

Texas-Bound Bees Lose Warrior Instinct

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — Brazil's killer bees are buzzing north at a rate that could get them to Texas by 1985. But after two decades of mischief, their warrior instinct has gone.

"The killer bee is no longer a killer," Dr. Helmuth Wiese, president of the Brazilian Confederation of Apiculturists, says of the insect that once angrily honed in on busloads of people.

Through insatiable mating with the good-tempered Brazilian bee, the killer has lost much of its sting and is content to drone along producing honey in abundant quantities.

"You have more chance of being killed by a mad dog" than a killer bee, said Lionel Gonçalves of the Medical School of Ribeirão Preto outside Sao Paulo. But he warned "they are still dangerous" if improperly handled.

The killer bee saga began in 1956 when a geneticist imported selected queen bees of the "apis mellifera adansonii" family from Africa at the request of the Brazilian government.

Intrigued by reports the African bee produced up to twice as much honey as Brazilian varieties, agricultural officials wanted to breed a mutant combining the most desirable characteristics of the two.

But there was one drawback: the African had an inclination to attack people, animals, tractors and anything else in its path.

Before the breeding could take place, a careless worker (human) removed the screen from one of the test hives in Ribeirão Preto in 1957, allowing 26 queen bees to escape.

The oversexed African queens then seduced every Brazilian bee in their path, and their descendants spread from Sao Paulo throughout Brazil in a swathe of terror that reached its height in the mid 1960s.

The bees killed animals and farmers in the wilds of western Mato Grosso state, attacked funeral processions and busloads of travelers in eastern Rio de Janeiro.

By 1977 they had killed, according to unconfirmed press reports, at least 200 people.

The bee was also a traveler. Killer bee offspring, already mutating drastically, spread from Brazil south and west to Paraguay, Bolivia and Argentina, north to Guayaana and Venezuela and now, Colombia.

At its rate of travel, the killer bee should hit Texas in six years.

But the new terrain conquered the killer bee. Its aggressive characteristics began to disappear as hybrids, cross hybrids and cross-cross hybrids appeared with the result that there are probably no pure strains of the killer bee left in the area.

"For us, the killer bee problem is over," said Wiese.

Israeli Withdrawal Details 'Settled'

Monday Treaty Signing Predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman announced Monday that "everything is settled" on details of an Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai and he predicted the peace treaty between Israel and Egypt will be signed next Monday.

Weizman told this to reporters after his second meeting since Friday with Defense Secretary Harold Brown and extensive discussions with Egyptian Defense Minister Kamal Hasan Ali over the weekend.

"I have come to an understanding with the secretary of defense" that the United States will provide about $3 billion, principally to finance construction of two new air bases in Israel to replace two other bases which the Israelis will give up in the Sinai, Weizman said.

Weizman said he would have one final meeting with Ali at a downtown hotel "to finalize everything" and to say "au revoir to Gen. Ali" before heading for New York and departure for Israel Monday night.

Earlier, Ali had met with Brown at the Pentagon to discuss arms aid, including airplanes, air defense weapons and naval equipment, as well as other military gear to rebuild Egyptian forces long dependent on Russia for their supplies.

Mood Optimistic

Weizman, in an obviously optimistic mood, said that "if all goes well, the treaty will be signed Monday and there will be celebrations." He apparently meant that he expects the Israeli Knesset to ratify the agreement this week.

The commitment of about $3 billion apparently was a compromise between the reported $2.5 billion the United States was said to have offered for the base relocation and the $3.4 billion requested by Israel.

Weizman disclosed that the Israelis will evacuate El Arish, the Sinai region's main city, within three months after the treaty is signed, and will turn over the Sinai's oil fields nine months after the treaty takes effect.

Egypt reportedly wanted almost immediate withdrawal from El Arish.

According to Weizman, the $3 billion in U.S. aid will be divided into about $2.2 billion in loans and $800 million in grants.

In an apparent inducement to the Israelis, the United States agreed to speed up delivery of advanced F-16 fighter planes, starting next year. This is about three years earlier than had been originally planned when the United States agreed to sell Israel 75 F-16s. Weizman indicated that, eventually, the Israelis may get more than 75 F-16s.

Weizman said the outcome was a "very good agreement for Israel."

He said the Egyptian-Israeli treaty should be regarded positively by other Arab countries because it will bring peace to an area long wracked by war and tension. "We can offer them one very great thing — stability — which they haven't had for 30 years," Weizman said in an obvious reference to other Arab countries which have strongly criticized Egypt for making peace with Israel.

He also said, in an apparent reference to the loss of oil from the Sinai, that he expects that "Israel will have to tighten its belt."

The Egyptian defense minister said earlier that Egypt would like 300 F-16 fighter planes, which alone would cost $3 billion; new tanks and armored personnel carriers; frigates and submarines for its navy; and Hawk anti-aircraft missiles.

Protection Against Soviets

He said the armament was necessary to protect Egypt and its ally, the Sudan, from Soviet-backed aggression in the area. He noted that the Soviets have supplied modern weapons to Libya, Ethiopia and South Yemen and that those weapons have been or could be used against Chad, the Sudan and North Yemen as well as Egypt.

Ali said Egypt had put no price tag on its arms request, because it did not know

Officials Say State Bill May Hike Electric Rates

By SYLVIA TEAGUE
Avalanche-Journal Staff

EXPECT HIGHER rates and poorer service from Texas electric companies if a bill approved by a Senate committee Monday becomes law, Lubbock city officials warn.

The bill, sponsored by Houston Sen.

Gene Jones, would remove jurisdiction over electric utility rates from cities and give it to the state Public Utility Commission.

"That will in the end be costly to the people in Lubbock," City Councilman Bill McAlister predicted.

He and City Manager Larry Cunningham pointed to the PUC takeover of telephone rate-setting as an example of what the future holds for Lubbockites if Jones' bill is passed.

Although telephone rates were lowered in some parts of the state by the PUC, rates rose in Lubbock, they said.

The rates were set on a statewide and systemwide cost, Cunningham said, "not on the cost of doing business in that locality."

Subsidize Other Areas

Under the systemwide rate structure Lubbock customers "subsidize" other communities where the cost of providing service is higher, he said.

Cunningham likened that situation to Lubbock asking Austin or Corpus Christi "to help with our water supply problem — they'd probably tell us where we can get off," he said.

As for claims by some of the state's electric companies that giving the rate authority to the PUC would mean lower electric rates, Cunningham disagreed.

If it costs a $20-million utility $50,000 to defend its rate request before a city council, eliminating that cost "won't even lower rates a penny a month," Cunningham said.

"I think, if anything, we will have increased rates," he said.

Local Responsibility Urged

Local control over rates also means local responsibility for service, Cunningham and McAlister said.

"As far as service, if there's any problems, call the PUC (if the bill passes)," Cunningham said.

"I feel like the city council over the years has done an outstanding job" setting electric rates, he said.

"Our city councils have taken their rate-making responsibility very seriously and we have very good rates as a result," Cunningham said.

Accessibility Factor

The public has "easy accessibility to the city council but would have a hard time getting to the PUC," he said.

Because municipally-owned electric companies such as Lubbock Power and Light would not be affected by the bill, there is some uncertainty what effect PUC control would have on the rates of competing Southwestern Public Service.

Traditionally, the rates charged by the two companies have been the same.

Cities have had the option of allowing the PUC to set local electric rates, but only three of 1,100 have used the option in the past four years.

Vehicles Crash In Mexico Fog

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Fog rolling in from nearby mountains was blamed by highway police for a multiple collision involving 45 vehicles on the highway from Mexico City to Cuernavaca Monday.

A Red Cross spokesman said 25 persons suffered injuries, none of them serious.

Five buses and 35 automobiles were involved in the mass rear-end collision on the Cuernavaca-Mexico City lanes of the highway at 8:30 a.m. CST, at a spot 25 miles from the Mexican capital, the spokesman said.

Another five automobiles collided in the opposite lane, in the same place and approximately at the same time, the spokesman added.

High Court Rejects Death Row Appeals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court turned down appeals Monday by two Texas death row prisoners and, in another case, refused to call into question the University of Houston's lowering of its mandatory retirement age for faculty members.

The high court refused to review the death sentences handed to John Charles Shippy and to Gerald Lee Bodde. Their appeals were based on separate arguments.

In the other case, the justices left intact Texas court rulings that the retirement age change, from 70 to 65, did not violate Gabriel A. Fazekas' contractual agreement with the University of Houston and did not deny him equal protection.

Fazekas served as a professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Houston from 1964 until September 1977.

When hired, Fazekas was 53 and he expected to work until 70. But the university's mandatory retirement age was changed to age 65 in 1972 — to take effect for the 1975-76 academic year.

After Fazekas protested, he was allowed to remain on the faculty for one additional year. But he was forced to retire at 68.

DIPLOMATIC SHUFFLE—Secretary of Defense Harold Brown, left, walks side-by-side with his Israeli counterpart Ezer Weizman at the Pentagon Monday. Weizman is in Washington discussing the Middle East peace pact and announced Monday that everything is settled on Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai. He predicted the signing of the treaty by Monday. Harassment Claimed By Former Teacher

By JEFF SOUTH
Avalanche-Journal Staff

EDITH O'BRIEN, a teacher who last year ran for the Lubbock Independent School District board of trustees, claims the district tried to harass her at election time by docking her salary about $600.

And Mrs. O'Brien said Monday her suspicions seem to be supported by the district's sudden decision to settle the back-pay dispute just hours before it was to be aired in court.

School officials deny that the episode had any political overtones. They maintain there were legitimate reasons for cutting Mrs. O'Brien's salary last spring. School officials said they opted to settle out of court because the disputed amount was so small.

"I firmly believe that if I had not run for the school board, I would not have been subjected to this ordeal," said Mrs. O'Brien, who quit her job as an Alderson Junior High School science teacher at the end of the 1977-78 academic year.

Claims Warning Sounded

"I really don't think this was a matter of $600. I think it was much bigger than that — the school district administration was sounding a warning that teachers aren't supposed to speak out," she told The Avalanche-Journal.

School board President Charles Waters called that charge "pure fabrication." He added: "There is no substance at all" to the allegation.

Mrs. O'Brien, believed to be the first active teacher here to seek a seat on the school board, announced her candidacy in January 1978.

In campaigning for the April 1, 1978, election, she publicly criticized the incumbent board and administration. Among other things, Mrs. O'Brien accused the school system of encouraging "social promotions" and low academic standards, and of designing an "inadequate" desegregation plan.

More Showers May Fall On Area Today

By KIM PALMER
Avalanche-Journal Staff

SCATTERED showers and thunderstorms may again douse the South Plains today, while severe thunderstorms and flash flooding continue to threaten much of the South and Central parts of the state.

A Pacific cold front being nudged into the area by easterly winds will bring with it a 30 percent chance for rain through tonight.

But a stationary front laden with abundant moisture is expected to trigger additional heavy thunderstorm development in central and southern portions of Texas.

Although most area residents experienced mild weather Monday, heavy rains caused flash flood warnings to be issued for several counties to the south and east of the South Plains.

Rainfall amounts mostly ranged from one-tenth to one-half an inch. But in West Central Texas amounts of an inch or more were common.

Abilene residents living near Lake Lytle became concerned when almost 2 inches of rain Monday afternoon caused the lake to overflow its spillway by almost 6 inches. No homes were evacuated, but Abilene police continued to monitor the situation Monday night.

Barnhart, southwest of San Angelo, recorded 4.5 inches in a 24-hour period ending before noon Monday and more was expected.

In the same area, some families were evacuated from their homes when Spring Creek overflowed its banks, according to Department of Public Safety reports.

Heavy rains in the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area Monday caused a flash flood warning to be issued for Tarrant, Dallas, Denton and Cooke counties.

Flooding was reported along the White Rock Creek area of Dallas and along some underpasses of East and North Dallas. Flooding also was reported in the Oak Grove area of Fort Worth.

South Plains temperatures today should be in the upper 50s with lows expected near 40.

Congressional Television Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Representatives Show made its television debut Monday, and it was an unmitigated bomb.

Only a score of congressmen were on the floor for the start of the first publicly televised, regular session of the House in history.

The script was ratings poison — debate on revisions to the proposed Strategic Materials Stockpiling Act and rules for the international shipment of lottery materials.

"I wanted to take the day off," joked Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill as he gavelled the House to order precisely at noon. "Instead, I started my diet again."

He needn't have bothered.

Not a single commercial network carried the live broadcast feed. The Public Broadcasting System did make the session available live to its 280 stations, but many of them ignored it because of other program commitments.

"Frankly, we have no idea how many of our stations carried it," said a PBS spokeswoman. She said there were no set plans for future live coverage.

The networks and local stations are free to tape the proceedings, so excerpts can be used on their evening news shows. And individual members of Congress can purchase tapes of themselves to send their hometown stations.

As O'Neill had predicted, many members dropped in long enough to make a one-minute speech on the topic of their choice, as allowed by House rules.

Though the $2 million, taxpayer-financed House television system features an array of sophisticated technical equipment, including six remote-control color cameras, the production is staid to the point of boredom.

The House may seem a lot busier on the screen than it does from the balcony. But that's the magic of television.

DEFENSE STOCKPILES

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed legislation Monday that would set for the first time congressional guidelines for stockpiling critical national defense materials. The legislation, passed by voice vote, would direct the president to determine the kind and quantity of materials to be stockpiled to meet national defense needs. It also would require that the stockpiles be able to meet a three-year contingency and that stockpile goals could not be changed without consultation with Congress.

Police Identify Dead Man

Police Monday say they erred in the identity of a man found fatally shot Saturday in front of a service station in the 2800-block of Clovis Road. They now say the victim is Robert Lee Johnson 57.

The man, shot during an apparent dispute at a clubhouse near the service station, was first identified as Burl Jones, 73. However, police Monday, after taking a closer look at the victim's fingerprints, said the man actually is Johnson, whose last known address was 3305 E. Baylor St.

Police early today still had not heard from relatives or friends of the dead man.

Officers found Johnson lying unconscious in front of the station at about 7:40 p.m., with two bullet wounds — one in the chest and another in the abdomen. A .32-caliber slug reportedly was found lying between the victim's legs.

Johnson died at Health Sciences Center Hospital about 30 minutes after he was found. Justice of the Peace L.J. Blalack, who pronounced the man dead, ruled the death a homicide and ordered an autopsy.

Police say a woman, described as in her late 40s, and a man of about 35 are suspects in the shooting. The suspects had not been arrested Monday.

Witnesses said Johnson and the male suspect were arguing outside the club when the woman came out and shot Johnson. The pair reportedly ran south after the shooting.

The woman was said to be heavy-set and wearing a brown or green coat. Her companion was described as about 6 feet tall, stocky and wearing a light-blue short-sleeved shirt with a flag emblem on the right sleeve.

Judge Supports Chagra Subpoenas

EL PASO (AP) — A federal judge refused Monday to quash subpoenas for the personal and business records of a bail bondsman who posted $400,000 bond for Jimmy Chagra, the brother of slain narcotics defense lawyer Lee Chagra.

The FBI subpoenas were issued last week in connection with a federal grand jury's investigation here into alleged racketeering.

U.S. District Judge William Sessions denied the motion to quash, which was made by lawyers for Victor Apodaca Jr.

Apodaca put up what is believed to be the largest bond posted in El Paso history to free Chagra, who was arrested on narcotics charges. Chagra's trial is scheduled to begin next month in Midland.

The subpoenas called for Apodaca's business records from July 1976 and for personal records dating back 12 years.

The subpoenas included the accounting firm headed by El Paso Mayor Ray Salazar, which handled Apodaca's records during some of the period under investigation.

Salazar said Monday he already had turned the requested records over to the U.S. attorney's office.

Sessions ordered another accounting firm to turn over its records in the case Monday afternoon.

Sib Abraham, Apodaca's lawyer and partner in several business ventures, charged the FBI subpoenas "would be a general fishing expedition," and that they "usher in a new phase of the federal probe."

Abraham and Apodaca are major shareholders in Cielo Vista Bank in El Paso, along with its chairman, Wesley Martin. Martin owns the largest block of stock and holds thousands of shares in trust for his law partner, State Sen. Tati Santiesteban.

The Abraham-Apodaca business ventures include a defunct electronics manufacturing company in which Lee Chagra also was a shareholder.

Agency Making Appeal To Public

Facing a possible budget cut of up to 20.8 percent in some programs over the next two years, Department of Human Resources administrators in Lubbock want to find out how the community thinks DHR services should be ranked in order of importance.

Services expected to be affected by the budget cut are protection for abused and neglected children, day care for children, family planning, employment and care for the aged, blind and disabled.

At a public meeting from 1 to 5 p.m. today in the Garden and Arts Center, 4215 University, administrators from the state agency will present a brief overview of the programs facing curtailment of funds.

A representative of each program will be available following the general session to discuss programs on a small group or individual basis.

City Tax Bill Debated In Austin

AUSTIN (Special) — Legislation which would allow Texas cities to reduce property taxes by increasing other taxes may be the "most meaningful property tax relief yet proposed to the Legislature," Lubbock Mayor Pro Tem Alan Henry told a House committee Monday.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Chase Untermeyer of Houston, would permit local voters to decide whether to raise sales taxes or levy alternative taxes on tobacco or alcohol so local property taxes could be lowered by the same amount.

The Ways and Means Committee, however, voted to send the bill to a subcommittee rather than reporting the legislation out for a House vote.

Henry said the bill "would provide relief where relief is needed. It would allow citizens the opportunity of choosing alternative sources of revenue to reduce the dependence of their cities on the property tax," he said.

Responding to demands for lower property taxes, the Legislature has granted exemptions to the tax, Henry noted. The Legislature has proposed to reimburse school districts to some extent for the lost revenue, "but until now, cities have been faced with lost revenue and no source of income to replace it," he said.

Untermeyer's bill would allow Lubbock citizens to "decide which type of tax they prefer" and spread the tax burden to those who don't own property.

By increasing the city's sales tax from one percent to two percent, property tax revenues could be cut by the $7 million the tax increase would generate, he said.

Henry noted, however, that property owners would be paying only $5.6 million in sales taxes, with the remaining $1.4 million paid by non-owners.

The "most important" advantage of the bill, Henry said is that it "allows property tax relief without drastic cuts in essential services and the recreational and cultural programs most supported by the taxpayers."

Beaumont Jury To Decide Burnett Punishment

BEAUMONT (AP) — A Beaumont jury returned to court Monday to decide the punishment of Linda May Burnett, a 31-year-old housewife and mother convicted of capital murder in the slaying last July of one of five members of a Southeast Texas family.

The jury had the choice of sentencing Mrs. Burnett to death by injection or life in prison. Lawyers on both sides rested their cases quickly in the punishment phase Monday and final arguments on the sentence were scheduled during the afternoon.

"I'm not guilty," Mrs. Burnett pleaded when the same jury found her guilty Saturday in the slaying of 3-year-old Jason Phillips. The child's parents and grandparents also were slain in the mass killing.

All five bodies were found in a common grave near Winnie on July 10. They had disappeared from the grandparents' home in Winnie 10 days earlier.

Prosecutors called only one witness during the punishment testimony Monday morning — Hubert Miller, Mrs. Burnett's ex-husband.

Miller testified that in 1977, after his wife had remarried, she showed up at his house one day. Miller said when he asked Mrs. Burnett what she wanted, she said nothing but shot him in the shoulder.

Defense lawyers called Mrs. Burnett's 12-year-old daughter, Janie, to the stand. Asked if she knew what the jury was doing, the youngster replied, "to see whether mother gets the death penalty."

The daughter said she still loved her mother. On cross-examination, the girl said her 14-year-old sister once ran away from home and was returned by police.

Mrs. Burnett still faces additional capital murder charges in the deaths of Bishop and Ester Phillips of Winnie, and Elmer and Martha Phillips. Elmer and Martha Phillips, of Woodward, Okla., were Jason's parents.

Another defendant in the slayings, Joe Dugas of Port Arthur, will be tried later in Corpus Christi. Dugas was previously married to one of Bishop Phillips' daughters.

Prosecutors, from the outset, had sought the death penalty for Mrs. Burnett, who has three children of her own.

Defense attorneys contended Mrs. Burnett, Dugas' lover during the mass killings, had no motive for the deaths and that the state's case against her was based on "doctored, manipulated and altered evidence."

Lawyers had wrangled during the trial over the admissibility of a tape recording which was finally allowed by the judge. On the tape, a woman's voice — allegedly that of Mrs. Burnett — said it was a thrill to plan the deaths of five people. But the woman also said she could not bring herself to kill the baby (Jason Phillips).

The recording was made last November by a hypnotist, who was hired by Mrs. Burnett's attorneys to interview her. Prosecutors, however, learned of the recording and subpoenaed it for the trial.

On the recording, Mrs. Burnett was asked if the victims resisted their execution.

"No," she answered. "The damn fools just got into the grave. I talked them into the grave."

Restroom Visits Dispute Unsettled; Walkout Ends

MACON, Ga. (AP) — More than 100 workers of the Cagle Poultry and Egg Co., who walked off their jobs last week after the company said they could visit the restroom only eight times a month, returned to work Monday with the dispute unresolved.

Attorney Bob Steele, who met with union representatives Monday, said the approximately 130 workers, all black women, returned to their jobs, despite the firing of their three union shop stewards.

Last Wednesday, workers left the plant and were fired after they tried to talk with company officials about a newly-imposed rule which restricted restroom use. The firings were rescinded and the workers were told they could return to work Monday.

The rule, which went into effect last Monday, allowed assembly line workers eight visits to the restroom in a four-week period, with a five-minute limit in any two-week period. A five-minute limit was also imposed with employees required to punch a clock when entering and leaving the restroom.

After the walkout, the rule was amended to allow workers 16 visits to the restroom in a four-week period.

Steele told the workers Sunday that even the amended rule was "inconceivable," he said. "We would be opposed to any restrictions."

At a meeting Sunday night, the assembled line workers were advised to return to work by Steele, an attorney for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference of Macon. He said he also filed a discrimination complaint on behalf of the women with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Steele also said he has filed a report with the National Labor Relations Board protesting the firing of the three women.

Shop steward Annie Kitchens and assistant shop stewards Alma Oliver and Dorothy Stanford were notified Saturday by letter that they had been fired.

According to the letters, signed by plant manager Malcolm Clark and general plant manager Winston May, the women were fired because they violated a contract agreement between the union and management prohibiting any Cagle employee from participating in a walkout or work slowdown.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

By BILL DOYLE

Q. I am a retired Navy man, age 66, who will be married soon but who has no life insurance. I would like to take out a $3,000 policy on my life but the premiums quoted to me by insurance agents seem awfully high.

I have been advised to insure myself by taking out a $3,000 loan at a bank and insuring the loan. Can you explain the mechanics of this type of insured loan?

A. As one old swab-jockey to another, I can't let this one go by. Sort of reminds me of the ways we devised to pull dundaree liberty in some of the better ports around the world.

What you have been told about is called "credit life insurance." Through it, you take out a loan and sign up for life insurance equal to the amount of the loan. If you die before the loan is paid off, the insurance pays off the loan.

Credit life is "group term" insurance. "Term" insurance — covering specific periods of time — is usually less expensive than "permanent" insurance. And the "group" arrangement cuts the cost still further, because the premium costs are shared by everyone in the group. With credit life, the members of the "group" are people who have taken out insured loans.

While the insurance costs figure to be low, don't overlook the fact that you will have to pay interest on the loan. So, unless you put the borrowed money to work — such as earning a high rate of interest elsewhere — the total cost can be high.

Also, you can't get credit life at many banks after you have passed age 65. You'll have to look around, pretty much as we did when we came back aboard ship — to see what boatswain mate was at which gangplank.

100 shares — it was relatively easy to check its sales activity on a given day.

Other readers who have doubts about trading prices of stocks they bought or sold should contact the Office of Consumer Affairs, U.S. Securities & Exchange Commission, 500 North Capital St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20549.

You certainly have good reason to take your complaint to that government regulatory office.

Q. In April, 1967, there was a chain letter going around. The person who received the letter was supposed to buy a Series E, U.S. Savings Bond and mail it to the person who sent the letter. My son bought an E bond but never sent it, because I told him he was just throwing the money away.

I recently came across that bond and told my son about it. He said to throw the bond away. He says he can't cash it, because his name does not appear on it. To me, this is just giving the government extra money. Is there any way he can reclaim his mistake of years ago?

A. Fortunately, yes. He can request a refund, by filling out Treasury Form PD-2966. He should be able to get a copy of that form, anywhere where savings bonds are sold. Make sure he follows through. An E bond, purchased for $18.75 in April, 1967, is now worth $34.02.

E bond chain letter rip-offs come out of the woodwork with surprising frequency — despite the efforts of the U.S. Treasury and the Postal Service to put the characters who operate those schemes in jail.

Q. I sold some preferred stock of a utility company on a day for which the newspapers reported the high as 26 7/8 and the low as 26 1/2. My broker sold my stock that day at 26 3/8. Why?

A. Can't be. There's something very wrong. A check with the records of the New York Stock Exchange — the only place where the stock you named in your letter is listed for trading — shows that there were only two transactions in that stock on the day you mention.

One was a 50-share trade, at 27 7/8; the other a 100-share trade at 26 1/2. There was no way your stock could have been sold at 26 3/8 on that day. Your broker owes you one-eighth — 12 1/2 cents a share — times the number of shares you sold.

Because that particular stock is one of the "inactive stocks" which trades in round lots of 10 shares — unlike most stocks which have "units of trading" of

Teamsters In Critical Stage Of Contract Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The powerful Teamsters union and the trucking industry launched a final two weeks of contract talks Monday amid swelling government pressure for a modest wage hike and ebbing hopes of averting a national strike.

Union and industry bargainers were reported far apart as they headed for a March 31 deadline for reaching terms on a new three-year contract covering nearly 300,000 drivers and warehouse workers.

Union President Frank E. Fitzsimmons could order a strike to begin at 12:01 a.m. EST April 1 if a settlement is not reached by the time the current contract expires. Union spokesman Bernard Henderson said it is premature to speculate about a walk-out.

The administration sees the master freight agreement that emerges from the talks as the element that could make or break the 7 percent voluntary wage guidelines portion of President Carter's anti-inflation program.

If the Teamsters negotiate a pact far in excess of the guidelines, other major unions that bargain this year are likely to try to do the same. The Teamsters won wage and fringe benefit increases of more than 11 percent per year in their current contract.

Administration officials had appeared optimistic that the union would comply with Carter's program until two weeks ago when the union made an initial demand that was nearly double the guidelines.

Now, several sources close to the talks say they are more pessimistic about the chances of a settlement without either a national strike or sporadic work stoppages around the country.

The sources said a confrontation is increasingly likely because the union, the industry and the government are taking rigid positions over Carter's guidelines.

While government officials express hope that a strike will be avoided, the administration is quietly preparing contingency plans.

The Transportation Department recently assembled a "crisis group" to determine the impact of a Teamsters' strike and to draw up plans for keeping goods moving during a walkout.

The status of the contract talks was scheduled to be among the topics Carter planned to discuss with his top economic and energy advisers at a special Camp David meeting on Monday, administration sources said.

Carter has said he would move quickly to halt a trucking strike because the impact of even a brief walkout could be devastating to the economy. Carter has not said what he would do, but he could order strikers back to work for 80 days under the Taft-Hartley Act.

In the 15 years since the Teamsters first won a national freight contract, there has been only one national strike — a three-day walkout during the last round of negotiations in 1976. Although brief, that walkout forced several auto plants to close and a number of food retailers reported they were nearly out of perishable goods.

The union, which has urged the administration to loosen its guidelines, insists the wage ceiling is too low to protect members from an inflation rate now running at about 10 percent a year.

The administration, which has encouraged companies to take strikes rather than grant inflationary wage demands, has refused thus far to grant the union new concessions.

Officials at Trucking Management Inc., which is bargaining for some 500 major trucking firms, have said they feel they have no choice but to try to settle within the guidelines.

Carter's chief inflation fighter, Alfred E. Kahn, warned the union last week that the administration will accelerate its efforts to deregulate the trucking industry if the Teamsters violate the voluntary guidelines.

Deregulation, Kahn says, would undermine the union's stranglehold on the interstate freight business because uniform shipping rates would be abolished. That would create new pressures to stem rapid wage increases and also would increase the use of a non-union workforce, according to Kahn.

Trade Measure Threatened By Rider

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that President Carter considers essential to a major new international trade agreement ran into another snag in Congress Monday.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said he may try to attach an amendment to the bill repealing a law that imposes a tax on certain inherited wealth. That provision has generated as much controversy as any part of the 1976 Tax Reform Act, and Carter has said he would veto any legislation repealing it.

The overall bill, which the Carter administration considers a key to the success of current trade talks, is a House-passed measure restoring through Sept. 30 the president's authority to excuse penalties on imported products that have been subsidized by a foreign country.

Representatives of the European Commission Market have indicated they will not approve any new trade agreement with the United States unless that waiver authority, which expired in January, is renewed.

Without authority to waive those penalties, known as countervailing duties, the United States is compelled by law to impose them. Imposition of such penalties during intense negotiations does not enhance the atmosphere for reaching a new agreement, Carter administration officials say.

Congressional approval of the waiver legislation last year seemed assured until the Senate added an unrelated amendment. The measure died.

"This issue has become the key procedurally to our ability to conclude an acceptable agreement," Alan W. Wolff, deputy U.S. trade negotiator, told the Senate Finance subcommittee on trade.

Dole said that European stance is viewed by many as blackmail. "It is a sad day for the United States, at a time when our trade deficit exceeds $30 billion, and we are told that we cannot do anything to penalize subsidies" that result in unfair competition against American producers, Dole said.

After Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., chairman of the subcommittee, expressed hope for quick Senate approval of the waiver bill, Dole mentioned that he is considering adding the unrelated tax amendment to the measure.

He was not trying to cause a lot of trouble for the Carter administration, Dole quipped, but just a little trouble.

Wolff told the panel that any amendment to the House-passed bill "might well threaten the multilateral trade negotiations as a whole."

In the current round of trade talks with nearly 100 nations, the United States already has negotiated provisions that would help protect U.S. farmers and manufacturers against subsidized imports, Wolff said. "We risk throwing away those negotiated solutions by countervailing (imposing penalties) in the midst of negotiations," he added.

If Dole's amendment were successful in the Senate, the trade bill, with the amendment, would return to the House for further consideration.

WEDDING IN HOUSE

AUSTIN (AP) — Sandwiched between tax relief debate and a committee meeting on "blue laws," the Texas House of Representatives took time Monday for a wedding. Rep. Ralph Wallace, D-Houston, exchanged "I do's" with Jo Ann Jensen of Huntsville in the packed, gold and white House chamber.

Step 1: From the year chart, find the numbers corresponding to your year of birth. For instance, if you were born in 1947, your number for Physical would be 21, Emotional 17, Intellectual 19. Note whether your numbers are preceded by an A or B; this will be used for Step 2.

Fiat Agrees To Recall Select '70, '71 Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government and Fiat Motors of North America announced an agreement Monday under which Fiat will recall 31,702 Model 850 Spydys built in model years 1970 and 1971. The problem is rust and corrosion on the undercarriage.

The plan calls for Fiat to repurchase any vehicle which is too rusty to be repaired.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration announced the agreement just two days before a public hearing was to have been held in the case.

The safety administration said the corrosion can cause accidents by weakening

N.J. Farm Raises Animal Actors

WASHINGTON, N.J. (AP) — And on their farm they had — a llama? While their neighbors tend the usual cows, horses and chickens, Carol and Steven McAuliff rely on less orthodox animals to pay the bills on their farm.

Llamas and deer graze alongside sheep and donkeys on the eight-acre Animal Actors farm, where the barnyard is a training ground for stage and screen. Daily lessons work on getting wild animals to respond calmly to humans, Mrs. McAuliff said.

The menagerie includes several TV stars: a cougar that promotes automobiles and a stag, doe and fawn recently filmed in nearby Stokes State Forest for a series of insurance company commercials.

Theater lights have beamed on the McAuliff's pig, with a walk-on role in a Broadway show; their ram, an actor in "Pippin," and their camel, in the Nativity Scene at Radio City Music Hall.

Magazine Discusses Margaret Trudeau's Lifestyle

TORONTO (AP) — A national magazine reported Monday that Margaret Trudeau, estranged wife of Canada's prime minister, once said she had a brief romantic liaison with U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Canadian Press quoted a Kennedy spokesman in Washington as saying the report was "absolute rubbish," although the senator and Mrs. Trudeau had met each other on occasion.

The article, in the weekly magazine's March 28 issue, said this purported link with the Massachusetts senator was one of the factors in the disintegration of the marriage of Margaret and Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

The magazine, which has a circulation of 670,000, did not give a date for the reported liaison.

It said Mrs. Trudeau, who has three children, "confided" in 1977 that she had had an affair with the 47-year-old Kennedy. The writer of the article, Judith Timson, refused to say Monday to whom Mrs. Trudeau supposedly told this.

Mrs. Trudeau, 30, who separated from her husband in the spring of 1977, could not be reached for comment on the article.

BACK FROM TEHRAN — American feminist leader Kate Millett tells newsmen at Orly airport of her problems with the new regime of Iran after her arrival here Monday. Kate Millett Labels Iran Regime 'Insult'

PARIS (AP) — American feminist leader Kate Millett, shaken by what she called a terrifying deportation from Iran, arrived here Monday and condemned the new regime in Tehran as "a parody of Islam, an insult to Islam."

"I've never been so afraid in my whole life," the 44-year-old author of "Sexual Politics" told a news conference at Orly Airport after arriving on an Air Iran flight.

Though not physically harmed, Miss Millett said she and her companion Sophie Keir, a freelance journalist from Vancouver, B.C., were held overnight in a guarded, locked room before being deported for "provocations" against Iran's new Islamic republic.

Iranian authorities were particularly miffed by her remark that Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the architect of the Iranian revolution, was "a male chauvinist."

Miss Millett said the revolution had been "co-opted" by the religious hierarchy. She said Khomeini's Islamic republic "is not a republic at all but virtually a dictatorship... a parody of Islam, an insult to Islam."

"People are flogged for sex. There is a reinstatement of the most brutal and stupid measures of the past," she said. "People are flogged for having a glass of wine. Is this a revolution?"

She said, "We are afraid for our sisters there. The Iranian women are afraid of being arrested and for them it won't be someone saying: 'Please take an airplane and get out of here.'"

She said she arrived in Iran two weeks ago at the invitation of women's groups. She said she served seven years on a committee against what she called "the dreadful police state" of deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi.

Iranian women fear many of the rights they gained under the shah, which made them among the more liberated women in the Moslem world, will be lost under an Islamic state.

Miss Millett, wearing a navy blue woolen jacket and slacks, expressed hope that the so-called "chador rebellion" by Iranian women would encourage the American feminist movement to become more involved in women's rights in other countries.

The chador is the full-length veil Khomeini wants Iranian women to wear in place of Western-type clothing some adopted in recent years.

Before returning to the United States, she said she would spend about a week in Paris.

"I'm going to be very, very happy for a week because I've been in solitary confinement and detention and terrified out of my mind for a long time," she said. "It was really a very short time but it was long enough for me to realize a great deal."

After spying on her throughout her visit, the Iranian authorities seized her tape recordings, her passport and her ticket and gave her and her companion no indication of their fate, Miss Millett said.

The magazine also said the Trudeau couple attempted a reconciliation last winter and engaged an architect to design a house for them in the Laurentian Mountains.

Mrs. Trudeau said the 59-year-old prime minister had agreed to resign before the reconciliation attempt collapsed, the magazine said.

According to the article, Mrs. Trudeau said her husband was extremely annoyed when he found out about the supposed relationship with Kennedy and she speculated about how traumatic it would be if Kennedy were elected president and he and Trudeau had to deal with each other as national leaders.

Maclean's said it had not confirmed that Mrs. Trudeau was telling the truth but added that if she was, "it is difficult to determine which was the more monumental indiscretion — doing it or talking about it."

A few weeks ago, the Canadian television network CTV issued a publicity release for an interview with Mrs. Trudeau that said she would tell of a one-night love affair that broke up the marriage.

The network did not identify the person involved and the airing of the interview was prevented by a court injunction.

Mrs. Trudeau, who since leaving her husband has worked as a photographer and actress, was named "Housewife of the Year" by an activist women's group in Toronto Monday.

The Wages for Housework Committee said it would throw red roses at the doors of Parliament on Friday to salute Mrs. Trudeau, who once said, "I don't want to be a rose in my husband's lap."

The committee said millions of Canadian housewives silently applauded Mrs. Trudeau's courage in leaving her husband.

But Judith Ramirez, a spokeswoman for the group, said it does not support "everything Margaret has ever said or done." She had no comment on the reported affair with Kennedy.

Band Beats Taxes With Free Concerts

WILLIMANTIC, Conn. (AP) — The Willimantic City Band is offering music in lieu of taxes.

The city band has offered to play three free concerts during the year rather than pay $400 in property taxes on their rehearsal hall.

Members of the city band, a private organization that was established in 1947, belong to the American Federation of Musicians, Local 403, and rehearse in a building owned by the union.

Timothy Quinn, the band's music director, says the group cannot afford the taxes on the hall. "But with this arrangement we can provide a service to the city and also hold on to our rehearsal hall."

The band usually performs a free concert each summer.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Listen to what others have to say and try to get along as well as possible with the viewpoints which they have expressed. Otherwise unnecessary friction could take place. Night is the best time to come to a meeting of minds with others.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be careful not to enter into any arguments with others or they could turn into battles royal. Follow the philosophy of life that most appeals to you. Take no risks with your good name.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Keep promises you have made to others conscientiously. Listen to the ideas of family, although they may differ from your own.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Avoid being impulsive where associates are concerned or there would be a severance of connections. Handle a community affair well due to your experience in the past.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Schedule duties early and carry through in a positive fashion otherwise you accomplish little. Don't neglect treating a minor physical ailment.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't change your plans now or you lose out. Try not to argue with loved ones but show more affection. Watch your diet for better health.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have to be more diplomatic at home if potential arguments are to be avoided. Don't permit a close tie to boss you so much.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Search for the data you need in order to make your work or business dealings more successful, efficient. Evening is best time to visit with good friends, relatives.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't spend more than you can easily afford. Build up a reserve instead. Think big so you can get big, but first study projects carefully before you invest even one penny.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You want to act hastily just to get rid of an annoying person, but bide your time and handle the matter more reasonably. Hold group meetings in the late afternoon for best results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan how to expend your energies in more worthwhile directions early. Go to an expert for advice, then follow it without delay.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You feel like criticizing a friend because you don't approve of his or her actions, but it is best to keep out of it. Wait until evening for getting together with good friends.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't buck one in a powerful position or you could get in big trouble, but be helpful instead. Be more willing to compromise in a financial deal with another. Know that half a loaf is better than none.

"Losing Hair? Try This At No Risk"

HOUSTON, Texas—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss...and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss, but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. They invite you to try the treatment for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself! Naturally, they would not offer this opportunity unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in the family," it is certainly not proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Hair loss caused by sebum can also run in your family, and many other conditions can cause hair loss. If you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair...now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days—at their risk—if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail.

COMPLETE STOCK MARKET INDEX

Oil Issues Hike Mart NEW YORK (AP) — Strong performances by oil-company issues continued to dominate the stock market Monday, pushing stock prices higher for the third straight session and sending the Dow Jones industrial average to its best closing level in nearly two months.

As has been the case in the past few days, the oil stocks led the way. Analysts have been predicting hefty profit increases for the firms in the first quarter because of rising gasoline and oil prices, but the oil stocks also gained impetus Monday from speculation over President Carter's meeting with top aides at Camp David.

Carter and his advisors met to discuss energy issues, including the possibility of decontrol of crude oil prices, a move which could add to oil company profits, but also, the firms say, spur exploration for new sources of oil.

Monday's national prices for New York Stock Exchange issues closed close to last week's, with volatility considered a security risk.

KINGSTON TRIO IN CONCERT — Led by Bob Shane, the sole remaining original member of the group which first made musical history in the late '50s. The Kingston Trio offered a good-time concert Sunday evening at the Country Squire Dinner Theater. The trio is, from left, George Grove, Shane and Roger Gamble. Grove has been a Trio member for three years and Gamble has played with Shane for the past eight years. According to A-J entertainment editor William Kerns, the trio proved during the course of the evening that it can exist not as a nostalgia act, but as legitimate entertainment for the '70s. The sellout crowd Sunday night appeared to agree. (Staff Photos by Dennis Copeland)

Kingston Trio 'Never Better' In Performance

By WILLIAM D. KERNS
A-J Entertainment Editor

Seventeen years ago, Kingston Trio vocalist Bob Shane climbed another notch on the popularity charts by way of his raw, sensual approach to a tune called "Scotch and Soda" — and just before Shane voiced the same bluesy words in concert Sunday evening at the Country Squire Dinner Theater, fellow guitarist Roger Gamble stepped to the microphone and told the audience, "He may have played this song younger, but he's never played it better." By the end of the two-hour performance, though, it was more than obvious the same could be said of the trio. It has never been better.

Ugly" played on electric violin. Tom Green's percussion joined in shortly, as did Stan Kaess' bass guitar, creating a chilling mood and a unique introduction to the 1979 Kingston Trio: Shane, Gamble and George Grove. Dressed in identical, vertically-striped shirts reminiscent of '60s folk entertainers (and referees everywhere), the three took center stage and took off like a rocket with the pounding folk-rock "Hard Ain't It Hard."

After slowing the tempo a bit with John Stewart's pretty composition "Chilly Winds," Gamble introduced an early '60s song containing a "dirty word" which had to be covered up by the strum of a guitar when it was first recorded. The song was "Greenback Dollar" and the word was "damn," and Gamble inspired shrieks of hilarity first by introducing the song as "Filth 1963" and then through his exaggerated reactions of shock upon singing the tainted word.

And there were also the new tunes, the ones which will appear on The Kingston Trio's soon-to-be-released album and which see the group exist as more than a nostalgia act. George Grove handled the vocals on "The Longest Beer of the Night," a poignant little song with a title which makes it sound more country than it really is. And then there's the lush ballad called "Aspen Gold," a tune with real hit potential in the easy-listening market and sung with a sense of dramatic intimacy by Shane.

There is also the musical skill of these gentlemen. Their guitar playing is of the pounding, rhythmic sort, the type which can combine with high volume harmonies to send chills down the listeners' spines and demand personal involvement. Shane made two wise decisions in hiring Gamble (who joined the second version of The Kingston Trio eight years ago) and Grove (who joined this third version three years back). Gamble, despite suffering from a very bad cold Sunday, displayed a voice which combined sweetness with power. It was a joy to listen to him sing.

And Grove provided highlights not only with his harmonies, but with his banjo pickin', too.

Mellow bassist Stan Kaess, the work of Ben Schubert on both electric violin and mandolin and especially Tom Green, who showed marvelous timing and a good sense of restraint on percussion, helped supply a full band sound The Even with Shane the only remaining original member, the Kingston Trio's music and wit is richer and more full of rhythmic flavor today than ever before.

The current show is a professional and intimate composite of '60s innocence and '70s decadence, one which hints at nostalgia enough for the older, headline fans, but never really tries to revert back to those earlier times. The emphasis is still on acoustic rhythm and harmony and lyrics, but the sound has been expanded. With songs both old and new, and jokes both bold and blue, the Kingston Trio put on a show which earned every high-decibel scream of approval from a loving sellout crowd. Fact is, Sunday's concert-in-the-round easily matched the intensity of the best major hall shows and then surpassed many through the trio's sincere and immediate audience rapport.

With the addition of the Squire's preceding buffet meal, Sunday's concert was tantamount to a memorable entertainment package which one can only pray will begin to appear on a regular basis at the theater.

It was obvious from the beginning that this was to be no coffeehouse concert. As the lights dimmed, Bob Schubert began filling every corner of the room with an intriguing version of Ennio Morricone's theme from "The Good, the Bad and the high point. And there were many types. There were the classics, which peaked when the trio began singing a rousing rendition of "MTA" and then segued into a sing-along version of "Tom Dooley." There was a taste of history in "Frankie and Johnny," a wonderful recreation of Woody Guthrie's 1940 song about the ship called "Reuben James," and funny novelty songs like "Oh Carol" (nope, not the Neil Sedaka tune) and the self-explanatory "The First Time I Did It."

Not to mention the funeral dirge-like answer to a request to play "Happy Birthday."

Kingston Trio has rarely enjoyed in the past.

In short, The Kingston Trio — an entity which clicked first in the late '50s and paved the way for a great many now-famous folk artists — is still alive and kicking with their emphasis on good time music rather than nostalgia. A couple of the faces may have changed, a more complete sound may have made its presence known, and the new morality may have opened the door to no-holds-barred humor. But the spirit and the passions have remained the same.

Indeed, the name of The Kingston Trio is a part of musical history, and Sunday's concert proved the current trio is adept at complementing that historical perspective.

With the addition of the Squire's preceding buffet meal, Sunday's concert was tantamount to a memorable entertainment package which one can only pray will begin to appear on a regular basis at the theater.

AN ADDED NOTE: Stay-at-homes may want to take note of the 8 p.m. screening today of "An Evening in Concert with Glen Campbell" on Home Box Office television. Though I freely admit I'm not the biggest Campbell fan in this country, there's no denying I was entertained by this special, which is the first American screening of Campbell's 1977 concert at London's Royal Festival Hall. His backup band for the evening is none other than The Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, which makes for rather grandiose, sweeping renditions of hits like "Wichita Lineman" and "Southern Nights."

Student Paper Garners Top Honors In Austin

AUSTIN (Special) — The Coronado Crest, student newspaper at Lubbock's Coronado High School, rated Tops in Division at the Interscholastic League Press Conference's 52nd annual convention last weekend. The award was received for the third consecutive year.

In addition, El Viajero, the Coronado yearbook, won the Award of Distinguished Merit.

Some 4,000 junior and senior high school students from Texas attended the two-day meeting at the University of Texas. More than 100 instructional sessions were offered during the convention. Mrs. Marjorie Wilson, CHS publications director, instructed two sessions on typesetting and paste-up techniques.

Area Chamber Sets Trade Fair

The Shallowater Chamber of Commerce will be sponsoring a Merchant's Trade Fair from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. March 31 in the Shallowater Community Center.

Thirty-four local merchants and 17 artists will be showing their wares during the day-long event, with a chili supper planned from 5 to 8 p.m.

Entertainment planned includes the Zoo on Wheels, presented by the Lubbock Zoological Society, Sunshine Sally from Channel 13, Tony Tidwell, Joe Randolph and Dale Jackson. Free coffee and lemonade will be served during the day and door prizes will be announced every hour.

In the individual achievement awards, four CHS students or former students received medals. They included Ted Crass, second in news writing for a story on the explosion of a tear gas bomb at the school, and Brad Parker, third place for a cartoon on student council authority. Both entries appeared in the Crest this year.

For the 1978 yearbook, Ann Wood, a 1978 graduate, received second place for an advertising spread. Another graduate, Scott Moore, won third place for an advertising photo.

Sixty students from Lubbock's public school, along with five advisers, attended the annual convention.

KERNS

Campbell sings all his hits on the hour-long program, but the real treat is his medley of Beach Boys songs. Campbell played guitar for The Beach Boys in 1965 when Brian Wilson temporarily left the band, and his love for that sort of material comes through in this rollicking medley. Another welcome surprise arrives when composer Jimmy Webb, surely one of the major ingredients in Campbell's success story, wanders out on the wings to conduct the Royal Philharmonic.

The concert will be screened on HBO today, Thursday, Sunday and March 30.

AMERIC

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

BY DR. PAUL E. RUBLE

Dear Dr. Ruble: I am 75 and have taken flu shots every fall for the past few years. I went to the doctor's for a flu shot this year and told him I have been getting sick after the shots. So he said, "No shots." Next day, I called another doctor and told him. He said the same thing. Yet I get terribly sick when I have the flu and I live alone.

Should I go to another doctor and not tell him what the others said, or what? Please give me advice. — Mrs. M.J.

You don't mention how sick you get after the injection. There can be mild flu-like symptoms but they rarely are a reason not to give the shot. Some people can have an allergy to eggs, chicken or chicken feathers. This would be a reason not to give the vaccine. Tests can determine an allergy.

Otherwise, the vaccine is recommended for patients with continuing health problems, or patients in nursing homes, particularly those over 65.

I trust you've weathered the flu season sufficiently to be up and about again. I don't recommend that you start playing hide and seek — hide the reactions and seek the shots. Discuss the allergy questions with the doctor next time. If that is ruled out, it becomes a matter of weighing the shot reaction against the severity of the flu symptoms you get. The fact that you live alone is a good reason to be wary of medicine that produces severe symptoms. Ultimately this is a decision for your doctor (whichever one you settle on).

Dear Dr. Ruble: The joints on my fingers and a toe are enlarged. My fingers look crooked. I was wondering if diet or anything else would help keep them from getting worse. I have heard that eating red meat can cause this in some people. Is this true? — Mrs. C.J.

It should be looked at. These can be changes that are caused by osteoarthritis or they may indicate gout deposits, particularly if the large toe is involved. Your red meat information probably refers to gout. Some doctors do recommend restriction of red meat, especially organ meats. They contain high levels of uric acid, the forerunner of gout deposits (called urates). Red meat is a valuable source of protein, vitamins and iron, so you wouldn't want to eliminate all from your diet needlessly. If you have gout the more modern way to handle it is with specific medicines, which are fortunately very effective. The role of diet has been downgraded in recent years. If you have osteoarthritis, red meat is not restricted.

Dear Dr. Ruble: Here's a tip on bed-wetting that might help some parents. Sometimes children get overtired playing all day and if allowed to stay up until wee hours (as some parents allow them to), they are just too tired to get up and make a trip to the bathroom. The result — bed-wetting. What do you think? — A Grandma Who Knows.

A good point to consider. The wee hours syndrome has been recognized.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. For a copy of the booklet "How You Can Control Arthritis," which discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications, write to Dr. Ruble, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

The couple plans to be married April 7 in the home of the bride-elect's parents.

Clip 'n' Cook

GLAZED HAM AND CANTALOUPE KABOBS

2 to 2½ lbs. fully cooked ham, cut into 1½-inch cubes
1 can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate ¼ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
3 limes, halved
2 tps. dry mustard
¼ cup cold water
2 tps. cornstarch
1 med. cantaloupe, cut in 1-inch pieces

Combine orange juice concentrate, corn syrup, brown sugar, juice from 3 lime halves and dry mustard in small saucepan. Combine and add water and cornstarch. Bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile thread ham cubes on six 12-inch skewers. Brush with sauce. Place kabobs on grill over ash-covered coals (or on rack in broiler pan) so surface of meat is 3 to 4 inches from heat. Broil at moderate temperature 5 minutes. Turn and continue broiling 5 minutes. Cut remaining lime halves in two. Thread pieces of cantaloupe and 1 lime wedge on each skewer. Brush ham and cantaloupe with sauce. Broil 5 to 6 minutes, turning and brushing with sauce occasionally. Makes six servings.

SHERRIE MC MINN

Sherrie McMinn, bride-elect of Kevin McGarrigle, was honored Saturday with a lunch and recipes and rice bag shower in the home of Mrs. Marlin Smith. There were two cohostesses.

Special guests were Mrs. Jim McMinn, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. H.A. McGarrigle, mother of the future bridegroom; and Mrs. A.A. Roberts, grandmother of the bride-elect.

The couple plans to be married June 2 in the First Christian Church.

Gerontology Conference: Elderhostels Enrich Lives Of Citizens

By BEVERLY O'BRIANT
Family News Staff

According to Martin P. Knowlton, founder of the elderhostel system, "The pathway to more productive and meaningful later years is not found by sitters, but by seekers. The originators of Elderhostel are convinced that education can most effectively guide older citizens in their search for fulfillment and a feeling of personal worth."

In a recent conference held at Texas Tech University, Bob Whitaker discussed the concept and its availability for West Texans. Whitaker is director of such a program on the Abilene Christian University campus.

Elderhostel is an outreach program designed to meet the needs of the elderly. Whitaker describes it as "an academic enrichment program for people 60 and over."

The program, which is a series of week-long classes during the month of June, offers intellectual stimulation and local culture to senior citizens throughout the country. Not only is it an educational program, but it is also a "hosteling" system. Similar to the European youth hostels, the participants do everything together — attend classes, eat, engage in extracurricular activities, go on field trips and share experiences.

There are no grades and no exams in the one-week classes. The courses to be offered by ACU this summer are First Hand Folklore, Sagebrush Frontier, Activity for Fitness and Fun, Universal Appeal of Shakespeare and Performance of Literature.

The extracurricular activities include trips to Buffalo Gap, Ft. Phantom Hill, Abilene State Park, Albany Fandangle and a working West Texas ranch. In addition there will be parties, community tours and musical performances. The ACU program began in 1977. At that time, it was the only one in Texas. There are presently 250 campuses nationwide participating in the elderhostel program. Most are found in the Northeastern states, where the concept originated. However, elderhostels have been started at Howard Payne University in Brownwood, Western Texas College in Snyder and East Texas Baptist College in Marshall.

Nationally, six weeks of elderhosteling have been planned. Elderhostelers can travel across the country, visiting different campuses and experiencing different American cultures for much of the summer.

According to Whitaker, the people involved in elderhosteling are "deeply involved intellectually and emotionally" in the program. To many of them, the interaction with people, exposure to new thoughts and ideas, stimulating experiences and the chance to meet people from all over the country make the trip to a strange and unfamiliar place well worth the trouble.

The elderhostelers don't expect special treatment. In fact, according to Whitaker, many of them take pride in being able to endure long hours and the physical activity required.

Usually, the elderly are "set aside" at retirement and are forced into isolation and loneliness. Sitting at home alone watching soap operas may produce a less of mental stimulation. Elderhostel strives to achieve the opposite effect. If nothing else, it provides a key to further exploration and further questioning of the world and its functions for the elderly who wish to continue with their lives.

Charges In Connection With Drug Raid Filed

Felony charges were filed Monday against two Lubbock men in connection with a Feb. 26 drug raid at Church's Fried Chicken restaurant at 4401 34th St.
William Lee Baker Jr., 33, of 4310 46th St., former manager of the restaurant, was charged with aggravated assault and Thomas Dean Hightower, 19, of 2222-A Main St. with possession of the drug LSD.
Lubbock County sheriff's deputies reported that they and several assistant criminal district attorneys had stalked out the restaurant that night to arrest a man reported to be there with LSD in his possession.

"While waiting for (the man) to get off work, we saw three cars pull onto the parking lot of Church's," the report said. "Right after the cars appeared, a fight broke out. Deputy (Dean) Bohannon observed Baker pulling (a man) from one of the cars and hitting him in the head with a hammer."
"The fight continued and involved several males on the parking lot. The fight finally moved inside the building, and in the process two windows of the building were broken out."
A criminal district attorney's office spokesman said the restaurant ownership was not involved in any alleged offenses at the restaurant and is not under investigation.

Other charges filed Monday were against two Lubbock men in reported home burglaries in Idalou and rural Lubbock County.
Natividad Cantu, 37, and Antonio Chapa Chavez, 34, both of 2419 E. Broadway, No. 18, are accused of a March 11 burglary in Idalou, in which a watch, digital clock and some clothing were taken. They are charged with a March 10 burglary on Route 3, in which a sewing machine, a stereo, and some firearms were stolen.

Survivors included three sons, Jack of Poth, Fred of Lubbock and Albert of San Antonio; a daughter, Mrs. Doyle (Ann) Drake of Lubbock; a sister, Rosa Tackett of Atlanta, Ga.; two brothers, C.H. of Weatherford and C.E. of Midland; 10 grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.
Survivors for Dee H. Roach, 85, of Lubbock are pending with Rix Funeral Directors.
Roach died Monday morning in West Texas Hospital.
He had lived in Lubbock since 1941 and had worked at Reese Air Force Base for 19 years. Before moving to Lubbock, he had lived in Fort Cobb, Okla.
Roach was a veteran of World War I and a member of the Oddfellows and the Asbury United Methodist Church.
Survivors include two daughters, Eloise Haberman and Theresa Stallings, both of Lubbock; a brother, C.P. of Prairie Point; a sister, Bessie English of Aransas Pass; five grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

The two men are also charged with burglary of a vehicle in the reported March 13 theft of a battery from a car parked near their apartment complex.
Other charges filed by the Criminal District Attorney's office include one against a 22-year-old Lubbock man for burglary of a habitation with intent to commit rape. Melquider Savina Montano, address unavailable, is accused of breaking in on a Texas Tech University coed March 16 in Weeks Hall dormitory.
Raymond Craig Freeman, 21, of 1704 E. 14th St. was charged with rape in reported March 1 assault on a 19-year-old woman at her 36th Street apartment.
Larry James Carson, 18, and Johnny Richard Carson, 18, both of 1605 Ave. D, No. 51, were charged with burglary of a habitation in the reported Feb. 27 theft of a stereo-recording player from a 1700 E. 15th Street home.
Robert Lee Dobbins, 41, of 320-A Vernon St. was charged with aggravated assault. He is accused of shooting at a 31-year-old woman and hitting her with a pistol March 15 at his apartment.
David L. Esparza Jr., 23, Route 9, Box 8, was charged with felony possession of marijuana.
Thaddeus Allen Moyer, 19, of 220-A Ave. S was charged with credit card abuse.
Felony theft charges were filed against three persons. They are Thomas Earl Wells, 21, addressed unavailable, who is accused of stealing a car from Villa Olds March 15; Martha Modkins of Amarillo, accused of stealing 286 wrench ratchets from a Lubbock man last Nov. 9; and Erasmo DelLeon, 24, of 216 Texas Ave., accused of stealing a car March 16 from Lone Star Leasing.

Police Probing Local Break-Ins

Police late Monday were investigating the latest string of reported burglaries and thefts, including a break-in at an Erskin Street church which netted thieves $2,575 in property and cash.
Curtis Halfmann, pastor of the church, said the thieves took stereo equipment, assorted liquor and beer and $250 in cash from a church office sometime between noon Saturday and Sunday morning.
Construction supervisor Jim Todd told police that household goods were taken from two homes under construction, one at 3704 97th St. and the other at 4811 78th St., sometime over the weekend.
The stolen goods included two microwave ovens and a dishwasher.
William Smith said that a typewriter and cash recorder, valued at $735, were taken from his business at 2113 Baylor St. sometime between 3 p.m. Saturday and 8:30 a.m. Monday.
Thomas David Knight reported that his $600 car was removed from the 4300-block of Peoria Avenue sometime Monday morning.
Sheriff's deputies Monday were investigating the break-in Sunday at D.C. Majors' Route 2 residence. Majors reported guns totaling $1,300 stolen in the burglary between 6 a.m. and 10:15 p.m.

A 21-year-old Lubbock man, shot Sunday while sitting in a car at Parkway Drive and Quirt Avenue, was in satisfactory condition Monday at Methodist Hospital.
Romero Munoz of 2712 Cornell St. was hospitalized after being shot in the back about 4:20 p.m. Sunday. A 20-year-old man was arrested about an hour later at his Cherry Street residence and booked with attempted murder in connection with the incident.
A witness told police he and Munoz were sitting in a parked car when the suspect drove up, rolled down his window and said Munoz "was bad stuff."
An argument followed between both men and the suspect got out of his vehicle, pulled a small-caliber pistol and shot Munoz from about five feet away, according to the witness.

In another incident, a 58-year-old Lubbock man said he was robbed of his wallet and $180 cash about 10:30 p.m. Sunday by two men who confronted him in a vacant lot at Magnolia Avenue and 58th Street.
The victim said he had been at a club earlier in the night and had made "a date" with a woman for $20. He said he drove the woman to the vacant field, and when she left the vehicle after their "date," a car containing two Mexican-Americans pulled up in front of his vehicle.
One of the men, armed with a pistol, jumped from the car and ordered the victim to get out of his car and hand over his money, reports indicate.
The man said that after he relinquished his wallet, the robbers drove north on Magnolia Street.

Sheriff's deputies Monday were investigating the Saturday afternoon stabbing of a 42-year-old man at U.S. #7 and FM 1585.

Stanley Stevens of Route 4, Box 81-B, who was treated and released at Health Sciences Center Hospital following the 3:30 p.m. incident, said the man who stabbed him was traveling in a white Toyota and accompanied by a heavy-set woman.
Stevens said that as he was approaching the intersection, he heard a voice over his CB radio accuse him of trying to run a car off the road.
He said he got out of his truck at the intersection to check a loose bale of hay when a man drove up, drew a knife and stabbed him seven times.

About 6:30 p.m. that day a 51-year-old man came to the sheriff's department and told deputies he was the one who stabbed Stevens, but that he did so in self-defense. He reportedly said he did not use a weapon until after he was cut in the altercation.
A 16-year-old girl told deputies she was beaten Saturday afternoon by her 17-year-old boyfriend after telling him she had gotten a call from a former steady.
The youth told authorities the suspect beat her at his sister's house and then drove her to a caliche pit about 1 mile west and 1/2 mile south of University Avenue where she was again assaulted. She said she eventually was able to escape her attacker.

Her alleged assailant reportedly went to the girl's mother's house later in the day, beat down the door and threatened to kill the mother, according to deputies.
A Lubbock woman was taken to Health Sciences Center Hospital about 10:30 p.m. Sunday after allegedly being beaten by her common-law husband of 10 years.
The 38-year-old victim, who was treated and released, said her husband, 44, was getting increasingly violent when he got drunk and that she had been beaten by him several times.

"This is not a sudden interest," said Fred Miller, president of the International Association of Pet Cemeteries, whose members are meeting here. "The pariahs buried their pets."
Some 60 pet undertakers were on hand Monday as the week-long convention opened. They met in a room lined with the latest in pet coffins, urns and headstones. There was also a solemn-looking pamphlet (entitled "Let's Clear the Air") from Federal Incinerators, Inc.

Miller said there are over 9,000 animals buried in the 30-acre cemetery he owns outside of Detroit.
"We've had birds, rabbits, horses in addition to dogs and cats. Also anything a kid will make a pet. Turtles, chipmunks."

Homestead Tax Exemption Deadline May Be Tightly Enforced

By JEFF SOUTH

If you fail to file promptly for property-tax homestead exemptions this spring, you may be out of luck.

In past years, the Lubbock city-school tax office has been liberal about late exemption applications. In fact, the office went so far as to give rebates to persons

School Bus Drivers Expand Strike Area

NEW YORK (AP) — Wildcatting school bus drivers Monday spread their pickets to the city bus terminal on Staten Island, but police said service was not disrupted.

Transit Authority drivers and mechanics on Staten Island are represented by the same union as the strikers, the Amalgamated Transit Union. Some 2,000 drivers and 1,000 matrons walked off the job 33 days ago when the Board of Education called for competitive bidding of school bus contracts. The drivers fear they will lose their jobs as a result of the bidding.

The strike has disrupted service for 135,000 children.

who, after paying their taxes, realized they could have had an exemption.

But because of questions raised by officials at the state level, local assessor-collector John Brooks has had to put an "administrative hold" on the rebate policy.

"If a tax is voluntarily paid, there appears to be some question whether part of the tax is rebatable without specific legislative approval," Brooks said.

Due to the uncertainty, Brooks said the City of Lubbock-Lubbock Independent School District tax office can no longer automatically grant requests for rebates for persons who neglected to secure an exemption before paying their taxes.

Instead, such requests must be considered on a case-by-case basis, he said.

Questions about the rebate policy underscore the need for persons to file for homestead exemptions on time, Brooks added. "People can remove any doubt about whether they can get an exemption by applying for the exemption before the April 30 deadline."

Kucinich Says Carter Ignoring Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Maverick Democratic Mayor Dennis Kucinich says President Carter is ignoring Cleveland's problems and he's hinting broadly that Carter will not be his choice in 1980.

"The White House has yet to discover Cleveland, Ohio, and when they do it will probably be from a rustic, post-administrative setting in Plains, Ga.," Kucinich said in Monday's Cleveland Press.

"There's a gruesome lack of political sophistication on the part of the present administration," the 32-year-old mayor added. "I'm sure they'd very much like to carry Cleveland (in 1980) if they could only find Cleveland."

Application forms for exemptions were mailed to Lubbock homeowners last week. Many already have been completed and returned to the tax office.

The forms allow persons to apply for a new $5,000 market-value exemption available to all homeowners for school-tax purposes; and for various exemptions available to homeowners age 65 or over.

"In the past, court cases have said that if taxes were paid under duress, they were refundable," Brooks said.

His office interpreted that as liberally as possible, he added. An elderly person who paid taxes without first filing for an exemption was "eligible for a rebate," Brooks said.

But a "state of flux" in the rebate policy has developed for two reasons, Brooks said.

He said legislation has been introduced that would prohibit such tax rebates. Also, the state School Tax Assessment Practices Board, which monitors local tax offices, told Brooks that "a tax paid without protest is not refundable," he said.

"Until these questions are cleared up, we have had to put the (rebate) policy on hold," Brooks said.

Hoosiers Hang Ohio In NIT Semi's 64-55

NEW YORK (AP)— Indiana turned back Ohio State 64-55 as Mike Woodson scored 20 Monday night in the second semifinal game of the 42nd National Invitational Tournament.

The results set up an all-Big Ten final Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden.

Woodson scored 14 of his team-leading points as the Hoosiers broke open the nightcap in the second half.

He had four of his points in a 12-4 burst that propelled Indiana into a 42-33 lead with 12:58 left.

Later, when Ohio State rallied behind Kelvin Ransey, who scored a game-high 25 points, the Hoosiers shut off the comeback with key foul shots by substitute Scott Eels.

Eels provided six free throws in the last two minutes to keep the Hoosiers at a safe distance from their Big Ten opponents.

Butch Carter and Randy Wittman each scored 12 points for Indiana. 21-12 Wittman had 10 of his points in the first half, to lead Indiana into a 28-25 lead at intermission.

Herb Williams had 14 points for Ohio State, 19-11.

A crowd of 14,632 witnessed the double-header.

Indiana Coach Bobby Knight pointed to a tougher defense that helped his Hoosiers deny the ball to Ohio State inside.

"Steve Risley and Ray Tolbert did it,"

said Knight. "They both worked their tails off. Tolbert especially played well inside and denied the ball to them. If we had lost him, we definitely would have been in trouble."

Tolbert committed two fouls early in the contest but managed to stay out of trouble the rest of the way to buttress the Hoosier defense.

"We made a couple of mistakes after we supposedly had the game locked up," said Knight. "One of them was a three-pointer to Williams. For a minute there, I had visions of playing Ohio State at Columbus earlier this season. We were up by nine points with a minute to go and lost in overtime."

Knight also applauded his guards "for doing a good job of moving the ball against the zone." His reference was to Carter and Wittman.

Ohio State Eldon Miller also pointed to the Indiana defense as a key factor in the game.

"Indiana's defense collapsed on Williams," he said. "We had no balanced offense to overcome this. Indiana plays as good a defense as any team in the country."

Joe Barry Too Much For 'Bama Purdue, Indiana To Meet In NIT Finals

NEW YORK (AP) — Purdue strongman Joe Barry Carroll poured in 42 points, leading the 15th-ranked Boilermakers to a runaway 87-68 basketball victory over Alabama Monday night in the semifinals of the 42nd National Invitation Tournament.

The Boilermakers advanced to Wednesday night's championship game against the winner of the Indiana-Ohio State meeting later Monday night at Madison Square Garden.

The smaller Alabama team was never able to handle Carroll, a 7-foot-1, 240-pounder who was able to score virtually at will inside.

Carroll collected 20 points in the first half, along with 14 by Jerry Sichting, to power the Big Ten team into a 43-32 lead at the half. Carroll scored 22 more after intermission before sitting down in the final few minutes as Purdue mounted its lead to as many as 21 points near the end.

The Crimson Tide was inhibited by foul trouble throughout the game. Two players, Eddie Phillips and Phillip Lockett, both fouled out trying to guard the irrefragible Carroll, who hit 13 of his 16 field goal attempts.

Phillips was held to four points, 11 below his average, before he fouled out.

With King leading the way, the Crimson Tide established an early lead. But that lasted only until Carroll took charge of the game's flow. At one interval he scored 10 of Purdue's points in a 12-3 spurt that put the Boilermakers on top 39-28 near the end of the first half.

The Southeastern Conference team never got closer than seven points the rest of the way.

"Carroll played a great game," said Purdue Coach Lee Rose after watching his star center score a career-high point total. The highest previous game for Carroll had been 36 points against Iowa earlier this season.

"Believe it or not," said Rose, "I think he needs to be more physical. But I'm sure he will be."

"No doubt he will make a great pro."

Pointing to his team's 61 percent shooting, Rose noted, "That certainly didn't hurt us." Alabama shot a mere 39 percent for the game.

"Everyone knows their role on this team," said Sichting, who added seven assists and teamed with Brian Walker to give the Boilermakers sparkling backcourt play. Walker handed out nine assists, many of them to Carroll.

"Rose has made the difference between us being a mediocre team and a great team," said Sichting. "He's made us realize that we have to take the pressure off Barry, and that has made us a good outside shooting team."

Sichting hit nine of 13 shots from the floor, several of them from long range.

"We knew that Purdue had a good perimeter-shooting team," said Alabama Coach C.M. Newton. "We tried to double up on Carroll, but we had trouble because their guards played so well."

Homestead Tax Exemption Deadline May Be Tightly Enforced

By JEFF SOUTH

School Bus Drivers

Expand Strike Area
NEW YORK (AP) — Wildcatting school bus drivers Monday spread their pickets to the city bus terminal on Staten Island, but police said service was not disrupted.

Transit Authority drivers and mechanics on Staten Island are represented by the same union as the strikers, the Amalgamated Transit Union. Some 2,000 drivers and 1,000 matrons walked off the job 33 days ago when the Board of Education called for competitive bidding of school bus contracts. The drivers fear they will lose their jobs as a result of the bidding. The strike has disrupted service for 135,000 children.

who, after paying their taxes, realized they could have had an exemption.

But because of questions raised by officials at the state level, local assessor-collector John Brooks has had to put an "administrative hold" on the rebate policy.

"If a tax is voluntarily paid, there appears to be some question whether part of the tax is refundable without specific legislative approval," Brooks said.

Due to the uncertainty, Brooks said the City of Lubbock-Lubbock Independent School District tax office can no longer automatically grant requests for rebates for persons who neglected to secure an exemption before paying their taxes.

Instead, such requests must be considered on a case-by-case basis, he said.

Kucinich Says Carter Ignoring Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Maverick Democratic Mayor Dennis Kucinich says President Carter is ignoring Cleveland's problems and he's hinting broadly that Carter will not be his choice in 1980.

"The White House has yet to discover Cleveland, Ohio, and when they do it will probably be from a rustic, post-administrative setting in Plains, Ga.," Kucinich said in Monday's Cleveland Press. "There's a gruesome lack of political sophistication on the part of the present administration," the 32-year-old mayor added. "I'm sure they'd very much like

Asked whether he could support a presidential bid by California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., who is seen as a possible Carter challenger for the Democratic nomination, Kucinich replied:

"I've had some lengthy, but tentative discussions with the governor. But I can't respond any further at this time."

Joe Barry Too Much For 'Bama Purdue, Indiana To Meet In NIT Finals

GAINING CONTROL — Robert Scott (10) of the Crimson Tide wheels around with the ball after gaining control of a loose ball battle with Purdue's Mike Searce early in their NIT clash Monday night. Purdue won the game and will meet Indiana in the finals on Wednesday night. Alabama will face Ohio State in the consolation match. (AP Laserphoto)

NEW YORK (AP) — Purdue strongman Joe Barry Carroll poured in 42 points, leading the 15th-ranked Boilermakers to a runaway 87-68 basketball victory over Alabama Monday night in the semifinals of the 42nd National Invitation Tournament.

The Boilermakers advanced to Wednesday night's championship game against the winner of the Indiana-Ohio State meeting later Monday night at Madison Square Garden.

The smaller Alabama team was never able to handle Carroll, a 7-foot-1, 240-pounder who was able to score virtually at will inside.

Carroll collected 20 points in the first half, along with 14 by Jerry Sichting, to power the Big Ten team into a 43-32 lead at the half. Carroll scored 22 more after intermission before sitting down in the final few minutes as Purdue mounted its lead to as many as 21 points near the end.

The Boilermakers broke open the game with a 12-point run late in the second half with Carroll contributing a field goal in the game-breaking burst. The score was 61-54 with 9:43 left in favor of the Boilermakers before they went on their scoring tear.

When it was over, Purdue had a 73-54 lead with 5:24 remaining. Sichting added 20 points for the Boilermakers, 27.

Reggie King and Robert Scott each scored 21 points for Alabama, 22-11.

The Crimson Tide was inhibited by foul trouble throughout the game. Two players, Eddie Phillips and Phillip Lockett, both fouled out trying to guard the irascible Carroll, who hit 13 of his 16 field goal attempts.

Phillips was held to four points, 11 below his average, before he fouled out.

With King leading the way, the Crimson Tide established an early lead. But that lasted only until Carroll took charge of the game's flow. At one interval he scored 10 of Purdue's points in a 12-3 spurt that put the Boilermakers on top 39-28 near the end of the first half.

The Southeastern Conference team never got closer than seven points the rest of the way.

"Carroll played a great game," said Purdue Coach Lee Rose after watching his star center score a career-high point total. The highest previous game for Carroll had been 36 points against Iowa earlier this season.

"Believe it or not," said Rose. "I think he needs to be more physical. But I'm sure he will be."

"No doubt he will make a great pro." Pointing to his team's 61 percent shooting, Rose noted, "That certainly didn't hurt us." Alabama shot a mere 39 percent for the game.

"Everyone knows their role on this team," said Sichting, who added seven assists and teamed with Brian Walker to give the Boilermakers sparking backcourt play. Walker handed out nine assists, many of them to Carroll.

"Rose has made the difference between us being a mediocre team and a great team," said Sichting. "He's made us realize that we have to take the pressure off Barry, and that has made us a good outside shooting team."

Sichting hit nine of 13 shots from the floor, several of them from long range.

"We knew that Purdue had a good perimeter-shooting team," said Alabama Coach C.M. Newton. "We tried to double up on Carroll, but we had trouble because their guards played so well."

Hoosiers Hang Ohio In NIT Semi's 64-55

NEW YORK (AP)— Indiana turned back Ohio State 64-55 as Mike Woodson scored 20 Monday night in the second semifinal game of the 42nd National Invitational Tournament.

The results set up an all-Big Ten final Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden.

Woodson scored 14 of his team-leading points as the Hoosiers broke open the nightcap in the second half.

He had four of his points in a 12-4 burst that propelled Indiana into a 42-33 lead with 12:58 left.

Later, when Ohio State rallied behind Kelvin Ransey, who scored a game-high 25 points, the Hoosiers shut off the comeback with key foul shots by substitute Scott Eells.

Eells provided six free throws in the last two minutes to keep the Hoosiers at a safe distance from their Big Ten opponents.

Butch Carter and Randy Wittman each scored 12 points for Indiana, 21-12. Wittman had 10 of his points in the first half, to lead Indiana into a 28-25 lead at intermission.

Herb Williams had 14 points for Ohio State, 19-11.

A crowd of 14,632 witnessed the double-header.

Indiana Coach Bobby Knight pointed to a tougher defense that helped his Hoosiers deny the ball to Ohio State inside.

"Steve Risley and Ray Tolbert did it,"

said Knight. "They both worked their tails off. Tolbert especially played well inside and denied the ball to them. If we had lost him, we definitely would have been in trouble."

Tolbert committed two fouls early in the contest but managed to stay out of trouble the rest of the way to buttress the Hoosier defense.

"We made a couple of mistakes after we supposedly had the game locked up," said Knight. "One of them was a three-pointer to Williams. For a minute there, I had visions of playing Ohio State at Columbus earlier this season. We were up by nine points with a minute to go and lost in overtime."

Knight also applauded his guards "for doing a good job of moving the ball against the zone." His reference was to Carter and Wittman.

Ohio State Eldon Miller also pointed to the Indiana defense as a key factor in the game.

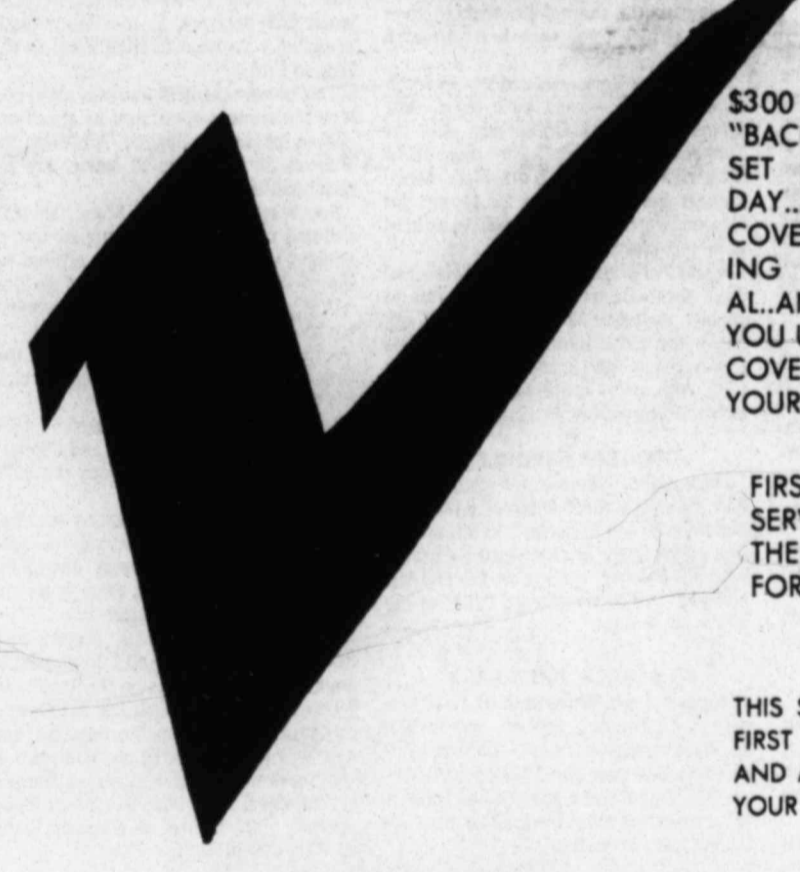

"Indiana's defense collapsed on Williams," he said. "We had no balanced offense to overcome this. Indiana plays as good a defense as any team in the country."

Local Girls Head For Gym Meet

One of the best-kept secrets in Lubbock is that 17 of the best young gymnasts in the state live and work out here. And two local private gyms, Briercroft savings and Hamilton Gymnastics are sending those 17 girls to the Class II State Gymnastics meet on Mar. 31 in Texas City.

Head coaches Johnny Hamilton of Hamilton's and Sherry Green of Briercroft point out that the young girls practice between 12 and 16 hours a week to develop skills in floor exercise, vault, uneven bars and balance beam. At the Class II level both compulsory and optional routines are required.

Qualifiers in both the compulsory and optional events include B.J. Lipe, Tamara Houchin, Dawn Fortner, Markay Howard, Tracy Lacey of the Briercroft club and Kim Ward, Dawn Dulaney, Melanie Ready, Jennifer Jones, and Andrea Hamilton of Hamilton's.

Connie Childre and Deana Wilson of Hamilton's and Starla Pace, Julie Goodwin, Michelle Moreland, Lisa Polesi and Tonya Houchin are qualifiers for the compulsory events.

"This trip culminates many hours of hard work by our girls," said Hamilton and Green.

Rangers Rip Error-Prone Royals Exhibition Baseball Roundup

By The Associated Press
 Player-coach John Ellis had three runs batted in and the Kansas City Royals committed seven errors Monday as the Texas Rangers defeated the defending American League West champions 6-2 in an exhibition baseball game at Pompano Beach, Fla.

Texas got to Kansas City starter Steve Busby for seven hits and six runs, four of them earned, in five innings.

It was the first time in three outings this spring that Busby, attempting to come back from a series of arm injuries, has been hit hard.

The Rangers scored once in the first inning when Billy Sample singled off Busby, stole second, went to third when catcher Darrel Porter's throw bounced into the outfield, and scored on Ellis' sacrifice fly.

Larvell Blanks hit a two-run homer in the second to give Texas all the runs it needed.

Ellis singled to score two more in the fifth for the Rangers, now 6-5-1. Jon Maltack started and went five innings for Texas, allowing just one unearned run. Kansas City fell to 5-6.

got three strikeouts. He turned over a 4-1 lead to rookie Tom Telman in the seventh inning.

Second baseman Bill Almon had two hits and a run batted in and Mike Har- grove drove in two more runs with a single and an infield out as the Padres improved their Cactus League record to 6-3.

The Giants dropped to 7-6 RBI singles by catcher Mark Hill, shortstop Johnny LeMaster and pinch-hitter Moe Ivie pushed across the three San Francisco runs. Hill and leftfielder Terry Whitfield paced the giants' 11-hit offense with two hits apiece.

ble produced the decisive runs for the Angels in their four-run sixth. Floyd Rayford walked and went to third on a single by WillieMays Aikens. Rayford scored on a single by Joe Rudi to tie the game at 2-all before Downing's double. Terry Humphrey then singled to bring Downing home.

California, 5-8 in exhibition games, scored its first run in the fifth when Bob Clark tripled and Orlando Ramirez doubled off Chicago starter Rick Reuschel, who had kept the Angels scoreless until then.

Chicago, now 5-5 in Cactus League, scored twice in the second inning off Angels' starter Don Aase, who hurled five innings. Bobby Murcer singled and stole second before scoring on Steve Ontiveros' double. After a single off the glove of third baseman Rayford, Ontiveros scored from third on a ground out by Barry Foote.

The Cubs got their other run in the ninth off Angel reliever Dave LaRoche.

FARGO, N.D.(AP) — There is a definite Carolina flavor in this year's national small college women's basketball tournament.

Defending champion High Point, N.C., and South Carolina State, the 1978 runner-up, are the top two seeds in the tourney getting underway Tuesday in the North Dakota State University Fieldhouse. Both return with experienced teams.

High Point's Panthers can count on seven players from their championship roster. Included are Ethel White, a two-time all tournament selection, and Marie Riley, most valuable player in last year's national tourney.

South Carolina State returns Joyce Robinson, a 1978 all-tournament choice, and three others from the starting five. The Lady Bulldogs were the No. 1-ranked small college team in the nation until dropping a decision to High Point in the Region 2 final.

This is only the fifth national small college tournament sponsored by the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women. Seven of the 16 entries are repeat qualifiers.

Southeastern Louisiana State, the 1977 national champion, is making its fourth straight trip. The Lady Lions are led by Queen Brumfield, twice named to the AIAW small college all-tournament teams.

Ann Meyers heads 10 returnees on the University of Dayton, Ohio, team which is a three-time entrant.

Seton Hall, N.J., missed only the 1977 playoff. Eastern Washington and Pepperdine, Calif., each return from the 1978 field.

Emporia, Kan., State earned the Region 6 qualifying berth from a list of challengers including Minnesota champion Concordia. North Dakota State is an automatic entrant as host team.

Brumfield, Riley, White, Meyers and Roberta Williams of South Carolina State are first-team selections on the American Women's Sports Foundation All-American squad. Players on the second team who will be here are Cindy Williams of Southeastern Louisiana, Vanessa Barnes of Tuskegee, Ala., Kim Buetel of Pepperdine, Pam Bulson of Emporia State and Mary Hile of San Francisco.

Turning to recruiting, Cunningham says the Bruins are searching nationally for a center. The Bruins scraped by the last few years without a dominating pivot man in the Lew Alcindor (Kareem Abdul-Jabbar) and Bill Walton mold.

"We're definitely high on (Sam) Bowie," Cunningham said of the 7-foot-1 high school sensation from Lebanon, Pa. "But I'm not sure he could qualify here academically."

Other high school senior centers getting the most attention from recruiters—including UCLA—included 6-foot-11 Steve Stanovic of St. Louis, and 7-foot Ron Burns of Washington.

"We feel very good about the players we're after," Cunningham said. "I think several freshmen will have an opportunity to play next year."

ASTROS 4, TWINS 3

Jim Obradovich's run-scoring single in the ninth inning gave the Houston Astros a 4-3 exhibition baseball victory Monday over the Minnesota Twins in Cocoa, Fla.

Julio Gonzalez opened the ninth with a single, then Rafael Landestoy reached on second baseman Bobby Randall's error. Obradovich's hit came with none out.

Houston had taken an early 3-0 lead, but the Twins tied the game in the seventh inning on four straight walks by Astro pitcher Dan Warthen, a single by Roy Smalley and a sacrifice fly by Bombo Rivera.

James Rodney Richard and Vern Ruhle each worked three shutout innings in their spring pitching debuts for Houston. Richard gave up one hit and Ruhle allowed four hits. Both had four strikeouts.

Richard has been sidelined for 10 days because of a hamstring muscle pull. Ruhle has been bothered for two weeks by back soreness.

The Astros and Twins both have 4-6 exhibition records.

METS 5, PIRATES 4

Pinch-hitter Joel Youngblood hit a two-run homer in the seventh to give New York Mets a 5-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in an exhibition baseball game Monday night in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

The game was part of a benefit series for the construction of the Roberto Clemente Sports City.

Lee Mazzilli singled to left with two outs in the seventh and Youngblood connected his homer over left field to break a 3-3 tie.

ANGELS 5, CUBS 3

Rookie pitcher Mark Clear struck out six Chicago batters in three innings of shutout relief for the California Angels in a 5-3 exhibition baseball victory over the Cubs Monday in Palm Springs, Ca.

UCLA Fans Worried About (Lack Of) Final Four

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The last four — not the Final Four — concern UCLA basketball fans after four seasons of falling short of their accustomed national title.

UCLA teams of John Wooden won 10 National Collegiate Athletic Association championships, eight in succession before Wooden retired on top in 1975.

Since then, the best showing came under Wooden's immediate successor as coach, Gene Bartow. He got the Bruins to the Final Four in the NCAA tournament in 1976, losing to eventual champion Indiana in the semifinals.

Former Wooden assistant Gary Cunningham took over two years ago when Bartow had enough of Wooden's shadow. Now at Alabama-Birmingham, Bartow was literally driven out of town for his teams' sins — third in the nation and tied for fifth in the nation in his years at UCLA.

Alumni discontent seems to have cooled during the 50-8 non-loss record and two more tie-for-fifth NCAA finishes under Cunningham, who was UCLA alumni director just before becoming coach.

"The fans have been tremendous," Cunningham said after the DePaul loss. "The support from the student body, administration and everyone has been great."

"Everywhere I go, they've thanked me for a great season. I've never seen any hostile experience toward me or the team."

Although ranked No. 2 in the final regular season poll, UCLA lost to DePaul 95-91 Saturday. It was the third straight West Regional final loss for the Bruins. They have had to be content, or discontent, with extending their string of conference titles to 13.

Graduation losses for the Bruins will be severe, with two-time All-American forward David Greenwood and high-scoring guards Roy Hamilton and Brad Holland departing. But Cunningham insists next year's Bruin team will be strong.

"We have a good nucleus returning and I'm confident we'll be a contender in the conference next year. I don't know if we'll be favored to win the conference, but I don't pay any attention to what other people say."

NCAA Final Four Reads Like 'Movie Script'

By The Associated Press
Last weekend Coach Ray Meyer was asked on a Provo, Utah, street, "...where is DePaul?"

In the final four of the NCAA basketball championship this week in Salt Lake City, that's where.

In a movie-script matchup DePaul will play Indiana State in a semifinal game Saturday.

It's Bill Hodges, who made the Final Four in his first year as head coach of Indiana State, against the 65-year-old Meyer, a Hall of Fame coach with 597 total victories who is in the Final Four for the first time in his 37-year career.

It's Larry Bird, the Player of the Year who has led the Sycamores to a 31-0 record and the nation's No. 1 record against freshman Mark Aguirre, a rare recruiting diamond for DePaul, 26-4, the Chicago school with a rich basketball history which has a tough time competing for rich basketball talent.

The second semifinal also could be a scriptwriter's dream. It matches Michigan State against Penn. That's right, Michigan State of the Big Ten, whose sports headlines have been earned on the football field, against the representative of the Ivy League where the only way they can see Big Ten quality football is to buy a ticket.

But this isn't the Penn football team. It's Penn basketball, which is quality basketball. This year's team, 25-4, won the Ivy League, then shocked the Atlantic Coast Conference by upsetting North Carolina in the East Regional. The Quakers also upset Syracuse in East Regional and gained the Final Four Sunday by beating St. John's 64-62 behind 21 points by Tony Price and two foul shots by James Salters with 23 seconds left.

The NCAA Tournament has been "Magic" for Michigan State, 24-6. Directed by 6-foot-8 sophomore guard Magic Johnson, the Big Ten co-champions blew out three Midwest Regional opponents by a total of 59 points. The final blowout was Sunday's 80-66 triumph over highly regarded Notre Dame.

Despite Michigan State's Magic, the game with the most magic coast-to-coast has to be the one between Indiana State and DePaul.

"All year long, we haven't cared what people said," said Hodges about those who doubted his team. "Indiana State is for real — win or lose in Salt Lake City. 'We're going to Salt Lake City to win and we're not going in awe of anyone," added Hodges.

The Sycamores earned the trip to Utah Saturday when, with Bird scoring 31 points, they beat Arkansas 73-71 on a left-handed, off-balanced shot by substitute Bob Heaton with one second left.

Aguirre scored 20 points and Curtis Watkins and Gary Garland scored 24 each as DePaul held off UCLA 95-91 Saturday to turn Meyer's long-time dream into a reality.

Both semifinal games and Monday's night's final will be televised live by NBC.

Raiders Rained Out

ARLINGTON (Special) — The first game of a four-game series between Texas Tech and the University of Texas at Arlington was rained out here Monday.

The Red Raiders, 4-5 in SWC play and 9-8 overall, are scheduled to play UTA in a doubleheader today.

TRUMPANT RETURN — DePaul University basketball coach Ray Meyer smiles as he is mobbed by young fans as his team arrives at Chicago's O'Hare airport Sunday night after pasting the mighty UCLA Bruins 95-91. For the first time in Meyer's career he will now take his Demons to the NCAA final four, this year in Salt Lake City, Utah. Other teams in the semifinals are Indiana St., Penn. St. and Michigan St. (AP Laserphoto)

Axers Chop Down Chaps 12-7

PHOENIX (Special)—Northern Arizona University took advantage of four Lubbock Christian second inning errors to jump to a 6-0 lead and held off the Chaparrals 12-7 Monday.

Today The Chaps will face Point Loma (Ca.) at 1 p.m. CST and Linfield (Ore.) at 3 p.m. with Gary Swan and Chris Cook getting the mound calls.

The pivotal play in today's game came in the fourth when LCC, now 15-7, had narrowed a 9-0 deficit to 9-5. Pinch hitter Mark Morgan stroked the first pitch he saw to deep right field only to see Kevin Davis, whose fielding error earlier in the inning had allowed a Chap run to score.

make circus catch with his glove hand over the fence to rob Morgan of a grand slam.

After NAU catcher Jake Berrue swatted a three run homer to finish Chap starter Dave Hanna in the third, freshman Noel Delgado came on and was "our only bright spot," according to coach Larry Hays. Delgado allowed only five hits, one earned run and threw just 79 pitches in 5 2/3 innings.

Second basen Steve Brigante, who had committed only three errors in 76 chances before Monday, matched that output and his two second-inning miscues opened the gates for the Axers, who stretched their winning streak to eight games and upped their record to 11-5.

Tim Leslie led the LCC hitting parade with two doubles and a single, upping his average ten points to .485. Brady Brashear, Bobby Doe and Lewis Stephenson each had two hits for the Chaps, who outbit NAU 12-11 in the game, which was played in a misting rain throughout.

NASCAR Race Tightening Up

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Buddy Baker's first victory in three years on the Grand National stock car racing circuit tightened up the battle for the 1979 championship.

Darrell Waltrip finished third behind Baker and Bobby Allison in the Atlanta 500 Sunday, keeping him a whisker ahead of two challengers in the standings. After five races this year—each with a different winner—Waltrip has 807 points, Bobby Allison 791 and Cale Yarborough 789.

The rest of the top 10 are Donnie Allison 682, Joe Millikan 672, Benny Parsons 653, D. K. Ulrich 650, Dale Earnhardt 625, Richard Petty 599 and Richard Childress 573.

Waltrip also leads in money won with $108,395, followed by Bobby Allison $87,855; Yarborough $82,770; Baker $73,720; Donnie Allison $62,485; Millikan $41,785; Earnhardt $35,175; Tighe Scott $33,315; and Frank Warren $27,030.

Millikan's eighth place finish at Atlanta gave him a $500 bonus for the third straight race as the top finishing rookie.

Baker's pole position was his second of the year, tying him with Bobby Allison in the chase for a $25,000 bonus to the driver with the most pole positions in the 31-race season.

The tour now heads to North Wilkesboro, N.C., for a 400-mile race Sunday.

John Speaks To Press

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "There is a Big Yankee in the Sky, but he's either in Tampa or the Bronx right now," pitcher Tommy John of the New York Yankees would have said, if anyone had asked him about the Yankees' losing exhibition baseball record, which reached 1-10 Sunday.

The Yanks did pick up win No. 2 with a 2-1 decision over Atlanta on a solo home run by Cliff Johnson. Ed Figueroa picked up the win.

John, the lefthander who pitched brilliantly for the Los Angeles Dodgers in recent years but signed as a free agent with the World Champion Yankees last winter, made the statement in a tongue-in-cheek message to Los Angeles baseball writers.

Los Angeles Manager Tommy Lasorda often refers to a "Big Dodger in the Sky" making things come out right for his team. John did not say if he thinks Lasorda's mythical divine force has switched uniforms.

John was not with the Yankee squad during an exhibition loss to the Dodgers last week, and some reporters had hoped to pose questions about his switch. A few days later, John sent the writers a handwritten message saying: "Did not duck the LA press."

He explained he had a longtime commitment to appear at a Tony Lama Memorial golf tournament the same day at San Marcos, Fla.

He went on to say: —"I love the Yankees.

—"I love Bob Lemon... George Steinbrenner... Al Rosen... the players are all great guys.

—"I anticipate no altercations in the clubhouse.

—"My arm feels great.

—"If the Dodgers don't win N.L. West in 10 games, something is wrong.

"Those are the answers. Now all you have to do is supply the questions."

Plainview '9' Whips Tascosa

PLAINVIEW (Special)—The Plainview baseball team extended its record to 5-1 Monday as it swept a doubleheader here from Amarillo Tascosa. The Bulldogs won the first game 10-5 and took the second 9-4.

Plainview never trailed in either contest as the Bulldog hitters had a field day with Tascosa, which saw its season slate fall to 2-9. Kit Howertin blasted the only home run of the day for Plainview in the nightcap.

Ervin Davis picked up the victory in the first game and Eddie McAllister was the winning hurler in the second contest.

Muleshoe Needs Games

MULESHOE (Special)—The Muleshoe basketball team is in need of a couple of games to pad out next year's schedule.

On Dec. 18 both a boys and girls varsity game is desired. And on Jan. 11 and 15 Muleshoe is looking for a boys varsity game.

Interested parties may call coach Mayberry at 272-4710.

Idi Amin Gains Control Of Soviet Made Bomber

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Uganda's President Idi Amin, battling for survival against a Tanzanian-led invasion force, has obtained a long-range, Soviet-made bomber capable of striking the Tanzanian capital, two Norwegian journalists reported Monday after visiting Uganda.

by car last Thursday, posing as tourists, and returned to Nairobi by air Sunday. Western reporters have been routinely barred from the country since the war with Tanzania began last October.

in a khaki camouflage color, had a green disc on each side of the fuselage but bore no registration marks. It made two brief test flights Sunday, he said.

American Arms Set For North Yemen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is going ahead with its $400 million military aid package to North Yemen, despite a cease-fire in that country's war with South Yemen, the State Department said Monday.

of Saudi Arabia, where the big ship and her escorts were sent by President Carter as a gesture of U.S. concern about Saudi security in view of the turbulence in the Persian Gulf area and Marxist South Yemen's attacks into North Yemen.

The two Norwegians said a roadblock between Kampala and Entebbe was manned by heavily armed Arab soldiers. "The Arabs were more aggressive, more provocative and more difficult to handle than the Ugandans," Svendsen said.

Reston acknowledged that as a result of Arab League mediation, a cease-fire has been accepted by both sides and South Yemen is withdrawing its troops.

Two huge Sentry airborne warning and control aircraft, flown to Saudi Arabia from Okinawa last week, have been engaged in "familiarization" exercises with Saudi Arabian F-5E air defense planes.

International human-rights groups say Amin's government is responsible for the killing of tens of thousands of political opponents and other Ugandans.

Administration plans call for sending about 100 U.S. advisers to North Yemen to supply training in the use of the new weapons. Included in the U.S. arms package are F-5E fighters, M-60 tanks, armored troop carriers and related equipment and ammunition.

Meanwhile, defense officials said 12 F-5E fighter planes destined for Yemen arrived in Saudi Arabia Sunday aboard two giant U.S. C-5 transport planes.

The U.S. aircraft carrier Constellation, at the same time, was reported cruising in the Arabian Sea off the southeast coast

Murder Charges Denied

PRYOR, Okla. (AP) — The trial of Gene Leroy Hart, charged with the sex murders of three Girl Scouts at camp nearly two years ago, got under way Monday with Hart's attorney saying he was in the Tulsa area — not near the camp — at the time of the killings.

NIGHT AND DAY — Diana Rigg was photographed outside of London's Phoenix Theatre in Charing Cross Road as she returned to work having recovered from a back complaint which caused her to leave Tom Stoppard's play "Night and Day" temporarily. (AP Photo)
