Kraus, a member of the 20-man U.S. Marine guard detachment at the American Embassy in Tehran, said he and his Marine roommate had just come off duty and were relaxing in their quarters. They immediately raced to their assigned positions.

'The guerrillas opened fire about 10: 30. There were at least 100 of them. They were on every wall around the embassy and on the surrounding rooftops," he said. "It just started popping and popping."

Kraus, who was slightly wounded in the attack and taken to a hospital, headed for his post at the embassy commissary. 'When I got there there were already some guerrillas. They were firing everywhere with automatic weapons. There was a lot of shooting. There were two other Marines and two or three Americans in the shopping area and the restaurant, and we shoved them back into the kitchen where we barricaded the door," he said.

'They shot in all the windows and were pounding and pounding on the door. They broke in the door and the fwrst guy they saw, who was a Persian, they just blasted him away.

"He grabbed me by the hand. We had some weapons hidden in a freezer. I pointed to them. He said something in Farsi (the Iranian language) and suddenly someone gave me a rifle butt in the gut. "The next thing I heard was a whang and I was on my face and started bleeding. Then I showed up at the hospital here," said Kraus of Lansdale,

During the firing, he said U.S. Ambassador William Sullivan ordered everyone to "give up. Unless your life is directly in danger don't fire." Kraus, who is on temporary assignment from Cyprus, was taken by ambulance to the nearby Amir Alaam Hospital near the embassy.

A doctor said Kraus received a flying metal fragment, apparently from bullet, in his forehead but otherwise was not seriously hurt. The metal fragment would be removed later, he said, but the operation was minor and posed no problems.

"I assure you he is very safe here and in very good hands," he said. As he lay in his hospital bed, Kraus asked that his mother, sister and fiance, Nina Trongone, be reassured that he was all right and being well

"I don't scare easy," he said. "But I can tell you I was scared."

Despite sanctuary designation, City of Midland going bird hunting

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

Midland City Council is going birdhunting.

The council changed its ordinance Tuesday during a regular session to allow for removal of birds where large concentrations of them have been determined to be a health haz-

Parents of teen-agers attending Edison Freshman School at 100 E. Gist St. Tuesday complained to the council of the large number of sparrows, cowbirds and starlings camping out in the school's atrium.

Not only do the birds cause a noise problem, but also a health hazard with the large accumulations of droppings in the enclosed patio, the council was told.

Chief Sanitarian Jewel Smith said there are about half a dozen trees where the birds roost, leaving "quite a lot of droppings. There are diseases that could be communicated to the kids, such as a fungus that could get into the lungs."

When questioned later about the seriousness of the diseases, Smith replied the fungus could remain with the person the rest of his life.

After hearing remarks about the situation, the council agreed something should be done, but tossed solutions back and forth for half an hour, unsure as to whether they could kill the birds or just harrass them enough

THE PROBLEM IS heightened by the fact Midland is a designated bird sanctuary, and the city ordinance prohibits any shooting, trapping or molesting of birds.

Keith Carpenter with the Parks and Wildlife Service in San Angelo said the school definitely has a problem. The proposed solution to trap the birds produces another problem what to do with them. Carpenter suggested using scare devices and offered the services of his office in ridding the school of the birds.

But, as someone pointed out, "scaring doesn't solve the problem. It only sends them somewhere else."

The ordinance finally was changed to read that a city health officer or animal control director would first have to determine if there was a problem with the birds.

Carter wants to listen during trip to Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, vowing to "listen and learn," flew to Mexico City today in search of "a new sense of partnership" that could ease cross-border differences over oil, trade and immigration.

The president was awakened during the night to be informed of the armed assault on the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, but the Iranian developments caused no change of plans for the trip to Mexico. Carter told a Mexican television audience last week he believes a new relationship has flourished since he entertained Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo as the administration's first state visitor two years ago.

But perceptions are quite different in Mexico, where many officials still feel they are treated as a junior partner of the United States.

What has changed in two years, all agree, is Mexico's economic potential, with its oil resources now calculated to approach and perhaps rival those of Saudi Arabia.

Armed with this economic trump card, Lopez Portillo wants to discuss a possible oil deal with the United States as part of a package embracing trade and immigration.

Carter will try to reach an agreement on a U.S. purchase of natural gas, but it would be only a general agreement, said John Ferch, the U.S. embassy's deputy chief of mission. "Presidents don't talk about prices," he said. Negotiations for the purchase of Mexican natural gas have been stalled more than a year because Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger balked at Mexico's asking price - $2.61 per thousand cubic feet compared with the $2.16 charged by

"We are showing our support for the government in its negotiations with Carter," said a marcher.

One sign called for "respect for human rights and workers' rights for all migrant workers in the United States.

At a Washington news conference Monday, Carter said, with illegal immigrants from Mexico in mind, "I want to make sure that when people are in our country, whether they are here as citizens or not, that we protect their basic human rights."

Mexico, with 40 percent unemployment, objects to U.S. efforts to cut the flow of illegal immigrants, estimated at more than 500,000 a year.

But Carter, under pressure from organized labor to shut the door as

The volume of mail that flows through her small post office every February belies the size of Valentine, a tiny West Texas town of 212 persons 38 miles south of Van Horn.

It's a tradition that goes back a few years," said Mrs. Kelley. "A lot of people just like to have valentines postmarked from Valentine, Texas."

The steel-driving men who built the Southern Pacific Railroad line reached this spot on Valentine's day in the late 1890's and "that's how the town got its name," she said.

'Balanced budget' could create ills

By LINDA HILL

If the federal budget was balanced this year so that there was no deficit, the U.S. would experience unemployment and inflation rates of about 9 percent each, members of the Midland Business and Estate Council were told Tuesday night.

Dr. Stanley R. Reber, vice president and economist for Texas American Bancshares Inc., told the group the budget ideally should balance out over the life of a complete business cycle.

But, said the University of Chicago Ph.D., he is opposed to a constitutional amendment to require a balanced federal budget except in declared "I don't want to take away the right of the federal government to have a deficit if we're in a recesssion," he said. REBER PREDICTED a mild recession during the latter part of 1979, with recovery by the end of the second quarter of 1980. The economist said the "equilibrium" rate of real growth - growth less inflation - is about 3 percent, but the rate for the last three and a half years has averaged 4½ to 5 percent.

A 3 percent growth would be "good luck," he said, but he added that he doesn't think it will be that high in 1979.

Achieving that goal would require good monetary and fiscal policy; "no external shocks," such as revolutions in Iran; good inventory policy by the business community, and consumers behaving in a "perfect and stable way," Reber said.

THE ONLY REASON for the high growth since mid-1975 has been a 'consumers' binge" brought on by "an inflation 'high," he said.

Reber estimated that up to 40 percent of large-ticket purchases, including houses and cars, has been the result not of need, but rather because of a reaction to inflation.

"It cannot go on forever," he added, saying houses are "one to a customer" and the added push on automobiles will end when everyone has purchased one year earlier than usual. "There is a real fear that in 1979 we're going to see below equilibrium spending," he said. Reber declined to speculate on what kind of "external shocks" the economy might suffer during the coming year, but he did predict the effect from them likely will be bad, also.

AND, HE SAID, the federal government is not likely to react as it usually does to try to avoid an economic slowdown because of its concern with

In the short run, he added, the only way to curb inflation is to slow down economic growth.

However, the recession should be mild, he said, in part because the American business community learned the need for close inventory control during the 1973-74 recession.

In that case, Reber recalled, consumer spending slowed down six months before the business community suddenly realized inventories were piling up. Then production had to be cut below actual sales, he said. The effect of that was to throw more people out of work, who then were able to purchase even less, said Reber.

"IT'S SORT OF LIKE a cat chasing its tail," he said.

This time, however, "There are no signs whatsoever of that happening," Another reason Reber gave for predicting an end to the expected recession by the middle of 1980 is that "1980 is still a presidential year." "And they (government officials) do know how to make the economy grow.... If push comes to shove, in 1980 they will ignore inflation, at least until the election's over," the economist said

However, even with a recession, Reber held out scant hope for an inflation rate of less than 8 percent by the end of 1979 or of a prime interest rate of less than 10 percent.

TO CURE THE LONG-TERM ills of the economy, Reber suggested changing tax policy and cutting government regulation in a "bottom-up" approach to boosting the economy.

He said he is "mildly optimistic" about the economy because he sees hope in both areas. "Our tax policy basically penalizes savings, and thus, investment," which he said go hand-in-hand. Tax cuts traditionally have gone 95 percent to the consumer, with the vast majolty of that going to low- and middle-income groups, he said. But, in 1978, one-third of the tax cut went to the business community. "Most shocking," however, was a cut in the capital gains tax.

"APPARENTLY, IT'S NOW good politics to cut capital gain taxes, and that helps rich people, the bad guys," he said.
Secondly, he said, cutting down on governmental regulation would make individual industries work better and more efficiently.

Reber used the airline industry as an example, saying it used to be the worst example of prices being kept up because of regulation. Now, though, he said, a cutback in government regulation has changed the industry's situation entirely.

U.S. ambassador slain in Afghanistan capital

By BARRY SHLACHTER

NEW DELHI, India (AP) - The U.S. ambassador to Afghanistan, Adolph Dubs, was killed in Kabul today after being kidnapped by members of the Shiite Moslem sect, the U.S. Embassy in New Delhi report-

Embassy spokesman Arthur Lef-kowitz said Dubs' automobile was stopped this morning on a Kabul road by two or three men who opened the door and told the ambassador they were arresting him. His abductors took him to a hotel in downtown Kabul, the Afghan capital, and demanded the release of Shiite

But Mrs. Kelley and other Valentine citizens said Tuesday there are at least 600 people living in the area.

Valentine began as a ranching and farming area, with a lot of people employed by the railroad company living there, said Mrs. Kelley.

"It's still that way. Down the road, a group of people have drilled for water and been pretty successful at discovering deep water wells for irrigation to farm in recent years."

Noted Mrs. W.A. "Slim" Brown, another Valentine citizen: "I don't send out valentines anymore." But she said kids still get excited each time the holiday rolls around. "We don't know whether the ambassador was killed during the attack or before the attack," the source The embassy also did not know why the mullahs were arrested or how many were being held. "Our information is very sketchy at this point," said Lefkowitz.

The kidnap-killing of the ambassador coincided with an attack on the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, the capital of neighboring Iran. But although the Iranian revolution is led by that country's Shiite Moslem patriarch, there was no apparent connection between the two attacks. The Shiites are the majority sect in Iran while in Afghanistan they are greatly outnumbered by the Sunni Moslems, their traditional enemies.

Dubs, a 58-year-old native of Illi-nois, went to Kabul after the April 27, 1977, coup which overthrew President Mohammed Daoud and installed a leftist, pro-Soviet regime headed by President Nur Mohammed Taraki. A naval officer during World War II, he joined the State Department in 1949. He was an expert on Soviet affairs and served at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow as well as at the embassies in Liberia, Canada and Yugoslavia. He also had been deputy assistant secretary of state for South Asian

Clark enters plea on two charges

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Former U.S. Rep. Frank Clark has pleaded guilty to one count of income tax evasion and one count of mail fraud for arranging federal paychecks for his campaign staff and those who maintained his home.

Clark, who was in the House for 20 years, originally was charged in a 13-count indictment, but the federal government agreed to drop 11 of the charges when Clark is sentenced.

No sentencing date has been set. Authorities said Clark failed to report $8,941 in income in 1972, for which owed $1,370 in taxes.

In response to a question from the audience, Reber predicted mandatory wage and price controls if there are six consecutive months of doubledigit inflation.

Not only would those controls be mandatory, he said, but also there likely would be other forms of control.

Reber said those controls might take the form of a 36-month limit on automobile loans, the outlawing of "money market" certificates of deposit, or, perhaps, a federal usury law setting interest maximums.

A NEW PLAN submitted by Baker calls for the one-way streets to end at Fort Worth Street, possibly easing the situation for the small businesses located past that.

program. Harry Clark, chairman of the authority, said the plan would provide house loans for middle-income people.

Loans would be made at 7 percent interest with an addition 11/2 percent for service fees.

The best points of the program, he said, are that safeguards are built in to avoid abuse, and funds are administered locally without federal government interference.

Approved by the council were ordinances finalizing purchase of the Wemple Property which will be used in designing a total concept for the block housing the Exhibit Hall.

Philadelphia's famous heart back in circulation for V-Day

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The most famous heart in Philadelphia, all four tons of it, is back in circulation just in time for Valentine's Day. Major surgery begun last June has rehabilitated the 18-foot, walk-through heart in the Franklin Institute. The 25-year-old hunk of steel and plaster was strengthened with fiberglass, and new treads were installed on the stairs on which tourists travel through ventricles, auricles and veins.

On Wednesday — Valentine's Day — it is to be rededicated in a formal reopening by Dr. Michael DeBakey, the Texas heart surgeon.

At a preview Monday, DeBakey told museum members that "heart disease and diseases of its associated vessels constitute more deaths than all other diseases combined. We know we can reduce this by preventive maintenance, and this can only be done by good education of the pub-

Education is the major function of the heart — as the centerpiece of a display on heart functions, ailments and repair, including a coronary by-

"One of the great advantages of the heart here is that it is educating the public all the time," DeBakey said.

Big Run residents return to homes after chemical tank car derailment

BIG RUN, Pa. (AP) - About 1,000 residents of Big Run and surrounding rural communities returned to their nomes after the dispersal of a cloud of hazardous chemical that escaped from a derailed tank car.

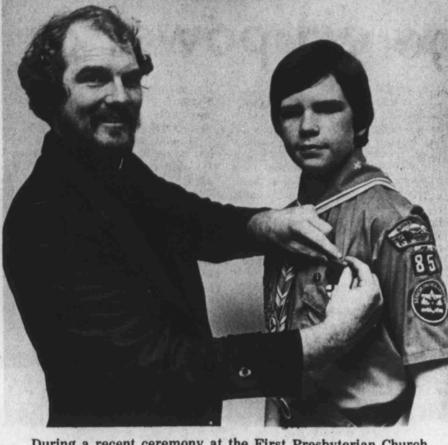

The residents faced another evacuation today when workers try to right two overturned tank cars containing deadly chlorine gas, officials said.

"The evacuation is being undertaken strictly as a safety measure. There is no immediate danger to citizens," said Bill Bogardus, head of the Jefferson County Office of Emergency

Three mass care centers were to be set up and two area schools were closed for the day, officials said. About 1,000 people were forced to leave their homes before dawn Tues-day when 19 cars of a 69-car Chessie System freight jumped the tracks, causing a tanker with nitrating acid oxidizer to leak.

Nineteen persons were treated at Punxsutawney Area Hospital for lung and eye irritation after coming into contact with the yellow-green cloud that drifted along Mahoning Creek. Some of the chemical flowed into the creek, but officials said there was no immediate danger to local drinking

No cause has been determined for the mishap, which occurred about 3 a.m. Police were alerted by residents who complained of trouble breath-

Men sought in slaying of policeman escape dragnet through thick fog

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Two men sought in the slaying of a Crowley policeman apparently eluded a police dragnet in a blanket of dense fog that shrouded a remote area south

Authorities combed the area north of Crowley for 16 hours Tuesday before suspending the search at dark.

"The only thing we can do now is to be on the lookout," said a dispatcher with the Crowley police department. James Michael Carpenter, 25, was gunned down when he stopped a sto-check, Crowley police said. The pickup had been stolen from a suburban businessman who later was found tied up but unharmed in an abandoned barn near Burleson. Fort Worth police spotted the two men, believed to be armed with Carpenter's service revolver and another handgun, in the truck after the shooting. The men abandoned the truck and fled on foot into a field.

Fort Worth and Crowley police sealed off the field but the suspects apparently slipped past roadblocks under cover of darkness and a dense Fort Worth police Capt. Roy Tate said officers "searched as throughly as anyone could. We walked and drove all over that area ... looked in pipelines and barns.

"I feel like by now they've either stolen a car or hitched a ride, or they are holed up somewhere.

Sycamores now in big time

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) - Indiana State University's rise from virtual obscurity to national prominence in basketball began with the arrival of Larry Bird three years ago. But what happens when the 6-foot-9 All-American graduates this spring?

"A super player always helps your program," says Athletic Director Bob King, who doesn't expect a dramatic backslide when Bird departs.

"Anytime you have someone that good, he's going to draw a lot of attention. Not only from the fans, but from the media as well," said King, who signed Bird four years ago, redshirted him one season and coached him two years before stepping down because of illness.

"As far as recruiting, we can talk with the best now. We don't have to compete with Bobby Knight or any of King, who came here as athletic director and basketball coach in 1974 after 12 years at the University of New Mexico, inherited a program that had produced just one winning season in the previous four years. Attendance at home games averaged barely over 2,000 in the 10,000-seat Hulman Center.

"Sometimes, you could have fired a shotgun at the stands and not hit anybody," said sports information director Ed McKee.

The caliber of basketball "had been a .500 situation," King recalled. "They had just moved to (NCAA) Division I a few years earlier, and our biggest problem was the schedule, getting a major schedule."

"My first job as athletic director

Chap netters face Angelo State next

Barring another snowstorm, Midland College tennis teams get their first action this spring today at 2 p.m. in a dual meet on the MC courts against Angelo State.

Leading Coach Brian Gilley's squad will be asophomore lettermen Jose Rivera, who finished fourth in NJCC tournament last year; Mike Burch, Houston Cypress-Fairbanks; and Steve Wyett, Lubbock Coronado. Freshmen are Scott Dunn, Putnam City, Okla.; Kevin Jackson, Andrews; Oscar Ontiveros, El Paso; Des Ward, Edenvale, Johannesburg, South Africa; and Dale Boven, a midterm transfer from Pan American University.

Kathy Bovell, Perth, Australia, is the only returning squad member and she will be joined by freshmen Leslie Miller, Odessa Permian; Debbie Smith, Houston Westchester; Mary Jane Spencer, Arlington Lamar; and Karen Young, Wichita Falls Rider.

: last year, MC tied with Odessa and NMMI for the NJCAA title and the women finished behind Odessa as runnerup. This year, the NJCAA is allowing only the top two finishers in the regional tournsaments to attend national tournaments. Men's teams spreviously only had to be in the top three regionally.

"All conference teams are strong this year and we'll have to have a good effort from all our players if we are going to the nationals," Gilley said. "Our depth is particularly important this year, since the ,men's teams will be competing in six singles and three doubles matches instead of four singles and two doubles as in the past." Last month's snowed out match with Angelo State, will be rescheduled later this month. MC will be in the Fort Worth-Dallas area March 7-9 for dual matches with North Texas, TCJU, Texas Wesleyan and the University of Dallas before opening conference play March 14 against OC.

Ali agrees to face Ellis

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) - Muhammad Ali has agreed to fight an exhibition match with Jimmy Ellis at the Civic Center on March 12 as part of what is billed as the heavyweight champion's farewell tour.
Mike Striar of Millis, Mass., owner of Koncert King promotions, said Tuesday four or five bouts will also be featured on the card. He said he is negotiating with ranking fighters, although no commitments have been made.

Ali, who regained his crown for an unprecedented third time last year, also has signed for five-round exhibition bouts in Hartford, Conn., and Buffalo next month.

Ellis, once Ali's sparring partner, formerly held the World Boxing Association title. Ali is recognized as champ by the WBA.

Lee, MHS golf teams going separate ways this weekend

The Midland Lee and Midland High golf teams go separate ways this weekend for competition in two golf

Midland High travels to the San Marcos Invitational for a Thursday and Friday meet to kick off the weekend at the Quail Creek Country Club. The meet will feature 36 teams from he San Antonio and Houston area.

The Bulldog traveling squad will be Mike Young, Jeff Lutke, Richard Minnix, Jim Kern and Robert was to get us into a good major league. We were able to move into the Missouri Valley Conference, and this was a big help to our program."

Then, of course, came Bird, who had left Knight's squad at Indiana University and enrolled at tiny Northwood Institute near his southern Indiana home at French Lick. Aided primarily by Bill Hodges, who moved up from an assistantship after King suffered a serious heart attack last summer and later an aneurism, the Sycamore coach lured Bird back to King's first year produced a 13-12 record. The next year, with Bird in the lineup, the Sycamores were 25-3 and earned a National Invitational Tournament bid. They were 23-9 with another NIT bid last year, and they are unbeaten in 23 games so far this season with the conference championship already assured. need to get the job done."

Hodges' goal all along has been to win the Missouri Valley championship and earn a berth in the NCAA tourney, where he hopes to stifle critics who contend the Sycamores' schedule hasn't been rugged enough to warrant the nation's No. 1 ranking. But the long-range effect of the Birdera success, especially in a state long dominated by Indiana, Purdue and Notre Dame, could snowball.

Dickerson gets new auto

HOUSTON (AP) - The National Collegiate Athletic Association is investigating blue chip running back Eric Dickerson, seen driving a 1979 automobile believed to have been purchased by a member of his family.

Dickerson also has informed Texas A&M University that he would not sign a Southwest Conference letter of intent today. Dickerson said last week he had decided to attend A&M.

Sealy Coach Ralph Harris, who said he saw Dickerson driving the car the day he announced he would go to A&M, confirmed the NCAA's check, but added "the NCAA says on paper it's clean. . .but it's poor timing whether it's clean or

"He (Dickerson) told me he couldn't sign, that he wasn't ready to do anything," Harris said. "He said he needed much more time.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram today quoted Harris as saying he believes Dickerson announced the planned signing with Texas A&M in an attempt to relieve some of the pressure placed on him by recruiters from various schools

The University of Oklahoma also is seeking the services of the 6-2, 202 Dickerson who led Sealy to the state Class AA championship last season.

Capitals are beginning to show some real class

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — The Washington Capitals certainly aren't ready to dominate the National Hockey League, but neither are they the downtrodden patsies of the past.

A 9-5-1 record in January, including 7-1-1 at home, was the best month in the history of the 5-year-old franchise, and not even a favorable break in the schedule can dim the accomplish-

"If we ever were to do anything, January was the month," Coach Danny Belisle said, noting the caliber of the opposition and the nine games at home. "We now have confidence to play against anybody, but we have to be realistic, too.

While tying last year's victory total of 17, just seven short of the club record, the Caps remain a longshot playoff hope. They are 8 points away from a wildcard spot, and the two teams just ahead, Minnesota and Pittsburgh, each have two games in

Of the remaining 26 games, split evenly between home and road, five will be against the powerful Montreal Canadiens - a team Washington has never beaten - and five are with tough Patrick Division teams.

"The team has come a long way since October," Belisle said, "overcoming a lot of adversity in a short time. Adversity introduces a man to himself. Now everyone know his capabilities, and can look for solutions rather than blame someone else."

"This club needed time to adjust to my theories," said Belisle, who took over from Tom McVie at the start of the season, "and I needed time to judge them."

The maturing of Washington's young players and the integration of several newcomers also took time, but things fell into place after goalie Gary Inness was signed as a free agent on Dec. 18 following the folding of the World Hockey Association's Indianapolis team.

"It's no secret that our goaltending was a problem," Belisle said. "The players have responded to Gary's way of play, giving them more confi-dence, and it's been a contagious

"Goaltending is at least 50 percent of the game," said second-year defenseman Robert Picard. "With Gary making key saves and the wingers checking their men, I'm able to chip in on offense.

Picard, with 32 points in his last 23 games, ranks third among NHL defensemen with 44 points.

Ryan Walter, shifted from center to left wing, leads the league's rookies with 22 goals even though he missed 11 games because of knee and rib cage injuries.

Center Dennis Maruk, obtained from Minnesota during the first week of the season, leads the Caps with 54 points and center Guy Charron, the team leader the past two seasons, has

Neil Bonnett runs away fast from dentist chair

AP Motorsports Writer

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) -Neil Bonnett isn't joking when he says the highlight of the last two weeks for him has been root canal work.

"The fastest I've run in two weeks was getting away from the dentist's office," said Bonnett, who was unquestionably the cream of NASCAR's crop of young drivers until he hooked up with Harry Hyde and Jim Stacy more than a year ago.

Bonnett was at ground zero when the Stacy-Hyde partnership blew up in the middle of last season and landed in a courtroom. Since then Bonnett's career has been going down the pipes - literally.

Bonnett is a journeyman pipefitter. He figures he may be heading back in that direction if the horizon doesn't

Power play enables tie

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Ron Sedlbauer's power-play goal at 7:03 of the third period gave the Vancouver Canucks a 3-3 tie with the St. Louis Blues in a National Hockey League contest Tuesday night.

Sedlbauer got credit for his 32nd goal of the season and eighth in seven games against St. Louis this season when he backhanded a rebound behind Ed Staniowski after the Blues' goalie had stopped a 30-foot shot by Lars Lindgren.

The tie kept the second-place Canucks 10 points ahead of the Blues for the final playoff spot in the Smythe Division. Vancouver holds a 4-1-2 advantage over St. Louis this season.

The Blues were in front 3-2 largely because of the power-play goals of Bernie Federko in the first period and Jack Brownschidle in the second session. Mike Zure, stationed on the right point, set up both goals.

St. Louis' Curt Bennett and Thomas Gradin of Vancouver traded goals before the power-play scores by Federko and Brownschidle gave the Blues a 3-1 lead. Curt Fraser scored for Vancouver five minutes into the second period to make the score 3-2.

Midland High's second team of Randy Minnix, Russell Hays, Jeff Howes, Stacey Raney and Joe Sloan will also compete in the Odessa tour-day's $600,000 Daytona 500 stock car race. Behind him was his Stacyowned Oldsmobile which could turn no better than 33rd fastest qualifying speed last Sunday. That's not good enough to make the 500 lineup without a good finish Thursday in one of the 125-mile qualifying races.

"If we don't find some more speed and horsepower somewhere, I might be a spectator come Sunday. The crew's doing what it can, but there's an awful lot of equipment around here that makes our car look like a clunker.'

What makes it doubly hard for the talent-rich 32-year-old Alabaman is seeing drivers like Buddy Baker buzz by him 11 miles an hour faster or hearing Baker say, "Any driver out here could have won if they'd been in this car," after winning the 500 pole and $50,000 in the Busch Clash of '79.

Bonnett was reportedly ahead of Baker in consideration for that car until Bonnett pulled himself out of the running. The reason: Bonnett had signed a two-year contract with Stacy in better days.

Bonnett decided the honorable thing to do was abide by it.

The decision was commendable from an idealistic standpoint, but suicidal for his career. Bonnett, however, refuses to bad-mouth Stacy or anyone in the operation. But the car itself is another matter. That involves his pride in his profession.

The root canal work was a less painful experience than appearing on the track in view of his peers and the public in the equipment he's committed to run.

"I'll tell you how I feel about it. I'm embarassed," he said. "I'm not running fast enough to blow the dust off the windshield." Bonnett could have discarded his qualifying speed from Sunday and spent the first three days of this week trying to better it. The situation was hopeless, he reckoned. "They say things have to get worse before they can get better. I believe

I'm now at that point," he said. Bonnett has also had problems with the Camaro he plans to run in Friday's NASCAR 200 for modifieds. That machine earned ninth position, but it's more than one second per lap slower than the No.1 qualifier, Johnny Anderson. UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — It was the first day of the rest of the season for the New York Islanders and Colorado Rockies. The National Hockey League's all-star break over, it was standings and other such matters. "I just sat down with myself and said, 'That series was a long time ago; now I've got to start thinking about the 28 games we have left,"" said Islanders defenseman Denis Potvin, who had played for the all-stars with three of his teammates in the Challenge Cup loss to the Soviet Nationals last week.

He was back with the Islanders Tuesday night, scoring his 21st goal of the season and helping New York to a 6-1 rout of the Colorado Rockies. In the other NHL game, the St. Louis Blues and Vancouver Canucks skated to a 3-3 tie.

"We (the Islanders) hadn't played a game in eight or nine days, so the first period kind of got the cobwebs out," added left wing Clark Gillies, the all-stars' most valuable player in last week's tournament. "Tonight wasn't quite the hockey that was played in the other series.'

No one expected it to be. The Islanders, with 76 points in the standings after 52 games, were playing the Rockies — who had 32 points in 53 games. 'What are they, 40 points ahead of us?" asked Colorado Coach Aldo Guidolin. "They should have given us five goals before the game started." To be sure, the Islanders tried. Openly rusty from the long layoff, period; only a strong performance by goalie Glenn Resch — especially dur-ing a mid-period Rockies power play - kept Colorado off the scoreboard.

"Most of the other players were flat from not playing in so long," observed Rockies defenseman Barry Beck, who distinguished himself against the Soviets. "The other guys, who had played last week, were just

But it was the ones who played last week who played best Tuesday.

New York right wing Mike Bossy scored his 44th goal and set up three others; center Bryan Trottier had two goals and an assist on the goal by Potvin. Gillies set up Bossy's score in a three-goal Islanders second period. Beck, meanwhile, fed John Van Boxmeer for the 25-foot power play shot that ruined Resch's shutout bid at 6:30 of the third period.

"The intensity wasn't there for me," said Beck. "There was no fire-

Trottier echoed Beck's sentiments after the Islanders had run to 23 games their unbeaten streak against the Rockies. "There was no intensity," he admitted, "but this team has a lot to achieve yet."

The Challenge Cup may have ended just two days before the game, but it's ancient history now.

Canucks 3, Blues 3 Ron Seldbauer's power-play goal at 7:03 of the third period gave Vancouver its tie with St. Louis.

Fuzzy Zoeller is favorite to win in Tucson Open Golf

Zoeller, according to defending champion Tom Watson's formula, could be the man to beat in the $250,-000 Joe Garagiola-Tucson Open Golf Tournament.

When the next elections are held for the "Overstatement Hall of Fame,"

Jimmy Carter is in - hands down. The Teng Hsiao-ping visit, he declared, was "one of the most historic events in our nation's history," presumably equating it with the signing of the Declaration of Independence, VE Day and the Emancipation Proclamation.

The truth is, it was a staged per-formance, devoid of substance. Teng, the shaky No. 3 man in a shaky Marxist coalition, brought nothing with him to Washington that we did wasn't already known not already know.

He made plain that the Chinese Communists hate the Russians. They do. The gut struggle to see who is to lead the world into socialism has been going on for 30 years. Teng simply confirmed the fact. He told us that the Peking regime the 20th century. They do. There is no other way they can compete with the wants to industrialize and move into Russians — or us.

He said that they want to trade with the United States. They do, and there is no reason why our businessmen should not try it if they wish, realizing that the Chinese Communists have little to offer in the way of hard money, raw materials or mineral resources to exchange for the fruits of our factories.

And he made clear that they intend, one way or another, to acquire control of the island and the people of Taiwan. They do. Despite his convoluted rhetoric in responding to congressional questions — "We no longer say 'liberation of Taiwan." Now we say 'return of Taiwan to the Motherland''' — their determination is plain. They aim to have Taiwan. Just how they plan to do it is less

Certainly, as Sens. Church and Helms concluded, Teng evaded a direct disclaimer of any intent to use military force, saying that such a declaration "would damage our bargaining position."

And on what exactly would happen to Taiwan under Peking's control Teng was even less specific. "So long as Taiwan is returned to the Motherland, we will respect the realities," he said.

The realities are sobering to con-template. Mainland China, under the Communists, is a police state. People go where they are told, do what they are told; freedom of choice and speech is unknown.

In Taiwan, on the other hand, freedom is the name of the game; free enterprise, free speech, freedom to come and go. The Republic of China is a developed industrialized democratic country and the likelihood of Teng and his Peking colleagues willingly tolerating such a continuing affront to their totalitarian system is diplomatic relations, that our Mutual Defense Treaty commitments would be fulfilled. But if Congress permits Carter to have his way the whole world will have to look on us as irresolute and

No, the realities are, if the Communists acquired control of the island, that its 17 million free and happy people would quickly be absorbed into the 900 million hapless souls on the mainland, whose lives, literally, are not their own.

All of this poses an immense problem for the United States because if these 17 million people on Taiwan are delivered into slavery it will be because we permitted it to happen, in violation of everything we profess regarding human rights and in violation of our own word. On 20 occasions since the Nixon visit to Peking

the United States has reassured the Republic of China on Taiwan that there would be no rupture of less than nil.

Promises, with wishes, alibis, affect economics

> By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - Promises, wishes and alibis all have more than a few things in common, but in this era of doubt it may be their propensity to arouse suspicion that constitutes their most obvious link.

Those three elements play a large role in economic news, in recent years for certain, and perhaps on investigation a long history can be found. It might even be that they are endemic to the specie.

Under "promises" you must file most economic forecasts, no matter by whom — the president, the professors, the consultants, the corporate chairmen, or the local seer who lives on publicity.

or the local seer who lives on publicity. Almost all such promises are accompanied by asterisks, and the asterisks are followed by the conditions, which generally begin with "if."

Earlier this month one of the nation's largest banks won headlines with the suggestion that current economic conditions indicate an orderly business slowdown might occur without a recession.

Good news? Probably more promise than substance. The final sentence: "Still, the greatest threat to this outlook is that a substantial worsening of inflation could bring about a serious business down-

That's as reliable as the plumber's promise that "I'll be right over," or the insurance agent's assurance that "You just leave everything in my hands and I'll see that you're taken care of."

Or Uncle Sam's promise in a publication of the U.S. Savings Bond Program, that "Savings Bonds are never worth less than the amount paid for them." Come on, Sam! At 9 percent inflation a The line that separates promise from wish is almost indiscernable.

A good many economic forecasts - the very optimistic ones issued by automakers, for example - contain elements of both. And private sector economists will tell you that President Carter's projections do too.

Stock analyses are pumped full of hope, no matter the documentation and reasoning that accompanies them. The market, in fact, is built on hope, no matter how "promising" certain stocks might be.

The real estate agent's assurance that you'd better buy now because prices will only get higher and mortgage terms tougher is documented by past experience, but still highly leavened with hope.

True, a combination of factors strongly suggests that housing will continue to rise faster than prices generally, but in some high price categories in some geographical areas, prices have dipped. Included in the promise-wish category are many suburban homeowners. "I could get $70,000 for my house if I put it on the market." Really? First off, is there a strong local market? No market, no sale. Unlike the distinction between promise and wish, the difference between wish and alibi is as clearly defined as that between profit and loss. It is often wistfully expressed. "If only I had..."

Sometimes, however, you can have it both ways,

Bethlehem Steel managed in 1975 through the intricacies of accounting and the code of the Internal Revenue Service.

It reported a pretax profit of more than $200 million to its shareholders, and a pretax loss of nearly $65 million to the IRS.

In economic news, especially when promises, wishes and alibis play a role, as they seem always to do, be a bit suspicious and look for the asterisk.

NEW YORK (AP) - The nation's airlines say the loss of Iranian oil because of the political upheaval there has created a shortage of jet fuel, which has forced cancellation of some flights from New York.

National Airlines said Tuesday's scheduled daily flight from New York to Amsterdam did not take off because of the fuel problem and the same flight scheduled for Friday and Saturday has been cancelled.

Association seeks closings

CHICAGO (AP) - The Illinois Gasoline Dealers Association has asked its members to cut back weekday hours and close their stations on Sundays starting Feb. 25, executive TERRELL EXPLORER director Robert Jacobs said today.

The association voted unanimously to ask for the voluntary closings 'until further notice" because of already short supplies of gasoline to many dealers, Jacobs said.

He said the dealers also have been asked to reduce the number of hours they are open daily as another means of conserving fuel supplies.

It costs a lot of money to operate a station unprofitably on Sunday," Jacobs said. "I think the motoring public can get in the habit of buying gasoline on six days of the week.

The association, which has members statewide, mailed its request to all service station members after a special Monday night meeting.

Jacobs said he will meet with the association's Indiana board in the next week or so in an effort to extend the action to its 1,100 stations there. He said the association urged Sunday closings in 1974 and that it was 60 percent effective the first week and 95 percent effective within a month. Jacobs said there would be certain designated emergency stations. He said many dealers are "in a tight spot" and running low on gasoline. "They have used up their allocation and are waiting for more. It's going to get worse, regardless of the situation in Iran. That's only one side customers of Pioneer Natural Gas Corp. in West Texas and 2,301 customers of Rio Grande Valley Gas Co. in the valley. The increases would produce an additional $1.89 million in revenue for Pioneer annually and $172,000 for the Rio Grande company.

Iran shutdown causes slowdown at salt domes

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The oil pinch in Iran has cut back shipments of crude oil being stored in salt domes along the Gulf Coast, and a spokesman says there are no plans to advance the date for use capability.

The goal of the $20 billion project is to store a billion barrels of crude in the huge caverns scoured out in underground salt domes. Days go by with no crude to pump into pipelines feeding the huge underground storage caverns of the Strate-

Most of the crude is obtained under long-term contracts let months in advance. However, the contracts do not keep the pipelines full. Parker said the project depended on picking up extra tanker loads called "distress cargoes" to fill the gap. For a while it "But since December that spot

As part of the Carter administration assessment of the fuel situation, Parker said the project had advised Washington that, if necessary, it can undertake emergency measures which within 45 days would enable it to begin extracting a million barrels a

Get ready for silver dollar sale

By ROBERT PARRY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is expected to promptly approve a House-passed bill that would put 1 million Carson City silver dollars on sale, probably this year.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., was approved by the House on a voice vote Tuesday.

A staff aide to the Senate Banking Committee said the bill appeared to have no opposition in the Senate and predicted it would win quick final passage. The coins, minted in the 1880s at Carson City, Nev., were believed melted down during World War I for their silver content. However, a 1964 audit discovered 3 million of the coins in government vaults. Two million coins were sold to collectors between 1972 and 1974, but the sales were halted due to the high costs of complex bidding arrangements used by the government and restrictions placed on the number of coins each buyer could obtain.

The new bill would ease the restrictions of the earlier sale.

In hearings last year, the General Services Administration said it will sell the remaining 1 million coins at fixed prices ranging from $15 to $60 with no limit on the number of coins an individual can buy.

The government's housekeeping agency also said that if some of the silver dollars remain after the sale, they will be offered to dealers at a slight discount. During brief floor debate in the House, Annunzio noted that the proposed sale would raise about $20 million for the U.S. Treasury. He called the measure a "taxpay-ers' delight."

"It is significant that the first bill to come before the House of Representatives this year is a bill that will not cost the taxpayers any money," Annunzio said. "I hope this is an indication of the type of tax-cutting measures that will come before the Congress this year.'

An identical bill cleared the House last year and was approved by the Senate after an amendment on textile imports was attached.

Man charged

in Mineral Wells ONE DAY.

MINERAL WELLS. Texas (AP) - A 40-yearold Parker County man has been charged with attempted capital murder in connection with the shootings Monday night of the sheriff and a deputy of Palo Pinto County.

The deputy, Joe Wages, suffered a broken jaw when he was hit in the mouth with a shot from a small-caliber weapon. Sheriff Ray Patterson was shot in the arm in an exchange of gunfire as officers tried to apprehend a man in a wooded area in northwest Parker County.

Clarence Garner, who lives in the Poolville community, about 25 miles northeast of Mineral Wells, was arraigned Tuesday before Justice of the Peace Glen Densmore of Weatherford.

Wages and a Mineral Wells city policeman pursued Garner in a high-speed chase that egan in Mineral Wells and ended near the man's home, authorities said. They said Garner drove away at high speeds from a Mineral Wells residence when officers answered a domestic disturbance call. Garner was arrested without incident Tuesday following an intensive manhunt touched off by the Monday shootings.

Thick fog hampered the manhunt early Tuesday as officers tried to track Garner using ogs. The DPS said Wages was shot as he ap-proached a house. Paterson was wounded ater as he searched a wooded area for Wages' assailant, officers said.
