Guerrilla Force Seizes Bakhtiar

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Former Prime Minister Shapour Bakhtiar was arrested today as Iran's new provisional government appeared to be making headway in its efforts to bring unruly supporters here under control.

But the newspaper Ettelaat reported that six persons had been hanged in Tabriz, 330 miles northwest of the capital, on orders of religious leaders and that insurgents had torn the emblem off the U.S. consulate there. Efforts to reach authorities in Tabriz for confirmation were unsuccessful. The state radio reported that Mehdi Bazargan, head of the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's new government, named seven members of his Cabinet. Two of the ministers are longtime leaders of the National Front, the coalition of parties that opposed the rule of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

National Front leader Karim Sanjaby was named foreign minister and another leading Front figure, Dariush Forouhar, was named labor minister, the radio reported. Reliable sources also reported that unknown assailants opened fire today on Bazargan's Tehran office after Bazargan and Sanjaby had gone inside for a conference. There were no injuries and the two leaders left for Khomeini's compound, the sources said.

Bakhtiar, who made a futile, last-ditch attempt to stem the revolution led by Khomeini, was arrested by armed guerrillas, the official Pars news agency reported. State radio said he was taken blindfolded to the headquarters of the religious patriarch.

Bakhtiar had not been seen in public since his resignation Sunday and was reported Monday to be under the protection of provisional government chief Bazargan, an old friend. Bakhtiar had been a National Front member until he was ejected last month for accepting the shah's mandate to become prime minister.

A Khomeini spokesman said he did not know what charges would be brought against Bakhtiar. But Ibrahim Yazdi, a newly designated deputy prime minister in the provisional government, said when Khomeini forces seized power Sunday that Bakhtiar was "held responsible for everything the army has done," referring to the deaths of hundreds of demonstrators in clashes with troops.

Teheran Radio said six generals also had been arrested, including the commander of the paratroopers, Gen. Mauncheh Khrosrowdad. As the new government struggled to take hold, its military chief of staff, Gen. Mohammad Vali Gharani, ordered all officers to report for duty. Apparently he was preparing to reorganize the military following the weekend battles, insurrections and looting of bases in Tehran and elsewhere that preceded and followed the collapse of the Bakhtiar government.

Fewer gunmen were on Tehran's streets today compared to Monday, presumably as a result of Khomeini's appeal to his armed supporters to turn in their weapons and refrain from violence. Traffic also seemed to be returning to normal and many food shops were open.

However, American sources said gunmen seized the U.S. Information Center in Tehran and that U.S. officials had not been allowed inside. They also said about nine American civilians were seized Monday by various factions in Tehran, and some of them were held up to 12 hours before being released.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said Khomeini supporters also briefly detained 25 Americans assigned to the Military Airlift Command.

"They were taken to one of Khomeini's See REBELS GAIN Page 16

Solons Back Farm Cause

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six rural congressmen today voiced their support for hundreds of protesting farmers camped outside the Capitol. A suburban New York City representative was booed for saying their proposed solution is "simply wrong."

An eighth House member, Rep. Berkeley Bedell, D-Iowa, proposed that national underwriting of the infant "gasohol" industry, using excess grain as raw material, to replace the present price support programs.

The congressmen appeared on the first day of House Agriculture Committee hearings on the farmers' complaints. The day was reserved for legislators. Members of the American Agriculture Movement testified Wednesday and Thursday. Officials from other farm organizations and the general public have been invited to speak next week.

"What America's farmers are trying to tell us, and what we ignore at our peril, is that they cannot continue to produce a bargain-basement product at a loss," said Rep. Thomas A. Daschle, D-S.D. "If half of this nation's doctors went out of business in 25 years, it would be a national scandal."

But Rep. Peter A. Peyser, D-N.Y., said, "The real problem is they have come seeking something the Congress is not going to grant and I believe is the wrong thing." Food prices would rise by 15 to 18 percent if higher farm prices were achieved, he said.

But Rep. Jack Hightower, D-Texas, said the farmers "are honest people who are suffering ... from a situation over which they have no control," a squeeze between over-production and inflation. Strong planting controls are needed, he said.

The protesting farmers want Congress to pass a resolution urging President Carter to raise prices to 90 percent of parity, a level that would give them 90 percent of the purchasing power farmers had during the 1910-14 base period.

Overall, farm prices are now running at about 75 percent of parity because of high livestock prices. Crop prices are lower.

On Monday, nearly 200 tractors paraded for more than two hours in a blinding snowstorm. To avoid further traffic See SOLONS BACK Page 16

Demo Hits Plan For Primary

AUSTIN (AP) — Democratic National Committeewoman Billie Carr said today passage of a "different day" presidential primary bill could lead to a challenge of the Texas delegation to the party's national convention.

She said she strongly objects to a proposal by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby to hold Texas' presidential primary on March 11, 1980, months before the regular primaries to nominate state and county officials.

Speaker Bill Clayton endorses having a presidential primary on a different day from the regular primary, but has talked lately about having it in April, in conjunction with city and school district elections.

A "different day" primary would enable Republicans and Democrats to cross over into each other's presidential nominating process, then return to their own regular primaries for state elections.

"My warning to Governor Hobby and Speaker Clayton is that their bill will not be in compliance to the national rules that require that our party has to make efforts to restrict any delegate selection method to Democrats only," Mrs. Carr said.

"And if the different day primary bill is passed you can rest assured that we will have another challenge before the Compliance Review Commission and, if necessary, a challenge of delegates selected at the national convention," she said.

On another controversial issue, a legislator said today that a confrontation between Texas and the federal government over the 55 mph speed limit is long overdue and would be worth any loss in federal highway funds.

"I don't think they'll take a nickel of this money," said Rep. Fred Head, D-Athens, sponsor of legislation raising the limit to 70 mph.

"And if they do, that's well worth the fight to establish the principle of the state's right to govern itself," he told a news conference.

Head said he knows Gov. Bill Clements has criticized the bill (HB476), but said he doubted the governor had decided to veto it.

"I don't think he's resolved to veto it. I think he still has an open mind on the issue," Head said. "I'm sure he believes in the principle of states' rights."

Texas would risk losing millions of federal highway dollars if the state returned to the pre-energy crisis 70 mph limit.

"Frankly, ladies and gentlemen, I'm sick of this blackmail on the part of the federal government," he said.

SPAG Snubs City's Request For Funds

By SYLVIA TEAGUE
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) board of directors this morning let stand a committee recommendation on projects to be funded with federal criminal justice monies despite a plea from Lubbock City Councilwoman Carolyn Jordan that one of the city's projects be included.

"This is the second year in a row the City of Lubbock has not gotten any funds," Mrs. Jordan said.

"I suggest the board consider prioritizing the criminal justice projects so Lubbock's request for a crime prevention program could be one of the funding items," she said.

Two projects requested by the City of Lubbock were ranked numbers 15 and 17 of 21 criminal justice projects. The project ranked 14th was the last to be funded.

Mrs. Jordan noted that of approximately $106,000 available for law enforcement programs, "over half goes to benefit all other member governments" through the regional law enforcement training program.

"It would seem appropriate that the projects be realigned so the City of Lubbock would get some funds," Mrs. Jordan said.

Although she said questions have been raised concerning "how thorough was the prioritizing" by the Criminal Justice Advisory Committee, criminal justice planner Dorothy Miller said the committee "thoroughly hashed out the details of all projects."

"There are good reasons the committee voted the way they did," Miss Miller said.

Lamb County Judge Wayne Joyner, the board's liaison to the advisory committee, said he thought "the committee did a good job. I feel the priorities should stay just as they are."

A comment by Miss Miller that the Lubbock district attorney's office had told her Lubbock local television stations were willing to provide prime time for crime prevention advertisements brought sharp criticism from Councilman Alan Henry. She said the committee questioned the $10,000 the city budgeted See SPAG Page 16

Herndon Jury Hears Officers' Testimony

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The retrial of Kenneth Herndon for murder in the Christmas Eve 1977 nightclub slaying of 28-year-old William Drew Young III opened this morning with a Lubbock County sheriff's deputy testifying that blood stains were found on the sidewalk behind a 19th Street nightclub two days after the killing took place.

"At the southeast corner, I found what appeared to be bloodstains," deputy Sonny Keese said. "They went from the southeast side of the building to the north."

Keese said he and deputy Dean Bohannon went to the 2311 19th St. club, then the Salt River Saloon, about 3:30 a.m. Dec. 26 and came back after daylight to take photographs of the bloodstains.

He said none of the six persons indicted in the case last March had told them to go there.

Agency To Compile List Of Mennonites

SEMINOLE (UPI) — A list of 700 Mennonite immigrants threatened with deportation will be compiled by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and is expected to be used in proposed legislation to allow them to remain in the United States.

Richard Norton of the INS regional office in Dallas said the listing is only "an account, for lack of a better word" — not a formal investigation — of the immigrants expected to benefit from legislation by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas.

Norton said INS officials today would begin a two-day accounting requested from Washington to determine the number and identities of the Mennonites.

Officials said the list is expected to be used in conjunction with a bill Bentsen said he would sponsor to allow the Canadian and Mexican Mennonites to remain in the U.S.

The Mennonites, who oppose oath-taking, infant baptism and military combat, arrived in West Texas in February 1977 with plans to establish a religious community on 6,400 acres of farmland.

They expected their multimillion-dollar outlay in farmland and equipment would qualify them for investor status and permanent residency. However, it did not and they have lived under the threat of deportation for more than a year.

A private bill introduced in the sec't's behalf by Bentsen last year languished in Congress and died with adjournment. It did, however, forestall deportation proceedings until Feb. 1.

In the interim, Mennonite heads of household and single adults sought unsuccessfully to find "certifiable" jobs — ones that could not be filled by Americans — in order to gain a chance for permanent residency status.

As Feb. 1 approached, the Mennonites again were threatened with immediate deportation. However, Bentsen on Jan. 31 wrote to

Mrs. Truman Plans Quiet Birthday

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Former first lady Bess Truman planned to celebrate her 94th birthday quietly today in her stately 17-room Victorian mansion.

MRS. TRUMAN

The widow of President Harry Truman was reported in high spirits and regaining her strength from recent hospital stays.

Bouquets of flowers and cards and letters were expected for Mrs. Truman, who has surpassed by five years the age of any former first lady. Anna Harrison, wife of the ninth president, William Henry Harrison, lived to the age of 89.

Mrs. Truman's sister-in-law, Mary Wallace, 84, said she planned to stop by with a birthday favorite of the former first lady's — homemade chocolate fudge.

"She's very frail; she doesn't get around too well yet," said Mrs. Wallace, who lives near the Truman home and is a frequent visitor. "The nice part is that her head is clear. Thank goodness she can read; that's one of her great pleasures." Mrs. Truman likes mystery stories.

Health has been a problem for Mrs. Truman the past year. She spent 17 days at Research Medical Center in June and was hospitalized again from Nov. 20 to Dec. 16 for tests and treatment of high blood pressure.

Letters Inspired John Wayne

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Letters from well wishers — including England's Queen Elizabeth II — helped keep up his spirit while he recovered from surgery to remove his cancerous stomach, says actor John Wayne.

WAYNE

The gravel-voiced box office king says he's now "feeling fine and going to make it."

In a copyrighted interview with the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, Wayne said he got "30,000 letters at the hospital ... and there were another 10,000 here when I got home. I skimmed through some of those and found one from one of my grand kids, who wrote it the day I was operated on."

He made his comments Sunday from his Newport Beach home — a day after being released from UCLA Medical Center.

"I still have a little trouble (a slight infection), but as soon as that clears up, I'll be up and at 'em," Wayne said.

Wayne underwent 9½ hours of surgery Jan. 12. Doctors at the medical center have said they expect him to make a quick and complete recovery.

Leon Redbone Escapes Death

CLARKSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — Singer Leon Redbone is in his 30s, but says he feels "like I'm 93" after escaping without serious injury from the crash of an Allegheny Airlines plane at a local airport.

"I ache all over and my hip hurts. But nothing is broken as far as I know," Redbone said from his hospital bed a few hours after the crash. He was one of 25 persons aboard the Washington-bound plane.

Two people were killed and 23 others were injured when the propjet flipped and crashed shortly after taking off in a snowstorm.

Redbone is a blues singer from New Hope, Pa. He said there was little time to prepare for the crash. "All of a sudden I was hanging upside down in the plane," he said. "It was a matter of moments before the plane came down. Everybody was disoriented, but no more than could be expected."

Redbone, his road manager, Daniel Cronin, 27, of Santa Monica, Calif., and clarinet player Robert Gordon of New York City were among passengers held overnight for observation.

Judy Carne Forfeits $10,000 Bond

CINCINNATI (AP) — Actress Judy Carne failed to appear for a retrial on drug charges and forfeited a $10,000 bond. If she ever returns to Cincinnati, an arrest warrant will be issued, authorities said.

Her attorney, Philip Pitzer, said he was not sure why the actress-comedian did not appear Monday. He told Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Thomas Crush that Miss Carne may have missed airline connections from her home in London.

A jury found her innocent last June of a charge of heroin possession, but was unable to agree on a verdict on a charge of using a fake prescription to obtain drugs at a pharmacy.

She was charged in November 1977 while appearing at a dinner theater in nearby Harrison, Ohio.

GOP Leaders Honor Lincoln

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois Gov. James Thompson and Tennessee Sen. Howard Baker — both mentioned as Republican presidential candidates — met at the tomb of one of the GOP's most revered presidents, Abraham Lincoln.

Thompson, Baker and U.S. Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., spoke briefly at an American Legion ceremony Monday honoring Lincoln's birthday.

Before the ceremony, Baker, who stands a head shorter than Thompson, joked that he could still see "eye to eye" with the Illinois governor.

Baker said he thought Lincoln was "the embodiment of our faith and confidence in people's government," and called on Americans to rededicate themselves as a government of the people.

Snow Sympathy

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Kansas City's snow removal problems have evoked the sympathy of those "in the know."

Jules Nelson, an administrative assistant in the public works department, said a Ketchikan, Alaska, couple mailed the city $10.

"Now they're people who know about snow," he said of the donation from Babe and Robbie Runnings. Accompanying the money was a newspaper story about Kansas City's plight after more than 2 feet of snow fell in three weeks last month.

The money, along with a $2 donation from an Independence, Mo., couple last month, will be turned over to the snow removal district closest to where the writers live.

"I guess this will have to go to the farthest north district we've got, the one for Kansas City North," Nelson said.

Jobs Not Being Filled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 150,000 public service job slots reserved for the hard-core unemployed are going unfilled because of delays in federal financing and restrictive rules, government officials say.

The Labor Department on Monday blamed the problem in the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act program on Congress' delay last fall in extending CETA and on problems in meeting tougher eligibility requirements ordered by Congress.

Congress has appropriated enough money for the department to provide an average of 675,000 jobs during fiscal 1979, which ends Sept. 30.

But the latest department count, made in December, shows that only 525,000 jobs were filled, with virtually all the remaining ones reserved for the "structurally unemployed" — those who have the most difficulty finding jobs.

Ironically, discovery of the unfilled slots comes amid the Carter administration's recent promoting of CETA changes designed to emphasize the needs of the chronically jobless.

The situation will leave the Labor Department with a budget surplus of up to $500 million for 1979. Officials fear, however, they will never be able to use the money because Congress may simply pare the 1980 CETA budget by a like amount.

Assistant Labor Secretary Arnold Packer said the number of people employed under CETA began plummeting from 740,000 last June because of the threatened congressional cuts.

Packer said state and city officials who run local CETA programs were afraid to replace people whose jobs had expired until Congress decided whether to extend the program beyond last Sept. 30.

Packer said local officials needed new money by last August at the latest to maintain their programs at prior levels, but Congress did not reauthorize CETA until mid-October, and money did not arrive from Washington until the following month.

As it considered reauthorizing CETA last September, Congress was told by the Labor Department that an estimated 725,000 jobs were filled. On that basis, Congress ordered the number of jobs reduced gradually to 625,000 by this coming October.

The Labor Department discovered only recently that it had vastly overestimated the number of people holding CETA jobs, according to Packer, who said the department is committed to increasing the number of jobholders to 625,000 by fall.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Tomorrow is a very promising day for joint ventures. Something extraordinary could occur to please both you and the other party.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Rather than tie yourself to a definite schedule tomorrow, you and your special someone will have more fun doing things that are impromptu.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Something unexpected could pop up tomorrow, causing you to think more about pleasure than work. Enjoy it. It won't detract from your business.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Look for spur-of-the-moment happenings to brighten your day. A flexible schedule will permit the latitude you'll need.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll accomplish a lot of little things tomorrow that were left unfinished. This time you'll complete each job.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A spontaneous get-together will occupy part of your day tomorrow, breaking up the mundane routine and serving as a good tonic.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A surprise gift could come your way tomorrow from someone who cares a great deal about you. This should brighten your day considerably.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't be hesitant to discard an old, unworkable plan if you happen to come up with a better idea. Sometimes we need to switch horses in mid-stream.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You've been quite considerate of someone lately and tomorrow is this person's day to reciprocate. You might receive something you'll really like.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll know a good idea when you hear one tomorrow and several could come your way. Later you'll have a chance to use them advantageously.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) An opportunity fleeting in nature could cross your path tomorrow. If you are too coy it may evaporate before your eyes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Someone separated from your by miles, but not in spirit, is anxious to hear from you tomorrow. A call or note would be appreciated.

Balloonist Raps Interference

By JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — When he was 19, Maxie Anderson prospected for uranium near the Arctic Circle. Two years later he founded a uranium company that is now part of Kerr-McKee Corp. Now he heads another company.

He took over the top job in the latter. Ranchers Exploration and Development Corp., in 1963, when he was 29. At the time, the company had sales of about $1 million. Now it grosses $35 million a year.

Late last summer, you might recall, Maxie Anderson and his friends, Ben Abruzzo and Larry Newman, all of Albuquerque, sailed the air currents across the Atlantic in a small gondola hung from a big balloon.

Says Anderson the achiever: "The assumption that you can attain without great effort is not consistent. If you want to do something right you have to work at it." Seventy hours a week, maybe even 90.

But sometimes, he said, he wonders if effort alone is sufficient. You need freedom too, he said. When he opened his first mine he took out no license; when he sailed the balloon to France, he had none either.

But increasingly, he said just before accepting the Copper Club's man-of-the-year award, freedoms are restricted. To open a mine today, he said, you have to wade your way through two years of government paper.

"Government interference in business is getting to affect even companies our size," he said softly. "We cannot tolerate it."

Everything government does, he continued, is with a broad brush, of necessity. Applied, he said, those regulations can tyrannize. "What's good for Phelps Dodge (a mining giant) is not for us, and vice versa," he said.

Anderson, a quiet, reflective person, isn't ordinarily given to oratory, but in the evening he was to address his fellow metals men, and he had thought deeply about the message he wished to convey.

"I didn't sleep much last night," he said. It was partly the noise of the city, partly because he spent time discussing with his wife, Patty, the thoughts he had been developing for years.

"In the last six, seven years," he said, "I've tried to look at the country and how I fit into it, and try to understand what makes it operate. And what caused it to not operate correctly."

Somehow, he said, we seemed to get things done fairly well before Big Government. "The government is not all bad, but it has a penchant for screwing up on a regular basis," he said. He said he understood why.

"They begin with good intentions," he conceded, "but the power to regulate is the power to destroy. It's the very question of being a free man. We cannot relinquish freedom."

Another pause to consider, a trait underlying the methodical approach his wife says he brings to any challenge and which, she said, relieves her fears and tensions when watching him go aloft in a balloon.

People have to be free, he said; they have to be individuals. "We all talk collectively about doing things," he said. "But the hard part is for individuals to do it." To do it as individuals, not as a group.

As you might expect, Anderson doesn't believe, as some secretly do, that the nation's, the world's, difficulties are insurmountable. The problems, he said, "are definable." The real problem, he suggested, is that "people don't want to make the (hard) choices."

Anderson has considered the condition of modern man. A reasoning man, he said, "I search for the significance of things." There are thinkers and there are people of action, he said. "I try to be both."

No ascetic, he still suspects the alleged benefits of some luxuries. "There are things we once didn't have and I'm not sure we're better off having them," he said. Luxuries, he mused, "can steal a person's freedom."

Of more immediate concern to him is the encumbering bureaucracy. He wonders if he could have achieved his early success under current regulatory conditions. He wonders, he said, when environmental officials are going to challenge the good Lord's handling of things. "I've had to think it through," he said.

File Shows Violations At Plants

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal regulator's personal "nugget file" of nuclear reactor mishap reports offers dramatic evidence of bad construction, poor operating practices and safety rules violations at atomic power plants, a public interest group said today.

The Union of Concerned Scientists issued a 95-page book of excerpts from the foot-thick file compiled over a 10-year period by Stephen Hanauer, a senior official of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

"Dr. Hanauer added a marginal comment on one of the 'nugget file' documents that succinctly expresses the only editorial comment that we would wish to make on the mishaps plaguing the nuclear industry," said the preface to the UCS book.

"Some day," he wrote, "we all will wake up..."

Among the incidents described in the book are the inadvertent connection of a radioactive waste storage tank to a drinking fountain, an accidental discharge of 14,000 gallons of radioactive water and the discovery of safety equipment so badly designed that Hanauer noted it was "guaranteed not to work."

"The 'nugget file' is unmistakable proof that official safety requirements are being flagrantly violated by the electric utility companies," said Robert Pollard, a former NRC official now working for the private, nonprofit group of scientists who oppose unsafe use of nuclear power.

The UCS said it obtained Hanauer's file under the Freedom of Information Act after sighting a hand-written notation on an NRC document saying one incident report was "too good to pass up" and showing it went into the "nugget file dated 8-15-72."

The UCS said it could not afford to publish all the documents in the file, but chose representative examples for its book and provided background and explanation of abbreviations used in government documents.

Among the examples were:

—A 1967 fire in an unidentified reactor caused by spontaneous combustion of polyurethane thermal insulation, which burned for as much as four hours. The same type of material was identified more than seven years later as a prime factor in the Browns Ferry fire in Alabama, one of the most serious nuclear power plant accidents in U.S. history.

—The discovery in 1973 that failure of one safety circuit used to measure reactor power level at the Main Yankee plant in Wicasset, Maine, could cause all four such circuits to go out. It was this which caused Hanauer to note, "Someday we will all wake up..."

—Discovery in 1969 of radioactive water coming from a drinking fountain at an unidentified plant. Investigation showed a hose connecting a well water tap to a 3,000-gallon radioactive waste tank.

—The discharge of 14,000 gallons of shielding water from a spent fuel holding tank into a power plant basement when a temporary pipe plug — a regulation basketball wrapped with a two-inch layer of tape — was forced out of the pipe by water pressure during repairs.

—Many failures of reactor control rods, both because of human and design error, and the 1973 discovery that emergency electric power systems at the Oyster Creek plant in Toms River, N.J., were so poorly designed Hanauer noted they were "guaranteed not to work."

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

Paper Chase Is Disgrace

ASIDE FROM our annual package from the Internal Revenue Service, most of us really don't have very much dealing with the federal bureaucracy. And yet the mountain of paperwork being created, processed and stored by a host of federal agencies, boards, bureaus, committees, commissions, departments, you name it, affects all our lives. And it is adding billions to the cost of government.

BY ALMOST any method of measurement, they write, "the dimensions of the paperwork created by the federal bureaucracy are enormous. During 1972, more than 2 billion pieces of paper were processed which filled 4.5 million cubic feet of file space." The National Archives and Records Service estimated that 11.6 million cubic feet of records were held in storage centers around the nation at the beginning of FY-1973.

The financial aspects of federal paperwork are equally awesome and have been growing at a rapid rate," they say.

John D. Lofton:

What You See Not What You Get

WASHINGTON—Regardless of whether it is a Democrat or Republican President, budget time is snake-oil time and Jimmy Carter is no exception—except that as a candidate he promised repeatedly never to lie or mislead us. But what we see is not what we're getting.

Association. This adds up to a not insignificant amount of change: $1 billion. Twelve billion dollars plus Carter's admitted $29 billion equals a real 1980 deficit of $41 billion. AS THIS BUDGET document makes clear: "The outlays of the off-budget federal entities are added to the budget deficit to derive the total government deficit that has to be financed by borrowing from the public or by other means."

A Better City?

A COURSE IN "horseback riding" is being considered as one possibility for enticing more students to Lubbock High School.

My Neighbor Twice Removed says that may not do much to help the students prepare to earn a living, but it would give them a way to get to school when we run out of gasoline for the cross-town buses.

Let's see now. Secretary of State Cyrus Vance says the U.S. will no longer recognize Taiwan, so he needs a special appropriation to finance a "non-governmental" agency to handle our business there.

In other words, he wants funding for a non-existent governmental agency to do business with a non-existent foreign country. Congress oughta tell him to get on with it with non-existent funds.

Headline: "Money Supply Shows Drop During Week." Man, they sure hit the nail on the head at our house.

ENVIRONMENTALISTS come up with so many far-out ideas—such as blocking a water reservoir project in order to save the snail darter—that their good ideas sometimes get short shrift.

But they've asked the Texas Legislature to require a 5-cent deposit on beverage bottles and cans as a way to lessen the litter along roadways and in public parks.

Such litter has become a national disgrace since throw-away bottles came into vogue.

Holmes Alexander:

The Defensive Never Rest Case

WASHINGTON—Present company excepted, meaning the Honorable Griffin Bell, there is something in the American Republic that does not like Attorneys General.

Mr. Bell made no bones over this fact with his interviewer, and no concealment that he is principally head of the Justice Department as a personal service to his close friend and fellow-Georgian, and as a public service to do what can be done in four years (he's announced his intention to go home without mixing in re-election politics) to give Justice an improved image.

My guess would be that Mr. Bell has a favorite word in regard to legal affairs, public and private, and that the word is "professional." He is himself a pro.

I WOULD venture that the way to the top in Mr. Bell's department is to prove an ability too often taken for granted—the ability of a government prosecutor to get down in the arena and wrestle with the lions.

Now that President Carter is serious about cutting out deadwood, I think the Justice lawyers who are ordered to turn in their playbooks will be those who don't know how to prosecute.

The Attorney General has other methods of streamlining Justice, such as separating trivial matters from significant ones.

He is farming many minor cases out to the state courts, to second-level magistrates and using three-member arbitration boards of lawyers to dispose of inconsequential which probably should not have been dignified with attention.

EARLY AMERICANS, certainly those who wrote the first laws, must have had strong prejudices against anyone with concentrated power to prosecute for the same reason they suspected all central power, including the lifetime presidency.

Edmund Randolph, the first attorney general, went a long way toward justifying his countrymen's distrust of the office by betraying President Washington's anti-French Revolution foreign policy.

The people's disaffection for the office, before Randolph was ever appointed, is borne out by the fact that he alone among the other cabinet members—the secretaries of state, treasury, and war department—was given only a pittance of a salary, $1,500, while the others got $3,500.

Mr. Bell in his Fordham Law School speech last March, ascribed this treatment to the national fragility of an indebted country, but added "the second and important motive was fear of a strong attorney general (by) representatives (who) vividly remembered that tyranny could re-

With a 5-cent deposit, some litterbugs still might throw them away—but at least there might be somebody around who would rather pick them up and cash them in than stay on welfare.

Randy Sanders was impressed by the good behavior of the 4th-6th graders at Bayless Elementary School the other day. Says they sat through an hour-plus assembly very quietly.

Asked her opinion of Red China, the Office Cutie says she likes it fine with a blue tablecloth.

Former United Auto Workers boss Leonard Woodcock will be our first ambassador to the Peoples Republic of China. His first move will be to demand a 40 percent pay raise, another month's annual vacation and an improved retirement package for the United Rickshaw Workers.

A tax cut in 1981 would be good for the economy, Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal says. The Carter Administration is looking ahead. To the 1980 elections.

THERE'S HARDLY a block in Lubbock that couldn't be improved with a little effort by the owners-occupiers.

There's hardly a block in which at least one resident or businessman doesn't have enough pride and energy to spearhead an improvement effort. There's hardly a block in which most residents or businessmen wouldn't cooperate to make the neighborhood better if someone took the lead.

So...why don't we get organized on a block-by-block basis and make Lubbock the best possible city in which to live?

Someone, such as the Chamber of Commerce, would have to take the lead to ferret out block chairmen, chairwomen or chairpersons.

Beyond that, though, it would be up to each block to decide what it would want to do. The chairman might invite every resident of the block to a party or just to a meeting with Cokes and coffee to discuss the situation.

Nobody would have any pressure put on him except that which he might feel as necessary to be a good neighbor.

In some blocks, home repairs and painting might be needed upon. In others, either because repairs aren't decided or finances won't permit it, the improvement effort might be limited to getting rid of weeds, debris, junked cars or whatever.

THERE'S HARDLY a residence or business anywhere in the city, though, that couldn't be made better in appearance with nothing more than a little elbow grease.

Absentee owners and landlords might need extra encouragement but the weight of a citywide improvement effort would get cooperation from most of them.

Lubbock is a good city but its appearance leaves much to be desired and just a little effort, if spread among us all, would do wonders. Organized volunteer effort will get it done. How about it?

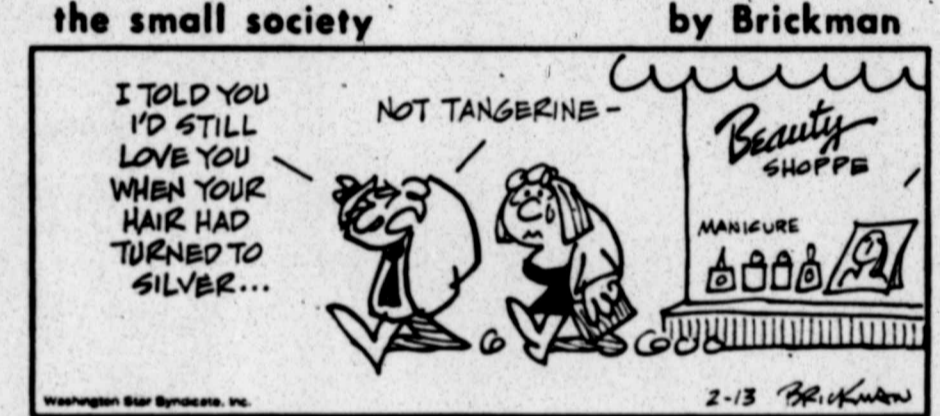

sult from a strong central enforcement of laws." It was further thought, according to Mr. Bell, that by being permitted to practice private law, the early attorneys general would keep their wits sharp.

When the President asked Griffin Bell to check on the swelling Justice Department, it turned out there were 54,528 employees, including 3,806 attorneys, 92 percent of them being active in law suits, the other being administrative personnel.

Such a head-count had never before been made, and naturally there were padded payrolls.

Adding to the snarl-up is the fact that, although he is chief legal officer in the Executive Branch, Bell had almost no authority over these small fry.

Many duties have accumulated in Griffin Bell's day, and he has few idle moments. But it would be a sound conjecture that during the rest of his tenure, he'll make some heads roll, which will never be missed.

Sylvia Porter: Get Maximum Mileage From Auto Insurance

IN NEW YORK City, if you are under 21, single and male, it could be costing you more than $3,149 a year to insure your car. But male or female, if you are over 30 and married, your insurance costs would drop to $940 annually for a typical new model.

At least two states—North Carolina and Massachusetts—now require insurance companies to take driving experience into account in setting rates.

Both states permit surcharges for drivers of any age who have had their licenses less than two or three years. The surcharge is up to 100 percent.

Some insurance companies contend that accurate mileage is difficult to determine—but regulators retort that state vehicle inspection laws could include odometer readings.

Other rating suggestions include: discounts for driver education courses, now offered by some firms, and grading of driver license exams, rather than simple pass-fail results, with discounts awarded for high scores.

AT THOSE RATES, the young, single male Manhattanite would be paying $4,042 a year, his counterpart in Ames, $688. And these rates assume you haven't had an accident or claim in three years.

For the first crash, add 10 percent to the basic policy, says a State Farm Mutual spokesman who supplied typical figures which State Farm uses in writing 20 million auto insurance policies.

After the second crash, add 20 percent to the basic rate; after the third, tack on 50 percent, bringing you to the $4,512-a-year level.

After that, you're almost sure to be without a license or in the even more exorbitant "assigned risk" classification.

The state insurance commissioners want the insurance companies to toss out the sex and marriage categories, forcing the industry to find criteria which are more "sociologically acceptable."

Until changes actually are made in the rating system—and the timing is unpredictable—what can you do to cut your insurance costs? Other than growing up, getting married or having an operation in Denmark?

* INCREASE YOUR collision and comprehensive deductibles. A $100 collision deductible, rather than $50, will save about 7 percent on your overall premiums; $200 will save you about 16 percent; $500, about 70 percent. This makes sense on every count.

* Keep your driving speed at 55 mph or less.

* Maintain your auto in safe condition; * Stay sober while driving; * And either move to Iowa or scream loudly and relentlessly for real no-fault insurance reform, which is so bitterly opposed by lawyers who might lose heavily if real reform took place.

Tomorrow: Sex and the single motorist.

THE INSURANCE companies have successfully fought any elimination of the age factor, convincing the commissioners that youth has a direct bearing on accident rates and severity.

The sex and marital status factors are still an issue between the regulators and the companies—with the regulators demanding that the industry seek the true claims-causing elements.

Should the major measuring stick be mileage, as auto industry experts contend and National Safety Council statistics show?

"It is ridiculous," says one car company safety official, "for insurance companies to charge a driver who travels 25,000 miles a year the same premium as one who records just 9,000 to 10,000 miles annually."

"THE 25,000-MILER will have more than twice as many accidents as one who drives 10,000, all other factors being equal."

WEATHER FORECAST — Snow is expected Tuesday until Wednesday morning for much of the West and for the northern Plains and Great Lakes. Rain is forecast for southern California, parts of Nevada and Arizona and in the Midwest. Warm weather is expected for the Southwest and western Gulf but most of the country will be cold. (AP Laserphoto)

Stong Winds Lash Pacific Northwest

A-J News Services
Heavy rains and winds up to 100 mph lashed the Pacific Northwest today, destroying a $26.7 million bridge, leaving thousands without power and killing at least one person.

Witnesses said the 1.3-mile-long Hood Canal bridge on Washington State Highway 104 was washed away but there were no confirmed reports that any vehicles were crossing it at the time.

In the meantime, bitter cold and about half a foot of new snow left most of the East Coast in a vast deep freeze.

Record lows — as cold as 47 below zero in New York State — were recorded throughout the East after a low pressure system blew in from the Midwest, then headed out over the Atlantic Ocean.

An area within a 100-mile radius of Washington, D.C., appeared to have been the hardest hit by a snowstorm which closed many schools and forced motorists to abandon their cars.

Tree-topping winds gusting to 90 mph knocked out power to about 42,000 homes and businesses in the state of Washington today, and a number of hospitals were forced to switch to emergency power.

"The trees are falling faster than we can put the power lines back up," said Frank Moses, a utility company dispatcher in Hoquiam, Wash. "Our servicemen were watching all the trees fall down and just decided to wait until they stopped falling."

The recent spell of warm, fair weather throughout West Texas, generated by a prevailing high pressure system to the west, should blossom further into a glimpse of summer today and Wednesday, forecasters said.

Lubbock temperatures under mostly fair skies were expected to soar into the mid-70s this afternoon and the low 80s Wednesday before cooling to a high in the 50s Thursday.

Fast on the heels of the current warm spell, however, will be another warming trend forecast to create temperatures in the 60s by Saturday throughout the South Plains.

Accompanying the slightly cooler weather toward the end of the week, South Plains skies are predicted to turn partly cloudy with the possibility of scattered showers.

The Lubbock temperature tonight will drop to near 40 degrees, the National Weather Service said, while in the latter half of the week, lows in the 30s will be recorded. The low this morning was 35 degrees.

Winds were expected to be in a southwesterly direction at 10 to 15 mph today, calming to light and variable tonight.

Elsewhere in the state, widespread fog through the eastern and central portions of Texas early today and scattered drizzle from the Hill Country southeast this morning were expected to dissipate in favor of partly cloudy skies this afternoon, forecasters said.

Warm sunny weather is forecast for West Texas today, the NWS said, while in North Texas, mild temperatures this afternoon will continue to warm on Wednesday.

In the meantime, a blanket of dense fog covered east and central Texas, cutting visibility to less than half a mile, and fog and mist was disrupting air traffic in southern California.

Much of the town of Mesa, Wash., remained under 4 feet of water, following a weekend of flooding. Streets were caving in, the water supply was contaminated and power poles were tilting.

Judges To Attend Conference

A number of area judges will take part in the West Texas Judicial Conference this week in Midland and will hear Judge Charles Barrow of the Texas Supreme Court discuss how to handle increasing case loads more efficiently.

The first annual conference was held last year in Lubbock, and 137th District Judge Robert C. Wright of Lubbock, program chairman, said a number of current issues will be taken up Wednesday.

Legal Drinking Age Increase Approved

BOSTON (AP) — The Massachusetts House has given initial approval to a bill making 19 the legal drinking age, but 21 the legal age for buying alcoholic beverages in package stores.

The action Monday was a partial rebuff to Gov. Edward King who pushed last week for a return to 21 as the legal drinking age. The bill, advanced 121-37, has additional House hurdles to clear before going to the Senate. The state's legal drinking age was reduced from 21 to 18 in 1972, effective March 1973.

Commissioners Approve Request By Montford

By TOM GRIESS
Avalanche-Journal Staff
Lubbock County Criminal District Attorney John Montford scored another victory Monday in his effort to beef up his staff.

Citing ever-increasing misdemeanor case loads and his commitment to prosecute all criminal matters, Montford persuaded the Lubbock County Commissioners' Court to amend his office's budget to include an additional attorney at an annual salary of $14,400.

"Last year there were 7,000-plus misdemeanor cases dismissed (in Lubbock County)," Montford said. "What I'm trying to avoid is the situation of having to clear misdemeanor cases."

The district attorney said he mistakenly believed during the budget preparations that an additional administrator and investigator would suffice to handle the misdemeanor load.

"We are trying twice as many cases (as in prior years)," he told the commissioners. "We cannot handle the existing misdemeanor case load without an additional misdemeanor attorney."

The newly budgeted position, made effective Feb. 1, will expand to 15 the staff of attorneys employed in the district attorney's office, Montford said. He added that he plans to hire a lawyer by Friday to fill a fourth position in the misdemeanor division.

After agreeing to Montford's request, the commissioners listened to a lengthy presentation by Hal Hensley, chief administrator to the district attorney's office, who successfully argued the need for more office equipment to speed the processing of cases.

Hensley requested a word processing data system and a copier.

The copier will cost no more than the present system, he said, and will return an estimated $300 per month in revenue to the county from copying costs to defense attorneys.

Hensley justified the word processing data system by saying it will take secretaries about two weeks to process the forms of the 122 people indicted by the grand jury last week, whereas the desired machine could perform the chore in several hours.

In another budget amendment matter, the commissioners voted to increase to $14,880 the annual salary of the Lubbock County Chief Deputy Tax Assessor-Collector, a raise of approximately $1,600, effective Feb. 1.

The commissioners approved the salary increase after praising the tax assessor's office for its vastly improved reputation for efficiency and responsiveness.

Earlier in the afternoon, the court, led by commissioner Coy Biggs, inspected the central power unit supplying heat and hot water to the County Court House, the Lubbock County Jail and the future jail currently under construction. The power unit, which the county is in the process of purchasing from private contractors, was criticized by Biggs, who pointed out numerous trouble spots and potential dangers during a 45-minute visit.

But Gary Keyton, president of Keyton Mechanical Co., the installer and present owner of the boiler equipment, said the items Biggs pointed out "are minor things that happen with any of these jobs. There's nothing major involved."

George Scott, the maintenance engineer for the county court house and jail, agreed with Keyton, terming leaking joints the major problem.

Keyton said the cost of the mechanical equipment his company installed was $316,000, and added that "hopefully" the county would finish purchasing it Monday.

Two Men Sought In Officer's Death

FORT WORTH (AP) — Police set up roadblocks in a remote corner of Fort Worth today seeking two men following the shooting death of a Crowley police officer. The men are believed on foot after abandoning a pickup truck.

Thick fog hampered the search during the early morning hours. Police hoped that the fog would burn off quickly, allowing use of a helicopter to aid the search.

The dead officer was identified as James Michael Carpenter, 27. Police in Crowley, a rural community south of Fort Worth, declined to give further information about the shooting early today.

Bhutto's Lawyers Ask For Stay

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's lawyers asked the Pakistani Supreme Court today to stay the execution of the former prime minister until it makes a final review of his conviction for conspiring to murder a political foe.

The court scheduled a hearing Wednesday on the petition to suspend the death sentence.

If the stay is refused, Bhutto could be hanged on Thursday. But "I don't think they will refuse; I hope not," defense lawyer Yahya Bakhtiar told reporters after filing his petition along with nearly 100 pages of preliminary arguments for the judicial review he asked for.

Bakhtiar told The Associated Press new evidence will be introduced in the case that he hopes will show that the key witness for the prosecution had his own motive for wanting to commit the 1974 political murder, and that Bhutto was not part of the conspiracy.

The witness, Masud Mahmud, one-time chief of Bhutto's political police, was pardoned after he turned state's evidence.

The military government has asked to be heard on the request for the stay of execution and may oppose it, Bakhtiar said.

The Supreme Court a week ago confirmed the Lahore High Court's conviction last March of Bhutto, Pakistan's leading political figure for nearly a decade, and four co-defendants. The Supreme Court is Pakistan's highest court, but defendants can petition for the court to review its own judgment during a 30-day period. The court does not have to grant the review, however.

The formal defense petition asking for the review argues that the new evidence could "materially affect" Bhutto's conviction. It also said the Supreme Court failed to take into account that the lower court had sentenced Bhutto to the maximum penalty of hanging, instead of life imprisonment, on the trial judges' finding that Bhutto was not a good Moslem.

The Supreme Court struck the lower court's observations about Bhutto and his religion but it failed to reduce his sentence correspondingly, the petition said.

Foreign leaders have appealed for clemency from President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq, the army commander who deposed him in mid-1977. These figures included President Carter, President Leonid Brezhnev, President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, Prime Minister James Callaghan and Pope John Paul II.

Zia, however, said before the Supreme Court gave its ruling that he would not set it aside, and he has given no indication that he has changed his mind.

Bakhtiar told reporters the Bhutto case is so complex that 30 days is too short for an adequate judicial review.

"If I were given a fair hearing, it would take three months," he said.

The lawyer indicated he was challenging more than 40 points in the court's ruling covering the misinterpretation of evidence and reliability of witnesses which led to rejection of Bhutto's defense that he was not part of the conspiracy to murder Reza Ahmed Kasuri, a former close associate who broke with him.

Kasuri escaped the ambush set for him in 1974, but his father was killed. He told reporters Monday that when he was visiting Washington last August, an ambassador of an Arab country offered him $2 million if he would disavow his accusations against Bhutto. Kasuri said he rejected the bribe. He would not name the diplomat or country.

Meanwhile, the government moved Bhutto's wife, Nusrat, and his oldest daughter, Benazir, from a residence in Islamabad to a government rest house outside Rawalpindi. The two women, both of whom are officials of Bhutto's Peoples Party, have been under house arrest to prevent them from organizing demonstrations.

No official explanation was given for the move.

More Workers Join Strikes

LONDON (UPI)—Workers who pick up blood donations halted collections and garbage men threatened today to extend their strike beyond London, spreading the effects of Britain's worst labor turmoil in five years.

The blood supply workers Monday joined the hospital staff members and ambulance drivers who have cut service at hundreds of hospitals to emergency cases only.

The workers who make blood pickups are demanding increases of more than 10 percent. Prime Minister James Callaghan has vowed to hold the line at 8 percent in his fight against inflation.

The garbage strike has left some London sidewalks knee-deep in refuse, and school workers have shut schools to a million children.

Public employees in the "dirty jobs" unions are demanding a 40 percent pay hike, from the current $84 a week minimum to $120.

Trash collectors, angered by the hiring of private contractors to dispose of the mountains of refuse on London's streets, plan to extend their action today to more towns.

Some 19,000 workers at the British Leyland car plant in Longbridge, near Birmingham, scheduled a vote today on whether to accept an appeal from colleagues at other BL factories to end their week-long strike for a productivity bonus.

Representatives of the country's 27,000 train drivers, who brought rail traffic to a standstill last month with a series of one-day stoppages, will meet with British rail officials to negotiate their productivity demand of 10 percent.

Hospital porters in Bristol, who have disrupted nonemergency hospital services for three weeks, refused to move the bodies of two patients who died in their beds Monday. The porters said it was not an emergency matter, and the bodies were removed by nurses.

But even the nurses said they may go on strike if the government did not meet their "justifiable claims."

Former GSA Manager Refuses To Testify

BALTIMORE (AP)—A former General Services Administration store manager refused to testify today and ruled out a defense at his trial on charges of conspiring to defraud the federal government by tunneling GSA money to a supply firm in exchange for cash and gifts.

With the jury out of the courtroom, Frank N. Ellis told U.S. District Judge Joseph H. Young and P. Paul Cocoros, his attorney, that he would not take the witness stand, as Cocoros had wanted him to do.

Told by his lawyer and Young that several other defense witnesses were waiting to testify, Ellis replied: "There are no witnesses I wish to call at this time." He offered no explanation.

Young, Cocoros and federal prosecutors then began discussing jury instructions.

Ellis is being tried on charges of conspiracy, bribery and filing false claims.

On Monday, in the final prosecution testimony, several FBI agents said records from both the GSA and a Westminster, Md., supply company showed that items for which the government paid were never shipped to Ellis' store in the Fallon Federal Building here.

One agent testified that records show the GSA paid $27,431.57 for 23,059 jumbo glue sticks from 1974 through 1977, but that just 2,160 sticks worth a total of $2,361.76 were delivered to Ellis' store.

Several employees of James Hilles Associates, Inc., the Westminster supply firm, have testified that Ellis, 34, of Falls Church, Va., received thousands of dollars in cash and gifts from Hilles.

In return, they told the court, Ellis approved payments by the GSA to Hilles for the amount of the gifts plus a 30 percent profit on bills for supplies ordered but not delivered to his store.

H. David Levine, 44, of Clarksville, Md., president of Hilles, has pleaded guilty of conspiracy and testified. So has Alton C. Beamon, 28, of Glen Burnie, a former sales assistant at the federal store.

Ellis was one of 32 persons indicted in a probe of corruption in the GSA. Twenty-four of those charged have pleaded guilty.

Police Identify Man As Fugitive

DENTON (AP)—A man killed by Denton police was identified today as a fugitive from Tennessee and Mississippi who had a lengthy criminal record and may be tied into several abductions in Texas.

Denton police identified him as Robert Allen Youngblood, 33, shot by Gulfport, Miss., police on charges of rape, kidnapping and aggravated robbery.

Tennessee authorities wanted him for allegedly shooting a police officer in the face with a shotgun, a Denton police spokesman said.

Youngblood was killed early Monday after he had abducted a North Texas State University policeman who had stopped him for a traffic violation.

DYING COUPLE REWED—John and Carolyn Toppin fulfill their dying wish as they exchange marriage vows Friday in religious services renewing vows taken 34 years ago in a civil ceremony. As Catholics, the San Leandro, Calif., couple wanted their marriage blessed by a Catholic priest before cancer claimed their lives. (AP Laserphoto)

Dying Couple Renew Marriage Vows

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP)—With cake and champagne, John and Carolyn Toppin celebrated the marriage blessings of the Roman Catholic Church, 34 years after their wedding.

The ceremony was especially poignant to the Toppins. Both are dying of cancer.

"Thank you all for making it so beautiful," Mrs. Toppin, 54, told about two dozen friends, reporters and relatives including their two children—Carol, 24, and John, 23—who gathered for the ceremony.

"This is something I've wanted to do for 34 years," whispered her 55-year-old husband, a former longshoreman. He was pale and weak. Doctors say he has terminal prostate cancer and has only a few days to live.

The ceremony was conducted Friday by Father Paul Ross Basser of St. Benedict's Church in nearby Oakland. The scene was the "family room" in the Kaiser Hospital hospice unit—a place where the remaining days of terminally ill patients are made as comfortable and cheerful as possible.

The Toppins—married in 1945 in a civil ceremony—held hands throughout the service, seated at a table bearing an open Bible and lit candles.

She wore a red knit suit and white blouse and clutched a small bouquet of mixed flowers. He wore blue pajamas, a red robe and a white carnation.

During the ceremony, each read a brief statement which they had written, expressing their love for each other.

Mrs. Toppin, who learned a year ago that she had terminal lung cancer, is still strong enough to live at home, in San Leandro.

"At the time they said I had six months, maybe a year, to live. I had chemotherapy, but it didn't work; I just became bald-headed," said Mrs. Toppin. Of the prospect of dying, she said, "I'm very frightened of it—extremely so."

But she added, "When I go to bed at night, I thank God for that day. Every day becomes more beautiful than before."

The Toppins said they at first planned their renewal of marriage vows to be private. But they invited news reporters and photographers to call public attention to the hospice program, which they called "fantastic" in helping terminally ill patients prepare for death.

Cuevas Attorneys Take Different Approach

HOUSTON (AP)—Defense attorneys say they plan a different approach and unlike the last time will call several witnesses in the retrial of Ignacio Cuevas, a state prison convict accused of capital murder during an escape attempt in August 1974.

Will Gray, who defended Cuevas in the first trial in 1975, said there would be some changes made but refused to disclose what he planned.

Gray, who rested his case without a witness taking the stand in the earlier trial, said, "We will have some witnesses this time. We will take a somewhat different approach."

Cuevas was convicted and sentenced to death for slaying of a hostage, prison librarian Mrs. Julia Standley.

He spent almost four years on death row before the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial.

The high court said the trial judge had erred by refusing to grant a defense challenge to a prospective juror. The juror had said he would vote for death penalty in any case where the accused was convicted of capital murder.

The selection of a jury began in State District Judge Miron A. Love's court Monday, a process that the prosecution says will take three weeks while the defense predicts at least six weeks.

Cuevas was the only surviving convict of the longest penal siege in U.S. history.

Men Charged In Burglaries

Two young Lubbock men and an Alamogordo, N.M., man Monday were charged in separate burglary of habitation cases.

John Roosevelt Henderson, 24, of Alamogordo was accused of breaking into a 3600 27th St. residence last Thursday.

Henry Ricky Lara, 17, of 6502 Avenue U was charged with burgling a home Thursday in the 700-block of 30th Street. Armando Hernandez, 23, of 2320 18th St. was accused in the same break-in.

Charles W. Williams, 27, of 2426 24th St. was charged with possession of a controlled substance, morphine.

Mark A. Gilbertson, 19, address unavailable, was charged with theft in the reported Jan. 28 theft of a car in the 400-block of 34th Street.

Burglaries, Shootings Keep Lubbock Police Busy

Investigation of burglaries and shooting incidents kept Lubbock police occupied this morning.

John Caddell, of 2216 6th St. said a burglar entered his house through a north window sometime Monday night and took a 12 gauge shotgun, CB radio and black and white television set, with a total value of $1,500. He said the burglar apparently left through a door near the window.

Another Monday night house burglary was reported at 4619 10th St. Jack Clendenin said a woman's 14-karat gold and jade dinner ring, valued at $750, was missing.

Two Lubbock residents reported their homes shot at by someone in a dark green Pontiac Monday night.

Armando Flores of Baylor Avenue said he saw the car pass by his house about 7:45 p.m., turn off its lights and stop just past his driveway. When he stepped onto his porch, someone in the car began firing at him, he said. Flores was not hit, but several .22 caliber bullet holes were found in the house. The same type of incident was reported later at a house on Avenue R. John G. Morin said he and others were watching television about 11:15 p.m. when they heard several "loud bangs." Morin said when the shooting stopped he saw a dark green Pontiac driving away.

Several bullet holes from .22 caliber slugs were found in his pickup truck parked outside the house, and one bullet hole was found in the exterior of the house. Morin estimated the damage at $200.

Police later arrested an adult and a juvenile in a 1968 dark green Pontiac LeMans in connection with the incidents.

Another shooting incident was reported about 9:30 p.m. by Paul Y. Garcia of 2805 Amherst St. Garcia said he was driving south on University Avenue when the occupant of a 1967 white and blue Buick Skylark, northbound on University, fired a .22 caliber bullet into the side of his car. Damage was estimated at $100.

A man suspected of taking $25 worth of cigarettes, candy and change from vending machines at McWhorter's Truck Center, 213 N. Ave. U, was found sleeping in a truck shortly after 10 p.m.

Police investigating found a hole in an overhead door large enough for a man to enter. A search of the premises revealed the suspect and the stolen goods in the cab of the truck, police said.

Police late Monday also were investigating numerous reported thefts and break-ins.

Lorenzo Perkins, owner of a business at 1922 Parkway Dr., complained that thieves took $3,000 worth of turquoise jewelry from the establishment sometime between 2 p.m. Sunday and 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Ruben Champion told police that someone removed $400 worth of tools from his pickup truck while it was parked at 402 39th St. sometime between 1 a.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. Monday.

Marlin Frank Bawcom of Richardson reported that thieves removed the hub caps from his 1978 Lincoln while it was parked at the South Park Inn sometime

Sunday night or early Monday. He said the property was worth $400.

In another vehicle theft, thieves took the tires and hubcaps from a van parked at 3409 50th St. sometime between 1 a.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. Monday. Judy Abraham said the culprits had placed the vehicle on some blocks to remove the property.

Ruben Ybarra Flores of 2108 8th St. said someone took his $300 portable color TV from his apartment sometime between 6:30 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. Monday. Melodie Gaye Nohar reported that someone took a $125 tape deck from her car while it was parked at Monterey High School sometime between 8:10 a.m. and 1:45 p.m. Monday.

Benny Lee Cole of 2023-A Fifth St. said he lost about $1,650 in property, including a stereo, watches and jewelry, when his house was burglarized between 10:30 p.m. and 11:30 p.m. Sunday.

F.C. Hargraves of the Lubbock Police Department reported that a $1,400 handheld radio has been missing from the department since Nov. 22, 1978.

Rockefeller Took Care Of Assistant

NEW YORK (AP) — The late Nelson A. Rockefeller bought his research assistant, Megan Marshack, a $45,000 cooperative apartment, furnished it with art objects from his valuable collection, and paid her $60,000 a year in salary with an unlimited expense account, the New York Post reports.

Quoting an unidentified source who admitted to "detesting" Miss Marshack, the Post said in Monday's editions that

Follow-Up

Miss Marshack had no life outside her work, spoke of the former New York governor with "warmth and tenderness" and "acted as if she was Mrs. Rockefeller."

The source, who asked not to be identified, told the Post that Miss Marshack was on 24-hour call to Rockefeller, ran the staff of his Manhattan townhouse with an imperious air, and bought many items of Rockefeller's personal clothing.

Miss Marshack, 25, a former Associated Press Radio reporter in Washington, D.C., was with Rockefeller when he suffered a heart attack on Jan. 26 in his Manhattan townhouse-office.

She joined his staff in 1976 while he was vice-president.

In his will filed last week in White Plains, Rockefeller forgave Miss Marshack a $45,000 loan which she had used to buy her cooperative apartment.

The Post reported that Miss Marshack had been a regular visitor at Rockefeller's Pocantico Hills estate in Westchester County where she took horseback riding lessons.

Questions about Miss Marshack's relationship with the former governor have surfaced amid growing confusion about the circumstances of Rockefeller's death. The confusion developed after family spokesmen, Hugh Morrow, issued conflicting reports about the time and place of Rockefeller's death and about whether Miss Marshack was there.

WNBC-TV program hostess Ponchitta Pierce said when she was called from a nearby apartment to come to Rockefeller's townhouse, she found only Miss Marshack and Rockefeller in the office. Miss Marshack and Miss Pierce are friends and neighbors in the building.

Miss Pierce said she was called between 10:50 p.m. and 11 p.m. and she walked to Rockefeller's townhouse. She said she called the 911 emergency number for aid and then left.

Tech Sponsors Seminar On Child Development

The Gessell Institute of Child Development of New Haven, Conn., will present a seminar on developmental placement and testing techniques at Texas Tech University Friday, Feb. 23.

The day-long seminar is designed for principals, kindergarten and primary teachers, college teachers, school psychologists, in-service training coordinators, preschool directors, reading specialists, early childhood supervisors, special education teachers, curriculum directors, guidance counselors, superintendents and other concerned professionals.

The seminar is sponsored by the College of Education and the Division of Continuing Education at Texas Tech and will be in the Senate Room of the University Center. Teachers and educational leaders from a wide area of West Texas are invited to attend.

The morning program will feature a discussion of the most commonly used reading readiness tests, showing how they compare in measuring critical factors with the Gessell methods of developmental placement, based on scientific aspects of human growth and development.

Seminar speakers will emphasize that every child has a right to learn at his or her own rate, point out the signs of the overplaced child, developmental differences between boys and girls and the unfairness of discriminating against those who are not ready.

The morning presentation also will feature films and a series of transparencies to demonstrate the institute's testing procedure.

The afternoon session will be devoted to administration of tests to children between the ages of 4 years, 9 months and 5 years, 5 months and a question-and-answer period with discussion and comment from participants.

Participants are expected to learn about the theory and background of developmental placement — how it fits in with the advanced thinking in educational circles while being based on tried, tested and proven research over a period of nearly 60 years.

The seminar will be led by a certified institute lecturer who also will demonstrate Gessell techniques. The $75 registration cost includes a portfolio including a seminar manual, an illustrated guide

Banquet Honors Advertising Winners

Winners in the 1978 American Advertising Federation Addy Awards competition were recognized at a banquet Monday sponsored by the Lubbock Advertising Foundation in the University City Club.

Chas. A. Guy, former editor of The Avalanche-Journal, served a master of ceremonies for the program, which is a yearly highlight for Lubbock advertisers.

Winning entries chosen by the organization become eligible to be judged along with top selections from other advertising clubs in District 10 (Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and the northern half of Louisiana). Winners at that level then will compete in a national contest of the American Advertising Federation.

The awards are presented for 15 different categories, including public relations, sales promotion, public service, specialty advertising, print material, outdoor, transit, direct mail, farm publication, business publication, consumer magazine, newspaper, radio, television, and complete campaign.

This year's Best of Show award was presented to Gene Messer Ford, Don Crow Chevrolet and P.P.A. Inc.

In the public relations classification, the winner was Hemphill-Wells, which received an Addy, second place and honorable mention for entries.

In the sales promotion category, Addy awards were presented for the following: point of purchase, Wold Air Brush Manufacturing, Robert John Allen, sales kits, dealer aids, Corky's Restaurant, Market Media.

Public service: single entry, print, Citibus, P.P.A. Inc.

Specialty advertising: budget under $5,000, Northern Star Seed, P.P.A. Inc.

Print material: catalogs, Bluechip Gifts, Steve Andrews; brochures, Sam Reysse Construction, B.J.'s Advertising Art Ink; house magazines, College of Business Administration, Steve Andrews; letterhead, logo or trademark design, Treadmill, Market Media; annual reports, Lubbock National Bank, Womack, Claypoole, Griffin.

Outdoor: junior posters, Citibus, P.P.A. Inc.; outdoor campaign, Lubbock Cable TV, Market Media.

Direct mail: local single direct mail piece, Lokey's Farm & Ranch World, United Marketing Services; regional-national single direct mail piece, Skibell's, B.J.'s Advertising Art Ink; regional-national campaign, ACCO, Paymaster Seed, Womack, Claypoole, Griffin.

Farm publication: color, ACCO, Paymaster Seed, Womack, Claypoole, Griffin.

Consumer magazine: full pages, color, Trees of the Southwest, Virgil Barber.

Investigation Leads To Drug Charges

EL PASO (AP) — An investigation into the attempted assassination of an assistant U.S. attorney developed information that led to the filing of federal drug charges against two Bandido motorcycle gang members and their girlfriends, officials said.

U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd said Monday the arrest resulted from a search warrant obtained on information supplied by the continuing investigation into the attempted murder of James Kerr.

Kerr, who had been looking into reports of widespread prostitution and drug trafficking in El Paso, said narrowly escaped death outside his San Antonio home last November when he ducked to evade a fusillade fired into his car by two gunmen.

Boyd said Monday that the Bandidos were coming under increasing scrutiny because of the Kerr incident.

The weekend arrest followed a raid by federal and local officers on the apartment of Rudolph James "Shakey" Maio, 31, president of the El Paso Bandido chapter.

Charged with possession of a pound of marijuana with intent to distribute were Maio, Katherine Sue Lynch, 20; Ronald Paul Drummond, 35; and Donna Hammett, 22.

Maio also was charged with assaulting a federal officer.

Bond on that charge was set at $100,000. Bond for him and Drummond on the possession charge was set at $10,000 each. The women were released on $10,000 personal recognizance bond.

The weekend arrests may be just one facet in an increasingly complex series of federal investigations in El Paso, San Antonio and Corpus Christi.

Two members of the Corpus Christi based Bandidos motorcycle club were jailed in Saturday in connection with what Nueces County Sheriff Solomon Ortiz says was a scheme to kill him and a top deputy.

Larry Willis, 27, and Danny Johnson, 36, both of Houston, were arraigned on charges alleging violation of federal firearms laws.

Ortiz said Willis was arrested as he sat in a van on the Nueces County courthouse parking lot. Johnson was arrested in a hallway of the sheriff's department.

Inside the van officers found loaded weapons, ammunition and binoculars.

Ortiz said he had been told by other law enforcement agencies that the Bandidos were to execute a $100,000 contract on himself and Sheriff's Capt. F.H. Rendon.

A San Antonio federal grand jury has been investigating the attempt on Kerr's life. And an El Paso federal grand jury has been looking into the disappearance of a large amount of money from the office of a lawyer killed in December.

Attorney Lee Chagra was shot to death Dec. 23 in his plush office. The colorful Chagra was well known for his defense of persons charged with drug-related crimes.

However, Boyd has said he has no evidence that links the Chagra killing with the attempt to assassinate Kerr.

Officers Arrest Gunbattle Suspect

MINERAL WELLS (AP) — Parker County sheriff's officers arrested a man without incident today in connection with the Monday night shootings of the Palo Pinto County sheriff and a deputy.

A Department of Public Safety spokesman said the man was taken to the Parker County jail. He was arrested in the general area of the shootings in neighboring Palo Pinto County, the spokesman said.

The sheriff was shot in the arm and the deputy in the mouth.

The gunman escaped the scene under cover of darkness.

Department of Public Safety spokesman Jim Robinson said the two men, who answered a domestic disturbance call, were shot after a high speed chase that reached speeds around 100 mph.

Deputy Sheriff Joe Wages was shot in the mouth when he approached a house the man ran into after abandoning his pickup. The man then ran into the woods, from where a shot was fired later that hit Palo Pinto County Sheriff Ray Patterson in the arm.

Patterson was taken to surgery early Tuesday morning at Palo Pinto Hospital.

where a spokesman said his condition was undetermined.

Wages was listed in good condition at Harris Hospital in Fort Worth.

The exchange of gunfire continued after the sheriff was taken from the scene about 11:30 p.m.

About "40 or 45" officer combed through the wooded area late Monday in the Whitt-Adele area, about 25 miles northeast of Mineral Wells in northwest Parker County.

Robinson said the highway patrol put up roadblocks in Parker and Palo Pinto counties.

Police thought they had the suspect pinned down in the house, But Robinson said the man escaped "under cover of darkness."

He said officers made a thorough search of the house and could not find the suspect.

"We've got the Highway Patrol and (Texas) Ranger units there, along with the Mineral Wells and Weatherford police and Palo Pinto and Parker county sheriff's deputies," a Department of Public Safety spokesman said.

Judge To Receive Protection

FORT WORTH (AP) — The judge who will hear the divorce trial of Cullen and Priscilla Davis will receive around-the-clock protection from Texas Rangers, per his request, the Tarrant County Sheriff's office says.

Davis, a multimillionaire industrialist, is currently awaiting retrial on a charge he sought to have killed the judge who had presided over his divorce proceedings. A trial last month in Houston resulted in a deadlocked jury, 8-4 for conviction.

Tarrant County Sheriff Lon Evans said Tuesday Rangers John Hogg and Tom Arnold will protect retired State District Judge John M. Barron.

Barron could not immediately be reached for comment.

The divorce trial is scheduled to get underway Feb. 20.

Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: Three of ♣.

South, declarer at four hearts, had an unusual choice of end plays to execute in the middle game. By selecting the right one, he was able to bring home his tricky contract.

A balancing bid by the fourth player does not necessarily show a good hand — North would have been fully entitled to reopen with two hearts if he had a low diamond instead of the ace. Since he, in fact, had a full opening bid, North decided to double first, planning to introduce his hearts at his next turn. East tried to shut out the opponents by rebidding his spades, but South had just enough to compete at the three-level. That was all North needed to hear, and his raise to four hearts ended the auction.

West led his fourth-best spade, declarer won the ace and ruffed a spade in dummy. After drawing trumps in two rounds, he then had to decide on how to tackle the minor suits. The normal play would be to try two diamond finesses, hoping the honors were split and the fourth diamond could be set up for a discard. From the bidding, however, it was likely that East had both honors, so declarer rejected that plan and decided to go after clubs first.

He led a low club and, when West followed low, inserted dummy's ten. East won the queen, but had no attractive return. Since a diamond or spade lead would have been fatal, he elected to get off play by cashing the ace of clubs and conceding a trick to dummy's king.

This merely postponed the moment of truth. Declarer entered his hand with a trump and ran the ten of diamonds to the queen. East was trapped again! A diamond return would be into the A-J tenace, while the lead of a spade would allow declarer to ruff in his hand while discarding the jack of diamonds from the board. Either way declarer would lose only one diamond in addition to two clubs.

Observe what happens if declarer tackles the diamond suit before clubs. East wins the first round of diamonds with the queen, but he can get out of his hand quite effectively by leading the ace and queen of clubs! Now it's declarer who has no recourse, for no matter what he does, he cannot prevent East from taking a second trick to go along with two club tricks.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: My husband recently retired, and he is driving me crazy. Julius and I have been married for 44 years and we're both in good health. He was always so involved in his business he had no time to develop any hobbies. He worked and I took care of the house. Now he's home and underfoot all day supervising the cleaning, laundry and cooking!

When the phone rings, Julius runs to answer it. If it's for me he has to know who it was and what was said. When my bridge club meets here, he hangs around listening to every word. The ladies feel inhibited and uncomfortable.

I find myself looking for excuses to get out of the house alone. (Julius even goes with me when I go marketing!)

I love him, but I hate to think of spending the rest of my life under these conditions. So what can I do about Julius?

Frustrated In Florida

Dear Frustrated: Your problem isn't Julius — it's your reluctance to level with him. Tell him what's on your mind. Gently, lovingly, and IMMEDIATELY! Then together investigate activities for retirees in your community. (Florida is loaded with them.) Search out other couples like yourself. Get involved in community service, politics and volunteerism. Enroll in adult education classes and discover the arts, music, painting or gardening. Get into nutrition, meditation, or travel! There's a whole new world out there just waiting to be discovered. And don't forget to thank God you still have your health and each other.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a very pleasant office and enjoy my job. My boss is kind and friendly, but he's fat, incredibly dull, and old enough to be my father.

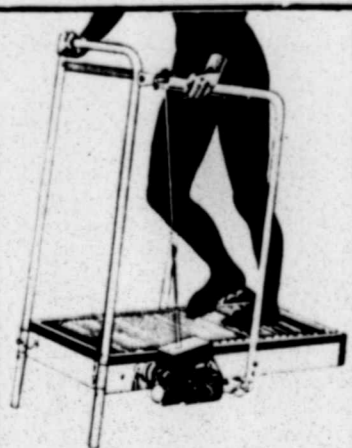

He often asks me to have lunch with him, but I usually refuse. I accepted a few times last year only because I didn't want to hurt his feelings. But I do not enjoy spending my lunch hours with a boring old man.

Another girl I work with is having the same problem with him. You could help us both by answering this.

Are we obligated to go to lunch with him?

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the letter concerning the disposition of Grandma's personal effects not provided for in her will.

I submit the perfect plan used by us four children when Mother's estate was settled.

Rule one was that anything given to Mother by any of us went back to the donor.

Rule two was that all items not specifically mentioned in Mother's will (dishes, silver, jewelry, furniture, etc.) would be auctioned off to the four of us. No money was used — just bookkeeping; the amount of the winning bid was deducted from the winner's cash inheritance. (Mother's will stated that we were all to share equally in her estate.)

That way, everyone got exactly what he or she wanted — or the cash equivalent.

Aviation Firms Seek Approval For Azodrin Use

By JIM STEIERT
A-J Correspondent

HEREFORD — Representatives of two Hereford agricultural aviation firms are heading an effort to obtain clearance from the Environmental Protection Agency for the use of the chemical Azodrin in the control of spider mites in corn in the area.

Leland Shelton of Whiteface Aviation Corp. and Ray Frye of American Dusting Co., Inc. set the wheels in motion on a project they hope will develop into a massive letter writing campaign to David A. Ivie, director of the Agriculture and Environmental Science Division of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Shelton and Frye are urging corn producers in the area to write letters requesting clearance of the chemical for use on corn.

Mite control has become a critical issue here over the past three years, particularly in the immediate Hereford area, where banks grass mites have shown resistance to all currently available miticides.

The presence of mite populations that have gone virtually uncontrolled has cut drastic inroads into corn production over the past two years.

Ivie, contacted last week, reported that the only way producers can hope to get action underway on the Azodrin clearance is to indicate the existence of an emergency situation in their letters.

"Growers must get started as soon as possible on this matter, because the TDA is a regulatory agency for the EPA at this time, and we must get a good deal of information together in order to get an approval from the EPA. It takes about six months to get a clearance, and that would put us into late July at best, when farmers would already need to be putting the chemical on their crops. Immediate action by concerned farmers is mandatory," Ivie said.

"There is a good possibility of getting Azodrin approved, and I don't feel there will be any problems in establishing the existence of an emergency situation. The only place we might run into troubles would be in the pests developing a tolerance to the new pesticide," he continued.

According to Ivie, letters mailed to him or the commissioner of agriculture need to contain information on chemicals used in attempts at mite control in the past, the problems producers had and if any of these chemicals gave results, yield reductions from mites on a bushel basis and a dollar-and-cent basis, and some estimate as to the acreage of corn grown in the area.

Shelton and Frye are urging producers to get letters to Ivie by Thursday.

"The only chance the product has of being labeled is for everyone concerned to let their views be known," Frye emphasized.

Frye pointed out that chemicals including Cygon, Meta-Systox R, Di-Syston and Comite have been used without effect in the area, while mites have continued to cause extensive damage to the corn crop.

In his own letter to Ivie, Frye wrote: "The farmers in this area are going to be forced to discontinue growing grain corn unless we can receive label clearance for use of Azodrin. The loss in yields from banks grass mites during the past two years has been staggering. A loss in yield between 2,000 and 3,000 pounds per acre has been very common, and this is a loss of approximately $100 per acre. In some extreme cases the loss has doubled this amount."

In his report to Ivie, Shelton included copies of pest reports from area entomologist Carl D. Patrick, which cited massive buildups in mite populations during July, August and September of 1978.

Patrick wrote that "checking behind some miticide applications in Deaf Smith and Roberts counties indicated very little control." In another report, Patrick wrote, "One of the fields had been sprayed twice, which resulted in not even a slowdown of the mite."

Shelton urged clearance of Azodrin in a letter of his own, citing research which has shown it to be an effective miticide.

"I am asking your department to help get a clearance on corn, possibly on a special local need basis, until such time as complete labeling could be effected. I believe that under paragraph 22 of the new Federal Pesticide Act of 1978, the state registration of Azodrin could be very probable."

The local aviation firm representatives reported they took on the project because of a growing demand among their customers for something to be done about the mite problem.

"We are to the point now that if we use anything other than Azodrin, we will just be wasting money. The TDA would rather help us than slap a fine on us for illegal use of Azodrin, and so we feel it is worth the effort of seeking a clearance," the pair said.

Shelton issued a warning to local corn growers concerning Azodrin, however.

"Should we get the label, we don't want to immediately apply Azodrin at the first indication of mites," Shelton commented. "Every time we've obtained a promising miticide, the pests have developed resistance at a rapid pace."

"We need to conserve Azodrin as a control measure, rather than a mite preventive. If we don't have a big buildup in the mite population, we don't want to use it. Azodrin is no miracle product. It's just another tool in a program of culture, and we don't want to overuse it and allow mites to become immune to it."

"If we have normal summer weather, differing from the extremely hot and dry summers we've had the past couple of years, we might not have the explosion in the mite population that has created our recent problems," Shelton commented.

Individuals interested in writing letters seeking the Azodrin clearance should address them to: David Ivie, Director of Agriculture and Environmental Science Division, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Tex. 78711.

Also, an Indian trade group predicted that India's shortage of edible oils could reach 2 million tons over the next eight years.

The approach of scheduled soybean oil and wheat tenders by several nations lent background support to prices, analysts said.

Weather, Strike Boost Prices

By DONALD C. BROWN JR.
United Press International
Record low temperatures in cattle country around Coon Rapids, Iowa, frost on the tomatoes in Donna and ice on the avocados in Rainbow, Calif., have sent grocery prices soaring nationwide.

Harsh winter weather isn't the only factor boosting inflation at the check-out counter. Consumers are also paying for the effects of a strike in the lettuce fields of California.

As a result, that staple of the midweek dinner — hamburger — is costing more, and so are the lettuce and tomato trimmings.

First the patty: an average price of $1.35 per pound in January compared to 85 cents a pound for the same month a year ago, a survey by the National Cattleman's Association says.

Blame part of that on the weather. Experts say record bitter cold in the Midwest and Great Plains has reduced meat supplies and driven prices up by increasing the amount of time it takes to fatten cattle. That disrupts the movement of herds to the slaughter yards and increases the cost of feeding the cattle.

"A lot of the cattle, because of the cold weather, have been backed up as much as 30 to 60 days. You put cattle into feed for 12 days and expect them to be ready — but they're not. It's just because it's been so cold it's slowed down the rate of gain (of weight)," said Weldon Hall, spokesman for Market News, a division of the Iowa Department of Agriculture in Des Moines, Iowa.

"Cattle may gain only 10 pounds in 30 days. This has slowed down the movement of cattle. I'm sure it has influenced retail prices because supply has gone down."

Asked how much prices have increased because of weather, Hall said, "I don't know and wouldn't venture a guess."

If you think hamburger is high now, just wait. The American Meat Institute says shoppers will be paying 40 to 50 cents more per pound for ground beef by summer and the price could stay up as long as three years.

So much for the burger, now for the trimmings.

Iceberg lettuce in Southern California supermarkets is selling for about 59 cents a head and is up to 89 cents at some locations in the South, Midwest and East Coast. Those are about the same prices in effect when the United Farm Workers of America began their strike about a month ago in the Imperial Valley lettuce fields.

But industry experts say the price would have dropped without the strike. "The consumer is actually paying much more for iceberg lettuce without them knowing it," said Les Hubbard, spokesman for the Western Growers, a trade association representing the fresh produce industry in California and Arizona.

He said the wholesale price of lettuce based on a carton of 24 heads has ranged from $5 per carton to $12 per carton and is now about $8 to $9.

Coffee Firms Announce Cost Cuts

By United Press International
Two of the nation's biggest coffee roasters have trimmed wholesale prices on ground coffee by 5 cents a pound and that means lower prices should be evident at the supermarket within a month.

Filiger Coffee Co., the No. 2 roaster, and Hills Bros. Coffee Inc., the No. 3 roaster, said Monday the price reductions — from $2.53 to $2.48 a pound — would take effect immediately.

MJB, a smaller West Coast roaster, lowered its list price on ground coffee to $2.48 from $2.53 a pound.

Folger, a division of Procter & Gamble Co. in Cincinnati, also reduced the wholesale price on a 13-ounce can of its flaked coffee to $2 from $2.04.

Hills Bros., headquartered in San Francisco, trimmed the pricetag on its high-yield coffee by 4 cents to $2 for a 13-ounce can.

The price cuts should be reflected at the retail level within three to four weeks, the current lag period before wholesale mark-downs are passed along to the consumer.

The nation's No. 1 roaster — General Foods Corp.'s Maxwell House division in White Plains, N.Y. — held the line at $2.53 a pound on ground coffee.

Hills Bros. attributed its price reductions to declining commodity prices.

An abundant coffee crop in Colombia, Central America and Africa has prompted a drop in green coffee prices on world markets.

Colombia, the No. 2 producer, has been exporting coffee at a record rate since October.

Coffee industry observers also said governments in some producing nations have been reluctant to buy up surplus crops for fear of fueling internal inflation.

What this apparently means for Americans, who balked at paying almost $4 a pound in mid-1977, is a still cheaper cup of coffee.

"If the strike hadn't happened, the wholesale price would have been down to about $2 to $2.50 per carton and the consumer would have been paying much less. There would have been a glut on the market by now because the volume of lettuce planted was higher than normal for the season, both in the Imperial Valley and in Arizona," said Hubbard.

Tomatoes, onions and the rest of the garnish are no bargain either.

A House Agriculture Committee aide said bad weather in California and Texas has cut winter produce production.

The freeze also trimmed the citrus crop production in those states. Florida's citrus crop has escaped the cold this year with only minimal damage but the industry still is feeling the effects of a January 1977 freeze. And there is a chance of an increase later this year that would translate into a hike of possibly 3 cents per can of frozen orange juice at the supermarket.

But if the prospect of all these price increases is dismaying there is one consolation: The worse the winter, the better the chances for the Midwest grain crop.

An Agriculture Department report released Monday said last year's heavy snows helped provide enough ground moisture for last year's record corn crop of 7.1 billion bushels and record yields of 101 bushels per acre.

"While it would be unusual for the favorable conditions of 1978 to repeat this year, heavy precipitation and snow cover over much of the major grain producing areas is encouraging for 1979 crop prospects," the report said.

Workers Resume Lettuce Harvest

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — Thousands of United Farm Workers union members heeded the urging of leader Cesar Chavez and returned to their jobs today. Their work stoppage Monday to mourn a slain worker shut down harvesting of virtually all the nation's winter lettuce.

"It looks like most of the workers returned to their jobs," growers' association spokesman Ron Hull said.

"The valley wide work stoppage yesterday was a spontaneous thing, not something we had called for or planned," said a union spokesman. He confirmed that members were back on the job today, except for those on strike against 10 growers.

The stoppage affected about 7,000 workers at 30 farms struck.

Chavez called for a second work stoppage on Wednesday, when 28-year-old Rufino Contreras is to be buried. He was shot Saturday when a group of strikers went to a field near Holtville, where lettuce was being harvested by replacement workers.

Three men have been booked for investigation of murder. They were identified Monday by the Imperial County Sheriff's Department as Leonardo Alfredo Barrera, a general foreman; Froilan Perez Mendoza, a truck driver; and Anthony Andres San Diego, a temporary foreman.

Chavez said Monday: "The workers said they did not want to go to their jobs while one of their friends lay dead."

The work stoppage was the latest incident in a sometimes-violent, 3½-week strike by 4,200 UFW members against 11 major vegetable growers and shippers in California and Arizona. The strike has affected lettuce, carrot, broccoli and cabbage harvesting.

Growers of the struck farms have agreed to suspend harvesting Wednesday, and said they would ask other growers to join them.

Police Escort Home Escaped Pet Wolves

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — It was a nervous time for police and horses. Roy Ladriagan's pair of pet wolves had broken loose and were howling through a neighboring horse farm.

"Hey, they're big," said Pierce Township police officer Richard Mathews. "We blocked off the road and escorted them back to their home." The "home" is a pen behind Ladriagan's house. Mathews said, Ladriagan said he was able to tie one wolf to a leash and the other one followed along as the police led the pair back to their home Sunday night.

Chavez urged strikers not to seek revenge for Contreras' killing, but said the incident "has hardened our resolve. The workers are more determined than ever to see it out to the end — for years if necessary."

Contreras' death was the first slaying of a UFW member in labor strife since 1973. A brawl two weeks ago among UFW pickets, private security guards and replacement workers left 20 persons injured and more than 40 farm buses and trucks damaged.

The UFW is seeking one-year increases of 40 percent in the base pay of $3.70 an hour, plus other pay and benefits.

Dead Leader's Brother To Testify At Trial

YUMA, ARIZ. (AP) — The brother of dead gang leader Gary Tyson was expected to testify today in the murder trial of Handy Greenawalt.

Greenawalt, 29, of Thornton, Colo., was charged with four counts of first-degree murder and kidnapping, along with robbery and auto theft, after the bodies of a Yuma Marine and his family were found last August on the desert near Quartzsite.

John F. Lyons, his wife, son and niece apparently fell victim to Tyson and Greenawalt, who escaped July 30 from the Arizona State Prison, after Tyson's three sons smuggled in sawed-off shotguns.

Greenawalt and two of the sons, Raymond and Ricky Tyson, were captured Aug. 11 in a shootout at a roadblock near the Tysons' hometown of Casa Grande. The third brother, Donald Tyson, was shot to death and Gary Tyson fled into the desert but was found dead later of exposure.

Deputy Yuma County Attorney Mike Irwin said he would call Gary Tyson's brother, Joseph Tyson, who is serving four years at a federal detention center in Florence on a conviction of conspiring to import marijuana.

Tyson allegedly "provided a vehicle and weapons to the defendant which were used in the killing of the John Lyons family." Irwin said Tyson has not been charged in the murder case.

Stock Mart Advances 7.28 Points

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market jumped ahead today as the gradual rally of the past three sessions accelerated.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had climbed 8.83 points since last Wednesday's close, was up another 7.28 at 832.12 by noon today.

Gainers outdistanced losers by more than a 3-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the stage for today's advance was set over the past several days, during which the market managed to move ahead despite a generally dismal news background.

Late last week the government reported the sharpest rise in wholesale prices in the last four years. And uncertainties abounded about the energy outlook after the revolution in Iran.

When those developments failed to touch off any significant declines, analysts said, the balance of supply and demand for stock favored a rally.

The dollar, meanwhile, turned in a steady showing in foreign exchange today.

Coal stocks extended their recent gains. Pittsburg rose 1/2 to 21 3/4 and Continental Oil, which has extensive coal operations, added 1/2 to 31 1/2, both in active trading.

Buyers of the stocks evidently believe the industry will benefit from new pressures on oil supplies resulting from the upheaval in Iran.

The NYSE's composite index rose 42 to 55.46. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up 1.06 at 161.77.

Hammocking Helps New Shows On Tube Achieve High Ratings

By PETER J. BOYER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—You may have noticed that some television shows stay on the air even though they are crass and lack wit and originality. You may have noticed that some of them become big hits.

You may have wondered why. TV programmers are a crafty lot, at least when it comes to herding television viewers. They have clever ways of getting an audience to watch a show they're not particularly crazy about.

A favorite viewer herding device is called "hammocking." This is the practice of hanging a weak or new show between two strong favorites, like nailing a cotton hammock to a pair of oaks. The assumption is that an audience drawn by the first show will sit through the hammock show to get at the third program.

Oh, you could read a book or balance your checkbook or simply switch channels, but network gray suits don't think you will. They believe in the notion of "audience flow," which is to say, they believe in the tranquilizing effects of TV.

ABC is the reigning hammocking champ, not because their guys are smarter (which they may be), but because a network has to have oaks to properly hammock. And ABC, top in ratings for three seasons, has a forest.

Consider the case of a new ABC comedy called "Makin' It." No fount of comic genius, this, but that has nothing to do with its potential as a hit series, especially at ABC.

"Makin' It" tries to be a cut-rate version of "Saturday Night Fever." Adolescence, TV-style, with disco as a background theme. In an early episode, our hero anguishes over a decision he faces. Should he study and get a college degree? Or should he hang out at the disco?

A TV show can be dumb and funny; this is just dumb. A sample joke: "Hey, if you wanna blow in my ear, make sure it's the left one... I lost a Q-Tip in the other one." Yuk-yuk.

ABC, realizing this show might not fly on its own, decided to try for a little viewing by association. They hammocked it. They scheduled a "special sneak preview" on Thursday, Feb. 1, stringing the show between "Mork and Mindy" and "Barney Miller," two very popular series.

There was much glee and backslapping over the results. "Makin' It" scored big, finishing No. 11 of all the week's shows, a rare feat for a new series. There you have it, the art of hammocking.

Oh, yes. There is another side to programming gimmicks. Sometimes they don't work. Sometimes viewers don't know they're supposed to "flow" from one program to the next. The night after ABC's hammocking success, they tried it again, moving the popular "Happy Days" from Tuesday as a special lead-in favor for "Makin' It."

This time, though, the competition drubbed "Happy Days" and "Makin' It." Now the network is having to await today's ratings numbers from Friday's official "Makin' It" premiere to see if it is a real hit or if it's come a cropper after all.

Aid Forms Produce Confusion

WASHINGTON (AP)—When Leo Kornfeld and his daughter tried to complete a federal financial aid form, they had trouble filling out the web of blanks on adjusted gross income, family assets and the like.

Encountering problems with HEW's Basic Educational Opportunity Grant forms may not be unusual. But if there's anybody who should be able to handle them, it's Kornfeld, a computer expert who runs all of HEW's student aid programs.

"I must tell you, I sat down with her, and we had trouble filling out that form," said Kornfeld. "The forms are far too complicated."

Kornfeld's confessions were made recently to students at a national conference on financial aid. HEW is trying to simplify forms and come up with a single one to determine both federal aid and how much a college expects the student's family to be able to pay.

For Nancy Kornfeld, a 19-year-old Wesleyan University freshman, the tussle with a grant form was just for fun since her father's $47,500 salary is three times higher than the approximate $15,000 cutoff to qualify for the grants, which range from $200 to $1,600 in the 1978-79 school year.

At President Carter's urging, and in lieu of tuition tax credits, Congress recently expanded the basic grant program to cover students from families with income up to roughly $26,000 in the 1979-80 school year.

HEW estimates that grants will go to an estimated 1.8 million students this year and will reach 2.7 million students next year. The maximum will rise to $1,800 next year.

But the applications first will have to run the gauntlet of Kornfeld's computers.

Rejections have been at a record high in the past year because of tough new computer safeguards installed to weed out cheaters and those who gave inconsistent or incomplete answers.

Kornfeld told the student conference that 1.2 million students were rejected on their first try. That number was whittled down to 496,000, but was still more than double the outright rejects last year.

Some were cheaters, Kornfeld says, while others "were people who made honest mistakes and got caught up in the system."

Israel Seeks Defense Pact

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Israel's military establishment today offered a defense partnership with the United States to ensure the "stability and prosperity" of the Middle East following the downfall of Iran.

Defense Minister Ezer Weizman made the offer to U.S. Defense Secretary Harold Brown as he arrived from Jordan for a four-day official visit to Israel.

Brown's visit is the first by an American defense chief to the Middle East, and the trip has taken on added significance because of the Islamic revolution that overthrew the shah of Iran.

Israel has made no secret of its willingness to act as the guardian of Western interests in the volatile Middle East, and Israeli officials have been warning that oil-rich Saudi Arabia could be next in line for revolution.

"Israel is ready to contribute to a partnership with the United States for the stability and prosperity for all peace-seeking forces in the region," Weizman said on the tarmac at Ben Gurion Airport while Brown stood alongside.

Brown then told reporters: "We have common strategic interests in the stability and well-being of the Middle East."

"The American commitment to Israel's security, resting as it does on moral and political grounds as well as on these vital common security interests, is a long-standing one and I reaffirm that American commitment to Israel's security today."

Brown received a red carpet welcome and reviewed an air force honor guard. An army band trumpeted the American and Israeli national anthems. Brown shook hands down a receiving line of Israel's top military brass, including the chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Raphael Eitan.

The secretary immediately went to the U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv for a briefing with Ambassador Samuel W. Lewis. He also slated a full day of talks with Weizman at the Israeli equivalent of the Pentagon in the heart of the city.

Referring to events in Iran where Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini has taken over the government, Weizman said: "The visit takes place at a time of actual and potentially even greater more far-reaching changes in the entire Middle East."

"The most recent events in Iran, which seemed to gather an ominous momentum, underscore the importance of bringing stability and order to the whole region. The state of Israel has proved that it is an island of stability and democracy that can be relied upon."

Meanwhile, Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan said today Israel "cannot deny" the existence of the Palestine Liberation Organization, but his chief spokesman said Dayan was not suggesting Jerusalem should extend some form of recognition to the PLO.

The national radio interpreted Dayan's remarks to an international conference of Jewish war veterans to mean a softening in Israel's position toward the PLO. Israel has vowed never to negotiate with the PLO.

Knesset members who heard the radio interpretation of Dayan's remarks immediately requested government clarification in Parliament.

Speaking of the upcoming resumption of peace treaty talks with Egypt, Dayan said:

"There are other problems (in the way of a peace settlement) like the PLO, which is not a state, but we cannot deny their position or their value in the conflict and, eventually, in order to reach an agreement."

"It isn't just the terrorists or the terrorist organization, it's also the civilian part of it, that is to say, the Palestinian refugees. No one, and certainly we, don't think a final settlement of the conflict in the Middle East can be achieved without a settlement of the refugees."

Responding to demands for clarification, Dayan's chief aide and spokesman, Naftali Lavi, admitted Dayan's remarks in English were not clear.

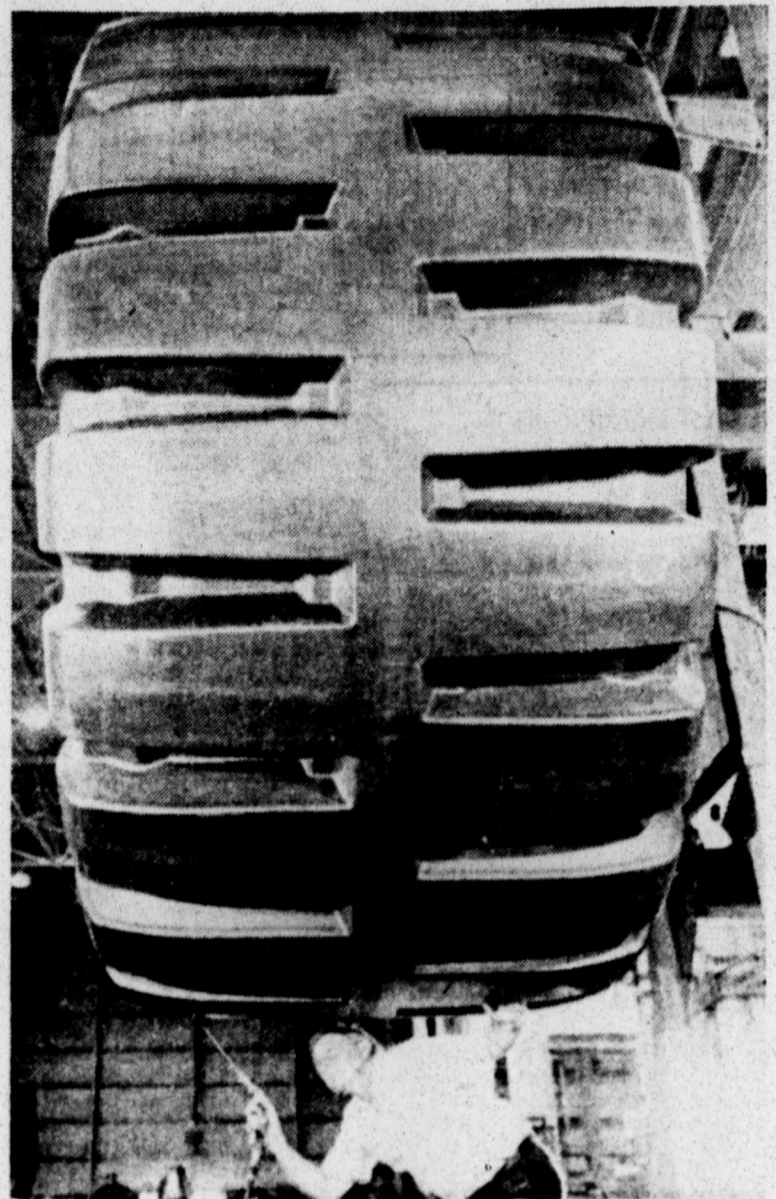

"Dayan's comments were not a trial balloon or a signal," Lavi said. "There has been no change in Israel's attitude toward the PLO. Our attitude toward the PLO is the same today as it was yesterday. The PLO is not relevant as a political entity."

What Dayan meant, Lavi said, was that the PLO in effect controls the civilian population in the Palestinian refugee camps and the Palestinian problem must be solved as part of a comprehensive Middle East peace settlement.

"The PLO is a factor," Lavi said. "You can't ignore that they exist. They have some control over the civilians living in the refugee camps. But, in fact, they cannot be partners to the peace negotiations — of course not."

Dayan told the conference he foresees the Camp David talks next week as the first step toward a summit meeting that will finally conclude a peace treaty between Egypt and Israel.

His remarks came as the government disclosed a decision to establish a new Jewish farming settlement in the occupied West Bank just over the pre-1967 war frontier.

SPAG Directors Snub City Plea for media in its crime prevention project. "It's interesting (the criminal district attorney's office) have not called us," Henry said.

If that information were used to change the Lubbock proposal, Henry suggested sarcastically that the board needed to "go through all 21 projects to see what other late-breaking developments there are."

The discussion was abruptly ended when board members voted not to change the order of priorities, except to allow the City of Lubbock to make the crime prevention program 15th, rather than 17th.

Recent Avalanche-Journal stories on SPAG garnered sharp criticism from board chairman Medlin Carpenter of Plainview.

"Every time I open up the paper I see a story about SPAG and I'm getting damn tired of it," Carpenter said.

"If we're going to run this shop we ought to do it right or fold the thing up," Carpenter also encouraged board members to work out their own problems without being "painted in the paper on a lot of stuff."

During the past eight years, SPAG has received $4.9 million in federal criminal justice funds to use in the region. Of that amount, only about 9 percent has been allocated to the City of Lubbock.

About 44 percent of the funds went for programs operated by SPAG that benefit the area, and 24 percent has gone for Lubbock County projects.

When the Criminal Justice Advisory Committee recommended funding priorities earlier this month, two projects requested by the City of Lubbock did not rank high enough to be funded.

The city requested $40,000 to start a crime prevention program in Lubbock, a proposal not funded last year, and $26,524 to computerize police records.

At a recent Lubbock City Council meeting, City Manager Larry Cunningham said he is concerned "some SPAG committees and the SPAG board are going beyond their authority in the review of appropriations."

"As we understand, SPAG is to see how projects fit into regional goals," he said.

Committee members "sitting here from some county with no knowledge of Lubbock have gotten into things they have no business considering," he said. "Asking how much you pay police officers — that's not relevant."

Because Lubbock pays its police officers more than some other cities in the region, Cunningham said, the city's criminal justice projects have received lower priority.

"I don't think we're being treated as equitably as we should be," he said. "I don't see the purpose of spending $14,000 in dues to be baked over the coals by people who don't know what they're talking about."

courts and were released with apologies all around," the spokesman said. "We take comfort from the fact that they looked on (the arrests) as a great mistake."

Tehran Radio warned against attacks on the estimated 7,000 Americans and thousands of other foreigners in the country and destruction of government buildings.

"The operational staff of the Iranian Islamic Revolution in its statements has stressed that all foreign nationals domiciled in Iran are immune from any transgression," the broadcast said.

The operational staff is the provisional government headed by Bazargan that Khomeini set up Sunday when the nation's military commanders abandoned Bakhtiar and gave their support to the ayatollah.

Khomeini, the Shiite Moslem leader of the year-long revolt that drove Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi from Iran, urged his followers to avoid "arson, destruction and cruelty" and declared that violators would be disobeying "Allah's orders and are traitors to the Islamic movement."

The state radio said the new army also had recaptured a number of soldiers and civilians charged with corruption and other crimes who had escaped from a military barracks Sunday "in the process of a people's raid."

A contingent of 69 U.S. Marines was standing by abroad in case the Marines guarding the American Embassy in Tehran needed reinforcements. Six big U.S. Air Force helicopters also were standing by in case they were ordered to begin evacuating Americans from Iran. Washington sources said most of the extra Marines and choppers were at a U.S. Air Force base in the Azores.

Civil Rights Panel Raps Lag On Desegregation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Civil Rights Commission said today nearly half the country's minority children go to segregated schools and that segregation is most intense outside the South.

The commission criticized Congress and the executive branch for only reluctantly carrying out the mandate of a Supreme Court decision handed down 25 years ago.

And it said even the court seems to be "retreating from its long-espoused commitment to the right of school children to a desegregated education."

The commission has no enforcement power, but is required by law to evaluate the status of school desegregation across the nation from time to time.

Today's report drew its conclusions from a 1976 survey by the Department of Health Education and Welfare of 3,616 of the country's 16,000 school districts. The data is the latest available, the commission said.

The report said the survey shows segregation in many school districts "remains at discouragingly high levels."

The commission said that through recent amendments, Congress has "undermined the ability of the executive and the judicial branches to guarantee the nation's children and young people their constitutional rights."

It has thus acted against widely accepted civil rights goals and contributed to a lessening of the national will with respect to equal rights in the vital area of public education.

At a news conference today, commission Chairman Arthur S. Flemming said he was convinced the American people by and large still support the idea that every child should attend an integrated school.

"I believe there's a grassroots basic support for living up to the Constitution of the United States," he said. But it would be "intendible" if the effort to desegregate education continued at its present unsatisfactory pace, he said.

Solons Back Ag Protest

snarls in the late afternoon, police said, the farmers agreed to leave their vehicles parked overnight near the Lincoln Memorial, where they had gathered for a demonstration on Lincoln's birthday.

Part of the group planned a two-mile march back to the tractors today, but the protesters said they would not decide in advance whether to drive the vehicles back to the area where they have been penned in for a week.

The Agriculture Department building which had been kept open for farmers after hours last week was closed at 6 p.m. as usual Monday. Only those with a building identification card could enter after then.

A Federal Protective Agency spokesman said the action was taken because of unauthorized use of telephones by farmers last week and isolated vandalism.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland told soil conservationists in a speech Monday that poor weather some place in the world this year could cut into grain surpluses so much that American farmers will have to return to full production in 1980.

Last year, a voluntary program for cutting back production was put into effect in an attempt to raise grain prices without higher supports or subsidies.

Bergland made no prediction that this will happen, but pointed out as he has in the past that "the world has produced four bumper crops back-to-back in the last four years" and that it "has never grown five good crops in a row."

Stephen Horn, president of California State University at Long Beach and vice chairman of the commission, said a child born in 1954, when the Supreme Court first ruled school segregation unconstitutional, could be in graduate school today without ever having attended a desegregated school or college.

The commissioners said the ultimate solution must be metropolitan-wide desegregation, especially in the big northern cities which have been slow to act.

The commission noted President Carter's commitment when he took office "to complete equality of opportunity in our nation." But it said there is still a question as to whether HEW is willing to cut off federal funds to non-complying school systems.

A fund cutoff had been ordered in six major desegregation cases when Carter took office, the report said, but only one has been settled.

The 90-page volume focused specifically on the situations in 47 school districts ranging from Anchorage, Alaska to Uvalde, Texas.

Wyoming Legislators Kill Bill To Up Highway Speed Limit

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — A bill challenging the federally mandated 55 mph speed limit has died in the Wyoming Legislature, one of its backers says.

A measure that would reduce fines for traveling faster than 55 mph received support from only 20 of the 62 House members on Monday.

"It kills it dead in hell," said state Rep. Charles Scott of Casper. The bill would have dropped fines to $5 for traveling 55-65 mph and imposed a $30 fine for faster than 65 mph. Currently, a motorist may be fined $1 for each mile per hour above the speed limit plus $5 in court costs.

Wyoming officials said they were not aware of President Carter's reminder that federal highway aid could be cut to states which set maximum speed limits beyond 55 mph.

Carter told a news conference in Washington on Monday: "One thing that's concerned me recently is the move on the part of some ill-advised state legislatures to raise the speed limit above 55 up to 65 or more."

"Now, this would result in the termination of federal funds allocated to them for highway purposes," he added. Wyoming currently receives about $51.7 million annually in federal highway money.

Keeping the Wyoming speed limit at 55 was backed by House Speaker Warren Morton, also of Casper, who warned of an impending oil-supply crisis because of the takeover in Iran by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

"We are part of the world and we cannot by legislative action withdraw from the world," said Morton, an oil and gas producer. He added that the 55 mph law is "a sacrifice that we all must accept."

Other Western states have begun moves to raise the speed limit, and legislation has been introduced in Congress that would allow states to set their own limits without worrying about losing federal aid.

Also, Pamela Able, Wyoming conservation director, said two federal officials were "receptive" to a proposal that a trade-off be established to link an increase in speed limits to increases in gasoline taxes.

But on Monday, the officials — Ray Warner of the transportation department and Mark Friedrich of the energy department — said they had agreed only to talk to Mrs. Able about the proposal.

The 55 mph speed limit became law during the 1973 Arab oil embargo. The lower speed limit also has been credited with reducing the number of highway fatalities.

Two Sought In Slaying Of Girl

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Two men were being hunted in Michigan today in the strangulation slaying of an 11-year-old school crossing guard who was dragged into a car, then dumped about a mile from her elementary school.

Linda Vanderveen, 11, a sixth grader at Mulick Park Elementary School and daughter of the city's personnel director, fought desperately as she was forced into a car Monday morning, a witness said.

Less than 10 hours later and about a mile away, the child was found dead — her hands tied behind her back.

Sgt. Gary Miller of the police juvenile bureau said the body was fully clothed and showed no obvious signs of violence.

Police said an autopsy today showed Linda had been strangled, but they could not say whether she had been sexually assaulted.

More tests are scheduled later today. Chuck Elkins, a safety patrol member and classmate of Linda at the 355-pupil school, described her as "probably one of the most popular girls in our class."

Officers said late Monday night that witnesses described both men sought in the case as black. The one seen at the abduction site was aged 25 to 30 and was of normal build. A second man seen in a car about six blocks away was 45 to 50 years old, heavy-set and had a pock-marked face, police said.

The cars being sought were described as a dark 1976 Pontiac Grand Prix or Chrysler Cordoba and a rusted, cream-colored Ford station wagon with imitation wood paneling.

Roadblocks set up as far away as Muskegon, more than 30 miles to the west, failed to find either vehicle.

Jack Hill of Grand Rapids, who reported seeing Linda kidnapped within a block of her school, said she waved her arms frantically as she was pulled into the dark-colored car by a man wearing a leather or vinyl coat.

"I saw the car sitting there. I thought it was a little strange. The door was open and he was out of the car," Hill said. The witness said he parked his own car across the other's path and asked: "What's going on here? The guy said 'Nothin,' and jumped back into his car."

Hill said the abductor backed away and "damned near ran me over" to get away. Hill said he was unable to pursue and did not get the other car's license number.

Soon after the abduction, people in a grocery store about six blocks from the school reported seeing a girl matching Linda's description enter a rusty station wagon from a dark-colored car before both vehicles sped away.

There was no confirmation it was Linda seen outside the grocery.

At the abduction scene, a steak knife, Linda's school books, satchel and clarinet were found. Police said they found no fingerprints on the knife and were unable to determine its ownership.

The child's family received no ransom demand, police said.

Miller said it was "premature" to say if Andrew Vanderveen's job played any part in the case, but the sergeant added: "It appears to us that it was an opportunity-type thing rather than revenge."

School officials said a boy supposed to work with Linda at the crossing was late reaching the corner Monday.

Police Maj. Robert Ensing said there were reports last week of a man in a cream-colored station wagon causing "a problem at other schools in the area." But Ensing said officers were not sure there was a link to the Vanderveen case.

Pupils at Linda's school and another across the street claimed a dark-colored car cruised through the area several times before Monday's abduction.

Junior High-Level Magnet School Sought

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Parents are asking the Lubbock Independent School District to establish another "magnet" program, this one for junior high students.

A broad-based coalition of parents says the district should fill the gap between the innovative program that has been so successful at Iles Elementary and the special college-prep curriculum being planned for Lubbock High.

The group Thursday will ask the school system's board of trustees for the "missing link" — enrichment of a junior high school with high-level courses and an "open education" philosophy.

Many members of the coalition favor locating such a program at under-enrolled Thompson Junior High. As a magnet, the program would accept voluntary transfers from throughout the city.

The group met Monday night to continue preparing its request. The coalition includes parents involved in Iles, Lubbock High, local "open concept" public elementary schools, progressive private schools and Thompson Junior High. Some Texas Tech University educators also have assisted the group.

Members have drafted a list of 20 points supporting a junior-high magnet program. The group, which will make a five-minute presentation to the school board, believes such a program should be designed now, in conjunction with the Lubbock High magnet.

"To make the Lubbock High program successful, an exemplary education program (at the junior-high level) is badly needed next year," a position paper drafted by coalition members says.

"An exemplary program complementary with the programs at Iles and at Lubbock High is needed to accommodate the needs of students coming out of elementary schools throughout the city.

"The enrollment and the waiting list at Iles exceeded everyone's expectations and prove that a large percentage of parents want a choice and an alternative. There is an even greater interest at the junior high level.

"It would seem logical, easier and less expensive and more effective to implement all six secondary grades in one single project so all programs can be coordinated and not have to be redone later."

The Iles Elementary magnet, instituted for desegregation purposes, is a partnership between the school district and Texas Tech. Iles stresses a non-graded, self-paced format and employs numerous educational innovations.

The Lubbock High magnet, still in the planning stage, may offer several exotic courses as ballet, gymnastics and equestrian skills; a more challenging approach to traditional subjects; special curriculum to prepare aspiring doctors, dentists, lawyers and engineers for college; and such things as small classes and guest lecturers.

Lubbock has another magnet school at the senior-high level — Dunbar-Struggs. The school system has concentrated its work-study vocational programs and music-art courses there to draw more students and create a better racial mix.

Some parents, especially in the integration-minded Citizens' Alliance for Successful Schools, contend that the Lubbock High proposal is evidence that the school system is turning Dunbar-Struggs into a vocational school. School officials deny that.

Betty Dotts, who has two children at Iles, said a junior-high magnet program is needed to accommodate Iles graduates.

"We have found Iles to be a great help because of the individualized attention offered to each child," Mrs. Dotts said. "Iles has combined the best of the traditional ideas in education with the best of the innovative ideas.

"But where are these children going to go when they finish sixth grade? I'm afraid they may end up in a junior high school that's too highly structured, where children are taught in mass. That is why I think we need an alternative program at the junior-high level."

Linda McGowan, another parent involved in the junior-high request, said the group is asking for a junior high school that is "more flexible, more geared to the individual."

Such a program for grades seven through nine would "fill the gap" between Iles and Lubbock High, she said.

Thomas Botello, a Thompson parent who serves on a citizens' advisory committee for the Lubbock High magnet, said a special junior-high program would give students preparation for the advanced courses available at Lubbock High.

"It's a natural progression. The school system would see a good flow of students from Iles to the junior-high magnet to Lubbock High," Botello said.

According to the coalition's position paper, "if one of Lubbock's under-enrolled junior high schools were utilized, a junior-high exemplary program could help alleviate the overcrowding of some junior highs and at the same time alleviate the under-enrollment."

School trustees will consider the request when they meet Thursday at 7:15 a.m. in the school district administration building, 1628 19th St.

League Asks LISD To Reinstate Coach

Citing "numerous discrepancies" surrounding his dismissal, the United Political Action League (UPAL) Monday asked Lubbock school officials to reinstate ousted teacher-coach Elton Conger.

The year-old black organization said that in firing Conger, the Lubbock Independent School District violated its own personnel policies and denied Conger his right to due process.

In its four-week investigation, UPAL said it found overtones of racial discrimination against Conger, a black. The group also raised questions about the involvement of David Irons, the superintendent's son who served as assistant eighth-grade coach under Conger at Atkins Junior High.

Young Irons, who was in line for Conger's job, was the source of most of the allegations which led to Conger's dismissal, the organization noted.

UPAL further questioned why disciplinary action never has been taken against David Irons, who during Conger's hearing admitted instructing football players to kick a teammate who had dropped a pass during practice.

The organization's investigation results and request for Conger's reinstatement are contained in a letter sent to local school trustees and the State Board of Education by Dr. F.L. Lovings, UPAL president.

Conger is appealing his dismissal to the state commissioner of education. A hearing has been set for March 7.

"Since the decision to terminate Elton for insubordination was based on unsubstantiated charges, we recommend that he be reinstated as an instructor-coach in the Lubbock school system with complete back wages, and that termination in the future be handled in accordance with established personnel policies and procedures," Lovings' letter said.

Conger started the school year as an industrial arts teacher at Atkins and Evans junior highs and Atkins eighth-grade coach.

School administrators relieved Conger of his coaching duties Oct. 20, charging him with using profane language, making an obscene gesture, refusing to follow the Monterey High School way of numbering football plays, and disobeying an order not to coach his team.

When Conger appealed the administrative action to the school board, the board fired him.

At a Monday UPAL meeting, vice president Vera Newsome read Lovings' letter to trustees. The letter said:

"When Conger asked for the Nov. 21 school board hearing, he found himself pitted against five attorneys, three on the board and two invited to represent the school district. The young black instructor had no chance of winning his appeal in view of these incredible odds.

"Numerous points of interest were raised during the hearing concerning the conduct of Elton's colleagues and supervisor, but all were forgotten by the school board when it voted 4-2 with one abstention on Dec. 18 to fire Conger.

"There were not sufficient grounds" for administrators to drop Conger as coach.

"Conger was in a 'precarious position' because his assistant, David Irons, was encouraged to report on Conger's conduct. "We are appalled by the weight of young Irons' testimony...especially in view of the fact that he ironically admits involvement himself in conduct unbecoming of a classroom instructor and a coach.

"We would like to discount the fact that he is the son of the school superintendent, but in this case it is extremely difficult to do so. It is also difficult for us to dispel notions of discrimination or racial overtones."

"In contradiction to school policies, Conger's supervisors decided his fate behind his back, did not give him viable alternatives to resignation and did not detail the allegations against him.

"If misconduct was the reason for Mr. Conger's termination, then there should have been a couple of people terminated," said Oscar Jones, who served with Miss Newsome and Theron Cole on UPAL's investigating committee.

He said the allegations against Conger were "not significant" in light of young Irons' admitted misconduct.

And yet, said Cole, "Elton is out of a job, while the other guy is still employed." JEFF SOUTH

Bullock Increases Revenue Estimate

AUSTIN (AP) — Money is pouring into the state treasury. Comptroller Bob Bullock indicated Monday in a surprise announcement that he plans to raise his revenue estimate by at least $200 million April 1.

"We've got good times — the money's just there," Bullock told the Senate Finance Committee.

Bullock indicated the prediction that legislators will have an extra $200 million to spend is conservative.

"I'm still going to set a little aside," he said, and several senators voiced their approval.

His announcement of the extra $200 million — "maybe more" — was a surprise because his aides have told House committees on two occasions not to expect the revenue estimate to rise over the figures presented two months ago.

On Dec. 18, Bullock told legislators new spending could top $2.8 billion in 1980-81 without running an unconstitutional deficit. That total included a projected surplus of $743.2 million at the end of the 1979 fiscal year, Aug. 31.

Also included in the amount was $450 million which the Legislature has promised to appropriate to local school districts to cover revenue losses caused by the Tax Relief Amendment approved by voters in November.

Bullock asked the finance committee for $114.8 million to run his office in 1980-81, an increase of nearly $18 million over the Legislative Budget Board's recommendation. The request is approximately $24.8 million more than the comptroller's current two-year budget.

Bullock reminded the committee he had made the "brazen statement" in 1975 that he would bring in an extra $100 million from audits and delinquent tax collections legislators would give him more workers and equipment.

In 1977, he said, he reported he had brought in $204 million in the previous two years.

Although he made no promises for 1978-79, he said, he planned to collect an additional $368 million.

Bullock said his office already has brought in $412 million and the fiscal year does not end for 6½ months.

He said Texas sales tax collections have risen by 19.9 percent this year, compared with a national average of 11.7 percent, and part of the reason is good tax administration.

One of his goals in 1980-81, he said, is to audit every business in Texas that has annual sales of $500,000 or more.

It was noted that the comptroller's budget request does not include any pay raises — not even for Bullock.

Leader Seeks Indictments

AUSTIN (UPI) — The chairman of the Mexican-American legislative caucus says he has asked President Carter to request that the Justice Department seek indictments in the death of Larry Ortega Lozano, an Odessa jail inmate Mexican-American leaders claim was beaten to death.

Rep. Paul Moreno, D-El Paso Monday said he planned to deliver to Carter a letter from the caucus complaining an assistant U.S. attorney general had been holding evidence in the case for more than three months.

Lozano died in the Odessa jail Jan. 22, 1978. Odessa officials contend Lozano inflicted his own injuries by beating his head against his cell, but Mexican-American leaders and others argue he was beaten to death.

Former Attorney General John Hill investigated the death, and asked that a federal grand jury continue the investigation.

"We cannot watch idly as Texas law enforcement officers tromp on our civil and human rights and as our people are brutally assaulted. Some of us were involved in the Lozano case at its gory inception and know the facts on an intimate basis," Moreno said in his letter to the president.

"We cannot find any justification for the delay in prosecuting those involved in Lozano's death. We want action now."

His letter said the U.S. attorney for the Western District of Texas recommended federal prosecution against parties involved in Lozano's death, and said materials relevant to the case were sent to Assistant U.S. Attorney General Drew Days more than three months ago.

"Nonetheless, federal prosecution for civil rights violations resulting in Lozano's death has not been initiated," Moreno said.

Terrorist Missile Believed To Have Caused Rhodesian Crash

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Military and aviation officials say they are certain a heat-seeking missile fired by black nationalist guerrillas brought down a domestic airliner that crashed in north-west Rhodesia shortly after taking off. All 59 persons aboard were killed.

"We haven't gathered exact evidence yet, but everything points to this being another strike by terrorist groundfire," said an official of the airline, Air Rhodesia.

Rhodesian troops surrounded the wreckage Monday night hours after the four-engine Viscount went down in the same area where another Air Rhodesia Viscount was shot down in September by a guerrilla missile.

There was no immediate comment from the guerrillas fighting to take control of the Rhodesian government from Prime Minister Ian Smith and his black moderate allies. But there was speculation the government would respond with raids on guerrilla bases in neighboring Zambia.

The airline said nationalities of six of the 54 passengers had not been established, 10 were foreigners and the rest were white Rhodesians returning to Salisbury from Kariba, a resort on the Zambian border where the giant Kariba hydroelectric dam is also located.

The Rhodesians included a member of Parliament, Donald Goldin. The foreigners included a family of six New Zealanders, two Britons, a Swiss and a South African.

The plane sent a distress signal seconds before it plummeted into a rocky ravine in an area heavily infiltrated by guerrillas of Nkomo's Zimbabwe African Peoples Union. A police spotter plane took off from Kariba within minutes and quickly located the wreckage.

The airline gave no details of the distress signal.

Air Rhodesia said it would operate its schedules normally today. The only flight canceled was a flight Monday evening to the southern city of Bulawayo that was to have been made by the Viscount that crashed.

When the first plane was shot down in the area Sept. 3 by Nkomo's forces, 38 persons were killed in the crash and 10 of the 18 survivors were murdered by guerrillas. Since then, Air Rhodesia planes have been flying evasive patterns.

Since the guerrilla war began more than six years ago, nearly 12,000 persons have been killed inside Rhodesia and 3,000 guerrillas have been killed in neighboring Zambia and Mozambique where they have their bases.

The fighting escalated sharply in 1978 after moderate black leaders inside Rhodesia came to terms with Smith and formed a coalition biracial government. Nkomo and his Mozambique-based associate in the Patriotic Front, Robert Mugabe, vowed to wreck the government's plans for a constitution providing for a black-majority Parliament and government but with white control of the army, police, judiciary and civil service and a white veto on constitutional changes for five to 10 years.

Same Song, Second Verse: Who's No. 1?

A-J News Services

Once again there is no agreement as to who has the best basketball team in the country.

The Associated Press' committee of sportswriters and broadcasters selected Indiana State, undefeated with a 23-0 record, as its leader while the United Press International's board of coaches tabbed UCLA, 18-3.

Neither team had been picked No. 1 during this season, a season which has seen weekly leaders fade as quickly as yesterday's newspapers. Notre Dame had been (Polls In Scorecard, Page 2) atop both polls for the last four weeks. Before that Duke and Michigan State were among the leaders.

The Irish were dropped to third in both polls after a 56-52 loss to UCLA Sunday. UCLA won the United Press International poll despite getting 10 fewer first-place votes than the Sycamores. The Bruins were picked first 15 times but got 599 votes. LSU got 25 first-place votes but only 596 points.

In the AP survey, the Sycamores received 43 first-place votes to UCLA's 19 but still only nipped the Bruins in total points, 1,196-1,190.

There was another disagreement between the wire services' polls. After agreeing on No. 4 North Carolina (18-4), The AP picked Duke (17-4) fifth while UPI insisted on LSU (19-3). AP had LSU sixth and UPI had Duke at that spot.

Rounding out both Top Tens are: No. 7 Syracuse (20-2); No. 8 Michigan State (16-5); No. 9 Louisville (21-3) and No. 10 Marquette (17-4).

Southwest Conference teams ranked in the Top 20 are Arkansas (No. 11 on both), Texas (No. 12 on both) and Texas A&M (in a 18th-place tie on the UPI).

Bellard Picked To Head MSU

STARKVILLE, Miss. (SP) — Emory Bellard vowed off coaching at midseason at Texas A&M, but now he's at Mississippi State and happy there's football in his future.

"You are looking as a man who's got him motor plumb on right now," Bellard told reporters Monday at the formal announcement of his selection as the Bulldogs' head football coach.

Bellard, 48, the wishbone offense innovator who coached the Aggies to a 48-27 record before calling it quits in his seventh season last year, succeeds Bob Tyler. Tyler resigned as football coach last month after university officials forced him to give up his role as athletic director.

"I pledge to you that you've got my heart and my soul in the efforts we are going to be making to make Mississippi State competitive with anyone," Bellard told reporters and Bulldog supporters who jammed his news conference. "We've got the basic ingredients."

Athletic Director Carl Maddox said Bellard was signed to a four-year contract calling for $45,000 annually, plus $20,000 from a television commitment.

Maddox, who has been on the job about two weeks, said Mississippi State had looked intently at 15 to 20 coaches and had been able "to attract a man tested, tried and proven."

Bellard re-built Texas A&M into a football power that went to three bowl games in his tenure but resigned last year with a 4-2 mid-season record, declaring himself out of coaching.

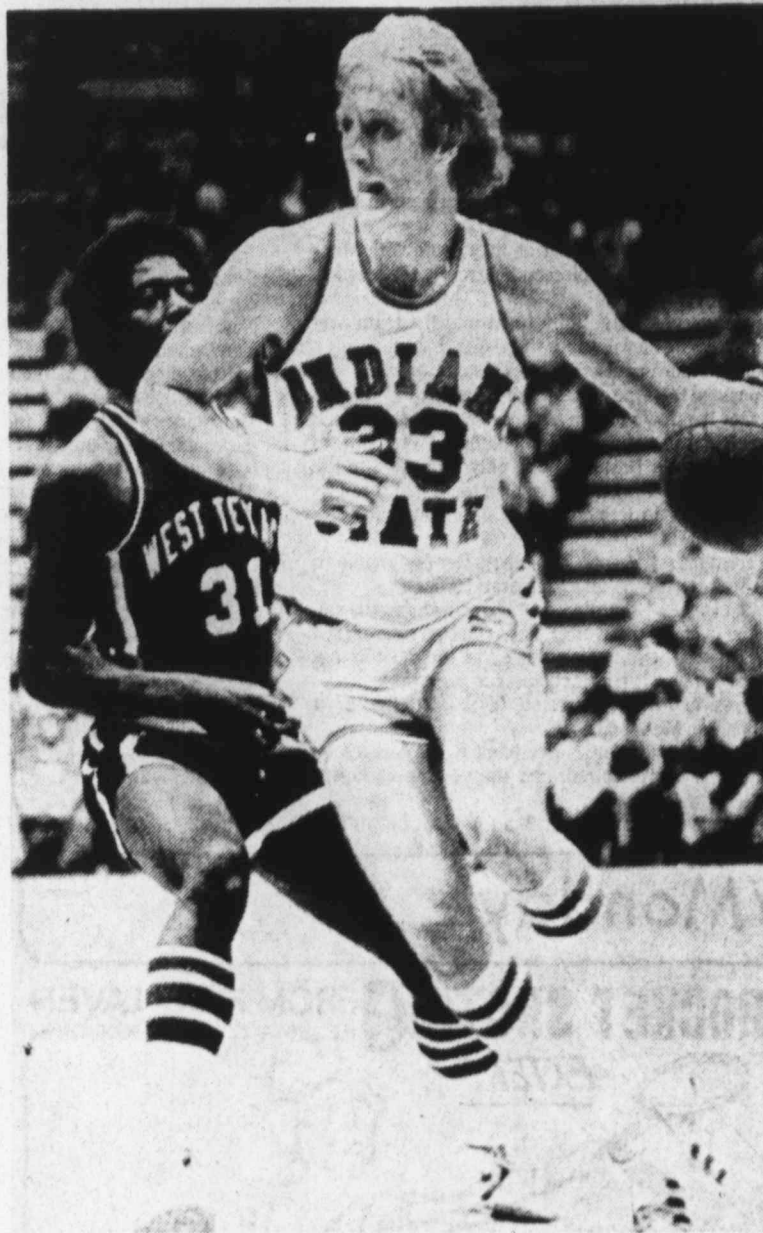

"It's not just a woman who has the prerogative to change her mind," he joked to a reporter inquiring about his change of heart.

Bellard added: "I love coaching. That's the only thing I've ever done or wanted to do. But there was a moment in there I was disillusioned."

He said he had received other offers but declined to name them.

Bellard said he met briefly with returnees from last season's Bulldog squad, which went 5-5, before Monday's news conference.

"There was a lot of expression in the faces of the young men I was talking to ... and I think they're ready to make a total commitment, too," the coach said.

Texas Tops Aggies, Loop

By MIKE RABUN
UPI Sports Writer

It always helps to be able to have your best five players on the court in an important game, so Texas coach Abe Lemons decided to leave his best five out there all night if he could.

And he did. John Moore, Tyrone Branan, Ron Baxter, Phillip Stroud and Jim Krivacs played all 40 minutes for the 12th-ranked Longhorns Monday night and they (See Conference Standings, Boxes in Scorecard, Page 2) made their iron man effort worthwhile with an impressive 65-57 victory over 18th-rated Texas A&M.

The win came on the road — in noisy G. Rollie White Coliseum — and put the Longhorns within two victories of clinching at least a tie for the Southwest Conference championship.

Less than 100 miles away, meanwhile, the 11th-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks stayed within a game of the Longhorns by putting on a remarkable display of shooting to knock off the Baylor Bears in Waco, 71-62.

In the lower levels of the conference, Houston (5-9) knocked off SMU (4-9) in Dallas Monday night, 101-94, and Rice (4-10) fought off a TCU (1-12) comeback in Houston, 64-60.

Texas (11-2) was the first team to beat A&M (9-5) in College Station this year and the Aggies knocked A&M out of the conference race. It was the third straight loss for A&M, which had moved into a share of the league lead last week and had become the first major college team in the country to win 20 games.

"It was an aggressive, hard game," said Texas coach Abe Lemons. "It's hard playing on the road, especially against a good team like A&M."

The Aggies pressed all night, but the Longhorns did not seem to notice. They also seemed to be oblivious to the usual noisy crowd which was deafening at the start of the game and got louder as it progressed.

"Actually," said Lemons, "I thought the crowd was rather nice."

Moore and Baxter helped Texas jump to a 17-4 advantage and the Longhorns led by as many as 17 points in the second half. But the Aggies twice closed the deficit to five in the final moments. Texas committed only two fouls in the first half and had just 11 overall to allow Lemons to keep his starters in the game.

McAdoo Trade Signals Knick Change

NEW YORK (AP)—The trade of Bob McAdoo from New York to Boston has dramatically reshaped the futures of two of the National Basketball Association's most prestigious franchises.

The deal, arranged over the weekend and announced Monday, signals an end to New York's "open checkbook" policy of trying to achieve instant success by buying the most talented athletes available and a return to the more traditional route of rebuilding through the college draft.

From Boston's angle, it is a gamble that a player of McAdoo's magnificent offensive talents can be blended into the Celtics' time-honored team concept without upsetting the apple cart.

The trade was engineered by Sonny Werblin of the Knicks and John Y. Brown of the Celtics, two owners who are not afraid to roll the dice.

New York will receive the three first-round picks Boston had accumulated in the 1979 draft — Boston's own, Golden State's and Seattle's, the latter two having been obtained in deals for Jo Jo White and Dennis Awtrey. Boston retains the draft rights to Indiana State's Larry Bird, whom the Celtics picked last June.

New York will also get a player to be named later this week, a front-court reserve from either Boston or another NBA team.

The Knicks had been without a first-round pick in the draft, which is what prompted the deal.

"I was in a ridiculous situation," said Werblin. "I was trying to rebuild without draft choices. Bob happened to be a tradeable commodity we could move to improve ourselves. We have now put ourselves in a position to rebuild the team and perhaps make more trades this season and next."

Werblin felt the Knicks had gone as far as they could with McAdoo, a three-time NBA scoring champion and currently the league's No. 3 scorer with a 26.9 average.

"Our coaches were not able to get him to fit into the team concept," said Werblin. "Maybe he will somewhere else."

Brown is confident "somewhere else" will be Boston Garden.

"You have to consider the type of team he's been with," Brown said. "At Buffalo they had to go to him because he was pretty much their entire offense. It was just about the same thing in New York."

"That won't be the case in Boston. We're only interested in the team game. McAdoo has never been utilized on a team that is totally team oriented. But I spoke to Bob today and he understands he's going to have to do that in Boston."

Brown said that from his standpoint, it was a matter of obtaining a proven quantity in McAdoo for the unproven draft choices.

"You have to take chances," said Brown. "We considered the value of McAdoo vs. the value of three draft picks and everyone agreed McAdoo's value was overwhelming. We don't feel the draft is that strong this year; in any case, with draft choices it's guesswork."

It really boils down to a matter of value. It's hard to find draft picks of the value of a Bob McAdoo."

Brown said he consulted with Celtics President Red Auerbach on Sunday, before the deal was finalized, and the veteran executive gave his approval.

"How often do you have a chance to grab a top-flight player like McAdoo?" asked Auerbach. "There is positively no one in the draft who could measure up to this guy."

McAdoo, 27, is in his seventh NBA season. He spent 4 1/2 years in Buffalo, leading the NBA in scoring from 1974 through 1976 with averages of 30.6, 34.5 and 31.1 points per game. He was obtained by New York along with Tom McMillen for $3 million and John Gianelli on Dec. 9, 1976.

His trade comes a little more than a month after the Knicks dealt another high-scoring forward, Spencer Haywood, to New Orleans. The Knicks had spent $2 million to acquire Haywood a year before they obtained McAdoo, but the two — symbols of the "open checkbook" policy — never were able to mesh their talents.

This has been not been a happy season for either New York or Boston. Both teams started slowly and went through coaching changes. Red Holzman replacing Willis Reed with the Knicks and Dave Cowens becoming player-coach for the Celtics in place of Tom Sanders.

They are just one-half game apart in the standings, New York at 25-33 and Boston at the bottom of the Atlantic Division at 23-32. But the Celtics have revamped their roster dramatically in recent weeks — shedding White and Marvin Barnes, among others — and have won seven of their last eight games.

"All of a sudden, Boston has gone from a team that had not much of a future to a team that's in pretty good shape," said Brown. "McAdoo may help us make the playoffs this year. And even if we don't, adding him to the nucleus we've got, plus Bird coming out of college, gives us a lot of options for the future."

Probe Turns To Stabler's Friend

GULF SHORES, Ala. (AP)—The case of a sportswriter apparently framed for a cocaine arrest while trying to interview Ken Stabler has led investigators to Randall Watson, who faces a blackmail charge in another county.

Watson, described by Stabler associates as a friend of the Oakland Raiders quarterback, reportedly was with Stabler at times when Sacramento (Calif.) Bee sportswriter Bob Padecky had his ill-fated interview here Jan. 22.

Alabama Attorney General Charles Graddick says Watson allegedly had a waitress purchase "the same kind of key case" used later in the apparent framing of Padecky.

Police say someone apparently planted a magnetic key case on a fender of Padecky's car and then called police with anonymous tips saying cocaine was on the automobile. Police dropped charges when it became apparent that Padecky was the victim of what looked like a frame-up.

Graddick said Monday investigators would talk to Watson, who is from Monroeville, about 100 miles north of Gulf Shores.

He said a waitress has told investigators that, prior to Padecky's arrest, Watson told her to buy a key case and she did. He said investigators were unable to take fingerprints from the key case found on Padecky's car.

Henry Pitts, a Selma attorney who represents Stabler, said Monday that Watson is a friend of Stabler's. Stabler was not available for comment and Pitts said he saw no reason why Stabler would have any comment.

Watson was scheduled to stand trial today on a blackmail charge in Monroeville, but the trial was postponed because a witness had a medical operation.

John Yung, an assistant state attorney general in Montgomery, said Watson and Watson's wife, Elaine, and a man named Thomas "Tank" Andrews are charged with trying to blackmail M.M. Kennedy Jr., the president of Monroeville Telephone Co., where Watson once worked.

Yung said the indictment accused the three of demanding $75,000 and the bill of sale to a four-wheel-drive vehicle under a threat of claiming that Kennedy committed adultery with Watson's wife.

He said blackmail is a misdemeanor under Alabama law and that Watson is free on $750 bond. Yung also said Watson was convicted in a bank robbery case in Beaumont, Miss., in 1971 and served part of a 15-year sentence.

Watson was unavailable for comment Monday.

Gulf Shores Police Chief James Maples declined comment Monday on what role, if any, Watson might play in his investigation.

Estacado In Biggie Tonight

By BOB BAJACKSON

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff
Just because the Estacado baseball team was busy getting its pictures taken Monday doesn't necessarily mean that the Matadors' basketball season is over.

However, cage mentor JJ Wood admits that the time has come to stop visiting with the press and start worrying about the Borger Bulldogs, or the season may very well come to an end this week.

The Matadors will host the Bulldogs at 7:30 p.m. A victory would give Estacado the second half 1-AAA crown and a right to meet the Dunbar Panthers for the championship. But if Borger wins, then the Bulldogs and Matadors would tie for the second half title. Borger and Estacado would then meet in a playoff for the second half district crown.

In other district games, the Dunbar boys and girls will be at Dumas, the Hereford girls will visit Lubbock High. The Monterey boys will take on crosstown rival Coronado, and the Lubbock High boys will travel to Hereford.

"Yes, I'm a little nervous," said Wood. "But I think we'll be a little more relaxed playing at home this time."

In the first meeting at Borger, the Bulldogs knocked the Matadors out of any hope at the first half title with an 81-76 victory. Both Estacado and Borger finished the first half of action with identical 3-2 records.

But this time, Estacado will bring a 4-0 loop mark into the contest. Borger stands 3-1. Overall, the Matadors stand at 15-12, while the Bulldogs sport an 18-10 mark.

When Estacado visited Borger, the Matadors fell behind 33-12 midway through the second quarter. But Estacado was able to narrow the deficit to 39-33 at the first half intermission.

In the first game, Chester Williams scored 23 points, and there big postman Smith (Brett) had 27 points," said Wood. "Borger was able to score outside as well as inside. Our halfcourt trap didn't bother them much."

Estacado switched to a man-to-man and fullcourt trap to get back in the game.

Willis Flowers was replaced by Tim Hereford in the man-to-man coverage on Borger guard Williams to cool the Bulldog outside shooting attack, and the move has affected Wood's strategy against Borger this time.

"We're going to open in a man-to-man with either Chatham (Mike) or Davis (Preston) on Williams," said the Estacado coach. "Borger used a 1-3-1 zone against us much of the time and that's what we're going to work on in practice today (Monday)."

The Matadors' man-to-man defense also seemed to stifle Borger postman Smith's success. Estacado held the 6-4 one-year letterman to only eight points of his 27 total in the second half.

Besides Williams and Smith, the Bulldogs are expected to start Charlie Love (5-6, Sr.) at guard, with Tracy Taylor (6-1, Sr.) and John Smith (6-1, Sr.) at the forward spots.

Estacado will counter with Mike Chatham (5-10, Sr.) and either Willis Flowers (5-10, Sr.) or Preston Davis (5-10, Jr.) at the guards, Fred Dunn (6-2, Sr.) and Winston Gipson (6-1, Sr.) will be the forwards with Dewey Turner (6-5, Sr.) at the post.

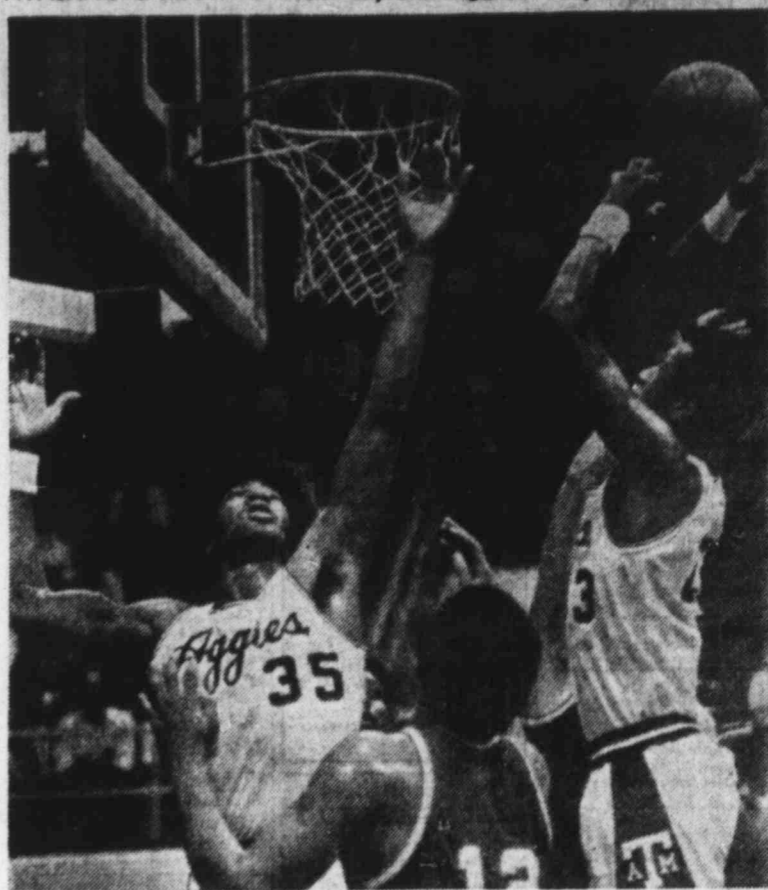

How much of a factor will the home court be?

"Point wise, I couldn't say," said Wood. "The advantage with the home court is that we'll (Estacado) be more mentally ready to play."

And Wood guarantees that tonight's rematch will not follow the same pattern as the first Estacado-Borger contest.

"There is no way we're going to get 20 points behind this time," said a firm Wood. "Now, watch them come out and hit the first 10 baskets. If they do, I'll call time and get sick."

The Matador baseball team was getting its pictures taken Monday huh...

Sports Notes

City Softball Meeting Slated

Last year there were 478 Lubbock softball teams registered in the various city-sponsored leagues—the highest per-capita number in Texas. And according to Athletics and Aquatics Supervisor for the Parks and Recreation Dept., Rusty Black, softball's popularity continues to grow.

And for those Lubbockites interested in getting in on the action this year, an organizational meeting for all leagues (except Fast Pitch) will be held Monday, Feb. 19 at the Hodges Community at 42nd and University. The meeting gets underway at 7:30 p.m.

The 1979 softball program will again be offered in two seasons. The Spring Season will begin on April 2 and last through July. The Summer season will begin soon after that but no definite dates have been set yet.

A Co-Rec and Employees' league will be offered only during the Summer season. Teams wishing to compete in post season American Softball Association (ASA) and Texas Amateur Athletic Federation (TAAF) tournaments should compete in the Spring season.

Although the season doesn't begin until April, field reservations for scrimmages and practice begin on Feb. 26 and last until March 27. There will be three periods that a field can be reserved: 6:30 p.m., 7:30-9 p.m., and 9-10:30 p.m. The cost for the field use will be $5.

On Monday, March 12 there will be a Rules Meeting at the Hodges Community Center—also at 7:30 p.m. There will be several rule changes this year.

"For one thing we're going to make it a rule that once a player is thrown out of a game, he'll be put for the season," said Black. "Unless he wants to appeal the decision and then we'll listen to both his story and the umpire's. If the umpire is at fault, then he'll be thrown out. This way we hope we can weed out the bad players and the bad umpires."

Lubbock will be the host site of eight major softball tournaments in 1979. The first two will be the Men's Pre-Season Slow Pitch Tournament on March 30-April 1. And the other will be the Women's Pre-Season Slow Pitch Tournament on April 6-8.

All tournaments are sanctioned by the ASA and the entry fee is $55 per team. The team entry fee for each 1979 season is $175 and is due on Wednesday, March 14. Checks should be made payable to Lubbock General Athletic and Recreation Association and can be mailed to P.O. Box 2000, Lubbock, Texas 79457. Or, you can bring the fee to the Parks and Recreation Offices at 1010 9th Street.

For further information contact Rusty Black or Chuck Swallow at 762-6411.

NTSU Coach Says He's Staying

DALLAS (UPI) — The North Texas State basketball coach has squelched rumors that he plans to give up coaching and return to private business.

"There's been a lot of talk about what I'm going to do," Bill Blakeley said Monday. "But I'm going to stay."

"I've coached for a long time and as long as they want me or can put up with me I want to stay at North Texas."

During his first three years at North Texas, Blakeley's teams compiled 22-4, 21-6 and 22-6 records, but the Eagles this season have slumped to 8-15.

Blakeley had been lured away from a lucrative real estate business to coach North Texas after having previously coached the Dallas entry of the American Basketball Association.

"I think basketball coaches are like dope addicts. You can go away for a while and try to take the cure, but after a while you need a fix. You have to watch that silly ball bounce up and down. Being crazy is no detriment to basketball coaches."

Blind Man Sues TV Blackout Rule

MIAMI (AP) — A blind man is suing NBC television, the city of Miami Beach and a boxing promoter for $200,000 because Sunday's middleweight bout between Sugar Ray Leonard and Fernand Marcotte was not broadcast locally.

Fred Haynes and his wife, Mary, filed the suit Monday. They're represented by attorney Ellis Rubin, who has made something of a specialty out of filing suits protesting televised blackouts of sporting events.

Haynes charged in the suit that the blackout discriminated against him because he couldn't hear the fight, which Leonard won.

Computer Picks... Who Else?

HOUSTON (UPI) — A computer evaluation has concluded the most effective performer in the 1978 NFL season was Houston Oilers running back Earl Campbell.

The competition, sponsored by Seagram Distillers Co., determined the former Heisman Trophy winner from the University of Texas had an efficiency rating of 62.17 compared to 61.08 for Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach and 60.62 for New Orleans quarterback Archie Manning.

Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw was fourth, San Diego quarterback Dan Fouts was fifth and Dallas running back Tony Torsett was sixth.

Campbell led the NFL in rushing as a rookie, gaining 1,450 yards on 302 carries. He was the AFC Rookie of the Year and Player of the Year.

He received $10,000 Monday for winning the evaluation.

Sixers' Collins Out For Season

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — All-Star guard Doug Collins, who has been sidelined since mid-January with a painful bone spur, underwent surgery Monday at the University of Pennsylvania.

After the operation, Collins' ailing left ankle was placed in a cast. Doctors are to re-evaluate his condition in two weeks, but the Philadelphia 76ers already have announced that Collins is likely to be out for the rest of the National Basketball Association's season.

Meanwhile, things may be looking up for Julius Erving — another Sixer and NBA All-Star suffering problems with his left ankle.

Team spokesman Harvey Pollack said Erving sat on the bench during Monday's practice — but he could be back in shape in time for Wednesday's game against Kansas City. A doctor will examine his ankle before the game to determine whether he is able to play, Pollack said.

The top-scoring forward suffered a slight sprain of the left ankle when he stepped on another player in a game against San Diego Friday.

Chaps Hit Road To .500 Season

PLAINVIEW (Special) — This could be a very big week for the Lubbock Christian College basketball team.

First of all, the Chaparrals are ranked No. 5 in the weekly Dunkel Ratings, a position which, if held, assures them of a berth in the NAIA District 8 post-season tournament.

Secondly, The Chaps are in second place in the Texas Conference, a position which, if held, would give them the host's role in the Texas Conference tournament the last week in February.

And last, but by no means least, LCC has a chance this week to go past the .500 mark, something it hasn't done at this point in the season since the very first year of its competitive existence.

The Chaparrals open this historic quest tonight here against Wayland Baptist College. The game will start at 8.

Wayland, also a member of the Texas Conference, has a 1-3 loop record. In fact, everybody has a 1-3 record except for LCC and Midwestern, already conceded the champ's spot. LCC is 2-2 and Midwestern 6-0.

Friday night LCC will host Panhandle State, a team it whipped down at their place earlier this season. A win tonight and a win Friday would make the Chaps 13-13 on the year after an 0-6 start.

The 11 wins the Chaps have notched so far this year equal their total for the last two seasons put together. It is also the third best win total in LCC history.

In 1971, LCC finished 16-14, its best record ever and the only time it has finished over .500. In 1974 and 1976 LCC won 11 games each but in 1977 the mark fell to 7-21 and last year's record was a dismal 4-22.

This week's Dunkel Ratings reflects the changes.

A week ago the Chaps were seventh, with conference foes Midwestern, Dallas Baptist and Texas Wesleyan ranked ahead of them. This week only Midwestern (rated second in the district) remains.

The Chaps' power rating now is 37.1. Tonight's opponent, Wayland Baptist, is spotted ninth with a 35.2.

Overall, the Pioneers are 13-15 with wins over Texas Christian University of the Southwest Conference and Hardin Simmons. In conference, WBC has lost twice to Midwestern, once to Texas Wesleyan at home and has beaten Dallas Baptist.

Starters for WBC are 6-1 Bruce Kimball at point guard, 6-3 Gene Strickland at one wing, 6-5 Rick Cooper at the other, and 6-6 Donnie Seales and 6-8 Brian Briden at the twin posts.

Area Schools Begin Post-Season Planning

Area basketball teams have been going at it hard and fast in district competition ever since the players returned from their Christmas break. And now some of the teams are receiving their just reward with a possibility of post season play while the others are just glad it's finally over.

In district 3-AA Dimmitt was the dominating force as the Bobcats swept both the girls and the boys district titles. Now the Dimmitt boys will face Tula on Feb. 20 at Plainview's Hutcherson Center at 7:30 p.m. in the bi-district match. Tula won the 4-AA crown.

The Dimmitt girls will face either Abernathy or Lockney. Both of those teams are tied for the loop crown with only one game remaining. If the race ends in a tie, Abernathy and Lockney will have a one game playoff.

The Seminole boys team went undefeated with a 13-0 district record to claim the 5-AA crown and will face Ballinger in Snyder on Feb. 20 at 8 p.m. in the Scurry County coliseum to decide the bi-district champ. The Slaton girls won the fem title in the district and still have one loop contest left to play.

Hale Center won both the boy's and girl's titles in district 4-A with a cumulative record of 27-1 (the boys picked up the lone loss). But before either Owl team can advance they must compete in the district tourney that begins on Thursday in Roosevelt.

The Owl boys face Lorenzo (8-6 in district) in their first game and the Hale Center girls tangle with Shallowate (7-7).

But things are a little more complicated in district 5-A. Stanton took the first half district crown but Seagraves won the second round and the two will meet in one-game playoff to determine the winner.

And the 5-A girls race is even more confusing. Whiteface won the first half but Seagraves has a chance to either win or tie them for the second round. If the lady Eagles can win the second round, a playoff will be necessary.

In district 7-A Crowell has already wrapped up the girls title with a 12-0 slate but the Crowell boys are finding the going a little bit tougher. The Paducah boys won the first half with a 6-0 mark and are currently 4-0 in the second half — one game was cancelled due to wheat-ster.

The two teams will square off Friday night and Crowell can force Paducah into a playoff with a victory. But a Paducah win would put an end to all Crowell hopes. The 7-A winners will meet the district 8-A champs in the bi-district match.

Tech Gets More Stars

By DON HENRY

Executive Sports Editor

Texas Tech appears in a position to sign two of the top footballers in San Antonio and a two-way performer from New Braunfels, with the Southwest Conference initialing date coming up Wednesday.

Gabriel Rivera, a 6-2, 260-pound tight end, and running back Anthony Hutchinson are expected to join Tech's signees, the Avalanche-Journal has learned.

Rivera's mother told the A-J Monday afternoon that the highly sought San Antonio Jefferson athlete will be signing with Tech, and San Antonio Judson coach Jerry Sanders confirmed that one of his players, Hutchinson, will put his name on a Tech letter Wednesday morning.

Rivera was picked on the Parade Magazine's schoolboy all-America team, and he was an all-San Antonio linebacker. He is reported to have considered Baylor, Arkansas and Arizona before picking Tech.

Rivera told newsmen in San Antonio that he made his decision early last week but didn't say anything about it publicly until later.

"Anthony went to A&M and SMU and Tech," said SA Judson coach Jerry Sanders Monday night, "and it was between Tech and SMU."

Hutchinson rushed for more than 1,330 yards last fall in regular season.

New Braunfels' Greg Chafin is expected to sign with the Raiders also, it was learned.

Postal Service Lifts Rules To Remain Competitive
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Service is stripping away 75 of its regulations in an effort to fend off sometimes cheaper, private competition for the 21 billion magazines, books and records sent through the U.S. mails each year.
 Postmaster General William Bolger warns that losing large amounts of the bulk third-class business "could seriously impair our ability to economically serve every American family."
 The Postal Service revised some of its regulations Monday as a "first step" toward trying to satisfy publishers and other shippers who are being wooed by its private competitors, Bolger said.
 Bolger is particularly worried about the problem because the Postal Service was stung by the loss of about 90 percent of its parcel post volume to the privately run United Parcel Service.
 "Anything we do to lower the cost of the Postal Service by keeping our volume high is going to come down to the benefit of the individual citizen," Bolger told a news conference.
 Mail from individual citizens comprises only about 20 percent of the Postal Service's total annual volume of 97 billion pieces of mail. Commercial mailings provide the main financial support for the vast network of post offices and route delivery personnel.
 If alternative delivery services take over third-class mailings, Bolger said, "what's left is going to be a very small part and a very, very expensive part. The individual citizen is going to have to pay for it with rates, or tax-wise."
 He said industry officials, a half dozen of whom attended the news conference, have "expressed their desire to stay with the Postal Service," but price is the ultimate determining factor.
 Postal Service officials say third-class customers are charged an average of about 8.4 cents for each piece, compared with as low as a nickel or less by some private services.
 That disparity should be narrowed by changes in the regulations, which are based on more than 300 recommendations from a joint industry-Postal Service task force. Hundreds of other regulations are under study, Bolger said.

DR. LAMB
Collapsed Lung
 By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — One year ago I had a hole in my lung (pneumothorax). At the time, the surgeon put a hole through my side at the back of my chest to let out the air. Two days after being released from the hospital the hole popped again. This time I stayed in the hospital for five days for bed rest with no tube in my back.
 My problem is this, my back has been constantly aching around my shoulder blade and one doctor said it was just my nerves thinking it was lung trouble again. Another doctor says it will take a long time for my ribs to stop aching where the tube went through.
 My question is this, what are the chances of another hole popping again? Is it normal for my back to still ache?
 I am a 36-year-old woman and was told this problem usually happens in male teenagers. Is this right?
DEAR READER — A pneumothorax, or collapsed lung, is not a serious problem, even though it can be disconcerting. Your lungs are great air sacs. The windpipe (trachea) goes down your throat and divides into half and continues into smaller and smaller passages until they end in tiny air sacs. On occasion, one or more of these little air sacs thins out like a blister on the surface of the lung. It can blow out.

 When this happens, the air whistles out of the lung through that hole into the space between the lungs and the rib cage. As the air fills this potential space, the lung collapses. That is why such a condition is sometimes called a collapsed lung.
 When the lung collapses spontaneously, as in your case, it is sometimes necessary to slip a tube through the chest wall and into that space where the air is accumulating. This allows the lung to re-expand as the air in that space is pushed out through the tube. Otherwise, the air must be slowly absorbed, causing the lung to be collapsed for a longer period of time.
 Once the ruptured blister on the lung has healed completely, the lung expands back to normal. It's possible that the lung can be expanded too soon, before the hole has fully healed, which may have happened in your case.

Sometimes there are several blisters on the lung, causing repeated episodes.
 To give you a better understanding of the space that exists between the lungs and
