Vote Kills Proposed Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House today overwhelmingly rejected a compromise version of the 1980 target budget in a stunning defeat of its Democratic leadership.

Democratic liberals, opposed to higher levels of defense spending, joined with Republican conservatives in rejecting the compromise package 260-144 and sending it back to another conference committee with the Senate.

The target budget called for $532 billion in spending and a $23 billion deficit for fiscal 1980, which starts Oct. 1. The spending proposals were very close to what President Carter had recommend-

Liberals, led by Rep. David R. Obey, D-Wis., opposed the compromise spending package, claiming that House negotiators had conceded too much in a conference committee with the Senate.

The House conferees largely accepted higher Senate spending levels for defense and also agreed to cuts in social programs, favored by liberal Democrats.

Obey contended that the House conferees "gave away" $1.8 billion in social programs while adding $1.9 billion for defense in the compromise with the Sen-

"Give us a half and half split and we'll be happy as clams," Obey said.

Republican conservatives opposed the budget because they favored a smaller deficit and lower spending for social

A total of 152 Democrats and 108 Republicans voted against the target budget, while 108 Democrats and 36 Republicans voted for it.

Most Republicans joined with he liberal Democrats despite the urging of the House Budget Committee's ranking Republican, Rep. Delbert Latta of Ohio, who said he was voting for the target budget because "I fear and tremble at the consequences.

Rep. Robert N. Giaimo, D-Conn., chairman of the House Budget Committee, defended the compromise reached in the House-Senate conference commit-

"We have preserved most of the domestic spending priorities assumed in the resolution as it passed the House," Giaimo said.

On defense spending, he said: "We can't justify cutting another $600 million, not when we're facing a SALT treaty and other things the administration feels are important.

The action came after the caucus rejected 124 to 96 an attempt at a compromise by White House allies.

The compromise would have urged the president to keep controls on oil at least until Congress enacted a stiff

Today's vote was a major rebuff to President Carter's efforts to reduce U.S. reliance on imported oil by encouraging more domestic production and by making petroleum products more expensive.

In a test vote Tuesday, House Democrats expressed opposition to that move by nearly a 2-to-1 margin.

However, passage of the resolution would put the president at odds with his own party in the House on the controversial issue. And it would be another embarrassment to an administration that has seen other Carter energy proposals rejected by Congress

Thus, to slow the anti-decontrol momentum, a group of seven Democrats usually aligned with the White House on energy issues announced it would offer the amendment on the tax proposal.

In a "Dear Colleague" letter, the lawmakers said, "We believe a preferred position for our caucus would be to set the decontrol in motion only when a stiff windfall profits tax is established.

Rep. Toby Moffett, D-Conn., main onsor of the anti-decontrol reso claims the new amendment would confuse the issue and said he opposes it.

Offering the proposed "compromise" were Reps. John Dingell of Michigan, Richard A. Gephardt of Missouri, Richardson Preyer of North Carolina, Joseph L. Fisher of Virginia, Philip R. Sharp of Indiana and Vic Fazio and Tony Coelho, both of California.

On a 153-82 vote, the House Democratic Caucus rejected an attempt Tuesday to kill Moffett's reslution

This is a complete repudiation of the president's position," said Rep. Edward J. Markey, D-Mass., after the vote. "The Democratic Party has put the president on notice that the litmus test of the 1980 elections will be how he comes to grips with energy problems."

Meanwhile, the Senate was taking up a bill today that some senators claim could be a substitute for the president's rejected standby gasoline rationing plan. The bill, by Sens. Bennett Johnston,

D-La., and Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., would require the president to set energy conservation goals for each state in a time of severe gasoline shortages.

If states couldn't produce plans of their own to meet these goals, then the president could use a variety of steps including rationing - to achieve them.

In another development, the Energy Department said Tuesday it has seen no evidence to back up a statement by a Federal Trade Commission official that "the current gasoline shortage may be

Some Cutbacks Possible In Breakfast Program

By LISA PAIKOWSKI Avalanche-Journal Staff

The federal breakfast program mandated for Texas public schools last year could be subject to some cutbacks under a state House bill that has the endorsement of several city school board mem-Two trustees, however, are taking a wait-and-see position until they can read the bill and gather facts and figures pertaining to the Lubbock school district.

The House Tuesday tentatively approved, 76-62, the bill that would allow local school districts to eliminate the breakfast program in any school where less than half the eligible youngsters participate for 60 consecutive school days. A 1977 state law required each district to provide the federally funded program to schools where at least 10 percent of the pupils were eligible. The law was implemented at the beginning of the 1978-79 school year.

Rep. Susan McBee of Del Rio, sponsor of the bill, said some school districts are losing food, money and staff time because not enough students are participating in the program.

Opponents of the bill, however, said that the measure would discriminate against hungry school children.

Lubbock school trustees Brad Crawford Jr., Giles M. "Buddy" Forbess, Montie Hasie and Harold Harriger would support the bill, though they acknowleged that Lubbock's program was more successful than anticipated.

Indeed, participation in the program has increased each month since implementation, according to Melvin Johnston, food services director for the school district.

He said some schools "have good participation," but said that "we would certainly have some where there is less than half participation of students." He said some elementary schools serve 30-40 students a day on the average, while others serve as many as 200 a day. The Lubbock program serves 51 schools currently, said Johnston, though under the federal guidelines, only 42 schools would have to be served.

Forbess, Hasie and Harriger were opposed to the breakfast program on philosophical grounds when the proposal was first brought before the board in See BREAKFAST Page 14

No report on casaulties was immediately available. The bombing raid was prompted after a terrorist bomb killed a woman and a baby girl and injured 12 other persons at a crowded bus stop in a town outside Tel Aviv this morning as hundreds of Israelis poured into northern Sinai to support settlers who vowed to fight rather than give their land back to Egypt.

The bomb exploded shortly after 10 a.m. atop the fiberglass roof of the curbside bus stop in Petah Tikvah, six miles northeast of Tel Aviv. The slain woman and 18-month-old girl died in the local hospital, authorities said.

The Palestine Liberation Organization in Beirut claimed responsibility for the blast. It said a store nearby was used by Israeli soldiers and that the attack was part of the PLO plan to get back "the natural rights of our people that Israel usurped in 1948."

It was the first terrorist bomb causing casualties since May 15 when two teen-agers were killed and 32 injured in Tiberias on the Sea of Galilee. That bomb brought to 15 the number of Israelis killed by terrorists in Israel in 1979. More than 200 have been injured.

Radio Australia Popular In China

By DOUG ORSON

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) - China's once silent listeners are coming out of the woodwork and jamming Radio Australia with fan mail.

Last year's mail from China was a mere 24 letters, says Errol Hodge, acting director of the international shortwave radio station. When Peking made known that it no longer discouraged listening to foreign radio broadcasts, the floodgate opened.

Five hundred letters a week flowed into Radio Australia's Hong Kong post box in January. By March the mailbox was being overrun with 5,000 a week Some of the correspondents said they had been listening to Radio Australia for years but they had been 'silent' listeners because of their government's disapproval," said Hodge. "Now, thanks to what they described as 'thought liberation' in their country, they were free to write as well as listen.

"Others said they had only just begun listening to Radio Australia. They had twiddled the dials of their cheap, Chinese-made shortwave radios, found Australia's signal and liked the programs they heard."

Radio Australia - the overseas service of the government-financed Australian Broadcasting Commission - broadcasts in two Chinese dialects, Mandarin and Cantonese.

Its programs are a mixture of news, public affairs, science features and

"The mail has come in from every province - even from Tibet where a single letter was sent by a lonely Chinese weather-watcher high in the Hmalayas. He wanted to know about meteorology in Australia and what Australia'e weather patterns were like.

But three out of four letters have come from south China, where Radio Australia's signal is much stronger than in other parts of the country," Hodge

Radio Australia has been unable to get an adequate signal to northern China since December 1974 when the cyclone that devastated the northern Australian city of Darwin blew down the three short-wave transmitters there. They have not yet been rebuilt.

Most of those who write to Radio Australia are educated people. They include research scientists, technologists and technicians in mining, agriculture, forestry, animal husbandry and secondary industry who feel that Austalia can help them modernize their country

Artist Finds Monks Play Cards

ROME (UPI) - "Monks play cards," says American artist Stanley Roseman.

That was only one surprise in 10 months of peering behind the walls of 35 monasteries in 11 European countries, says Roseman, whose works have been acquired by American museums, Brit-ain's Queen Elizabeth II and Pope John

More surprising is that Roseman, 33, was allowed inside the cloistered walls. Only half the 60 monasteries and convents approached by Roseman's friend and manager Ronald Davis even both-

The Benedictine abbot wouldn't let them in. "You must leave," said his cowled secretary.

"I don't say this as any criticism," said Roseman. "Monks are entitled to protect their isolated way of life if they so choose. I only say this to illustrate the trends we found in the monasteries we visited - or tried to visit. Some were very open. Some were unapproachable."

The two men were welcomed by the Benedictine abbot of St. Augustines at Ramsgate, England, Dom Gilbert Jones. Be gave them sound advice: You will find that there are good at St. Paulus Abbey in Holland and promptly drew them in chalks on grey

In all he made 400 sketches of the monks and nuns he visited in preparation for an exhibition to commemorate next year's 1,500th anniversary of the birth of St. Benedict, the founder of Western monasticism, who established the Montecassino abbey in 529.

Roseman said of the card-playing monks: "It rather surprised me that they should play anything competitive like cards when their whole life is geared to equality in poverty and brotherhood

Some monasteries still do not permit television or radio.

Roseman and Davis were presented to Pope John Paul on March 21, and gave him a sketch of a friar playing an boe at the abbey of Tyniec in the pontiff's native Poland.

Benedictine monk Thomas Matus of the Camaldoli monastery in Italy wrote:

"Stanley Roseman seems to be quite devoid of prejudice either in favor or against monks. He shows me as I am, warts and all. His images of me and my fellow monks shatter any complacent self-image I might have and they leave me much freer to look at my life.'

Roseman and Davis also visited the Pannonhalma abbey in Hungary, which with Tyniec in Poland they believe are the only two monasteries that still exist in Eastern Europe.

Roseman, a native New Yorker, undertook his pilgrimage because he says artists should portray people in their natural surroundings.

Minchew, the Georgia Democrat's administrative assistant from 1971 to 1974, has said under oath that he and Talmadge conspired to convert thousands of dollars in campaign contributions and Senate expense funds to personal use.

Minchew's testimony before the Senate Ethics Committee went unchallenged Monday and Tuesday.

But Talmadge's lawyers were beginning direct attacks today on Minchew, the committee's key witness in accusing Talmadge of financial improprieties.

Their success or failure in shaking his detailed allegations against Talmadge were considered critical to whether the committee votes to recommend that the full Senate censure Talmadge, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Talmadge has denied all of Minchew's accusations, but the senator has not testified under oath. His aides said no decision has been made on whether he will agree to testify.

Minchew's testimony will be buttressed by Talmadge's former wife Betty, who is to testify after a Memorial Day recess.

Minchew has testified that he recalls making at least four specific deliveries of cash to Talmadge, one for $500 and three others of more than $1,000 each.

He said he also gave Talmadge's late son, Bobby, about $10,000 from the secret account and sent $500 in cash to Mrs. Talmadge.

Minchew has acknowledged using some of the cash for himself. He estimated the figure at about $8,000; committee investigators set it at about $16,-000, a figure Minchew said he would not

New York has concluded that the $10 billion-a-year Food Stamp, school breakfast and lunch and related nutrition programs have been successful.

Mind you, the report was a bit self-serving. The same group's study a decade ago painted such a horrible picture of hunger in merica that it has been credited with helpg trigger the array of federal food assistce programs.

That 1960s report, in fact, was so startling hat even some of the folks who'd never known they were hungry became convinced that the taxpayers owed them something.

NOT TO BE A PARTY to any dimunition of those expectations, the researchers were uick to add that-in terms of jobs, housing nd medical attention—"the facts of life for Americans living in poverty remain as dark or darker than they were 10 years ago."

Thus, the conclusion that "in the area of food, there is a difference" from 10 years ago, is just the study group's way of laying a foundation for expanded housing, job and medical programs to be financed by the tax-

If a mere $10 billion a year can feed the poor, a few more billions here and there surely can erase poverty from the face of America, the reasoning goes.

THE FACT OF the matter is that the food stamp and other nutritional programs have grown too extravagant and cover far more people than the truly needy.

Federal poverty levels, establishing an income measure for qualifying to get reducedprice school lunches or "free" food stamps, embrace tens of thousands of Americans who are not in such dire straits.

The bleeding hearts now would like for the hardworking middle class to provide make-work jobs, middle-class housing and other benefits that will deny low-income families the incentive they need to be more economically productive themselves.

Having fed them into a state which even the Field Foundation finds to be "healthy, lively and responsive," the taxpayer is about ready for the able-bodied poor and not-sopoor to take on a greater share of the responsibility for themselves.

Fault-Finders Toss First Stone

WASHINGTON-Measles, chicken pox, whooping cough, mumps—take your pick of contagious diseases. None of them spreads as swiftly as the contagion of panic. This week the gasoline panic promises to reach demic levels, and it makes no sense at all. Why are we in this fix? What accounts for the le-long lines at service stations? Are the oil panies engaged in some vile conspiracy to thhold gasoline in order to drive the price up? From various sources in industry and governent, clear and convincing answers can be

There is no evidence of conspiracy. The petroim industry is monitored more strictly than y other industry in America.

THE OIL COMPANIES live under the thumb the Department of Energy, the Interior Dertment, the Securities and Exchange Commis sion, and a dozen other agencies.

It is beyond belief that the companies collectively could conceal millions of gallons of gasoline, and it would be profitless and pointless for

The current unhappiness results from three implediate causes and one historic cause.

(1) At a time of insatiably rising demand, the happy of crude is trending down. March imports a 8.3 million barrels per day were less than 1

rcent above March of last year.

The Iranian crunch is being felt. Refineries are uncertain about supplies. Inventories of total oil stocks are uncomfortably low and must be re-

(2) IN ORDER TO build up inventories of heating oil for next winter, refineries have been producing less gasoline. The government has asked the companies to provide a reserve of 240 million barrels by Oct. 1.

This is a prudent step, but it results in less gasoline for the time being. (3) Motorists as a breed have surrendered to panic. Roughly 145 million trucks, buses and passenger cars are registered in the United States. If we surmise that their gas tanks normally average half full, we can get a quick picture of what appens when owners struggle to get their tanks all the way full. There is no way under moon or sun that a billion gallons of gasoline suddenly can be supplied to meet this extraordinary demand. The long-range cause is known to all of us. When it comes to energy consumption, we are the most profligate, wasteful, extravagant people

WE HAVE YET to take conservation seriously. Other Western nations long ago looked facts in the face and accommodated to them. You don't see these mile-long lines in France or Germany or Japan. You see small cars; you see people walking or riding bicycles; you see gasoline at $2 to $3 a gallon. What will it take to make Americans comprehend the truth? The era of cheap energy has passed. Barring some wholly unexpected stroke of technological genius, that era will not come

Industry and government spokesmen are not threatening us with a return to the Stone Age. The situation can be handled without serious hardship if each of us will make this much of an effort: Cut consumption by 5 percent.

IT IS ABSURD to complain that such a reduction cannot be achieved. Every one of us who drives, say, 200 miles a week can think of ways to drive 190 miles instead.

Want an example? Look at the parking lots of suburban high schools. They stretch out for acres and acres. Is it seriously contended that every one of those student vehicles is necessary? Every

If we will stop blathering about non-existent conspiracies, and begin conscientiously to conserve, we can recover from the current epidemic. The first step is to call a halt to petulant blame-

The fault is not in the companies or the Congress or the Arab nations. The fault, dear fellow gas guzzlers, is in ourselves.

If we could keep the Legislature without a quorum for conducting business for the entire 140day session, Texans would really have reason to

Can you imagine going a whole two years without any new laws, changes in laws, constitutional amendments or joint resolutions? The only thing better would be for the Legislature, after 132 years of making laws, to set the controls on automatic pilot and then recess for the next 132 years while all the old laws are systematically repealed!

THE SENATE'S LIBERAL bloc practically gave Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby a case of the hives by staging its disappearance act so late in the biennial session.

Texas Department of Public Safety officers showed a surprisingly astute sense of public service by being unable to locate the "12 Least Wanted" lawbreakers for days and days.

First reports that some of the Disappearing Dozen were in Mexico raised false hopes that the Mexican government would refuse to repatriate them unless all of the illegal aliens in Texas were first returned South of the Border.

A brother of Sen. Gene Jones was caught up in the APB Dragnet for the hooky-playing senators.

THE WHOLE STATE'S buzzing about the 12 He was arrested and rushed to Austin, where his mustache (Sen. Jones doesn't have one) was found to be authentic Department of Public Safety supervisors immediately ruled that Clayton Jones couldn't be Sen. Jones because no authentic lawmaker would have been imaginative enough to hide out in his own home while a fugitive from lawmen.

THE KILLER BEES were intent on killing the possibility of a Presidential primary on any date separate from the regular Texas primary elec-

Conservative Democrats would be helped by the split-date primary, they reason, and the liberals think the rightwing has too much of the honey bottled up already. Lt. Gov. Hobby's threat to have the liberal group's 12 seats declared vacant was a clever

Conservatives said such a move would give the 12 districts the best representation they've had in the Senate for years. WHILE LAWMEN were honeycombing the state for the missing Bees, voters were beginning to face up to a sticky question. They've heard all their lives that "you can attract more flies with honey than with vinegar." Suddenly, they're wondering why anyone would want to attract more flies in the first place. There are 31 senators and it takes 21 of them to constitute a quorum for doing business. Rumors that the Senate had been passing bills for a week before anyone figured out that 31 minus 12 leaves fewer than 21 are totally false and misleading.

It only took four days for them to figure it out. Meanwhile, just to make sure that someone knew they were missing, the Killer Bees were telephoning back to Austin regularly-no one thought to ask where they were calling from-to proclaim how their absence proved they were keeping the public trust.

Sympathizers in the Texas House of Representatives, 25 of them, agreed.

By staying on the job, they alleged, the lieutenant governor, unlike the absent senators, had "revealed himself as a go-along-to-get-along, porkbarrelling lobby mooch."

"IT'S AN ISSUE of party integrity," Democratic Party Chairman Billy Goldberg chimed in, thus irrevocably putting the 12 hooky players on the side of integrity and leaving the other side grasping for straws.

Hobby forthwith locked the other senators in the Senate chamber, presumably wanting to protect the taxpayers from the lack of integrity shown by reporting for work. If a thing like that caught on, American productivity would surge upward, bringing inflation under control and eliminating the need for legislative bodies to meet and grapple with the problems caused by inflation.

As soon as that message sunk home, it was only a matter of time before the Killer Bees swarmed back to the Capitol.

If there's one thing a liberal politician can't afford, it's for the voters to find out there wouldn't be so many problems for him to solve if he didn't action in Nicaragua.

WASHINGTON-The Panama government's covert buying of arms in Miami and smuggling them to the Castro-backed terrorists attempting to overthrow the pro-U.S. Nicaraguan government of President Anastasio Somoza is turning into a major scandal for the Carter administra-

This is highlighted by the filing of an affidavit in Miami Federal Court earlier this month by special agent Don Kimbler of the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF).

According to Kimbler's affidavit, Jose A. Pujol, cargo manager for Air Panama and Edgardo Lopez, Panamanian diplomat and former consul in Miami, are key figures in a ring of Panamanian government intelligence agents involved in buy-ing arms in the U.S. and shipping them to "Nicaraguan guerrilla forces."

MOST DISTURBING about the case is that State Department officials have been working overtime trying to keep the whole sordid affair covered up so as not to upset the chances for passage of legislation for the implementation of the turnover of the Panama Canal to the left-leaning Panama government.

Although U.S. officials for months have had full knowledge of Panama's role in the arms trafficking, no official protest has been made to the Panama government or action taken to alert the Nicaraguan government of danger.

State Department officials instead have tried to keep the lid on the scandal. In one instance, they intervened to keep charges from being pressed against a Panamanian agent, Carlos Wittgreen, involved in purchasing large quantities of U.S. weapons in the Miami area and trying to illegally ship them out of the country.

WHEN OFFICIALS of the Federal Bureau of ATF prepared to file charges against Wittgreen, superiors in Washington ordered the action halted and Wittgreen released so he could fly back to

The State Department took the position that no action should be filed for fear of placing the implementation of the Panama Canal treaties in Significantly, government undercover agents reported that Wittgreen was in Miami and acting for the Panamanian government.

He was seeking to purchase "more than 5,000 U.S. weapons" which were to be sent to Panama for delivery to the Nicaraguan guerrillas.

This was just one of a series of arms sales that the Panamanian government has attempted in the past two years for the pro-Castro guerrilla forces in Nicaragua.

On July 15, 1978, for example, 750 U.S. made M-16 automatic weapons were exported to Panama aboard a Panamanian Air Force aircraft and

Federal Grand Jury To Decide Whether To Indict Bert Lance

ATLANTA (UPI) - The federal grand jury investigating the tangled financial affairs of former federal budget director Bert Lance is expected to wind up its 17-month deliberations late this week and decide whether to indict President Carter's close friend. Federal prosecutors reconvened the 23-member panel from a two-month break Monday. Since then, they have staunchly refused to say what they were doing behind closed double doors in the basement of the old stone federal build-

Even before the grand jury reconvened, however, there were published reports that it was ready to indict Lance and three or four former associates in relation to allegations of conspiracy and banking irregularities. There also were reports the panel already had indicted Lance, with the Justice Department holding up the paperwork.

METHODISTS

The name "Methodist" is thought to refer to the methodical manner in which members of the original movement performed engagements which a sense of Christian duty induced them to undertake. It was first applied to Charles and John Wesley and several other Oxford students in 1729. The movement was brought to America in 1760 by emigrants from Ireland.

ing testimony since Jan. 24, 1978, about Lance's activities as president of the Calhoun First National Bank and the National Bank of Georgia prior to becoming Carter's first director of the Office of Management and Budget.

He was forced to resign on Sept. 21, 1977, because of investigations by a Senate committee and executive agencies into allegations of impropriety in loans approved under Lance's leadership and in overdrafts by the gregarious Georgi-an's friends and family members. The same jurors considering a possible Lance indictment already have indicted former Newton County banker Larry Beasley, who pleaded no contest to charges of conspiracy and receiving something of value for arranging a loan for another banker. Beasley is expected to testify against Lance if the former budget chief is indicted.

Bank Cashier Testifies At Pate Trial

A Plains State Bank assistant cashier testified today she did not know if former vice president-cashier Ben Pate, on trial here in federal district court on several counts of embezzlement, was in the bank when records indicate he became knowledgeable of delinquent checks pertaining to one of the counts.

Defense attorney Leon Taylor of Albuquerque, N.M., asked assistant cashier Allene Carnohan if Pate "between June 21 and June 28, 1976, was not in Waco, Texas, for his dad's funeral?'

"I can't say," she answered. The first count of the March indictment charges Pate with approving a $35,000 check for payment on the account of the late Edward Hunter of Plains on the basis of a $32,000 deposit check which he knew was probably insufficient at the Lubbock bank, the Bank of the West, on which it was being writ-

Judge Sentences GSA Employee

WASHINGTON (AP) - A federal judge, breaking the pattern he set in two earlier sentencings, imposed a six-month jail term today on a General Services Administration employee who admitted receiving up to $75,000 in kickbacks. U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch also ordered James N. Henslee, 33, of Arlington, Va., to serve another 41/20 years on probation.

Earlier this month, Gasch sentenced two contractors who paid kickbacks to GSA employees to three years' probation and gave each a $5,000 fine.

Henslee pleaded guilty to one count of conspiracy to defraud the government and one count of submitting a false claim that allowed a contractor to be paid for non-existent work. The two counts combined could have brought Henslee a maximum of 20 years in prison, $20,000 in fines or both. In addition to receiving kickbacks on non-existent contracts, Henslee also ad-contractors to cover the costs of their legitimate work and the kickbacks paid to GSA employees.

An electrician by trade, Henslee worked for GSA's public building service, and had authority to approve maintenance and repair contracts for GSA buildings in the Washington area.

Henslee's attorney, John Kirby, asked Gasch not to impose a jail term, saving that his client "jumped into a swimming pool in which there were contractors and other employees.

President A nnounces

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter today announced his latest welfare revision program, which he said would cost $5.7 billion more than the resent system when fully implemented

The proposals, more modest than the welfare revision plan Carter proposed in 1977, would expand the number of public jobs for the poor, raise welfare levels in the 13 states where they are now the lowest, increase slightly the amount of funneled to the working poor through the tax system, and simplify welfare paperwork.

Carter said his proposals would increase incomes for nearly 6.5 million persons and lift 2.2 million of them above the poverty line.

Even in a period of austerity and iscal stringency, our nation cannot afford to ignore its most pressing needs and its most needy." Carter said in a

We must do what we can as soon as we can."

The president said his complex package of initiatives would: -Provide 400,000 new public service jobs and training slots for principal wage-earners in low-income families with children. Combined with existing jobs and training slots, this would bring the total to 620,000.

-Establish national minimum benefit levels for needy families with children, a move Carter said would raise benefits for 800,000 people in the 13 states with the lowest benefit levels.

-Streamline administration of famiaid and food stamp programs through standardizing eligibility requirements and simplifying eligibility requirements.

-Expand the "earned income tax credit," which is a sort of reverse income tax now paid to some 6 million low-income wage earners. The average annual payment would go from about $310 per family to $375. Carter said this "provide greater incentives to take private sector jobs."

-Provide an estimated $900 million

Graduation Brings E

Associated Press Writer
RIDGEFIELD, Conn. — It is epigram time once again across this singing

In the shadow of rented mortarboards young brows are furrowed, brains are being searched and ballpoint pens are poised to write an appropriate line of endearment alongside a photograph in the high school or college yearbook for a fellow or sister gradu-

Parting is indeed one of life's sweetest sorrows, when the parchments are handed out from the podium. So the exit line written to a departing classmate in the yearbook he or she just plunked down forty or so bucks for must perforce linger until the pages turn yellow and hair-lines turn gray, even if everyone will see each other next morning in the carpark and all the rest of the summer at the beach.

The line or lines penned next to the portrait must be tender, terse and take into consideration the ironic possibility that today's campus oaf may be to-morrow's Nobel laureate or the puffy-faced blonde named Norma Jean Baker might yet grow up to become Marilyn Monroe. Time has a way of tossing those kind of curve balls at epigrammatists who get too sardonic with the material at hand.

A bit of obscurity in the prose might be the best way to write off the class schlepp or the one with the face like a washed out bridge, just in case the ensuing decades do poduce an unlikely role reversal.

Something on the order of, "Aw, ya big lug," which Wallace Beery said to Jackie Coogan in the original version of "The Champ," (or was it to Marie Dressler in "Tugboat Annie?"), might be warmly evasive enough for the class Incredible Hulk or whoever was voted most likely to go through life on the wrist of a corrections officer.

For the class ogre, who may yet turn out to be a beauty or a brain, despite the evident odds, it is best to find some obscure passage in literature that can in no way be misconstrued as affection or insult, especially if the old man owns the local bank or has a controlling hand on the summer job market. There is a line in Vladimir Nabokov's "Ada" (not "Lolita" which some bluenoses might consider inappropriate for yearbook sentiments) that seems to say more than it says without actually saying anything, which is as close to poetry as one ought to get in writing for the ages in a book that might someday be held against you

I wish someone had written that in my college yearbook in drearily materialistic:

"As you wander through life, broth Whatever be your goal, Keep your eye upn the donut And not upon the hole." But there was one divine woman-child of russet hair and en eyes who penned besides my graduation photo lines that I thou were the most exquisite ever devised by mortal invention:

"Remember the river, Remember the brook,

Remember the girl Who wrote in this book."

Who wrote in this book."

Those words went off to summer camp with me that year, locked in my footlocker along with my scout knife and insect repellant, and they might have been engraved in my heart forever had I not learned that she wrote the very same lines in every other boy's book in the class. Not only that, but closer inspection of my own yearbook revealed that at least four other girls had defied the law of probability and thought up the same poem.

Jack Buckley, a young friend who goes to Providence College, signs his yearbook requests with a bon mot that Jim Bouton, the baseball Boswell, attributed to Yankee catcher Jake Gibbs in "Ball Four," his master work:

"Waitress, I'll have the pie a la mode, but put some ice cream on it, will

As a recipe for life, the sentiment is almost existential and 30 years from now it will sound even better. Concise, compelling, simple yet suggestive of hidden layers of complexity. Lines like that would make Lee Marvin's lawyer's job a lot easier.

Class yearbooks hadn't been invented when William Wordsworth went to St. John's College in Cambridge, which didn't prevent him from writing the lines that I remember most in mine:

Bliss it was in that dawn to be alive. But to be young was very heaven."

Unfortunately the person who inscribed this to me was a faculty mem chemistry, no less — and he gave me a "D," which shows how unpredi ble this sort of commitment in poesy to posterity can be.

Solar Heat Warms Pool In Winter

NEW YORK (AP) - It seems almost unfair to report that even Houston has a winter each year.

Come now, you say. Houston's "win-ter" amounts to a hardly bone-chilling average of 43 degrees in January and February.

But consider the case of Houston cardiologist and swimming enthusiast Dr. David J. Turell and how he fought and won his battle to continue doing his hundred laps a day during the winter in this Sunbelt city.

"It used to cost me $80 or $90 a month to heat my pool with natural gas in the winter. Suddenly it was $300 a month," Turell said over the phone the other day.

Texans may have an embarrassment of energy riches, but unknown to many Yankees, natural gas produced within the state costs its citizens more than almost anywhere in the country.

But Turell, who lives in the affluent Meyerland section of the city, is one of more than 30,000 Houston homeowners who consider owning a backyard pool as necessary to good living as enchiladas. And the number of pool owners in Houston grows by about 3,000 a year, including not just well-to-do doctors, but longshoremen and factory clerks.

"So when solar heaters began to be advertised two winters ago, I put one in at a cost of about $3,000," says Turell.

"As best as I can tell, I'll make up the cost of the solar unit in about three years. I saved about $800 in natural gas costs last year and I figure I'll save another $800 this year."

Turell's solar unit consists of pumps and piping that send pool water through 40 square feet of solar panelling installed on his house's roof, where it is warmed and returned to the pool. In addition, Turell puts a plastic blanket over the pool to keep the heat in when the pool is not being used.

ell keeps his pool at 78 to 82 degrees with solar heating. On cloudy days, he has a natural gas back-up system. He says that apart from an occasional leak, his system has been trouble-free, and it

So while it's 40 degrees outside, Tur-

Turell is one of more than 300 Houstonites now using the sun to heat their pools, says Levi Laube of Texas Solar, Inc., the city's largest distributor of solar units.

He estimates that about 50,000 of them are in use nationwide.

"Until recently," says Laube, "the swimming pool construction industry had been pretty skeptical, even downright hostile, about solar heating. They had done well with traditional forms of pool heating. Now that gas costs are way up and we've proven that solar can work, they've begun to promote it."

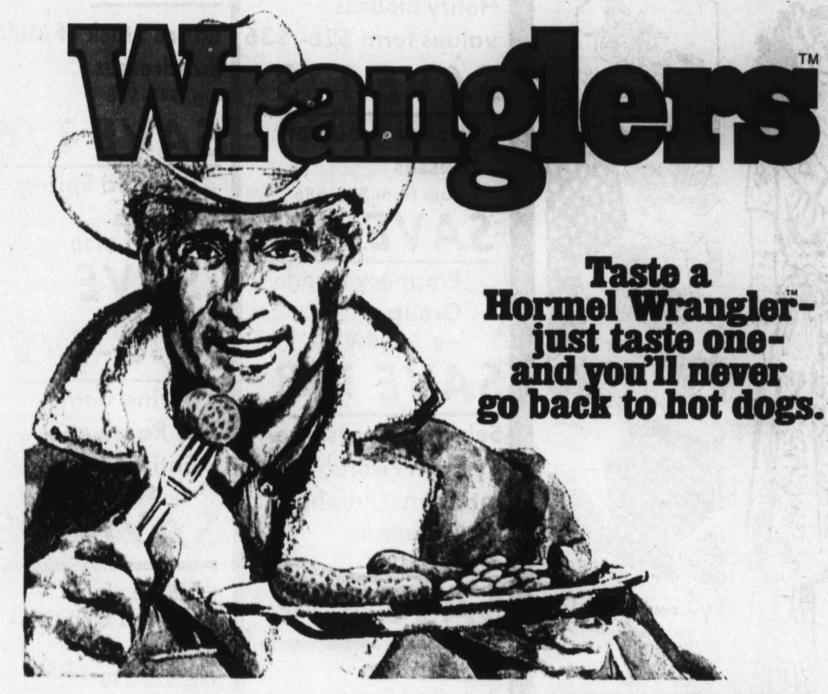

Federal Prison Standards To Be Handed Down Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) - Attorney General Griffin B. Bell says the Justice Department will issue federal standards for prisons by the end of this summer.

Bell said late last week the standards will require actions in many areas more than the Constitution mandates and could be a guide for state and local prison officials. He said the government would use the standards in determining the award of federal funds from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and in auditing state and local correctional systems.

KIDS-ONLY CLUB Collections Not Always Valuable

If you were to believe what you hear, you'd never throw anything away. People tell tales of making fortunes by selling collec-tions of all kinds of old stuff. Buttons. Beer cans. Barbed wire. And to listen to these button gluttons and beer can fans and barbed wire acquirers, as long as it's old, it's worth a lot.

Not so! In order for something to be valuable, there have to be other people who want "it" too. And even if others do collect what you collect, the price doesn't go up if there are too many of that particular "thing" around.

Now, most antiques are so expensive that they're simply out of kids' reach. Luckily, the things that kids are most likely to be able. To lay their hands on are some of the very things that have recently had the greatest rise in price: old toys, comic books and records. Other collections that are within kids' pocketbooks are sports cards, (which are not likely to bring you lots of dollars) and stamp collections (which probably won't bring you any).

Not that that really matters. Collecting is fun. There's nothing wrong with collecting just for the sake of collecting and the rule of thumb is to collect what you like.

Arts Of Cyclades Shown At Gallery

WASHINGTON (AP) - Ancient sculptures and ceramics of the Cyclades, circular group of islands in the middle of the Aegean Sea, are now on exhibit at the National Gallery of Art, marking the first extensive loan by Greece of such artworks to the United States.

The exhibition, which opened this weekend and runs through Sept. 3, has 166 works, including dozens of small, white marble figurines. In the early Bronze Age and during the entire third millenium B.C., the Cycladic peoples made important advances in hunting, fishing, animal husbandry, agriculture, metallurgy, marble sculpting, pottery, quarrying and seafaring, and produced a rich variety of art forms.

AUSTIN (AP) - One of the Legislature's most controversial bills, raising the ceiling on home loan interest rates, is on its way to Gov. Bill Clements' desk - maybe.

The "maybe" is because House sponsors still aren't satisfied with the 92-41 vote that finally passed the bill Tuesday. They might try one more time.

Statewide Crackdown On Gang Results In Numerous Arrests District of Texas.

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) - A statewide crackdown on the Bandidos Motorcycle Club has resulted in more arrests of its members, although prosecuting officials in the latest case have declined to be identified for fear of retaliatory harassment by the Bandidos.

A police official, who asked not to be identified, said Tuesday the crackdown on the motorcyle gang members began in San Antonio about 30 days ago, although federal officials in El Paso, Corpus Christi and Houston are known to have been watching Bandidos members closely since the ambush in San Antonio of Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr last November.

At least two Bandido members have been indicted on federal weapons charges by grand juries at El Paso and San Antonio in their investigations into the Kerr ambush.

STARS AND STRIPES

The first change in the flag of 13 stars and stripes adopted by the Second Continental Congress in 1777 came in 1795 with the addition of Vermont and Kentucky to the Union. Congress passed and President Washington signed an act specifying a flag of 15 alternate red and white stripes and 15 white stars on a blue field. In 1818 Congress established the present basic design - 13 alternate stripes representing the original states and a star for each state.

The measures must be considered by the House once more before they can advance to the Senate.

The measures were prompted by a recent Texas Supreme Court decision that the tax exemption for "actual places of religious worship" does not apply to church camps. Witnesses in favor of the bill in com-

State Senate Refuses To Debate Proposal

The vote to bring up the measure was 18-13, which was three short of the two-thirds majority required. House members already have ap-said he introduced the bill because manufacturers cannot obtain insurance to protect themselves against product liability suits. Opponents claimed the changes

Senate Resolution Complicates U.S.-Iran Ties

WASHINGTON (AP) - Senate resolutions usually are like the ones people make on New Year's Day: they sound good but they aren't binding.

This time, though, the resolution got results. The Senate's condemnation of revolutionary justice in Iran has added a new complication to relations between the United States and what was a key ally in the Middle East.

There may be more to come. There already is pressure in the Senate for the administration to offer asylum to the deposed Shah of Iran, branded an outlaw and sentenced to death by the new re-

The officials said that the economic and military impact of Saudi Arabia's ending an Arab arms-building consortium will be minimal, mainly because the enterprise was in its early stages.

More serious is the Saudi reversal of an earlier decision to finance the $525 million purchase of 50 F-5Es by Egypt.

Sadat said in an interview last week that he was going to turn to the American people to try to raise the money by popular subscription, but that idea - according to American officials - does not appear to be well thought out.

American and Jordanian officials confirm that no payment has been received by the United States from Saudi Arabia for the planes and no money is expected. However, the American officials said they do not consider the matter closed, and the State Department is discussing it with Saudi Arabia.

American officials say that the most disturbing thing about the Arab actions is that they may have a cumulative effect that could undermine Sadat's domestic position, and give the Egyptian people a sense of isolation and alienation from the Islamic world.

That effect appears to be increased by Sadat's attacks on the Saudis and other oil exporters, whom he described in a speech as "Arab dwarfs, who raised their oil prices fourfold in 1973, at the expense of the bloodshed by our Egyptian soldiers in the Sinai."

American officials who have been watching the growing Egyptian isolation with uneasiness, believe that Sadat's political survival will depend on several

Stays Save Condemned Killers

STARKE, Fla. (AP) — John A. Spenkelink's life was spared early today, only hours before the 30-year-old murderer was to die in Florida's electric chair, when federal judges in Atlanta and Washington granted separate appeals for a stay of execution.

Less than 12 hours before, on Tuesday afternoon, Spenkelink's Death Row companion, Willie Jasper Darden, also was granted a stay of execution when a federal judge agreed to hear his appeal.

The executions would have ben the first in the United States since a Utah firing squad shot Gary Mark Gilmore more than two years ago.

Gilmore had refused to pursue court appeals, and these would have been the first executions of prisoners against their will in the United States since 1967.

The Florida prison was quiet today after a night of tension among inmates angry about the impending execution, authorities said. Early in the night, inmates chanted, banged on the cell walls and bars and lit small fires in protest.

But after the stay was granted, they settled down. everying was quiet again.

Spenkelink was to have been executed at 7 a.m., Darden at 8.

But minutes after midnight, in Atlanta, Judge Ellbert B. Tuttle of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals issued his stay on an appeal which former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark had helped seek. Tuttle said he would set a hearing date today.

A few minutes later, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall granted Spenkelink's lawyers another stay of execution — after two other Supreme Court justices had turned them down. The high court is to take further action Thursday.

"Praise God!" Spenkelink shouted as the news flashed across a television screen outside his cell a few feet from the death chamber.

His Episcopalian minister, the Rev. Tom Feamster, gave Spenkelink Holy Communion at 1 a.m. — just one hour before guards had been due on Death Row to shave Spenkelink's head and leg to increase the efficiency of the electic chair.

His mother, Lois Spenkelink, 67, was with friends in Starke, 11 miles from the prison, when she got the word. "Thank God. Our prayers have been answered," she said. "Thank the Lord. He found somebody to make the stay."

Then she was driven to the edge of the prison, where reporters and protesters had gathered. "Thank you, Judge Tuttle and Justice Marhsall for being fair," she said. "That's all we ask. Gov. Graham, I beg you not to put John and my family through this ordeal for a third Spenkelink, convicted of murdering a traveling companion in 1973 after having escaped from a California prison, was to have been executed in September 1977. But an appeal saved him three days before that was to have been carried out.

The stay Tuttle granted was based on what Clark said was an entirely new issue — the quality of Spenkelink's legal representation. Millard Farmer, a lawver and death penalty foe, told The Associated Press that he, Clark and Atlanta attorney Marjorie Hames had sought it.

"The grounds," Clark said, "are matters not raised heretofore that have to do with the adequacy of counsel at the trial (Spenkelink's murder trial) and various stages of the appeal. There are about 10 or 12 factual claims."

Marshall agreed to have the full court consider whether state prosecutors acted improperly when Spenkelink was tried. Justices John Paul Stevens and William Rehnquist had turned Spenkelink down earlier in the day.

Darden, convicted of killing a Lakeland, Fla., furniture store owner in 1973, was spared on a stay issued by U.S. District Judge W. Terrell Hodges in Tampa. Darden's claim is that the prosecution prejudiced the trial jury with inflammatory statements during closing arguments at his trial. Judge Hodges set no hearing date

The death warrants signed for both men by Gov. Bob Graham expire at noon Friday. If a stay rains in effect beyond then, new warrants would be needed, but under Florida law a new warrant could be signed as soon as the stays of execution are lifted and the execution could be carried out almost immediate-

Spenkelink's sister, Carol Myers, heard about the stays from her husband, Tim, as they stood amid about 200 antideath penalty demonstrators about a quarter-mile from the prison. They hugged and wept.

Marshall's stay capped a desperate round of appeals by Spenkelink's law-yers Tuesday, including pleas to the full. 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, denied 2-1; to a state judge in Gainesville, dismissed; to the Florida Supreme Court, denied 7-0.

Rehnquist, denying the Supreme Court review which Marshall later granted, said Spenkelink "has had not only one day in court. He has had many." Four times before, the U.S. Supreme Court had refused to overturn his conviction or grant a stay.

Texas Court Refuses To Delay Execution

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today refused to postpone the scheduled execution Friday of Anderson Hughes, sentenced to die by lethal injection in the slaying of a Mesquite policeman.

Hughes is scheduled to die early Friday morning at the state prison at Huntsville. If the death sentence is carried out. Hughes will be the first person to be executed by injection of a lethal

In Dallas, attorney Tom McCorkle said he and attorney Arch McColl were about to file a writ of habeas corpus in U.S. District Court of the Northern District of Texas.

"We're not too concerned at this time" that the stay will not be granted, McCorkle said.

McCorkle said that based on precedent, the appeals court should have stayed the execution.

The Death Row inmate was convicted Dec. 12, 1974, in the shooting death of Travis E. Williams. The U.S. Supreme Court refused to stay Hughes' execution on Nov. 27, 1978.

His conviction was upheld May 8, 1978, by the state criminal appeals court and he was scheduled to die June 20, 1978.

However, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell held up the death sentence on June 9, 1978, until the entire high court could review the matter.

Although the full court denied Hughes' request, Justices William Brennan and Thurgood Marshall said the execution should be stopped because "the death penalty in all circumstances constitutes cruel and unusual punishment."

United Airline Workers Begin Contract Vote

DENVER (UPI) — Members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers began two days of voting today on a tentative contract that could put United Airlines back in the sky on Monday.

The agreement provides a cost-of-living clause that had been a main point of union contention during negotiations that began after union members walked off their jobs March 31 in the longest strike in the airline's history.

Officials said Tuesday results of the voting today and Thursday would be released late Thursday or Friday.

Peter Haggblom, president of the machinists Local 1886, said the United offer was "way in excess" of contracts signed with Trans World and Allegheny airlines and would provide union members $30 million more in wages than one the union rejected in March.

He said the agreement, reached Saturday, provides a 30 percent pay increase over three years plus the cost-of-living factor. The agreement apparently violates President Carter's 7 percent guideline on wage increases, but the Council on Wage and Price Stability said it would not comment on the contract

Solons Approve Wayne Medal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House, acting with unusual speed, today approved legislation to strike a gold medal for cancer-stricken actor John Wayne.

Under the House legislation, the medal would be inscribed, "John Wayne, America." It now goes back to the Senate — which has passed nearly identical legislation — for consultation.

The House bill honoring Wayne, who is in a California hospital, was passed by voice vote with no debate.

The Senate version would leave the inscription on the gold medal up to the secretary of the Treasury. But the Senate is expected to quickly accept the House version.

Only 31 other such medals have been authorized this century, going to such Americans as Jonas Salk, Charles Lindbergh, Walt Disney, Bob Hope, Robert Frost, the Wright Brothers and Robert Kennedy.

The House bill passed only two days after its initial hearing, a rapid passage even for non-controversial legislation.

HEW Reports Show Little

WASHINGTON (AP) - Financial disclosure reports pouring in to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare indicate that most top employees of the govern-ment's largest agency have little

The reports, required under the new Ethics in Government Act, are not designed to show who is rich and who isn't, but to expose conflicts of interest on the part of federal decisionmakers.

The form fied by Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. is notable for that it doesn't reveal.

Califano, who received a muchpublicized $550,000 from his Washington law practice the year before he was named secretary, put practically all his holdings in a blind trust, the assets of which do not have to be disclosed under the new reporting system.

He did say the trust paid him between $15,000 and $50,000 in in-come last year, and he received $1,149 in royalties from sales of his book, "A Presidential Na-

Califano said his savings outside the trust amounted to be-tween $5,000 and $15,000, and he had $21,000 to $70,000 in three local business partnerships, apparently real estate ventures.

The reporting form does not require listing of exact amounts of individual assets and incomes, only ranges, such as from $1,001 to $5,000; $50,001 to $100,000, and over $250,000.

Social Security Commissioner Stanford G. Ross reported he's worth more than $500,000 and may be a millionaire. But no conflicts are apparent from the reporting form.

Inspector General Thomas D. Morris, whose job is to root out fraud, waste and abuse in HEW programs, went beyond the requirements of the disclosure rules est of his holdings are in savings accounts and treasury notes, but he figured his home is worth $100,000, the furniture and jewelry in it $30,000 and his au

Although Yu's English showed the strains of 29 years of disuse, he was able to get his point across in a handwritten letter last month to H.L. Clark and R.M. Bliss, chairman and president of American Express Co.'s international banking

Yu enclosed a sample of his signature and the numbers of the lost checks. He received a letter from American Express International Banking Corp. C.C. Chiu

Final returns for the 282 House seats gave the Conservatives 136, a gain of 38 over the seats they held in the Parliament dissolved in March

The Liberals had 114 seats, a loss of 19; the socialist New Democrats 26, a gain of 9, and the right-leaning Social Credit 6, a loss of 3.

In the last Parliament, which had 18 fewer seats than this new one, Liberals held a 133-98 edge over the opposition Conservatives

Unofficial popular vote totals showed the Conservatives with 4 million votes (36.1 percent), the Liberals with 4.5 million (39.9 percent), the New Democrats with 2.02 million (18 percent) and Social Credit with 512,379 (4.5 percent). There were 171,200 (1.5 percent) votes cast for other parties.

The totals showed that nearly one million more Canadians voted Tuesday than had been predicted. The unofficial totals showed more than 11 million votes were cast. Predictions had called for slightly more than 10 million of Canada's 14.5 million eligible voters to turn out.

The 59-year-old Trudeau, a smooth but tough political fighter who was the longest-serving government leader among the Western powers, told a tearful Liberal crowd at an Ottawa hotel early today he would "recommend to my colleagues that we hand the government over.

"Keep smiling and let's go on fighting," he urged his followers. Trudeau returns to Parliament now as the member of his home district in Montreal, where he handily won re-election, as expected Clark reaffirmed the Conservative themes of his campaign, an attack on big government and economic troubles he claimed were caused by Trudeau's mismanagement. The Conservatives, Clark said, will give the Canadians "room to grow, room to find their own dreams" and a government that will "stimulate the economy .. strengthen the institutions of democracy ... so the people will have a strong-The switch from Trudeau to Clark should mean little change in U.S.-Canadian relations, unless the new prime minister tries to carry out a campaign promise to move Canada's embassy in Israel from Tel Aviv to disputed Jerusalem. The United States has always resisted Israeli pressure to do this. The Conservatives traditionally have been considered a bit friendlier than the Liberals toward U.S. big business, which controls more than half of Canadian manufacturing facilities and natural resources development.

With only a plurality in Parliament Clark continually will face the possibility that the Liberals and New Democrats could combine to defeat his government on a major Commons vote and force a new election.

But the opposition must be careful, too, for Clark now has the momentum, and an early election could swing more heavily to his favor. In Canadian politics this tense minority-government situation, which has occurred five times in the last eight elections, usually lasts no more than two years. The Conservatives rode to power Tuesday on a wave of public weariness with Trudeau and a raft of promises for slashes in spending and for tax cuts, including U.S.-style deductions on home-mortgage interest payments. But they had to overcome a clear concern among the electorate about Clark's abilities

Although aides and intermediaries delivered taped recordings of the Senate floor debate where the 19 stay-behind senators castigated their walkout and demanded they be hunted down and hauled back, the "fugitives" were afraid to send for clean clothes or even telephone their homes or offices. Panhandle Gets Rain

Following one of the decade's most plentiful rainfalls Monday and continued gray skies Tuesday, Lubbock is expected to dry out under clear skies and warmer temperatures the next few days.

Thunderstorm activity may return to the area over the weekend, weathermen said. Meanwhile, forecasts indicated little threat of precipitation through Thursday in the South Plains, with the only possible areas of precipitation today being the Panhandle and far East Texas.

The Monday downpour here, officialmeasured at 3.23 inches, made the day Lubbock's wettest since 3.25 inches fell during the May 11, 1970, tornado. Only trace amounts of moisture fell

Scattered thunderstorms crept into the Panhandle early today, dissipating in the early morning hours, but a weak cold front from Colorado and southern Kansas was expected to move into the region today, creating the possibility of showers or thunderstorms tonight.

Thunderstorm activity in East Texas likewise ended early today, however the National Weather Service said widely scattered showers and thunderstorms were forecast again today in the region.

After a spell of relatively cool weather early this week. Lubbock temperatures were expected to begin climbing today, reaching a high in the upper 70s. Temperatures Thursday in the Hub City are forecast to reach the mid-80s and soar into the low 90s Friday.

The extended South Plains forecast shows skies becoming mostly cloudy over the weekend, with scattered showers and thunderstorms. Accompanying the threat of precipitation, temperatures are forecast to cool to a high in the low 80s by Sunday. Measured rainfall in the state during the 24-hour-period ending at 7 a.m. today was heaviest at Mineral Wells, with 2.16 inches: Longview, with .47 of an inch: and McAllen, with .45 of an inch. In the South Plains, only Paducah, with .34 of an inch, received more than .04 of an inch of rain Tuesday.

Wehde holds a B.S. degree in pharmacy from Southwestern Oklahoma State University. He is a member of the Lubbock, Crosby and Garza County Pharmaceutical Association, where he served as president and secretary. Kennedy Given Boost By House Democrats Democrats said today they oppose a second term for President Carter and four said they will back Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for the 1980 Democratic presidential nomination despite his insistence that he supports the president.

Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., told a news conference that the five are searching for "someone committed to the programs for the which the Democratic Party has traditionally stood."

"I and my colleagues believe the 'someone' who best fits this description is Sen. Edward Kennedy," said Ottinger. 'We will be devoting our efforts in the coming weeks and months to drafting him for our party's nomination,' said the ongressman, who added, "To those who say Sen. Kennedy will not run, we say let us develop a national mandate for his candidacy that is irresistable. One member of the group, Rep. John

Conyers, D-Mich., said he would not support Carter, but he said he was not ready yet to commit himself to anyone Also participating in the news confer-

Jr., D-Mass., said he discussed presidential politics last week with Kennedy and the senator repeated his intention to support Carter. O'Neill also said he thought Kenne

"The truth of the matter is that if Kennedy were to run, Carter couldn't get the nomination, in my opinion," said the speaker, who emphasized he still supports Carter.

Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan said Tuesday that he also thought Kennedy probably could take the nomination away from Carter if he wanted to.

Democrats who believe Kennedy eventually will be drawn into the race argue Carter will be vulnerable to any challenge in the early primaries if there are long lines of motorists waiting at gasoline stations to buy fuel at $1 a gallon, and if home heating oil users also are encountering high prices and shortages.

Some of the earliest primaries are in New England, which is heavily dependent on home heating oil.

Tom Southwick, Kennedy's spokesman, said he called all five congressmen participating in the news conference to repeat Kennedy's position that he expects Carter to be renominated and reelected and that he intends to support the president. Southwick said he also passed on

Gambling Stocks Remain Strong Despite Numerous W

By CHET CURRIER NEW YORK (AP) - Despite many dire warnings from Washington officials and skeptics on Wall Street, the bull market in gambling stocks refuses to

After a spectacular rise last summer, the stocks of companies with casinos now in operation or on the drawing boards underwent a shakeout in the waning months of the year.

But they have come on strong again in 1979, and even the gasoline-supply scare of the past few weeks has produced only a temporary dip in their prices so far.

To cite the three most prominent examples, Caesars World has nearly tripled in price since Jan. 1, from 241/2 to around 70 late last week; Bally Manufacturing has risen from 411/2 to about 70, and Resorts International class A stock from 25% to the low 40s.

Caesars has set a 3-for-1 split and Bally a 2-for-1, both to take effect early

As every speculative-minded investor knows, all three of these stocks sold at distress prices of under $2 a share just five years ago.

A year ago this week, Resorts opened its casino in Atlantic City, N.J. - the first in the nation outside Nevada. Caesars is preparing to open an Atlantic City hotel Thursday, with hearings for a temporary casino license slated to begin on Bally hopes to have its Atlantic City casino operating later in the summer.

As the gambling-stock boom has progressed, a number of Wall Street leaders and Securities and Exchange Commission officials have taken pains to point out how speculative - in other words, risky - it is to invest in this

But the surge in the stocks' prices has also drawn intensive scrutiny from a growing number of analysts at leading Wall Street firms, who not too long ago paid the gambling business little atten-

"The securities of major participants in this industry have historically proven to be highly volatile and subject to a considerable amount of rumor and innuendo," said Anthony Hoffman of Bache Halsey Suart Shields Inc. in a report issued early this month. "Accordingly, they are suitable only for speculative,

Traditional Printing Challenged

By ROSALIND ROSSI

CHICAGO (UPI) - "Circles and sticks" may not sound very ominous, but • to Donald Neal Thurber they're a formidable foe.

Thurber says he is fighting illogic, conformity and a 50-year tradition in an attempt to persuade elementary schools to use his new approach to printing, called D'Nealian handwriting.

Thurber, 50, principal of Gibralter School System in Rockwood, Mich. hopes teachers will discard traditional printing, where letters are formed by joining component parts of "circles and sticks," in favor of his new method.

"It's my professional dedication to blow away circles and sticks forever," said Thurber at a teacher workshop here. "It creates frustration, confusion. It's illogical, conformist and leads no

"I'm comfortable in saying, that within a decade, everyone in the county will be using the D'Nealian method.'

Thurber, an educator since 1953 with a masters degree in reading, called D'Nealian "the first major change in handwriting in 57 years."

In contrast to traditional printing, a D'Nealian printer writes most letters in one continuous stroke - without lifting the pencil from the paper. Letters are slanted and need only simple joining strokes to change them into cursive writ-

The program stresses legibility but recognizes that printing is an individual project and no two people write alike, Thurber said. Different degrees of slant are allowed, as is variety in spacing and openings of letters. D'Nealian reduces student frustration because there is more flexibility in what is considered the "right" way to write, D'Nealian teachers also are instructed to use a lingo that is attractive to students when explaining how to form letters. For example, traditionally, a teacher would tell students to form an "a" by joining a circle to a stick.

'Most kids find it difficult to draw a perfectly round circle, let alone put it up against a perfectly straight stick," Thurber said.

However, a D'Nealian printer slants his "a" and is told to write it in one stroke by moving his pencil "around, up, down, and a monkey tail." Thurber recommends teachers begin by asking students to trace letters on their own fisted hands, so they are introduced to printing through the sense of risk-oriented accounts."

But he also observed: "The casino gambling industry is a growth industry which to date has achieved very low saturation of its ultimate potential due to restrictive legislation.

"The industry has displayed impressive recession-resistant characteristics and weathered the 1974 'gas crisis' without a ripple. Las Vegas has never had a down quarter in gaming revenues and we expect this to be the case in the expected 1979-80 downturn as well."

Harold Vogel of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, said in a recent speech: "The rate of expansion of gambling accelerates during highly inflationary periods, or during periods of economic duress when the escapist charac-teristics of gaming come to the fore."

ng has come to be recognized as an industry to be reckoned with - something more than just another Wall Street fad.

But the old investment adage "no tree grows to the sky" is still in force, and a sizeable number of analysts caution that all the "good news" about gambling may already be reflected in the prices of the casino stocks.

"Market Logic," an investment advi-sory letter published in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., found cause for caution in the recent buy-and-sell decisions of corporate insiders at six leading companies in the

Over the last three months, it said, no insiders at any of the six bought their stocks. But, by the firm's count, there were sellers at all six — ranging from two at Resorts to nine at Bally.

"Is the gambling boom over?" the advisory firm asked. "According to the theory of contrary opinion, by the time everyone has heard the story and ac-

Pediatric Neurologist Critical Of Remedial Reading Programs

By PATRICIA McCORMACK NEW YORK (UPI) — Growing children the same age don't all wear the same size clothes. Neither do kids take their first step or utter their first word in non-baby talk at the same chronologi-

So why, asks a pediatric neurologist, should all children be expected to read at the same rate or skill level when of

Dr. Russell D. Snyder, from the University in Albuquerque, raises these questions in a report in the current issue of Pediatrics, journal of the American Academy of Pediatrics. He brings up some ideas bound to rock academia.

He attacks remedial reading for all, and and he attacks constant prodding of the poor readers in the nation's classrooms. Snyder goes to bat especially for

Conference Backs Economic Sanctions

WASHINGTON (AP) - America should continue economic sanctions against Rhodesia until an internationally recognized settlement has been reached or irreversibly begun, an official with the U.S. Catholic Conference is assert-

"We are convinced that the only way in which peace can be restored to the people of Zimbabwe (Rhodesia) is through a free-entered arrangement in which all citizens have had a voice and a vote." said Father Rollins Lambert.

"Only an internationally backed process can bring this about," added Lambert, the conference's adviser for African affairs. His views, made available to

These are boys and girls who don't see things the way most of us do. Some of their letters are upside down or backwards. It's tough for them to figure out printed words when some letters going into the visual scanner in their craniums are cockeyed.

Snyder says schools must admit they cannot erase individual differences in their frenzy to make good readers out of all kids by pushing the poor readers including dyslexics - through a maze of remedial programs.

"Remedial reading programs may be emotionally damaging to a child," he

He cited these reasons:

- These programs focus not on the child's strengths and accomplishments but on his failure. With our present methods of remediation, a child with dyslexia can very rapidly become a child receiving special attention to reading

- A large percentage of the child's waking day can be occupied by the very thing he cannot do and often finds distasteful. Childhood can thus be marred by systematic humiliation. Any interest the child may have in the reading process can be abolished.

- Constant emphasis on the child's area of failure may also set in motion a self-fulfilling prophecy.

How to take the heat off these kids? 'Perhaps our educational system could consider a decrease in the emphasis on the attainment of skill in the interpretation of the printed word," Snyder said. "For many children, this skill is elusive at best. A recognition that reading ability is related in part to the degree of neurologic maturation is in or-

So what's the solution?

Snyder said alternatives to reading exist in this technological age. He cited the oral-aural approach of talking and listening, or using tape recorders. He said educational television and movies also are alternatives.

"Is it intrinsically incorrect to learn from audiovisuals or even from actual experience? Why should a student be forced to take written notes or written examinations when a recorder or a direct personal dialogue might be used equally well?

"Children need to be encouraged to read, but perhaps not with the intensity presently occurring in many schools," he

Distention Problem

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 42ear-old woman, 5 feet 1, 124 pounds and I've always had a pouchy stom-ach. Now I'm distended from under the breast bone to the bladder area almost all the time. I exercise regularly and bicycle but I still look quite

Four years ago I had a hemorrhoid operation and subsequently a lower GI study and was not advised of any problems. I've been through the cancer prevention center and was told I was in good health.

When I asked about bloating I was advised that some people are allergic to some foods but my diet is simple meat and potatoes — no rich foods. I probably eat a little more sugar than need. My bowel movements are regular but I do have a gassy system and I feel nauseated at times.

I have stretch marks that I never had when I was pregnant. I would be very interested in your opinion and what course of action you feel I should take.

DEAR READER - Generalized distension of the degree you are describing has to be associated with the accumulation of gas in the colon. It comes from either swallowing air or the fermentation of incompletely digested foods and sometimes from both. About 10 percent of the general population does suffer from severe gas difficulties. Everyone has gas except it doesn't accumulate or isn't trapped in the digestive tube in such a way to cause the kind or problems you are describing.

I'm sure you eat something else besides meat and potatoes. Perhaps you use milk. A reasonable percentage of the adult population has milk intolerance because they can't split the lactose sugar in milk. It's a double sugar and has to be split into single sugars before it can be absorbed through the intestinal wall and into the bloodstream.

Anyone having the degree of difficulty you describe should see a specialist in gastroenterology. If you should have a food problem such as milk intolerance, it won't show anything at all on the X ray but your history of the type of food consumption and general characteristics will tell your doctor what the problem may

To give you more detailed information on such problems, I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-Controlling Gaseousness. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

In the meantime, I would suggest that you eliminate all milk and milk products, eliminate coffee, including decaffeinated products, tea, cocoa, chocolate and all soda water drinks of any kind.

I don't want you to stay off of milk for a long period of time because you might develop a calcium deficiency. Milk and milk products are our major source of calcium. It's all right to test yourself as I have suggested but please see your doctor for a more detailed examination and see if he can help you identify which

Shortages Of Diesel Fuel May Hurt Area Farmers

Avalanche-Journal Staff Supplies of now precious diesel fuel across the South Plains are barely holding out, and distributors are warning that "if something doesn't happen to increase our supplies, this could be a sad summer for agriculture."

The diesel supply situation in Texas and across the nation is being called everything from "okay for now" to "critical," and appears to be compounded by an impending shortage of gasoline for agricultural use.

The U.S. Department of Energy has ordered refiners to make diesel a top priority, and has implemented a special rule allowing farmers to get diesel without so much red tape. Area farmers and co-op managers say they appreciate those efforts but insist it won't make any difference if there isn't any fuel to

The area diesel supply now is balanced precariously between the farmers' assault on newly planted fields and the slowdown brought on by recent rains.

Most area distributors and co-op managers contacted by The Avalanche-Journal said their supplies were "okay for right now," but voiced concern for adequate supplies in June and July. They also said they doubted President Carter could fulfill his promise to provide enough diesel for the nation's sum-

"I think the president's full of peanuts if he thinks we're going to have enough diesel," said Don Moore, manager of Plainview's United Farm Industries, one of the region's premier fuel distributors. "Our diesel is holding out okay right now, but no one's been in because of the weather. It's going to be hell here in another week when everyone gets back in the fields. Our supply is pretty good but we're still buying extra shipments from Abilene," said A.J. Jester, manager of the Farmers Co-op in Tahoka. "Without that extra supply we'd have been dry several

"Our diesel's okay for today, but I'm worried about our gas supplies," said Bub Sparks of Hereford's Consumers Fuel Co-op, "We were out of regular all day Monday, and only get new allottments every week, so we'll see.'

Jester also expressed concern over dwindling gasoline supplies. "The gas supplies really worry me, because I think our big diesel use might be over, and we'll still be stuck.

Through "Special Rule No. 9," the Department of Energy has made it possible for farmers to get their 100 percent allocation, when it is available, without having to formally apply for it, according to State Sen. E.L. Short of Tahoka.

oil used on rural roads in five East Texas subdivisions poses no serious health hazards to residents, according to a triagency report released Tuesday.

The Texas Department of Water Resources, Texas Department of Health and the Texas Air Control Board said in a joint report that levels of cyanide "do not constitute a health hazard.

The report said potential health hazards from nitrobenzene found in the roads "should be alleviated when the required clean-up is complete. No significant runoff of the hazardous chemical was detected in vegetation or aquatic life, the report added. The Texas Water Commission ruled

Five days later, the commission added four other subdivisions to the order: Town Bluff Estates, Ivanhoe Land of Lakes and Barlow Lake Estates in Tyler County, and Shelter Cove subdivision in Polk County.

The Department of Water Resources and the Environmental Protection Agency found hazardous levels of nitrobenzene and traces of cyanide in a Polk County subdivision. The Water Commission reported nitrobenzene had been agricultural use," Short said. But the suppliers say there is no way to fulfill the demand for 100 percent allocation because there simply isn't enough diesel to go around. Farmland Industries of Kansas City, Mo. which supplies 95 area co-ops with diesel and gasoline, says its situation is the same as it's been all spring - criti-

"Our goal is to supply 100 percent of our demand," said George Statham in the company's home office. "But if we don't get what we're supposed to from our suppliers (the major oil producers), we have to allocate to our dealers what is being allocated to us. Right now. we're on 80 percent diesel and 90 percent gasoline

We're making every effort to come up with special consignments and allocations," said Dale Glasson from Farmland's Amarillo office. "It's too early to tell if we've made any progress, though

A Farmland crew spent last week in Washington meeting with representatives from the DOE, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and several Congressmen. "We feel confident we'll get some relief," Statham said. "But the system is complicated and we just don't Glasson agreed with area distributors that June could be the make-or-break month for High Plains farmers, but predicted little improvement during the month. "If we could get our allocated gallons, we could almost catch up to the area's requirement, he said. suppliers keep telling us they can't get enough crude.

Though it's of no consolation to South Plains farmers, the diesel shortage encompasses the nation's entire Farm Belt. "Bad shortages" are preva lent across the Midwest and Getty Oil, one of the Midwest's largest suppliers, announced Tuesday it was cutting back on diesel production to concentrate on Short, the chairman of a Senate subcommittee on diesel fuel shortages in agriculture, is still delving into the elusive problem without much luck.

Froy Salinas Delays Drinking Age Bill to kill legislation being supported by Texas educators to raise the legal drinking age to 19, the bill's House sponsor-

Rep. Mike Ezzell of Snyder says the legislation has been bottled up in a subcommittee headed by Salinas since being approved by the Senate in early April.

The last House action on the bill was April 25 when the Liquor Regulation Committee held a hearing on the bill, then sent it to Salinas' subcommittee,

The Lubbock legislator "just wants to study the bill and refuses to call a meeting of the subcommittee," Ezzell

"He's just trying to kill the bill" and doesn't want the House to vote on it, Ezzell said. "If he wants to take credit for killing the bill, that's fine with me.'

Salinas defended his actions, saying he's been attempting to get an Attorney General's opinion to determine whether the bill violates equal protection guarantees in the Texas and U.S. Constitutions. Also, Salinas said, the bill doesn't have the requisite six votes to get out of committee and onto the House floor. "The question was raised in the subcommittee," Salinas said, about whether the legislation is constitutional because 18-year-olds are classified as adults when it comes to voting and going to prison, but wouldn't be permitted to drink. Specifically, Rep. Frank Tejeda of San Antonio, a subcommittee member, raised the constitutionality question. Salinas said, as did members of the Liquor Regulation Committee.

Salinas' efforts to kill the legislation. "It's interesting he's the only one who seems to have the concern," Ezzell said. "If that's a problem, other states (that raised the drinking age) have that

The Snyder legislator said he told Salinas he had information on the bill's possible effects on equal protection guarantees, but Salinas "didn't choose to look at" the information.

Past court decisions indicate there would be no constitutional problems if the bill became law, Ezzell said. "He's had the bill almost a month.

Why, all of a sudden is he so concerned with one week left (in the legislative session?" Ezzell asked.

Salinas said he wrote a letter asking for the opinion from Attorney General Mark White the day after the drinking "I acted as fast as I thought I could,"

Salinas said.

Liquor Regulation Committee Chairman W.G. Coody of Weatherford "saved the bill" by sending it to subcommittee. Salinas said, because the bill would have been "dead" if it had been voted on the same day as the committee hearing.

Salinas said he checked with committee members Monday and found only four members favored reporting the bill out of committee, while six affirmative votes are needed.

"I could have done the easy thing and kicked it over there," Salinas said, but I don't like political tricks," Ezzell said he thinks the votes are there, though, to get the bill out for a House vote and said Salinas is attempting to "make excuses for not trying to

Two Texas Pilots Fined For Air Space Violation

RIOHACHA, Colombia (AP) - Two Texas pilots have been fined $20,000 each for illegally entering Colombia's air space, the Guajira State governor's office said. One of the men said they had borrowed enough money to square accounts and get home.

William Spradley and Roy McLemore, both from Houston, are being held under guard in a hospital in this Caribbean port town until the fines are paid. Spradley is being treated for a bullet wound and McLemore is suffering pains from a gall bladder operation two Spradley, a Houston fireman who flies part-time to make extra money, said a friend in Houston had loaned him $37,500 and he hoped to be on a plane home soon. McLemore borrowed an equal amount from people in Florida and expected the money to arrive Thursday, Spradley said.

He quoted their Colombian lawyer as saying legal fees would be $7,500 each and the rest of the money would go to pay for medical treatment and transpor-

The men said they were flying to neighboring Venezuela to pick up oil drilling bits when mechanical difficulties forced them to land their twin-engine plane on a beach in the Guajira desert

Spradley said he was shot in the back by marijuana smugglers and McLemore said he was kidnapped by gangsters and held until last Tuesday. He said he made an escape planned by the Colombian army and Houston Fire Department offi-

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Attorneys for the family of a woman slain in the say Ira Attebery had more than $80,000 in 12 savings accounts that should be declared part of the dead sniper's estate. John Heard, who represents the family of Ida Jean Dollard, 27, said Monday he believes the entire estate, including the savings accounts and the motor home from which Attebery fired, should be worth more than $200,000. Heard asked County Court-at-Law Judge Blair Reeves to include the accounts in the estate.

Dear Omar:

You ask me what I think is the most important attribute of the bridge expert. It is quite simple: Respect and confidence in the ability of his partner!

As an example, I would like to show you this hand, which I defended almost 50 years ago in Philadelphia. My partner was a relative newcomer to the area, but in the few times I had watched him. I could see that he knew how to handle himself in combat at the highest level.

I had tried to deflect the opponents from completing the rubber by putting in what for me was a very daring overcall at the four-level. I would not have liked it if South had doubled, though we might have wriggled out to our 4-4 spade fit, which could have lessened the disaster. But South persisted to game in hearts, and my partner led the king of

Now I knew that my parter was not the sort of player who would in-discriminately lead a suit other than the one bid by his partner, so I decided that he might well be void in diamonds. If we could score two diamond ruffs in addition to two spade tricks, we would do exceedingly well. But where were the necessary entries to my hand? The lead of the king of spades marked partner with the queen. It dawned on me that, if partner held the jack of spades as well, my ten would be the second vital entry. Accordingly, I overtook the king of spades with the ace and shifted to the queen of diamonds, to show that my entry was in the higher-ranking suit.

Partner got my message. He ruffed the diamond and dutifully returned the deuce of spades. My ten held the trick, and another diamond ruff spelled finis to North-South's hopes of a quick rubber.

The fates were kind. We went on to score game on the next two deals and win the rubber. I still feel we deserved it-we earned it by our defense on this hand. As ever.

United Seeks New Fares

CHICAGO (UPI) - United Airlines has applied for permission to enact $108 one-way fares on some of its New York-Los Angeles and New York-San Francisco routes as soon as it resumes regular

United spokesman Jim Kennedy said the strike-bound airline Tuesday filed a request with the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to offer the new fares designed to compete with economy fares being offered by World Airways on the

The fares would apply to all flights between New York and Los Angeles with no restrictions, Kennedy said. The reduced fares would be limited to night coach flights between New York and San Francisco, he said. Meals would be included in all of the fares.

United has reached a tentative contract agreement with its striking machinists union to end the strike that closed down the nation's largest air carrier in late March. If the contract is ratified probably this weekend - United plans to resume limited service May 28 and full service about a week later.

Kennedy said the airline expects the CAB to approve the fare requests by the time full service resumes.

Q: If my savings account has a survivorship clause naming my wife as the beneficiary, does the savings account need to be include in our wills?

A: If the savings account provides a valid right of survivorship, the funds pass directly to the survivor regardless of the language of the will. However, joint tenancies with right of survivorship between spouses have repeatedly been found invalid in Texas. These accounts will be treated as community property under laws of descent and distribution.

A: Your security deposit is not a part of your rent payments. If you deduct the amount of your security deposit from your final rent check, your landlord is entitled to bring suit against you for the unpaid rent. The law allows the landlord to sue for three times the amount of your security deposit and for the cost of attorneys' fees.

Security Industry Notices Increase In Business

HOUSTON (AP) - People are afraid, and their fear is fueling a surge in the growth of the country's security industry and the array of space-age devices it uses to combat crime.

"The police just aren't able to cope with the incredible increase in crime throughout the country, so people have turned to private industry for protection," said David L. Berger, director of

Health Fair Cost Called Bargain

WASHINGTON (AP) - A three-day health fair here, costing taxpayers $170,-550, is a bargain if it spurs Americans to take better care of themselves, says Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr.

'I happen to think this cost is very low," Califano said recently. "There are people who eat that much up in a month in an intensive care unit after a heart at-

The idea of the HEW extravaganza, that began Tuesday in tents on the National Mall, is to help people avoid becoming heart patients by adopting good nutrition, exercise and other health hab-

Califano, opening the event on an open-air platform under threatening skies, told the crowd of 500 how much it would cost and added, "that's less than the cost of one CAT scanner." HEW maintains those computerized, three-dimensional X-ray devices have proliferated too much.

Joining Califano were several dozen politicians and sports celebrities, some of whom jogged one mile around the Mall with him to kick off the fair. On hand but not jogging was Connecticut Gov. Ella Grasso, from whom Califano got the idea for a health fair last fall during a campaign appearance.

We've got to dramatize to ordinary people ... that what they do for themselves is more important than any doctor or any hospital or any machine can do or them," Califano said in a inter-

"Every county in the country could have a health fair like this," he said, adding, that by using space in schoolyards and enlisting business and civic volunteers "they could do it for substantially less than for $50,000

More than one-third of HEW's costs are an estimated $63,500 for the salaries of employees who planned HEalthWorks and will staff the exhibits.

Renting tents, bleachers and other equipment, setting them up and paying for police is costing $47,500. Eleven exhibits were developed at a cost of $28,-750, but Califano stressed they can be used "again and again." Printing and graphics cost $23,500.

The rest of the tab is $6,300 for transment for performers and a $1,000 miscellaneous fund.

HEalthWorks comes almost one year after the 25th birthday party HEW threw for itself. The department initially said the public party would cost $15,000, but recently admitted spending more than $108,000.

The fair's exhibits range from a mock supermarket where consumers will see which cookies and other staples have the most fat, to a battery of health screening stations to compile bloodpressure, cholesterol level and other information to be forwarded to a doctor.

Califano said America is spending far too much of its $200 billion-plus health bill to care for people after they fall ill instead of trying to help them stay heal-

Six Indicted In Animal Export Plot

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) - Six men have been indicted by a federal grand jury for an alleged scheme to export exotic birds and animals into the United States.

The indictments said six smuggled birds worth as much as $2,000 each on the black market were brought into the country between June 1974 and October 1977. The activities took place in northern New York, at the Champlain port of entry from Canada, the indictment said.

Charged with conspiring to smuggle a Harpy eagle from Canada was Lawrence Curtis, director of the Oklahoma City Zoo. Also facing the same count were a Canadian, Walter Frey, of Wister, Ont.; Gordtn Cooke, of Leichester, England, and Lee Simms, of Baton Rouge, La.

Frey, who listed his business as the Canary Bird Farm of Old Bridge, N.J., allegedly carried the eagle into the U.S.

The last suspect, James Ross, Houston, is accused of smuggling birds into the U.S. on Oct. 13, 1977.

Police have been both pleased and dismayed by this trend," said Berger, who was here for the International Security Conference, a showcase for 250 exhibitors displaying everything from combination doorlocks to wristwatch debugging devices.

He said police always appreciate any help they can get, but they don't like the attendant problems. A major headache for them has been the proliferation of private security guard forces that are controlled very little or not at all by public law enforcement agencies, he said.

an interview. "Anybody can become a guard, and only a very few states require that guards meet certain minimum qualifications.

"California is one state that does require training, but the standards are ludicrous," he continued. "In many states, a person can be an ex-felon who just goes to a security company for an excuse to get a gun he can use to rob a bank."

Berger said the newest trend in crime has corporate America as its target, on two separate fronts - terrorism and white-collar crime.

Executive protection is becoming a whole new industry," said Berger. "Kidnapping was very big in the 20s and now now they call it something else.

"As far as corporate security is concerned, terrorism is a bad problem now, and all indications are that it will be growing far worse in the future, both here and abroad," he said.

"Overseas divisions of American companies are particularly vulnerable because terrorists figure they will fork over large sums to free their executives, and they are right," Berger continued.

Berger said "white-collar" crime, such as pilferage and employee theft, cost companies $18 billion in 1977.

"White-collar crime has increased because the penalties against it are not semillion, and he won't go to jail any longer than someone who steals $50,000.

"The potential of beating the system is so great that people figure it isworth the chance," he continued. Berger said declining moral values in the United States also helped create the

Since 1970, the proportion of the pop-

The impact of these changes has been magnified by development in the economic realm. High inflation, sluggish growth, increased energy costs and balance-of-payments problems have combined to undermine confidence in the economy and make many Americans fearful of the future, Pifer asserts.

As real income has declined, econompressures have mounted on most families, he adds, pushing more women into the labor force. As a result, two-worker families have become the norm.

Pifer, whose foundation has assets of $285 million, sees some disturbing trends emerging from these developments. First, he points out, the income disparity between two-paycheck families and the increasing numbers of single-parent families — "usually headed by a woman, often of minority background, and almost always poor" - is steadily

Accompanying these trends, Pifer adds, has been a radical shift in social values, "including the appearance of self-centered, inward-turning attitudes among the more affluent and a growing tendency among Americans generally to live for the present, rather than to defer immediate gratification in the hopes of ensuring a better future for themselves and their children."

Conflict between age groups could intensfy, he says, as the ever-growing numbers of older people press their concerns at the expense of the young.

"Few people realize the extent of the massive shift that has already taken place in the allocation of public spending for the elderly, principally through increases in Social Security payments and Medicare," the Carnegie chief says. "Indeed, the substantial portion of the "Indeed, the substantial portion of the federal budget now going to the elderly represents the largest income redistribution scheme in the nation's history."

But as today's children begin to advance quite rapidly in the latter half of the 1990s, they will face a time of unprecedented opportunity combined with maximum responsibility, Pifer notes.

"It will be the job of this relatively small group not only to produce the nation's cadres of professional, administrative, technical and skilled workers, but to ensure the well-being of the generation behind it, as well as to provide assistance to the 15 to 20 percent of the population of elderly people the nation will have by then."

What this means, he asserts, is that every child alive today or born in the near future "will be a scarce resource and a precious asset as an adult in the Belifting the head of a foundation that focuses on educational and social issues, Pifer adds: "Given the inexorable nature of this march toward a demonstration of the control of the graphic day of reckoning, common sense would seem to dictate that we start now making the welfare of children, especially those who are most in need of special help, our highest priority."

Although Carnegie reports are not ordinarily required reading for corporate executives, Pifer's comments bear study by those who must plan for the future of their businesses.

Gas Crisis May Hurt Congress

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK WASHINGTON (UPI) - Ever since Harry Truman pulled off his 1948 election upset by running as hard against Congress as against his Republican opponent, presidents have been tempted to respond to adversity with a whack or two at the House or Senate. The success record for this ma is mixed. But no president really has been able to duplicate Truman's success in what has been called "going to the people" when Congress won't cooperate.

However, the current gas rationing hullaballoo may present a situation in which the president may be able to pin the tail on Congress.

Much depends upon the congression-al response to Carter's angry challenge to the House and Senate to come up with a standby rationing plan to replace the one the White House tried and failed to get passed earlier this month.

If Congress now can produce a reasonably practical and fair plan for use in the event of a severe and sustained tage of gasoline, it will be off the

But if it operates on this one the way it did on previous energy legislation, it might be months, even years, before Congress comes up with something to replace the proposal it killed. And failure to produce a contingency plan for gasoline could be a natural campaign issue for congressional challengers next year. It certainly could give the president something to talk about in his own bid for reelection - HST even provided the catch phrase with his "good for nothing, do-nothing Congress" tag. So there could be a lot of members of Congress who will spend a lot of their time in the fall of 1980 trying to explain why it was they could not do the job they were sent to Washington to do. That possibility is almost a certainty if a chronic gas shortage does occur. It may be that members think they can blame "White House bungling" for the gas rationing mess. Possibly, but it is hard to think of any recent situation which has been clearer cut in political terms than what happened on the standby rationing plan.

The administration had a plan. It sent it to Capitol Hill and a number of senators objected to details. The White House pulled the proposal back and sent up a new one. The Senate passed it. Then the House killed it, decisively.

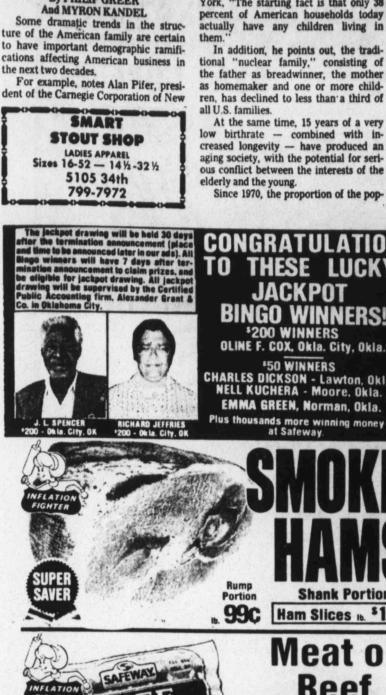

Question: If the plan was unacceptable to a majority of the House, why didn't its leaders, or even individual members, make that clear to the White House? How come the House couldn't get the plan changed to suit it better, just like the Senate did?

Some House members may be opposed to any kind of gas rationing. In the case of this measure, however, the appearance was that many members simply opposed details of the Senatepassed plan or were concerned that their constituents would think a vote for a standby plan was a vote to begin ration-

In the first instance, a little negotiation might have solved the House's problems. In the second, a little leadership by the individual members in their districts might have done wonders.

In any case, it will be a lot harder for House members to explain why there is no gas rationing plan ready if one is needed than it would be to explain why one was prepared if it wasn't needed.

Employees Force Businesses To Close

HOUSTON (AP) - Almost half of the small businesses forced to close their doors each year do so because their employees, the "so-called honest people," steal them into bankruptcy, a security expert said.

"Of the small businesses that go out of business each year, about 40 percent say they were forced to close their doors because of employee theft," said William Dukes, a Gulfport, Miss., attorney.

employee theft during the International Security Conference, which runs through today at Houston's Albert Thomas Convention Center.

"Employee theft costs the American public about $40 billion a year," he said. "What's worse, the employee criminal causes the public to lose confidence in industrial institutions."

Don Darling, a security consultant from El Segundo, Calif., said companies are hiring more and more people like himself to develop programs designed to stop pilferage such as that reported by a New Jersey hospital in which 16,500 kitchen utensils were stolen in one year.

"For the highly competitive small businesses, stopping thieves from stealing their inventory often is the difference between success and failure." Dar-ence between success and failure," Darling said Tuesday.

And America's fast-growing private security force employs a dazzling array of devices in its efforts to protect both industry and the individual from crime.

Some 250 exhibitors at the conference displayed a technical inventory that ranged from microwave detectors that sense movement in huge areas, to a digital wristwatch that could tell the time, date, and whether the person standing next to you was bugging the conversa-

Group To Ask For Approval Of Pool At Ballenger School

By LISA PAIKOWSK

Avalanche-Journal Staff A group of Ballenger School parents ask the Lubbock school board Thursday for approval to construct a swimming pool to help improve the physical and motor development of mentally retarded students.

Clifford Scheffler, spokesman for the parents, said the proposed "therapeutic exercise facility" at the school for the trainable mentally retarded would be funded through the community, especially through the business community and community clubs.

He said "no total cost package" has been put together, but he estimated the facility would cost about $150,000.

The school district will be asked to absorb operating expenses, maintenance and repairs, which Scheeffler said would be built in an alcove of the school formed by three already existing walls. Scheffler said the alcove "looks like it would be utilized for a facility of this

The pool would be 42 to 51 inches deep and equipped with ramps to accommodate the handicapped students, Scheffler said the idea originated from his own experience with his handicapped son, whose "confidence level and motor capabilities" have improved with use of a pool at their home.

"The handicapped are probably closer to normal in the physical area than in any other area," he said. "Their greatest success potential is in the physical and motor activities."

He said he approached Ballenger School principal Tommy Herring with the idea and "Tom thought it would be a great idea for the school there.

Although the district would not fund the building of the pool, Dr. E.C. Leslie, assistant superintendent for administration for the school district, said board approval must be obtained to initiate the proposal, especially inasmuch as the school district would handle maintenance and operating costs.

Tech Workshop To Focus On Educational Climate

An education workshop flocusing on building a good educational climate through administrative effectiveness, teacher job satisfaction and pupil achievement will be held June 25-29 in the University Center Coronado Room. Texas Tech's College of Education and Division of Continuing Education are sponsoring the workshop in cooperation with the Texas Elementary Princi-

Workshop topics were chosen to help participants improve school climate through leadership, goal-setting and creative problem-solving, evaluation, positive mental attitudes and conflict management.

Principals in new situations, including administrators recently appointed or transferred to a new school with rapidly changing student populations (including integration) or with a number of new faculty, facilities or programs would es-

Ezzell said the legislation has: "statewide importance" because of student drinking and related discipline peroblems in Texas public schools.

If a school has an open campus, Ezzell said, there's nothing to prevent an 18year-old student from "having a few beers at lunch, then coming back to school.

The legislation "is not going to com-pletely solve all the problems," Ezzell said. "but it's encouraging the peroblem by leaving it like it is."

Ezzell said the only opposition to the bill he is aware of is that from high school students who might be affected by the legislation. However, he said he hasn't re'ceived one letter in opposition to the bin, adding. "I don't think any other legislators have been flooded with letters in apposi-But, Salinas said the bill may lbe the equivilent of trying to "kill a gnat with a Workshop instructors include Dr. Robert H. Anderson, dean of Texas Tech's College of Education; Gerald Judd, assistant principal at McWhorter Elementary in Lubbock; Bettye Mac-Phail, former director of secondary education in the Chesapeake Public Schools of Virginia: Dr. Karolyn Snyder, vice president of Pedamorphosis, a non-profit organization devoted to the study and improvement of school leadership and organization; and Reavis.

Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) - Wheat futures rose while corn futures fell slightly Tuesday on the Chicago Board of Trade. A government report of larger-thanexpected exports of wheat last week at 19.2 million bushels encouraged some buying, analysts said. A slowdown in cash sales of wheat after last week's release by the government of 400 million bushels in farmer-held storage under loan was a background factor. Corn futures drifted lower after the Agriculture Department said U.S. corn plantings were 67 percent complete, after severe delays earlier this month. A pickup in farmer selling of grain encouraged some sales of futures as well

Austin Hands Monterey 11-7 Defeat

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff EL PASO — On top of the Monterey dugout along the first base line, painted in big wide letters was written the word E-N-E-M-Y.

But in the fifth inning, the Plainsmen played more like friends by committing two errors and misjudging a fly ball that went for a triple. The mistakes helped El Paso Austin rally for 6 runs and defeat the Plainsmen 11-7 in the opener of a best two-of-three game Class AAAA regional baseball series Tuesday after-

The win lifted Austin to 20-6 for the year and dropped Monterey to 26-8. Now, the series goes to Lubbock, where the Plainsmen will try to even things in a single game Friday afternon and win it with a Saturday morning contest. However, a win in either game would send

With one out and a runner on second base in the fifth Tuesday, Austin pitcher Doug Woods hit a fly to right field, but Monterey outfielder David Faulkner lost sight of the ball on the descent, allowing it to bounce over his head and roll all the way to the wall. Panther second baseman Albert Lopez scored easily on

The ball sounded real good off the bat, "said Woods. "I didn't see it, though, and had no idea of what happened until Coach Antwine gave me the holdup

Monterey third baseman Kent Potts then figured into Austin's offensive pic-brought 2 more runs home. Potts committed the mistakes on the same batter, designated hitter Tony Bravo.

First, Potts allowed Bravo to reach first by bobbling a grounder. Then Potts was charged with a second error on Junior Salas' double to left field. Potts was out of position on the relay and the ball got by him, which allowed Bravo, who has stopped at third, to come the remaining 90 feet home.

"I told people all along that this (MHS) club wasn't as good as everybody believed," said Monterey coach Bobby Moegle. "Today, we proved it."

The Plainsmen used three pitchers in the contest, with Ricky Pinkerton (7-2) taking the loss. Woods, who tossed five innings, improved his record to 10-1.

After Salas' double - when both the Panther third baseman and leftfielder Greg Quinn scored - Stan Zelner was called in for relief duty.

"This game wasn't typical of the kind of contests we've been in this year," said Quinn, the Panthers' leading hitter with a .444 average. "Usually we get four runs in the first inning. We were a little nervous when Monterey took a 1-0 lead, but we weren't worried.

Besides the 1-run edge, the Plainsmen were able to grab a 3:2 advantage after four innings. The lead changed hands four times and the game was tied once before the Panthers' fifth-inning

Q. There is a song or record with lyrics composed entirely of baseball players' names from days gone by. The only names I remember from the record are Johnny Gajeski and Van Lingle Mungo. What is the name of the song? Who was Van Lingle Mungo?

Only three other sets of brothes have won more games combined in the histo-ry of major league baseball. And Joe sweetened his career figures Tuesday night with his 100th victory.

'He's got a lot of good years left." says Phil Niekro after watching his younger brother pitch the Houston Astros to a 4-1 victory over his Atlanta Braves. "He's got the confidence a knuckleball pitcher needs, plus he's got other pitches better than I do, like his fastball and slider.

The pride of brotherhood overshadowed the pain of defeat and Phil Niekro bowed to the victor by sending him a bottle of liquor with a note that said, 'Congratulations.

"It's just probably cheap wine," joked Joe.

Then he got serious. "I consider myself a good knuckle-ball pitcher," he said, "but Phil is a great one. No one in baseball has a bet-

Joe Niekro's career victory total is roughly one half of his more illustrious brother's - 100 to 202, He's 33, while Phil is 40.

"I'll never catch up with him," said Joe. "If he ever retires, I'll try to. But I may retire before him, the way he's pitching."

Incidentally, the brother combinations ahead of the Niekros in victories are, Gaylord and Jim Perry with 485; Johnny, Art and Walt Clarkson with 380 and Christy and Henry Mathewson with 373, all of them by Christy. The only run off Niekro, 5-2, came on Bob Horner's RBI single in the ninth. The Astros took advantage of two Atlanta errors in a three-run fifth. With two out, Houston got consecutive singles from Julio Gonzalez, Jose Cruz and Cesar Cedeno, the latter driving in one run, and Cruz and Cedeno each advanced on an extra base when Jeff Burroughs bobbled the ball in left field.

Jeff Leonard was safe at first and Cruz scored when first baseman Horner dropped a throw that would have ended the inning. Cabell then lined his single to right, scoring Cedeno. Mickey Mahler allow its No. 1-ranked baseball team to compete in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics world series this month because players celebrated their last victory with a champagne toast in the locker room.

'Because it's a Christian school, they (the administration) feel we made a disgrace of the school," said Ed Bonine, the Antelopes' top pitcher, told The Arizona Republic.

Grand Canyon defeated Sam Houston State 10-2 Friday to win the Area 2 tournament and earn a berth in the world series scheduled to begin Memorial Day in Nashville, Tenn. (Lubbock Christian College was one of the four teams in that area tournament.)

The team violated school rules, however, with a champagne bash in the locker room after the victory and the school administration decided not to let the team compete in the nationals, the Republic said.

Grand Canyon assistant coach Kent Fulmer told the newspaper that veteran head coach Dave Brazell had called him to say, "We aren't going. The school's athletic administrator, Bill Estes, admitted Tuesday that the administration had made a decision and said the NAIA would be notified this morning. He would not elaborate. Brazell and school president Bill Williams could not be reached for comment. Several Antelope players admitted there was champagne in the locker room after Friday's win, and an Associated Press photograph showing the jubilant players popping corks was transmitted across the country and appeared in a Phoenix newspaper Saturday.

A student handbook published by the college, which is owned and operated by the Arizona Southern Baptist Convention, says possession or use of alcoholic beverages on campus is prohibited. Players claim the champagne was used symbolically in celebration, not to Fulmer said, "It's unfortunate that they pulled the rug from under the kids. They worked hard to get this far and they really wanted to go.

Another Antelope pitcher, Jim Gerlach, 12-2, added, "I don't think it's fair to kick 20 ballpayers out of a dream. It just isn't fair.

If American League pitchers appear tense, it could be because Bruce Bochte is more relaxed.

"I think it's all psychological," Bochte said after Tuesday night's 12-11 Seattle Mariners victory over the Kansas City Royals in 12 innings. "I'm just more relaxed this year."

Relaxed at the plate, Bochte slammed a home run, a triple and two singles, driving in six runs.

In the past, with runners on base, I would get tensed up," the Seattle first baseman said. "Now I'm approching it from the standpoint that I'm gonna do what I'm gonna do and that's that."

Bochte's big night could have been even bigger. With Seattle leading 11-6, Bochte was replaced in the seventh inning after tripling.

"I was itching to get back out there (in the late innings)," he said, "but that's the way Darrell (Manager Darrell Johnson) has been doing me all year."

"I'll do it again the next game," the Seattle manager said.

Questions Surround Fidrych's Comeback

Associated Press Sports Writer DETROIT (AP) - Is Mark "The

Bird" Fidrych washed up? That's what just about everybody who follows baseball has to be asking by -The Detroit pitcher, Tiger fans figured, would be slow to come around from tendinitis that sidelined him most of the last two seasons. But, they anticipated, he'd do it.

The only real question seemed to be whether Fidrych would be able to regain the form that got him the Cy Young Award in the American League in 1976 with a 19-9 record and 2.34 ERA.

But after his latest shellacking, 12-8 Tuesday night by the New York Yankees, the concern is whether Fidrych is capable of being even a mediocre pitcher in the major leagues.

His ERA entering the Yankee game was 8.53 in three starts. He lasted just two full innings against New York, giving up five runs. His record is 0-3. He hasn't won since April 12, 1978.

Beside the status of The Bird's career, other serious questions need to be

Is general manager Jim Campbell of the Tigers using Fidrych as a starter strictly as a drawing card?

How many more chances will manager Les Moss give Fidrych? And if Fidrych's arm is really sound as he has said all season, why is he so ineffective? Sure, Fidrych is a draw. But Campbell is noted for his integrity and isn't the type who would exploit Fidrych at the expense of ruining his arm or his still insist Fidrych isn't bad. "He has a lot of stuff," said Yankee slugger Chris Chamblis. ". . . I think you (reporters) ought to leave him alone. He's throwing without pain and throwing good. Just give him time.

New York coach Jim Hegan, who was Detroit's bullpen coach when Fidrych became a overnight sensation in 1976, said: "I thought he threw balls better tonight than in New York (Wednesday), as far as speed was concerned. 'But he was up again. When he's right, he's down around the knees with a good sinker. He did throw some pretty good breaking balls tonight." Because of the poor outings, Fidrych said, "if he can learn to pitch to spots. His big year he was overpowering.' Tiger catcher Lance Parrish said: "I "could become a better pitcher," Hegan

see improvement. He's throwing the ball all right. He just gets in trouble when he loses his control. Fidrych could have also lost his temper Tuesday, but held back.

'My confidence will hold up," he said in the clubhouse. "I could have come in here and destroyed the locker room. I thought about it. But it's not worth it. What good would it do?'

'There's no way you can write how I feel," he said.

Martin Ready To Pay, Apologize

RENO, Nev. (AP) - Former and supposedly - future New York Yankees manager Billy Martin has passed another crisis in his often-bumpy ride through life, but in keeping with the way things happen to him, still another critical moment lies ahead.

A criminal complaint of battery against Martin has been dropped by Reno sports writer Ray Hagar, and the two reportedly have agreed on terms of an out-of-court settlement. Martin, though, still must face Yankee owner George Steinbrenner's test if he is to regain his job next year as manager of the defending world champions. Steinbrenner, upset at Martin's the-field behavior, said last winter that his former manager must be completely exonerated in the Hagar case before he can come back as Yankees' field boss. "I'm not going to tell them to settle or not to settle," Steinbrenner said when talk of a possible out-of-court settlement first surfaced. "Billy told me he would be proven innocent. But I'm going to have to look at everything, at the whole

Blake Rocks German

Robin Blake of Levelland continued his march toward national recognition and a berth on the United States Olympic boxing team last Friday in Memphis when he scored a decisive win in international competition over Ulrich Junger of West Germany, with a knockout in the first round.

morning that the suit had been dropped, commented. "I think that's fine. I assume either the reporter felt he didn't have a case or Billy made a settlement with him. The Yankees owner, at his home in Tampa, Fla., added that while the dropping of the criminal complaint "gets it out of the way" for Martin, he wanted talk with Martin and his attorney about the matter. Martin is expected to be in Reno Thursday to finalize the settlement. The former Yankees Manager is expected to offer Hagar $8,000 and a public apology, according to Nevada State Journal executive editor Bob Ritter. Hagar said in his complaint that Martin, who was visiting Reno, hit him after an interview Nov. 10, knocking the reporter's glasses to the floor and chipping his upper front tooth. Hagar said Martin became upset with questions about Reggie Jackson, and dehe refused and put his notes behind his back, and then was punched. Hagar's attorney, Timothy Dixon, said dismissal of the criminal complaint paved the way for Martin to return to Reno without fear of being arrested. Dixon would not comment on the status of the civil suit, which seeks general and punitive damages of more than $10,000.

manded the reporter's notes. Hagar said but Hagar confirmed the settlement agreed to was for $8,000.

Martin quit as Yankee manager and was replaced by Bob Lemon last July 24, amid a furor resulting from his suspension of Jackson and his subsequent comment that both Jackson and Steinbrenner were liars. Five days later, during a Yankees' Old Timers Day, the club announced that Martin would return as manager in 1980.

Firm Hand Needed At 500 Controls

By WILL GRIMSLEY Associated Press Special Correspondent

The finest ship can toss and tumble and wander off course when it loses the deft touch of its skipper. Such is the sad story of the controversy-riddled Indianapolis 500.

As long as Tony Hulman was alive, he kept operations on an even keel. Since his death 18 months ago, the nation's premier auto race has had nothing but trouble - a crack in the ranks of car owners and drivers, disqualifications, Continuing friction has thrown a smoke screen over next Sunday's speed orgy. The magic names that normally electrify the sports pages - the Unsers, Foyt, Rutherford and Johncock - have been overshadowed by affidavits, summonses and injunctions.

What the Indv 500 needs is a firm hand, such as Hulman wielded after he succeeded Eddie Rickenbacker in 1946.

Bobby Bragan, baseball's brash, cigar-chomping director of field operations, turned up with a bright phrase at the Lexington, Ky., salute last weekend to A.B. "Happy" Chandler, the former commissioner.

'America is fortunate to have had two Abies who were emancipators," he said, "Abie Lincoln, who freed the slaves, and A.B. Chandler, who opened the door for blacks in baseball.

Chandler, a fiesty 80, told of the problems in keeping the hot-headed Jackie Robinson in tow — a necessity if the historical project were to succeed.

"Once Jackie came to me and complained that Leo Durocher had called him an SOB," Happy recalled. "I asked him, 'What did you do?' 'I called him an SOB right back,' replied Jackie. 'Good,' I said. 'Now you're even. Go on out there and play ball.

The late Bob Jones had his "Calamity Jane," a famous hickory-shafted putting blade now ensconced in golf's Museum. Some day there may be another equally eminent club resting beside it - Nancy Lopez's tattered "Raggedy

Until Secretariat came along in 1973, only eight horses had been able to win the Triple Crown in the 99 years that the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes had formed the golden troika of 3-year-old horse racing.

Now we have had two in succession row - Seattle Slew and Affirmed with Spectacular Bid a strong bet to make it No. 3 in a row. With broad-based American breeders now producing close to 30,000 eligibles a year, are we entering the era of the super horse?

'Not at all," argues our resident expert, Charlie Morey, "it's simply coincidence. These things run in cycles. Remember we had three (Gallant Fox, Omaha and War Admiral) in the 1930s and four (Whirlaway, Count Fleet, Assault and Citation) in the 1940s."

Following that pattern of numerology, we should have had seven in the

By CHUCK McDONALD Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff

By the time the first 10 U.S. Open Qualifier scores had been posted on the scoreboard at the Hillcrest Country Club Tuesday afternoon one thing was already apparent about the 36-hole tour-

It was going to be very close

Only four golfers of the 28 competiting in the regional qualifier would be selected to go to the state meet in Dallas. And of those first ten scores, three were identical par 144's.

Lubbock's John Farquhar, Midland pro George Clark and Lamesa's Ronnie Rosson owned the even pars, and with 18 golfers still on the links, a playoff seemed inevitable.

But it never came about Andrew Shapira was the only golfer of the day to do better. He turned in a 143 to win the competition and join the other three who will make the trip to "I'm just a weekend golfer." said the Midland oil man. "This is the first time I've ever qualified for the state meet ... it's pretty exciting."

Shapira shot a 71 for his first 18 holes and that put him right in the thick of things. Only two other golfers had opening round scores of 71 and Midland's Clark had the low round of the day, a 70.

But things got a little tougher in the afternoon. Lelan Chiles, who had an opening 71, ballooned to a 77 in his afternoon round and wound up out of the David Hand missed making the cut by a single blade of grass on the final hole of the day. His 12 foot effort on the 18th lipped the cup and he had to settle for a par 72, giving him a 145 total. The tournament was originally scheduled for Monday but the heavy rains postponed it until Tuesday. As a result four golfers did not show for the tourna-But none of the golfers that stayed the extra day complained about the conditions of the course.

'It made the course play a little longer," said Shapira. "But the greens were in excellent shape. I thought the course really played well.

Nobody was complaining about the course," said Hillcrest pro Richard Whittenburg. "But after that rain on Monday, it wasn't the most ideal day for a golf tournament."

Shapira has competed in the west Texas regional qualifier before but the closest he had ever come to going to the state meet was three years ago when he was lost out in a sudden death playoff. And things nearly went sour for him this

"I bogeyed the third and the fifth holes on the second round," he admitted "I got feeling pretty down then- but I had two excellent birdie putts on the 15th and 16th that saved me.

"I've never made two good putts in a row like that."

Shapira dropped a 25-footer on the 15th and then pulled himself out of the rough with another clutch shot on the 16th. He was the only golfer to finish the 36 holes under par.

"Well, it'll take a lot better score than a one-under to win in Dallas." he said. "I'll be playing with some people that you've heard of down there.'

Coronado Ace Picks Wayland For Two Sports

Steve Ahlenius, who has been a basketball and track standout at Coronado High for the last three years, has accepted an offer to continue competing in both sports on the collegiate level.

The 6-5 senior has accepted a combination basketball-track scholarship at Wayland Baptist College, WBC. The grant is worth $800 and may be extended to a full scholarship after the fall semester, Ahlenius said.

Ahlenius, who averaged over 17 points and 10 rebounds a game his senor year, was also offered a scholarship from Northwestern State in Oklahoma but decided to go with nearby WBC.

"I liked the coach (basketball coach Bob Clindaniel) and usually a scholarship confines you to one sport," explained Ahlenius. "Now I can still compete in basketball and track and that's what I wanted to do." Ahlenius finished third in the high jump at the District 4-AAAA meet with

The Wayland Baptist basketball staff indicated that Ahlenius will see considerable action on the junior varsity squad as a freshman.

"We'll start him out playing the post position for the junior varsity," said WBC assistant coach Rocky Clindaniel. Since he played a post in high school he ought to be more comfortable there. But we may move him to a forward as the season progresses.

"He'll definitely get to play a lot."

No Competition Or 44 Cars Looms At Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The reality of racing is little more than an afterthought at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway today with the possibility looming of either a 44-car field or no race at all when the starting time arrives for Sunday's Indy 500. Matters came to a boil Tuesday when car owner Wayne Woodward filed suit to halt the $1 million race and the U.S. Auto Club decided to offer 11 other entrants an opportunity to qualify their cars in a special session Thursday. Woodward's suit, filed in Marion County Superior Court and scheduled for a hearing Thursday, asks the race be stopped unless his car is reinstated. Woodward's racer was removed from the lineup after qualifying amid allegations of cheating on power restrictions imposed by USAC. Woodward's car, driven by Dick Ferguson, was not among the 11 offered an unprecedented chance to win places in the field. All of those cars were bumped from the grid during time trials by faster

Any of the cars in the special session qualifying faster than the slowest car now in the field - placed there by Roger McCluskey at 183.908 - would be relegated to the back of the traditional 33car lineup. The offer was made by USAC president Dick King under a USAC competition." The only stipulation was that all 33 entrants already in the race agree in writing to the extra qualifying round. Lindsey Hopkins, owner of the car that Johnny Parsons has qualified in the third row, wouldn't speak for his fellow cause the 11 cars involved qualified before a USAC bulletin was issued prior to the final day of time trials "suggesting" that intake exhaust pipes have a minimum inside diameter of 1.47 inches. The bumped drivers said that amounted to legalizing attempts to override power restrictions and put them at a competitive disadvantage.

The special qualifying session, which would begin at 10 a.m. Thursday, would be open to the cars originally qualified by Steve Krisiloff, Spike Gehlhausen, John Martin, Bill Vukovich, Dana Carter, Jerry Karl, Al Loquasto, Tom Bigelow, Joe Saldana, John Mahler and Lar-Krisiloff, Gehlhausen, Bigelow, Saldana and Mahler qualified in other cars after they were bumped, thereby opening the possibility of other drivers qualifying those cars.

King took issue with the rumor that cheating on power restrictions had been widespread on both the first and second weekends of qualifications. He said those reports were "based largely on rumors and hearsay.

"USAC's technical committee, headed by Jack Beckley, are competent, fairminded people who know what they are doing," he-said. "Every wastegate assembly from a qualified car has been inspected and sealed. They must be used on race day in the same configuration as was used during qualifications.

"Nevertheless, many of these previously qualified but bumped car entrants feel that they were deprived of an opportunity to qualify with a reduced exhaust pipe. If the other 33 entrants agree, we will give them that opportuni-

THE LONG, THE SHORT AND THE TALL

Baseball players come in all shapes and sizes. Except for a midget once used as a pinch hitter, Chicago's Harry Chappas is now the shortest major leaguer ever, just edging out Freddie Patek. For comparison, here is a lineup showing various player heights.

Motta Unaccustomed To Lead

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) - Coach Dick Motta of the Washington Bullets doesn't quite know how to act with his team leading the Seattle SuperSonics 1-0 in the National Basketball Association's championship series.

The Bullets overcame a 3-1 deficit to beat San Antonio in the semifinals. Last year they trailed 1-0, 2-1 and 3-2 before edging Seattle in the seventh and deciding game of the finals.

'I feel uncomfortable ahead," Motta said as the Bullets prepared for Thursday night's home game in the best-ofseven series. "We'll probably do something to even it up and when we're 1-1, I can tell the players we've got the Sonics right where we want them.'

The Bullets, who blew a 19-point lead while losing last year's opener, frittered away an 18-point fourth quarter advantage Sunday before winning 99-97 on Larry Wright's two free throws after time had expired.

Some of the Seattle players contended Dennis Johnson didn't foul Wright at all. Others figured it wasn't flagrant enough to be called in a title series and that it was a shame the game ended as it

"I hope we win the same way again, so Seattle can say we should be ashamed," Motta said. "I'd like to win four that way, so we can be ashamed all

"It's not unusual to lose a lead with the 24-second clock," Motta said, "but I hope we learned a lesson." The comeback didn't surprise coach

Lenny Wilkens of the SuperSonics.
"When the two best teams in the league are playing, why should anyone think that one of them is going to turn over and die? The comeback was very significant because it showed we don't give

While acknowledging that the Bullets are the best rebounding team in the NBA. Wilkens said the SuperSonics would have to better their first-game 55-41 deficit on the boards.

"We can't give them as many second and third shots as we did," Wilkens said.

Tate Gets Ag Job

COLLEGE STATION (AP) - Marvin Tate, interim athletic director at Texas A&M since Emory Bellard's abrupt resignation last October, has been appointed to the post on a full-time basis.

The university's board of regents, acting on the recommendation of the athletic council, promoted Tate to the

AAU Junior Meet On Tap At Tech

Texas Tech and Lubbock will host a track meet bringing in some of the top athletes from three states, it was announced Tuesday

On tap July 14 is the Region IX AAU Junior Olympics, and it will bring in boys and girls from 14 through 17 from Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, reported Tech track coach Corky Oglesby, who is meet director.

From the meet here, the winners will advance on to Lincoln, Neb., for the national finals, a meet which is televised annually, Oglesby said.

Tate, one of 27 survivors of Coach Bear Bryant's legendary 1954 training camp at Junction, will head a department with a $3.5 million budget and direct programs for 280 student athletes in eight intercollegiate men's sports and nine women's teams.

Marvin Tate was a successful Houston businessman prior to joining the ath-letic department as associate director in 1967," said President Jarvis E. Miller, who recommended the promotion to the "His business background, and his excellent management of athletic programs and physical plant expansions, convinced us tht he is one of the most qualified athletic directors in the country today.' Tate — a starting Aggie guard when he attended the Bryant conditioning camp in Junction that became a legend in Texas sports - said he appreciates the confidence the athletic council, Miller and the board of regents showed in

"This is the highlight of my professional career. I am truly excited about the possibilities that we have to achieve athletic excellence at Texas A&M University," said Tate.

Tate, 46, is a native of Abilene. He graduated from A&M in 1955 with a bachelor's degree in business adminis-

"We also have to apply more pressure on them throughout the game and getour own movement going."

Both coaches said their teams were tired on Sunday — the Bullets after culminating the exhausting comeback against San Antonio on Friday night, the SuperSonics after a transcontinental flight early Saturday.

But by Tuesday, Motta was sorry that the second game wouldn't be played until Thursday.

"Two days off is enough," he said. "To get the proper rhythm, you've got to play every two or three days."

Spur Runner Takes Aim At '80 Moscow Olympi

Avalanche-Journal Sports Staff Moscow, 1980, is on the tentative itinerary of Essie Kelley.

And it's not all that tentative. Miss Kelley, a native of Spur and a junior at Prairie View A&M University. was ranked as the nation's top female athlete in the 800 meters after last summer's U.S.-Russia track and field meet. Russia won the event, but Miss Kelley ran a 2:01 (her best time ever) and finished a strong second. Her career as a world class athlete had begun. Now her training is geared toward becoming a member of the U.S. Olympic team in

"I think if I work hard, and stay after it, then I'll make it," she says.

Her confidence is complemented with competition against the best 800meter female runners in the world. This summer, for instance, Miss Kelley plans to race in the Pan American Games, the World Cup, and the University World

The world record in the 800 meters is 1:55.8, and Miss Kelley entertains no aspirations of threatening that mark. However, she says she is capable of peaking at 1:58 or 1:57.

Her best time thus far this season came at the Lite Invitational in Durham, N.C., last weekend when she ran a 2:04.5.

"She is definitely the most talented athlete I've ever coached," says Wendell Neff, a coach at Jayton who was Miss Kelley's high school coach at Spur. "Her biggest asset is her combination of stride and sprint speed. And she is an extremely hard worker with a tremendous amount of endurance." The hard work is evidenced by Miss Kelley's three high school state championships in the quarter-mile. She might have won the title all four years, but, as a freshman, she had the lead but slipped 10 yards from the finish line.

Even more remarkable was the national 440 record of 55.0 she established as a junior. She went on to break the record as a senior with a time of 54 9

"I encouraged her to run the 880 as a senior," Neff said. "But she wanted to beat her record. Then, when she got to

AAA Says State Gas Should Last

HOUSTON (AP) - Texas motorists should find adequate gasoline supplies over the Memorial Day weekend, particularly during the daylight hours, the American Automobile Association re-

More stations are closing earlier, and Texans should have better luck finding fuel along major highways in rural areas and in small cities, said AAA's Texas Division weekly Fuel Gauge Report, based on a survey of 391 service stations.

The supply situation appeared to have improved in the Dallas-Fort Worth area in the past week, but has worsened in San Antonio and Houston, the survey indicated.

While 80 percent of the surveyed stations in Houston and Fort Worth and nearly 90 percent in Austin plan to close Sunday, fewer than one-half in Waco. Midland-Odessa and Beaumont-Port Arthur say they will close.

Austin had the worst week-to-week decline in supply, AAA said, with only 20 percent of the city's sations operating after 8 p.m. this week, compared with 33 percent last week. Only 27 percent plan to pump gas after 6 p.m. Saturday, compared with 58 percent last week. Only 13 percent plan to be open Sunday, down from last week's 25 percent.

Statewide, 64 percent of the stations now are closing by 8 p.m. on weekdays, compared with 61 percent last week. About 44 percent plan to close by 6 p.m. Saturday, up from 40 percent.

About 64 percent will be closed Sunday, as opposed to last week's 68 percent, but 75 percent plan to operate Monday.

Only 3 percent of the stations are placing limits on sales but more stations are reporting depleted supplies of one or more grades, AAA said. About 6 percent of the stations reported being out of premium fuel, up from 2 percent. Depleted regular or unleaded grades were reported by 3 percent of the stations.

Prices reportedly increased about a cent a gallon during the week for selfservice pumps, about one-half cent at full-service pumps.

Self-service averages were 74.8 cents a gallon for regular, up from 73.6, 78.9 cents for unleaded, up from 77.5 cents. and 80.7 cents for premium, up from 79.4 cents.

Full service averages were 77.3 cents for regular, up from 76.7 cents, 81.2 cents for unleaded, up from 80.5, and 83.1 cents for premium, up from 82.7

The diesel fuel average rose from 75.9 cents to 76.4 cents a gallon.

Midland-Odessa had the lowest per centages for stations closing by 8 p.m. weekdays, 33 percent, and by 6 p.m. on Saturday, 7 percent. Waco had the lowest for Sunday closings, 36 percent, and no surveyed stations there reported plans to be closed on Monday.

In Dallas, 85 percent of the stations are closing weekdays by 8 p.m., while 73 percent of the Austin stations plan to close by 6 p.m. Saturday. About 91 percent of the stations in McAllen plan to be open Sunday and 68 percent in Fort

Official Warns Holiday Drivers

WASHINGTON (UPI) - You'd better think twice before taking to the highways over the Memorial Day weekend - and keep your fingers crossed if you finally decide to go.

"The prudent motorist will be darn careful," Energy Department regulator David Bardin said Tuesday in testimony before a Senate subcommittee. Bardin, head of the department's Economic Regulatory Administration, said holiday motorists "cannot assume they are going to have as much gasoline as everyone wants."

"My advice to American motorists is be cautious, be careful," he said. "As I see the situation you are going to have enough gasoline for a reduced level and not what we had last year.

Garoutte told police he drove up behind the suspects and honked his car horn when the other driver failed to move out of the intersection. He said the men were shaking their fists at him as he pulled around them. The victim told police the men pulled up beside his car and attacked him after he parked at a department store. He said one of the men began hitting him, and the other pulled a long-blade knife and cut him on the arm.

Garoutte said of the assailants jumped in his 1973 Cutlass and drove off, with the other man following in a white and blue Buick four-door.

One of the suspects was described as between 34 and 36 years old, and other between 50 and 55. Both were described "very" tall, stocky and with brown

Questioned by police at the business, the suspects, ages 25 and 30, said the large collection of redeemable stamps was in a chest which they had bought in a Palm Springs, Calif., garage sale about two months ago.

The women were taken into custody and booked into the county jail.

A 36-year-old man was hospitalized about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday after he was struck by a hit-and-run driver on 82nd Street near U.S. 87.

Alvin Lee Vernon of 1509 47th St. was listed in satisfactory condition early today at Highland Hospital.

Vernon told police he had pulled to the side of the road, and had gotten out to check his vehicle's oil when a man driving a yellow pickup truck ran over him. He said the driver failed to stop, and continued traveling east on 82nd Street

The body of Herman G. Baca, 26, of 2305 Fifth St., No. 114, was found on the bed in his apartment Thursday by his girlfriend. Baca had been dead three days when his body was discovered, police said.

Emerging with Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington from Carrington's office, Vance declared the United States must recognize that a "new reality" exists in the war-torn, breakaway British colony because of the mid-April election of its first black-dominated government.

LONDON (AP) - Secretary of State

Cyrus Vance wound up his first series of talks with Britain's new Conservative government Wednesday, taking pains to avoid giving the impression America and Britain are at odds over the new British initiative on Rhodesia.

But Vance and officials accompanying him made it clear the United States has no plans to join Britain in sending an envoy to the Rhodesian capital, Salisbury, and that President Carter will make an independent determination on the the validity of the new government of Prime Minister-elect Bishop Abel Mu-

The British action is a departure from a previous U.S.-British position that the guerrilla movement in Rhodesia should have a say in the government before it is recognized.

The U.S. Senate has urged the Carter administration to recognize the new Rhodesian government, which is violently opposed by black nationalist guerrillas who consider it a sellout to white-minority interests.

Carrington, who saw Vance after receiving what amounted to a warning from Commonwealth envoys not to rec ognize the Salisbury administration, declared: "our belief is that the election in Rhodesia has transformed the situation

Asked if the United States held a similar view, Vance replied:

"There is a new reality and we must recognize there is a new reality. However, we still have to review the entire situation before the president makes his determination.

Carrington identified the envoy as Foreign Office undersecretary Derek Day, 51, who will leave for Rhodesia

Before the session, ambassadors from Australia, Canada, Ghana, Guyana, India, Nigeria, Trinidad and Zambia met with Carrington and told him of their governments' antagonism toward any move to recognize the new black-dominated government in Rhodesia.

Vance Winds Up First Talks With British Official

Mrs. Thatcher's Conservative Party, declaring that last month's black-majority vote in Rhodesia created a new situation, announced Tuesday it would send an envoy to Rhodesia.

Carrington also told the House of Lords that Britain would send an emissary to the black African states that oppose the Salisbury administration.

After Carrington's announcement, a senior U.S. official accompanying Vance said, "The business of this (British) government is to do whatever it feels necessary in the field of foreign affairs and Secretary Vance has no objection."

But informed sources said Vance argued against the plan when it was outlined to him by Carrington during their first meeting Monday, at the start of Vance's two-week swing through Europe and the Middle East.

Self-Rule Concept Not New

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) - The concept of self-rule in this corner of the globe did not arise with Menachem Be-gin's proposed solution for the Palestini-ans in the occupied West Bank and the Gaza Strip. Autonomy is as old as the Bi-

The Jews lived autonomously in ancient Israel for four centuries, first under the Persians and then the Greeks. Antiochus Epiphanes IV of Syria tried to limit that self-rule in 168 B.C. The Jews revolted and gained independence.

The Palestinians — 1.1 million of them in the West Bank and Gaza and elsewhere in the Arab world — seek similar independence in a nation of their own on land Israel captured from Jordan and Egypt in the 1967 war.

Israel has vowed never to permit creation of a Palestinian state, an entity the late Prime Minister Golda Meir once termed "a dagger in Israel's back."

Begin holds the same view. But he has gone further than any of his predecessors by offering the Palestinians at least a measure of freedom.

Egypt and Israel are to embark Friday on talks aimed at solving the Palestinian problem as outlined in the Camp David peace accords of Septem-ber, which became the framework for the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty signed March 26

Israel hopes to give the Palestinians no more than limited self-government through an autonomous local council which would not be empowered to make its own laws. Israel would retain complete control over the land and seeks to declare sovereignty over it after the fiveyear transition period of self-rule.

Egypt outspokenly aims at planting the seed for a Palestinian state through the creation of a local council with full authority for the Palestinians. Self-rule would end in five years and a Palestinian state would replace the council.

Both Israel and Egypt have taken extreme positions for the outset of their talks, as they did at the start of the peace negotiations. Each gap was bridged only after exhausting negotia-tions that ran 16 months and involved President Carter.

The same kind of bargaining can be expected on the Palestinian issue - a problem smoothed over repeatedly to keep the treaty talks from collapsing. The Egyptian-Israeli peace pact sets a one-year deadline for the negotiations, to be held alternately in Beersheba in southern Israel and in El Arish on the ortheastern Sinai coast. Israel returns El Arish to Egypt Friday.

It is clear from leaked versions of Begin's 30-point proposal that Israel in-tends to hold onto Gaza and the West Bank, which is considered holy by many radical religious Jews.

Over the past dozen years, some 56 Israeli settlements have been built in the West Bank alone and more are in the planning stages, much to the chagrin of the United States, Egypt and the Pa-

"We don't want any border in the western part of Israel," Begin said recently, referring to the frontier between Israel and the West Bank — a Delawaresized region he once defined a "liberat-d Israeli territory."

Despite the rhetoric, Begin's critics have charged that the autonomy plan, as innocuous as it may appear, is the seed for a future Palestinian state.

The Palestinians have not calmed such Israeli fears. Their spokesman, the Palestine Liberation Organization, has vowed never to recognize Israel's exist-ence. In its heart, the PLO wants a homeland in what now is Israel proper.

Lately the PLO has steppd up its guerrilla strikes into Israel — largely, it ems, to advertize the PLO cause, even at the cost of Palestinian blood

That campaign has only hardened Be-gin against the Palestinians and led to Israeli retaliatory raids against the guerrillas in Lebanon.

"This is one of the lowest organizations that ever existed, except for the Nazis," Begin said of the PLO.

Under a commitment to Israel, the United States is prevented from negotiating with the PLO until it expresses a ingness to recognize the Jewish

But Secretary of State Cyrus Vance recently admitted there have been U.S.-PLO contacts through third parties, including Syria.

"If the Americans open negotiations with this organization of murderers it will be a black day for all free humanity," Begin said recently.

Space Junk Falling To Earth

By AL ROSSITER JR.
WASHINGTON (UPI) - A Soviet satellite fell to Earth nine years ago scattering charred steel debris over the American southwest including a 640pound steel plate that is the heaviest known piece of space junk to have been recovered.

Sometime in late June or early July, America's abandoned 78.5 ton Skylab space station will re-enter Earth's atmosphere, disintegrate and drop an estimated 500 chunks of metal along a 4,000 mile long belt 100 miles wide.

Forty-three Skylab pieces are expected to weigh more than 200 pounds with a section of an airlock module weighing 5,000 pounds, a lead-lined film wault weighing 4,000 pounds and six oxygen tanks weighing 2,700 pounds apiece.

In addition to Skylab, there are now more than 4,600 man-made objects the size of golf ball or larger in space. All but 114 are in orbit around the Earth and most sooner or later will return.

Thousands of man-made objects already have fallen out of orbit since the space age began in 1957 and the North American Air Defense Command reports space debris is now falling on the average of more than one a day.

NORAD said it knows of no one being hit by a man-made object from space and it said chances are greater of being struck by a meteorite.

According to a study for NASA by the Battelle Columbus (Ohio) Laboratories, there have been only seven verified incidents of injuries caused by a meteorite during the past 200 years and no verified

There have been some close calls, however, during the past decade. Among 12 separate incidents reported since 1968 - A 1.5-pound meteorite penetrated the roof of a barn near Murchison, Australia, Sept. 28. 1969, narrowly missing two men who were stacking hay. - A farmer in Ucera, Venezuela, saw a fireball and heard an explosion when an 11-pound meteorite struck the ground 240 feet from his house on Jan. 16, 1970. A meteorite weighing 12.3 ounces struck a home in Wethersfield, Coan.

April 8, 1971, and lodged in the ceiling of the living room. - A meteorite struck a garage at a home located two miles north of Capon City, Colo., Oct. 27, 1973, penetrated the roof and shattered when it hit the floor. Fragments weighing more than three pounds were recovered. - A 50-gram meteorite fell through the roof of a carport in a trailer park in San Juan Capistrano, Calif., March 15.

Of the satellite debris that fell over the Southwest on Aug. 28, 1970, six pieces of steel were recovered from rural areas near Beaver, Okla., Adrian, Tex., and Pratt, Kan. Three of the pieces were oblong chunks two to two and one-half feet long and weighing about 150 pounds each. The largest piece was a flat steel plate four feet square weighing 640 pounds.

The Air Force's NORAD said the junk came from the Soviet Cosmos 316

Among other pieces of space debris known to have fallen in the United States include:

- A 21-pound cylinder that hit a street intersection in Manitowoc, Wis. in September 1962. It came from Russia's Sputnik 4 satellite.

- A titanium sphere weighing 30 pounds found near Tomahawk, Wis., and believed to have come from a Russian

- A 32-pound sphere found near Nome, Alaska in June 1969 and identified as Soviet in origin.

- Three spheres found in North Dakota in April 1972 and identified as American in origin.

The sanctions were put into effect during the presidency of Idi Amin, who has been deposed. The House approved its measure Monday by voice vote. The Senate passed a similar version earlier and now must either accept the House bill or have House-Senate conferees work out the differences. In supporting the measure, Rep. Stephen J. Solarz, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Africa subcommittee, said the sanctions served their purpose of helping drive Amin from power.

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market gained more ground today amid evidence of a slowing in economic activity.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up .87 at 846.24.

Gainers outpaced losers by more than a 2-1 margin in the overall tally of New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The market turned upward late Tuesday after the government reported that orders for durable goods fell 8.7 percent in April for their sharpest decline in 11 years.

Ordinarily such news might be expected to depress the market. But analysts noted that Wall Street lately has been operating in a "bad news is good news" climate.

Under this line of thinking, any evidence of a slowdown in business activity is welcomed by investors in the hope that it will bring with it reduced inflationary pressures and lower interest rates. Norton Simon led the active list, unchanged at 16. A 300,000-share block traded at that price. Gainers among the blue chip and glamor issues included American Telephone & Telegraph, trading ex-dividend, up % at 57%; American Home Products, up 1/4 at 261/2, and International Business Machines, ahead % at 309%.

The NYSE's composite index rose .20 to 56.85, and the American Stock Exchange market value index was up .91 at 182.66.

Volume on the Big Board reached 15.34 million shares by noontime, up from 9.70 million at the same point Tuesday.

Sohio Boss Doubtful Of Pipeline

CLEVELAND (AP) — The chairman of Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) said be doubts the $1 billion oil pipeline from California to Texas will ever get off the drawing board.

"I don't think it's moving fast enough," Alton W. Whitehouse said Tuesday. "Nothing has gone on in the past few months that changes my mind about our decision to cancel the prowas dropping its plans for the pipeline from Long Beach, Calif. to Midland. But Sohio agreed to reconsider the plan after various California and federal agencies promised to help resolve regulatory Whitehouse had blamed "endless government permit procedures, pending and threatened litigation" as the reasons fo canceling the project.

Tuesday, he said Sohio has received the promised help. Various bills have been introduced to grant President Carter, the authority to give the necessary.

er the authority to give the necessary permits and clear some of the possible litigation against the pipeline. And, near-ly all 700 permits needed for the pipeline have been granted.

But Whitehouse said there are still the fears of lawsuits which could continue to block the pipeline.

"Everyone has been trying to help us," he said. "But we fold them at the time we said we would reconsider, that we could not wait forever.

Sohio was expected to make a final decision within 30 days.

The pipeline was intended to bring crude oil from the Prudhoe Bay oilfield in Alaska to refineries in the East and Midwest and save the costs of shipping the oil through the Panama Canal.

Sohio has been selling more of its oil on the West Coast recently because of the gasoline shortage there. Whitehouse said several West Coast refineries were drawing up plans to convert equipment to handle Alaskan oil, with its higher sulphur content, rather than imported crudes, which are preferred and more commonly used because they have less

Firing Squads Resume Work In Tehran

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) - Firing squads today executed three more soldiers of the shah's army convicted of mass murder, demonstrating Iran's defiance of international condemnation of its 232 reprisal executions.

The chief of Tehran's central revolu tionary court resigned today after a runin with the foreign minister and a top Nazi hunter demanded that Iranian Jews put on trial be given Jewish defense law-

Sheikh Sadegh Khalkhali, self-proclaimed president of the Islamic court in Tehran, announced his resignation one day after Foreign Minister Ibrahim Yazdi said Khalkhali was not connected at all with the revolutionary trials.

A Tehran court carried out death sentences today against two army offi-cers, Col. Mohammad Bagher Latifi-Tehrani and 1st Lt. Mohammad Meymar. Another court in Mashad executed a cadet soldier, Hedayat Zamani, on charges of mass murder.

They were among a group of five condemned to die by Islamic courts this week. Two men sentenced to death in west Iranian city of Zanjan were not mentioned in reports today.

The latest executions brought to 232 the number of known death sentences carried out since mid-February.

Nazi hunter Serge Klarsfeld held talks with Justice Minister Assadollah Mobasheri on the executions that have brought international condemnation.

Klarsfeld later said he handed the minister a letter demanding Jewish defense lawyers for Jewish Iranians facing trial on charges of helping Israel.

Carstens Wins German Vote

BONN, West Germany (AP) - Conservative Karl Carstens, a wartime member of the Nazi party, was elected president of West Germany today, defeating the first woman ever nominated for the largely ceremonial office. About 700 persons protesting Carstens' Nazi past marched through downtown Bonn during the three-hour election by the federal assembly in an auditorium on the Rhine River. Carstens, 64, a leader of the Christian Democratic Union, is president of the lower house of Parliament. Anne Marie Renger, a 59-year-old widow, was the only candidate running against him. She is a Social Democrat. Carstens, who will be the fifth postwar president, succeeds Walter Scheel who decided not to run for a second five-year term. Carstens received a majority of 528 votes from 1,031 delegates. Mrs. Renger got 431. Seventy-two delegates withheld their ballots. Executive power in West Germany is wielded by Chancellor Helmut Schmidt of the Social Democrats who are linked in a coalition with the Free Democrats.

Carstens will take office July 1. His election was widely expected be-cause the conservatives held a solid majority in the electoral college over delegates from Schmidt's ruling left-liberal coalition

Mrs. Renger was nominated only one day before the balloting after the coalition failed to find a candidate to represent both parties.

CBS Affiliates Elect To Remain With Network

By PETER J. BOYER LOS ANGELES (AP) - CBS invited its affiliates to town this week, the last network to conduct its annual "Everything's Going to Be Okay" ritual, also known as the affiliates convention.

CBS has some solid evidence to back up its reassuring promises, and the opening day executive speeches lacked that "Spring Sale" quality that marked the NBC convention last week. Whereas NBC's executive corps, led by supersalesman Fred Silverman, had to acknowledge past boo-boos before starting the NBC pitch, CBS' fellows were able to claim some legitimate successes in One of the big victories — not ignored by Jim Rosenfield, president of CBS-TV - is the fact that none of 208 affiliated stations jumped ranks to join ABC this year. In the two previous years, 17 former CBS stations moved in with ABC. (NBC, by the way, has lost 10 affiliates to ABC in the last three years, 11 if you count the Jacksonville, Fla., station that plans to join ABC in Sep-

from the nation's television and radio networks made healthy advances last year, says the Federal Communications

The information, released Monday, was submitted to the FCC by the three nationwide commercial TV networks and the 15 stations they own and operate. The eight national radio networks and the 36 stations they own and operate also filed data. Total net TV revenues were $3.5 billion in 1978, up 15.1 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) - Revenues from 1977. Profits before federal income tax were $560 million, up 1 percent from 1977. Net revenues for the radio stations were $236.3 million, up 11.1 percent from 1977. Profits before federal income tax were $43.7 million in 1978, a.6 percent decline from the previous year.

will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Veterans Outreach Program office, 205 N. University Ave.

Rosenfield was the first on the agenda to preach the "Don't Worry" gospel, telling the affiliates that they had nothing to worry about from an assortment of meanies, ranging from cable TV inter-lopers to Washington crusaders who "want to establish a new social order," apparently at the expense of network

(This in reference to broadcast hearings currently under way in D.C.)

Arnold Becker, CBS' chief of research, was the hard-facts man at the opening session this week. He told the affiliates that CBS didn't finish in first place as it had hoped, but he also had a lot of figures that made the affiliates

CBS finished far ahead of NBC (no hardy accomplishment) in prime time, and found some successful series that have returned to the fall lineup (a very hardy accomplishment) — "WKRP in Cincinnati," "Dukes of Hazzard," 'White Shadow," "Bad News Bears" and "Dallas." In the daytime, CBS has held its own with ABC. On Saturday morning, CBS is beating ABC and NBC, with 7 of the top 10 rated shows. In evening news, CBS is still on top.

And in the late evening, a big achievement — CBS passed NBC this year for the first time in its history. Only for the January-April period, Becker conceded, and largely because of the 'Tonight Show" Carson problems, but bers, after all, are nu

In fact, Becker, a light-spirited fellow, was moved to pun over the latenight development:

"No wonder the Golden man (Carson) and the Silverman (as in NBC President Fred) are said to be arguing.

Anyway, Becker's most cheering statistic was that despite ABC's prime-time dominance, the "average American household spends more time watching programs offered by your network than programs offered by ABC."

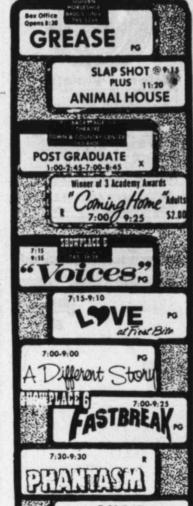

Of course, that's counting programs in low-viewer hours, but is an indication that CBS didn't abdicate the entire ratings kingdom when it gave the primetime throne to ABC.

Then came B. Donald Grant's turn to make the affiliates feel good. Grant, vice president in charge of programming, ex-plained the network's philosophy for the coming fall season campaign.

"We felt that NBC's lack of established series power would keep them out of serious contention for the fall," he said, "and we knew that ABC was going

He added, frankly: "Our plan was to attack ABC."

He reviewed the fall schedule, night by night, emphasizing areas in which the network was likely to make gains. He pointed out that ABC may have helped the CBS cause by splitting the "Love Boat-Fantasy Island" tandem and the "Happy Days" and "Laverne and Shir-

'Also, they moved 'Mork and Mindy' from Thursday to Sunday," he noted.

Grant reassured the affiliates that a

Carroll O'Connor will be back as Archie, but since Jean Stapleton (Edith) will be only an occasional guest, most of the shows will take place in Archie's

On a night-by-night breakdown, CBS does look good; good enough to stay a close second, at least.
"We think we are well on our way to regaining prime-time dominance Grant said. Then, borrowing a line fro Johnny Pever of "WKRP," he summ up the theme of the CBS affiliates on

HY GARDNER HAS THE ANSWER:

Glad You Asked That!

Q: What a delightful breath of fresh air — Susan Anton's variety show. Her mini-series should become a maxi-series. It's so nice to see a beautiful blond emerge for a change, as a beauty with briains, latent talent properly seasoned and able to sing, dance and talk without faiding. Can you tell us a little more about hear, please? — The Horton Family, Long Beach,

A: Yes. As the lyrics to the theme song of her show promise, "If you know Susie like I know Susie — oh! oh! oh what a gir!!" We can just hear Eddie Cantor, who introduced that song, clapping his hands gleefully to find that the Susie he was singing about veas second-named Anton. We were luncky enough to get to know Susie when, back in 76, she came to Miami as one of three survivors in a contest to represent Muriel Cigars as spokesperson and roving ambas-sador. All three: had the bearing of beauty queens. And when we had a television interview with them, we were overwhelmed by finalist Anton's personality and perspicacity.

In probing her background, we learned that soon after graduating from Yucaipa High School, east of Los Angeles, she won the Miss R edlands (Calif.) talent and beauty pageant, followed by many similar awards. She then got down to paying her dues — siraging, dancing and showgirling in Las Vegas and LA nightspots. Also the Fairmont in New Orleans and Har-rah's in Reno and Lake Tahoe, Nev. Meanwhile, she did TV commercials and polished her craft by taking ballet, singing and dramatic lessons.

Her exhuberant personality was apparent the moment she said helio. Statistically, Susan is 5-11, weighs around 135 lbs., is 28 years old and married to Jack Stein, her manager. They live in Van Nuys, Calif., with a tennis court in their back yard. (If you can call anything in California a "back yard.") Her blond hair happens to be as natural as her other attributes. You can expect to hear her in a new album soon to be released and also see her in a film called "Golden Girl," about a female Olympics aspirant

In the TV business, the talk is Fred Silverman found his silver lining when he latched on to the superstar of a dull season. It helps to make up for all the disappointments he's endured since taking over the reins at NBC.

Send your questions to Hy Gardner, "Glad You Asked That," care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 11748, Chicago, Ill. 60611. Marilyn and Hy Gardner will answer as many questions as they can in their column, but the volume of mail makes personal replies impossible.

Students From China Begin Studying In Europe

China have started to study in Western Europe, where everything from sexual permissiveness and disco dancing to constant hot water and laundromats is making them aware life is very different from back home in the People's Republ-

Nevertheless, the students are plunging into a whole array of subjects, including computer technology, agricultural mechanization, mechanical engineering, electronics, medicine, biology, chemistry, physics, nuclear physics, astronomy, zoology, botany, agriculture, oil technology, metallurgy, ship building, forestry, navigation, law and politics.

The flow of Chinese students follows the recent creation of closer links between mainland China and the West, including the establishment of diplomatic relations beween China and the United

An Associated Press survey shows at least 700 Chinese students are studying in five West European countries this year. Even more study in the United States and Canada. Indications are the European number eventually could grow to more than 1,600, involving at least 10 European countries.

Sending students to the West is seen as part of China's effort to repair damage inflicted on its educational system by the social upheaval and aftermath of the 1966-69 Cultural Revolution. Chinese students studying in London at the time of the Cultural Revolution were among those recalled to take part in it.

The bulk of the students China is sending to Europe are in Britain, where a bonus is acquisition of English, one of the world's most widely spoken languages. Ages range from 17 to a few post post-graduate students of 51.

standards is puritanical, conformist and largely agricultural, for the bright city lights of the West can be a jolt. The Chinese embassy in London says it takes at least six months for students to recover from culture shock, although some students say it doesn't take that long.

First impressions reported by the Chinese students include astonishment at displays of affluence and heavy traffic and appreciation of the friendliness they

Western hosts say they are impressed by the good manners and intelligence of the Chinese students and by their dedication to hard work.

Hsieh Chi-Kang, a Chinese embassy secretary in London, said there are about 120 Chinese students in Britain, at least 20 in London and the rest in other cities. He said the students learned basic Four Chinese students at the London School of Economics relaxed recently over beers in the bar at their student residential block in north London, and talked about their experiences. Shih Peisheng, 30, from Shanghai; Wang Chun, 23, from Peking; Tsui Tsien-kuo, 22, from Peking, and Sun Yu-hsi, 27, from Harbin spoke impeccable English.

They said they live two to a room in block shared with scores of students from Britain and abroad. Dressed in casual Western-style, but in Chinese-made clothes, they merge easily into the student scene. They were delighted to find they could buy authentic ingredients for home cooking in London's Chinatown, they said.

Their courses include international relations, educational policy and administration and world history. They have government jobs lined up as teachers, interpreters or in the diplomatic service when they go home. Shih and Sun said they had worked for several years as laborers on communal farms in China.

They said their entertainment in London, when money allows, includes the movies - they had all seen the Oscarwinning American film "The Deer Hunter" - and inevitably, table tennis.

On arrival, they said, they had been astonished at the wealth of goods in London shop windows. "And so many cars," Shih said.

Another shock was the relatively uninhibited attitude of young Britons toward sex, they said. They felt a lot of students at the university wasted too much time, but Sun said he liked "the way the university lecturers discuss things.'

He said one girl student reportedly took so many hot baths in her first weeks in Denmark that her hosts' hot water system could not 'keep pace. He added that most of the C'hinese washed their clothes by hand in the bathroom every night before they were persuaded to use laundromats and Mamily washing machines.

Other Chinese students are in France, Italy, and the Net/serlands.

Plans are under way for Chinese students to attend schools in Norway, Spain, Switzerland and West Germany over the next few years.

The youths Tuesday became the first acknowledged homosexuals ever to attend a high school prom together in the United States, the National Gay Task Force said.

Police were on hand in case threats against 17-year-old Randy Rohl and his date. 20-year-old Grady Quinn, were carried out. But aside from a few raised eyebrows, the dance went on as planned. "Many students came over and con-

Randy said he and Quinn are just friends. And he said he was a little bewildered at the extensive press coverage of his prom date.
