House votes for new plan to import Arkansas water

sas water could travel through canals across Oklahoma to the Texas High Plains under authority of a new taxing body tentatively approved Monday by the House.

Representatives approved the Ogallala Water Import Authority on voice vote. A final vote is needed to send the 45-page measure to the Sen-

Land covering the Ogallala aquifer would be included in the authority's jurisdiction, except Crosby, Dickens and Garza counties. The underground reservoir streches under more than 40 counties, from Midland north to the Panhandle border with Oklahoma

Supporters say the water authority is needed because the vast agriculture lands of the High Plains will face a critical water shortgage within the next 10 to 20 years. Arkansas has more than enough water to meet needs in the Panhandle, proponents add. The bill does not specify where the water would come

If approved by High Plains voters, the district would have authority to tax property and sell bonds.

Opponents have claimed largescale water importation would be a financial disaster because the district could not raise enough money through taxes to support it.

House members voted to limit the body's power to expropriate private land to areas within its district, instead of the entire state.

Rep. Pete Patterson, D-Brookston. said people in his Northeast Texas district should not be subject to broad powers of a West Texas water author-"This will make them come back to the Legislature before they dig a ditch in our district," said Rep. Bill Sullivant, D-Gainesville.

tempts to limit the district's eminent domain to the High Plains area but later relented.

Patterson also won approval of an amendment that would require the water authority to pay local property taxes on all land leased or owned outside its jurisdiction. He and others from outside West Texas said local tax bases would suffer unless that stipulation was included.

Speaker Bill Clayton of Spring Lake, most of whose seven-county district would be within the authority's juridiction, cast the tie-breaker in a 64-63 vote on one unsuccessful amendment to exempt Ector County

U.S. House to vote on bill to speed up Sohio's pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House will get a chance to vote on a bill designed to speed up construction of a $1 billion dollar pipeline that would carry Alaskan oil from California to Texas.

The House Commerce Committee on Monday voted unanimously to approve legislation aimed at waiving regulations that hinder construction of the pipeline by Standard Oil Co. (Ohio).

Sohio said in March that it was abandoning the proposed pipeline because it was caught in a "quagmire of federal and state regulations The committee-approved bill would give the president authority to identify and ask Congress to waive state or federal laws that hamper construction. California officials had disputed the company's claims of delay in granting the necessary permits. Last month, the South Coast Air Quality Management District tentatively issued a permit. The state's Air Resources Board is expected to give final approval to the permit this month.

JP precinct boundaries attacked; Citizen says he's filed complaint

County tussles with redistricting

By RICHARD MASON Staff Writer

Midland county commissioners Monday resumed discussion on redistricting commissioner precincts to comply with state and federal laws.

Commissioners heard a proposal from Precinct 1 commissioner Durward Wright to take voting box 4, which currently includes the Midland Regional Air Terminal, out of Precinct 4, and place it in Precinct 1 in an attempt to keep the boundaries of the precincts contiguous.

The proposal would return the island of land — currently designated part of Precinct 1 — to the Precinct 4

Additional plans for redistricting will be submitted at a later date by commissioners Charlie Welch and Jack Leonard.

Commissioner Win Brown suggested that voting boxes be reassigned in each precinct.

Commissioners began discussing redistricting in March, but split over whether the court should do it or the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission County Judge William Ahders subsequently instructed the commissioners to submit their own plans to the

The county has until August to file a redistricting plan with the Secretary of State's office in Austin, and until the next election in 1980 to file a plan with the U.S. Department of Justice, Wright said.

Complaints about precinct boundaries allege that the districts are not contiguous, that minority populations have been split and that the population is not equally divided between Wright's proposal, which met with support from Republican commissioner Win Brown, would eliminate the problem of noncontiguous boundaries.

However, in discussion Monday, commissioners indicated they would await the results of the 1980 census before redrawing boundaries to more accurately reflect population figures. Commissioners Charlie Welch and Durward Wright contend that the current boundaries adequately reflect population distribution in the four precincts.

"The imbalance is minimal - if any," Wright said following Monday's meeting. Wright said there is an imbalance reflected in the number of registered voters. Brown contends the imbalance in registered voters reflects an imbalance in population disbribution among the precincts. Brown pointed out Monday that he

Apartments, mobile homes housing alternatives

EDITOR'S NOTE: Obtaining housing in Midland, whether by buying a home or renting and apartment, is becoming an increasingly complex problem and one that will not be easily solved. This is the third in a seven part series examining the

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Staff Writer

When mobs of people thronged to the Permian Basin during one of its early boom periods in the late 1930s and early 1940s, not much in the way of housing could be found.

The best solution was the "shotgun" house, where no walls barred the way from the front door to the back door.

The Permian Basin is experiencing another boom period. But what Midlanders want today are castles compared to the houses of 30 and 40 years

Midland is well known for its high standard of living. Giving credence to that reputation is a report — released last summer - by the U.S. Department of Commerce. That report placed Midland ninth nationally among metropolitan cities in per capita income.

In a recent issue of the magazine "Sales Management," a survey of buying power for 1977 showed Midland's per household median income

The Tall City ranked 57th nationally on this level, tying with Dallas. For the state of Texas, Houston was first with $18,921. Odessa was 77th nationally and fourth in the state with $16.-510 per household median income.

BECAUSE OF A continuing influx of population and relatively high "average" income, experts are predict-ing more Midlanders will become

In fact, generally, Dr. R.L. Skrabanek of the Texas Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University has said there will be a noticeable increase in the number of young adults - people in their 20s, 30s and 40s - buying houses between 1977 and 1985. The number of new households is expected to jump by 12.5 million, the demographer added. Such an increase will spawn not only a vigorous market for single family residences, he said, but also a market for apart-Home ments and mobile $weet homes — the two most viable alter-Home natives to conventional home ownership.

Not everyone, even in Midland, can afford to start with conventional housing at an part three of a series early age. The fast-rising costs of buying a home keep putting the realization of many people's dream about an inch beyond the reach of their fingertips. It's like adding 2 plus 2 and

FOCUSING ON THE inflationary rise in housing costs, the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission published a report in August 1978 which showed that a new home purchased in 1972 for $18,000 cost about $30,000 to replace in 1977. In 1979, that cost undoubtedly is even higher. However, the report noted incomes have not increased as fast as housing was not figuring it on an interest rate near 10 percent. According to Joan Ramey, president of the Midland Board of Realtors, new housing is hard to find for under $32,000. Houses at even that price are small, have all the built-in appliances, refrigerated air and a brick front. And those, she noted, are usually for first-time buyers. A new trend - consisting of young executives and single professional women buying homes - has developed in Midland. "It's a good investment and they (the young buyer) are needing real estate to reduce their taxes and get a write-off," Mrs. Ramey said.

MANY YOUNG COUPLES also are looking for single family housing not could be pre-fabricated housing. long after they get married. The problem sometimes in this case, Mrs. Ramey said, is "they want what Mom and Dad have now. They fail to realize how long it took Mom and Dad to reach that point." She noted that "it is amazing the price of homes young executives can afford here.

But not all Midlanders fall into the "executive" category, and those persons find it difficult to obtain hous-

Mike Nance of Citizens Savings & Loan Association said he sees a need for moderate homes to be developed

"There isn't much cheaper housing in Midland. If a couple can get past the down payment and closing costs, they can enjoy the (financial) appreciation of the house."

HE SUGGESTED a development with brick veneer homes, smaller square footages and possibly with a fireplace. Expenses could be cut further by installing evaporative air conditioning instead of refrigerated

Another solution for some people

'We already are seeing more prefab housing in this area coming from a Lubbock manufacturer," he said. Harry Clark, senior vice president of First National Bank, also suggested this type of home, saying the key to its success would be volume.

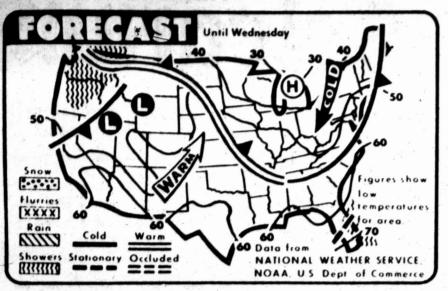

"We didn't have it (volume) earlier because of the base of vacant houses and availability of middle-income homes." That backlog of vacant homes was eliminated around 1973-74, he added.

One financing plan to help moderate-income families wanting to purchase single family housing is known as the Single Family Mortgage Revenue Financing Plan and is being re-searched by the Midland Housing Authority.

Under this program, the Housing Authority would sell revenue bonds with interest exempt from income

The money then would go to the savings and loan associations who would distribute it for homes loans. Interest rate, including handling Commissioners set a public hearing on proposed street speed limit zones for May 29. County roads affected by changes include CR 1135 north of Highway 80; CR 1224 south of Interstate 20; CR 12231/2 south of Insterstate 20, and CR 116 south of Midkiff

MCAA considers quorum change

By BILL MODISETT Staff Writer

Although lacking one member to make a quorum Monday night, the Midland Community Action Agency board proceeded with business on the assurance from board member Charlie Welch that they could ratify the actions of Monday's meeting at the next regular meeting with a full quorum present.

The meeting, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Justice of the Peace Courtroom at Midland County Courthouse, didn't get under way until 8:20 p.m. - and then with only seven members present.

It takes eight of the 15 members to constitute a quorum. But if a motion offered by Welch at the end of the meeting becomes reality, it won't take eight members to constitute a quorum much longer.

After waiting nearly an hour for additional board members to arrive Monday and then proceeding with business without a quorum, Welch offered a motion about 9: 30 p.m. that would amend the bylaws to allow the board to operate with only half of the "active, qualified board members" present

Under existing bylaws, the board must have 51 percent of the members present - or eight persons - to constitute a quorum.

The seven board members present Monday night voted unanimously in favor of that change. They now will notify all board members in writing of the change and they can ratify that decision at the next regular board

Problems plagued the board throughout its Monday night meet-

Acting as board chairman in the absence of regular chairman Alfredo Rey, Joy Bates informed board members' she had learned the agency's request for continued funding will now be submitted to Gov. Bill Clements for approval.

The agency has faced uncertainty board may need to get "documented in regard to its continued funding agency support and community supsince earlier this year when the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission gave unfavorable comment on a funding grant for this year. That action followed the earlier withdrawal of the city government support.

The city of Midland withdrew its support of the MCAA after a city councilman, who was a member of the MCAA board, resigned. Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. notified the board the city would reconsider its decision if certain conditions were met. Those conditions included total revision of the MCAA bylaws, resignation of all those who were board members prior to 1977 and resignation of those who had been on the staff prior to 1977. The agency had hoped to funnel its funding request through Lamesa, but it was announced Monday that such a plan may not be possible.

Ms. Bates told the board members that "if it comes down to a veto," the port" and she suggested the board appoint a committee to solicit community support. No action was taken on that proposal, however, although it was indicated the suggestion will be pursued. Another problem cropped up when it was announced that letters of resignation from the MCAA board had been received from the Rev. Tom Collins and Marti Garza. No new board members were discussed Monday night.

The board also interviewed Lee Hinds of San Angelo and Mrs. Paul Cooper of Midland for the agency executive director position, but took no action.

The agency has been without an executive director since-late March, when Alexandra Morris resigned that post, charging the agency is a "political football" and is not a "viable entity without the support and cooperation of local elected officials.'

charges, would be about 81/2 percent, Regulations for qualifying would be established by the Housing Authority, including setting limits for a minimum and maximum level of income.

Howard, Weil, LaBouisse and Friedrichs of New Orleans, La., already have been selected as underwriters. A feasibility study of the program's need in Midland is under way. 'We have considered a maximum of $30,000 for a $50,000 home," Clark, who heads the Housing Authority,

MANY FIRST-TIME buyers, claimed Mrs. Ramey, will have to seek shelter in an apartment for the first few years until they can save enough money for a down payment. More than 2,300 apartments can be found in Midland, the closest estimate available from an apartment association here, and that does not include new apartments under construction, just completed or planned for the near future.

A one-bedroom unfurnished will run about $200 a month, and that does not include electricity.

Jack Dillard, director of housing and community development for the city of Odessa, pointed out that people are paying from $200 to $450 a month for rental units with "fairly nominal floor space. Considering what it takes to build an apartment today, this is not a ripoff deal.'

AND APARTMENTS appear to be lution for many people.

"A young couple extends them selves to pay the rent," Dillard said. "They can't accumulate money for an equity for a house. These people do have a decent income, but they are paying a large part of it for hous-

And cost of utilities, such as electricity, is going up, adding to the cost of rented housing. "These (utilities) are as germane to living as the kitchen," Dillard said.

In Midland, finding an apartment under $200 is becoming close to impossible, especially if the renter is looking for clean "decent" housing.

One place on the south side of Midland charges $150 for a one bedroom apartment. No bills are paid.

SITTING IN A small front room of the office, the manager, with a small "Saturday night special" lying in an open desk drawer, said the furnished apartments include "a stove and refrigerator." Nothing more. In another complex on the east side, the one bedroom unfurnished apartment (and this included stove and refrigerator) rented for $175 a month to a couple. The walls were dirty and smoked, rodent droppings were evident underneath the sink and 30 years of minerals from Midland's water had accumulated around the bathtub's fau-

The differences between these type of apartments and others on the west and north side which rent for about $200 for a one bedroom unfurnished were widespread.

IN THE PAST, duplexes have been a compromise between apartments and houses, and at a moderate price. But today, duplexes have become "a luxurious use of the land," "Mrs.

And duplexes built today are not modest. They rent in the area of $400 to $600 a month, the same as house payments.

Shortage of conventional housing and problems obtaining home loans are pushing more people towards mobile homes

Jim Phillips, general manager of a Midland dealership, said mobile home sales over the past fiscal year which ended in April were up 35 percent. And as sales have increased, so have mobile home parks, he said.

People who have owned undeveoped land are developing it into mobile home parks because it is not an expensive venture, Phillips added. Prices for mobile homes range from $5,000 to $40,000 for a "very, very nice double-wide which is like a regular home on wheels with a shingle roof and wooden sides. And Midlanders have been latching on to the double-wides at a faster rate lately, he said. "People just don't have the money to put out on conventional financing any more," Phillips charged. "You can get the same square footage in a mobile home for about $12 a square foot compared to more than $40 on a

SINCE THE Department of House ing and Urban Development adopted regulations on the mobile home industry which were initiated in 1976, the safety of mobile home also has increased, the dealer claimed.

"They (mobile homes) utilize every square inch of space. They use the same materials and, in some cases, better materials. They have six-inch walls and insulation is better than in conventional homes," Phillips said.

Down payment is 10 percent, he said. A $10,000 mobile home would be a two bedroom, two bath home, or a 'cheap three bedroom." Adding the price of the home, tax and title insurance, the monthly payment would be about $140. The average mobile home sells for

The renter, then, must pay the remaining utilities. Sales, according to the dealer, are being registered to "all different

WASHINGTON (AP) - House investigators said today there is circumstantial evidence of a "contingency conspiracy" behind Rep. Leo J. Ryan's assassination by members of an American cult in Guyana.

They also concluded after a sixmonth investigation that reports that a Peoples Temple execution squad exists to eliminate other national leaders "should not be totally discounted '

Showing the concern, the staff investigators delivered their report to the House Foreign Affairs Committee under heavy security with police guards and metal detectors at the

and a cult defector were shot to death at an airstrip near the Peoples Temple's Jonestown settlement last Nov. 18. The next day, more than 900 cult members died in a mass murder-suicide led by their leader, Jim Jones.

"There is evidence to suggest Jones and some of his key lieutenants discussed and had 'understandings' to eliminate various individuals, including national political leaders," the staff report concluded. "Time may diminish the possible threat of this factor.

The investigators also said there is circumstantial evidence, but no hard evidence, that Jones had a "contingency conspiracy" to assassinate Ryan if the congressman could not be deluded on true conditions at the cult during his visit.

"Providing some moderate credence to the idea of a contingency conspiracy is the fact that the Jonestown suicide-murder ritual started before the Port Kaituma (airstrip) assailants returned to confirm the shootings of Rep. Ryan and others," the report said. It said there also are unconfirmed reports that a large shipment of cyanide used in the mass murder arrived in Jonestown two days before Ryan's

"Also related is the reported statement of a Jonestown survivor that several days before Mr. Ryan arrived at Jonestown he heard Jones say that the congressman's plane 'might fall from the sky."

The House investigators also agreed with the State Department's own conclusion last month that it had buried warnings of possible mass suicide at the cult in bureaucracy and reluctance to interfere. As a result, the House report said, the State Department had four reports of potential violence scattered in files but told Ryan that "potential danger was 'unlikely.' However, the House study said, Ryan was advised more than once by advisers of "gut feelings" that there might be violence, but went to Guyana anyway. "He tended to discount such warnings with the thought that his office as a congressman would protect him," the report said. "Moreover, he apparently was willing to face whatever danger might be present." The report said evidence suggests that Ryan considered the accompanying reporters "as a shield" and the reporters in turn "regarded Mr. Ryan's status as a congressman as their best protection." The House report concluded, as did the State Department, that one of the department's worst errors was to take no action on the written warning of cult defector Deborah Layton Blakey six months before of mass suicide rehearsals.

In fact, the House investigators said, Ms. Blakey's warning was one reason U.S. Ambassador John Burke cabled the State Department for authority to ask Guyana to watch the cult more closely.

Peace aid vote soon not likely

WASHINGTON (AP)
— Congress is unlikely to complete action on a special aid package designed to shore up the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty before the two nations open their next round of negotiations May 25.

The $4.8 billion combination of economic and military aid passed the Senate Monday by a 73-11 vote. The measure received strong endorsement by the House Foreign Affairs Committee last week, but isn't expected to reach the floor for action before May House approval by a substantial margin is expected.

The Senate easily overrode objections of members who argued against the military aid in the package or who cited the failure of either Egypt or Israel to ratify the Nuclear Non-proliferation Treaty.

Holmes says he hired man to kill Scott

LONDON (AP) — The Liberal Party's former deputy treasurer, David Holmes, said he hired a professional killer he met in a bar to murder Jeremy Thorpe's alleged homosexual lover, the prosecution's star witness claims.

Peter Bessell, a former member of Parliament who lives in Oceanside, Calif., testified Monday that Holmes visited him in Oceanside in 1976 and told him of the plot that failed to kill former model Norman Scott and killed his dog instead.

Bessell said Holmes told him he met Andrew Newton, a former airline pilot, in a Chelsea tavern and paid him $10,000 to kill Scott in 1975, and that Thorpe, then leader of the Liberal Party, was aware Newton had been hired.

Bessell said Holmes at first told him the reason the dog got shot was that Newton and Scott were arguing over a photograph Scott had showing Newton in a compromising situation with a woman. Newton was married at the time.

They're learning things they don't teach in school.

It's fine to get knowledge from the text books. All of us need to. But there's something more.....
Learning what needs to be put in!

One of the best ways to learn some of these priceless lessons is to be a newspaper carrier.

Carriers learn how good it feels just to have a job. That people sometimes really do slam doors in your face (no matter how nice you are. They learn how to handle money, including the responsibility of handling someone else's. they learn that a job, unlike a ball game, is not called off because of bad weather.

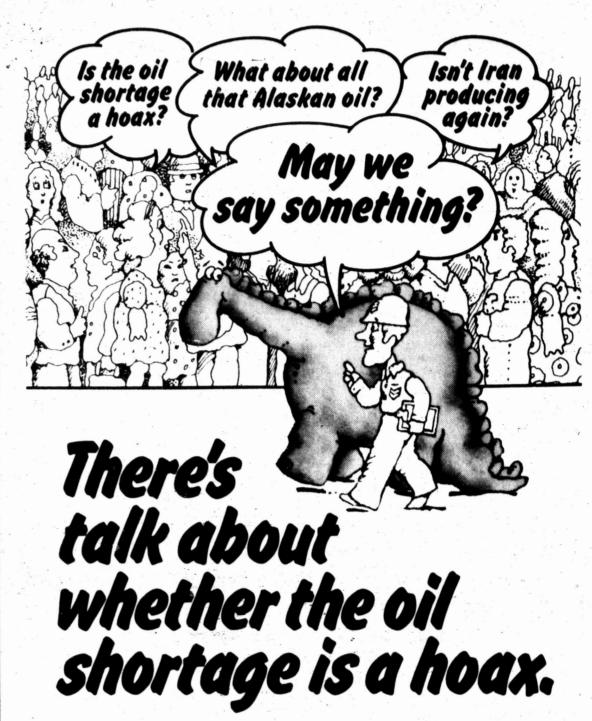

And they learn the eminent fullfillment that comes from a job well done.

They learn the way to REAL security.

If you know of a young person who might like to try being a carrier for this newspaper, have them call our circulation department, or come in to talk it over.

The President of the United States believes the shortage is real...

Experts in Congress, government and industry believe it is real...

Twenty nations are reducing consumption because they believe the shortage is real.

Even before Iran shut down, gasoline supplies were tight. Demand continues to grow. But government has limited the use of octane improvers. So refiners need more crude, and more complex refining facilities, to make the same amount of gasoline.

Since 1975 U.S. oil production including Alaska increased only 3%. But consumption went up 16%. Industry efforts to add production were impeded by regulations, red tape and price controls.

Iran has resumed exports, but at a reduced volume. Free world oil supplies are short of demand by more than a million barrels daily.

For now—we must conserve because the shortage is real! For the future—we must develop all U.S. energy resources—because the shortage is real!

Fay Burton: 'Pat Walker's changed my nickname—and my life!' (She reduced from size 16 to size 7.)

What a happy difference Pat Walker's made in Fay Burton's life!

At 122 pounds, beautifully trim in her size 7 clothes, she now receives lots of compliments on her appearance—but there was a time when her co-workers nicknamed her "Fat Fay." She weighed 166 pounds then, and her size 16's were getting a bit tight. Even so, she didn't take her weight problem seriously until the doctor said she must reduce before she could get rid of her tension headaches and backaches. On his recommendation, she went to Pat Walker's—and found the proven program of weight reduction that gave her new confidence as well as a slim figure.

Pat Walker's will work for you, just as it did for Fay Burton, even if you have failed in previous attempts to lose weight and keep it off. You can achieve your weight goal pleasantly, safely, privately -and without stringent diets or strenuous exercises.

DEAR ABBY

*Time doesn't heal all old wounds

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN DEAR ABBY: I was adopted as an infant. All my life I have wanted to know my natural mother. About two years ago I began my search. Fortunately, my adoptive parents willingly gave me what little information they had. With that, plus what I gathered from various other sources, I located my mother in Iowa. I was so thrilled and excited that I couldn't wait to phone her! I didn't realize what a shock it would be for her to hear from the child she had given away 32 years before. After a brief conversation she suggested that I write to her, so I wrote immediately, telling her all about myself, my life, and how I was ready to fly to Iowa to meet her as soon as she gave the word.

A week later I received this reply no date, no salutation and no

'You now have a life that adoption made possible, so count your blessings. I don't understand how you could believe that contacting me would not make trouble. I have had guilt and shame all my days - and now this whole mess has been reopened.

'Count your blessings. No need for further communication!" Abby, I can understand her shame, guilt, suffering and sorrow. The entire episode involving me is like an open wound that has been festering for 32 years. Obviously she has never learned to deal with those feelings. But what about MY feelings? Abby, my mother wasn't an innocent teenager who "got caught." She was a 27-year-old Navy nurse in World War II. I want to know who my natural father was, and all about the relationship between him and my mother. I can find out only

I don't want to disrupt anybody's life. I just want the facts that I feel I have a right to know. Am I asking too

I am not a bored, neurotic housewife. I've been happily married for 14 years and have an 11-year-old daughter and 7-year-old son. I'm active in volunteer work and have returned to college, so I'm no kook out to make trouble.

Your advice and the opinions of others who have been through this would be deeply appreciated. - MRS. G. IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR MRS. G.: I understand your feelings and appreciate your "right" to know your natural parents, but they, too, have rights. And one of those rights is the right to be left alone if they so choose. (Many girls gave up their babies for adoption only because they were assured their identities would never be revealed.) Many natural parents would be thrilled to reunite with their children, but we cannot assume that ALL are.

I fully approve of searching for one's natural parents, but I think a gobetween should make the contact and the reunion should be effected only if all parties want it.

Kylene Barker: Miss America '79

By WANDA MOUTON

Her ambition had always been to open her own ladies' apparel shop in Galax, Virginia. But winning the Miss America title changed that. She broadened her ambitions and now plans to open a chain of shops throughout the state of Florida next year.

Lifestyle Editor

Kylene Barker, Miss America 1979, stopped in Midland on a whirlwind tour of West Texas recently and visited with members of the press during her

The 22-year-old green-eyed blonde explained that she is entering the summer with a full schedule, making appearances on behalf of the Miss America Pageant, sponsors of the pageant, and meeting other civic and commercial obligations.

Her current tour is being made for the Gillette Company, a sponsor of the pageant.

She has traveled through 30 states this past year, promoting the pageant at the local and state level. This is her fifth trip to Texas, one of her favorite states, she Though hectic, her travel experiences have been a challenge for her, she admits. "I have good days and bad days, and it can be a strain continually having to look good," she said.

Her secret to constant beauty lies in her attitude, she added.

"I have to stay alert and be on my toes. And I strive for an upbeat feeling," she said. "It gets a little trying sometimes, but it's worth it."

She says that she doesn't mind the commercialism involved with the pageant because she feels it is for a good cause..

"Many people confuse the Miss America Pageant, a scholarship pageant, with other wellknown pageants which are strictly beauty contests," she

"Beauty and talent are equally important in the Miss America Pageant," she added.

She first competed in the pagant because the contest created a challenge for her. "I wanted to see how far I could go.

She is the first contestant from Virginia to win the national title.

She said that her parents didn't push her to make the decision to enter the contest, but were very supportive throughout the entire competition, a fact that she believes was important to her win.

She plans to visit all fifty states this year, completing her pageant obligations by fall. She will then plunge full force into pursuing her fashion merchandising career with the opening of her dress shop chain.

Miss America, Kylene Barker, takes a rare moment to relax during a whirlwind tour of West Texas and Midland. (Staff

The work can be done by anyone who merely observes how the screening was put in are two things that should be known, however, to get a good result. One is that, when the mesh is held in place with a flexible spline material, usually rope-like plastic but sometimes rubber, the job becomes easier with the use of a mesh that you want the tool that sets the splining material in place.

The other thing you should know is a little trick for getting the new screening to fit tightly when splining is not used. Lay the frame on a sturdy flat surface. Place a board about oneinch thick under each end of the frame. Fasten clamps on the frame at the center. You will know it is correct when both ends of the frame are slightly higher than the center. Now attach the mesh, using either staples or nails, preferably staples.

Stock market loses

NEW YORK (AP) -Stocks of companies that could benefit from gasoline shortages got most of the action from traders Monday while the rest of the market continued to slump.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 5.54 to a three-month low of 825.02. In the last five weeks the average has fallen 53.70 points.

New York Stock Exchange volume totaled 22.45 million shares, down from 24.01 million Friday and the lightest total since a 22.01 millionshare day on Feb. 20.

"Gasohol" — a mixture of ethyl alcohol and gasoline now in experimental use as a motor fuel in some areas of the country - was the magic word in the market during gasoline-supply squeeze.

Among stocks of companies which process alcohol and grain, from which alcohol can be made, Publicker Industries climbed 1% to 1034 as of the 4 p.m. close in New York; Archer-Daniels-Midland added 1/8 to 203/8, and A.E. Staley Manufacturing rose 3/4 to 221/8.

Other stocks attracting buyers with the motor-fuel situation in mind included Greyhound, up I at 1438, and Pullman, the largest builder of railroad freight cars, which climbed 21/2 to 321/2.

The over-all tally on the NYSE showed about eight losers for every five stocks that advanced, and the exchange's composite index slipped .26 to 55.22. Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrials was off .52 at 109.40, and S&P's 500-stock composite index dropped . 46 The Amex market value index lost .24 to 176.17. In the over-the-counter market, the NASDAQ composite index closed at 128.99, off .70.

Bell show again word in the market during the day as traders sought out possible beneficiaries of the gasoline-supply source.

Bill Haehnel is proving that a good show keeps people coming back for more.

Haehnel, Southwestern Bell's science demonstrator for three years, is back in the city to show recent Bell System innovations in his new science presentation before Midland service clubs.

He will appear before the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday noon and the Downtown Rotary Club Thursday noon. Both mettings are held in the Midland Hilton. He will present the program at the meeting of the Southside Lions Club Friday noon in its building at 111 E. New York St.

The 1979 show is titled "Through the Looking Glass

"More than 2,500 changes have been made in the basic telephone over the last 25 years," Haehnel said. "In fact, virtually every component has been changed in the past six years to increase efficiency and fidelity as soundwayes are converted to electrical waves and reconverted into the sound of

He said the Bell System now handles 500 million calls a day. "Ten years from now, we'll double that to a billion calls a day. That's why new technologies are being developed to handle those calls."

Using a century-old device invented by Alexander Graham Bell, Haehnel demonstrates in his show the practicality of converting soundwaves into electrical waves and transmitting them over lightwaves. He demonstrates Bell's principal with a replica of the 880 photophone

Fire at dump site 'no major hazard

BEATTY, Nev. (AP) -- There appears to have been no major health hazard as a result of a fire that exposed about 10 people to low-level radiation, says

A truck carrying radioactive medical waste aught fire Monday at a nuclear dump site about 10 miles south of the desert town of Beatty

State Health Officer Dr. John Carr said the maximum exposure that showed up on monitoring badges was about 5 millirems, a fifth of the exposure a person receives from the average chest X-ray. The incident occured at 5:30 a.m. when the truck was waiting to enter the dump site near Beatty, which lies within several miles of the Navada Test Site, the nation's only underground nuclear test range. Carr said the truck's driver disconnected the trailer and went to report the blaze, and the truck was hauled into the dump area. List said part of the shipment apparently had come from a California storage facility where workers Monday found one canister of uranium 238 burst and others bulging. He ordered that no materials be accepted from the firm until he determined what had Carr said about 10 workers were exposed as they unloaded the burning truck. A spokesman for Nuclear Engineering Co. Inc., operators of the dump, said no one was injured in the fire and there was no airborne contamination.

But List said he was concerned that smoke from the fire could carry U-238. He dispatched state monitoring teams to the area and said federal teams from the Nevada Test Site were also List also said the state could wind up changing the policy which has allowed the NECO facility to operate under a state contract since 1972. "We're just not going to have the risks," he said.

WHAT A WAY TO START THE WORKDAY!

Energy chief charges companies

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - California's energy chief charged Monday that oil companies knew of California's impending fuel shortage months before it hit and did nothing to prepare for the problem.

Richard Maullin, head of the state Energy Commission, said at a special state Senate hearing that the companies' "inability to know what to do about it was the problem.'

As Maullin testified before a joint meeting of the Senate Energy and Public Utilities and the Senate Judiciary committees, spot checks statewide indicated that lines were dwindling at some gas stations.

Fourteen counties, including most of the state's urban areas, have adopted the odd-even gas allocation program, based on license plate numbers, after approval by Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.

The state Board of Equalization reported that gasoline consumption continued to escalate, setting a record high for the 52nd consecutive month. The board also said the amount of gasoline purchased in California during March topped the 1-billion-gallon mark for the first time ever.

Maullin, a Brown appointee, said at the hearing, "I never heard from one oil company executive or federal regulator saying this is going to occur and you had better get ready for it."

He also criticized as "insensitive" statements by federal officials and oil company executives who blamed the gas shortage in large part on panic

Maullin said the peculiarities of federal gas allocations were partly to blame for the shortage. He also said there are fewer gas stations in Los Angeles than there once were. The reason people are getting out (of station dealerships) is because of controls on profits," he said. "Many retailers can't make a decent living while others can charge $1.20 for gas and make a fortune.

Brown asked Maullin to draft emergency regulations by Tuesday morning to require at least half the stations in counties effected by rationing to remain open on weekends.

Maullin told reporters the state would seek voluntary compliance by miles north of Mertzon. Venezuela to hike crude price

NEW YORK (AP) - Venezuela is about to add 60 cents to the price of a barrel of oil, industry sources said Monday. The move, which follows a similar one last week by Iran, puts more pressure on the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to increase the cartel's basic price of oil. Venezuelan government sources confirmed the reports, and indicated that the price increase could be as much as 80 cents a barrel. But industry sources said they understood the increase would be 60 cents, bringing the cost of a barrel of Venezuelan oil to Venezuela's customers, which include many of the large oil companies, are reviewing the proposed price increase. Should they approve the terms, it would be effective immediately. Analysts said they expect the companies to approve the proposal because they would have little means of making up for the lost Venezuelan oil if they decided not to buy at the new price.

The higher price probably will have no direct effect on gasoline prices, industry officials said, because most of the oil the United States gets from Venezuela is heavy rsidual fuel, used primarily to power factories and heat some apartment buildings. Most of Venezuela's oil is shipped to the United

But the move is a further signal that OPEC is nearing a consensus on a higher base price.

OPEC's base price is currently $14.55 a barrel, plus any surcharges members of the cartel feel market conditions will bear. Venezuela, like several other OPEC nations, had instituted a $1.20 surcharge. Its new surcharge will be $1.80. Other OPEC surcharges range from 60 cents to $2.40 a barrel. Saudi Arabia, the world's biggest oil producer, has imposed no surcharge.

Saudi Arabian leader gives motorist advice

By CHARLOTTE PORTER

As gasoline dealers worried that supplies might not last to the end of the month and waiting lists for compact cars grew longer, a Saudi Arabian leader offered advice to gas-guzzling Americans - reduce consumption or face still higher prices.

The advice came as California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. prepared to sign an order forcing more stations to stay open on weekends and members of Congress prepared to take up President Carter's challenge that they come up with a standby national gas rationing plan. It was delivered as a government report on the rising popularity of small cars suggested Americans are turning to fuel-saving vehicles as a result of the rising price of scarce gasoline.

The advice came from Saudi Oil Minister Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani, who said his country will oppose another price increase next month at a meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries but warned "Saudi Arabia alone cannot do

Moreover, he said Saudi Arabia, this nation's principal source of foreign oil, will not expand its current levels of production.

"Since supply cannot and should not go up, it is consumption which will make all the difference," said Yamani. "It is your duty as a consumer to reduce the consumption to the lowest possible level. If you do this, then not only the price of oil will not go up, but it might even go down a Brown, who is to meet with Carter in Washington on Wednesday, said he would sign today an order requiring more stations in California to stay open weekends. The order would limit the amount sold to 10 gallons per customer, half the weekday rate. In the meantime, a Transportation Department survey said Monday that there are waiting lists and higher prices for small cars, which saw a 39 percent sales increase in the first quarter of 1979 compared to the same period last year. Sales of Chevettes, Horizons and Omnis have almost doubled from last year's figures. And Volkswagen Rabbit Diesels are so popular some dealers won't add more names to a year-long waiting list.

Amerada gets court okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme court today left undisturbed Amerada Hess Corp.'s use of foreign flag tankers to carry crude oil from the Alaska pipeline to the company's Virgin Islands refinery.

The justices refused to hear American Maritime Association arguments that federal law requires Hess to use American tankers only on the run from Valdez, Alaska, to St. Croix. Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal agrees with Hess that federal law, specifically the Merchant Marine Act, does not require the exclusive use of American tankers for the Valdez-to-St. Croix trip. The treasury secretary's permission is needed before any foreign vessel may proceed from one point in the United States to another.

Two lower federal courts also interpreted the law, also known as the Jones Act, to allow the use of foreign flag tankers on that route.

age of gas supplies. But more motorists may find themselves lining up for fuel as their counterparts in California have done for weeks.

"The stations have been cut 15 to 20 percent over last year's sales, and you can't take that much juice out of the marketplace and get through the month," said Tom Anderson, president of the Pennsylvanis Service Dealers Association.

Ed Terkelson, operator of DX Service in Omaha, Neb., said he planned to spend Memorial Day fishing. "I'm just going to let it run out," he said of his dwindling supply of gasoline.

Some gas dealers organizations have threatened a four-day shutdown this month in protest of federal controls on their markups. The Justice Department is looking into the possibility of bringing antitrust action

But an Energy Department spokesman said Monday the DOE has issued 'a notice of intent" to take a look at its 1974 regulations, which froze markups at their 1973 levels, plus 3 cents a gallon. Ed Vilade said easing controls would help dealers "keep their heads above water" while supplies are tight.

Congressional energy leaders, meanwhile, were less than optimistic about their chances of drafting an acceptable standby gas rationing plan within 90 days.

President Carter issued a challenge to do so last week after House members killed his proposal for standby rationing authority. Senate Energy Committee Chairman Henry Jackson, D-Wash., called for a meeting of leaders from both parties.

Federal official gets reprimand

A federal official has received an official reprimand for his conduct in an incident involving a confrontation with two newsmen in front of the federal building April 4.

Floyd Jones, building manager for the recently named George H. Mahon Federal Building, has 15 days to appeal the reprimand, which will be placed in his personnel file for a period of three years. Meanwhile, a hearing in Justice of the Peace Bob Pine's court on the matter has been continued to KOSA-TV reporter Gary Hopper filed assault charges following the April 4 incident.

According to film footage aired April 4, Hopper and reporter Conrad Coleman were conducting a man-on-the-street interview on the sidewalk outside the federal building when they were approached by Jones and asked to leave the property.

Jones, who said he checked with an General Services Administration official in Lubbock, asked the two to leave under provisions of the Hatch Act, which prohibits electioneering on federal prop-

Turk sky use needs Soviet OK

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) - The Turkish government says the Soviet Union must agree before it will let U.S. planes use its air space to verify Soviet compliance with the new SALT treaty.

'While contributing to world peace and security, it is only natural that Turkey also takes into consideration its own security and relations with its neighbors, and takes care to base its relations with its neighbors on mutual trust," the Foreign Ministry said Monday after confirming that the United States asked Turkey to allow U-2 reconnaissance planes to monitor the Soviet Union from Turkey's skies.

The Istanbul newspaper Milliyet said the Turkish government told the Americans Soviet agreement to the flights should be made part of the new Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty which President Carter and Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev are to sign in Vienna next month. The U.S. government's comment was expected from State Department spokesman Hodding Carter today. But Milliyet said American diplomatic sources told it the Soviet government has been

Kreps optimistic on China trade

HONG KONG (AP) - Commerce Secretary Juanita Kreps arrived from China today and told reporters "all indications so far show Congress will support" the new U.S.-China trade agreement.

Richard Cooper, her undersecretary for economic affairs, said he expects Congress will approve the agreement by mid-June. He said this was an "optimistic but not unreasonable" target.

Mrs. Kreps said negotiations for the textile agreement setting quotas on Chinese textile exports to the United States will start May 20 and she expects that agreement to be concluded a few weeks later. The Carter administration has said it would not send the trade agreement to Congress until it gets the textile agreement.

The trade agreement, which opens the way to full economic relations between the two countries, was. initialed by China's foreign trade minister and Mrs. Kreps on Monday, signifying their approval of its

It still has to be approved by the two governments, signed and submitted to Congress for approval.

It provides for reciprocal most-favored-nation treatment, reducing U.S. duties on a number of Chinese exports, and smoothes the way for China to receive credits from the U.S. Export-Import Bank. However, Mrs. Kreps said the agreement is not likely to reap a "bonanza" in U.S.-China trade. She called the pact "a framework within which trade can ...It removes some of the possible hazards from the business point of view in doing business with China," she said. She declined to give specifics of the agreement but said it allows trade between the two countries to 'expand to full potential." Mrs. Kreps said the textile agreement will not affect textile exports to the United States by Hong Kong, South Korea and other countries.

Asked about the cutback in the Chinese modernization program, Mrs. Kreps said: "The readjustment includes more careful consideration of the infrastructure that is necessary to modernize, in particular the need to develop hydroelectric power and transport which will support industry.

Cooper said the readjustment is not likely to affect U.S.-China trade.

Two-way trade between the two countries in 1978 totaled $1.1 billion. It is expected to rise to about $2 billion in the current year and to $4 billion by 1985.

In addition to the trade agreement, Mrs. Kreps and her team signed four science and technology agreements with the Chinese, a trade exhibit agreement, opened maritime negotiations and said talks on a civil aviation agreement would begin as soon as informed of the situation, and if the Russians did not agree to U-2 surveillance from Turkey, either Carter would not sign the treaty, or if he did sign it. the U.S. Senate would not ratify it.

U.S. U-2s now fly from bases in Cyprus, off the south coast of Turkey, but have been barred from Turkish air space since Francis Gary Powers' U-2 was shot down in the Soviet Union in 1960. Milliyet said U.S. Undersecretary of State Warren Christopher, during a visit to Ankara last week, told Turkish officials only high-altitude observation from over Turkey, along part of the Soviet Union's southern border, could replace the information obtained from U.S. electronic surveillance stations in neighboring Iran which the revolutionary regime there shut down. Two U.S. bases in Turkey which track Soviet nuclear and military activities plus satellite surveillance might not provide adequate observation, the paper said

The Foreign Ministry said the United States requested permission for the overflights "in order to carry out verification (of the treaty) in an effective and credible manner. The Americans said the flights would be limited to Turkish air space, meaning they would not extend over Soviet territory, and the planes would not be based in Turkey, the state-

"Turkey is not a party to the treaty and the text is not fully known to it," said the statement. "The subject could be taken up by the could be taken up to the could be ta Turkish governmental bodies only if it is determined by Turkey that the requested contribution advances the objectives and concurs with the understanding of the parties to the treaty.'

NATO ministers told of threat

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) - The Soviet Union's limited range nuclear missile force has grown to such an extent that it now "poses a serious threat to NATO in Europe," defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were told today

A report prepared for the ministers by NATO intelligence staff said the Soviet Union now has developed about 100 SS-20 ballistic missiles, each carrying three nuclear warheads, and aimed at

The report added the missiles have a striking range of about 2,000 miles, and that they are quickly replacing the non-mobile single warhead SS-4s and

The report also said: "It is quite clear that the Warsaw Pact armed forces are becoming, year-byyear, step-by-step a more capable, more versatile, more flexible, beter equipped, more offensivelyoriented instrument of Soviet policy." In addition to its sheer numerical strength of 5.5 million men, the Eastern alliance now displays "a degree of technological sophistication which in many respects rivals that of the West," the report said.

Norwegian Gen. Zeiner Gundersen, chairman of NATO's military committee, said the report showed there is "a deliberate attempt on the part of the Soviets to destabilize the theater nuclear balance" in
