Construction of the $1.5 million Allison Permian Basin Center for Radiation Therapy in Midland could be caught in governmental tangles indefinitely because of a request from an Odessa hospital official.

Odessa's Medical Center Hospital has requested a project rehearing before the Region 12 Health Systems Agency, it was learned Wednesday, the same day on which announcement of the proposed center was made.

That rehearing request will be considered by the project review committee during a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the conference room of the Permian Basin Regional Planning

Before the center can be built, a certificate of need must be granted by the Texas Health Facilities Commission. Before that group will grant a certificate of need, the Health Systems Agency must review and comment on the project.

A negative comment from the HSA, according to HSA spokesman Steve Oliver, could seriously affect the

The HSA did approve the project at a May 21 meeting by a 14 to five vote, with the five against votes reportedly having been cast by Ector County representatives. That approval now is being contested

If the HSA's project review committee decides to rehear the matter, procedurally speaking, the application will be back to square one. The committee can, however, decide the request for reconsideration had no merit and send the application on with the favorable comment already approved

istrator for Odessa's Medical Center Hospital, filed the request for a rehearing, citing procedural points he said were not followed in the original Basic thrust of the objection, Gibbs said late Wednesday, was that the "very orderly and deliberate process set by the HSA for process and review was not followed.

"Essentially," he said, "the time frame was awfully compressed" on the hearings and review of the pro-judge ruled today that President Carter has acted unconstitutionally in trying to enforce his "voluntary" anti-inflation guidelines by threatening to withhold federal contracts.

Dealing a heavy setback to Carter's anti-inflation program, U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker ruled that Carter cannot legally deny federal contracts to companies that violate his wage-price guidelines.

"President Carter has exceeded the authority conferred on him by the Constitution by seeking to control incomes and thereby prices through the procurement power," Parker ruled in the first case that directly challenges Carter's program.

"The court, therefore, reluctantly concludes that the president's anti-inflation program cannot be sustained," the judge said.

There was no immediate comment from White House or Justice Department officials.

Although the ruling strips Carter's guidelines of their only weapon of enforcement, the president apparently can continue to maintain an antiinflation program based solely on voluntary cooperation from business and

The ruling was a major victory for organized labor, which filed the suit challenging Carter's program.

The government, which has defended the program as being legal, was expected to appeal the decision. The suit, pressed by an unlikely coalition of labor leaders and Republican congressmen, enraged that Carter overstepped his authority granted by Congress when he threatened to deny federal contracts worth $5 million or more to companies that violate the guidelines.

An estimated $40 billion to $56 billion a year in federal contracts is

The judge acknowledged that "inflation is a vexing and festering domestic problem. It has plagued, without discrimination, all segments of our population and its impact has been felt in every facet of our political Parker added: "The efforts of the president, however well-intentioned and commendable they may be, must be predicated upon executive power conferred by the Constitution or by a congressional enactment pursuant to the Constitution.

In this case, the judge said, "the program establishes a mandatory system of wage and price controls, unsupported by the law."

Parker rejected the government's argument that the guidelines are voluntary, saying "the program imposes a real penalty" which makes it a mandatory program.

The program already has been weakened by mounting attacks from unions, which say they will not comply because the guidelines are failing to slow inflation

But Carter said Wednesday he intends to "stick with" the guidelines, adding that it still will require some time for his seven-month-old program to be effective.

Economic slowdown indicated

Index declines by record 3.3 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) - A government index designed to forecast economic trends declined by a record 3.3 percent in April, providing new evidence that a sharp slowdown in the economy is under way.

The previous record decline in the composite index of leading indicators was a 3 percent drop in September 1974, during the depths of the 1974-1975

The decline in the April index was the fourth in the last six months, the Commerce Department said in today's report. However, it revised the March index upward to show an 0.3 percent increase instead of the 0.5

Midland man dies following accident at swimming pool

A 47-year-old Midland man died Wednesday night following an apparent swimming pool accident at the Mid-Continent Inn at Holiday Hill Road and Interstate 20, Midland police officials said.

Charles W. Hollum, who had rented a room at the motel, was pronounced dead by Peace Justice Robert Pine at 9: 55 p.m.

cause of death will depend on results of an autopsy, but that he appeared to have died from drowning.

Police officials said the official in the water and yelled for help. Two other men helped Winsley pull Hollums from the pool, according to police reports.

Attempts to revive Hollums were unsuccessful.

posed center. A public hearing on the application, project-review board meeting to consider the public hearing testimony and a governing body meeting to consider the provject-review board's findings were held the same night, Gibbs said.

Members of the project review committee received a 40-page staff report on the application just before the public hearing, he said.

"I don't feel there was adequate time given for consideration of an application of this magnitude."

Medical Center Hospital objected to the application at the public hearing, he said, on the basis that the facility would duplicate facilities available in Odessa and was not needed. Medical Center offers cobalt radiation therapy only, while the Midland center, to be built adjacent to Midland Memorial Hospital, would provide several different types of radiation and chemotherapy.

Gibbs contended the Midland facility would not meet criteria set by the HSA's cancer task force report in its five-year medical plan. That plan lists as an objective, "to develop a specialized plan to determine an appropriate level of cancer care needed in the Permian Basin by 1981."

Gibbs said Medical Center officials interpreted that to mean there should be a year or two of study to determine the number and types of tumors and the facilities needed to treat

Midland hospital officials, however, noted Wednesday that in 1977, the last year for which figures are available, more than 800 tumors were reported in the 17-county Region 12 area, and that many patients had to be referred to distant treatment centers.

The $1.5 million for the cancer treatment center in Midland, to be operated by the Midland County Hospital District, was donated by Midlander Helon Y. Allison in honor of the memory of her husband, James N. Allison Sr. and her son James N. Allison Jr.

Commuter plane crash kills 17

OWLS HEAD, Maine (AP) - A Downeast Airlines commuter plane from Boston crashed near the Maine coast, killing 17 of the 18 persons aboard, authorities said.

Seven bodies were found late Wednesday and the rest were discovered early today in or near the wreckage, said William Reinhardt, a Knox County deputy sheriff.

One passenger, John M. McCafferty, 16, of Searsmont, was in "serious but stable condition" at a Rockport hospital. The youth, who suffered a broken leg and head injuries, was shouting for help as rescuers ar-

Police and sheriff's deputies had searched until early today, hoping to find survivors in the muddy, heavily wooded area where the turboprop De-Havilland Twin Otter went down Wednesday night en route from Boston to Owls Head.

The airline was withholding the names of the passengers and crew members until the bodies could be identified and relatives notified.

Flight 46 carried 16 passengers, a pilot and a co-pilot on the 45-minute trip from Boston's Logan Airport.

The Canadian-built aircraft crashed shortly before 9 p.m. after the pilot made a routine request for permission to divert the flight to Augusta because of poor weather conditions at Knox County Airport in Owls Head, said the Federal Aviation Administration.

But the air traffic controller at Brunswick Naval Air Station lost radio contact with the pilot at 8:43 p.m., said FAA spokesman Mike Ciccarelli, and "the next thing we knew we got word of a crash.

Sheriff Carlton Thurston said the plane lost its wing when it hit a tree on Otter Point and crashed about 400 yards from the beach. Witnesses said the plane crashed into a large rock and flipped over onto its back.

Broken bodies protruded from the wreckage as medical examiners tried to assess the carnage. Officials at the scene radioed for body bags, saying "we need plenty." A temporary morgue was set up on the grounds of the Rockport hospital.

The Knox County Sheriff's Department said it received the first report of the crash at 9: 13 p.m. and found the wreckage 25 minutes later.

An investigator from the National Transportation Safety Board was scheduled to arrive at the scene today with FAA representatives. Downeast is a small air taxi service

MidTran, a public transportation system being readied for Midland, may not need additional monies from the federal government to purchase necessary radio equipment for the vehicles, the Chamber of Commerce board of directors were told Wednes-

All three of those cities have pledged the free use of public facilities and other services Kessler said Philadelphia tossed in another $1 million in cash as an inducement Kessler said that New York, the site of the 1976 convention, is the odds-on favorite to snare the 1980 conclave.

Sunlight streams through the smoky interior of a house destroyed by fire at 2115 N. Butternut Lane Wednesday, as a Midland fireman douses embers. (Staff Photo by Bruce Partain)

Arson may be cause of vacant house fire

Arson may be the cause of a fire that virtually destroyed a three-bedroom vacant house in northeast Midland late Wednesday afternoon and damaged a house next door.

"Being a vacant house like this, it probably was set by persons unknown," said Jerry Petree, assistant fire marshal who investigated fire.

The fire, at 2115 N. Butternut Lane. was reported at 6:24 p.m. - the same time another fire was reported several blocks over at 1405 E. Chestnut Ave., where heat from a hot-water heater did no damage to the house owned by Precious Coleman but apparently burned some clothes, fire-men said.

Clothes piled next to the heater caught afire, but the blaze was extinguished before firemen arrived. They then joined other firemen in fighting the blaze on Butternut Lane.

Flames at the vacant house were rolling and leaping 30 feet into the sky and smoke was billowing by the time firemen arrived in four pumping

"It was completely involved (in flames)," said Fire Department Lt. Bob Wooten

He said firemen concentrated their water flow on the neighboring house, 2113 N. Butternut Lane, where Minnie Taylor, 58, lives.

The northside of the Taylor carport and roof were in flames.

The fire was reported by 20-year-old Glenn Hunt, who was sitting with Mrs. Taylor's grandson, Rodney Taylor, 18, in a car in the Taylor carport when a neighbor, Wally Zarate, 13, rode up on his motorbike and said the house was on fire.

"It took us 30 seconds to decide who was going to call the police department, (rather) the fire department," said Hunt. "They (firemen) got here in about."

five to 10 minutes, and it (the house) just went up in smoke about the time. they got here.' In the meantime, Hunt said he grabbed a garden hose and sprayed

water on the flame-engulfed house

"until it got too hot; then I had to back Earlier in the afternoon, Mrs. Taylor said she "smelled something burning" when she arrived home from work about 3 p.m. — almost 3½ hours before the house broke out in flames.

"I didn't think anything about it. I couldn't see anything (fire), so I just got comfortable. When you don't see smoke or anything, you don't think too much about it.

The charred house, which was built in the 1950s, has been vacant for at least 10 years, said another neighbor, Frances Ratliff. "I don't see how that thing caught on fire by itself," Mrs. Taylor said, as she was looking over the charred ruins.

"Somebody helped it," surmised Mrs. Ratliff.

Firefighters also responded to a fire at 2605 Terrace St. at 5:52 p.m. Wednesday. The fire was the result of grease on the stove burning, according to fire department reports. The fire was out on arrival and firefighters returned to the station at 6:05 p.m., officals said.

Estes trial set June 13 in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) -Paroled West Texas swindler Billie Sol Estes is scheduled to stand trial June 13 in federal court here on charges he defrauded investors and conspired to conceal assets from the Internal Revenue Service. Four indictments handed down Feb. 22 were consolidated by U.S. District Judge Robert Hill in a Wednesday hearing. They are similar to those that earned the former wheelerdealer a 15-year prison term in 1963.

Hill denied a defense motion to sever the trial of Estes' former secretary, Sue Goolsby, but ensuing legal procedures resulted in Hill ordering a separate trial for her anyway Estes and Ms. Goolsby had been slated to go to trial June 4, but Hill Wednesday granted defense attorney G. Brockett Irwin more time to study prosecution evidence

The charges accuse Estes and Ms. Goolsby of defrauding J.H. Burkett, an Abilene used car dealer, out of $50,000. Burett also has filed a civil suit against Estes.

The parolee also faces charges of intertate transportation of fraudulently obtained securities, conspiracy and concealing assets from the Raymond K. Horton of Midland and M.L. Copenhaven of Houston also were indicted in the same case and face trial immediately after the completion of the Estes-Goolsby case.

Estes earned a reputation as a whiz kid in the late 1950s and early 1960s, but gained more notoriety when he was convicted of fraud in 1963. He had built a fortune on mortgages that used non-existent anhydrous ammonia tanks as collateral. He was paroled in 1971. One of the recent indictments against Estes spells out a scheme to defraud investors using non-existent oil field steam cleaners.

Estes pleaded guilty last Oct. 18 to one count of conspiracy to conceal assets from the IRS and mail fraud as part of a plea bargain with federal prosecutors. But Estes withdrew the plea after U.S. District Judge Eldon Mahon rejected the agreement.

NEW YORK (AP) - "When fire protection is taken away from a neighborhood, it's usually assumed ple don't have any input. Well, we certainly proved that's not the case in Northside."

Fred Ringler was telling a visitor the other day how he and his neighbors foiled City Hall and started a

"People's Firehouse" to help protect their community against fires.

Seated alongside Ringler was Adam Venesky, who earned the name "The Chief" during the struggle. The tiny grocery store Venesky runs is just across a narrow Brooklyn street from an even tinier storefront office. What appears on the windows of that office needs some explanation:

First, a small sign in Polish saying that that language is spoken, and above it, a large American flag: Northside is a shirt-sleeve community of about 12,000, more than 80 percent European-American, about 60 percent elderly.

It is a north-Brooklyn community that values work and patriotism, tucked away from the glamor and squalor of other parts of New York

Its rows of wood-framed housing look neat and well-maintained, but a bit tired. Also, very fire-prone.

Posted on the storefront above the American flag is a sign, "People's Firehouse No. 1," the proper title for the story of a 2½-year struggle for community survival that begins at the height of New York's fiscal crisis in November 1975.

Northside, which since 1959 had already lost five fire companies, a police precinct and half its garbage collections, learned three years ago it was to lose its last neighborhood firehouse because of then-Mayor Abraham Beame's fiscal cuts.

On Thanksgiving eve 1975, about 300 angry residents led by Venesky decided to occupy and hold hostage the firehouse and the firetruck inside until a regular fire company was returned to the community. The occupation was to last 15 months. During that time, recalls Ringler, he and a few others lived in the firehouse full-time, sleeping on rotted mattresses, and joined frequently by neighborhood volunteers who kept vigil. Letting their guard down for even an hour would have meant that ever-watchful police or fire marshals might have retaken the firehouse. "We even gave a neighborhood junkie a job guarding the firehouse, and eventually he came out completely straight, got married and got a job, said Venesky.

Join with your Safeway Store in the FIGHT AGAINST INFLATION . . .

Our stores have an adequate selection of beef to meet your needs. Beef supplies are down over the past years, which is the reason for the higher beef prices. Other meats, such as poultry and pork are in more plentful supply.

Now is a good time to buy chickens, turkeys and pork, all of which freeze well. Remember, too, that it is always less expensive to buy chickens and turkeys whole and cut them to the needs of your family.

the needs of your family. May begins the seasonal peak for milk production so supplies of cheese, butter and nonfall dry milk should be on the increase. You can help save money by using reconstituted nonfall dry milk in any recipe calling for regular milk. Since fruits and vegetables are seasonal in nature, buy them during the peak of their season. Fresh fruits such as apricots, sweet cherry and peach harvests are just beginning. Good buys on these fruits should become more common as the harvest continues.

Apples and grapefruit seasons are ending and this may cause prices to rise a bit. Bananas should be a good buy during the summer months as supplies increase. Raisins will sfay high all year because of rain damage to the 1978 crop. Potatoes are abundant and prices reasonable. Nutritious low in calories, potatoes go so well with so many dishes and are easy to prepare.

Scientists can detect source of dust particles using new technique

By JOHN BRONSON

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Airborne dust pollution is difficult to trace to its source, but scientists here say they have developed a way to "fingerprint" particles in what could become a powerful tool in cleaning the na-

The method, which must undergo further tests, can help scientists tell if a piece of dust came from a steel mill, a power plant, or a road, said Edward Fasiska, president of Materials Consultants & Laboratories of Murrys-

"This is the first technique that can do this," he said in a recent interview.

"Until now, environmental agencies really didn't know where the source of particulates was. All they knew was how much pollution there was in a tiny they may not be visible to the EPA scientist Robert Stevens cautioned that the technique must be studied in more depth.

"It has a lot of promise. Combined with EPA technology, a powerful analytical tool will evolve," Stevens said in a telephone interview from EPA's research lab in North Carolina, where he is chief of the inorganic pollutant analysis branch. The Murrysville firm developed the process by combining common laboratory instruments — a scanning electron microscope, an X-ray chemical analyzer and two computers.

Pollution samples are collected on thin sheets of film. In seconds, an electron beam analysis measures the size and shape of a speck, collects its chemical characteristics and stores the information in the computer.

The computer categorizes particles based on chemistry, weight and volume to tell scientists what particulates were in the air when the sample was taken.

By matching the characteristics of particles taken from an overall air sample with one from a single source, analysts will have a clear picture of the source of pollution and its extent. Present techniques depend on bulk analysis, which is less precise. Fasiska described bulk sampling as "having 100 bottles and wanting to know what's in each one.'

American interests

It may be news in some quarters, but this country's stake in the security and peaceful development of non-Communist nations in Southeast Asia did not evaporate when the North Vietnamese army marched into Saigon four years ago.

JAMES N. ALLISON (1902-1975)

The five member states of ASEAN - the Association of Southeast Asian Nations - now represent the core of American interests in the region. Taken together, Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia, and the Philippines contain a population of 231 million, a rich assortment of natural resources, including oil. and a strategic position along the rim of the Western Pacific commanding the sea lanes to the Indian Ocean.

Retention of these states as friends and, in the cases of Thailand and the Philippines, as allies serves a wide range of American political, economic, and military objectives.

However, Communist victories in Vietnam, Cambodia, and Laos in 1975 and the withdrawal of American military forces from Indochina substantially reduced our ability to safeguard the region's security.

Thailand remains the most threatened of these friends, all the more so since the Vietnamese occupation of Cambodia last January. With the Vietnamese Communists also in control of Laos, Thailand must contend with the possibility of hostile infiltration along a porous, 1,200mile frontier with Cambodia and Communist insurgency in northeast Thailand that dates back to the 1960s has gradually expanded since 1975, due presumably to increased support from Vietnam.

Malaysia is also troubled with a nagging Communist guerrilla problem along its border with Thailand.

For the moment, neither of these insurgencies poses a serious threat. But Thailand in particular is in need of some timely support.

Historically, the Thai Communists have owed their allegience to Peking. Thus the Carter administration can bolster Thailand's security by privately pressuring China to restrain its guerrilla allies. The Chinese should not be difficult to persuade as Peking is preoccupied with checking the spread of Vietnamese and Soviet influence in Indochina. A stable Thailand is a useful counter to Vietnamese expansion and thus neatly fits the immediate policy objectives of

JAMES N. ALLISON JR. (1931-1978)

In the meantime, the United States should strengthen Thailand against the potential threat from Vietnam by continuing to sell the Thais the defensive military equipment and weapons they require. Moreover, the Carter administration should publicly reaffirm its adherence to the mutual security provisions of the Manila Pact of 1954. The treaty formalizes American support for Thailand's independence and territorial integrity while leaving open the question of how the United States should react were Thailand to be invaded Singapore, Indonesia, and the Philippines face no immediate military threat. But even these countries rely on a continued American military presence in the Western Pacific as irreplaceable long-range security. insurance.

Although the Carter administration insists it intends to retain this country's position as a military power on the periphery of Asia, the Vietnam debacle has caused our friends to count deeds over words. Since 1975, U. S. military forces have been reduced in South Korea, Thailand, the Philippines, Okinawa, Japan, Taiwan, and Guam. In ASEAN capitals, these withdrawals hardly appear to be the actions of a nation committed to remaining a power in the Western Pacific.

Inevitably, defeat in Vietnam had an adverse impact on American interests throughout Southeast Asia. Now, four years after the fall of Saigon, Phnom Penh, and Vientiane, it is time for the United States to strengthen its ties with the rest of Southeast Asia and to demonstrate its special concern for the security and development of the ASEAN

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Shah could have been 'curbed'

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - Locked in the files of the Central Intelligence Agency is startling evidence that the Nixon administration could have stopped the disastrous oil price rise, which threw the Western world into an economic tailspin in 1974.

The secret papers identify the shah of Iran as the driving force behind the great oil gouge. Saudi Arabia repeatedly urged the Nixon administration to help persuade the shah to hold down oil prices.

Even after the increases had gone into effect, the Saudis offered to force prices back down by selling oil at public auction. Economists agree this would have broken the back of the international oil cartel.

Yet the Nixon crowd made no effort to bring the shah into line. This convinced the Saudis, according to the secret documentation, that the United States was conspiring with the shah to keep prices up.

The Saudi oil minister, Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, complained in a secret message to Washington: "There are those amongst us who think that the U.S. administration does not really object to an increase in oil prices. There are even those who think that you encourage it for obvious political reasons and that any official position taken to the contrary is merely to cover up that fact."

No one really doubted that the United States had the clout to stop the shah from pushing up oil prices. The shah not only depended upon the United States for military support, but he owed his very throne to the United States.

Top officials in both the shah's regime and the Nixon administration have told us that the U.S. hold on the shah certainly should have been strong enough to restrain his oil greed. Later, indeed, Richard Nixon's successor in the White House, Gerald Ford, had no trouble persuading the shah to stop his clamor for higher blocking another huge increase. Then why did the Nixon administration permit the shah to drive up oil prices, at such a terrible cost to the U.S. economy without a protest? And why did the Nixon administration give the shah virtually a blank check to purchase more U.S. weapons than his armed forces could handle? It almost seems as if the Nixon crowd put the shah's wishes ahead of vital U.S. interests. Why?

The secret papers single out Henry Kissinger as the shah's staunchest champion inside the Nixon policy councils. He opposed using pressure tactics to stop the shah from raising

He wrote letters to the shah that one source called "obsequious." Also the foreign policy wizard often went out of his way to drop by Iran and brief the shah on international developments.

Fortune magazine reported that the shah's man in Washington, Ardeshir Zahedi, had a "direct line to his friend Henry Kissinger." The Iranians who took over the shah's embassy after the revolution found evidence that Kissinger used to consult with Zahedi once or twice a week

Why did Kissinger court the unreliable and unstable shah so assiduously? Kissinger explained to us that the shah was a crucial ally who dominated the strategic Persian Gulf area. "You have to remember we needed his support," said Kissinger, to protect U.S. interests in the Persian Gulf where most of the world's oil tankers fill up

But perhaps it should be mentioned in passing that Kissinger came out of the Rockefeller camp. He was a consultant and researcher for the late Nelson Rockefeller who touted him to be Nixon's foreign policy adviser and gave Kissinger a $50,000 gift. Palace sources say the Rockefellers have had close financial ties to the shah for 18

Kissinger told us that he was never involved in the Rockefellers' commercial activities until he left government and that his present services for the bank are purely advisory.

Kissinger acknowledged that he had not pressed the shah to lower oil prices at first and that the shah "talked a tough game." But Kissinger contended he tried to hold down prices by assuring that oil would be plentiful shah kept his daily oil production at six million barrels. We never appreciated how important this was to us," said the former secretary of state.

At President Ford's behest. Kissinger later urged the shah to join the Saudis in holding down prices. But this, he admitted, was long after prices already had quadrupled.

He confirmed that he had made "five or six" special trips to brief the shah and insisted his letters were not 'obsequious' but merely "respect-

NBC jokes are on the increase, especially among TV critics who liken the reborn NBC peacock to a plucked chicken. This must stop. NBC, just like you-know-who, has suffered enough.

They ought to lock up and throw away the key of the demented sickies who scrawled on the wall of the RCA Building in New York, "Bring back Howdy Doody.'

Only a moron could write such a thing. Doesn't he know that Doody is retired and Floyd Kalber's contract has several years to go?

Lomax, like the old family farm, just ain't what it used to be

LOMAX — What's new in Lomax? "Well, we had a rain," farmer Neil Fryar said right at planting sea-

Nothing much happens around here anymore outside of the changing of the seasons and the rare rainy days and the more common dry spells.

"Everybody has moved into town," said Fryar.

A relatively few large-family farms and 12-row diesel tractors have replaced the many small farms and two row-planters and cultivators powered by old Farmall or "Popping Johnny" tractors and, earlier, teams of mules and workhorses.

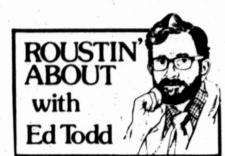

Fryar, 49, and his son Stevie, a rodeo bulldogger, farm 3,000 acres in Howard and Martin counties. Another son, Danny, farms 1,800 to 2,000

"At one time," said Evelyn Adkins, a farmer's wife, "a quarter section (160 acres) could care take of a family. Now, it takes several hundred or a thousand acres." Or more.

The family farm ain't what it used

Neither is Lomax.

Fifty-five years ago, on the last day of 1923, a cotton farmer named Louis E. Lomax moved here in team-drawn wagons from the old Moore community seven miles north of Big Spring. Lomax is 17 miles southwest of to form a farming community," said 80-year-old A.J. Stallings, who moved here with Lomax, his father-in-law. Stallings married Lomax's oldest daughter, Odessa.

The wagons they moved in weren't covered like pioneers used generations earlier when "pulling up stakes" and relocating across the plains. Lomax was only a day's ride from Moore

And the new community and its scattered farm houses and barns took on the name of Lomax.

The community grew. A school house was built.

"At one time, we had three teachers and around a hundred students," said

That was in the 1930s, when a woman, Arah Phillips, coached the winningest Lomax boys basketball team, the blue-and-white cladded

"They used to beat Sweetwater, Colorado City, Big Spring, Stanton and probably Midland," said Mrs.

Adkins. She was the team's mascot. Mrs. Adkins can well recall the days of the Model T, but "I can't remember the horse-and-buggy

"I've lived here forever," she

For her, forever began in 1924. She was the "first white child born in this community," noted her father.

Today, the few children living in the community are bused into Stanton for their schooling.

Though long since closed as a school building, the old two-room school house is occasionally used for community gatherings.

"We used to have Sunday School and church in this old school building," said Stallings, "and we used to have a pretty good crowd."

And there used to be a grocery store here; it has long since gone. There used to be a gymnasium; it's been torn down. About the only business here, outside of farming, is the cotton gin, Planters Gin Co.

But it won't be ginning for sometime now - until harvest time. The cottonseeds are planted, and the growing season is at hand.

"We're hoping for more rain," said

Elvis Presley's jet for sale for $3.8 million

WASHINGTON (AP) - For a while they considered melting it down and casting it as memorial medals, but in the end the owners of Elvis Presley's Convair 880 jet decided they didn't have the business courage to do that. So they're trying to sell it whole for $3.8 million.

Sales managers Bob Frederick and Ray Henderson of a 19-year-old firm known as Omni International Jet Trading say at that price Elvis' jet will sell for only $1.6 million or so more than its base value.

Another used Convair 880 in slightly better condition is being offered for $2.2 million. But sentiment adds to the worth of Elvis'.

Although Omni is advertising Presley's jet in the Wall Street Journal and the trade press, Frederick and Henderson professed some reluctance to talk about it.

They fear a deluge of interest from Presley fans who tend, Frederick says, "to be fanatical."

As it is, he said, Omni gets five calls a day from fans who would like the plane or a piece of it or at least the chance to stroke it.

Concern about fans' outrage was a factor in the decision to give up the idea of melting the jet and having it

It was to be marketed under the slogan, "Buy a piece of Elvis' tail." Little swatches of the seat covers would be mounted on plaques and sold

This old farm house that's slowly returning to dust was built by Louis E. Lomax, who lent his name to the Lomax community after he moved there on the last day of 1923. His two grandsons, Jimmy Stallings of Stanton and Louis Stallings of Big Spring, own the place. Jimmy Stallings tried farming in the 1950s "in the drought but got disgusted," quit and be-

Separated Siamese twins recovering from surgery

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - For the first time in their lives, 19-month-old Siamese twins Lisa and Elisa Hansen are sleeping in separate beds, recovering from the delicate surgery that separated their fused skulls.

As soon as medically possible, their parents, David and Patricia Hansen of Ogden, will be able to hold Lisa and Elisa in their arms, one at a time, and cuddle them like any infants, officials

"We've become very close to the girls. They're like members of our own family," said Dr. Stephen Minton, a spokesman for the medical team that labored for 161/2 hours to separate the twins.

"I love them. I want them to be perfectly normal," Minton said Wednesday with tears in his eyes. He said the doctors and nurses working with the twins know many things could go wrong in the weeks ahead. The girls were being monitored for signs of infection or bleeding, but Minton said they appeared to tolerate the operation very well.

Teams of surgeons tied off shared blood vessels, separated the girls' skulls and covered their exposed brains with specially treated human tissue that resists rejection and will gradually be absorbed into the twins' own bodies after they develop their own covering for the brain.

In addition, folds of skin from each

It will be some time before doctors know how normal Lisa's and Elisa's lives will be, Minton said.

Doctors who had thought the girls' brains were separate found during surgery that the brains joined at one point in the lower rear area, he said. 'There are several functions which that section affects," he said, "and we don't know the exact location (of the joining), but some emotions, smell and so on are located there."

He said it was too early to tell whether Lisa or Elisa would suffer brain damage as a result of the separation. Gradual retardation was considered likely had the girls not been separated, he said.

Other attempts to separate Siamese twins who shared extensive cranial tissue have resulted in retardation or death, Minton said.

The girls may need additional cosmetic surgery, although he said each will have a "perfectly normal forehead with a line of hair" where it

Erika Forte, a medical social worker assigned to the family, said it is impossible to assess the feelings Lisa and Elisa have experienced since separation. "They are very young children and have been nurtured and loved and cared for very carefully."

Bishop College officials indicted by grand jury

DALLAS (AP) - Three top officials of a small predominantly black college have been indicted on a number of federal charges, including the misuse of more than $410,000 in employee pension

A federal grand jury Tuesday indicted President Milton Curry, Vice President Reginald Leffall and Assistant Vice President Walter Johnson of Bishop College, a school with less than 2,000 enrolled stu-

The three were also charged with making false statements to a bank to get new loans for the college or payment extensions on old loans — totaling $2.7

They were ordered to appear before a federal magistrate on Monday.
A 17-count indictment charged the college officials with defrauding the U.S. Labor Department by failing to account for $411,000 that was to be deposited in a federally protected pension fund. The indictment said they used money earmarked for the fund for personal business, including one in-stance when Leffall withdrew $250 from pension funds to pay for an appraisal of Curry's residence. which Leffall later bought. A separate indictment charged they obtained loans for the school by using as collateral money from the college's retirement fund.

DEAR ABBY

Guy's closet fit for a queen

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Concerning the wife who found a pair of panties in her husband's pickup truck: They could have been HIS! I'm a transvestite who had a similar experience when my ex-girlfriend went snooping through my closet and found my entire feminine wardrobe.

At first she thought I had a woman living with me, but when I showed her my wigs, padded bras and make-up she was convinced that they were mine. Abby, she didn't know what a transvestite was. She thought any man who enjoyed dressing in women's clothes was a "queer." Eventually we broke up.

There are many more transvestites than most people realize. We are not homosexuals, child molesters or perverts. We are friends, neighbors. relatives, responsible members of the community. We aren't interested in recruiting others to transvestisi want only acceptance and understanding from those we love, and the freedom to indulge in our favorite pastime in the privacy of our homes without fear of embarrassment. -ALBUQUERQUE T.V.

DEAR T.V.: It may come as a shock to many to learn that most men who enjoy dressing in women's attire privately are not at all effeminate unless "dressed." And their sexual behavior is strictly masculine!

DEAR ABBY: Bravo on your answer to the person who wanted to scream whenever some "ninny" congratulated the girl on her engagement or marriage. You said, "It's proper to congratulate the man and wish the girl luck, but in many instances it's the GIRL who deserves the congratulations and the man who needs the luck."

The following happened to me as I was leaving a restaurant. A newlywed couple I knew were entering, so I smiled and said sincerely to the couple, "Congratulations!"

The bride tartly replied, "You congratulate HIM, not ME!"

I smiled again and said, "Good luck to both of you!" (And boy, will they ever need it!). - ST. CLAIR SHORES, MICH.

The concensus of opinions of four foreign exchange students in Midland with the Youth for Understanding program on what their experiences here mean to them could be summarized as a better understanding and awareness of the American way of life and development within themselves of more selfreliance and ability to cope with new situations and associations.

The students, who are winding up the school year in Midland and Lee High Schools, are from Germany, Japan and Spain. The two whose home is Germany and the Japanese student are seniors at Lee High School, with the native of Spain as the sole senior at Midland High School.

They are Mamiko Yamada, age 17, of Tokyo, Japan; Wolfgang Bergter, age 18, of Brenen, Germany; Anja Lotz- active in events of the kat, age 17, of Frankfort, schools they attend, and Germany, and Nacho also in activities of the Martinez, age 17, of Madrid, Spain.

STANDING is a non-prcfit international student exchange organization which has exchanged more than 55,-000 students worldwide. Students aged 14 through 18 can participate in the program and live with a local family in one of 23 countries in Europe, Latin America, the Far East, Africa or Australia for a summer or a year.

Youth for Understanding students become regular family members in age 15. The Butterys their overseas country, participating in all facets of local life. Typically, students gain an interest which lasts a lifetime and provides an investment in their future, program officials say.

The students are selected through personal interviews with YFU representatives. Those chosen participate in orientation programs before their visits to foreign countries. After their stays abroad, they continue working with the program in their home countries.

The students, during a recent informal interview, all expressed favorble impressions about their stay in the Tall City. They are wondering, however, how they will be accepted by their classmates upon returning to their own schools. They are hoping they will be as well understood at home as they have been in their adopted schools.

ALL STUDENTS ARE families they are residing with in Midland.

COMFORT AND CONVENIENCE" Your way of living is a personal thing. Your decorating can enrich your life if it helps to make your family's day-to-day living more comfortable, pleasant and beautiful.

Seniors having all-night party

This column is the first of the best series of Chat ters that you will be reading in the school year t. come. Stay tuned for the latest on gossip, school ac tivities, and sports with Becky, Angela, Tracy and

CONGRATULATIONS seniors, for the day you've waited, worked, slaved and prayed for ... GRADUA TION! This is an end and a beginning ... After seeing if your diploma is authentic, you can BOOK-IT of over to the ALL NIGHT PARTY for a Thirsty Thurs day night that will only deflate your wallet $7. Jam to the "City River Band" and "Whiplash" for a Super Senior Night!

Baccalaureate service and reception Sunday even ing was a great success! Our thanks to all Counci. members who brought cookies and those officer that helped serve. They were greatly and heartily devoured by all!

LAST Friday night, the POWERFUL, PROUL PACK gave us a sneak preview of the kind of athletic prowess we'll be seeing more of in the near future: The annual Bill Mims' benefit game proved to be a great success as the Pack clashed at 12 to 12!

Now that we've got the seniors out of the way (?). our new recruits were shaping up at the Edison Band Banquet Friday at the YC. We are excitedly looking forward to a great 100 Club next year!

THIS year could not have been the great success it was without the help of Wayne Rector, owner of The Grapevine, who supplied the YC with all the up-date tunes for the disco. The records, however, would have been useless without the "San Sui Sound System." Along with our sincere thanks to the above, we are also grateful to the people who donated to our Disco Ball and lights. Because of the above concerned citizens, the Youth Center has been greatly improved.

The members of the YC sincerely thank: Mr. Stone and the MHS faculty, Mr. O'Neill (not Jimmy!) and the Midland Youth Center Board members for their concern and help during the past year.

But most of all we would like to thank you, the student, for your lunch-time support all year, and especially the past two months. They've been the best Rasco has seen in five years.

Rasco and all the Junior Council members wish you all a happy, safe and sober (?) SUMMER!! GO

Miss Little gains Rotary fellowship

Delaine Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Little of Midland, has been awarded the Rotary Foundation Fellowship for International Under-

The grant will enable Miss Little to study music therapy as related to the retarded at the Institute of Neurology in London, England.

The award, given by Rotary International through Rotary District 573, was granted on a competitive basis from a group of 15 graduate students from throughout West Texas. Miss Little is a 1972 graduate of Midland High School and attended West Texas State University. She has taken special courses at the Hospital for the Mentally Retarded in Georgetown, Del., and the Children's Retardation Center in Amarillo. Her vocational interests include music therapy and special education and music science.

The fellowships are awarded to outstanding university graduates for one academic year of graduate study in another country. They require recipients to act in the dual capacity of scholars and unofficial "ambassadors of good will," Rotary officials said.

Miss Little was sponsored by the Midland West Rotary Club.

The award is worth about $10,000, and represents an outstanding achievement both in academics and personal presentation, according to club chairman Dr. Truman E. Spires.

Student compiles enviable record

Midland High School valedictorian Bill Creager knows what it is like to be one in a million. He even knows what it is like to be one in three million. Named both a National Merit Scholar and a Presidential Scholar this month, the 18-year-old Creager arrived at his status as Presidential Scholar from among three million high school graduates and received the Merit Scholarship after successfully competing with a million participants in high schools across the nation.

Apparently not content with just two of the nation's highest academic honors, Creager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nance G. Creager, also is a state and local winner in activities ranging as far from the books as Junior Achievement President of the Year and seven first-division awards for French horn solos.

What's more, he was awarded the Brown Engineering Award from the Brown Foundation in Houston, three academic letters and the Cornell Award for Ingenuity in Math and Science. Still, he found time to serve on the student council and attend to duties as president of the German Club at MHS.

"It's not easy," Creager noted. "My grades and those awards all came about because of a lot of hard work. I don't know why people say there is no homework. I have piles of homework every night.

"I was up studying until 3 a.m. today, slept a couple of hours and got up to study again at 5 Creager gives much of the credit for his high achievements to his parents. "I was supported, but never really told to do aything after the fourth grade. By then you either have developed the motivation or you haven't, he said.

He added he inherited a tendency to "rock the boat just a little bit and battle conformity," though he said he relies on a talent for organization and logic when he is taking tests and writing themes. A career as an engineer or a life-work in science appeals to him most as a future use for his talents. Creager noted he is not likely to follow in the parents and geology as both his parents did. In the fall, he will enter Rice University, where his sister presently is a

His school career began in the first grade in Hobbs, N.M., and he entered Midland High School as a sophomore. He won't admit to a favorite teacher, but will name English as his favorite subject.

"English offers a creative outlet as opposed to the more rigorous structures of science and math,' Creager said.

Like most students, he expressed pride about his school. "I've been impressed by the knowledge and diversity offered me at Midland High.'

He has a good word, too, for the advanced technology offered in computer courses and science subjects and feels that Midland High is a "calm atmosphere in which to learn. "Also, I'm all for the honors courses. I took every one available to me. "High school has been a good learning time for me," he said, and added, "no, it hasn't been all A's. I made a C in government once." Why? "Procrastination," he smiled. "I deserved that C and I learned a lot from it.'

Creager doesn't plan to relax this summer after his years of work in high school.

After his audience with President Jimmy Carter this summer as a Presidential Scholar, he will fly to Salt Lake City, Utah, where he will join other top scholars for a "salute to excellence" from the Academy of Achievement.

When he returns home from the event, he plans to wait tables at a Midland restaurant for the sum-

"It will be a change," he said.

Presbyterians closer to union

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - The nation's two largest Presbyterian sects have concluded an historic meeting with reunion a step closer but differences still to be healed in their 119-year split.

The nine-day session which ended Wednesday marked the first time the two groups have met in the same place since ideological differences split the church during the Civil

The two groups agreed to a reunion on the synod level, the highest ranking body below the general assembly, but admitted it could be another decade before reunion is complete.

Differences surfaced in the closing days of the session, particularly on a boycott of the textile giant J.P. Stevens Co. and on aid to the World

Methodists appoint pastors

AMARILLO - Pastoral appointments for the coming year have been announced during the current spring meeting of the Northwest Texas Conference of the United Methodist

Included are pastoral appointments for Midland's United Methodist churches, as well as those for Methodist units in Stanton, Lamesa, Andrews, Big Spring and elsewhere in that area. These churches are within the jurisdiction of the Big Spring District of the Northwest Texas Confer-

The annual conference meeting is being held in Amarillo's Polk Street United Methodist Church, with Dr. Alsie H. Carleton, presiding bishop of the conference, presiding.

Midland's St. Mark's United Methodist Church is the only Methodist unit in that city which will have a change in pastors. The Rev. Robert Ford has been named to that post, to succeed Dr. J. Harold Cates who, after two years at St. Mark's, is being assigned to the pastorate of the Levelland First United Methodist Church At Levelland, he will succeed the Rev. J. Weldon McCormick (a former pastor at Midland's St. Mark's Church) who has been assigned to the Aldersgate UMC at Abilene. Ford, the new minister at St.

Mark's, has been serving as pastor of the Colorado City United Methodist Church for four years.

Returned to their posts for another year pastors of other Midland Methodist churches, including the Rev. Robert Netherland at Asbury UMC; Dr. Charles Lutrick and the Revs. Bill Weir and Jerry Wyatt at First UMC: the Rev. Claudius Minor at Hollowell UMC; Dr. O A McBrayer and the Rev. Royce Womack at St. Luke's UMC, and the Rev. Thomas Nelson at St. Paul UMC.

Big Spring's First Church has a new pastor, the Rev. Edwin Chappell, transferring from Aldersgate Church at Abilene. He succeeds Dr. J. Weldon Butler (a former pastor of Midland's St. Luke's UMC), who is transferred to the superintendency of the Plainview District of the United Methodist Church

At the Wesley UMC of Big Spring, the Rev. W.O. Rucker is the new pastor. He goes to that post from a four-year pastorate of Lamesa's Northridge UMC

In the Big Spring post, he succeeds the Rev. August Aamodt, pastor at Wesley UMC for the last two years, who is transferring to a church in

Succeeding Rucker as pastor of Lamesa Northridge Church as well as pastor of the Gail Circuit is the Rev. Oland Butler, who has served the last three years as pastor of pastor of Pampa's St. Paul UMC and pastor of LeFors Circuit

The Snyder Trinity United Methodist Church will have the Rev. James Merrell as its pastor for the coming

In that post and as pastor of the Dunn Circuit, he succeeds the Rev. Jene Greer who goes to the pastorate of Pampa St. Paul UMC and the Lefors Circuit.

Other Midland-area United Methodist pastors who have been reassigned to their posts for another year include the following: Andrews Means Memorial UMC, the Rev. Keith Wiseman, and Andrews Wesley Church, the Rev. Hazel House; Colorado City St. Luke Church and the Dorn Circuit, the Rev. Ishan Ardhuerumly; Lamesa First Church, the Rev. Alvis Cooley, with the Rev. Jack Webb as associaate; Seminole First Church, the Rev. Weldon Rives; Snyder First Church. the Rev. David Robertson, and Union-Ira Circuit of Snyder, the Rev. Douglas Stenburg; Stanton First Church, the Rev. Davis Edens.

Voyager 2 to examine lo's volcanoes, snow

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Voyager 2 spacecraft, racing toward a rendezvous with Jupiter, will take a longer look at Io, the planet's moon, than previously planned. Space agency officials say a land of volcanoes and blue snow deserves more atten-

People have known about the volcanoes since the first Voyager went by Jupiter in March. But the blue snow was discovered only recently while taking a closer look at some pictures of Io, scientists said Wednesday. Dr. Laurence Soderblom of the U.S.

Geological Survey said close examination of pictures of the reddish-yellow moon show areas near the South Pole that appear to be covered with a bluish substance. Two pictures taken six hours apart by Voyager 1 show a bluish glow developing within some surface cracks, he said. "It suggests eruptions of a gas, possibly sulfur dioxide," Soderblom said. "Freezing gas would form fine crystals or particles that scatter blue light and look blue.' Scientists announced the surprise finding at a National Aeronautics and Space Administration briefing at the annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union. The unmanned Voyager 1 is on its way to Saturn and a sister ship, Voyager 2, is 20 million miles from Jupiter and closing in for a July 9 flyby. NASA officials said both spacecraft are in good condition, although Voyager 2 has been using its backup radio system since the primary malfunctioned early in the mission.

Dr. Edward Stone of the California Institute of Technology said scientists have added a 10-hour picture-taking session of Io to the spacecraft's flight plan in hopes of getting a continuous record of volcanic activity in one region, he said.

At the briefing, Dr. John Pearl of Goddard Space Flight Center said preliminary infrared readings from Voyager 1 show Io's volcanoes are cooler than earlier estimated. Pearl said most areas on the satellite seem to have a temperature of about 235 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. Readings of a plume from one volcano showed a temperature of only about 80 degrees. These figures don't match well with speculation that the volcanoes may be shooting molten sulfur, which would require temperatures of about 233 degrees, he added.

Soderblom said eight spewing volcanoes, some shooting plumes hundreds of miles high, have been positively identified so far. For unknown reasons, these volcanoes are distributed around the equator of the satellite, he added.

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - A Southwest Airlines jetliner that was forced to return to Amarillo with a broken oil line probably will be back in the air by Friday, a company spokesman said. The Boeing 737; bound for Dallas with 77 persons on board, returned to land at Amarillo International a smooth and uneventful landing. Miller said the Federal Aviation Administration requires a plane to land any time it loses 50 percent of its operating power.

Some passengers thumbs-down DC-10s

Though federal aviation officials are giving the thumbs-up signal as many DC-10s rev their engines once again, some passengers are turning thumbs down.

"Immediately after the crash last week, I told my travel agent not to book me on DC-10s anymore and I put my whole office on the same basis," said Stuart O. At Los Angeles International, Anthony George said he was alarmed to find his children were scheduled to fly to New York on a DC-10. "I put them on a different plane," he said.

But other passengers said they were willing to fly DC-10s when they were the only aircraft available, and for every passenger who was concerned, there was one who was not.

"If the federal government permits them to fly, it's all right with me," said Marc Liebhaber, a Minnesotan at a United Airlines ticket counter in New York. "I think now that the DC-10 is more safe than the others on the ground that weren't checked."

Neil Clements said about half the passengers at his New York Finnair office were worried about DC-10s. But he said most bought tickets on DC-10s when they were assured that the planes had been checked Concern also seemed to be running high in Chicago, where one in five Continental passengers asked if they were flying a DC-10. But an agent, who declined to be identified, said some passengers were smiling and joking when they asked.

DC-10 inspections find new defects

By The Associated Press

Airline mechanics worked around the clock getting DC-10s in shape to pass government muster, but while dozens of the jumbo jets returned to the air, some remained on the ground with new problems.

More than half the 138 DC-10s owned by eight U.S. carriers were cleared for service Wednesday and ground crews raced to get more of the wide-bodied planes air-ready by early today.

Some domestic DC-10 flights were canceled Wednesday, but airlines were able to juggle routes and planes to accommodate passengers. Most foreign airlines that voluntarily grounded their DC-10s Tuesday, also reported their service returning to normal.

While the DC-10s were being declared fit for the flying public, some travelers wondered if they were ready for the jets hit by two inspection orders and the nation's worst air crash. A United ticket clerk who declined to give her name said at New York's

Kennedy Airport that "quite a few" people balked at taking DC-10s and asked for another plane. The Federal Aviation Administration had first ordered the inspection of engine mounting bolts on all U.S. DC-10s following Friday's American Airlines crash in Chicago that killed 274 people. But the FAA Tuesday grounded the jumbo jets and ordered a more extensive examination after investigators found "potentially dangerous deficiencies" in the engine assemblies.

The latest safety check turned up "more problems than we did in the irst inspections," Fred Farrar, spokesman for the Federal Aviation first inspections,

Administration said Wednesday. "Some are minor, some are major."
At Narita Airport outside Tokyo, Japan Air Lines mechanics found three rivets holding the engines to the wings of one of its nine DC-10s had fallen off.

A spokeman for Japan Air Lines said today the rivets were replaced and the aircraft returned to service along with the other planes grounded for inspection.

Farrar didn't say how many planes failed to pass the inspections but Continental Airlines said "minor discrepancies" were found in five of its 15 DC-10s. Continental officials said they expect three of the planes to return to service today and the last two on Friday.

United Airlines mechanics found a crack in an engine reinforcing plate on one plane and another crack in one of two braces supporting the plate. A problem with the same United DC-10 had prompted the latest checks.

'We consider both of these cracks major problems," said Ed Williams, a United official.

A check of the other U.S. airlines operating DC-10s showed: -World Airways had its six DC-10s flying again Wednesday morning. At Trans International Airlines, spokesman Rich Slakoss said all three DC-

10s had been inspected and were flying on schedule. -National spokesman Walt Robshaw said inspection of all National's 16 DC-10s was completed in time to resume normal service Wednesday afternoon

-All 22 Northwest Orient DC-10s were inspected Wednesday and cleared for -Western Airlines said all of its nine DC-10s were cleared and operat-

Inflated compensation costs passed on by Postal Service

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of two reticles based on an investigation of the U.S. Postal lervice. The writer is the Assistant National Editor of The Hearst Newspapers.

By MORT YOUNG

Already conspicuous for having the highest accilent rate in the federal government, the U.S. Postal Service was found to be overestimating its Workmen's Compensation claims and passing the inflated cost along to the public.

When asked to readjust their figures, postal offi-

Their estimates were more than 10 percent higher than what was actually paid out for compensation claims in 1976 and 1977, according to an unpublished report by the General Accounting Office. Its contents were made available to The Hearst News-

But after postal officials learned of the report, their estimate for the next year's claims dropped. The sudden action surprised the investigators.

'We were struck by the decline in their estimates tween 1977 and 1978," said a source close to the GAO probe. "They had explained that their most dramatic cost increases were for Workmen's Compensation. But it went down $117.8 million.

"WHEN WE ASKED them why they didn't reduce that much from their rate base, they said they wouldn't just because of one year's figures," the source related.

The GAO also found that the Postal Service's computerized "econometric model" of costs was seriously flawed:

Compensation claims for non-postal workers were billed to the service; payments were made for non-claimable items; some claims were based on insufficient data; others were incorrectly classified; duplicate claims were filed; medical claims were lumped in with Workmen's Compensation

The GAO recommended that "more accurate methods be used. None of the actual payments was within 10 percent of the estimates," it conclud-

The GAO investigation report is being withheld until a joint task force from the Postal Service and the Department of Labor corrects billing procedures. An outside consultant was brought in to help straighten out the process.

However, the Postal Service steeply raised its 1979 estimate of Workmen's Compensation claims by $300 million, although the accident rate has fallen slight-

A SPOKESMAN SAID the rate dropped 0.3 percent in 1978, to 13 accidents per 100 employees. This is a higher rate than is found in heavy industries. The injury rate, 9.4 per 100 workers, is also extremely Comprising only one-quarter of all two million civilian federal employees, postal workers accounted for 44 percent — or 90,000 — of the 200,000 injuries to federal employees reported by the Labor Department in 1977, the latest year for which figures have been compiled. Of 444 fatalities, 72 - or 16 percent — were suffered by postal workers.

Postal workers' injuries total more than nine times those experienced by the Armed Forces, which reported 10,000 last year.

"With that atrocious safety record, you can see that even though the Postal Service has a safety program, there's no real enforcement," complained Emmet Andrews, president of the American Postal Workers Union, AFL-CIO, with 270,000 members.

'Safety costs money — it gets back to the buck. They built money into the rate increases for workrelated injuries. But they spent it to keep operating,' Andrews said. "They spend the money the same day they get it — but not for the purpose they got it."

The service's financial statements bear out the union leader's contention.

POSTAL OFFICIALS requested that $656 million be included in rates in 1977 to pay immediate and future Workmen's Compensation claims for injuries occurring during that year. But they paid only $126 million in claims. The other $530 million was spent to cover operating expenses.

They asked for, and got, $536 million in 1978 - less than the year before but after the GAO probe began - for compensation claims. Again, only $142 million went for claims. The other $394 million paid operat-

For fiscal '79, which ends Oct. 31, the service said it needed $800 million to meet the estimated compensation claims. The employees will get $183 million for injuries received. The other $617 million is being spent on operating expenses.

Postal officials specifically requested that money to pay Workmen's Compensation be included in postal rates but they did not earmark money for that purpose - despite the urging of the Postal Rate Commission that a special fund be established to guarantee payment to injured worker.

'Hopefully, the Postal Service is setting up reserves to cover those costs in the future," a GAO spokesman said.

No fund or reserve exists.

SENIOR ASSISTANT Postmaster General Jim Finch, responsible for finances, said that postage rates would have been raised still more if the compensation money hadn't been spent to meet operating expenses.

"Doing it our way is less costly to the ratepayer." Finch said. "We think it's a most appropriate way to conduct a public business. We should be judged on how well we serve the public," he added.

Members of Congressional committee staffs that deal with the service render a different judgment. They said postal executives are trying to protect their jobs by concealing the need for higher rates and are trying to keep from politically embarrassing the Carter Administration by not seeking more subsidies

"They don't want additional subsidies," said an official at the Office of Management and Budget, which drafts the Administration budget. "Though if they did receive further appropriations, they'd remain silent.

Union leaders, while concerned about the diversion of Workmen's Compensation money, are more immediately troubled by the poor safety record. They want the Postal Service put under the regulation of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. OHSA has no authority over federal agencies.

'President Carter can order the introduction of safety procedures but that doesn't do a damn bit of good," said Andrews of the American Postal Workers Union. "OHSA investigators aren't allowed in to respond to specific complaints. And they have no power of enforcement over the Postal Service, any-

James La Penta, director of the Mail Handler's Division of the Laborers International Union, noted that the service's safety standards do not meet those set by OHSA.

"THE SERVICE IS an independent establishment and should be treated like private industry," he argued. "The accident rate is very high. We want them to take positive action to come up to OSHA standards.'

Of particular concern, La Penta said, are the 21 bulk mail centers located across the country. Each center employs between 500 and 600 workers.

Their accident rate is well above the service average: as high as 27 accidents per 100 workers, according to a House survey.

A postal spokesman responded that the service has authorized 466 full-time safety positions and has given 5,600 employees part-time safety responsibilities. A safety officer is assigned to each of the bulk mail centers except for the Secaucus, N.J., center which has three.

But a House investigator reported that the safety officer in a center is a supervisory official whose primary function is to move the mails. Most of the time devoted to safety is used to fill out forms rather than actually checking that safety procedures are being followed.

"Flying a desk isn't as dangerous as wandering around a bulk mail center," Andrews commented. He and his colleagues find a terrible irony in the fact that the high accident rate provides substantiation for the Postal Service when it requests higher rates: the more accidents and injuries, the more Workmen's Compensation claims are filed, and the more revenues are sought to pay them.

Then the Postal Service uses the money to pay for something else.

State has enough cash for new spending bills

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - State government will have enough money in 1980-81 to pay for the three major spending bills passed by the 1979 Legislature, Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday. Bullock certified the general appropriation, public school finance and tax relief bills. The three measures measures total $20.8 billion, he said, about $3.9 billion more than the $16.9 billion certified for 1978-79. Bullock said there are several other spending bills enacted by legislators that will require his certification, including an emergency appropriation of more than $20 million for utilities at state colleges and

Russian-American Cinderella relates life story in novel

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Sometimes, when life seems too beautiful to be real, Victoria Fyodorova shivers with fear - a Russian-American Cinderella who worries that her happiness could vanish at

"You can never be sure," she says pensively.
"Four years ago, who could predict what would happen to me? I was planning to go back to Russia

Instead, Victoria Fyodorova, the stunningly beautiful daughter of a Russian actress, found the American father she had never known, met and married a andsome American airline pilot and gave birth to ter first child — an American — in an international love story that made headlines.

Her beauty and bubbly personality brought her a modeling career as the symbol for a major cosmetics firm. She even dared to dream of resuming the acting career she left in Moscow.

Now, she has written a book which tells why her escape to this story-book American life is a mira-

"The Admiral's Daughter" is a vivid tale of political opression, poverty and ostracism which made Miss Fyodorova's Russian childhood a nightmare and drove her as a young woman into alcohol-fsm, divorce and despair.

"If anyone could tell me then, 'You will have a happy life, a child and a husband who loves you and who you love,' I would say, 'It's a nice movie, but I'm not in it," she says earnestly. Her book may be an effort to exorcise the menories which haunt her still. "Sometimes I am going into myself," she says, "and I tell my husband, "You know what I'm afraid of? I'm afraid that one day I will get up and that atarvation and need of everything will come

"The Admiral's Daughter" is the story of Victoria and her mother, Zoya Fyodorova, the top Russian setress who was imprisoned and tortured because she gave birth to an illegitimate daughter by an American admiral.

Victoria Fyodorova was born in 1946, and her name signified the day she was conceived - VE Day, May 9, 1945. Her father, Adm. Jackson Tate, had been expelled from Russia before he knew that his wartime love affair with Zoya had left her pregnant.

Zoya, then the most popular screen star in Mo-scow, was imprisoned for treason before her baby was a year old. Her "crime" was the love affair with Tate, and her prison torment lasted eight years.

"I think only a Russian could understand the way I was as a child," Miss Fyodorova says in her book. 'Despised by everyone around me, called an enemy to my face.

She lived in exile with an aunt she believed was her mother. She endured near starvation and abject poverty. Their home was infested with tarantulas. She learned the truth of her birth only after her mother had been released from prison. But she did not know until she was grown that her father was still

"I just wanted to be sure I did the right thing," she recalls in her excellent, Russian-accented English. 'When I went back, I understood that I missed nothing. From the first day, I saw the same cruelty, rudeness. People were exhausted. They didn't smile - not because they are angry at you, but just every day there are so many frustrations. But at home there was sorrow too. Her father was

In the few years they knew each other, they had become close, she says. "I understood his nature and he understood mine quite well. The vibration was there." Her mother, who still lives in Moscow, won permission to spend six months each year with her daughter. She and Tate had a reunion before he died and spoke of the belated bond he had found with

"But it couldn't be forever," Miss Fyodorova says "I understood he was a sick man and an old man. But even to the last moment, I thought he would keep going. He had a tremendous will and power."

Palm Beach keeps lead

By TERRY WILLIAMSON Sports Writer

If the Midland Country Club golf course is supposed to make the nation's best women golfers cry at the blink of an eye, someone forgot to tell the team from Palm Beach Junior

The Florida-based crew toured the MCC layout with a team score of 308 to establish a mammouth second round lead Wednesday in the National Junior College Athletic Association Women's Golf Tournament.

Palm Beach was the only team that found the MCC layout to their liking, however. It was the only team that managed to shoot better than they did Tuesday in the opening round at Hogan Park's golf layout.

Palm Beach had a 311 total at Hogan Tuesday to earn a seven stroke margin over Miami, Fla., Dade Community College North Campus. But after Wednesday's round, it may be safe to say that Palm Beach owns a national golf title. They now stand at 619 after two rounds, some 45 strokes in the lead with only today's 18-hole round at MCC left.

Miami Dade fell to a 654 two-day score after soaring to a 336 at MCC. Temple Junior College is third with a 662 while Midland College earned a run at third place with a 668. MC needs to make up only six shots today to move into third place.

Medalist leader Paula Slivinsky of Palm Beach fired a 78 Wednesday to increase her lead in the medalist chase to seven strokes. She had a 70 at Hogan Park Tuesday for a five-stroke margin over Temple's Carol Vinton and Miami Dade's Janie Sirmons.

However, Wednesday Vinton and Sirmons faltered badly while a pair of Palm Beach golfers stole the spotlight. Vinton skied to an 80 on the sandy, blustery day at MCC while Sirmons ballooned to a hefty 85.

Meanwhile, Palm Beach's June Staton and Colleen Binkiewicz recorded 76s to take top honors for the day. Now Vinton and Staton are tied for second place with 155 while Binkiewicz is next with a 156. MC's Wendy Goodwin, a former Midland Lee golfer, is still in the battle with a 157 after recording an 81 Wednesday. Sirmons now appears to be out of the running with a 160 two-day total.

"This course (MCC) is a lot longer and a little tighter than Hogan Park, but I liked it," said Slivinsky, but her teammates liked it even better.

"The ball sits up better in the fairways. You get better lies and the greens are a little better. I also played a little better today," noted Binkiewicz after her 76.

Staton didn't let the wind bother her on the way to her 76. "I've played

One-ball rule steals ball rule was scheduled to go into effect today in the first round of the $350,000 Kemper Open golf tourna-

Most of the game's leading players endorse the rule, believing it will make no change in their game. But some predict in ill-concealed delight that it will bother others.

"It's going to raise hell with some guys," predicted Andy Bean, the defending champion in this tourna-

'Some of them have down-wind ball, cross-wind balls, up-wind

The rule, set by the U.S. Golf Association and followed by the PGA tour, requires that a player use only one type ball during a round. If a player starts the round with a certain brand and type of ball, he must play that brand and type throughout the Previously, players were allowed to use as many different brands and types as they desired. Many touring pros had a habit of using different balls under different situations. One particular brand was very popular for use when low shots into the wind, or great distance were required. Most of the leading players, however, insist they have never used but one ball. Among them are Jack Nicklaus and Tom Watson.

Neither Watson nor Nicklaus are competing here this year, the last time the Kemper will be held in Charlotte before moving to Washington, D.C. But Arnold Palmer, who is on hand, recalled the only time he switched balls, on a par-5 hole in a tournament in France. "I was playing with (Spain's Seve) Ballesteros," Palmer said. "I got on in two. Ballesteros had no chance of reaching the green. He pitched on in three and made the putt for birdie. I three-putted for par. I decided right then I'd never change balls again.' Ben Crenshaw, Lanny Wadkins, Masters champ Fuzzy Zoeller and PGA king John Mahaffey all say they use only one ball.

"I have enough trouble trying to figure out how to play one ball," said

"One ball is fine," Mahaffey joked. 'Make it gutta-percha. Make everybody play it. Take the length off of

"I think it bothers some people as much as it helps," said Wadkins.

Dusty Baker doubled home Ted Martinez from first base to break a tie in the eighth inning, leading Los Angeles over San Francisco. Ron Cey slugged a three-run homer for the Dodgers in the first inning, but San Francisco came back with four runs in the top of the second.

Reggie Smith's third-inning sacrifice fly got the Dodgers even at 4-4, but Bill Madlock's fifth home run in the sixth gave San Francisco a 5-4 lead. Dave Lopes hit his 10th homer with two out in the seventh to once more tie the score, 5-5.

Dave Winfield drove in five runs including a three-run homer which keyed a seven-run fifth inning - as San Diego routed Atlanta. Winfield's production gave him a league-leading total of 39.

Bob Shirley, 2-4, came on to pitch in the second and allowed just three hits while striking out seven en route to the victory. Starter Mickey Lolich was forced to leave the game with a sore shoulder after giving up a leadoff walk in the second inning.

"They just don't want to pitch to me," said Winfield of opposing pitchers. "Just as long as everyone else is hitting, things are okay. When people are on, I can get the RBIs.

Pirates 9. Cubs 2 Jim Rooker tossed a two-hitter and Willie Stargell and Bill Robinson slammed homers to lead Pittsburgh over Chicago. The Pirates earned their fourth triumph in a row as Rooker raised his record to 2-0 after spending the first six weeks of the season on the disabled list with an ailing shoulder.

"I was mainly using my slider," said Rooker."My curve ball still isn't what it should be, and that's something I hope will come along."

Cardinals 7, Mets 3 Garry Templeton tripled and scored on an error to snap a 2-2 tie and Lou Brock followed with a home run. powering St. Louis over New York. Templeton's triple and Brock's homer came off Mets right-hander Craig Swan, 4-4, starting the fifth. The blasts were part of a 15-hit Cardinal attack, which also featured Ted Simmons' three-run homer, his 10th of the year off New York reliever Jesse Orosco in the seventh.

MCC to hold Prickly Pears

Midland Country Club will hold its two-day Prickly Pears Golf Tournament June 16-17 and play will begin with a shotgun start. the format is based on team play, one man and one woman 21 or over. The field will be limited to 60 teams and scoring will be the point system with handicap.

Golfers from California, Oklahoma, New Mexico as well as Midland are among the early entrees, according to Mrs. George R. Locker, chairman of registrations.

NCAA track opens with Chapa under microscope

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) - It is inevitable that outstanding long distance runners at the University of Oregon are compared to the late Steve Prefontaine, and Rudy Chapa now is under the microscope.

However, Chapa and Oregon Coach Bill Dellinger would prefer that such comparisons not be made.

"I don't like being compared to Pre," said Chapa, the defending champion in the 5,000-meter race at the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships, which began today at the University of Illinois. "I don't like people saying that you're ahead of Pre or a little slower than Pre," added the junior from Hammond, Ind. "I would like people to watch my progress as a runner.'

Chapa's progress has been bril-

Last year, as a sophomore, he lost only one race at distances from 800 meters to 5,000 meters, that defeat coming in the Pac 10 Conference 5,000 in which he was entered at the last minute after he already won the 1,-

His best event was the 5,000, in which he won the NCAA title in 13 minutes 35.3 seconds before a wildly partisan crowd at Eugene, Ore., and he was ranked second in the United States behind veteran Marty Li-

This year, Chapa has the fastest times among collegians in the 1,500 (3:38.7) and the 5,000 (13:19.3), and has set an American record of 7:37.7 for 3,000 meters.

In the NCAA meet, which ends Saturday, Chapa will run only the 5,000. against a stron field, including Michael Musyoki and Suleiman Nyambui, both of Texas-El Paso, and Sydney Maree of Villanova.

"It's a tough double (the 1,500 and the 5,000 with the finals scheduled just one hour apart) and I think if anybody is capable of winning an individual national title, he should be allowed to be fresh for that race and given every opportunity to win," said Dellinger. winner of the 5,000 bronze medal in the 1964 Olympic Games.

As for comparing Chapa with Prefontaine, the only collegian to win four consecutive NCAA outdoor titles in the same event (the three-mile, from 1970-73), Dellinger said, "I would hate to have people expect Rudy to be another Prefontaine. Except for the same kind of running ability, Rudy is not even close to being like Pre. There's not that much similar about them."

"Rudy doesn't want to be another Pre," added Dellinger, "he just wants to be Rudy, and I don't think it's fair to ask more of him than that."

"People in Eugene go nuts about distance runners," said Chapa, who entered Oregon in 1976, one year after Prefontaine was killed in an automobile accident at the age of 24. "They like to see somebody do well. They're not looking for a specific person.

MSA to hold first soccer skills contest

The Midland Soccer Association will hold its first soccer skills compe tition June 2, the West Texas Kick Me contest cosponsored by Coca Cola.

Participants do not need to be members of an MSA team and all Midland area boys and girls are invited. Trophies will be awarded in four divisions with slight handicaps granted where deemed necessary. The divisions are I-Kindergarten through second grade; II-third and fourth grades; III-5th and 6th grades; IV-7th through 12th grades.

There is no charge and registration cards will be available at Dennis the Menace Park, site of the competition, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Competitors may come at any time during those hours.

The Kick Me contest will feature Kick on Goal, consisting of three penalty kicks at a specially equipped goal; Passing, each participant will advance on four balls lined up five yards apart and will pass each ball at targets placed at the sides; Dribbling, each participant will weave the ball through a coufse of cones for time.

The 28-year-old veteran of the Ladies Professional Golf Association had every reason to become frustrated as she headed into the $100,000 classic Thursday morning at the par-72, 6,410yard layout.

Bowl officials against playoffs the bowls have had, and

game was far from sharp

NEW ORLEANS (AP) June - It could hardly be called the start of a formal effort, but officials of the major bowls are to pick a national college football champion.

"I guess you'd have to describe it as organized to the extent that we've asked each other for basic information," said Mickey Holmes, the new executive director of the Sugar Bowl who is collecting the data for the bowls. "It's necessary that the bowls get their ducks in order," he said.

"We've got to spell out our case in orderly, emphatic terms. We've got to marshall the facts."

Holmes said he volunteered to gather the information so that it will be organized for bowl officials who will meet in New Orleans in mid-

"If the Steering Committee okays a playoff," Holmes said, "the Council will rubberstamp it and the more than 100 major schools will be voting in January on whether to start a playoff for the 1981 season.

Holmes, a former commissioner of the Missouri Valley Conference, said a championship playoff would damage the status of the bowls, especially for games like last season's Sugar Bowl in which Alabama and Penn State played for the No. 1 position in final

"It would immediately dilute interest in all bowls, including the major bowls," he said. "In time, it would dilute television revenue to the bowls because they would be nothing more than preliminaries. That would cut down on the amount of money to the colleges. In turn, crowds would get smaller, as people would wait for the playoffs instead of driving to the bowls. "We've approached it as the most positive way possible - what impact

SuperSonics are on Cloud Nine

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — The Seattle SuperSonics are on Cloud Nine.

The Sonics, with a commanding 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven series with the defending champion Washington Bullets, can win their first National Basketball Association title Friday

"We have been fighting off adversity all year long," said guard Fred Brown. "But here we are, one game away from the world championship. We feel we could wrap it up Friday night."

The Sonics got a big boost Tuesday night when they won their third straight game over the Bullets, 114-112 in an overtime contest that featured 58 fouls and 72 free throw attempts.

No team has ever come back from a 3-1 deficit to win three in a row in an NBA final. But the Bullets, who made such a comeback in the Eastern championship against the San Antonio Spurs, think they can do it again in the final.

"This is about the toughest position we can be in," said Bullets guard Kevin Grevey. "You never want to get down this far to any team, especially a team as good as Seattle.

"From now on we have to play with reckless abandon. I know we're in a tough spot. But if we keep playing this way, we can win on Friday night, come back out here and take one and then we'll be in a good spot," said Grevey.

Game 7, if necessary, would be played next Wednesday here in the Capital Centre.

Despite their lead, the Sonics say they aren't going to take it easy Friday night because they remember what happened last year when, up 3-2, they relaxed in Washington and got blown off the court. The Bullets went on to win the championship.

"We found out last year that three wins doesn't mean anything," said Jack Sikma. "We're going to be ready to play.' Sonic Paul Silas said, "To stop us, three, and we think that's going to be soon as possible."

the Bullets re going to have to wipretty tugh for them to do.

Gus Williams, who led all scorers with 36 points Tuesday night, said the Sonics "can't let up in D.C. The Bullets are a good team and they know they can get back after being down 3-1. They proved that against San Antonio (in the Eastern championship series).

As Fred Brown summarized it: "Only one more win. Ain't that beautiful?

Moe to stay with Spurs

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — San Antonio Spurs Coach Doug Moe says he had decided to leave his job. And Spurs President Angelo Drossos says he intended to get another coach. Both announced Wednesday, however, that the controversial Moe would remain next season.

The announcement ended weeks of speculation that Moe. 40, would be leaving the National Basketball Association team he has coached to two consecutive Central Division titles.

"There was a time last season when Doug wanted out of his current contract to seek employment elsewhere," Drossos said Wednesday. "For that reason, I had every intention of obtaining another head coach for the Spurs for next season.

"However, in the past few days, Doug and I have come to a clear understanding that he now prefers to stay with the Spurs, so the board of directors and I have agreed to retain him as head coach for next season,' continued Drossos. The Spurs ended a six-year ABA and NBA playoff drought this season by eliminating Philadelphia to reach the Eastern Conference finals. They raced to a 3-1 lead over Washington in the finals, but lost the series in seven

The outspoken Moe was fined $3,000 last week by NBA Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien for bitterly criticizing the referees in the sixth and seventh games of the Washington se-

Drossos, who has reportedly feuded with Moe this season, was critical of Moe's statements and refused at that time to give the Spurs coach a vote of confidence.

Moe projects a casual image and coaches a wide-open style of offense. That casual approach to the job, however, has reportedly irritated Spurs officials.

"We (Drossos and Moe) argue once in a while," Moe said. "Our disagreements have been between us and not with the team. Everything is terrific between us now.'

Moe said he had decided in the second half of the season to seek another job. He was reportedly interested in Denver, where he had been an assistant for two years before coming to San Antonio. That job, however, went to Donnie Walsh.

"It was jus a matter of talking contract. I wasn't thrilled with my contract," Moe said of his decision to leave the Spurs. He has a year remaining on a contract paying a reported $75,000 per year. Moe, the Spurs winningest coach, came to the team in 1976, the club's first season in the NBA. He has led the Spurs to a cumulative 142-104 record.

Bowie Kuhn happy over baseball attendance

NEW YORK (AP) - Major league baseball attendance has set a record for the second consecutive month and could be on its way to another single season mark, according to figures released by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office today.

Through games of Tuesday, May 29, the two leagues had played before 6,083,339 paying fans this month. With two playing dates still left in May, that figure had already topped the record total of 6,065,220 attracted in the entire month of May 1978.

In April, 4,990,675 fans paid their way into big league parks, representing an increase of almost 10 percent over the 4,550,231 the game drew during the opening month of the 1978

Another milestone was reached over the Memorial Day weekend when baseball's all-time attendance since 1901 pushed past the 1.1 billion mark. The sport had reached 1 billion in 1976 and added its next 100 million customers at the fastest rate in its

Attendance for the American and National leagues set an all-time record of 40,636,886 in 1978. For 570 openings through April and May in the two leagues this season, attendance has totaled 10,884,102, an increase of 364,-067 over the same number of games

Despite all the positive numbers. only half of the 26 major league clubs show increases in attendance so far this season. The leader of that group has been the California Angels, with a jump of more than a quarter million fans following the acquisition of perennial batting champion Rod Carew. Through 21 dates in Anaheim this year, the Angels have drawn 621,980 compared to 369,709 last year.

Philadelphia, which signed free agent Pete Rose to a $3.2 million contract, has enjoyed a jump of more than 155,000 so far. The Phillies, shooting for a fourth straight NL East title, have attracted 814,496 this year compared to 658,551 for the same period a year ago.

The Phillies are running second in total attendance behind Los Angeles, which last year became the first team in major league history to crack the 3 million mark. Through May 28, the Dodgers attracted 991,290, but that is a drop of 60,775 from last year's fig-

The additions of Carew and Rose have had a clearcut effect in California and Philadelphia. But Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Boston signed holdsimiliar fat contracts and have not prospered. The Reds, perhaps paying the price for the loss of Rose and the firing of popular Manager Sparky Anderson, are among the larger attendance losers so far, down 63,557. Boston is down an insignificant 3,088 and Pittsburgh shows a small gain of 7,-

Other teams who did not make significant roster changes are prospering. Baltimore has drawn 344,256 for 20 openings, an increase of 95,110 over last year, and Milwaukee's 403,501 for 20 dates represents a jump of 116,058.

Duane Thomas tries to return again

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) - Running back Duane Thomas, whose name once spelled controversy in the National Pootball League, is cooperation personified as he tries to return to the game at the age of 31.

Thomas, known for problems with the press and coaches in the past, has not played football since 1975. But the Green Bay Packers think he still has the potential and signed him to a free agent contract in March. This week he is among the rookies and veterans at the Packers' early training camp.

"As I was telling my wife on the telephone this morning, Green Bay offers me a chance to start a new life," Thomas said. "Everything here gives me the incentive and motivation

Thomas recalled that when he signed with the Dallas Cowboys in 1970, his coach at West Texas State told him he would rather seem him going to Green Bay because he felt Vince Lombardi would give him a better chance of surviving in the

Now, Thomas is playing for Bart Starr, the man who was the field general on the Lombardi-coached Packer championship teams of the

"When I look at Coach Starr, I feel I'm looking at Coach Lombardi beecause he's a product of Coach Lombardi," Thomas said. "He's very confident. He knows what he wants, and he's a people's person.

Last fall, the Packers had Thomas in for a tryout that ended in yet noticed that Thomas was still around some days after he first showed up asked Starr if that might not be a violation of the NFL's stashing rule.

Starr exploded, telling four reporters that if they printed anything about the matter and it resulted in the Packers losing a draft choice, they would no longer be welcome. He also made some temporary changes in the team's dealings with newsmen.

The league later absolved the Packers of any wrongdoing in the Thomas

"That was blown totally out of proportion," Thomas said of the incident. "I couldn't believe why anyone was upset. I was trying to pursue something that was positive. Football is my business. But that's all behind me better relationship with reporters than in the early stages of his career at Dallas, and he blames himself for some of the problems in the past. $100,000 reward posted for Judge Wood's killer

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - A group of San Antonio attorneys has pledged a $100,000 reward in an attempt to find the assassin who gunned down a federal judge outside his home Tuesday.

The leader of the manhunt, however, said it could be a long search. "I can't see anything right away," James O. Ingram, an FBI deputy assistant director and the agency's foremost criminal investigator, said Wednesday. "When you are talking about an assassination of this nature, it could be a long type of inquiry.

U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr., 63, known as "Maximum John" because of the stiff sentences he assessed drug offenders, was slain by a sniper Tuesday morning outside his North Side townhouse. He died from a single rifle shot to the spine.

Two other federal judges, shadowed by armed federal marshals, were among 300 mourners who said a rosary for Wood on Wednesday night. A funeral Mass was to be held today.

It was the second time in seven months a Western District of Texas official handling narcotics smuggling cases has been attacked. Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr escaped serious injury here Nov. 21 when his car was riddled by automatic rifle fire.

The possible connection has led U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd, himself guarded by federal marshals after the Wood slaying, to accelerate his federal grand jury investigation into alleged interstate narcotics smug-

Boyd would not discuss specifics in the Wood case, but said, "We're talking about drugs. They (alleged smugglers) have been threatened and they are upset and Judge Wood has been in the forefront of the battle." Ingram refused to comment on whether his agents have found evi-

No fair trial now, says Chagra

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Joe Chagra said he wasn't going to pretend he liked federal Judge John Wood, who was assassinated in the parking lot of his San Antonio townhouse.

But Chagra, the brother and attorney of an El Paso gambler scheduled to be tried before Wood, said the judge's death is "the worst thing that ever could have happened to us."

"I'm not going to pretend that we're happy with his brand of justice,' Chagra said of Wood. "But this is a. terrible thing and the sooner they catch whoever is responsible, the better it will be for us.

"There is no way anyone is going to believe that this is not linked to us. We know now that there is no way to get a fair trial for Jimmy now that this has happened. There is no way any judge or juror in Texas is going to blot this out of their minds.

Chagra's brother Jimmy faces drug smuggling and "continuing criminal enterprise" charges.

The Chagras had struggled to no avail to have Jimmy's trial taken remove himself from the case, but Wood refused, saying he would be unbiased

Wood was known as "Maximum John" for his tough handling of drugrelated cases

Another Chagra brother, Lee, was a lawyer who often handled narcotics cases and who built a reputation for his prowess in such matters. Lee Chagra was shot to death in his El Paso office last December, and three persons have been charged in the case.

In an interview conducted last week in Las Vegas and published Wednesday in the Austin American-Statesman, Jimmy Chagra said federal agents "invested a lot of time and money trying to convict my brother (Lee).

"And when he died, rather than see all that go to waste, they shifted to "Judge Wood has a personal vendetta against me and my family," Jimmy Chagra said last week. "It's a stacked deck. If I can get 12 honest people on a jury, I will be proven be some kind of Al Capone. I'm a gambler, and that's legal here in

'What they've got against me is some people who are facing 50 years in prison that they (the prosecutors) have said, 'Look, say Jimmy Chagra was involved and we'll reduce your sentence."

Jimmy Chagra was asked what he felt his chances for acquittal were: "With Judge Wood on the case? Oh,

50-50. Without Wood? "Much, much better."

Firm made no tests of oil to see if it contained toxics

CORRIGAN, Texas (AP)- An official of the Texas Water Resources Department, under probing questions from Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Texas. said Wednesday no tests were ever made to determine if road oil distributed by a chemical firm contained dangerous substances.

Clarence Moritz, regional engineer in charge of the agency's Orange office, told a congressional hearing a former chemist for Browning-Ferris Industries of Nederland, Texas, has complained that toxic chemicals were means of cheap disposal gator to check the complaint from Melvin Grizzard and the conclusion was reached "that the allegation was not substantiated.'

Grizzard later told the Port Arthur News that he refused to go along with the disposal operation and was forced to resign under pressure.

Moritz said Browning-Ferris employees were questioned and company records examined.

'But," Eckhardt asked, "did you actually test the road oil to determine

Strike threatens California melons

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) - The United Farm Workers says it will launch a strike against the $15 million Imperial Valley melon crop that could affect as many as 2,000 workers during the June harvest. There were reports it could start Friday.

The melon harvest in Blythe, Mendota and around Yuma, Ariz., also reportedly would be hit. A union bulletin being circulated among workers called for a general walkout in the melon fields between June 1

"We're not prepared to say exactly when it will be but there will be a strike," union spokesman Marc Grossmn said in a telephone interview Tuesday.

The union began a walkout Jan. 20 aiming primarily at improving work conditions and contracts with lettuce growers in the Imperial Valley. It has since forced the 11 growers targeted for strike activity to suspend harvesting, move their harvests or band together in efforts to save one field at a

There has been less success for the union as the strike expanded into other parts of California and Arizona

The cantaloupe and watermelon harvest involves about 8,100 acres of land compared with more than 40,000 acres in lettuce. But Claude Finnell, Imperial County agriculture commissioner, said a general strike, "if it is a success, could be bad."

Probation in GSA case angers some prosecutors

By LARRY MARGASAK

682-6222

WASHINGTON (AP) - As indictments mount in a General Services Administration corruption scandal, judges in Washington and Baltimore are fighting an indirect war over how to punish contractors and the GSA workers they bribe.

A Washington judge's preference for probation instead of prison has angered prosecutors here and in Baltimore, where seven judges have sent 28 or 29 persons to jail.

Three persons sentenced in Washington received fines and probation while a fourth was given six months in jail and 4½ months probation.

While the judges are not attacking each other, their sentences reflect widely differing philosophies at a time when the number of indictments nationwide has reached 85. Those charges have resulted in 70 contractors and GSA employees pleading guilty and two being acquitted. The other 13 await trial.

Wednesday, U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch of Washington sentenced Robero M. Bryant, a former GSA employee, to three years probation and a $3,000 fine. Bryant admitted taking $5,000 in kickbacks from contractors doing maintenance work on government buildings.

Tuesday in Baltimore, U.S. District Judge Joseph H. Young imposed the stiffest sentence yet in the GSA scandal. He sentenced H. David Levyne, president of a Maryland office supply firm, to five years in jail and a $5,000 fine for bribing GSA employees to write phony contracts for his firm.

"Whatever may be said of the deterrent effect of imposing jail sentences in impulse crimes, there is general agreement that their impact on white collar crimes is significant,' U.S. Attorney Earl J. Silbert of Washington told Gasch in a legal memoran-

"Inadequate sanctions, i.e. probation, make the risk worth taking.

They give the appearance that crime does pay.

It has not been determined how sentences vary elsewhere in a scandal that has reached into Alabama, California, Georgia, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas and the state of Washington.

U.S. attorneys, Justice Department officials and lawyers for the GSA's inspector general say there are three distinct phases of the scandal:

-In Washington, where nine persons have pleaded guilty, contractors and employees in GSA's Public Buildings Service conspire to inflate contracts and split the profits. In some cases, they schemed to make GSA pay for contracts for non-existant maintenance work in government

-In Baltimore, where 45 have been indicted and 40 have been convicted or pleaded guilty, the criminals were contractors and managers of GSA stores who supplied equipment for government offices. They conspired to bill the agency for goods never delivered and padded bills for items that were delivered.

-Elsewhere, prosecutors have focused on contractors who cheated the GSA in a variety of ways, including overcharging for repairs of government equipment.

"It's impossible for anybody to say where we are as far as progress of the investigatons is concerned," said Dennis Trietsch, an attorney with the GSA inspector general. "We're pursuing every lead we get."

Justice Department spokesman Mark Shehan said the department plans to file suits to recover money stolen by contractors and GSA employees.

Prosecutors have been urging such action, citing, for instance, the case of a Washington contractor who admitted obtaining $1 million illegally from the GSA and then was sentenced to probation and a $5,000 fine

To Our Customers, The Used Car They Buy Is A New Car.

In many cases, a family budget just won't stretch to include a brand new car. And this is where a quality used car makes good sense.

As far as we are concerned, that used car is really a new car to the family that buys it.

And we take extra care to make sure our used car customers enjoy every bit as much satisfaction and pride as our new car customers.

Oil prices reach $30

TULSA, Okla. (AP) - Some Persian Gulf crude oil reportedly is selling for $30 a barrel and perhaps $34, an official of Phillips Petroleum Co. says.

Spot oil prices have climbed in recent months as the worldwide shortage of oil mounts, C.M. Kittrell, executive vice president in charge of the petroleum products group, said, adding that Phillips is concerned over the potential supply of heating oil this winter.

"If we conserve gasoline usage, we will have plenty of heating oil for this winter," Kittrell said in an interview. Refineries could make more middle distillates, which incudes diesel fuel and heating oil, if the consumption of gasoline drops, allowing more crude to be processed into other producgs.

Kittrell said it appears there will be about 3 percent shortage in heating oil this winter "but if we cut back on the use of motor fuel we'll be OK.'

The public, he said, can accept the shortage but wants to be asured tht the allocations are being made on an equitable basis. "This is a fetish with us," he said.

"The public likes to believe the energy crisis is contrived and looks for villians." The hunt for the person who has the key to the problem "is costing us time and all of us will pay a critical price for the disillusion," he

The Willeke (Goen sand gas) area was opened by Midsttes Oil Co., and the same operator discovered the unnamed Goen oil pool.

White House charges guidelines violation

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The White House Wednesday accused the Amerada Hess Corp. a major U.S. Oil refiner, of violating the president's voluntary price guidelines, and said it is notifying several other oil firms that they may be doing the same.

The action follows a Council on Wage and Price Stability study concluding that the recent rise in gasoline prices across the nation has been "far larger than can be explained" by the rise in crude-oil prices alone.

The council said that of an estimated 8.5-cent-a-gallon increase in gasoline prices nationally between January and April only a little more than a third was attributable to higher crude oil prices. The rest reflected higher profit margins for refiners and retailers.

seven days to appeal or face denial of federal contracts The action came after Alfred E. Kahn, Carter's chief inflation-fighter, all but admitted that the wage-price guidelines have been ineffective, saying they are "incapable" of stemming inflation in the current economic environment. Kahn also blamed Carter's decision to sign last year's tax-cut bill for the

If Carter had vetoed the measure, he said, "we might have taken...the top off" inflation. Kahn also said the administration should have tried to cut another $2 billion or so from the current's year's federal budget. And he again en-

The public finger-pointing at Amerada Hess marked the second time since the start of the wage-price program last October that the administration has formally cited a corporation for violating its price guide-

Two weeks ago, the wage-price council cited a Denver-based cement company a division of Ideal Basic Industries Inc., as violating the price standards. However, the firm chose to appeal the White House action, and the case is pending.

In discussing the gasoline price situation Wednesday, Kahn and the wage-price council refused to say publicly whether the increases in refiners' and retailers' margins amounted to any form of price-goug-

They also declined to disclose the names of other oil companies facing similar charges in coming days. Kahn said earlier that as many as nine firms might be listed as "probable non-compliers," but officials later retracted this.

The wage-price chief also indicated earlier that he probably will recommend easing price restrictions on lead, zinc and aluminum, on grounds that the limits are so excessive that they are driving some firms to export their goods, heightening shortages at

He also conceded he was not sure if the administration will be able to hold the present wage standard to 7 percent if the program continues into 1980. With inflation running at a 14 percent pace this year, there is pressure to ease the limit.

The council's report on oil and gasoline prices was accompanied by a study by Congress' General Accounting Office concluding that oil companies now may be able to raise prices virtually at will because the Energy Department is unable to enforce its rules.

The report also faulted the Energy Department for spending too much time trying to decide whether an oil company's violation is "willful," and called for earlier involvement in such cases by the Justice Department. The wage-price council decision on

Amerada Hess charged the company had not complied with either of the agency's two major price standards, and even had conceded that it was in The council quoted Amerada Hess

Somoza claimed falling

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Government troops battled Sandinista guerrillas in the south, north and northeast of Nicaragua today as the rebels claimed they were fighting their "final offensive" against the Somoza family dictatorship.

The fighting raged between Nandaime and the Costa Rican border in the south; in Leon, the country's second largest city 60 miles north of Managua, and in Puerto Cabezas, an east coast port 250 miles northeast of the capital.

The national guard, President Anastasio Somoza's army, said it was driving the rebels south toward Costa Rica. But it banned all mention of the fighting on the nation's radio and TV stations and sealed the southern battle zone, cutting telephone communications and blocking the Pan American Highway just south of Nan-

The guerrillas claimed to control some settlements on the highway between Nandaime and the Costa Rican border. They said in a clandestine radio broadcast that much of the road

Several hundred refugees were gathered in Nandaime, 30 miles north of Rivas, where the Red Crows provided them with food and shelter. More than 30 tractor-trailers lined the highway through the small village, the drivers huddling in groups along the roadway. Many of the trucks were loaded with goods bound for Costa Rica. National guardsmen stopped them at a bridge on the Ocho Mogo

River. A refugee who fled from Rivas when the fighting began Monday said he saw one national guard plane go down in flames. The guard said the pilot of one of its rocket-armed Cessnas was killed by gunfire, but it said the navigator flew the plane back to Managua after unloading the rockets into Lake Nicaragua. The Managua airport was closed later Wednesday when another aircraft limped in for an emergency landing after being badly damaged by Witnesses in Nandaime said they saw two national guard convoys, each with a Sherman tank, en route to Rivas, which the guard said it recaptured Wednesday.

The guard also said it stopped a Sandinista advance in an area called El Naranjo, where clandestine Radio Sandino said its forces were being fired upon by heavy guns from a ship in Salinas Bay. The broadcast said the ship, described as a cruiser, steamed into the area Wednesday 'after being purchased from a foreign power." The broadcast did not say where Nicaragua bought the ship and the national guard declined to comment.

The guerrillas distributed leaflets to news media in Managua announcing that "the final offensive against he Somoza regime has finally begun." They called on leaders of the Roman Catholic Church, business and labor to prepare for a general strike to start soon.

Diplomatic observers were skeptical of the effect of the new guerrilla offensive, however, noting that moderate opposition groups had shown no support for it so far.

The guerrillas are members of the Sandinista National Liberation Front, named after a rebel who fought the U.S. Marines who put Somoza's father into power 45 years ago. The Sandinistas led a two-week uprising last September in which an estimated 1.500 persons were killed. As many more are estimated to have died in clashes since then

Khomeini forces pepper Arabs

KHORAMSHAHR, Iran (AP) - Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's forces peppered the Arab quarter of Khoramshahr with gunfire today after checking an attempt by armed fighters of the Arab minority in southern Iran to take over the country's largest port.

Official sources reported 25 killed in fighting Wednesday and early today, including 22 in Khoramshahr and three in nearby Abadan, the site of the world's largest oil refinery. Arab sources put the death toll

Khoramshahr's biggest hospital reported 102 wounded

Details of the fighting in Abadan were not available, but the National Iranian Oil Compay said operations at the refinery were not affected.

Khomeini's revolutionary guardsmen and army troops by nightfall had driven most of the Arab fighters into the Arab quarter across the Karoun River from the main part of the city of 100,000 at the head of the Persian Gulf.

Firing World War I bolt-action rifles, U.S. repeater carbines and a machine gun, the guardsmen on the east bank directed a hail of fire through the night and late morning across the 200yard-wide river and the barges

Yazdi warns U.S. of break

KUWAIT (AP) - Iranian Foreign Minister Ibrahim Yazdi says his nation will break relations with the United States if it continues to interfere in Iran's internal affairs, the Kuwaiti newspaper Al-Anbaa reported today

The newspaper quoted Yazdi as saying in an interview that the Senate's recent condemnation of Iran's revolutionary exe-cutions was "arroutright intervention in Iran's domestic affairs." Revolutionary firing squads have killed 242 Iranians since February, most of them members of ousted Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's government.

"If the United States continued to intervene in our internal affairs and refrains from recognizing our revolution, we will cut off links with her. But a rapprochement with the East Bloc is ruled out altogether," Yazdi was quoted as saving.

"Those who used to interfere in our country's affairs must know that such time has gone once and forever and that we are not prepared to allow America or any other power to will fight it if it tried to do so."

NATO allies support SALT II, for most part

NOORDWIJKERHOUT, Netherlands (AP) - America's NATO allies supported the SALT II treaty with some reservations, and Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance urged them to modernize their arsenals swiftly.

The allies gave their backing after Vance briefed them Wednesday on the first day of a two-day conference of NATO foreign ministers. The French, however, wanted to see more details of the accord before embracing its

The French are concerned about the next round of weapons bargaining. The Soviets are pressing to bring all nuclear powers into the SALT III process. The French are balking and have repeatedly rejected outside intervention in their nuclear weapons development.

Sihanouk predicts Pol Pot defeat

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk told a visitor in Peking recently he believes Cambodian rebels loyal to ousted Premier Pol Pot are waging a losing battle against the stronger Vietnamese-led forces of the new Cambodian regime, a Thai newspaper reported today.

The Nation, an English-language daily, carried an account of a meeting earlier this month between Sihanouk, the former Cambodian chief of state, and Chana Samudavanich, Thailand's former ambassador to Cambodia. Sihanouk was quoted as having told Chana that "the Chinese told me that with their arms support, Pol Pot forces would last at least three years. But I know they are losing and will soon be finished.'

Bhutto's daughter returns home

LARKANA, Pakistan (AP) - Benazir Bhutto, daughter of executed Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, returned to her father's hometown after being released from detention, and supporters greeted her with chants of 'Bhutto will live for thousands of years.'

"Although, I have been freed, I am now a prisoner of grief and sorrow. In fact, the entire nation of Pakistanis is in the grip of this mood today. Zulfikar Ali Bhutto belonged to this land of Larkana," Miss Bhutto told townspeople at the train station Wednesday.

Strauss hints at unilateral quotas

PEKING (AP) - Trade Ambassador Robert Strauss today hinted at unilateral U.S. quotas on textile imports from China after the Chinese rejected American terms for a textile agreement needed to insure congressional approval of the new U.S.-Chinese trade pact.

"Hypothetically," Strauss said, "it is possible that the United States would take unilateral action so that we would have a textile policy in effect in our country.

U.S. to supply planes to Egypt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is prepared to supply Egypt with up to a dozen F-4 Phantom jets by October to boost President Anwar Sadat's military strength, U.S. officials say.

Sixteen Egyptian pilots who will be trained to fly the planes are expected to arrive Monday for a four-week course in the English language at a San Antonio, Texas, Air Force center.

By the time the courses are over, the United States and Egypt will formally strike a deal over the 12 Phantoms, said the U.S. officials who insisted they not be identified.

Dora Bloch's remains identified

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) - An Israeli pathologist says he has identified the remains of Dora Bloch, the 74-year-old Jewish grandmother who reportedly was dragged from a Kampala hospital and killed by Idi Amin's men after Israel's Entebbe airport raid in 1976. Dr. Maurice Rogoff told a news conference in Kampala Wednesday

"there is no doubt in my mind" the remains found in a shallow grave near the village of Livuvu, 20 miles east of the Ugandan capital, are those of Mrs. He said his identification was based on a comparison of the skeletal remains and Mrs. Bloch's extensive medical records. He said the skeleton had the same spinal irregularities shown in Mrs. Bloch's X-rays, and these were "as useful as a fingerprint" in determining identity.

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) - Embassies in San Salvador reviewed their security precautions today after the assassination of Swiss Charge d'Affaires Hugo Wey, the 96th person to die in El Salvador's political violence this month.

The diplomatic corps condemned Wey's "senseless murder," saying "this contemptible act will be repudiated throughout the world." President Carlos Humberto Romero's right-wing military government said it was obvious that in the history of humanity, such brutal acts of violence have never contributed to the solutions of problems anywhere."

Indonesian earthquake kills 20

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) - An earthquake measuring 6.7 on the Richter scale has killed at least 20 persons and injured 70 others on the Indonesian island of Lombok, east of Java and Bali, authorities said

The quake late Wednesday afternoon, which was centered along the western coast of Lombok, sent residents and tourists fleeing out of doors on the holiday island of Bali, 25 miles to the west. There were no reports of casualties on Bali, however.

Stock market loses

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock prices showed some further losses today after Wednesday's sharp drop, but the market began to stabilize as the session progressed.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off almost 4 points at the outset, was down 2.08 at 820.08 by noontime. The average had fallen 10.39 points on Wednesday.

Losers outpaced gainers by a 7-4 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Before the opening the government reported that the index of leading economic indicators fell 3.3 percent in April. One group which moved against the trend was the gold-mining stocks; aided by a sharp rise in world bullion prices. Dome Mines gained 134 to 1103; Campbell Red Lake 1/4 to 381/2; Homestake 1/4 to 331/2, and ASA 1/4 to 281/4. The NYSE's composite index lost .12 to 55.89. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .50 at 185.14.

Volume on the Big Board came to 13.73 million shares at noontime, against 12.91 million at the same point Wednesday.

BUSINESS MIRROR Climbing debts, confidence lack expand inflation

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - Other than for the limited supply and high cost of imported oil, is there something about the 1979 brand of inflation that makes control of it unusually difficult?

The answer is yes. Regulatory restraints on borrowing have been eased. So has the American attitude toward public and private debt. Lifestyles are involved, as is lowered confidence in government. And more.

In other years, inflation's onset would mean tighter federal budgets. But for fiscal 1978 the deficit was $48.76 billion. The 1979 deficit is about $33 billion: the 1980 projection is minus $28.4 billion.

While they differ on so many things as to undermine confidence in their craft, economists generally agree that such deficits at the peak of a long economic expansion can only result in inflation.

But private individuals have also run budget deficits, adding to price pressures. Consumer installment debt - the kind repaid by the week or month has risen to more than $275 billion, up $45 billion in a

A three-year look at the changing figures reflects the changed attitude. In January 1977, the ratio of installment debt to income was about 13 percent. A year later it had risen to 14. This year it's 15. Why the willingness to take on so much debt? Surveys show that people have lost faith in the government's ability to restrain inflation, and so buy before prices rise even more. They then repay in cheaper money. The rise in the number of women workers has also enabled some families to assume more debt. Fortyfive percent of homebuyers now have more than one wage earner in the household, according to mortgage lenders. Mortgage lenders themselves have sometimes encouraged debt by bending the rules of thumb on the size of loans that can be made on homes, sometimes granting mortgages that amount to 35 percent of gross income. But they aren't the only lenders who have relaxed standards. Bank credit cards have proliferated, sometimes unsolicited; and with them, lines of credit have often been extended, again unasked. Overdraft checking, which permits bank customers to write checks for amounts far beyond their deposit amounts, has also become common. And human nature being what it is, the overdraft priveleges are usually used. Wary of being squeezed by tight money, as in other years, many businesses also have developed guaranteed lines of credit and are using them. They too recognize the beauty of repaying in cheaper dol-

A particularly important regulatory change has had a big impact on the housing market, again adding to inflationary pressures. That change permits savings institutions to offer high-yield savings

... Until last year, a savings and loan association or savings bank could offer long-term savings certificates that, with compounding, might reach 8-plus percent over a seven or eight-year period. Now they can offer $10,000, 6-month certificates that pay close The net effect has been to delay the homebuying slump that accompanied inflation in other years, when lenders didn't have funds to lend. The 10 percent rate helped them retain deposits, which could be lent out. As inflation worsens and interest rates climb, not even the 6-month certificates may be able to help savings and loan associations retain funds. They had a net outflow of $1.5 billion in April. But they delayed

No, it isn't only the cost of oil that has fueled the current 13.9 percent annual rate of inflation. You might say that Americans, as individuals and through government, also added grease to the sense, turn sows' ears into silk purses for a pofit. They sell salvage and old furniture, architectural artifacts and used books, antique clothing and preowned record albums.

Although used-goods stores have been popular for years, Atlanta-area merchants of old goods say business is booming. The reasons are mainly financial, said Charlie

Kauffman, the owner of Record Heaven, a used-record store near downtown. "Everything is going up. Even better-off people are looking for a bargain," he said. "You can't do anything about the cost of gas or heat or rent, but you would say the majority are in the 20s. We get some teen-agers. We costume little kids and grown-ups. And a neat little lady came in yesterday and bought $40-worth of stuff. She just loved it." Ms. Morrison, who says she haunts thrift shops all over the country for merchandise, said she had grown up as an average middle-class child who 'never knew about thrift shops." Her big sellers are old sailors' uniforms, bowling-shirts, silk nightgowns, slinky dresses and vests. "I don't deal in polyester at all," she said. Bill Watson, the manager of The Paper Chase, a used-book store in nearby downtown Decatur, said most of his customers "easily could afford new books, but they don't buy them." "We get all kinds of people, even businessmen," he

The customers tend to buy their favorite authors in new, hardback editions, but would rather buy light reading at half price, Watson said.

"Most new paperbacks are more than $2 apiece," he said. "We sell all of ours at half cover price." The store also sells paperbacks that are out of print.

Heavy rains flood area

LAMAR, Colo. (AP) - A nursing home was evacuated early Wednesday and police led theater patrons to safety through chest-deep water as an intense storm inundated this southeastern Colorado town with 51/2 inches of rain in 21/2 hours.

There were no reports of deaths or serious injuries as a result of the storm which swept through the area late Tuesday.

While the nearby Arkansas River remained within it banks, some overflowing of irrigation ditches was reported on the outskirts of town, mostly the result of the sheer intensity of the rain

The storm was one of many triggered along the Front Range and on the eastern plains Tuesday afternoon and evening by the arrival of a Pacific cold front pushing through the

The flooding in Lamar was most intense in a six-block area downtown. Dozens of motorists were stranded at the height of the storm when U.S. highways 50 and 287 were closed by high waters. The roads were reopened shortly after the rain

Benny Goodman 'nice Jewish boy'

By MARC ROSENWASSER

NEW YORK (AP) - Could it be that Benny Goodman is still the "sensible Jewish boy" who "ran like hell all the way home" after smoking a marijuana cigarette outside a Chicago nightclub 55 years ago?

The King of Swing, who is turning 70 Wednesday, insists with a laugh: "I am not all that stable.

And then, trampling ushers, the children began to dance in the aisles. There were policemen in front of the bandstand, but some of the kids got by them and up on stage. They did the shag, the lindy hop, the big apple while Goodman grinned and dodged them.

His music has kept millions dancing through the night - yet these days Goodman usually goes to bed by 10 p.m., with his radio tuned to classical Disco, he says, "is not for me.

He wouldn't give you any two weeks

The fact is that even now, Benny Goodman is still trying hard.

Though he says "I don't really knock myself out," Goodman nowadays performs once or twice a week, traveling to Columbus, Ohio, or to Greensboro, N.C., or preparing to play at the Newport Jazz Festival here this summer.

His secret is no secret at all. His work ethic is as rigid and his work habits as steady as his clarinet-playing has always been experimental and spectacular.

'Heaven Can Wait' to open

"Heaven Can Wait," a comedy about a happy-golucky prizefighter who is called to Heaven 50 years ahead of schedule, opens Friday night at Theatre Midland, 2000 W. Wadley Ave. The rollicking play is Midland Community Theatre's fourth major production of its 1979 membership season. Seat reservations for the nine performances presently scheduled through June 16 may be made through the box office, 682-4111. MCT's version of "Heaven Can Wait" is the original-play version by Harry Segall upon which the classic movie, "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," was based. This play also served as the basis of the popular 1978 motion picture which starred Warren Beatty and Julie Christie.

Frank G. Motycka Jr., will be seen as Joe Pendleton, the prizefighter who is victim of a heavenly mistake - namely, being brought to the Pearly Gates 50 years before his time on earth was used up. Brian Sayre has the part of Mr. Jordan, the keeper of the Pearly Gates who tries to rectify the heavenly error by finding a suitable mortal body in which Joe's spirit can return to earth for the remainder of his allotted lifetime.

Complications develop as the uneducated pugilist shows up on earth as a wealthy financier. In attempting to make his fight manager recognize him as Pendleton, Joe startles Wall Street and the boxing world by arranging a match between himself and a well-known prizefighter. A note of sentiment is added as Joe, in the guise of the millionaire Farnsworth, tries to convince the girl he falls in love with that he may be turning up in still another physique at any moment

Kitty King will be seen as Joe's girlfriend, while Mark Phillips has the part of Hevenly Messenger 7013, and Kenn S. George and Alinda Wisenbaker portray a pair of villains.

Report due on results of 90 percent parity

WASHINGTON(AP) - The Agriculture Department is expected to release soon a report that will show what could happen if the government raised crop supports to 90 percent of parity, a level sought by American Agriculture protesters here last winter.

If prices were at full parity, they theoretically would provide farmers with the same buying power they had in a base period of 1910-14. Supports are generally far below the 90 percent level at the present time.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said Wednesday he has seen only a draft of the study. He said the finished report is scheduled for release in Bergiand called it "a dream-world report" and one of the effects of boosting supports to 90 percent would be a short-lived increase in farmers' incomes.

"We'd see a big spurt in income in the first two or three years of the program and a drastic drop thereafter," Bergland said. "It'd just fall off the cliff because of inflation."

The reason, he said, would be that inflation would increase and offset the higher crop supports.

Bergland says lifestyle in capital 'uncivilized'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Even if he did spend three terms there, Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says the lifestyle in Congress is "absolutely Bergland, a Minnesota farmer then, was re-elected to a fourth House term in 1976 but resigned when Jimmy Carter named him secretary of agriculture.

It was enjoyable in Congress while It lasted, he told reporters Wednesday. But it was a grind. He said if Carter had not appointed him to the Cabinet, he would have run for reelection once more and then quit after five terms.

Bergland, 50, was asked about rumors that he might resign and run for public office again. No such plans,

"I wouldn't go back if I had the chance," Bergland said.

Moreover, Bergland said he likes his present job, adding that "it's much easier for a lot of reasons" than being in Congress because "I can regulate my weekends, mostly. Looking tanned and relaxed, Bergland said he spent the past weekend sailing on the Chesapeake Bay with "If I had been in Congress, I'd been home, going to parades and picnics,"

Earlier, Bergland was asked by a reporter about occasional news stories quoting him that he plans to resign from the Cabinet late in 1980 or early in 1981, even if Carter is elected to a second four-year term. It's simply a formal routine followed by all Cabinet officers when a president is re-elected, he said. "If the president wants me to remain, I'll do so," Bergland said.

Truckers protest at White House

WASHINGTON (AP) - A caravan of about 30 trucks, some bearing protest signs, double-parked in front of the White House early Thursday to draw attention to their complaints about soaring diesel fuel prices.

Bill Scheffer, national vice president of the Independent Truckers Association, said the protesters were also unhappy about what he said was their inaility under current law to compete with large trucking firms.

"W're in servitude to large carriers," Scheffer said.

The truckers, some driving tractortrailers and others flatbed trucks loaded with equipment, were escorted on the near-deserted streets by city police, as well as federal authorities.

No incidents were reported and the group, which arrived at about 2:15 a.m. EDT, left after about 90 minutes. Scheffer said the truckers would continue their regular runs after dis-

USDA says diesel crunch will continue a long time

DENVER (AP) — An official of the U.S. Department of Agriculture has warned that recent diesel fuel shortages pinching truckers, construction companies and other diesel users will continue for a long time to come. USDA Deputy Secretary Jim Wil-lams, in Denver Wednesday to talk to the governors and energy directors of nine western and southern states. said the shortages could get worse later in the summer, when refineries begin to turn more crude oil into home heating fuel and less into diesel fuel.

'Unless we have 200 million barrels (of home heating oil set aside) by Oct. we won't have the capacity to get through the winter season, and that means people's lives," Williams

Williams and representatives of the White House and the U.S. Department of Energy met with Gov. Richard Lamm, Gov. Thomas Judge of Mon-tana, Gov. Ed Herschler of Wyoming and the energy directors of Texas, Arizona, Montana, Wyoming, Arkansas, Utah, Louisiana, Colorado and Oklahoma to find out how well Special Rule No. 9 is working for farmers and other agricultural users of diesel

Special Rule No. 9, a ruling of the DOE, requires that agricultural users be provided with 100 percent of their diesel fuel demands.

The owners of some construction companies have argued that the rule has caused them to halt construction projects because of a lack of diesel fuel for trucks and equipment.

Williams said he and other federal officials would report to President Carter on the results of their talks with officials from western, midwestern and southern state.

'We've heard of great numbers of farmer who are out of fuel," Williams said. "But if we can't identify specific farmers, we can't help at all.

"We're asking for specific names and instances so that we can verify" the fuel shortages and supply fuel during the planting season, Williams

Maine won't put Matacil on forest

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) - Potential health problems hav caused the Maine Foret Service to drop plans to spray the experimental pesticide Maacil over 20,000 acres of budworm nfested forest.

We're not going to take any chances," Conservation Department spokesman Marshall Weibe said ednesday in announcing that the plan had been dropped.

A. Temple Bowen, acting Forest Service director, said the decision not to spray the pesticide was based on research by a Nova Scotia scientist who found Matacil to be a "viral enhancer." Viruses normally dormant in the body may become active then subjected to enhancers. /

The Forest Service had planned to pray Matacil, a new insecticide not yet licensed for forest spraying in the United States, on about 3.25 million cres of spruce and fir trees north of loosehead Lake sometime this

But there have been growing conerns about potential dangers from secticides, and the state warned pregnant women, breastfeeding mothers and young children to stay out of the areas being sprayed.

The Matacil formula planned for use in Maine is not registered for regular forest spraying by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

traces of the pesticide DBCP, which was discovered in California drinking and irrigation wells.

Jake MacKenzie, assistant director of the state Food and Agriculture Department, said the Environmental Protection Agency asked for the tests in Arizona, Hawaii, Florida, South Carolina and Georgia.

MacKenzie said the EPA picked the states apparently because DBCP, which combats nematodes that attack tree and vine roots, is sprayed on major crops there, including peaches, pineapples and citrus fruits.

DBCP has been linked by tests on animals to cancer and sterility. The EPA, now holding hearings on a possible ban, said it would consider these states' findings in any regulations.

Officials in California, the only state that bans DBCP, announced two weeks ago they had found traces of it in 36 wells, including four municipal water supplies.

They said there's no legal limit on DBCP in drinking water, but any water containing more than 1 part per billion of DBCP should be avoided.

John Gaston, chief of the state Department of Health Services' sanitary engineering section, said testing of surface water had turned up no DBCP traces in the California aqueduct, which moves Northern California water downstate, or in the Sacramento River, the Contra Costa Canal, Russian River or the City of Napa's water supply. Gaston said his office did not bother to check Hetch Hetchy Reservoir, source of San Francisco's water.

Farmers 'generally working,' despite crunch

WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite a huge drain caused by the crush of field work the last couple of weeks, fuel allocations to farmers are "generally working" well, says Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland.

State fuel set-aside programs and efforts by the industry to supply agricultural areas have been of major importance, he said Wednesday.

If favorable weather had prevailed this spring, farmers would have been able to spread planting of corn and other crops over a longer period, enabling diesel and other fuel supplies to keep pace, Bergland told reporters.

But this spring was wet and cold in many key areas, which kept farmers from their fields longer than usual.

"When you compress all this into about 15 days (of planting), it really does put an added burden on the system," he said.

Bergland warned that the farm fuel crunch is "not just a springtime dilemma" because the shortages will continue to exist later this summer and in the fall, when corn and other spring-planted crops are ready for harvest, and when winter wheat farmers plant their 1980 crop.

By then refineries will have to begin rebuilding heating oil stocks, which will put a dent in diesel output, he

One problem, he said, has been that co-operative suppliers of farm fuel have had the policy of not depending on Middle East oil for their refineries and instead have relied on crude oil from the North Sea. "When Iranian production went down, their suppliers, like British Petroleum, were forced to curtail their supplies of crude to the co-op refineries because British Petroleum was obliged to deliver to its European customers," Bergland said.

Thus, the lid on Iran's oil exports had a severe impact on independent and co-op refineries, he said: In a related report, the Agriculture Department said corn planting nationally by May 27 was estimated to. be 89 percent completed, compared to 75 percent a year ago. Despite the late planting last year, the 1978 corn harvest turned out to be a record 7.1

Soybean planting was estimated at 47 percent completed, compared to 35 percent last year, and cotton planting at 76 percent, one percentage point behind a year ago.

Corn planting progress was shown for 17 states which last year accounted for 93 percent of last year's harvest. As of May 27, corn planting in those was reported as:

Colorado, 87 percent completed and 93 percent a year ago; Georgia, 100 and 100; Illinois, 91 and 58; Indiana, 90 and 45; Iowa, 99 and 83; Kansas, 80 and 80; Kentucky, 68 and 59; Michigan, 80 and 90; Minnesota, 76 and 89; Missouri, 84 and 28; Nebraska, 85 and 90; North Carolina, 100 and 95; Ohio, 95 and 60; Pennsylvania, 78 and 48,
