$1.5 million donated for cancer treatment center in Midland

A $1.5 million gift for construction of a cancer treatment center in Midland was announced today by officials of Midland Memorial Hospital and Helon Y. Allison.

Mrs. Allison donated funds for the Allison Permian Basin Center for Radiation Therapy, to be located at Midland Memorial Hospital and operated by the Midland County Hospital District, in memory of Mrs. Allison's husband, James N. Allison Sr., and son, James N. Allison Jr.

"The gift of this facility is my way of expressing my gratitude to the people of this area for their many kindneses to me and my family during the past 40 years," Mrs. Allison said today.

"I pray that the construction of the Allison Permian Basin Radiation Therapy Center will be approved by the proper authorities," she said. Construction on the one-story, 17,-

966 square foot structure on the southeast corner of the hospital's property, where a parking lot currently is located, is expected to begin Aug. 1, pending permission from the proper state

"The location of a fully equipped and staffed radiation and chemotherapy unit at Midland Memorial Hospital will reduce the expense and inconvenience of treatment for the people of this region, and enable our patients to have their treatment at home, in the midst of families and friends," Mrs. Allison said. The Allison family owned The Midland Reporter-Telegram many years before its sale to the Hearst Corp. earlier this year.

According to statistics from the Health Services Agency, during 1977, the last year statistics are available. more than 800 new cases of internal malignancies were diagnosed within the 17-county Permian Basin area. There is only one medical facility in the area with any radiation therapy facilities, so many patients are referred to distant hospitals, officials

Construction and equipment for the facility is expected to cost $1.7 million. Accrued interest from Mrs. Allison's $1.5 million gift is expected to provide the balance of the money needed by the time the project is completed

The facility is expected to be affiliated with The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston through a computer system. It also will be connected to the Texas Tech University School of Medicine and Health Sciences Center in Lubbock by way of a family practice residency training

Governors to get power to allocate gas supplies

By The Associated Press

President Carter, hoping to ease the summer gasoline squeeze, is giving governors new power to allocate the fuel in their states. But many governors say they don't need the emergency power and don't plan to use it

An executive order announced by Carter at a news conference Tuesday gives the governors of 17 states powers they now lack to manage gas sales and relieve long lines caused by shortages or panic buying. However, one of those governors, Otis Bowen of Indiana, complained: 'The president gave us no teeth to enforce this. And Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards, who already has special power to deal with fuel problems said: "What we need is not authority. What we need is fuel.' The executive order, which will ex-

Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbit said he welcomed the new authority as "a reaffirmation of states' rights," and promised to discuss any action he might take with legislative leaders."

Many governors said they would not use the new powers except in an emergency. Others said their lexislatures were preparing emergency authority plans.

The governors of Illinois, Indiana, Oregon and Idaho said voluntary conservation efforts were working well in their states, and Kansas Gov. John Carlin said the powers were not yet necessary

"Given the rate of consumption of gasoline in Kansas, it would seem unnecessary at this time to implement any of the alternatives outlined under the president's order," he

But Carlin called Carter's decision to give states more authority to deal with problems a wise one.

Housing association launched

Group has charter and approved by-laws

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

After several months of planning and preliminary work, Midland Housing Association is getting off the ground as a viable working group. complete with a charter as a non-profit corporation and by-laws already approved by the state.

Meeting Tuesday noon in Commercial Bank & Trust Co.'s Community Room, members of the organization explained the group's purpose as outlined in the charter to persons interested in housing. The group also solicited ideas from the audience as to possible solutions to a lack of housing in Midland.

Official office for the housing association will be at 1211 S. Garfield St. Membership in the organization costs $3 per person, and applications will be voted on by the association's board, it was announced.

With the four Midland County commissioners and the county judge and one city councilman - G. Thane Akins - and members of various agencies in attendance, the need for MHA was outlined.

Dr. Viola Coleman, a member of the organization, said she has lived in Midland since 1951 and there has been a lot of talk since then about housing groups. But there has been "little done to alleviate the problem with low income housing," she said.

SHE CITED AN example of 500 FHA houses which she said were offered to the city under a low-income housing program several years ago. She said the city government refused to take the homes

Dr. Coleman said the poor of Midland are on a "merry-go-round."

She said, "These people can't get loans (for homes) because their streets aren't paved. And the city won't pave the streets because the people can't afford to pay for it."

Some groups in Midland have worked on the problem, said Dr. Coleman, but she claimed those efforts have not begun to solve the need for more suitable housing for low-income residents.

'Those done by the Christmas-in-April program the first time around need to be done again," she told the

"UNFORTUNATELY, those homes had to meet standards before they could be worked on," he said. "A lot of homes don't come up to those standards."

Betty Sheeler outlined a Section 8 rental subsidy program under the Department of Housing and Urban Development for which Midland County is applying.

Ms. Sheeler and John Savage will work as volunteers to get that program under way. Office space has been donated by Casa de Amigos,

Ms. Sheeler said Odessa's rental assistance program has been termed "the most efficient Section 8 in the state of Texas. They've agreed to hold our hands while we get started."

Arden Grover, a member of MHA, said he is a director of a Chicago savings and loan institution which has a private financing program for housing. He said he is investigating Chicago's program to see if it could be adapted to Midland's needs, and indicated an effort could be made to solicit the support of all the city banks and savings and loan institutions in the Tall City.

"For it to work, the neighborhood must get behind it and work to make their area look better," he said.

He also suggested persuading city officials to change building code restrictions to enable those affected to

"WE (MHA) JUST didn't want to touch on federal funding," Grover said. "We wanted to pursue this other approach to see if we can get enough private funding. Then, if we don't, we'll look at federal funds." Ms. Sheeler pointed out that the MHA doesn't have enough money in its account yet to set up an office and install a telephone to get started on the rental subsidy program.

The association will have to wait until HUD funds are granted, she Gary Thurman, who headed up the Midland Commission for Local Community Development, refuted the reference to that group as "the mayor's commission.

He said he wondered, though, "about the politicizing of these sorts of things (housing). Unless the churches are involved, we're not going to make as much headway."

Dr. Robert Smith, senior minister at the First Presbyterian Church and a member of Thurman's committee, said there are many philanthropists in Midland "but you would be amazed at how many won't turn loose of their money.

'There are not sufficient private funds in this town for housing without federal funds," he added.

Smith attributed what he called a housing problem in Midland to a "wethey syndrome" in which some people "have their mind set that everything that has to do with federal government is bad. The federal government is not 'they'; it's 'us."

Areas in which MHA announced it is soliciting help include public relations; building code enforcement; tenant-landlord relations; house sharing; seeking of private funds; help from churches; government (state, local and federal) funding programs; liaison with local government, such as the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, and a liaison with other local agencies, including the Chamber of Com-

Carter said Tuesday he has signed an order giving governors authority to make gasoline stations remain open on weekends, to set minimum purchases and to institute an odd-even selling system.

"It's interesting that Mr. Carter decided that instead of him retaining all this authority in Washington and handing down from the mouth, so to speak, daily bulletins of what we should be doing, that he is now delegating this authority to various governors of the states," Clements added.

The governor said he was not contacted directly by the White House about the president's order but learned about it from news reports Legislation consolidating all executive branch energy offices into one department also conferred broader emergency powers to the governor during energy shortages, he said. "This is the first time we've ever had that authority," Clements said. The bill would allow governors to set up rationing plans, but Clements emphasized rationing would not be necessary. The White House said 19 states, including Texas, have not granted their governors emergency powers. "If I had to talk about the most important single thing about our supplies in Texas, it is that we are literally down approximately 20 percent from a year ago," he said. "This is not manufactured out of someone's imagination. No one is trying to rip anyone off."

But people might get the wrong impression

Everybody except Murray Fasken said they thought it was a good idea. Fasken, though, was dead set against it.

Midland College trustees Tuesday were anxious to rename the library on the campus the Murray L. Fasken Learning Resources Center. The honor should be bestowed because of Fasken's generosity in giving and raising gifts from others for the college and for his service as one of the original trustees of the college district, MC President Dr. Al Langford noted in making the suggestion.

Board President Jack Huff noted "there is no name in Midland that more deserves to be on that building than Fasken," and most of Fasken's

Fasken, however, demurred. "I would prefer that this not happen," he said. "Raising money is just part of my job as a trustee."

"Now, Murray," Trustee Reagan Legg interjected, "if you're going to stop giving to the college if we do (this), of course we'll drop it, but I really think it would be good for the college to have the Fasken name on Others joined in trying to persuade him, but Fasken stood firm.

Exam exemptions draws fire from many sides

By SUSAN TOTH

Exam exemptions in Midland - the policy that ties release from final tests to class attendance and conduct - has come under fire from parents. school board members and some teachers.

On the other side, students, teachers and most administrators strongly favor the practice.

The policy, designed to improve class attendance, allows high school students who have passing grades. have not missed more than four classes nor come in tardy more than three times in the quarter, "have an unmarred classroom conduct record," and parental permission the option to skip the final exam.

Proponents of the plan, including assistant principal Glenn Woods at Lee High School, say the option gives a teacher a positive way to reward students for class attendance and

"We try to stress positives in discipline here, and this is one way to do that," he said.

Clements helped teacher unions

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Texas president of the teachers union said Tuesday that Gov. Bill Clements had furthered unionization of teachers by holding their cost-of-living raises to 5.1 percent.

June Karp of Austin, president of the Texas Federation of Teachers. also said teachers should start working to pry additional increases from local school boards.

She called the pay raises voted by the Legislature - under threat of veto from Clements if they went higher than 5.1 percent annually - "mea-

"We know that there will be a great deal of 'loose' money in various districts because of increases in equalization money and compensatory education monies. Since Governor Clements' recalcitrant actions have left us with no choice, we will begin to collectively bargain with school districts for wages," Ms. Karp said

"In a way, Governor Clements has done what he didn't want to do, and that is further the unionization of teachers and educational workers 'So we thank him for that.

Talks resumed

AKRON, Ohio (AP) - Bargainers for the United Rubber Workers union and Uniroyal Inc. met for about three hours as contract talks resumed after 20 days of silence, but reported no progress

URW President Peter Bommarito said the bargainers Tuesday reviewed offers and counter-offers presented before the May 9 strike by 8,300 workers at 11 Uniroyal plants.

He said money and "some minor contractual provisions" still stand in the way of an agreement.

Opponents point out the policy connects academics with attendance. and feel students should not necessarily be rewarded for attending class something that should be expected of them anyway.

Many teachers in particular appreciate the policy's emphasis on conduct and timely arrival.

Ron Bolin, a Midland High School teacher, noted in comments to the school board that "tardies in my classes are much lower than when there was no exam option," and the requirement of an unmarred conduct record is "the best part of the poli-

"By letting the students know they will take the exam for conduct, I have found that my classes avoid things I have told them will result in their taking the exam. In short, the option provides a large deterrent to poor behavior in the classroom.

Not all teachers, however, agree the policy is the best idea.

MHS teacher Linda Tervooren said she feels the final exams are a better indicator of the student's work than daily assignments, and that collegebound students in particular need the training in taking the finals because in college, "it's the exam that matters, and if they have absolutely no training in taking those exams, it's going to hurt them then.

While she said she encourages students to take the final exams. "it doesn't do much good. If they don't have to take them, they don't."

Many parents, too, are firmly against the option, even though students must have signed parental permission before the exams can be

"I just have old-fashioned values, said Mrs. Vern Griffith, mother of two junior high school students and a former teacher.

She said she prefers instilling a sense of responsibility in students rather than using "final exams for Reverting to mandatory test-taking, she said, "is not taking away freedom, it is instilling values.

The exam exemption option, she said, is "a threat to teaching students the responsibility of desiring academic excellence. And if students desire academic excellence, they will desire excellence in other areas. You cannot separate learning from living.

The requirement of parental permission, some educators said, is another reason for parents being against the policy.

'It puts the parent on the spot. school board member Marshall McCrea noted during discussion before the policy was adopted. "If they want their kids to take the tests, all they have to do is stand up and say so. But that's hard to do.'

Students, in a random survey before exams started this week, seemed almost solidly in favor of the policy. Most agreed the exam exemption worked as a deterrent to the practice of skipping or coming late to class, "especially late in the quarter, when everybody's tired." "It keeps us in class and in line, one student noted, "because nobody likes to take finals.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Requiems would be premature for 17 state colleges that effectively lost their source of construction funds during the 1979 Legislature.

Lawmakers also refused to create a special fund from general tax revenues to replace money flowing to the universities from the 10-cent per $100 assessed valua-tion state property tax. It might sound bleak.

Zoning panel OKs shopping center plat

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

Preliminary plat of Midkiff Plaza Addition, submitted by Magnatex Corp., was approved Monday by the Planning and Zoning Commission, but only after the nine-member panel criticized the constraints placed upon them

The plan by Magnatex for a shopping center and buffer zone of single family residences and townhomes on 57.398 acres at the southeast corner of FM 868 and Midkiff Road was approved by the Midland City Council last week on its "concept." According to city regulations, the firm had to secure an approval by the planning commission before taking the plat to the council.

Craig Eaton with an urban planning firm in Dalias explained the plat, noting that Tealwood Street, which will run in front of the row of townhouses, is closed at the end next to Midkiff Drive.

This general plan the neighborhood felt it could live with and feel comfortable with," Eaton said. Richard Hennessy, director of planning and community development for the city, said his department had recommended to the City Council the street be opened on to Midkiff. But the council approved the concept according to what the neighbors and developer had agreed upon, and that agreement included closing the street.

Mrs. James Purvis, commission member, expressed her concern over who would be responsible have to provide sufficient parking "to be able to for maintenance of green areas in the buffer change a tire.

Then Chairman Robert Truitt Jr. questioned the few entry streets into the townhouse area in relation Highway also was recommended to the City Counto emergency situations, such as a fire. Other com- cil.

mission members suggested a "knock-down" fence be placed at the end of the street to facilitate fire truck or other emergency vehicle entry.

'We really don't have much to say on this (plat) since the City Council approved the concept," remarked Commissioner Mrs. William Sumner.

What's it even doing here?" questioned Giffert Alstrin, another commissioner. The plat was approved, 7-1, with clarifications on points in the staff report requested for the City Council meeting in June.

Before the vote, though, Truitt said if it had not been for the "constraints" placed on the commission he would not vote for the plat.

"I feel there are deficiencies with the plat." A zone change request by Bill Chappell from 1F-1, single family, to PD, planned district, on the southern corner of Anetta Street and Thomason Drive was approved on a 5-4 vote. Several members objected to request on the basis that granting it would set a precedent for spot zoning in that area. A request by Balie Griffith for a zone change on North Big Spring Street between Louisiana Avenue and Kansas Avenue from local retail to C-1, central area district, was recommended for approval by the commission A new Firestone store is planned for that land. The amount of parking the store would provide was questioned by the panel, but Martin Allday, the firm's representative, maintained the store would

Two men linked to 72 burglaries

Two Midland men charged in Amarillo with burglary have linked themselves to 72 local burglaries, accounting for approximately $56,400 in stolen goods, according to Sgt. Les Fine of the Midland police department.

Harold Wayne Mitchell and Alvin Joseph Burgess, both 19, told Midland police they were involved in a total of 72 burglaries of Midland homes between December and the first week of May, said Fine. The two were arrested in early 72 Midland burglaries, Fine said. Two indictments — one against each man - were returned by a Midland County Grand Jury on April 18, and a third indictment was returned April 25 against Mitchell. Fine said the indictments followed a long investigation by several divisions in the police department. Property with a value totaling $11,-025 has been recovered following arrest of the two men, said Fine. Police have information about the persons the two men allegedly sold other items to and today asked their help in aiding police in further recovery attempts, said Fine. The burglaries the two men linked themselves to were not confined to any particular area of town, said A significant drop in reported burglaries in Midland coincided with departure of the two men from Midland. Fine indicated.

Assault charges filed in shooting

Charges of aggravated assault were filed Tuesday against Curtis Stinnett, 17, 1709 N. Edwards St., in connection with the Monday shooting of Julius Kappler, 41, a chef at Midland Country Club.

Kappler was shot in the thigh after an argument between two men, sheriff's department officials said.

in the San Antonio area. Judge Adrian Spears, whose office is next to Wood's, had marshals in his outer rooms while a reporter interviewed him in his chambers. A phone call from Bell interrupted the interview. Spears' son, James, 28, was visiting relatives at a condominium across the street from Wood's apartment.

"I was the first one there. He was lying on his back he wasn't conscious. I took his pulse and felt nothing, nothing," James Spears said. Another eyewitness, who asked not to be identified, said "he just slowly wheeled around and fell to the James Spears said he called police and an emergency medical team and arrived at the scene at the same time as the judge's wife, Kathryn.

She ran to his side moments after the shooting and tried to comfort the unconscious judge, said James Spears. "She went inside their apartment and got a pillow for his head. She loosened his clothes. She was very bewildered, very upset."

Wood had been presiding over drug cases developed by the U.S. Attorney's office in San Antonio. They centered in El Paso, with a Midland grand jury also investigating.

One of the most publicized cases was that of El Paso resident Jimmy Chagra, a professional gambler charged with conspiracy to possess, import and distribute cocaine and marijuana.

Wood was to preside over Chagra's trial, due to start in Austin on July 23. The trial was postponed from Tues-

Bentsen may help pick successor to slain judge

Recommendation of a successor for U.S. District Judge John Wood Jr. will not come for several weeks, according to a spokesman for Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, who likely will play a major role in that selection.

Wood was shot and killed Tuesday outside his San Antonio apartment on his way to work. A Republican, he had been recommended for the post by U.S. Sen. John Tower in 1970 when Richard Nixon was president. In the past, whichever party is in the White House has the right to have a senator from the affected state make recommendations for federal judgeships. A spokesman in Bentsen's office said the senator already was considering filling two posts in the western district of Texas, which includes Midland. With Wood's death, the senator will need to add a third selection to his list.

One post was created when U.S. District Judge Adrian Spears of San Antonio announced recently he wanted to move up to senior status. The second opening came with the 1978 passage of the Omnibus Judgeship Act, which created a new post in this

"Bentsen will play a large role in the appointment of Wood's successor," said the spokesman. "But right now he has no one in mind."

Because Bentsen is a Democrat, his choices probably will be Democrats. "We hope to move in the next several weeks on these appointments," the spokesman added. About 40 FBI agents are being called in to investigate the shooting and search for the Wood's killer. An FBI agent stationed in Midland said today he has not been directed to participate in that investigation.

If the investigation does turn up matters in the Midland area though, the agent said, he would be involved and there would be additional agents sent to Midland.

The bullet tore through his abdomen, damaging vital organs and lodged in the upper right chest, said Frank Castillon, chief investigator for the medical examiner's office.

FBI spokesman David Cassens in Washington said the assassin probably used a small-caliber rifle.

Wood, 63, the second federal official involved in West Texas drug investigations to become the target of a shooting in the last seven months, was believed to be the first federal judge assassinated.

"I urge that you offer this maximum reward possible under the law to help assure that the assassin of Judge Wood feels the full force of the law," Bentsen said.

President Carter reacted to the assassination with anger, saying, "The killing of a federal judge...is an assault on our very system of justice." Three weeks ago, Wood requested

Twins, joined at head, separated in 16-hour surgery

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Siamese twins Lisa and Elisa Hansen, joined at the tops of their heads since birth 19 months ago, were successfully separated today in pioneering surgery that lasted more than 16 hours.

"It's done and it's a success. They're awake and crying," said John Dwan, spokesman for the University of Utah Medical Center. He said the twins were separated at 1:19 a.m. EDT.

He said the tops of the twins' heads were closed at 5:05 a.m. EDT. Two teams of surgeons, one for each twin, participated in the marathon opera-

Dwan said the twins were in "critical but stable condition and their prognosis is unknown."

The parents, David and Patricia Hansen of Ogden, were "very grateful and very tired," Dwan said. The Hansens and several close members of the family kept a vigil at the hospital during the surgery, which began that separation of this type had never before been completed successfully. Other attempts had ended in death or severe mental retardation, he said.

Asked if either of the twins may have suffered brain damage during the grueling surgery, Dwan declined comment. He said doctors would hold a news conference at 3 p.m. EDT

Newsmen were not allowed near the operating theater, but Dwan compared the lengthy, delicate operation to a ballet. He said the operating room was very noisy and very busy as up to 11 doctors conferred and worked

Before the operation, Minton had described Lisa and Elisa as healthy children who were perfectly normal, both physically and mentally, except for their being joined together.

During the surgery, Dwan said doctors — including neurosurgeons, plastic surgeons, anaesthesiologists and pediatricians - worked more slowly for a time because they encountered scar tissue from four previous operations which set the stage for final separation. However, he said doctors were able to accelerate their pace during other stages of the operation, which doctors was a slight indentation where Lisa's head stopped and Elisa's began.

The girls' parents said the decision to have them separated was difficult, but they felt it was their only alternative. They said they wanted the twins to have a normal life and get married like other girls.

When other babies their age were learning to crawl, Lisa and Elisa were too. One crawled forward, the other backward.

Before separation, they had also learned to roll sideways to get where they wanted to go. Their father said they learned early to cooperate to get

Control by diet possible

WASHINGTON (AP) - A fatty component of vegetable oil influences production of chemicals that affect blood pressure, a finding that could mean better control of hypertension through diet, says a government scientist. Dr. Norberta Schoene, a biochemist with the Agriculture Department, said Tuesday that rat studies indicate linoleic acid from oils in the diet may control the amount of certain prostaglandins in the body.

These hormone like prostaglandins, in turn, appear to exert some control over high blood pressure, a leading risk factor for heart disease and stroke. Prostaglandins are very potent, naturallyoccurring substances produced in varying amounts by almost every cell in the body. They help control such diverse functions as reproduction, blood clotting, muscle activity, blood vessel constriction and tissue inflammation. Linoleic acid is a polyunsaturated fat found in safflower, corn, sunflower, soybean and other vegetable oils. In a presentation to the Fourth International Prostaglandin Conference, being held here, Ms. Schoene and colleagues said linoleic acid influenced production of two prostaglandins made predominantly by the kidney, PGE-2 and PGF-

PGE-2 dilates, or enlarges, blood vessels, increasing blood flow and lowering pressure. PGF-2-alpha constricts blood vessels.

The scientist said it is unknown whether an increased level of PGE-2 was a key factor in holding down blood pressure in the animal tests, or whether a certain balance between the two prostaglandins is more important.

The study we did is the first to show you can change the ratios between PGE-2 and PGF-2alpha by varying fats in diet," Ms. Schoene said in an interview. "By extrapolation of these results to humans, we may be able to do a similar

However, Ms. Schoene cautioned that more research is needed on the prostaglandin-diet fat link before anyone makes dietary recommendations for humans

While doctors have recommended that people eat more unsaturated vegetable fats and less animal fats as a way of combating clogged blood vessels, some recent data indicates too much unsaturated fat may also pose some health prob-

'But it's possible that in the future there may be certain people who can lower their blood pressure by watching their diets, and by that I mean more than restricting salt, as is common now," Ms. Schoene said.

The animal studies used both normal rats and those with a genetic predisposition to high blood pressure. Both groups got diets containing zero to 10 percent

Brilliant insights

The world that Albert Einstein entered a century ago at Ulm. Germany, is light years from 1979 largely because of his incandescent genius.

Indeed, he was the prophet of the age of modern science - of engineering, nuclear physics and astronomy - that dawned with his birth. So brilliant were his theoretical insights, so advanced were they from conventional thought, that his fellow mortals, even his fellow scientists could not comprehend them at first. It was as though the God of the Universe had spoken through His prophet. providing mankind with a divine key to understanding the cosmos.

During the almost-quarter century since the death of Einstein, engineers and scientists have confirmed his inspired formulations and developed them into myriad miracles: unlockingthe atom, which gave birth to the nuclear age, revolutionary discoveries of an expanding universe with black holes and quasars, energized rays known as the laser beam, and even that wonderful medium, television. Much of modern physics grew out of Albert Einstein's brain - his theories are more relevant today than ever.

relativity first propounded in 1905 and expanded in 1916. Most simply expressed, it was that all things move in relation to each other and that energy has mass. Einstein reduced this to his famous formula, E equals mc2, which is to say energy equals mass times the speed of light squared - that energy and mass cannot be created or destroyed, only altered.

This elegantly simple equation revolutionized scientific thought because it overturned the two centuries-old law of gravitation expounded by Isaac Newton. It revealed a new universe to men.

The Twentieth Century that can boast an Einstein is shamed that its primitively savage politics should drive him from his native land into exile. And it is a glory of our country that he should find refuge, freedom, and tranquility here — this beguiling archetype of the absent-minded professor who spoke out quietly for peace among men and found solace in playing the violin.

The Einstein centennial has become a planetary celebration of commemorative stamps, monuments, articles, books and television programs — and not the least in the chastened land of Einstein's birth. It will be so, no doubt, a thousand years hence was the Einsteinian theory of and until the last generation.

U. S. conducts seal slaughter

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - The annual slaughter of seal pups off Newfoundland has drawn official condemnation from Congress as well as protests from environmentalists.

But what is not generally known and what sanctimonious members of Congress conveniently overlook - is the fact that the United States government runs a similarly bloody seal slaughter of its own each summer in the tiny Pribilof Islands of Alaska. Last year, federal employees clubbed and bled to death more than 25,000 seals from 2 to 6 years old on the barren islands of St. Paul and St. George. far out in the Bering Sea north of the Aleutian chain. The pelts bring upwards of $100 each. After processing in this country, most of the sealskins wind up in fur salons abroad. About 1 percent of the annual kill is used for Unfortunately, the program is as uneconomical as it is inhumane. Last year, according to internal Commerce Department documents, the operation ran almost $4 million in the red. The deficit was $3.3 million the year before, and $2.8 million in 1976.

This means that every Pribilof Island seal pelt that graces the back of a wealthy European woman cost the American taxpayers approxim ately $160.

Ironically, the Alaskan seal hunt. which weakens the U.S. government's lofty moral position with environmental groups and other nations, was born of a sincere effort to save the Northern Pacific Fur Seal from extinc-

In 1966, Congress passed legislation making the federal government responsible for the 650 Aleuts who live on the two tiny islands. The only livelihood open to them is the seal hunt and processing of pelts. This gives year-round employment to 35 residents and summertime work to about 150.

Basically, the Pribilof Islanders live in a welfare state - food, shelter and fuel are all provided by Uncle Sam. "Practically everything on the

The four-nation treaty, which requires the Russians and Americans to give part of their seal kills to Canada and Japan, expires next year. Pressure is growing to let the treaty lapse and return to open-sea seal hunting. Japanese fishermen complain, for example, that the seal herds are a threat to their operations.

Some U.S. officials believe the seals have reached their maximum numbers and feel the balance of nature can be maintained without the annual slaughter. # Republicans honor Rockefeller with memorial tribute

WASHINGTON - Republicans came to praise Nelson A. Rockefeller here last week because he was buried and they remembered the best parts of the man. For a decade or more, the right-wingers in the GOP used Nelson as a punching bag, only the bag often punched right back. Now that Rockefeller is dead, even his feisty opponents say kind words.

The more tolerant of them, say, a decent warrior like Barry Goldwater, never got vicious about Rockefeller anyway. At this "Memorial Tribute to Nelson A. Rockefeller," as the $1,000a-plate Republican Senate-House Dinner was billed, Goldwater got up to speak fondly of "Nelson, sitting up there on Cloud Nine, grinning and wishing he could be with us."

"I knew him as well as any human being, except his wife and his brothers," said Goldwater, who served as honorary chairman of the dinner. "We fought a lot, and we got along. He would have been a good President. He would never have allowed things to, happen to our country that have happened lately.

That's pretty good stuff from the man Rockefeller chased all over the Republic in 1964 in his hopeless, but courageous, battle to take the nomination away from him. Ronald Reagan was equally generous. "People would ask me: What could you possibly have in common with Rockefeller?" Reagan said, seemingly startled that he would have anything but cordial relations with a foe. "I answered that we had much in common - we were governors of large states with problems in the urban area, welfare and education. Nelson had a zest for ideas, and at every governors' conference he was the first to come into a meeting and the last to leave. We often sent staffers back and forth, to New York and California, to exchange ideas."

And so it went, speaker after speaker. Former President Gerald Ford observed that, "My vice president may be the best vice-president anybody ever had." Sens. Howard Baker and Bob Dole essayed on Rockefeller's 40 years in public life, and his tireless work for the GOP. Reps. Phil Crane and John Anderson offered their tributes, as did George Bush, king of the early Iowa polls. John Connally recalled a Rockefeller visit to his ranch last summer in warm terms and talked of the man's gusto.

But the most eloquent tribute came from Henry Kissinger, the dinner chairman, who is becoming a skillful political speaker in his own right.

The Nazis made Kissinger's early life sad. After he arrived in the United States, a series of beneficial men crossed his life, among them Rockefeller. So Kissinger is always deeply moved when he speaks of him.

"He was a true leader," Kissinger said in low voice, "not a register of public opinion polls. He knew it was the duty of a leader to look into the future. Blessed as he was, he felt he had an obligation to put before our people not their limits but their possibilities. He was American enough to see Utopia as the outline of an attainable future, and not, as in some other societies, the nostalgia for an irretrievable past.

'He was deeply convinced that this nation's future in freedom depends on the liberation of the talent of individuals, the unfettered human spirit, not on paternalism or stifling bureaucracy. In his study projects, his programs and his platforms, he rejected the slipshod, the opportunistic, the second-rate. He reminded us that the so-called realists produce stagnation, while the dreamers create reality; that every great achievement was a dream before someone of vision turned it into a reality." Kissinger also remarked that Rockefeller, were he alive today, would understand all the doubts about U.S. strength, our economy, our relations with the rest of the world, and would say: "What an exciting time in which

Without invoking Rockefeller, Kissinger took some swipes at President Carter, saying that he is "the first President demanding approval of a (SALT) treaty which doesn't exist vet. I understand he has plans for 67 new dams across the country. I guess

Then Kissinger told how Sen. Edward Kennedy went to great length to tell Carter what a great President, Democrat and American leader he was, only Carter replied: "Balon-

In introducing Happy Rockefeller to the crowd of 1,100, Kissinger said, "Nelson had the great fortune to live with a woman he loved very much and who loved him. And all of us who knew him were uplifted by their friendship and their devotion and by what we knew they meant to each

Thousands await new flights, other means of travel

By The Associated Press

Thousands of passengers scrambled for new flights or cooled their heels in airport lounges and hotels as a U.S. government-ordered grounding of all DC-10 jumbo jets disrupted world air travel.

Some DC-10s were called back in mid-flight Tuesday, and on the ground passengers were bused hundreds of miles to catch substitute flights or lodged overnight until an available seat turned up.

Sir Freddie Laker's Skytrain was derailed. It uses six DC-10s for its cheap-fare flights between England and the United States. Many took the inconvenience philosophically, mindful the inspections were prompted by the crash of an American Airlines DC-10 that killed at least 273 people in the nation's worst air disaster. 'It's better to be safe on the ground rather than go 'Oh! Oh!' in midair," said singer Pat Boone, who had a reservation for a DC-10 flight from New York to Los Angeles. The Federal Aviation Administration's decision to ground the three-engine jets pending new checks of their engine assemblies left about 40,000

DC-10 seats empty on U.S. carriers alone — about 12 percent of domestic capacity, the industry estimated. The order followed discovery of "grave and potentially dangerous deficiencies" in the engine assemblies. An engine fell off the ill-fated American plane on Friday. Eight U.S. carriers have 134 DC-10s in operation. Foreign airlines have at least that many, and while they were not bound by the FAA order, many grounded their jets. Joseph Scott, an American spokesman in Chicago, estimated about 17,-000 persons nationwide were bumped from DC-10s. About 3,200 persons were bumped in Chicago, he said. At O'Hare International Airport, the scene of Friday's tragedy, about 300 people were bused to Detroit or Indianapolis for other flights, Scott

In Los Angeles, frantic passengers dashed from counter to counter and argued with ticket clerks as airlines tried to juggle routes and planes to make up for the temporary loss of the wide-body planes.

Long lines were also reported in Miami and Philadelphia "Most of the people understand we are doing it for their safety," said United Airlines worker Cecilia Clement in Philadelphia. "We'd rather be

Across the Atlantic, about 1,000 people were held up in London's Gatwick Airport after Britain's Civil Aviation Authority grounded all nine

American-built DC-10s flown by British carriers. The travelers stretched out in lounges normally used only for heavy summer traffic that were opened while the fate of the DC-10 flights was being decided. Hundreds were later put up in airport hotels.

Laker Airlines, which offers the lowest-priced regularly scheduled flights between England and the United States, called back to London two U.S.-bound DC-10s in midair - one en route to Los Angeles, the other to

Along with American, United and Western, the U.S. airlines that fly DC-10s are: Continental, National, Northwest Orient, World and Trans International. Most substituted other planes where possible, and urged travelers to check their flight schedules.

Other foreign airlines which reported voluntarily grounding their DC-10 fleets for safety inspection were Swissair, Scandinavian Airlines Systems, The Royal Dutch Airline KLM, Venezuela's VIASA, Italy's Alitalia, Germany's Lufthansa, and Japan Air Lines.

FAA administrator Langhorne Bond, who ordered the DC-10s grounded, said the order would remain in effect until all of the engine assemblies could be inspected. He said he could not estimate how long it would take, but said it could keep the fleet grounded only two or three

McDonnell Douglas, which builds the DC-10, issued a "service alert bulletin" calling for immediate inspection of the engine pylons on the

There is disagreement thoroughly inspected for defects, the FAA said loss of one engine was the key factor in the nation's worst air crash - plan to program a computer to see how the DC-10 jumbo jet would react if its hydraulic system was damaged.

The National Transportation Safety Board and the airline said Tuesday they are trying to determine whether the falling engine damaged other parts of the plane - such as the hydraulic system that provides power to critical controls on the plane's wings and tail.

American officials said they plan to program a computerized aircraft simulator at the airline's training center in Dallas to learn how the jumbo jet would have reacted if two of its three hydraulic systems failed when the engine fell off. The simulator is used to train pilots.

"We are looking into the hydraulic system of that aircraft and tracing the trajectory of that engine when it came off the top of that wing. We want to know what happened - what kind of damage occurred," said Bob Buckhorn, a board spokesman. The hydraulic system provides power to the ailerons, flaps, elevators, rudder and spoilers - devices that help control the plane. Buckhorn added that the safety board won't know what caused the crash for several months.

Investigators say Flight 191's trouble began Friday when a 3-inch bolt in the left wing engine

Inspection program now under review

WASHINGTON (AP) - Federal officials are trying to learn why potentially dangerous problems discovered in DC-10 aircraft after one was involved in the nation's worst air disaster were overlooked in earlier routine inspections. A new round of checks ordered after last Friday's crash of an American Airlines jet in Chicago revealed defects in the engine mountings of four DC-10s flown by United Airlines and one flown by Northwest Airlines, the Federal Aviation Administration said Tuesday.

"These inspections are turning up grave and potentially dangerous deficiencies in many of the pylon mountings," FAA chief Langhorne Bond said. The planes' engines are bolted to the metal pylon, which in turn is fastened to the wing.

Bond ordered the grounding of all 134 U.S.-registered DC-10s until they undergo "comprehensive inspection" for possible problems in the engine

The order temporarily takes out of service all planes similar to the wide-bodied American Airlines jet that crashed on takeoff from O'Hare International Airport after an engine fell off, killing at least 273 over whether the aircraft still could have been maneuvered to safety.

The plane nose-dived toward the ground at the northwest end of O'Hare International Airport and exploded on impact, killing at least 273 persons.

Buckhorn said the safety board plans to end its painstaking inspection of the crash site Thursday. But checks of maintenance records, the plane's engines and fuselage will continue as inspectors try to solve the puzzle of why Flight 191 plunged to the ground.

"At this point, we haven't found anything unusual," Buckhorn said. "But we'll be out there for the next couple of days.

The safety board plans to begin tearing down the three engines of the wrecked plane next Tuesday at American's maintenance headquarters at Tulsa,

Two groups of safety board engineers also will fly to California to begin working with McDonnell Douglas engineers to help determine the cause of the

The Federal Aviation Administration in Washington grounded all 134 U.S.-owned DC-10s because of "potentially dangerous deficiencies" in the assembly holding the engine to the wing.

The grounding delayed thousands of travelers around the world. Foreign carriers were not bound by the FAA order, but many grounded their DC-

The suit asks for $5.25 million each from American Airlines, McDonnell Douglas Corp., the manufacturer of the DC-10; and General Electric, manufacturer of the engine that broke away from the aircraft.

'Sting-like' con game bilks many in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) - Paul Newman and Robert Redford weren't there, but a real-life swindle acted out in the shadow of the Capitol resembled the final scene in "The Sting," police say.

The movie ended with con men Redford and Newman bilking a rich mobster, who fled a phony police raid and left his money behind.

The Washington con game also had victims and phony police raids, authorities say. But in real life, the raids were staged by policemen themselves, so the authorities allege, with the "victims" business and professional people out for a fast buck.

"Businessmen, doctors or anybody who has cash on hand," were among the people lured from Las Vegas, Nev., to Washington's Union Station, the government said in a complaint filed Tuesday. Once at the station, they had been told, they could exchange their cash for three or four times as much in stolen money.

Among the eight persons the U.S. attorney's office charged with involvement in the alleged scheme are two city policemen and four former officers. They and two other persons are charged with operating the alleged scheme to defraud the businessmen and professionals.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert R. Chapman said one of the men, Sherwin I. Lisner of Las Vegas, lured the victims from there to Washington by promising that a group of business-men here had "Mafia connections and access to large amounts of stolen United States currency that Lisner had access to

"These individuals offered to exchange the hot money for lesser amounts of United States currency that their victim is willing to exchange.

The complaint described how the victims came to the train station with money-filled suitcases. They met a contact, who, typically, would open a locker to retrieve the hot money for

"Next came the sting. Here's how the complaint said it worked on Feb. 27, 1978, when a Las Vegas real estate dealer arrived with a suitcase containing $138,000:

One of defendants, Leslie D. Helterbran, a former city policeman who allegedly "was dressed in a suit to look like a detective, flashed what may have been a badge and...three D.C. (District of Columbia) policemen in uniform, with riot gear" grabbed the con man about to make

The policemen "handcuffed him, took him outside and threw him in a marked police cruiser, turned on its red light, and took him down the street." Moments later, the police raiders unlocked the handcuffs and let the con man out, the complaint

Meanwhile, the complaint said, Helterbran picked up the suitcases and left the station. The real victim was "thankful to get away without being arrested himself," the com-

Besides Lisner and Helterbran, who works here but lives in Cinnaminson, N.J., the other men charged are:

Gary L. Richardson and Vincent C. Shirley, both policemen; former city policemen Viktor Schnur, Grayling M. Cockrell and Printes A. Blevins Jr.; and Alfred Jerry Kish of Oxon

Richardson, of Hyattsville, Md., and Shirley, of Lanham, Md., were arrested Tuesday and released by a magistrate on personal bond, as were

Schnur, of Oxon Hill, and Cockrell, of Hillcrest Heights, Md. The current officers were suspended, police said. Bond was set at $150,000 for Blevins. of Annandale, Va., and at $5,000 for Warrants were still out for Helterbran and Lisner, identified in the complaint as Blevins' brother-in-law. All eight initially were charged with conspiracy, which carries a maximum of five years in jail and a $10,000

The complaint said undercover agents of both the city police department and the FBI infiltrated the alleged scheme. The complaint said the alleged conspirators made at least $278,000, but police and the FBI said they didn't know the total amount.

Business lobby blitz distinguishes 66th Legislature

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN (AP) - A lack of direction nd a business lobby blitz that one epresentative compared with a tank ssault were the distinguishing traits the 66th Legislature, according to ome lawmakers.

It was a session that had some npleasant and difficult chores to do nd got them done, others said in nd-of-session interviews.

"The thing that really provokes me the lobby had so much control," aid Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveson, mentioning passage of bills esablishing "documentary fees" for ar buyers and weakening the Decepe Trade Practices Act.

The lobby was bold. They moved in with the tanks," said Rep. Bob Bush, D-Sherman.

Lobby bills often were chewed up by the legislative process, Bush said, but "they kept us in a defensive posture rather than go forward with constructive things we might have done.'

He said the fact that Gov. Bill Clements was new in town and, therefore, not predictable kept things off-balance and affected Speaker Bill Clayton and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

"The fact that the leadership was tentative, playing games with one another, gave the House the opportunity to accomplish something," Bush

But Rep. John Wilson, D-La Grange, who has announced as a candidate for Clayton's job next session, said the House accomplished noth-

Wilson said Clayton ran the House like a "traffic cop," giving the green light to some bills and a red light to to any significant accomplishment for the public benefit. That sums it up,' Wilson said.

Rep. Bob Davis, R-Irving, said "special interest" is a matter of defi-

"The lobby was bold. They moved in with the tanks...they kept us in a defensive posture rather than go forward with constructive things we might have done." — Rep. Bob Bush. Sherman others. He said this kept legislators from performing to capacity.

'We failed on many occasions to balance the public interest with special interests. ... I find it hard to point as I would define the term."

He said the biggest issue that was dealt with, raising home loan interest nition, and "there were no major issues that were special interest bills rates, was "a question of whether the political downside of voting for it offset the impact on the Texas economy if we refused to face up to it." "If you look at what we had to do and ask. Did we do it? the answer is yes," Davis said.

There were problems in the Senate between the leadership and moderate-to-liberal senators who felt rules and traditions were being trampled to make way for a presidential primary Schwartz said the flight of the "Killer Bees," including himself, "had a good effect on the Senate. People began to appreciate the fact that they had to deal with people.

Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, was less impressed

"There were some stalemates There is no primary bill. That was a stand-off. I was shocked, frankly, that 12 persons would leave. I wasn't just being melodramatic about it. I just don't see the issue as being that important," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Remember Lowell Weicker? He's the Republican senator from Connecticut whose campaign for the 1980 presidential nomination didn't make it through 1979.

Having set aside his presidential ambitions, Weicker is concentrating on being a senator, which involves matters like fighting plans to cut Amtrak train service.

At a committee hearing last week, Weicker confronted Transportation Secretary Brock Adams, a former member of the House of Representaford, who reigned as America's Sweetheart during the colorful, formative period of American movies, is dead at 86 after 13 years of seclusion in her legendary home, Pickfair.

Her death Tuesday was attributed to a cerebral hemorrhage suffered last Friday

The journey to the hospital was one of the few times Miss Pickford, whose golden curls and spunky innocence won her the adulation of milions, had emerged from the mansion since she withdrew from public life in 1966

In 1976, she appeared before cameras at Pickfair to accept an honorary award "in recognition of her unique contribution to the film industry and the development of film as an artistic medium" from the Academy of Mo tion Picture Arts and Sciences, which she helped found.

Miss Pickford was perhaps the first great international screen idol. In an era of such stars as Greta Garbo and Gioria Swanson, she was the first to have her name in marquee lights and the first to command thousands of dollars a week. She was box office gold for such movies as "Pollyanna" and "Poor Little Rich Girl."

The romance of the Pickford name grew when she married the screen's most dashing hero, Douglas Fairbanks Sr., in 1920. Even five years later, 300,000 people went to a Moscow train station to see them

All but one of the six confirmed cases of polio have hit the Amish community, a splinter group of the Mennonite sect who shun vaccinations as an unneeded intrusion of modern life.

There has been only one other case in the United States this year. The Pennsylvania outbreak of a disease thought to be eradicated by massive immunization programs is the worst in the state since a civil rights suit more than a year ago naming Midland County Sheriff Dallas Smith and the Midland County Commissioners court as defendants.

That suit, originally dismissed as frivolous by U.S. District Judge John Wood, was appealed to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, which ordered a trial on the complaint Almager contended he was bitten by a spider while a prisoner in the Midland County jail on March 4, 1978. The bite caused "severe pain, fright, and mental anguish," according to his complaint.

Both Mary and Wayne, born and reared in Midland, attended Midland public schools 12 years. They carried full load of honors

Wayne has completed his sophomore year at Rice University in Houston, where he was on the President's Honor Roll both semesters of his freshman year and the first semester of this year. The second semester Honor Roll has not been re-

The brother and sister both were in National Honor Society while at Lee, and both belonged to the German Club and were members of the Rebel Honor Band. Mary was in the Texas State Honor Band, and she earned three band letters, while Mayne earned two. Both earned academic letters each year. Mary received the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Science and Math Medal, and belonged to the Medical Explorers, serving the group as secretary. Wayne was a member of the West Texas Astronomers Club and served it as vice president and program chairman.

The brother also attended the 16th annual Texas Nuclear Science Symposium at The University of Texas at Austin. He participated in UIL science contests. According to Mrs. Jowns, "Wayne and Mary have always enjoyed doing things together. Both enjoyed extended camping trips as family vaca tions. They have been from State of Washington to Maine and from Southern California across Southern United States, from Glacier Park to the Gulf of Mexico.

Mary will enter Rice this fall and will work for Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Wiesenfeld this summer. Wayne has been employed by The Ortloff Corp. the past three summers.

Mrs. Downs-said, "We think it's really great (both are valedictorians) and very proud of them. We appreciate the Midland Independent School District and are real proud of the school system. Both Wayne and Mary had excellent teachers." Mr. Downs works for Arco.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) The Senate has rejected a resolution promoting 1979 as the International Year of the Child, a special year proclaimed by the United Nations and recognized by President Carter. Sen. Lloyd Doggett could only muster 11 votes to bring up the resolution as 16 senators voted against it. This was far short of the twothirds necessary to debate the House-approved resolution

It died with less than two hours left in the 140day regular session.

The resolution asked Gov. Bill Clements to appoint a commission of no more than 15 members to "carry out the goals and objectives of the special year."

Author says writing similar to growing lawn By PHIL THOMAS

NEW YORK (AP) - Writing a book, says Gerald Green, is similar to growing a lawn.

Green, who has 20 books to his credit, says:

"I spend months thinking about and researching a book. So by the time I come to sitting down and writing it a lot of the fertilization of the soil has been done, and the grass grows fas-

The amiable, 57-year-old Green tends his imaginary lawn from 9 in the morning until 1 p.m. "when I'm pretty well worked out."

He says he tries to write 3,000 words during those hours and helps himself reach the goal by eating breakfast three times or, as he puts it, "eating one breakfast in three stages.

"I have coffee when I start," he says with a smile, "then I knock off about 10:30 for toast, which shoves me along, and then about noon I have cottage cheese, which pushes me to the finish. After that I my do a little research or reading, but I usually just

Green's sessions at the typewriter - "a manual, I can't use an electric" - have resulted in a new novel, "The Healers," and a book of short stories, "Cactus Pie."

The novel, says Green, a tall, relaxed man, is the third of his books to deal with medicine.

"I've no medical training," Green says, "but my father was a doctor, a lot of my closest friends are doctors, and I am a hypochondriac. Regardless, I plan to lay off the subject of medicine for a while.

As for the short stories, Green says, "I do them on occasion to catch my breath. I like the form but the market for them is shrinking and they are hard to get published."

Green numbers five books of nonfiction among his 20 but he says he prefers to do fiction because in that form "you have total control, you are a real dictator.

"Also, I find writing fiction easier since non-fiction requires a lot of research. I am almost cowardly when it comes to research, but I do it when I have to. A writer has got to know what he's talking about.'

Green, who lives with his wife in Stamford, Conn., says he got hooked on writing while in college where he edited and wrote for the school's humor magazine.

Then, during World War II, he recalls, "I worked for an Army radio station and I got interested in communications." After the war, he went to work for a wire service and while there wrote his first book.

"I used to come to work early, four hours early," he says with a laugh, "just to work on the book." He moved over to television where he wrote news "but kept doing books. My novel, 'The Last Angry Man,' earned enough to allow me to write me fulltime although I later went back to do some TV documentaries and spe-

Green, not too long ago, did the teleplay "Holocaust" and then made it into a novel. He says he's had "many offers to do TV drama" since

Zulu chief warns his tribe may confront whites

By ROBERT WELLER

ULUNDI, South Africa (AP) -Looking out on the battlefield where a British army destroyed the Zulu kingdom 100 years ago, Paramount Chief Gatsha Buthelezi warned that his people will rise again if South Africa's white rulers refuse to grant them freedom

Buthelezi spoke at the end of a three-day weekend ceremony commemorating the 1879 Anglo-Zulu war. But first he led several hundred of his leopard-skin clad warriors in a giya or war dance.

Smashing their feet to the earth with bone-crushing blows as barebreasted women urged them on with ululating cries, the Zulus moved menacingly forward carrying cowhide shields and the short stabbing spears known as assegais. It was an awesome spectacle for whites used to seeing smiling, courteous Zulus cleaning and guarding white homes and businesses in South

Buthelezi told an audience of 10,-000: "We ... are spoiling for a new and more terrible replay of the events of Isandiwana, Rorkes Drift ... and Ulundi," the battles of the Anglo-Zulu

"We are a proud people ... when our manhood is subverted, when our dignity is sullied, we will not stand by. We have shown our bravery in the past. We can show it again.'

King Shaka, the first Zulu monarch, built a tightly disciplined army. One hundred years ago, the Zulu empire was the sparta of southern Africa, its warriors the most feared men in the Inevitably, they clashed with the Boers, the Dutch-origin farmers and but the major confrontation came with the arrival of the British, who succeeded the Boers as rulers of the Zule territory in Natal in eastern South Africa.

Rejecting a British ultimatum that Zulus make themselves subservent to a British representtive, King Cesthawayo prepared for war in his royal krall, or village, at Ulundi, 140 miles north of Durban.

The first encounter was a smashing victory for his warriors. About 20,000 Zulus wiped out a British force of 800 whites and several hundred natives, armed with the newest repeating rifles, in the battle of Isandlwana. It was said to be the worst defeat ever inflicted on an imperial army by a native force.

Within a few hours the tide changed. A force of 104 British soldiers, many wounded or ill, took refuge in the Swedish mission at nearby Rorkes Drift and held it against a furious onslaught by several thousand

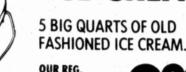

On July 4, 1879, a large British force crushed the Zulus at Ulundi, forcing King Cesthawayo into exile.

The South African government's theme for the weekend commemoration was reconciliation. In a ceremony at Rorkes Drift, Piet Koornhof, the minister in charge of black affairs, urged cooperation between the

"Our destiny can only be reached if we go forward in a spirit of mutual respect and trust, and if we together can ensure peace and stability," he

Koornhof urged Zulus to disregard attempts to enlist the support of neighboring black African states and to work for an internal solution.

Somoza's army fights guerrillas

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Anastasio Somoza's troops were reported battling 300 Sandinista guerrillas near a strategic port on the northeast coast today after claiming they checked a rebel invasion from Costa Rica in the south.

Military sources said the Sandinistas were "in strong combat with the national guard near Puerto Cabezas," 250 miles northeast of Managua. One informant said the port "is important for the government, because besides a good airport, it has military camps where troops are trained for the war with the

TOKYO (AP) - A Japanese civil court judge today ruled that reporters may legally refuse to disclose news sources in civil court proceedings. Judge Takashi Isobe of the Sapporo district court

Legal sources said that it was the first time that a Japanese civil court had decided such a freedom-ofthe-press issue.

Volga floods cause damage

MOSCOW (AP) - The worst flooding in 120 years on the Volga River in the southeastern part of the Russian federation has forced evacuation of schools and is causing damage to crops, the Communist Party newspaper Pravda reported today

An area of 494,200 acres between the cities of Astrakhan and Guryev near the Caspian Sea is covered with water, the paper said.

Brezhnev arrives in Budapest

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)- Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev arrived in the Hungarian capital today for a visit that the West will closely watch for clues about the Soviet leader's health.

Brezhnev, who meets with President Carter in Vienna, Austria, in two weeks to sign the SALT II arms treaty, was met at Ferihegy Airport by Hungarian Communist Party leader Janos Kadar, President Pal Losonczi, Premier Gyoergy Lazar and other top party officials.

Muzorewa will act as prime minister, minister of combined (military) operations and minister of de-

Two posts were left vacant because of a boycott of the new government by the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole's Zimbabwe African National Union. When it became clear in last month's elections that his party would not win a majority, he began claiming vote fraud and promised not to participate in the Muzorewa government.

The government takes charge at midnight Thurs day, when the new state of Zimbabwe Rhodesia is officially proclaimed.

The appointment of Smith — who became prime minister 15 years ago vowing to keep whites in power for a millenium — as a minister without portfolio had been widely expected. Smith unilaterally declared independence from Britain in 1965 to avoid black majority rule in the former colony.

In his new role, Smith will serve as minister for the white minority. He also will be the strategist in seeking Western recognition for the black-led state he was forced to set up under increased pressure from the six-year guerrilla war and economic boy-

The United States and Britain had refused to recognize the elections because guerrilla leaders Joshua Nkomo and Robert Mugabe did not participate. They claim the new government would only be a front for continued white domination, pointing to guaranteed white representation in Parliament and the Cabinet and a five-year extension of white control of the military, courts and civil service.

Under the Zimbabwe Rhodesian constitution, whites keep a bloc of 28 seats in the 100-member Parliament and 5 positions in the Cabinet. There are 230,000 whites in the country and 6.7 million

The key Ministry of Foreign Affairs went to Muzorewa's long-time information secretary, David Mukome. The 37-year-old former university teacher, who has traveled widely with Muzorewa, will take charge of efforts to sell the new government to a skeptical world.

Two key members of Smith's outgoing Cabinet retained positions in the new government. Former Finance Minister William Irvine was named minister of agriculture, and Chris Andersen stays on as minister of justice.

In a surprise appointment, P.K. Van Der Byl, the hardline foreign minister under Smith, was named to the ministries of Transport and Power and Posts.

At least two of the new ministers were known to have been nationalist guerrillas in the past, and at least three were political detainees under Smith's

Chief Kayisa Ndiweni, who had threatened to boycott the Cabinet because of a squabble over minority Ndebele tribe representation in the predominantly Shona government, backed down and accepted two positions for his United National Federal Party. He becomes minister of mines and works.

Why fight time? Let it work for you with a savings account at First Savings and Loan Association of Midland. Instead of each month becoming a series of dates when bills are due, pay yourself too, and then let time go to work. With one of our many savings plans and by saving regularly, time can become your financial ally.

Our dividends are paid quarterly, and the interest is compounded daily which gives you an accurate record of what time is doing to improve your financial future.

Stop by either of First Savings locations — downtown at 500 West Wall or in San Miguel Square — today. Remember, there is no time like the present to start building for the uncertain future.

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE OF WHAT DAILY COMPOUNDING CAN DO FOR YOU:

In some regular passbook accounts that pay 5-1/4% yearly interest and are not compounded daily, the yearly dividend paid to a $5000 passbook account would be approximately $262.00. However, with a First Savings Passbook Account that pays 5-1/4% annual interest with daily compounding, the yearly dividend on a $5000 passbook account would be $270.00. ## Troops marching to Amin's home town

ARUA, Uganda (AP) - Tanzanian and Ugandan troops headed for Idi Amin's home village today after completing a triumphant march across northern Uganda and establishing the new Ugandan government's authority in all major district capi-

The task force from Kampala entered Arua, the capital of the deposed dictator's native West Nile district, without opposition Tuesday as residents shouted "Tanzania! Tanzania!" and waved tree branches. Townspeople said about 500 of Amin's troops abandoned Arua on Monday, fleeing to Zaire and Sudan with hundreds of vehicles, radios and TV sets.

They reported Amin had not been seen in Arua since mid-April, soon after the Tanzanians and their anti-Amin Ugandan allies captured Kampala, the capital 220 miles to the south-

Nearly every shop in Arua had been looted. Residents said most of the people fled several days ago after Amin's soldiers told them the Tanzanians were coming to massacre them

Amin's cottage near the airport was empty. Nearby were a police helicopter and the silver Citroen-Maserati he used to drive in car rallies with "Suicide Sarah," the singer he married in Tanzanian military commanders said their next objective was Koboko, Amin's home village 30 miles to the north. Arua was the last of three northern district capitals reported held by the remnants of Amin's army. It was occupied after a six-week march by one column from Kampala that moved east to the Kenyan border, then trekked to the northwest, and a second force that advanced north from the capital to link up with the eastern col-

Lira, one of the three district capitals, fell on May 16. The eastern column took the Amin troops there by surprise, killing at least 65 and capturing 15. Four days later Gulu, a district capital 120 miles east of Arua, was occupied without a fight.

After crossing the Albert Nile at Pakwach, midway between Gulu and Arua, the combined force clashed on Sunday with troops of Amin's mechanized Rhinoceros Regiment. Six Tanzanian soldiers were killed and 14 were wounded, but there was no report of casualties on the other side.

The troops from Kampala found no evidence of a force of 3,000-6,000 Amin troops and hundreds or thousands of mercenaries from Arab countries which an American mercenary named Daniel Pierre Waltner reported he had seen assembling in the Arua area for a counteroffensive.

In Kampala, meanwhile, the new government said it would ask Kenya next week for the extradition of Amin's chief adviser, British-born Robert Astles, and 47 other high-ranking officials.

They said the four, ranging from a lieutenant to a colonel, were convicted of killing and wounding innocent people.

There have been intermittent clashes between the Arabs in Khoramshahr and government forces since the chaos and the collapse of the army following the overthrow of the monarchy in February gave Iran's ethnic minorities a new opportunity to press their long-standing demands for autonomy from the central government.

Both the shah and now the revolutionary regime are particularly reluctant to give the 2 million Arabs power because they are the ethnic majority in Khuzestan and its oil fields. But the Arabs also form the bulk of the oil industry's labor force, and contin

Cancer of larynx on rise

DETROIT (AP) - The metropolitan Detroit area has the highest rate of larynx cancer in the nation, and scientists are trying to determine why it strikes here more frequently than anywhere

"I'd really be hesitant to speculate as to the 'why.' Of course, that's the $64,000 question,' said Dr. Daniel E. Martin, a speech pathologist at the Michigan Cancer Foundation. "There's an urgent and strong need to study this phenome-

Between 1973 and 1975, there were 661 cases of voice box cancer in the Detroit area, Michigan Cancer Foundation statistics show.

Researchers pin the current incidence of cancer of the larynx nationwide at about 4.6 cases per 100,000 people. Detroit's rate is about five cases per 100,000 per-

San Francisco reported the second highest toll with 428 cases, followed by Pittsburgh, Dallas-Fort Worth, Atlanta, Bir-mingham, Ala., and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The researcher who demonstrated the link between voice box cancer and tobacco and alcohol, Dr. Ernst L. Wynder of New York, says nutritional and occupational factors also must be investigated to determine why some areas show a higher incience of the disease.

Voldseth wins exploration game

Nels Voldseth, a geologist with Monsanto Co. in Midland, has won first place in the Permian Basin Graduate Center's World Series of

He was awarded a check for $1,000 by J. C. Williamson, Midland independent oilman who sponsored the contest, and named Young Explorationist of the Year.

Voldseth's name will be engraved on the traveling trophy.

Voldseth had the lowest total cumulative points after the three games that made up the world series, finishing 2nd in the first game, 12th in the second game and 3rd in the fourth game, for a total of 17 points.

Tom Oglesby and Doug Roper, both with Exxon Co., U.S.A., tied for second place with 18 points.

Tied for fourth were Melonie Tonkin-Fuller, with MGF Oil Corp., and Herb Rehders, with Union Texas Petroleum Corp. They each had 22 points.

Robert Richards of Union Texas was sixth with 23 points.

A tie developed for seventh between Bill Dollar of Union Texas and Paul Pause of ARCO Oil & Gas Co. They Jamie Thompson, with Exploration Graphics, was ninth with 31 points. and Saeed Afghahi, an engineer with Ralph Viney and Associates, placed 10th with 32 points.

Twenty-seven persons played the exploration simulation game which was designed to give instant experience to young geologists and to offer them the opportunity to test their geological premises.

The second World Series of Exploration is planned for the spring of 1980, and all geologists who are less than 35 years of age are invited to vie for the trophy and $1,000 first prize.

Gasoline supply could be short this weekend

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's gasoline dealers don't expect a repeat this week of the gasoline supply squeeze that caused many stations to close in the last week of April as monthly fuel allocations of gasoline

But they say delays in getting June gasoline shipments could mean short supplies over the weekend.

'There will be enough stations with enough gas to get motorists home Friday, but it will be a tight weekend," said Robert Kelly, director of the Service Station Operators of Upstate New York.

"I don't think stations will limit gasoline (this week) but rather just sell what they have and then close until Friday," said Robert L. Cope, chairman-of the Indiana Service Sta tions Dealers Association. "And Friday, well, there will probably be a run on the stations as they receive their first June allotment.

Where gasoline supplies are especially tight, dealers say they will cut back hours in an attempt to stretch supplies until June gas deliveries ar-

It is so far unclear whether June supplies will be much better than they have been in recent months. But while in past months most oil companies have cut supplies from what they were the month before, the few June allocations announced so far seem to show a holding action. Oil companies began several months ago to limit the amount of gas they ship dealers because of short supplies. On average, dealers got about 15 percent less gas in May than in the same month last year. In June, Standard Oil of California

(Chevron) is raising its allocation to 90 percent of last year from the approximate 83 percent in May. Mobil, Atlantic Richfield and Phillips are leaving allocations at the same level in June as in May - 80 percent, 85 percent and 70 percent, respectively. Texaco, however, is dropping to 70 percent of last year's levels from 80 percent this month

But the allocation figures are deceptive. Oil companies are required by law to supply agricultural, governmental and other essential service

Workshops scheduled

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements said Tuesday his energy office had contracted with the Texas Solar Energy Society to design a series of solar energy workshops. "Texas Solar Realities 79" will be presented in Austin, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Lubbock, El Paso, Houston, San Antonio, Dallas and Fort Worth between June 20 and Nov.

Clements said the workshops would compare performance of different types of systems and equipment, provide cost and marketing analyses and examine current and future regula-

His office said in a statement the objective was to promote understanding of "how to, where to and why to use solar energy."

And the Department of Energy allows companies to make some allowances to dealers in hard-hit areas.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The gov-

Robert H. Quenon, chairman of the National Coal Association, was joined in his call for greater use of coal by

Miller on Tuesday told the President's Commission on Coal that the United States needed a national energy policy that would push the use of further increasing the total amount of gasoline being supplied.

So Texaco's cut to 70 percent of last June's supplies after an 80 percent allocation for May isn't as serious as it seems. In fact, the firm says gasoline shipments in June will be about 99 percent of what they were in May.

Coal delays charged

ernment is resisting, through redtape and regulatory delays, efforts to increase the use of coal in place of oil, says the head of an industry trade

Arnold Miller, president of the United

Mine Workers union

There are enough workers to mine the coal so that production could be increased, Miller said.

In recent years, the mining indus try has been misled into thinking that demand would rise, he told the com-

That has meant, Quenon noted, that industry has increased its output at a rate of 5 percent to 6 percent annually, but demand has risen only about 2 percent a year.

"I think there is a lot of resistance in government to increased coal use,

Sudan may be scene of battle between two worlds

By NICOLAS B. TATRO

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) - President Gaafar Mohaed Nimeiriobserved the 10th anniversary last week of the military coup that brought him to power, but the future of his pro-Western regime is clouded by political division and the worst economic crisis in Sudan's history.

"All the prerequisites for a violent overthrow are here except one - no leader of national stature has emerged to challenge Nimeiri," one Western diplomat said.

Strategically located at the crossroads of the black African and Arab in the last decade is no longer one of the world's 25 poorest nations.

Another achievement attributed to Nimeiri is the resolution of a 17-year civil war between Arab Moslems in the north and black Christians in the

Analysis

The United States is looking at Sudan with renewed interest. President Carter sent Sen. Jacob Javits, R.-N.Y., to Khartoum this week as his

tance Sudan needs for its economy and its army.

Sudan, Africa's largest nation with vast agricultural potential and a population of 17 million, is aligned with Egypt and with it is seen as a counterbalance to Soviet-backed regimes in neighboring Libya and Ethi-

Unlike other Arab nations, Sudan has not broken with Egypt because of its peace treaty with Israel. Nimeiri said last Tuesday, however, his government has not yet taken an official stand on the treaty itself.

Sudan's stability is considered essential by U.S. policymakers who fear balance of power in the Horn of Africa near the source of the West's oil sup-

Political opponents of Nimeiri ranging from communists to Islamic fundamentalists say they are willing to bide their time.

"There is no sense in taking power only to have the same old problems of warring factions," said one opposi-tion leader who asked anonymity.

Nimeiri, the 49-year-old son of an office messenger who advanced from general to field marshal for the May Revolution ceremonies last Friday, has weathered a dozen attempts to overthrow him, including a major another by a coalition of groups backed by Libya in 1976.

The most recent attempt, dismissed as minor by the government, occurred in April when separatists in Western Sudan were caught smuggling arms. About 20 persons were put on trial. "Nimeiri is a lucky man," said Omar Nur el Dayim, a member of Parliament and a leader of the powerful Ansar Islamic sect which rebelled against Nimeiri's then-leftist regime in March 1970. "If the rains are not too strong, Nimeiri is safe for another

He was referring to crop failures which government officials blame on flooding last July in the cotton fields and other farmlands.

The economic picture has improved since last fall when there was widespread grumbling about shortages of fuel, flour, sugar and charcoal, frequent power cuts and strikes by a variety of unions.

"I think the worst is over," said Trade and Commerce Minister Hashim Mohammed Awad in an interview. Although Sudan remains $800 million in arrears on debts, he said the financial crisis was eased when West Germany canceled more than $200 million in loans and Kuwait and Saudi Arabia rescheduled $278 million in overdue debts.

ROLL CALL REPORT

Most House Texans vote 'nay' on canal

WASHINGTON-Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes May 17 through May 23.

HOUSE PANAMA CANAL: The House approved, 200 for and 198 against, the parliamentary rules under which it will debate legislation to implement the treaties turning over the Panama Canal to Panama by the year 2000.

Most members voting "nay" don't want to relinquish the Panama Canal.

Reps. Jim Mattox, D-5, Bob Eckhardt, D-8, Jack Brooks, D-9, Jake Pickle, D-10, Mickey Leland, D-18, Henry Gonzalez, D-20, and Martin

Frost, D-24, voted "yea."
Reps. Samuel Hall, D-1, James Collins, R-3. Ray Roberts, D-4, Phil Gramm, D-6, J. Marvin Leath, D-11, Joe Wyatt, D-14, Kika de la Garza, D-15, Richard White, D-16, Charles Stenholm D-17, Kent Hance, D-19, Tom Loeffler, R-21, Ron Paul, R-22 and Abraham Kazen, D-23, voted

"nay."
Reps. Charles Wilson, D-2, Bill Archer, R-7.

James Wright, D-12, and Jack Hightower, D-13,

DISASTER LOANS: The House rejected. 174 for and 232 against, an amendment to lower the interest rate on government loans that compensate for damage inflicted on homes and personal property by natural disasters. The amendment sought to lower from three to one percent the rate on the first $10,000 loaned. The vote came during debate on HR 4011, later passed with a proposed rate of three percent on the first $55,000. A House-Senate conference now has the

Pickle, Leath, Wright, Wyatt, Stenholm, Leland, Hance, Gonzalez, Paul and Frost voted "nay."

SMALL BUSINESSES: By a vote of 192 for and 216 against, the House rejected an amendment to limit the size and scope of the Small Business Development (Center (SBDC) program. The vote came during debate on a Small Business Administration bill (HR 4011) later passed and sent to conference with the Senate.

The program in question has set up, on a pilot basis, 11 centers designed to counsel small businessmen on federal regulations, tax matters, new technology and other matters. Rejection of this amendment cleared the way for possible expansion of the program beyond its pilot basis, at a fiscal 1980 cost of $18 million.

Members voting "yea" either were opposed to or had doubts about the federal program (SBDC) intended to

Hall, Wilson, Collins, Gramm, Archer, Pickle, Hall, Wiston, Collins, Gramm, Archer, Fickle, Leath, Wyatt, de la Garza, White, Stenholm, Hance, Loeffler, Paul and Kazen voted "yea." Roberts, Mattox, Eckhardt, Brooks, Wright, Hightower, Leland, Gonzalez and Frost voted for and 32 against, an amendment providing Turkey with a grant, rather than a loan, of $50 million in U.S. military aid. The vote came during debate on HR 3173, a foreign aid bill that was passed and sent to conference with the House. Altogether, Turkey is slated to receive more than $400 million in U.S. economic and military aid this fiscal year.

Senators voting "yea" wanted a $50 million military outlay for Turkey to be a grant rather than a loan.

Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, D, and John Tower, R, voted "yea."

Wall Street's opinions split

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - As the stock market enters June, sometimes an uninspired month, opinions on the future of prices are split wide as the Grand

Nothing new in this; it's been that way for 15 years, and the fact that the Dow Jones industrial average is no higher than it was in 1964 lends documentation. It tells of a split in opinions, a stalemate.

What is new is that some of those on either side of the split feel that we may not have to wait much longer for the proof of the pudding. That proof, they agree, is in the performance, not the prediction.

On one side of the great divide are those who say the market will now fall into the abyss. Included in the group are some huge institutional traders who. over recent years, have been shunning stocks.

On the other side they're ready to climb the mountain. By 1983 they foresee peaks twice as high as the recent industrial average, which closed last week at 836.37 points, about the same as in June 1964. On either side they view the same economic probabilities as providing credibility. We are at a watershed, they say. We are headed toward recession. Our red-ink economy is like blood flowing. One group maintains the economy will be down for the count, or at least they act that way. They're shunning stocks. The other insists a downturn is the long-awaited correction, after which strength re-

Group one, unfortunately, includes a solid representation of those with the money, which in this age means institutions such as pension and mutual funds. They have avoided investments for short-

What they are saying, among other things, is that the U.S. economy is too risky for them to commit their billions on a long-term basis. They have preferred to remain liquid, flexibile. In short, ready to

However, their running hasn't gotten them far. Union and corporation executives are often dis-tressed by the poor performance of their pension portfolios, especially as inflation dilutes values. Even when invested in stocks, the funds have done poorly. A review by A.G. Becker Inc. of 571 pension funds found that since 1964 only 22 of every 100 matched or exceeded the Standard and Poor's 500-

Blame is often placed on the timidity of portfolio managers, who under the relatively new "prudent man" law can be held responsible for investment decisions. They feel caution is more defensible than

How timid have they been? A Federal Reserve count shows insurers and pension funds added less to their stock holdings last year than in any of the previous 11 years. Private pension funds used only 9 percent of available cash for U.S. stocks. Recently, some have invested abroad. A perusal of investment letters suggests that as the economy declines so will the portfolio managers' already weak allegiance to stocks. No matter that prices might recover later. A manager saves his job

Across the divide they look at the matter differently. The stock market, they say, isn't for the timid and it isn't for the short-term. It's not to be viewed through a microscope; a telescope's the thing

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - France expected to replace the United States as Iran's favorite Western partner because it sheltered Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini last winter while he engineered the overthrow of the shah. But. Khomeini's revolutionary regime is showing no favoritism to his former European host.

Ignoring the concern of the United States and many of its allies, the French government did nothing to restrain Khomeini while he openly directed the revolution against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi from a house in a suburb of Paris, violating the tradition that political refugees must abstain from political activity or at least act secretly.

Air France brought the avatollah home on Jan. 31 when his victory was assured. After the revolution triumphed, the French ambassador was the first foreign envoy granted an audience by Khomeini's prime minister. Mehdi Bazargan. He gave France special thanks for its support of the Khomeini's supporters praised France lavishly for giing him refuge when Iraq threw him out. Frenchmen in Tehran were hugged and kissed on French fortunes in revolutionary Iran seemed high. With the eclipse of American influence. French diplomats and businessmen expected to reap large benefits. But this has not happened.

"There have been no concrete results of what France did for Khomeini, only sentimental ones," said one Frenchman.

"Some Iranians are still very friendly, but it's a complete illusion to think that this translates into commercial advantage," said another

On the eve of the revolution, France was heavily involved in the first stages of several major projects in Iran. These included a $3-billion subway system for Tehran, $3 billion worth of nuclear power stations in southwest Iran, a plan to revamp the nation's railroads at a cost of more than $1 billion and plans for a 370-mile superhighway from Tehran to the

All these projects have been suspended, and French officials believe they may be canceled or scaled down. The economy is in a mess, unemployment is high, and the revolutionary government does not have the money to spend on the shah's imperial

Unlike the United States and West Germany, France had few small projects in Iran. As a result, the loss of the big projects would leave the French with little to fall back on.

There are now about 500 Frenchmen in Iran, compared to 6,000 last year. About 80 French companies are operating in the country, many with only skeleton staffs, compared to 180 a year ago. French trade with Iran totaled about $580 million a year before the revolution. French influence has been ebbing in other ways. Many influential older Iranians were educated in France. But young people now are more likely to speak English. Some Frenchmen believe German is more popular than French because of the activity of German firms. Khomeini has openly attacked France because of protests by President Valery Giscard d'Estaing and other French leaders against the execution of former Prime Minister Amir Abbas Hoveida on April 7. And "Iranians who don't like Khomeini now tend to blame him on us,' said one French business specialist.

Carter says he doubts taxes will be cut

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter is joining leading congressional taxwriters in predicting the traditional election-year tax cut will go by the wayside in 1980 as federal officials concentrate on trying to balance the national budget

"I doubt very seriously that we'll have any tax cut in 1980,' Carter said Tuesday at a news conference.

'If we have the option between substantial reductions in the deficit and controlling inflation on the one hand, and having tax reductions for the American people in an election year on the other, I would forego the tax reduction and insist upon controlling inflation and cutting the deficit."

Highlights of Carter's conference listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the highlights of President Carter's news conference Tuesday at the White House:

GASOLINE

The president announced the signing of an executive order giving the nation's governors authority to regulate gasoline sales in their states. The authority permits governors to decide which gasoline stations remain open on weekends, establish minimum purchase requirements and set up odd-even sales systems.

OIL DECONTROL

Carter appealed for support of his plan to lift controls on domestic oil prices beginning June 1 and to levy a windfall profits tax on oil companies, saying, "I'm convinced that the government control of oil prices has not worked.

MIDEAST

The United States will not put forward any proposals in the Mideast peace talks until after Israel and Egypt have begun negotiations, the president said. "For us to pre-empt the negotiations by putting forward a proposal to begin with would only be counter-productive.'

LANCE

The president declared that "Bert Lance is still my friend," but declined to comment on Lance's indictment on criminal charges because "I don't see any benefit to be derived from my commenting on the legal actions.

TAX CUT

Carter said he does not foresee a tax cut in 1980 because it would conflict with the need to balance the budget and fight inflation.

WAGE GUIDELINES

The president said labor contracts negotiated since he established volunguidelines 85 percent of the time, despite highly visible exceptions such as the just-negotiated United Airlines machinist union pact.

INFLATION

Carter said a deliberate recession "is unacceptable" as an anti-inflation tool. The president said his anti-inflation program "is going to take some time to be effective. But I intend to stick with it.

CANAL

Carter believes Congress "ultimately will be responsible and pass implementing legislation" to accompany the Panama Canal treaties. He said if Congress doesn't pass such legislation, "we have no effective means to adequately defend the canal.'

RHODESIA

Carter said he will decide within two weeks after the new bi-racial government takes office in Rhodesia whether the United States will lift its trade embargo against that country.

SOVIETS

"There have been some delays" in the release of the families of Soviet prisoners recently set free by that country, Carter said, but he believes the families will be reunited

DEMOCRATS

Carter said he is not surprised he does not have unanimous support among congressional Democrats, but if he were to modify his positions to gain support, "then I don't deserve to be president.

By BARRY RENFREW

After almost 40 years, two Russian dissidents finally have found in a little West Virginia college town the freedom they fought for and dreamed of in the Soviet Union. After a long crusade for human rights, Nikolay and Ludmilla Williams were expelled from Russia in 1977. So they returned to the country of his forefathers and settled last year in Bethany, where Williams teaches mathematics at Bethany College.

In a quiet, gentle voice, Williams, struggling with the language and accents of America, recounted in a telephone interview their lives in the Soviet Union: the grim, ordered society he remembers as "a political circus" where you paraded like a show horse at the command of the ringmaster's whip

Williams' great-grandfather was an American who went to Russia in the mid-19th century to help build the first Soviet railway. He settled there after falling in love with a Russian woman. Williams still has relatives in this country, but he has not heard from them since 1941. A search launched by friends when he first arrived in the United States has been unsuccessful. "They said back home we might be related to Jack London, the writer, but who knows," he said. Occasionally breaking into rapid. lilting Russian to translate the conversation for his wife, Williams told of their disillusionment with life in Russia; the joy of finding others who shared their beliefs and the hopeless acts of public defiance. He also recalled the swift retribution of the KGB, the Soviet secret member of the Communist Party. But for years, she said, she was caught between the teachings of a strict upbringing and the realities of the Soviet "I was never a Communist...no, no, no," Williams says. Though he had little interest in politics, he was nonetheless initiated into the realities of Stalinist Russia while a student at Moscow University.

As a member of a small group who met to discuss art, literature and politics, Williams was arrested by the secret police in 1945 for nti-Soviet agitation. Like millions of others, he was sent to a prison camp for trea-

"I was lucky. You must remember the time. Just after the war things weren't so bad. If it had been earlier or later I could have gotten a much worse sentence," he said.

His "light sentence" was five years in a labor camp where inmates worked in Arctic weather, clearing frozen wilderness with little more than their hands. Williams remembers passing away his youth on a diet of gray, tasteless bread and endless propaganda. "It was not too good, other camps were much worse," he says.

After his release, Williams worked at a mathematics institute outside Moscow, but his wife's activity in the Soviet civil rights movement kept him from becomeing little more han a clerk, he said

Mrs. Williams was one of the founding members of the Moscow Helsinki

Though she was prominent in the movement, Mrs. Williams was never sent to prison, something that puzzles them both. However, they were harassed, they say, by the secret police until they left the U.S.S.R.

Among the leaders of the dissidents' movement with whom Mrs. Williams worked were Alexander Ginzburg and Yury Orloy, Ginzburg, one of several dissidents recently traded for two Russian spies, recently came to Bethany to visit the couple.

Mrs. Williams continues to work for human rights in the Soviet Union, meeting with other exiles in the United States and Europe to rally Western support for their cause.

We like the United States," Williams said, "life here is very differ-

Their year at Bethany College has been a revelation. They are still amazed by the freedom at the school. In Soviet colleges, they say, failing an exam means instant expulsion.

"So many things here are taken for granted, the rights of youth to exercise any kind of freedom ... nobody forces you to follow the rules." he said. But he added: "young people are often the tsame anywhere, except they are a lot hairier here.'

The Williams intend to remain in America, but they have discovered that even in a land of freedom, life can be difficult. His contract at Beth-

WASHINGTON (AP) → Peace has overtaken a United Nations peacekeeping force in the Middle East, but the United States wants it to stay on anyway to police the new treaty between Egypt and Israel.

The Soviet Union is not so sure.

The original purpose of the 4,000-member force was to provide a buffer between Egypt and Israel while the two nations were at war. It was deployed in 1973 under two disengagement agreements arranged by the United States.

Its U.N. charter expires July 24 and the seven-nation force may have to split up and head home unless the Soviets accept a U.S. proposal to extend U.N. backing for the peacekeepers even though Egypt and Israel are now officially at peace.

The Soviets, critical of the Mideast peace treaty engineered by the United States, can use their veto power on the U.N. Security Council to kill the

If that happens, the United States is obligated under the Egyptian-Israeli treaty to attempt to form a new international peacekeeping unit.

A U.S. official who asked to remain anonymous said such a new force might include American helicopter pilots and other U.S. "logistical support." But he said present contingency plans do not envision use of American troops.

They would be recruited from other countries. The seven nations now contributing troops to the U.N. emergency force are Australia, Canada, Finland, Ghana, Indonesia, Poland and Sweden.

The United States has been contributing about one-fourth of the force's $76 million annual budget.

Brown wins in Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - Multimillionaire John Y. Brown Jr., who told voters Kentucky needed a businessman as governor, has won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination after a whirlwind two-month campaign.

"This is going to be a new day in Kentucky politics," he proclaimed in an appearance early today with his new wife, former Miss America and sports commentator Phyllis George.

By defeating four major rivals in one of the state's most unusual gubernatorial primaries, the 45-year-old fast-food and sports promoter earned a November bid against former Gov. Louie Nunn, who easily won the Republican primary.

Former Louisville Mayor Harvey Sloane had maintained a slim lead over Brown early in the night because of a huge margin in the Louisville area but it melted away as the night wore on.

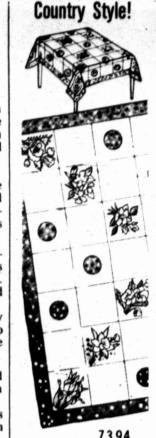

The favorite of the state administration. Terry McBrayer, conceded defeat early and declared Brown the victor, as did Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall, regarded two months ago as the frontrunner among major contenders. Rep. Carroll Hubbard, D-Ky., a bitter opponent of the state administration, ran far back along with Mrs. Stovall.

With 97 percent of the vote counted, Brown had 153,071 votes, or 28 percent of the total, compared with 132,839, or 24 percent, for Sloane. McBrayer was third with 124,626 votes, or 23 percent of the total vote. Hubbard ran fourth with 68,066 votes, or 12 percent of the total, and Mrs. Stovall was last with 45,103, or 8 percent.

With 95.1 percent of the Republican primary votes in, unofficial totals showed Nunn with 99,816 or 79 percent and Bowling Green attorney Ray White with 17,640 or 14 percent. Elmer Begley Jr. and Thurman Jerome Hamlin polled 3 percent and 2 percent, respec-

Brown may have changed the methods of Kentucky politics by his late entry and drive, which bypassed the customary courthouse and precinct structure in favor of recruiting thousands of volunteers and setting up a massive telephone bank.

Blonde who got away paces Palm Beach

By RICHARD VINCENT Sports Writer

Paula Slivinsky has short blonde hair, an engaging manner and charm enough to get even an old sourpuss to

But there's something else that makes the quietly confident 19-yearold from Brewster, N. Y. a little bit different from most young ladies her

That slight difference is the ability to propel a tiny white ball around a big green golf course in as few strokes

Tuesday afternoon at Hogan Park Golf Course, the Palm Beach, Fla., Junior College freshman toured the parched and wind-swept layout in one-under-par 70 for the first-round individual medalist lead in the National Junior College Athletic Asso-

Bolstered by Slivinsky's sterling effort, Palm Beach enjoyed a sevenshot advantage in the team chase after one round of the 54-hole event which moves to Midland Country Club today and Thursday. Palm Beach was at 311 while defending champion Miami, Fla., Dade Community College North Campus was at 318. Dade defeated Palm Beach earlier for the Midland College's Wendy Goodwin, a freshman from Midland Lee, carded a fine 76 Tuesday but the Chaparrals were fourth in the team race with 331. Temple Junior College, third last year, had 321 while Scottsdale, Ariz... Community College brought up the rear with 369.

Florida juco title.

Mary Stewart of Phoenix, Ariz., College shot an 81 while another individual player, Sheila Jilka of Kirkwood Community College, Cedar Rap-

Slivinsky said she had to work hard to save par several times, but was satisfied with the way things went. "I played really well, it's the best round I've ever had," she said.

En route to her 70, she said her approach shots were solid and her drives were "exceptionally good."

And the winds, not excessively strong by West Texas standards, did have some impact on the first-time visitor. "The wind was a factor," said Slivinsky. "I'm not used to it."

The gusts might not have mattered had she opted to attend Midland College, a school that somewhat held her fancy last year. "I was looking into it (attending MC)," she said. She chose Palm Beach because she had previously lived in Florida and was familiar with the state.

"It was all up in the air," said Palm Beach coach Debbie Ruday of Slivinsky's selection process.

One other factor might've been that teammate Colleen Binkiewicz of Belleville, N. J. was a former junior golfing partner in the metropolitan New York area.

Slivinsky isn't the only Palm Beach player to have considered MC. Freshman June Staton, who fired a 79 Tuesday, also dabbled with the idea of attending the Tall City campus.

But even without Slivinsky and Staton, MC's freshman-dominated team impressed coach Susan Holland. She said her team played "real well," adding they might have things going for them the final two days.

"If there's any course advantage to have, we'll have it at Midland Country Club," she said:

And Holland, who happens to double as an MCC assistant pro, should know. "Placing your shot is at a premium because trees are strategically placed so they come into play,' she said

Don't think though that Slivinsky and company plan to pull an el foldo at MCC. In fact, Slivinsky said she liked MCC after playing a practice round there Monday because it's more conducive to her long drives than Hogan.

Ruday, however, is the ever-cautious coach. Asked if there were winds in Palm Beach, she replied smiling, "not like this." She added that blustery conditions could be harmful at MCC. "With the wind right, it could play very long.'

Still, everything seems to come back to Slivinsky, the lovely lass with a penchant for pounding golf balls. She conceded the team race is "going to be a fight," but that just meant she'd have to be even better.

"I've never led a tournament before but I think everything will be all right if I can keep it going," she said. 'We've really got a good team and I really think we've got a good chance of winning this tournament.'

Sonics win in OT to lead

SEATTLE (AP) - Dennis Johnson says the Seattle SuperSonics only have to remember last year to keep from squandering their lead in the National Basketball Association championship playoffs against the Washington Bullets.

"Everybody on this team is remembering last year," said Johnson after the Sonics defeated the Bullets 114-112 in overtime Tuesday night to go ahead 3-1 in the best-of-seven finals. "We had the lead then and relaxed. The next thing we knew, we were being blown out."

Last year, the Sonics led in the final series 3-2, but got pasted in Game Six in Washington, 117-82, and the Bullets went on to win the championship.

The next game in this series will be played Friday in Landover, Md., with Game Six, if necessary, here on Sunday and Game Seven in Landover next Wednesday.

Dennis Johnson also said it doesn't mean a thing that the Bullets were down 3-1 against San Antonio in the Eastern Conference finals and came back to win the series, only the third time in NBA history such a comeback was made in the playoffs. It has never been done in the championship

"We're not te Spurs," said Johnson, who tipped the last Bullets shot into the hands of teammate Jack Sikma with three seconds remaining in the overtime. "We don't get all the publicity that the Spurs do, but they don't play defense like us. We aren't your average team. We're not going to lose the 3-1 lead."

Dennis Johnson and Gus Williams, the two Sonics guards, once again paced Seattle. They got 32 and 36 points, respectively. They got lots of help inside from Sikma, who had 20 points, 17 rebounds, five blocked shots and aided in getting Washington's three big men - Elvin Hayes; Bobby Dandridge and Wes Unseld — to foul out of the game.

Washington Coach Dick Motta was angered about those foul calls, claiming San Antonio Coach Doug Moe set the stage for them when he criticized the referees after the final game of the Eastern Conference playoffs.

"In that last game, the referees were accused of favoring the champion Bullets," said Motta. "I honestly feel we are the victims of Doug Moe's outburst. Seattle played the last 14 minutes and did not have a foul called against them. I am very upset.

"I don't believe you can play an NBA game and not have a foul called on a team in the last 14 minutes," said

Actually, the Sonics had two fouls called against them in the last 16:28, but none in the last 8:47.

Sonics Coach Lenny Wilkens said his team knew it had to win. "It was a must game for both teams and we knew they were going to go all out. There was a lot of tension, so our team was tight in the beginning.

The Bullets finally had their guards break out of their shooting slump with Kevin Grevey and Charlie Johnson hitting for 18 points apiece. Hayes also scored 18, while Dandridge and Unseld had 16 each.

Orioles' Palmer chases 10-game Kansas City jinx

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles survived a 10-count and flattened the Kansas City Royals Tuesday night.

One night earlier, the Orioles dropped their 10th consecutive game in Royals Stadium. But Tuesday evening, Ken Singleton, Rich Dauer, Gary Roenicke and Lee May unloaded haymakers and the Orioles pounded the Royals 8-1, their first success in Kansas City since June 4, 1977.

"Hell, does this feel good," exclaimed Manager Earl Weaver. "You get to wondering what the hell you have to do. Last year it was 100 percent Kansas City and last night (Monday's 5-4 16-inning loss) we had plenty of chances but still couldn't Yount's double, which right fielder Reggie Jackson misplayed, helped the Brewers to three more runs in the seventh. Milwaukee's Moose Haas scattered seven hits, including home runs by Jackson and Graig Nettles.

Haas' first pitch to Jackson in the second inning, a high, tight fast ball, sent him scampering out of the batter's box. Jackson yelled at Haas and pointed to the plate, showing the pitcher where the pitch should have been. Jackson homered on the next pitch and glared at Haas as he pranced around the bases.

"He was trying to intimidate me," Jackson said. "The ball was at my head. It was too close for comfort. I just wanted to make a point. We had a little discussion and it was over."

Angels 6, Mariners 4 Bobby Grich collected three hits and drove in three runs while Jim Barr scattered eight hits before needing help from Dave LaRoche in the eighth as the Angels posted their fourth consecutive triumph. Barr replaced scheduled starter Nolan Ryan, who remained behind in California with his injured son and then was delayed by the grounding of a DC-10. Grich delivered a two-run double in the seventh inning. In the fifth, his single scored Brian Downing all the way from first. Ruppert Jones and Bob Stinson homered for Seattle.

Tigers 9, Blue Jays 8

Lance Parrish snapped an 8-8 tie with a run-scoring single in the eighth inning following a two-out intentional walk to Jason Thompson. Lou Whitaker opened the eighth with a single and was sacrificed to second. After Rusty Staub flied out, Thompson was purposely passed, but Parrish spoiled the strategy with his game-winning hit. The Tigers also got a two-run single from Alan Trammell and a two-run double from Jerry Morales and Parrish had an RBI double. Rookie Dave Tobik earned his first major league victory with one inning of re-

Bill Nahorodny doubled home two runs and Richard Wortham blanked Cleveland on four hits for eight innings. Nahorodny's double came in the fourth inning off loser Eric Wilkins after Alan Bannister singled and Lamar Johnson walked. The White Sox scored two more runs in the sixth on RBI singles by Milt May, making his debut with Chicago, and Rusty Torres.

"I was tired in the seventh, but since it was a shutout I wanted to stay in there and hope they would hit it at someone," said Wortham, who gave way to Randy Scarbery with one out in the ninth. "I was really tired in the ninth. When the shutout went I started getting nervous."

KGB Chicken has feathers plucked by judge

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The 5-foot-4 defendant sat in the jury box, his head hooded by a brown paper sack with peepholes.

A yellow feather afixed to the top of the sack was the only giveaway until Ted Giannoulas, the defrocked KGB Chicken, did his thing.

He prayed. He gnawed nervously on his nails. And he crossed his fingers for good luck. But to no avail

Calling himself "an old fuddyduddy," a San Diego Superior Court judge stripped Giannoulas of the chicken suit Tuesday.

Judge Paul Overton said Giannoulas, 24, could return as a redesigned bird, but barred him from appearing in the famous chicken costume in four Southern California counties: San Diego, Imperial, Riverside and Or-

If Giannoulas modifies the chicken outfit, he must refrain from appearing on any out-of-state sports telecasts involving San Diego teams, Overton added.

"An unnecessarily harsh ruling," said Giannoulas' attorney, Ron Mix. Giannoulas, the man inside the chicken suit for the past five years, said he was "heartsick. It's really, really sad." The development was the latest setback for Giannoulas. He has been fired by KGB and sued for $250,000 for alleged contract violations of 00-a-year job and unauthorized appearances in the chicken suit golf with the development of junior golfers being one of the best ways to obtain this objective.

The NTSU and the Northern Texas Section of the PGA have coordinated a fine program for young golfers. The program is offered to junior golfers. ages 11 to 17 and will provide a sound proper foundation in all phases of the game of golf.

The enrollment will be limited to 44 students per session. The tuition is $240 and must accompany the application which can be picked up at Hogan Park Golf Course as well as Ranchland Hills and Midland country clubs. The tuition covers accomodations, meals and the academy program. The program offers group clinics, classroom lectures, demonstrations, tournament competition and personalized instruction for each student as well as recreational free time to enjoy the facilities of NTSU.

There will be two sessions of free golf lessons offered at Hogan Park on June 4-8 and July 9-13. The instruction will be given by Rex Worrell and Steve Hendley. The lessons will include the grip, alignment, stance, orientation to golf, rules and regulation of play. Time will be 9 to 10 a.m. for 12 to 17 year olds and 10: 15 to 11: 15 a.m. for 18 years and over. Registration will be through the Parks and Recreation Department or at Hogan Park's golf shop.

THE NEXT Tee Time will cover the West Texas Junior Tour and the Hogan Park Junior Golf programs. Junior Tour sites will be listed in next week's column.

The Hogan Park Women's Golf Association held a Most Two Putts event Thursday. In the nine-hole division a three-way tie resulted between Rita Boe, Peggy Parkins and Char Richter. # Bucs' Parker shakes lingering bat slump

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

Dave Parker is starting to shake out of his "slump." You know it when he tells you so.

The Pittsburgh Pirate star never hesitates to blow his own horn, as many know, and that's exactly what he did Tuesday night after helping his team blow out the Chicago Cubs 8-0.

"It's about time for me to put something together," said Parker after hitting two doubles and a home run and driving in three runs.

Parker began the night batting .309 with six home runs and 17 runs batted in — statistics that usually pop the buttons on players' uniforms. But not the proud Parker - the National League's Most Valuable Player last season and self-acknowledged "best player in baseball."

"I CONSIDER IT a slump when I'm getting only one hit a day," said Parker. "I'm a good contact hitter, so even when I'm not swinging well, I get my share of infield hits and bloopers.

'But when I'm hitting the ball well, I hit everything hard, even the outs, and I feel that coming back now. Hopefully I'm off and running," added the winner of two straight NL batting titles.

Pittsburgh took a 2-0 lead in the first inning with the aid of a throwing error by pitcher Ken Holtzman and a run-scoring single by Willie Stargell. Phil Garner led off the Pirate second with his third homer. Parker clouted his seventh homer with two out in the seventh, and then doubled in two more runs in a four-run Pirate eighth.

Don Robinson and Grant Jackson combined on a five-hitter for the Pirates, who turned in only their second shutout this season.

Expos 9, Phillies 0

Ellis Valentine's three-run homer capped a fiverun, fifth inning and Steve Rogers pitched a six-hitter as Montreal beat Philadelphia. Rogers triggered the fifth-inning outburst with a lead-off single and Warren Cromartie later delivered a two-run double before Valentine's fifth homer of the season.

Pinch-hitter Denny Walling's run-scoring single with the bases loaded in the ninth inning led Houston over Cincinnati. Craig Reynolds and Cesar Cedeno started the decisive Houston ninth with singles off loser Paul Moskau. Reliever Doug Bair then intentionally walked Jose Cruz to load the bases, setting the stage for Walling's winning hit.

Randy Niemann, recalled from the minors earlier this month, scattered eight hits for his first major league victory.

"I threw a lot more breaking and off-speed pitches than I usually do because they're a fast ball hitting club," said Niemann. "And the guys behind me were playing great defense. I just tried to get it over and depend on the rest of the team to get the outs."

Mets 6, Cardinals 2 John Stearns and Steve Henderson belted runscoring doubles to highlight a four-run rally in the seventh inning and lead New York over St. Louis. ### Sugar prexy opposes college playoff plan

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - The Sugar Bowl's president opposes a playoff to determine college football's national champion and he says it should come as no surprise that other postseason bowls are against it, too.

"There is no deep, dark conspiracy," said Robert J. Fabacher. "The bowl people already have appeared before the NCAA Extra Events Committee. I think to say that the bowl people are opposed (to a playoff) would be a fair statement.'

The NCAA Extra Events Committee has approved a proposal for a college football playoff beginning in 1980, but it still must be approved by the Steering Committee at a June 14 meeting in New Orleans.

If the steering committee approves it, the playoff system would have to be approved by delegates to the NCAA convention in January.

AS PROPOSED, four teams would be chosen after the bowl games to play two semifinal games. The winners then would play for the national champion

Fabacher responded Tuesday to published reports that representatives of 12 of NCAA-sanctioned postseason football classics met in Biloxi, Miss., over the weekend to organize opposition to the playoffs.

Ex-wife gores Bronx Bull

NEW YORK (AP) - The third wife of former middleweight boxing champ Jake "The Bronx Bull" LaMotta has sued the boxer for money she claims he owes from royalties on his autobiography

Sally Falleye LaMotta said Tuesday that under a 1971 divorce settlement her husband promised to pay her 20 percent of the royalties from the book, "The Raging Bull." Mrs. LaMotta, now a resident of Davie, Fla., said she was also entitled to 20 percent of any money her former husband earned from the movie version. which will star Robert DeNiro in the title role.

LaMotta, 56, has been serving as technical adviser in the film production.

Mrs. LaMotta claimed that she had received no payments under the agreement.

In a twist in the case, the process server who delivered the court papers to LaMotta's Manhattan apartment said the papers were accepted by a woman identifying herself as Debora LaMotta, the Basketball teams which finish first and second in the SEC's regular season standings will now be required to appear more often in the postseason championship tournament. A new tournament structure approved Tuesday by SEC athletic directors revokes the bye to the tournament semifinals given to the 1-2 regular season finishers. They and the other four top regular season finishers, get only a first round bye. The new schedule pairs the No.7 seed against the No.10 regular season finisher and No.8 against No.9 in the tournament's first round. The next day, the top-seeded team meets the 8 vs. 9 winner and the second-seeded team plays the 7-10

Athletic directors also changed football scheduling, but the new arrangement won't take effect until 1988. It creates a 5-2 plan in which each SEC team plays its five common opponents and two others on a rotating basis. Under the new system, each SEC football team would play every other conference team every two years, and would play home and home games against all SEC teams every four

Spending habits of U.S. Postal Service under fire in Congress

This is the first of two articles based on an investigation of the U.S. Postal Service. Young is assistant national editor of The Hearst Newspapers.

By MORT YOUNG

The U.S. Postal Service is diverting billions of dollars of its revenues in order to keep itself solvent from day to day.

After asking for $1.5 billion in higher postage rates to pay off debts and Workmen's Compensation claims, the service instead spent the money as soon as it came in.

The increase, granted by the Postal Rate Commission to meet these obligations, was "put in the pot," said the service's chief financial officer, Senior Assistant Postmaster General Jim Finch, and spent to cover operating costs.

The money was diverted in 1977 and 1978. The practice has continued into this fiscal year, which ends Oct. 31.

BY THEN, ACCORDING to the Postal Service's own estimates, another $950 million will have been diverted, bringing the grand total for the three years to a round $2.5 bil-

"They're spending everything they can get their hands on," commented an aide to Sen. John Glenn (D .-Ohio), who sought an independent analysis of the Postal Service's handling of Workmen's Compensation

The House Subcommittee on Postal Operations and Services will look into the questions raised by The Hearst Newspapers' investigation, said Rep. Charles H. Wilson (D.-Calif.), the subcommittee chairman.

It was learned that $666 million in higher rates that the Postal Service argued it needed to recover prior losses was, in 1977 and '78, used to cover ordinary expenditures. Another $333 million is being spent to pay current operating expenses this

FROM REVENUE increases requested to pay Workmen's Compensation, $530 million was diverted in 1977 and $394 million in 1978 to meet operating expenses. This year, an estimated $617 million more will be consumed by operating costs.

"I don't know whether it's illegal or immoral, but it's certainly one or the other and I intend to find out," said Rep. Wilson.

A spokesman for the rate commission, Ned Kallen, confirmed that "we a set of rates which would allow the Postal Service to meet its operating expenses and have enough left over to equal $333 million a year.

Kallen also confirmed that "the Postal Service is using Workmen's Compensation to pay for current operating expenses.

"THE COMMISSION strongly recommends the establishment of a Workmen's Compensation fund," he continued. "At present, there is no accounting mechanism to assure that sufficient funds will be available in the future to satisfy the compensation liability as it comes due, except through borrowing.

No other federal agency accrues future compensation payments for an employee in the same year the injury is received, according to the General Accounting Office.

Private firms accrue money to assure future payments, but make provision to separate the Workmen's Compensation account by putting the money in a special fund so it will be there when needed.

The Postal Service's financial practices have been clouded by a threeway political battle between the Carter administration, Congress and the service.

IN CONTENTION is a bill, HR 79, which would give the President authority to appoint the postmaster general and would permit Congress closer scrutiny of the service's books. The bill also increases the annual postal subsidy. Some of that money would provide more staff, and more power, to the chairman of the service's board of governors.

When the old U.S. Post Office was reorganized in 1971 and became the Postal Service, an unusual amount of autonomy was granted the new federal agency to free it from political influence.

As a result, the final authority on postal finances is the service itself; and the ultimate authority on how the mails shall be delivered is, again, the Postal Service.

The Carter administration favors increasing the President's control over the service, but opposes increasing the annual subsidy from the present $1.8 billion.

POSTMASTER GENERAL William Bolger is against the bill, contending it would dilute his authority. He called it "unworkable," though it would give the service, which has ended every year since its inception with a loss, more money. Bolger, however, recently surprised the administration and congress by predicting a $180 million surplus for fiscal 1979.

Asst. Postmaster General Finch, on whose analysis Bolger based his prediction, told The Hearst Newspapers, however, that "we cannot design rates that give us a surplus in order to make up for losses. Revenues don't catch up to costs, regardless of what we do. It doesn't matter how well we

Bolger credited improved management techniques as part of the reason for his optimism, when testifying before Wilson's subcommittee in

EXTERNAL EVIDENCE of improvements is hard to find. The quality of mail service hasn't improved, according to the Postal Service's own internal eveluation.

Complaints of misdelivered mail were up 87 percent in 1978; damaged mail complaints rose 20 percent; delayed mail complaints went up 11 percent, among a list of other customer complaints.

Further, the service estimated that less than 2 percent of the complaints received at post offices were being recorded. Even so, 500,000 complaint cards were received, a rise of 10 percent over the previous year.

Bolger is regarded as the best promoter general the service has had. Congressmen, union leaders, lobbyists and other natural antagonists concur that, under Bolger, the Postal Service has been steamed clean of political patronage and cronyism. He is the first career postal official to rise to the top, to which he was appointed by the service's board of governors in March, 1978.

"HE DESERVES a lot of credit," Said Rep. Wilson. "But Jim Finch is going to cause him terrible embarrassment and do him a lot of damage by coming up with these ridiculous

Finch shrugs off such criticism. He also insisted that, rather than being in a poor financial shape, the Postal Service "right now has a cash position of $3.9 billion."

When advised of Finch's remark, Rep. Wilson said he would notify members of the various committees dealing with the Postal Service. He did not know where Finch could find the money.

It was suggested by George Gould, staff director of Rep. Wilson's subcommittee, that Finch may have been referring to various properties and interest-bearing notes. "But that's certainly not cash,"

TIMOTHY MAY, a former general counsel in the old Post Office and an attorney representing various commercial mailers, also disputes Finch's statistics.

"He's playing with numbers," May said. "The Postal Service will be $3.3 billion in debt by the end of fiscal '79 and, by the end of 1980 it will owe $4.5 billion. These aren't my numbers. They're in the President's budget: numbers the Postal Service gave to

May said the $18 million "is not a surplus but a positive cash flow, if you could even call it that. How can you turn a profit when you owe billions of dollars?" he argued.

Union leaders representing a majority of the 550,000 postal workers urged that the service's "contingency fund" be looked into.

WHEN THE POSTAL Service was permitted to raise rates-bringing a first-class stamp to 15 cents last May—the rate commission based the new rates on estimated expenses. The rates were to be high enough to pay all operating costs. Then another 4 percent of the estimated revenue was tacked on to cover "unforeseeable" expenses. This is the contingency. This year, revenues are an estimated $15.6 billion exclusive of subsidies. The 1979 contingency is $696 million. May contended $516 million of the contingency has been spent, with the remainder being called a surplus. "We will have used up all of the contingency but $180 million," Finch concurred.

The assistant postmaster general explained the 4 percent override was added to rate increase requests because of the impossibility of predicting costs accuratey 18 to 24 months in

"RATE CASES TAKE a long time," he said. "By the time new rates are in effect, the costs have gone up. The OMB told us to put in the contingen-CY.

At the OMB, a spokesman said no other federal agency had a contingency, to their knowledge, although "the President has sort of a contingency fund for unexpected entertaining. But it's really not analogous.

Another explanation Finch gave for the promised surplus was an unexpected increase in mail volume this year. Instead of an estimated 1.1 percent rise, the increase now appears to be 4 percent, which would bring the number of pieces of mail handled to 100 billion. He also noted the surplus would depend on the inflation rate being 6.9 percent. The rate recently hit 13 percent.

Finch said "the greatest financial difficulty we face is regulatory lag. In our eight years of existence, we've had two rate cases. One took 23 months and the other, 18 months. It's murder. You can't catch up in that kind of a situation.'

THAT SEEMS TO be so. By 1976 the Postal Service was deeply in debt and had to borrow to meet its daily expenses.

"The Postal Service was technical ly insolvent" by June 30, 1976, a postal finance officer, James E. Klutz, testified before the rate commission in Congress gave the service a special billion-dollar subsidy after former Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar requested it, according to George Gould, staff director of the House postal operations subcommittee. THE POSTAL PAYROLL again looms as a financial barrier. A cost of living increase of at least $150 million falls due this year, as does a wage increase of $165 million.

Further, the Department of Labor has filed suit against the Postal Service on behalf of some 400,000 employees seeking back pay. This could cost the service hundreds of millions of dollars. One suit filed by employees already has cost the service $60 mil-

This year's subsidy includes $920 million for "public service," to assure equal mail service to all citizens, and some $800 million to make up the difference between full postal rates and what is paid by users of second, third and fourth-class mail. These users are publications, non-profit organizations and direct-mail adver-

HR 79, Rep. Wilson's bill, would increase the public service subsidy to $1.3 billion by 1981, when it would level off. The present subsidy is scheduled to end in 1984.

SUBSIDIES TO OTHER mail users are slated to end this July. The bill would extend them until 1981 for commercial mailers and to 1991 for nonprofit organizations, whose subsidy is to end in 1987.

The bill is coming before the full House and could be sent to the Senate before this session of Congress ends.

But the Postal Service's difficulties will be far from ended.

Bolger has predicted a $500 million deficit for 1980, and said the new, higher rates will be needed the following year. If new rates are granted, they will come into effect after the congressional and presidential elections of November, 1980. The timing leads some to believe that while politics may have been taken out of the Postal Service, the Postal Sevice is not out of politics.

Lee High School senior Peter Hagist has been awarded the Lee Booster Club scholarship. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hagist, he has earned two football letters, an academic letter and is a member of the National Honor Society. He plans to attend the Colorado School of Mines and major in petroleum engineering.

Barbara Jean Garrett, 18, daughter of James D. Norton, has been awarded a $300 scholarship from the Southside Lions Club. Barbara, a senior at Lee High School, plans to attend Midland College, where she will major in accounting or journalism. She has earned a 3.5 grade point average in high school.

California woman has early Christmas

CLOVIS, Calif. (AP) - When Darrel. Dietrich saw the elderly woman's crumbling home, he was shocked. So he started a drive to get it repaired. Before the utility company official was done, 145 people had donated their time and materials to build 75year-old Emma Traylor a new home valued at $25,000.

"I didn't know what to say," Mrs. Traylor recalled. "I didn't believe

But this past weekend Mrs. Traylor moved from her 240-square-foot cottage with its leaky roof into the new 600-square foot cottage complete with manager in this central California and high blood pressure. city, said he happened on Mrs. Traylor's home while checking a broken utility pole. He found shingles on the roof crumbling and aluminum foil tacked to the ceiling to keep out the rain. The one-room home was heated by a propane oven; the bathroom was outside — a converted chicken coop.

Dietrich said he first got $100 in donations from fellow Rotary Club members to fix Mrs. Traylor's electrical service, but an electrician in the group volunteered to do the work

Then, Dietrich suggested the Rotarians pay to have a new roof and siding built on the old house. He found that was impractical because the structure was riddled with termites and dry rot.

So, he suggested building a new house and began organizing volun-

'Why couldn't you lead a spade?" West demanded. 'How could I tell?" East countered

CRUCIAL PLAY West blamed his partner, but the fault was his own. In an expert partnership West can indicate which ace he holds by the size of his play at the third trick

If West plays a low heart, his side entry is in a low suit (clubs); if a high heart, his entry is in a high suit (spades). West should therefore play the nine of hearts at the third trick and hope that his partner is expert enough to read his suit preference

ANSWER: Experts bid one spade. but most average players bid one notrump, reluctant to name so weak a suit. One notrump is safer if your partner is unreliable or if you yourself are uncomfortable playing an occasional hand with a very weak trump

Auto air conditioning course to start June 9

James Bramlett, director of the Community Services Department at Midland College, has issued a reminder that the four-week course in Automotive Air Conditioning begins June 9.

'This is an ideal course for this time of year,' Bramlett noted. "Students will gain a lot of knowledge and perhaps be able to save themselves some maintenance expense.'

Ernest Beck, course instructor, shows students how to check air conditioner belts, evaporator, compressor, hoses, clutch, condenser and dryer for proper operation. In addition to the regular check points, Beck instructs students in the proper way to evacuate, charge and check the system for leaks.

Classes meet between 9 a.m. and noon on Saturdays in the Occupational-Technical Shop. Course fee is $15.

Those wishing to take the course should pre-register now between 7 a.m. and noon and 12:30 and 5:30 p.m. through Thursday in room 140 of the Occ-Tech Building. More information may be obtained by calling 684-7851, extension 147 or 216.

New USDA predictions put cattle prices higher than predicted earlier

WASHINGTON (AP) - New projections by the Agriculture Department show that market prices of slaughter cattle are expected to average around 5.5 percent higher this summer than predicted less than two

The latest estimate is for Choice-grade steers to average in a range of $74 to $76 per 100 pounds in the third quarter of this year, about the same as the April-June level now anticipated.

On April 3, the department projected third-quarter steer prices at $70 to $72 per 100 pounds, up from what looked then to be a second-quarter level in the range of $69 to $71.

The higher estimates were included as part of an analysis of the poultry and egg situation, which is related to beef and pork.

According to the figures, market steer prices are expected to ease by this fall and then average in a range of $71 to $73 per 100 pounds in the

Hog prices were indicated in a second-quarter range of $45 to $47 per 100 pounds, $44 to $46 in the third, and $41 to $43 in the fourth quarter of this

Meanwhile, USDA officials have asked for an investigation into why retail beef prices keep rising despite relatively stable prices for live

Pork prices at supermarkets, on the other hand, have been declining as a result of lower hog prices. Pork prices are expected to ease even more in the near future. USDA sources indicate.

Hired farm workers' earnings up 10 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) - Although their pay varies widely, hired farm workers on the average are getting about 10 percent more in cash wages than they did a year ago, according to the Agriculture Department.

The latest quarterly survey, made in the week of April 8-14, showed that farm workers paid on the basis of hourly cash wages averaged $3.42 an hour, up 11 percent from $3.08 a year

Farm wage rates based on all types of payment arrangements averaged $3.39 when converted to an hourly basis, up 9.7 percent from $3.09 in the same period of last year, the report

Within that average, those who performed piecework earned the most when their earnings were converted to an hourly wage - an average of $4.26 an hour, up 8.4 percent from $3.93 a year ago.

The quarterly survey showed that 1.05 million hired workers were employed on the nation's farms, a decline of 7 percent from almost 1.1 million a year earlier. Approximately 46 percent of the hired farm workers received housing, room and board, meals or other perquisites in addition to cash wages, the survey found. That was up one percentage point from a year ago. The most frequent benefit received was housing, which involved 19 percent of the workers, followed by room and board, 12 percent.

No attempt has been made by the department to assign a cash value to housing, food and other benefits that farm workers may get in addition to wages However, the surveys indicate that employers themselves assign substantial values to the prequisites. For example, the report said workers getting room and board earned an average of $2.42 an hour in cash wages besides, compared to $2.24 a year ago, an 8 percent increase in the cash

The report said 38 percent of all the hired workers were on farms using nine or more such employees, the same share as a year ago

Truck driver's trial moved in move surprising many

ROBY, Texas (AP) - Williams Clarence Dixon, charged with involuntary manslaughter in connection with a truck-school bus crash whick killed five persons last December, had his trial moved to Colorado City Tuesday. A tentative trial date was set for Monday following a closed door hearing with State District Judge Weldon Kirk and lawyers for both sides. Jury selection was to have started Tuesday, and potential jurors were on

The change of venue caught many by surprise because Kirk had denied a change of venue following a lengthy hearing two weeks ago. District Attorney Frank Ginzel announced Tuesday he had withdrawn his objection to the trial move.

The Dec. 8 accident between an oil field service truck and a McCaully High School bus also injured 22. The bus carried the boys and girls basketball

Store beef costs keep rising despite stable cattle prices

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Department officials want to know why retail beef prices keep rising despite a two-month period of relatively stable prices for live cattle.

The question broke into the open last Friday when Howard Hjort, the department's chief economist, announced he had asked for an investigation by USDA and other federal agencies, including the Council on Wage and Price Stability, into what he considers to be the fat spreads in prices between farmers and consumers.

Hjort is particularly interested in looking at the beef situation. Pork prices at supermarkets have been declining as a result of lower hog prices, and are expected to ease a bit more in the near future. Beef, however, is another matter.

The latest USDA figures, which are based on weekly surveys of supermarket prices and other information, show that through mid-May the average retail price of beef was more than $2.38 a pound. as measured on an all-cut basis.

That was up 2.3 percent from less than $2.33 a pound in April. The mid-May price also was up almost 5.5 percent from the March average of less than $2.26 a pound, and it was up 28.1 percent from less than $1.86 a year ago.

Choice steers, meanwhile, averaged $76.52 per 100 pounds in the first two weeks of May, up only 1.2 percent from the April average of $75.60. But the mid-May price was 6.3 percent above the average of $71.96 on steers brought in the full month of March. Hjort contends, however, that, since mid-March, steer prices have been fairly steady - not like the rapid gains in the first two weeks of March and in the previous few months. According to the latest figures showing retail prices as of mid-May averaging slightly more than

$2.38 a pound, here is how USDA says the breakdown The so-called farm value of beef at the supermarket was put at less than $1.55 a pound. That is not what producers get for live animals, since it takes about 2.4 pounds of live steer to make one pound of

It is, however, their share of what consumers pay for beef at retail stores, according to USDA calcula-

A year earlier the farm value of a pound of beef retailing for $1.86 a pound was about $1.25, meaning that the producer's share increased 23.8 percent by mid-May

The price spread between farmers and consumers, meanwhile, was 83.6 cents a pound for beef as of mid-May, compared with 61 cents a pound a year ago. That was an increase of 37 percent.

Hiort acknowledges that there is a lag in passing along changes in livestock prices to meat shoppers, particularly when farm prices decline or — as in the case of cattle - level off. But he says two months of relative stability in the cattle market should be enough for stabilizing retail

USDA wants new ways to conserve

WASHINGTON (AP) - Research projects in three states are being helped by Agriculture Department grants, totaling $146,000, to find new ways of conserving water and energy in irrigation.

At the University of Idaho, scientists will use $58,000 to modify an existing computer program on irrigation system planning and operation.

An additional $88,000 has been granted scientists at Clemson University in South Carolina and North Carolina State University to develop irrigations schedules for corn and soybeans, based on soil water management technology and soil and crop charac-

Hearing to open to investigate poison mixed with road oil

CORRIGAN, Texas (AP) - A congressional hearing was to open today to investigate reports industrial chemicals were mixed with road oil in five East Texas subdivisions.

Residents and environmental officials are expected to testify at the hearing, near the site of the roadwork that triggered the initial complaint. Presiding at the hearing will be U.S. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Texas, chairman of the House Commerce Committee's subcommittee on oversight and investigations.

In announcing the hearing earlier this month, Eckhardt said "We intend to find out where the breakdown in the system occurred and why."

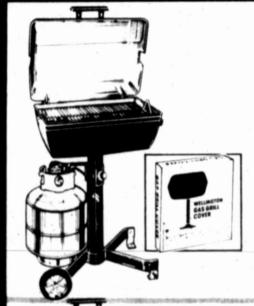

Eckhardt described the situation as "serious" and said "the public has the right to know just what happened, how much of this activity has gone on and whether or not there may be still other 'Corrigans' as yet undiscovered."

Officials of three companies have been subpoean-

aed to testify at the hearing.
