Tehran Radio said six generals also had been arrested, including the commander of the paratroopers, Gen. Mauncheh Khrosrowdad.

As the new government struggled to take hold, its military chief of staff, Gen. Mohammad Vali Gharani, ordered all officers to report for duty. Apparently he was preparing to reorganize the military following the weekend battles, insurrections and looting of bases in Tehran and elsewhere that preceded and followed the collapse of the Bakhtiar govern-

Fewer gunmen were on Tehran's streets today compared to Monday, presumably as a result of Khomeini's appeal to his armed supporters to turn in their weapons and refrain from violence. Traffic also seemed to be returning to normal and many food shops were open.

However, American sources said gunmen seized the U.S. Information Center in Tehran and that U.S. officials had not been allowed inside. They also said about nine American civilians were seized Monday by vari-ous factions in Tehran, and some of them were held up to 12 hours before being released.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said Khomeini supporters also briefly detained 25 Americans assigned to the Military Airlift Command.

"They were taken to one of Kho meini's courts and were released with apologies all around," the spokesman said. "We take comfort from the fact that they looked on (the arrests) as a great mistake."

Tehran Radio warned against at-tacks on the estimated 7,000 Americans and thousands of other foreigners in the country and destruction of government buildings.

The operational staff of the Iranian Islamic Revolution in its statements has stressed that all foreign nationals domiciled in Iran are immune from any transgression," the broadcast said.

The operational staff is the provisional government headed by Bazargan that Khomeini set up Sunday when the nation's military commanders abandoned Bakhtiar and gave their support to the ayatollah. Khomeini, the Shiite Moslem leader of the year-long revolt that drove Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi from Iran, urged his followers to avoid 'arson, destruction and cruelty" and declared that violators would be disobeying "Allah's orders and are traitors to the Islamic movement."

Bhutto seeking stay of execution

The Supreme Court a week ago confirmed the Lahore High Court's conviction last March of Bhutto, Pakistan's leading political figure for nearly a decade, and four co-defendants. The Supreme Court is Pakistan's highest court, but defendants can petition for the court to review its own judgment during a 30-day period. The court does not have to grant the review, however.

Bhutto also has appealed for clemency from President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq, the army commander who deposed him in mid-1977, and his appeal has been seconded by such foreign leaders as President Carter, President Leonid Brezhnev, President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, Prime Minister James Callaghan and Pope John Paul II.

Zia, however, said before the Supreme Court gave its ruling that he would not set it aside, and he has given no indication that he has changed his mind.

Bakhtiar told reporters the Bhutto case is so complex that 30 days is too short for an adequate judicial re-

The lawyer indicated he was challenging more than 40 points in the court's ruling covering the misinterpretation of evidence and reliability of witnesses which led to rejection of Bhutto's defense that he was not part of the conspiracy to murder Reza Ahmed Kasuri, a former close associate who broke with him.

Kasuri escaped the ambush set for him in 1974, but his father was killed. He told reporters Monday that when he was visiting Washington last August, an ambassador of an Arab country offered him $2 millon if he would disavow his accusations against Bhutto. ## House committee hears testimony on exempting autos from taxes

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - Exempting two automobiles per family from property taxes would cost state and local governments as much as $51 million a year and would still not produce a fair and legal tax system, according to testimony Monday to the House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee is considering legislation necessary to activate some of the tax relief provisions adopted by voters in November. Among those provisions are the automobile exemption and homestead exemption for elderly and disabled persons.

State Rep. John Sharp of Victoria told committee members that the tax on family cars is collected by fewer than half the taxing authorities in the state, despite a constitutional requirement that taxation be uniform and equal in all counties.

"It (the tax on family cars) is one of the most unpopular taxes," said Sharp, who explained that some counties have to spend half the tax money they collect in trying to collect the other half.

As a result of the November tax relief amendment, the Legislature has the option of exempting automo-biles from the tax base. And the committee is considering similar bills by Sharp and State Rep. Froy Salinas of Lubbock to exempt two vehicles per

Some taxing authorities do not now tax any vehicles. And with the expectation that the cost and difficulty of trying to locate third and fourth vehicles will out weigh the financial benefits of taxing them, Jackson suggested that the state still would be left with an unfair suystem open to legal

A recent survey by the business-financed Texas Research League found that only 21 of 80 cities surveyed taxed automobiles for more than a total of $10 million.

"It's unfair to the people of Lub-bock when people in Houston don't pay the tax," Salinas said.

When asked how taxing authorities would make up lost tax revenues, Salinas said they wouldn't. "Voters are aware this has to be made up. But what voters of my area are saying is that they want to limit spending. If you lose a million dollars, it means you cut out unnecessary spending," Salinas said.

"With the birth rate declining and longevity increasing, any elderly tax break will have a serious eroding effect on our tax base in the future,

said Davis.

Retail spending figures seem to indicate buying reduction

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumers may be starting to reduce their purchases at department and furniture stores, new figures indicate.

The Commerce Department said Monday retail spending increased by 0.4 percent in January, the smallest gain since July.

The nation's economy has been fueled since last summer by consumers spending extra income and borrowed money on consumer goods. Retail sales climbed faster than the inflation rate in the fall, posting gains of 1.3 percent in both October and December. The administration hopes to reduce inflation to 7.4 percent this year, down

Services for Grady E. Brown, 66, of 3101 W. Louisiana Ave. were to be at 4 p.m. today in Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home with Elder Elvis Barrington of Primitive Baptist Church officiating.

Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

New health facility needed

The need for a new city-county health facility was outlined to Midland County Commissioners Monday during a regular session in the county courthouse.

City Manager James Brown and Chief Sanitarian Jewel Smith presented the plan, asking the Commissioners Court to continue its practice of paying $35,000 a year rent if the city finances a new building. No action was taken on the request.

Brown said the main health department is housed in Midland Memorial Hospital, but there is no room for expansion there.

Smith said the number of patients going through the clinic has increased, and the state maintains a laboratory on the premises.

The department also keeps two satellite clinics on the south and east sections of Midland. If a new facility is built, these clinics will be combined with the main one, he said.

The city has a block of land bordered by Dallas, Fort Worth, Michigan and Tennessee streets which has been proposed as the site for the new building, Brown said.

This location would be closer to the people the department serves, he Commissioner Win Brown agreed a new building "would be a step in the right direction." But the commissioners decided to look further into the proposal of maintaining its rent sta-

NOTICE TO TELEPHONE CUSTOMERS

We are planning changes that will increase some rates to five countries and introduce a lower international dial rate to sixteen countries.

The American Telephone & Telegraph Com-pany (AT&T) has filed a new schedule of overseas rates with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) which accomplishes the introduction of international dialing to 17 additional countries. This brings the total of internationally dialable countries to 64. The scheduled changes include substantial rate decreases for 16 countries and selective rate increases in 5 of those 16 countries for calls billed on the United States mainland. There will be no rate changes for the 17th country, the Netherlands Antilles. The decreases are scheduled to become effective on February 17, 1979, and the increases are scheduled to become effective May 15, 1979. Increases and decreases of rates to five countries. The increases, which are limited to the initial period rates and are scheduled to become effective on May 15, 1979, will raise the Sunday Operator Station and Person-to-Person rates to Argentina; the Sunday Person-to-Person rate to four countries-Bahrain, Belize, Colombia, and Colombia; the night and Sunday Person-to-Person rate to Haiti; and the night and Sunday Operator Station and Person-to-Person rates to Honduras and Nicaragua. For example, the rate for Argentina goes from $6.50 to $8.00 for Operator Station and from $9.00 to $12.00 for Person-to-Person; for Colombia, from $8.25 to $12,00 for Person-to-Person; for Haiti, from $9.00 to $12.00 for Person-to-Person; and for Honduras and Nicaragua, from $5.00 to $6.00 for Operator Station and from $6.00 to $9.00 for Person-to-Person. There are no increases in the additional minute charges. These increases will make the initial period charge for these calls the same as the existing daytime rates.

The new International Dial rates, which are lower than all rates presently in effect, will become effective February 17, 1979.

International Dial rates.

With the introduction of International Dial rates on February 17, 1979, customers can save from 10% to 42% compared with the current lowest cost day call.

For example, a three-minute daytime call to Iran, Iraq, Malaysia, Saudi Arabia, Tahiti, Turkey or Yugoslavia, which now costs $9.00 at the Operator Station rate, would cost $7.80 if dialed. Similarly, an $8.10 call to Kenya would be $7.20, the $8.00 call to Argentina would be $7.05, a $6.75 call to German Democratic Republic would be $6.00, and a $6.00 call to Honduras or Nicaragua would be $5.40.

New Operator Station and International Dial rates for countries.

AT&T's proposal includes introducing both International Dial and Operator Station rates to Haiti. These rates will be lower than current daytime rates. A three-minute daytime call to Bahrain, if dialed, would cost $9.00; to Belize, the rate would vary from $3.45 to $5.40; to Colombia, from $4.50 to $7.05; and to Haiti, from $3.45 to $7.05, depending on which state you're calling from.

It is important to note that customers calling from areas not presently equipped for Interna-tional Dial would benefit from the lower dial rates even though the call would have to be completed by the operator. However, if the customer requests special operator assistance or special billing, the Operator Station rate would

DPS plea justified

The Texas Legislature should give serious consideration to Col. Wilson "Pat" Speir's request for increased funding of the Department of Public Safety, of which he is the chief.

Col. Speir's job of operating a statewide law enforcement agency is a tough one at best, and legislators should recognize the fact that law enforcement at all levels of government is becoming more and more expensive as additional demands are placed on it. Limited funds make the job really difficult.

The colonel, who formerly headed the state agency's Midland Region, pointed out that the department needs 400 more troopers but - if he had to make a choice - he would rather pay more to those already on the payroll.

He asked the Senate Finance Committee for a 13.6 percent pay raise for troopers during each of the next two years.

The Legislative Budget Board, however, has recommended only a 5.1 percent across the board increase each year of the bien-

The board's total recommendation for the DPS in 1980-81 is $196 million, which is $40.2 million less than the DPS request. The recommendation of the board includes $56.4 million from general revenue, which also is $40.2 million less than the DPS

It would appear that the budget board was not fully aware of the serious situation facing the DPS in coming up with its recommendations.

Speir said his first and most important concern is the benefits recommended in the bill for the department's present personnel. He explained that it costs approximately $30,000 to train a trooper, and "we're losing 200 officers a year." He went on to say that some cities are paying $150 to $200 a month more than the DPS for law enforcement officers.

These are matters which demand the attention of legislators and lay citizens.

The budget board did not recommend any new state troopers in 1980-81, yet it is reported that Texas motor vehicle drivers are increasing at the rate of 1,000 net each day. In addition to this, the federal government says that one-third of all Texas motorists must drive within the 55-mph speed limit by Sept. 30 of this year, or the state could lose $8 million of 1981 highway funds. At least 70 percent of the vehicles must be within the 55-mph limit by 1983 - or else.

Considering all of this, it is easy to see the plight in which the DPS finds itself in regard to finances. More troopers must be added to the force if the federal order is to come anywhere near being met.

The 400 new officers sought by the DPS would cost approximately $11 million a year, according to Speir.

We most certainly are for reducing the budget wherever and whenever possible, but at the same time we realize that a reasonable, practical approach must be followed. Adequate law enforcement is essential in state government, just as adequate national defense is absolutely necessary in federal budgeting. The frills and the non-essentials must bear the brunt when it comes to pruning the budget.

It is interesting to note that Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, said he would like to see every single employee who stays with DPS get the 13.6 percent wage hike recommended by Col. Speir.

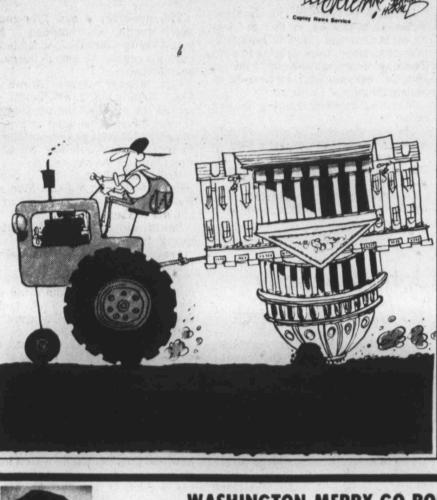

He also said that if 100 troopers are added, instead of increasing the pay significantly for those on the payroll, "We'll just get another 100 more underpaid people who will stay with you until they get another job." This is realistic thinking.

Speir emphasized that the department's greatest need "is benefits to the people we have so we can retain quality people."

He has presented an excellent case. Surely the legislature will provide some relief more in line with the colonel's request.

AID is loose in its spending

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Just about every nation in real or apparent need has received aid from the United States. The handouts have been channeled through the Agency for International Development, which has carefully disbursed the biggest bucks to friendly regimes. The cash on the barrelhead, theoretically, has helped improve U.S. influence abroad.

This hardheaded, practical approach has always been the selling point that got AID appropriations through Congress - $38 billion since 1961. Any suggestion of simple-minded, do-good extravagence is enough to arouse the wrath of conservative budget cutters on Capitol Hill.

Accordingly, AID officials have usually maintained close supervision over the way recipients spend their funds. But there is disturbing evidence that they are far less tightfisted when it comes to the money they spend on themselves.

Recent internal audits turned up shocking examples of high living, sloppy record keeping, disregard of agency guidelines and just plain waste in the handling of administrative funds. AID's operating expenses are now about $250 million a year.

Some of the agency's 71 missions overseas are run efficiently, but certain abuses are widespread. Telephones and travel funds are used for personal and unofficial purposes. Lavish improvements are made to mission offices without authorization from headquarters. The luxurious, pukka-sahib lifestyle of some mission directors is a mockery of the poverty programs they are supervis-

Here are some of the cases the auditors uncovered:

- In Mali, an impoverished landlocked nation in the Sahara desert, all 15 houses leased for AID personnel are equipped with swimming pools, though a public pool is readily available. Not only that, the maintenance costs of these private pools are paid out of operating funds. The Mali mission ignored a 1976 directive from Washington intended to curtail the leasing of houses with swimming

- Top officials of the Pakistan mission have treated their administrative budgets like personal slush funds. Richard Cashin, who took over as mission director in 1977, put the official AID car and chauffeur at his family's beck and call; auditors found records of daily trips to "food markets, jewelry shops and similar es-tablishments." The deputy mission director also took the opportunity to cash in on the easy access to public funds by employing two fulltime gardeners at his home

- Reflecting their bosses' cavalier attitude toward the taxpayers' money, single employees and childless couples at the Pakistan mission occupy four-bedroom houses with five or six air conditioners. The auditors were at least able to keep the mission from spending $60,000 for 100 clothes dryers, pointing out that "for most of the year the air is bone-dry." The mission's reason for requesting the fancy appliances was that staff morale would suffer if AID employees couldn't keep up with the Jonses at the American embassy, which issues dryers to its personnel.

When Irving Tragen took over the Panama AID mission in 1975, he added $6,668 worth of security devices to the official residence, rented an alarm system and hired a full-time guard. He used AID funds to buy a stereo set and color television, and even such picayune items as a shower head and a bathroom scale. The deputy director also purchased a color TV with public money, as well as a bar, an ice-making machine and a barbe-

- General Accounting Office investigators found that the Honduras mission had owned an airplane since 1965; the plane's operating and maintenance expenses ran to $32,000 a year. Mission officials explained they needed a plane to inspect AID projects in the rugged Honduran boondocks; they sold the plane after GAO's audit, and now rent aircraft as activities. Some, he said, go so far as to "pretend to show Jesus as politically compromised, as a fighter against Roman domination and power and, even, implicated in the class struggle.

"This concept of Christ, as a politican, as a revolutionary, as the subversive of Nazareth does not conform with the teachings of the

"Confusing the insidious pretext of the accusers of Jesus with Jesus' own, very different attitude, the cause of his death is made to seem the result of a political conflict ...," the pope pointed out, in his address to the inaugural session of the Third Latin American Episcopal Conference (CELAM).

It was to inaugurate the CELAM meeting that Pope John Paul II went to Mexico, and it was there that he delivered his theologically irrefutable admonition to those who profess the theology of liberation.

It was Pope John Paul's first foreign trip since his election to the Holy See last year, the first time a pope has ever visited Mexico, and only the second time in history that a pope has set foot in Latin America.

The conference in Puebla, which drew more than 200 prelates from all over Latin America, is of considerable importance to the church as well as to those Latin American governments that have had to face the problem of fighting guerrilla bands led by priests and encouraged by bishops and archbishops.

Estimates are that some 300 million of the world's 750 million Catholics live in Latin America. What with widespread poverty, the living conditions of many are woeful. While the church has long been concerned about the problems of the faithful, particularly after the second CELAM meeting, in Medellin, Colombia, in 1968, some bishops and priests adopted a more activist approach to the plight of the poor.

Swept along by the ideological ferment and the impatience of those times, they began preaching that violence was the only means to achieve Latin American social and political progress. Some even shed their cassocks and oined the Marxist-led guerrilla bands that were and, in some cases, still are waging war against their govern-

In an effort to rationalize their behavior, they began preaching that Christ, the founder of the Catholic church, was really the first revolutionary, the first subversive, the first to engage in the class struggle.

For years, the Vatican has been trying to correct their mistake. But. perhaps because the admonition was delivered in Latin, from Rome, the word did not seem to get across the Atlantic. Now, though, Pope John Paul II has visited Latin America, he has seen and been seen by the church hierarchy and, so that there can be no possibility of misinterpretation, he delivered them a 70-minute-long address in Puebla, on Sunday, Jan. 25, in Spanish, a language they all un-

It can be summed up briefly. The church still stands on what it considers the word of God, the gospels. And Christ's message was one of love, not hatred, not violence, not revolution.

INSIDE REPORT:

Teng Hsiao-ping talked business while 'on the road'

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

SEATTLE - On the eighth and last night of Teng Hsiao-ping's U.S. visit, one more symbolic piece of evidence was provided about how quickly respectable conservative opposition to the new Washington-Peking link has

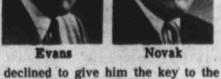

Instead of standing outside in the Seattle rain protesting abandonment of anti-communist Taiwan, leaders of the business establishment were inside at Canlis' expensive restaurant hosting a dinner for the veteran of the communist long march of 1934. The guest list, selected by Boeing Co. chairman T.A. Wilson, included in-dustrial giants of the Pacific North-

That was the tone of Teng's five days on tour after leaving Washington. While his stay in the capital was marked by reassurances of non-combativeness toward Taiwan and warnings about the Russian polar bear, Teng on the road was talking busi-

Business leaders in the three prosperous, high-development cities visited — Atlanta, Houston and Seattle were more than willing to respond.
The only visible opposition came from extremists (Birchers and Klansmen on the right, Maoists on the left), members of the Chinese-American community loyal to Taiwan and a few nervous politicians.

Such nervous politicians were most obvious in Texas. Republican Gov. William Clements greeted Teng at Houston with warmth that matched the winter chill. Clements was positively bubbling, however, compared to Houston's Mayor Jim McConn, who city on grounds that Houston and Taipei are "sister cities." But businessmen and other leaders of the Houston establishment - including Lt. Gov. William Hobby - felt McConn had overreacted and were embarrassed by him. Hobby, the state's senior Democratic official, introduced Teng to a steak-and-egg breakfast for newspaper editors. At that breakfast, his mother — Oveta Culp Hobby, chairman of the Houston Post-declared "we live in a changing time" that includes U.S.-Chinese "reapproachment."

Carter administration officials had feared that editors from Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana would verbally assault Teng over Taiwan and communism. Not one such query was asked. Instead, they were concerned mainly with dollars-and-cents issues: U.S.-Chinese agreement on oil exploration, Chinese farm production, farm imports from the U.S., Chinese oil exports. "You see," a triumphant China expert from the Carter administration proclaimed to reporters, "that's what people really care. 'that's what people really care attack on Soviet "warmongers," Teng's masterful speech to an Atlanta Chamber of Commerce luncheon emphasized how much China could learn from the people "in what you call the Sunbelt." Such stroking of civic pride and the profit motive surpassed even anti-Soviet haranguing on Teng's road trip.

So, the final-night Seattle dinner was a natural culmination. As a piano played show tunes of the 1930s, Teng rubbed elbows with the likes of George Weyerhauser of the Weyerhauser Co. Towering multimillionaire David Packard, Richard Nixon's deputy secretary of defense, leaned down to exchange pleasantries with the 5-foot-2 Chinese leader sipping a Coca-Cola ("I ordered a Coke because I've got to get used to it," Teng

No blacks, union chiefs or noted liberal leaders were present at the Seattle dinner, fitting the pattern of the entire trip. When a black editor at the Houston breakfast asked about Chinese ties with U.S. minority businesses, Teng brushed it off with the stock Chinese "welcome" for such contacts. In Atlanta, he showed no interest in visiting Martin Luther King's grave and did so only after President Carter's intervention.

Business enthusiasm for Teng clearly surpassed that of what Chinese Communists call the working masses. Before his tour of the Ford plant in Marietta, Ga., there had been assembly line talk about "atheistic communism." When Teng arrived, some workers held back from waving and looked sideways to see hat their mates were doing. Neither in foreign palicy nor in attention to U.S. domestic problems did Teng share the agenda of American liberals who long advocated the Washington-Peking link. Far from echoing Nikita Khrushchev's role of selling communism during his 1959 American tour, Teng uttered no word about U.S. social problems. The rest of the Chinese touring party scrupulously followed that lead.

In response, Americans encountering Teng on the road asked few embarrassing questions about Taiwan, human rights or internal Chinese politics. Barring inexplicable mainland pressure against Taiwan, there seems nothing in the China issue to benefit Carter's foes. Teng has returned home with business approval of both his anti-Soviet and pro-development lines (contrasting with shaking knees at the State Department over his Russian-baiting). The tough little survivor of China's bloody political wars, therefore, achieved the principal aims of his historic jourperhaps before 1908. In 1910, Upland was designated the seat of Upton County. But by the mid-1910s, most ranchers had moved into Rankin. And when an election was called to relocate the county seat, the few hangers-on at Upland lost out miles from there rests the rubble that once was Upland.

Admittedly, Lindsey knows far more about ranching - his livelihood than he does about the history of Upland. But he graciously allows visitors on his ranch so they can mill about the old Upland townsite.

Some who come are bona fide historians. Others are curious or campers or both. Others loiter and litter, build campfires and make their age-old marks called graffiti.

Lindsey doesn't really mind as long no one gets hurt or pilfers.

Anyway, what's left of Upland, if not eventually worn down by time and weathering, may someday be felled and buried by bulldozers. That "finale" will be for safety, for no one wants to fall on rubble or, worse, have it fall

RUINS AND THE SHAPED rocks of stone buildings represent what little is left of Upland: the two-story sandstone courthouse, wasted as if by war; the wreck of a jailhouse, which, too, got the full blast of abandoment by man, abusive visitors and the harsh West Texas elements; and a hull of concrete, which served some purpose now lost in non-history.

In front of the desolate courthouse is a cement block, an accidentally symbolic tombstone for Upland. Printed on black on the marker is 'R.I.P." - one can imaginarily delete the periods or read it as an abbreviation for rest in peace.

Less mournfully, lettered in black just above the north threshold to the courthouse is "MOTEL."

Lindsey's youngest son, Shane, 11, occasionally wanders around and into the Upland rubble. So do others. "A lot of Boy Scouts come down here and spend the night," Shane

They, too, left their mark. "BSA Troop 96" of Midland is boldly let-the county of 501 people. One of the townsite promoters, rancher Henry Halff, had built a hotel and general mercantile store before Fledgling Upland had a school building, and was planning to build another. In 1912, voters passed a $30,-

Those structures did come to pass. So did the town's badly needed railroad line - but in a fatal, literal, Built by the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railway Co., the railway was the dream of A.L. Stilwell. It would run from Kansas City to Mexico. But never through Upland.

Perhaps the railroad's ultimate route - more than drought, lack of water for irrigation and poor soil spelled the death of Upland.

New snow hits East

By The Associated Press

Bitter cold and about half a foot of new snow left most of the East Coast and Mid-Atlantic states in a vast deep freeze today, closing schools, forcing motorists to abandon cars and sending some venturesome residents of Washington, D.C., to the streets on skis.

Record lows - as cold as 47 below zero in New York State - were recorded throughout the East after a low pressure system blew in from the Midwest, then headed out over the Atlantic

An area within a 100mile radius of Washington, D.C., appeared to have been the hardest

The National Weather Service reported 7 inches of snow at Alexandria, Va., and other suburbs of the nation's capital, and police spotted skiers in downtown Washington.

National Airport, closed in the afternoon, reopened about 10 p.m. Public schools throughout the Washing-one, a driver was unable to stop her car on a steep hill, striking and killing a pedestrian. Disgruntled commuters on a bus in the District of Columbia took a look at curb-to-curb traffic ahead and voted to change their normal route. Their bus driver complied. A pregnant woman, stranded in traffic, was rescued by a police officer who drove her to Georgetown University Hospital on the only route free of traffic - the sidewalks, said Steve Haray, a hospital administrator. She made it in time to deliver her

Talks underway trying to avert exchange strike

NEW YORK (AP) - A federal mediator has set up more talks after cancellation of a no-strike truce and the possibility of a walkout by clerical employees of the New York Stock Exchange.

After meeting separately with union representaives and officials of the exchange on Monday, federal mediator Rosemary LeBoeuf set up a bargaining session for today.

Trading on the exchange apparently proceeded

Union leaders have not commented on possible effects of the cancellation of the no-strike truce, and on a new money offer made by management Friday The 2,100 members of Local 153 of the Office and include nearly 1,000 working on the exchange floor. The rest are employed by two exchange subsidiaries, Depository Trust Corp. and Securities Industry Automation Corp. A major stumbling block in the talks has been a demand for a shorter work week for the subsidiary employes, who under the old contract had a 40-hour week compared to a 32-hour week for employes on Because on Lincoln's Birthday on Monday, Deposi-ory Trust, which handles the transfer of securities and money for the exchange, was closed.

Professional Employees Union threatening to strike

However, Bryant Mason, news manager for the exchange, said a full staff reported for work at Securities Industry Automation.

"There's been no work stoppage or slowdown," he added. "Everything is quiet." The union served 24 hours notice Friday night that t was terminating the truce under which both sides agreed not to alter contractual relationships while negotiations continued. The day-by-day truce fol-lowed a 90-day extension when the previous three-year contract expired in November. The new economic offer was believed to be little changed from a previous offer of three annual seven percent raises. Most of the clerical workers have an annual base pay of $15,000.

Does anybody know about U.S. economy?

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) - The economic news has not een good. Who said so? Maybe you, for one, but if not you then certainly your neighbor, if we can believe the polls. And the Carter administration for It's official line seems increasingly to be at odds with the more spontaneous, less considered com-ments of its individual members. And that could mean some unpleasant decisions coming up. Such as whether or not to curtail gasoline sales, and whether to strengthen or perhaps enforce more rigidly its wage-price standards. While the official word remains one of optimism that the country can escape the worst of inflation, recession, shortage and other economic stresses, you have to wonder when:

-James Schlesinger, energy secretary, assessed the Iran oil cutoff as "prospectively more serious" than the 1973 oil embargo, and then, to stress the positive, called it "serious" but not "critical." -Alfred Kahn, chairman of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, called the January producer price increase of 1.3 percent "a catastrophe" and said he couldn't even appear to be optimistic.

-Courtenay Slater, Commerce Department chief conomist, expressed surprise as the big producer price rise, saying it was more than she expected, and warning of fairly large consumer price increases to

-Michael Blumenthal, treasury secretary, in effect conceded that the dollar has not stabilized in vorld markets and that "uncertainties continue to enerate nervousness" concerning it. -Kahn, though doing his utmost to sound happy bout it, was forced to concede that of the 500 largest U.S. companies, only 207 have pledged to uphold the wage-price guidelines. Among the holdouts: oil and Perhaps nothing has generated more general ner-ousness than the wide currency of "unanticipated," word repeatedly used to describe the continued rise n wholesale and consumer prices. The entire wage-price program — in fact the entire Carter economic plan — is predicated on accurate estimates of future prices, but some of those prices lready seem to be slanting off at different angles. Moreover, economists are complaining that temorary distortions, such as weather, Iran, and a ossible Teamster strike are making it difficult even o determine where we are in the business cycle. Another factor that might be squeezed into that same categoy is the mind of the consumer, which is far less predictable than some economic modelmakers would like to have it. How do you explain all that credit?

Last year, for example, various debt records were set, including one for the amount of installment credit outstanding. As the year ended it totaled $275 billion, up 19.1 percent in one year. While that total itself was a surprise to many if not most economists, even fewer were prepared for the surge that occurred late in the year, when $8.4 billion was added to the total in just November and Decem-

If consumers continue to add almost fearlessly to their credit burdens, defying expectations that as bills piled up they would turn conservative, there arises another specter of controls, on credit.

Even this early in the year it is clear that the unanticipated is playing a huge economic role, and the greater the role the harder are the decisions to be made. Will the administration back into con-

Nobody in the administration will give an answer to that, but the admission of surprise over the economy's direction would seem to indicate it must be on their minds. Even the Council on Wage and Price Stability, which should be in a position to know, has admitted to being victimized by unanticipated factors right in its own office.

In asking Congress for more money to almost double the size of its staff, it conceded, "The work load has increased more than had been antici-

Leakey challenges new fossil theories

BOSTON (AP) - Anthropologist Richard Leakey says he has uncovered new fossils which challenge the theory that a recently identified prehistoric creature called the "Afar ape man" is among mankind's direct ancestors.

Leakey, one of the world's leading experts on human origins, said he believes the Afar creature was only a near relative of the human line. In an interview Saturday, Leakey said he would report on the new fossil finds within two months in 2/13/79 the British scientific journal, Nature.

Dear Hal: The theory that cystic fibrosis is caused by prenatal or neonatal deficiencies is interesting but has not been proved. It was advanced by a veterinarian, Dr. Joel D. Wallach, on the basis of studies with monkeys at the Yerkes Regional Primate Research Center in Atlanta. Following some controversy concerning his research and findings, Dr. Wallach has left the center, and the studies are being continued by Dr. Harold M. Mc-

Dear Dr. Solomon: I've heard there's a new instrument that enables patients with retinitis pigmentosa to see in the dark. Can you tell me what it and how expensive it is?—Mr. G.L.

Dear Mr. L.: The instrument you refer to is called the Night Vision Aid, is sold by a Maryland firm in association with the National Betinitis Pigmentosa Foundation, and costs about $2,750. It provides people with night blindness caused by retinitis pigmentosa the equivalent of their best daylight vision when they go out in the dark.

A person must have reasonably good day vision to be helped by the device. There are four screening centers- in Boston, Los Angeles, St. Louis, and Baltimore—staffed by opthalmologists who can decide whether a patient's day vision is good enough to be helped by the Night Vision Aid.

The scope was developed from an army nightvision surveillance device. It converts light into an electronic image which is then intensified and displayed on a screen viewed through the eyepiece. It is battery-powered and designed to last through about one thousand hours of use. Since most patients would use the scope for only a few minutes a day, it is estimated that it might last anywhere from five to 10

However, the Night Vision Aid is not an unqualified success. Some patients have reported they feel a powerful flashlight would be just as useful. Dear Dr. Solomon: What causes air pollution?-

Dear M.S.: Several processes contribute to air pollution. One is evaporation of liquids like gasoline. Another is attrition-activities like grinding or drilling. But most air pollution comes from com-bustion in furnaces, vehicles, incinerators and open

These processes take place primarily in: automobiles and other moving vehicles; furnaces burning fuel for heating and making electicity; containers or places for burning waste; industrial activities, including cement making, grain handling, kraft paper pulping, petroleum refining and storage, metal smelters and mills, fertilizer production, and many forms of chemical manufacturing.

Ford said planning 1982 front-wheeler

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. is reportedly planning a second line of small front-wheel drive cars for 1982, a year after the scheduled introduc-tion of its first front-wheel drives in models replacing the present Ford Pinto and Mercury Bobcat.

Code-named "Derby," the 1982 models would be longer versions of the 1981 subcompact "Erika" Pinto replacement, the trade publication Metalworking News reported Monday.

Another front-wheel drive project, "Monica," was reported to have been put on the back burner. Monica was to have replaced the present compact Ford Granada and Mercury Monarch models in

But instead, the Granada and Monarch lines will get a "major facelift and redimensioning" and keep their rear drives, the publication said in a report that attributed its information to "sources within the

Monica could be revived later if demand for front-wheel drive cars turns out to be strong enough, it was reported.

CLARKSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — Singer Leon Redbone is in his 30s, but says he feels "like I'm 93" after escaping without serious injury from the crash of an Allegheny Airlines plane at a local airport.

"I ache all over and my hip hurts. But nothing is broken as far as I know," Redbone said from his hospital bed a few hours after the crash. He was one of 25 persons aboard the Washington-bound plane.

Two people were killed and 23 others were injured when the propjet flipped and crashed shortly after taking off in a snowstorm. Redbone is a blues singer from New Hope, Pa. He said there was little time to prepare for the crash. "All of a sudden I was hanging upside down in the plane," he said. "It was a matter of moments before the plane came down. Everybody was disoriented, but no more than could be expected." Redbone, his road manager, Daniel Cronin, 27, of Santa Monica, Calif., and clarinet player Robert Gordon of New York City were among passengers held overnight for observation.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) - Former first lady Bess Truman planned to celebrate her 94th birthday quietly today in her stately 17-room Victorian mansion.

The widow of President Harry Truman was reported in high spirits and regaining her strength from recent hospital stays.

Bouquets of flowers and cards and letters were expected for Mrs. Truman, who has surpassed by five years the age of any former first lady. Anna Harrison, wife of the 9th president, William Henry Harrison, lived to the age of 89.

Mrs. Truman's sister-in-law, Mary Wallace, 84, said she planned to stop by with a birthday favorite of the former first lady's — homemade

'She's very frail; she doesn't get around too well yet," said Mrs. Wallace, who lives near the Truman home and is a frequent visitor. "The nice part is that her head is clear. Thank goodness she can read; that's one of her great pleasures." Mrs. Truman likes mystery stories.

Health has been a problem for Mrs. Truman the past year. She spent 17 days at Research Medical Center in June and was hospitalized again from Nov. 20 to Dec. 16 for tests and treatment of high blood pressure.

Filmmaker Jean Renoir dies in Hollywood at 84

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jean Ren-oir, an artist's son who achieved his own renown as a maker of classic films, has died at 84.

Son of the celebrated impressionist painter Auguste Renoir, the French moviemaker died Monday afternoon after a long illness at his home in the Benedict Canyon area of Los An-

His family announced his death today in Paris. Family spokesman Nick Frangakis said Renoir's body is to be flown to France next week for a funeral with state honors

Renoir won international recognition for his 1937 film "La Grande Illusion," a portrayal of gallantry among French prisoners of war and their German captors during World War I.

His life was filled with honors. Among the last was a special Academy Award at the Oscar ceremonies April 8, 1975. Actress Ingrid Bergman presented the award to Renoir as "a film maker who has worked with grace, responsibility and enviable competence through silent film, sound film, feature, documentary and television.

Renoir was too ill to attend the ceremonies. He remained in his Beverly Hills home following an operation on his leg.

"It was on April 17, 1915, that my leg was struck by a German bullet,' he explained once in an interview. "The bone was badly damaged and over the years I have had problems

Renoir spent his last months in a wheelchair, close to paintings and sculptures by his father, including a full-length portrait of Jean as a boy.

Critic Penelope Gilliatt wrote once of the director: "He makes films full of feeling for picnics, cafes, rivers, barges, friends, tramps, daily noises from the other side of the court-

Renoir was born Sept. 15, 1894, in Paris, the second of three sons. The eldest, Pierre, became an actor; and the youngest, Claude, photographed many of Jean's films and later worked in television.

Jean lived in Paris and at the family farm in Provence, attending College Sainte-Croix at Neuilly. He immersed himself in films while he was recovering from his war wound, and he interested his father in the new

"Nana" in 1926 was Renoir's first major film as a director. It was ambitious and it failed, although it was later vindicated as a silent-film classic. He continued making films into the sound period, sometimes appearing in them himself.

Rockefeller furnished apartment, art, $60,000 salary for Miss Marshack

NEW YORK (AP) - The late Nelson A. Rockefeller bought his research assistant, Megan Marshack, a $45,000 cooperative apartment, furnished it with art objects from his valuable collection, and paid her $60,-000 a year in salary with an unlimited expense account, the New York Post

Quoting an unidentified source who admitted to "detesting" Miss Marshack, the Post said in Monday's editions that Miss Marshack had no life outside her work, spoke of the former New York governor with "warmth and tenderness" and "acted as if she was Mrs. Rockefeller."

The source, who asked not to be identified, told the Post that Miss Marshack was on 24-hour call to Rockefeller, ran the staff of his Manhattan townhouse with an imperious air, and bought many items of Rockefeller's personal clothing.

Miss Marshack, 25, a former Asso ciated Press Radio reporter in Washington, D.C., was with Rockefeller when he suffered a heart attack on Jan. 26 in his Manhattan townhouse-

In his will filed last week in White Plains, Rockefeller forgave Miss Marshack a $45,000 loan which she had used to buy her cooperative apartment.

The Post reported that Miss Marshack had been a regular visitor at Rockefeller's Pocantico Hills estate in Westchester County where she took horseback riding lessons.

Questions about Miss Marshack's relationship with the former governor have surfaced amid growing confusion about the circumstances of Rockefeller's death. The confusion developed after family spokesmen, Hugh Morrow, issued conflicting re-ports about the time and place of Rockefeller's death and about whether Miss Marshack was there.

WNBC-TV program hostess Ponchitta Pierce said when she was come to Rockefeller's townhouse, she found only Miss Marshack and Rockefeller in the office. Miss Marshack and Miss Pierce are friends and neighbors in the building.

Motorists tamper with smog devices

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Air quality in the Los Angeles area last summer was the worst in a decade because many motorists used leaded gasoline in cars designed for unleaded gasoline or tampered with smog control devices, an expert said Monday.

Three tankfuls of leaded gasoline can ruin a catalytic converter in a car designed for unleaded gasoline, said Dr. Thomas Heinsheimer, vice chairman of the South Coast Air Quality Management District.

He told the National Commission on Air Quality, which is preparing recommendations for Congress on ways to alleviate smog problems, that misfueling in catalytic converter-equipped cars occurred in 15 percent of those studied.

Unleaded gasoline is more expensive that reg-ular gasoline.

Carter asks Americans to conserve energy

By ROBERT A. ROSENBLATT The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — Calling the oil situation serious but "not crucial," President Carter Monday appealed to Americans to conserve energy by obeying the 55-mph speed limit setting thermostats at 65, and limiting unnecessary driving in favor of carpools and rapid transit.

'We are in no immediate danger," the president told a news conference. But he added that world oil stockpiles are being depleted by the shutdown of Iranian production and that the situation "certainly could get worse" if that production is not restored in coming months. If there is a worldwide oil shortage, the United States is committed to share oil with its allies. In that case 'More strenuous action" than his exhortations for voluntary conservation would be required, the president warned.

"If we would honor the 55 mph speed limit, set thermostats no higher than 65 degrees in homes and buildings ... limit discretionary driving voluntarily, and (shift) to carpools and to rapid transit systems, we could offset the current reduction in Iranian supply of oil to our country," the president said.

Industry officials said current high levels of production in Saudi Arabia should avert a dangerous world shortage of oil through the middle of this year. "Things will get critical in the fourth quarter if Iran is still out, because that's the time of year when we build stockpiles for the winter season," a supply expert for one of the major international companies

The United States normally imports 900,000 barrels of oil daily from Iran, about 5 percent of total demand. However, increased imports from other countries have trimmed the net loss to 500,000 barrels daily. This figure, amounting to a 2.5 percent deficit, is easily manageable in an economy using 18 million barrels of oil daily, government and industry officials say.

"If we experience a worldwide shortage to the extent that our sharing commitment would be triggered, this would mean an addit age in our country that would go from 1 1-2 percent up to 4 percent," Carter

"And if the Iranian production is not restored in the next number of months, our shortage in this country could go as high as 5, 6 or 7 percent, under which circumstances we would have to take more strenuous ac-

Discussing his forthcoming trip to Mexico, the president acknowledged the attractiveness of Mexican petrole um reserves and indicated the United States would not strive for any special terms on price or supply.

"We will try to be a good custom-er," the president said. "But we have no inclination to force them to give us a special privilege nor to do anything that would be damaging to the wellbeing of the Mexican people

Recent major discoveries of gas and oil will provide hundreds of thousands of new jobs for Mexican workers, reducing "the pressure on some of them to seek employment in our country," the president added.

As for the illegal alien problem, Carter said, "I want to make sure that we minimize any illegalities relating to the border, and I want to make sure that when people are in our country, whether they are here as citizens or not, that we protect their basic human rights."

Other issues discussed by the president:

- Taiwan. Carter said he had "no intention of going to war" over Tai-wan despite his previous statement

PAMPA - As part of a full-scale expansion program, Sivalls, Inc., has added fabrication to sales operations

Manufacturers of onshore and offshore oil and gas surface production equipment in Odessa since 1947, Sivalls has geared Pampa operations to fill voids in Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas Panhandle fields.

Recently the company changed its name from Sivalls Tanks, Inc., to Sivalls, Inc., "to eliminate the limited product line image," states C.Richard Sivalls, president.

Sivalls Pampa manager is Jerry Thomas. The plant is located west of Pampa on the Borger Highway just outside the city limits.

- Mideast negotiations. When the Egyptian and Israeli foreign ministers meet later this month at Camp David with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance, Carter said, "I might visit with them briefly." But he said he that he and his successors would re-after the present security treaty with the Chinese Nationalists is terminat-hoped there would be no need for another summit conference.

- Inflation. Last month's 1.3 percent increase in the producers" price index underlined the importance of "making tough decisions" to control inflation, Carter said. "The demands of special interest groups must be resisted," he said, and "the Congress must hold the line on federal spend-

Both Ramos and Menchaca fought well and received a good response from the big crowd, although when Ramos was announced the winner in his fight, the OHS fans booed loudly.

There was no question about Menchaca's victory as he used several body punches early in the fight to pile up important points.

Fort Stockton's Joey Gaitan, one of the classiest fighters in the tourney, pounded out a victory over Roy Chavez of the Odessa Boxing Club, but one of the best fights of the night was fought by Midland Lee's Warren Kyle, a 147-pounder, who dropped a very close decision to Odessa High's Robert Gardner in the High School Football Division.

Kyle, a gutty fighter, was behind in points going into the third and final round, but fought back tremendously and almost pulled out the win in a fight that brought the crowd to its feet. His final flourish had Gardner going, but the Broncho boxer had enough points early to hold on for the

Besides the Kyle-Gardner fight, the final bout of the night in the High School Football Division, really got the crowd's attention when Odessa Permian's Bryan Lambert, squared off with Elton Powell of OHS. It was a free-swining fight with both boxers fighting well. Powell won in a close decision much to the delight of the Broncho followers and OHS won the team title in taking two out of three matches from the Mojo fighters. OHS' Darren Dennard outpointed Permian's Ted Rambo in a 131-pound fight while Permian's only win over OHS came when Fabian Nunez, a 129-pounder, pounded out a victory over Kenneth Tollett.

Jessie Lujan of Andrews won his Football Division fight, posting a win over Edward Jaso, also a 124-pounder. Jaso was fighting out of San Aneglo for Tony's Boxing Club.

Jesse Gore and Raul Yzagurrie, both from OHS, put on a great fight with Yzagurrie taking a TKO win after being knocked down by Gore in the first round.

Midland Lee's girl cagers open new can of worms

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Sports Writer

Monday night was supposed to be the end of the District 5-4A girls' basketball season, but when Midland Lee finished pounding out a very de-cisive 43-23 victory over the Midland High Bulldogs on foreign hardwood, the Rebels had opened up a new can of

In effect, we now have a new District 5-4A season. The 20-point victory gave Lee the second half District 5-4A title with a perfect 7-0 mark, but they are not in the playoffs yet. Midland High and Abilene High tied for the first half championship with 6-1 records, and they must now meet in a 5-4A playoff to see who will face Lee for the state playoff berth.

IF IT sounds complicated, it is. But in a nutshell, there are two do-or-die games left to be played with any of the three teams able to win the overall 5-4A title and a trip for future glory. Still, Lee seems to be in the best position since they have to only play in one of the games. They can sit back and wait for Midland High and Abilene High to decide which one wants to be in that final game.

No decision has been made on the site or date of the MHS-AHS confrontation, but Jane Young, Midland High coach, has stated that she prefers to play on a neutral site. "I don't think we want to go back to Abilene," she

BUT MONDAY was a night for the Rebels to put in a scrapbook. They were never really threatened and they dominated the entire course of action on the floor.

"We've been fighting for our lives ever since we lost to Midland High in the first half. The girls have been playing hard, and it all paid off out there tonight. I don't know anything about the playoffs, but I think we will take the day off tomorrow (Tuesday)," Shirley Stephenson said after the big victory.

The Bulldogs, who could have wrestled the 5-4A title away from the defending champions with a victory, were their own worst enemy Monday. They were so cold in their shooting touch that one would have thought a snow blizzard was raging outside. The Pack missed their first 18 shots from the field and ended up hitting only five of 42 attempts-a meager 12 per cent.

THE REBELS didn't exactly burn the cords with 16 of 46 from the field and a 35 per cent shooting percentage, but they did maintain the tempo of the game and dominated both the offen-sive and defensive boards.

Senior Deborah Ledbetter led the Lee attack with 11 points, but she was even more awesome crashing the boards while intimidating the Pack shooters. She was all over the court.

Leisha Watkins was the only other player on the court in double figures with 10 points, but she fouled out early in the fourth period.

DEBORAH KITTLE gave Lee a 4-2 lead with 5:10 left in the first period and the Rebels never trailed after that. The Rebs built up a 12-2 lead in the first period and then led 21-8, a 13-point cushion with 1:12 left in the half after a seven-point run in the second period. Ledbetter canned two back-to-back baskets in that spurt. Meanwhile, the Bulldogs did not score a field goal in the first half on an 0-for-16 streak, and hit on only nine of 18 free throw tries. But they were lucky to be trailing only 21-9 at the Midland High missed two more shots to open the second quarter to stretch their field goal mark to 0-for-18, but Margaret Christian, who led the Pack with six points, finally hit a layup with 5: 26 left in the third period.

That is a dry spell in anyone's book.
"We couldn't hit the broad side of a barn," was the only comment Young put forth for the night.

LEE'S DEE DEE Poole hit for nine points in the victory and four of them came in the fourth period on two brillant steals that went the length of the court for easy layups. She scored six of her nine in the final period, and the last bucket she scored gave Lee the 20-point margin of victory, the biggest lead of the night with 2: 28 still left in the game. Neither team scored

"You never expect to win one that easy," Stephenson said. "But Midland High has a fine team. They were just cold and couldn't get anything to drop for them. We know they are a good team, and I think we will have to face them again."

Midland High did win the junior varsity contest, 40-37, as Sandra Black led the way with 15 points. Black sunk two big free throws with 22 seconds left to give the victory margin. Lee had come back from a 12-0 deficit to go ahead, but Midland tied the game at 33 in the fourth period. They never trailed again. Still, Lee wins the JV district championship with a 12-2 record. Brenda

Gilchrist had 10 points for the Pack while Kay Rowe led Lee with 10

The Lee varsity is now 27-7 on the year while MHS fell to 25-11. The Bulldogs finished with a 6-1 second half record and a 12-2 overall district mark. Ironically, that is the same mark the Rebels had in overall district action.

Howard College falls as Chaps start rolling

Chucky McGill, Cullen Mayfield and Kenneth Young paved the way Monday night. Midland College, with that four-some, shot down the Howard College

Hawks, 67-61, in a Western Junior College Conference game. Tate flipped in 17 points while McGill followed with 16 and Young and Mayfield chipped in with 15 and 10 points, respectively as the Chaps showed a balanced scoring attack. The victory for Coach Jerry Stone's Chaps gives them a 16-10 season rec-ord and they are 8-5 in WJCC action while the Hawks are now 1-12 and 8-21 on the year. MC jumped out in front early so the Hawks didn't have a chance to run their patent slow-down game.

The Chaparrals led by as much as 13 points in the first half and had leads up to nine points in the second half in leading all the way. It was 39-36 at halftime in favor of MC, but Howard did manage to pull to within three points--57-54 with 3:49 left in the game. But baskets by Mayfield and Luis Alvarado, increased the lead

Robbie Randolph was the only Hawk player in the double figures with 27 points as MC connected on 50 per cent from the field and 56 per cent from the line and the Chaps won the battle of the boards, 37-31.

Midland entertains Frank Phillips College of Borger Thursday night in the Chaparral Center on the MC campus. Frank Phillips took a narrow 80-79 decision over the Chaps in their first conference meeting.

Pesky Rebels shoot for upset over MHS Bulldogs

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

For all practical purposes, the District 5-4A basketball chase is over, but there is still that matter of the pesky

Midland Lee Rebels to consider.

Midland High's Bulldogs put the 5-4A title in their hip pocket Friday with a resounding 62-35 victory over Abilene Cooper, and they are looking forward to the state playoffs. Still, the Bulldogs must face Lee today at 8 Bulldogs must face Lee today at 8 p.m. in the Chaparral Center on the Midland College campus, and that's where the guessing starts.

It's hard to take this year-end finale

as cut and dried because the Midland High-Lee basketball contest has never been all that predictable. Emotion sometimes is more powerful than season records indicate.

The Rebels have had some trouble this year, and they are going to end up with more losses than victories whether they win or lose tonight. But they haven't been a team to fold. They have been competitive, and if they really want a victory tonight, they just might pull one off. The true makeup of the two teams will be on display in the Chap Center. The last time around, the Bulldogs hung a 30-point haymaker on the Rebels after they tried a stall effort. No one knows what the Rebs plan tonight in the rematch.

Midland High cage boss Dop

Humphrey says his Bulldogs will try to win the game tonight, but he also stated that they would play this one for fun. Humphrey plans to use every player in the game. The question is, "Can the Bulldogs take this game seriously with wondering eyes looking at next week and the playoffs?"

The Rebels, on the other hand, would like nothing better than to go out on a winning note against the 5-4A champions, but Coach Paul Stueckler's crew must come to play to win. A Stueckler team rarely does anything but that, and he likes vic-tories over Midland High.

Lee is the home team tonight, and will be carrying a 14-17 season mark into the battle against the 25-8 Bulldogs, who have won 15 games in a row. The Bulldogs would like to keep that win streak in tact while heading

Over 4,000 fans turned out for the first meeting between the two schools at the end of the first half play, and another large crowd is expected tonight. No pre-game sale of tickets has been done, so all tickets can be purchased at the gate.

Meanwhile, Sam Cox, Midland athletic director, announced Monday that the Wichita Falls-Midland High bi-district contest will be played in Abilene's Taylor County Coliseum Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 8 p.m. Ticket information will be released as soon as all the details are worked out.

Midland High officials will meet with the Wichita Falls officials immediately after tonight's contest to work out all the fine details of the bi-district clash. Both coaches wanted to play in the Taylor County Coliseum since that will be the site of the Regional Tournament, which is set for Feb. 23-24. The winner of the MHS-WFH bi-district game will then have a small edge since the winner will already have played a game on the Taylor County floor.

But the Bulldogs had better take first things first because some rene-gade Rebels have nothing else to look forward to. Tonight is their last stand.

Campbell wins big prize

HOUSTON (AP) - A computer evaluation of last season's performance by National Football League players has determined that rookie running back Earl Campbell of the Houston Oilers was the top achiever. He won $10,000 and the Seagram "Oscar," in the competition, sponsored by Seagram Seven. Campbell was given a productive efficiency rating of 62.17, enough to edge Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach (61.08) and Archie Manning, New Orleans quarterback (60.62) for the cash award. A computer compiled and evaluated numerous data on NFL player, then measured each player against a computer-based "standard of Terry Bradshaw, Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback, finished fourth at 59.09, followed by San Diego quarterback Dan Fouts (58.39), Dallas running back Tony Dorsett (57.26) and last year's winner, running back Walter Payton of the Chicago Bears, who was seventh with an efficiency rating of 56.81.

Only regular-season performances were considered.

Campbell, a 5-11, 224-pound Heisman Trophy winner out of the University of Texas, led the NFL in rushing with 1,450 yards, was second in touchdowns rushing with 13, set a rookie record with 302 carries and gained 100 yards or better seven times during

Indiana State rips West Texas

By The Associated Press

Nothing's changed now that the Indiana State Sycamores are finally No. 1 — they're still winning basketball

Undefeated but relatively unloved by the voters throughout the season, the Sycamores have moved to the top of The Associated Press poll and established their new beachead with a handsome 100-75 conquest of West Texas State Monday night.

Incidentally, that not only gave some more substance to their topranked status, but clinched the Sycamores' first Missouri Valley Conference championship.

"They are certainly one of the better teams in the country," said New Mexico State Coach Ken Edwards of Indiana State, a possible answer to some charges that the Sycamores play a soft-touch schedule.

That was apparently the thinking of AP voters who in past weeks voted Indiana State No. 2 even though the spotless Sycamores had the best record in the Top Twenty.

In other games involving the ranked teams, No. 6 Louisiana State beat Auburn 78-68; No. 11 Arkansas stopped Baylor 71-62; No. 12 Texas whipped Texas A&M 65-57 and No. 19 Vanderbilt beat No. 20 Alabama 65-

As on many other occasions, Larry Bird was the reason that Indiana State won its most recent game. Bird scored 27 points and registered 19 rebounds against West Texas State.

"The second half, we just stuck it to them," said Carl Nicks, who scored 17 points for the winners. "We started to fast break."

Jordy Hultberg scored 16 of his 20 points in the second half as LSU rallied from a 12-point deficit in the final 17 minutes to beat Auburn. The Tigers, recording their sixth straight victory, went ahead for good at 58-56 on a basket by Hultberg with 8:42 remaining.

"This team really believes in each other," said LSU Coach Dale Brown.

"Even when we were 12 down, you never saw any of them snapping at each other or getting on each other. We were able to scratch back because we never lost our togetherness."

Noted Auburn Coach Sonny Smith of LSU: "There is no doubt they are the class of the league. LSU did what you have to do to win - they attacked us from outside, and scored well."

Mike Rhodes scored 32 points as Vanderbilt beat Alabama, overshadowing a 29-point performance by the Crimson Tide's Reggie King.

Elsewhere, Chad Kinch and Kevin King each scored 24 points to lead North Carolina-Charlotte over New Orleans 76-66; Marty Coyne's 17 points led Army over Fordham 71-70; Florida State stopped St. Louis 84-79 as Kris Anderson put in 20 points; Kelvin Troy had 19 points as Rutgers defeated New Hampshire 83-73; Cincinnati held off Xavier 60-58 behind Pat Cummings' 25 points and Les Henson had 18 points to power Virginia Tech past William & Mary 55-49.

Also, John Stroud sank two free throws with one second left to give Mississippi a 67-65 victory over Florida; Davidson turned back Tennessee-Chattanooga 70-64 as John Gerdy scored 36 points; Tom Slawson's 16 points led The Citadel over VMI 72-69; Carl Belcher scored 26 to lead St. Bonaventure over St. Francis (Pa.) 86-77; Kenneth Williams scored 38 points as Houston trimmed SMU 101-94 and Anthony DeCello hit two free throws with 11 seconds left to ice an 84-80 victory for Rice over TCU.

Dwight Anderson scored 26 points to pace Kentucky past Mississippi State 80-65; Tulane's Joe Holston sank a 20-foot jumper with 24 seconds remaining to give the Green Wave a 75-74 decision over Southern Mississippi; Wayne Kreklow fired in 30 points as Drake edged Southern Illinois 79-75; Dana Perno's 19 points triggered West Virginia past Robert Morris 85-79 and Michael Brooks and Kurt Kanaskie combined for 56 points as La Salle defeated Lehigh 100-93.

Besides, he thought he had resolved the matter by having each man forward a list of their top four candidates with the name appearing highest on both lists offered Keeping with their inability to agree on anything,

Wellington listed his choices in order of preference while Tim opted for alphabetical order. But only one name appeared on both lists, NFL Personnel Director Jan Van Duser, and he unexpec-
