Housing and the complexities of the situation today in Midland will be covered in a seven-part series by Lana Cunningham that will start Sunday in 'l'he Reporter-Telegram. The first part will explore the effects inflation has had upon the housing industry in the Tall City. Continuing stories will deal with:

— The tight situation savings and loan institutions are in with the interest level. - Types of housing available in Midland, including single family residences, apartments and mobile homes, and who

- Increasing problems for low income residents who rent or own their homes and senior citizens on fixed incomes. Suggested avenues for solutions.

Experts on economy see inflation easing in latter part of year

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Inflation should begin easing as the economy slides into a "moderate, brief" recession in the second half of the year, according to economic consultants for a prestigious group of businessmen.

The analysis released today at the semi-annual meeting of the Business Council was more pessimistic than the group's previous quarterly reports. And it was a contrast to Carter administration insistence that a recession can be avoided as inflation is brought in check by tighter money and budget policies and the voluntary wage and price guidelines.

The report to the council, which is made up of board chairmen and chief executive officers of 100 major U.S. corporations, predicts the economy will decline for six to eight months before turning up again. "I thnk the consensus was (that) this is what we need, this is what we are moving into," Clifton C. Garvin Jr., chairman of Exxon Corp., said in remarks prepared for his introduction of the report. "It's not all that bad." Garvin said he preferred the term "downturn" to "recession" but admitted "it's a little more severe than people had anticipated."

As recently as February, the consultants had been predicting only a moderate decline in the nation's economy. But even that was a sharp contrast to its prediction last fall that the economy would expand this year by 21/2 percent, about the same as President Carter's prediction.

The new Business Council forecast calls for the nation's output to decline "roughly 1 percent" over two to three quarters beginning at mid-year.

A recession is commonly defined as a contraction in economic growth for at least two consecutive quarters.

The Council said, however, that this year's recession would be no worse than the 1969-1970 recession, "the mildest of the post-war period." By contrast, there was a 6 percent drop in output during the severe 1974-75 recession.

On inflation, the council agrees with the administration that "the worst of the current price surge is already behind us." It expects the rate of inflation to slow from an annual pace above 10 percent in the first quarter to an annual rate in the final quarter of 7.5 percent.

Still, it said, "Consumer prices will be 91/2 percent higher this year than last and just over 71/2 percent higher in 1980 than 1979."

Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blurnenthal earlier this week said the overnment "screwed up" on earlier inflation projections and suggested a revised target of 81/2 percent for this year.

Garvin said some reasons for the more pessimistic projection include the decline in housing construction and in consumer purchasing.

"The consultants find reasons, however, for projecting no more than a moderate, brief, recession," he said in a written statement. Garvin did not

The predictions, likely to get close attention from the administration because of the prestige of the group, also say:

-The nation's Gross National Product the fourth quarter of this year will be 0.6 percent above the fourth quarter of 1978. The Carter administration has predicted 2.2 percent.

-The unemployment rate will rise about 1 percentage point from the first quarter's 5.7 percent rate.

"The majority view is that interest rates have not yet peaked," the report said. Most interest rates already are at record levels. In other economic developments Thursday:

-Commerce Department officials said the nation's retail sales edged up a half percentage point in April, despite a 2 percent drop in auto purchases. One official said the news indicated the economy "is hardly bubbling over." Sales of non-durable goods — such as food and drugs — rose 1 percent, while sales of durable goods stayed virtually the same.

-State Department officials said recent figures showing a sharp increase in U.S. imports of Japanese automobiles could undercut the favorable impression Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira made on his recent visit here. Until this week, trends in U.S.-Japanese trade this year had been highly favorable, with both countries predicting a sizeable decrease in the $11.6 billion deficit the United States had last year.

Return of draft OK'd in House

Boys reaching 16 this year would register

WASHINGTON (AP) - Boys reaching age 16 this year will have to register as potential draftees when they turn 18 if a measure approved by the House Armed Services Committee becomes law.

The committee voted 30-4 Thursday to renew draft registration starting Jan. 1, 1981, but there is no indication whether the full Congress will go along.

The House may act as early as next week on the registration provision, which is contained in a $42 billion weapons authorization bill. The overall bill was approved by the committee, 35-2. The draft itself would remain suspended even if the registration provision becomes law. The measureunder consideration would require young men to merely register so mobilization would be speeded up in case the draft is ever reinstated for a war or emergency.

However, a House Armed Services subcommittee plans hearings within the next two months on a proposal to go one step further and draft up to 200,000 men a year into the Army

Individual Ready Reserve.

The measure approved by the committee Thursday would require the president to register men who turn 18 after Dec. 31, 1980.

Although it specifies that men be registered, the measure also requires the president to recommend to Congress how a registration system should be carried out and, as part of that, whether women should be in-

President Carter has taken no position on draft registration. Secretary of Defense Harold Brown has said he still hopes the present Selective Service system can be improved to meet war mobilization requirements without renewing registration. The committee vote was to kill an amendment by Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., aimed at knocking out of the bill a draft registration provision written into it earlier by a subcommittee.

Rep. Schroeder argued that Congress should wait and make a decision on the entire issue of how Americans should be called to fight any

Will new plan for rationing be drafted?

WASHINGTON (AP) - It's now up to President Carter whether to draft a new standby gasoline rationing plan to replace the Senate-approved version that the House dealt a stunning defeat Thursday night.

House leaders blamed the 246-159 defeat, after several days of intensive White House lobbying for the plan, on confusion over which Americans would have gotten the most fuel under its provisions

The president's original, oftamended plan for use in a national fuel emergency would have required motorists to use rationing coupons to buy gasoline under an allocation formula based on past consumption in

Carter could send a new rationing plan to Congress, although he is not legally required to do so. He had fulfilled his statutory requirement to submit a plan for congressional action to be taken by today.

The law calls for a 60-day, rulemaking period of hearings by the administration. Carter already has done that, and he presumably could submit another rationing plan almost immediately without another 60 days of hearings. This was considered unlikely for

There was no sign today that any one in Congress was willing to take the initiative in drafting a legislative rationing plan.

Disregarding an impassioned appeal from House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill that "this is the only plan you"ll have," the Democratic-controlled House handed Carter a bitter setback.

"Many Americans felt this was a plan to implement rationing," said House Whip John Brademas, D. Ind., "even though the bill would only have given Carter standby author-

In addition, Brademas said lastminute changes to the plan made by the White House to win votes needed in the Senate led to fears in the House that some drivers would have ended up with a disproportionate share of a limited supply.

"It is difficult for members to approve something they don't feel they can count on," he said

O'Neill likened the issue to the 1938 congressional debate over implementing the national military draft, which was in place when World War II began three years later.

The majority leader said that in a major energy crisis the president would need a rationing plan. He appealed to colleagues to put aside questions of how much gasoline their own districts would receive if rationing were invoked. The rationing proposal originated with a 1975 law which required the president to propose various standby measures for use in case of a major cutoff of foreign imports such as the 1974 Arab oil embargo. Carter made concessions to senators from rural states Wednesday, agreeing to base allocation of gasoline during an emergency on the amount used in each state in past

The rationing plan cleared the Senate Wednesday 58-39. But there was fear among White House officials that the compromise approved by the Senate would simultaneously lose votes in the House, which has stronger urban interests.

California House members — bitter over what they said was administration inaction in solving already-existing gasoline lines in their state complained that their constituents would lose gasoline under the compromise agreed to in the Senate. Similar complaints were heard from

Carter and Brezhnev schedule June summit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev will meet for the first time at a summit conference June 15-18 in Austria to sign their new SALT II treaty to cap the nuclear arms race, it was announced today.

The announcement was made by Carter's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski. Agreement on the treaty between the superpowers was announced earlier this week.

A White House official, asking not to be identified by name, said it was hoped the summit conference would set in motion a regular series of meetings between U.S. and Soviet lead-

The official said Carter and Brezhnev would review and clarify some of the issues in the new arms pact during their meeting in the Austrian capital of Vienna.

The official was asked if the United States had complained to the Soviet Union about missile tests in recent weeks that might have involved coded signals substantially defeating U.S. verification efforts.

The White House official replied that there were a number of meetings between U.S. and Soviet officials concerning the encrypting of missile test signals and "matters of the sort you raise were discussed.'

He declined to characterize the U.S. position as a complaint and said American officials were satisifed that coding problems had been solved in the final agreement.

A similar announcement of the summit was expected in Moscow.

The White House official, asked whether the weak state of Brezhnev's health would hamper summit discussions, said that informal meetings, would be planned for U.S. and Soviet delegations as well as private, oneon-one conferences between the Soviet leader and Carter.

We are now working with the Soviets on an agenda," the official said at the White House announcement of

A Midland County commissioner and a former Tall

City oil man were named Thursday to posts on the board of regents for North Texas State University. Gov. Bill Clements appointed Precinct 2 Commissioner Winfree Brown and H.E. "Eddie" Chiles to regency positions, replacing two men who already hold posts on the university's governing body.

Brown, a 1951 graduate of the university, will replace Kenneth May, a Lubbock newspaperman. Brown currently is serving his third term as a commissioner. He has been active in local civic activities and has worked with the Midland Chamber of Commerce in its. attempts to attract industry to this area.

The San Angelo native is also involved in the oil business as an independent landman and has ranching interests locally and near San Angelo.

Brown, 52, has been involved extensively in politics for the Republican Party at the local, county and state levels for more than 20 years.

He was one of eight regional chairmen for Bill Clements' successful bid for governor, holding responsibility for 49 counties stretching from Eastland in Central Texas to El Paso County.

As a commissioner, Brown is a member of the West Texas Judges and Commissioners Association, the State Judges and Commissioners Association and was appointed to the legislative committee for the Texas-Association of Counties in January.

He is a Scottish Rite Mason and has been active in local Mason activities for some time. He and his wife, Lou, reside at 1400 Murray St. with their four children.

Also appointed to the board was Fort Worth oilman "Eddie" Chiles, chairman of the board and chief ex ecutive officer of The Western Co.

Chiles is formerely from Midland.

The state senate is expected to vote on the appointments Tuesday.

But the bill, which restructures curriculum requirements for public schools, has got parents across the state up in arms because they think it will mean the end to bands, choirs and other fine arts

"It's a horrible misunderstanding," says Delco, who blames it all on a misinformed official at the Texas Education Agency

"It was never my intent to in any way eliminate fine arts courses," explained Delco, whose husband is the president of a local high school band parents organization and whose children play in school

Hospital encouraging Midlanders to join volunteer health effort

This is National Hospital Week and, according to Midland Memorial Hospital public relations director Pat Dishman, Midland Memorial — like hospitals throughout the nation — is encouraging Midlanders to join a voluntary effort to contain health care costs. Ms. Dishman also outlined steps Midlanders can use to help reach that goal.

"First and most important," she said, "become a better custodian of your own health. Preventive care is still the best bargain for you in health care."

Steps to take include eating three meals a day with no snacking, moderate exercise two or three times a week, seven or eight hours of sleep each night, no smoking, keeping a moderate weight and using no alcohol or alcohol only in moderation.

Knowing how and when to use a hospital also is important, she says. "Because a hospital is geared to providing the highest level of care around the clock, its overhead and personnel costs are high. If you need that level of care, there's no substitute.

"But it's a waste of resources to use it when you don't," she added.

People should use a hospital emergency room, Ms. Dishman adds, only when needed for life-threatening situations. Since emergency rooms are staffed by skilled personnel and sophisticated equipment, it's expensive care.

"Consumers must realize," Ms. Dishman says, "that there is no such thing as 'free' health care. Even if you don't have to reach into your pockets right away to pay for the health care, you're going to pay for it somewhere along the line, perhaps through higher insurance premiums or bigger tax bills. That's why the conservative and wise use of health care resources is always in your best inter-

Old owners may buy back refuge land

ATLANTA (AP) — U.S. Rep. Bo Ginn has introduced legislation in Congress that would allow former owners or their heirs to buy back land at the Harris Neck Wildlife Refuge which he said was seized in an 'arrogant action" by the Army during World War

Ginn introduced a similar bill that was killed in committee in 1976.

The Georgia Demo crat, who represents the state's coastal region also called for a federal investigation into the cir cumstances of the origi nal acquisition of the land near Eulonia, Ga.

The property was acquired from mostly black residents for a war-time Army airfield, and has been the sub ject of recent protests by a group of blacks trying to regain the land.

Four black protesters who refused to obey a court order to leave the wildlife refuge in south east Georgia were arrested last week and sentenced to 30 days in jail for contempt of court requirements for the number of courses a school district must offer in two areas - basic skills and

From kindergarten to third grade, 95 percent of the courses offered would be in basic skills. That percentage would drop as courses offered in work skills increase in the later grades.

"House Bill 921 does not require a student to enroll in a certain percentage of basic or work skills courses. It only requires school districts to offer prescribed percentages in these important areas," said Delco.

She labeled reports that students would have only 18 minutes per day for fine arts education "totally, completely and absolutely wrong.

"We are not dictating what a student has to take, but what a school district has to be prepared to offer." she said.

To defuse the controversy, Delco plans to offer amendments to the bill when it comes up in the Senate for floor debate.

"I have no problem making it clear that fine arits are included in basic education, because that's what I always intended," she said.

Contac, Sine-Off being recalled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly all bottles of Contac Nasal Mist and Sine-Off Once-A-Day Sinus Spray are being recalled from store shelves because of possible bacterial contamination, the government says. The Food and Drug Administration announced the recall Wednesday

Legislation could close 41 of 70 nuclear plants

more members of Congress appear anxious to tell the nuclear industry there won't be business as usual after the Three Mile Island accident.

The Senate Environment and Public Works Committee approved legislation Thursday that could force the closing in six months of nuclear reactors in states without government-approved evacuation plans.

The same should go for plants under construction, the committee said in its 6-4 vote.

Aides said the measure, if passed by Congress, could shut down 41 of the 70 plants operating in the United States or postpone operating licenses for as many as 12 more scheduled for completion before the end of 1980. No list of affected plants was immediately available.

The vote came as the panel approved legislation authorizing NRC programs for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

IN ADDITION, the panel voted to spend $400,000 to investigate the March 28 Three Mile Island accident near Harrisburg, Pa., and called for tougher government controls over both day-to-day and emergency operations of the commercial nuclear industry.

-An NRC official said seven nuclear power plants shut down for improvements after the Three Mile Island accident should reopen in the next few weeks. The accident at Three Mile Island's Unit 2 — which remains closed along with Unit 1 led the NRC to order improvements at similar plants designed by the same company, Babcock & Wilcox.

-An expert on radiation said Pennsylvania residents living near the Three Mile Island plant have little added risk of cancer as a result of the accident. Dr. Edward P. ## Action delayed on nuclear rate hike

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) - Pennsylvania's Public Utility Commission, in a setback to one of the owners of the Three Mile Island plant, delayed action on Metropolitan Edison Co.'s request to start charging higher rates today. The PUC decision Thursday came as the state civil defense chief told a legislative committee that he recmmended evacuation of the area around the plant two days after the accident that sent radioactivity into the atmosphere. The company had proposed a six-month, $16.3 million surcharge for energy costs incurred in 1977 and 1978. The PUC voted 2-1 to postpone action on that petition and two others that would have given the company an immediate influx of the cash it says it needs to stay solvent.

The other petitions were filed by Met Ed and Pennsylvania Electric Co., co-owners of the crippled Three Mile Island nuclear plant. The companies sought permission to start charging customers immediately for the cost of buying power to replace the electricity normally generated by Three Mile EA.

The PUC said all three petitions will be considered during a series of hearings on who will pay for the March 28 accident that shut down Three Mile

"It appears inappropriate to attempt at this time to adjust the rates of Met Ed or Penelec before all the facts are known and the record is complete," the PUC order said

The order also said the two utilities "have neither alleged nor demonstrated any imminent danger of financial collapse.

During legislative hearings on the accident, Oran Henderson, head of the Pennsylvania Emergency Management Agency, said he told Gov. Dick Thornburgh on March 30 that a full evacuation of the area should be ordered. He said his recommendation was based on commens from a shift supervisor and the Nuclear Reguatory Commission.

Thornburgh instead issued an advisory that day omen and small ch

Thornburgh, contacted in Pittsburgh where he was campaigning on behalf of judicial candidates in the May 15 primary, said Henderson was "badly mistak-

"There was no discussions with Mr. Henderson about mass evacuations at all," Thornburgh said. "His statement is a serious mistake and I'm very concerned about it.'

Instead of ordering a mass evacuation, Thorn burgh issued an advisory for pregnant women and small children to leave a five-mile area around the plant and he instructed residents near the reactor to stay indoors.

Bank halts loans for nuclear power plants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Bank of America, the world's largest lending institution, has halted temporarily loans for nuclear power plants pending the outcome of a federal investigation into the accident at the Three Mile Island generating station, a bank spokesman says.

The loans comprise 0.3 percent of the organiza-tion's total loan package of $50 billion, the bank said. "It would not be following the 'prudent man' rule to continue making loans for construction of nuclear projects or facilities while this ... review of the industry takes place," said bank official Ray Toman. Toman said the company was "just putting our-selves in a holding pattern until the review of Three Mile Island is completed.

Dallas woman convicted in brutal child slayings

DALLAS (AP) - A Dallas woman has been convicted of murdering her 11-year-old son, who was found with a screwdriver driven through his eye, and of voluntary manslaughter in the beating and stabbing death of her 8-year-old daughter.

Jurors deliberated more than five hours before returning the guilty verdicts Thursday against Kathleen Gradi, 32.

Testimony began today in the second phase of the trial, the question of how she should be punished. She could get life in prison.

Mrs. Gradi was arrested after her son Clifford was found by police with a screwdriver driven to the hilt through his right eye in their blood-spattered apartment on Jan. 12. Clifford's half-sister, Aimee Jean Gray, was found unconscious on the living room

Clifford died 17 days later. Aimee died a short time

In closing arguments, defense attorney Doug Parks pleaded with the jury for acquittal, saying "the evidence - or the lack of evidence - fairly screams for such a verdict.'

After the verdict, he would not say whether he plans to appeal. Assistant District Attorney Doug Mulder, in final arguments, said the murders happened this way: 'Aimee's there in the kitchen eating a piece of bread for breakfast ... She (Mrs. Gradi) got mad and grabbed that screwdriver and did her in just like that. I suspect Clifford heard it from upstairs.. She turned on him...He got into that closet and 17 times she struck home with that screwdriver until she embedded it in his eye. Then, the prosecutor said, "she popped her clothes on and beat it down to the bus and was at work eating a sandwich at 7:45. That's how much those kids meant to her."

"I WANT THE LAW, the law of the United States, to say who is in charge of a nuclear reactor in the event of a crisis," Hart said. Among other steps the panel ap- and would specialize in House Speaker Thomas P. ## Morning sprinkles should give way to cool, dry conditions for Saturday

Unseasonably cool temperatures and overcast skies which spit drops of rain occasionally greeted Permian Basin residents Friday morning. But the weatherman says that is no indication it will rain again.

Today's low temperature dropped the thermometer to 52 degrees, but failed to even threaten the record low mark for this date - 42 - set back in 1946. And Thursday's high mark of 80 was far from the record 99-degree reading established in 1963, according to officials with the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport. The mercury should drop almost to

50 tonight, forecasters say According to the weatherman today's cooler temperatures were the result of a cold front which moved into the area late Wednesday, bringing behind it colder air and some

But even with today's early morning lows in the 40s in some area towns. there wasn't much rainfall. Andrews and Lamesa reported sprinkles, Rankin received mist early today and Big Spring received some showers.

Unofficial readings this morning also listed lows of 45 degrees at Andrews and 46 in Odessa.

Interest rates on savings bonds increased

By The Associated Press

The government has increased the interest rate on U.S. Savings Bonds for the first time in 51/2 years, meaning extra money for millions of Americans

The increase announced Thursday takes effect June 1 and raises the interest rate from 6 percent to 61/2 percent on bonds held to maturity.

Carolyn M. Johnston, director of public affairs for the Savings Bond. Division of the Treasury Department. said that statisticians were still cal culating what the increase would mean in dollars and cents to individual bond holders

In general terms, however, she said that holders of Series E bonds will be able to collect more when the bonds reach maturity; if you buy a $25 bond you will get more than $25 when it reaches maturity. Holders of Series H bonds, meanwhile, will get an increase in the semi-annual payments

they receive. Bondholders do not have to do anything to get the extra interest, it is automatic:

Ms Johnston said the raise means the government will have to pay about $400 million in additional interest each year on the nearly $81 billion worth of bonds held by some 25 million American families.

The interest rate on Savings Bonds. has not been increased since Dec. 1. 1973, and critics have charged that the bonds represented a poor investment for small savers who saw their interest eaten up by inflation and who could earn more money elsewhere.

"Interest rates in general have been rising." Ms Johnston said The increase "keeps it (the Savings Bond)

LAS VEGAS (AP) - Mayor Bill Briare says he wants to rewrite the law in a way that may force actress Marilyn Chambers to stage a Briare says he'll propose an ordinance requiring that the pubic area be covered during performances in any establishment with a city liquor or gaming license. He claimed the change was not directed at Ms. Chambers' nude performance in "Sex Surrogate," a play at the Jolly Trolly casino on the city's famed Strip.

But, he added, "a convention city like Las Vegas just does not need this sort of image. The city already has an ordinance prohibiting total nudity during performances, but people say its wording doesn't make it clear whether stage plays are included. Briare wants to specify that.

Briare notes that "Sex Surrogate" is the only show in the city featuring total nudity - although some clubs in nearby North Las Vegas feature similar shows.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A judge has agreed with the contention of Stephen Stills' former wife that the home of a rock musician isn't always the best one for a child.

Stills on Thursday fought back tears as Superior Court Judge Herbert Ross awarded custody of the performer's 5-year-old son, Christopher, to the child's mother, French singer Veronique.

The performer has had temporary custody of the boy since September, when the couple separted. They were married in 1973.

Stills sought custody, claiming Mrs. Stills would take the boy to France and make visits impossible. Mrs. Stills, 28, contended that the musician traveled frequently and did not provide a stable home life for the child.

Benjamin Kincheloe of Midland, Texas, was arrested Feb. 5, 1978, by Ruidoso officer David W. Pfeffer after an anonymous caller told authorities Kincheloe was coming to Ruidoso with a large amount of heroin.

Pfeffer stopped Kincheloe after he had parked his car at a Ruidoso restaurant.

In questioning Kincheloe, the officer determined he was on parole from prison in Texas and was five days overdue in returning to Texas after receiving permission to visit relatives in New Mexico. Pfeffer advised Kincheloe it was necessary to

Frank's favorite tune

Frank Sinatra, the blue-eyed singing fellow, has, on his own. assumed quite a responsibility in taking on what he terms America's "runaway press."

But Mr. Sinatra always has had an exaggerated opinion of himself, along with an apparent hatred of the press, and it isn't at all surprising that he, writing as a "husband and parent," is calling for a nationwide crusade to rein in the nation's "runaway press."

And if anyone feels compelled to lead such a crusade, the singer perhaps is as acceptable, or more so, than any one else, from the press' standpoint. Sinatra has been taking pot shots at the press for a long time now, and many persons undoubtedly have come to expect such action. There is considerable doubt if the nation's press, in considering the source. is shaking in its boots, at Sinatra's action, although it certainly does not look with favor on same.

In the first place, Sinatra's appraisal of the overall press of America is unjust, unwarranted and unfair.

Sinatra, in a letter dispatched to President Carter, members of Congress and hundreds of other prominent Americans, said that he had "met and confronted the unlimited power of the press.

"It frightens me as a husband and a parent who is concerned for the well-being and future of his family. And it certainly frightens me as a member of the Republic which it represents," the singer

He enclosed with each letter a reprint of a 30-page article critical of the press. The article, "The Powers of the Press: A Problem For Our Democracy," first appeared in Policy Review, a publication of the Heritage Foundation.

The article, written by Washington lawyer Max M Kampelman, concludes that the nation's press has become too powerful and is subject to fewer and fewer restraints.

Mr. Sinatra, quite naturally, couldn't overlook this as the potential whip for which he long has been searching.

He certainly has every right to speak up, make no mistake about that. And if he wants to spend his money in such a crusade, that is his business.

But his charge that the press is operating "with an irresponsibility that is almost beyond comprehension" is irresponsible

His letter calls for a campaign to remind the press that "there is more to the Constitution of this great country than the First Amendment it so frequently hides behind.'

We would remind the crusader that freedom of the press really means the right of the people to know, and that the American press generally is dedicated to living up to its responsibility in this regard.

Meanwhile, Buck Sinatra rides again, slinging his lasso wildly in an attempt to rope and tie what he

Evidence of peace

The cargo ship Ashdod, flying the blue and white Star of David flag at its stern and the Egyptian banner at its masthead, entered the southern end of the Suez Canal the other day, the first Israeli vessel to try to transit the canal in 25 years.

It was a tangible benefit of the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty now in effect. And peace was the byword. Ships in the canal blew their horns and whistles. Those aboard the freighter shouted "Shalom, Shalom," and Arabs lining the banks of the canal, called back, "Salaam"- their word for "peace."

The Ashdod was the first ship flying the Israeli flag to pass through the canal since Israel became a state in 1948. An Israeli ship attempted passage in 1954, but was seized by Egypt.

"I never expected to see this day." said Carol Mendelovitz. captain of the Israeli cargo ship.

And here's hoping that the Israelis and people of all nations always will have the right to transit in peace.

Lance may be facing grand jury

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Bert Lance may find himself back under the punishing glare of the klieg lights by the end of May. A federal grand jury is expected to decide later this month whether to indict President Carter's former banker and budget director.

For close to a year, the grand jury has tried to untangle the Gordian knot of Lance's financial dealings. The jurors have heard testimony that he juggled bank accounts, ran up huge overdrafts and forged the names of relatives on bank notes. We also tipped off the prosecutors that he had forged a relative's name to checks.

Yet Carter brought Lance into the White House to handle the federal government's finances. "He was the first person that I thought about when I was finally sure that I would be elected president," Carter once told me. "I wanted him in a major and very complicated department that had profound influence on the rest of the government .

Lance conducted his banking business in an offhand, disorganized manner. He was refreshingly unpretentious, comfortably old-shoe. He would hold rump court in his shirtsleeves. "His office was always open." one associate recalled. "If he wasn't busy, you could walk right in." Witnesses alleged that Lance didn't always separate his banking businsss from his political fund raising. In 1974, he tried to succeed his friend. Jimmy Carter, as governor of Georgia. Insiders say Lance threw money around like confetti. He outspent all his opponents but finished third in the Democratic primary, with a campaign debt over half a million

Lance allegedly negotiated loans from several small Georgia banks in which he owned a stock interest. When some loans became an issue in the campaign, he allegedly renegotiated them overnight and screened out the names of controversial endorsers. He also solicited campaign contributions from carpet manufacturers who had borrowed from his bank.

The following year, Lance began raising money for Jimmy Carter's presidential drive. At the same time. he doubled as Carter's banker. Carter moved his peanut accounts from a small local bank to the larger. Atlanta-based National Bank of Georgia after Lance took over the management.

The Carter peanut works quickly became the bank's biggest borrower. A $1 million construction loan, examiners found, was not properly secured nor disbursed. An additional $5.8 million in short-term commodity loans were improperly handled. Under pressure from Lance, the repayment checks sometimes would be held up without cashing.

This created a floating surplus, which was available to the Carter business. At times, more than $200,000 in cash would accumulate while the business was delinquent in its payments by as much as $500,000. After Lance left the bank and Carter signed over control of the business to his brother Billy, the bank dunned Billy Carter for about $500,000 that was overdue.

Billy Carter refused to answer some of the grand jury's questions about the loans, pleading the Fifth Amendment. These were loans that Jimmy Carter had helped to negotiate. The president, of course, has not been called to testify. But in anticipation of a deeper inquiry by the new special prosecutor, the president recently reviewed with Bllly what he will say if he is subpoenaed again, White House sources confide.

The special prosecutor is trying to determine whether any loan money was illegally diverted into Jimmy Carter's 1976 campaign. The White House has denied there were any illegal transfers.

Footnote: Our associate Clark Mollenhoff interviewed Lance at his 400-acre farm a few miles outside Calhoun, Ga. The manor house is called "Lancelot." The guest house, hauled to the farm from town, has been named "Eagle's Nest." But the white picket fence around the farm has no name on the gate.

Lance did not discuss his own legal troubles, which we have detailed in past columns. But he commented briefly on the controversial loans to the Carter peanut works. He was unfamiliar, he said, with the servicing of the loans which had been handled by subordinates. And once the money had been disbursed, he added, "I had no knowledge of what happened to the money in the Carter business."

He had no control, he stressed, over Billy Carter's handling of the loan proceeds. "I have no responsibility if Bllly blew it," said Lance.He also declared firmly: "I don't know if the money was used in the campaign."

What does he expect the grand jury to do later this month? Bert Lance, a hero to his neighbors in Calhoun, expects to be indicted.

JACK-BE-NIMBLE: Architects and engineers have been getting hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of contracts annually from the federal government without the burden of competitive bidding, and no one on Capitol Hlll has suggested changing the system. The reason, apparently, is that Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, introduced legislation in 1972 that set up the no-competition procedure, and he's a powerful member of Congress who brooks no challenge to his authority.

CHARLEY REESE

Remember, freedom even in U.S. isn't permanent

By CHARLEY REESE Sun Beit Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. - The way to kill liberty is to trivialize it.

That thought occurred to me as I observed yet another group of libertarians sally forth under the banner of the First Amendment to defend the "right" of two college kids to play a scene in a play naked instead of with body suits. Now I suppose it may strike you as prudish to expect that in these enlightened times nudity on the stage should be simulated. Maybe it is, though nobody objects to simulating everything else in a play. I imagine the actors union would take exception to a director who demanded that a member of the cast actually die instead of just pretending. That, however, is not the point. The point is that the First Amendment represents the climax of a long, bloody and sacred struggle of men and women to overcome political ty-

At this moment, thousands of people around the world sit in prisons and endure torture in defense of the ideas expressed in that amendment. These people are not suffering for the right to expose their pubic hairs on a public stage; they do not die for the right to express small talk in profane terms; and they do not pray for the day when they will be free to indulge in voveurism by staring at color photographs of genitalia.

To reduce man's struggle for freedom to this level, as so many do in this country, is to limit every man and woman who has suffered and died in the cause of freedom. It is not only an insult, but a dangerous game. Freedom even in the United States is not permanent. It is forever fragile and forever dependent upon the willingness of the American people to insist on it and to

I hate to disillusion the jaded intellectuals who seem to dominate the scene today, but outside of their own circle, you are not going to inspire people with love of liberty by focusing the fights on pronography, nudity on the stage, sexual deviations, pot smoking, and love-ins.

As a matter of fact, if intellectuals were not so snobby and so ignorant of history, they would realize that there is a real danger of turning people off to liberty by keeping it wrapped in a centerfold.

The irony of this situation is further aggravated by these sexual patriots accusing their opponents of having sexual hang-ups. I would say that people who are constantly yapping about nudity and sex are the ones with the hang-ups.

All of the aesthetic hogwash notwithstanding, any professional photographer will tell you that from an aesthetic point of view, nudity per se is no unqualified blessing. The majority of us look better with clothes on than with them off.

There is a further danger, though. People who aspire to be leaders must surely know that each generation must be taught to love liberty and to recognize tyranny. We do a poor job of teaching when we portray people who believe in such simple virtues as modesty as tyrants.

In this example, it struck me so typically American that affluent youngsters would march in the street, under the protection of the police, to protest against a liberal and humane city government and a democratically passed ordinance which had been most liberally interpreted.

The adults who led them should be ashamed of themselves. How can they justify this when thousands are prsecuted in Lebanon and the Soviet Union for their religious beliefs without so much as causing a single student to spill a drop of beer?

It's no wonder that American youth do not understand tyranny, do not understand censorship, and do not understand the Bill of Rights and its magnificent concepts.

Freedom is always limited except in an anarchic society and these intellectuals should be leading the people in getting reasonable limits on it instead of reducing liberty to the glandular level.

One day in this country, colleges and intellectuals may need allies in defending themselves against a real threat. They had better not spend all their chips battling straw men in the pursuit of self-indulgence.

INSIDE REPORT:

Primary election is focus of state capital intrigue

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

AUSTIN, Texas — As a listless session of the Texas legislature nears its May 28 closing, Ronald Reagan's political managers out in California may breathe a tentative sigh of relief thanks to this state's Byzantine politics and to Gov. William Clements.

It is highly probable the legislature will go home without authorizing an early 1980 Texas primary which would enable native Texan John B. Connally to sidetrack Ronald Reagan's rush for the Republican presidential nomination. Just enough liberal Democratic and conservative Republican senators are blocking action, for reasons that have nothing whatever to do with presidential poli-

But the relief of the Reaganites is only tentative for this reason: Clements, the newly elected Republican governor, could revive the bill with one word of support. What's more, he told us he could give that word, if the primary becomes part of a four-state Southwestern regional primary. That is a very big "if," surely precluding action in this session but possibly not a future special session. The primary election has become the focus of state capitol intrigue amidst the boredom of a temporary truce on most issues between the conservative Democratic legislature and the conservative Republican governor. What mainly interests legislators about Connally's candidacy is not the presidency but how it rearranges the balance of power in Texas politics.

Hordes of Connally Democrats would surely support the former Democratic governor against Reagan in the May 1980 Republican primary. Thus liberals could control the Democratic primary, threatening a massacre of tory Democrats who run the legislature. Half-a-dozen conservative Democratic state senators are marked for slaughter.

To preserve the status quo, the two powerful Democratic leaders of the legislature - Lt. Gov. William Hobby and House Speaker William Clayton - want a bill for a separate presidential primary in March, preceding the regular primary in May. The unintended beneficiary would be Connally. Private polls show Reagan's Texas lead over Connally, exceeding 15 percentage points last November, had become a 20-point deficit in April. Such a Reagan debacle in the state he carried easily against President Gerald Ford in 1976 would electrify Connally's campaign if it came March 8, before Reagan could record triumphs elsewhere.

A majority in both houses probably favors passage of the bill, but 11 senators (out of 38) can keep it from being brought up. Since a solid 10 liberal Democrats will vote no, all four Republican state senators must vote yes to bring up the bill. Consequently, this tiny minority has been under intense pressure. Regular Republicans, anticipating two-party development in the demise of the tory Democrats, oppose the bill. So do Reagan and his fire-eating Texas operatives. So does Texan George Bush, whose fragile presidential candidacy would be blown way by an early humiliating defeat at home.

Connally's official position is one of majestic unconcern. But his agents here (including former Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes) have been lobbying hard for the bill. In private, Connally makes clear his preference. "John told me it really don't matter to him." one Republican legislator told us, "but he also told me he sure would remember who helped him when it counted. Republican State Sen. O.H. (Ike) Harris has been told by local party workers he need not come home to Dallas if he subjects them to a second primary. But Harris is concerned about like-minded conservative Democratic colleagues and fears their liberal primary election conquerors would defeat conservative Republicans in "brasscollar" Democratic rural areas. Furthermore, Harris is an enthusiastic Connally supporter who backed Ford against Reagan in

On balance, Harris is choosing to keep peace with the Republican party by voting not to take up the primary bill. State Sen. Betty Andujar of Fort Worth, the state's Republican national committeewoman, is taking the same route, though she too backs Connally. Those two are eough to kill the bill and bail out Reagan. But Harris and Andujar would immediately switch if Gov. Clements endorsed the bill. During a visit in his office with us, former Dallas oil tycoon Clements shed his usual precise certitude to reveal fuzzy agnosticism toward the primary election. However, he indicated he could become a downright advocate if Texas joined with Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas primaries March 8 to give the oil buckle of the Sunbelt an early voice in presidential selection. Speaker Clayton is rushing furiously to line up such a regional arrangement, almost surely not in time for this session but perhaps for inclusion in a possible special session on other topics. Clements, avowedly neutral for president, is well known here to have a minimum high regard for Reagan and a low estimate of his chances. It will be a while yet, then, before the Reagan camp can view the intrigue in this old capitol building without some apprehension.

Senate OKs foster care bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Senate approved on voice vote Thursday a bill that would provide state aid to care for neglected, abandoned and abused children.

Sen. Chet Brooks' bill now goes to the House.

The Legislative Budget Board has estimated state payments could total nearly $25.9 million for 1980-81.

Brooks, D-Pasadena, said, however, "Some money already in the appropriation bill might be available and we would not need that much additional money.'

A bill analysis said approximately 8,500 children have been removed from their homes for their own protection and placed under protective custody of the state.

No state funds currently are available for foster care for abused and neglected children who are not eligi-

Convention rivalry intensifies Before Philadelphia's dramatic bid and an impassioned plea for Detroit by Mayor Coleman Young, WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats are a little stunned about the sudden intensity of competition for their 1980 convention. Philadephia, for example, has suddenly offered $1 million for it.

State Senate OKs bill for local option bingo

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Senators approved a local bingo would be voted on Nov. 4, 1980. option bingo proposal Thursday after Sen. Bill Moore jokingly asked if it would allow atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair to "open up a bingo game."

Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, assured Moore his bingo bill was limited to religious societies "organized primarily for religious purposes."

'She might take it to the Supreme Court - and she'd win," chided Moore, D-Bryan. Mrs. O'Hair broke up an Austin church bingo game in October 1977 and accused police of not doing their duty by following up with arrests. Schwartz's "Bingo Enabling Act" was sent to the House, 22-7. If approved by the House, it would go into effect if Texans vote to change the state constitution and legalize bingo. The Texas Constitution prohibits bingo, but a proposed constitutional amendment by Schwartz has cleared the Senate and the House, with amend-

Schwartz, D-Galveston, said Thursday he would asked the Senate to accept House amendments, which would require quarterly reports to be filed with the state comptroller on how much money was taken in at bingo games and how it was spent. Bingo games for money would be limited to nonprofit organizations, such as churches, charities, fraternal and veterans groups and volunteer fire départments.

The proposed constitutional amendment legalizing

Business interests win Senate victory

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Business interests won a victory Thursday as the House tentatively passed a watered-down Senate bill that critics claim will weaken the law against fraud in the marketplace. After five hours of debate, representatives voted 80-32 for the measure. One more vote is needed to return the bill to the Senate for consideration of House amendments. The measure sparked two lengthy filibusters a week apart in the Senate and another talkathon is likely. Rep. Danny Hill, the bill's House sponsor, said the proposed changes were needed to restore balance between merchants and consumers in the court-

Hill, D-Amarillo, persuaded colleagues to accept several amendments that he said would remove possible objections to the Senate-passed version. Consumers winning lawsuits under the state's Deceptive Trade Practices Act would receive at least $3,000 under one amendment. This sets a ceiling of $1,000 for mandatory triple damages and takes care of most small claims,' explained Rep. Don Henderson, R-Houston. "It gives the consumer a legitimate remedy in the courts.' Triple damages are mandated now in most lawsuits. Under the original bill by Sen. Bill Meier, D-Euless, a plaintiff must prove "an unconscionable act" before awards could be trebled. Representatives voted 72-66 to mandate triple awards for the first $1,000 of actual damages ordered in successful lawsuits against deceptive business-

Juries or judges would decide whether a defendant's conduct warrants tripling of actual damages

"One of the problems in the beginning with this bill is that many people thought we were trying to get away from triple damages," Hill said. "We're trying to get away from mandatory damages. Rep. Luther Jones, D-El Paso, argue unsuccessfully that the $1,000 ceiling proposal would be unconstitutional. He said it would give neither juries nor businessmen guidance as to what conduct would warrant additional triple damages.

Hill endorsed and House members accepted two other changes in the committee-approved version

- Allow recovery for physical pain and mental anguish - something not provided for in the Senate version. - Allow consumers to file class action lawsuits, which would be prohibited under the original bill. After three hours of debate, House members turned down a chance to postpone further discussion of the complicated issue.

"I don't think we ought to pass a law in the condition this membership is in," said freshman

Rep. Jay Gibson, D-Odessa. Gibson said he had not recovered from a late session Wednesday night when members debated another complicated bill on products liability law. "I don't even know what we've voted on," Gibson said. "I have a vague idea and I even practice this kind of law in Odessa. House members voted to continue debate but later cut off discussion by using the parliamentary maneuver that senators invoked to stop a filibuster on

Clements sees victories

DALLAS (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements predicted most of his personal legislative projects will come through this session in one form or another, even though he "wouldn't recommend" his first session

"to anybody." Clements told the spring general assembly meeting of the North Central Texas Council of Governments that taxpayers would realize "$700 million to $800 million in tax relief" when the dust from budget session has cleared. Both the House and the Senate have adopted budgets in excess of the figures Clements said he would tolerate. But Clements said when a conference committee between the two houses complete their work, he expects $500 million for tax relief. Clements said he anticipates another $200 million to $300 million will be available after he exercises his veto power for budget cuts in an effort to fullfill a campaign promise to slash taxes by $1 billion.

The governor also spoke optimistically of the prospects of getting a wiretap law passed in keeping with his pledge to crack down on drug traffic in the been doing in South Texas for 200 years - having fun, enjoying themselves and raising money for good causes?" asked Sen. Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg.

"That's correct - under very limited and specific restrictions," replied Schwartz. Schwartz's bill authorizes the comptroller to charge $50 for processing each report. "That's $200 a year, and with 50 bingo games in Galveston County alone and 254 counties, you can see the state might make some money," Schwartz told reporters.

Longoria said another benefit of legalizing bingo "Would this simply allow people to do what they've would be to "stop embarrassing district attorneys," who apparently have been reluctant to prosecute bingo players.

'You're right, senator," said Schwartz. "Under that theory," protested Sen. Ed Howard, D-Texarkana, "you might as well legalize marijuana, smoking pot ...

Moore said bingo is played with cash and asked who would prevent organizers from "skimming"

Schwartz said they could be prosecuted for false

SALT II did not call halt to arms race By ROBERT B. CULLEN and SS-18 missiles. The United States,

WASHINGTON (AP) - Who got the better of the SALT II deal? That question will occupy the Carter administration, the U.S. Senate and perhaps some quarters of the Kremlin in coming months. Based on numerous interviews with informed critics and supporters of the treaty, the short answer is that each side got from the seven-year SALT II negotiations what it had to have to satisfy its own military that security would not be compromised.

If either side wanted to put an end to the arms race, that was not accomplished. The treaty will put some ceilings on arms buildups, but it will not prevent each side from adding thousands of nuclear warheads to arsenals, at a cost of billions of dol-

BUT THE TREATY does enable each side to have some confidence about what the other might do. The Carter administration estimates it would have to spend an extra $30 billion to $60 billion to match what the Soviets would be likely to build in the absence of a treaty.

The Soviets won the right to match and in some ways surpass the United States in the critical area of longrange, land-based missiles with multiple warheads (MIRVs).

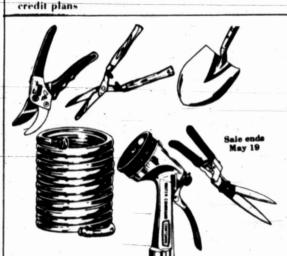

Entering the negotiations in 1973. the United States had MIRVed missiles. The Soviets were just beginning to test them.

The United States suggested a freeze on MIRVs that would have kept the Soviets from getting them. The Soviets refused, continued their development program, and eventually won the concession from the United

which had no plans to build such huge missiles, would not be allowed to do

THE SOVIET ADVANTAGE in heavy missiles is mitigated by the limits on the number of warheads each can carry. The SS-18 is limited to 10, which Pentagon experts say is about 20 less than it might carry at full potential.

But despite that limit, the SALT II treaty will allow both sides to develop and deploy sufficiently accurate multiple-warhead missiles to be able to pose at least a theoretical threat of a disarming first strike against the other side's land-based missiles.

Such an attack becomes theoretically feasible when one missile with multiple warheads is capable of hitting and destroying several of the enemy's silos.

Of course, an attacker would be gambling that his attack would work perfectly and that the other side would not immediately retaliate with its remaining submarine-based forces, plunging both countries into mutual destruction. There is a sub-limit of 1,200 on MIRVed missiles, whether they are launched from land or submarines. That leaves room for about 120 bombers equipped with cruise missiles, which count as MIRVed weapons.

NOT COINCIDENTALLY, that is the number of B-52s the United States plans to equip with the small, pilotless and highly accurate drones.

That represents one of the key concessions won by the United States. At Vladivostok in 1974, President Ford and Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev agreed to a total limit of 2,400 on all long-range missiles and bombers, including air-launched missiles.

A few months later, the Soviets contended that the Vladivostok accord applied to the new American cruise missile. The Americans contended that it did not, since the cruise is not a ballistic missile but more like a jet plane. The eventual compromise gives the United States essentially what it wanted. It leaves the Soviets scrambling to catch up. The Americans also took care to preserve their option to build the MX missile, a weapon planned for deployment in the mid-1980s. It will match the SS-18 in warheads, and it might be based on mobile launchers.

ON THE OTHER hand, the Soviets can also build one new land-based missile. And the treaty is written in such a way that the Soviets could effectively modernize their SS-11 missile by making it more accurate without having it count as a new missile, administration officials concede.

Both sides also retain the right to modernize their submarine-based missile forces, as the United States already is doing.

The Americans also won the right to keep their European-based bombers, and those of the NATO allies, out of the SALT totals, even though they can reach Soviet targets.

But that triumph is mitigated by the Soviet deployment of the Backfire bomber, which fits in the same loophole for "intermediate-range weapons," even though it could reach the United States if it flew at low speeds and landed in Cuba.

THE AMERICANS also won from the Soviets an agreement on equal totals of strategic weapons, no more than 2,250 after 1981. That will require the Soviets to dismantle some 250 operational weapons.

The bargaining was intense, and often the negotiators deadlocked for months over matters that appear inconsequential in the context of the entire 70-pages of the draft treaty.

U.S. population increase slows down percentagewise

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's population growth of 14.8 million, or 7.3 percent, in this decade through mid-1978 is down from the 23.9 million, or 13.3 percent increase, of the 1960s, the Census Bureau says.

The U.S. population was estimated to be 218,059,000 on July 1, 1978. The highest rates of population in-crease during the 1970s occurred in Florida, as well as the sparsely populated states of Alaska, Nevada, Arizona and Wyoming. The government report, issued

Thursday, shows most of the growth during the 1970s was in the West, which grew 15.1 percent, and the South, which grew by 12.4 percent.

Wyoming's growth can be attributed to the development of energy resources such as coal and uranium, as well as oil exploration. Alaska's growth has subsided recently with the completion of the oil pipeline construction.

In Florida, Nevada and Arizona, growth is attributed to resort and retirement development.

The Pacific states of California, Oregon and Washington have had above-average growth during the 1970s, but they didn't grow as fast as they did during the 1960s.

Washington state, which grew slow-ly during the first half of the decade after layoffs in the defense and aircraft industries, has picked up population in the last few years.

Three states that grew during the 1960s — Rhode Island, New York and Pennsylvania - and the District of Columbia all lost population in the Meanwhile, three states losing population during the 1960s - West Virginia, North Dakota and South Dakota — are now growing.

During the last year, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey all lost population, while Maryland and Delaware stayed about the same.

States that have grown twice as fast during the 1970s as they did in the 1960s are: Idaho, Maine, Mississippi, Montana and New Mexico.

'Midland man' is 'Midland Minnie'

The ancient "Midland man" wasn't a man, the American Indians' weren't all that conservation-minded and even a tree limb can be an artifact, said Midland anthropologist Eunice Barkes.

"This idea of Indians being great conservationists is not always true," Mrs. Barkes said in mentioning the sometimes-wanton slaughter of buffaloes by the Indians.

She was speaking Thursday on prehistory of the Midland area in a color lide presentation to the Downtown Rotary Club meeting in the Midland

Fire damages home

Very heavy damage to a house and its contents were caused by a fire reported at 5:09 p.m. Thursday at 414 E. Dengar Ave., fire officials said.

Of the so-called Midland man, the anthropologist said the fragmented and fossilized cranium of the find is "one of the oldest remains" of homo sapiens in the New World.

The fragmented skull, found by Keith Glasscock in 1953 or 1954 is either from the 9,000-to-9,500-B.C. period or from 18,500 B.C.

Mrs. Barkes mentioned the discrepancy on two historical markers, one posted in 1966 and the other in 1967, on the front lawn of the Midland County courthouse.

The skull, now dubbed "Midland Minnie," is on permanent display at Southern Methodist University in Dal-

Church council debating nukes

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) -American church representatives, after seeing a solar energy system at work, headed into a final round of debate on whether to challenge nuclear power as a peril to humanity.

The proposal before the National Council of Churches today constitutes the first attempt at a broadly representative religious-ethical appraisal of nuclear energy production.

Both pro- and anti-nuclear views rippled through the drawn-out discussion. Ironically, there were several tie votes Thursday on efforts to modify terminology in the proposed statement, which calls for a national energy policy which "will not need to utilize nuclear fission."

The statement concedes that a 'just energy policy is difficult because inevitably some ethically desirable goals 'must be traded off' against other goals, which also are good," but the paper concludes that nuclear power is morally untenable. To get a first-hand look at an alternative, representatives of most major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches Thursday climbed to the top of a Trinity University building to inspect a large-scale solar facility.

Contrary to the myths about the impracticality of such a system, it works and is cheaper, cleaner and provides more jobs than other power systems, physicist Eugene Clark told 250 church representatives.

Clark, director of the Presbyterianrelated school's solar data center, said current solar technology could meet 35 percent of the nation's heating needs and do it more economically than current systems. The proposal before the council, representing 32 denominations totaling more than 40 million members, would urge the nation to focus on "renewable energy resources" such as solar, wind and water power.

The 2,500-word policy statement was worked out during research, consultations, and hearings extending back to 1974. It included participation by top scientists as well as economists and theologians.

Zambia, Angola make pact

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) - Presidents Kenneth Kaunda of Zambia and Augustino Neto of Angola pledged to set up a security force to repel Rhodesian and South African incursions into their countries.

They also vowed that an attack on one of their countries was an attack on the other. The two presidents held talks Thursday in Ndola, a copper-producing region about 211 miles north of Kaunda's assistant for press, Milimo Punabantu, briefed reporters on the talks but gave no specific details on the security arrangements.

Neto has said in the past that Angolans were fully mobilized not only to defend their country but prepared to fight side by side with Zambians until their common enemy was defeated. Rhodesia has launched more than a half-dozen raids on Zambian bases of guerrillas fighting a six-year-old bush

Crystal Ball sparkles

By WANDA MOUTON Lifestyle Editor

It was a shining affair Wednesday night at the Midland Country Club as some 300 persons attended the annual Crystal Ball, a benefit of the High Sky Girls Ranch.

As guests arrived at the festive event, they were greeted to the bright sounds of Mal Fitch and his Orchestra, and caught their first glimpse of the beautiful Waterford crystal on display in the foyer amidst a setting of white potted chrysanthemums and greenery.

The fourth annual event, hosted by the board of directors of High Sky Girls Ranch, featured a variety of activities, including dancing to the music of the Dallas band, auctioning of crystal and buffet dining.

Highest bidder for the Waterford crystal chandelier was B. Bernard Lankford Jr. Proceeds from the auction and the event will benefit the Girls Ranch, a place for young girls who are in trouble, having a difficult time living with their families, and need a home-like atmosphere in which they can develop. The ranch is located four miles northwest of Mid-

New York fall fashion confident, shapely

By BETTY OMMERMAN Newsday

NEW YORK — Wearable. Comfortable. American as apple pie. That was the message from New York's fashion designers and manufacturers as the open-truly harked back to another age — an age when a ings of Seventh Avenue's fall collection drew to a close last week. New York's designers also made it bustle stood out. Some of the chiffon gowns making clear they were declaring their independence from exaggerated European styles.

body and are expertly tailored with attentioils as suit or short-pant suit. pleated or padded shoulders, fitted waistlines, embroidery, beading an other decorative trim.

What they're not is boring. Instead, they're a perfect mix of the classic and sophisticated, casual and glittering bodysuits with swirling skirts by Halston, Willi Smith's jumpsuits with removable cheerleader skirts and Adele Simpson's sophisticated gowns with cog feather bodices.

Sweater-dressing was one of the American traditions touted by many designers. Ralph Lauren, who gave us the prairie and cowboy looks for spring, discarded them in favor of an updated version of the all-American college girl of the '40s. The familiar short-sleeved pullover and long-sleeved cardigan sets were updated to include tucking and lightly padded shoulders and were worn over blouses with crocheted or lace collars.

Naturally, all this attention to detail is expensive. But if you want to be in a sweater mood at a more budget-conscious price, there was a wide choice of horizontally striped sweater dresses by Betsey Johnson, as well as Charles Suppon's knit skirts and tops. Suppon also had some of the best-looking narrow knee-length pants around.

After several seasons of mostly being relegated to the back of the closet, pants are making a strong omeback.

In general, they're cut slightly fuller than those of last year, with Geoffrey Beene favoring striped pants to match a striped blouse. Perry Ellis, believing American women just aren't built the way European women are (remember the similar fuss about American men not being able to fit into the narrow European suits a few years ago?), had some of the wider-looking styles around.

You will even have your choice of baggy pants. One of the most interesting looks was Ralph Lauren's evening pantsuit. A tuxedo pant, it was

'Soweto 11' sentenced in South Africa court

KEMPTON PARK, South Africa (AP) - A South African court gave suspended sentences today to seven of the 11 students convicted of sedition in the so-called "Soweto-11" trial. The other four drew prison terms ranging from two to four years

Sechaba Da Montsitsi, 23, the former chairman of the Soweto Student Representative Council, received the stiffest punishment, an eight-year term. But Judge Hendriu Van Dyk suspended four years of his sentence.

The 11 students - 10 men and a woman ranging in age from 18 to 23 were found guilty April 30 of sedition for their roles in organizing and leading the black riots which ripped throun the black township of Soweto in 1976. The prosecutor had sought "robust" jail terms, while the defense asked that all sentences be suspended.

After today's sentencing, defense attorney Ernest Wentzel said he would appeal the terms, as well as the judge's broad interpretation of "sedition" to include any gathering - even a peaceful one - at which participants "defy, subvert or assail the authority of the state or any of its organs."

China to free Vietnamese troops

PEKING (AP) — China, seeking to break the deadlock in peace talks with Vietnam, said today it will free about 1,000 Vietnamese troops it captured in the border war with its southern neighbor.

Vice Foreign Minister Zhong Xidong (Chung Hsi-tung) announced plans for the phased repatriation at a news conference.

Zhong said China would release the men unilaterally, but he said China would propose at the next session of the peace talks in Hanoi on Saturday that Vietnam free some 200 Chinese he said were captured in the monthlong war, which began Feb. 17.

Sacre bleu! Wine fraud charged

DIJON, France (AP) - Burgundy vintor Bernard Noel Grivelet, accusd of putting exlusive labels on ordinary wine to be exported to the United States, has been formally charged with fraud, officials said today.

Grivelet is expected to respond shortly to the charges in the wine scandal, which investigators claim represents an attempted fraud of at least

The Burgundy wine growers' association, the national institute that controls wine labelling and a national growers' association have all joined the case, developed by government wine inspectors. Grivelet allegedly bottled cheap blends of "vin ordinaire" under such prestigious labels as Morey-St. Denis, Chambolle-Musigny and Chambertin Blos de Beze, all of which are expensive and distilled from a single type of

Thais send Cambodians back

KHAW LAN, Thailand (AP) - Thousands of Cambodians, some riding elephants, fled to Thailand to escape Vietnamese attacks but were sent back to their homeland by Thai authorities today.

Nearly 4,000 refugees, including a caravan of Pol Pot soldiers riding nine elephants, crossed into the southeastern province of Trad at this frontier village Thursday. They were disarmed and taken to another point along the border where they could cross.

Defector given asylum

my (AP) - An East German diplomat who defected while on an official trip to Finland has been given asylum in West Germany, government spokesmen say. One newspaper said he had been a spy for the Bonn government for three years.

He was the second high-ranking East German granted asylum in the West this year, and High-level officials said the defector was Peter Steglich, 43, the East German Foreign Ministry's deputy planning chief and former ambassador to Sweden. The Federal Press Office confirmed that he had been on the staff of the Foreign Ministry in East Berlin but identified him only as "Peter S. and denied the S was for Steglich.

Mexican official takes border tour

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Mexico's Foreign Minister Santiago Roel, on a fact-finding border tour of U.S. detention centers, has found imprisoned Mexican aliens generally well treated, although he says "there is always room for improvement.

Roel arrived in San Diego on Thursday on the last leg of his 10-day visit that took him to Brownsville, Laredo, El Paso and Los Angeles.

Carter, Royo worried about treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter and Panamanian President Aristedes Royo are worried that the U.S. Congress may undo 14 years of painstaking canal treaty negotiations.

Buses burned in unrest in El Salvador Thursday

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) - El Salvador's military government reported leftist guerrillas burned six persons to death in buses as thousands turned out for the funerat of 17 anti-government demonstra-

Government spokesman Col. Rafael Flores Lima said guerrillas of the Popular Liberation Forces shot up two buses near Arcateo, a village 54 miles north of San Salvador, and set them afire Thursday. He said four passengers and two drivers burned to death before they could escape.

The Popular Liberation Forces is one of three underground leftist armies fighting a guerrilla war against President Carlos Humberto Romero's military regime.

More than 15,000 persons turned out for the funeral of the demonstrators, who were cut down by police bullets Tuesday as they rallied outside San Salvador's cathedral in support of anti-government militants occupying the cathedral and the Costa Rican and French embassies.

The rough pine coffins were brought out of the cathedral and placed onthe bloodstained steps as mourners marched and chanted "Down With Repression!" and "We Want Freedom!'

he bodies, some in shrouds, others in tattered bloody clothing, were transferred to more expensive wooden caskets, and pallbearers from the crowd hoisted them on their shoulders for a politically-charged march to the cemetery that lasted three hours.

Along the 20-block route, the marchers chanted, "End The Tyran-"It's The Color Of Blood We Will Never Forget!" "Socialism Is Coming, No One Can Stop It!" and "Victory Forever!"

Four of the dead were women, and one was pregnant.

The marchers took turns shouldering the coffins. They wore gas masks against the stench of the corpses, which had lain on the cathedral steps or inside for almost two days in 90-degree heat.

"Glory To The Dead Of May 8," read a big banner carried by some of the marchers as the procession wound through San Salvador's narrow streets. Thousands lined balconies and rooftops to watch the march go

U.S. twins detained in Israel

BIR ZEIT, Occupied West Bank would rather stay home than fight. AP) — Two identical twins from State College, Pa., accused of participating in an anti-Israeli riot, were behind bars in an Israeli jail today, but their father said, "It's a case of guilt by association.

Wayne Derrick, head librarian at Bir Zeit University on the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River, claims Israel ordered both his sons deported because it is not sure which one was involved in a clash with Israeli troops on May 2.

Derrick admits his son Michael is a feisty young man who would easily get into a scrap with an Israeli soldier, but he told The Associated Press that Michael's twin brother Carl

The 20-year-old twins, both students at the Palestinian university where their father works, were arrested Thursday on charges of inciting an anti-Israeli riot and stoning Israeli cars near the West Bank university town of Bir Zeit, 15 miles north of Jerusalem.

Their attorney, Leah Tsemel, said the twins denied the charges and were appealing government deportation orders. Replies to their appeals were expected early next week, she said.

The twins' father, talking to a reporter soon after they were arrested, said he believes the Israelis were expelling both boys because they can't be sure which was involved in the fracas.

Song of open road can have interesting lyrics

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

SHIRLEY, ARK. (AP) - Barreling down the superslab in a purtied-up 4-wheeler the other day, I thought of Walt Whitman and his "Song of the Open Road." A century ago this most original poet and ex-newspaperman sang of America's great beauty and diversity:

"You road I enter upon and look around, I believe you are not all that is here, I believe that much unseen is also here ... I swear to you there are divine things more beautiful then words can tell."

Well, I hadn't missed it. It's still out there, that other America, that rich, rolling unique everyday land beyond the scope of the nightly news and the morning headlines, that world of ordinary but most extraordinary people who plant their mail boxes at places like Pee Dee, Desha, Bald Knob and Oil Trough.

would be harder than ever to come by - in fact, a special vocabulary might have to be mastered.

"How's it looking over your donkey?" a squall of radio static clarified itself into an incoherent sentence just as we passed a flea market named "House of Prayer."

The driver of the rug-upholstered van in which I was riding reached for his microphone on the dashboard and allowed that it was "looking good all the way to the Rock, 'cepting for a big bard bear sitting by Exit 14. He's taking pictures, so smile real pretty when you go by.'

Now if your handle was "Ink-Stained Wretch" (favored by newspaper folk) or "Land Baron" (most likely a real estate agent) or "Bionic Peanut - the Six Million Dollar Goober" (an affluent farmer), you would have no trouble with the trans-road we had just passed over, the superslab — the Interstate — was clear of problems all the way to Little Rock, except for a state trooper manning a radar trap at Exit 14. Smile pretty was an injunction to get within the speed limit. This is CB talk, the specialized language of citizen's band radio that is used these days to sing of America's traumas and splendors.

UP FRONT IN the van, where we sat in high backed swivel chairs and had individual rings to park our cans of Dr. Pepper, my driver-guide pointed out the passing scenic delights of blizzard of dogwood blossoms painting imaginary ski slopes on a cloudshadowed hillside. The Sunday morning circle of pickup trucks around each and every of the many Baptist churches and missions along the

"It's the dream of every boy and girl in Arkansas," my troubador of the open road informed me, "to own a pickup truck with silk screen picture on the rear window. a rifle over the back seat and a CB radio on the Right about here, as we left the interstate, an 18-wheeler, a trailer truck driver, rogered in to ask directions to Shaky City, which I learned was San Francisco.

Before we could answer, a girl manning a base station at a truck stop farther up the road told him which exit to take, wished him "blue skies

She was only soliciting restaurant customers, but it reminded me that a while back the New York State troopers abruptly curtailed the ministrations of some enterprising young ladies who were operating in the Port Jervis area under the CB handles of 'Tons of Fun," "Chocolate Kisses" and "Joy to the World." As Walt Whitman noted long ago, the song of the open road can have some mighty earthy lyrics. "GOOD BUDDY," I am told, no longer is the standard greeting for fellow wayfarers, unless you happen to be a consenting adult pursuing an alternate lifestyle that a while ago would have got you in big trouble with Smoky Bear, County Mounty and Local Yokel, as the various eschelons of police are called.

A few miles out of Shirley, Ark., the state police radio squawked with a poignant drama of highway robbery:

When he went outside to get in

Eighteen wheelers, superior creatures, often can be quite rude to ordinary four wheelers in passenger cars. 'Get off the air and go back to dirty phone calls, we need a bear report," a trucker intruded on some 4-wheelers who were discussing available facilities for a ten-200, the call of nature.

Coming out of Bald Knob, we spotted our first "fraidy hole," which is not in any CB dictionary. It is pure Arkansauce for a tornado shelter.

"Fraidy holes," said my guide, pointing to a chimney without any house attached, "are for people who are afraid of tornadoes.'

As it was to Walt Whitman, the song of the open road on the lips of everyday folks comes across loud and

Alleged plan for Scott death outlined to jury

LONDON (AP) - Former Liberal Party leader Jeremy Thorpe said killing Norman Scott would be "no worse than shooting a sick dog" and spoke frequently of the "ultimate solution" for the alleged former lover he is accused of plotting to murder, the prosecution claims.

Prosecutor Peter Taylor told the jury at the Old Bailey criminal court Thursday that Thorpe told Liberal Party member Peter Bessell of the plan to kill Scott and dump his body in an abandoned tin mine when the two politicians met in the House of Commons in 1968.

Bessell, now living in California, was to be the prosecution's first witness today. Scott, now working as a horse groom, is to testify later in the Thorpe, who resigned as Liberal leader in 1976 and lost his seat in Parliament in the general election last week, denied the accusation of homosexuality repeatedly. He and three co-defendants pleaded innocent to charges of conspiring to murder Scott to stop his talk about the alleged relationship.

Thorpe's co-defendants are David Holmes, the Liberal Party's former deputy treasurer, and John Le Mesurier and George Deakin, businessmen in Wales.

The prosecutor said Deakin at a dinner party on Feb. 25, 1975, recruited former airline pilot Andrew Newton to shoot Scott.

PEKING (AP) - Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps and the Chinese government paved the way today for a U.S.-China trade treaty by signing the agreement to pay Americans 41 cents on the dollar for $196.9 million in American assets seized by the Chinese communists in 1949.

Mrs. Kreps said she thought agreement on the trade pact was "fairly close." "We may be able to sign both," she said. "but it isn't buttoned down yet.' She and Finance Minister Zhang Jingfu (Chang Ching-fu) signed the claims agreement in the Great Hall of the People before the American cabinet member left on a tour of Shanghai, Gweilin (Kweilin) and Canton. Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal initialed the agreement during a visit in early March, two months after the two countries established diplomatic relations. However, both governments requested changes, and the negotiations were completed this week by Mrs. Kreps and her aides. China will pay the United States a total of $80.5 million to satisfy claims for property and cash expropriated from American corporations, banks, religious organizations and individuals. In return, the United States agreed to pay China an equal amount from Chinese bank accounts and other assets frozen in 1950 in retaliation for the communist

Mrs. Kreps said the agreement was "an important first step in normalization. Its resolution...paves the way for negotiations on a trade agreement.' Zhang said it "will help expand economic and trade ties" between the two countries. The Chinese will pay $30 million on Oct. 1 and the remainder in five annual installments of $10.1 million, beginning Oct. 1, 1980, officials said.

Eight missing at rig mishap

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - Eight persons were reported missing early today after an oil rig containing 34 men collapsed in the Gulf of Mexico, the Coast Guard said.

The Coast Guard said 26 men have been taken by helicopters to John Sealy Hospital here for treatment of various injuries

Four were admitted with conditions listed from fair to serious, the hospital said, including one man whose arm was sheared off in the accident late Thursday night.

Coast Guard divers were quickly dispatched to the rig in waters about 12 miles south of Galveston. They waited until daybreak to determine if it was safe to enter the submerged portion of the three-legged rig, which rested at a 45-degree angle. Initial reports indicated 12 persons were missing, but the Coast Guard said there had been early confusion about how many were aboard the platform, owned by Atlantic Pacific Marine Corp. of Houston. The Ranger One rig is leased to Mitchell Energy and Development Corp. of Houston. Bob McKinna, a spokesman for Coast Guard search and rescue operations in New Orleans, said only 34 crewmen were aboard the platform. Twenty-six were rescued.

McKinna said several more men reportedly were aboard a crew boat, the "Delta Seahorse," moored to the rig. He said the crew boat reportedly did not sink. Three Coast Guard helicopters, the cutter "Point Monroe," Coast Guard divers and several civilian boats searched early today for the missing

Oil cutback announced by Saudis

By MARK POTTS

NEW YORK (AP) - Saudi Arabia is cutting back on oil sales to the U.S. companies that are its biggest customers, oil industry sources said Thursday. Analysts said the cut may be a political signal to the United

Meanwhile, Iran said it is raising its crude-oil prices, an action that will have virtually no effect on U.S. gasoline and oil prices, analysts said, but which could presage a general increase by members of the Organization of Peroleum Exporting Coun-

The reduction by the Saudis was expected, sources said. It will cut the quantity of oil sold to the Arabian American Oil Co., known as Aramco, from 7 million barrels daily to 6.5 million barrels. Aramco, a consortium of Exxon, Mobil, Standard Oil of California and Texaco, provides technical assistance to the Saudis in addition to buying Saudi oil.

The cut does not mean a reduction of Saudi Arabian production from the present 8.5 million-barrel-a-day level. Instead, it will increase the share of production that goes to Petromin, the Saudi national oil company, for sales on the open market.

That oil brings higher prices than the oil sold under the Aramco contracts. But Larry Goldstein, an analyst with the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation, a trade group, said that doesn't mean the Saudis are looking for better economic return on their production.

"If they needed more revenue, they could have raised the price (of all their oil)," said Goldstein, "It's less to do with the economy than the politics." The move, he said, is an indication of Saudi Arabia's displeasure with the United States' role in the Egyptian-Israeli peace agreement. "It's another subtle signal — but maybe mot so subtle," Goldstein

Although the cutback in sales to Aramco will not change the amount of oil on the world market, it could further tighten the supply of crude oil coming into the United States. Five hundred thousand barrels a day is about 2:.5 percent of daily U.S. .consumption of crude.

One of the reasons the world crude oil market is tight is that Iran, which has resumed production following a shutdown caused by a revolution, has cut its output to two-thirds of pre-revolution levels of about 6 million barrels a day. The tight oil supplies have pushed up prices for crude, as buyers clamor for the oil. Prices on the spot market, where oil not sold under long-term contracts changes hands, are over $20 a barrel. The basic OPEC price is $14.54 a barrel.

These higher prices on the spot market are behind Iran's decision to raise its prices 60 cents a barrel. effective May 15, to $17.17 a barrel for Iranian light and $16.64 a barrel for Iranian heavy.

'Market conditions demanded it," said an official of the National Iranian Oil Company who asked not to be

The price increase is another hint that OPEC will move in June to raise its base oil price, which is already up 14.5 percent since the end of last year.

Governors dusting off old plans

By CHARLOTTE PORTER

Associated Press Writer Governors dusted off plans drawn up during the 1973 Arab oil embargo as the U.S. House of Representatives rejected President Carter's proposal for standby gas rationing authority. Around the nation, officials kept a cautious eye on California should their states become the next to feel a gasoline pinch. "We have to be careful and all conservation measures should be actively pursued," Washington Gov.

Dixy Lee Ray said Thursday. Gov. Hugh Gallen said New Hampshire is reviewing a gas rationing system it readied in 1973 but never used. In the meantime, a 26 percent cost increase threatened to drain the State Police gasoline account before the end of the fiscal year.

Mrs. Ray said no acute gas shortages were expected in Washington, but if shortages became serious enough, "then it is possible for the government to make an emergency declaration and reassign gasoline to areas that may be in acute shortage situations. More than 63 percent of the stations in metropolitan Southern California were expected to close Saturday, according to the Southern California Auto Club, which predicted closings would reach 92 percent Sunday, Officials made it clear that beginning Monday they would enforce the 12county gas purchasing program, ticketing motorists who don't abide by the Residents of Illinois will have less gasoline, diesel fuel and heating oil than usual during the next few months, said Gov. James Thompson, who asked residents to "respond, but not overreact." If voluntary conservation efforts fail, mandatory measures might be necessary, he said. Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton urged motorists to cut their consumption by 2 gallons a week and ordered state agencies under his jurisidiction to reduce gasoline consumption by 15 percent toward a goal of 5 percent statewide.

Indiana gas dealers were to meet with Gov. Otis Bowen today to discuss the state's plan to impose minimum gas purchase requirements — thus preventing motorists from topping off their tanks with small amounts of gasoline — if long lines develop at the Maine Gov. Joseph Brennan called for "aggressive voluntary conservation measures.'

Massachusetts officials were considering an allocation system for holiday weekends. A final decision will depend on the gas supply as Memorial Day nears. Tennessee Energy Director Ed

Spitzer said there was confusion over what would be required. "Until we know how much we have to conserve and what we are supposed to do, we can't do much," he said.

In Michigan, a special task force worked on energy plans that could include strict enforcement of the 55 mph speed limit.

Carter will begin phasing out federal oil-price controls June 1. Schlesinger went before the committee seeking support for Carter's proposed new tax to take away some of the windfall revenue that will flow to the oil companies after decontrol. The committee planned to hear today from Charles L. Schultze, Carter's chief economic adviser, on the economic effects of decontrol.

Rep. Ed Jenkins, D-Ga., told Schlesinger many Americans strongly suspect the current scattered shortage of gasoline is a deliberate effort by the oil companies to hold down production until decontrol begins and the maximum allowable price of oil is raised. We have no such evidence,'

Schlesinger replied. He added that as oil imports from Iran continue to climb toward normal levels, refinery output should increase. The Energy Department bill monitor the refineries and "if they are too conservative, we will take action," he promised.

The Carter administration contends controls have held the price of U.S.produced oil artificially low in comparison with oil from the rest of the world and has contributed to a 30 percent decline in the value of the dollar abroad.

Schlesinger estimated that removal of controls will raise the price of gasoline five-to-seven cents a gallon by 1981 and will cause an overall increase in inflation of about 0.3 per-

But the alternative would be worse, he told the committee. The decline of the dollar over the last few years "has cost the average American family many times over the modest cost of phased decontrol," Schlesinger said.

Carter's plan has come under attack from friends of the industry, who say oil companies should be allowed to use the windfall revenues however they want, and from liberals, who want to continue controls indefinitely in an effort to hold down prices.

The Treasury Department estimates removal of price controls will increase oil-company revenues in 1979 through 1981 by a total of $15.4 billion. After existing state and local taxes. federal income taxes and payments to owner of oil lands are subtracted, the oil companies would be left with $8 billion. Carter's proposed tax would take $2 billion of that $8 billion and use the money to help the poor pay oheir fuel bills, to aid mass transit and to finance development of new energy

Meanwhile, White House press secretary Jody Powell indicated Thursday Carter would be reluctant to sign any legislation reimposing oil price

Texaco stakes stepout to Midland discovery

Texaco Inc., operating from Midland, has announced location for a confirmation test in the recently opened Bradford Ranch (Atoka oil) pool 11 miles southeast of Midland.

The new project, No. 2-AB Midland Fee, is scheduled for an 11,300-foot bottom and is 1,980 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 7, block 38, T-3-S, T&P survey and 5/8 mile northeast of the discovery well,

Texaco No. 1-AB Midland Fee. The discovery was completed in January for a daily flowing potential of 263 barrels of 45.7-gravity oil and nine barrels of water, through perforations from 11,154 to 11,221 feet. The flow was gauged through an 11/64inch choke and the gas-oil ratio on the potential test was 468-1. The discovery was drilled to 13,402 feet and 5.5-inch casing was cemented at 12,720 feet. Hole is plugged back to 12,278 feet.

The Bradford field is two and threequarter miles northwest of the depleted Sto-Will (Fusselman) field and 3.5 miles west of the depleted Azalea,

Stock market gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market inched higher today despite several reports by influential business organizations predicting a recession during the second half of 1979.

At noon, with losers about even with gainers among New York Stock Exchangelisted issues, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up .86 at 829.78. NYSE volume rose to 11.13 million shares in the first two hours of trading from 10.22 million at noon Thursday.

The Business Council, composed of top corporate executives, predicted a brief recession would strike during the second half. But Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal said the Carter administration still expects a recession will be avoided.

Citibank said a recession will begin "in the next few months." The downturn will be "distinctly worse" than those of 1960 or 1970, but "not nearly as bad" as the recession of 1973-1975, it said. Sears, Roebuck led the NYSE most-actives and was unchanged at 191/4. A 269,600share block changed hands at that price. Electronics issues were higher, with Texas Instruments gaining 1/4 to 80 and National Semiconductor up 1/4 at 201/2. Union Oil lost 11/2 to 66 and British Petroleum dropped % to 231/4.

General Public Utilities dropped 1/8 to 9. The Three Mile Island nuclear power complex owner lost a bid for higher rates in Pennsylvania.

Among gaming industry issues, Bally added ¾ to 63½, while Resorts Internatonal class A rose % to 381/2 on the American Stock Exchange. Auto Train gained 1% to 6 on the Amex. The company transports cars and drivers by train between Florida and the North, and said business has gained due to the current gasoline short-

The NYSE's composite common-stock index fell .02 to 55.43; the American Stock Exchange's market value index rose .63 to 176.32.

BUSINESS MIRROR How to make that million through housing

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Housing is an investment you can live in, that requires little money down, that appreciates faster than the inflation rate, that provides tax deductions and, in a way, a savings

You have heard it over and over, and you listen again. Authors and lecturers, such as William Nickerson, Albert Lowry and Mark Haroldsen, grow rich on the word. Your neighbor too might have a story to

Their activity is helping to produce a new class of entrepreneurial real estate operator, the middle-in-come, actively employed individual who makes a second income from owning and operating rental

Nickerson, Lowry and Haroldsen all claim to have made millions in real estate, altough it is difficult to differentiate between income from books, articles and lectures and purely real estate activities.

WHATEVER, THEIR PERSONAL experiences lend credibility. They inspire audiences with the message "you too can do it." They remind their listeners that they too once struggled to make ends

The three, operating independently, are one aspect of a housing phenomenon in which more than 5 million units, new and used, changed owners in 1978, year in which prices rose more than 10 percent. All preach the beauty of buying undervalued properties, improving them, and perhaps raising rents. They praise inflation to the extent housing prices exceed general plice rises. They extol tax benefits. The story varies in the telling, but the message generally is the same. An example might go like

You spot a two-unit income property selling for $38,000. You are attracted by the basic soundness of the house. Just a little paint and minor landscaping, you observe, would greatly improve it's appear-

You use the cosmetically poor appearance as an excuse for offering only $28,000. You bargain, and settle for $32,000. Already you are ahead; you'll only have to spend $3,000 to improve the appearance.

THE BANK OFFERS an 80 percent mortgage, which means you put down 20 percent, or $7,000, on the $35,000 combined purchase and improvement price. (Sometimes the seller is even asked for a second mortgage).

The existing rents are $250 for each apartment, which adds up to $6,000 a year, or about one-sixth the purchase price. More commonly stated, the purchase price is six times the rentroll.

You improve the property; you will not settle for six times. You raise the rents to $275 each, or $550 a month or $6,600 a year. Now the multiple is down close to five. No question: You will cover your

Just as importantly, you will have raised the market price. Houses in the area sell for about seven times the rentroll. That would mean your house's resale value is now $46,200. Agreed, you'd have to bargain hard to get it, but negotiating is one of the arts you're developing. Forget the rent multiple for a moment. There are other ways to figure your growing estate. Consider that inflation might be adding 10 percent a year (it was 12.1 for existing homes in 1978) to market

REALIZING THAT consumer price inflation last rear was 9 percent, you might scoff at seeing the value of your house rise by only 1 percent more. Yes, but that 10 percent is on the total price of $35,000. A 10 percent gain on $35,000 means $3,500 in current dollars is added to your estate. But since you put up only $7,000, your yield is figured on that basis. Before nterest payments, it comes to 50 percent.

Since you're borrowing at 10.5 percent, you have some hefty interest payments to make, which effectively cut into your yield. But remember: Uncle Sam finances debt; it's tax deductible. And so is depreciation. Add the cash flow (excess of rental income over operating costs) and the appreciation, and the equity buildup, and the tax deductions, and you have a return many times what you could get from a savings account. Can it be done? It is being done. Can you do it? That's a different question. Timing and luck play roles. Judgment too. Handiness, free time, common sense, and credit-worthiness are involved. And

THAT "MORE" IS probably indefinable. The fact is that many people cannot do it, for any of a thousand reasons: they are not willing to take the risks or spend the time, or they just haven't the

Policy explained on Chap Center use

Midland College officials today explained the school's position on use of the Chaparral Center facilities in regard to rock groups, as well as the use of the facilities for other events.

Dr. Al G. Langford, speaking at a news conference in the Administration Building, said the college supports the "fair and impartial enforcement of the the laws of this community, this state, and this na-

"We don't want any marijuana smoking in the Chaparral Center," Langford said as he re-emphasized that the college wants to cooperate with local

The center has no way of controlling which groups appear at the center, Langford said. "The United States Supreme Court has ruled several times that public facilities, such as the Chaparral Center, may not deny the use of the building for any group which wishes to use the building, provided that it is

The exclusion of rock groups from playing at the center because of a higher incidence of marijuana smoking at some of these events would not be possible, even if the college wished to take such action because of the rulings, he said.

"Our college attorney... has advised that selective discrimination regarding those who would use the building would subject the college to legal action," Langford said.

oppose Udall bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - Hunting for sport has emerged as a major issue in debate on Alaska land-preservation legislation, with the National Rifle Association and other pro-hunting groups joining oil producers and other businessmen fighting an administrationbacked bill.

The NRA and other groups such as the National Outdoor Coalition and Safari Club International have lined up against the bill managed by Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., and backed by national conservation organizations and the Carter administration.

The pro-hunting groups have joined oil, mining and timber companies and Alaska Gov. Jay Hammond in supporting Alaska lands legislation managed by Rep. John Breaux, D-La., and John Dingell, D-

A close race had been predicted in Austria, with the Socialists possibly losing their small parliamentary majority. Instead, Kreisky's party increased its majority, extending its record-breaking, nine-year rule another four years. In France, what newspapers called a "leftist push" in regional elections in March confirmed the Socialists as the country's largest party. They won more than 550 of the 1,846 contested seats, while the Communists gained more than 30 for a total of 225. The three parties that make up President Valery Giscard d'Estaing's center-right coalition government still outdrew the leftists, winning about 900 seats to the leftists' 775 plus. But the left-wing push took a total of 156 seats from the three government parties, including 62 from the president's Union for

French Democracy. Spain's Socialists and Communists scored major victories on April 3 in their country's first municipal elections in 48 years, winning control of the biggest cities. But Prime Minister Adolfo Suarez's party, the Union of the Democratic Center, won the biggest nationwide total of city council seats. Leftists combined to elect Socialist mayors in the eight biggest cities, including Madrid, Barcelona and Valencia, and also in 26 of the country's 52 provincial capitals.

The leftist successes were the first since the death of dictator Francisco Franco 31/2 years ago and came a month after Suarez defeated a Socialist bid for power in national elections. Suarez's party won a total of 29,614 city council seats, the Socialists 12,220, the Communists 3,608, the

McCowan, Ochsner named top Lee athletes

By RICHARD VINCENT Sports Writer

Track and football star Jeff McCowan and volleyball standout Julie Ochsner Thursday night were tabbed as Midland Lee's outstanding athletes during the school's spring sports banquet at the Lee cafeteria. McCowan, a stalwart behind one of Lee's most successful cinder squads, is a three-year track letterwinner and also owns three football monograms. The Texas Tech-bound youngster copped the district and region shot put titles and will be at Ochsner was a three-year voilleyball letterwinner, District 5-4A most valuable player, a member of the Coaches' All-Steir team and a member of National Honor Society.

Track coach Sam Volpe, the Rebel sprint relay, mile relay and McCowan had to leave the dinner early to make the journey to Austin. But before they departed, Volpe had some kind words for his thinclads.

"This is probably the best track team we've had at Lee High School," he told the large gathering, adding that the Rebels this year were first in district, second in region, score d the most points and recorded the most wins of any Lee outfit and set four new school records.

Volpe also presented letters to five members of the school's cross-country cam.

In girl's track, coach Linda Weikel awarded letters to three members of her crew

Paul Stueckler handed out awards to his boy's basketball team. Special honors went to Eric Thompson, the Happy Warrior recipient, David Hatfield, best defender, and Tyler Alcorn, Bruce Crawford and Mike McGaha, named to the Rebel basketball honor roll

Swimming coach David Whytlaw, whose girl's and boy's teams both had good seasons. presented Carey Carrens with the Janice Ottman Award as the outstanding senior swimmer.

Girl's basketball coach Shirley Stephenson, whose unit won their second consecutive district crown, said she was quite pleased with her team's season. She told the audience one of the brightest spots in the season was that in 32 of 36 games, every available team member played.

Although Weikel said her volleyballers "didn't start too well," she said she was satisfied with the team's 16-15 finish. Ernie Johnson's baseball team, 20-10 for the campaign and 6-1 in the second half of district, "showed great improvement in the second half." And another Rebel team that showed late improvement was Paula Ferguson's girl golfers. They stormed to second in district; capping what Ferguson termed a "very good year."

Boy's golf coach Tim Peden said his team's season "left a little to be desired," but expressed pleasure with the squad's efforts.

Tennis coach Bobby Connell.

although expressing pleasure with this year, is looking forward to coming seasons, especially with only five of 15 letterwinners graduating.

Good futures also appear in the offing for the boy's and girl's gymnastics teams, coached by John and Darlene Hicks. Each had good showings this year and more of the same is expected

The Lee Booster Club named Scotty Alcorn the number one sports booster and also presented special awards to Stephenson and Volpe, for directing district champion teams especially in the first 10 minutes of overtime," Lambert said. "We got a little momentum going in the third period and we didn't want to lose it.

We knew that we had come back all night and we couldn't do it again in overtime. Then Tremblay put the pass right on the blade of my stick."

Boston's Rick Middleton and Le-

Boston in sudden death overtime to advance to NHL's Stanley Cup finals against New York Rangers. (AP Laserphoto)

Canadiens battle back to win, 5-4

MONTREAL (AP) - Larry Robinson, the Montreal Canadiens' All-Star defenseman, just didn't feel ready for an early summer. Neither did Guy-Lafleur, Jacques Lemaire and Yvon

Trailing 3-1 after two periods, the Canadiens fought back to tie the count, rally again from a 4-3 deficit and go on to edge the Bos ton Bruins 5-4 Thursday on Lambert's goal at 9:33 of overtime. Lambert steered in a pass from Mario Tremblay, then was buried by jubilant teammates in a pile-on as the Canadiens captured the deciding seventh game of a tough National Hockey League semifinal. Now the Canadiens, who were less than two minutes away from elimination, get a shot at the surprising New York Rangers and a chance for a fourth consecutive Stanley Cup championship.

"When we were down 3-1, I knew that if we didn't go out and work our butts off, it was going to be an early summer," Robinson said. "I didn't feel ready for an early summer. If you don't give your all here, you're on holiday. You just can't can't say die until the last second.

"Are we tired? We've got nothing to be tired about. At the most, we have seven games left. And that's for all the money. It would be a shame to throw it out the window."

THE CANADIENS outshot the Bruins 52-30, not counting all the drives that were just off the net, but were frustrated repeatedly by Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert..

Three Montreal goals were scored on power plays, the last by Lafleur' with 1:14-left in regulation after the Bruins were penalized for having too many men on the ice.

"On the penalty, I'll take the blame," said Bostom Coach Don Cherry, whose contract now expires. "It was my fault. We played as best we could. A lot of our guys played a super game. It was a tough one to lose. I feel like crying for my players."

"This game was for the Cup, as far as I'm concerned," said Gilbert. "I said before the game whoever wins is going to win the Cup. I still think other drivers were predicting what it will take to win the pole position in Saturday's opening day of qualifications for the Indianapolis 500, crafty A.J. Foyt Jr. was doing his thinking on the track.

Foyt, who wasn't among 27 drivers in a survey that indicated it will take 191-plus mph to sit on the pole, cranked out the hot lap at 194.890 mph on the 21-2 mile oval. It was the second straight day that Foyt, 44, took high speed honors.

FOYT, THE only man to win here four times, had a 194.007 on Wednesday - his first day on the track this

The drivers' survey predicted a four-lap average speed between 188.9 mph and 194.7 to win the pole, the inside spot on the front row that goes to the fastest driver on the first day of qualifications.

That speed would be about 11 mph hour slower than the record 202.156 by Tom Sneva in 1978 when he won the pole for a second straight year.

However, slower speeds are exected this year due to a decision by the U.S. Auto Club to lower the allowable manifold pressure to 50 inches for the bigger eight-cylinder engines which have dominated the race in recent years. "You're running with a lot less horsepower, so it makes sense that you're going to be going slower," said Sneva, who is struggling this year in the mid-180s range in his effort to become the first driver to win the pole three straight years.

ONLY FIVE drivers have topped 190 in the first six days of practice. Rick Mears, who started on the front row as a rookie in 1978, has been in that club three straight day, with a top of 193.5.

Defending champion Al Unser, a three-time winner here who swept last year's three 500 mile events, had a 193.382 Wednesday.

Danny Ongais, joined the select group with a 193.133 Thursday, and two-time Indy 500 winner Johnny Rutherford posted a 191.083 in a Thursday workout.

The driver's survey also predicted a four-lap average of 178.317 mph to make the 33-car race race. Last year it took 187.266.

So far this year, 29 cars have been above 180 in practice.

Cubs increase TL lead to three games

Midland Cubs opened the season here and lost six straight games. Today they left the Alamo City feeling fully avenged.

Midland came into San Antonio last Sunday a game behind the Dodgers in the Texas League West Division and departed three games in front after winning five of the six games. The Cubs completed the job Thursday night as Vinnie Valentini survived a rocky first inning and then settled down to hold the Dodgers in check as Midland rocked the Dodgers' ace Mark Nipp for a 9-4 victory before 1,268 fans.

Third baseman Mike Turgeon and centerfielder Carlos Lezcano were the ringleaders of the Cubs' 11-hit batting attack with two hits each

San Antonio jumped on Valentini, now 2-1, for three first inning runs as Mike Wilson singled and Gary Weiss walked. Myron White batted in one run with a singled and Mike Zouras doubled home two more. "I was overstriding in the first inning," Valentini said. "When I do, my arm goes out and the ball tends to go high. However, once I got past the first inning I was in control. The only other threat mustered by the Dodgers against Valentini came in the sixth when Ron Roenicke singled, went to third on an error by second baseman Dan Rohn and scored on Zouras' grounder.

Turgeon got Midland's offense off the ground in the second when he spiked a 375 foot homer to left, his third of the year. The Cubs added another in the fourth when Eric Grandy walked and came around on singles by Jim Tracy and Brian Rosinski. That made it 3-2 and the Cubs broke it open in the fifth.

Bill Hayes led off the big inning with a single off third baseman Jim Del Vecchio's glove. Rohn followed with a hit and then Lezcano, who went 12 for 27 during the series, singled home a run. Jared Martin's sacrifice fly plated another tally and Lezcano stole third and scored on a wild pitch. Grandy then doubled to center and Tracy was safe on Del Vecchio's error. Grandy and Tracy then negotiated a double steal, Grandy sliding into third and continuing home when catcher Jesse Baez' throw wound up in center. Turgeon then singled the run home

The Cubs' weren't through yet. In the sixth, Rohn bounced back to the box and wound up on third when pitcher Augie-Ruiz' throw wound up in right. He then scored on Lezcano's grounder to second. In the seventh,

SAN ANTONIO-A year ago, the Grandy walked, Tracy beat out an infield hit, but Grandy was picked off second base. Turgeon grounded out and then Rosinski was forced to leave the game after being hit by a Ruiz pitch, but Javier Fierro singled to get the run in.

Despite the impressive sweep, Cubs Manager Randy Hundley wasn't taking anything for granted as Midland headed for El Paso today. "There's still a long way to go. We are an aggressive type club and all I've asked them to do is hustle and give me all they've got, and they've been doing that.

"We received super pitching in this series and the kind of defense that is necessary if you are to get good pitch-

Hundley said Rosinski suffered a bruised shoulder and, although he was removed from the game, "I don't expect him to miss any playing time. Shortstop Jesus Alfaro also should be ready to go tonight. he wasn't feeling right and didn't think he was helping the club, so he sat out a few games. However, Fierro has been playing outstanding baseball, so it hasn't hurt us. Mike Allen (the Cubs' relief pitcher who snapped something in his arm earlier in the series) is okay.

Valentini's win over the Dodgers was his second complete game of the series. He blanked San Antonio, 6-0,

Spurs' Doug Moe hopes for big lead

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - San Antonio Coach Doug Moe says he hopes the Washington Bullets will allow the Spurs to race to a big lead tonight so Bullets Coach Dick Motta can test one of his theories.

"I've never seen San Antonio really hold the lead in the big pressure games," Motta said as the Bullets practiced here Thursday in preparation for Friday night's fourth game of the NBA Eastern Conference championship series.

The defending NBA champion Bullets are down 2-1 after a late rally fell short here Wednesday night and the Spurs held on for a 116-114 win. The Spurs had led by as many as 14 points midway through the fourth quarter.

Motta was on hand here in the previous series when the Spurs blew an 18-point second quarter lead before beating Philadelphia in the seventh game. The Washington coach says the Spurs get a "rattled look" in their eyes when they run to a big early lead. That "look," Motta says, usually leads to a Spur scoring draught.

But Moe doesn't put much stock in the "look" theory. "I hope he gets a chance to prove he's right. We want to be in that position," he said. "It was encouraging that we lost the (14-point) lead but we didn't lose the game. I'll be glad togive them a shot at coming back again. . . If they'll be nice enough to let us win again."

Motta was not pleased with the big lead the Spurs mounted Wednesday night. But he said the Bullets apparently needed the shock of a big deficit to wake

Kern, who once toiled at Cubs Stadium as a member of the Cleveland Texas League farm at San Antonio, says major league baseball away from the field just isn't all that glamorous, at least, not when you are on the road. "You read seven papers and don't remember a thing. You drink 140 cubs of coffee and hit the john after every 30th cup. If you can, you sleep...it's easier than thinking. Then maybe you go to a shopping mall and get lost. This life drives you crazy. I should know. It drove me crazy two years ago and I never recovered."...

But the pro football player is almost always through by that age, and then he goes from earning maybe $100,000 a year, maybe more, to maybe nothing. What's he prepared to do? Very little"...

APPARENTLY the gal reporter who covers San Antonio baseball games isn't bothering the Midland Cubs that much. The Dodgers have no restrictions on clubhouse admittance after the game. When the Dodgers were here, they commented, "She comes right in the dressing room and it doesn't seem to bother her if the guys are just coming out of the shower. And the guys just go about their business of getting dressed as usual."...Probably the same lass who was responsible for altering the postgame interviews at Dallas Cowboys games last fall. The Cowboys' management made arrangements to preserve the players privacy by setting up a special interview room...

Lee Smith, 2-1, has to qualify as the Cubs Hardluck pitcher of the still young Texas League season. Sure, he has won two, but he went out of games ahead in two instances only to have the opposition tie it against releivers. And in San Antonio, he was ahead 6-2 in the fifth, after four innings of shutout ball. When he walked the bases loaded with two out and was lifted in a game the Cubs went on to win easily. He was one out away from getting credit for the win. Scoring rules dictate that the starting pitcher must go at least five innings to qualify for a win. That was the game in which Mike Allen, fast becoming the

AP Sports Writer For Andy Messersmith, all the numbers were wrong. The earned-run average was far too high and the batting average was a flat zero. Then the New York Mets showed Messersmith, in his second tour with Los Angeles, hadn't pitched a complete game in two years and a shutout in three. He was working on both Thursday night until Lee Mazzilli pounced on a fat sixth-inning fastball for a home run.

After the seventh inning, Messersmith was gone - but only for safety's sake. His numbers were impressive: six hits allowed and four strikeouts chalked up on the mound and a pair of hits, including a two-run double, at

And the most impressive number was the score: Los Angeles 14. New

"I WAS VERY, very pleased and impressed with Andy," Dodgers Manager Tom Lasorda said of his righthander, trying to make a comeback with the Dodgers after suffering arm problems and a seriously separated shoulder during 1978's spring train-

'We're not going to take any chances with him 'cause of his arm,' Lasorda said. "We feel that it's getting stronger and stronger. We talked it over with him and figured it was best to get him out of there after seven.

"I'm still not 100 percent but I'm advancing every time out there," added Messersmith, whose ERA dropped a bit from 5.84 to 5.03 and whose batting average rose from :000

"I didn't throw as many fastballs tonight, although that one to Lee Mazzilli was fat and you'd think I'd have learned by now. But I'm improv-

Bill Russell led the Dodgers' assault against Craig Swan and three relievers with five runs batted in; two of them on a home run. It gave Russell 19 runs batted in this year. Ron Cey and Steve Yeager also homered for Los Angeles.

"Something's wrong if I'm leading the club in RBIs, but I'm happy about it," Russell said. "We've been getting the hits, but not at the right time. We bunched 'em up tonight.

"I thought Swan had good stuff, but the harder he threw, the harder they hit the ball," said Joe Torre, manager of the Mets. "I guess the Dodgers were due. They went through a dry spell and took it out on us.'

Expos 3, Giants 0 Rodney Scott displaced veteran Dave Cash as Montreal's second baseman because of his glove, not his bat. But against the Giants he hit his first home run in 718 at-bats (292 games) in the majors.

"It was a bonus," he said The homer came off rookie Phil Nastu. "He hung one to the smallest guy in the park," moaned Giants Manager Joe Altobelli. Meanwhile, Steve Rogers stymied San Francisco on three hits.

Phillies 3, Padres 2 Pitcher Nino Espinosa drove in a run, offsetting the fifth career homer of 40-year-old Padres hurler Gaylord Perry, as Philadelphia chalked up its 19th victory in the last 23 games and the seventh straight on the road.

Espinosa, who hit an RBI grounder in the second inning, scattered six hits before Ron Reed took over in the eighth. Pete Rose's double and Greg Luzinski's single drove in the Phils' other runs Cards 3, Astros 1 Keith Hernandez singled, Ted Simmons delivered an RBI double, then Simmons scored on George Hendrick's single in the seventh inning to help St.Louis beat J.R. Richard and hand the Astros their fifth loss in seven games.

Bob Sykes, who went the first 71-3 innings, Darold Knowles and Mark Littell combined on a five-hitter for

Reds 7, Cubs 7 (tie)

Homers by the Cubs' Barry Foote, Ted Sizemore and Dave Kingman and the Reds' Dave Concepcion highlighted the nine innings in Chicago that ended with the teams knotted 7-7.

The game was suspended - to be resumed when the Reds visit the Cubs again on July 23 — to let the Cubs catch a flight to Houston. Some angry fans outside Wrigley

Field demanded refunds, shouted obscenities and, in one case, smashed a window. Cincinnati Manager John McNamara said he, too, was disappointed about the suspension, "but there's not much you can do, is there?" he said.

Baughman guy to beat in shot

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - University of Houston shot put and discus expert Mark Baughman, whose occasion al hobby is shooting mice with a blowgun, says contrary to myth, weight men aren't flaky.

'I guess we're a little different from other track athletes because our event involves more emphasis on strength," the defending Southwest Conference discus cha mpion said. "But I don't think we're really

"It's just that the physical requirements set us apart from, say a long jumper or a distance run-

Baughm an hopes to set himself apart from the rest of the discus and shot put contenders beginning today in the 64th annual SWC track and field meet at Texas' Mernorial Stadium.

Baughman, the National Collegiate Athletic Association indo or national champion in the shot put, will try to beat off the challenges of Texas freshman Oskar Jakobsson of Iceland, and Texas A&M's Tim Scott in both shot put and discus events.

Several other individual struggles likely will spice the two-day track and field circus include a battle between sprinters Curtis Dickey of Texas A&M and Houston's Rich Edwards in the 100 meters; 800 meter leaders Bruce Gingrich of Rice and James Mays of Texas Tech and Doc King of Rice, trying for his third straight 100 meter hurdle title.

Baughman is almost as adept with his two-foot long blowgun as he is when he picks up a shot put or

Beyer discovers sure way to fame

By ANDREW BEYER The Washington Post

Some people spend their lives pursuing fame, or at least notoriety, without ever achieving their goal. In the last week, however, I have discovered a sure-fire tues. way to do it.

the place. You'll have every editorial writer in town making you a celebrity.

Last week, I wrote a column under the headline, "Trouble With Derby Is That It's Run in Kentucky, which was reprinted in the Louisville Courier-Journal. To judge from the reaction, you would think I with Spectacular Bid. The Courier-Journal ran a story quoting congressional reaction to my column. For days, the papers and the airwaves were filled with angry rebuttals.

One group of 671 Kentuckians living in the D.C. protest over the column (My boss says I must offset er goods . . . If our stores suffer by comparison, it you protest. this reaction by hustling up 671 starts).

I was called names I had never even heard before.

(Unaware that I was deficient in feck, I asked two of my most literate press-box colleagues, Newsa dictionary and read: "it can mean worthless, weak, ineffectual or irresponsible." Axthelm said,

'Well, he was four-for-four.") My principal complaint in the column had been that Kentucky racing is conducted principally for the benefit of insiders, while the interests of bettors go unprotected. Larceny and inside information abound at Keeneland and Churchill Downs. Unable to deny this criticism. Kentuckians reacted to it with embarrassing ignorance.

Courier-Journal columnist John Filiatreau wrote, 'Chicanery is part of the racing game. Anybody who thinks he's likely to get a fair proposition at the racetrack is a fool." Warren Buckler wrote in the Louisville Times. The fact is, of course, that horseracing is a consumer fraud everywhere.

Of course, horse-racing is not a consumer fraud everywhere. Most states do strive to keep the sport honest and protect bettors from being robbed too flagrantly. But the Kentuckians are so provincial that they will not look at the rest of the racing world and see it might contain some useful examples for them to follow.

It is this same sort of provincialism that enables Louisvillians to look at their shabby, boring city and think it is what a city is supposed to be like. And to react so heatedly to criticism of it.

I was utterly unprepared for the stridency of this reaction, coming as I do from Washington, a city that takes civic insults as a matter of course. We live in one of the greatest, most beautiful, most

It was an outpouring of the city's resentment of the nation's capital, which Van Cavett expressed articulately in the Louisville Times:

"Washington is the most prosperous company town that ever existed. Thanks to the taxpyers' generosity, the per-capita income there is almost had spat on the flag or committed suspicious acts $2,000 above the national average. And it's us peasants out here in the hinterlands that make it all biting the hand that feeds it. No city gouges its visitors quite so mercilessly as Louisville does during Derby week. Moderate hotel rooms soar toward $100 a night. Taxi fares are astronomical; innocents have reported spending as much as $48 for the short ride downtown from the airport. Host cities for other major events may friends, it is a very fat publication, stuffed with ads engage in similar practices — to a milder extent, of course. But Kentucky is the only place where they'll rob you and then call you feckless because

The key will be whether the Sonics show up for the game at the Kingdome mentally prepared to battle the Suns for a full 48 minutes. Lenny Wilkens, the Sonics coach, says his club appeared to be hesitant in Tuesday night's 100-91 loss to the Suns in Phoenix. That triumph was the Suns' second straight over:

Seattle and knotted the best-of-7 series at two games;

Early in the fourth quarter, when Phoenix brokes open Tuesday's game, Sonics forward Lonnie She! ton conceded, "We kind of went tight, we weren't relaxed and we weren't showing much poise."

The word "poise" and a suggested lack of such was a common phrase filtering through the Seattle locker room after the loss.

"We're not giving up," said Shelton. "We've fought our way back before." 'We're disappointed we didn't win one in Phoeni x, but we're not dying. We've won two games in a row in this series, too," Seattle center Jack Sikma said. Phoenix will be without starting center Alvan Adams, who remained at home with a sprained ankle sustained in the first quarter of Game 3. He is expected to be ready for Game 6 Sunday in Phoeni x. Rookie Joel Kramer has done a creditable job filling

Owens, still perpetual motion

BY WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) - Almost 43 years after surviving Adolf Hitler's snub and winning four gold medals in the Nazi Olympics in Berlin, Jesse Owens is still a man in perpetual motion.

More than any other personality, he has emerged as America's greatest symbol of the spirit of the Games. A vibrant, seemingly inexhaustible figure, he is patriot, preacher, ambassador, teacher, an inspiration for all of the hopeless, underprivileged kids of the world.

What makes Jesse run? 'I'm repaying my dues," the handsome black

Watson just a par away; Riedel scores another upset

Tom Watson, pursuing his third tournament victory of the year, was one par away from the first-round lead today in the $300,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic at Dallas. Rain halted the first round Thursday with 39 players, including Watson, still on the 6,993-yard Preston Trail layout. Larry Nelson was in the clubhouse with a 5-under-par 65, with George Burns at 66 and the trio of Brad Bryant, Lanny Wadkins and Morris Hatalsky at 67. Arnold Palmer was among a quartet at 68...

West Germany's Iris Riedel, who ousted secondseeded Virginia Wade in the first round, advanced to the quarter-finals of the $100,000 Italian Women's Championships Thursday by defeating Rosle Casals 6-4, 6-4. Yvonne Goolagong advanced to the quarterfinals by de-feating Lele Forcod 6-3, 6-0. In other secondround matches, fourthseeded Dianne Fromholtz of Australia beat Holland's Betty Stove 6-1, 6-2 and West Germany's Sylvia Hanika defeated Czechoslovakia's Renata Tomanova 6-2, 6-2...

The U.S. has become a second-rate power in international track and field and the future appears worse, says Villanova Coach Jumbo Elliott. "I feel that the other parts of the world certainly are increasing in track and field, because it is considered ... as a major sport. Any place in Europe you can go into a town of 20,000, and have a track meet, and the first thing you know they're drawing 40,000, Track and field and soccer are their major sports. For this thing we're having here on Saturday night (The Martin Luther King Games), I guarantee you in Europe there would be 50,000 in attendance.

"I don't think baseball is a motivational sport like football," Sullivan said. "You have a bat and if somebodý is throwing a ball you'd better be trying to hit it. I don't like the term fired up.

'I feel if you have a scholarship on baseball or golf or whatever you ought to be fired up."

The Bears, who finished third behind Texas and Arkansas in this year's SWC race, will try once again to pull the rug from under the favorites in this year's tournament, which begins today at Texas' Disch-Falk Field.

Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson doesn't see anyone as "I can't see where any one of those teams is weak

"There have been many feats which I consider superior to mine," Owens said modestly. "I don't think anyone will ever match Emil Zatopek's sweep of the 5,000 and 10,000 meters and marathon in 1952 or Al Oerter's gold medal discus throws in four successive Olympics. Mark Spitz's seven gold medals in swimming, all world records, is a feat almost defy-

'I regret that Mark, after returning home, was almost forgotten. The reason was his own fault. He failed to pay his dues. What an influence he could have had on kids if he had gone to settlement houses and public parks. You can't take something that doesn't belong to you. You have to pay the price."

Owens is now paying the price, although it appeared that after his great Olympic experience he might be doomed to anonymity. To meet economic needs, he went on tour and sold his talents for a pittance. He raced against a horse in Cuba. He led a dance band. He lost $25,000 as a Negro baseball promoter.

TODAY, OWENS is a successful businessman in Phoenix, Ariz. He is a member of the U.S. Olympic fund-raising committee. He serves on the board of the Salvation Army, Boy Scouts and Boys Club of America. He is constantly on the road, giving testiit will be three hours, 20 minutes." That cuts 10 'Most of the time I pick up my own tab," he said.

"I'm not General Motors or Ford. I'm just me."

OWENS SAID after he returned from Berlin, he was lionized, hailed as a hero for a couple of weeks and then virtually ignored.

"The people of Cleveland, my home, wanted to give me a house," he recalled. "I told them all I wanted was jobs for me and my brothers. I wanted to take care of my family with dignity.

"Then I had to go back to sitting in the rear of the bus. I couldn't eat in first class restaurants or register in first class hotels. It hurt."

Jesse said he always had confidence America would right itself. "In the 1930s, when Joe Louis and I came along, blacks in America had no image," he said. "Jack Johnson, the fighter, could have helped, but he tarnished the image. "Joe Louis and I sat down together and talked. We agreed that the only way to help our people was by deeds. We bled on both cheeks. But we lived in that vein. We didn't make waves. There was no scandal. We were called Uncle Toms. "Then, it was the only way. The Sixties - they

'Sky Trap' air feats amaze

By JERRY BUCK

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Even if you're not a regular Walt Disney fan, you may want to tune in to NBC on Sunday night just to enjoy the breathtaking aerial stunts and photography of "Sky Trap.

The movie from Disney studios is another nifty adventure about smuggling, and — would you believe it? — the contraband is heroin, certainly a first for Disney! The movie won't tax your brain, but it's not a bad way to Marc McClure plays a young sailplane pilot who is forced to smuggle the narcotics across the Mexican border in his glider. Patricia Crowley is his mother, who runs a flying service: Jim Hutton is one of her pilots, and Kitty Ruth is McClure's girlfriend.

Producer-director Jerome Courtland used his own silver and orange Blanik glider in the film, and flew some of the stunts himself. His son, Kit, also piloted the glider, but the heavy stunts were performed by veteran movie pilot Art Scholl ("The Great Waldo Pepper").

The scenes of the sailplane cavorting silently in the sky high above. California's Antelope Valley are eye-popping. Some of the stunts had never

Linda Gray, unlike "Dallas" counterpart Sue Ellen Ewing, enjoys a quiet life with her husband, two children, two horses, two dogs, two cats and three horses. (AP Laserphoto)

Linda Gray not much like TV role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - On television's "Dallas," Linda Gray lives on a ranch. In real life she also lives on a ranch. But that's about all Linda has in common with her fictional character. Sue Ellen Ewing, the adulterous, alcoholic wife of Larry Hagman's J.R.

Miss Gray lives on a three-acre ranch 40 miles north of Los Angeles with her husband, Ed Thrasher, and her two children; Jeff, 14, and Kelly, 12. There the Thrashers ride their horses, Dusty, Annie and Granger, romp with their dogs, Michael and Gunnar. or with their cats, Orange Oliver and Tigerlily.

"It's so totally unlike the Ewing empire," the actress says. "I think that's what keeps my sanity. I run around in cowboy boots and bluejeans - no silk dresses. We have a vegetable garden that has periodic crop failure. And we drive a '55 Ford pickup, CB

Miss Gray grew up in the shadow of the MGM studio, where she now works on "Dallas." She attended St. Ignatius School, opposite MGM's front gate, and after school she and her classmates would stand outside in their school uniforms and gather autographs.

She longed to be an actress, but her parents, and later her husband, opposed it. She compromised by becoming a model. One day her agent got a call for a tall, beautiful model. He sent her to see Ed Thrasher, an independent photographer and art director and former studio art director. They were married two

Miss Gray did TV commercials and took drama lessons, until her first break, a guest role in "Marcus Welby, M.D." She continued to do guest shots until Norman Lear selected her for the bizarre role of the transsexual, Linda Murkland, in "All That Glitters." She was in the TV movie "The Grass Is Always Greener Over the Septic Tank" and had a small part in "Fun with Dick and Jane."

Despite her new success, Linda prefers to live a quiet life far from the bright lights. She says, "It's my responsibility to keep things organized and to maintain some degree of normality between the family and my career.

ABC tops Nielsen ratings

NEW YORK (AP) - Bolstered by high ratings for shows featuring a rather odd trio of characters, "Mork and Mindy" and "Ike," ABC-TV swept to first place in the A.C. Nielsen Co.'s ratings for the 17th

An episode of "Mork and Mindy" at 8 p.m. EDT last Thursday grabbed first place in the ratings for the week ending May 6, and "Mork and Mindy" at 8: 30 the same night was tied for second with Parts I and III of "Ike," the network's three-part war years biography of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Part II of "Ike" was 15th in the ratings. Only two programs, the Miss U.S.A. beauty contest and "60 Minutes," both on CBS, stood between ABC and a clean sweep of Nielsen's first 15 places. ABC's heavy representation at the top added up to a rating for the week of 20.5. The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 20.5 percent of the homes in the country with television were tuned to ABC. The week's No. 1 show had a rating of 27.6. Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with TV, 27.6 percent saw at least part of the pro-

Dear Mrs. A.: It is a nedical dictum that any woman with one vagina one uterus, one tube, and one ovary may become pregnant. Obviously, I have no way of knowing what the physician told your friend. Sometimes a doctor may tell a patient that it is "unlikely" she can become pregnant, and she will interpret this remark to mean that she 'cannot'' become pregnant. Busy physicians sometimes assume their atients understand more than they actually do. A gynecologist may rroneously believe that patient knows how to use a diaphragm properly, or understands he proper use of oral contraceptives. In such cases, too, unwanted pregnancies may result. ### TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF HUMAN RESOURCES PROPOSED TITLE XX SOCIAL SERVICES PLAN

Public Comment Invited May 11 June 25

The proposed 1980 social services program for Texas residents has been prepared by the Texas Department of Human Resources in cooperation with citizens throughout the

Comprehensive Annual Services Program Plan for Texas (CASPP)

October 1, 1979 to September 30, 1980

The Texas social services program helps residents support and take care of themselves; adjust to independent living, and offers them protective care SERVICES OFFERED - The services include day care and protective services for children, services for adults (including homemaker and chore services, and family care for aged and disabled persons), family planning, and employment services.

Most of the services will be available throughout Texas, but some may be limited by available funds. Some services may be expanded as funds become available.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE? - Recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), Supplemental Security Income (SSI), are eligible for services. Some services will be provided to people in need whose incomes are below 55 percent of the state's median income adjusted for family size. (For example, the monthly income must be less than $867.43 for a family of four.) Some services for aged. blind, and disabled adults will be provided to persons whose income is up to 80 percent of the state's median income. These income levels are described in the proposed plan.

Protective services and information and referral will be provided, egardless of a person's income.

Standards for Facilities Serving SSI Recipients

The plan includes information about standards for residential facilities (other than those certified for Medicare or Medicaid) which service SSI recipients. This includes the names and addresses of the standard-setting agencies which will respond to requests for information on: standards, their enforcement, waivers, and the identity of deficient facilities.

ESTIMATED FUNDS - Total budget for 1979-1980: $214,288,432. Sources: Federal $153,370,198; Non-federal

GETTING COPIES OF THE PLAN - The complete plan may be read or reviewed in the DHR offices listed below, or obtained at no cost by writing to the Title XX Information Center. (See address below.)

QUESTIONS AND COMMENTS - Questions about the plan can be directed to the DHR offices listed. Written comments are encouraged and should be sent to the Title XX Information Center, Texas Department of Human Resources, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, 78701. These must be received no later than 5 p.m. June 25. 1979. A suggested format for comments is included in the plan.

A public hearing on the proposed plan will be held at the John H. Reagan Building in Austin at 9 a.m. on June 12, 1979. Public hearings will also be held across the state during the comment period. For further information regarding the dates and places for these hearings, contact any of the offices listed below or write to the Title XX Information Center.

Addresses are for DHR offices. Where there are no offices, the address of the county judge is given.
