam (House of Peace) guest palace near Rabat as long as they wish. But privately the Moroccans say that since Morocco has recognized Khomeini's regime, they wish the shah would find another haven.

Diplomatic sources say the shah knows he cannot stay in Morocco indefinitely but has made no decision on where to go.

"He is too shocked for the moment to think about his own future," said a member of the shah's entourage.

He denied a Jordanian press report that the shah has decided to accept an invitation to return to Egypt. President Anwar Sadat's invitation is under review, along with other options, the source said.

The shah first went to Egypt when he fled Iran Jan. 16, and came to Morocco Jan. 22.

Palestine Newsman Joins Tech Hall Of Fame

HALL OF FAME — Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Sellers saw the unveiling of Sellers' portrait Thursday, which will hang in the Texas Tech Mass Communications Hall of Fame. The painting was unveiled by last year's Hall of Fame winner Wendell Mayes. (Staff Photo by Paul Moseley)

Avalanche-Journal Staff
Wayne C. Sellers, editor and publisher of the Palestine Herald Press, was inducted into the Texas Tech University Mass Communications Hall of Fame at a luncheon Thursday at which the guest speaker was a newspaper advertising executive.

Sellers, a 1938 graduate of Tech, compared the honor to the way he felt on graduation day.
"Forty years ago after receiving my diploma I went back to my chair and I cried," Sellers said, adding that "it's going to be difficult to avoid that today."
Sellers' journalism career began as a youth at Brady, where his father owned the newspaper and Sellers grew up in the business.
While a journalism major at Tech he worked as a linotype operator for the university press. After graduation he owned the Moran Enterprise, then enrolled for a year in graduate school at the University of Texas.

He has worked for the Texas Newspaper Publishers Association, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, the San Francisco News, the Sherman Democrat and the Rock Hill (S.C.) Evening Herald. Since 1966, he has been editor and publisher of the Palestine paper.

Sellers is the eighth journalist named to the Hall of Fame. Former honorees include Don Belding, advertising executive; Joe Bryant, broadcast executive; Wally Garets, former chairman of Tech's journalism department; C.W. Ratliff, newspaper and broadcast executive; L.U. "Luke" Kaiser, advertising executive; J. Culver Hill, advertising executive, and Wendell Mayes, radio executive.

Established in 1972, the hall honors Tech alumni and others who have aided the mass communications program at Tech.

Luncheon speaker at the advertising seminar, sponsored by the J. Culver Hill chapter of the American Advertising Federation, was James T. Healy Jr., vice president of the Newspaper Advertising Bureau.

The bureau represents the daily newspaper industry to advertisers. Healy presented a fast-paced slide presentation illustrating why "no medium sells as much as daily newspapers."

Over 100 million adults read a newspaper daily.

Underground Homes Applauded As Top Savers Of Energy

By NANCY ALLEN

"Go underground to save energy" was the word Thursday from Dr. E.W. Kiesling, chairman of Texas Tech's Department of Civil Engineering.

Insulation of housing in the Lubbock area with one foot of earth cover can reduce heating and cooling requirements by 75 percent, said Kiesling, speaking at an energy-saving seminar sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. See EARTH INSULATION Page 10 that controls 46 percent of the purchasing power.

Newspapers also offer consumers coupons to clip, something the electronic media cannot offer. Selective placement of ads in special sections such as sports, food and business pages allow advertisers to concentrate on a specific audience.

Other Thursday activities in the advertising day of Mass Communications Week at Tech included presentations by Chuck Shemely, marketing vice president for Keebler Company; Tom Ross, account supervisor for Leo Burnett, USA, and Ben Bova, fiction editor of OMNI magazine.

It also was announced during Thursday's activities that a gift had been given to the university to establish the L.U. Kaiser Mass Communications Faculty Innovation Award. The gift came from Mrs. L.U. Kaiser of Houston in honor of her late husband, who was an inductee into the Hall of Fame in 1976.

Extensive Advertising Launched New Magazine

By KIM COBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Omni Magazine is an idea whose time has come, according to its science fiction editor Ben Bova — and he says advertisers are making the most of it.

Bova was on the Tech campus Thursday explaining some of the reasons for Omni's financial success after only six months of publication. His presentation was part of the Advertising Day segment of Tech's Mass Communications Week.

Omni is a slick, graphics-oriented magazine aimed at science and science-fiction enthusiasts. Bova credits much of the magazine's success to the guidance of publisher Bob Guccione, the man responsible for Penthouse Magazine's surge in the men's magazine race.

"In a lot of respects, Omni is Bob Guccione," Bova stressed.
"Star Wars generated an enormous interest in science fiction," Bova said. But the success of Star Wars didn't guarantee the success of Omni.

He credits the magazine's success (it turned a profit after only six months publication) to heavy advertising before the magazine's maiden issue. Omni's staff pinpointed three challenges in getting the magazine off the ground — support of advertisers, support of magazine distributors and a large readership.

Omni turned to promotional advertising long before the first issue to announce the magazine's arrival. It was hard to explain to advertisers what the demographics of the readership would be before publication. Bova said, but Omni turned to publications like Harpers, Atlantic Monthly and the New Yorker to emphasize they were expecting a young, educated and reasonably affluent audience.

It Bova's figures are any indication, the magazine's pre-sell advertising did the trick — Omni has been selling about a million copies a month. And according to Bova, making a profit after six months of publication is phenomenal in a business where profit after two years is the norm and profit after one year is considered quite good.

Bova stressed that the magazine is not devoted entirely to science fiction.

"We also get into some unorthodox aspects of science, such as pain. We deal with the not-so-distant future, such as the space shuttle," he said.

"I fully expect passengers on the first space shuttle flight will be given copies of Omni to read," Bova predicted.

Lubbock City Council Accepts Bids For New Fire Station On Slide Road

By SYLVIA TEAGUE
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Lubbock City Council members Thursday awarded a contract for $318,706 for construction of a fire station at 79th Street and Slide Road.

Although the bids were "very good," according to City Manager Larry Cunningham, he said construction of the fire station will cost $22,000 more because of delays in the sale of bonds resulting from a suit by City Hall critic Jimmy Marshall.

Had the construction begun on schedule, Cunningham said the station would have cost about $35 a square foot. Instead, the bid awarded, submitted by Ed Lampe of Lubbock, is for $45 a square foot.

Lampe estimated construction of the fire station could be completed by November.

Bids on the project ranged upward to $365,000.

Also council members voted an increase in fees to reconnect water and electric meters after service has been discontinued for non-payment.

A reconnection fee during regular working hours will increase from $3 to $6 and the after hours fee will be $15.

Lubbock Power and Light director of sales and service Carroll McDonald said the actual cost to Lubbock Power and Light for a reconnection is between $5 and $6 during working hours and about $19 after hours.

The reconnection fees will apply to Southwestern Public Service Company as well as to LP&L.

Council members upheld two Planning and Zoning Commission denials for zone changes.

The appeal of Burl Masters representing C.C. Knott and Morgan Portable Building Corporation to allow portable building sales in an industrial park zone west of Loop 289 and north of Spur 327 was denied.

A motion to uphold the Planning and Zoning Commission denial failed, however, a motion to override received only three of the four necessary votes so the denial was upheld. Councilwoman Carolyn Jordan and Councilman Alan Henry voted to uphold the planning and Zoning Commission.

Also denied was the appeal of John Abney to rezone property south of 56th St. and east of Slide Road to allow duplexes and offices.

The vote was unanimous to uphold Planning and Zoning Commission denial. Later in the meeting, council members are to solicit public comment on a proposed food sanitation ordinance and to discuss the city's participation in the South Plains Association of Governments.

Clements Speaks To Boy Scouts

Gov. Bill Clements will be featured speaker at South Plains Council of Boy Scouts annual banquet today in the Exhibit Hall of the Civic Center.

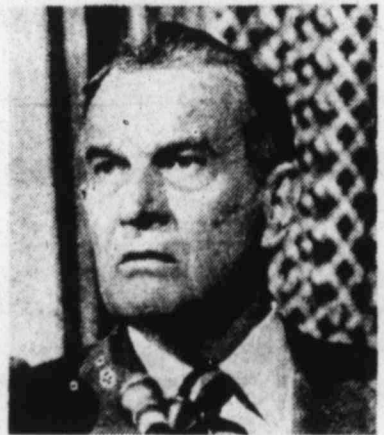

Clements, the first Republican governor in Texas for more than a century, will speak on "Texas — a Bright Star in National Leadership."

Today is the last day tickets will be available for the 7:30 p.m. banquet. In addition to featuring Clements, South Plains scouts will present the Silver Beaver Awards for adult service to scouting and award five scouts the medal of merit for assisting in saving the life of another scout last summer.

Clements is an Eagle Scout and member of the National Executive Board of Boy Scouts. He founded Sedco, Inc., and served as director of the Keebler Co.

He is a member of the board of trustees and the board of governors, which he once served as chairman, of Southern Methodist University, his alma mater.

Tickets are available at Furr's Family Center, Hemphill-Wells and Latham's in Lubbock; Collins Department Stores in Brownfield, Lamesa and Denver City; Marse and Son in Plainview and Cobb's in Muleshoe.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

BY
DR. PAUL E. RUBLE

Dear Dr. Ruble: Would you please discuss facelifts? I am 48 and my eyelids have excess flesh and are wrinkled. It certainly detracts from my appearance. How safe is the surgery to correct this, seeing as how it is so close to the eye itself?

Also, how long does healing take, and would I have to take time off or have it done on my vacation? — Mrs. L.B.R.

You are talking about several different problems, not all of which can be corrected by a facelift. I gather you have not discussed this with a plastic surgeon, which is the place to start. He will tell you what is possible and what is not. I can only generalize here.

The facelift merely tightens skin around the face and neck. The eyelids are an entirely different matter. They are not helped by a facelift. As a matter of fact, different procedures are required to correct either upper or lower lid imperfections. A drooping upper lid may obstruct vision and that can be corrected by removing excess skin there. The lower lid problem results from protrusion of tissue underneath the skin, not the skin itself. This can be corrected by removing the bulging tissue.

You can see why I referred to different problems, different solutions. It is doubtful that all would be corrected at the same time. Some results are spectacular, but time does march on and none lasts forever. I have seen some women who managed to look five, even 10 years younger.

The healing time, including that required for skin discoloration to disappear is from two to three weeks. With proper timing, a month's vacation and a healthy savings account, you should be able to manage it.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I'm a 57-year-old woman. I have started to notice that when I get up in the morning my fingers (the joints) are swollen. I am told this may be a sign of rheumatoid arthritis. True? — Mrs. D.B.

It can be an early sign. About 90 percent of R.A. patients report this. The time to begin control is now, if that is what it is.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I am 26, stand 5-11 and weigh 140 pounds. I feel I should weigh at least 160 pounds. I am in good physical condition, but am thin in the arms and legs particularly. I eat well. I have started trying to eat between meals but notice no improvement. What can you tell me? — Mr. T.K.

Not much to tell you, since I suspect you are just hereditarily thin. You can't argue with hereditary slimness. Those who do usually end up learning to their regret just where those extra pounds end up. I don't have to tell you, do I?

Dear Dr. Ruble: If a man has genital herpes, can he pass it on to a woman? Can she get cancer from herpes? — C.

There is a chance a woman might get the infection if there is contact (intercourse). The virus causes many little painful blisters. Healing takes from two to three weeks. Then the virus remains dormant (inactive) and is not contagious until the next outbreak of blisters. Sex should be avoided at this time. The cancer question is a bit more iffy and difficult to answer definitely. There is thought to be an increased frequency of cancer of the cervix (mouth of the womb) in herpes patients. The woman with this should be checked periodically thereafter.

TARTAR SAUCE

Make your own Tartar Sauce for fish and save on calories. To one cup of dairy sour cream or yogurt, add two tablespoons, each, chili sauce and chopped dill pickle. Add any of these other seasonings, as desired: two tablespoons, each, chopped onion, green pepper or parsley; a tablespoon of lemon juice, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, salt and pepper to taste.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I had my annual checkup, and for the first time my cholesterol is 280 and my triglycerides 134. I am 50 years old with a blood pressure of 140/70. My weight is 120 pounds and I am of average height. I would like your opinion about my blood test, and if there is something to do to lower the fat content of my blood. — M.M.

Your blood fats are within normal limits and your weight and blood pressure seem OK. Congratulations. Enjoy your good health. Lab results often vary depending on who's doing the measuring. If your readings are close to the figures you have you are OK.

Dear Doctor: If a person has pneumonia once, will a second attack kill him? — Mrs. O.R.

No. Most pneumonias if adequately treated leave no lasting lung damage. Your idea is not original.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. For a copy of the booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications, write to Dr. Ruble, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Do I have the right to tell my grandmother that she can't smoke in my new car? (It's second-hand, actually, but it's new to me.)
I got this car a week ago and laid the law down to the whole family. NO SMOKING IN MY CAR. Both my mother and my grandmother smoke. I hate it but I have to put up with it in the house because I have no choice. But I don't think I should have to put up with it in my car.
I bought the car with gift money — some of it from my grandmother — and the rest from what I earned working two summers. (I'm 17 now.)
My grandmother lit a cigarette just before getting into my car yesterday and I asked her to put it out. She refused. We got into an argument and she slapped my face and hailed a taxi.
This whole thing has become gross. My mother says I am disrespectful — that Grandma isn't going to change and I shouldn't be such a bull-headed, smart-aleck punk. What do you say? — No Exceptions Allowed

Now what? I'm 56. "A" is 62. He has been a good husband and our children are gone. Should I divorce him? Yes or no? — Second to Sister

Dear S.S.: I wouldn't make a yes or no decision of this kind for anybody. First: I'm not sure a guilty look is solid evidence. Second: If he did admit it, ask yourself the question — would your life be better with him or without him? Only you can decide.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

A mother of a high school junior was lamenting the other night about the cost of class rings. She ended her argument against them by saying, "Does anyone ever know what happens to them?"

I know. Class rings are what you take off every time you wash your hands the first week you have them...and after that are never seen again.

Class rings are what are lost before you check for them clears the bank.

Class rings are what makes the strange noise in your washing machine and what you paid $26 to a washer repairman to retrieve from under the pulsator.

Class rings are what you wear to bed and your hands swell and everyone panics and gives you advice on how to get it off and when you lather up your hands with soap, it falls off into the commode.

Class rings (belonging to boys) dangle from chains in cleavages of girls as a promise of commitment against the day when both of you pass Tragedies of Shakespeare and are ready to make a life together.

Class rings (belonging to girls) dangle from the first knuckle of the baby finger of boys who say they'll wear them forever...and are later found in their gym bags.

Class rings are what you take the plumbing apart for when you don't know how to put the plumbing back again, and discover the class ring in the glove compartment of the car.

Class rings are the mark of identity and camaraderie when sighted by a stranger who says, "Hey, I see by your ring you went to Farnsworth High," and you say, "No, this is Rucknell's ring," and discover they're both alike.

Class rings are what were thrown into a drawer when mood rings came out.

Class rings are what college freshman leave home along with their letter sweater when they go away to college.

Class rings are what multiply, grow feet and appear in the knife and fork drawer, the sewing basket, tied to a blind cord, and in the corner of the bathtub.

Class rings are what are discovered quite by accident by a mother who rubs her fingers over it gently, slips it on her finger, and for a moment relives that time of her life when the end of an era was sealed with a ring.

As North tabled the dummy he remarked, "Nineteen points plus a ten spot should be enough to give you a good play for seven."

South replied: "You should learn to count. All you have is seventeen in high cards."

Even with 19, North would have been stretching things a trifle and with 17 he really had South in trouble. Fortunately for North and South, West had been taught to lead fourth best of his longest and strongest suit against notrump and opened the deuce of spades. Dummy's 10 held the trick and South was in business. All he needed was to collect four tricks in either red suit and he was home. This was a high-level game and South did not visualize a squeeze, but he did stumble into one. He started with diamonds and cashed his tops while West chucked a couple of little clubs. Then he decided to run the good clubs. West had to make two discards. The first was easy — a low spade. The second was not so easy. He had to chuck a heart and South had his 13th trick.

Crime Prevention Task Force Forming

By KAY BELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

An 18-member "crime prevention task force" will meet Tuesday morning to outline a comprehensive crime prevention program for Lubbock County that they hope will be funded by a federal grant.

But The Avalanche-Journal learned that city officials already have contacted the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration about applying for the same grant to fund a city crime prevention program.

Hal Hensley, administrator of the district attorney's office, told approximately 40 county representatives Thursday that 15 to 20 LEAA grants of $200,000 to $300,000 each are available to finance comprehensive crime prevention programs for medium-sized urban areas.

He said that Lubbock County could be a major contender for one of the grants if all area programs are effectively coordinated, but that the grant application deadline is March 15.

While a county-wide program to decrease crime would be easier with the federal monies, both Montford and Hensley said that even if the county is unable to acquire a grant, some type of crime prevention system is needed.

The city's interest in the LEAA grant was prompted earlier this month when council members requested funds from the South Plains Association of Government for a city-wide crime prevention program. SPAG officials, however, gave the request a low priority and it is not expected to be funded.

"It became readily apparent after the first of the year, that even with the splendid cooperation of the county's law enforcement agencies, that we can not effectively combat crime unless we wage a two-front war," Montford said.

While officers and the district attorney's office are primarily involved with "after the fact" crime, Montford said, the burgeoning crime rate cannot be reduced unless steps are taken to prevent criminal activity.

Montford said his office wants to "bring all (area) crime prevention programs under one roof to eliminate duplication of effort and spending."

"Our goal is not to take over crime prevention," Montford said, "but to cooperate and coordinate so we won't come out competing in the final analysis."

The district attorney said his ultimate goal in crime prevention is to coordinate all efforts so that the county "will be organized down to the block."

Task force members hope to act as coordinators of the county-wide system, providing information on the various programs, studying effective crime prevention programs in other cities and preventing duplicate efforts where unnecessary.

Among the members named to the task force Thursday were Lubbock Mayor Dirk West, Sheriff C.H. "Choc" Blanchard, Rape Crisis Center Director Becky Mahan, Capt. Frank Wiley of the Lubbock Police Department, Better Business Bureau Director Mal Cleland, and Frank McGlaun of the Chamber of Commerce and coordinator of the Crime Abatement Program hotline.

Representatives from Slaton, Shallowater, New Deal, Idalou, Texas Tech University, Lake Ransom Canyon, Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock Apartment Association, Citizens' Crime Committee, Lubbock Crime Prevention Association and Lubbock Independent School District also were appointed to the task force.

The bulk of Thursday's hour-long meeting consisted of these representatives outlining their community's or groups these programs at their 7 a.m. Tuesday current crime prevention programs. meeting in the Lubbock County Court-house grand jury room.

The task force is expected to synthesize

Task Force Recommends 75 Changes In U.S. Postal Operation

By LISA PAIKOWSKI
Avalanche-Journal Staff

An Industry-Postal Service Task Force has recommended changes in some 75 post office regulations and has suggested new procedures in order to improve service and hold down postal costs and rates.

Many of the recommendations are of a specialized or technical nature. Some will reduce costs in printing plants and mailrooms and others will improve transportation services, provide more timely delivery of publications and reduce Postal Service handling costs.

Lubbock Postmaster Elmer Reed Jr. said the task force study "was a very legitimate attempt to find out what the public wants by using the private sector and intermingling postal employees who have the opportunity to gather this knowledge and use it."

The task force included 85 representatives of the book, record, publishing and other industries. Some of the companies represented were Book of the Month Club, Newsweek, RCA Direct Marketing, Time Inc., and Christian Science Monitor.

The special committee resulted from a series of meetings organized by Postmaster General William F. Bolger in the spring of 1978 with the industry representatives to get input on suggested improvements in postal service.

Many of the recommendations were attempts at "simplifying as much as possible the second-class rates," Reed said. He said that second-class mail, which consists largely of newspapers and magazines, is currently governed by a complicated set of regulations.

Some of the suggested changes are: combination of second-class and controlled-circulation publications into one

"International Publications" class, development of a single rate of postage for mailings where two classes of mail are combined into one piece and the optional use of electronic funds transfer systems for payment of postage.

Though most of the changes affect business mailings, Reed said that the public is affected also because "it allows business to stabilize their costs postage-wise and that will be of benefit to all users of the mail. Postal rates eventually reflect subscription rates."

The Postal Service has acted upon 13 recommendations which could be adopted administratively and is currently reviewing 41 others which could be adopted in coming months.

Reed said some of the changes will involve legislation, some have to be advertised in the Federal Register for a certain amount of time to encourage comments and opinions and some will have to be submitted to the independent Postal Rate Commission.

Other than the 75 rules cited for change by the task force, Postmaster General

William F. Bolger said, "There are literally hundreds of other regulations that we are scrutinizing. Many of these date from the beginning of this century and bear no relationship to the way the Postal Service and its customers today do business."

In another effort to reduce costs, the Board of Governors of the Post Office has approved on a temporary basis a new classification for bulk parcel post.

The rates in the new subclass are 17 percent lower, on the average, than the regular parcel post rates.

Hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

How does one clean a spray, seam and dry iron?

At times mine spurts brown spots and I'm afraid it will harm something.

I feel if anyone can help me, you can, with your vast store of information and wonderful hints. — Mary Flynn and friends after you've moved to give them your new address and phone number, or to settle last-minute accounts. — Doris Manning

Well, Mary, with that resounding vote of confidence, I'll just have to. There are many products on the market that clean steam irons; however, if you prefer to use a home method, you might try mine.

Pour plain vinegar into the iron — the same amount as when you use water — and let it steam for about five minutes.

Then disconnect the iron and let it sit awhile. Empty the vinegar and rinse thoroughly with water.

Be sure to wipe the bottom of the iron before using it, as some of the sediment might come through the little holes in the bottom. I always run the iron over a damp washcloth before using it.

Some irons are just entirely too clogged and must be taken to a repairman. But before you get your dander up and throw away those hard-earned pennies, try my method first. Hugs! — Heloise

HINTS FROM HIM

DEAR HELOISE:

My wife recently wanted the refrigerator pulled out so it could be cleaned out in back and beneath the refrigerator.

It wasn't an easy task! But between the two of us, we succeeded. I wondered if there could be an easier way and then the thought occurred to me to wax the floor where the refrigerator would be sitting.

Sure enough, it was a lot easier to push it back in place. — Norman Schlaifer

DEAR HELOISE:

One of the messiest kitchen-cleaning jobs — the stove after frying — can be made absurdly simple with a simple paper-towel before using a soapy sponge. Wet-scrubbing a breeze. — Barbara Zimper

DEAR HELOISE:

I have three teen-age daughters and laundry day brought about confusion as to who the pantyhose and knee-high nylons belonged to.

Now, as new nylons are purchased, I use my tube of liquid embroidery and put the initial of the owner on the waistband. If they are knee-highs, I put the initial on the band at the top. Sure saves lots of problems.

Keep up the good work. — Joanne Ford

DEAR HELOISE:

I have a daughter 17 months old, and whenever she does or says something new, I go straight to my calendar and write it down on the day it occurred.

Then, when I have a few minutes to myself, I write it in her baby book. — J.D.

DEAR HELOISE:

We have a son and his family living far away, and whenever we take a trip and stop at the different restaurants, we always save a placemat and write letters to them on the back of the placemats.

They not only enjoy seeing where we have been, but it's a good way to keep in touch. — B.H.

Reese Commander Earns Star, Command Post

By GERRY BURTON
Avalanche-Journal Staff

"All you have to do with good people is give them encouragement and support and then stay out of their way."

Letting those in his command do their own thing under his "delegation and expectation" management philosophy worked for Col. Charles E. Bishop as he said it would when he assumed command of Reese Air Force Base in May, 1977.

A general's star for the wing commander and a number of outstanding designations for Reese units and individuals are among rewards of the system for Bishop, who is transferring to the top spot at Holloman AFB, N.M.

At Holloman, Bishop will be in charge of tactical training. He probably will be promoted to brigadier general when a slot opens later this spring.

Bishop will relinquish command of the 8th Flying Training Wing at 10 a.m. Saturday. He will turn the command over to Gen. John W. Roberts, commander of the Air Training Command, who will turn the Reese reins over to Col. Richard A. Ingram.

"His own leadership philosophy, Bishop noted, is an extension of Robert's in delegating authority for operating an air training command base.

"In the official management of the base and areas Pat (Mrs. Bishop) has influenced, the biggest thrust of our task in leadership and management has been to create and maintain an atmosphere at Reese where people could live and work in the lowest level of frustration and the highest level of self-esteem," Bishop explained.

"People bloom under that philosophy," he said, adding that a leader who gives encouragement and support while allowing others the latitude to do their own jobs will get it back.

"Without that support in your command, you don't get a chance to command again," he said, alluding to his own step forward to a bigger command.

"The very complete and thorough support the people at Reese and in the Lubbock community gave us led to the promotion."

His philosophy's success shows in recent awards for the civil engineering branch and the information program as outstanding in ATC and for the social actions office as outstanding among smaller ATC bases. Units and individuals receiving ATC citations will compete for Air Force-wide honors.

Neither the individual nor group awards won the honors alone, Bishop said, explaining, "I ought to take my stars, give one to Pat and divide the other among my deputy commanders."

The Bishops gave their time first to base endeavors, then assisted in community affairs with Mrs. Bishop serving on a number of Lubbock boards, working with the symphony and also with the upcoming Lubbock Arts Festival.

Bishop, a native of East Millinocket, Maine, came to Reese From Craig AFB, Ala., where he was wing commander until the base closed.

The 1953 graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point won his wings at Greenville AFB, Miss., and has 4,600 hours of flying time.

Overseas assignments included flying the F-86 and the F-105 on two tours in Okinawa and duty as operations officer of the 354th Tactical Fighter Squadron at Takhli Royal Thai AFB in Thailand.

Other duties have included operations staff officer in the fighter division at U.S. Air Force Headquarters at the Pentagon.

His decorations include the Silver Star, the Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Distinguished Flying Cross with four clusters, the Meritorious Service Medal and the Air Medal with 14 clusters.

THEIR WESTERN CORNER — When they were married at Reese Air Force Base in 1977, Charles and Pat Bishop decided to collect Art native to the area of their next assignment. They already are ahead of their upcoming New Mexico assignment with lithographs and book by San Patricio artist Peter Hurd. (Staff Photo)

Texas Driller Hits Gusher In Kansas

SITKA, Kan. (UPI) — A Texan has struck what Kansas officials say could be one of the best oil wells in 20 years in southwest Kansas, producing 816 barrels during a recent 12-hour test.

The No. 2-20 Moore well, in eastern Clark County, was completed by Mesa Petroleum Co. of Amarillo about two weeks ago, but has been shut down pending a hearing before the Kansas Corporation Commission. That hearing, required by Kansas regulations, will determine how much oil the well can pump daily.

KCC oil specialist Roger Post said he had not seen a well to match the No. 2-20 Moore in the 16 years he has worked for the KCC. "It's probably the largest one in 20 years or so."

But until the KCC designates the well, no more than 68 barrels of oil can be pumped daily. After the March hearing, whose outcome depends partially on well spacing, the new well could be allowed to pump up to 192 barrels daily.

Earth Insulation Hailed As Good Energy Conserver

ice. He added he feels the "savings could go well beyond that."

Structural requirements of a house supporting such earth weight would obviously be greater, Kiesling said, but he noted there are "too many variables" to predict how much "earth-sheltered" houses would cost on an average.

One underground house, called "Ashford House," is under construction in Muleshoe.

Considering the rapid escalation in fossil fuel costs, Kiesling foresees solar energy will become cost competitive with traditional heating and cooling methods for the average home.

At present, he said, solar water and space heating cannot compete with natural gas, but it does well in cost comparisons against electrical water and space heat.

Solar cooling, Kiesling said, is not cost competitive with traditional methods.

Heating water, because of its relatively constant demand, said Kiesling, is the most economical use of solar energy, followed by space heating. Solar devices can provide cooling, he said, but the cost of installing the device far outweighs its benefits.

"Don't expect solar energy to meet the total energy demands of the home," said Kiesling. It can provide from 90 to 95 percent of the total water heat and up to 75 percent of total space heat requirements. "Beyond that," he said, "the efficiency of the system drops markedly."

Cost of solar energy varies, Kiesling said, but he estimated water heating for a family of four would cost from $2,000 to $2,500. Space heating could cost an average of $3 to $4 per square foot "assuming a well-insulated house," he said.

Insulation should be the first priority, he added.

Kiesling blamed the high cost of installation and a lack of experience in marketing and reselling houses equipped with solar energy devices for their being relatively few in number.

The seminar, underway in the Municipal Garden and Arts Center at 4215 University Ave., will continue through 4 p.m. today.

It includes speakers on a variety of topics dealing with saving energy as well as displays of energy-efficient devices and appliances.

A DAILY MESSAGE FROM
The Newspaper Bible.

Luke 10:34-42. The Living Bible

34 Kneeling beside him, the Samaritan soothed his wounds with medicine and bandaged them. Then he put the man on his donkey and walked along beside him till they came to an inn. He nursed him through the night,

35 And the next day he handed the innkeeper two twenty-dollar bills and told him to take care of the man. 'If his bill runs higher than that,' he said, 'I'll pay the difference the next time I am here.'

36 Now which of these three would you say was a neighbor to the bandits' victim?"

37 The man replied, "The one who showed him some pity."

Then Jesus said, "Yes, now go and do the same."

38 As Jesus and the disciples continued on their way to Jerusalem, they came to a village where a woman named Martha welcomed them into her home.

39 Her sister Mary sat spellbound on the floor, listening to Jesus as He talked.

40 But Martha was the jittery type, and was worrying over the big dinner she was preparing. She came to Jesus and said, "Sir, doesn't it seem unfair to You that my sister just sits there while I do all the work? Make her come and help me."

41 But the Lord said to her, "Martha, dear friend, you are so upset over all these details!

42 There is really only one thing worth your concern. Mary has chosen it — and I won't take it away from her!"

Sports In Brief

Fems To Open Cinder Season

CANYON (Special) — Texas Tech women will open the 1979 track season in a three-day indoor meet with hostess West Texas State and Abilene Christian University here today. "We should be strong against West Texas," reported Tech coach Beta Little. "They have a small squad, so depth is a problem. Abilene Christian will give us the competition, especially in the distance events."

City Wrestling Tournament Set

The city high school wrestling tournament will be held at the Chapman gym located on 22nd and W. Feb. 28-March 1. The matches will begin both days at 4 p.m. Wrestlers from Coronado, Dunbar, Estacado, Lubbock High and Monterey will be competing in 12 weight classes. Admission is free.

Church League Teams Sought

The YMCA church volleyball and softball leagues will kick off their seasons in March and April respectively. All churches interested in participating in the co-ed volleyball league must register at the YMCA by March 5. Registration materials may be picked up for both junior and senior high and adult divisions. League play will begin March 12. An orientation meeting for the church softball session will take place Monday at 7 p.m. This year's first season will run from April to June and include junior and senior high school boys, and junior and senior high school girls fast pitch. Registration deadline for the first season is March 12. For more information contact the YMCA at 762-0588.

LCHS Teams in TAPS Event

ABELINE (Special) — The Lubbock Christian High School boys and girls basketball teams will compete in the Texas Association of Private Schools (TAPS) basketball championships today at Moody Coliseum on the Abilene Christian College campus. The LCHS girls will enter the tournament with the best record in the four-year history of the program. The LCHS girls will bring a 9-19 record on to the court against Dallas Christian at 1:30 p.m. The LCHS boys (28-5) will face Houston Northwest at 3 p.m. Northwest will bring a 22-6 mark into the game. If both LCHS teams are successful in first round action, the two squads will advance to the finals Saturday night. The girls championship game is slated for 6 p.m., with the boys typos to follow at 7:30 p.m.

Wadkins Leads LA Open Field

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lanny Wadkins said it was tough getting up at 5 a.m. for a near-dawn tee-off, but his luck of the draw held up as he fired a 5-under-par 66 to take the first-round lead in the $250,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament Thursday.

Swim Meet Marks Fall

State records fell in all eight events Thursday night as the University of Texas and Houston pulled away from the pack in TAIAW swimming and diving championships at Texas Tech's Aquatic Center. UT amassed 414 points, winning all five individual swimming events. Joan Pennington and Diane Girard paced the Horns with two wins each. The meet, which continues through Saturday night, resumes today starting at 11 a.m. The prelims and finals are set for a 7 p.m. start.

The latter won this event in 1976 and holds the tournament record at 72. "The course played longer because it was still wet from yesterday's rain, but the greens held so that evened things out," commented the 29-year-old leader from Advance, N.C. Hinkle, winner of the Bing Crosby tournament this year, lost his chance to tie for the lead and score seven consecutive birdies when a four-foot putt failed to drop on the eighth hole. His birdie string started at the sixth when he dropped a six-foot putt followed by a 10-footer on the seventh, a two-footer on the ninth, a 25-footer at the 10th, an 18-inch tap at the 11th and a 12-footer at the 12th. Then he bogeyed the 13th with a sliced tee shot.

Schoolboys In Action

High school playoff basketball action comes to the Lubbock Memorial Coliseum and the Texan Dome in Levelland today, as boys teams enter regional competition.

Class AA and A teams will gather in Lubbock for a two-day tournament, while Class B squads battle things out in Levelland in regional championships.

Vega, which had to come back from a district playoff to win a tournament, will take on Stratford in the first game of the Class A tournament beginning at 4:30 p.m. Vega will bring a 23-6 record, against Stratford's 17-4 mark.

Vega defeated Hale Center 61-51 in bi-district Tuesday night, and Stratford won over Clarendon 52-50.

At 6 p.m., Iraan, standing 15-5 after stopping Stanton 52-51 in bi-district, will go against Hamlin, now 22-3 after a win over Crowell 68-67.

Dimmitt, with a 23-5 record, will go against Perryton of 2-AA in a 7:30 p.m. game, with Seminole at 36-10 going against Kermit, 15-7 at 9 p.m. Seminole defeated Ballinger 54-49 in bi-district and Kermit advanced.

Greenwood will have the flashiest record in the Class B tournament at SPC. The school will bring a 25-0 mark into the competition.

Play begins at 2:30 p.m., Friday, when San Elizario (21-7) goes against Lefors (26-3) of 3-B. Greenwood, coming out of 1-B will take on Channing, which has compiled a 24-8 record in winning 1-B.

At 7 p.m. Friday, Sands, with a 30-4 record, will play Nazareth 23-5. And Whitharral, 23-8 after winning from Southland Tuesday night in bi-district, will play Motley County, 16-3.

Brett Returns To Kansas City

FORT MYERS, Fla. — Third baseman George Brett of the Kansas City Royals will be sent back to Kansas City for an examination Monday of an old hand injury that plagued him last season.

The Royals said their All-Star third baseman would return to Kansas City Sunday to be examined by Dr. Bijl Benson, a specialist who has treated Brett previously.

Brett, who has been working out in the Kansas City Royals early camp, was given the green light Tuesday by an orthopedic surgeon in Florida to practice at full capacity, but he told club officials today that there was still a small bone chip on Brett's right thumb.

Broberg Inks With Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES — Much-traveled veteran pitcher Pete Broberg has been signed to a one-year contract by the Los Angeles Dodgers, club vice president Al Campanis announced Thursday.

The 28-year-old Broberg, who played out his option last season with Oakland, posted a 10-12 record with a 4.61 earned run average with the A's.

Unable to agree to a contract with the four teams which drafted him in the first re-entry draft last year, Broberg was selected by only one club, Cleveland, in the second re-entry draft on Feb. 15 — thus becoming a free agent able to negotiate with any team.

Baltimore Ace Ready For Action

MIAMI — Baltimore Orioles pitcher Jim Palmer, who complained of a strained back muscle, showed up for an informal workout Thursday and pronounced himself cured after throwing lightly.

Palmer, the Orioles' eight-time 20-game winner who missed most of spring training last year because of a sore shoulder, left his workout at Miami Stadium Wednesday, saying he strained the muscle while he was loosening up.

"I'm cured today (Thursday)," Palmer said when he returned to work out. "It must have just been a muscle spasm."

He said he planned to participate Friday when the Orioles pitchers and catchers report for their first official workout in spring training.

Padres Sign Free Agent Catcher

SAN DIEGO — The San Diego Padres announced Thursday the signing of free agent catcher Fred Kendall, who rejoins the National League club after a two year absence. Kendall, one of the original Padres and the club's Most Valuable Player in 1973, was selected by San Diego in last November's free agent draft.

Rozelle Lauded By Cowboy Boss

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry Thursday praised NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle for conceding that a referee was wrong on a crucial interference call against Dallas in the Cowboys' 35-31 loss to Pittsburgh in Super Bowl XIII.

"I think it's important, if you are going to recognize that players, coaches and officials are all human and make errors, that you go ahead and admit it when a mistake is made," Landry said.

Rozelle commented in a letter to a

Cowboy fan that was printed Thursday by Dallas Times Herald sports columnist Blackie Sherrod.

Landry and others in the Cowboy organization said they had not previously heard Rozelle's view, and said they were glad he put it on the record.

"If you're wrong, you're wrong, and I think you should admit it. The thing I hate to see is a coverup," Landry said.

The controversial call came when Pittsburgh Steeler receiver Lynn Swann and Barnes both fell chasing a long pass from Terry Bradshaw.

The judgment by field judge Fred Swearingen brought Pittsburgh to the Dallas 23-yard line — a 33-yard gain that Landry, the Cowboys and some of the Pittsburgh squad later called "the key play" in the game.

The Steelers scored, and on the ensuing kickoff, Dallas fumbled and Pittsburgh added another quick TD for a 35-17 lead.

"We all knew that was a bad call, but I'm glad he (Rozelle) did admit it was a bad call. The bad part is it can't change anything. I just hope in future games they go to an instant replay or something on a questionable call like that," Barnes said.

Mrs. Winifred Hale of Forney, Texas, had written Rozelle to express "my dismay over the poor officiating at the Super Bowl."

Rozelle replied that after viewing films of the play, "We are of the opinion that there should have been no penalty called on the Swann-Barnes play in the Super Bowl."

Cagers Honored

TULIA (Special)—District 4-AA champion Tulia placed the most members on the All-District team, including the most valuable player.

Tulia had four players selected to the loop squad, with Russell Webb chosen the MVP. Others from Tulia to be honored included Ronnie Fox, Paul Lacey, and Eddie Hawthorne.

From Abernathy, Lee McCune, Dean McGuire, Scott Morrison were named to the team. Idolous was represented by Ricky Hobbs and Dennis Green. Floydada had Kary Helms and Mac Collins on the team, while Danny Riddle was the lone Lockney cager selected.

Raiders Set For Road Trip

SEGUIN (Special) — Texas Tech, weathered out last weekend but successful in opening earlier this week, will take on Texas Lutheran College today to open a two-day baseball trip to South Texas.

The Raiders and TLC will start today's doubleheader at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Tech will move on to San Antonio and play St. Mary's University in a pair of games.

Tech will be shooting for a second doubleheader sweep today, having clipped Hardin-Simmons 5-1, 7-5 last Monday after having four games erased by weather last Friday and Saturday.

Raiders coach Kal Segrist plans to pitch Robert Bryant and Gary Moyer in today's games, then come back with Steve Ibarra and Gil Goulding in Saturday's games.

Moyer was credited with one of Monday's victories, the other win going to James Miller.

Today's game will be the second of the year for TLC, after it opened the season with a win over Trinity.

"Our games (today and Saturday) will be against two of the toughest NATA teams in the country," commented Segrist. "We will have to play our best to beat both of them. It will take playing sound baseball and better pitching than we got Monday (against H-SU) and continuous improvement in our overall play."

Tech showed good power in the opening doubleheader, with John Keller coming out of the games with a homer and double. Tech rapped out six doubles in the two games, among its 16 hits.

Five errors marred the Raiders' performance defensively, however.

Keller, who will open in center field, drove in 3 Tech runs, with Larry Selby and Bobby Kohler getting 2 RBIs each.

Segrist is expected to go with a lineup of Randy Newton in right field, Keller in center, Selby in left field, Rusty Laughlin at third base, Brooks Wallace at shortstop, Johnny Vestal at second, Craig Noonan at first, and Dan Hejl or Kevin Rucker catching.

NY Hires Head Boss

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — The New York Giants, cellar dwellers five of the last six National Football League seasons, hired San Diego Chargers offensive coordinator Ray Perkins Thursday as their fifth head coach in the last decade.

Perkins, 37, succeeds John McVay, who was fired Dec. 18 following a 6-10 season. He was selected for the Giants job by General Manager George Young, who himself was only hired one week ago by the club, which had been searching for a director of operations and coach for two months.

The length and terms of Perkins' contract were not revealed, although it's believed he signed for three years.

"I'm just a country boy from Mississippi who went to Alabama and played a little bit at Baltimore," said Perkins, who inherits a club that hasn't qualified for the National Football League playoffs in 15 years. "I've had aspirations to be a head coach since high school and seriously since my sophomore year in college."

Perkins is regarded as an offensive football genius and is given much of the credit for San Diego's offensive revival in the second half of last season.

The Chargers compiled a 7-1 mark over the final half of the season, scoring 213 points, an average of 26.5 a game. They tied the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers for the best mark over the second half of the season.

"The offense is determined by the strength or weakness of the defense," he said. "If you have a strong defense you can do a lot more things. If it's weak, you have to do things to keep the ball away from the other team. I expect to throw the ball."

Perkins' offensive philosophy is in direct contrast to McVay's. The Giants have one of the stronger defenses in the NFL but an offense that averaged just 16 points a game. McVay favored a conservative offense, minimizing turnovers, in order to keep the Giants defense in good field position.

Young and Perkins struck up a lasting friendship while Perkins was a talented wide receiver and Young a Colts' offensive assistant coach. Young, however, refused to admit that the friendship influenced his decision.

"We are all in agreement totally that we found the best guy available for the New York Giants at the present time," said the 48-year-old Young.

"We picked the best guy available for the job. I have lots of friends I love dearly that I wouldn't hire. The only phone call I've made to him in my life was when I called him to ask him if he wanted to interview for the Giants job."

"Besides, there's a generation gap and he doesn't want to fool around with an old guy. This was a business decision made with the head, not the heart."

Perkins' 'Dream' Comes True

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Ray Perkins said he first began to think about becoming a football coach during his high school days in Mississippi.

"It was a childhood thing," he said. "I always tried to be a fairly inquisitive guy."

George Young, the New York Giants general manager, recalled a day in Baltimore nine years ago when he was convinced that Perkins' aspirations would

Martin In Yank Camp

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Fiery Billy Martin arrived at the New York Yankees' spring training camp Thursday, seeking to iron out an agreement with owner George Steinbrenner that would enable him to return as Yankee manager in 1980.

Martin was hopeful of securing a two-year contract. "We (Martin and his agent, Doug Newton) haven't had a chance to talk to George," the former manager explained. "I'm sure when I or Doug sit down with George, we'll finalize the whole thing, which I want to get done. We've been trying to get hold of him, but he's been quite busy with his shipyards or something."

Martin resigned as Yankee manager in August, 1978 after the he denounced Steinbrenner as a "convicted liar." Several days later, at the Yankees' annual Old Timers Day, it was announced that Martin would return to the Yankees in 1980.

Tag-Team Match Highlights Card

A six-man, tag-team match highlights the card in wrestling action at the Fair Park Coliseum tonight. The action begins at 8 p.m.

Black The team of Black Jack Mulligan, Merced Solis and Teddy DiBiase will wrestle Mr. Pogo, Akio Sato and Grizzly Boone in the six men tag team competition. Alex Perex and Manny Fernandez will battle Dennis Stamp and Stan Lane in a second tag team match. In other action, Larry Lane will face Ratamius, and Tank Patton will go against Bill Ashe.

eventually be realized. "I used to work down in the pits with the offensive line," Young said Thursday after the Giants named the 37-year-old Perkins, the San Diego Chargers offensive coordinator, as head coach.

Perkins was a talented wide receiver in those days while Young was the Colts' offensive line coach.

"A wide receiver whispered in my ear, asking questions about how to pick up the blitz. That stuck in the back of my mind. It was rare for a pro player," said the rotund 48-year-old Young, who selected Perkins to succeed the fired John McVay.

"Wide receivers aren't supposed to be interested in what the press calls the unskilled players. But Ray knew that without them, we wouldn't have the skilled players. It was important to me that the guy thought about being a coach when he was a player and thought about the game," Young related.

Perkins career was cut short by a knee injury in 1972. He became the receivers coach for Mississippi State in 1973.

"After he couldn't run, he got a coaching job right away. He went back to college and learned how to coach. I'm very impressed with his record," Young added.

"I was a player that tried to learn about the game — and not just from the players' standpoint," Perkins said. "I felt I was ready for a head coaching job in 1973, but not really solid. I felt I had to coordinate something, like I did in San Diego. I knew I was really ready mid-season this year."

Perkins was an All-America wide receiver at Alabama despite a serious head injury suffered in spring practice of 1963 after two collisions in three days of practice. He spent nine days in the hospital, undergoing brain surgery, and has three small holes in his head to show for it.

Perkins plans to take an active role in the Giants offense, which averaged just 16 points a game during a 6-10 season. He plans to institute discipline on the Giants, but doesn't call himself a strict disciplinarian.

"I have a very, very strong belief in my mind that you can't win without discipline," he said. "I don't want the players to think we're running a regimental army, but I also want them to know they work for a class, professional organization."

Violence In 'When You Comin' Back, Red Ryder' Termed 'Mental'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marjoe Gortner, the onetime child evangelist, brings a messianic drive to his film career, both before and behind the camera. Latest evidence: "When You Comin' Back, Red Ryder."

MARJOE GORTNER

It's a new movie out of the Melvin Simon operation, released this month by Columbia Pictures. To Gortner it has been a crusade.

"I saw the play in 1973, when it was playing in New York," he recalled. "I was flipped out, both by the message and the role. It seemed to me that the play presented an entertaining statement as well as an acting role that offered a terrific challenge."

Gortner, whose acting career was budding at the time, sought movie rights to the play, written by New Mexico State University professor Mark Medoff. Alas, the rights had already been sold to industrialist William Fisher, who also had been overwhelmed by the play. It is a highly theatrical piece about a psychotic dropout, a Vietnam veteran, who terrorizes a handful of people in a southwestern diner.

The Oscar-winning 1972 documentary, "Marjoe," helped launch Gortner's acting career. He remained busy, often cast as a wild-eyed criminal, as in TV's "The Marcus-Nelson Murders" (forerunner of "Kojak") and the movie "Earthquake." Meanwhile, he was learning.

"I went from the religion business to the movie business, about which I knew nothing," said Gortner. "I have spent the last six years studying. I watched on Steven Spielberg's sets.

"I worked only a week on 'Earthquake' but I remained with it through most of production, learning from Mark Robson, the director. He was a great teacher. Having once been a cutter, he knew exactly how much film he needed. When Universal wanted to lengthen the picture for television, there were only 12 extra minutes. That's how economical Mark had been."

Meanwhile Gortner kept tabs on "When You Comin' Back, Red Ryder." Fisher's option was coming to an end, and there were reports the play was being sought by Columbia, Robert Aldrich and other producers. Gortner flew to New York and tried his evangelism on Fisher. It worked.

"I had ideas of starting the story a day earlier," said Gortner. "I thought it was important to look at the lives of those coming to the diner and also — to use the cliché — to 'open up' the play. That is, to get it outdoors.

"Usually, the original authors are overlooked when an adaptation is written. I thought it would be a good idea to give the playwright a chance to adapt his own play, and I flew to New Mexico to see Mark Medoff. We hit it off right away, and he wrote the movie script in five days."

Gortner planned to continue an independent path, resorting to a hookup with a major studio only if all else failed. Happily, he met Melvin Simon, the Indianapolis-based mail maker and film financier, who decided within hours to back "Red Ryder."

The budget was a spare $1.8 million, made possible by deferred salaries. Also, actors were willing to appear in the film for less than their usual salaries.

The movie also has Hal Linden, Lee Grant, Peter Firth, Pat Hingle and Candy Clark, who plays Gortner's frightened accomplice. They were married at the conclusion of filming, on May 18, 1978.

pects the controversy.

"I'm sure the picture will make a lot of people uptight," he said. "Many will say it's too violent. Yet except for a slight wound in Hal Linden's arm, there is no blood. The violence in the film is mental violence, which is the most brutal of all."

'When Screaming Stops' Rates As Funniest Horror Film Around

"When The Screaming Stops" Stars Tony Kendall. Music by Anton Abril. Written and directed by Amanda De Ossario. Rated R. At the South Plains Cinema.

By WILLIAM D. KERNS
A-J Entertainment Editor

Okay, so there's no denying a sleazy little import like "When The Screaming Stops" is held in the same respect as gutter slime by the film industry — and that's putting it mildly. A bawdy Italian story of a beauty named Lorelei who is turned into a scary beast resembling the Creature From The Black Lagoon every time there's a full moon, at which time she mutilates half-clad women and full-clad men and graphically devours their hearts, this 1973 picture is poorly dubbed, poorly written, poorly acted and directed and, yes, just plain stupid.

A-J FILM REVIEW

But...

Er, but during a recent midnight screening of the picture, I was struck by the notion that few take into consideration the atmosphere of movie-going anymore. "When The Screaming Stops" is a horribly made film and I wouldn't recommend anyone make a special effort to see it, not when so many quality films like "Days Of Heaven" are available in the city. Still, on the other hand, let me add that I heard more audience laughter at this screening than at sellout viewings of comedies like "High Anxiety" and "Foul Play." And that comes down to atmosphere: seeing a bad horror movie in a large group can be fun.

Perhaps it is the shared masochistic feeling of having to watch such tripe which binds people together and places the spotlight on the viewer's, and not the film's, sense of humor. But the fact remains I had a good time watching this bad movie. The film is silly enough to be funny on its own, but the added jokes and nudges of an intellectually superior audience (and a group of first graders would be intellectually superior to this particular film) transforms the picture into high camp humor.

Not one idiosyncrasy in the film was allowed to pass without scrutiny. A-J copy editor Fred Brewer noted that there seemed to be a full moon every night in this movie. A-J police reporter Kay Bell, who admits to being a sucker for trash horror flicks, was the first to figure out why there were so many shots of the river — and later admitted her favorite part of the film was the introduction of a radioactive knife used to "kill" the beast. Bob Bajackson, representing the A-J sports staff, made his own contributions to the evening's levity.

And no one would allow sleeping dog dialogue lines to lie. How could they? Would you believe we meet a wacky scientist who says, "Welcome to my humble laboratory" and then sits down to take notes while his pet sheep stands vigil? Or how about our macho hero finding five mutilated corpses, their hearts ripped from their bodies, and keeping a straight face while saying, "There's something supernatural in all this."

It's a hoot, and it's just impossible for me to play the role of haughty critic and spout boredom when the truth is that I laughed my head off all through this trash. So if it's true fear you're looking for, try "Halloween." If you want Academy Award quality, note that both "Heaven Can Wait" and "An Unmarried Woman" have returned to the city. Lovers of film art will not want to miss "Days Of Heaven," and those who prefer light and airy entertainment should give either "Corvette Summer" or "The Great Train Robbery" a try. You can even cry at "Ice Castles."

But honey, if it's cheap thrills you're seeking — at the regular admission price — get a band of your wackiest friends together and catch "When The Screaming Stops." In the right frame of mind, it's when the laughter starts.

Paramount Alters 'Warriors' Advertising

NEW YORK (AP) — Paramount Pictures will resume advertising Friday for "The Warriors," but with new ads designed to try to avoid the outbursts that accompanied some screenings of the film about fictional youth gang violence. Three such incidents ended in deaths.

"There will be no television, no radio and no outdoor advertising," Paramount vice president Gordon Weaver said Thursday in an interview. "The newspaper campaign will be relatively small in space and is designed to be totally non-explosive."

An earlier newspaper ad showed a group of youths, one holding a baseball bat, and the text read: "These are the armies of the night. Tonight they're all out to get the Warriors." The new ad will simply tell where the film is playing.

The first fatal violence occurred early last week in California, and Paramount then offered to pay for security guards at theaters.

"We wanted to make certain that there was enough security at theaters that, if indeed the film was triggering a violent response, innocent people wouldn't be hurt," Weaver said.

After another death in Boston, the studio cancelled all advertising last Friday. "We didn't know what was happening and we didn't want to do anything that would be inflammatory," he explained.

Paramount decided to resume when over the weekend "there were no further incidents of violence other than some kids being rowdy at theaters — that sort of thing," said Weaver.

Asked if the studio had considered pulling the film, Weaver said it could not because it licenses the movie to exhibitors.

But he said Paramount had offered the exhibitors a chance to cancel their contract without penalty if they were concerned over security or just did not want to show the picture.

He said thus far only theaters at Oxnard and Palm Springs, Calif., where the first two deaths occurred, had elected not to show the film.

Firearms Class Popular With Women

Reasons Vary, But Enthusiasm Unswerving

By TED J. SIMON
A-J Outdoor Editor

During the past 18 months, approximately 500 Lubbock women, ranging in age from 15 to 78, have completed classes in the use of handguns. The course on the safe and accurate operation of a handgun has been under the auspices of K&B Guns Inc., where another class is to commence next week.

Why this sudden interest on the part of women in stepping up to a firing line and methodically placing shot after shot in a paper target? For many a woman it's simply a desire to join her husband or parent in the family sport of target shooting. (Women have found they seem to have a natural edge in competitive shooting.) Another incentive is the ability to properly handle a pistol for personal protection.

Bennie Setliff, manager of K&B Guns, said, "We have a lot of women come in to buy a firearm because they've been frightened by an incident in or near their neighborhood. But we don't think it's a good idea for a scared person to impulsively buy a firearm. That's why we have these classes in the use of firearms."

The classes are conducted as a public service and persons they do not have to purchase a gun from or be a customer of the Lubbock firm. Also, persons who take the course may do so without being the owner of a handgun. The $5 course fee is for the cost of targets and the use of the American Legion firing range.

The course involves one evening of classroom time, consisting of a slide presentation, lecture and a question-and-answer period.

"They learn the firearm's limitations and the legal limitations on its use," noted Setliff. "There are some restrictions on when a firearm can be used — even in the home."

After the introductory classroom session, the course proceeds to three separate sessions on the actual use of the handgun. Generally, most of the women are competent with the firearm after just one shooting session.

"Bill Stewart at the American Legion is the best range master and instructor I've ever known," Setliff said. "Usually, in one hour he has you keeping on target and being familiar with the firearm."

Stewart, a volunteer instructor at the American Legion's George S. Berry Post off the Brownfield Highway, noted, "It's gratifying to see a woman arrive here a bit apprehensive and not sure what the firearm will do. But they quickly learn how to handle the weapon safely while giving it the respect it deserves."

"In about an hour or an hour and a half they're keeping their shots on a standard target at 15 feet. That's a long distance for defensive type shooting."

Both men state the importance of using a handgun on a regular basis. Putting a firearm away for long periods leads to unfamiliarity with operation of the weapon.

Setliff explained, "We believe that a gun for protection has got to be familiar to your hand. You've got to be familiar with it, so that everything is kind of instinct." He continued, "The whole object of the course is so a lady doesn't have to fire a weapon for protection. The more confidence the female has in that firearm, the more confidently she can hold, manipulate and use it — and the less likely the person on the other end is going to give her any trouble."

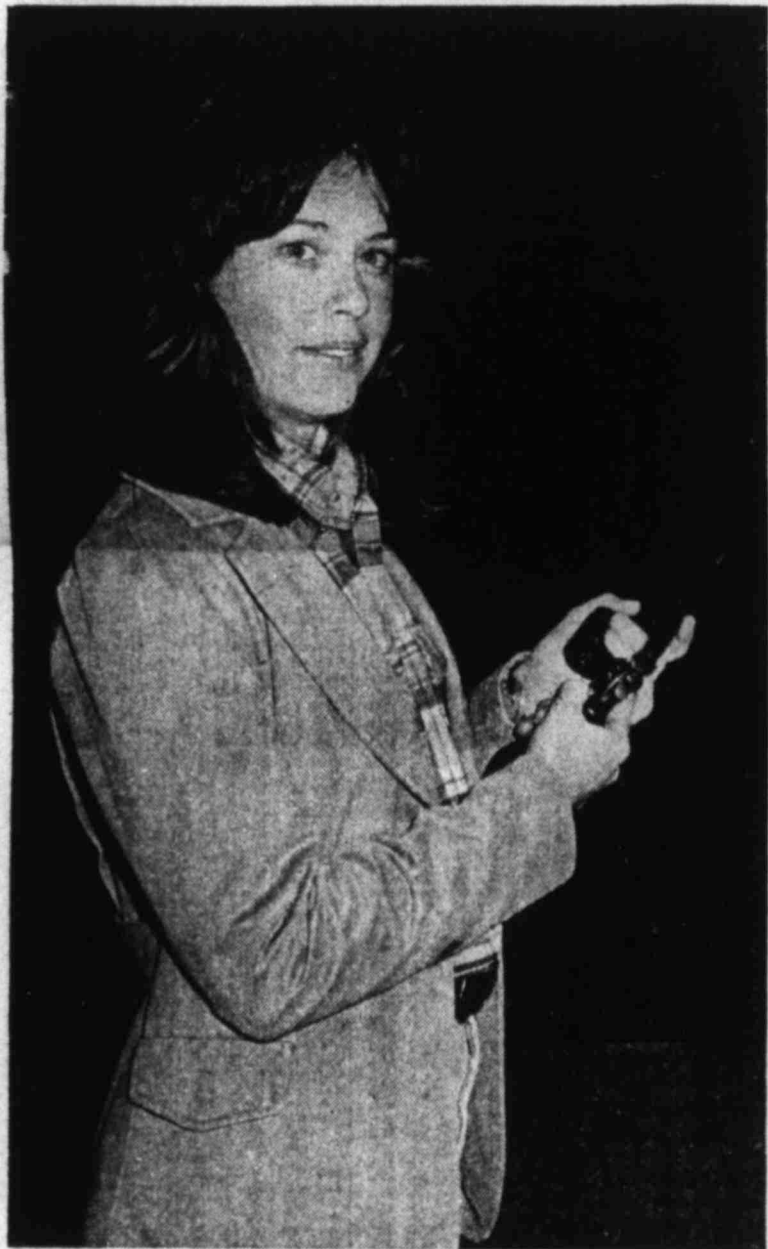

Handguns come in a variety of models, calibers, and prices. Most firearm instructors recommend a .38 Special when one handgun is to be used for both target practice and personal protection. The .38 Special is considered by many shooters to be the world's most accurate handgun size. It also is the choice nationwide of most police departments.

Pricewise a good quality .38 caliber handgun will cost from $120 to $200. For .22 caliber target shooting, $92 for a Ruger will get a person started in the sport, while a .22 for serious competitive target shooting will begin at a price of about $200.

The next handgun course for women begins Wednesday. Enrollment will be limited to assure individual instruction. Persons interested in the course should contact K&B Guns for more information.

ON THE LINE — Kathy Anderson, Nancy Setliff and Myra Roy (left to right) take aim on the American Legion firing range. K&B Guns developed a handgun course especially for women that combines safety, confidence and marksmanship. (Staff Photos by Ted J. Simon)

SAFETY FIRST — Mrs. Myra Roy follows all safety procedures before stepping up to the firing line for target practice.

LOUD AND CLEAR — Mrs. Kathy Anderson prepares to don a set of noise reducers. Ear muffs or ear plugs are essential to protect shooters from loss of hearing during sustained target practice. Even the sound of small-bore firearms can diminish hearing ability.

Females' Advantage 'Built In'

By SHEILA LINK
National Rifle Association

The notion that "Guns are for men — not women" is just not so! What may come as a surprise to many is the fact that girls and women often learn to shoot more easily and more readily than do their male counterparts.

Interviews with rifle, shotgun and pistol instructors unearthed some interesting comments on teaching novices to shoot. Without exception instructors gave females the highest marks.

"Why?" I asked. "How is it that girls and women learn more quickly and do so well?"

The reasons varied, but a pattern began to emerge, and it soon became apparent that several factors combine to make females the favored firearms student.

First, "Girls can take direction better than boys; they do exactly as they're told. They don't fight you."

Second, "Women just don't have a built-in ego problem. Men think they're expected to be good shooters. They get uptight and strive mightily to live up to that image."

one instructor said.

Women, on the other hand, are casual, their attitude seems to say, "We'll give it a try..."

Third, among junior shooters — those 18 years of age — there's a biological reason why females do better. "Females mature earlier. They attain muscular coordination, emotional stability and a mature outlook at a younger age than do males."

It's reasonable and understandable, therefore, that young females should be steadier under pressure than young males. And in competition shooting, this is an advantage.

Surprisingly, among competitive shooters, only a very small percentage are females. While women shooters are low in numbers, they rank high in position. Last September in the International Shooting Matches in Korea, women accounted for eight of the 18 gold medals won by the U.S. team!

In all the record books, women are consistently ranked among the top scorers.

What does all this mean to you as a female? Well, if you like to shoot — or think you'd like to shoot — you stand a very good chance of becoming a better-than-average shooter. Just being female gives you an advantage.

Consider competitive shooting; there are many options. You can shoot shotgun, pistol or rifle. You can shoot skeet, trap, small bore or high power. You can shoot on the local level or aim for the Olympics.

For more information on how to get into competitive shooting, contact the Competitions Division, National Rifle Association Headquarters, 1600 Rhode Island Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20038.

FDR Memorial Said Too Costly For U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department says a proposed memorial to the late Franklin D. Roosevelt is too costly to construct and maintain.

Interior Secretary Cecil D. Andrus also questioned the appropriateness of an expensive monument to a president "who made it very plain that he did not want a large costly monument erected in his honor in Washington."

The FDR Memorial Commission proposed building a 1,000-foot meandering granite wall along with waterfalls, fountains and sculptures on the western edge of Washington's Tidal Basin.

The estimated cost to build the monument is $46 million to $50 million, which would make it the most costly memorial ever built in this country, government officials say.

Lucy Chambliss Owns Stellar Mark In World Of Competitive Shooting

For recreation, Lucy Chambliss, one of the National Rifle Association's newest board members, pedals a bicycle or does needlepoint. But most of her leisure time is occupied with firearms.

Tall and attractive, she has racked up an impressive shooting record, winning her first National Woman's Championship in conventional bullseye pistol competition in 1954.

In 1958, Miss Chambliss joined the Winterhaven (Fla.) Police Department as a firearms instructor. Still on the force, sworn police officer Lucy Chambliss is now executive secretary to the Director of Public Safety and continues to teach recruits the skills to help them meet the department's shooting requirements.

As part of the 1970 U.S. Team at the World Shooting Championships, she helped win the gold medal for America.

In 1974, Miss Chambliss became the first woman to be chosen for any "Governor's Twenty." These are the 20 best individual Police Combat shooters in the state and must vie each year for a place on the team. She has been on the team every year since 1974.

IT TAKES PRACTICE — Mrs. Nancy Setliff checks the results of five carefully placed shots in a standard pistol target.

'Heart Hoedown' Benefit Dance Set Saturday

The Lubbock chapter of the American Heart Association will sponsor a "Heart Hoedown Dance" from 8 p.m. to midnight Saturday at Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

The informal western style dance is one of many activities planned by the association during February, which has been designated as Heart Month.

Tickets for the dance are $12.50 per person and may be purchased from members of the Heart Association.

One of the association's major goals is to provide funding for research into a possible cure for heart disease.

Basic research on the causes of the many kinds of heart disease and malfunction is being carried on at research center throughout the country, including the Texas Tech School of Medicine.

In the last two academic years, the Heart Association has provided funds for eight separate research projects conducted at Tech's medical school.

No speaker is planned for the event.
