Carter ends mission without peace treaty

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Carter ended his six-day Mideast peace mission today claiming a breakthrough for peace but still short of the treaty he sought between Egypt and Israel.

Carter said Egypt's President Anwar Sadat today accepted U.S. compromise proposals "for resolving the few remaining issues," and that Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin agreed to submit these compromises to his cabinet for consideration "at the earliest opportunity."

Begin, staking his political career on the Carter compromises, said in Israel that if the cabinet did not approve them, "it would be the duty of the government to resign."

He predicted that a treaty would be signed this month, possibly within the next week or two, if his Cabinet and the Knesset approves a draft accord. "Still we have to deal with certain problems," Begin said in an interview with ABC News. "But perhaps the weightiest issues are now agreed upon by Israel and Egypt."

In Washington, Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., said Carter had called him from Air Force One to brief him on the developments.

"It appeared an agreement had been reached for submission to the parliaments of Egypt and Israel. I am pleased and relieved," Byrd said.

Carter announced the latest developments at Cairo airport just before he began the 14 1/2 hour flight back to Washington.

In a last-minute round of personal diplomacy, Carter met today over breakfast with Begin in Jerusalem, then huddled with Sadat for 2 1/2 hours at Cairo airport.

Carter didn't specify the shape of the compromise proposals. The remaining issues were believed to be Israel's desire for Sinai oil, Egypt's desire for liaison officials to supervise Palestinian self rule in Gaza, and Israel's desire for a quick exchange of ambassadors.

Carter's statement seemed to indicate that all that remains in the way of a Egypt-Israeli treaty, ending 30 years of hostility between the two nations, is approval of the compromises by the Israeli government.

Ratification by the Egyptian parliament is considered to be a formality.

But even if Begin's cabinet goes along with the latest Carter peace plan, approval by the Israeli Knesset is another question. Begin was heckled there by treaty opponents on Monday after an address by Carter.

"I am convinced that we now have defined all of the main ingredients of a peace treaty between Egypt and Israel which will be the cornerstone of a comprehensive peace settlement for the Middle East," Carter said at Cairo airport just before his departure.

The day began with Carter's mission seemingly ending in failure.

U.S. officials described his breakfast meeting with Begin as mainly a Precincts drawn illegally, but who redraws lines?

By LINDA HILL
Staff Writer

The Midland County Commissioners Court Monday agreed to a man that the county's commissioner precincts are divided illegally.

The unresolved questions, with positions largely breaking along party affiliations, are how major the problems are and who should redraw the lines.

Everyone agreed the fact that Precinct 1 is divided into two non-contiguous parts is in violation of established law.

And the court's two Republicans, County Judge William B. Ahders and Commissioner Win Brown, both argued that the population differences of the precincts are outside legal bounds, citing voter registration figures.

County Attorney Leslie Acker said the courts have ruled the population of each must be more than 20 percent but not less than 30 percent of the number of people in the county.

According to figures cited by Ahders, current registered voter counts range from 19.27 percent in Precinct 3 to 31.8 percent in Precinct 4.

Commissioner Charlie Welch, however, repeatedly reminded the court that it is total population, not registered voters, that counts.

Ahders and Brown argued for a "non-political" redistricting plan, urging the Democratic commissioners to agree to ask the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission to present a proposal to the court.

Though Brown's motion lost 3-2 on a split along party affiliation, the PBRPC may wind up drawing the lines yet.

"I didn't really vote against it," claimed Democratic Commissioner Jack Leonard after the meeting.

"I'd like to have them (the PBRPC) do it after we find out how many people we have in each precinct," said Leonard, who represents Precinct 3.

Welch and Commissioner Durward Wright contended throughout the debate that the law requires the commissioners themselves to draw the lines.

"Why not let them (the PBRPC) provide the data and do it ourselves like the law says?" asked Wright.

"If you can't stand the smoke, don't get in the kitchen," Welch chimed in.

"What are you talking about?" Ahders asked testily.

Wright noted, "We're supposed to be five reasonably intelligent people," capable of redistricting with as little "disturbance to the voters" as possible.

Wright and Welch both insisted rearranging voting precincts is the most annoying thing the court could do to the voters.

"The fewer people you have to confuse, the better off you are. I don't think we have much of a choice," said Welch, who claimed the population balances are "pretty close" to the acceptable range.

Three inmates still at large after break

LAMESA — Three of four inmates who escaped from the Dawson County Jail Monday night still were at large this morning, and Dawson County Sheriff Bill Horton said today he thought the three may be in the Midland-Odessa area.

The four escaped, Horton said, after a jail trusty apparently jammed the elevator in the jail to ride down to the floor where the jail keys are kept.

He then rode the elevator back up and let the other three out of their cells, Horton theorized.

The three still at large are James Mason, the jail trusty, Robert Callaway and Quincy Butler.

Mason and Callaway were serving terms for burglary. Butler was serving a misdemeanor sentence and had only 10 days left before release, Horton said.

The fourth inmate, Henry Barrera, was captured and returned to the jail. He had been held for revocation of parole.

Hospital Board election draws eight hopefuls

A parade of candidates just before the filing deadline Monday transformed the race for the Midland County Hospital District board of trustees from suspenseful to eventful.

When the hospital administration office closed Friday, only two candidates had filed for three at-large openings on the hospital board, and it looked as though the board might be a director short for the next term.

When the office closed at the filing deadline Monday, however, eight candidates were on the ballot.

Filing Monday were Steve Becker, M.H. "Buddy" Davis Jr., Pat Estes, Scott Shelton, J.D. Webster and Floyd A. Wright.

Incumbent Edwin Magruder Jr. and Dr. Henrie Mast had filed earlier for posts on the board.

Two other incumbents, L. Decker Dawson and Robert E. Pendleton, chose not to run for re-election to the board.

In a drawing for ballot positions held this morning, Wright drew top spot on the ballot, to be followed in order by Webster, Shelton, Magruder, Davis, Becker, Mrs. Estes and Mast.

The three candidates with the largest vote totals in the April 7 election will serve in the at-large places on the board.

MCAA enacts by-laws, as requested by mayor

By LANA CUNNINGHAM
Staff Writer

Tired of fighting blanket opposition from Midland's city government, Executive Director Alexandra Morris recommended Monday the Midland Community Action Agency give in to requests made by the mayor two years ago.

During a meeting of the board of directors in which only one member of 15 was absent, Mrs. Morris said she had talked with Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr., who promised the city's support of MCAA if only it would enact his requests made in 1977.

Those requests, made after a city councilman resigned from the MCAA board during the period when the agency was having problems with its bookkeeping, included total revision of the by-laws, resignation of all those who were board members prior to 1977 and resignation of those who had been on the staff prior to 1977.

The first request formally was met Monday when the board adopted a new set of by-laws.

But pressure from the mayor and opposition to the proposal voiced by several board members put the executive director in a squeeze.

MRS. MORRIS SAID she had talked with Angelo recently and he pledged the city's support "when the other two requirements are met."

In presenting her case, Mrs. Morris said in concluding her third program year with MCAA, "I have had increasing frustration with this agency" in accomplishing its goals.

Those goals, as outlined by the Community Services Administration, call for concentration of efforts and resources to eliminate the causes of poverty in the city, enabling the poor to become self-sufficient.

"After much thought I concluded this agency is not doing this," she said. "I have seen this agency can not become a viable entity without the support and cooperation of elected officials."

That lack of support from Midland was apparent at last month's meeting of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, in which the board, noting the unfavorable comment Angelo gave the agency, rejected giving MCAA a favorable recommendation on a funding grant for this year.

However, the CSA recently notified MCAA the agency still will receive its funds this year, despite the PBRPC action.

IF THE TWO DEMANDS from Angelo are met, Mrs. Morris said it will mean "negating all these unfavorable comments and that someone from the City Council would come onto the

The Kennedy administration was 'very dancy ... and very stylish'

PART TWO

You turn around, and 10 years are gone. Mike was born in 1950, and in 1960 the Eisenhowers went home to Gettysburg, the Kennedys moved to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Gerald R. Ford began his seventh term in Congress and, for the first time in ages, I didn't have a baby any more. Susan was almost three years old, and the part of my life that had been measured out in Pabulum spoons was over.

The Eisenhower White House had been managed very efficiently, in a very military way, which was only natural. Their Congressional parties were tremendous affairs, and formal.

But what stands out most in my memory about Mamie and Ike is their affection for each other. So many pictures of them look unposed, as if they'd been caught in the act of touching. I can't help thinking that book by the woman who claimed to be his girlfriend was a fraud.

In May of 1977, the widowed Mamie, then 80 years old, gave a commencement address at Eisenhower College in Seneca Falls, New York. She talked about her husband's "wonderful hands." Every knuckle, she said, "was broken from football or whatever, but I always felt in all the years we were married that I could grab onto them when I felt sick or worried, and nothing was ever going to happen to me."

It isn't a bad testimonial to a marriage. The Kennedy White House was much more sophisticated, more European, than the Eisenhower White House had been.

At most official functions, the Kennedys did away with the receiving line; they just circulated. When Jerry was President, we sometimes did the same thing, mingled with the crowd. If there was a special cocktail party before a dinner, an aide would tell everybody to please "stand wherever you are, and Mrs. Ford will be brought around and introduced to you." It's an ideal setup. You're the one who's doing the walking, and the person who is escorting you is careful not to let you spend too much time with anyone, just a few words and you move on to the next group.

ONE OF MRS. Kennedy's most famous parties was given at Mount Vernon, soon after she came back from her triumphant visit to Paris. If you recall, President Kennedy said the French had been more interested in seeing his wife than they were in seeing him. He was a smart politician; both he and she were good with languages, and he always greeted crowds in their native tongues, which added considerably to his popularity. (Jerry and I aren't our cup of tea. For us, greetings in foreign languages always had to be written out phonetically if they were going to come out sounding half right.)

We were not in the Kennedys' inner circle, but we were invited to that Mount Vernon party for Pakistan's President Ayub Khan. In his book, "Upstairs at the White House," Chief Usher J.B. West wrote about the planning. Mrs. Kennedy had insisted on rehearsing every detail that went into the evening. "We made a number of trips down the Potomac on the Presidential yacht, Honey Fitz — Mrs. Kennedy standing at the bow like Cleopatra on the Nile — to perfect the timing of transporting over 150 workers...the National Symphony Orchestra, the Marine Honor Guard, the Army Fife and Drum Corps, the Air Force Strolling Strings, not to mention 132 guests, to the home of the first President where dinner was served by candlelight on the front lawn overlooking the river."

THE PARTY WAS to be taken up the Potomac in four boats, the Presidential yacht and three others that belonged to the Navy. Even as Jerry changes was Janeice Buita, county voter registration deputy, who said she receives frequent complaints from voters about difficulty in determining where they vote.

"This they don't like. I don't know why they don't. I'm just trying to get along with the people who elected you all," Mrs. Buita said.

When Welch and Wright argued changing voting boxes was more annoying, Mrs. Buita replied, "But you're not one of the peons."

"Brown contended an 'outside' agency could draw lines without regard to 'where the commissioner lives,' but that the commissioners themselves would 'insist we each remain in our own commissioner's precinct."

Wright's motion to ask the PBRPC to provide population information passed 3-1, with Brown voting against, and Ahders, who serves as presiding officer, not voting.

"This is too open ended," said Brown. "Are we going to use that information or are we going to hatch it?"

"I assume we're going to use it," Wright replied.

Brown conceded the information "will be a help, but I still think we're spitting in the wind."

In addition to contiguous boundaries and population balance, according to Acker, any redistricting plan must not "dilute minority voting strength," if the courts are to accept it.

In the past, the current division, which divides predominantly minority neighborhoods between Precinct 2 and Precinct 3, has been the topic of debate on that point.

But Monday's discussion barely touched on the issue.

Odessa, 39, in custody

ODESSA — A 39-year-old Odessa woman was in custody in Odessa City Jail today after Odessa Municipal Court Judge Otis Moore set bond at $50,000 Monday and charged her with murder, said authorities.

Freda Shook, 39, was charged in connection with the knifing death of a 55-year-old Odessa man late Sunday night at the residence the two people shared, police said.

Police said the woman was arrested at the north Odessa residence shortly after Eugene Norman Berg was found dead.

Berg was found seated in a chair slumped over a living room table, police detectives said.

Peace Justice Virgil Lumpey pronounced Berg dead and withheld an inquest pending results of an autopsy he ordered.

Berg was stabbed with a kitchen knife with a five-inch blade, detectives said.

The woman arrested in connection with the murder was the only person at the residence when officers got there, police said.

Witnesses told police the woman was seen making a stabbing motion with her right hand.

The witness also told authorities that they heard Berg scream and cry out, and then drop out of view.

Officers said the man and woman had been living together about a year.

Officers said the woman had blood on her hands when she admitted police to the residence.

ed from Tel Aviv's Ben Gurion airport.

He said "good progress has been made" toward a peace treaty and vowed "we will not fail."

He said progress was made Monday night in a meeting of U.S. and Israeli cabinet officials, and further progress was achieved this morning over breakfast at the King David Hotel.

Begin, also speaking at Ben Gurion airport, said Israel had now gone as far as it could go toward meeting Egypt's terms, and "Now of course, it is the turn of Egypt to give its reply."

Then Carter hopped to Cairo airport, where he huddled for about 2 1/2 hours with Sadat in a VIP lounge.

As their session drew to a close, Egyptian television broadcast a picture of Carter speaking on the telephone. Carter said later he had called Begin from the airport to inform him that Sadat accepted the latest U.S. compromise proposals.

Before today's apparent breakthrough three issues were said to have remained unresolved, in descending order of difficulty:

—An Egyptian demand to place Egyptian liaison officers in the Gaza Strip as part of the first step in granting Palestinian self-rule. Israeli sources said their negotiators refused to admit such officers at this stage.

—A demand by Israel that Egypt provide oil on a preferential basis from the Sinai oilfields the Israelis would abandon.

—Israel's insistence that the two countries' exchange ambassadors after the first stage of Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai.

And I had been dressing to go, we could hear the sirens screaming on those military trucks, but we hadn't known they were headed for Mount Vernon loaded with our dinner.

We all met at dockside and were piped aboard. The women had been told to wear short dinner dresses, because we'd be getting on and off these boats, and then Mrs. Kennedy turned up in a long dress. I gave her the benefit of the doubt. I figured she must suddenly have realized that the wives of the heads of state and other visiting dignitaries might be in native costume, and she'd better sport a long skirt to make them feel more at ease.

I was a bit miffed because I'd had to go out and shop. I didn't even own a short evening dress — short evening dresses weren't fashionable then — but I got a black chiffon that was pretty. I think Susan still has it.

All the elements were with Mrs. Kennedy that night. The air was warm and balmy, the guests' mood festive. There was live music aboard each yacht, and even though it was a short run along the river to Mount Vernon, drinks and hors d'oeuvres were provided on deck. At the boat landing, cars were waiting to drive us up the hill to the mansion.

To this day, I don't know how Mrs. Kennedy ever got the ladies of the Mount Vernon Association to let her give a dinner there. They're a very elite, very closed society, in order to belong, your heritage probably has to go back to George Washington or one of those soldiers who was in that boat with him when he crossed the Delaware.

During dinner, Vice President and Mrs. Johnson had asked us to go back on their boat, and we'd said yes. Next thing we knew, we got a message that President and Mrs. Kennedy wanted us to go back on THEIR boat. Of course they outranked the Johnsons, so it was the Honey Fits for us. I have no idea why we were so sought after, but I had a ball, and danced all the way home.

That was a very fancy administration (Hubert Humphrey was a great dancer, so was Lyndon Johnson, though he was so tall and held you so tight you felt sort of squashed) and a very stylish administration. Mrs. Kennedy had such marvelous taste that all women in Washington, all the women across the country, copied her. We wore the same things she wore, the little pillbox on the head, the sleeveless shift. It was epidemic, that wardrobe.

Freddie Nelms, a new board member who has resided more than 20 years in Midland, said rhetorically, "You mean the mayor has the authority to do all that? Are we going to yield to one man's request just because of the way he feels, the way he stands, the way he thinks about things?"

Charlotte Windecker, who had appeared at the PBRPC board meeting in February to help with the MCAA presentation, replied, "It's like he's (Angelo) got a stranglehold on us."

The recommendation also met with opposition from other board members and from those in the audience who were staff members or involved with the agency in some form.

Clarence Rankin charged that Angelo will never give the agency what he has promised. Since the agency began operation eight years ago, "it has never had the graces of the mayor. I don't think if you do get his graces, you'll get anything but that."

"The mayor has never cared for MCAA and the agency has been able to handle it," he continued. "We've had some bad times, rougher than you've read about, and we've survived. I recommend every board member who can't stand the pressure to resign."

Returning to the topic of the mayor, Rankin said, "Angelo screams we don't want federal monies and yet the city of Midland uses it."

ALSO INCLUDED IN Mrs. Morris' proposal was a consolidation of the agency's neighborhood centers to cut down on overhead cost. One center worker in the audience retorted, "We work like a dog to get this (agency) to work, and now you tell me to move."

Two county commissioners, Jack Leonard and Charlie Welch, said after the meeting they did not agree with the executive director's recommendations.

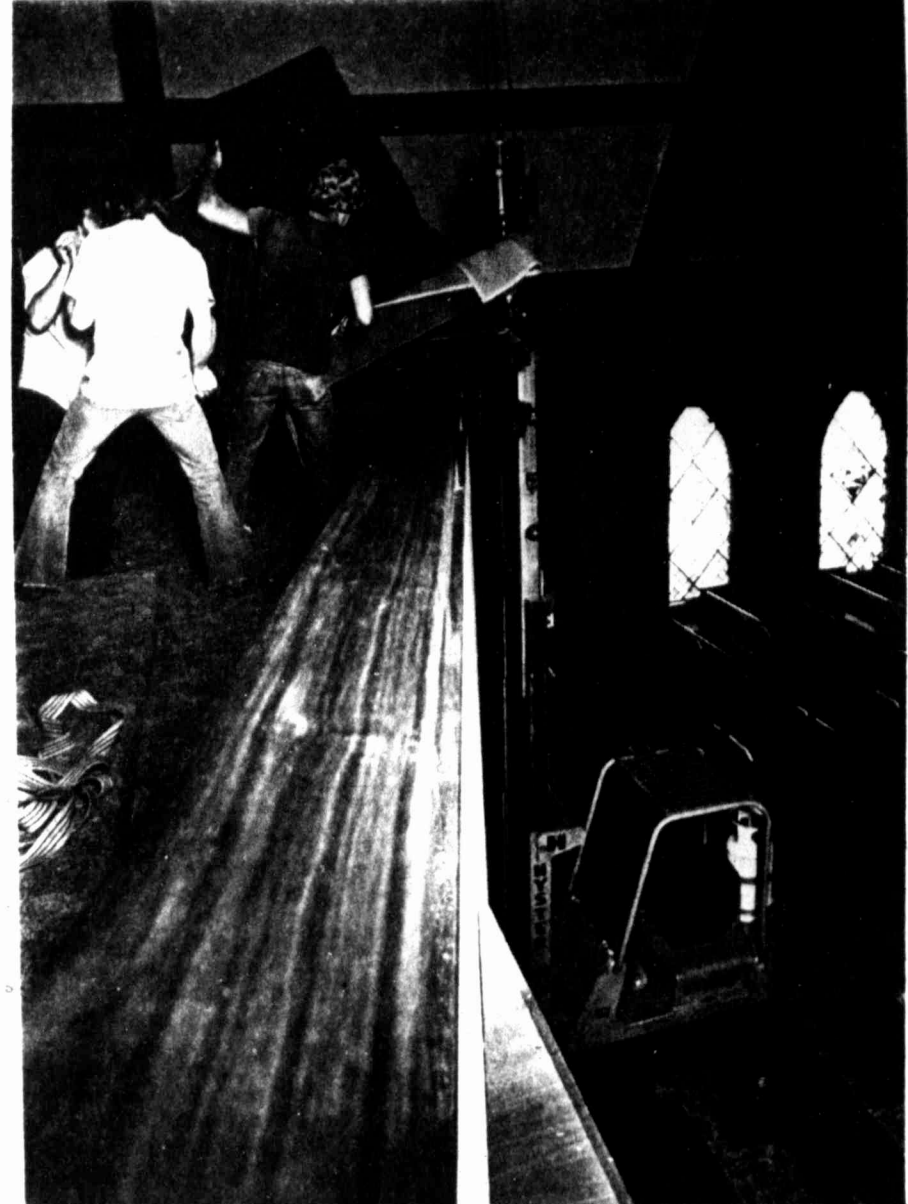

"We've done more in the last year than they've ever done before," Leonard said, adding that the agency is not in the same situation it was when Angelo made his requests.

"I wish Angelo would come over here and sit through a meeting and see how it's (the agency) changed."

WELCH, WHO SAID he didn't agree with Angelo's requests two years ago when he presented them to the board and doesn't like them now, added that "it would be unthinkable for anyone to say this agency is to fire good people. Why, they could sue us all the way to Washington, D.C., and back."

The proposal was dropped with no decision made, but one director said he feels sure it will resurface at the board's next meeting.

In other action, the board approved purchase of a bus to be used in the weatherization program for transporting materials and crew and heard a report on the Emergency Energy Assistance Program.

THROUGHOUT THOSE YEARS, however, I didn't spend nearly as much time going to parties as I did going to emergency rooms.

If you have four children, you spend a lot of your waking hours in hospitals. On one such occasion, Steve got his fingers smashed on what had started out to be a festive Sunday. All six of us were going to Family Day at the Congressional Country Club. I'd cleaned up Steve and Susan, put him in his little plaid jacket, her in her little white pinafore, and sent them outside so Jerry and I could get dressed in peace.

All the children were running around like wild Indians, and Jerry yelled that they should calm down and get into the car. Susan hopped in the back, slammed her door shut, and never noticed that Steve's fingers had been curled around the door frame.

President Johnson came on the line. "What do you mean, he's gone to the hospital? What's wrong with him?"

"Nothing," said Jack. "It's my little brother's fingers —"

Lyndon wanted to know which hospital.

The mashed hand was being X-rayed when the next call came from the President. He'd rung up the hospital to find out how Steve was doing. President Johnson was that way; you couldn't go anywhere without his tracking you down. It was one of the Fords' more interesting trips to an emergency room. Search for dynamite continues ANDREWS — Andrews County officials are looking for a large amount of dynamite stolen from a local government entity's storage building sometime in the last two weeks.

A sheriff's office spokesman said today the theft was reported Monday morning. He declined to reveal exactly where the building was located and which agency owned it, but did say it was for use in blasting road beds.

Confirmed missing are 109 sticks of 65 percent strength Hercules Unigel. The sticks are 1 1/4 inches in diameter and 8 inches long, said the spokesman, and are wrapped in brown paper with the Hercules name and a printed "dangerous explosives" warning.

The sheriff's deputy also said officials suspect 20 to 50 sticks of DuPont Water Gel, with the same dimensions, to be missing.

That dynamite is wrapped in white plastic with the danger warning, the official said.

The deputy said the lock on the building where the explosives were stored was cut off.

No motive has been established, he said. Federal and area local law enforcement agencies are assisting the sheriff's department in the investigation, the spokesman said.

TESCO officials urge care when flying kites

Kite flying season is here again, and Texas Electric Service Co. officials Monday urged kite flyers to follow a few simple rules for their own safety.

C.W. Barclay, TESCO manager, warned kite flyers of the danger of flying kites in the vicinity of electric power lines.

"If your kite should get caught in electric wires, call Texas Electric Service Co.," Barclay said, adding, "and someone will be sent to get it down for you."

Ector County Commissioners vote to table discussion of contracts

ODESSA — The Ector County Commissioners' Court tabled action Monday on contracts between the county and the county's three volunteer fire departments — Gardendale, Goldsmith and West Odessa.

The commissioners may reconsider the contracts later this week, Commissioner David Childers said this morning.

He said he isn't sure the volunteer fire departments can afford the insurance coverage the contracts require. However, he said he did not know how much money would be involved in the contracts.

Contracts between the county and the volunteer fire departments are required by law, County Judge Gary Watkins said Monday.

Barclay also recommended kite flyers follow safety rules such as always using dry string, not wire, nor anything metallic nor any string with metallic threads.

He also said kite flyers should always use kites made of wood and paper, not wire or metal. And he said, they should not fly their kites on rainy days.

It's a good idea to always avoid busy streets and highways while flying kites, he said.

He urged kite flyers not to pull on the string or climb a power pole to loosen a kite snagged in electronic wires.

Barclay also said kite enthusiasts should fly their creations far from electric or power lines.

He also suggested they fly their kites away from television and radio antennas.

"Posters containing these safety rules have been distributed by the company to all schools," Barclay said.

Council to OK appraisals

ODESSA — Odessa City Council members were scheduled today to take a step closer to implementing the north route to Midland by approving appraisals of land needed for the highway.

Council members also were to consider authorizing offers to property owners along the route and appropriating necessary funds for the land purchases.

In January, the Odessa City Council authorized an independent appraiser to value each tract of land and approved use of a title company.

The north route and its sister project, the north loop around Midland, have been in the planning process several years.

...Choosing a college or university that meets the needs of a student's future and the family's budget is a major decision for high school students and their parents.

So each spring Texas Christian University staff and student body members visit cities throughout the United States with a personal, local presentation of what TCU can offer in making the decision.

A "TCU Today" program will be held March 20 in Midland. The dinner event will begin at 7 p.m. at Eden Restaurant in San Miguel Square.

"TCU Today," begun in 1975 and coordinated by the University's admissions office, is a traveling program featuring current students, faculty and administrators. This spring the group will explain the advantages of a private, coeducational institution when visiting 31 cities in 14 states.

Reservations for the program are accepted from high school students and their parents. Also attending will be high school counselors, TCU alumni and ministers of the Christian Church.

The event is designed to answer questions about various aspects of collegiate life. An audio-visual presentation will introduce the 254-acre campus, more than 300 full-time faculty members and the student body of approximately 6,000 students.

An administrator will speak on TCU's role in higher education. Financial aid and admissions procedures will be discussed by an admissions counselor, and faculty members will briefly outline some of the academic areas offered at TCU.

Reservations and additional information are available from Mr. and Mrs. Scott Shelton at 683-6437.

27 U.S. dams in need of emergency repair work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers has ordered emergency actions taken on 27 private dams to prevent their collapse, new Corps statistics showed today.

The 27 are among 459 dams that have been declared unsafe as a result of the Corps' dam inspection program that began after the Barnes Lake Dam in Toccoa, Ga., collapsed in 1977, killing 39 persons.

To date, the Corps has completed inspections on 2,119 private dams across the country. It hopes to inspect about 9,000 of the nation's 43,500 non-federal dams by 1981.

The dams classified unsafe are not necessarily in danger of imminent collapse, said Corps spokesman Ed Greene. In many instances, he said, the Corps simply considered a spillway unsafe to handle torrential rains.

Bond posted in incest case

ODESSA — An Odessa couple were free today after posting $15,000 bond each Monday in connection with incest charges filed with Peace Justice Virgil Lumpee, according to authorities.

The pair were released from City Jail, said Odessa police officers today.

James Oliver Lowell, 47, a truck driver, and his wife, Sharon June Lowell, 35, both of Odessa, were arrested at the Odessa Police Department Saturday night, said officers.

Both people are charged with incest involving a 14-year-old male, said officers.

The youth gave police a statement in connection with an incident on Sept. 11, 1978, according to Lumpee.

Lumpee said Ector County District Attorney investigator Jerry Davis also took a statement Saturday night from a 15-year-old, corroborating the boy's statement.

The 14-year-old youth was being held for "protective custody" Monday morning in the Ector County Youth Detention Center, said Morris Petty, Ector County Juvenile Probation Department officer.

Petty said the boy was transferred Monday to the Ector County Children's Service.

New emissions bill proposed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A pilot program of automobile emissions inspection would be started in Harris County under a bill whose sponsor says it is a bargain for the state.

"The Environmental Protection Agency's willingness to accept the provisions of House Bill 2138... represents a tremendous victory for the state of Texas in retaining control of our air pollution control efforts," Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, told a news conference today.

The Texas Air Control Board, the Department of Public Safety and the state highway department would work out details of the pilot program, Von Dohlen said.

Under 1977 changes to the federal Clean Air Act, states must submit a plan to control pollution, he explained.

Everett J. Grindstaff

Lions to hear Grindstaff on Wednesday

The Midland Downtown Lions Club will be host Wednesday noon to Everett J. "Ebb" Grindstaff of Ballinger, who will address club members and guests at their meeting in the Midland Hilton.

Grindstaff, a past Lions district governor and a former director of Lions International, presently is a candidate for 3rd vice president of the international association. He has the support of the Downtown Lions Club as well as other Lions clubs here and throughout Texas. The election will be held at Montreal, Canada in July.

Program Chairman Duke Jimerson said Grindstaff will discuss Lionism in its varying phases in his Midland address.

Grindstaff, a practicing attorney at Ballinger since 1956, has distinguished himself in local, state and national bar circles, in addition to his varied civic work at local, regional and state levels. He has been an outstanding Jaycee at Ballinger and has served as president of the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce and as chairman of the Water Resources Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. He is chairman of the Upper Colorado River Authority and is active in the First Baptist Church at Ballinger.

Rabies vaccine may be required

Midland County Commissioners Monday approved in principle the idea of requiring rabies vaccines for all dogs and cats in the county, as well as other steps to control the animal disease.

The commissioners called for a public hearing on the proposed regulations at their next meeting.

As outlined by Assistant County Attorney Dan Newsome, the regulations would require all dog and cat owners to have their pets vaccinated against rabies and set up procedures for seizure and impoundment of all animals suspected of having rabies.

Under the proposed ordinance, animal bites by unvaccinated animals would have to be reported to the constable's office, and the impoundment and observation of the animal would be under the constable's supervision.

In other business Monday, the commissioners appropriated $4,304 for the Ector-Midland Counties Elderly Nutrition Program.

The figure is the same as last year, except that $1,229 was refunded from participant contributions, director Pat Wallis said. This year, however, federal regulations prohibit that practice, so the county will have to pay the entire amount, she said.

During the meeting, Commissioner Charlie Welch engaged in heated debate with Jack Boles of Communications Corporation of America about the new courthouse telephone system.

Welch contended the bid specifications required the company to provide a way to bypass the county switchboard and dial directly into certain offices.

Boles insisted only the capability to add the direct dial-in service was required. Four such lines can be provided at an additional cost of $1,056, plus approximately $90 a month for telephone company charges.

The commissioners instructed Boles and County Attorney Leslie Acker to examine the terms of the bid.

Also Monday, the commissioners agreed to allow the old American Legion Building, now owned by the county, to be used for Summer Mummies. The Midland Community Theatre agreed to bear the cost of insurance and building alterations.

And, after about an hour of discussion, the commissioners voted to purchase three cars for the sheriff's department. A station wagon was purchased for the home demonstration agent.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A symposium on contemporary issues in Texas police-community relations will be held March 23-24 in San Antonio, Austin Police Chief Frank Dyson said today.

Volcanoes observed on Jupiter moon

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Immense volcanoes, the first ever seen erupting on another world, are spitting ash, dust and gas above the orange surface of the moon Io, the latest discovery from Voyager 1's epic encounter with Jupiter.

"It's incredible. We've found five or six (erupting volcanoes) and they're still finding more," planetary geologist Larry Soderblom said Monday. "This surface has to be the most active in the solar system. (The Jovian moon) is continually recycling its innards out onto the surface."

The eruptions — which spew volcanic materials nearly 200 miles above Io's surface — were found Friday as scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory examined thousands of pictures taken by Voyager. The ship sailed past Jupiter and its moons March 5.

Excited scientists worked through the weekend to confirm the discovery.

One picture shows a fountain of volcanic debris rising like an umbrella over the surface. Another shows at least three volcanoes erupting simultaneously.

Long-dead volcanoes exist on Mars, Mercury, and Earth's moon, but these are the first active ones seen anywhere but on Earth. And Io's volcanoes are much more powerful and active than Earth's occasional eruptions, scientists said.

Soderblom said rock and dust explodes out of Io's apparently molten interior at speeds up to 2,000 mph, about the velocity of a high-powered rifle bullet.

The discovery "is probably the most exciting thing to come out of the Voyager mission so far," said Bradford Smith, who heads the Voyager photography team.

The spacecraft now is millions of miles past Jupiter and racing toward a rendezvous with Saturn in November 1980. A sistership, Voyager 2, will take another close look at Jupiter and its 13 moons this July.

Io is the closest to Jupiter of four planet-sized moons. It was a major target of Voyager's 11 cameras and instruments.

The intense volcanism apparently solves the puzzle of Io's missing meteor craters. One of many surprises in Voyager's pictures was the almost total absence on Io of craters left by meteors that pounce every other object in the solar system, including other Jovian moons.

The answer, said Smith, is that Io's surface is being constantly recreated.

Schenken, West, led the ace of trumps and continued with his other club, on which East shrewdly played low.

South had to win, and now the nine of clubs was not an entry to dummy.

South led the king of spades, and Schenken refused the trick. The question was whether East had four or five spades. East held high cards for his double and would have bid two spades rather than one spade with a five-card suit.

DARING RETURN

Schenken took the next spade and daringly led a low diamond. East won and led the king of clubs to shut the dummy out.

South eventually lost two hearts for a penalty of 200 points. At the other table of the match South won nine tricks at three clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your right, bids one spade, you pass, and the other opponent bids two diamonds. Your partner doubles, and the dealer passes. You hold: S-QJ93; H-64; D-1064; C-965. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three clubs. Your partner's double asks you to choose between the two unbid suits, and your duty is quite clear.

Lions getting set for pancake fest

Members of the various committees charged with arranging and staging the Downtown Lions Club's 23rd annual Pancake Jamboree Saturday are busy completing final arrangements for the big event.

George Weis is president of the club and Ray Gwyn is general chairman of the jamboree. Morris Hulsey is assistant general chairman.

Chairman of other committees include Duke Jimerson, entertainment; Bruce Hart and Don Combs, procurement; Larry Hunicutt and Jerry Speck, cooking; Al Dirnberger and Larry Ivy, equipment; Ab Ellis, service; Jerry Speck and all members, ticket sales; Tom Mixon, publicity, and Eddie Klatt, afterglow.

This year, incidentally, marks the first year that an "afterglow" committee has functioned under that particular name. It previously has gone under the title of "clean up." But the work remains the same.

All work in setting up for the event and in mixing and cooking pancakes, serving and what-have-you, will be done by club members.

The jamboree is scheduled from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. Saturday in the Dellwood Mall. The public is invited.

DR. NEIL SOLOMON Reducing salt aids hypertension

Dear Dr. Solomon: I am 48 years old and have a blood pressure of 165/105. My doctor told me to cut down on my use of salt, but did not prescribe any drugs. I was surprised that he didn't do something about reducing my blood pressure.—Mr. S.Z.

Dear Mr. Z.: Your doctor did do something when he put you on a salt-restricted diet. This, alone, can decrease blood pressure. The Royal Newcastle Hospital in New South Wales, Australia, reports it studied 31 hypertensive patients whose intake of salt had been restricted. After two years, their diastolic blood pressure had been lowered to the same extent as that of a similar group of patients treated with drugs. If both salt restriction and drugs can achieve the same result, shouldn't the diet be the treatment of choice?

for addiction. The first comprehensive control of heroin in the United States was established with the Harrison Narcotic Act of 1914.

Pure heroin is a white powder with a bitter taste. Illicit heroin may vary in color from white to dark brown because of impurities left from the manufacturing process or the presence of diluents such as food coloring, cocoa, or brown sugar. Pure heroin is rarely sold on the street.

A "bag"—slang for a single dosage unit of heroin—may weigh about 100 mg., usually containing less than 10 percent heroin. To increase the bulk of the material sold to the addict, diluents are mixed with the heroin in ratios ranging from 9 to 1 to as much as 99 to 1. Sugar, starch, powdered milk and quinine are among the diluents used.

Most commonly known as Dilaudid, hydromorphone is the second oldest semi-synthetic derivative of morphine. Its analgesic (pain-relieving) effect is from 2 to 8 times that of morphine. It is shorter-acting, more sedative, and less of a euphoriant than morphine. It is available both in tablet and in injectable form, the latter the most frequently used and abused.

Oxycodone is synthesized from morphine in 1874, heroin was not extensively used in medicine until the beginning of this century. The Bayer Co. in Germany first started commercial production of the new pain remedy in 1898. While it received widespread acceptance, the medical profession for years remained unaware of its potential

Lee High journalists to set own type now

By SUSAN TOTH
Staff Writer

When the Dixie Dispatch staff puts together the Lee High School student newspaper, it's free enterprise at work.

That enterprise paid off recently when five years worth of saved-up profits were used as a down payment on new typesetting and headline setting equipment.

The new machines, valued at about $16,000, are used to set all the news stories and headlines in the paper. Students then paste up the pages at the school just as they will appear when the paper is printed.

"I guess you could say it's a dream come true," said P.C. Foraker, publications advisor at Lee. The new equipment lets students have control of every step in the production process from generating the news stories to preparing camera-ready pages to be printed.

The experience, Foraker said, will come in handy for most beginning journalists.

"Ideally, on a large paper you get into one department and stay there, but on weeklies and small dailies, you do everything, and most of these kids won't start on the Houston Chronicle."

No tax money went into the purchase of the equipment, Foraker stressed. Profit from advertising revenues and subscription money was saved for five years to come up with the $5,100 down payment.

Foraker expects next year's $5,100 payment to be no problem, "as long as our ad revenues keep up like they have, but we'll have to keep pushing." After two years, the paper can buy the equipment for a percentage of the original price on a lease-purchase agreement.

In addition to money from advertisers, the amount paid before to the outside printer who set and pasted up the copy can be used for the next installment.

Foraker said.

The Dispatch, which claims to be the largest high school newspaper in Texas, has a total operating budget of about $10,000, Foraker said. Some $2,500 of that comes from the school district budget; the rest is raised by students from advertising and subscription sales.

The paper, which averages 16 pages, is printed every two weeks except holidays and has a press run of about 1,000, the advisor said.

Before the addition of the new machines, students put typed stories and layouts showing how they wanted them placed on a bus to Big Spring and didn't see the final product until it had been printed.

Typographical errors and other surprises were not uncommon in the final product, Foraker said.

The first issue with the new equipment, however, may have made the students a little more tolerant of the outside printer's past errors.

They celebrated with the paper's largest issue of the year—24 pages—but may have underestimated the time it takes to set 24 pages worth of news stories.

While the story on the front page extolling the new equipment and its virtues was error-free, the other article on the page, an interview with Congressman Kent Hance, was bedeviled with 22 typos.

A new system of proofreading virtually eliminated errors in the next issue, however, Foraker said.

Each student proofread the copy he set, then had it read by someone else before it was pasted down on the page.

Students then were assigned specific pages to proofread, and any errors found on the page after printing subtracted points from the student's grade.

"We only had three errors in the whole paper the next time," Foraker noted.

Leg breaks, giraffe dies

IRVINE, Calif. (AP) — Tennessee the giraffe is dead, less than a week after doctors at Lion Country Safari removed a cast from a broken leg they thought was healing nicely.

Photographs of the giraffe with his leg in the cast were printed in newspapers across the nation.

"The cast had been taken off and we thought he looked very good all last week," park spokeswoman Jo Schetter said. "But by last Friday, he just sat down and refused to get up. He died about noon Saturday while some of the attendants were trying to rig a sling to get him on his feet."

Park veterinarians said the cause of death was cardiac failure and respiratory collapse.

Tennessee, who stood 10 feet tall and was nearly two years old, had been on loan from a zoo in Memphis, Tenn. His leg was in a cast for about a month.

Craddick introduces strip mining legislation

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN—Representative Tom Craddick of Midland has introduced legislation to bring the state's coal strip mining laws into compliance with federal legislation passed by Congress in 1977, thus making Texas eligible to regulate strip mining of coal in the state, receive federal funds, and receive half the 10-cent-per-ton levy earmarked for the abandoned mine reclamation fund.

"Basically this bill is to make state law more closely track the federal act," remarked Ches Blevins of the Surface Mining and Reclamation Division of the Railroad Commission.

Blevins, whose division drafted the bill, explained that the federal act places authority for regulating strip mining of coal with the U.S. Department of the Interior, but provides that state governments may regulate mining within their borders if their law is approved by the Department of the Interior.

Presently regulation of strip mining in Texas, which resides with the Railroad Commission, is covered by statutes dealing with both coal and uranium mining. In addition to new legislation on coal strip mining, Craddick has introduced a bill deleting coal mining from existing statutes and renaming the old act the Texas Uranium Strip Mining and Reclamation Act.

Blevins outlined several differences between old law and the new act. These include provisions to allow citizens to sue over strip mining, provisions for administrative assessments of fines against strip mining facilities, and strengthening of provisions for land reclamation and for declaring some lands unsuitable for strip mining.

The provision allowing citizens to sue over strip mining was added to the law due to a direct federal requirement. Under the provision, any citizen whose interest may be injured is empowered to bring suit against the Railroad Commission for failing to follow the act, or against any other person, corporation, or governmental entity which violates the act.

The new law would authorize Railroad Commission officials to inspect strip mining facilities, rate their violations by degree, and calculate a fine to be levied against the operator.

George Shelburne (inset) for years worked out of City Hall in Stanton. And his dedication to the town earned him the "Mr. Stanton" title. He served in just about every non-elective capacity, including city manager, the city had to offer. Residents of Martin County still recall his dedication.

'Mr. Stanton's' 43 years of service still remembered in Martin County

STANTON — Every now and then, there comes a man whom a town couldn't get along without. Such was George Shelburne. They called him Mr. Stanton. He kept the city in line, you might say, during the 43 years he served variously as street keeper, water department chief, tax collector, city judge, city manager and just about every non-elective city office in this town of 3,000 folks.

"He was a lot of things, all right," recalled Ellen Morgan, who knew him as well as anybody. "He was pretty soft spoken, I think, and he had real white hair."

He preached the gospel. "He filled the pulpit a lot of times when the church was smaller and when we didn't have the wherewithal to fill it all the time," she said.

Glenn Brown, the town's druggist, who knows just about everybody in both city and county, recalls Shelburne as a genteel fellow of intellect and warmth and "one of the old pioneers here."

"HE WAS a very intellectual old boy, well educated, talented, religious and an elder in the Church of Christ," Brown said. "He spoke the king's English."

Dan Saunders, Martin County sheriff for almost three decades, remembers Shelburne as a "real fine fellow."

"He was a good Christian and lived it every day. He was the kind of guy who talked to the poor and the poor and to the preacher and the wino," he said.

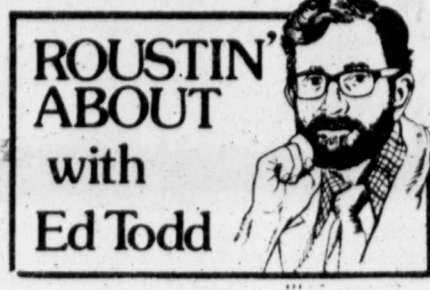

"He was a very learned man," the sheriff said. "He had a world of knowledge about the city in his head."

MARTIN GIBSON, the county's justice of the peace and somewhat of an old-timer himself, came to the Lenora community in Martin County in 1922 to farm.

Shelburne was already here, as he moved to the Line community in Martin County in 1904 and in his youth helped build "landmark bridges" on ranches in the southern part of the county.

When the drought of 1918 visited West Texas, Shelburne and his family moved to Wylie in a covered wagon and later lived in Runnels County and in Midland before settling down to stay in Stanton in the spring of 1922.

Gibson recalls Shelburne working in a grocery store, preaching at Lenora and other rural communities, and operating a mule-driven road grader.

ROUSTIN ABOUT with Ed Todd

Among Shelburne's many assets was Velma, his wife of 46 years. Nola Shelburne Bolch, now of O'Donnell and one of George and Velma Shelburne's four children, recalls her mother as "homemaker, good neighbor, comforter, benefactor, friend. She went about doing good to all men...."

"She was a master at binding up wounds, soothing ruffled tempers, kissing away tears."

AMONG George Shelburne's other laurels were his working in the Lions and Rotary clubs, serving on the school board and the Martin County Old Settlers' Reunion committee. For years, until his death at age 87 in 1975, Shelburne gave the necrology rites at the annual reunion. And he would wrap up the memorials with a quote from Lord Tennyson's "A Psalm of Life":

We can make our lives sublime, And, departing, leave behind us Footprints in the sands of time.

A month before his death, the Stanton Study Club nominated Shelburne for the "Outstanding Older Texan" award and characterized him as a gentleman who "with head held high and a twinkle in his eye still dedicating his life to love, hope, and faith in Stanton and Martin County."

"Sure, we were real proud of George," said Clara Hay. "George was quite a guy."

Winter continues its assault on Great Plains

By The Associated Press
A cold front blanketed the northern Great Plains today, producing light snow over the Montana foothills, while winds gusting up to 50 miles per hour battered western North Dakota.
In Williston and Dickinson, N.D., blowing snow lowered visibilities to near zero.
The Illinois River in central Illinois rose toward an expected crest today of 28 feet, 10 feet above flood stage, while two other rivers that ran out of their banks last week receded.

One Peoria business along the river's edge was closed Monday when the river reached a depth of 26.2 feet. Officials said a few other businesses and several parking lots near the river's edge also were threatened but still open.
In Rome, about 20 miles upstream from Peoria, several homes were evacuated. Some roads along the river between Rome and Peoria were closed because of flooding.
No injuries were reported.
Meanwhile, flood waters receded along the Kankakee and Iroquois rivers in northeastern Illinois. Both rivers were reported below flood levels Monday, and authorities said most of the 350 evacuated families had returned to their homes.
Temperatures well above freezing in Illinois today were expected to increase runoff from the melting remnants of record winter snows, but a return to below-freezing weather was forecast for tonight into Thursday.
Light rain showers stretched from eastern Kansas into western Missouri. Rain showers also scattered along the coast of California, while a thunderstorm pelted San Bernardino with small hail Monday night.

Snowsqualls swirled through western New York as strong winds and heavy snow moved into the area from the lower Great Lakes.
Temperatures were in the 40s and 50s in the Southwest deserts after peaking in the middle 80s Monday. A lack of cloud cover overnight caused the mercury to fall.

Three openers; wildcats reported

Three discoveries have been completed and wildcat projects have been announced in West Texas counties.

Flag-Redfern Oil Co. of Midland announced potential test on a new pay discovery in the Putnam multiphase field with completion of its No. 2 McDonald, eight miles south of Girvin in Pecos County. The well also was completed as a dual producer in the Wichita-Albany.

From the Ellenburger, the well finished as a discovery for a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 4,600,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 5,055 to 5,138 feet.

From the Wichita-Albany, it finished for a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 6,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 4,603 to 4,761 feet. It is the second well from that pay in the field and 3/4 mile southeast of the discovery.

Total depth is 5,320 feet and 4.5-inch casing is cemented on bottom.

The location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 6, block F, TCRR survey.

GLASSCOCK STRIKE
Belco Petroleum Corp. of Midland No. 3 Edwards has been completed as a Wolfcamp discovery in Glasscock County, nine miles north of Garden City and one location west of production in the Deadwood (Fusselman) field.

Operator reported a 24-hour flow potential of 30 barrels of 44-gravity oil and seven barrels of water, through a 1/4-inch choke and perforations from 8,425 to 8,472 feet. The zone was fractured with 200,000 gallons.

The gas-oil ratio is 380-1. Total depth is 10,158 feet and 5.5-inch casing is cemented on bottom. The plugged back depth is 9,997 feet.

The top of the Wolfcamp or other lower formations has not been reported, however, the Yates was topped at 1,722 feet, the Seven Rivers at 1,820 feet and the San Andres at 2,322 feet on ground elevation of 2,696 feet.

The location is 660 feet from south and 2,790 feet from east lines of section 46, block 33, T-2-S, T&P survey.

PECOS STRIKE
J. V. Atkinson of Midland reported a small pumping Yates discovery in Pecos County, seven miles southwest of Girvin.

The strike, No. 1 Annie Garner, finished for a daily potential of six barrels of 26.5-gravity oil and one barrel of water, through perforations from 953 to 1,253 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 100-1.

Operator drilled to 1,321 feet and set 4.5-inch casing on bottom. The plugged back depth is 1,277 feet.

The Yates was topped at 828 feet and the Queen was hit at 1,304 feet. Ground elevation is 2,410 feet.

The pay section was acidized with 6,500 gallons.

The location is 3/4 mile southeast of a 5,070-foot dry hole and 3/4 mile northwest of a well in the Wodlaw (Queen gas) field. It is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 122, block 11, H&G survey.

MONSANTO WILDCAT
Monsanto Co. of Midland No. 1 Simons has been staked as a 5,400-foot wildcat in Yoakum County, 5.5 miles northeast of Plains.

Deepwater port plans go to governor

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Plans to build a deepwater port for super oil tankers off the coast from Freeport have gone to Gov. Bill Clements for his approval, or veto.

The Senate approved 31-0 Monday the changes made by the House in the Senate-approved bill.

Clements said last week he would study the bill before deciding whether to sign it. He said he did not object to the state owning the port but thought it should be operated by private industry.

The $2.4 million appropriation would go to the Texas Deepwater Port Authority. The authority could spend the bulk of the money only after securing Clements approval and getting a federal license for the port.

The port would be built in the Gulf of Mexico 26 miles south of Freeport and would consist mainly of buoys attached to pipelines that would carry oil from ships to storage tanks on shore.

The $2.4 million would go to issue bonds to build the installation which would be paid off by would be paid off with revenue from oil companies that use the deepwater terminal.

The House reduced the appropriation, called for it to be used in three stages, and limited spending dependent on Clements approval and securing a federal license.

Approved 31-0 and sent to the House a bill that would allow cities to contract with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for beach cleanup without going through a county commissioners court.

Approved a bill giving the Board of Nurse Examiners injunctive power, passed to House 29-0.

Approved a bill allowing the Board for Lease of State Parks Land to enter oil and gas leases for any state park, passed to House 29-0.

Refused to debate 11-8 a bill requiring contract of sales to be recorded with the county clerk.

The House passed and sent to the Senate, 133-0, a bill providing criminal penalties for doctors who prescribe drugs on the "controlled substances" list without a medical reason.

ODESSA — Jon Newton, a new regent of the University of Texas System, Monday night went to bat for deeper oil and gas drilling.

He said the University of Texas "stands ready" to help develop the technology needed for deeper oil and gas drilling, especially in Texas.

"We can and will solve those new problems with new technologies so that the risks and costs involved in finishing deep wells and bringing them into production will be as low as feasible," Newton said at a banquet marking the first day of a deep drilling seminar at UTPB's Center for Advanced Petroleum Technology.

"The university stands ready to undertake this new research, and resources must be available for this purpose," he said.

Newton said the new sources of energy can add to the Permanent University Fund as well as help solve the energy crisis.

The fund is made up largely of royalties from oil and gas on the 2.1 million acres that belong to the university system.

"Call it greed if you like, but if there is deep gas and oil down there below UT lands, I want to get at it," Newton said.

Administration officials start price discussions

By TOM RAUM
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Americans ignoring pleas to hold down fuel consumption voluntarily, mandatory controls may be needed by this summer, says Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger.

The first step probably would be maximum and minimum thermostat settings in public buildings, he said.

Even with a resumption of oil imports from Iran, shortages of unleaded gasoline, jet fuel and home heating oil are likely, Schlesinger told a Senate committee Monday.

Administration officials were going before a House Commerce subcommittee today to discuss gasoline supplies and prices.

Another House panel was beginning hearings on auto fuel economy rules amid charges by consumer advocate Ralph Nader that the auto industry is gearing up for a major attack on those standards.

"In private meetings of attorneys and allied groups in Washington, the auto companies are preparing to launch one of their characteristic 'big lie' campaigns, replete with phony premises and contrived conclusions," Nader said Monday in a letter to Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich.

Nader said the auto makers plan to use as "one of their springboards" hearings opening today before a subcommittee headed by Dingell.

Under a 1975 law, automakers are required to make their cars average 27.5 miles per gallon by 1985 as an energy-saving measure.

Dingell, a major supporter of the 1975 law, was not available for comment on Nader's letter. A Dingell aide, who asked that his name not be used, said the auto industry has advocated lessening interim standards for the early 1980s, but, "We haven't heard anything about watering down the 27.5 mile-per-gallon standard."

Reacting to Senate critics who have called for his resignation on grounds the administration is not doing enough to drive home the seriousness of the energy crisis, Schlesinger told the Senate Energy Committee Monday he has already tried to quit — several times.

Sen. John Durkin, D-N.H., accused Schlesinger of "stumbling through" the current crisis and told him he should resign.

"This country faces a serious crisis ... the opportunities are splendid for demagoguery," Schlesinger responded. "As to my own resignation, I have offered it several times. This is not a responsibility that is entirely pleasurable on a day-to-day basis."

Talking to reporters later, Schlesinger declined to elaborate on his resignation offers beyond saying that he tried to quit several times and had his efforts rejected by President Carter.

In another development Monday, Barbara Blum, deputy administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, told the House Commerce committee that her agency and the Department of Energy have informally reached agreement on a rule to prohibit price differences between leaded and unleaded gasoline of more than 5 cents a gallon.

She said the rule, to be issued in June, would be aimed at preventing wholesale "fuel switching" by owners of autos that take unleaded gasoline.

The increasing price gap between regular leaded gasoline and unleaded fuel is drawing motorists into using leaded gas in vehicles requiring unleaded gasoline, she said. This runs emission-reducing catalytic converters, increasing air pollution, she testified.

The president's call for Americans to observe the 55 mph speed limit, eliminate discretionary driving, turn thermostats down to 65 degrees and turn off lights and appliances when not in use "is not working effectively," Schlesinger testified.

He said daily U.S. oil consumption has reached an all-time high of 21 million barrels a day.

The first step likely to be taken under a program of mandatory controls, perhaps by this summer, would be to order all public buildings heated to not higher than 65 degrees or cooled to not lower than 65 degrees, Schlesinger said.

Meanwhile, Texas, the only oil producer to report a significant strike in the Baltimore Canyon Trough, said Monday in Atlantic City, N.J., its second exploratory well had come up dry.

The second well was drilled to confirm a "significant" strike of natural gas made last August under the Atlantic Ocean about 106 miles east of Atlantic City, N.J. The second hole was drilled 1.5 miles west of the original find.

Texaco's unsuccessful effort — the tenth dry hole reported in the area so far — was seen as a significant blow to the oil industry's prospects in the once-promising area off New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

Morrison lifts Rebels over Pecos in 10th, 4-3

By BOB DILLON
Sports Writer

It wasn't nearly as easy the second time around.

After pounding Pecos, 21-5 in Pecos last week, Midland Lee's Rebels had to go 10 innings before downing the Eagles, 4-3 Monday at the Lee diamond.

Catcher Tom Morrison lined a single over short to score Tyler Alcorn with the winning run as Coach Ernie Johnson's injury-riddled team won its eighth game of the year in 11 outings.

The victory went to sophomore Alan Koonce who picked up the win in relief of starter Mark Denny had the game won in the seventh, but two Rebel errors enabled the Eagles to take a 3-2 lead.

Lee travels to Lubbock today to face the Monterey Plainsmen who won the Tournament of Champions crown at Cactus Stadium this past weekend. Lee lost to Monterey, 2-1 in the second round of the Tall City tournament and the Rebels will be facing Kent Potts who was the meet's Most Valuable Player over the week. Potts takes a 2-0 mound record against Lee today at Lowery Field.

Johnson was undecided on who to pitch today with hurlers Wade Cartwright and Lee Johnson still ailing. Speaking of injuries, Johnson decided to start several new players in a lineup shakeup which included regulars Clay Calhoun, John White, Terry Willis on the bench. Calhoun came in to pinch hit in the seventh inning and got a base hit, but also reinjured his shoulder while sliding into second.

Willis, who was struck on his left elbow in the tournament over the weekend, also pinch-hit in the fourth and then stayed in the game at third base.

Denny pitched well, especially in going seven full innings and had the game in his hip pocket with a 2-1 lead and two out in the top of the seventh inning, but rightfielder Lester Young dropped Ben Villalobos' fly ball on the play that would have ended the game and on the error, Larry Mosby scored to tie the game and Villalobos also came home on a miscue by Steve Pitts at shortstop to make it a 3-2 game.

Genarolo Rodriguez then slammed a double into deep center, but Denny got John Salcido to sky out to White in center to end the rally.

Lee tied the game in the bottom of the seventh inning on a single by Willis, sacrifice by White and single by Calhoun along with a Pecos error.

Mark Dinger moved Anchano to third on a sacrifice, but the Eagles were turned away when Koonce struck out Jamie Jacques and Larry Mosby to leave Anchano on third in the top of the eighth.

In the ninth, Pecos threatened again with Rene Molinas lining out to second. Villalobos legged out an infield hit on a bunt and Bobby Mosby singled, but Villalobos was thrown at at third on a great throw by White. Rodriguez also singled, but Salcido looked at a third strike to leave runners at first and third.

LEE HAD a chance to win it in the ninth when Dwayne Holmes singled and wound up at third with two out, but Koonce grounded to third to send the game into the 10th inning.

Pecos had a runner at second in the 10th on an error by Holmes at third, but Koonce got Larry Mosby out on a fly to center, setting up the winning rally by the Rebels in the bottom of the frame.

Alcorn, pinch-hitting for Young, lined a single into right to start off the Lee 10th and Perez walked. Gary Wood was walked intentionally and Johnson came up to line out to Dinger at short. Then came Morrison's game-winning blow and the Rebels had their eighth victory of the season.

Trailing 1-0 in the fourth inning, Denny lined a two-run single past second to give Lee the 2-1 lead.

After today's game with Monterey in Lubbock, Lee opens play in the Hobbs, N.M. Invitational at 1 p.m. CDT Thursday against Carlsbad, N.M. The tourney is a three-day affair.

Score by innings:
Pecos 100 000 200 0-3 7 3
Midland Lee 000 200 100 1-4 12 5
1. Martin Arroyo and John Salcido; Mark Denny, Alan Koonce (8); Tom Morrison; ZB Genarolo Rodriguez (Pecos); WF Koonce (2-1); LP Arroyo; Umpires: Dunn and Neace.

Metcalf says young team liking the pressure during NIT playoffs

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf says his team's youthfulness won't be a handicap as it advances in college basketball's National Invitational Tournament.

"If the pressure was going to get us, it probably would have by now," Metcalf said Monday after watching the Aggies take a physical 67-64 second-round victory over Nevada-Reno.

"We might get beat," said Metcalf, who starts two juniors, two sophomores and a freshman. "But it won't be because of the pressure. We've been there."

"We're going to be tough," agreed sophomore star Vernon Smith. "We feel that after the season we've had, we can play with anybody anywhere."

The Aggies, 21-8, have notched a pair of tough road wins in their first two games in the NIT, dropping New Mexico 79-68 in Albuquerque in the tournament opener.

The Southwest Conference team was to learn today whether it would be seeded into the NIT semifinals or would have to play a third game, this time at home in College Station.

Two sophomores from Dallas, Smith and Rynn Wright, spelled the difference Monday, combining for 20 second-half points to break open a close game. The contest was tied at 41 six minutes into the second half before six points by Wright and four by Smith paced the Aggies to a 55-48 lead with six minutes remaining.

The Wolf Pack from the West Coast Athletic Conference fell behind 67-57 with a minute left, then managed to cut the margin to three with 16 seconds left, but could not score again.

Reno Coach Jim Carey, although distraught over a controversial official's ruling in the final minute, refused to blame it for the defeat.

"We shouldn't have been in that situation," said Carey. "We missed an awful lot of free throws and had too darn many turnovers, plus Texas A&M is a good team."

The smaller Wolf Pack out rebounded the Aggies 36-41, largely due to Edgar Jones' 20 rebounds and Mike Stalling's 16.

"Rebounding is our strong suit," said Metcalf. "That's the first time this year we've managed to win when we've been outrebounded."

Smith led Texas A&M with 20 points, while Wright had 15. Nevada Reno, 21-7, got 18 points each from Mike Gray and Johnny High.

Indiana State for real

NEW YORK (AP) — It wasn't unanimous, but not everyone believes Indiana State is for real this year — except, of course, those teams who've had the misfortune to play against them.

The Sycamores, 30-0, retained the No. 1 position in the final Associated Press college basketball poll for the 1978-79 season Tuesday, collecting 50 of 54 first-place votes and 1,072 points in balloting by a nationwide committee of sport writers and broadcasters. UCLA was a distant second.

"They've won 30 in a row," Virginia Tech Coach Charles Mott said after watching his Gobblers lose to Indiana State 86-69 last Sunday in a second-round NCAA Midwest Regional game. "They're for real."

UCLA, which beat a stubborn Pepperdine 76-71 in a second-round NCAA West Regional game last Sunday, collected two first-place votes and 997 points — 23 more than Michigan State, No. 3 this week. The Spartans, who were ranked fourth last week when they clobbered Southland Conference champion Lamar 95-64 on Sunday in a Midwest Regional game, received the other two first-place votes.

The NCAA playoffs played havoc with the remainder of The AP Top Twenty, as five teams dropped out of the poll and the remainder played a wild game of musical chairs.

Notre Dame, which defeated Tennessee 73-67 in a second-round Midwest Regional game, moved up a notch to No. 4 with 917 points.

Arkansas and up-and-coming DePaul also moved up as North Carolina, No. 3 last week and Duke, No. 6 a week ago, were upset in the NCAA tournament play last week. The Razorbacks, No. 7 last week, jumped to fifth with 779 points, while the Blue Demons, unranked a month ago, climbed from No. 8 to sixth with 732 points.

Louisiana State, with 662 points, edged Syracuse for the No. 7 spot by a scant five points.

North Carolina, surprised by Pennsylvania 72-71 last weekend, fell to No. 9 with 594 points while Marquette rounded out the Top 10 with 573 points.

Injury-plagued Duke, the pre-season favorite, headed the Second 10 with 484 points. The Blue Devils, who finished second to Kentucky in the NCAA playoffs last year, dropped a 80-78 decision to St. John's but played without starters Kenny Dennard and Bob Bender, both out with injuries.

San Francisco, No. 19 last week, jumped to 12th followed by Louisville, Pennsylvania, Purdue, Oklahoma, St. John's, Rutgers, Toledo and Iowa. Penn., Oklahoma, St. John's, Rutgers and Toledo are all newcomers to the Top Twenty this week, replacing Georgetown, Temple, Texas, Detroit and Tennessee — all of whom lost in the NCAA playoffs last week.

Aggies down Reno during NIT action

By The Associated Press

While six teams waited to see which clubs would draw bytes into the National Invitation Tournament semifinals, six other clubs said their good-byes to college basketball for the season.

Tournament officials were to gather in New York this morning to decide the dates, locations and matchups of the four teams which will play quarter-final contests later this week.

Two squads from among Old Dominion, Alabama, Indiana, Ohio State, Purdue and Texas A&M, were to obtain bytes into the semifinals.

One thing was certain after Monday night's action: the Atlantic Coast Conference is through for the year. A day after highly ranked North Carolina and Duke were upended in the NCAA tournament, Clemson, Maryland and Virginia were ousted from the NIT.

offered Ohio State Coach Eldon Miller.

Ransey, who scored in double figures for the 61st consecutive game, ignored the mild controversy.

Speaking for the players, Ransey said: "We just think mostly that any team in Division I can beat any other team on a given night."

That's the way it turned out Monday.

ALCORN STATE, which had won 28 straight, fell to Indiana after a stinging late rally. The Hoosiers got 19 points from forward Mike Woodson, but the Braves battled within two

SPORTS

THUS FIVE of the seven ACC teams entered postseason play, and by midnight Monday, all had been eliminated.

Old Dominion dropped Clemson 61-59 in double overtime, Ohio State topped Maryland 79-72 and Alabama trimmed Virginia 90-88 in NIT action Monday. Meanwhile, Indiana beat Alcorn State 73-69 to hand the mini-power its first loss of the year, Purdue beat Dayton 84-70, and Texas A&M trimmed Nevada-Reno 67-64.

"I'm not going to say the ACC is better or that the Big Ten is better than us," said Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell after the Buckeyes got 23 points from Kelvin Ransey to finish the Terrapins.

"No matter what I say, they're going to continue to say they have the best league in the country and we in the Big Ten will say we're the best," points with 20 seconds remaining before two free throws by Indiana's Randy Wittman insured the outcome.

"Despite the loss, we proved our point that we are a good basketball team," said Alcorn Coach Dave Whitney. "We paid our dues this year to receive respect and recognition. We'll be better prepared to come back next year."

They don't have far to go, according to Hoosiers Coach Bobby Knight.

"We had a couple of chances to break it open and they wouldn't let us," said Knight. "You just don't beat a team like that very easily."

Larry Smith scored 18 points for Alcorn's Braves.

Clemson went scoreless for nearly the last 14 minutes of its double overtime loss to Old Dominion. The Tigers took the lead 59-53 with 3:49 left in regulation and controlled the ball for all but two seconds of overtime.

Then Clemson's Larry Nance fouled Bobby Halthcock, the reserve forward made both his shots, and the Monarchs had their victory.

Tigers Coach Bill Foster, who ordered the slowdown offense which took just one shot in each overtime, was unavailable after the game.

Alabama's Reginald King ignored a stomach virus to score 43 points and grab 12 rebounds, powering the Crimson Tide past the Cavaliers.

"My head was spinning and hurting and I was having dizzy spells," said the 6-foot-6, 225-pound junior. "But when the first two shots fell, I forgot all about feeling bad."

"I'm going to find out what it was that was bothering him and get him to keep it," said Alabama Coach C.M. Newton.

PURDUE'S BOLIERMAKERS, with five players scoring in double figures, pulled in front of Dayton for good just 5:46 into the contest. Junior center Joe Barry Carroll scored 25 points for Purdue while Jim Paxson had 18 for the Flyers.

Texas A&M sophomores Vernon Smith and Rynn Wright combined for 20 second-half points to break open a close game for the Aggies. The Wolf Pack trailed 67-57 with a minute left, cut the margin to three with 16 seconds left, but could not score again.

MC netters fare well on road

Midland College completed a very successful trip into the Metroplex area last weekend, as the men's team swept five dual matches in five attempts and the women's team won four of five dual meets.

The Chaps now face Odessa College Wednesday in their second conference test. The meet between the two top powers in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference is set for 1 p.m. on the Midland College courts.

"Our men really had a great trip, knocking off some of the top players in collegiate circles," noted Midland College tennis coach Brian Gilley.

The men's squad defeated North Texas State University, 9-1, downed Texas Christian, 5-4, beat Weatherford Junior College, 5-1, knocked off Texas Wesleyan College, 5-4, and concluded with an 8-2 win over the University of Dallas.

Texas Wesleyan's men's team was previously undefeated for the season and was the runnerup team in the 1978 NAAIA tournament. The University of Dallas also was previously undefeated and currently is ranked first in the NAAIA.

The women's squad defeated North Texas State University, 7-0, lost to powerful Texas Christian University, 0-7, downed Weatherford, 7-0, and beat Texas Wesleyan, 5-2. The Texas Wesleyan women's team also was the 1978 NAAIA runnerup.

Lee, Midland girls dominate cage squad

Midland Lee and Midland's girls dominate this year's District basketball 5-A team with the Rebels and Bulldogs both placing two each with five more from the two Tall City schools on honorable mention.

Midland High's Jane Young was named Coach of the Year in the balloting by the league's coaches in Midland prior to the Region I Tournament in Abilene two weeks ago.

Lee's Dee Dee Pool was named Most Valuable Player while Gale Wilson of the Rebels was named Sophomore of the Year.

First team picks included Leisha Watkins and Deborah Ledbetter of Lee; Midland's Margaret Christian and Karen Cook; Julie Gibbs of Abilene Cooper; Rose Mary Baldwin of Abilene; Lanette Johnson of Odessa High; San Angelo Central's Phyllis Scott; Myrna Smith of Odessa Permian and Big Spring's Peggy Calhoun.

Honor mention honors went to Sandra Rock, Nan White and LaShell Schrock of Midland High; Patty Adams and Deborah Kittle of Lee; Jody Weatherwax and Paula Pepper of OHS; Ruthie McDevitt of San Angelo Central; Karen Washington and Deborah Grant of Abilene and Abilene Cooper's Brenda Walker.

Gibbs, Ledbetter, Baldwin, Cook and Calhoun are the only seniors in the first team while Permian's Smith is only a sophomore and the rest juniors.

Bulldogs drop 6-4 decision to Snyder

SNYDER — The Snyder Tigers, behind the three-hit pitching of Sid Everton, defeated the Midland Bulldogs, 6-4 here Monday afternoon in a non-district baseball game.

Everton was tough when he had to be and struck out 12 Bulldogs as Midland was dropping to a 4-3 record going into today's game with the Lubbock Coronado Mustangs at the Memorial Stadium diamond at 4 p.m. Coronado dropped a 12-10 decision to Big Spring Monday and brings a 5-3 record into today's game.

Chaps capture 3rd in nationals

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — The Midland College men's team took third place and the Chaparral women's team captured fourth place over the weekend at the National Junior College Athletic Association swimming meet at Grand Rapids Community College.

Leading the MC men during the final day of competition was Monte Allwein, fourth in the 100-yard freestyle with an honorable mention All American time of 48.08 seconds.

Snyder scored five runs off loser Kelly Lilly, who went all the way on the mound in the first inning in giving-up seven hits to the Tigers.

Midland had taken a 1-0 lead off Everton in the first inning when Tracy Gann reached first on a strike-out when catcher Tommy New dropped the ball. Gann then went to second on a wild pitch and scored on a passed ball.

The Bulldogs cut the lead to 5-2 in the second inning. David Brigham was safe on an error by the Tiger shortstop, stole second and stole home on a double steal.

In the sixth inning, Midland scored two runs. Brigham walked and Gann walked and Tommy Munoz singled in Brigham. The other run came in on a wild pitch by Everton.

Score by innings:
Midland 110 002 0-4 3 1
Snyder 200 100 4-7 4
Kelly Lilly and Tommy Munoz; Sid Everton and Tommy New. WP-Everton. LP-Lilly.

Floor fight due on amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A floor fight is shaping up in the Senate over a proposed constitutional amendment to have the president and vice president elected directly by the people instead of by the electoral college.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., principal sponsor of the measure, said backers will attempt to bring it to a floor vote this week, bypassing the normal routing through the Judiciary Committee.

They argue that committee action isn't necessary, since the Judiciary Committee approved the measure last year and the only reason it didn't reach a floor vote was that the Senate was tied up with other matters.

Opponents, on the other hand, say the Judiciary Committee's membership has changed since last year and the new members should have a chance to consider the proposal.

Should an attempt to send the measure to the Judiciary panel fail, both sponsors and opponents indicate the amendment is likely to be filibustered.

An aide to Bayh said supporters are confident of the necessary 60 votes to cut off a filibuster and believe they are at least close to the two-thirds needed for approval of a constitutional change.

Bayh said in introducing the measure in January that he expected it to pass the Senate and House. The last time it came up in the House, in 1970, it was approved by a margin of more than 4-1, but was filibustered to death in the Senate.

If the proposed amendment does eventually win approval by two-thirds of both the Senate and the House, it would still require ratification by three quarters of the 50 states.

President Carter has endorsed the constitutional amendment, saying it would ensure that "the candidate chosen by the voters actually becomes president."

Opponents of the change say it would give too much power to big states.

Under the Constitution, the president and vice president are chosen by electors. Each state gets the same number of electors as it has members of Congress.

If no candidate gets a majority of the electors, the House elects the president.

Under this system, three men have been elected president although they were out-pollled in the popular voting.

John Quincy Adams was elected president by the House in 1824 after getting 38 percent of the vote to 43 percent for Andrew Jackson.

Rutherford B. Hayes defeated Samuel J. Tilden by one electoral vote in 1876.
