Thousands welcome President Carter in Egypt (AP Laserphoto)

Problems still blocking treaty

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP) — Rolling through the Nile delta on a slow train, President Carter and Egypt's Anwar Sadat said today problems and misunderstandings still block an Egyptian-Israeli treaty.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance will stay on in the Middle East for up to a week whether or not Carter succeeds in winning a treaty, The Associated Press learned.

Plans were being made for Vance to explain the treaty to leaders in Jordan and Saudi Arabia if an agreement is concluded — or to work on remaining details if there is no pact.

Sadat said he is ready to sign a treaty, but that Israeli misunderstandings and mistrust block the way. He said that only "some words here or there" now separate the two nations.

chem Begin spent three hours briefing his cabinet and said afterward, "Everything now depends on the Egyptian answer. Israel has done its part."

The Israeli cabinet has already accepted compromise suggestions offered by Carter, but Sadat is seeking some modifications. Carter is scheduled to relay Sadat's response to Begin Saturday night in Israel.

Begin told a parliamentary committee that a positive response from Sadat would "pave the road to peace," but a negative response would be "Egypt's responsibility."

Israeli Justice Minister Shmuel Tamir said the cabinet had "paid notice" to Egypt's counterproposals and to Sadat's call on Thursday for "freedom" and "national rights" for

Israelis ponder peace proposals

'Everything now depends on Egyptian answer'

JERUSALEM (AP) — "Everything now depends on the Egyptian answer. Israel has done its part," Prime Minister Menachem Begin said today after briefing Israeli leaders on the U.S. compromise peace proposals.

Begin met with his Cabinet for three hours, then appeared before the Parliament's Foreign Affairs and Security Committee and the factions of his governing coalition.

Egypt has made its own counter proposals to the American ideas approved by Israel's Cabinet, but Begin said he did not expect to hear the Egyptian response until he meets privately with President Carter on Saturday night.

He said a positive answer would "pave the road to peace." But a negative response would be "Egypt's responsibility," he said.

Asked by reporters what would happen if Egypt's President Anwar Sadat rejects Carter's proposals, Begin said, "After a certain period, negotiations would resume. But why should we assume they will say no?"

Though Begin did not define what positive or negative responses would be in Israeli eyes, his comments indicated that Egyptian demands for further changes could bring Carter's current peacemaking effort to at least a temporary halt.

Returning Thursday from his talks with Carter in Washington, Begin said, "whatever comes from Cairo we will read. If we don't accept them, then we won't accept them."

Begin said it was "possible, but not sure" Carter would bring Sadat with him from Cairo.

Such a move would signal virtual completion of a treaty, but Begin said "there are still outstanding issues."

even if Egypt agrees to the latest American proposals.

A bomb scare today sent Israeli explosives experts to the Baptist church in Jerusalem where Carter will pray during his weekend visit. But it was a false alarm.

Bystanders became suspicious when a man drove a small yellow car into the parking lot of the Jerusalem Baptist Congregation, locked it and hastily hailed a taxi. Fearing the car might hold a bomb, the bystanders called police.

Explosives experts checked the car but found nothing.

Police dismantled two bombs Thursday night found in a Jerusalem bus driver in a routine search of his vehicle at the end of his shift. Authorities fearing Arab guerrilla attempts to sabotage Carter's peace pilgrimage have warned the public to be especially alert for suspicious objects during the president's stay.

The government is deploying 10,000 troops and police, including crack anti-terrorist units, to protect the president.

The Palestine Liberation Organization, an unyielding opponent of Israeli Egyptian peace moves, called for a general strike today in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip to protest the Carter visit. But a spokesman for the Israeli military government said Arabs had not heeded the PLO call. But business is normally slower on Friday, the Moslem sabbath, in the West Bank.

Palestinians and Lebanese Moslems staged a general strike in Moslem west Beirut and the Lebanese cities of Tyre, Sidon and Tripoli today to protest the Carter visit. Guerrillas in west Beirut enforced the strike call, burning tires in the streets and closing a road to the international airport.

Carter, speaking to reporters as he and Sadat rode an open railroad car from Cairo to this ancient port city, said talks are going well but "we still have some problems, obviously."

The two presidents continued their talks in Alexandria and planned to attend a state dinner. Carter will remain overnight and head back to Cairo Saturday morning.

Vance's plans represent a continuing effort to win Saudi and Jordanian support for a treaty. Saudi Arabia and Jordan has been ambivalent so far.

This has disappointed the Carter administration and hurt Sadat's standing in the Arab world.

In Israel, Prime Minister Menachem Begin said, "I'm doing my best." Sadat said today, "But without the intensive effort by President Carter and the American people, we would have never reached a position in which a treaty is within reach."

Carter and Sadat, said by U.S. officials to be unhappy with American treaty proposals, rode through 140 miles of blooming cotton and cheering throngs on the four-hour trip from Cairo to this ancient Mediterranean city.

Crowds along the way chanted, "Carter, Carter," and "Long live Sadat."

The train slowed, but did not stop as it passed through towns and villages. Helicopters hovered overhead during the trip.

In the populous town of Tanta, turbaned village musicians, bearded farmers, students and workers greeted the two leaders.

Hanging from trees and lampposts and clustered on rooftops on balconies, they shouted "We love you Carter, Viva Carter," and "We sacrifice souls and blood for you, Sadat."

There were reports the Secret Service had objected to the train trip, fearing that travel through open country, villages and towns was an invitation to trouble in a Middle East scarred with violence.

Carter and wife Rosalynn planned to spend the night in Alexandria at Ras El Tin, the oldest palace in Egypt.

They will return to Cairo by helicopter Saturday for a final working lunch before Carter flies to Jerusalem for at least three days of treaty talks with Begin. Carter tentatively is scheduled to return home Monday.

Experts dismantle pipe bombs found in Odessa mobile home

ODESSA — Three pipe bombs hidden in a mobile home in Odessa were dismantled by demolition experts Thursday in another development stemming from the escape of William Gregory Forbes, charged with capital murder, from a Missouri jail in 1978.

Odessa police and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents said they found the bombs Thursday afternoon in a trailer house belonging to Juan Gonzales, 29, of Brownsville.

Gonzales, his wife, Sylvia Olga Gonzales, 27, Steven Wayne Bailey, 25, and Sharon Louise Dearing, 25, were arrested at Ms. Dearing's mobile home in Gardendale. Ms. Dearing was arrested on suspicion of helping Forbes escape from the Missouri jail.

Forbes, 27, was shot to death last Friday in a Wichita Falls gunfight with FBI agents and police who were attempting to arrest him. Forbes was shot in the head with a shotgun and several times in the chest with a revolver after he had fired at the lawmen with a Chinese-made AK-47 automatic rifle. He also was armed with a .357-caliber magnum revolver, police said.

He was arrested on Oct. 18, 1977, in Neosho, Mo., on a charge of capital murder.

Five months later, in March of 1978, a man and woman wearing ski masks forced the jailer in the Newton County Jail to release Forbes.

He had been at large since then.

Of the three pipe bombs found in Gonzales' mobile home, two were reportedly "loaded" with explosives, said Tommy Calender, assistant police chief in Odessa.

Meanwhile, authorities in Wichita Falls have charged Linda Kay Colvin, 25, and Bailey, both of Wichita Falls with aiding and abetting Forbes' escape.

Ms. Colvin was arrested by FBI agents at her Wichita Falls residence Thursday.

In the Gardendale raid, police said they confiscated several firearms. The Gardendale community is northeast of Odessa.

Ms. Dearing, held without bond for her alleged part in the jailbreak, may be extradited to Missouri to face charges there.

In addition to that charge, Ms. Dearing was charged with possession of a prohibited weapon, a 9mm pistol equipped with an illegal silencer; possession of marijuana; and for automobile theft in Wichita Falls.

Her bond on the marijuana possession charge was set at $10,000. Bond on possession of the prohibited weapon was set at $25,000.

Bond on Gonzales was set at $50,000 on charges of possession of firearms by a convicted felon.

Weatherman predicting fair skies, cooler temperatures through weekend

Word for the weekend from the weatherman is don't bother inflating the wading pool, summer's just not here yet.

A week of warm weather and blue skies apparently does not guarantee a good weekend. Saturday's forecast of fair skies and cooler temperatures from the National Weather Service office at Midland Regional Airport made that point perfectly clear.

Saturday's high is expected to be near 60, with the overnight low in the mid-30s.

Anyone stuck inside all day Thursday missed his chance at the good weather. Thursday's high was a balmy 83 degrees, very close to the record for the date of 86 degrees set in 1951. The overnight low of 45, on the other hand, came nowhere near the record of 17 degrees set in 1931.

Today's gusty winds should die down from the 20 to 30 mph range to a mere 10 to 15 mph tonight, the weatherman said.

Again, no rain was mentioned in the forecast, so the monthly accumulation of 16 and annual total of .58 inch of moisture is likely to stand awhile longer.

Area towns were experiencing the same windy cool weather Midlanders had.

Rankin weather watchers reported it was windy, dusty and cold, with a 36 degree reading at 8 a.m. Andrews was partly cloudy and 40 degrees with a brisk breeze noted.

A cold front moved across much of the northern half of Texas today, accompanied by showers, thunderstorms, brisk winds and some brief snow flurries.

Tests due for assessment program

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — More than 78,000 elementary and secondary school students will be tested April 3 through May 11 in the second phase of a statewide assessment program, the Texas Education Agency said Thursday.

The tests will measure economic education among 22,450 fifth graders and 28,650 11th graders and career education among 14,625 eighth graders and 13,150 11th graders.

Students were tested in reading, writing, mathematics and citizenship last year.

Project results will not be reported for individual schools, school districts, teachers or students. Data will be analyzed by ethnicity, sex, type and size of school district and home economic factors.

New Iran prime minister resigns

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iranian Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan resigned from the country's provisional government today, but his resignation was turned down by the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, a source close to the prime minister reported.

Bazargan, 70, traveled 100 miles through a snow storm to submit his resignation to the ayatollah, Iran's religious and political leader, in the holy city of Qom.

Bazargan told the holy man Thursday he could not remain in office if "provocations" against his government continued.

The 78-year-old ayatollah, who masterminded the overthrow of the shah and appointed Bazargan to lead a new civilian government, reportedly gave Bazargan assurances of his continued support.

He was quoted as saying orders would be issued that would bolster government authority and curb the powers of Khomeini-appointed revolutionary committees, which run a parallel government to that of the prime minister.

Details of the directives to be issued have not been disclosed and confirmation of the resignation has not been confirmed by other sources.

Bazargan has increasingly criticized revolutionary committees for undermining the authority of his government, which was further eroded Tuesday when Khomeini publicly criticized the Bazargan administration for being weak and for lacking a total commitment to the establishment of an Islamic republic.

The source for the resignation reported, who is close to the prime minister but requested anonymity, said Friday that Bazargan was still in the holy city meeting with Khomeini, but it was not immediately known how long he would remain there.

Bazargan was chosen by Khomeini to head the provisional government after the ayatollah returned from exile. But before Bazargan and his government of Western-educated liberal politicians could gain control of the governmental machinery left in ruins by the debacle of the previous royal administration, the revolutionary committees dominated by Moslem conservatives and supported by guerrilla armies took control of the country and established a parallel and more effective government.

Bazargan has been especially critical of the wholesale arrests, secret trials and executions carried out by the revolutionary committees without any reference to the provisional government. Thousands are believed under arrest and more than 30 have been executed by firing squads for the killing or torture of opponents of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi or on moral charges.

Tehran Radio today announced the execution of three more "criminals" of the royal regime who it said were found guilty of torture and murder by an Islamic court. They were Gen. Jaafar-Gholi Sadri, a former police chief; Maj. Nasser Gavami, a former assistant police chief, and Capt. Ghassem Janpanah of SAVAK, the shah's secret police.

Janpanah also was found guilty of forcing political prisoners to strip and rape each other, the broadcast said.

Teamsters union might ignore wage guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Teamsters union is threatening to barrel through President Carter's anti-inflation wage guidelines with pay raise demands that more than double the 7 percent voluntary limit called for by Carter.

The union is asking the trucking industry for a first-year wage increase of 14 percent, sources say, while demanding full cost-of-living protection on top of that.

The 300,000 truck drivers and warehouse workers affected by the contract talks now make an average of $9.40 an hour in straight-time wages.

The union's demand is for a flat $1.35 hourly raise, plus additional increases tied to the inflation rate, said the sources, who requested anonymity.

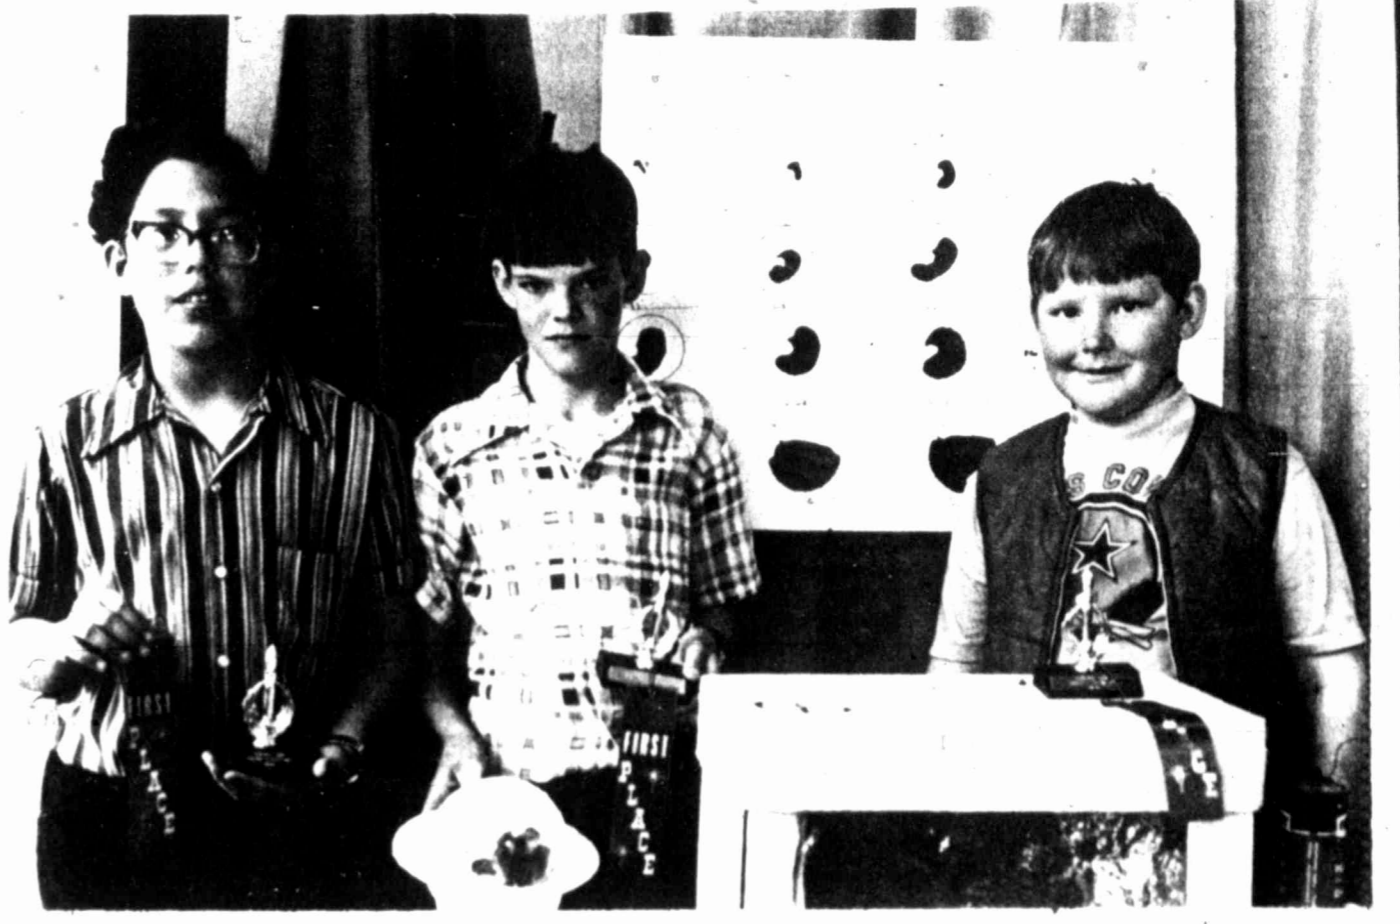

The current agreement expires March 31. A top union official has expressed confidence the two sides can reach a settlement by the deadline to avert a potentially crippling nationwide strike.

In all, the union is seeking $2.35 over three years, a 25 percent general wage increase. When major fringe benefits and the cost of living raises are added, the demand equals a 50 percent to 55 percent boost overall.

One administration official acknowledged Thursday that the union's initial offer is "way above the guidelines." But the official, who declined to be named, said the industry might take a strong stand and hold the union to a settlement within the presidential guidelines.

Carter's inflation fighters have said the 2.1 million member union will provide a crucial test for the guidelines.

Some officials say the Teamsters, who won wage and fringe increases of more than 11 percent a year in their present three-year pact, could make or break Carter's guidelines.

Winners in the South Elementary School Science Fair held Thursday are, from left, Kenneth Hamilton, Robert Brantley and Elbert Taylor. The three sixth graders won for their exhibit on the development of the quail. The fair, part of the school's celebration of Public School Week, attracted some 30 entries. (Staff Photo)

Floods threaten Illinois, Indiana

By The Associated Press

Authorities in Illinois and Indiana kept a close watch today on the Kankakee River and two large ice jams that have caused flooding and led to the evacuation of hundreds of people.

A spokesman for the Kankakee auxiliary police Civil Defense unit in Illinois said today that the situation was stable.

"To say what will happen today is unpredictable," he said. "When the ice lets loose from a jam, there's no telling what will happen. Right now the water is about 5 feet above normal, but the condition is stable. Both the jams are standing high and fluctuation of a few inches could mean trouble.

"We're getting some help from the weather though, and that's a good sign. The ice is getting soft and crumbling from the jams in pieces.

On Thursday, the jam at the Interstate 57 bridge some 60 miles southwest of Chicago broke, sending what a river patrol spokesman described as a "surge" of water downstream but causing no damage or new evacuations.

Since Sunday, about 500 families along the Kankakee River in Illinois have been forced from their homes.

Meanwhile, National Guard engineers were dispatched to northwestern Indiana on Thursday to help shore up a weakened Kankakee River dike.

Lake County Civil Defense coordinator Donald Zisoff said a temporary, horseshoe-shaped dam was holding back the water, reducing, at least for now, the threat of serious flooding in the tiny river community of Shelby.

Families who fled their homes earlier this week when the dike broke near Shelby have returned, he said.

Elsewhere around the nation, a cold front continued to push southward across the Dakotas, bringing snow, gusty winds and colder temperatures to the area.

Travel advisories for occasional snow and blowing and drifting snow were in effect for northern and eastern North Dakota and Minnesota, with one to two inches of new snow expected.

Snow also fell over the eastern half of Colorado, western Kansas, and from northwestern Missouri to Wisconsin. The weather bureau said one to three inches of new snow was possible in extreme northwestern and north central Missouri.

Mostly clear skies prevailed this morning along the Gulf Coast and through much of the plateau and Pacific Coast.

Midlanders should be proud, Rotarians told

"You can be proud of Midland," Action Line-Fish President Colleen Scurry told members of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday.

In Texas, she told them, there are only two entirely volunteer staffed help organizations like Action Line-Fish. "One is in Corpus Christi and the other is in Midland," Mrs. Scurry said.

Action Line-Fish is an information and referral service, Mrs. Scurry told her audience at the Midland Hilton. The service handles everything from where to find fresh dill weed in Midland to where legal aid and information can be obtained, she said.

"We had a man call in who said his wife was out of town and did we know of a recipe for pork chops," Mrs. Scurry said. "We never did hear how they turned out," she added.

In other situations, Mrs. Scurry said, Action Line-Fish has helped people find the help they needed in regard to surgery, emotional, financial, legal and transportation problems.

"We don't try to solve all the problems," Mrs. Scurry said. The volunteers that staff the service try to answer questions if they are on file or refer the caller to the proper agency or service if the situation calls for it, she said.

Action Line-Fish was organized in 1970 and is sponsored by the Midland Association of Churches, Mrs. Scurry said.

Incumbents draw top spots

Experience paid off in Thursday's drawing for ballot positions for the Midland school board election April 7.

Both incumbents running for re-election drew the top spot in their races.

In the Place 5 spot, Penny Angelo will be listed first followed by Parker Humes. Incumbent David Grimes chose not to run for re-election to the board.

Place 6 will have incumbent

Edward E. Runyan listed first followed by Alice M. Greer, Oralia "Lilly" Corrales and Raul J. Salazar.

Place 7 will have incumbent Ann Page followed by Joyce Sherrod.

Voters also will be asked to answer yes or no on the non-binding referendum item "Are you in favor of the consolidation of Lee High School and Midland High School."

Patsy Herrington

Patsy Herrington files for Place 6 in Greenwood

Patsy Herrington, 41, has filed as a candidate for the Place 6 position on the Greenwood school board currently held by Donal Swafford.

Mrs. Herrington said she filed for the position because "I am a concerned parent that believes the young people of Greenwood deserve every advantage this school has to offer."

She has lived in Greenwood, located 10 miles east of Midland, two years, moving there from El Paso. She and her husband, Al, have one child.

She is director of nursing at the Martin County Hospital in Stanton.

"I believe with my vantage point as a mother of a child in the lower grades, I can contribute a great deal to our school board," she said.

The Place 6 race is the only contested race on the April 7 Greenwood school ballot. Donald W. Lea is running uncontested for the Place 7 spot.

FDA set to ask saccharin ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration still plans to propose a ban on the artificial sweetener saccharin.

But an agency spokesman says a ban could not go into effect until the proposal went through a lengthy hearing process that would take at least a year.

That means calorie-counters will not have to hoard their diet food and low-calorie drinks after the congressional moratorium on banning the sugar substitute expires May 23.

The FDA said Wednesday that while it still intends to propose a ban on the artificial sweetener when the deadline expires, such a ban would take a minimum of 12 to 15 months to go into effect.

"The FDA plans no precipitous action on saccharin when the moratorium expires," spokesman Wayne Pines said. "There will be plenty of time for Congress and everyone else to look at the whole question of food safety."

The FDA originally had proposed that the ban would take effect the day the moratorium ended. Pines said. But, he said, the regulatory agency will have to go through the process of proposing a ban and seeking public comment again.

Unemployment rate falls to 5.7 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate fell to 5.7 percent in February, the lowest in 4½ years since the 1974-1975 recession, the government said today.

The jobs rate was 5.8 percent in January. The February jobs report by the Labor Department gave no indication that President Carter's economic slowdown policies have yet begun to push people out of work. However, the department reported a rise in unemployment among blacks and other minority members, especially black teen-agers.

These are the groups that usually suffer first when the economy begins to falter. But job losses among minority groups were more than offset by gains for white workers, whose unemployment rates fell to 4.9 percent from 5.1 percent in January.

The overall unemployment rate of 5.7 percent last month was the lowest since August 1974 when unemployment was 5.4 percent of the labor force.

The department said total employment increased in February by 345,000 jobs to a total of 96.6 million. The number of people without jobs remained the same at 5.9 million.

The department gave the following breakdown on unemployment in February, compared with January, for various population groups:

- Adult men, 4 percent, unchanged.
- Adult women, 5.7 percent, unchanged.
- Teen-agers, 16.1 percent, up from 15.7.
- Whites, 4.9 percent, down from 5.1.
- Blacks and other minorities, 11.9 percent, up from 11.2.
- Black and other minority teen-agers, 35.5 percent, up from 32.7.
- Full-time workers, 5.2 percent, unchanged.
- White-collar workers, 3.4 percent, up from 3.3.
- Blue-collar workers, 6.4 percent, unchanged.

Although the white-collar unemployment rate rose slightly, the Labor Department said these workers, especially professional and clerical help, were the big gainers in February.

The department said employment in retail trades rose by 115,000 persons during the month. It said employment gains among white-collar workers accounted for nearly 70 percent of the total increase in employment of 3.6 million persons during the past year.

The overall jobs rate has declined by 0.4 percent since February 1978, with a 250,000-worker reduction in the number of unemployed.

The number of persons with jobs as a percentage of the population hit a record 59.4 percent in February, the department said. The labor force totaled 102.5 million, which was 63.9 percent of the population, also a record high.

Although unemployment continued to decline in February, the administration says it will begin to increase at some point this year as result of Carter's actions to control inflation by slowing economic growth.

The Carter administration reluctantly concluded some time ago that it would have to postpone efforts to further reduce unemployment and even allow for some increase in 1979 to combat the nation's worsening inflation rate.

The Labor Department added new evidence of continuing inflation Thursday when it reported that wholesale prices rose 1 percent in February, with higher food prices again leading the way.

Lettuce will be harvested on schedule

SALINAS, Calif. (AP) — While United Farm Workers continued to hint at the possibility of a national lettuce boycott, a grower predicted the Northern California crop will be harvested on schedule, despite the strike that virtually destroyed Southern California's winter yields.

"We expect to ship all our crop," said SunHarvest spokesman Rowland Kemp on Thursday. "Everything we've done right now is on schedule. We're not behind in any material way other than because of weather conditions."

The seven-week strike against 11 major growers in California and Arizona, which provide 40 percent of the nation's iceberg lettuce, left nearly $10 million of vegetables rotting in the Imperial Valley fields of Southern California.

UFW leader Cesar Chavez has said the strike's main focus will now swing to the Salinas area, since the Imperial Valley harvest season is over. The UFW represents about 7,000 farm workers in the area.

Kemp said, however, that a "large labor force" is developing to fill in for the UFW strikers.

The UFW, which has already called a boycott against Chiquita bananas, said a national lettuce boycott has not been ruled out as a way to pressure vegetable growers into a settlement.

"We're not saying that we're not going to call a lettuce (boycott)," said UFW spokeswoman Vickie Lopez. "The door is open. But we're hoping that negotiations will resume and we won't have to do that."

The bananas are marketed worldwide by United Brand Inc. of New York, SunHarvest's parent company.

The UFW is seeking a one-year 40 percent increase in the base wage of $3.70 an hour, plus substantial boosts in piece rate pay and fringe benefits.

Pictures of moon to reveal volcanic activity

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Voyager I scientists believe pictures of the Jovian moon Io show volcanic activity which spreads molten lava, keeping its surface smooth.

If the scientists are right, Io is an active volcanic moon able to cover the scars of 4 billion years ago, when debris of the planet-building process pockmarked every object in the solar system.

Pictures of Io show what Dr. Laurence Soderblom of the U.S. Geological Survey identified on Thursday as a caldera — the sunken crater inside a volcano.

Soderblom, who heads the moon-imaging team, said a collar of very dark material could be seen around the Io crater. The collar, he said, was almost certainly lava flows.

Soderblom said some of the flow patterns of basaltic material are 60 miles long and 10 miles wide, and the crater is as wide as 30 miles.

The absence of craters on Io initially baffled Voyager scientists when detailed pictures of the little moon were first beamed back to Earth Monday.

The surface of Earth also is free from craters, and it therefore is considered a young planet. Volcanic activity, wind and water have all worked to smooth out Earth's crust.

Earth's moon, in contrast, has all the markings of a "dead" sphere, with harsh craters still in evidence billions of years after they were formed.

"It's just unlikely that Io died yesterday," Soderblom told reporters at Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena.

Article on Crane adds spice to Republican race

Rep. Phillip Crane

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — New Hampshire's best-known conservative newspaper has tossed a grenade into the previously quiet race between the two top conservative contenders for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination, Ronald Reagan and Rep. Phillip Crane.

The Manchester Union Leader, in a front-page story Thursday, quoted an unidentified source purporting to be a former Crane staff member as saying that the Illinois congressman was "just too good looking," that "women are always throwing themselves all over him," and that he "once told a friend he was committed to bedding down 1,000 different women."

Part of the article also was attributed to an unidentified source purporting to be a Reagan staffer, who reportedly said that when Crane served as the former California governor's Illinois campaign chairman in 1976, he spent most of his time in the hotel cocktail lounge with friends, many of them women.

Below the article, the Union Leader — the only daily newspaper with a statewide circulation — carried an editorial backing Reagan for president in 1980. It also supported him in 1971.

Crane, after reading the article, called on Reagan to fire the aide who supposedly supplied the "false, scandalous information."

Reagan responded in a statement that he had "informed Congressman Crane that none of my staff was in any way responsible for the articles."

He said that if Crane had evidence of involvement by any Reagan staffer, "it was his responsibility to get it to me personally."

Crane is a declared candidate for the GOP presidential nomination. Formation of an "exploratory" campaign committee for Reagan was announced Wednesday, but he hasn't made a formal declaration of candidacy.

Crane said he felt the newspaper attacked him because it feared his early start in the campaign threatened Reagan. Reagan finished second to then-President Gerald Ford in the 1976 New Hampshire primary with 49 percent of the vote.

Crown prince to leave Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The son of the deposed Shah of Iran, Crown Prince Reza Pahlavi, is expected to leave Lubbock sometime today to join his family in Morocco, according to a published report.

In a copyright story in today's editions, The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal reported that sources at nearby Reese Air Force Base, who declined to be identified, confirmed that the 18-year-old prince is permanently leaving the base.

Baker to join '80 GOP race

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Senate Minority Leader Howard Baker says he plans to become a candidate for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination.

Baker, who delivered the 44th lecture in the Kansas State University series named after former Republican Gov. Alf Landon, told reporters Thursday that his entry into the race was "a possibility."

Later, in reply to a student's question, Baker confirmed that he does plan to become a candidate.

"Yeah, I plan to (bid for the GOP nomination). I don't plan to announce here today. But I plan to be back in touch with you."

The Tennessee senator said he sees no need at present to resign as Senate minority leader to devote more time to his presidential aspirations.

"I don't plan to step down until and unless its obvious I have to spend so much time on my campaign that I can't fulfill my duties as Senate minority leader," Baker said. "I don't see that prospect at the present time."

Waggoner Carr talking tax reform

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — It starts to sound like a revival — complete with a reformed sinner trying to get others to see the light — when former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr talks about tax reform.

"During my years in politics in this state I learned how to tax you when you didn't even know it. I learned how to put taxes on you and you like it because I knew how to do it," Carr told a small audience here Thursday night.

The West Texan who spent 17 years in state government is now trying to teach other Texans how to deal with their government. Carr is the president of Texas 13, an organization seeking tax relief and initiative and referendum — rights — for Texans.

"I don't apologize for that because I did it the best way I knew," Carr said of his years as a tax-setter. "But what I am trying to say to you is that I had a part in building this monster that's now out of control. I want to do everything I can to help you get it back under control."

Carr told the gathering of 40 persons that it is the system — not the people within the system — that offers the largest obstacle to tax relief.

"I am here to tell you that you can elect anybody you want to. You can elect the best man or woman in your community as a representative or a senator, but the government is so big that there is no human way they'll have of doing much about it," he said.

He added that much of the blame for the evils of big government "lies with you and me."

"We've been taking a merry, easy ride and we're reaping the whirlwind. You were busy doing other things. You were looking the other way and while you were doing that other people were making bad decisions," he said.

The small audience nodded silent approval and agreement as Carr urged them to organize.

Odessa store reports robbery

ODESSA — A man robbed an Odessa convenience store at knife-point early this morning, taking an undetermined amount of money, officials were told.

Odessa police said they were told a man wearing light colored pants and no shirt approached the clerk at the 7-Eleven store at 2712 N. Dixie about 3 a.m., pulled out a pearl-handled pocket knife and demanded money. He later fled on foot.

Potholes, nationwide

Visit with most any motorist here or elsewhere at this particular time and chances are the conversation soon will turn to potholes.

Now this isn't one of the more pleasant subjects to discuss, but it is one of the most perplexing.

The freeze-thaw cycles of the cold, cold winter across the nation are responsible, of course, for the potholes, which also are known in West Texas as chugholes.

The City of Midland has its share of these "holes," call 'em what you wish, but nothing compared to certain other sections of the state and nation. The Tall City's street maintenance crews, all winter long, have tried hard to keep up with the situation, but it has been an almost impossible chore. They still are working hard at the job.

The city crews last summer did a tremendous job, perhaps the best ever, in seal coating any number of streets. If it hadn't been for this, the chughole situation undoubtedly would be much worse. It appears, however, that some of the older paving is beginning to crumble a bit, and another extensive street improvement project likely will be necessary in the not-too-distant future.

But back to potholes elsewhere.

It was reported a few weeks back that 354 potholes were born every minute, nationwide.

And Texas again is No. 1. Of 20 states surveyed for potholes, Texas was first with 8.2 million, but the Lone Star State, of course, covers a tremendous amount of territory.

Ohio was second with 5.7 million, followed by Pennsylvania with 4.5 million, Illinois with 4.2 million, New Jersey with 3.9 million and New York with 3.1 million.

And there you have a lot of potholes, enough to cause millions of dollars worth of damage to cars and tires. In addition to this, a great deal of money is being spent in the general street and highway repair process. Highway funds haven't been any too plentiful in most cases either. Thus, another widespread money problem arises. But chances are that the damaged streets and highways will be repaired as promptly as possible, and motorists soon will be exceeding speed limits without fear of hitting potholes.

The Associated Press reported a couple of weeks ago that New York City had 120 crews at work and they filled 10,000 potholes in a single day. It is hoped that most of the repair work will hold — at least until next winter.

A pleasing forecast

The U.S. Postal Service is of the opinion it might just break even — perhaps even go as far as showing a profit — by the end of September.

This is a goal the service, and the Post Office Department before it, has been seeking since 1948, to no avail. And the blame for the red ink shouldn't be laid to the postal service alone. Every time things start looking up, Congress somehow makes more demands and refuses to permit cuts in service which would have postal ledgers showing profits.

The present optimistic forecast comes from Postmaster Gen. William F. Bolger, who says the $17.5 billion surplus by the close of the fiscal year in September.

The agency has lost billions in years past, but it now sees brighter days ahead due to increased productivity and a stabilization of postal rates.

Mr. Bolger said the service carried 97 billion pieces of mail last year. Eighty percent of the mail, incidentally, is from business.

The Postal Service for years has been criticized for sloppy service, computerized equipment which doesn't function properly and a tendency to raise rates far too often.

Let us hope that conditions now are taking a turn for the better. This would be great, but if a profit also can be shown at the same time, this really would be good news for one and all.

INSIDE REPORT:

Unprecedented guest at State Department staff meet

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Just when Soviet broadcasts were raising anti-American passions among Marxist guerrillas in Tehran to highest pitch, the No. 2 Soviet diplomat here was invited to be an unprecedented guest at a routine, two-hour staff meeting of the State Department's Bureau of Soviet Affairs on the department's sixth floor.

Vladilen Vasev, minister-counselor under Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, arrived at the 9 a.m. staff meeting with one aide on Feb. 2. Before he left, he treated the 20-odd U.S. diplomats and a half dozen officials from the Commerce Department and the United States Information Agency to a standard, wholly predictable anti-U.S., anti-Carter administration lecture.

With other developments in Jimmy Carter's confused handling of his Soviet problem, this strange invitation unintentionally symbolizes a State Department compulsion to prove to the Kremlin that, no matter what anyone else is saying, it is really and truly loved in Carter's Washington. "But what is transmitted to Moscow," one American long skilled in dealing with the Russians told us, "is not love but obsequiousness and even fear and that is bad."

The extraordinary invitation to Vasev was specifically approved by Dr. Marshall Shulman, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance's Soviet adviser, and at least one other top official. It caused a furious reaction among the few insiders who found out about it in the Carter administration, particularly in the Pentagon and Dr. Zbigniew Brzezinski's National Security Council staff.

Indeed, we found no officials anywhere — including experienced Soviet experts — who, when informed of Vasev's attendance at the staff meeting, were not astonished and angered. William Shinn, chief of the Soviet desk, told us it was simply an experiment in diplomacy with no sequel planned.

U. Alexis Johnson, who as the department's top career diplomat and Shinn's boss in arms control talks with the Russians a few years ago, said he had "enormous regard" for career diplomat Shinn. Now retired, Johnson told us: "I simply cannot understand this."

That lack of understanding goes to the heart of Vance-Shulman diplomatic management of the frayed U.S.-Soviet connection. The invitation to Vasev seems clearly tied to the Vance-Shulman policy — often but not always echoed by Carter — of putting the brightest face on a clearly deteriorating picture: in this case, despite incendiary anti-American broadcasts in Iran, show Vasev how hard Carter is trying to get along, and the Soviets will follow suit.

To much of official Washington beyond the panelled chambers of Messrs. Vance and Shulman, that policy invites not reciprocity but Soviet audacity. Worse, it betrays a kind of diplomatic masochism that lies just under the administration's surface attitude of occasional hard-headed diplomacy.

This ambivalence reinforces the Carter-Vance-Shulman refusal to link strategic arms talks (SALT II) to Soviet expansion throughout Africa and South Asia; it informs the Kremlin that the more successful it is in weakening U.S. influence in the world, the harder the U.S. will try to make a deal with Moscow. Examples are numerous:

Item: Despite severe presidential protests over Soviet treatment of Anatoly Shecharansky (jailed as an alleged American spy) along with trials of other Soviet dissidents last year, not a single piece of drilling equipment from the controversial Dresser industrial deal on down has been cancelled.

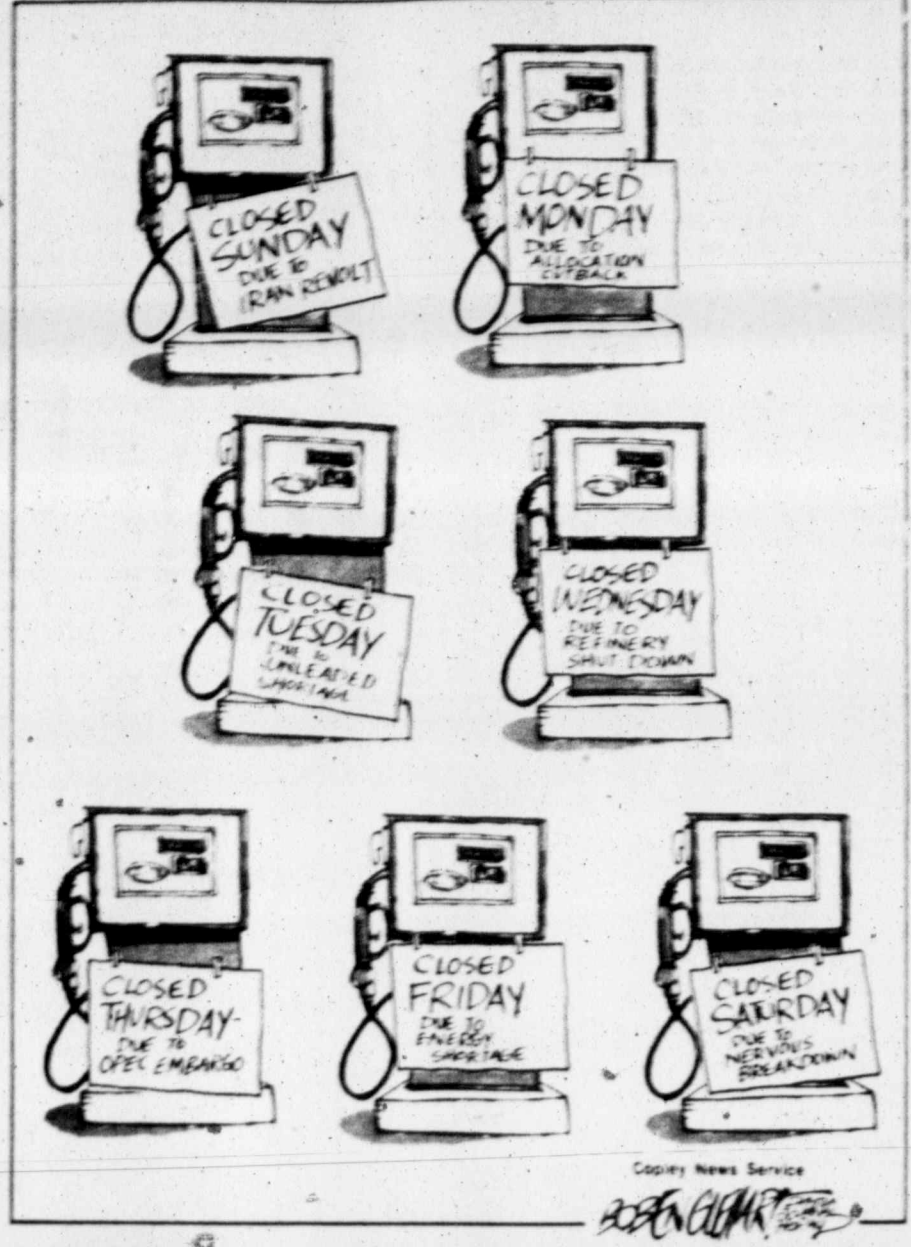

Item: Despite bogus or "disinformation" documents carrying the Soviet imprimatur and now surfacing in such U.S.-allied capitals as Athens, Rome and Bangkok — designed to defame the U.S. — the Vance-Shulman team avoids protest to Moscow.

Item: The White House removed the usual net assessment of U.S. Soviet military strength from the first draft of the Joint Chiefs of Staff annual "posture" statement in January. It showed bad deterioration in relative military strengths over the year and might therefore have acted as a further prod to higher defense spending, offending Moscow, history's greatest weapons procurers.

Item: Inadvertently or not, in his Feb. 27 press conference Carter junked the careful formulation of U.S. displeasure for Vietnam's Soviet-backed "invasion" of Cambodia and China's "frontier penetration" into Vietnam. Those were Carter's words on Feb. 20 at Georgia Tech and Brzezinski's on the March 1 CBS "Morning Show." But in his press conference, Carter equated the two events with the same language, thus muting the anti-Soviet signal.

Given these sub-rosa signals — from special guest at the Soviet desk's regular staff meeting to the doctored record of a famed Soviet defector — the view from the Kremlin window must show a Jimmy Carter desperately eager to buy. That may explain the rising cost of business with the U.S.S.R.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Bulk mail center accidents rise

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The loading docks at the Postal Service's New York bulk mail center are referred to by the employees as "the six doors of death."

Allowing for a certain poetic license by the postal workers — no one has actually been killed at the loading docks — the grim phrase reflects the most serious flaw in the Postal Service's multimillion-dollar, super-automated regional facilities for handling parcels and other non-first-class mail. The places simply are not safe to work in.

We have already reported the havoc wreaked on mail by the futuristic assembly-line machines that were supposed to be cheaper and more efficient than human mail handlers. Damage and destruction caused by the remorseless electronic marvels have led many bulk mailers to use private delivery services. The resulting shrinkage in traffic is killing the whole point of the bulk mail centers, which must handle enormous volume to achieve the cost savings projected for them.

But workers' safety is far more important than damage to inanimate objects. The Rube Goldberg machines are ripping human flesh as well as parcel wrappings, crushing human limbs as well as Christmas packages and spilling workers' blood as well as junk mail.

Employees at the regional bulk mail centers are scared and angry. It's dehumanizing enough to work while surrounded by machines instead of men and women; when the machines have the upper hand, it is shattering to employees morale.

We sent our associate Vicki Warren to work undercover at the Washington regional bulk mail center, and when she saw the appalling conditions the facility's employees must work in, she asked them why they didn't quit. The universal response was that the way is too good to pass up.

Management's response to the astronomical cost of patching up its injured workers — currently more than $600 million a year — has been to treat it as a mere bureaucratic problem. Instead of trying to figure out ways to make the environment safer, the Postal Service has chosen to cut its compensation claims by culling them with a fine-tooth comb. The machines aren't to blame for accidents in management's view; the employees are.

The manager of the San Francisco center expressed this attitude in a memo that warned bluntly: "We cannot continue to permit people to harm themselves at this installation. It is in their best interest to remove them from the Postal Service rather than allow them to maim and kill themselves."

The Washington bulk mail center, where our reporter worked, had the highest accident record in the East last year. There were more than 300 accidents in 1975 — almost one a day. There were 41.4 accidents for every 100 employees, compared to 9.5 per 100 employees at the city post office in downtown Washington.

Yet management and the workers can't even agree on the best way to avoid one of the more common machine-caused accidents at the Washington center: a malfunctioning signal system causes the truck driver to drive off while the loader and the

CHARLEY REESE 'Is the United States sliding down toward oblivion?'

By CHARLEY REESE
Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. — East of Atlanta, Ga., a mass of naked gray granite rises like a boil out of the pine forests. It is called Stone Mountain and it is 700 feet high. In the old days the Ku Klux Klan met there and burned their crosses.

Before it was civilized by being turned into a state park, the mountain claimed a number of victims from time to time. You see, the top is rounded and the mountain is so large that it does not appear to have an edge. People used to keep walking toward "the edge" until they suddenly found themselves skidding and bouncing down its unyielding side.

When I was a little boy and heard the tales of these unfortunate people, I imagined how they felt that terrible instant when they knew they had gone too far, knew they could not go back, knew they were falling, and knew they were going to die. I imagined that their emotions must have been a mixture of fear, regret, and possibly self-aimed anger.

I wonder sometimes if we, as a nation, did not take the one step too far back in the 1960s and if we are not sliding down the side toward oblivion. I'm not sure we are, but it is a question important enough to think about. What set me pondering it was the remark of a school teacher recently that her students were really scared that there would be a new draft.

If the feeling is really widespread, if our young people really are fearful of a draft, then perhaps we are falling. It means these youngsters are thinking of themselves and not of their country and hoping that someone else will do their fighting for them.

I am not one of those tub-thumpers who would have youngsters believe any romantic notions about war. War is about as bad as everybody says it is, but as we used to say in the piney woods, what's that got to do with the price of eggs?

It is a sign of extreme emotional immaturity to believe that just because something is bad it can and must always be avoided. Ernest Hemingway said it beautifully: "There are several things worse than war and they all come with defeat."

No, it's not a question of wanting to go to war-but of being willing to go to war. Nobody in their right mind wants to go to war. I know many professional soldiers, some of them with a lot of combat experience, but I don't know any who enjoy war or want one.

That is one of the evil legacies of the 1960s, the communist propaganda parroted by so many Americans that our military men were crazy warmongers. We should never have tolerated that slander which sought to convert patriotism, honor, courage and duty into sickness and evil. Perhaps that was our one step too far.

It is a simple proposition really. Your life is your single most valuable possession, so what you are willing to exchange it for is your highest value.

If we have reached a stage where youth are not willing to die for their country, then we have reached a stage where they obviously do not love it enough to do what is necessary to preserve and protect it.

They want someone else to do their fighting for them, but there is nobody else. They are the country. The bad part is our enemies are watching us and once they decide we are not willing to die for our country, then they will make their move.

The volunteer army is an attempt to pay someone else to assume our responsibilities as citizens. It is not working and it should be replaced with a draft. One side benefit of a draft would be to find out if indeed we have taken the one step too far.

State court of appeals reverses two rulings

AUSTIN — Basing its decision on the addition of a single word to a jury charge, the Texas Court of Civil Appeals overturned the 25-year conviction of James Al Elbert Lee for an Ector County robbery.

Lee was indicted for "placing" a witness in fear of bodily harm. However, when the trial judge gave his instructions to the jury, he told them Lee could be found guilty if the jury found that he had "either threatened or placed" the witness in fear of bodily injury.

Ruling that the addition of the word "threatened" was a "fundamental error that requires reversal in the interest of justice," the court advised, "it is essential that trial judges take note of the allegations in the indictment when drafting the portion of the jury charge that applies the law to the facts of the case."

In a Howard County case, also overturned by the court, the justices voided the robbery indictment of Ismael Juarez.

Juarez, a juvenile, was ordered tried as an adult by a Howard County judge in March 1975. However, Juarez was not granted an examining trial before he was indicted on March 30.

By a 5-4 vote, the court ruled that failure to afford a juvenile who is to stand trial as an adult an examining trial before he is indicted is sufficient reason to reverse the trial court's verdict.

Davis judge views claim skeptically

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Priscilla Davis' claim to almost $50 million has drawn a little judicial skepticism from the presiding jurist in her long and bitter divorce fight with millionaire Cullen Davis.

Ronald Aultman and Jerry Loftin, lawyers for Mrs. Davis, have argued that Davis used his position in the huge Davis family conglomerate to keep profits he reaped from the business empire out of his community property estate.

The lawyers contended Davis, by not declaring cash dividends on stock, deprived Mrs. Davis of a share in almost $100 million they said he realized from the family conglomerate during the couple's turbulent 10-year marriage.

However, State District Judge John Barron questioned that argument and pointed to earlier testimony by Davis that KenDavis Industries have long followed a policy of not declaring cash dividends.

Davis also had testified earlier that the family conglomerate, controlled by him and his brother Ken, had generally followed that policy prior to his 1968 marriage to Priscilla.

Division of property is the sole issue in the divorce case that has been recessed until Monday.

Neighbors object to plans for home for retarded

By MARC WILSON

McHENRY, Ill. (AP) — It seemed the perfect neighborhood for them: Towering elms along quiet streets. Transportation, shopping, banking, medical care, churches and recreation nearby.

So the McHenry County Association for the Retarded bought a vacant lot in the neighborhood. The federal Department of Housing and Urban Development agreed to loan money to build a one-story brick home with 11 bedrooms, one for each of the 11 moderately retarded people to live there. The association said the group home wouldn't detract from the neighborhood. There would be full-time supervision.

All seemed perfect — until the neighbors found out. The association requested a zoning variance so non-related persons could live on the residential property. Neighbors hired an attorney and protested to the city zoning board, which will vote on the request Friday.

"We have no lack of compassion for the cause," says Bea Newkirk, one of the 67 neighbors who signed a petition opposing the home. "It's just that we just want to keep the neighborhood the way it is. We object to changing the character of the neighborhood."

MRS. NEWKIRK refused to be more specific about her fears, but David Mack of the HUD office in Chicago said the typical objections to group homes are fears that the retarded persons are "perverted people. They have these false impressions about retarded people. The neighbors are afraid their children will be molested."

Max Addison of the National Association of Retarded Citizens noted that the problems in McHenry are not untypical. He says there are 165,000 retarded persons living in institutions and with relatives nationwide who could live in community homes, if space could be found. But efforts to build homes have met resistance nationwide.

Mack said that in Illinois, HUD funding for such homes has been available since 1974, but no projects have gotten beyond the planning stage, mostly because of problems similar to those in McHenry.

"The biggest problems," said Addison, "are zoning requirements and the misguided belief that a retarded person is a sick, dangerous person."

But, he added, moving retarded persons out of institutions "is a trend that won't be stopped. In the past, these people were just stashed into a corner. They never had a future. They weren't expected to contribute to society. That's all changing now."

OPPOSITION TO THE McHENRY project was organized at a meeting of neighbors, but one neighbor who wasn't invited was Kathy Alvary. She lives about a block from the proposed home and she and her husband have a daughter with learning disabilities who lives in New York.

"My neighbors know I've represented this community on the special education board and would speak out in favor of a group home. But they didn't want to hear the positive side," she said.

Mrs. Alvary testified before the zoning board in February, urging approval of the variance.

"I've been neighbors with the people for many years and I'm very disappointed. I'll never feel the same again about my immediate community," she added. "I'm pretty sure we'll lose, both at the zoning board and the city council," said Robert Lambourn, executive director of the association for the retarded.

neighborhood," he said, "but who says retarded persons can't live in the best environment?"

JOSEPH CONDON, attorney for the neighbors, said his clients feel "the area is the most stable and long-standing single-family neighborhood in the city, and are only interested in maintaining that status." He added that his clients would oppose "any commercial facility in the neighborhood, whether it be a Lions Club Hall, hardware store or doctor's office."

"I've had the sense that some people suspect my clients have a 19th century mentality toward the developmentally disabled," Condon said. "This is not true, in fact many of my clients have been financial contributors to the cause of the developmentally disabled."

Lambourn said, "The communities in McHenry County have always been wonderful about supporting our programs. But everything we have so far is...away from the neighborhoods where people live."

Lambourn's association, private and non-profit, runs programs for the mentally retarded including vocational rehabilitation, day care for children and adults and a community living facility for 20 mildly retarded persons on the outskirts of nearby Woodstock.

The group home would be for persons more retarded than those living at Woodstock. No residential facility for moderately retarded adults exists in the county — a gap the group home would fill.

DR. ROBERT H. Bruininks of the University of Minnesota, who recently completed a study on facilities for the retarded, said the theory is that such group homes can help them to "grow and learn." But he said a wide range of services must be available nearby.

Lambourn said 109 retarded adults in the county would qualify to live in the group home. Bill Pierce's son, Robbie, 23, is one.

"My wife and I have given him as good a home as possible," said Pierce, who does not live in the neighborhood of the proposed home. "But we realize that at our age we have might few years left, and Robbie will have to have a new home."

"We've been to the state institutions in Dixon and Lincoln and we know we'd never let him live in a place like that. When he was born a mongoloid child, the doctor told us to put him in an institution and forget him. We thank God we never did that. We don't want him going there after we're gone." Said Mrs. Newkirk: "Our objection has grown out of proportion. We don't hate the mentally retarded. We're not against motherhood or apple pie. We just want to keep our neighborhood the way it is."

Priest draws 60-day term for fraud

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A priest charged with defrauding his parishioners of more than $100,000 in order to feed his gambling urge has been sentenced to 60 days in jail.

The Rev. John SanMaung also was placed on probation for three years on the condition that he make restitution to his parishioners and undergo psychiatric counseling.

San Francisco Superior Court Judge Claude Peraso said Wednesday the priest had no known prior record and had admitted his wrongdoing. The priest pleaded guilty Jan. 31 to two bad-check counts and one count of grand theft in plea bargaining that resulted in dismissal of 28 other counts.

Prevent that ruff to insure contract

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD
In the days of whist, more than a hundred years ago, a man who led a singleton (called a "sneak" lead) could live it down only by years of prayer and good works.

West's opening lead was clearly a singleton. Only the hope of a fast ruff would induce West to lead clubs when his hearts had been raised.

When declarer nevertheless led trumps at the second trick, he got what he deserved. West took the ace of trumps and led the three of hearts.

East won and returned a club for his sneaky partner to ruff. Down one.

CUT COMMUNICATIONS

South must cut communications between the defenders. At the second trick he cashes the ace of spades and then leads dummy's queen of spades. When East cannot produce the king, South discards his losing heart.

Since West cannot get to his partner's hand, East cannot lead a club for West to ruff. South can safely draw trumps and claim his contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer you hold: S-AQ653; H-62; D-K985; C-AK. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade. An opening bid of one notrump would be a doubtful choice because you have a good five-card major suit and because a hand with two doubletons is slightly too unbalanced for a notrump bid.

and was adopted as the state song in 1979 following a statewide contest. The first verse is:

"Texas, our Texas! All hail the mighty state, Texas, our Texas! So wonderful so great! Boldest and grandest, withstanding ev'ry test, O empire wide and glorious, you stand supremely blest."

Crime pays for filmdom's Hitchcock

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It was a macabre kind of celebration, with the 79-year-old guest of honor being saluted for a lifetime in crime.

Alfred Hitchcock, the master of the suspense film, was honored Wednesday night with the Lifetime Achievement Award of the American Film Institute. His misdeeds, ranging from stabbings ("Psycho") to garrottings ("Dial M for Murder") to simple shootings ("The Man Who Knew Too Much"), were portrayed on the screens of the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

"Hitch is a gentleman farmer who raises geese," said Ingrid Bergman, mistress of ceremonies for the program, which will be telecast March 12 on CBS.

Actors who have appeared in Hitchcock films gave testimony to the director's authority on the set. Miss Bergman told of protesting that she couldn't portray an emotion the director asked for in the 1945 "Spellbound."

Hitchcock's reply: "Ingrid, fake it."

James Stewart, star of "Rear Window" and "Vertigo," remarked: "When you work with Hitch, you don't do a scene two ways; you do it one way — his."

Said Janet Leigh, the victim of "Psycho": "Actors are there to accommodate him."

John Forsythe, of "The Trouble With Harry," added: "Hitch's genius is that he can put so much life in death."

Others appearing briefly on the program included such co-workers as Teresa Wright, Jane Wyman, Edith Head, Rod Taylor, Vera Miles, Sean Connery, Judith Anderson, Cary Grant and daughter Patricia Hitchcock.

Although ailing with arthritis, Hitchcock was able to walk to the table of honor on his own, amid a standing ovation. His wife for 53 years, Alma Reville Hitchcock, sat beside him.

Hitchcock remained his usual droll self in the acceptance speech, terming the award "meaningful because it comes from my fellow dealers in celluloid."

"After all, when a man is found guilty of murder and condemned to death, it always makes him feel much better to know it was done by a jury of his friends and neighbors...with the help of an inadequate attorney."

Film poster fetches high auction price

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A rare 1914 lithograph poster promoting "The Perils of Pauline," a classic movie serial, has been auctioned here for $2,100 — described by the buyer as possibly a record price for such an artifact.

"It's one of the finest pieces I've purchased, either privately or through auction," said the buyer, Joseph Martinez, 34, who added that he has collected some 50,000 movie posters for his Hollywood apartment.

The six-color, 27-by-41-inch poster shows silent film star Pearl White looking terrified as the threatened Pauline. More than 100 "Perils of Pauline" episodes were filmed, with Pauline tied to the railroad tracks, riding a log through a sawmill or dangling from a cliff but somehow always surviving.

Martinez, who works in advertising and has designed movie posters himself, made the purchase late Tuesday with a telephone bid to the Collectors Book Store on Hollywood Boulevard. He said he paid what he believes is a record price and added that was competing with the British Film Institute in London, a French museum and several private collectors.

'Plan O' paper topic

The Bulldog, student newspaper at Midland High School, was to contain a special insert in today's issue concerning the school board meeting on Plan O. The issue was to feature meeting procedures and results of all votes on the motions in addition.

"We are distributing the newspapers on a very limited basis due to the funds available for printing," said Dirk Beveridge, editor, Thursday.

"Persons who desire a copy can contact the Bulldog newspaper at Midland High School or send a letter of request," he added.

Some 3,400 copies will be distributed door-to-door, he said.

Law proposes streamlining in divorces

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Childless couples with little real or personal property could be divorced without a court hearing under legislation filed by Rep. Lanell Cofer, D-Dallas, and Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin.

Pet of the week at the Midland Animal Shelter is this 8-month-old long-haired male tabby cat, which shelter personnel claim is "extremely nice." The shelter is located at 1601 E. Orchard Lane and

Comparisons to other pop stars irritate balladeer Gino Vanelli

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gino Vanelli may sing his romantic ballads wearing tight pants and a shirt unbuttoned to display a hairy chest, but Gino forbids that you compare him to Tom Jones or Engelbert Humperdinck.

"I think people are really stigmatized into thinking that if someone's got a sensitive or a sensuous image... a romantic image, then they've got to be Engelbert Humperdinck or Tom Jones," says the 27-year-old Canadian-born singer.

"I don't want to put them down, but whatever they seem to portray, musically or production wise, I'm not doing that."

Does the comparison bother him? "It doesn't really disturb me," says Vanelli, his polite smile growing a bit strained at the edges. "But if a reviewer or a critic or a reporter comes up to me and makes a direct analogy with that kind of thing, then I just can't understand where they're at musically."

"I'm not in it (music) for the personality business," he adds. "Music is first."

On the surface, Vanelli's protests seem a bit excessive, for his flamboyant stage technique does invite comparisons with the rest of the bare-chested crooner gang.

With his dark brown eyes and the thick black hair that tumbles to his shoulders in a mass of Louis XIV-like curls, Vanelli exudes the kind of sex appeal that elicits screams and whisles from the ladies. His soft, low key conversational tones come as something of a surprise after one hears his powerful and dramatic singing voice.

But Vanelli does have reason to complain when the comparison extends to his music. It is intense, romantic and basically middle-of-the-road, but it's also considerably more adventurous.

He's written a four-part symphony that was recorded by his band and the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra.

In fact, Vanelli — unlike Jones or Humperdinck — not only sings, but has written, arranged, produced and played instruments (keyboards and drums) on almost all the material he's recorded — six albums to date.

A notable exception is his hit, "I Just Wanna Stop," which won Vanelli a Grammy nomination for best male pop vocalist this year. The song is one of two on Vanelli's "Brother To Brother" album that were written by Vanelli's brother, Joe.

Vanelli has always worked hard at all facets of his music, which may explain his resentment at being compared to singers who don't take on the multiple chores he is immersed in.

Family hairstyling at Maxine's

Maxine's Styling Salon, 106 Andrews Highway, is a family enterprise with three generations of women represented, and serves families as a specialty. The whole family, from Grandpa down to the youngest who is having his first haircut, are welcome at Maxine's and will walk out with the pride that comes with knowing your hair looks its best.

Maxine has her mother, Irene, and her daughter, Dusty, as her regular co-workers. Her sister, Olivia Hipps, comes in to help two days a week. They are all skilled stylists and know how to make the most of the customer's good points.

For the men of the family, Maxine recommends a permanent for thin hair. They will trim a beard for the handsomest possible effect for just $2.

Goodman to retire as NBC chairman

NEW YORK (AP) — Julian Goodman, who worked his way up at NBC from news writer to president and then board chairman, will retire May 31. Goodman, a native of Glasgow, Ky., will take early retirement after less than a year as chairman of NBC's executive committee, which was created last October.

He is best known for his 20-year association with NBC News, which began in 1945 when he was hired as a writer at WRC, the network's radio station in Washington, D.C.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Kathryn Frick's last summer in the sun was filled with walks on the beach, castles in the sand and splashes of surf.

It was 74 years ago — just before she went blind, then deaf. Now, she is working to overcome another handicap. The handicaps she suffered at age 5 didn't prevent her from writing magazine articles, addressing the Pennsylvania Legislature and winning prizes for knitting, weaving and crocheting.

Now, at age 79, Miss Frick has been crippled by a stroke and wants to learn to walk again. "I try to take life as it comes, one day at a time," she says. Her intensive training this time is at Moss Rehabilitation Hospital, which has never before had a patient who is both deaf and blind.

Miss Frick says she never received a full medical explanation of her loss of sight and speech. As her memory of language faded, she began losing her ability to speak.

The state legislature then paid her tuition to the Pennsylvania Institute for the Deaf and Dumb to "free her imprisoned mind, teach her silent lips to speak and show her how to 'see.'"

After a 1912 commencement speech, she was commended in newspapers for her "keenness of intellect, adaptability of temperament."

By the time she graduated in 1925, she had become a showcase for the institution — appearing several times before the Legislature, winning prizes for knitting, weaving and crocheting.

She then returned to her Harrisburg home where her father encouraged her to write. One of the articles, "In the Dark Alone," appeared in the Atlantic Monthly in 1930.

She had been at the Edith R. Rudolph Residence for the Blind since the death of her mother in 1956.

Dusty gives luxurious, pampering facials, using Jhirmack cosmetics. Hair care products by Jhirmack are used in the salon, and both the cosmetics and the hair products are for sale as well. Jhirmack is one of the most respected names in the field, and it is almost certain there is a beauty product in their line to fill any requirement.

You can call 682-7113 for an appointment, but if you have a little time to spare in your busy day, you might walk in on impulse and say "Make me beautiful!" and the chances are, they can!

Trudeaus face decision

NEW YORK (AP) — April is the deadline for Margaret Trudeau.

Then, at the end of a two-year separation agreement with her husband, Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, she must decide which is more important — her marriage and her three young children or her freedom.

The free-spirited, jet-setting prime minister's wife says she left her husband, 29 years her senior, in a quest for "quality" and independence and hopes to re-establish their relationship.

though not necessarily their marriage.

Her remarks, and her description of the written separation agreement, appear in articles in Wednesday's Daily Mirror of London and April's Ladies' Home Journal. Both articles were written by Alan Markfield, described as a journalist who has followed the 30-year-old Mrs. Trudeau in her world travels.

"Pierre and I are ever hopeful of working things out and getting back together," Mrs. Trudeau says in the Ladies' Home Journal article.

"I'll never leave Pierre," she says. "I never can. Whatever relationship we are able to succeed in having will be good and right for us — whether it is marriage or just the closest two people can be in helping each other survive a life that isn't easy."

Mrs. Trudeau, who has visited her family regularly during the separation, says she "couldn't be happier now."

But it wasn't always that way. Before the separation, "I was at the edge of not being able to survive," because there was no room in the marriage for individuality. Mrs. Trudeau has since written an autobiography and is filming her second movie.

The article in the mass circulation Daily Mirror offers a different side of Mrs. Trudeau — the side that has seen her linked romantically with Rolling Stones lead singer Mick Jagger, an affair she denies existed.

'Space shuttle era' begins Saturday

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The shuttle Columbia is on its way here to change the way America operates in space.

Its stubby delta wings carry the promise of cheaper, far-easier access to space and eventually, perhaps, of orbiting colonies with factories that have almost wearless machinery run by an endless supply of non-polluting energy from the sun.

The immediate goal is to convert new space knowledge into beneficial uses on Earth. The emphasis no longer will be on adventurous exploration and largely scientific quests that marked the previous 31 U.S. manned space flights.

Once the shuttles — each of which can make 100 space flights — are operational in 1981, space will cease to be a remote frontier open only to highly trained astronauts. It will become a highway any man or woman who is healthy and has a purpose may be able to travel.

For the Kennedy Space Center here, that era begins Saturday, when Columbia arrives, riding piggy-back atop a Boeing 747 jet, from the Rockwell International plant in Palmdale, Calif.

MUCH REMAINS to be done before Columbia is ready for its first trip. That is set for Nov. 9, but center director Lee Scherer said the schedule is a tight one and that a major problem could cause a delay.

After five or six test flights, all manned, Columbia will move into operational launches in 1981, doing a variety of experiments for industry, the military, government and foreign interests.

"I see the shuttle as a true quantum step in space travel," Scherer said in an interview. "It will give us tremendous flexibility to do things out there. The whole concept of a reusable space vehicle will add impetus to how fast we move into a variety of things that space offers."

A fleet of four shuttles has been authorized by Congress, with a fifth a possibility. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, expects each to be capable of 100 or more roundtrips into space, and it is training a pool of astronaut pilots and mission specialists, including women, to handle the traffic, which is expected to reach 50 launches a year by 1985.

AFTER A shuttle returns from space, landing on a 15,000-foot runway here, it will be refurbished in a hangar, ready to go again in two weeks. In 1983, the second shuttle base will be ready at Vandenberg Air Force Base in California, mainly for military missions conducted by the Defense Department.

At first, the shuttle will do things now assigned to expendable rockets: placing satellites in orbit for communications, weather forecasting, earth resources surveys, scientific research and military reconnaissance. Shuttle crews also will be able to repair satellites in space or bring them back to Earth for work.

NASA has come up with a pay-as-you-go plan for those wishing to use the shuttle. The average cost, which will cover all the agency's expenses, is $21 million per flight, which can be shared by one or more users. That's less than half the price of an expendable rocket.

The cost is less for those contributing to shuttle development. That includes the Defense Department; the European Space Agency, which is building a small station called Spacelab; and Canada, which is developing a manipulator arm for repairing and retrieving satellites.

NASA already has sold out the first 28 operational flights, through the first quarter of 1983, many for communications satellites.

THE AGENCY expects to get much more business as potential customers gain confidence. More than 100 major oil, gas, and engineering firms, for example, have formed a committee to work with NASA to develop shuttle sensors to search for Earth's natural resources.

Pharmaceutical and high technology firms hope to take advantage of weightless orbiting conditions to simplify the manufacture of many items — from exotic enzymes to pure vaccines to single-crystal semiconductors to metal alloys that can't be formed in Earth's gravity.

Space factories could evolve from this research and perhaps open up the next industrial revolution, according to some business analysts.

Factories in space would feature almost wearless machinery. Without the physical restraints of gravity, workers and equipment would move about much more easily. And there would be the advent of limitless, non-polluting energy from the sun.

NASA isn't limiting shuttle action to corporate giants and well-heeled government agencies. For as little as $3,000, anyone can reserve space for a legitimate experiment that can be tucked away unattended in a corner of the shuttle.

SEVERAL SMALL companies, universities and individuals have nailed down reservations for what NASA calls a "getaway special" program.

The shuttle is about the size of a DC-9 jetliner and can carry up to seven crewmembers and 65,000 pounds of cargo. The shuttles have a maximum orbital life of about 30 days for each flight.

NASA has plans to orbit a 25-kilowatt, solar-powered generator to which the space planes could dock, drawing electricity to extend their lives in orbit to 60-90 days.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Any licensed physician can use psychosurgery

Dear Dr. Solomon: In the movie "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," patients are forced to undergo surgery to control their behavior. Are there any government restrictions on this kind of operation? — Paul

Dear Paul: There are at present no government restrictions on brain surgery to alter behavior. Early in 1977, a federally-financed panel of experts recommended to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW) that the use of psychosurgery be restricted. However, HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano, Jr., has said he would prefer voluntary control by the medical profession, rather than government control.

At present, any physician with a license to practice medicine can legally perform the surgery, which requires highly specialized techniques and seeks to change a person's behavior by destroying certain brain tissue. From 400 to 500 such operations are done each year, usually by neurosurgeons on patients referred by psychiatrists.

The committee making the recommendation had studied the records of 600 patients and reviewed the history of psychosurgery for the past 40 years. It concluded that, while some of the techniques used benefited some emotionally disturbed patients, the operations had not been shown to be safe and effective enough to be considered accepted practice.

One recommendation was that any hospital permitting the procedure should be required to establish a review panel that would decide before the operation was performed whether it was indicated in a particular patient. The panel also would have authority to decide whether the surgeon who was supposed to perform the operation was competent to do so.

The committee concluded that not enough is known about psychosurgery, and that the procedure could be subject to abuse. Secretary Califano offered the services of HEW in forming a joint committee to establish voluntary standards and reporting procedures.

Dear Dr. Solomon: A surprising number of my friends and relatives have had some kind of surgery recently, and this makes me wonder: Just how common is surgery in the United States? — Mr. I.B.W.

Dear Mr. W.: The National Center for Health Statistics reports that one of every 10 Americans had some type of surgery in 1977—a total of more than 21 million operations. The figure reflected a 4.5 percent increase over that of the previous year. Medicine is not an absolute science and, while most of these operations undoubtedly were necessary, in cases where major surgery is recommended a second opinion often is advisable.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Why is blood so important to the body? — Mr. A.H.

Dear Mr. A.H.: Blood is the life stream of the human body that carries food and oxygen to all of its parts. It also fights germs and helps rid the body of wastes.

Baby survives big odds

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — A 5-pound, newborn girl whose mother was in a coma at the time of birth has defied 1 in 10,000 odds by surviving, say officials at the Jersey City Medical Center. The baby, born four weeks premature Tuesday, was in stable condition today, said hospital spokesman Robert Valente. He said the baby was delivered 15 hours after the 39-year-old mother went into labor.

Company pays off in sex suit

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Western Electric Co. has paid $260,800 in legal fees for a woman who won a sex discrimination suit against the firm last fall.

The money was ordered to be paid by U.S. District Judge Herbert Stern, who had ruled that the company systematically discriminated against women.

Stern's ruling said withholding payment would have barred the plaintiffs from having effective counsel to proceed with the second phase of the suit, which is to determine how many women were discriminated against in employment and promotion practices by the company, a subsidiary of the Bell System.

The company had said no money should be paid until appeals have been exhausted.

chief of obstetrics and gynecology at the center, supervised the normal delivery. He said the odds of such a birth occurring are 1 in 5,000 and the chances of the baby surviving are 1 in 10,000.

The mother, who lapsed into a coma after suffering a stroke Feb. 27, was listed in very guarded condition. She is breathing with the aid of a life-support system, Valente said.

Identity of the mother, a Bayonne woman, was withheld at the request of her family, Valente said.

Electronic monitoring of birth urged

By WARREN E. LEARY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A health task force is recommending electronic monitoring of a baby's birth for high-risk patients while discounting critics' suggestions that the popular technique be limited in normal deliveries.

Critics have charged that routine use of the procedure is unwarranted and drives up health care costs.

The government-sponsored study group said Wednesday that while there is no evidence electronic fetal monitoring reduces mortality or sickness in low-risk babies and mothers, the option should be left open to parents and doctors to choose it even when it may be of little value. The technique involves keeping tabs by a variety of electronic means on labor and delivery so doctors can intervene if problems arise. This intervention can involve such things as inducing labor, repositioning the mother to lessen pressure on the baby or surgically removing the infant through Caesarean section.

Common monitoring methods involve an external device using ultrasonic waves to monitor fetal heart rate and uterine contractions, attaching electrodes to the baby's head to follow heart rate and putting a tube into the uterus to use in checking contractions and taking blood samples from the baby's scalp to check oxygen levels.

Experts estimate that about 60 percent of all U.S. births are monitored electronically. Many doctors are enthusiastic about the practice, which they consider necessary. Use of the technique has risen steadily since the late 1960s.

The task force report was one of three presented at a conference sponsored by the National Institutes of Health in an attempt to develop a consensus on medical questions for use as informal guidelines for doctors and patients.

The task force on monitoring fetal distress during labor prepared a preliminary report earlier which said current evidence was inconclusive and did not support routine use of electronic monitoring in all patients.

After much debate during two days of testimony, the panel's final conclusions and recommendations deleted direct references to restricting electronic monitoring.

Critics of the electronic monitoring procedure say it poses the risk of pelvic infection to mothers and a risk of hemorrhage and infection to newborns. Those critical of the techniques also say there is an additional risk of death because of the higher number of Caesareans.

Soviet female revolt brewing on International Women's Day

By NIKKI FINKE
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet women are taking a holiday today from cooking, cleaning and riveting to mark International Women's Day amid signs that a female revolt against overwork is brewing.

It's "Queen for a Day" as men bring chocolates and flowers to their wives, mothers or female colleagues. The nationwide celebration is one of the most important of the year though the holiday goes mostly unnoticed in the West.

President Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and the Communist Party Central Committee congratulated Soviet women and thanked them for their "contribution to the strengthening of internationalistic solidarity" and their work for peace and detente.

But while the Communist regime pats itself on the back for constitutionally guaranteeing its women "real equality," working wives and mothers are rebelling against their lot.

Writing in a recent issue of the magazine Journalist, prominent economist Viktor Peredentsev denounced the unequal burdens women have along with their equal rights.

"The overwhelming majority of women have literally two work periods a day," he said, "seven to eight hours at their production sites and four to six hours at home. This makes for a very difficult life."

Nadezhda Sidorova, a chief designer at a Moscow watch factory, was recently interviewed by the newspaper Sovietskaya Rossiya. Described as very "businesslike," she was responsible for the production work of 8,000 employees, one of a select group of Soviet women who occupy high-level management positions.

"You can see it on my boss's desk — my letter of resignation," she told the interviewer.

She asked to return to her old job as section chief of automation, an admitted step back down the career ladder she had been successfully climbing.

"Since I became the chief designer," she explained, "I would come home, switch off the television and shut the windows. During the nights, I could think only about the problems of designing. And in these 2½ years, I've lost my friends."

Mrs. Sidorova said the Soviet Union has reached the stage of emancipation where it is "common sense" for women to want to limit their careers, especially when they have families to care for.

"Look, we already have proved that we can do everything — head factories, make discoveries, fly into space, write laws," she told the interviewer. "And now we should say with pride and confidence that it is in our power to establish limits for ourselves."

Midland Woman's Club will present a tea and art exhibit honoring Dallas artist, Laura Lou Sawyer, from 2-4 p.m. Sunday in the Woman's Club in Hogan Park. Mrs. Sawyer also will demonstrate her technique of acrylic painting during these hours.

Women taught rules of corporate game

By ELAINE GANLEY
Associated Press Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Corporate gamesmanship is more a fact than a dirty word, and Gulf Oil Corp. wants to teach its women the rules.

A two-month pilot project, begun Thursday on International Women's Day, will guide 50 selected women through the ins and outs of corporate politics and help them define their aspirations.

"Women have been criticized constantly for having a narrow perspective, but that's because they haven't had the facts," said Betty Lehan Harragan, author of "Games Mother Never Taught You: Corporate Gamesmanship for Women."

"Women need a lot of help and coaching in the business world... basic coaching men have had as little kids," she said at a news conference.

Participants in the program, including secretaries, stenographers and analysts, were selected on the basis of career interest, job performance, completion of at least one year of college work, and one year of service with Gulf. None of the participants has a college degree.

Gulf hopes to extend the program to all female employees, and eventually to men, if the project is successful, said Gerald Bush, senior vice president for human resources.

The program, designed to help women make conscious decisions about their careers, seeks to dispel the myth that less is expected of women than of men.

It features 16 hours of workshops and provides self-assessment, assertiveness training, counseling and options for on-the-job training or finishing uncompleted degrees.

As the role of women in society changes, Bush said, corporations are being forced to change their attitudes on a broad scale.

"We need to respond to cultural changes in a very creative way," he said. "Right behind it is going to be men who want to be liberated, because men have paid a high price (to get where they are)."

Bush said women often "hide under a rock" rather than admit to job dissatisfaction "so they will not get punished for looking at the grass on the other side of the fence."

DEAR ABBY

She wants to be a widow

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Now I know why God lets the woman outlive her husband by about 10 years. She needs at least that much time to rest and recuperate. Pity the poor woman who's been married 50 years. I've been married 17 years, and if this man of mine doesn't go pretty soon, I pray to God that I will soon be laid to rest. I couldn't take another 33 years of this.

It's nag and brag! Rant and rave! Yell and cuss! All he has on his mind is eat, sleep and sex (especially sex). A poor woman goes to bed tired and wakes up tired. All a man is good for is his paycheck.

I've heard women talk about how lonely they are after their husbands pass on. Well, here is one who is looking forward to that day.—NO SIG IN GARDEN CITY

DEAR NO SIG: Too bad you didn't sign your name. A husband is entitled to know how his wife feels about him. He may want to hire a food taster.

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from LIKES IT LEGAL, who complained because her boyfriend told her that the men in his family never married—they just took common-law wives.

While your response was sound, you missed a good opportunity to correct a common misconception about common-law marriages.

A common-law marriage IS a legal and binding marriage, just as valid as a ceremonial marriage with a license!

A couple who lives together, cohabit, and have established a reputation in their community as man and wife, are, in the eyes of the law, LEGALLY married.

Furthermore, common-law marriage cannot be ended by one spouse simply moving out. Each party has legal obligations to the other, just as husband and wife have in a so-called "legal" marriage.

Thus, common-law marriage is much more than just "shacking up."

or living together, and it should be made plain that all couples who decide to live together do not necessarily establish a common-law relationship.

Abby, 20 states still recognize common-law marriage, and Ohio is one of them.—OHIO LAWYER

DEAR LAWYER: My husband thinks Thank you for pointing out that in those states where common-law marriages are recognized, they are valid and binding as a marriage can be. And should not be left at night thank you too for letting without an adult. I would my readers know that appreciate your "shacking up" does not opinion.—ANNIE'S necessarily constitute a MOM common-law marriage. DEAR ABBY: I am having a problem with my 11-year-old daughter, an only child. Annie thinks she's old enough to stay by herself when my husband and I go out for a few hours in the evening. She says she is the only one in her class who still has a sitter.

DEAR MOM: Age is not always the most important factor. (Some 11-year-olds have more sense than their 17-year-old sitters.) I would not be influenced, however, by what the other kids in her class do. YOU must decide whether your daughter is able to stay by herself.

Wedding bells in your future? Whether your lifestyle is bridal gown or blue jeans, Abby lays it all out for you in her booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped envelope to Abby: 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Energy rewrite could be forced

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter may be forced to rewrite parts of his standby gasoline rationing and energy conservation plan to win Senate approval, Senate energy leaders are saying.

The rationing plan is in deep trouble unless the administration changes it to make more gasoline available to rural Americans, suggested Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La.

And portions of Carter's standby energy-conservation plan calling for a ban on weekend gasoline sales and restricting outdoor advertising also are drawing heavy congressional fire.

The standby plan cannot be amended by Congress so any changes must be made by the administration.

Johnston chairman of a subcommittee studying the rationing proposal, cited strong Senate opposition to the plan as currently written, especially among senators from the West.

Johnston said in an interview that he will urge the full Senate Energy Committee to ask the administration to revamp the plan to give states more say in how much gasoline individuals would receive.

"Gasoline allocations should be granted to each state based on average use within that state," Johnston said.

Committee Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., also raised the possibility Thursday that the administration might have to amend its proposals to win Senate approval.

He disclosed that administration officials had indicated a willingness to congressional leaders to make some changes in the plan, if necessary, to win its approval.

Johnston said he believes the overall prospect for congressional approval of the energy-conservation plan, including the controversial section on rationing, seems good.

"We have to have in place a rationing plan that we can call on in case of further blow-up in the Mideast," Jackson told a reporter.

Both houses must approve the standby plan within 60 days of last week's submission to Congress for it to take effect. The proposals cannot be amended.

Even if the standby plan is approved, any attempt by the president to invoke it could be rejected by either house within a 15-day period.

Some hearings have already been held in both the House and Senate on the program and more are planned for later this month.

The standby rationing plan, which officials say will be invoked only as a last resort, would allocate a certain amount of gasoline for each registered motor vehicle in the country.

Although no quantities were specified, officials have generally indicated that a ration of two gallons per day might result from the kind of crisis — at least a 20 percent cut in supplies — that could prompt rationing.

That would be grossly inadequate in the West and other rural areas where average driving distances are long, Johnston said.

He also said he believes Congress will reject that part of the plan restricting neon and other advertising signs, which even the administration has acknowledged is largely symbolic and would only save about 4,400 barrels of oil a day.

"This discriminates against one industry all because the administration considers it to be a symbol," Johnston said.

Both Johnston and Jackson said the proposal to close gasoline stations on weekend days also may have trouble making it through the Senate as written.

Johnston said moves will likely be made to persuade the administration to give states more leeway in deciding when to ban gasoline sales.

Estimates uncertain

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Estimates that Mexico may have as much as 700 billion barrels of oil and gas in reserve are based on calculations that are "overwhelmingly uncertain," a University of Texas professor said.

William Fisher said, however, "It seems almost inevitable that Mexican oil and gas will also play a critical role in the energy future of the United States, in a manner not entirely known, or perhaps even knowable at the present."

Fisher is professor of geological sciences and director of the university's Bureau of Economic Geology. His views were presented in an article in the most recent issue of Texas Business Review.

He said Mexico's proven reserves at the end of 1978 stood at 40.2 billion barrels, and probable reserves — as posted by the government oil monopoly PEMEX — totaled 44.6 billion barrels.

In both categories, Fisher said, about 70 percent is oil and 30 percent gas equivalent. "In addition, Mexico reports 200 billion barrels of potential reserves, with some sources giving a potential as high as 700 billion," he said.

"While proved reserves are known with a significant degree of certainty and probable reserves with reasonable, but less, certainty, potential reserves imply a very large degree of uncertainty, for they represent only the possible or speculative occurrences of oil and gas in structures and formations yet to be drilled and tested," Fisher said.

Environmentalists get victory in California

By ELLEN HUME
The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — In a victory for environmentalists, the Department of the Interior said Thursday it will reduce by one-third the Southern California offshore area to be leased this June for new oil and gas development.

All coastline tracts from San Diego north, about 45 miles south of Los Angeles, to Dana Point will be deleted from the proposed lease sale, as well as some tracts in San Pedro Bay, the harbor of Los Angeles; around the Channel Islands off the Southern California coast; and in the Santa Barbara Channel, north of Los Angeles.

"When we got the word, it almost knocked us out of our chairs," William Ahern, energy director of the California Coastal Commission, said.

An aide to Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., called the deletion of 340,000 out of 1,141,800 acres to be leased "a major environmental victory," even though such attrition is normal to the offshore leasing process.

Cranston, Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., California state and local officials, and environmentalists had urged the Interior Department to exempt much of Lease Area No. 48.

Slurry line hearing set

By DENNIS E. CURRAN

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Gov. Ed Herschler says he will personally conduct a March 26 hearing on a proposed second coal slurry pipeline for Wyoming.

Herschler said Thursday the hearing on Texas Eastern Corp.'s proposed pipeline will be open to anyone who has a comment or simply wants to ask a question.

"I want to know how people feel about this proposal," Herschler said in announcing the hearing.

The 1979 Legislature gave its approval to the Texas Eastern pipeline, but that approval is conditional on the governor and the corporation reaching a contract agreement within 90 days.

Texas Eastern proposes to divert water from the Little Big Horn River to a reservoir near Sheridan and then use it to pump crushed coal 1,200 miles from just north of the Montana-Wyoming border to the Texas Gulf Coast for power plants.

The $1.8 billion project would pump 25 million tons of coal a year — more than a third of the total mined last year in Wyoming. Texas Eastern plans to get coal from mines near Decker, Mont., and Gillette.

Herschler allowed the Legislature's approval to become law without his signature, saying he still has questions about the project.

"I do not intend to evade my responsibilities as governor, nor do I intend to let development occur without assuring the long run protection of Wyoming's citizens and resources," Herschler said.

"We can have development, but we must guarantee that safeguards are built in," he added.

Water is the big issue surrounding the proposed pipeline. Proponents say it will put Wyoming water to beneficial use instead of letting it flow from the state.

Texas Eastern bought water rights from a group of Sheridan businessmen for 40,000 acre-feet of water a year. But it says it needs only 20,000 acre-feet a year and will make the remaining 20,000 acre-feet available to Wyoming for agricultural or municipal use. That would be enough for a city four times the size of Sheridan.

But opponents argued Texas Eastern would be mixing its powdered coal with "some of the finest drinking water in the world."

Meanwhile, Montana is taking a dim view of the project. Montana Gov. Tom Judge reportedly asked Herschler to veto the bill, and Montana's Crow Indians claim rights to all Little Big Horn water under their treaty with the federal government.

Herschler said the water issue is one of the major questions he seeks answers for at the hearing.

Mine permits requested

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Utilities has asked the Texas Railroad Commission's permission to expand its lignite mining operation in Free-stone County by almost 4,000 acres.

The company said it expects to mine five million to six million tons of lignite. The fuel would be used in the utility's Fairfield generating plant.

Continental Oil Co. also asked permission to begin uranium surface mining in Live Oak County.

The proposed mine area is 8 1/2 miles northeast of Three Rivers. Conoco expects some 125,000 tons of uranium from the open pit site annually.

which stretches along the Southern California coast from San Diego to Point Conception about 40 miles west of Santa Barbara.

San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson had called the proposed lease sale off San Diego "a threat to our quality of life."

Sixty-nine of the proposed 217 tracts in Lease Area No. 48 were eliminated Thursday by the Interior Department, including all 26 proposed tracts in San Diego.

The southernmost tract in the proposed lease area now will be about 12 miles off Laguna Beach, south of Los Angeles, an Interior Department spokesman said.

Oil industry representatives said Thursday that they could not comment until they had studied which tracts had been eliminated. "But we're always disappointed at any action which frustrates the development of potential domestic energy sources," a Gulf Oil Co. spokesman said.

One oil industry source conceded, however, that "many people in the industry feel the Southern California offshore area may not be as productive as some other areas."

The question of productivity, as well as environmental hazards, weighed heavily in the decision to eliminate some of the leases, an Interior spokesman said.

The remaining tracts will be described in a report to California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., who will have 60 days to comment before Interior Secretary Cecil D. Andrus makes a final decision about the June lease sale.

In a letter to Andrus on Feb. 25, California congressmen urged him "not to trade California's irreplaceable coastal resources for a few days of fuel for America's automobiles."

On learning Thursday of the Interior Department's decision — which is expected to be formally announced today — Cranston and Van Deerlin expressed their delight at the reduced lease area.

"I'm particularly pleased with the environmental sensitivity and cooperative spirit demonstrated by the secretary of interior," Cranston said.

"I'm very hopeful we'll continue to work together as he focuses attention on the Northern California lease sale in the coming months."

Wildcat operations set in West Texas areas

Wildcat operations have been staked in King and Garza counties, location has been amended on a Cottle explorer, and an 11,000-foot project has been spotted in the Azalea (Atoka oil) pool of Midland County.

The King County wildcat, a re-entry project, is Gunn Oil Co. of Wichita Falls No. 1-A S. B. Burnett Estate-Shell.

The location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 16, W. M. Montgomery survey, abstract 800.

The location is nine miles northeast of Guthrie and one location west of the Tom B (Burnger 4,100) field and 5/8 mile southeast of 5,600-foot Strawn production in the Four Sixes, North pool.

Originally drilled to 6,718 feet and plugged as Shell No. 1 S. B. Burnett Estate, it now will be cleaned out to 6,091 feet.

The location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 16, W. M. Montgomery survey, abstract 800.

GARZA EXPLORER
WTG Exploration, Inc., of Midland No. 1 Post-Montgomery is to be dug as a 4,500-foot wildcat in Garza County, 7 miles north of Post.

Location is 467 feet from north and west lines of section 16, block 4, K. Aycock survey. Elevation at ground level is 2,434 feet.

The site is one and one-quarter miles northwest of the Cross (Glorietta) pool.

LOCATION CHANGED
Northern Michigan Exploration Co. of Wichita Falls has changed the location for its No. 1 Irons-Marrs Unit, scheduled 8,500-foot wildcat in Cottle County, 10 miles north of Paducah.

The project will be drilled 1,825 feet from north and 1,700 feet from west lines of section 3, block B, A. Forsythe survey. The original location was 1,825 feet from north and 1,875 feet from west lines of section 3, block B, A. Forsythe survey.

MIDLAND TEST
Mobil Oil Corp. No. 6 John Snowden is the new project in the Azalea (Atoka oil) pool of Midland County.

The location is 18 miles southeast of Midland and 1,320 feet from south and 1,320 feet from east lines of section 17, block 37, T-S, T&P survey.

Contract depth is 11,000 feet. The drillsite is one and three-quarters miles northwest of the northernmost well in the four-well field.

Discovery, wildcat, field projects reported in Permian Basin areas

A discovery has been announced in Coke County, a wildcat has been staked in Crockett County, and field area wells and new field area projects have been reported in other Permian Basin areas.

The Coke County discovery is Fisher-Webb, Inc., of Abilene No. 1 Malone, a re-entry project six miles southeast of Silver.

The well was completed from the Canyon zone for a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 12.5 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations from 5,919 to 5,951 feet. The section was fractured with 30,000 gallons.

No. 1 Malone originally was completed as a pumping well in the ACR (Odom) pool through perforations from 7,051 to 7,053 feet. The pool also has Canyon oil production.

The Pennsylvania sand was topped at 5,920 feet and the Odom lime was entered at 7,048 feet on kelly bushing elevation of 2,553 feet.

Wellsite is 660 feet from north and 2,104 feet from east lines of section 322, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

CROCKETT WILDCAT
D. B. Baxter of Midland No. 1 Gulf-Corbett is to be drilled as a 10,000-foot wildcat in Crockett County, 11 miles south of Rankin.

Location is 1,259 feet from north and 685 feet from west lines of section 15, block B-2, GC&SF survey. Elevation at ground level is 2,543 feet.

The site is five miles northwest of the Bouscairen (Ellenburger) field and 1.5 miles southwest of the depleted Corbett, South (Wolfcamp) field of Upton County.

ANDREWS WELL
Rankin Oil Co. No. 1 Fuhrman and others has been completed as a long extender to the Nix, South field of Andrews County, 16 miles west of Andrews.

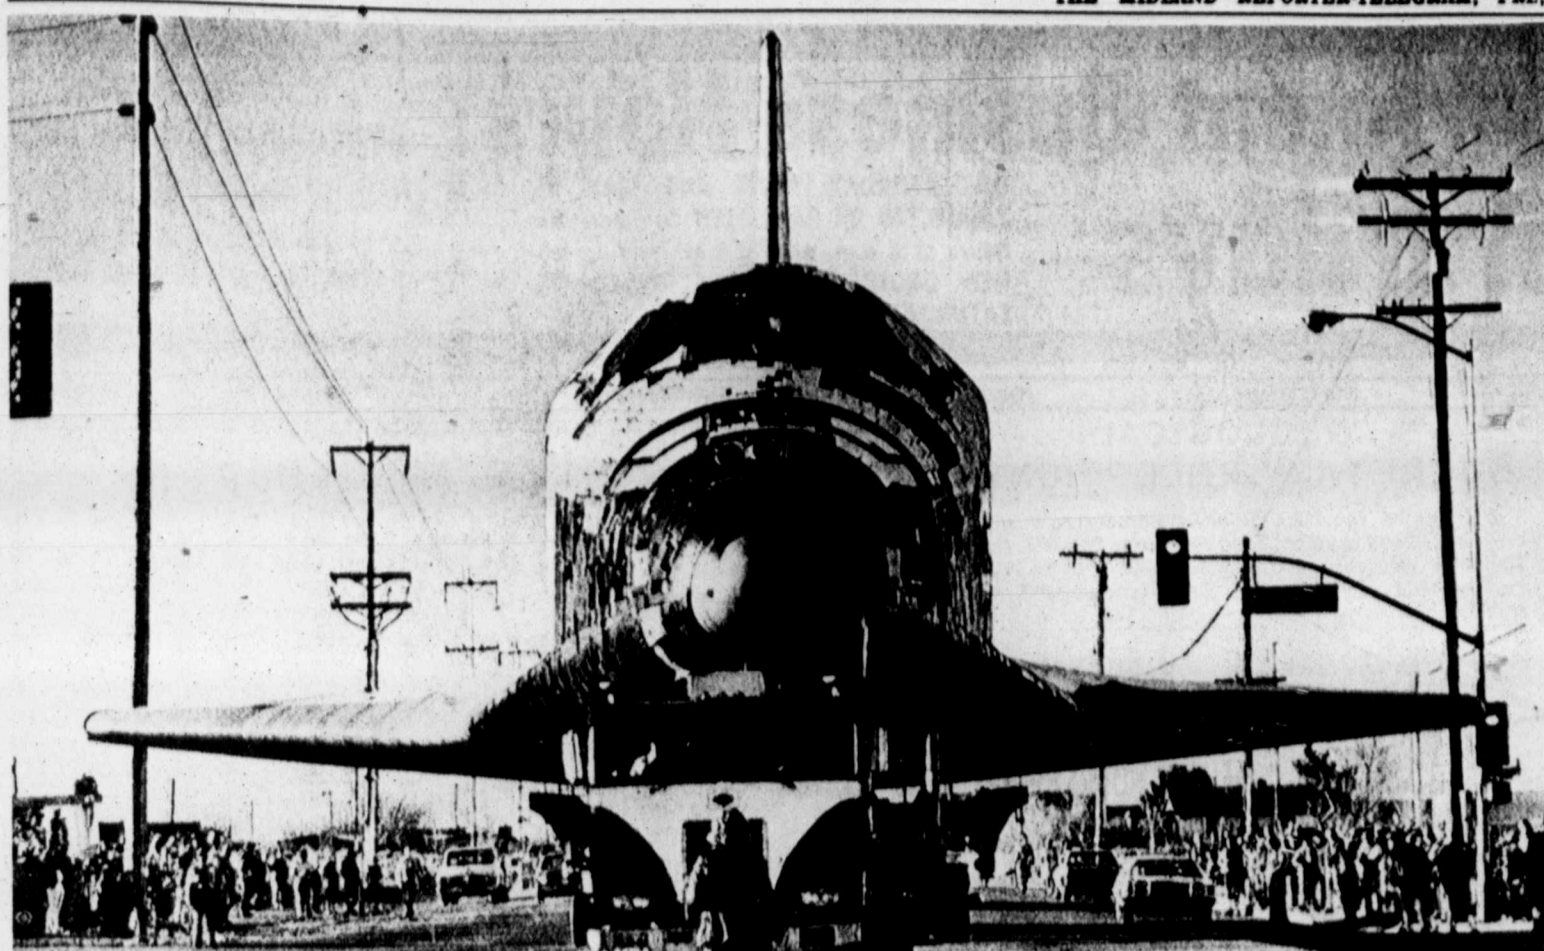

It finished for a daily flowing potential of 88 barrels of 38-gravity oil and eight barrels of water, through an 11/64-inch choke and perforations from 6,843 to 6,883 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 870:1.

Total depth is 7,465 feet and 5.5-inch casing is set on bottom.

Operator acidized the pay with 2,000 gallons.

Location is 853 feet from north and east lines of section 15, block A-42, psl survey and one location southeast of Rankin No. 1 Seidel, recently completed Clear Fork well in the Fuhrman-Mascho pool.

Some lobbyists grumbling about Hobby's plea for aid

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Some lobbyists recruited by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby to push a presidential primary bill already have grumbled about it, says a senator opposed to the measure. "I think the people would like to see a primary, but they want a fair one that doesn't favor one candidate over another," he said. House Speaker Bill Clayton, who supports the bill, said he saw nothing wrong with enlisting the lobbyists in the cause of the separate primary. "I always figure if you want a job done, you solicit all the troops you can get from wherever you can get them," Clayton told reporters.

Man jailed in PCP case

ODESSA — An Amarillo man jailed here Thursday is the fifth person arrested on charges of engaging in what officials are calling organized criminal activity, according to an Ector County Sheriff's Department spokesman. Rufus Apollo Lackey, 50, was arrested Saturday in Amarillo and was transferred Thursday to Ector County Jail, where he remained early today in lieu of $50,000 bond, the spokesman said. Four persons were arrested March 2 in Ector County on charges of engaging in criminal activity. All charges relate to the manufacture and distribution of phencyclidine, commonly called "PCP" or "angel dust," according to Ector County Sheriff Elton Faught. Some of the arrests followed previous sealed indictments from a grand jury. The arrests are the result of an eight-month investigation which originated with the New Mexico State Police, Faught said. According to Faught, the case involves "a wide-ranging phencyclidine manufacturing operation" in the United States. The sheriff indicated the arrests may be only "the tip of the iceberg" in the case.

Democrats tighten up on 'slush fund'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Secretary of State George Strake, first Republican to hold the job in a century, has taken his second blow in a week from largely Democratic legislators. The House voted Thursday to put tight limits on a fee bill that one representative said would have allowed Strake to accumulate a "slush fund." House members then passed the bill, 115-7, and returned it to the Senate for action on an amendment that made it quite different from what senators had passed. The Senate-passed bill, sponsored by Republican Sen. Ike Harris of Dallas, would have allowed Strake to set and collect a "reasonable fee" for expedited filing or handling of any document. It would have left the money in the secretary of state's hands for spending "as provided by legislative appropriation."

Odessa fire investigated

ODESSA — Odessa fire department officials have been in contact with the Department of Public Safety office in Midland in an effort to determine if flammable liquids were used in an early morning fire that destroyed a business here Thursday. Fire Marshal Wayne Coggins said today. The fire was the result of arson, according to Odessa fire officials. "We're not saying we suspect arson. We're saying it was arson," Coggins said Thursday. When firefighters arrived at the scene at about 1:55 a.m. Thursday, the office of Happy Six Camper Sales was engulfed in flames. Firemen spent an hour and a half at the scene before bringing the fire under control, but the metal structure and its contents were a total loss, Coggins said. The office had been burglarized before the fire, and a .38-caliber pistol and more than $400 in cash were taken, according to police reports and Coggins.

India welcomes Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin was given a colorful ceremonial welcome today when he arrived for a six-day visit to India. The Soviet delegation traveled through the streets of New Delhi in a cavalcade led by motorcycle outriders. The roads were decorated with arches of flowers and large portraits of Kosygin. A traditional Indian band played as Kosygin was driven past a downtown shopping area, drowning out about 30 students shouting anti-Soviet slogans. A long-term program of economic, trade, scientific and technical cooperation will be part of three agreements to be signed during Kosygin's stay.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA FEDERAL ENERGY REGULATORY COMMISSION Docket No. EL79-4 Public Service Company of Oklahoma, Southeastern Electric Power Company, West Texas Utilities Company. NOTICE OF APPLICATION (February 22, 1979) Take notice that on February 9, 1979, the above-captioned affiliated companies tendered for filing, pursuant to Section 205 of the Public Utilities Regulatory Policies Act of 1978, an application for exemption from the provisions of the Public Utilities Commission of Texas which allegedly prevent Central Power and Light Company and West Texas Utilities Company from voluntarily establishing or maintaining an electrical interconnection with any utility other than those comprising the Electric Reliability Council of Texas. Applicants also request an order of this Commission requiring interconnection, wheeling and related relief under Sections 203(b), 206, 211, and 212 of the Federal Power Act (as amended). Applicants state that the relief they seek would involve interconnections between their respective utility systems, with the Electric Reliability Council of Texas and with the Southwest Power Pool. Section 210(a) (1) of the Federal Power Act, as promulgated in Title II of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act of 1978, provides the Commission with authority to issue orders requiring: (A) the physical connection of any cogeneration facility, any smaller power production facility, or the transmission facilities of any electric utility, with the facility of such applicant. (B) such action as may be necessary to make effective any physical connection described in subparagraph (A), which physical connection is ineffective for any reason, such as inadequate size, poor maintenance, or physical unavailability. (C) such sale or exchange of electric energy, or other coordination, as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of any order under subparagraph (A) or (B), or (D) such increase in transmission capacity as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of any order under subparagraph (A) or (B). Section 210(b) (1) of the Act provides that upon receipt of an application the Commission shall issue notice to each affected electric utility, each affected owner or operator of a cogeneration facility or small power production facility, and to the public. Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with Sections 1.4 and 1.10 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.4, 1.10). Woodson burns Raiders in NIT opener

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — When fiery Indiana Coach Bobby Knight tells his team something, they had best listen.

As a sell-out crowd of 10,000 hometown fans moaned, Indiana jumped to a 15-2 lead and never allowed the Red Raiders to recover from the early punch.

Indiana patiently passed the ball until they could feed Woodson for his deadly jump shots.

There are a lot of NIT teams that have beaten teams in the NCAA.

The Associated Press All Big Ten team said, "That made me happy because I really didn't get any publicity all year."

Texas A&M topped New Mexico 79-68.

Yanks, Dodgers picked to repeat as champions

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Harrah's Reno Race and Sports book picked the New York Yankees and the Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday to repeat as World Series opponents for a third straight year.

The book gave the Yankees even odds to win the American League pennant, while the Dodgers are 2-1 favorites in the National League.

With only an eight-player roster, Coach Jerry Stone had to play the old shell game with the Coyotes and managed to survive the game without losing anyone on fouls, although Alvarado, who picked up three in the first half, was treading on thin ice throughout the last half.

LEE ADDED single runs in the fifth and sixth innings. Holmes walked to start off the sixth and was sacrificed to second by Steve Pitts and scored after an error and sacrifice fly off the bat of White for a 5-0 lead.

RENO will be our 20th road game. They shouldn't be doing this to us," said Coach Shelby Metcalf, who feels his team has spent more than its share of time in airports this season and would like to give his players at least one more outing at home.

"We flow with our defense," said Ellenberger. "When we are scoring, the defense initiates it. I didn't think we really bothered them too much with our defense tonight."

MHS takes Youthful 'Dogs travel 5-4A lead

SAN ANGELO — The Midland High girls golf team retained their District 5-4A lead here Thursday after posting a second round of 359.

The Midland High track team is so youthful that they have properly been designated as the "Diaper Brigade", but despite the lack of a strong senior outfit, Coach Ed Nixon's unit has been opening some eyes around West Texas.

The Bulldogs should change their team colors from Purple and Gold to Pink and Blue since they have to wear their track shorts in a triangle.

improving, and the sky is the limit in this case since he is so young.

Another sophomore making a lot of noise is hurdler Jerry Zachery. Zachery's strongest event so far has been the 110 meter hurdles where he owns a 14.97 this year.

Midland High has a 739 total after two rounds to lead second place Big Spring by a hefty 12 strokes. Big Spring stands at 751 while Midland Lee is third with a 766. Midland High's No. 2 team is fourth with an 843 while Lee's No. 2 squad is fifth with an 885.

The district race winds up April 5 at Hogan Park with the last tour stop.

Odessa Permian's Jackie Dais leads the medalist chase with a 160, and is followed by Lee's Michele Marburger, 166; and Midland High's Nancy Spough, 177.

SENIORS GENE Tuttle and Bob Glenn will handle the distance chores. Tuttle had a fifth in the 800 meters last week with a 2:05.25 while Glenn had a 4:33.51 in the 1600 meter run for sixth.

Midland High will also enter the junior varsity division Saturday. Team members are Willie Ross, Danny Caldwell, Anthony Carroll, Robert Crawford, Bruce Fisher, Kevin Yates, Mike Velasco and either Michael Green or Kevin Lytle.

Spaugh paced the Bulldogs with an 85 Thursday while Kim Hopkins, 88; Lori Balckwell, 92; Ann Coombes, 94; and Patty O'Neill, 95, helped out.

Marburger's 84 led Lee while others were Penny Sutcliffe, 88; Brenda Heath, 93; Christi Orwig, 97; and Angie Willis, 101.

MHS' second team was led by Kristi Pfeiffer's 98. Others were Johna Willis, 106; Dana Bostwick, 109; Sandra Kretzler, 113; and Teresa King, 120. Roxi Barrett's 101 was the tops for Lee's second team. Others were Angie Willis, 108; Karl Watson, 112; Pat Lutke, 118; and Katy Fischer, 122.

Robnett is also working hard to improve in the 200 meters. He has a 22.57 and two second places this year in the event. This week he will run the 220-yard dash.

Sophomore Billy Taylor is another Bulldog that could be a future star. Taylor has an 11.06 to his credit in the 100 meters, finishing second last week, and owns a 22.61 in the 200 meters. He is still

Fergon's lesson pays dividends

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Veteran Shirley Englehorn gave young Vicki Fergon a golf lesson in Palm Springs the other day. Perhaps the student should have been instructing the teacher.

Fergon, in just her third year on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour, shot the best competitive round of her life, a 4-under-par 68, to share the lead in the $100,000 Sunstar Classic entering today's second round.

Sandra Spuzich and Jerilyn Britz matched Fergon's effort on Thursday as the chase began for the $15,000 first prize being offered in the 72-hole Sunstar, which finishes Sunday at the 6,268-yard, par 37-35 Rancho Park golf course.

"The lesson really helped me," said Fergon of her session with Englehorn, a member of the LPGA since 1959 who carded a 76 in the Sunstar's first round. "I just played my game today. I knew I was going to play well."

"I missed a lot of cuts last year and was discouraged at times," added the 23-year-old Fergon, who earned just $11,794 in 32 events to rank 62nd on the LPGA earnings list. "I expect to do a lot better this year."

Defending champion Nancy Lopez, who won nine tournaments and earned a record $189,814 last year, was just two strokes off the pace after the first round: The 22-year-old Lopez was tied at 70 with rookie pro Cathy Sherk.

Next at 71 were Pat Bradley, Dale Lundquist, Barbara Barrow, Joan Joyce and Lily Wu. Six players, including Amy Alcott and Hollis Stacy, were at even-par 72, while 15 players came in at 73 and another 15 had scores of 74.

The field of 103 pros and five amateurs will be cut to the low 70 and ties following the second round.

Fergon didn't play golf seriously until she was 17. Her best finish to date was a tie for third in the National Jewish Open at Denver in 1977, and her previous low round was a 69.

Spuzich, in her 18th LPGA year, said she had a fantastic putting day in the first round.

"I'll take it every day," said the 41-year-old veteran "Anybody who putts well during the week makes a good check. If you don't putt well, you can go home and rest for a while."

Britz, 36, said a relaxed feeling and fine putting were the keys to her round.

"I didn't put any pressure on myself," she said.

Lopez, who won the first Sunstar last year with a 3-under-par 285, said she liked her position entering the second round.

"I was struggling out there at the end," she said. "It was freezing the final few holes. I'm very happy with where I am."

The first round was delayed for 30 minutes because of early morning fog. The weather was pleasant for the most part, but turned cold and slightly windy late in the day. Fergon was among the early starters, while Spuzich, Britz and Lopez played in the afternoon.

Volunteers hope to improve image

By The Associated Press

Tennessee, which has a rich history of success in post-season football competition, will continue its "new era of basketball" Friday night when the Volunteers try for their first victory in five outings in the NCAA championship tournament.

"The mere fact that the University of Tennessee has never won an NCAA game will be a great motivating factor for us," Coach Don DeVoe said on the eve of his 20th-ranked Volunteers' first-round game at Murfreesboro, Tenn., against Eastern Kentucky, which gained the tournament with a 77-76 "overtime" win over Western Kentucky in the Ohio Valley Conference tournament final.

Film shows that Eastern's two-winning free throws resulted from a foul that was called three seconds after the final buzzer.

Other first-round games Friday night are:

East Regional at Raleigh N.C. — 13th-ranked Temple, 25-3, vs. St. John's 18-10 and Iona, 23-5, vs. Pennsylvania, 21-5; Midwest Regional at Lawrence, Kan. — Virginia Tech, 21-8, vs. Jacksonville, 19-10, and Weber State, 24-8, vs. New Mexico State, 22-9; West Regional at Los Angeles — Utah, 20-9, vs. Pepperdine, 21-9, and Southern California, 19-8, vs. Utah State, 19-10.

Second round games will be played Saturday.

Coach Ed Byhre of Eastern Kentucky, 21-7, isn't dwelling past on history and he isn't looking past Tennessee, 20-11, to a second-round game against No. 5 Notre Dame.

"Our philosophy is playing one game at a time," said Byhre. "That's the only way you can concentrate on what's got to be done. Too many teams think ahead to where they want to be and then never get anywhere in the first place."

DeVoe, however, has more on his mind that just Eastern. "We're building a tradition of our own, starting a new era of Tennessee basketball and it would be only proper for us to win Tennessee's first NCAA game. In fact, we've got the talent to win several games."

Lamar Coach Bill Tubbs says the only difference between his team and Detroit "is we haven't beaten anybody ranked." But he added, "I think it's probably our turn now. We may be No. 40 in a field of 40 but we're in the NCAA playoffs."

"We deserve to be in the tournament," said Detroit Coach Dave Gaines, whose Titans beat 11th-ranked Georgetown and No. 12 Marquette in the regular season.

Temple has already beaten St. John's this season, but the game doesn't make Temple coach Don Casey, who just got out of the hospital after treatment for a virus, feel good.

"St. John's is a total team," said Casey. "They're playing even more total now than they were when we played them before."

But St. John's is coming off a loss to Iona while Temple is coming off the championship of the East Coast Conference tournament.

At least one Temple player felt that the Owls shouldn't have to play St.

John's or anybody else...in the first round. "I think we should have drawn a bye," said Temple guard Rick Reed. "I think our record was deserving of it."

Iona rode into the tournament behind two highly-recruited New York Metropolitan area players, sophomore Jeff Ruland, who averaged 24.6 points a game, and junior guard Glenn Vickers.

THE OPPONENT doesn't matter to Penn nor does the site. "I'd rather be playing in North Carolina than be shipped out to Tennessee or Kansas or somewhere else," said Penn co-captain Bobby Willis. "I'm just looking forward to the tournament. I think our team has been for some time and I think it has shown in the way we played late in the season."

Virginia Tech and Jacksonville will play not only for a chance of advancement in the Midwest but for a crack at making big headlines. The winner meets unbeaten top-ranked Indiana State in the first round, a team which has beaten New Mexico State three times already this season.

New Mexico State Coach Ken Hayes knows the best game his team played so far this year. That was a 63-57 victory over Weber State in the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City.

Weber State Coach Neil McCarthy found out two things in that game. "We know we that they are a very fine team, but we also know that we didn't play our best against them the first time around," McCarthy said.

Pepperdine and Southern California will have extra incentive to give it the old college try in their West Regional games against Utah and Utah State, respectively. Coaches Bob Boyd of Southern Cal and Gary Colson announced some time ago that this would be their final campaigns.

Boyd is pleased with his team's recent performance of six regular-season ending victories in a row. But he's not counting No. 7 until it's on the scoreboard.

Lee JVs defeat Monahans, 7-5

The Midland Lee junior varsity defeated the Monahans varsity, 7-5, in a baseball outing Thursday.

Bill Dern picked up the win, but David Corrales got out of a last inning bases loaded jam to preserve the victory after Lee had run to a 7-1 early lead.

Ricky Wright got three hits for the Reds and Cliff Collyer added two more.

The Lee JVs face Odessa Permian's JV at 4 p.m. Tuesday at the Lee diamond. Lee is now 2-1 on the year.

Van Brocklin is being watched

ATLANTA (AP) — Former Atlanta Falcons Coach Norm Van Brocklin may have to undergo additional brain surgery if Thursday's operation does not increase the flow of blood to his brain, his doctor said.

Dr. Alan Fleischer, a neurosurgeon at Emory University Hospital, said the four-hour operation went very well and the 53-year-old Van Brocklin was in satisfactory condition.

San Antonio grabs Golden Gloves lead

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Light heavyweight James Kinchen of Dallas took only 54 seconds to knock out Max Louis of Corpus Christi, but San Antonio moved into the team lead with 12 points in the 43rd annual state Golden Gloves tournament.

Attitude change ignites Levi

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) — A change in attitude — prompted by some stern lectures from his wife Judy — was the key factor in the turnaround of Wayne Levi's golfing fortunes.

"Attitude," he said. "That's the whole thing. It's a change in attitude, and it's all because of my wife."

"We got married last October. She's very much sports-oriented. I'd been hitting the ball pretty good for a couple of years, but I'd let myself get upset about a bad shot and then go along and miss a short putt I should have made for birdie.

"She saw it right away. And she got on my case real bad. I needed it. It was just exactly what I needed. Now I don't let a bad shot bother me. I don't give up. I keep on playing as hard as I can."

That change in attitude helped him to a share of the 1978 National Team championship and a third-place finish in Pensacola, accounting for most of the $25,000 he won last season. He's already surpassed that this year, with more than $33,000, and Thursday he found himself in a tie with veteran Tommy Aaron for the first-round lead in the $300,000 Jackie Gleason-Inverrary Classic.

Levi and Aaron, who share the same birthday — Feb. 23, but separated by 16 years — had matching 66s Thursday and were a single shot in front of Larry Nelson.

A group at 68 was made up of British Ryder Cup player Mark James, Australian veteran Bruce Devlin and Charles Coody.

Ray Floyd, Jim Simons, Mark Hayes, U.S. Open champ Andy North and Tom Purtzer were at 69, three shots under par on the 7,127 yard Inverrary Country Club course.

Jack Nicklaus, the winner of the last three tournaments on this course, shot a 74 and must improve in the second round if he is to qualify for the weekend play.

"I just haven't got it (his golf game) sharp yet. It just needs more work," Nicklaus said. "I really didn't play all that badly. It's just that every time I made a mistake it cost me a bogey and every time I got the ball close to the hole I missed the putt."

He wasn't alone in his difficulties, however. Lon Hinkle, the season's leading money-winner, shot 76 and withdrew. Jerry Pate shot a fat 81. Andy Bean, who has been in title contention a half-dozen times this year, blew to a 78. And Tom Weiskopf withdrew before finishing his round.

Sam Snead had 74 and Lee Trevino shot 73.

Levi, 26, who said his name "rhymes with heavy," hit a four-iron shot five feet from the hole for an eagle 3 on his second hole and played the front nine in 4 under par. He reeled off a string of three consecutive birdies on the back nine, then scored his only bogey off a windblown two-iron shot that caught a bunker.

Aaron, 42, scored his last victory in the 1973 Masters and almost immediately went into a slump.

"I'm playing better now than any time since then," said Aaron, who has fallen back into the ranks of the Monday qualifiers. "I'm swinging better, but mostly it's a matter of confidence and patience with myself. I knew all along my game would come back, but it wasn't much fun for a while."

He made his round with a 25-foot putt that kicked off a string of four consecutive birdies.

Permian favored to win net crown

Midland's Vicki Vasicek and Jeff Bramlett were top-seeded in the Class A singles as the Midland Schools Invitational Tennis Tournament began this morning, but Odessa Permian rated the favorite's role for the team championship.

Play began at 8:30 a.m. and will conclude Saturday. Tournament Director Bobby Connell, Midland Lee tennis coach, said 425 entries will be playing on at least six different courts around the Tall City in today's early rounds.

"We'll be playing matches at Midland Lee, Midland High, Midland College, the Elks Club, Alamo, Kimberly and maybe one or two other places," Connell explained.

"We hope to have the A and B brackets reduced so that only the semifinals and finals will be left for Saturday. In Class C, we hope to get down to the quarterfinals today."

Connell said plans call for all A semis and finals in doubles and singles and B doubles to be played at the MHS courts Saturday while B singles will be at Lee and C finals will be at Midland College.

BRAMLETT AND Vasicek both play for Midland High, but this weekend will be playing unattached, so their points will not count in the MHS team scores. As a result, Permian looms as the team to beat with Steve Ashley ranked No. 2 in Boys A singles behind Bramlett while the Panthers' have the two top girls doubles teams in Wilson-Naworski and Lewis-Byrd. Ranked behind Vasicek in the A girls singles is Kathy Lawson of El Paso Eastwood.

The top-ranked A boys doubles team is Hall-Castello of Fort Stockton with Fish-Williams of Big Spring No. 2.

Kevin Bryant, Lubbock Dunbar, and Scott Haggard, Kermit, rank one-two in B boys singles while Maggie McNamara, Lubbock Coronado, and Helen Weigand, Amarillo Palo Duro, are one-two in the B girls singles. In doubles, Pecos' Hawthorne-Peters rank ahead of Porter-Porter, Permian, in the boys while Hamilton-Flewellen, Lubbock Dunbar, rank a notch ahead of Shoemaker-Shoemaker, Pecos.

Iowa takes NCAA wrestling lead

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State wrestling Coach Harold Nichols may have acted a bit hastily when he approached a beaming John Hurlock of Colorado, pumped his hand and said, "Thanks for the help."

The "help" was Hurlock's shocking upset of third-seeded John Bowsby of Iowa in a first-round heavyweight match Thursday, the first day of the three-day NCAA wrestling championships at Iowa State.

Nichols figured he needed upsets like that to win the title over top-ranked Iowa. But Iowa Coach Dan Gable thinks the pin in 1 minute, 33 seconds by the unseeded Hurlock may have helped his team as well.

The Hawkeyes came back in the night session and won all seven of their matches — two by pins, two by superior decisions and three by major decisions. That charge put Iowa in first place with 27½ points. Wisconsin was second with 25 and Iowa State third with 16½.

Gable said Bowsby's loss apparently fired up his team. "It seems to have made them a little tougher," he said.

"You come here to win an individual championship," Gable added. "But when something happens to our team ... they want to win more ... they're concerned with the total team."

Seven Hawkeyes moved into today's quarter-finals and, Gable said, "I'd say right now we're probably favored in six" of those matches. But Duane Kleven, coach of third-ranked Wisconsin, wasn't about to concede Iowa its fourth NCAA title in five years and second in a row.

"There's a lot of wrestling yet. Yes, I think they can be caught," he said.

"We didn't do as well as we thought we would this evening, with (Tom) Waldon blowing" his second-round heavyweight match, Nichols said. The sixth-seeded Waldon lost to Fred McGaver of Marquette.

Nichols said his team was flat during the first round.

"All of them weren't up this morning until after (Mike) Mann's match" at 190 pounds, said Nichols. "I discovered they were physically tired and not into it mentally."

Girls hear whistles

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Officials huffed and puffed and blew their whistles — and it seemed they would never stop — in the Class AAA semifinals of girls' basketball.

Georgetown defeated Dumas, 57-49, and Sweeny raced past Athens, 76-69, in the AAA division Thursday at the state tournament.

In Class AA, defending champion Slaton shut down Comanche, 48-32. Pflugerville, anxious to avenge a 28-point loss to Slaton last year, beat Universal City Randolph, 47-32, to set up the title game.

Nazareth opened defense of its Class B title by outshooting D'Hanis, 52-43, and Weatherford Brock gained its first tournament victory in seven tries by nipping Avinger, 64-61, in B.

Class A and AAA semifinals were scheduled today, with defending champion Dallas South Oak Cliff playing Alvin, and Victoria meeting Plainview.

The A pairings matched Rogers against Bogata Rivercrest and Wall against Hale Center.

Officials whistled 90 fouls in the two AAA semifinal games, and the four teams had a combined total of 99 turnovers.

Sweeny hit 24 of 35 free throws in its victory over Athens as Kay Grovey and Terry Baugh paced Sweeny with 20 points and 18 points respectively. Jana Tidmore had 26 for Athens.

Trailing 67-64, Athens missed six straight shots from within five feet of the basket. Athens took 22 more shots than Sweeny but led in field goals only 27-26.

Jan Wakefield converted 10 of 15 free throws and finished with 18 points as Georgetown gained the finals despite losing two starters to fouls.

Randolph had an incredible 47 turnovers — possibly a tournament record — and scored only one point in the third quarter in losing to Pflugerville, which lists a 37-0 record but lost a practice game to Rogers.

Pflugerville built a 42-17 lead and held off a Randolph rally that started after Pflugerville scoring star Karen Thompson, a 6-foot-2 junior, fouled out with 5 minutes 38 seconds left in the game. Thompson scored 22 points.

Eight long set shots by Linda Lewis and a pressing defense that converted 20 turnovers into 21 points were the keys to Slaton's victory over Comanche. All-starters Cynthia Robinson with 12 points and Debbie Bednarz with 10 supported Lewis' 16 points.

Doretta Ramaekers and Lori Gerber — one of four Gerber girls on the squad — each tallied 16 for Nazareth, which is seeking its third consecutive championship. Ramaekers swished eight of nine field goals from long range.

Annette Nester, the defending Class B shot put champion, poured in 28 points for D'Hanis.

High scorer the first day of the three-day tournament was Sherea Mathis, who pitched in 30 points for Avinger in its lost. Kay Hull and Tina Procter each scored 16 for Brock, which made 31 points — nearly half its total — after Avinger turnovers.

ATLANTA (AP) — Former Atlanta Falcons Coach Norm Van Brocklin may have to undergo additional brain surgery if Thursday's operation does not increase the flow of blood to his brain, his doctor said.

Dr. Alan Fleischer, a neurosurgeon at Emory University Hospital, said the four-hour operation went very well and the 53-year-old Van Brocklin was in satisfactory condition.

NHL scraps plan to add four WHA teams

KEY LARGO, Fla. (AP) — Reactions ranged from the effusive elation of Harold Ballard of the Toronto Maple Leafs to the deep disappointment of Ed Snider of the Philadelphia Flyers after the National Hockey League's board of governors voted Thursday to scrap a plan to add four World Hockey Association teams for the 1979-80 season.

"I feel so elated, it's just like the North beating the South in the Civil War," said Ballard after the two-day meetings resulted in the rejection of a motion to add the Edmonton Oilers, Winnipeg Jets, Quebec Nordiques and New England Whalers. The decision was believed to have been by one vote.

"There is no reality in the National Hockey League," said Snider.

Expansion requires that three-quarters of the NHL's 17 clubs vote in favor, and only 12 were believed to have supported the plan presented Thursday.

Those opposed, it appeared, were Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver, Boston and Los Angeles. NHL President John Ziegler avoided saying who lined up on each side of the question, but he acknowledged that for him, personally, the result was surprising and disappointing.

"I think that everybody went about it on the basis of 'Let's make a decision one way or the other and get it behind us — whatever it is, that should be it,' Ziegler said.

"Certainly the whole approach was that if we were going to do anything for the 1979-80 season we should do it now, and nobody has any stomach or desire to go through this exercise in the near future. From a practical standpoint, I'd have to say that the matter is expired."

Ziegler has said he believes that hockey would benefit from having only one major league.

"You're disappointed in the sense that a lot of people put a lot of work on it and, as I've said, I still think the best thing for our sport is one professional league. So the fact that we have not accomplished that, I'm disappointed in, yes."

Jacques Courtois of Montreal apparently voted no in despite past statements that the Canadiens favor admitting stronger WHA clubs into the NHL. He declined to say directly how the Stanley Cup champions had voted.

"John Ziegler suggested that the release of the vote should not be itemized because it could be misleading, because you aren't necessarily against expansion if you vote against a specific plan," Courtois said.

"But you know there are some guys in the NHL who are prepared to make a deal at the expense of the others. They give up nothing, but they say: 'Oh, it's a very good deal. You give up this, you give up that, and we'll have a deal.'"

If Montreal did go against its previous position, it likely was because the Canadiens did not feel they were receiving adequate compensation for, or re-acquisition rights to, the 30-odd players who jumped from their well-stocked organization to the

WHA.

This is the third consecutive year NHL governors have discussed some sort of accommodation with the rival WHA — to avoid anti-trust problems no one dares call it a merger.

"I'm sure if you were to ask right now, everybody would say 'It's out forever,'" Ziegler said.

Snider, perhaps the hardest worker for an accommodation, said he could not see bringing the matter up again.

But there were ample indications that a large majority of the NHL clubs were disappointed at the failure of the expansion plan.

Finley suspends Page after a friendly talk

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Mitchell Page had a nice talk with Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley — just before Finley ordered him suspended.

So, once again an A's star is missing from spring training. Reggie Jackson, in 1970, and Vida Blue, in 1972, stayed away in contract disputes.

"I'm not walking out. I'm suspended," Page said as he packed to leave the A's clubhouse Thursday. He added, "I'm happy with this team. I'm just not getting the kind of money I should have coming."

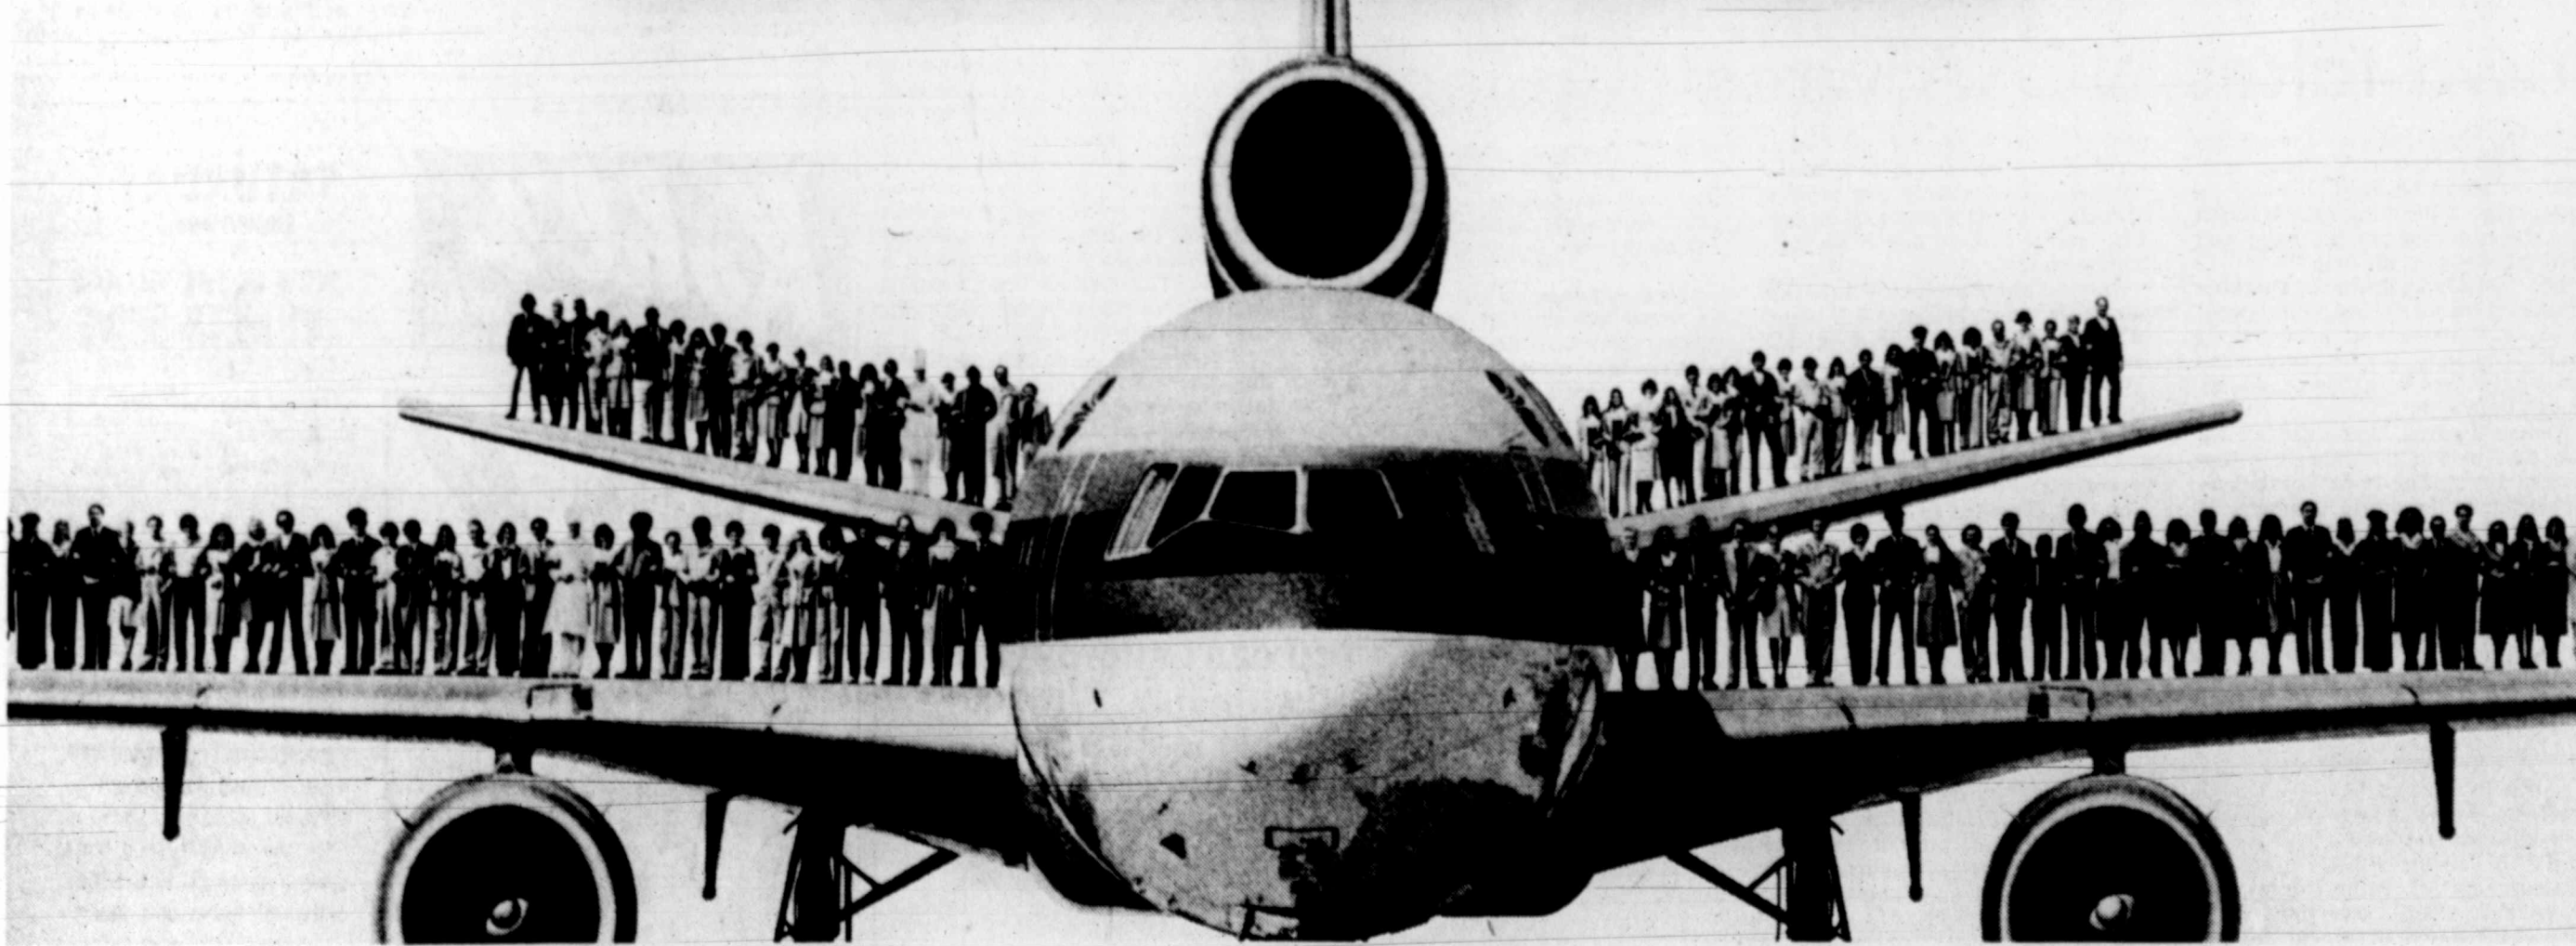

Page, disturbed by Finley's 1979 contract offer of $70,000, was suspended after refusing to play in an intrasquad game. He won't be welcomed back until he's willing to play in exhibition games.

Page himself thinks he'll be back in a week or so.

"I've heard that when any player gets close to $100,000, Charlie gets tight. Now he's proven it to me," the hard-hitting, 27-year-old outfielder said.

"Whenever we talk, I'm very courteous and he's very courteous. But he told me he wouldn't pay me one penny more," Page said. "I just asked for time to relax my mind and accept the fact that I'd have to play for a $10,000 raise."

IF YOU THINK WE MOVED OUR TAIL BEFORE, YOU SHOULD SEE US NOW.

We've always had to work a little harder and do things a bit better. We grew up competing with giants. We've never had the time to be complacent. And we sure can't afford to be now.

The airline industry is in a state of turmoil. There are more discounts, more people flying. And deregulation is here. We had a choice to make. Get tough or get out.

So we're working even harder to do the things that make your flight something more than a bus ride. We offer free stereo. We serve only premium brand liquor. We work harder at being on time and getting your baggage to you. And our Super Saver discount fares are as low as they come.

These are the tangibles. We're working on some intangibles, too. Like a winning attitude. Our people feel that we can succeed in any market at any time. So they work a little harder to be friendly, to be courteous, to be helpful. A lot of airlines say that. But if you compare Continental to some other airline, we're confident that you'll feel the difference. If you don't, we're in big trouble.

If you want your next flight to be extra special, see your travel agent, company travel department or Continental Airlines.
