Carter hopes to stay to see treaty signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's unannounced hope is to witness the final signing of an Egyptian-Israeli treaty as the climax of his dramatic Mideast peace mission.

This historic possibility, broached Monday by both Egyptian and Israeli leaders, was reinforced by U.S. officials.

When a Carter aide, who asked not to be named, was questioned about a possible treaty signing during the trip, he replied cryptically, "We have said on several occasions we would hope to bring this (treaty search) to an early conclusion."

In Cairo, Egyptian Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil said Carter's trip "will most likely lead to a signing."

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, noting his government's acceptance of U.S. suggestions for wrapping up a treaty, told a congressional audience.

"Let us hope Egypt will join the effort. Then if this happens, in a short period of time, we may have the ceremony of signing."

Khalil's analysis, in a telephone interview with The Associated Press, was pointed and upbeat. "When an American president puts down all his stakes, it is natural that it has to have a positive result."

White House press secretary Jody Powell said Carter will arrive in Cairo Thursday afternoon for talks with President Anwar Sadat and proceed to Jerusalem Saturday evening for talks with Begin.

Although Powell said there were no present plans for a three-way meeting among the leaders, the U.S. official who asked anonymity did not rule out a reconvening in the Middle East of the summit started last year at Camp David, Md.

Carter will be away from Washington at least a week, officials said, and longer if there are three-way talks or treaty signing.

Mrs. Carter, who will accompany the president, postponed for five days a trip to Massachusetts, Ohio, Missouri and California that was to have begun March 14.

Begin, before going to New York City Monday night, told reporters he will fly home Wednesday to prepare for "the memorable visit."

While expressing optimism, the Israeli prime minister noted that a Middle East peace seemed at hand several times since the Camp David talks last September.

"The world was happy and then came the disappointment," Begin said.

Egypt and Israel have been stalemated since November over the future of the Palestinian Arabs and other controversial issues surrounding the treaty.

After a series of meetings between Carter and Begin beginning last Thursday, the U.S. mediation effort appeared near collapse. But late Sunday, after their fourth session, there was a sudden reversal.

Carter gave Begin new and still secret U.S. proposals for breaking the deadlock. They were submitted to the Israeli cabinet, which voted Monday to accept them.

Begin then reported the cabinet action to Carter at a 10-minute White House meeting, which was sandwiched between two Carter-Sadat phone conversations. Powell's announcement of the presidential trip followed.

The prime minister later met with more than 50 U.S. senators. Several senators who were present said they gained the impression one major U.S. proposal deals with assurances to Israel that Egypt would live up to peace treaty terms despite what other arrangements it might have with Arab governments.

In Jerusalem, Israeli officials who saw Carter's proposals said they involve compromises on a timetable for negotiations on Palestinian autonomy on the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip, and on the priority the proposed treaty might take over other Egyptian or Israeli treaties.

ABC News reported from Washington that one proposal suggests the United States take over Israeli air bases in the Sinai Peninsula and sign a mutual defense treaty with Israel.

Two compromises vital to Mideast treaty hopes

JERUSALEM (AP) — President Carter's proposals to break the impasse on an Israel-Egypt peace treaty involve two compromises on the linkage issue and watered-down language in the treaty's priority clause, Israeli officials said today.

If Egypt agrees to the three changes, which Israel accepted on Monday, Carter will still face an unresolved problem on his visits to Egypt and Israel this week, the question of when the two countries exchange ambassadors after signing the treaty.

Details of Carter's ideas, which have not been made public, were given to The Associated Press by officials who saw the recommendations that were forwarded to the Cabinet by Prime Minister Menachem Begin. The officials asked not to be identified.

A major concession on Israel's part, the officials said, was in agreeing to a non-binding target date on the negotiations to set up Palestinian autonomy in the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip.

Israel refused to be bound firmly to a timetable, arguing that the Palestinians and Jordan have refused to join peace talks and Egypt could abrogate the treaty with the claim that Israel hadn't tried hard enough.

The new language, to be in a joint Israel-Egypt letter, has Israel agreeing to conclude the negotiations in 12 months but with no commitment to set up the machinery of Palestinian autonomy, the officials said.

Observers saw this as an effort to find a middle path between Israel's desire for the treaty to stand on its own and Egypt's need for a link between the peace pact and progress toward a general peace for the Middle East, including the central Palestinian issue.

A similar compromise is offered for a clause in the treaty which now says the pact stands "independently of any instrument external to this treaty." This, sources said, will be modified with language saying that phrase does not contradict the Camp David framework for a general Mideast peace. Again, this adds a measure of "linkage" without setting deadlines or penalties for non-compliance.

The priority clause of the draft treaty is one which Egypt wanted modified because it said, "in the event of a conflict between the obligations of the parties under the present treaty and any of their other obligations, the obligations under this treaty will be binding and implemented."

Egypt has defense pacts with other Arab countries, and this language seemed to nullify Egypt's obligations to its brother Arabs.

The proposed compromise, one official said, involves a change to a negative phrasing which will say something like "this treaty will not take priority over any other agreement just as no other agreement can take priority over this treaty. Both sides, then, can claim their interests are protected."

There were varying reports on whether these changes will alter treaty language itself or whether interpretive notes will be attached to the text.

In Israel's view, the major remaining issue with Egypt is on the exchange of ambassadors, which will be covered in an annex to the treaty. Israel wants the exchange to take place nine months after the treaty is signed, at the time Israeli troops withdraw from half of the Sinai Peninsula.

Midland area susceptible to outbreak of rabies

The Midland area will become more susceptible to a rabies epidemic this year or next, based upon the direction in which rabies outbreaks are spreading, said Dalton Byerly, director of Midland's Animal Control Shelter, Monday.

"So far we've been lucky," he said. "There are no known domestic animals with rabies in Midland."

But springtime brings out the mating instinct of animals, especially that of skunks, Byerly said.

Already, more skunks are being killed on highways, as they become more active during the breeding season.

And skunks are a prime suspect for rabies in this area, Byerly noted.

Texas is "endemic" with rabies, said Jewel Smith, chief sanitarian for the Midland City County Health Department. He said that's the major reason why persons should get their animals vaccinated for rabies and to be wary of loose animals.

In 1978, Texas had the largest number of reported cases of rabies since 1961, with 563 animals confirmed as having the disease, according to a Texas Department of Health spokesman.

This year, rabies already is twice as bad in some parts of the state as last year, according to the spokesman.

He said one death among humans was recorded in Texas last year — in Fort Bend County. The victim was a native of Guanajuato, Mexico, and it is believed he was exposed to the virus in Mexico before crossing the border.

Midland County has had seven or eight cases reported in the past few years. The last one involved a rabid fox, Smith said Monday.

One person currently is undergoing rabies treatment after being bitten by a dog. Smith pointed out that the Midland City County Health Department is the supply point for rabies vaccine for all the surrounding counties.

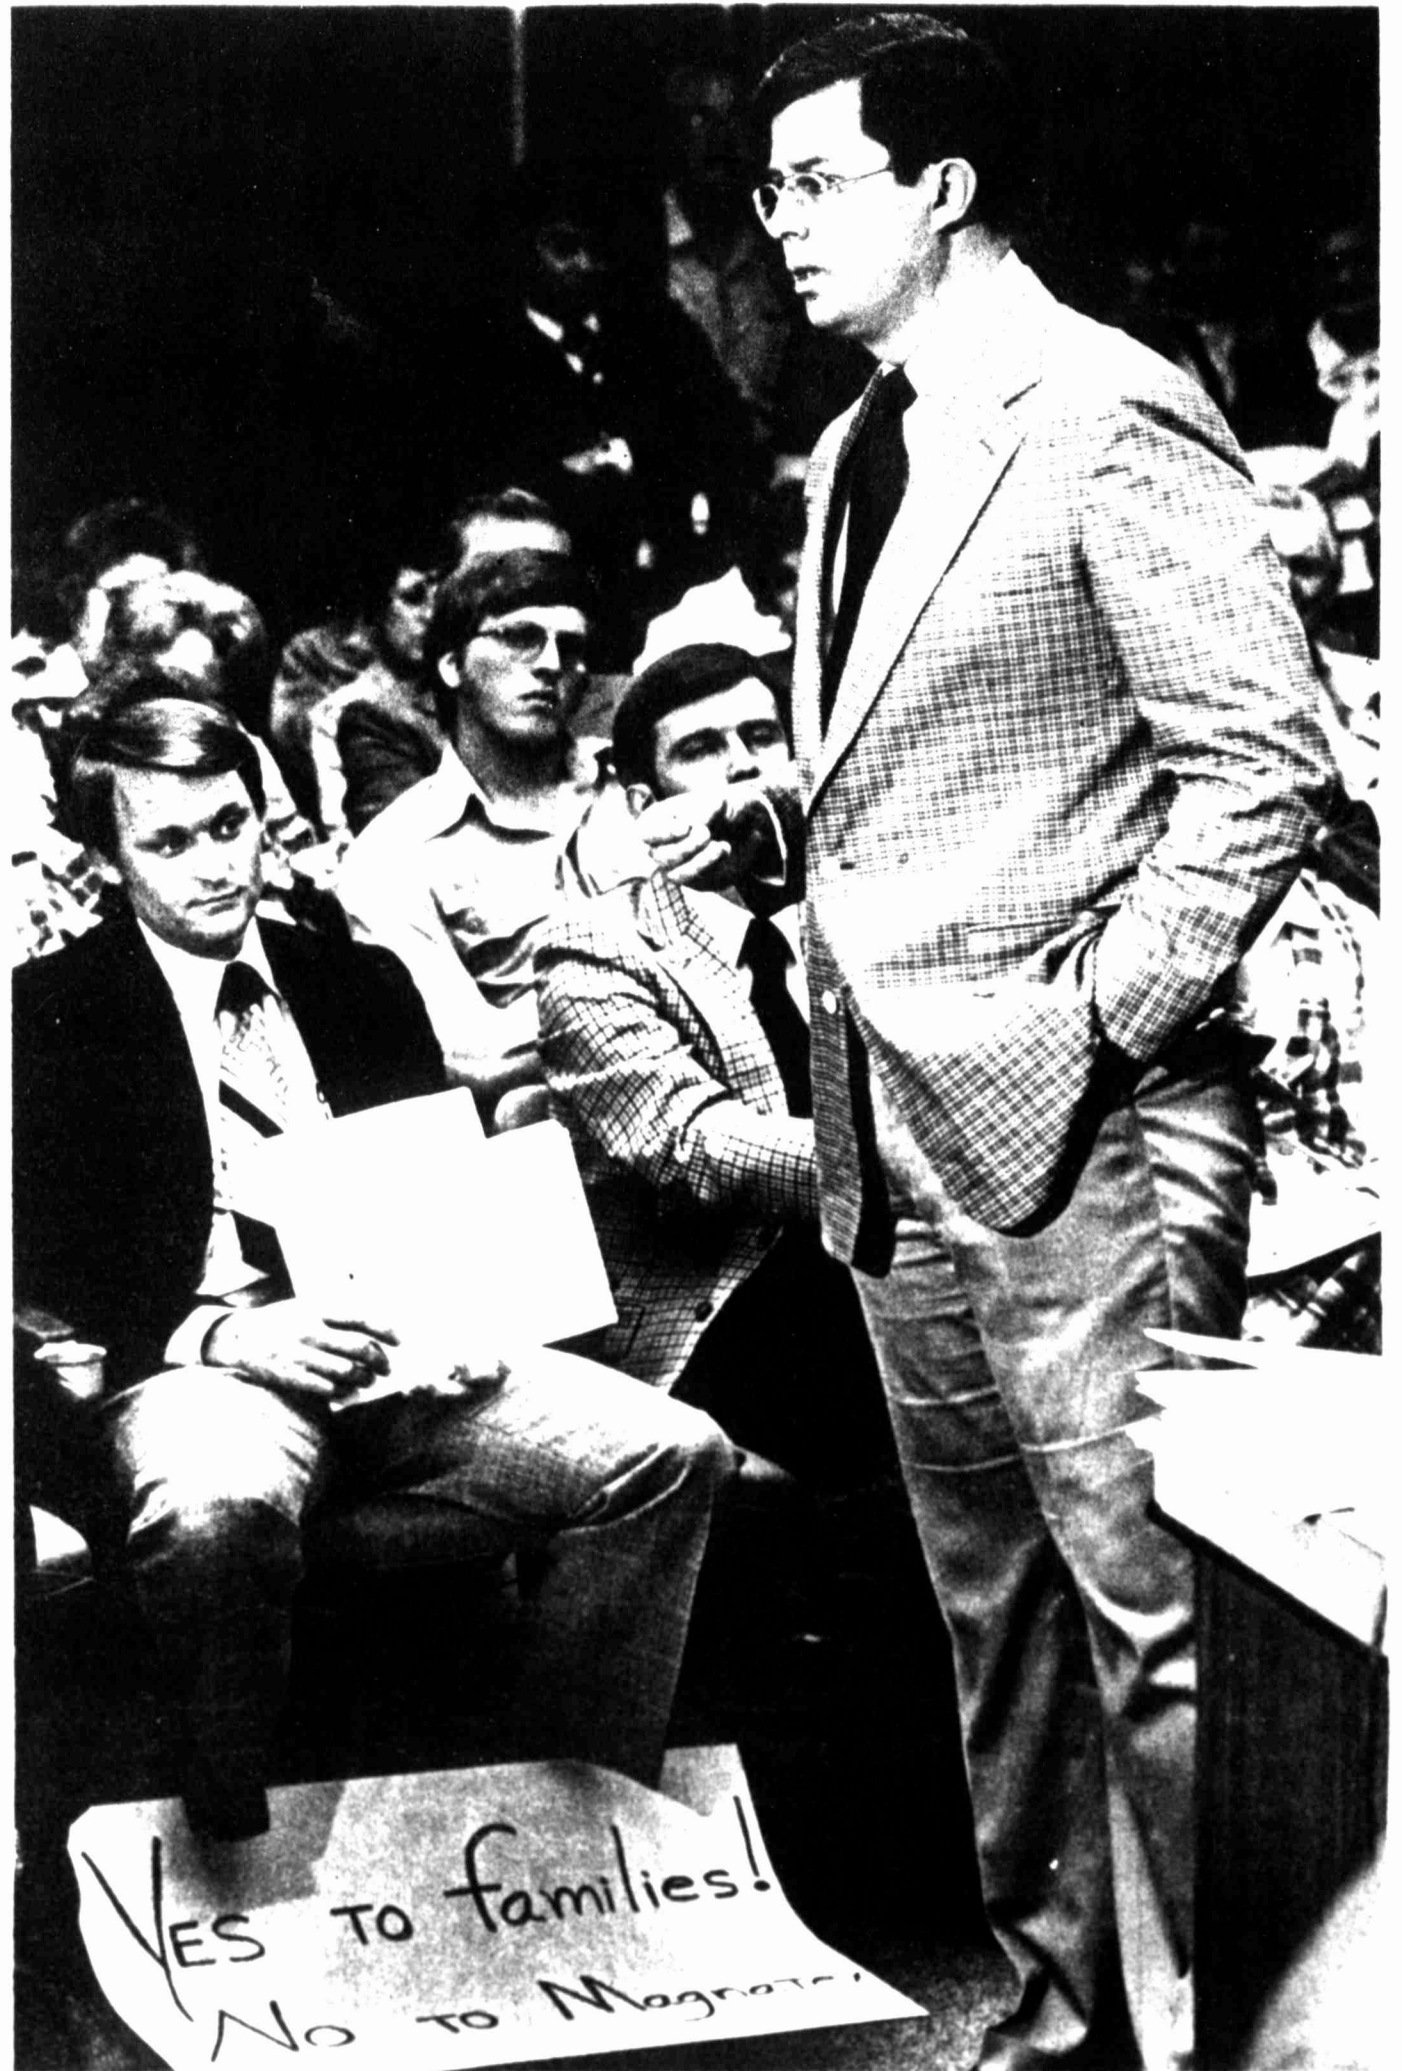

Determining if an animal is rabid before coming into contact with it sometimes is not easy, he said.

One example occurred in Matagorda County, where 23 persons had to take rabies shots after playing with a 7-week-old puppy. The puppy had been given to some children by their grandmother who had no idea the animal had been exposed to the virus, Smith recalled.

The largest number of rabies cases in wildlife are diagnosed in skunks, said the agency spokesman, backing up Byerly's remarks. Last year, skunks accounted for 449 cases of rabies in Texas.

Since skunks do live close to man, particularly in rural areas and small towns, there is always the chance that a pet will come into contact with a

The Planning and Zoning Commission Monday was greeted by 100 or so mostly angry Midlanders in City Hall during a meeting to hear arguments concerning an application by Magnatex Corp. to construct a shopping mall in the northwest

Shopping center concept OK'd by planning group

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
Staff Writer

It was like a three-act play competition, replete with actors appearing before judges in a long skit — the conclusion leaving onlookers on the edges of their chairs.

At the end of the six-hour drama Monday night, Magnatex Corp. had received a favorable recommendation from the city Planning and Zoning Commission on the general concept of its proposed retail shopping center, to be called Midkiff Plaza, at the southeast corner of Loop 250 and North Midkiff Road.

The commission sat as a seven-member tribunal, listening to the testimony from company officials and protesting area residents before giving judgment.

On a 5-2 vote, with Margaret Purvis and George Veloz the dissenting members, the move to favorably recommend changing zoning on 45,517 acres of land to LR-2 and on 2,136 acres to LR-1 passed.

The commission will study further the proposed planned district for townhouses and the preliminary plan.

WHEN THE PROPOSAL first came before the Planning and Zoning Commission on Jan. 15, residents living in a residential area south of the proposed center appeared at the meeting to register their complaints.

Some of those complaints were noted and changes made in the preliminary plan, with the new form showing a buffer zone of townhomes between already existing single-family dwellings and the shopping center.

Harrell Feldt, representing Magnatex, outlined the retail proposal, saying the burden to prove the plan worthwhile had been placed upon the back of Magnatex, represented in this case by the corporation's president, Charles H. Priddy.

"I want to say in all good faith and candor to the people here," Feldt began, "that the point I would like to make is there are certain parameters that Magnatex has lived within in this development."

"We would like to demonstrate that this is the best use for that land and

"We are not making anything to suit our selfishness. That is not our interest at all."

develop it to be compatible with the areas around it."

Referring to comments reportedly circulated in recent weeks about the firm and its shopping center, Feldt said, "We are not the shark seeking to swallow the goldfish. That is not in the best interest of the community."

FACING THE ATTORNEY and the commission were signs with printed slogans protesting Magnatex and the shopping center. Slogans included "I'm just a fish about to be eaten by Magnatex," "We feel betrayed in Emerson Heights" or "What's happening to Midland zoning protection?"

The shopping center would be across the road from the Midland Park Mall, and Feldt said this is important to Midkiff Plaza.

While Midland Park Mall will have about 750,000 square feet of space, the plaza will have about 425,000 square feet. "This is bigger than any shopping center that now exists in this city."

With the conclusion of his opening statement, Feldt then called on his "witnesses," or supporting characters, to further develop the plot.

Craig Eaton, an urban planner with a Dallas firm, said Magnatex had taken another look at the plan and decided it could live without Whitney and Lanham streets connecting into the shopping center.

INSTEAD, WITH THE buffer zone, the streets would deadend and small parks would separate the streets from the townhomes.

Loop 250, proposed to run along the same route as FM 868, should take most of the traffic to the area without putting too much on to Midkiff, Garfield and Wadley streets, Eaton contended.

Speaking slowly and deliberately, Eaton said Magnatex is giving about 20 percent of its land to the city for the Loop's rights of way. "At today's land prices, it makes you look at the highest and best uses of the land," that being a shopping center, he said.

Following Eaton was Dr. Richard Johnson of Dallas, an economics expert with Southern Methodist University.

Pointing out there are $162 million in shopping center sales to be had in Midland, Johnson said there exists an increasing need for shopping center space in the Tall City.

"BIG INVESTORS don't want to go to strip, or small, shopping centers. They need the maximum exposure," said Johnson.

In a few years, Midland will be a million square feet short of shopping

Vaccinations for rabies suggested for Midland pets

"I've seen skunks all over town," Byerly said, noting the animals do not confine themselves to uninhabited areas.

The director said his department already has received some calls about skunks "going after" people, which is a behavior indicative of rabies.

Skunks born in captivity still can have rabies, the spokesman for the state agency said. Incubation period for the virus is from 20 days to 18 months, and a new owner may have no way of knowing if his pet has been exposed until it already is too late, said the spokesman.

The disease may not be apparent in a skunk until the damage is done, the

Moderate temperatures to continue

Spring looks like it is here to stay for awhile.

Fair skies with warm days and cool nights through Wednesday is the word from the National Weather Service office at Midland Regional Airport.

The moderate temperatures are expected to be accompanied by winds of only 10 to 15 mph, so now is the time to start on that summer tan or kite flying practice.

Wednesday's high is predicted to be near 70, with the overnight low in the mid 30s.

Record high for Monday is 85 degrees set in 1956. Record low today is 16 degrees set in 1948.

Neither temperature came near Monday's recorded numbers. High was 62 with the overnight low this morning of 37.

Area towns were sharing in the good weather this morning, with most reporting fair skies and cool temperatures.

Judge studies gas pricing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge is weighing arguments that he should halt new gasoline pricing rules until the government determines their impact on the air Americans breathe.

U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. was asked Monday to issue a preliminary injunction on grounds the rules would encourage motorists to use cheaper but dirtier leaded fuel.

Attorney Diane Cohn, arguing for consumer advocate Ralph Nader, said the new rules would cause "permanent and irreversible" harm to air quality. She contended the government violated environmental laws by failing to adequately assess this damage.

DEATHS

Virga D. Moore

MUNDAY — Virga Dell Moore, 69, of Munday, stepmother of Jo Ann Stroud of Midland and Gloria Faye Scott of Big Spring, died Monday afternoon in a Seymour hospital following a lengthy illness.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Emmanuel Baptist Church in Decatur with the Rev. Leroy Jackson, pastor, and Woodrow Simpson of Decatur officiating.

Burial will be in Oaklawn Cemetery in Decatur, directed by McCauley-Smith Funeral Home.

Born Dec. 11, 1909, in Wise County, she married Homer Austin Moore Dec. 16, 1961, in Knox City. She had lived here 17 years.

Other survivors include her husband, two sons, Bennie Joe Moore of Azle and Floyd Wayne Moore of Decatur, three daughters, Helen Claudine Edans of Brownwood, Wanda Shirleen Cleary of Fort Worth and Sheila Marie Kimmel of Munday, a stepson, Homer Moore Jr. of Jal, N.M., a stepdaughter, Wanda Gae Noles of Austin, a brother, Wallace Ford of Porterville, Calif., three sisters, Flossie Owens of Lorenzo, Estelle Meadows of Nordheim and Gladys Mae Carden of Munday, 24 grandchildren, 15 stepgrandchildren, 18 great grandchildren and six step-great-grandchildren.

Robert H. Dennis

Robert H. Dennis, 65, of 3707 Roosevelt St. died Monday in a Midland hospital.

Services are pending at Richardson Funeral Home in Shamrock. Local arrangements were made by Newline W. Ellis Funeral Home here.

Born Oct. 25, 1913, in Killeen, Dennis spent his early life in Shamrock where he attended school. He attended Abilene Christian College. Dennis served in the military during World War II. He was stationed in Hawaii.

Upon his discharge from the service, Dennis returned to Shamrock. He came to Midland from Kermit in 1951. Dennis transferred to Midland as an analyst with Mobile Oil Co. at the Pegasus Refinery.

He was a member of the Golf Course Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife, Onida, a son, Robert Scott Dennis of Houston, a daughter, Pat Novavica of Nederland, and five grandchildren.

Ann Campbell

Services for Ann B. Campbell, 55, of Houston and formerly of Midland, were to be at 3 p.m. today in the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in Houston with the Rev. John Ward officiating. Burial was to be in Forest Park Lawndale Cemetery directed by Forest Park Lawndale Funeral Home.

Mrs. Campbell died Sunday in a Midland hospital.

She was born Jan. 2, 1924, in New York City, N.Y., where she spent her early life. She moved to Houston in 1952. She had worked for Gulf Oil Co. and was working for the City of Houston in the planning department at the time of her death.

Survivors include a son, Jerry Campbell of Midland; a daughter, Barbara Ann Campbell of Houston; a sister, Marie Polaksy of New York, and a granddaughter.

The family has asked that memorials be made to the Midland Memorial Hospital Foundation in lieu of flowers. (More Obituaries, Page 4A)

Magnatex Corp. gets favorable vote for shopping center in Midland

Drainage Channel, Haner said.

Magnatex plans to install a 27-inch storm sewer pipe along Apollo Drive, which is the street facing the townhouses, and to connect into the Midkiff drainage system, he said.

"It won't catch all the flow of higher frequency storms," he said. "A storm on the 25-year frequency would put a foot of water in the streets (in the residential area) and would be a nuisance," Haner said.

Finally came Charles Priddy, the head of the corporation which had been termed a threat to families by protesters in the audience.

Half-glasses perched on his nose, Priddy began by saying this was the first time he has needed to defend his company.

"Magnatex has more to gain and more to lose on this project than anyone else here," he said. "We have established ourselves here over the years in working for the community. I now see the corporation cast in a bad light."

"Our history is one of performance. When we say we will do something, we do it. You won't find another developer as community oriented as Magnatex," he concluded.

FIVE MEN SERVED as spokesmen for the 100 or more persons packed into the Council Chambers.

Gene Stack first assured Priddy the residents are not against him or Magnatex.

"It's just that we need some guarantees on this proposal, like planned district for the whole tract."

Bob Stillman commented on the increasing drainage problem to the residences south of the project.

"Since Midland's drainage problems are no secret, I recommend better drainage be planned for the development," he said.

Danny White of 2818 Emerson Place said the traffic in the area would increase. The cul de sacs in the area also would have more people turning around in them, he contended, and children would have more confrontations with automobiles.

Tom Gentry of 2903 Emerson Place charged the plan came well after the single family homes in the area had been established.

Wayne Merritt of 2809 Andover St. objected to the zoning, saying it would allow flashing signs, service stations and quick-eating places, just to mention a few of the potential problem businesses.

Another spectator, Duke Wilson of 2820 Emerson Place, pointed out that when the lots are sold the corporation will no longer have control over them, as Priddy had promised.

And Bill Pickering of 2815 Emerson Place resides in a home off the southeast corner of the shopping center and the drainage "is a terrific problem there. I've watched two Dempsey Dumpsters float by after a rain."

DIRECTOR OF PLANNING and Community Development Department Richard Hennessy said his staff had problems accepting a residential section, such as the townhouses, for a buffer zone.

Commission Member Robert South-erland suggested a garden-type office complex as a buffer zone instead of townhouses.

Another member, Margaret Purvis, said she liked the shopping center concept, but could not go with it because it fails to allow the residential section to be completed "without a lot of deadend streets."

Conclusion to the first phase of the drama should come when the commission reviews the planned district and preliminary plat during a March 19 meeting.

After that, the plan will still have to go before the Midland City Council.

'Obstacle' to summit with Brezhnev removed

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a couple of months of conflicting signals, Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev now appears willing to meet with President Carter in the United States if the two countries reach agreement on a new strategic arms limitation treaty.

American and Soviet diplomats are indicating that development removes a potential obstacle to a summit meeting between the two.

Until this week, the Soviets had been informally telling journalists and American diplomats that Brezhnev did not want to come to the United States, raising fears at the State Department that the issue of a summit site would further delay the long quest for SALT II.

But Brezhnev, in a policy speech last week and in brief remarks to reporters Sunday when he cast his ballot in Soviet elections, appeared to take for granted that he would be traveling when the time came to sign the treaty.

"When the documents are completed by (Secretary of State Cyrus) Vance and our minister, then we will go and sign," he said.

A Soviet source in Washington added Monday that "We have no preference. We're open to suggestions," from the United States about the site for a summit.

The American position has always been that Brezhnev ought to come to the United States for any summit meeting, continuing the pattern that saw President Nixon go to Moscow in 1972, Brezhnev to Washington in 1973, and President Ford to Vladivostok in 1974.

In December, the White House indicated that it would like to have a signing ceremony in Washington, followed by several days of talks at St. Simon's Island, a Georgia vacation spot used by Carter.

Shortly afterwards, the Soviets began informally putting out word that they saw the matter differently and wanted the meeting in Moscow.

They argued that Ford's visit to Vladivostok in 1974 was not a formal state visit but a working visit to which both men traveled roughly the same distance. Therefore, it was the American turn to repay Brezhnev's formal state visit in 1973, they said.

The Soviets never raised the issue in formal diplomatic terms, however. They left it in the nature of a trial balloon.

American analysts speculated at that time that the Soviets might be unwilling to have Brezhnev go to Washington for several reasons.

Some felt that they were reluctant to place him in a position where comparisons might be drawn unfavorably to the reception accorded Chinese Premier Deng Xiaoping (Teng Hsiao-ping) on his state visit.

Others felt that Brezhnev, 72, and in uncertain health, was unwilling to make a long flight to Washington, followed by another trip to a second site within the United States.

Magruder seeks re-election to county hospital board

The first incumbent in the Midland County Hospital District Board of Directors race filed for re-election Monday afternoon.

Edwin H. Magruder, 54, turned in his filing petitions to the hospital administration office Monday.

A 30-year Midland resident, Magruder served four years as mayor of the city, four years on the City Council and was a member of the planning and zoning commission. He also has been active in a number of civic organizations.

His goal for the hospital, he said, is "the best health care service the district can provide to the people at the most economical cost."

He has served on the board since its beginning after the district was formed in April 1977 and hopes "to see the new addition and renovation through to their completion."

Another goal Magruder lists for the hospital is "attracting more physicians with more specialties for the people of this district and area so the people will be attracted to this hospital and utilize it to the fullest extent."

The only other candidate to file for one of three positions open on the board of directors is Dr. Henrie Mast, a retired Midland surgeon.

The other two incumbents whose terms expire this year, L. Decker Dawson and Robert L. Pendleton, have not announced their intention to run for re-election.

Candidates for the hospital district board are elected at large, with the three candidates getting the most votes serving on the board.

Potential candidates have until Monday to file for the hospital board. Candidates must have petitions with the names of 25 registered voters on file in the hospital administration office before their names can be included on the ballot.

The election will be held April 7 in connection with the Midland and Greenwood schools and the city elections.

'Buss' Collins

GORMAN — Services for Henry A. "Buss" Collins, 90, of Gorman, father of Arthur Collins of Midland, were Sunday in Higginbotham Funeral Home here.

Burial was in Gorman Cemetery. Collins died Friday in an Eastland hospital.

He was born Nov. 4, 1888, in Cedar Town, Ga., and moved to Eastland County when he was 7 years old. He was a retired farmer. He was a member of New Hope Baptist Church. He was married to Willie Clara Hood Jan. 10, 1915, in the Victor Community. He was preceded in death by a son.

Other survivors include his wife, three sons, a daughter, five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

More extensive flooding expected

By The Associated Press

It's a grim fact of winter life in much of the Midwest: rising temperatures mean rising waters. But this year's heavy snowpack has some officials worried that current flooding is little more than a trickle compared with things to come.

Erie Jones, director of the state emergency services department in Illinois, said Monday the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers believes the Rock River, in the northern part of the state, may experience the worst flooding in its history.

Under the worst conditions, engineers said, Rockford, Ill. — the state's second largest city with 160,000 population — could soon be under 10 feet of water in some residential and business districts. The Rock River flows through the heart of the city.

"There's going to be flooding, and people should take precautions to protect their possessions and their homes if they're in flood plains," Jones said.

Some businesses, especially those located on or near the river, have already moved expensive equipment out of basement storerooms.

Jones said Gov. James Thompson has asked the Corps of Engineers to assist residents of Moline and Milan, who must raise levees on the Rock River in anticipation of flooding. If the river floods just the community of Milan, Jones said $100 million worth of property could be destroyed.

Commission Chairman Jim Clipson Jr. presented Masterson with a plaque and a resolution signed by the five other commissioners expressing their appreciation of Masterson.

Masterson was appointed to a six-year term on the commission by Gov. Dolph Briscoe in October 1975, and served as chairman of the commission from November 1976 to November 1978.

Weekend flooding that claimed at least 12 lives inundated much of the Midwest, the Southeast and portions of the Northeast. Some areas began to dry out by Monday, but some didn't.

Nearly 1,000 people were trapped by high water in a Grand Rapids, Mich., apartment complex and flash flooding was reported in sections of the Carolinas.

In Nebraska, melting snow and the breakup of thick ice on rivers and streams in the eastern third of Nebraska had river watchers concerned Monday.

Roy Osugi, hydrologist at the Omaha Weather Service, said he suspected there would be some flooding this week, "but it is hard to say to what degree."

He said moisture or the lack of it, thawing and ice action would determine what kind of flooding might occur, adding that concern for flooding now is considerable, following the heavy, wet snow — up to 10 inches in places — that fell in eastern Nebraska over the weekend.

More than 40 families were evacuated from the town of Shelby in northwestern Indiana as flood waters poured through a break in a dike along the swollen Kankakee River.

Lake County Civil Defense coordinator Donald Zisoff said the river reached a record 11.84 feet — two inches higher than last spring when hundreds of homes were flooded.

In western New York Monday, melting snow and rising water forced the evacuation of more than 100 families.

"It's pretty disastrous-looking," said Hanover Police Chief Jack Kohler, where 300 residents had been evacuated by boat Sunday and Monday.

To the South, residents in Georgia, Alabama, Florida were busy mopping up after the Saturday and Sunday storms.

Voyager 1 leaving Jupiter for Saturn

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Voyager 1 spaceship is sailing away from its dramatic meeting with Jupiter while happily exhausted scientists today begin tinkering with their wealth of new information.

The Voyager, which soared 172,473 miles from Jupiter's swirling, multicolored clouds Monday morning, has turned its television eyes on the large moons that circle the planet like colorful, cosmic jewels. Scientists saw the unexpected almost immediately.

"It's been an overwhelmingly successful encounter," said Edward Stone, chief scientist for Voyager. "We accomplished everything we intended to accomplish and we have observed things we didn't expect to see."

Man still 'serious'

A Midland man remained in serious condition today in Midland Memorial Hospital after he suffered injuries in a two-vehicle accident near Hogan Park Sunday night.

According to reports, Juan Flores, 18, of 511 E. Estes Ave. was a passenger in a car driven by Jesse Rogers of 510 E. Estes Ave. The Rogers car and a pickup being driven by Earl Wayne Wimberly, 38, of 3127 Roosevelt Ave., collided about 10:50 p.m. Sunday on Wadley Avenue, said officials.

Wimberly and Rogers were treated and released at Midland Memorial Hospital for lacerations, a hospital spokesman said.

'Weakest in lifetime'

A great deal of promotion effort preceded President Carter's foreign policy address delivered recently at Atlanta. But from all accounts the address must have been unusually disappointing.

He had been expected to describe how the United States might reassert its influence in the increasingly troubled international arena, or even to define the increasing dangers in Iran, Southeast Asia and Southern Africa, but instead of that he merely proclaimed the Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty (SALT II) to be the cornerstone of administration foreign policy.

Disappointing is putting it mildly in this particular instance. In fact, it is frightening.

In declaring that the most completed U.S.-Soviet pact is "a fundamental element of strategic and political stability in a turbulent world," Mr. Carter unwittingly made his foreign policy more than ever hostage to the U.S. Senate, where SALT II already is known to be in serious trouble. He now has magnified the adverse impact of a possible ratification defeat.

Such misdirected salesmanship of SALT II was not what Americans wanted to hear, following closely on the heels of a week in which the President was rebuked publicly, and professionally, in Mexico; a U.S. ambassador was kidnapped and murdered in Afghanistan, a Communist gang stormed and captured the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, and China invaded Vietnam.

The President actually seemed to reaffirm the tug-of-war going on within his administration between the realists of Zbigniew Brzezinski's national security camp and the detentists of the State Department. Again he refused to link Soviet misbehavior and SALT II, and spoke reassuringly of our relationship with the Soviet Union as being a "mixture of cooperation and competition."

Meanwhile, in Asia, Africa and the Middle East, conditions appear to be going from bad to worse. The newly ascended government of Ayatollah Khomeini in Iran has been under serious siege by Red revolutionaries. Cuban military forces in Southern Africa are taking up station with the Patriotic Front against Rhodesia, and the Western-backed independence plan for Namibia (Southwest Africa) suddenly has been jeopardized by guerrilla attacks. And chances of a Sino-Soviet confrontation in Asia haven't appeared too good either, of late.

Even though reports over the weekend said that China was preparing for an immediate ceasefire and withdrawal of its forces from Vietnam, the chances of a war between China and Russia appeared somewhat likely at the time of the President's Atlanta address.

But instead of offering a strong U.S. mediation role which could give the two Communist super powers a face-saving way out of the dangerously escalating situation, Mr. Carter announced that the U.S. would remain neutral — a reassurance to the Kremlin faction which might be urging a preemptive strike against China.

Thus, looming above the President's indecisive leadership in dealing with economic and energy problems is his greater failure in formulating new foreign policy directions based on U.S. self-interest, especially concerning hot spots in Africa and the Mideast.

This failure, perhaps more than anything else, is the basis for the widespread description of Mr. Carter as being "embarrassingly weak" by an influential Democrat senator, Adlai Stevenson. This also is the basis for foreign disdain as voiced in London recently by Harold Macmillan. The former prime minister of Britain said the Carter administration represented "the weakest leadership in my lifetime," because the United States lets the Soviet Union get away with anything "just like Hitler got away with anything."

President Carter appears to be weakest where he needs to be strongest. For, while the nation retains the ability to work out of most domestic difficulties, its international failures could carry it down a slippery slope from which there can be no recovery.

This is a matter which merits serious study by the powers that be. It is something which presidential hopefuls of both Democrat and Republican persuasions can and will be debating in the days, weeks and months ahead.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Chang Chi-fu: Top drug peddler

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — From our private rogues' gallery of international scoundrels, we have identified the world's most notorious drug trafficker. He is Chang Chi-fu, 45-year-old Burmese leader of an army of mercenary cutthroats in the "Golden Triangle" area of Southeast Asia.

Chang, also known by his Burmese Shan name of Khun Sa, is the boss of the world's biggest opium ring. He controls a so-called "Shan United Army," supposedly a patriotic liberation army of freedom fighters that battle Communist enemies of the Burmese government. But the group is actually nothing more than a well-armed gang of dope smugglers led by Chinese ethnics who control half the Golden Triangle's opium trade.

The self-styled liberation army's true mission is to provide protection for shipments of narcotics to Thailand — tons of high-grade opium which, when refined into heroin, eventually finds its way into the veins of junkies in the United States.

During the years of U.S. involvement in Vietnam Chang cleverly used his patriotic cover to consolidate control over the booming dope traffic in the Golden Triangle.

Burmese authorities apprehended Chang and put him under house arrest for a couple of years in the early 1970s, but he escaped in 1975 and made his way back to his army headquarters. Under his leadership, the Shan United Army has become the largest single drug-peddling organization in Southeast Asia.

Chang's father was also an opium merchant. His associates claim that Chang is a legitimate businessman, and point to his tin mines and jade exporting interests in Burma. But our associate Jack Mitchell has learned from intelligence sources that he is the new kingpin of international dope smuggling.

Two years ago we exposed what was then the largest narcotics ring in history, operating in the Golden Triangle. The publicity from subsequent congressional hearings, and pressure from the U.S. government, forced most of the drug dealers into hiding.

Today, however, many of them have resumed their illicit activities, operating freely under the noses of Chinese- and Soviet-backed troops.

ANIMAL REPRIEVE: Like the legendary officer who set out to save a Vietnamese village by destroying it, the Safari Club International wants to save 39 endangered species of African and Asian wildlife by slaughtering some of them for trophies.

Last August, the Arizona-based club submitted a proposed yearly shopping list of 1,120 rare animals to the Fish and Wildlife Service, which grants exceptions to the ban on such hunting under the Endangered Species Act. The club recently withdrew the application on the grounds that the proposal was never approved by its board of directors.

That's just as well, because the club probably would have been subjected to a Justice Department investigation challenging some of the claims it made.

At one point in the permit application the club said that it had the approval of various foreign countries to hunt the animals. But the New York Zoological Society noted that at least five animals on the club's intended list were fully protected by the host nations.

For example, the club asked permission to kill 10 orangutans yearly. But the Zoological Society noted that

HEMISPHERE REPORT: Better relations between U.S., Mexico in prospect

By WILLIAM GIANDONI
Copley News Service

William Giandoni

El petroleo es nuestro. The oil is ours.

Mexico has been saying that for years. For 41 years, to be precise. Since March 18, 1938, when President Lazaro Cardenas expropriated most of the U.S. and other foreign oil companies in Mexico after they challenged the authority of his government.

The message should be clear, well understood at home and abroad, by now.

Yet there is ample evidence to indicate that the word has not penetrated the thinking of men in high places in Washington, D.C.

That is why President Jose Lopez Portillo had to speak out so sharply on the occasion of President Jimmy Carter's recent visit to the Aztec Republic.

Apparently Mr. Carter had been getting questionable advice from those whose obligation it is to counsel him on U.S. relations with Mexico.

That, of course, is only a surmise.

But the evidence points that way. Even men in the U.S. capital who claim the greatest expertise on Latin America sometimes demonstrate a lack of sensitivity toward Mexico.

For instance, Sen. Jacob Javits, R-

N.Y., a man whose interests in Latin America are widespread, commented recently that if Mexico's petroleum reserves are as great as those of Saudi Arabia, "they are the greatest asset we have."

Javits' enthusiasm at reports that Mexico's proven reserves amount to some 40 billion barrels and that potential reserves may run as high as 200 billion was obvious.

But Mexicans would have preferred him to say that they are the greatest asset Mexico has.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, another of Mexico's friends in Washington, has spoken of "the vast reservoir of Mexican oil right in our own back yard."

Mexicans, who recall that Texas used to belong to them, prefer to think of southeastern Mexico as their back yard, not ours, as Mexico's most productive oil fields are some 800 miles south of the border.

Such slips of the tongue are generally, though not always, allowed to pass without comment in Mexico because the men who made them are presumed to have done so innocently.

But the one of Mr. Carter's high-level advisers whose lapses are not tolerated is Energy Secretary James Schlesinger. Schlesinger is blamed for aborting an arrangement under which Mexico proposed to sell the United States up to 2 billion cubic feet of natural gas a day.

Schlesinger objected that the $2.60 per thousand cubic feet of gas that six U.S. pipeline companies were agreeing to pay Mexico was too high a price.

Without the approval of the U.S. Department of Energy, the deal which could have grossed Mexico as much as $1.8 billion a year, fell through.

That was in late 1977 and, despite Mexico's anguished reaction and the discussion of the subject that has gone on since then, Schlesinger was still arguing a few weeks before Mr. Carter arrived in Mexico on Valentine's Day that Mexican gas wouldn't find a significant market in the United States and that the price Mexico demands would be detrimental to consumers.

With that, and more, much more, in mind, Lopez Portillo spoke frankly to his guest.

"Between permanent and not casual neighbors sudden deceit or abuse are poisonous fruits that later or sooner are returned ... A good neighbor policy supposes a general climate of opinion in which respect prevails over prejudice and intelligence over sectarianism ..."

Despite the multiplicity and complexity of problems that the two countries share, Lopez Portillo said that the United States and Mexico ought to "treat each other as we should like to be treated."

The two presidents, at the conclusion of Mr. Carter's three-day visit, agreed to meet again later this year, in the United States. Observers in both countries expect that, having done with the preliminaries, they may reach some mutually beneficial understandings on pending problems, including oil, gas and migrant workers.

INSIDE REPORT:

Bad feeling results in frenzied rush to exit Iran

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — While anti-Americanism rushed toward a dangerous peak and big American contractors in Iran vainly sought information about the State Department's evacuation policy, military and diplomatic personnel were being quietly moved out of Tehran to safety.

That reversed the normal procedure: it is government officials, with their dependents if necessary, who usually stay till the dangerous end; the non-government Americans usually get moved out first.

But the deteriorating situation in Tehran and other hot spots in revolutionary Iran reversed that process, infuriating non-government civilians. One major contractor with several thousands of employees in the country tried desperately to learn both from the State Department and the U.S. embassy in Tehran about evacuation. The diplomats, facing understandable pressures not to undercut the then-ruling but slipping Bakhtiar regime, hedged. The contractor was discouraged from chartering airliners.

But Uncle Sam was not forgetting his own. Under an emergency (but publicly unannounced) policy of "very liberal" leave, many embassy employees and their dependents were in effect subsidized for Christmas vacation trips out of the country — from which, of course, they never returned. Admittedly, the State Department faced a difficult and even dangerous time in deciding when and how the exodus should take place. But the manner in which it finally happened left a lot of bad feeling.

HANDLE ON HAIG

Supreme NATO commander Alexander Haig, who gives up his four stars in June for a possible new political career, was the star performer at an off-the-record breakfast with a dozen Republican senators on Capitol Hill ten days ago.

In uniform and saying nothing that could be interpreted as political in any partisan sense, Haig nevertheless delivered one of the "strongest addresses on America's world problems" that one senator had ever heard. The outgoing commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) discussed the new strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union, but a careful reading between the lines was necessary to hear his warning.

Haig's voice is expected to weigh heavily against the new SALT treaty, unless the text is drastically modified by Senate amendment. But while in uniform, mum's the word. Haig's political ambitions range from the Republican presidential nomination, the vice presidential nomination if he cannot win the top spot, or the U.S. Senate seat in Pennsylvania now held by retiring Republican Sen. Richard Schweiker.

Politicians give him almost no chance for the 1980 presidential nomination, but larger prospects for either the vice presidential spot or the Senate. Continuing decline of the U.S. in the world and more defeats such as the anti-American crusade in Iran could change that and make Haig a real 1980 factor.

TOWER THE LEADER?

The prospect of Sen. John Tower of Texas replacing Tennessee's Sen. Howard Baker as Senate Republican leader would remove a major remaining White House hope that the expected arms control treaty (SALT II) with the Soviet Union may indeed win Senate approval.

No politician plays his cards closer to the vest than Baker, and nobody can be sure what he actually will do on SALT. That, plus Baker's tendency to praise Jimmy Carter after a presidential stroking session, has led White House tacticians to hope for his ultimate support. Tower, on the other hand, is much less congenial to the president and a sure vote against SALT.

Baker is expected to resign as minority leader to seek the Republican presidential nomination; Tower, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, is slightly favored over assistant minority leader Ted Stevens of Alaska to replace him.

A footnote: the first reaction to the ludicrous photograph of Tower dressed as Superman for a Dallas costume party was that he could forget the senate leadership post. But on second thought, Senate insiders thought it had helped Tower by deflating his stuffed-shirt image.

Declarer took the first trick in dummy and led the diamond, whereupon

East timidly stepped up with the ace. South took the spade return and cashed the king of diamonds to discard dummy's last spade. He thus limited his loss to a diamond, a trump and the king of clubs.

A tough cookie in the East seat would casually play a low diamond at the second trick.

NORMAL FINESSE

South then makes the contract only if he is brilliant enough to play the king of diamonds. The normal declarer tries a finesse with the jack on the assumption that East doesn't have the ace but may have the queen of diamonds.

After this normal finesse, West wins and leads another spade. South eventually loses a trick in each suit.

It takes courage and quick thinking to be a tough cookie.

As dealer you hold: S-K64; H-Q984; D-3; C-AQJ96. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one club. You have 12 points in high cards and should count another two points for the singleton. The total of 14 points makes and opening bid virtually mandatory.

Lee Marvin case begins eighth week

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Lee Marvin property rights trial is entering its eighth week with Michelle Triola Marvin returning to the witness stand.

The trial was to resume today.

Miss Marvin's lawyer Marvin Mitchellson was expected to ask her to explain in detail why her name was on the lease for a Hollywood apartment during the period she lived with Marvin at a Malibu beach house.

Marvin's lawyers called Miss Marvin to the stand Friday and produced the lease in efforts to prove she never expected to live permanently at the actor's home.

Miss Marvin, 46, said she signed the lease as a favor to her manager, Mimi Marleaux, who had just moved to California and had not established credit. She said Miss Marleaux paid the rent and lived there.

After Miss Marvin's additional testimony on the lease question, Marvin's attorneys will continue their case. They have said they expect to call six more witnesses, including Marvin.

Girl's basketball season finishes at tourney

By JULIE OCHSNER, CINDY CANFIELD & ROBIN BENNETT

Hey, Rebs! Friday night our great Girls Basketball Team took on the Plainview girls in the regional tournament at Abilene. The Rebs played a hard-fought battle but were defeated 57-48. We congratulate the girls on their excellent season. They have showed just how great our girls really are!

Special congratulations go to Earnest Merrit for making the 1979 All-District 5-4A basketball team and to Mike McGaha for making Honorable Mention. We are very proud of these special guys.

Last Tuesday night the Rebel Booster Club introduced the participants of the baseball, track, swimming, gymnastics and golf teams. Supporters filled the cafeteria to support each sport! Keep it up, Boosters.

The baseball team started with a hit Thursday at Hobbs, winning 5-2. Then Friday, on our Rebel Diamond, the team came back for more of the same. Our Rebels smashed Hobbs the game after 5½ innings because they were waving the white flag. Our Rebel Batmen defeated them 19-2! Way to go, guys! They traveled to Lubbock to take on Coronado Saturday in a double-header. In the first game, our guys lost 8-5, but came back to win 10-3 in the second game.

The annual Tournament of Champions will start at 8 p.m. Thursday in Cubs Stadium, with our Lee men taking on the Puppies from cross-town. Come on out and watch us make those Pupies run home with their tails between their legs. The tournament will be Thursday night and all day Friday and Saturday. The teams participating are Lee, Midland, Duncannonville, Lubbock Monterey, and a newcomer, R. L. Turner. It's going to be a great weekend, so ya'll come out and cheer for our Rebel Batmen!

The Junior vs. Faculty volleyball game will be at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Rebel gym. Come on out and help the Juniors pay and the girls placed ninth. Way to go, swimmers!

Coronation is close at hand. It's only a little over a week away. The theme is "The Emerald City." Come on out and see who was elected to our 1979 Rebelee Court.

Well, Rebel Track fans, we have been robbed again by those Pansy Panthers from Permian! Our cindermen won to all who support them even though they didn't get the first place trophy! Dwight Washington won the 200-meter dash, Phil Carlton won the 400 meters, Mark Landers, Phil Carlton, Jody Sessom and Dwight Washington won first in the 440 relay. Steve Hooper placed second in the 1600 meters, Arthur Pertile placed second in the 800 meters, with Gary Butler coming in sixth. Steward Laufer placed third in the 300-meter hurdles. Jeff McCowan placed first in the shot, with Herb Pearce coming in third and Rodney Taylor fourth. Jeff also placed fourth in the discus. Elmer Montgomery placed second in the long jump with Jody Sessom placing fourth in the long jump. This weekend the guys will be running in the West Texas Relays in Odessa. Whiz past 'em guys.

The girls track team also participated in the Pecos Relays. Lori Breeding placed second in the 80-meter hurdles with Kerri Shaw placing fifth. Way to go, girls. The girls also will be in the West Texas Relays. Run over them, girls!

Our splashing swimmers competed in the regional meet this weekend in the COM pool. Carey Carrens broke a record in the 100-meter breaststroke which qualifies him for the State Meet in Austin. Carey placed 2nd in the 200 IM. Our guys placed third in the meet over all and the girls placed ninth. Way to go, swimmers!

B.C. Comments: For a true conception of Plan "O," I suggest you read an article in last Sunday's Reporter-Telegram, Page 14, Section D, entitled: Teacher group writes open letter concerning Plan "O."

This article was very well written after much thought and consideration, and will dispel fears that the plan is terrible, because it was written from the head and not the heart. Personally, I do not take a stand for or against Plan "O" because Que Sera Sera.

We who are planning on going to Padre at Easter must have a meeting at 7:30 a.m. Friday. This means absolutely everyone and I will accept no excuses! This is the third such meeting and we have yet to have all present. If you are going—BE HERE OR YOU ARE NOT GOING!

The work schedule does not change even though the quarter did. Workers are expected to work through March 16.

Today is a very special day—cause my son is 16! Mom and I say "HAPPY SWEET 16, GREG!"

Bye for now, Julie, Cindy & Robin P.S. Special thanks from Julie to Randy Martin and Dan Miller for their time-consuming help!

P.P.S. Sorority Forum—College '79 at the 1st United Methodist Church at 7 p.m.—Monday, March 12. Bring a pen, your high school activities, ACT or SAT scores, hobbies and class rank.

Fire guts home

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — Sherman police are investigating a fire that swept through the residence of an embattled Sherman pastor who is the target of an ouster attempt by two fellow ministers and some members of his congregation.

Police dispatcher J.D. Cook said the fire Monday night "completely gutted" the one-story brick parsonage of the Rev. Charles Glass, pastor of the First United Pentecostal Church.

The fire spread quickly through the residence shortly before 8 p.m. No one was injured, and damage estimates were unavailable.

The fire occurred on the eve of a hearing by church presbyters in Lufkin today to determine the future of Glass' ministry with the denomination.

The fire "had to be set," said Glass, who had traveled to Lufkin with about 100 church members. He said he was in his hotel room in Lufkin when he learned of the fire.

"Maybe people will know about it now," Glass said of the bitterness that has characterized his dispute with former church members.

"This is the kind of thing I've kept silent about," the pastor has declined to comment on allegations leveled at him by church members and two other ministers that he and his wife have strayed from Pentecostal teachings, broken up families and become fascinated with demons and devils.

The hearing by the church's 13-member board of presbyters will continue as scheduled church leaders in Lufkin said.

"I don't plan to postpone it. There is too much involved," said E.L. Holley, Texas district superintendent for the United Pentecostal Church.

Cook said the cause of the fire was under investigation and that no arrests had been made late Monday.

"We're just still trying to sift the ashes and see what we can find," he said.

Fire Marshal Reese Bowdlen said investigators have sent samples of furnishings, carpet and walls to the fire department's laboratory for analysis.

"We're not really sure yet what caused it," he said. "I've sent some samples, and I don't know when we're going to get those back."

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christon

Christons to mark anniversary

Children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christon, 1602 W. Michigan Ave., will be the hosts to a reception for the couple on their 50th wedding anniversary from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday in the parlor of Trinity Presbyterian Church.

The couple's children are Mrs. James Conway of Urbana, Ill., and Tommy Christon of Stanton. They have six granddaughters and one grandson.

Mr. and Mrs. Christon grew up at Ewing, Neb. They were married March 9, 1929, in Norfolk, Neb. He was engaged in farming and she taught school several years. They had many interesting experiences while living on small ranch in the Black Hills of South Dakota during the Depression years of 1933-1937. They resumed farming at Ewing from 1937-1955.

They were active in church, school and community affairs. They lived in Denver, Colo., from 1955-1960, when they moved to Midland. Christon is still active in the Cabinet Shop with his son. Mrs. Christon recently retired after 18 years on the staff of the Midland County Public Library.

Birthright offers option to abortion

Birthright, an alternative to abortion, is coming to Midland.

An international, non-profit organization founded in Toronto, Canada, in October of 1968, Birthright has formed a chapter in this area.

"Birthright offers an alternative to abortion by providing encouragement for a mother to bear her baby, and help in finding the financial and medical assistance to do so," said Cathy Bonifay, chairman of education in the new organization here.

New officers of the group include Connie Brooks, director; Barbara Merrett, secretary-treasurer; Cathy Bonifay, education chairman; and Jeanene Davis, president.

The Educational Committee of Birthright will provide literature, films and speakers for interested groups upon request.

An introductory seminar is set for 7:30 p.m. March 22 at St. Ann's Catholic Church for persons who are interested in working with Birthright. Guest speaker for the seminar group, to meet in the Adult Recreation Center (Arc Building) will be Gail Huntsman, of El Paso's Birthright Chapter.

The meeting is open to the public. Persons interested in more information or reservations can call Jana Anderson at 697-4923 or the Birthright hot line number at 683-6072.

DEAR ABBY

Two tots with a wee problem

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I feel silly writing to you, but neither my husband nor I seem able to resolve this problem.

We have two daughters, 5 and 3. My husband is a devoted father who often takes the girls shopping. Sometimes I stay home alone just for a rest from the girls.

The problem: When the girls are with him and need to use the bathroom, which restroom should he take them to?

He sent our oldest into the women's restroom in our shopping center by herself, while he waited outside. I had a fit when he told me that because I have heard of children being molested in public restrooms.

The alternative would be to take the girls into the men's restroom, which doesn't seem right either, but at least he would be with them.

None of the child-raising books I've read cover this situation. Thank you.—DILEMMA IN DENVER

DEAR DILEMMA: I think your husband used good judgment in taking the girls to the women's restroom instead of the men's.

Ask a motherly-looking woman going in to please look after the girls.

Texaco stakes project near Midland opener

A stepout has been staked to a recently completed flowing Atoka oil discovery in Midland County, 11 miles southeast of Midland, and wildcat operations have been reported in Reeves, Howard and Glasscock counties.

ENERGY OIL & GAS

Texaco Inc. No. 1 A. A. Bradford Estate one mile south and slightly west of Texaco No. 1-AB Midland Fee, opener and lone producer in the Bradford Ranch (Atoka oil) pool.

The new project, scheduled for an 11,160-foot bottom, is 1,200 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 12, block 38, T-3-S, T&P survey.

The No. 1-AB Midland Fee was completed in January for a daily flowing potential of 263 barrels of 45.7-gravity oil, plus nine barrels of water, through an 11/64-inch choke. The gas-oil ratio during the potential test was 468-1.

The strike is 3.5 miles west of the depleted Azalea, South (Strawn gas) field.

HOWARD EXPLORER

W. C. Blanks of Midland announced drillsite for a 10,200-foot wildcat in Howard County, 11 miles north of Big Spring.

It is No. 1 Coleman, 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 28, block 32, T-2-N, T&P survey and one mile southwest of the Luther, Southeast (Siluro-Devonian oil) pool.

GLASSCOCK WILDCAT

Sun Oil Co., operating from Midland, spotted its No. 1 McDowell as a 7,800-foot wildcat in Glasscock County, 14 miles northwest of Garden City. There is no nearby production.

The prospector is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 8, R. R. Wade survey.

REEVES TESTER

The Reeves wildcat will be spudded by Gulf Oil Corp. 18 miles east of Pecos.

Scheduled as No. 4 S. E. Ligon-State, it is 990 feet from north and east lines of section 16, block 7, H&GN survey.

It is contracted to 6,950 feet to seek gas production. The site is one location northeast of Gulf No. 3 Ligon, an active project now drilling below 12,976 feet. It also is 1/2 mile south of dual Ellenburger and Devonian gas production in the Worsham-Bayer field.

MIDLAND WELL

Cities Service Oil Co. No. 4611 Dora Roberts Devonian Unit has been completed in the War-San (Devonian) pool of Midland County, 20 miles southwest of Midland.

Operator reported a calculated absolute open flow potential of 3,100,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 11,718 to 11,798 feet and from 12,241 to 12,277 feet. Gas-liquid ratio is 58.6-1, with gravity of the condensate 58.6 degrees.

The upper set of perforations was acidized with 11,000 gallons. The lower set was acidized with 2,500 gallons and fractured with 22,500 gallons.

Total depth is 12,468 feet and 5.5-inch casing is cemented at 12,466 feet. The plugged back depth is 12,225 feet.

Wellsite is 2,030 feet from south and 650 feet from west lines of section 46.

Wildcat set; wells final

Gunn Oil Co. of Wichita Falls No. 1 T. B. Masterson will be dug as a 6,200-foot wildcat in King County, 10 miles northeast of Guthrie.

The prospector is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 14, D. N. Robinson survey, abstract 698.

The location is 3/4 mile northwest of the Tom B (Bunger oil) pool.

WARD GASSER

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 4 T. B. Pruitt Gas Unit and others has been completed in the G-M (Pennsylvanian) pool of Ward County, 11 miles northwest of Barstow.

The operator reported a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 14,000,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day.

Completion was through perforations from 16,221 to 17,055 feet.

Total depth is 19,255 feet and five-inch liner is set at 19,254 feet. The plugged back depth is 17,500 feet.

The well is 1,320 feet from southeast and 1,980 feet from southwest lines of section 31, block 1, WN&W survey.

PECOS WELL

C. F. Lawrence & Associates No. 1-D Timber is a new well in the Brooklaw (lower Clear Fork) field of Pecos County, 14 miles west of Girvin.

It is finaled for a daily pumping potential of 74 barrels of 36-gravity oil and 62 barrels of water, from open hole from 3,400, where 4.5-inch casing is set, and total depth of 3,480 feet. Thepay was acidized with 3,000 gallons.

The well is a northwest offset to Tubb production.

Location is 870 feet from northwest and 467 feet from southwest lines of section 124, block 10, H&GN survey.

block 41, T-3-S, T&P survey. The field has four other Devonian gas wells.

CRANE OILER

Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1084 W. N. Waddell has been completed as the second Wichita-Albany oil producer in the Running W multipay field of Crane County.

One and seven-eighths miles southwest of the other Wichita-Albany well, it finaled for a daily flowing potential of 97 barrels of 36-gravity oil and 100 barrels of water, through a 22/64-inch choke. The gas-oil ratio is 1,814-1.

The completion was through perforations from 5,064 to 5,641 feet. Stimulation, if any, was not reported.

The total depth is 6,200 feet and plugged back depth is 6,060 feet.

A re-entry project, it originally produced in the sand Hills (Wolfcamp) pay.

Wellsite is 1,047 feet from north and 900 feet from east lines of section 13, block B-21, ps1 survey and 20 miles northwest of Crane.

REEVES OUTPOST

HNG Oil Co. of Midland announced location for a one and three-quarter mile west outpost to gas production in the Reeves, North (3200 oil and gas) field of Reeves County, seven miles southwest of Orla.

It is No. 1-16 State, 1,707 feet from south and east lines of section 16, block 57, T-3, T&P survey. The contract depth is 3,250 feet.

The location also is 7/8 mile southeast of the Hays (Deleware oil) pool.

TOM GREEN TEST

SUNEX Energy Corp. of San Angelo spotted location for a 4,700-foot test four miles southeast of Wall in Tom Green County.

It is No. 1-B Herbert Untermyer, one location east of production in the Sjuan Peak, North (Canyon oil and Strawn) field.

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines of section 137, block 11, SPRR survey. Elevation at ground level is 1,945 feet.

STERLING PROJECTS

Ventures Ltd. of San Angelo announced three projects in the one-well Stringer (San Angelo) field of Sterling County, 11 miles southwest of Sterling City.

The No. 5-11 Stringer is 1,588 feet from south and 1,296 feet from east lines of section 11, block 11, SPRR survey and one location west of the well.

The No. 6-11 Stringer is 2,422 feet from north and 771 feet from east lines of section 11, block 11, SPRR survey and 990 feet north of the producer.

The third test, No. 7-11 Stringer, is 2,422 feet from south and 335 feet from east lines of section 11, block 11, SPRR survey and one location north-east of the well.

BORDEN WELL

Bobby Bonner of Midland No. 1 Turner has been completed as a east offset to production in the Borden (Spraberry) field of Borden County, 10 miles northwest of Gall.

It is finaled for a daily pumping potential of 32 barrels of oil 38-gravity oil and 60 barrels of water, through perforations from 6,492 to 6,508 feet. Treatment was not reported.

Total depth is 7,464 feet and 4.5-inch casing is set at 6,849 feet.

Location is 933 feet from north and 1,200 feet from west lines of section 46, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey.

DRILLING REPORT

BORDEN COUNTY
Bobby Bonner No. 1 Turner, id 7,464 feet, pumped 32 barrels oil and 60 barrels water through upper Spraberry perforations from 6,492 to 6,508 feet. Treatment not available, gravity 38 degrees, gas-oil ratio 785-1, 4 1/2 inch casing was set at 6,849 feet.

At least three dead at well blaze

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Experts at fighting wild fires are looking for a way to control a blaze at an offshore natural gas well in the Gulf of Mexico, still burning after an explosion that killed at least three workers.

Three bodies were found Monday after the blast on the drilling platform 45 miles south of Morgan City, La. Five men are missing and feared dead, but 27 escaped the rig in a "survival capsule," an unsinkable lifeboat kept on deck for such emergencies.

Red Adair, the well firefighter from Houston, Texas, visited the site Monday to see how the fire might be controlled. One possible solution, officials said, would be to drill a relief well — a complicated procedure in which another well would be aimed at the shaft of the wild gas line. When the wells intersect, mud could be pumped down and the fire extinguished.

Station closings could cause prices to climb

By MARK POTTS
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Gasoline prices, which have risen about 2 cents a gallon since Jan. 1, will continue to go up sharply over the next few months — especially if the government forces service stations to close on weekends, analysts said Monday.

Omaha are now paying an average 80.5 cents a gallon, up from 77.3 cents in January. Cincinnati prices are up from 73.4 cents to 75.68 cents.

It was not immediately known whether the men died in the explosion or when they leaped into the sea from their drilling rig.

The price increase since the first of the year varies by area because of local market factors. For example, regular-grade leaded gasoline bought at a full-service station now costs an average 76.8 cents per gallon in Chicago, up from 74.8 cents two months ago, according to the Lundberg Letter, a gasoline industry newsletter. The average price in Newark, N.J., has risen from 65.6 cents per gallon to 67.4 cents.

Prices will also rise in the next few weeks because of the supply squeeze brought on by the Iranian revolution. Several OPEC members have raised oil prices on their own to cash in on the tight supply, and this will soon be felt at the gas pump.

Operator reported a calculated absolute open flow potential of 3,100,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 11,718 to 11,798 feet and from 12,241 to 12,277 feet. Gas-liquid ratio is 58.6-1, with gravity of the condensate 58.6 degrees.

Boycott threatened

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Several major U.S. oil companies are threatening to boycott this week's Iranian crude oil auction because it would force new increases in oil prices, the Los Angeles Times reported today.

The revolutionary government in Tehran has said it plans to start the bidding at $18 a barrel, more than one-third higher than the current world contract price of $13.30.

The upper set of perforations was acidized with 11,000 gallons. The lower set was acidized with 2,500 gallons and fractured with 22,500 gallons.

Two Conoco hands retire

Continental Oil Co. has announced the retirement of Othel D. Giles and Raymond E. Talley. Each has more than 36 years of service with the company.

It finaled on the pump for 45 barrels of 40-gravity oil and 90 barrels of water per day, through perforations from 7,331 to 8,160 feet and from 8,641 to 8,908 feet.

The second well has been completed in the Mound Lake (Pennsylvanian) field of Terry County, seven miles northeast of Brownfield.

"We believe these prices are excessive," a spokesman for Standard Oil of California said Monday. "We do not wish to add to the oil price spiral by agreeing to these excessive crude prices."

Wellsite is 1,320 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 22-16s-35e.

Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 156 barrels of oil and no water, from open hole section at 9,432-9,445 feet. The flow was gauged through a 10/64-inch choke.

'Nature's quirks' add to cabochon collection

ANDREWS — Unlike diamonds and many other "precious" gems, the beauty of many stones is in their imperfection.

Take agate. Butch and Rita Foreman have hundreds of polished, unfaceted maverick stones whose flaws, thanks to nature's quirks, cause rock hounds and stone buffs to rave.

"That's a geologic oddity," Dave Foreman, the couple's father and father-in-law, said of a six-panel display of cabochons.

The 1,500 convex-cut stones displayed in, of all places, his grocery store, represent about 3,600 man-hours of work from 1961 to 1969 by his son, a silversmith, who today is specializing in turquoise jewelry, and his wife.

"THIS IS SUPPOSED to be the largest cabochon collection in the world — more than the Smithsonian Institution has," said Dave Foreman.

"Every one of them is hand cut, hand polished," he said.

The Foreman collection of cabochons is strictly due to pride and an adoration of the patterns, shades and colors in agate. Most of the appealing imperfections are oxides of iron in the hard-but-brittle chalcedony variety of quartz tagged by many names: banded, flame, the fern-like moss, eye, onyx, plume, crazy lace, bouquet and place-name agate peculiar to a locale.

The Foreman collection includes a Texas agate called Balmorhea, a Mexican agate labeled San Carlos, and another Texas agate Butch Foreman christened Long Walk, owing to the four- or five-mile hike required in the Davis Mountains to reach the agate's location.

"There's a lot of theories" on the formation of the patterns, colors and shades in the rock, he said.

PERHAPS FOREMAN'S most prized cabochon is a plume agate set in a gold mount.

"That stone is very, very rare," Dave Foreman said. "They said it is the finest plume in existence."

"We had it appraised, but it's not for sale," Dave Foreman said.

The appraised value was in the thousands of dollars.

"Oh," interjected his son, "I guess enough money could get it, but we don't consider it for sale."

Titles are affixed to cabochons to "reflect the feeling of the rock hound," the father said.

A moss agate was titled "Without Form and Void," for it brought to mind the earth as described in Genesis 1, Foreman said.

"Yeah, rock hounds always find names," he said.

ROUSTIN ABOUT with Ed Todd

A plume agate was named Sea Weed.

A CRAZY LACE stone took on the name "High Waves, Heavy Clouds."

The silver-haired Butch Foreman, who largely is self-taught in gem cutting and polishing and in silversmithing, started the cabochon collection to impress gem dealers and other rock hounds.

"It occurred to us that some of this stuff was going to be scarce," said Butch Foreman. "It's just...stuff for our own personal collection."

Butch Foreman got hooked on rocks early on.

Years later, as he got into working with silver, he started delving into turquoise, coral and mother-of-pearl.

"Back in '63, silver was a low-line," and cost about 50 cents an ounce on the market. "Today, at $9 an ounce, its value has multiplied 18 times," Butch Foreman figured.

"A dyed-in-the-wool rockhound (then) wouldn't mess with turquoise," Butch Foreman said. "He worked in agate."

In the earlier days, lapidarians shied from the turquoise mainly because it "is more subject to breakage and color change. It was common stuff" and hence not in demand.

THAT ALL CHANGED, and turquoise in the late 1960s and early 1970s became popular. Wearing it was almost a fad. Quality was not all that important, said Butch Foreman.

It is today, though, and those who really appreciate the stone are demanding high-quality turquoise, Foreman said.

"It's a more valuable piece of merchandise. It's a supply and demand thing just like diamonds."

Butch and Rita Foreman practice their craft in their "junk room" in the back of the store. They make most of their jewelry — rings, necklaces and whatnots — "from scratch."

In their storeroom are literally tons of raw rock from here and abroad yet to be cut and re-cut and polished.

"It amazes me," Mrs. Foreman said, "what comes out of rock even after all of these years we've been into it."

Her helpmate agreed.

"Yeah, it's tedious. It's just something you have to like to do."

Butch and Rita Foreman of Andrews reputedly have the world's largest collection of cabochon. They're silversmiths and avid rock hounds. (Staff Photo)

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Pill may lead to birth of twins

Dear Dr. Solomon: I recently gave birth to twins, the only one in my family, as far as I know, ever to have done so. I'm also the only one in my family to have ever been on the Pill. Is there a connection between the two?—Mrs. A.R.

Dear Mrs. R.: No cause-and-effect relationship has been established, but Dr. Kenneth J. Rothman of the Harvard School of Public Health has an interesting statistic. He found that 25 sets of twins were born to 1,609 mothers who conceived within a month of discontinuing oral contraceptives, a rate of 1.6 percent. The 4,393 other women in the study conceived more than a month after terminating use of the Pill, and their twinning rate was close to the average—1.0 percent.

While these figures, by themselves, don't prove anything, they do imply that the chances of having twins are increased if conception takes place shortly after the use of birth control pills is discontinued.

Dear Dr. Solomon: There have been a number of deaths in our family recently, and in each case a relative was approached for permission to do an autopsy. Is there really anything to be gained from this practice? How often is permission granted?—Mrs. E.T.N.

Dear Mrs. N.: The postmortem examination of bodies provides an incomparable means for improving medical standards. Many times it is the only way to determine the exact cause of death, or the damage done by a disease.

In recent years there has been an unfortunate decline in the number of autopsies performed. Dr. William C. Roberts, of the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute, reports that shortly after World War II, autopsies were performed on about half of all patients who died in a hospital; in the mid-1970s, however, this figure had dropped to about 22 percent.

Dr. Roberts notes that an autopsy is one way of checking on the treatment received by a patient, and that autopsies result in a changed diagnosis of the cause of death in as many as one-quarter of the cases. From a medical standpoint, therefore, the decrease in the number of autopsies is not a welcome trend.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I was just told I have high blood pressure. I can't imagine how I might have gotten it. What causes high blood pressure?—Mr. N.K.

Dear Mr. N.K.: No one knows for sure why the arterioles clamp down, causing hypertension. In some cases, tests may show that hypertension is related to some other diseases. But in most cases, the cause of hypertension is not known. Doctors use the term "essential" to describe this type of hypertension.

Doctors think "essential" hypertension may be caused by:

1—Some problem in the kidneys or glands called adrenals which send chemicals into the blood stream, causing hypertension.

2—Emotions (everyone's blood pressure rises if they get excited, angry, nervous, etc. Some people's blood pressure rises more than others. These people are called hyper-reactors or pre-hypertensives, and they are more likely to develop hypertension), and/or 3—Heredity: that is, the tendency to have hypertension may run in some families.

Senate to consider deceptive trade legislation

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Consumers would bear the new responsibility of proving businessmen knowingly cheated them in deceptive trade practice cases under a bill forwarded to the Senate Monday.

The Senate Economic Development Committee approved the measure 7-0 after 4½ hours of public testimony.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Bill Meier, D-Eules, and one of the measure's fiercest opponents, Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, cross-examined witnesses in a preview of future floor debate.

Similar legislation in the House was sent to a subcommittee.

"The present law is not only inequitable, but it has retarded commerce in Texas," said Meier.

Under present law, the businessman must prove he did not cheat the consumer.

Triple damages — the awarding of three times the actual amount lost — would be prohibited in most cases by Meier's bill. The legislation would also exclude breach of warranty cases from being tried under the act.

Unreasonable settlement demands can be used as coercion under the present law, said attorney Jack Ayres of Dallas.

Other opponents attacked removal of triple damages and warranty cases from the law.

"For the type of people I represent, it's very important to retain warranty and treble damages," said Steve Cochran, a Bexar County legal aid attorney who defends low income persons.

Meier said warranty damage to his house and had to be replaced.

Meier said warranty cases could be tried under a different law, the uniform commercial code.

Joe Longley, former head of the attorney general's consumer protection division, said businesses are not leaving Texas because of the law.

Meier pointed out to the committee that Longley has advertised in the state bar journal his willingness to take triple damages cases.

"I want to be sure we're talking about your pocketbook in this bill," the sponsor said.

Two Cincinnati police officers shot to death early today

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two Cincinnati police officers were shot to death early today when one or both occupants of a car they had stopped opened fire, police said.

One of the alleged assailants also was killed, though police said they did not know whether he was slain in the shootout or died when he attempted to flee and his car crashed into a utility pole

Missing person case 'routine'

Midland police are treating the disappearance of a 24-year-old Midland woman as a routine missing persons case, after a woman identifying herself as Ruth Orlene Baker called police Monday night.

Mrs. Baker had been reported missing Sunday by her husband, Gary Lee Baker, after she reportedly failed to come home from the grocery store. Her abandoned car had been found in a supermarket parking lot.

Police said they received a call Monday night from a woman who claimed to be Mrs. Baker. The caller said she was safe and would be home in a few weeks.

The other passenger in the car, a woman, was hospitalized with a broken leg.

Police said no charges were filed immediately.

The dead policemen were identified as officer Dennis Bennington, a 27-year-old father of two who was shot in the chest, and officer Robert Seiffert, a 31-year-old father of three who died at Bethesda Hospital after surgery for a head wound.

Police did not immediately release the names of the couple in the car. Capt. Edward Ammann, commander of District 4, said the shootings occurred after Seiffert had stopped the car and Bennington, in another cruiser, joined him. Police said they did not know why the officers stopped the car.

Seiffert contacted police radio dispatchers but did not complete his transmission, Ammann said.

Moments later a civilian used the police radio in one of the cruisers to report that both officers had been shot, he said.

Indiana State, UCLA head AP cage poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Indiana State's Larry Bird won't be thumping a ride to the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament, but when you're No. 1, you don't have to. And when you have a broken thumb, you can't.

Bird and his Indiana State teammates retained the No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press college basketball poll Monday, collecting 55 of 58 first-place votes and 1,150 points in balloting by a nationwide panel of sport writers and broadcasters, easily outdistancing runner-up UCLA.

That was the good news. Now the bad: Bird has a broken thumb.

"I fractured the tip of my left thumb in the second half of our game against New Mexico State Saturday, but that won't keep me from playing in the NCAA tournament," Bird said, adding, "I know I can shoot."

THE SYCAMORES, 29-0 and seeded No. 1 in the NCAA Midwest Regional, also received one second-place vote, one fourth-place vote, one seventh-place vote and issued one "Bird" warning to the other 39 teams in the NCAA tournament.

points after winning the Atlantic Coast Conference title and earning the No. 1 seed in the NCAA's East Regional with a 71-63 triumph over Duke last Saturday.

Big Ten co-champion Michigan State remained No. 4 with 932 points, followed by Notre Dame, No. 2 last week but upset by both DePaul and Michigan, with 850 points. The Irish were seeded No. 1 in the NCAA's Midwest Regional.

Duke slipped one notch to sixth with 810 points — 13 more than Southwest Conference champion Arkansas, No. 10 last week.

DePaul, unranked three weeks ago and 15th last week, continued its rapid rise, moving to No. 8 with 678 points. Louisiana State and Syracuse rounded out the Top 10, the Tigers, with 612 points, edging the Orange-men by two points.

Georgetown, which defeated Syracuse 66-58 last Saturday, headed the Second 10 with 556 points. The Hoyas were followed by Marquette, Temple, Iowa, Texas, Purdue, Detroit, Louisville, San Francisco and Southeastern Conference champion Tennessee, the only newcomer to this week's Top 20, replacing Ohio State.

Every member of The Top 20 except Purdue will play in the NCAA tournament, which will determine the national champion. The Boilermakers will play in the National Invitational Tournament.

The AP's final poll of the season will be conducted next week.

Texas Tech given eye by NIT officials in facing Indiana next

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The eyes of the National Invitation Tournament sponsors will be on Texas Tech when the Red Raiders start shooting for the championship later this week.

"I think the NIT wants to see what kind of crowd we can attract against Indiana," says Texas Tech Coach Gerald Myers. "If we don't do well in the stands or on the court, they might not feel we deserve future consideration."

Myers' team will play the Big Ten Hoosiers in a first-round game on Thursday night at the Lubbock Coliseum, a 10,000-seat arena where the Red Raiders averaged 8,194 during the season.

"Indiana averaged over 14,000 fans a game at home, and yet they gave the home berth to us," said Myers. "I think the NIT officials want to see if the Southwest Conference is growing as much as we say it is."

Texas A&M, another SWC representative picked for the 24-team NIT, will also be playing Thursday night — but the Aggies will be on the road, at New Mexico.

The 42nd NIT gets under way Wednesday night with six games featuring Northeast Louisiana at Virginia, Clemson at Kentucky, Wagner at Old Dominion, St. Joseph's at Ohio State, Rhode Island at Maryland and Nevada-Reno at Oregon State. The remainder of Thursday night's games include Alcorn State at Mississippi State, St. Bonaventure at Alabama, Holy Cross at Dayton and the Mid-American Conference runner-up at Purdue.

The Mid-American title will be decided tonight in a playoff between Central Michigan and Toledo, who finished in a tie for first place during the regular season. The winner will earn an automatic berth in the NCAA playoffs.

Like the NIT, the NCAA will have its biggest field in history, with 40 teams. The NAAs will begin Thursday night with a basketful of first-round games and wind toward the national finals in Salt Lake City on March 24 and 26.

North Carolina, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion, has been seeded No. 1 in the Eastern Regional, thus drawing a first-round bye. Other No. 1 seeds in the regions are Notre Dame in the Midwest, Indiana State in the Midwest and UCLA in the West.

Eighth-ranked DePaul, playing in the West Regionals as one of the at-large entries, finished its regular season Monday night with a 101-99 loss to Loyola of Chicago. Larry Knight's 37 points led the winners.

The defeat spoiled a career-high 45 points by freshman Mark Aguirre, eight short of George Mikan's school record 53.

"Knight gave me two outstanding years here and this simply tops it off — what more can you ask?" said Loyola Coach Jerry Lyne. "DePaul has an outstanding team and there's no telling how far they can go in the tournament."

Elsewhere, Washington State beat Arizona State 84-79 as Bryan Rison and Don Collins teamed for 38 points.

Alcorn State getting shot at the big time

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Alcorn State's basketball team gets a shot at the big time Thursday when the unbeaten and ambitious Braves meet Mississippi State for a berth in the National Invitation Tournament.

Traditionally a black basketball power, 27-0 Alcorn stands with Indiana State as the only two major college unbeaten teams in the nation. Thursday's game also will mark the first time that a predominantly black, state-supported college basketball team has played a mainly white college team in Mississippi.

"This is the most important game, in any sport, that Alcorn has ever played," said Coach Dave Whitney. "They've denied us all these years. We've been overlooked this season, too, despite our record."

Alcorn won the Southwestern Athletic Conference crown, averaging 93.8 points per game, tops in the nation. The Braves' 15.2 rebounding margin average likewise leads the

Moncrief nabs honors again

DALLAS (AP) — All-America guard Sidney Moncrief of Arkansas has been named to the Southwest Conference All-Tournament team for the third straight year.

Moncrief, the most valuable player in the SWC Post-Season Classic, and Houston's Kenneth Williams are the only repeaters from the 1978 All-Classic team.

Texas Tech's Geoff Huston, Arkansas' Scott Hastings and Texas' Tyrone Branyan also were named to the first team.

Moncrief was named on 54 of the 59 ballots cast by sportswriters and broadcasters covering the event at The Summit in Houston. Branyan received 50 votes, Williams got 48, Huston had 41 and Hastings 38.

national list.

As recently as 1963, it was illegal to stage athletic contests in Mississippi between whites and blacks.

Joe Dan Gold, a member of the 1963 MSU squad, said the coach that year feared arrest when the Bulldogs were invited to play Loyola of Chicago in the Midwest Regional of the NCAA tournament.

"We left in the middle of the night," Gold recalled. "Coach McCarthy sent a group of substitutes out to the plane first to see if they'd be arrested. When they weren't, the rest of us got on board and we took off as fast as we could."

Top Alcorn performers are Larry Smith, a 6-foot-8 forward who is averaging 17.6 points. His 14 rebounds per game is the fifth-best average in the country. James Horton is a 5-7 junior who averages 14 points, four steals and three assists.

Whitney assessed Thursday's outcome on the performances of two Bulldog injured stars — guard Greg Grim and forward Ray White.

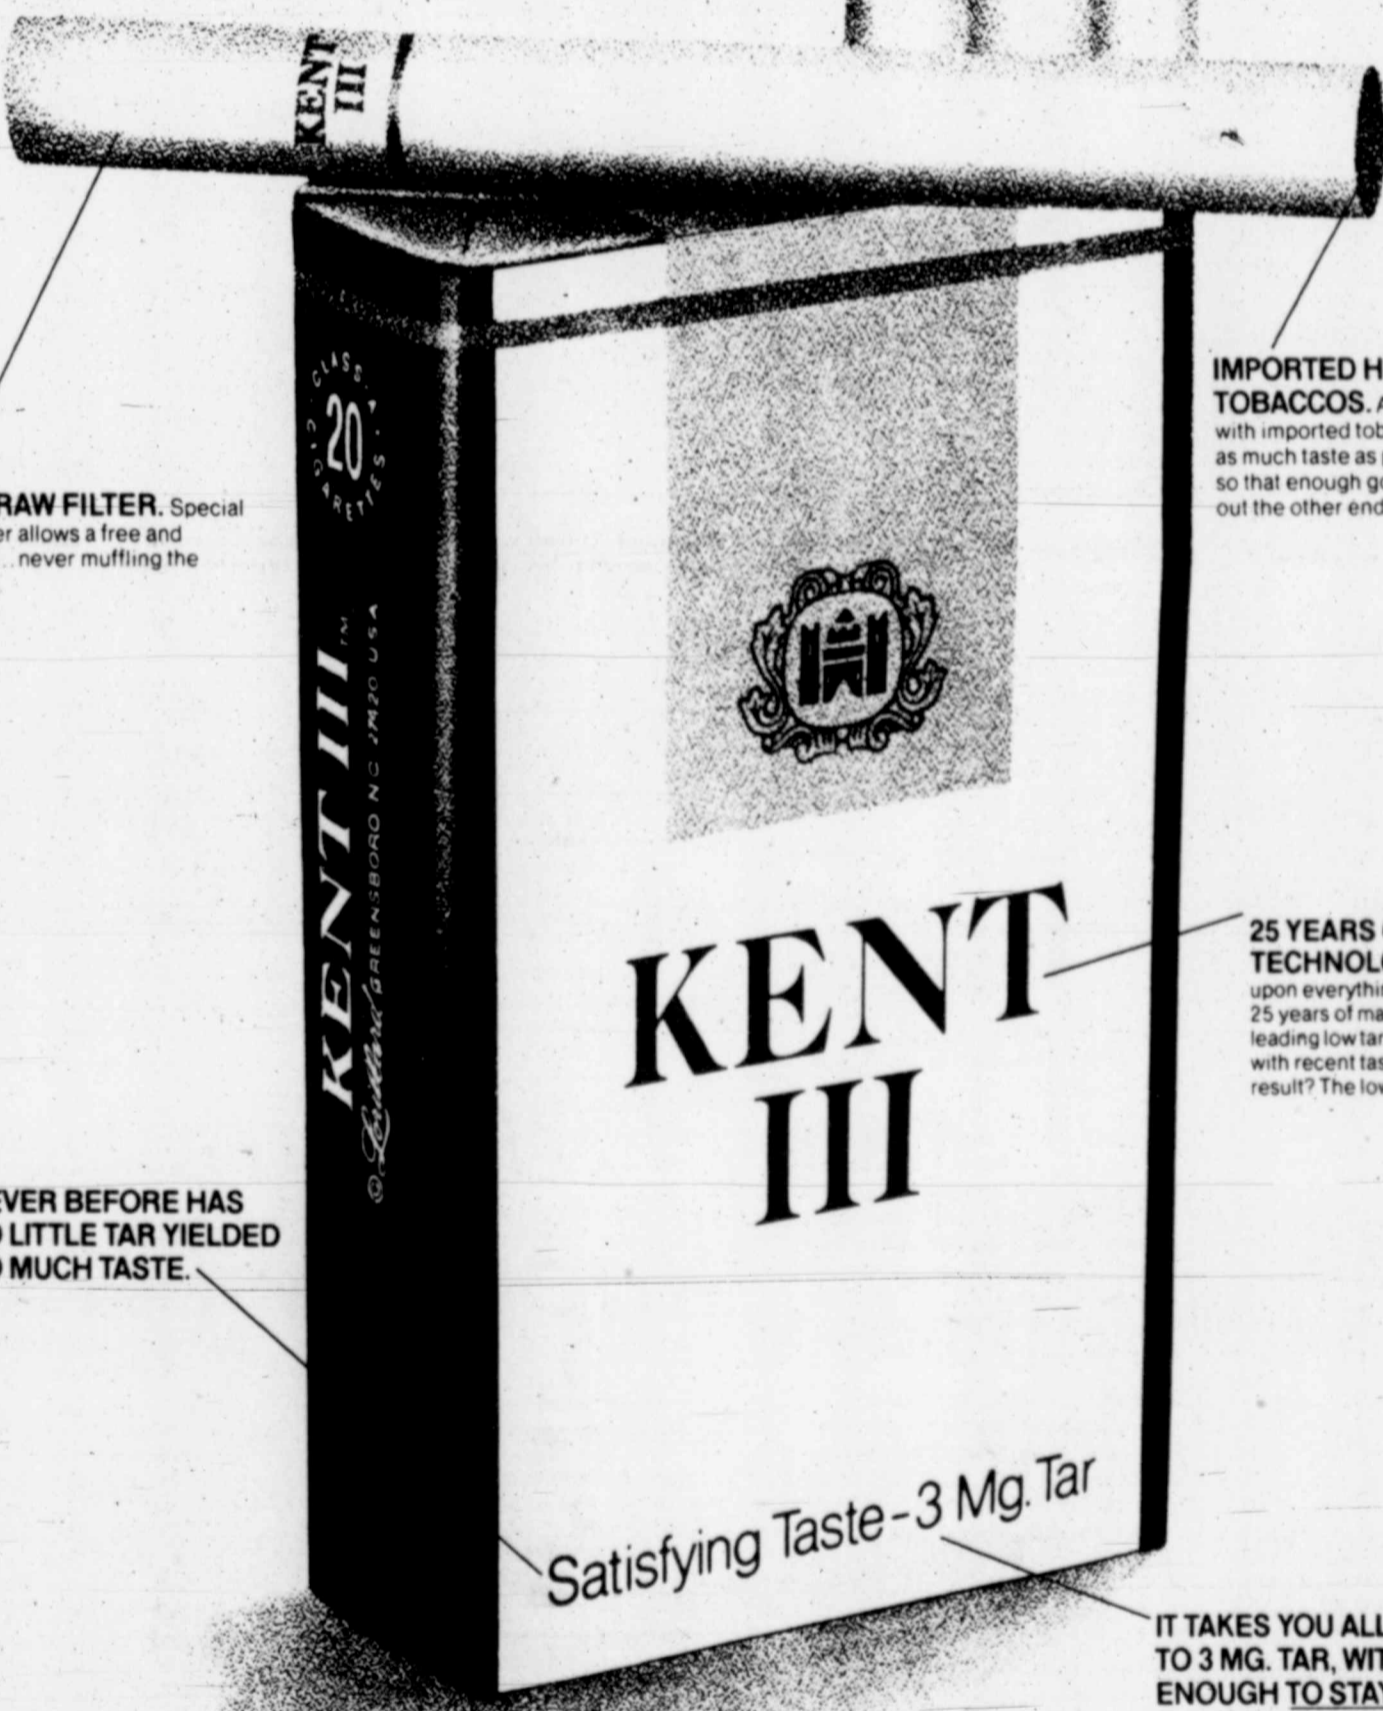

"Grim is a very good outside shooter who can change the course of the game and White, well, there's no person pound-for-pound that is better than Ray White," Whitney said.

It was after Alcorn returned from a SWAC road trip in Texas that Whitney began to think about an unbeaten season and a bid to the NIT.

"But I'll go with what the newspapers say about the strength of our schedule," Whitney said. "State plays a better schedule so they should be favored. Plus, they've got to be the favorite because they are playing at home and that's worth seven or eight points any time."

"This takes us from the also-rans into the clan," Whitney added. "Now we've got to be accepted. It's a chance to beat the big boys, yes. But we don't have to beat them to prove that we belong. We just have to play the hell out of them."

High school track anything but dull

After the West of the Pecos Relays Saturday in Pecos, there is no way that the remainder of the 1979 track season is going to be dull. The feuding and fussing has already started.

And it started in Pecos Saturday when Midland Lee was disqualified in the 1600 meter relay, the last event of the day, by meet referee Waymond Griggs after a bumping incident by Odessa Permian's Jack Cotton and Lee's Phil Carleton.

Now if the name of Griggs happens to ring a familiar bell to West Texas track fans, it should come as no surprise that Griggs just also happens to be the head track coach at Permian. Now that's where the rub comes in, and the verbal darts from the Lee track coaches have been hot and heavy.

Jerry Millsapps, the West of the Pecos Relays meet director, appointed Griggs as the meet referee, a choice that seems strange to begin with since Griggs had a team entered in the two-day affair. After all, that was the easy way out for the Pecos officials. They didn't have to round up a neutral referee at what could have been a large expense.

REGARDLESS OF how you see the controversy, it is easy to see that Millsapps leaves Pecos with a mistake behind him. He can forget the whole thing because he is becoming the head football coach at Odessa High this spring. It was his last official act in Pecos, and may live to be an infamous one.

It might be best to start at the beginning. Lee needed a third place finish in the 1600 relay to win the meet over El Paso Coronado. Lee held a 10 1/2 point lead heading into the final event of the day. The 1600 relay is the Rebels' strongest event since they return three of four runners from the state qualifiers from a year ago. In short, Lee thought they had come from way behind Coronado to win the meet.

LEE WON the relay in easy fashion as expected, by at least a 10-yard margin over Coronado, but Griggs contested the race because of a bumping incident between Cotton and Carleton on the third lap. Here there was no dispute. Both Carleton and Cotton admitted there was contact, which could allow a legitimate reason for a ruling.

But neither curb judge would admit they saw the incident, and neither reported any violation. An announcement was even made that Lee had won the race. The scorers must have already added up the final point totals because you could tell that the final score was written over an erased mark of 125 1/2, the points Lee would have had if they had won the event.

Griggs questioned the event because he saw contact on the race, and I don't doubt that because I was standing 15-feet from Griggs when the incident occurred, and I saw contact. The only trouble was that both of us were a good 50 yards away from the incident.

Now I have to admit that I wear glasses (the doctor says I have 20-20 vision with them on) and Griggs doesn't, but I sure couldn't tell who was to blame.

LEE MAY very well have been guilty of a violation, but from my vantage point (almost the same as Griggs') it would be hard to prove. I saw Cotton to the outside of Carleton when Phil tried to pass on the inside. I couldn't tell how far outside Cotton was. I couldn't tell if he was partially in the second lane or not, but he had moved to the outside.

Supposedly, a runner that has established position on the inside lane can't be passed on the inside if contact is made. It may not have been a wise choice for Carleton to pass on the inside at that point, but he contends that Cotton had one foot in the second lane and there was an opening. Carleton claims that Cotton cut in on him. Carleton did back off and let Cotton maintain the lead after a brief bump. That was plain enough to see by all.

After the race, Griggs said, "Well, let's go see what kind of ruling they make on this." It turned out to be his decisions that an infraction had occurred and that Lee was the culprit.

Griggs and Lee coach Sam Volpe had a long and heated argument over the race. Griggs maintained that position had been established by Cotton, and Volpe wanted another witness other than Griggs to confirm the contested incident. No one else ever came forward. Everyone seemed to want to stay out of it—even Millsapps, who was one of the corner judges during the event.

GRIGGS FINALLY took it in his own hands, and made his 50-yard away decision by saying, "I saw contact, and position had been established (by Cotton). I rule foul on Lee and they are disqualified."

At that point, assistant Lee track coach Van Tom Whatley approached Griggs with a pointed finger and said, "That's the only way you can beat us, Coach. You know that is a lousy ruling."

Griggs tried to calm Whatley down, but Whatley wasn't through. He sensed that this was a lost cause and he gave up trying to discuss the matter. He tossed a few unprintable words at Griggs and ended with, "You finally found a way to beat us, and I can't believe you're doing it."

Volpe also left the scene at that point with a final sarcastic, "Well, we'll see you. It's been fun." As he was leaving the infield, Volpe uttered, "Yea, we were cheated all right."

Foster inks new pact with Reds

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Let the rest of the meek inherit the earth. Soft-spoken George Foster is on his way to the bank with good old-fashioned American dollars.

The slugging left fielder's new contract with Cincinnati ensures that he'll be with the Reds through the 1982 season and makes him one of the highest-paid players in baseball.

"Hopefully, I will finish my career with the Reds," Foster said after the formal announcement Monday by Dick Wagner, president of the National League club. That means the club will have to deal again with Foster when he's only 34 and presumably still capable of commanding top dollar.

The Reds might even have to bargain again later next decade with Foster, because the clean-cut, clean-living slugger plans a long career.

"If I stay healthy, maintain a love for the game and stay productive, there's no telling how long I can play," Foster told The Associated Press. "When you take care of yourself, you're preparing for the future. You can add years to the sport and add years to your life."

And Foster is regarded by team trainer Larry Starr as one of the healthiest, best-conditioned Reds.

"(He Foster) takes care of himself off the field," Starr explained. "He doesn't drink or smoke. The strongest thing he takes is ice cream."

Foster said he has no special health food diet, but he takes lots of vitamins, eats a lot of seafood and tries to stay away from pork "because it has a lot of fat and salt."

The new contract, negotiated with the help of Pittsburgh attorney Tom Reich, gives Foster a reported base salary of around $300,000 a year with total benefits of around $2 million — including bonuses, incentives and deferred payments.

But Foster has been adamant in claiming that big settlements paid to Pete Rose, Dave Parker and others had no bearing on his demands. Instead, he contends he asked what he thought he was worth, and the Reds came close enough after details were hammered out in a 7 1/2-hour session Sunday.

"The money wasn't all that important; it was not an ego trip or a matter of being the highest-paid player in baseball," said the quiet but articulate Foster. "I like playing with the Reds and in Cincinnati, and I'm becoming established in the city of Cincinnati."

Foster still had a year to go on a three-year contract, but both he and the Reds wanted to avoid a confrontation if Foster played out his option and became a free agent.

Kentucky grid players arrested

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Seven members of the University of Kentucky football team were arrested and jailed Monday night on sex-related charges, university public safety director Thomas Padgett said today.

Padgett said he was not certain of the charges against an eighth football player arrested later than the others.

He identified those arrested for sex offenses as defensive back Venus Meaux, Harrodsburg, Ky.; fullback Randy Brooks, Louisville, Ky.; fullback Charles Jackson, Georgetown, Ky.; halfback Norman Green, Martinsburg, W. Va.; quarterback Larry McCrimmon, Tampa, Fla.; halfback Henry Parks, Harrodsburg, Ky.; and defensive tackle Earl Wilson, Atlantic City, N.J.

"I think they are all charged with rape and sodomy in the first degree, and in addition Earl Wilson has one charge of sexual abuse in the first degree," he said.

He said he was not certain of the charges against offensive tackle Robert Cobb, Sheffield, Ala., who was arrested later Monday night.

He asked that a reporter double check the charges against Cobb with the Fayette County Detention Center, but Lt. J. Howell, shift commander at the detention center, said, "I can't give this kind of information out."

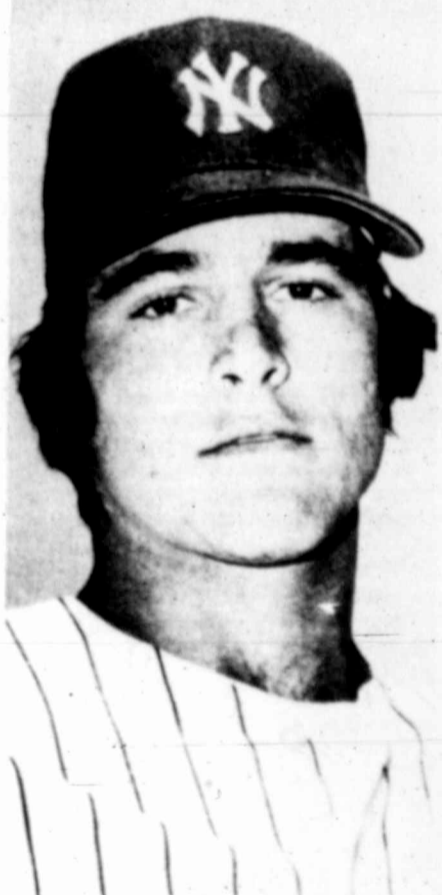

Padgett did not elaborate on what led to the arrests.

"The arrests came out of warrants by a complainant, and that is about all I am going to say," he said.

Umpires wanting larger salaries like the players

By The Associated Press
On a day when yet another big-name player signed yet another big-money contract, attorney Richie Phillips asked a bigger slice of the financial pie for his clients, the umpires.

The Cincinnati Reds and George

Bucky Dent

World Series star plays out option?

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Shortstop Bucky Dent of the New York Yankees, one of the heroes of the 1978 World Series, may play out the option year of his contract, his attorney said Monday.

"We haven't even talked (with the Yankees)," said Dent's attorney, former football star Nick Buoniconti, who claims Dent will play out the option if he hasn't signed a new contract by opening day.

Buoniconti says the Yankees are trying "to put as much time as they can between the World Series and our negotiations. They don't want us to negotiate on the strength of the great series he had."

Dent batted .417 in the Series victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers, drove in seven runs and contributed solid fielding in earning Most Valuable Player honors.

"We're not talking about an average shortstop here," said Buoniconti. "Bucky can do very well as a free agent."

"I don't think it's right for Bucky to start the season with that (the contract) on his mind," said the attorney.

"Sometimes I get the feeling there are people around here who don't think I'm going to have a good year," said Dent, "but I am. I'm working hard day and night to have a good year and prove them wrong."

Yankee officials were unavailable for comment.

Foster announced Monday the slugger had signed a three-year contract which begins in 1980 and is worth a reported $750,000 per season.

At about the same time, Phillips made this statement: "Player salaries indicate a willingness and a desire on the part of owners to present a first-class product. The umpires are part of that first-class product."

"I don't say they should be compensated the same as players, but they are an integral part of the game — always on the road, always performing in pressure situations. Their salaries should reflect those factors," said Phillips.

As of now, the attorney claimed, umpire salaries don't even reflect parity with the pay of game officials in other sports.

"An official with 10 years' experience in the NBA receives a minimum of $45,000 for the 82-game season," he said. "A baseball umpire with the same amount of experience gets a minimum of $32,500 for 162 games. For exhibition games, basketball officials get $550 per game. Baseball umpires get $40 per game."

They won't even be getting that by Wednesday, when the exhibition season begins. Phillips said there was no way any of his 51 clients could come to contract terms by then. Negotiations with the American and National Leagues are stalemated and the leagues have directed their teams to arrange local umpires for the games.

Foster, meanwhile, had no complaints about the resolution of his contract situation. The 30-year-old outfielder again led the National League with 40 home runs and 120 runs batted in last season, and hopes to do the same in 1979.

"I like playing with the Reds and in Cincinnati," said Foster. "Right now all I need to think about is the need to be consistent, productive and to stay healthy."

The same is true of teammate Joe Morgan, who said injuries — including his pulled chest muscles — cost the Reds first place in the National League West. And that second-place finish, 2 1/2 games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers, cost Manager Sparky Anderson his job.

Pitchers hope to bolster the Texas Rangers this spring and they have two of the best left-handers in the American League in Jon Matlack, left and

Harrah makes presence known with Cleveland

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Veteran infielder Toby Harrah, a newcomer to the Cleveland Indians, has made his presence felt quickly.

Harrah, traded by the Texas Rangers to Cleveland for third baseman Buddy Bell during the winter, played third base Monday in the Indians' first intrasquad game of the spring.

He led the team managed by coach Dave Garcia, made up mostly of returning starters, to a 7-5 victory over the reserves, managed by Joe Nosssek.

"Harrah stood out with his desire and aggressiveness," said Manager Jeff Torborg following the seven-inning game. Harrah had a triple, a single, two runs batted in and a steal of third base.

He also made two fielding plays that brought cheers from the small, sun-drenched crowd at Hi Corbett Field.

He caught a popup while falling into the third base dugout, then made a bare-handed pickup of a bunt and threw the runner out.

"That's the only way I've ever seen Toby play — all out," Torborg said.

"Earlier today, while we were doing our running, he told us he felt his leg pulling a little bit. Then he hit that triple off Waits. When he got to third, Dave (Garcia) asked him how it felt. He said, 'You know, Dave, I forgot all about it.'"

In the clubhouse, outfielder Rick Manning nodded toward Harrah and said: "That guy impresses everyone. It's going to be great having him around. He can do an awful lot of things."

The Garcias raked starter Rick Waits and Paul Reuschel. Waits, bothered by a cut on the index finger of his pitching hand, gave up three runs on four hits while Reuschel was hit for three runs on five hits before coming out because of tightness in his pitching shoulder. David Clyde and knuckleballer Todd Helmer were more effective for the Nossseks.

Rick Wise, the other starter, and Don Hood held the Nossseks scoreless through the first four innings, but Dan Spillner was roughed up for five runs on six hits before Rick Kreuger put out the fire.

"The hitters were a little ahead of the pitchers today," Torborg said. "That's not the way it's supposed to be at this time of the season, but it happens."

LSU star suspended by Brown

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana State University was busy revamping its starting basketball lineup for the NCAA Midwest regionals today to compensate for the loss of star forward DeWayne Scales, who has been suspended by Coach Dale Brown.

Brown suspended Scales on Monday for having repeated contacts with a professional player agent and then lying about it.

The agent supposedly told Scales to ignore Brown's instructions and display his ball-handling abilities in LSU's final games against Mississippi State in the regular season and Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference tournament, according to sources close to the team. The sources said the agent told Scales that pro scouts already knew he could score, but had to be shown he could handle the ball.

Neither LSU nor Brown would elaborate beyond an official explanation that said:

"In my 23 years of coaching, this has to be the most difficult decision I have ever made. I believe that interference by sources outside our basketball family have forced us to make this decision. I am deeply saddened and I regret I do not have the power to penalize those who have disrupted our basketball team."

LSU Athletic Director Paul Dietzel said Scales was expected to return for the 1979-1980 season.

Brown, meanwhile, reportedly was experimenting with a revamped starting lineup that moved reserve Jody Hultberg into a starting guard spot with Ethan Martin. Al Green then would move to small forward, teaming with Greg Cook at the other forward and Lionel Green at center.

The Associated Press learned that Monday's suspension was Scales' second this season. After the Mississippi State game, he was suspended, but reinstated within 45 minutes, after the rest of the team begged Brown to give the star a second chance.

When Brown learned just before the Kentucky game that the agent had again been in touch with Scales, the coach confronted the player representative in two stormy sessions — once before the game and once afterward.

The agent allegedly told Scales that he could get a $1 million contract over five years if he would bypass his final two years in college and make himself available as a hardship case in the National Basketball Association draft.

Brown was upset because the agent had not checked with him or Scales' mother before contacting the player and because Scales had twice lied to him about contacts by the agent.

Under NCAA regulations, a player is ineligible for further college competition once he has given either a verbal or written commitment to an agent. There was no evidence that Scales had made such a commitment.

"If the agent had gone to Coach Brown, he'd have taken him to meet Scales' mother, introduced them and told him that if he could get him a million, take it. It's once in a lifetime," the source told the AP.

TGBD golf sees playoff for title

The team of Al Boudreaux, Oddrey Nelson, Diane Robinson and Evelyn Milby won a scorecard playoff over the team of Herman Wright, Cack Roller, Betty Howell and Bernice Varner to win the annual TGBD golf tournament at the Ranckland Hills Country Club over the weekend.

Jim Bedard, Washington goalie and teammate Jack Lynch, go two on one to take puck away from Montreal's Doug Jarvis during NHL game in Landover, MD. Monday night. Jarvis was just getting ready for shot at the net when he was hit by Lynch, giving Bedard the chance to deflect the puck with his stick. (AP Laserphoto).

Ali to race

CHICAGO (AP) — World Boxing Association heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, a native of Louisville — home of the Kentucky Derby, will make his racing debut Tuesday night at Maywood Park.

Ali to race

Ali will participate in a harness race billed as "The Race of the Century." The event is a benefit for Chicago's Provident Hospital.

"I've ridden horses. I feel comfortable around them," Ali said. "I come from Kentucky, the Derby state." He said. "I know a lot of celebrities have tried harness horses but they haven't seen me yet."

Perhaps Mork's ("Mork & Mindy" star Robin Williams, left) hold on Richie ("Happy Days" series star Ron Howard) is an attempt to understand pain when the space traveler makes a visit to the 1950s in order to clear up some confusion he has about human relationships in "Mork Returns," on ABC's "Happy Days," Tuesday, March 6.

Mork made his first earthly appearance on "Happy Days" last spring. He returns to Milwaukee, Wis., and Richie, Fonzie and their college crowd.

USDA advises consumers on shopping

WASHINGTON (AP) — With food prices continuing to climb, the Agriculture Department is telling consumers how to shop more efficiently and that groceries really are taking a relatively smaller bite of a family's take-home pay.

Officials say the reports are not part of a conscious effort by USDA to propagandize food costs because such analyses are issued regularly by various agencies in the department.

Russ Forte of the department's Office of Governmental and Public Affairs said Monday two reports about food costs issued in the last week were coincidental and that there is "no campaign" to provide the news media with information to help soften government reports of spiraling food prices.

The department predicts retail food prices now are "most likely" expected to rise 8.5 percent this year, compared to an earlier forecast of 7.5 percent. But experts say the earlier predicted range of this year's gain, 6 percent to 10 percent, is still possible, depending on weather and other factors.

Last week the department issued a "feature" report about how food "takes a smaller bite of your take-home pay almost every year" and provided figures back to 1929 to support that claim.

Fifty years ago, the report said, the national average expenditures for food required 23.4 percent of disposable income.

the apartment were declared a total loss, with the apartment itself heavily damaged. Some 13 firemen with four units battled the blaze for about 30 minutes. No injuries were reported. (Staff Photo by Susan Toth)

Vietnam fears 'withdrawal trick,' demands unconditional pullout

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Vietnam announced today it is willing to negotiate with China once all Peking's troops have left Vietnam's soil and ended a more than two-week-old frontier war.

But a Vietnamese Foreign Ministry statement said if Chinese leaders were trying a "withdrawal trick" in order to escalate the war then Vietnam would fight on "in the spirit of general mobilization."

The statement said Chinese troops had to withdraw "completely and unconditionally from Vietnamese territory before any negotiations take place."

It also said China was forced to announce it was withdrawing Monday because it found itself in "difficult circumstances" — military losses, support Russia and others were giving Vietnam, and even objections to the war in China. It said any negotiations would take place at the vice foreign minister's level at a time and place to be agreed on at a later date.

Hanoi Radio reported fighting was continuing in Lang Son province north of the Vietnamese capital and claimed Hanoi's troops killed or wounded more than 700 Chinese in fighting Monday in Hoang Lien Son province in the north-west.

Nhan Dan, the Vietnamese Communist Party newspaper, said earlier that Peking's announcement that Chinese troops began pulling out Monday, 16 days after the invasion started, was "contrary to the real situation in the battlefields."

China "is stepping up its aggression, and its troops are frantically destroying Vietnamese villages," said the paper.

The Vietnamese army newspaper, Quan Doi Nhan Dan, said Peking was "feverishly pouring more Chinese troops in to Vietnam," and asked: "Who can believe that China will withdraw when its southward crusade has just begun?"

The Vietnam News Agency said President Ton Duc Thang ordered "mobilization throughout the country to protect the nation and to win the aggressive war waged by the Chinese expansionists."

It said the president signed a decree ordering all citizens of military age to join the armed forces.

"All necessary manpower, material and financial resources shall be mobilized to meet the needs of war for national salvation," the decree said.

Bangkok intelligence sources said they had no evidence of a Chinese pullout, but intelligence reports frequently lag behind battlefield events.

Some of these sources said China might be following a scorched-earth policy in withdrawing and that this could be the stepped-up aggression Vietnam referred to.

Other intelligence sources said it was likely the fighting would end abruptly but would wind down to small-scale border skirmishing.

The Vietnam News Agency said the first troops to be sent to war with China from Ho Chi Minh City, formerly Saigon, were given a rousing sendoff Sunday.

The agency said in the past few days thousands of young people in the former South Vietnamese capital volunteered to fight the Chinese. It said nearly 500,000 workers and civil servants joined a drive to make each factory "a fortress against Chinese aggressors."

Chinese troops crossed the Vietnamese border on Feb. 17 with the declared aim of punishing Vietnam for alleged border provocations, and Peking's Xinhua (Hsinhua) news agency said in announcing the withdrawal that the Chinese had achieved their goal of "dealing devastating blows to Vietnamese armed forces."

It also said China "reserves the right "to strike back again in self-defense" if the Vietnamese resumed provocations along the 450-mile border and called for talks "to discuss ways of ensuring peace and tranquility ... and then proceed to settle the boundary and territorial disputes."

Earlier reports from Peking indicated the Chinese might try to hold on to about 38 square miles of territory claimed by both countries.

The Xinhua statement also called on "peace-loving" nations to "urge the Vietnamese authorities to stop promptly their aggression against Kampuchea (Cambodia) and withdraw all their forces of invasion."

Vietnam invaded Cambodia Dec. 25, ousted the pro-Peking government of Premier Pol Pot two weeks later and set up a pro-Hanoi regime made up of Cambodian Communists who had broken with Pol Pot.

Nation's cancer death toll increasing despite huge research expenditure

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Cancer mortality — Cancer is killing an overall is increasing, so increasing number of that it is the only major cause of death which has continued to rise from 1900 through 1976," said search since 1971, Con-Schneiderman, associate director of the National Cancer Institute.

At the same time, the mortality rate from heart disease, accidents and influenza and pneumonia has been dropping, Dr. Marvin Schneiderman told a Senate health subcommittee Monday.

smoking are subtracted, "total cancer mortality has been declining overall."

Schneiderman said that among persons 45 and younger, both the incidence and mortality rates for cancer are declining.

"The decreases have come about, in part, through reduced incidence of breast cancer in women, lung cancer in younger men and the childhood leukemias and Hodgkin's disease," he said.

Schneiderman said the survival rates for leukemia among children and for Hodgkin's disease have "improved significantly."

While both the death rate and the incidences of cancer are still on the rise, Schneiderman said, the rate of increase in both categories has shown signs of leveling off in the past five years.

From 1969 through 1976, the number of white men contracting cancer rose at an annual rate of about 1 percent from 1969 through 1976. He said the rate among white women rose by 1.8 percent. Among blacks, the incidence rate rise was 1.8 percent for men and 1.7 percent for women.

The hearing was called by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

Oil shortage boosts prices of chemicals, plastics

NEW YORK (AP) — The worldwide crude oil shortage caused by the four-month-long cutoff of Iranian petroleum production has begun to push up prices of the chemicals and plastics that are indispensable parts of modern life.

"Certainly we're going to be paying more," said Standard & Poor's Corp. analyst Irma Rosario. "Eventually, all of these increases will filter down the line to consumers because plastics are pretty much everywhere." Crude oil and natural gas are, of course, made into gasoline and other vital fuels. But they also are the basic ingredients for thousands of items ranging from building supplies and fertilizer to telephone housings, plastic bags and dinnerware, and polyester shirts and suits.

Although the price of plastics and petrochemicals is rising, consumers may not immediately feel the effects of the increases because the amounts of crude oil or natural gas in many consumer products may be quite small.

The production of man-made fibers such as polyester accounts for only 1 percent of a year's U.S. energy consumption, and a man's polyester suit contains about 33 cents worth of crude oil.

A $400 television may contain $20 worth of plastic, for instance, while plastic wrapping accounts for about 2 cents of the 59 cents a consumer pays for a loaf of bread.

At the East Coast Stop & Shop supermarket chain, spokesman Steve Gusenoff said the price paid for plastic bread wrapping has gone up 4 percent to 6 percent in the past two months.

The wholesale price of the plastic food wrap shoppers purchase also is likely to head upward "in about two months," and "I think it's safe to say customers will pay for most cost increases," Gusenoff said.

Predictions of how much prices of consumer products will rise are almost impossible to obtain, because chemical and plastic producers say the world energy situation is far from clear.

If Iran's crude oil production resumes at half its former level, as the new Iranian government has predicted, U.S. chemical prices overall "will go up 1 to 2 percent," according to one industry observer, who asked not to be quoted by name.

The squeeze on manufacturers of plastics and chemicals has been more severe in Europe and Japan than in the United States. Here, crude oil supplies about 25 percent of the raw material for chemical production, with relatively plentiful natural gas supplying much of the rest.
