

Trade Accords May Deregulate World Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is about multilateral trade negotiations — but don't go away, there's a trillion dollars involved.

Many people find agreements on international business hard to understand. One who does not is Ambassador Alan Wolff, who did a lot of the talking for the United States on the accords just initiated by 41 governments in Geneva. He tried this explanation on a group of reporters:

If you took the city of Peoria, Illinois, and put a 60 percent tax on everything that went in and out — and innumerable restrictions on everything bought and sold — the result would be a depression in the area and everyone would earn very little.

That's what happened on a global scale in the 1930s, and it had a lot to do with complicating the Great Depression and leading to World War II. Today, said Wolff, it's the reverse that's happening. World trade is being deregulated.

In a world that after the oil embargo and the recession has suffered a good deal of anxiety and loss of business confidence," Wolff said, "to have people lowering government interference and restrictions is an enormous achievement."

The decontrol of international business has been approached by drafting a series of "codes" — agreements among governments designed to break down barriers to trade. There's a code on how a customs agent appraises the value of a shipment — this makes a difference to a businessman who finds what he thinks are $500 worth of goods being valued at $1,000, at 10 percent duty — as well as codes on government subsidies and purchasing, and on how governments deal with the aircraft industry.

The codes also include tariff reductions. Wolff said the codes are intended to end restrictions that destroy trade. For instance:

There is a great demand all over the world for foreign medicines. But France has a regulation that no pharmaceutical may be sold unless a French inspector is at the plant where it is produced. Many firms would be happy to pay the expense of a French inspector. But France has another rule: inspectors do not travel outside the country.

One of the codes sets out how to set national standards for products and is designed to put an end to that kind of thing.

Another code will try to end the counterfeiting of goods, requiring that such goods be destroyed. Wolff explained how counterfeiting interferes with trade, saying simply:

"When Levi Strauss finds its products selling all over the world, some of which it didn't manufacture, they wonder about that."

Still another code among the Geneva agreements will open up government contracts in many countries to international bidding. The U.S. authorities hope at least $20 billion worth of new business a year will become accessible to Americans.

One important part of that is still not settled. President Carter's top trade negotiator, Robert Strauss, suspended talks with Japan on international bidding on $2 billion in equipment the Japanese telecommunications system buys each year.

The Japanese were unwilling to go as far as Strauss wanted, but the issue will come up again when Japanese Premier Masayoshi Ohira visits Washington next month.

Another thing that didn't get done: France bans advertising of hard liquor made from grain but not that made from grapes. That gives cognac an advantage in France over whiskey.

Harry Kopp of the State Department's office of international trade said the European Common Market has promised to do its best to get France to change that. France belongs to the Common Market, but it's so influential a member that few decisions are made against its will.

Though the experts say that cuts in tariffs are less important than the dismantling of other barriers to trade, some of the tariff reductions are also significant.

Wolff cited the Japanese import duty on photographic film, which under Japanese law could have been a prohibitive 60 percent. The Japanese have actually been charging 11 percent, and at that rate Wolff said Kodak film was able to compete on the Japanese market.

Under the new codes, he said, the tariff will be cut to 4 percent.

The agreements still have a long path to travel before they go into effect. They must be ratified in each of the countries — which is complicated in some cases and simple in others.

In the United States, the necessary bills are to be put to Congress next month in the hope that they can be passed before August. But Kopp said the debate could last until October or November. Congress cannot amend the bills — they must simply vote for or against.

Hormones Investigated As High Cancer Risk

SAN ANTONIO (Special) — Estrogens, the female sex hormones, are being investigated at the Southwest Foundation for Research and Medicine here to confirm suspected cancer risks and seek safer substitutes.

Among the hormones under study is DES (diethylstilbestrol) which the U.S. FDA is considering banning because of its confirmed risk of vaginal cancer in daughters of women who took the drug during pregnancy.

The potential of estrogens for causing cancer (carcinogenicity) or for permanently transforming a cell line (mutagenicity) is being probed by Dr. Robert H. Purdy, a foundation scientist. His research is supported by an American Cancer Society grant.

Scientists have found that mutagens, such as certain chemicals or some forms of radiation, in addition to causing mutations can also usually cause cancer. DES is a confirmed mutagen but its potential as an actual carcinogen has not yet been confirmed. The foundation scientists will use some of the established criteria for detecting mutagens in probing the ability of estrogens to cause cancer.

Sale Of Historic House Criticized

FLEMINGTON, N.J. (AP) — The Jewish Community Center is giving away a small stone and stucco house dating back to the Colonial era, but not without strings.

The new owner must move the structure — over the strong objections of the Flemington Historical Society which says it should be preserved on its original site.

The center needs the land for a nursery school playground, so it placed a notice in a local newspaper offering to give the house away.

"We recognize its historic significance and we don't think it should just be demolished," said Harry Kazman, center president. But the center "can't afford to fix it, maintain it or preserve it."

He said the best approach was to find someone willing to move it. Estimates on relocation costs range from $5,000 to $15,000, he said.

But the historical society says the house probably would fall apart if it is moved.

The research at the foundation includes other estrogens, natural and synthetic, which are now being given for treatment, particularly to women who have problems brought on by endocrine changes following menopause.

Dr. Purdy and his colleagues are examining cell chemical "intermediates". These substances, produced by the hormone during metabolism before end-products appear, can disclose two possibilities. One will provide clues to the mechanism that makes hormones effective, which is still unknown. The second could yield designs for substitute hormones with harmless side effects. Some of the chemical questions can be answered by using constituents of liver cells from baboons raised at the foundation.

The estrogen investigation was deemed especially important by Dr. Purdy in light of recent statistical studies. These show a much increased risk of uterine (endometrial) cancer among women having had estrogen treatment, usually for menopausal difficulties.

One such study by Dr. Carlos F. Antunes and others at Johns Hopkins University School of Hygiene and Public Health, published in the New England Journal of Medicine last month, included 451 cases of cancer of the body of the uterus along with 888 other women without cancer used for statistical controls. Results showed that the overall risk of uterine cancer for estrogen users was six times greater than normal. The risk to long-time users was 15 times as great.

Turtle Slows Project

WHITEHOUSE, N.J. (AP) — A rare four-inch turtle who likes his privacy may be jeopardizing a $5 million pipeline project, New Jersey officials say. Like saving the snail darter in Tennessee, guaranteeing safety for the bog turtle could force a change in plans for the pipeline project, which will provide first-time sewer service to 160 households in Hunterdon County.

The snail darter, a fish barely two inches long, has forced a halt in construction of the multi-million Telford Dam project near Knoxville, Tenn.

The turtle — unique to New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania — was put on the state list of endangered species in 1975, a year after the Readington-Lebanon Borough Sewerage Authority submitted its environmental impact statement.

Work on the sewer project has been suspended because of several sightings of the tiny reptile. The presence of the turtle isn't thought likely to cancel the project, but it could force the pipes to be rerouted, officials said.

Sewerage officials are expected to hire a herpetologist to take a two-day survey of homes in Whitehouse and Lebanon Borough to determine how many bog turtles live there, officials said.

If no more turtles are spotted in the boggy areas they like, "We'll probably pick them up and move them outside the machinery so they don't get killed. Then we'll let them walk back," said Russell Nerlick, basin manager for the state Department of Environmental Protection.

The same reptile, also known as the Muhlberg turtle, caused the state to revise plans for Route 78 through the Watchung Reservation a few years ago. The turtle also figures in plans for a dam in the Green Brook at the reservation.

The bog turtle is a small, slow-moving, round-shelled reptile which differs from other turtles because it has no ridges or rough plates. The adult is only three or four inches long and has two triangular spots on each side of its head behind the eyes.

The turtles not only are rare, but also are hard to spot. "These turtles are very secretive," said Robert Zappalorti, a reptile expert who has studied the turtle for the state. "They spend a lot of time in tunnels and grassy areas near brooks."

"Some people think it's no great loss" to wipe out the turtles through construction, Zappalorti said. "But once they're gone you can't get them back."

Gas Price Hike Matches Increase During '74 Arab Embargo

NEW YORK (AP) — Gasoline prices in the first three months of this year have risen by about as much as they did during the Arab oil embargo in the first quarter of 1974, according to an authoritative newsletter that follows the gasoline industry.

The rise in crude oil prices this year is not as large as it was five years ago, but other factors now are contributing to increasing gasoline prices, analysts say. The latest edition of the Lundberg Letter says the average price of a gallon of gasoline has jumped about 12 percent, from 67.99 cents to 76.22 cents, since Jan. 1. That increase is not quite as large as the 18 percent rise in the first three months of 1974, when prices rose from about 38 cents a gallon to about 45 cents a gallon. But the 8.23-cent price boost so far this year is greater than the 6.88-cent increase in the first three months of 1974.

"Remember back in 1974 during the Arab oil embargo, when gasoline rose almost 7 cents a gallon in the first quarter?" asked Mark Emond, editor of the Los Angeles-based newsletter. "Those were the good old days."

The Lundberg Letter does frequent surveys of prices at 16,700 gas stations. The latest survey, taken earlier this month, found this year's increase is most pronounced in the West.

The price of a gallon of regular-grade gasoline at full-service stations on the West Coast has risen 8.22 cents, from 70.46 cents to 78.67 cents. In the Rocky Mountain states, the increase so far is 8.41 cents a gallon, from 69.41 cents to 77.82 cents.

Analysts attribute the increase to several factors. With the Iranian crisis crimping crude oil supplies, the basic price of crude rose 5 percent in the first quarter of 1979, and many oil-producing nations tacked on surcharges that made the effective increase several percentage points larger.

On Sunday Iran added a $1.90 surcharge to the price of its crude, bringing the price to $16.97 per barrel.

A further oil-price rise approved by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries in March is expected to add at least 3 cents to retail gasoline prices over the next couple of months.

A change in government regulations, known as the "tilt," allowed refiners to pass on to gasoline customers more of the costs of making other products. Government official have estimated that the new regulation — approved earlier this year — will increase gas prices several cents this year.

Because gasoline supplies are tight, most oil companies have limited the amount of fuel they will sell dealers to about 90 percent of last year's levels, although gasoline demand is rising at a 4 percent annual clip.

Faced with smaller supplies, most of the nation's gasoline dealers have increased their mark-up to try to keep profits up.

"Gasoline shortages permit most retailers to get top dollar," said Dan Lundberg, publisher of the Lundberg Letter.

Lundberg said the U.S. petroleum market has become "supercharged" and predicted that "retail prices are capable of rising considerably more."

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

Q. I am disgusted that the federal government will stop paying interest on older Series E, U.S. Savings Bonds after 40 years from their issue dates. I am worried, working and had planned to keep my E bonds for 10 to 12 more years, when I will retire and be in a lower tax bracket. Paying federal income tax on the accrued E bond interest would really hurt me now.

You have written that that tax can be postponed, by exchanging E bonds for H bonds or the new HH bonds. Are Hs and HHs good investments? How do they work?

A. For you and for other loyal E bond owners, either Hs or HHs will be better deals than simply hanging on to your E bonds — once your E bonds reach their final maturity and stop accruing interest.

My advice is to wait until 1980, when the Hs come out — for two reasons. While the Hs pay interest by check at 5 percent the first year, 5.8 percent the next four years and 6.5 percent the next five years, for an average annual yield of 5 percent, the HHs are scheduled to pay 6 percent a year right from the beginning.

The second reason — "hope" might be a better word — is that, by 1980, some sense might prevail in Washington and reverse the recent dumb decisions that could very well wreck the U.S. Savings Bond program.

Meanwhile, you and millions of other Americans in your situation have to prepare to salvage what you can. If you hold your E bonds past their final maturity dates, your bonds will stop accruing interest and you'll be stuck with a fat federal income tax on that interest.

You can postpone that tax bite, by exchanging your Es for Hs or HHs, in minimum amounts of $500. You will have to pay income tax on the accrued E bond interest, when you redeem the Hs or HHs you receive in the exchange. But you can do that after you retire and are in a lower tax bracket.

For complete — although complicated — details on how to make that exchange, you should study Treasury Circular No. 1036. If you can't get a copy from your local bank, write to Department of the Treasury, Washington, D.C. 20220. Address your letter to W. Michael Blumenthal, Secretary of the Treasury. You might want to enclose a little note, letting him know how you feel about the situation.

Q. Now that E bonds will no longer draw interest after a certain number of years, I will stop buying those bonds for my grandchildren. I don't want them to pay taxes during their earnings years on the presents I have given them.

I also think their bonds should be cashed in now, while their income is low and they don't have to pay taxes. Each child has his or her bonds, in his or her name, with his or her Social Security number. How can they be cashed?

A. Literature from the Treasury Department's Savings Bond Division on this subject says, "...payment will be made directly to the minor — provided he or she is sufficiently competent to understand the nature of the redemption transaction and to write his or her name and address on the back of the bond."

This boils down to the child having reached "the age of reason." And, in the case of a very young child, the literature says, "...payment will be made to either parent with whom he or she resides... (or)... to the person who furnishes his or her chief support."

So, the redemption of your grandchildren's bonds can be arranged through

Hindus, Moslems Fighting In India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Army troops opened fire to quell rioting between Hindus and Moslems in Jamshedpur, eastern India, Sunday and the death toll in the five-day disturbance rose to 104, the United News of India reported.

Another 375 persons have been wounded and 600 are under arrest at the steel manufacturing city 150 miles west of Calcutta, the news agency said.

Troops fired on a car when occupants hurled bombs at the soldiers, UNI reported. Two passengers were killed and 12 persons were arrested. Two other deaths were reported in knife fights, UNI said.

The violence came during daytime relaxation of the curfew in force at Jamshedpur since last Wednesday when rioting was triggered by a Moslem attack on a Hindu religious procession.

In New Delhi, nearly 300 persons demonstrated and burned a straw effigy in front of the American Embassy to protest reports that former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's political party had received American payoffs. The demonstrators were Gandhi supporters.

There was confusion whether the effigy represented President Carter or Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y. Moynihan was ambassador to India during the Nixon-Ford years.

An organizer said the effigy represented Moynihan, but it had "Carter the dog" written on it.

His statements about the alleged payoffs in a book, "A Dangerous Place," have set off a continuing furor in this capital.

Chanting, "Long live Indira Gandhi," "Death to Jimmy Carter," and "CIA, shame, shame," the demonstrators dispersed after they were confronted by police.

Police said they arrested 39 persons but later released them.

More fireworks over Moynihan's book are expected this week during a planned parliamentary debate about the senator's claims.

your local bank or other qualified paying agent.

Q. I own a 9 percent utility company bond which will mature next month. How do I cash it at maturity?

A. By turning it in to the trustee for that bond issue. The name of the trustee — usually a big bank — is printed on the bond certificate.

DOYLE welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

Famed Isabel Peron Entertaining Hopes Of Political Comeback

(EDITOR'S NOTE — She was a little-known cabaret dancer when she met Juan D. Peron of Argentina in a Panama nightclub in 1946. She became his wife, his vice president, his widow and Argentina's president since then. Now she lives in obscurity, under house arrest and accused of corruption. But Isabel Peron hasn't been forgotten. Here is the report.)

By RICHARD BOUDREAU
Associated Press Writer

Buenos Aires, Argentina (AP) — On those afternoons when the weather is fair, Isabel Peron takes a solitary stroll inside the walled family estate where she is under house arrest.

The 48-year-old widow of Gen. Juan D. Peron is said to be convinced that her image, severely damaged when the military overthrew her as president three years ago, is mending with time and isolation and that a political comeback might be possible one day.

But just what political hopes Mrs. Peron entertains as private as her daily strolls at the "17th of October" retreat and a mystery to even her most loyal supporters in the vast labor movement first mobilized by Juan Peron on that date in 1945.

"There are a million or more Peronists who, because of her name, still consider Isabel the leader of the movement," said Paulino Niembro, a former Peronist legislator and metalworkers' leader. "But we have no idea what she wants to do with that power."

The question is moot so long as the military stays in power, continues Mrs. Peron's trials on charges of corruption while in office and keeps her hidden. Her military custodians have not allowed her to be photographed or seen in public, and permit only her defense attorney, two cousins of her late husband and a priest to visit.

But to partisans, Mrs. Peron seems an accomplice to her obscurity, refusing to pass political messages through her visitors or answer mail. She did not acknowledge the 60 get-well telegrams sent by admirers after an appendectomy April 5.

"She believes her political stock is rising and will continue rising so long as she keeps quiet," said one visitor, who contends Mrs. Peron's long detention without legal judgment is winning her public sympathy.

The former cabaret dancer, elected as Peron's vice president when he returned to Argentina in 1973 after an 18-year exile, was overwhelmed by a virtual civil war in her party and the country after taking office upon his death in July 1974.

As terrorism, corruption and inflation undermined her regime, Mrs. Peron secluded herself, took frequent health leaves and made speeches that bordered on hysteria. The armed forces seized power in March 1976 and placed her under arrest.

Because of a ban on political activity, it is difficult for independent observers to judge Peronists claims that the military itself has been discredited by failure to beat inflation and that any Peronist-backed candidate would easily win an election held today.

The military junta seeks to justify its reticence to restore democracy by claiming the Peronists and other traditional parties lost public confidence because of the chaos they permitted during Mrs. Peron's regime. But there are no opinion polls to support it.

The political ban also makes Mrs. Peron's strength within her party hard to gauge. One faction, referring to itself as the Peronist "movement," reveres the name of Peron as magic to workers and believes Isabel can best carry it on.

Another faction calls itself the Justicialist Party, aspires to become a Western European-style labor party and has no use for Mrs. Peron. "The Peronist movement ended with Peron's death," Justicialist leader Jorge D. Paladino said last week.

Some Peronists believe Isabel's silence has neutralized the issue. Her leadership was not discussed in recent talks between two rival labor confederations on a possible merger, even though each confederation is dominated by one of the party factions.

Nor are the criminal charges against the former president much of a public issue anymore. First announced three years ago, they are still being detailed by prosecutors before five judges in a bureaucratic procedure she does not attend.

Her 32-year-old lawyer, Julio I. Arriola, has asked the Supreme Court to order the charges dismissed on grounds that the junta has already summarily punished her with imprisonment and seizure of property for the same alleged offenses.

Mrs. Peron is accused of diverting into her private bank account the peso equivalent of a million dollars intended for flood victims and $700,000 intended for charity, permitting irregularities in the construction of a mausoleum for her husband's remains, transferring a state building to the Peronist Party and accepting $14,000 worth of jewelry as a birthday gift from a government bank.

"There can be little doubt that there is a strong case against Mrs. Peron for abuse of office," the English-language Buenos Aires Herald said in a recent editorial. "But her prolonged imprisonment could come to seem far more abhorrent than her alleged crimes."

Most other press attention highlights the routine of Mrs. Peron's life at the 60-acre retreat near San Vicente, 37 miles from here. Sixty-two military policemen live in tents on the grounds, leaving Mrs. Peron and her longtime maid, Rosario Espinoza, to the privacy of the main house.

According to press accounts confirmed by her lawyer, Mrs. Peron rises and retires early, eats sparingly, pedals a stationary exercise bicycle, reads, watches television, works eight hours a week on her legal defense, hears Sunday Mass and plays canasta with the maid.

And there are those afternoon walks.

HEARTLINE: This spring I was planning to have an addition put on my house. I have heard that there are a few "bad apples" in this business. Can you give me any advice on locating a reputable person to do the work? — K.W.

The home-repair business is like any other — a few "bad apples" slip in and sometimes give the industry a bad name. For the most part, contractors are craftsmen who take pride in their work. However, due to the bad apples, we must be cautious when having work done on our homes. Before contracting for home improvements, do the following:

* Call your Better Business Bureau to check out your prospective contractor's reputation.

* Check with the home-improvement loan manager of your bank on the contractor's financial stability.

* If it is a major job, get at least three bids.

* Look for a contractor who is a member of a professional trade organization such as the National Home Improvement Council or the National Remodeler's Association.

* Be leery of companies that insist you pay 40 percent or more in advance. Ten or 15 percent should be plenty.

* Put a hold-back clause in the contract. A hold-back clause stipulates that you don't have to pay the last 10 or 20 percent until 30 days after completion of the job. It gives you some leverage if something is done improperly.

* Make sure your contractor has property damage liability insurance and workmen's compensation.

* If you are contracting for a major job (over $1,000), have a lawyer check the contract.

Here are some ways that the bad apples give themselves away:

1. The Left-over Material Pitch: A man in work clothing approaches you and says that he just finished a job down the street and has just enough material left over to do the same job for you. No reputable contractor will over-order so much on a job that there is enough left over for a whole second job.

2. The Out-of-State License Plate: Many disreputable contractors stay one step ahead of the law by moving from state to state. Make sure that any contractor who wants to work for you has a permanent residence in your area.

3. The Quick Estimate: Legitimate contractors will give you a detailed, written estimate of the cost of labor and material. The contractor who gives you a quick estimate after a few moments of thought is usually out to make a fast buck.

4. The High Pressure Tactic: The contractor will tell you that he has to know immediately whether you want him to do the job or not. A good contractor will give you all the time you want to make a decision.

5. Lack of References: If the contractor cannot give you the names of at least two satisfied customers, be very leery.

HEARTLINE: I have tried to get a clear understanding of why I was flatly refused railroad retirement benefits when my husband was involved with the railroad for over 25 years. My husband received his retirement from 1970 until his death in 1975. I am disabled and I finally got my Social Security, but all my friends whose husbands worked shorter years get their railroad retirement. I would like to know how they ruled me out even after I became age 65. — D.B.

We contacted the Railroad Board on your behalf and received this information: Upon the death of a person who worked in both the railroad industry and in Social Security-covered employment, his earnings credits under both systems are, by law, combined, and survivor benefits are paid by only one agency, either the Railroad Retirement Board or the Social Security Administration. This is true even though he may have received retirement checks from both agencies during his lifetime.

In your husband's case, the Social Security Administration, by law, has jurisdiction over all survivor benefits payable because your husband worked under Social Security for several years after leaving the railroad industry, and before his retirement. Therefore, his railroad retirement credits were transferred to the SSA upon his death. Any Social Security benefits payable on your husband's account are based on his total earnings under both the railroad, retirement and Social Security systems.

New Afghan Regime Faces Uncertain Future

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Afghanistan's leftist government is preparing for April 27 celebrations marking the first anniversary of its bloody takeover. But Moslem exile groups want a "holy war" to topple the regime, and Moslem guerrillas are taking their toll of Afghan troops.

Reports from Kabul say President Nur Mohammed Taraki's regime is painting the Afghan capital red — literally — daubing crimson on some state buildings to match its new flag.

Diplomatic and Afghan sources here and in Pakistan say his government faces growing pressure from guerrilla attacks which have spread from eastern provinces bordering Pakistan to Herat, on the landlocked nation's western border with Iran.

Rebel claims, which include thousands of Afghan army casualties and prisoners, are hard to assess and a clear picture of the insurgency is even more difficult to piece together.

But stepped-up criticism over Kabul and Moscow radio broadcasts of alleged Pakistan, Iranian, U.S. and Chinese aid to Afghan guerrillas indicates Taraki's government and its Soviet backers are taking the threat seriously.

U.S. intelligence sources in Washington say they have reason to believe some of the estimated 3,000 Soviet advisers attached to the Afghan armed forces have been slain or wounded by the insurgents.

Refugee groups in neighboring Pakistan have called for a "jihad" or Moslem "holy war" against the new regime, which they accuse of imposing godless communism. This is their main quarrel with the new Kabul leadership.

Little is known about the insurgency and the relationship between the exile parties and guerrillas in the field.

A number of exile leaders have emerged, but observers have not been able to identify a single dissident leader within Afghanistan.

This leads some to conclude that no unified Afghan organization exists to oversee the insurgency.

The biggest challenge to the regime so far came four weeks ago in the ancient city of Herat.

At one point, rebels reportedly controlled parts of the city, about 60 miles east of the Iranian border, until routed by heavy air strikes and armored assaults, diplomatic sources said.

Radio Afghanistan charged that 4,000 Iranian troops, dressed in provincial costumes, infiltrated Herat with the help of Iran's consul general to "create unrest."

A Kabul broadcast this month made a similar accusation about Pakistan soldiers. It claimed that the Pakistanis, wearing Afghan uniforms, raided four police posts in the eastern Afghan province of Paktia. Islamabad called the charge "preposterous."

Pakistan is known to worry about the continued insurgency along its ill-defined border with Afghanistan and about possible counter-measures by Taraki.

At least 35,000 Afghans have been permitted to enter Pakistan on humanitarian grounds in the past year. Although they have been warned against "abusing Pakistan hospitality," exile leaders say they smuggle ammunition across the border and dispatch armed forays into Afghanistan.

Taraki's regime has weathered two major purges since it overthrew President Mohammed Daoud, and Taraki apparently has slipped in terms of real power.

Hafizullah Amin, 51, deputy prime minister and foreign minister, took over the premiership last month from Taraki, who is reportedly ill. Amin handles the day-to-day running of government, according to diplomatic sources.

Taraki, 61, a poet and former journalist, is seen by some as a figurehead in his capacity as president of the revolutionary council and newly-formed Homeland Defense Council.

Damage To Nuclear Plant Studied

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — As a stream of sightseers in Easter finery gawked at the Three Mile Island Power plant, federal officials announced Sunday that new tests show that the reactor's core suffered grave damage in the early stages of a nuclear crisis.

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission said that in the first 15 hours of a March 28 reactor accident, referred to as a "transient" period, large portions of the core were exposed when coolant water boiled into steam.

Apparently, none of the 100 tons of uranium fuel melted, but the zirconium alloy cladding that surrounds the uranium rods was heavily damaged, the NRC said in its daily status report.

"It was during these periods of deficient cooling that extensive damage to the fuel elements occurred. The highest temperature during the transient is estimated to be well below the 5,100 degrees Fahrenheit fuel melting point," the status report said.

Meanwhile, technicians continued to cool the reactor core slowly as they prepared for an eventual cold shutdown.

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Ugandans in Easter finery gave thanks for liberation from Idi Amin at Easter services Sunday while religious leaders called for peace and an end to looting.

Tanzanian and Uganda exile troops continued searching for Amin. There was a report from Uganda refugees fleeing into Kenya that the dictator was seen Saturday in a northern village near the Zaire border.

Journalists exploring Amin's residential lodge found a case of old films, recalling Amin's favorite pastime of movie-watching. Included were reels of the "I Love Lucy" television show and "Tom and Jerry" cartoons.

While there were signs of normal activity in Kampala, northern and eastern Uganda were still gripped by lawlessness. There were reports of thousands of Ugandans fleeing east into neighboring Kenya.

Refugees arriving in Kampala said

Ugandans Offer Easter Thanks; Amin Reported Seen In Village

stragglers from the remnants of Amin's army were wandering about in the north searching for food and looting. Sectarian killings were reported at Tororo and Soroti in eastern Uganda, apparently against Moslems who had dominated the government under Amin.

Worshippers gathered in the Ugandan capital in long bright dresses, dark suits and flower-decked hats. Uganda is predominantly Christian despite the Moslem Amin's attempts to portray it as an Islamic state.

"I stopped going to church because I thought God had forgotten us," said a worshipper at the Anglican All Saint's Cathedral. "Now I can go again."

Inside, Archbishop Sylvanus Nani praised the new administration of provisional President Yussuf Lule for its "friendly action in liberating the people of Uganda."

Wani's predecessor, Archbishop Janani

Luwum, was killed in a car accident allegedly engineered by Amin in February 1977 while awaiting trial for "treason."

A group of Indian road workers said they saw Amin Saturday with a group of bodyguards in a radio-equipped jeep near Arua, in Amin's home province in north-western Uganda.

Oil sources in Nairobi said Friday Amin's private jet had been refueled at Soroti in eastern Uganda, and speculation was that he would use the plane to fly from Arua to Libya or Sudan.

A British Foreign Office official, Richard Posnett, arrived in Kampala Sunday to assess the situation and report to London on the feasibility of re-establishing relations. Uganda was a British colony until 1962.

The Tanzanian government, meanwhile, flew out most of the 64 Western journalists brought in to cover the installation of Lule's provisional government.

Tanzanian officials in Kampala said no organized opposition remained in the country, but they were yet to begin moving east or north to establish the authority of the new government there.

Despite the joyous celebration, Kampala remained in disarray, looting persisted and soldiers backing Amin were still being flushed from hideouts.

At the Roman Catholic cathedral in the suburb of Rubaga, Cardinal Immanuel Mubuga urged his congregation to return the loot they had taken and offered prayers for peace. He said Kampala looked "like Jerusalem after being sacked by Romans."

The bodies of 200 of Amin's victims were removed from the blood-stained dungeons of the State Research Bureau, where thousands of prisoners are said to have been tortured and killed. Soldiers also gathered corpses of Ugandan troops killed in the battle for Kampala from the streets. Officers estimated 200 had been collected and said another 500 were still to be brought in.

The Tanzania-Uganda war began five months ago when Amin's troops invaded Tanzania. They were driven out two weeks later and President Julius Nyerere's forces, fighting with Ugandan exiles, drove Amin's army back to the capital.

Electricity and water services were restored in parts of the city, but telephones and telexes, which remained operating during the war, went down Saturday and were still inoperable on Sunday.

According to reports from refugees fleeing to Kenya, northern and eastern Uganda, still not occupied by Tanzanian troops, have been gripped by lawlessness and terror.

With thousands of Ugandans fleeing into Kenya, Kenyan President Daniel Arap Moi asked for United Nations help in feeding and housing the refugees.

Moslem leaders gave allegiance to the Lule government.

Radio Kampala broadcast messages from several Amin ministers who had fled abroad and who were said to have pledged loyalty to the new government and planned to return.

'Wired Cans' Death Ruled Accidental

KERRVILLE (AP) — Vernon Smith has been legally cleared in the accidental electrocution of a 4-year-old boy, but he says the pain he feels may never subside.

"I've had a lot of knocks, but nothing like this," said Smith, a 35-year-old auto mechanic. "I can't think of any disaster that's ever hit harder. I didn't want to hurt anybody."

Smith wired a 110-volt household current to his garbage cans to discourage prowling dogs. A grand jury ruled that he was guilty of poor judgment but not criminal conduct after Travis Fry grabbed the hookup and instantly was killed April 1.

Murder charges were dropped April 5. Smith said he and his wife recently visited the boy's grave where they left a bouquet of flowers and said a few tearful prayers.

Smith told the Dallas Times Herald that after he wired his garbage cans, he touched one to test the effectiveness and got only a "tingle." He said he was convinced neither pets nor humans could get seriously injured by touching the cans.

"I don't have anything against anybody's pet, and I didn't want to kill anybody's dog. I just wanted to scare them off," he said.

In fact, Smith said he disconnected the wire several days before the child's death, but his son, without his knowledge, hooked it up to a bicycle, apparently to discourage thieves.

"He just patterned after Daddy," Smith said.

The Fry boy wandered by the Smith trailer the next morning and died instantly when he touched the bicycle.

"It was just a freak accident," said Smith. "I've been taught a terrible lesson." He said he has been "like a zombie" since the accident.

Local residents say many of Smith's neighbors harbor deep resentment toward him, and a police officer said several citizens have walked into the police station and said Smith should be "hanged."

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: Somebody lifted my wallet. I didn't lose much money but I did lose my favorite column which I had carried for years. It was advice to parents from two teenage children. It started, "Keep cool. Will you please reprint it?" — N.L. From N.Y.

of a 40-year-old husband who can't spell the name of the street we have lived on for three years — who can't remember my mother's name? (It's Bernie and he's been calling her Bernice for 15 years, which she hates.) He also doesn't know how to address an envelope and refuses to learn.

Our last name is rather unusual. When someone mispronounces it, he becomes enraged and insults them, even though he murders everyone else's name if it has more than two syllables.

Maybe these sound like petty complaints, but they are just a few things that are getting my goat. I realize none of this is worth breaking up a marriage for, but he annoys the hell out of me. Any suggestions? — Call Me Judy

Dear Judy: The man is not going to change, so if you intend to keep living with him you'd better build some defenses against the small (and large) irritations. There's a possibility that your husband may have some neurological problems. Has he ever been tested? If not, I recommend it.

CONFIDENTIAL to Help Me See the Best Way to Go: No doubt the dollar signs on your eyeballs have impaired your vision. People who are money-hungry and don't know which side of the bread to butter usually wind up choosing the wrong side — and they deserve to. Sorry — no advice from here.

There is a big difference between cold and cool. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen-Age Sex — Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611

Dear N.L.: Here it is. Thanks for asking.

1. Keep cool. Don't lose your temper. Keep the lid on when things go wrong. Children are great imitators.

2. Don't get strung out from too much booze or too many pills. We lose respect for parents who tell us to behave one way when they behave another.

3. Don't be afraid to dish out the discipline. Show us who's boss. We need to know we have strong supports when our judgment goes haywire.

4. Don't blow your class. Keep the dignity of parenthood. Stay on that pedestal. We put you there because we need someone to look up to.

5. Don't try to dress, dance or talk like us. You embarrass us and you look ridiculous.

6. Show us the way. Tell us God is not dead, or sleeping, or on vacation. We need to believe in something bigger and stronger than ourselves.

7. Scare the hell out of us. If you catch us lying, stealing, or being cruel — get tough. Let us know WHY what we did was wrong.

8. Call our bluff. Don't compromise. And don't be intimidated by our threats to "drop out of school or leave home. Stand firm. If you collapse, we will know we beat you down and we will not be happy about the "victory."

9. Be honest with us. Tell the truth, the whole truth, no matter what. Lukewarm answers make us uneasy. We can smell uncertainty a mile away.

10. Be generous with praise. If you give us a few compliments once in a while we accept criticisms more readily. Tell it like it is.

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think

A TOUCH OF COLOR — Dramatic rows of color circle the pleated skirt of this white two-piece dress of soft rayon crepe. Deep violet is used in the wide bottom row and the contrast colors are bottle green and pink. The casual patch pocketed shirt with roll-up sleeves may be belted or not.

Press Secretary Authors Series On Ford Family

A series of articles on former First Lady Betty Ford will begin tomorrow in the Family News section of the Avalanche-Journal. It consists of excerpts from the book, "First Lady's Lady," by Sheila Rabb Weidenfeld, former press secretary to Mrs. Ford. Based on her personal observations and experiences during the Ford years in the White House, the book offers insights into the life of the Ford family. Articles will continue in these pages during the week.

Sheila Rabb Weidenfeld was recommended for the job as First Lady's Press Secretary by the press corps itself because of her proven expertise in all areas of media, particularly television. Mrs. Weidenfeld began her award-winning television career in New York with Metro-media, where she rose from production assistant to associate producer in three months. She was involved in a variety of television documentaries and other television projects for Metromedia and NBC, and produced shows for such personalities as Alan Burke and Joan Rivers, as well as New York Mayor John Lindsay.

After moving to Washington, Sheila Weidenfeld produced "Panorama," one of the longest-running television talk shows, for Metromedia's WTTG-TV. She went on to create and produce the talk show, "Take It From Here," for NBC's Washington station. When she left the White House, she returned to NBC to create, produce and moderate "On the Record," a discussion program which consistently anticipated major Washington news stories.

Mrs. Weidenfeld's expertise in television is not limited to the daily excitement and crises of talk show production, however. She has also worked on quiz shows, documentaries, and produced such news specials as "Is Liberalism Dead?" The first television look at the changing political climate of the country; "The Crime of Punishment," a retrospective on Attica

Oswald: "Here is an example of cruel and inhuman punishment for a mere misdemeanor."
Alan: "The Stayman convention in response to no-trump openings is generally so effective that some players use it automatically any time their partner opens in no-trump and they have any four-card major suit holding."
Oswald: "A better practise is to leave the convention alone when your distribution is 4-3-3-3; your four-card suit is a bad one and you have honors in the other three suits."
Alan: "With this in mind, North should simply have looked at his eleven high card points and raised South to three notrump."
Oswald: "The punishment resulted when spades broke 4-1 against South at the four-spade contract that resulted from North's use of Stayman. However, suits 3-2 only 68 percent of the time."
Alan: "The cruel and inhuman feature came when West was not only able to double, but scored 100 points for honors in addition to the penalty for a one-trick set."

Panel To Probe Fallout In Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Junko Mitsunaga is still terrified by nightmares of the atomic bomb that incinerated Hiroshima.

She was 8 when the blast sent flying glass from classroom windows slicing into her leg. Moments before, she and her classmates had been admiring the bomb's brilliant flash at detonation.

The same kind of, beautiful, fireballs caused southeastern Utah residents to rise before dawn in the 1950s to marvel at the sky display 100 miles to the west and upwind at the Nevada Test Site.

Like Mrs. Mitsunaga, they are haunted now by memories.

On Thursday, congressional hearings on the health effects of nuclear test fallout will begin in Salt Lake City and continue April 23 in Las Vegas, Nev.

The joint hearings will be conducted by Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., chairman of the Senate health subcommittee of the Labor and Human Resources Committee, and Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Texas, chairman of the House subcommittee on oversight and investigation.

President Carter set up a White House task force nearly a year ago to investigate low-level radiation and its effects on nuclear plant workers and the general population.

In a series of recent draft reports, the task force called attention to unanswered questions about possible health dangers from exposure to low levels of radiation. It is not yet possible "to provide an unequivocal answer," but it urged avoidance of unnecessary X-rays because of possible harm from low-level radiation.

In January, Wataru Imanaka, correspondent for the Chugoku Shimbun in Hiroshima, visited Utah to interview state officials and cancer victims. He said the story has widespread interest in Japan.

"I was quite surprised that nobody in Utah had died from the blasts," Mrs. Mitsunaga said about learning of nuclear tests here. She said people still die in a Hiroshima hospital of leukemia believed caused by the 1945 blast that killed an estimated 140,000.

Mrs. Mitsunaga, who immigrated here 12 years ago, remembers in tearful detail a walk she took through the rubble of Hiroshima the day following the blast. "Oh, so many bodies. Excuse me, excuse me," bodies here, bodies there, walking through.

Near ground zero, she said in halting English, it was impossible to avoid stepping on the charred human remains.

The nuclear experience of southern Utah residents was far less graphic. The residents were calmed by Atomic Energy Commission assurances they had nothing to fear from drifting fallout. Few harbored suspicions of any link between radiation and the cancer deaths around them.

The AEC assurances of the past are now viewed with anger and distrust. About 550 cancer victims and their heirs in Utah, Nevada and Arizona have filed claims with the Department of Energy seeking millions of dollars in damages, alleging a cancer-radiation link and government negligence in the testing program.

Many date their alarm to two years ago when former Army Sgt. Paul Cooper claimed his leukemia was caused by radiation from a 1957 blast he observed in Nevada. Cooper died of the disease in 1978.

A U.S. Health, Education and Welfare study has since found eight cases of leukemia among persons present at the test, dubbed "Smoky," more than twice what would have been expected.

Since Cooper's death, reporters and state officials have uncovered forgotten or suppressed federal documents containing evidence of high cancer rates among residents in the path of fallout from 84 atmospheric tests in Nevada between 1951 and 1962.

One of the federal claimants is Blaine Johnson of Cedar City, whose daughter died of leukemia in 1965. Johnson checked around and found that 11 people had died of cancer in a 10-year period within 200 yards of his house.

Another claimant, LeOra Haften of St. George, said, "We could stand here at our front window and watch the clouds come over the hill, never knowing what it was going to do to us."

A recent study by Dr. Joseph Lyon, co-director of the Utah Cancer Registry, found that during the most active period of testing, southern Utah children had a leukemia death rate nearly 2½ times that of children born before or after.

A previously secret U.S. Public Health Service report made public this year shows that four tests between March 17 and May 19, 1953, dropped nearly four times the amount of fallout on the St. George area than the AEC said fell in the first eight years of testing.

About 4,300 sheep grazing downwind from tests in early 1953 died after absorbing up to 1,000 times the maximum amount of radioactive iodine allowed for humans, according to federal documents.

The AEC later concluded radiation had not killed the sheep.

"I feel very sorry when I hear about all of it," said Mrs. Mitsunaga, slowly shaking her head. But at least now, she said, Americans can understand the horror of nuclear weapons.

"People here just didn't know about it," she said.

New Task Force To Combat Crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department announced a new initiative Sunday to combat white collar crime, but because of "budgetary constraints" the program is not expected to be at full strength for two years.

The department announced it was forming a new task force of prosecutors, investigators and auditors to investigate and prosecute fraud and corruption cases.

Deputy Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti said the new unit would work in conjunction with investigators specializing in white collar crime.

Real-Wage Insurance Dies In Congress; Post-Mortems Begin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal was once asked about the origin of President Carter's plan to protect the income of workers who cooperated with his anti-inflation program.

"Who fathered this baby?" inquired a skeptical congressman.

"I hope you don't mind if I tell you," replied the urbane Blumenthal, "that it was a group effort."

As congressional budget-writers effectively killed the president's "real wage insurance" plan this month, the same could perhaps be said about its death.

Opposed by business and most of organized labor, the proposal saw its slim chance for survival snuffed out when the House and Senate budget committees opted for fiscal austerity and removed $2.5 billion earmarked for the program.

Ironically, the axing of the money came as part of the committees' efforts to reduce the federal deficit to below the president's target of $29 billion, another goal of his anti-inflation drive.

The defeat also contributed to a growing perception that Carter's voluntary anti-inflation program, buffeted by sharp increases in consumer prices, was beginning to unravel.

"It's a flyer that didn't fly," said Rep. James R. Jones, D-Okla., a critic of the plan. "It might kick around in academia for a few years, but I think it's finished as far as this Congress is concerned."

Rep. Abner J. Mikva, D-Ill., a supporter of the plan, agreed. "The rate of inflation just overwhelmed the idea," he said.

Born as the surprise element in the president's anti-inflation speech last October, the real wage insurance proposal was touted by the administration as the answer to winning labor's cooperation with the 7 percent guideline. The plan would guarantee workers that if they held down their wage demands, they would be protected if prices continued to rise. The proposal would have given tax credits to organized workers who held their wage increases within the 7 percent guideline if inflation rose above that level.

The tax credits would equal 1 percent of a worker's first $20,000 in wages for each percentage-point that the Consumer Price Index exceeded 7 percent, up to a maximum of 10 percent.

In other words, a worker earning $10,000 who was part of a union holding its wage increase to 7 percent or less would get a $100 tax credit if the index rose 8 percent. The maximum possible credit for a worker would be $600, and the credits would be taxable as income.

Based on the administration's estimate of a 7.5 percent inflation rate, the program was expected to cost $2.5 billion. But officials conceded that, if inflation ran at 10 percent or higher, the price tag could jump to $15 billion. The wage insurance concept was particularly aimed at the Teamsters' union negotiations in March. If the proposal could hold the Teamsters' to 7 percent, the administration argued, an anti-inflation trend could be started that would affect the entire economy.

But real wage insurance was from the start an idea without an avid constituency. Business flatly opposed it. With the exception of the United Auto Workers, so did big labor. It was enthusiastically supported only by the administration itself.

"No one was saying, 'We're going to break your leg if you don't vote for it,'" explained one congressional aide.

The proposal also was attacked as inequitable and ineffective.

Why, opponents asked, should workers forsake an increase in their permanent wage base now for the possibility of getting a tax credit down the road?

Why should "groups of workers" be covered but not other workers whose wage hikes were below 7 percent?

And wouldn't most of the tax credits amount to windfalls for groups of workers who would have settled for 7 percent or less anyway?

The administration admitted there were problems, but maintained that if the proposal helped contain wage demands of groups like the Teamsters, it could help hold down the inflation rate.

"To the extent this succeeds, all of us will be relieved of the inequities that inflation imposes upon us," said Carter's chief inflation fighter Alfred Kahn.

However, as the bill languished in the House Ways and Means Committee and chances for its passage faded, its impact on the Teamsters' talks became non-existent.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Morning is no time to start disputes or to engage in any arguments. As the day passes aspects improve and you are more understanding about present conditions and how best to handle them.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Decide what it is you want to do in the future and then contact bigwigs and gain their ideas, help. Consider every phase of every new idea. Leave nothing to mere chance.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Clear up any misunderstanding with others. Plan to be with loved ones in the evening. Show thoughtfulness for others. Pay bills promptly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Try to keep away from arguments in the morning and then the rest of the day is fine for you, especially with associates. Plan to improve your public image. Dress with greater care.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do more than your share of work and gain the approval of higher-ups. Take treatments that result in better health.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Daytime is fine for getting chores out of the way. Tonight you find time for being with congenials. You have fine creative ideas to put across also. Don't lose your temper with anyone.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Invite relatives to dinner at home and come to a better understanding. Morning could be filled with the unexpected, but the rest of the day and evening are fine.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't make thoughtless comments with partners early and all goes fine later in the day. Handle necessary correspondence. Drive carefully.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't put off a promise you have made in the morning, and then you can get all of your affairs in order. Plan how to add to present abundance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have to use tact with others in the morning, but later conditions ease up for you. You gain your aims with relative ease. Improve your health in some way and enjoy friends later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use care in handling personal affairs. Consult a trusted adviser before you get into any new interests. Try to save more money for the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Steer clear of a highly strung friend who causes you nothing but trouble. Plan how to get a cherished aim early in the day and it is your by evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) If you do not annoy a higher-up in the morning, the rest of the day becomes very worthwhile for you. Avoid taking any action that could spoil your credit. Forget the social for now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...he or she will like to act too hastily and could get into trouble easily. Teach to think first and then act, and then the life becomes successful. Greatest success comes from interests different from those of parents or from the background your child is born into.

A DAILY MESSAGE FROM The Newspaper Bible

Luke 14:1-11. The Living Bible

One Sabbath as He was in the home of one of the Jewish council members, the Pharisees were watching Him like hawks to see if He would heal a man who was present, suffering from dropsy.

3 Jesus said to the Pharisees and legal experts standing around, "Well, is it within the Law to heal a man on the Sabbath day, or not?"

4 And when they refused to answer, Jesus took the sick man by the hand and healed him and sent him away.

5 Then He turned to them, "Which of you doesn't work on the Sabbath? If your cow falls into a pit, don't you proceed to get it out at once?"

6 Again they had no answer.

7 When He noticed that everyone who came to the dinner was trying to sit near the head of the table, He gave them this advice:

8 "If you are invited to a wedding feast, don't always head for the best seat. For if someone more respected than you shows up,

9 The host will bring him to your place and say, 'Let this man sit here instead.' And you, embarrassed, will have to take whatever seat is left at the foot of the table!

10 Do this instead — start at the foot; and when your host sees you, he will come and say, 'Friend, we have a better place than this for you!' Thus you will be honored in front of all the other guests!

11 For everyone who tries to honor himself shall be humbled; and he who humbles himself shall be honored."

'Warehouse Showroom Concept Saves For Customer At Monterey Furniture'

For furniture with style and craftsmanship, for proven savings, for convenience and still other benefits...it is Monterey Furniture in Lubbock!
Located in the heart of southwest Lubbock (on south side of Monterey Center) Monterey Furniture actually is a warehouse showroom, passing on to its customers the multiple advantages enabled by such a concept and operation.
Only first-line merchandise is stocked, and all is uncrated and placed on the floor upon arrival; none is stored in a warehouse elsewhere in the city.
All furniture is in good condition, all is selected for its quality and fashion...for lasting value.
No "seconds" are involved.
"It is a low-overhead type of operation, with the consequent savings passed on to you, the customer," is the word from Hal Rowe, manager since back in 1972.
Savings Emphasized
Monterey Furniture affords delivery service, but points out that "you can save by picking the items up yourself." Such consideration is one of the many reasons Monterey Furniture has been heralded region-wide as a store catering to the customer who appreciates savings, integrity and selection.

Brands To Trust
"Name" lines are noted throughout the large stock...such as Basset, Riverside, Lane, Kroehler, Sealy, Morning Glory, and more.
Furniture is the only business of the store...there are no appliances stocked.
Of course, mirrors and accessories, pictures and numerous decor items are stocked.
Attention is called to the good bedding lines, even bed frames are stocked in the various sizes.
And rockers include the big ones that are so desired and practical.
Wide Selection
From an occasional chair to a houseful of furniture, one can trade with confidence at Monterey Furniture at its super location (easy access and scads of parking right at the store front) in Monterey Center on 50th Street in Lubbock.

Many items available are open stock.
One is invited to browse and even compare quality, style and prices, "proving to yourself that Monterey Furniture affords most for the money" with furniture for casual or elegant living.
Financing plans are available, as is lay-away.
Monterey Furniture is open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays, with extended hours to 9 p.m. on Thursdays.
"For a first-line selection in a warehouse showroom type of operation, Monterey Furniture can open a whole new world of value and convenience. May we have the opportunity of proving it to you?"

ALWAYS QUALITY SELECTION — Veteran jeweler H.D. Carroll is shown with Mrs. Carroll at their convenient 1020 Broadway location where layaway is provided as aid in gifting throughout the year.

H.D. Carroll Jewelers Proving Friend For Gifting Situations

"For Mother's Day, Graduation, birthdays and other special occasions, why settle for less than a very good choice in quality 'wanted' gifts, at sensible prices, from H.D. Carroll Jewelers."
 (Why wait, even if the occasion even is weeks away? H.D. Carroll has a convenient layaway plan to ease one's purchasing.)
 For jewelry choices throughout the year, one needs and appreciates the services of a reliable jeweler, and for 30 years South Plains residents have depended upon H.D. Carroll.

and Carroll personally assists, as one good friend to another.
 Not only has he assembled a very good selection of watches and other jewelry, but he has given equal attention to correct pricing and to integrity in business.
 One is invited to select from a really comprehensive stock of watches... from the most economical to the finest quality. Choose from Accutron and other Bulova models, Wyler, Mido and others.
 And there are the Twist-o-Flex watchbands by Speidel.
 And diamond rings, birthstone rings, loose diamonds, mountings, and more.
Custom Designing
 Custom design of rings is one of the services of this better jewelry where Master Charge and Visa use are among the purchase plans.

Watch Repair
 Expert watch repair is another very important segment of the firm's operation.
 Whether one is an old customer (which is probable) or if acquaintance is now first being made, the latchstring is out at H.D. Carroll Jewelers, 1020 Broadway, with special emphasis on money-saving, inflation-fighting opportunities.
 No matter if selection is from the many rings, pendants, cuff links and related items, or from the watch selection, one can be assured of value at H.D. Carroll Jewelers.

Stormaster Underground Shelters Explained As Family Consideration

South Plains residents hardly have to be reminded that it is the season of the year when protection during windstorms or tornadoes is of utmost importance. So, consider this:
 "Have you given your family the consideration of a Stormaster Shelter? If not, we invite full inquiry."
 "In Lubbock and area, the Stormaster underground shelter protection can be speedily and easily secured by consulting with the Stormaster specialists at 3406 62nd St., phone 792-5977, who season after season have served most admirably, and who have been proven time after time.
 Stormaster shelters are built right; they serve a definite need in the unsettled spring weather conditions of the South Plains; and they are backed with the professional understanding and integrity of their builder, Homer Ries.

Ries, the only authorized Stormaster builder in the South Plains and Panhandle, prides in the Stormaster and in its construction. A graduate in engineering, he appreciates the needs of the area and the quality of Stormaster. Mrs. Ries is a native of Lubbock; he is a longtime resident and both are graduates of Texas Tech.
 Stormaster is not new in underground protection; it has been in business for over two decades in the Oklahoma City and Dallas areas.
 The Stormaster unit is not pre-fab. It is built in a choice of two sizes, 6 ft. by 8 ft., and the more popular family-size 8 ft. by 10 ft., with construction taking about three days, depending on the weather, of course, and involves digging the hole, setting forms, pouring cement, finishing with paint, benches and electrical outlet.

All concrete work is a one-pour operation with six-sack cement reinforced with paving mesh — no cold joints. It is guaranteed not to leak or seep. It is painted inside and outside and comes complete with seats, vents, electric box and special Stormaster doors.
 (The doors are so constructed that children may enter unescorted.) The extra-strength plywood door covered with galvanized metal is attached to a heavy steel frame which is embedded in the concrete. This waterproof door was designed especially for this shelter.
 Stormaster construction qualifies for Title I financing.
 For full information check now with Homer or Mrs. Ries at Stormaster of Lubbock, 3406 62nd St., phone 792-5977. If there is no answer, please keep calling, day or night. Part-time office help is on the job as well as Mr. and Mrs. Ries.

New Office Manager Saluted, Introduced By Rainbo Baking

In introducing and saluting its enviable roster of employees, Rainbo Baking Co. of Lubbock this month directs attention to Gene Allsup, office manager since December.
 It has long been recognized at Rainbo that acceptance, recognition and actual popularity of the firm and its products is not the mere result of "luck", but rather A-Perm-o-Green is now available, here. A Texas-based franchise operation, the local unit at 3210 34th St., phone 795-5296, is managed by Rod Krebs, 25-year Lubbock resident.
 Consisting of a precisely timed series of four to five annual feedings professionally applied by highly trained personnel, the A-Perm-o-Green lawn program provides an economical, efficient and effective way for homeowners to enjoy vigorous, healthy lawns.
 No contract is involved, and a program can be terminated at anytime, after any number of applications.
 Satisfaction is guaranteed.

the fact that the good product line and the service to match is made possible by a knowledgeable and dedicated staff.
 The customer is ultimate and intended beneficiary.
 Harry Hoopes, manager of the Lubbock firm, repeatedly has emphasized that factors contributing to a smooth-running and successful operation must be headed by the people who make up the staff.
 In connection with this pride in a job well done, introduction of these staff-members is made on regular basis on these pages of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.
Native Of Area
 Gene Allsup is one of the enthusiastic and capable members of the organization here.
 A native of the area, Allsup states, "I asked to come back to the South Plains, and I am very, very pleased that I have been able to do so, and to continue service a member of the fine Rainbo organization."

Allsup graduated from high school at Hart, has lived in Dimmitt and Post, and attended Wayland College, Plainview, back in '65.
 He has been with Rainbo-related businesses since 1971, coming back to Lubbock after stint as office manager in El Dorado, Ark. He started out his bakery career on a bread route out of Dallas.
 Allsup reports, and later served and gained office experience with the firm in Dallas and in Pueblo, Colo.
 Hobbies of the genial office manager are photography and camping. He is past president of the Photographic Society of South Arkansas.
 "I am really enthused about Lubbock and area, and particularly an impressed with the efficiency, capabilities and dedication of the Rainbo firm here. It is a great group with which to be associated, and I'm really glad I asked to come to Lubbock!"

JEANIE LEWIS RETURNING FOR WORKSHOPS

Early Enrollment Advised, Invited In Mrs. B's New Workshops, Classes

An exciting new schedule in desired workshops and classes greets the new season at Mrs. B's Arts, Crafts & Gifts, 5105 29th Drive, phone 797-5850, in Lubbock.
(Early inquiry and registration is advised on all, as the sessions of necessity are limited in number of student spaces.)
Jeanie Lewis highlights the list of popular and qualified instructors, returning to conduct workshops for both beginners and intermediates.
One-day workshops by Jeanie are slated May 7 through May 17. One-a-day workshops will be on May 15, 16 and 17 (from 1 p.m. until 5:30 p.m.), with both day and night sessions set for the 7th through 12th and on the 14th of May.
For the first time in her appearances here, Jeanie is conducting one-day workshops open to beginners or students not having previously been in her classes.
Ten paintings will be completed in the workshop series, with students being given privilege of signing up for one or more of these.
Florals and landscapes will be demonstrated by Jeanie, and again it is emphasized that early registration is necessary.

Flexible
Remember, in these workshops one can participate in all sessions, or just for one day, or in between, according to preference.
Jeanie Lewis' main media is oil, though she works in acrylics, too. Her landscapes are exceptionally realistic, and her florals are impressionistic, loose and free.
Born in Lubbock in 1950, Jeanie now resides in Houston, and her paintings are widely exhibited and sought after.
Other Classes
Special instruction opportunities at Mrs. B's are not limited to one instructor or one type of art; a really comprehensive instruction schedule is traditional at this better shop.
One is invited to check now for the special classes and workshops involving instruction by popular and capable teachers including Jo Daugherty, Frankie "Pee Wee" Lanier, Sarah Storrs and Charl Egeland. Both tole and canvas oils are included in the class schedule.
Supplies for all instruction courses are stocked at the shop.
Special on Frames
A new shipment of frames in the popular sizes and styles has been received, and all frames in the very good assortment are marked at 25 per cent off.

Also, check the gorgeous selection of silk flowers, the materials and books for this and other crafts, and for a wide variety of supplies including new shapes in woods for the tole enthusiast.
Weekly there are new arrivals throughout the diversified stock, and this has been noted by customers of longstanding, with new patrons expressing like appreciation of the type shop provided.
This attractive and well-marked shop is at 5105 29th Drive (on the cutoff between Brownfield Highway and Slide Road) and is under ownership and active operation of Margie Berryhill.
Everything is designed for efficiency and ease in shopping and in studying and participating in classes or workshops.
Everything says "We're glad you are among our friends and customers."
Projects by the scores can originate and develop to completion at Mrs. B's. For shopping satisfaction, pleasure in browsing and selection, and for learning from "pros," a tremendous number recommend Mrs. B's Arts, Crafts & Gifts!

Business & Industrial Review

FOR NEW-SEASON BEAUTIFICATION — Julius Ysasaga of the A & J Blind & Shade Shop is shown against backdrop of quality woven woods that are among items marked at special discount at the Lubbock shop.

A & J Blind & Shade Shop Reveals Specials, New Items

Special price reductions currently arranged at the A & J Blind & Shade Shop provide a distinct advantage in home improvement for summer and seasons ahead.

Kirsch woven woods are marked at 20 per cent discount for a limited time. Mini-blinds also are 20 per cent off. Further good news:

Custom Shutters
Custom shutters are now available at A & J, and one also can select from wooden mini-blinds.

Custom draperies is a specialty, as are laminated shades.

For whatever need at A & J Blind & Shade Shop, 1917 19th St., phone 762-4013, call now for free estimates that are gladly given.

One's budget must and should be considered, and A & J is extremely glad to post the present specials as a customer-considering gesture.

Owner-operator Julius Ysasaga aptly points out:

When one can secure famous-name lines at such low prices, from a firm that puts the emphasis on value throughout the year, then it would seem that now is a very good time to act, and save.

Quick service on all custom shades is a longtime practice at A & J.

Actually, when the need calls for shutters, laminated shades, venetian blinds, draperies, custom-made window shades, light-proof shades — all the new woven woods, and more, a superior product, service and fast attention all are assured at A & J Blind & Shade Shop.

The newest in materials and patterns, with equal emphasis on service and lowest possible prices, is the correct image and reputation of that firm that can be of exceptional service in home and business improvements. A lot of area residents can attest to this fact.

Quick service on drapes is one of the many advantages at A & J.

Venetian Blind Repair
Venetian blind repair is another specialty.

The shop continuously has the greatest variety in window shades one could imagine, with over 50 colors in beautiful fabrics and patterns.

"This home improvement time... and it is A & J Blind & Shade time, too, wouldn't you think? For savings and quality, shop the specials at A & J; save the difference for vacation enjoyment!"

A-1 Nursery Prices, Selection Seen Advantageous In Summer Preparation

Shade trees, flowering trees and shrubs, fruit trees, everything for lawn and garden... this is the situation at A-1 Nursery, 7500 82nd St., phone 792-6070.

And the prices are eye-openers!

Fertilizers
For beautiful premises, it is urged that proper fertilizers be applied now, and A-1 has a super sale of Zipp fertilizers.

Examples include 50 lbs. Zipp 16-8-8 with iron and zinc, covering 2,500 sq. ft., regular $6.99, at $5.88 or 2 for $11!

And 50 lb. 21-0-0, coverage 2,500 sq. ft., at $4.79.

50 lbs. 33-0-0 at $6.95, and 50 lb. 45-0-0 at $8.99.

Weed and Feed special, 40 lbs. Fertiloam, at $8.95; 40 lb. Gardeners Special Fertilome at $7.95; and 40 lb. cow manure at only $1.88.

Ornamental trees are all at 50 per cent savings. A-1 reports, including huge purple leaf plum, dogwood, crabapple, and more.

ery department, well worth the drive to view and select... and save.

Long On Scene
Area residents have long benefited from the landscape design, installation and maintenance services of A-1. plus such benefits as the new shipments and low early-season prices.

For more than two decades, area residents have been assisted by Winfred Self, owner and operator of A-1 Nursery, since 1973 at its present expanded quarters.

Everything in the modern nursery is coordinated for the very best in products and services. A complete line is stocked including trees, shrubs, vines, fertilizers, insecticides and numerous other nursery supplies.

The knowledge of Self and his experienced crew possibly is the biggest asset of A-1. however, as hundreds of customers can attest to the superior help there through the years.

"Come on out and see for yourself how A-1 Nursery can meet your individual preferences and needs, at a price you'll appreciate."

MOTTO EMPHASIZED — Moises Perez of Bookbinding & Bible Repair proves with every job that 'we appreciate and care for the books you love'. He counts more than four decades experience in the field.

Album Restoration Among Specialties Bookbinding & Bible Repair In City

Here's a very timely message from Bookbinding & Bible Repair, 2235 34th St. "One of the important aspects of bookbinding is the restoration of old picture albums. (We just restore the binding!)" "Most albums were bound in velvet or velveteen, and in some instances we can rebind with the same materials. In other cases we let our customers buy the material and then bind the albums in the color or material selected to fit or match the decor of the place in which they plan to place the album."

"Like family Bibles, old picture albums are heirlooms that collect an abundance of pictures of past generations. We hope you trust us to restore or rebind your precious family Bible, no matter what shape it is; we can restore or rebind it for you."

New, Added Services

Don't forget the new services of Bookbinding & Bible Repair that include (1) names imprinted in gold, (2) plastic ring binding, and (3) lamination of documents. All these services are afforded "while you wait."

"Our time to work in most projects is one week, and for out-of-town customers, 10-day service. In some instances we

Leaseway-Southwest Services Utilized Throughout Wide Area

Leaseway-Southwest, at 409 E. 50th St., in Lubbock, offers a complete transportation service to busy companies that simply cannot devote the time, space or money required to own and maintain a fleet of vehicles or in some instances, just one or two units. This progressive leasing firm provides transportation vehicles to serve any size or type business.

Full Service

"Corporations as well as small operators find that full-service transportation package is more efficient from every standpoint."

"Full service" as provided by Leaseway-Southwest Transportation Corp., is exactly what the name implies. The firm provides the maintenance and inspection and even supplies the fuel and pays the taxes on the vehicle!

Personnel there are most adept, serving in a professional but considerate and friendly manner to meet the particular transportation needs of every customer.

"We'd like to count you, too, among our customers."

Upgrading and additions to its stock is a continuous operation at Leaseway-Southwest.

Leaseway-Southwest's understanding of the short-term, peak and long-term needs of area industry and business is well recognized, contributing to its own growth, too.

Half-a-hundred Lubbock businesses (and even more) depend on Leaseway-Southwest for transportation vehicle needs.

There must be a very good reason. In Tune With Times

Keeping abreast with the needs of the area is one of the convincing reasons. Leaseway-Southwest continually adds new equipment for rental and for full-time customers of this service-oriented firm.

"Utilization of leased vehicles is the growing trend in transportation management," it is emphasized by Ken Wright, president.

HALLIE PAYNE CUTS APPAREL COSTS

Hallie's Thrift Shoppe Seen Solution In Apparel Budgeting

Are wardrobe expenditures being sacrificed for other needs of the season? Is your clothing budget less than desired and needed? Your answer to either likely will focus attention on a ready and sensible solution... recognition of Hallie's Thrift Shoppe as a great place to trade and save. Hallie's has a very good selection at this time... including formals and casual summer wear. Hallie's Thrift Shoppe, 3510 Ave. Q, can appreciably aid the fashion need and the economy need "for you, too" in every season of the year. It's a reality: One can beat inflation, beat the rising apparel costs, by depending upon Hallie's Thrift Shoppe for the right apparel at lowest prices. At Hallie's Thrift Shoppe there is lots of new merchandise plus consignment items that are strictly "first class" that can be a smart solution to the wardrobe budget. With the increased costs at every hand, it is exciting to find a firm that can greatly reduce some of this cash outlay. One can dress smartly for every season, and at a cost "that can be lived with," thanks to Hallie's Thrift Shoppe's full selection and unique business concept. Hallie's, primarily a resale shop for better merchandise, has been at its present 3510 Ave. Q location (with off-street parking) more than four years, with owner-operator Hallie Payne formerly at another Avenue Q location for five years. The exceptional stock, attractively displayed with plenty of room for selection and fitting, involves top quality new and nearly new formal wear, school and street wear, etc. There are clothes for the entire family (sold on consignment) and the prices are most appealing. "If you have items suitable for consignment, call Hallie's at 744-6772 for appointment and arrangements." Though a wide stock is on hand, Hallie's at the present especially solicits consignments of top quality and fashionable long dresses and men's wear. New merchandise from area stores also is stocked by Hallie's and new arrivals in this category present special values. Easy off-street parking at both front and rear is just one of the conveniences at Hallie's Thrift Shoppe.

'Sale Prices On Name-Brand Items' Told At Southwest TV & Appliances

Southwest TV & Appliance, at 3415 82nd St., is all new... and great! Opening in spacious, convenient, modern quarters in January, the business has been heartily received. "Names to trust" have been one of the key factors in the firm's popularity, with a really huge stock on the floor, and with selection enabled from RCA television and video tape recorders, Litton microwave ovens, Frigidaire kitchen and laundry equipment, Sony stereos, Sanyo stereos, and Hardwick gas ranges. Check now for sale prices throughout the vast stock. Where is all this? At 3415 82nd St., just west of 82nd and Indiana, clearly marked on the south side of 82nd, with ample off-street parking. One can't miss the attractive building and its outstanding displays.

'Folks You Know' Lifelong Lubbock resident Dave Abbott is owner and founder of the firm, actively operating it. Assisting is Sam Griffith, store manager, who has been in the appliance field here for many years and is no stranger to the area. Both Abbott and Griffith invite old friends and new ones alike to visit the new 3,100 sq. ft. store and note the effort to afford a really outstanding appliance source for south Lubbock and the entire area. The complete line of Litton family-size microwave ovens is stocked, with features "just right for your particular lifestyle." Versatility, warranty, ease of operation and built-in quality are unmistakable in Litton. "Any microwave oven can cook one food at a time. But it took Litton innovation to develop a microwave oven that can prepare one, two or three foods — even a complete meal — all at once! A unique cooking system allows microwaves to enter the oven cavity from both sides, completely surrounding the foods and providing more even cooking." See all this for yourself at Southwest TV & Appliance, all new at 3415 82nd St., open from 8:30 a.m. until 6:30 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays. Finance plans are available, Visa and Master Charge are honored, and free delivery in Lubbock and area is featured. ("Watch our ads for specific price advantages on the quality lines we stock; you just might be amazed at the economy-quality combo we have provided at Southwest TV & Appliance.")

Optical Store & Boutique Outlines Services, Quality, Styles For All

"We believe it is general knowledge that quality lines in frames and glasses are just as near as The Optical Store & Boutique, just south of 50th & Slide, clearly marked on the west side of Slide." There are several services and aspects that should come in for special note at this time, however. "With accelerated outdoor activity of the season just underway, sunglasses are advised. One should guard against harmful sun rays when exposed, and The Optical Store & Boutique is a great source of optical-quality sunglasses, with no prescription necessary for these. You'll like Ray Ban sunglasses." Aside from the optical services, a "Plant Corral" has been established by the same business, and one is invited to check for healthy, beautiful indoor plants in the Corral at the same address. "Our Boutique is Unique" actually is the motto but nevertheless an understatement of the services and products of The Optical Store & Boutique, phone 792-0901. Thoroughly in keeping with the firm's consideration of the customer's welfare, the folks there emphasize: (1) Children should have an eye examination annually.

(2) Adults should take the same step every two years; (3) Even if one does not wear glasses, eye examination on a systematic schedule is recommended; (4) See your eye doctor and then when glasses are advised, bring his prescription to us at The Optical Store & Boutique, and we'll prove our uniqueness and capabilities, with you benefitting. (We want to see you keep your frames in good repair; and we'll help if you simply give us the chance!) "And did you realize that The Optical Store & Boutique stocks the complete spectrum in frames, including a utility selection combining style with surprisingly low price?" A departmentalized arrangement of rooms and areas provides four distinct categories in our service: (1) utility selection, (2) another where quality is the sole consideration, (3) designer frames, and finally (4) The Boutique. So, whether the attractively priced lines in frames and glasses for the student, as example, or the very finest in choices from the Designer collection or the unusual and expensive lines within The Boutique are preferred, this Lubbock facility is outstanding, in a class by itself. Upon entry into The Optical Store &

Boutique, one is impressed with the pleasing but striking decor (such as the art deco in the Designer Room carried out in mirrors, pictures and fixtures), a customer consideration that exemplifies the firm's uniqueness. One may first discover the Designer Collection where an area is devoted entirely to designer frames by Ralph Lauren, Givenchy, Diane Von Fustenberg, Oscar de la Renta and other top designers. Then there is the Children's Corner, in another segment of the complex. And who could not help but be most intrigued by the Boutique where antique decor dominates and where the unusual and expensive lines are displayed. Some glasses are set with diamonds, some with 18k gold settings, some with real cultured pearls. Custom design with special precious stones, etc., is a specialty. Lines are out-of-the-ordinary, with some exclusive in Lubbock to the Boutique, such as the Martin Creations from West Germany. "See what we mean when we say that 'Our Boutique is Unique,' providing a product and service seldom experienced anywhere?" "May we have the pleasure of your visits? We know we can serve you within one or more of our departments."

Zoeller Nips Stumbling Sneed In Masters

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Fuzzy Zoeller, defying tradition that says a first-timer can't win, birdied the second extra hole and beat Tom Watson and bitterly disappointed Ed Sneed for the title Sunday in the 43rd Masters golf tournament.

Zoeller, making his first appearance at the Augusta National Golf Club course, ramed in a 6-foot putt to win the first sudden death playoff in the history of this storied championship that, as usual, produced high drama.

Sneed squandered a five-shot lead and opened the gates for Zoeller and Watson when he bogeyed the last three holes of regulation play and finished with a 76 and a 280 total, 8 under par.

Zoeller, a powerful 28-year-old from New Albany, Ind., got into the playoff with a closing 70 while Watson, the 1977 winner here and the pretournament favorite, closed with a 1-under-par 71.

Jack Nicklaus, the game's greatest player and a five-time Masters champion, lulled his way into the act — at least for a while — and missed the playoff by the margin of one shot at 281. He closed with a 69 that included a bogey on the 17th hole — the bogey that deprived him of a chance for a 16th major professional title.

Tom Kite was next with a 72 and a 283 total. Bruce Lietzke, the cross-handed putter who led the first round, followed at 74-284.

The group at 285 included Leonard Thompson, with a closing 74, Lanny Wadkins, 73, and chunky Craig Stadler, who had an erratic 76.

Defending champion Gary Player of South Africa never really got into the chase and finished with a 71-288. Lee Trevino was 73-287 and U.S. Open champion Andy North 69-287.

Zoeller, who got into this event off his first professional victory in the San Diego Open earlier this year, took time out to applaud Sneed's great sand shot on the second playoff hole and then watched with a blank face as the determined Watson tried and missed on a long birdie putt.

Then it was his turn. From his slightly opened stance, the husky, 190-pounder stroked it home with a firm, deft stroke and went soaring in the air in a joyous leap of victory.

His putter went soaring even higher. He tossed the club in the air in jubilation and failed to find it.

Watson, who now has tied for second in the last two Masters, spoke his first words of the distraught Sneed who was so close — so very close, and let it slip away.

"I can't believe it happened," said Sneed.

"My condolences to Ed," said Watson. "I've been there before and I know that all the condolences in the world won't stop the hurt he feels right now inside."

Sneed bit his lips and appeared to be fighting back tears.

His had been a struggle throughout the afternoon.

First there was the mighty Nicklaus.

playing about an hour ahead, who made a run at him.

There was his own shaky play that opened the gates.

And finally, there were Watson and Zoeller, in the confines of the white, colonial clubhouse, safely perched there with an 8-under-par total while he tried so desperately to get it home.

After teetering on the brink of collapse and going 3 over par through the first 10 holes, Sneed appeared to right himself.

He made a 6-108-foot par putt on the 11th hole, saved par from a bunker on the 12th, birdied the 13th from four feet, saved par with a 10-112-footer on the next one and then appeared to have it wrapped up with an 8-1010-foot birdie putt on the 15th hole.

That put him three in front with three holes to play.

But he 3-putted for bogey on the 16th.

He was over the green on No. 17, chipped back to four feet and missed the putt. Another bogey. Now his lead was down to a single shot with only the 18th hole, uphill to a two-level green, left between him, and the famed green jacket that goes to the winner.

He drove the fairway but pushed his approach into an almost impossible position, resting against the rough grass on the lip of a bunker.

His chip was about as good as it could be, trickling some eight feet below the cup.

But the 34-year-old journeyman, winner of three titles in 11 years of tour activity, couldn't get it in the hole. It stopped, hanging on the edge while he stared in a frustration only he could know.

It was another bogey and the playoff. See MASTERS Page 2

NHL Teams Given Short Notice On Playoffs

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Four National Hockey League teams have little time to prepare for their opponents in the playoff quarter-finals that begin Monday. The series pairings weren't determined until Saturday night, when the Philadelphia Flyers routed the Vancouver Canucks to decide the next round's matchups.

The 7-2 triumph that gave the Flyers the best-of-three series against Vancouver gave Philadelphia the right to host the New York Rangers in the opener of their best-of-seven set.

Meanwhile, the Boston Bruins host the Pittsburgh Penguins, the Toronto Maple Leafs travel to Montreal to meet the Canadiens and the New York Islanders host the Chicago Black Hawks.

Four teams — the Bruins, Canadiens, Islanders and Black Hawks — had last week off as a reward for winning their division titles. Boston Coach Don Cherry knows his team can't afford to be rusty in the early going against Pittsburgh.

"We'll just have to do the best we can. We'll have to play them like we play the Canadiens," said Cherry, whose Bruins won the Adams Division title a fourth consecutive time. "The Penguins had a good last half, they have good balance, and Denis Herron is some goalie."

Herron has started 19 of the Penguins' last 20 games and backstopped Pittsburgh's three-game triumph over the Buffalo Sabres in their preliminary round. Though the Penguins were outshot 41-24 in Saturday's third game, Herron held fast and Pittsburgh won on George Ferguson's second goal of the game — at 47 seconds on overtime.

"In key situations, I always go to Ferguson," said Penguins Coach Johnny Wilson. "You can count on him doing almost everything right, and that's exactly what he did in the overtime."

Ferguson sped up left wing, breezed around a Buffalo defenseman and sent a 15-foot shot into the cage off the leppads of Sabres goalie Bob Sauve to send the Penguins into the quarter-finals.

"It wasn't a hard shot," said Ferguson. But it went in, and that's all that matters in overtime.

"This is the biggest disappointment I've ever had in hockey," said Buffalo left wing Rick Martin. "We worked so hard and were really looking forward to the playoffs. This is the most frustrated and disappointed I've ever been. I just can't believe it."

"A lot of overtime games end so quickly," said Ferguson, "so I knew I wouldn't get another opportunity like that."

And because he converted it, the Penguins advanced. And because the Maple Leafs swept the Atlanta Flames in their preliminary round, they got the right to meet the defending champion Canadiens.

"They (the Canadiens) can make life more miserable for a goalie than any other club because of their shooters and their speed," said Toronto netminder Mike Palmateer.

Montreal swept Toronto in last year's semifinals, but Palmateer says: "We're a better team now than we were a year ago, and I think I'm a better goalie than I was a year ago."

The Islanders will have to be a better team than they were a year ago when they were upset by Toronto in the quarter-finals.

"We have to go to the finals and we have to win the Cup," said Islanders right wing Mike Bossy. "Anything less is not satisfactory."

The first step is to reach the semifinals this year, and to do so, they'll have to beat the Chicago Black Hawks. The teams met in the 1977 preliminary round, with the Islanders sweeping both games.

A scheduling problem at Chicago Stadium that season forced both games to be played at the Islanders' home rink. This time, the Black Hawks will have their home arena available, but the teams with the worst record of the remaining clubs will need excellent execution to beat the Patrick Division champions.

"To have a chance in the playoffs, we have to at least break even in short-handed situations," said Coach Bob Pulford, whose Black Hawks killed off just 76.4 percent of their penalties in the regular season — better only than five other teams in the 17-team league.

The Islanders, meanwhile, led the NHL in power play efficiency, scoring 31.2 percent of the time during manpower advantages on the way to winning the overall points title and the home-ice advantage in every playoff round.

And Philadelphia, the most penalized team in the league, is the best at killing penalties. The Flyers were short-handed 344 times, but scored 16 goals while shorthanded.

The Rangers, by contrast, gave up 12 goals while they were on power plays.

NASL Plays Full Schedule, But Hurt By Players Strike

By The Associated Press

The North American Soccer League played its full 11-game schedule Saturday night, though a player strike forced some clubs to field lineups with as few as five regular players.

The games were played despite a statement by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service earlier Saturday that foreign players who broke the strike might be subject to deportation.

NASL owners went before a district court judge in Washington, D.C., to obtain a restraining order against such action, but Senior Judge George Hart would not approve one since no formal deportation actions had been taken by the INS.

The players called the strike because the league's management would not recognize the NASL Players' Association as a collective bargaining body for the athletes.

The defending champion Cosmos, who originally voted to support the strike, played the Atlanta Chiefs without player representative Bobby Smith and defender Werner Roth — both of whom are injured.

The Cosmos' Dennis Tueart explained some of the reasons why the others agreed to compete: "This is still a baby sport here (in the United States) and you have to be very careful before you take any step that could knock out the foundation."

"Take the Cosmos coming down here (to Atlanta). Atlanta is a new franchise. If we didn't show up it would be a disaster. Maybe the next time there would be a lot less interest," said Tueart.

"American soccer has to be the first priority," he concluded. "Let's face it: if there is no soccer league, there is no soccer union."

As it happened, just 10,311 showed up at 52,194-seat Atlanta Stadium to watch the Cosmos beat the Chiefs 3-2 in a shootout. The Atlanta club was missing three striking players.

Sixteen Fort Lauderdale Strikers sat out their team's 4-0 home loss to the Washington Diplomats. The Strikers fielded a squad of five regular players and a dozen local amateurs.

"I've never been so ashamed and embarrassed in a group of lads before," said Strikers Coach Ron Newman. The Diplomats, with only three players missing, cruised to victory before 13,790 at 20,000-seat Lockhart Stadium. At Tampa Bay, Fla., a crowd of 23,675 turned out at 71,600-seat Tampa Stadium to watch the Rowdies set a league record with five goals in a 5-01 span of their 7-1 rout of the Toronto Blizzard.

The Rowdies and Blizzard played with full complements, after which Tampa Bay player representative Farrukh Quarashi made a statement:

"After many hours of deliberation and debate, we want to state that (while) we agree in principle with the need for a players association, we cannot support a strike action which could threaten the very existence of the game which we are all trying to establish in the United States," said Quarashi, an Iranian whose citizenship is English.

Austin Nips Reid In WTC

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Tracy Austin outlasted Kerry Reid 7-6, 7-6, in a women's tennis tournament championship match Sunday that was marred by numerous double faults by both players.

In a consolation match earlier Sunday, Martina Navratilova defeated Evonne Goolagong 6-4 for third place. Miss Austin, 16, of Rolling Hills, Calif., won the $30,000 first prize money in a match that had both women playing evenly throughout. She won the tiebreakers 7-3, 9-7.

Miss Reid, 31, an Australian who lives in Greenville, S.C., had many opportunities to change the outcome of the match but was unable to come up with the big point.

Both players had problems with their serves. In the first set, neither could hold serve more than once. Miss Reid had seven double faults in the match while Austin had three, including two in the last tiebreaker.

In the first set, Miss Reid held a 5-4 lead on her serve but Miss Austin won all four points to tie the score at five.

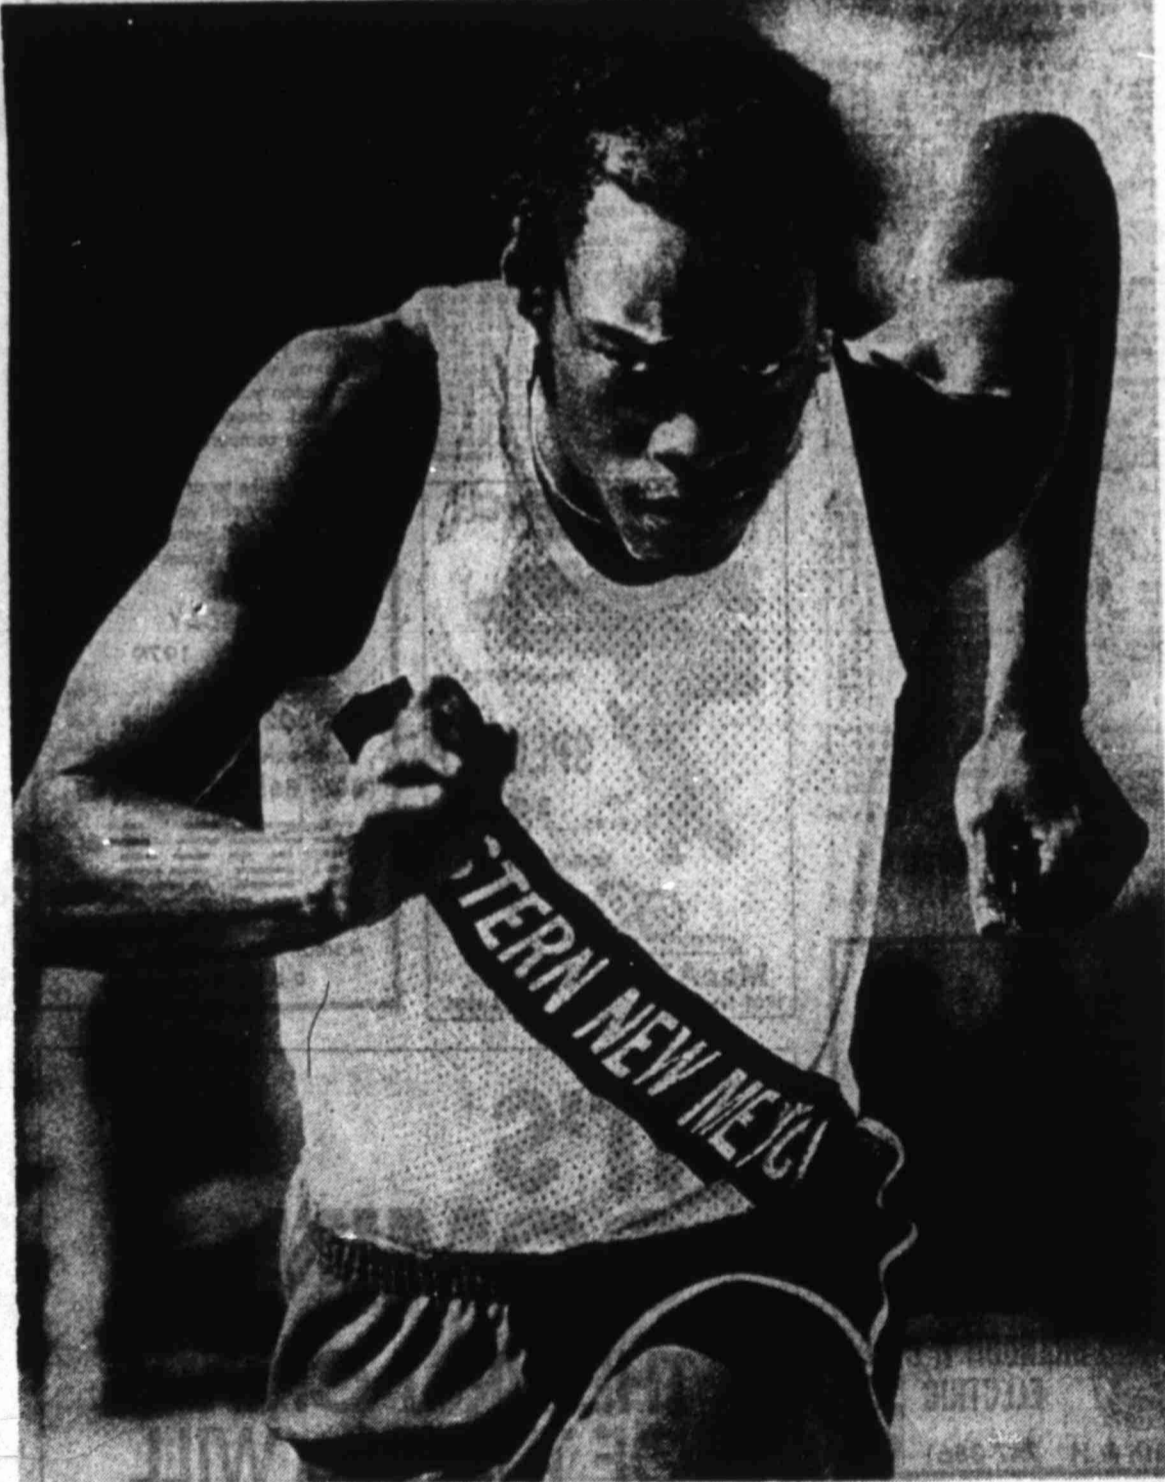

Miss Reid broke Miss Austin's serve and was again serving for the set in the 12th game, but with Austin holding the advantage.

Archives Hold Treasures

BOSTON (AP) — Imagine an unheralded, unpublished manuscript by Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis describing her life with her husband and her hopes for the future, as she was about to enter the White House in 1961 as John F. Kennedy's glittering First Lady.

The existence of such a document would be enough to set off a stampede of gossip magazine editors trampling one another to jelly in the race to publish the manuscript and parade glamorous Jackie on their covers, a sure-fire circulation-booster.

Such a manuscript does exist — neatly handwritten on legal-size notebook paper.

Anyone who can satisfy the conditions set by Boston University can inspect, if not quote from, Jackie's words — for free.

The manuscript, found unexpectedly in the papers of novelist Fletcher Knebel ("Zizzin Road," "Seven Days in May"), is a gem in the university's 20th Century Collection.

The collection is an archive embracing the significant and the trivia of contemporary history, growing — with the help of the Internal Revenue Service — in 16 years to a mass of paper overflowing the university library's shelves, some of it still packed in old gin bottle cartons awaiting indexing. Howard B. Gottlieb, 52, who moved from archivist at Yale to Boston University in 1963, estimates the value of his collection at $16 million.

They range from papers accumulated in the 60-year political career of former House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts to 44 years of the comic strip, Little Orphan Annie, to all the letters Bette Davis ever wrote her mother from Hollywood. Personalities represented range from playwright George Bernard Shaw to author Irwin Shaw, from master of the absurd Samuel Beckett to love-lorn novelist Barbara Cartland, from civil rights martyr Martin Luther King Jr. to saloon comic Joey Adams.

"We are a repository of the 20th century," said Gottlieb, "the largest 20th century archive in the country."

Actor Rex Harrison, between performances of his Broadway play, "The Kingfisher," is rewriting at 73 — especially for Gottlieb — his autobiography, "To be read posthumously," cautioned the performer.

Harrison has been married six times and is an observer of show business from G.B. Shaw in the '30s, through "My Fair Lady" in the '50s to the romance of Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor while making "Cleopatra" in the '60s.

Already in the collection is a verse about Harrison by comedienne Bea Lilly starting, "To wax poetic... Harrison, Rex... Higgins, Caesar and sex..."

Anyone doing legitimate scholarly research can peruse the Jackie manuscript or most any other document in the collection under the rules established by Gottlieb. Material can be quoted only with the permission of the author.

Like Harrison, some donors set conditions for public disclosure. Robert Redford has locked away his diary for release after his death.

The Jackie manuscript turned up in the papers Knebel donated to the library, a half-forgotten item she gave him in response to his research for a magazine article on her husband. He tucked it away and never used it, Knebel said.

"The manuscript would bring $5,000 to $7,000 at an auction house like Sotheby Parke Bernet," said Gottlieb, who had no idea what editors would pay to publish it, even if Mrs. Onassis gave her permission.

"The only thing I remember from it was her response to my asking her if Jack ever did any work around the house," said Knebel. "After all, what did I know with my middle class upbringing? She answered, 'Really, Fletcher, how dreary.'"

Knebel donated his papers because he could write off a fat deduction of about $20,000 on his income tax, a practice which attracted many donors but which came to an end with a change in the law in 1971.

Surprises pop up incessantly, said Gottlieb. Roddy McDowall turned over his files, and out popped a collection of all the movies Errol Flynn ever made. Out of the papers of Bella Fromm, a Jewish socialite who for a time was a favorite of Adolf Hitler, Gottlieb's archivists fished a Sept. 19, 1940, letter from German politician Albrecht Haushofer to Deputy Premier Rudolf Hess. The letter discussed a Hess flight to Britain — which actually took place the following May.

'Debbie' Does Fort Worth

FORT WORTH (AP) — The film "Debbie Does Dallas," which has played almost as many courthouses as theaters, opens in a Fort Worth courtroom this morning.

In a rare move for misdemeanor cases, Dallas Judge B.L. Brashear transferred the case to Judge J.C. Duvall's Fort Worth courtroom on a change of venue. Duvall said he expects a packed courtroom to view the film.

Six employees of the Guild Theater are charged with commercial obscenity following their arrest April 1. Commercial obscenity is a misdemeanor that carries a possible six-month county jail sentence and $1,000 fine.

The trial will be the first to determine whether the film is obscene.

Earlier this year, a federal judge prohibited showing of the film, saying it infringed on the trademarks of the Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders. The Cowboys organization claimed the film's star, Bambi Woods, was depicted performing sexual acts while wearing a uniform that looked like those Cowboy cheerleaders wear. That suit was settled when the contested scenes were deleted from the film.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Transportation Department is warning against misuse of T-type spare tires supplied as original equipment with some 1978 and 1979 model year cars. The tire is narrower than regular tires and mounted on a narrower rim, a combination that reduces tire weight for smaller cars and conserves trunk space. The spare is only designed for use until a conventional tire is repaired or replaced, the department said.

High Prices Scare Customers Away

CANDIA, N.H. (AP) — A New Hampshire gas station owner is trying to scare away customers with gas prices of 99.9 cents a gallon — at least according to his sign.

Norman Simano's gasoline really sells for under 80 cents a gallon, he said Friday, but he posted the inflated prices to drive away tourists so he'll have enough gasoline for his regular customers.

Simano said the local police came by Friday and tried to talk him into taking down the signs, saying they could charge him with deceiving the public. But he didn't take down the signs.

He lost almost half his customers in 1972, when his monthly gasoline allocation was dropped from 35,000 gallons to 12,000, he said. And he's worried again, told he may only get 16,000 gallons for April, after pumping 8,000 gallons the first eight days of the month.

News Show Presents War With No Victor Series

NEW YORK (AP) — Imagine 3,000 Soviet missiles, airborne, less than a half-hour from impact in the United States. There would be no defense, only retaliation, and hundreds of millions of people would be killed on both sides of the Atlantic.

"It's an over-simplified scenario, though a legitimate possibility," says Ted Koppel, diplomatic correspondent for ABC News and reporter for a unique two-week "Special Assignment" series beginning Monday evening on the network's "World News Tonight."

"A nuclear war is not going to explode out of the blue," says Koppel. "The Soviet Union, for example, will move several divisions into Saudi Arabia, and the United States will demand that they leave. The Russians will say, 'Stick it in your hat,' and the confrontation will escalate a step at a time."

The dramatized nuclear exchange, described in Tuesday night's installment of Koppel's 10-part report, brings into focus nonetheless the alarming prospect of war with no victor.

"I think people should be frightened by the possibility," says Koppel, who will have spent nearly three months on the series, called "Second to None?" "I don't think the prospect for nuclear war is something we should become complacent about."

"I think the American people tend to believe now that weapons systems and treaty negotiations are so sophisticated that they cannot understand them. One of the points of the series is to assure that some of the basic principles are understood, to show that they need to be understood."

A series the length of "Second to None?" is unusual for an evening network news program, and, says Koppel, "for whatever reason, ABC made an extraordinary commitment to this — the best people, producers, my research assistant, Jay Lamonia. With all of these people, working together, we have been able to turn out an unusual product."

Koppel, an ABC News correspondent since 1963, spent time at the North American Air Defense Command in Colorado, and visited NATO headquarters in Europe, as he developed the story. The series includes interviews with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance; Defense Secretary Harold Brown; Zbigniew Brzezinski, director of the National Security Council; and Bardi Tiran, director of the Defense Civil Preparedness Agency.

The second half of the series includes reports on the balance of conventional forces, the all-volunteer U.S. Army, political and military trends affecting this country and the Soviet Union, the effectiveness of U.S. intelligence, and the erosion of America's political will.

"There is maybe about this much chance of nuclear war," says Koppel, his thumb and forefinger about a half-inch apart. "But any chance is too much."

"And besides that, anything we say about what might happen is theory. With the exception of the bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, we have no nuclear experience. And that was not a nuclear exchange."

Nader Seeking Federal Oil Corporation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader said Sunday the government should establish a federal oil and gas corporation as "an energy producer of last resort" to protect Americans against shortages or high prices.

Nader, appearing on ABC News' "Issues and Answers," also repeated his recommendation that all U.S. nuclear plants be shut down immediately despite financial problems such as an action might create.

er's plan to decontrol prices of U.S.-produced oil, arguing that American oil companies "have had plenty of price increases in the last five years."

He said consumers should tell Carter and Congress that "if oil companies, getting four times in 1979 for new oil what they got in 1972, find that they don't have enough incentive to explore and produce oil, then perhaps it is time for us to think of a federal oil and gas corporation."

consumers more, it is basically a question, do they want to pay for it now or do they want to pay for it later when there are hundreds of nuclear plants and nuclear plant catastrophes," he said.

"There will come a day when there will be a major catastrophe near Chicago, Detroit or Boston and then we are really going to be in a fix as an economy and as a population," he said.

Nuclear plants produce about 12 percent of the nation's electricity but only about 3 percent of its total energy, he said, and he added that the 3 percent is "quite easily replaceable" through coal, conservation and other means.

"I think the federal government should spend its money, however, promoting solar energy," he said. "That is the most viable and the most humane and benign and abundantly supplied form of energy."

Revolutionary War Battle Recreated

BOSTON (AP) — Some people have hobbies like fishing or stamp collecting, but Bedford real estate salesman Calvin Chapman's pastime is re-enacting Revolutionary War battles.

Chapman, brigadier general of the Colonial army in Massachusetts, will don uniform, wig and musket today to join his troops in staging a replay of the Battle of Lexington, which signaled the start of the American Revolution.

He said he had asked for that step long before the recent accident at Three Mile Island nuclear plant in Pennsylvania "illustrated to millions of Americans" risks they might face.

He recommends emphasizing development of solar energy technology, an emphasis he said the Carter administration only talks about.

Nader said he opposes President Carter's plan to decontrol prices of U.S.-produced oil, arguing that American oil companies "have had plenty of price increases in the last five years."

He said consumers should tell Carter and Congress that "if oil companies, getting four times in 1979 for new oil what they got in 1972, find that they don't have enough incentive to explore and produce oil, then perhaps it is time for us to think of a federal oil and gas corporation."

The government should set up such a corporation — based roughly on the Tennessee Valley Authority — "which would explore and produce oil and gas on federal lands and which would be a yardstick to curb some of the excesses of the oil industry oligopoly," he said.

Reactivated Caribbean Volcano Reported Calm, But Lava Flowing

KINGSTOWN, St. Vincent (AP) — Soufriere volcano, which spewed rocks, ash and lava over this Caribbean island in two weekend eruptions, was calm Sun-

Apathy Altered By Ash

EDITOR'S NOTE — Soufriere is today a soothing crater spewing rocks and ashes over the Caribbean island of St. Vincent. Since the volcano erupted unexpectedly Friday morning, 10,000 persons have fled their homes, and U.S. and British relief forces are preparing for a possible evacuation of the island. Twenty-six days ago, Associated Press staffer Marie Barnes climbed Soufriere, then a steep, green peak covered with forests of bamboo and cedar.

By MARTIE BARNES
Associated Press Writer
GEORGETOWN, St. Vincent (AP) — Three weeks ago, St. Vincentians were nonchalant about their volcano. Soufriere had erupted only four times in 2½ centuries.

True enough, in 1902 it killed 2,000 persons and buried rich farmland in volcanic rock. But until last Friday, taxi drivers, guides and shopkeepers said they shunned their volcano out of familiarity, not fear.

To them, "Soufri" was just one of the many verdant mountains which lend this poor, rural island its rich variations in landscape.

"No point in paving a road up there," said Phyllis Peters, St. Vincent's only female cab driver. "No one from here goes."

Her amused expression made it clear she felt no one except a tourist would be foolish enough to try.

She took us on the first leg of our journey up the eastern side of the island to Georgetown, from where we headed west to the 4,048-foot peak with a jolting jeep ride over the volcanic graveyard of the Rabacca riverbed, "washed" away in the lava river of 1902. Next was a four-mile climb through forests of lush bamboo and pigeonberry, or cedar, to a quiet, eerie summit.

At the bamboo line, the furrowed road had become a footpath too steep and narrow for the jeep and we were left with another guide, Howard.

We climbed through tall, cool jungle, scrambled up bare stretches of fine, volcanic ash and crawled over chest-high volcanic rock. In three hours and about as many miles, we passed two people: a young logger washing his clothes in a stream and an old man in a cedar jungle making charcoal in a dark sand pit.

We found the lip of the volcano barren and gravel-dry with ash. In a crater about 200 feet below, a gray island smoked in a moat of blue water smelling of sulfur.

"When you smell, the water is hot," said Howard, who makes the climb sometimes three and four times a day, always barefoot.

He said fish once plentiful in the crater lake were killed during a minor eruption of 1972 which created the 324-foot lava island.

Across the crater, a lone hut perched on the edge, breaking the smooth curve

Funeral Disrupted By Firing Tear Gas

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Police disrupted a graveside service for an executed black activist, firing tear gas at his mother and other family members and friends, the Sunday Johannesburg Post reported.

The service was for Solomon Mahlangu, a 23-year-old student whose execution drew protests from President Carter and other world leaders. South African authorities called him a terrorist murderer, trained in guerrilla camps in Angola.

The Post said the Saturday incident began when police arrived at the cemetery as mourners began to pray and ordered them to disperse within 10 minutes.

Quoting Mahlangu's mother, Martha, the paper said that as she and other mourners began to leave, police fired teargas.

The Post, read mostly by blacks, quoted her as saying: "I was badly affected by the fumes and had to be helped out of the gate to a waiting car."

A few hours later, she said, police vans arrived at her home and ordered 50 students who were eating a post-service lunch on her lawn to leave within 10 minutes. She said police said only seven family members could remain.

Police confirmed the report and said arrests were made.

Mahlangu, hanged April 6, was involved in a shooting in a garage in June of 1977 in which two whites were killed. Police said he had not pulled the trigger but was as guilty as the man who had. The shooter suffered brain damage in a beating following the incident and was ruled unfit to stand trial. A third person escaped.

Thousands of mourners, including his mother, waited for hours for the delivery of his body after the execution. But police took it to another cemetery.

Under South African law an executed prisoner's corpse and grave are the property of the state. Mrs. Mahlangu was allowed to visit the grave the day after the execution.

New Junior Miss Crowned In Mobile

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Susan Horvath, a Pennsylvania high school senior who says she wants to study law and perhaps enter politics, has been crowned winner of the 22nd Junior Miss pageant.

The student at Westmont Hilltop Senior High in Johnstown won a $15,000 college scholarship with the title, along with a year of travel and appearances.

Contestants were judged for fitness, poise and appearance, scholastic achievement and creative and performing arts.

Miss Horvath's talent presentation was an original dance to themes from motion pictures. As she danced, she unveiled portraits she had painted of the movies' stars.

day and special monitoring devices showed no significant sign activity, seismologists reported.

Three U.S. Coast Guard helicopters, a plane and three cutters were on duty for reconnaissance and possible evacuation procedures. Reconnaissance flights Saturday over the steaming volcano showed two streams of lava flowing slowly down the sides of the 4,048-foot peak.

Coast Guard officials in Puerto Rico said the flights were hampered by clouds of ash and smoke, obscuring visibility.

On Sunday, seismologist John Sheppard of the University of the West Indies in Trinidad said special seismic devices showed only a low level of activity within the volcano. Sheppard said the volcano was at its lowest point of activity since an explosion Saturday.

When asked about the possibility of another eruption, he shrugged. "I don't think (about it)."

St. Vincent, a self-governing British protectorate, has a population of about 100,000. The volcano is away from the tourist and commercial areas of the island in the Lesser Antilles. The island is 18 miles long and 11 miles wide.

Officials said 1,500 residents have been sheltered in emergency relief centers since the first eruption early Friday. Authorities said 17,000 persons live in a 10-mile danger zone at the foot of the mountain.

Local officials have not reported casualties so far. But U.S. officials in Washington said Friday they had been informed that two infants were killed and others injured as the evacuation began. The report could not be confirmed.

Rescue supplies were arriving in increased numbers Sunday. Officials in Washington said 4,000 cots, 10,000 blankets plus cooking utensils for 600 families were being sent to St. Vincent from U.S. storage sites in Panama.

Britain has provided $20,000 to buy urgent supplies and was considering participation in an evacuation, if that becomes necessary, a Foreign Office spokesman in London said.

On Saturday, Premier Milton Cato described the second eruption, in which steam was shooting 20,000 feet into the air. He said the situation was "ominous" and asked American volcanologists to determine the possibility of a major eruption.

Cato said the specialists, Dr. Richard

Fisk of the Smithsonian Institution and Dr. Haraldur Sigurdsson of the University of Rhode Island, would try to determine if the two eruptions were caused by trapped steam or by a fresh accumulation of molten material, "which could prove to be of a far more serious nature."

The premier reported steam was seeping from the ground at Chateaubelair Island, off St. Vincent's northeast coast.

The last major eruption of Soufriere was in 1902. About 2,000 persons were killed. The volcano showed signs of activity in 1972 when it produced a 324-foot-long swath of lava on the lake formed by its crater. There was an evacuation of persons in the immediate area, but the volcano did not erupt.
