Crew blamed

WASHINGTON (AP) - A jetliner's flight crew caused North America's worst air crash but it was not guilty of a lack of discipline, a federal safety board concluded Friday.

The National Transportation Safety Board said the crew of Pacific Southwest Airlines flight 182 must bear the prime responsibility for the jet's collision with a small Cessna 172 over San Diego last Sept. 25. The two planes plunged into a residential area, killing 144 persons.

The dead included all 135 persons on the PSA Boeing 727, an instructor and a student in the Cessna and seven persons on the ground.

City hall bombed

ROME (AP) - A powerful bomb tore the door from Rome's stately city hall Friday and heavily damaged the Renaissance structure that houses offices of the Marxist mayor. Rightists claimed responsibility for the blast on the square designed by Michelangelo.

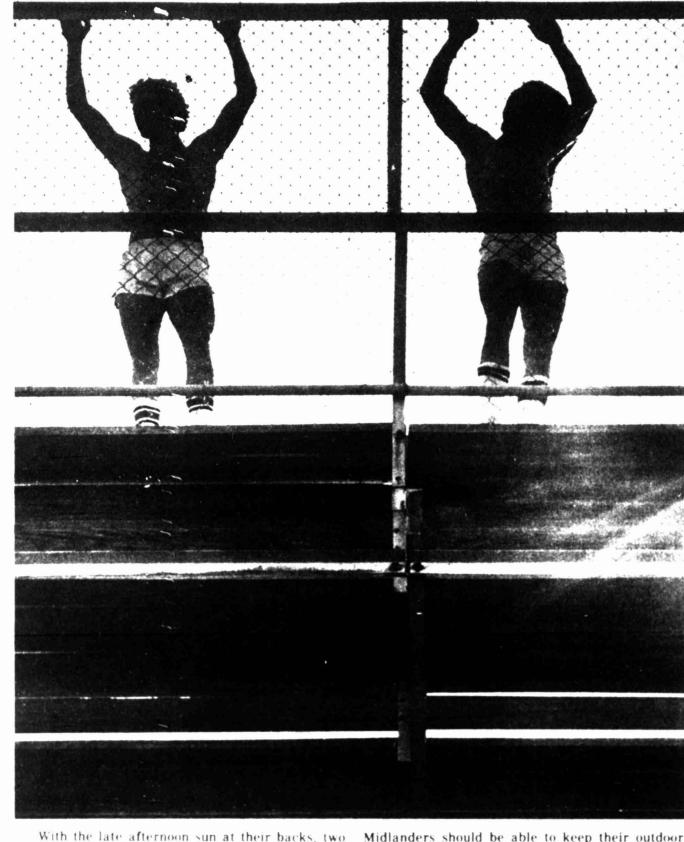

Police sources said it was the worst assault on a major work of art here since a hammer wield ing Australian geologist broke off the left arm and disfigured the face of the Madonna in Michelangelo's Pieta in St. Peter's Basilica in 1972.

Young crane dies

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) One of the rare whooping crane eggs being tended by foster jungle fowl hens hatched Thursday, but the chick immediately died, David McKelvey, senior aviculturist at the San Antonio Zoo, reported Friday

Two other fertile eggs are still being tended by the bantam hens, while two have been sent to the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center in Laurel Md for incubation, McKelvey said

New fuel cost plan ordered

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Public Utility Commission voted Friday to devise a new method by which electric customers pay for the rising cost of generating fuel

The commission ordered its staff to immediately develop a plan under which fuel costs would be recovered through the base rate instead of by monthly fuel adjustment charges now added to electric bills.

Pointing out that "it is not our intent to disallow recovery costs," Commissioner Alan Erwin said a new proposal should be presented to the commission "within two months

The order will not affect the operations of approximately 50 municipally owned electric utility companies, which are not under commission jurisdiction

The decision came as the commission ordered Texas Electric Service Co., Dallas Power & Light and Texas Power & Light to refund $3.2 million to customers

Under the order, DP&L customers will receive $100,000 in refunds. TP&L was ordered to refund $1.15 million to its customers, and TESCO customers will receive $1.6 million in refunds

Refunds will come through lowered fuel adjustment charges during the next billing cycle, according to the ruling

The rebates were ordered as the result of an unauthorized hike in the interest rates charged Texas Utilities Generating Company for advance payments on electricity purchases.

The commission had authorized a 7 percent rate, but each of the three utilities raised the rate to 915 percent without obtaining legal permission.

The companies, subsidiaries of the Texas Utilities system, serve customers in North. Central. East and West Texas, including Dallas. Fort Worth, Arlington, Midland, Odessa, Wichita Falls and Big Spring

Commission staff members conducted a six month investigation of alleged improper energy transactions among the three companies. Investigators questioned the sale of partial ownership in the Martin Lake lignite power plant near Henderson

TP&L sld some of its interest in the plant to both TESCO and DP&L. However, TESCO agreed to furnish TP&L with electricity generated from its cheapest natural gas supply

The commission staff recommended TESCO be ordered to refund more than $17 million to its 484,000 customers. TP&L should return $1.2 million and DP&L $500,000, the staff said

The commission ruled that TESCO and DP&L "are public utilities and are not affiliates of public utilities" and said the Martin Lake transaction was not in violation of the Public Utilities Act-

But commissioners added that such future transfers of ownership involv ing power plants and transmission lines would have to be certified by the commission

The transfer of electricity generated with the cheaper gas between TESCO and TP&L also was terminated by the commission order.

Erwin said that including fuel cost recovery charges on base rate com putations would "give electric companies an incentive to produce power efficiently with the cheapest fuel they can obtain" which he contended they don't do now

raid Mozambique

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) Rhodesian warplanes struck neigh boring Mozambique on Friday in their first cross-border raid since the start of five day elections here for limited black rule. Voter turnout edged toward the government's prediction of 60 percent with one day to

A military communique said only that planes hit guerrilla bases in southern Mozambique and came home safely. No details were given and there was no immediate comment from Mozambique

Election officials said 57.1 percent of an estimated 2.8 million eligible voters had voted for what will be Rhodesia's first black majority government since British empire builder Cecil Rhodes founded the nation 90 vears ago

Guerrillas have vowed to disrupt the elections, which they say are a sell out to white minority interests. Police reported a "fairly busy day" with guerrillas Friday. They said 27 persons were killed, including three blacks who hit a mine as they walked to a voting booth.

Freedom House, an American based human rights organization that sent observers here said the elections represented a "significant advance" toward black rule

An interim report by the 38 year old organization said "the country has never had so inclusive and free an election."

The Freedom House team includes Leonard Sussman, executive direc tor, former New York Congressman Allard Lowenstein and black civil rights activist Bayard Rustin

The U.S. government refused to send official observers because it has insisted upon internationally supervised elections with the participation of externally based guerrilla movements

Almost 70 observers have turned up from Western nations, including unof ficial representatives from the United States

Foreign Minister P.K. van der Byl declared that he felt foreign govern ments would find it "impossible to argue" with what he described as the tremendous success" of the electrons.

He called the turnout a "total confirmation" of the March 1978 agree ment that set up the plan for a "government of national unity

This week's elections are for 72 seats in the nation's first black major its parliament. Whites, although only 3 percent of the population, will maintain 28 seats in the 100 member legislature and four Cabinet posts. Whites will retain control of security forces, the judiciary and civil service for at least five years.

Rhodesia broke away from Britain in 1965 to head off black majority rule As a result no nation recognizes the Salisbury government. Rhodesia hopes the elections under way will lead to recognition and a lifting of the trade embargo honored by most nations.

MARC reshaping image of retardation

By ED TODD Staff Writer

How do you "treat" a mentally retarded person?

Just like you would a 'regular' person," said Paul Sueltenfuss, exec utive director of the Midland Association for Retarded Citizens (MARC)

They're people, just like everybody else, except for a handicap that some times is readily noticeably, sometimes not

Unfortunately, "they" have been maligned, ridiculed, misunderstood and ignored throughout much of history

Fortunately, that's changing

And Sueltenfuss and other concerned Midlanders, such as Puff Ay cock, are trying to re-shape the image and, at the same time, help the mentally retarded hold themselves in esteem by constant improvement

Labels such as "idiot," "imbecile," "moron" and "dolt" have been used cruelly and without thinking to cause a mentally deficient person to feel — and behave — as a castaway.

And the label too often sticks

"It's like epileptic people," said Ms. Aycock, an MARC director. "People think they have 'fits' instead of 'seizures'

Ms. Aycock has been working with the retarded for about 20 years. Sometimes I forget they're retarded." she said

The retarded, who are as strangers to many Midlanders but loved by their families and friends, make up about 3 percent of any community. noted Sueltenfuss. And for Midland, that means that about 2,500 of the city's 75,000 people live with varying degrees of retardation.

The retarded in Midland become a focal point today when the annual Hike Bike Ride Run for the Retarded gets under way at 8 a.m. at the Opportunity Center, 2701 N. A St.

Retarded folks join the so-called "regulars" in the annual event. An estimated 160 or more Midlanders will be walking, running, jogging. wheelchairing, bicycling, horse riding and unicycling for the sake of the retarded

Money is raised by sponsors pledging a certain amount for each mile traveled - by whatever means other than motorized - by the partici pants

Last year, 160 participants raised almost $30,000 for the retarded and MARC Sueltenfuss recalled an elderly lady, in another time and place, who was unable to make the actual trek. But she rocked in her chair for hours to raise funds.

She was very elderly, and she had lots of practice at it. I guess," he said

"We haven't had anybody (in Midland) in a rocking chair, yet," Sueltenfuss said

Since the first Hike Bike Ride Run for the Retarded here in the early 1970s, the Midland MARC-sponsored event has ranked No. 1 nationally since 1974 in funds collected in Hike-Bike Happenings for the Retarded. So far, not even the elements of nature have stopped the event, Ms.

Event to fund several programs

Avcock said.

"One year, we had a blowing sandstorm," she said. "We had rain (in another year), but we carried on Helping drum up interest in the event have been professional golfer Judy Rankin of Midland and St. Louis Cardinals baseball player Tom Brahaney, who are honorary chairmen for the Hike-Bike Happening.

Sueltenfuss said the perennial success of the annual event is largely due to the concept of Midland people taking care of their own. Ninety-five percent of the money raised for the MARC program stays in Midland. 'All the money we collect stays in the community...and I think that's probably why we have so much support.

The money made in the "Hike-Bike Happening" goes toward programs such as:

Sitter-Companion Program: This program trains people to sit with and care for those who have developmental disablilities. Coordinator is Bobbie Martin Sitters under go 20 hours of formal training before they even start "sitting," Sueltenfuss said.

Some work at the Opportunity Center, "where the more profoundly retarded children are," Ms. Aycock said.

Basically, the sitting program allows parents, particularly mothers and others who take care of retarded children at home, time to go shopping, on outings, to church and other activities

Sitters are paid the minimum wage, $2.90 an hour, by MARC. And those for whom they "sit" may or may not pay something for the service, based upon a sliding scale according to income.

Citizen Advocacy: Friends of the retarded advocate "their (retarded citizens) rights on a one-to-one basis," Sueltenfuss said. This could include defending a retarded citizen's right to work, to hold a job, to apply for a bank account and many things ordinarily taken for granted.

Citizen Advocacy, too, is "just being a friend," Ms. Aycock said.

Doug Merz heads up the CA program, which is "fueled" by volunteers.

Volunteers, for example, take the retarded to ball games, movies or just 'go out to get a cola.'' They also help in counseling.

In its many facets, Citizen Advocacy helps the retarded develop "a sense of independence," Sueltenfuss said.

The activities by the volunteer and his friend, said Sueltenfuss, are simply this:

"In short, it's what you and I would do with the best friend that we have.

TARS: TARS is for Teens Aid the Retarded. And in this program, teenagers "do things" with the retarded citizens. Activities include swimming, dancing, camping, hiking in the outdoors and working in arts and crafts

MARC was organized in 1959 by parents of retarded children.

Reactor's temperature below boiling

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) - Temperatures in Three Mile Island's devastated reactor dropped below the boiling point for the first time Friday, 24 days after the nation's worst nuclear accident.

Technicians reported temperatures dropped 60 degrees since Thursday after more steam was allowed to escape from the reactor's primary coolant system while cold water was added. It stood at 175 degrees, 37 below the boiling point, as of 3 p.m. Friday. Officials said the temperature will be held at that level.

The hottest spot in the damaged uranium core, exposed when a series of human and mechanical errors robbed it of vital cooling water, dropped by 54 degrees to 276 degrees

Victor Stello, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's operations chief, said he will provide a timetable next week on when the plant will be taken to cold shutdown

'This is taking a lot longer than any of us would have wished." he said "The plant is not considered to be in a cold shutdown condition. That will come when the plant is on natural circulation.

Stello said decay heat will be present in the reactor core for about 150 days, but cooling water will keep it harnessed. NRC spokesman Karl Abraham said the drop in temperature came as echnicians released more steam through a turbine and simultaneously pumped fresh water into the cooling system

Keith D. Nootbaar, right, an Oklahoma State University sophomore majoring in electrical engineering, talks with Steve Guest, vice president of Central Telephone Co. of Davenport, Okla. Nootbaar, son of Janie Adams of Midland and Paul Nootbaar of Paden, Okla., will receive a $500 academic scholarship sponsored jointly by the Sooner Chapter of Independent Telephone Pioneers and the Oklahoma Telephone Association.

Clements won't reveal his stand on primary

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Despite advance notice that he will veto any home interest increases. Gov Bill Clements said Friday he will not tip his hand in advance on his plans for a presidential primary

"I do now this," Clements old a news conference, "I think the peopleof Texas want a presidential primarv

Earlier in the week, Sen Walter Mengden, R-Houston, was quoted as saying Clements would veto any bill that called for a presidential primary on a separate date from the May primary elections.

Clements refused to confirm Mengden's statement. "I have not made up my mind," he told a news confer-

Weekend may include showers

While the weatherman is holding out a little hope for more rainfall, he's only putting a 30 percent chance on his prediction.

Partly cloudy with a chance of showers or thundershowers is the official word from the National Weather Service office at Midland Regional Airport.

Even without the rain, high today is expected to be only in the upper-70s, with the overnight low in the low 50s. Sunday should be a little warmer with the mercury topping out in the upper 70s and the skies expected to be partly cloudy with a chance for rain continu-

Winds should be from the east or southeast at only 10-15 mph today and tonight.

Friday's high was 83 degrees, only 10 marks below the record of 93 set in 1964. The overnight low was 57, nowhere near the record of 35 set in 1933.

No rain was recorded Friday, leaving the monthly accumulation at 1.63 inches and the total to date at 2.86.

"I am positively not going to announce a veto on this subject prior to the time it gets to my desk," he said. 'That goes for any special sessions too Meanwhile, the House made a move that apparently guarantees the presidential primary issue will become one of the end-of-session topics settled by 10-member conference committees, along with state spending and school finance issues.

House members approved on voice vote an amendment to their version of the general appropriation bill that says no state money can be used to finance a presidential primary unless it is held at the same time as the regular May primary election. Some representatives said they could locate only about 40 votes, out of the 150, against the amendment, even without a record vote.

Clements said he had talked with Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Bill Clements this week about the presidential primary question.

"There wasn't any money in the bill for it anyway," Clayton said after the House vote. "I don't think we will know what the sentiment is on it (a presidential primary bill) until we get it out on the floor and vote on it.'

Clayton said he was continuing to consult legislative leaders in Arkansas. Oklahoma and Louisiana about holding separate presidential primaries at the same time in March, ahead of the regular primary elections.

Hobby has been a staunch supporter of a separate presidential primary in March for some time. On other subjects, Clements told the news conference: That he was sticking with his pledge to veto any effort to raise home interest rates from 10 to 12 and he found no crisis among Texans seeking new homes.

- That he still expects the legislature to pass a state spending bill that will leave $1 billion for tax relief.

"It's sort of the same thing as standing under a shower that's a mixture of warm and cold water and you suddenly turned up the cold water. That would lower the average temperature of your shower. And that's really what's happening here," he said

"It shows we're getting everything down in temperature and continue to approach cold shutdown. That's the main objective we have now," he added

The heat comes from the core's 100 tons of uranium fuel. The NRC reported earlier that none of the uranium melted, but its protective shields were cracked and bent

NRC spokesman Jan Strasma said the plant is not considered in cold shutdown because an independent backup cooling system is still being designed. It would help establish natural cooling circulation, preventing the reactor from heating up again.

Figures reflect monthly costs

Figures supplied by Midland County Hospital District regarding rising hospital costs and published in the Thursday edition of the Reporter Telegram were incorrect.

The hospital district furnished statistics that showed the costs for electricity jumping from $30,000 to $100,-000 per month over the last three vears.

The correct figure is from $30,000 to $100,000 a year over the last three vears.

Balloting 'average'

With only two full days of absentee balloting to go, 142 people have cast early ballots in the April 28 runoff for the Place 6 spot on the Midland school board.

The number, according to district spokesmen, is "about average for a runoff."

Absentee balloting in the contest between incumbent Ed Runyan and Alice M. Greer will continue through 5 p.m. Tuesday at the school district office at 702 N. N St

The runoff became apparent April 7 when Runyan led the balloting against his three opponents for the seat, but failed to obtain a majority of the votes cast.

Regular balloting for the election will be from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. April 28 awards, honors at city banquet

Thursday was a night of awards and honors for many of the students involved in Midland Junior Achievement

Two seniors, Patty Adams and Bill Creager, were awarded $500 J.A. scholarships at the awards banquet in the Midland Hilton.

Next year's J.A. officers, Jeri Justice, president; Cindy Yonts, vice president, and Cheryl Whitaker, secretary, also were presented.

Achievers selected as delegates to the National Junior Achievers Conference in Bloomington, Ind., included Teresa Landis, Mona Pitchford, Rae Wright, Stacy Hall, Ralph Kenney, Sheila Cox, Paul Philpy, Trace Bernard, Patty Adams and Bill Creager. Each student will have his way paid by the Midland group for the oneweek convention this August. Alternates to the conference include Billy Price, Paul Becker, Kia Stump and Brandy Phillips.

MAGTRIC, COUNSELED by Texas Electric Service Co., was selected as company of the year, an honor denoting excellence in management, sales and achievement by company members

Nine of the 17 companies in Midland Junior Achievement, or 53 percent, qualified for company of the year competition. That is almost twice the national average of 23 percent.

First runner up for company of the year was Ambition, counseled by Exxon Co. U.S.A. Go-Co, counseled by Continental Oil Co., was second runner up.

Other firms qualifying for company of the year included Conquest, counseled by Shell Oil Co.; Cadellco, counseled by Gulf Oil Co.; Classique, counseled by Atlantic Richfield Co.; Midco, counseled by Drilco Industrial; Norvechco, counseled by Chevron U.S.A., Inc., and Jabco, counseled by Ortloff Corp.

Each of the companies qualifying for company of the year competition received a plaque, a practice that was started only last year. This may have helped raise the number of companies reaching the level of excellence needed to compete for the honor, according to J.A. Executive Director Gary Peterson. Last year, for instance, 38 percent of the companies in Midland qualified to compete for the award.

ANOTHER PROGRAM initiated last year to help companies qualify for company of the year honors is the Blue Chip award. Knab Creations, counseled by the Midland National Bank was the only other company to get a blue chip award for at least one month.

Companies meeting National Junior Achievement standards for making profits, keeping up attendance, wages, salaries and commissions include Abbland, counseled by Abbott Building Co. and the city of Midland; Ghetto-K, counseled by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., Knab Creations, counseled by Midland National Bank. and Mudco, counseled by Adobe Oil & Gas Co.

Officers of the year were chosen on the basis of tests on their knowledge of economics, J.A. in general and their officer duties. Bill Creager was selected as president of the year, with Patty Adams as runner up.

Vice president of sales of the year is Paul Philpy. Sheila Cox was treasurer of the year with Ralph Kenney as runner up. Top vice president of manufacturing for the year is Trace Bernard. Stacy Hall copped the vice president of personnel award and Rae Wright is runner up for that honor.

Teresa Landis was honored as top appointed officer and corporate secretary of the year.

Recipients of the executive awards, highest progressive awards ranking after officers of the year, were Sheila Cox of Classique, Teresa Landis of Magtric and Paul Philpy of Conquest

WINNERS of the junior executive awards were Mark Cox of Midco, Ralph Kenney of Ambition, Lydia Lee of Conquest, Bruce Philpy of Conquest and Leslie Reid of Ambition.

Those receiving achiever awards were Roger Lee of Conquest, Diane Newland of Magtric, Mona Pitchford of Cadellco, Kevin Pool of Norvechco and Kris Stump of Ambition.

Achievers honored at the banquet for three years of perfect attendance included Brandy Phillips, Teresa Landis, Stacy Hall, Paul Becker and Connie Hodges.

Honored for two years of perfect attendance were Kia Stump and Sylvia Renteria.

Ambition, counseled by Exxon Co. of the U.S.A., Inc. was the only company to receive the $3,000 sales award at the banquet.

Awards of $1,000 went to Abbland, counseled by Abbott Building Co. and the city of Midland; Classique, counseled by Atlantic Richfield Co.; Go-Co, counseled by Continental Oil Co., and Midco, counseled by Drilco industrial.

Individual achievers who joined the $1,000 sales club included Paul Becker, who become second highest salesman in Midland's J.A. history with $1,760 in sales, and Diane Newland.

Those joining the $500 sales club were Teresa Landis, Jeri Justice and Kia Stump.

Chris Parker was honored as top salesman, with Patty Adams taking second place in the contest. Parker placed fourth in a competition with the best salesmen from J.A. clubs in five states held Thursday in Fort Worth. The best salesmen representing the 9,400 Achievers in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Mississippi competed in the Fort Worth contest.

MIDLAND J.A. businesses participated in three trade fairs during the year. Honored for the March 3 trade fair at Dellwood Mall were Conquest, first place in units sold; Cadellco, second in units sold; Conquest, first in sales dollars; Norvechco, second in sales dollars; Conquest, first in company information display; Cadellco, second in company information display; Jabco, first in free enterprise display, and Knab Creations, second in free enterprise display.

Top companies in the Feb. 10 sales rally in Hobbs, N.M., were Magtric, first in sales dollars; Ambition, first in units sold; Conquest, second for units sold; Midco, second for sales dollars. Third place for units sold was a tie between Cadellco and Unical. Unical was third in sales doilars.

Top companies in the Nov. 18 J.A. trade fair at Dellwood Mall in both sales and company information displays were Magtric, first; Cadellco, second; and Go-Co, third. For free enterprise display, top award went to Magtric, followed by Ghetto-K and Knab Creations.

Davis granted divorce, ordered to pay $3.3 million settlement

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Industrialist Cullen Davis was granted a divorce Friday by a judge who ordered him to pay $3.3 million to the wife he is accused of trying to kill.

But the judge said Priscilla Davis, 37, who had sought $50 million, must surrender the couple's $6 million mansion within 30 days.

State District Judge Clyde Ashworth, the third judge to preside over the nearly 5-year-old proceeding, also said she could keep her luxury car, personal belongings and her horse, Freedom.

Ashworth ruled that Davis acquired the majority of his vast fortune before he married Priscilla. He said Davis made $6,649,999 during the couple's stormy 10-year marriage and ruled Mrs. Davis would receive half that amount.

He also ordered Davis to pay the couple's taxes for 1978 and all previous vears

Lawyers for Mrs. Davis had argued she was due half the $100 million they claimed Davis realized in corporate profits from his 84-company business empire. They also contended she should receive the mansion, her personal belongings and her car in any settlement. Ashworth awarded Mrs. Davis' lawyers $1.25 million, ordered Davis to pay half and ruled Mrs. Davis must pay the remainder.

not hurt. Eidson disqualified himself from the divorce case and was replaced by retired State District Judge John Barron, who then became embroiled in a squabble with Tarrant County prosecutors when they subpoenaed trial records.

After reporters learned Barron had met privately with Davis, Barron disqualified himself. He denied any wrongdoing and said he met with both parties separately trying to arrange an out-of-court settlement.

Rubber workers call off strike, still oppose wage guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United Rubber Workers union called off a threatened weekend strike in the rubber industry Friday after snubbing the White House in a dispute over President Carter's voluntary wage guidelines.

'There will be no strike at midnight tonight," when current contracts covering 55,000 rubber workers expire, URW spokeswoman Janis Froelich said from Akron, Ohio, where the union is based.

She said negotiators from the union and "Big Four" tire makers - Goodyear, Goodrich, Firestone and Uniroyal - planned to resume negotiations Monday.

Chief federal mediator Wayne L. Horvitz said he expects to move the talks to Washington on Monday.

URW President Peter Bommarito, who rebuffed a White House request for a meeting here Friday, had indicated that the union might strike Uniroyal at 12:01 a.m. Saturday if agreement on a new three-year contract was not reached by then. Cancellation of any strike plans came shortly after Carter's chief inflation advisers vowed to use all the powers available to the administration to keep a rubber industry settlement within the government's 7 percent annual wage ceiling.

The administration summoned union and industry bargainers to the White House for separate meetings after Bommarito said he had won and then lost - a settlement far exceeding the 7 percent standard, a figure Bommarito has rejected as inadequate.

Bommarito agreed to the meeting Thursday, but unexpectedly cancelled out on Friday, saying he misunderstood the purpose of the sessions.

He said he thought the discussion would focus on his charge that Uniroyal had tentatively agreed to new economic terms but then reneged. Instead, he said, "the real purpose of the meetings was to discuss the Carter administration's wage-price guidelines."

The administration's highly unusual 11th-hour intervention into the contract dispute was a clear signal by Carter's inflation team that it was intent on pressuring bargainers to stay within the guidelines.

Carter's advisers met as planned Friday afternoon with chief executives from the major tire companies. The advisers had planned to meet afterward with Bommarito.

At the start of the session with the company executives, Carter's chief inflation adviser, Alfred E. Kahn, said the meeting was called because of reports that some of the companies tentatively agreed to contracts "substantially in excess of the wage standards." Kahn said rumors of those settlements persisted despite denials by the companies.

Kahn also said he called the parties to the White House to express "our firm view that the guidelines are alive and we have every intention of using every power at our disposal to make sure that they are complied with."

Charles Schultze, chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, said the companies were warned of "the consequences" if the voluntary pay standards were violat-

He did not detail consequences, but the companies could be threatened with the loss of contracts to sell tires to the government if they exceed the guidelines

Bommarito said from his union's headquarters in Akron, Ohio, "If through their mathematic gymnastics the government can find a way to state that our agreement is in compliance with the guidelines, I have no objection. I do not, however, intend to be a party to it."

Charles J. Pilliod, Goodyear's chairman, said as he arrived for the meeting that "I would hope" to reach an agreement that falls within the guidelines.

Bommarito, who repeatedly has vowed to ignore the guidelines, announced Thursday he had reached tentative agreement on new economic terms with Uniroyal, Firestone and Goodrich, but still had other issues to resolve. The three companies, however, denied any agreement had been reached.

Later Thursday, Bommarito, charging that an unnamed Uniroyal executive had reneged on the agreement, said he had approval from his executive board to seek wage and fringe benefit boosts of more than 30 percent over three years.

On Friday, an industry source said the terms Bommarito was seeking would mean wage and benefit boosts "in excess of 40 percent" over three years - or mre than 13 percent a vear.

Carter's advises then called for Friday's meeting, "because they were terrified there would be a settlement way above the guidelines," said the source, who asked not to be named.

The source said the URW's demands include general wage increases of about $1.20 an hour over three years, an improved cost-of-living formula that would generate additional wage boosts and "major im-provements" in pensions and other fringe benefits.

"As far as I know, nobody (at the companies) ever agreed to a package of that size," said the source.

Currently, rubber workers average about $8 an hour and receive fringe benefits worth about $3 an hour.

Before Thursday's turn of events, Goodyear was the only tire maker to propose a full economic offer, according to the union. The offer adhered strictly to the guidelines, offering a boost in wages and benefits of 7 percent a year. Bommarito rejected the offer.

Carter's inflation advisers say the wage guidelines were bent - but not broken - by the recent Teamsters union settlement on a new national contract for 300,000 members in the trucking industry.

Because of concessions granted by the administration, the Teamsters won contract boosts they estimate at more than 9 percent a year. But the administration maintains that the settlement still falls within the guide-

The administration previously has said the rubber negotiations, along with the Teamsters talks and upcoming auto negotiations, would be a major test of the success of Carter's guidelines.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Bob Woodward, whose reporting with Carl Bernstein on the Watergate scandal won a Pulitzer Prize for the Washington Post, will become the newspaper's assistant managing editor for metropolitan news on May 1, the Post announced Friday.

Woodward has been an investigative reporter and deputy metropolitan editor in recent years. Bernstein left the paper in 1976 to write books.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) - Socialite Louise Vanderbilt has lost her bid for an appeal of her eviction, and her landlord says he plans to put her out of one of her two Newport apartments within a week.

The state Supreme Court decided on Thursday not to hear Mrs. Vanderbilt's request for an appeal of a Superior Court eviction order.

The landlord, Harry B.B. Casey, wants to evict Mrs. Vanderbilt from one of the two apartments she rents in a Victorian house because she paid her March rent five days late.

Last year, she joined a low-income tenants group to fight for rent control after Casey tried to raise her rent from $940 a month for both apartments to $2,700.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) - When he took office in January, Gov. Fob James said he would cut his own pay from $50,000 a year to. $45,000.

Then he was told he couldn't do it. State law fixes the salary at $50,000, and the state constitution says it cannot be raised or lowered during a governor's term.

Friday James told reporters "we broke the law" and he is drawing only $45,000. And he added, "if someone sues us for not taking the right pay, it would make an interesting lawsuit."

However, his office said he is getting $50,000 because the state comptroller has to pay it in accordance with the law. So James decided, his office said, to turn the money back in later.

Lost' cathedral getting facelift

By SETH MYDANS

MOSCOW (AP) - One of the best-known buildings in the world, Red Square's St. Basil's Cathedral, has disappeared inside what the Russians call a "forest" of scaffolding for a rare restoration.

From now until autumn, the 10-domed church that looks something like a giant multicolored tutti frutti will be a fuzzy blur of iron piping beside the Kremlin, from its 16th century foundations to its glittering golden crosses.

As soon as Moscow's spring frosts melt, a band of 120 workmen trained in ancient construction techniques will begin cleaning the grime - from a nearby power plant - off the cluster of onionshaped domes decorated like a cornucopia of pineapples and artichokes.

Meanwhile, historians are climbing about on the scaffolding, searching the building's vaults and crevices for clues to its history.

According to legend, the czar was so pleased with the work of his architects, Barma and Postnik, that he had their eyes put out. But Sobolev laughed off this story, noting the two men did later work "which would have been very difficult if they had been enough power for 1,000 state official says it will be "the biggest wind energy system going on the planet.

Edward Terhaar of the state Department of Water Resources used that phrase to describe the $75 million project, which is being undertaken by U.S. Windpower Inc. of Massachusetts.

The 20, three-bladed windmills will be erected at Pacheco Pass about 80 miles south of here, with each of the units generating a maximum of 50 kilowatts.

The windmills' blades whirl in a 50-foot circle on 150-foot-high towers. Each tower will hold three generators.

Once the windmills are in operation, the state will buy power from the company - at rates equivalent to those for power from other sources.

If successful, the company will put up several hundred more windmills at Pacheco on a stateowned site, and in other areas in California.

The project - subject to state environmental review - was announced during a meeting in San Francsico this week of the American Wind Energy Association.

Alvin Duskin, formerly a San Francisco garment manufacturer and now an executive vice president of the windmill firm, said winds whip through the Pacheco Pass at 16-20 mph, making it one of the most favorable locations in the state for the experiment.

"California seemed a likely place to start be-cause of its long-standing support of solar power energy," Duskin said.' He said favorable tax regulations made wind energy an attractive investment and that the Burlington, Mass., company has found nearly all of the necessary inves-tors for funding the project.

But despite the legal ban on discrimination, and the rapid advances made by Nigerian women in recent years, traditional restraints on women still persist in a country where half the population is Moslem.

"The problem is not so much one of the rights and opportunities that are denied them," the newspaper Times of Lagos commented recently, "rather it is the question of attitudes towards them.

While no women have yet reached Cabinet-level positions in the Nigerian federal government, many are running for offices in upcoming state and federal legislative elections. Some have scaled the pinnacles of the civil service and diplomatic life.

Francesca Emanuel, a descendant of slaves who returned from bondage in Brazil, is permanent secretary of the Ministry of Establishments, the equivalent of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, and as such is the highest ranking woman in the Nigerian government.

In the diplomatic sphere, Mrs. R.T. Mohammed has become Nigeria's first woman ambassador, serving in Botswana, a key political listening post on the border of South Africa.

Although women still account for only 10 percent to 15 percent of Nigeria's university population, they are beginning to attain key positions even in the predominantly Moslem northern part of this West African nation.

Professor Deborah Enilo Ajukaiye heads the physics department at Ahmadu Bello University in the mainly Moslem state of Zaria. And in Kaduna, also a heavily Moslem area, Margaret Miller is a judge.

Nigerian women have also traditionally controlled the country's retail economy, reigning supreme in the markets where much of the country's trade is transacted.

In fact some of the market women have moved into a kind of international trade, flying to neighboring countries with their bundles of merchandise and their babies strapped to their backs.

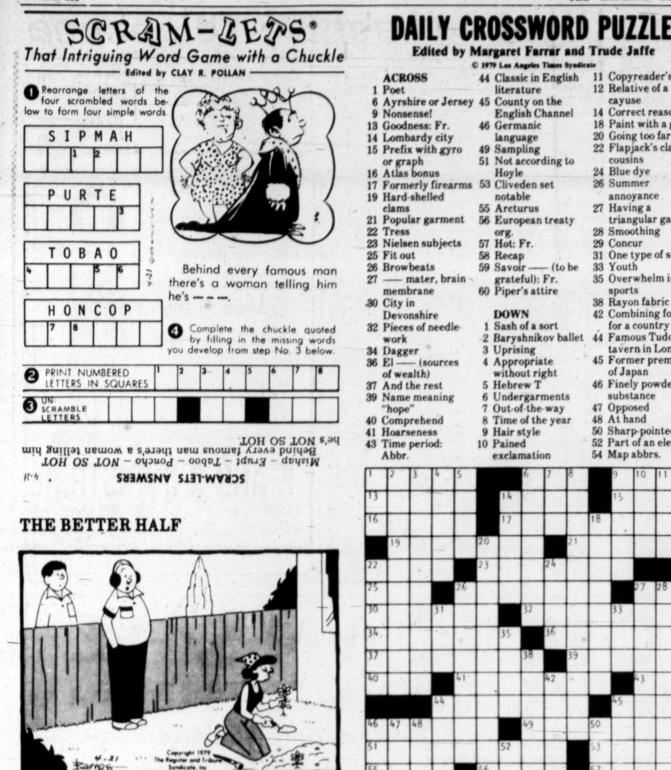

Although some women have made giant strides in Nigerian public life, most are still confined to traditional work at home and in the fields.

"In the country, " says Peju Alade, a veteran Nigerian Radio Corp. announcer, "women share in the field work, and have the housework as well."

U.S. District Judge William Bryant, however, said that "there comes a time when a child has some inherent rights." Despite the parents' claim that transfusions are prohibited by the Bible, he ruled that blood be given if necessary.

USAC puts clamps on Midland's Jim Hall

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A week-long standoff ended Friday when the U.S. Auto Club notified six of the rival Championship Auto Racing Teams that their entries for the May 27 Indianapolis 500 had been rejected because they were "not in good standing with USAC."

Included in USAC's decision, which affected 19 of the record 103 entries, was the Midland entry of Jim Hall and driver Al Unser, the defending Indy 500 racing team. Hall heads up Midland's Chaparral Racing Ltd; and he happens to be on the Board of Directors of CART. Hall had developed a "ground effects" racing car for this. year's Indy 500, and was expected to make a strong bid for a second straight title.

Hall's 500 victory last year came in his first attempt, and he has been a vocal critic of USAC.

Neither Hall or Unser could be reached Friday for comment. Chaparral Racing is scheduled to race Sunday in a televised race in Atlanta, and the team has already departed for Georgia

The Longhorn Racing Team, owned by Midland's Bobby Hillin, was not mentioned by USAC as "not in good standing." Hillin and driver Tom Bagley are also. members of CART.

Other drivers such as Bobby Unser, Johnny Rutherford and Gordon Johncock, all former Indy 500 winners, were also turned down by USAC.

All of the CART owners and drivers were in Atlanta for practice and qualifications for a CART-sanctioned race on Sunday. A spokesman for Atlanta International Speedway said a meeting, presumably involving the CART owners, was scheduled later Friday.

Rutherford, contacted in Atlanta, said, "Everyone seems to be in total shock and disbelief. I really don't know what the move will be. I just don't know what to say. We will probably go to our lawyers and see what recourse to take.'

The track spokesman, Bobby Batson, said the trackside feeling was that USAC's action was a move to split the CART ranks, although USAC's Paul Reinhard said in Indianapolis it was "not taken to be vindictive."

"We didn't take the action against the whole group," Reinhard said. "Each case was judged separately. The board felt that these six people had been taking action that was not good for racing in general, the (Indianapolis Motor) Speedway and USAC.'

The other CART teams affected were Penske Racing Inc., of Reading Pa.,; Patrick Racing Team Inc., of Indianapolis; Team McLaren, Ltd of Livonia, Mich., Fletcher Racing Team of Phoenix, Ariz.; and Dan Gurney and Teddy Yip of Santa Ana, Calif.

The CART drivers were not affected by the action, Reinhard said. "The drivers could still come in and drive another car. At this point, it is just against the entries, not the drivers.'

Reinhard, the USAC public relations director, said he didn't feel the move was an attempt to split the CART ranks. 'The reaction could be that it's a move like that, but I don't see it that way. Each one was reviewed separately. We've worked at trying to put something together, and it wasn't working.

"It's just the overall thing taking place. These guys were the nucleus of a concerted effort to be harmful to auto racing ... more specifically, to USAC and the Indianapolis Motor Speedway

Reinhard said 17 of the 21 members of the USAC board met about five hours Thursday. They included Speedway president Joe Cloutier, Indy chief steward Tom Binford, USAC president Dick King, USAC chairman Reynold MacDonald. car owner Rolla Vollstedt and drivers Gary Bettenhausen and Roger McCluskey.

CART broke from USAC late last year in a dispute over control of championship racing. CART signed a five-year sanction agreement with the Sports Car Club of America and scheduled its own series of races.

Last week, as the deadline for entry for the 500 approached, CART threatened to boycott the race and stage its own $1 million event on the same day unless its demands were granted. USAC and the Speedway stood firm, however, and CART submitted 44 entries two days before the deadline to avoid technical disqualification.

Notice of the refusal of entries was contained in telegrams sent Thursday evening. USAC informed the teams that their $1,-000 entry fee per car was being returned and any questions or contentions sould be referred to the Automobile Competition Committee for the United States in Washington, D.C.

Philadelphia sinks Spurs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Julius Erving scored 39 points, but it was huge Darryl Dawkins' 14 points and seven rebounds in the final period that enabled the Philadelphia 76ers to beat the San Antonio Spurs 123-115 Friday night for their first win in three games of their National Basketball Association playoff series.

The fourth game of the series will. be played here Sunday afternoon.

San Antonio, after trailing all but the first 1:22 of the game, moved in front 86-85 on a basket by James Silas with 1: 34 left in the third quarter. The Spurs held the one-point advantage at 88-87 on a jump shot by Larry Kenon just before the buzzer ended the period

The 76ers, however, outscored the Spurs 12-2 at the start of the fourth quarter to gain a 99-90 lead.

San Antonio, which had won the first two games of the series at home, rallied to reduce the 76ers' margin to 107-105 with 3:52 remaining on a pair of free throws by Silas, who scored 32 points in the game.

The 6-foot-111/2 Dawkins, who had contributed only four points through the first three periods, suddenly got hot and personally outscored San Antonio 10-4 to give Philadelphia a 117-109 lead with 1:09 left to play to put the game out of reach. SAN ANTONIO (115)

Lee, with three straight victories under their belt, faces the challenge of Abilene Cooper, the first half district champion, at 2 p.m. on the Rebel field

Cooper, Lee and Midland High are tied for second half leadership with 2-0 records

The Rebels, 16-9 overall, will probably have versatile Terry Willis, 7-2, throw against the Cougars while Cooper, 15-2 for the season, should go with their main man, little righthander Eddie Jacques.

Jacques turned Lee every which way but loose with a spiffy two-hitter en route to a 3-0 whitewashing in the first half.

Coach Ernie Johnson's Rebels, however, now seem to have their act together and should give the Cougars a real tussle, especially since Cooper Thursday had to makeup their rained-out game with Odessa High. John White leads the recently-discovered Lee offense with a .371 average and gets excellent support from Clay Calhoun, batting .353, Willis, hitting .338 with a team-high 21 runs-batted-in, and Wade Cartwright, stroking the ball at a .320 clip. Meanwhile, Midland High, 13-5 on the year, would like a repeat victory over youthful and surprising Abilene

High, 1-1 and -8-9. The- teams -will square-off at 2 p.m. on the Warbird diamond. The Bulldogs utilized Archie

Booth's_five-hitter to defeat Abilene High, 5-3, in the first half, Booth, 4-2, is slated to start for Midland High while Ricky Stokes, 2-2, will get the nod for the Eagles, who tied for second place in the first half.

Senior shortstop Jimmy Zachry paces the Purple Pack with a .467 average, seven homers and 29 RBIs. Next is catcher Tommy Munoz, batting .439 with a team-leading 29 hits, including seven doubles. Junior Tracy Gann comes in at .365 while designated hitter Sam Driskill is at .360 and Booth is at .308

In other district action today, cellar-dwellers San Angelo, 0-2 and 4-11. and Odessa High, 0-2 and 6-16, will tangle at 2 p.m. at Odessa's Fly Field, while Odessa Permian, 1-1 and 14-7, travels to Big Spring, 0-2 and 7-13, for a 2 p.m. enagagement.

Mojo, always considered a second half threat, is expected to go with tough Conley Crawford, 7-2, on the hill, while Big Spring should call on lanky lefty Larry Smith. Odessa High has pill-server Brian Cantrell rested while San Angelo may call on any of three different hurlers.

saves Washington

ATLANTA (AP) - Mitch Kupchak scored five points during a 21/2-minute stretch of the final quarter that put the defending champion Washington Bullets in control in an 89-77 National Basketball Association quarter-final playoff victory over the Atlanta Hawks Fridy night.

The Bullets, who snapped Atlana's 17-game home court winning streak, thus took a 2-1 advantage in the bestof-seven series which resumes here Sunday afternoon.

Bobby Dandridge put the Bullets ahead to stay at 70-69 when he sank a free throw on a technical foul against Atlanta's Terry Furlow with 7:45 remaining.

Kupchak then sank two free throws and, following a layup by Tom Henderson, converted a three-point play with 4:31 remaining, giving the Bullets a 77-71 lead.

Kevin Grevey came back with two straight 20-foot baskets, offsetting a shot by Atlanta's John Drew, and the Bullets were in control with an 81-73 lead with 2:24 remaining.

Atlanta never got closer than that as the Hawks saw their home court record for regular season and playoff competition drop to 35-8, still best in the NBA.

Washington, which had the best overall mark in the league, registered its 24th road triumph against 18 setbacks, the best away from home mark in the league.

Elvin Hayes led the Bullets with 19 points, all during the first three quarters of the game. Dandridge, who had 66 points in the first two playoff games but was held scoreless until the final minute of the first half Friday, added 15 and Grevey 14. Drew led Atlanta with 13 points while Furlow and Dan Roundfield each added 11.

The first half see-sawed, with Wayne "Tree" Rollins sinking a 10foot hook shot at the buzzer to give the Hawks a 17-16 edge after the opening period. Atlanta surged to a 32-24 lead in the second stanza before Wes Unseld and Hayes scored 6 points each to trim that margin to only 2 points.

He joins 6-6 forward Joe Washington of Tupelo, Miss., on the Red Raiders' 1979 recruiting list.

BOSTON (AP) - Amazing Carl Yastrzemski drove in three runs with his 386th career homer, a single and a double Friday, powering the Boston Red Sox to a 9-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

Yastrzemski, who will be 40 in August, also drew an intentional walk as the Red Sox boosted their record to 7-4 behind the relief pitching of Andy Hassler Hassler, 1-0, took over in the fourth inning after 20-game winner Dennis Eckersley was forced to leave the game. Eckersley suffered a severe bruise just above his right elbow when struck by a line drive off the bat of Hal McRae in the third.

The Red Sox ripped Kansas City's Dennis Leonard, 1-2, and two relievers for 14 hits, including four by slugger Jim Rice, who snapped an 0-14 slump. The Red Sox jumped into the quick lead as Rick Burleson tripled to the 379-foot mark in center and scored on an infield out in the first.

Yastrzemski made it 2-0 as he led off the second with a line shot into the right field stands for his third home run of the season.

Yaz drove in another run with a single in the fourth. Then, after walking in a two-run-fifth, he doubled across another run in the seventh. Kansas City was led by Clint Hurdle who had a

HOUSTON (AP) - Craig Reynolds reached third base on Pittsburgh third baseman Phil Garner's throwing error and scored on a sacrifice fly by Jeff Leonard in the 10th inning to give the Houston Astros a 5-4 victory over the Pirates Friday night.

Reynolds led off the 10th against Jim Bibby, 1-1, with a hard grounder to third and Garner heaved the ball into right field. Cesar Cedeno was intentionally walked and stole second, Jose Cruz struck out, Enos Cabell was also walked on purpose to load the bases, then Leonard batted for Rafael Landestoy and lofted his game-winning fly to center field.

The Brewers, who batted .309 while sweeping a three-game series from the Orioles in Milwaukee last weekend, had tied the score in the top of the inning on a two-run homer by Cecil Cooper. It was his fifth of the season, and fourth against Baltimore.

Sixto Lezcano hit his third homer of the season in the second inning off Steve Stone, 1-1, who was relieved by Don Stanhouse after a lead-off single by Larry Hisle in the eighth.

Singleton also knocked in a first-inning run on a groundout, after a single by Larry Harlow and Rick Dempsey's double, and Gary Roenicke followed with an RBI single.

Roenicke, who is 9-for-12 lifetime against Mike Caldwell, 3-1, singled in the third for the second of his three hits and came around to score on singles by Eddie Murray and Lee May.

Rich Dauer's RBI double and Harlow's run-scoring single in the eighth brought in two more runs for the Orioles.

Wilcox wins on birthday

DETROIT (AP) - Milt Wilcox, celebrating his 29th birthday, fired a six-hitter Friday and got plenty of hitting support as the Detroit Tigers defeated the Toronto Blue Jays 7-2.

The Tigers, winning their fourth in a row, gave Wilcox all the support he needed with three runs in the opening inning off Mark Lemongello, 0-2. Tim Corcoran hit a two-run single in the inning and Lance Parrish followed with an RBI-single.

Lou Whitaker blasted a leadoff homer in the third and teammate Mark Wagner unloaded a three-run shot in the sixth off ex-Tiger Dave Lemanczyk.

Wilcox, 2-0, didn't give up a hit until Otto Velez bounced a ball off the third base bag to lead off the relay record fifth.

Toronto's first run came in the seventh on a homer by John Mayberry. Blue Jays added a run in the eighth when Rick Cerone doubled and scored on a single by Al Woods.

Wilcox walked one and struck out five in posting record in the Baylor Unithe victory.

Tribe falls on bad tag

CLEVELAND (AP) - Claudell Washington's 10th-inning single sent pinch-runner Harry Chappas racing home and Cleveland catcher Ron Pruitt missed the tag at the plate, breaking a tie and helping the Chicago White Sox to a 4-2 victory over the Indians Friday night.

Greg Pryor singled off Victor Cruz, 0-2, to open the 10th and Rusty Torres bunted Chappas to second. Washington then singled to left and Ted Cox's throw home beat Chappas - but umpire Harry Farnsworth said Pruitt failed to tag him. Washington then scored from second on Thad Bosley's single.

Ken Kravec and winner Mike Proly, 1-2, teamed for a three-hitter. Proly came on in the seventh and allowed one hit, Jim Norris' RBI single that tied it 2-2.

The Indians scored in the second on Duane Kuiper's RBI single. The White Sox took a 2-1 lead in the fifth off Cleveland starter Mike Paxton. Alan Bannister led off with a single. He stole second and went to third when starting catcher Bo Diaz's throw went into center field. Eric Soderholm singled for a run, went to second on a sacrifice and came home on Marvis Foley's single to right.

The Chinese are coming. The Chinese are coming.

They're also driving, jumping and jamming, and the proof of it is that a Chinese Army team, featuring the giant Mu Tieh-chu, has refined its basketball skills enough to defeat a rag-tag team of American collegians. Portions of the American loss will be one of the segments this Saturday on the CBS' "Sports Spectacular" filmed in Mainland China

"He's awkward, but the big guy makes a difference," reported Eddie Einhorn, executive producer of the "Sports Spectacular", one of eight members of the show's staff allowed into China. "Of course, there was house officiating And all that, but we got beat."

The American team, coached by University of Alabama-Birmingham's Gene Bartow and led by Notre Dame's Bill Hanzlik, Kentucky's Kyle Macy and Indiana State's Carl Nicks, was 3-2 on the tour.

BESIDES THE basketball game, the CBS cameras will show an exhibition between two of China's best table tennis players. Einhorn says world class table tennis is not the kind of sport that could be played in somebody's basement.

And there will be glimpses of Chinese life.

"They treated us very well," Einhorn said. "They were very friendly and everywhere we went, thousands of people came by to be with us."

Television is a developing medium in China. Einhorn says there are one million sets for a population of over 800 million.

"It's a mixed bag with educational, cultural and sports programs," Einhorn said. "The basketball games were broadcast live there, and I wouldn't doubt that every TV was on with 10 people surrounding each

ALSO ON Saturday's show will be the first World Mixed Pairs Gymnastic Championship. An American team featuring world champion Kurt Thomas will compete against teams from the Soviet Union and three other nations. The "Fight of the Week" segment will feature a tape of Olympic gold medalist Howard Davis' match against Italian Giancarlo Usai.

On Saturday, ABC will have the finals of the Pro Bowlers Tour stop at Akron, Ohio, live coverage of the 10round welterweight bout between Sugar Ray Leonard and Adolpho Viruet in Las Vegas and live coverage of the Wood Memorial from Aqueduct Racetrack in New York, featuring Kentucky Derby hopeful General Assembly.

The other segment of ABC's "Wide World of Sports" will be a preview of mountaineer George Willig's attempt to climb Devil's Tower in Wyoming. Devil's Tower was the odd-shaped mountain Richard Dreyfus recreated with his mashed potatoes in the film 'Close Encounters of the Third Kind.

NBC HAS baseball and golf on Saturday. The Kansas City Royals play at Boston, with Seattle at Minnesota the backup game. The PGA tour event will be the Tournament of Champions from Carlsbad, Calif.

On Sunday, CBS will have regional doubleheaders in the National Basketball Association playoffs. The available games will be Washington-Atlanta and San Antonio-Philadelphia and then Seattle-Los Angeles and Phoenix-Kansas City. Preceding the games is "Three on Three", in which Pat Boone, David Thompson and Tom VanArsdale will play William Devane, Calvin Murphy and Dave De-Busschere.

ABC'S scheduling on Sunday includes live coverage of the WBC light heavyweight title fight between champion Marvin Johnson and Matt Franklin in Indianapolis and its "American Sportsman" show. Segments on "American Sportsman" include basketball star Bill Walton's exhibition to the Philippines to track down the rare monkey-eating eagle and actor Robert Duvall's trip down the Ganges River in a rubber raft. Also on tap on ABC will be the Atlanta 125 Indy-type car race and the Duke Kahanamoku Surfing Classic from Oahu, Hawaii.

Sunday, NBC will have SportsWorld and the finals of golf's Tournament of Champions. The SportsWorld segments include the Armed Forces Boxing Championships, matching the top boxers from the four service academies; the Women's Intercollegiate Gymnastics Championships; Dick Schaap's Sports Journal report on Kentucky Derby favorite Spectacular Bid, and the kayak portion of the "Fittest of Them All" competition.

Gallagher and Arthur Correa swept to the championship of the Air Park Holiday Scratch Doubles double elimination tournament by going undefeated in five matches. Gallagher, fired a 290 game in the finals. Correa and Gallagher combined for a 527 series in the final set. Ty Bowling and Guy Contey finished runnersup.

The Midland Women's Bowling Association City Tournament kicks off this weekend with the team event at Air Park Lanes Saturday and doubles and singles at Super Bowl Sunday.

Winners of the local qualifying of the National Family Tournament: Bantam Division-Larry Alldredge-Phillip Alldredge, first; Arturo Nunez, Sr., and Arturo Nunez, Jr., 2nd. Junior Divison: Paul Adkins-Tammy Williams, first; Jo Stewart-Rjusty Stewart, second. Major Division-Bonnie Brotherton-Brad Brotheron , first; Melton Post-Stephen Post, second. The state finals will be held May 26-27 in San Antonio. Winners of the state competition will advance to the nationals to be held in

Angel fans suffer from early fever

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - It was perhaps the earliest case of pennant fever ever diagnosed.

An unidentified person from the front office of the California Angels, who have never finished higher than second, called the Los Angeles' Dodgers' office the other day, asking for the dates of the American League playoffs and the World Series.

It must have been bitter medicine for the Dodgers, National League champions for the past two seasons and long the No. 1 team in the hearts of most Southern Californians.

While the Dodgers stumbled coming out of the gate, losing six of their first 14 games, the Angels have come out smoking, both at bat and in the standings.

Normally a team that takes to scoring runs in bunches the way drivers take to higher gas prices do well at the gates, and the Angels have been slugging the ball hard and often the past week.

In the past eight games, they've never had less than six runs nor fewer than seven hits - in the past seven games, the hit total was at least 10.

All eight games were Angel victories. It's the Angels' longest winning streak since 1964 as they've pushed their record to 10-3 and taken a one-game lead in the American League East.

Rod Carew, of course, has hit well. The new California first baseman and seven-time batting champion, obtained from Minnesota during the. winter, has 20 hits in 50 at bats for a

'Headhunters'

NEW YORK (AP) - When the headhunters found him two years ago, a businessman we will call Joe Doe was orchestrating his own headhunt. This happy coincidence helped him stay calm as the headhunters closed on him, Doe says now.

Doe was then an officer of a big-city bank on the Eastern seaboard. He had hired a New York headhunting team to help him flush out and bag a marketing executive for his bank.

Meanwhile, headhunters from another New York firm were circling Doe.

"Since I was on the other end of a similar exercise, I was more comfortable with what was going on," he says

The men stalking Doe were Carl Menk and Peter Schmidt. Casually dubbed "headhunters" by the busi ness world, their game is more properly called "executive search." It is a steadily growing enterprise.

MENK IS PRESIDENT and Schmidt vice president of Boyden Associates, which Fortune Magazine calls one of the "Big Six" executive search firms. Such firms are rather like talent scouts. They don't work for job-hunters — only for businesses seeking experienced executives.

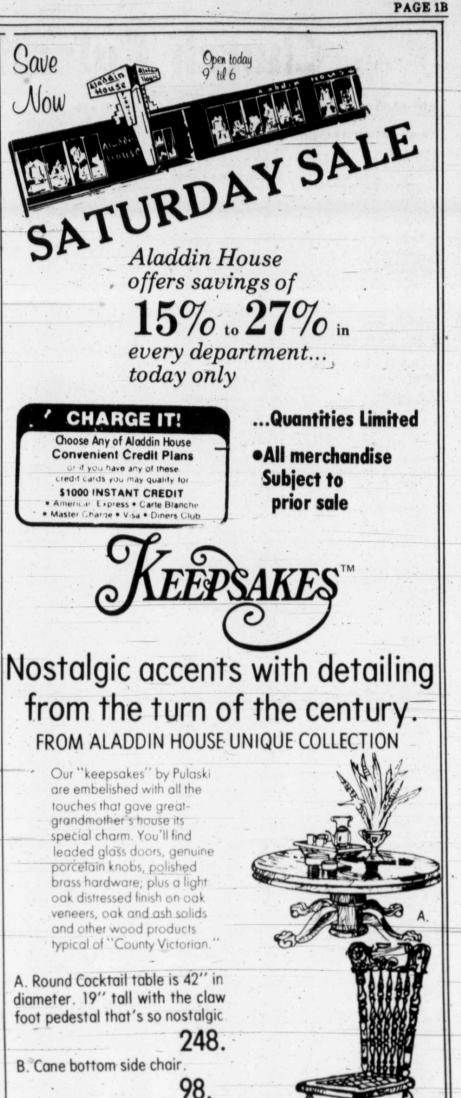

Demand for their help is increasing. Fortune reported last fall that the number of executives hired worldwide through search firms increased from 4,000 in 1967 to 16,000 in 1977.

In 1977, one of them was Joe Doe. He moved to a new job after a search involving countless long-distance phone calls, a rendezvous in a motel coffee shop and much probing as the headhunters sought to learn how Joe Doe ticked: his experience and skills, his "promotability" and "executive stature.

Schmidt says no two searches are identical, but the Joe Doe hunt was fairly typical. With names and locations disguised - at Doe's request this is how it went:

In late 1976, the Small City Bank hired Boyden. Its president was retiring. The board wanted a replacement. someone "mature." Someone outgoing, willing to be active in a college town. Someone amenable to a salary between $40,000 and $50,000 a year, with a "strong loan background," and broad experience.

Like many search firms, Boyden has information on thousands of executives stowed in a computer. There are nearly 100,000 names - candidates in earlier searches, people Boyden's headhunters meet or hear about, people mentioned in magazines and newspapers and some who sent their own resumes.

USING THE computer, banking sources, other Boyden headhunters and a list of 10 possible candidates prepared by Small City Bank, Menk and Schmidt gathered 107 names. Doe's popped up twice. He was on-Small City's list and he was suggested by a Schmidt source in the city where Doe then worked.

Menk and Schmidt pared their list to 52, then divided the names and went to work on the telephone. Explaining that they were trying to fill a vacancy in an unnamed small bank. the headhunters cordially, casually pried information from the candidates.

Most wouldn't do. Some weren't qualified. Some wouldn't move to another part of the country, or to a small city. Some had taken new jobs last month or last week. Schmidt and Menk whittled the list to 23, then they arranged meetings with each. 'At this point they know almost nothing," Schmidt says. "We guard confidentiality very carefully. They know it's a banking job, but not what job or where. But they're curious and they've got nothing to lose by meeting with us.

His curiosity piqued, Joe Doe agreed to meet Schmidt in his city. The place? An obscure motel coffee shop, because, says Schmidt, "At this point we're just looking them over. We don't want to do anything to endanger their jobs."

Because of his own headhunt, Doe wasn't worried. "I knew how headhunters operate. I knew confidentiality wasn't a problem.'

TWO HOURS AND much coffee later, Doe knew only that Schmidt was seeking a "top man" for a small bank somewhere in the Northeast.

Schmidt knew Doe looked good: He was then 48. He had experience in theareas Small City wanted. At $37,000, his salary was not beyond the bank. He liked small cities. And he was restless.

"In retrospect," says Doe, "I was ripe. I had recently undertaken a new assignment and it wasn't one I would have picked. I had a very happy career there - I was really turned on for 18 of 20 years, but I wasn't experiencing that in this new assignment.'

So when Menk and Schmidt asked Doe if they could offer him to their client, Doe said yes. So had four other candidates - from Ohio, New York City, Texas and Georgia - but none had satisfied Small City.

When the bank asked to meet Joe Doe, Schmidt called Doe to fill in the blanks. He described the bank, the town, the cast of characters.

"It was the kind of thing that really appeals," Schmidt says. "A solid bank with a good record of growth. And, most important to a guy like (Joe), the top job."

SO JOE DOE visited Small City. Things went swimmingly.

MEET THE MINISTER

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM, SAT., APRIL 21, 1979

He's another kind of Methodist

By ROGER SOUTHALL Staff Writer

As nearly everybody knows, Midland has numerous United Methodist churches, but what they may not be aware of is that another branch of Methodism also is represented in the city-the Free Methodist Church.

Actually, there are two Free Methodist congregations in Midland — an English speaking group and a Spanish-speaking one.

By comparison to many churches here, the Midland Free Methodist Church is a relative newcomer on the local scene, having been established just 14 years ago.

And its pastor, the Rev. Schauner P. Vance, is a relative Midland newcomer, too, having moved here in 1977 to become the sixth pastor of the local church, although he has been in the ministry almost 30 years.

The Free Methodist denomination, even though less well-known and less widespread than the United Methodist Church, is hardly a newcomer on the American scene.

The denomination was born in New York State in 1860, and it will hold its 29th North American General Conference this coming August in Indianaapolis.

The Texas Conference, or geographical division, of the Free Methodist denomination will hold its 100th conference meeting this coming June in the Rockwall Free Methodist Church, it being the oldest existing organized Free Methodist unit in the state at the present time. The Rockwell church traces its beginning back to 1887.

Pastor Vance said the Free Methodist denomination, with world headquarters at Winona Lake, Ind., is Methodist in doctrine and government, and is dedicated to the continuance of evangelization and worship in the Wesleyan tradition.

Vance, born and reared in the Oklahoma Panhandle, received his early education in one-room country schools in Oklahoma.

He received the bachelor of science degree from Northwestern State College in Alva, Okla., and took a bachelor of theology degree from Bethany Nazarene College in Bethany, Okla. He holds a master of education degree from McNeese State University in Lake Charles, La.

Vance farmed and was a high school teacher in his younger years. He was ordained to the ministry in 1952 and since then has held several pastorates in Oklahoma and Texas. Before moving to Midland two years ago, he served four years as first pastor of Evangelical Methodist Church in Port Neches, near Beaumont.

Vance and his wife, who died in 1975, were the parents of a son and three daughters. The son, Lloyd, also is in the ministry, currently serving as associate pastor of the Wesley

The daughters all are married and with families of their own.

Vance's second wife, whom he married several years ago, is the former Kathryn Hendrix of Collinsville, Okla. A college graduate, with a master's degree in education, she was a missionary to Burundi, Africa, from 1960 to 1972, serving under appointment from the Free Methodist Church.

Vance's special interests include world economics and the study of Bible prophecies.

He adds that he is "dedicated to sound Biblical preaching along the lines of the Armenian-Wesleyan tradition, and the winning of souls to Christ.'

The Midland Free Methodist Church was organized in May, 1965, with nine full members and five junior members.

The congregation had its first meetings at a members' home between Midland and Odessa, then began holding its Sunday meetings in Burnet Elementary School. Later, the services were held in the church parsonage at 4700 Thomason Drive.

The congregation purchased a building site at Shadylane and Bentwood streets and plans were drawn for a church structure by charter member Lawrence Houston.

Plans for the structure were ap proved on Nov. 2, 1966, and ground was broken shortly thereafter. The building was completed in May 1977.

Pastors who served the church earlier in its 14-year history include the Rev. Lloyd Dixon, the Rev. Virgil Damm, the Rev. I.R. Lowe, the Rev. William Jenkins and the Rev. G.W Burke.

The Rev. Felipe Galan is the current pastor of Iglesia Methodista Libre, the Spanish-speaking Free Methodist Church, located at 411 S. Terrell St. The Rev. Julio Castillo, his predecessor, held the pastorate for a number of years before moving on to another pastoral post.

New Catholic parish begun here

Midland has gained a new Catholic parish and a new parish priest, effective this weekend

The new St. Stephen's parish is in west Midland, with Midkiff Road as the dividing line between it and the existing St. Ann's parish. St. Stephen's Church will be built on a 71/2acre tract at the corner of Neely avenue and Mark Lane, several blocks west of Lee High School.

Effective today, the Rev. James P. Bridges becomes pastor of St. Stephen's. He is a native of Plainview and grew up in the Lamesa area. He attended Price College and began his study for the priesthood at St. Mary College in Kentucky, where he earned a B.A. degree in philosophy. He had four years' postgraduate study at Pontifical Josephinum Seminary, Columbius, Ohio, where he was ordained in 1962

Bridges celebrated his first mass at St. Ann's Church in Midland in May, 1962. Since his ordination, he has earned a master's degree in education from Loyola University of Los Angeles. He served as assistant to the pastor Sacred Heart Church in Abilene from 1963 until 1967, and then as pastor of St. Joseph Church in Rowena 1967 to 1970. In-1970, he returned to Sacred Heart Chuch as pastor, remaining in that post until his assignment to the pastorate of the new St. Stephen's Church here.

Foundation eroded for religion, science,

Lutheran leader says

NEW YORK (AP) - The foundations both of religion and science have become eroded in modern times, says a Lutheran educator, resulting in "indecision, irrationality and ... paralysis" in society.

The Rev. Dr. Walter Wietzke, head of the American Lutheran Church's division for theological education, made the analysis released here be fore a seminar-retreat of military chaplains in Little Creek, Va.

"The intellectual sub-structure of our religious expressions has been inadequate and the ethical sub-structure of our scientific investigation has proved amoral," he said.

The result, he added, is "ethical relativism."

He said "religion is no longer understood" because some have "literalized the Bible and made it unreal" while "science is no longer believed" because it often betrays human concerns

BRIDGE It's rugged if you can't blame partner

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The worst hands are those in which you can't blame your partner for what goes wrong.

Today's East covered dummy's jack of diamonds with the queen and shifted to the ten of spades. So far, so good.

Declarer won in dummy and returned the nine of hearts. East played low, and so did South

LIMITS LOSS

AWest refused the trick, but South got to his hand with the king of clubs to lead the ace of hearts. When the jack dropped South easily limited the trump loss to one trick, making his contract.

East should cover dummy's nine of hearts with the jack. West then wins a trick with the eight as well as with the king of hearts. A defender should cover a singleton ten or nine when he has J-x, Q-x or K-x to promote something in partner's hand. If nothing can be promoted, the honor will drop on the next trick anyway

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-A542; H-9; D-KJ932; C-AQJ. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three diamonds. You plan to show your spade support next, thus

First U.S. ship with Chinese

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The first American ship in 30 years to pick up its cargo in mainland China arrived here late Friday loaded with a bizarre shipment ranging from tea and fans to gloves, goose feathers

The goods were loaded in Shanghai March 19 as the Letitia Lykes became the first American freighter to call at a Chinese port since the Communist took over in 1949.

The two freighters represent the first full round of direct U.S.-China shipping since the forces of Mao Zedong (Mao Tsetung) took control of the
