$1.5 million donated for cancer treatment center in Midland

A $1.5 million gift for construction of a cancer treatment center in Midland was announced today by officials of Midland Memorial Hospital and Helon Y. Allison Mrs. Allison donated funds for the Allison Permian Basin Center for Radiation Therapy, to be located at Midland Memorial Hospital and operated by the Midland County Hospital District, in memory of Mrs. Allison's husband, James N. Allison Sr., and son, James N. Allison Jr.

"The gift of this facility is my way of expressing my gratitude to the people of this area for their many kindneses to me and my family dur-ing the past 40 years," Mrs. Allison said today.

"I pray that the construction of the Allison Permian Basin Radiation Therapy Center will be approved by the proper authorities," she said.

Construction on the one-story, 17,-966 square foot structure on the southeast corner of the hospital's property, where a parking lot currently is located, is expected to begin Aug. 1, pending permission from the proper state agencies.

A passageway will connect it with the main hospital building. Projected completion date is May 1980. The center will provide both radiation and chemotherapy for cancer treatments. Radiation therapy will be by a linear accelerator, cobalt and

"The location of a fully equipped and staffed radiation and chemotherapy unit at Midland Memorial Hospital will reduce the expense and inconvenience of treatment for the people of this region, and enable our patients to have their treatment at home, in the midst of families and friends," Mrs. Allison said. The Allison family owned The Midland Reporter-Telegram many years prior its sale to the Hearst Corp. earlier this year.

According to statistics from the Health Services Agency, during 1977, the last year statistics are available, more than 800 new cases of internal malignancies were diagnosed within the 17-county Permian Basin area: There is only one medical facility in the area with any radiation therapy facilities, so many patients are re-ferred to distant hospitals, officials Construction and equipment for the facility is expected to cost $1.7 million. Accrued interest from Mrs. Allison's $1.5 million gift is expected to provide the balance of the money needed by the time the project is completed.

The facility is expected to be affiliated with the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston through a computer system. It also will be connected to the Texas Tech University School of Medicine and Health Sciences Center in Lubbock by way of a family practice residency training

Governors to get power to allocate gas supplies

By The Associated Press

President Carter, hoping to ease the summer gasoline squeeze, is giving governors new power to allocate the fuel in their states. But many governors say they don't need the emergency power and don't plan to use it

An executive order announced by Carter at a news conference Tuesday gives the governors of 17 states powers they now lack to manage gas sales and relieve long lines caused by shortages or panic buying.

However, one of those governors, Otis Bowen of Indiana, complained: 'The president gave us no teeth to enforce this." And Louisiana Gov. EdwinEd-

Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbit said he welcomed the new authority as "a reaffirmation of states' rights," and promised to discuss any action he might take with legislative leaders."

Many governors said they would not use the new powers except in an emergency. Others said their lexislatures were preparing emergency authority plans.

The governors of Illinois, Indiana, Oregon and Idaho said voluntary conservation efforts were working well in their states, and Kansas Gov. John Carlin said the powers were not yet

But Carlin called Carter's decision to give states more authority to deal with problems a wise one.

Clements says rationing won't be needed here

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gasoline rationing and restricted service station hours will not be necessary in Texas, Gov. Bill Clements said Tuesday. Clements said he already had powers to control gas sales before President Carter issued an executive order granted the nation's governors that author-

The governor said the Legislature that ended Monday granted him the same emergency authority Carter gave state chief executives.

"I don't feel the need for going into drastic plans of odd-even days or odd-even numbered license tags, closing on weekends or closing on Sundays,' Clements said.

"I don't feel the crisis is that severe at this point and further we are not ready (for complicated plans)," he added. "We're trying to get our facts togeth-

Carter said Tuesday he has signed an order giving governors authority to make gasoline stations remain open on weekends, to set minimum purchases and to institute an odd-even selling system.

"It's interesting that Mr. Carter decided that instead of him retaining all this authority in Washington and handing down from the mouth, so to speak, daily bulletins of what we should be doing, that he is now delegating this authority to various governors of the states," Clements added.

The governor said he was not contacted directly by the White House about the president's order but learned about it from news reports.

Legislation consolidating all executive branch energy offices into one department also conferred broader emergency powers to the governor during energy shortages, he said. "This is the first time we've ever had that authority," Clements said. The bill would allow governors to set up rationing plans, but Clements emphasized rationing would not be necessary.

The White House said 19 states, including Texas, have not granted their governors emergency powers.

"If I had to talk about the most important single thing about our supplies in Texas, it is that we are literally down approximately 20 percent from a year ago," he said. "This is not manufactured out of someone's imagination. No one Whether funding for housing comes from local, government or private funds, Dr. Coleman said, "we really

Don Hellinghausen, who heads MHA, praised the local commission on community development's rehabilitation of about 36 homes.

"UNFORTUNATELY, those homes had to meet standards before they could be worked on," he said. "A lot of homes don't come up to those standards." Betty Sheeler outlined a Section 8 rental subsidy program under the Department of Housing and Urban Development for which Midland County

Ms. Sheeler and John Savage will work as volunteers to get that program under way. Office space has been donated by Casa de Amigos, she said.

Midlanders wanting assistance must find their own housing and the rent must fall within guidelines established by HUD. No landlord is required to participate in the pro-

Ms. Sheeler said Odessa's rental assistance program has been termed "the most efficient Section 8 in the state of Texas. They've agreed to hold our hands while we get started." Arden Grover, a member of MHA, said he is a director of a Chicago savings and loan institution which has a private financing program for housing. He said he is investigating Chicago's program to see if it could be adapted to Midland's needs, and indicated an effort could be made to solicit the support of all the city banks and savings and loan institutions in the Tall City.

"For it to work, the neighborhood must get behind it and work to make their area look better," he said.

He also suggested persuading city officials to change building code restrictions to enable those affected to get loans to rehabilitate their homes. "WE (MHA) JUST didn't want to touch on federal funding," Grover said. "We wanted to pursue this other approach to see if we can get enough private funding. Then, if we don't, we'll look at federal funds.' Ms. Sheeler pointed out that the MHA doesn't have enough money in its account yet to set up an office and install a telephone to get started on the rental subsidy program.

The association will have to wait until HUD funds are granted, she added. Gary Thurman, who headed up the munity Development, refuted the reference to that group as "the mayor's commission. He said he wondered, though, "about the politicizing of these sorts of things (housing). Unless the churches are involved, we're not going to make as much headway." Dr. Robert Smith, senior minister at the First Presbyterian Church and a member of Thurman's committee, said there are many philanthropists in Midland "but you would be amazed at how many won't turn lose of their

"There are not sufficient private funds in this town for housing without federal funds," he added.

Smith attributed what he called a housing problem in Midland to a "wethey syndrome" in which some people have their mind set that everything that has to do with federal government is bad. The federal government is not 'they'; it's 'us.'

Areas in which MHA announed it is soliciting help include public relations; building code enforcement; tenant-landlord relations; house sharing; seeking of private funds; help from churches; government (state, local and federal) funding programs; liaison with local government, such as the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, and a liaison with other local agencies, including the Chamber of Commerce.

But, people might get the wrong impression

Everybody except Murray Fasken said they thought it was a good idea. Fasken, though, was dead set against it.

Midland College trustees Tuesday were anxious to rename the library on the campus the Murray L. Fasken Learning Resources Center. The honor should be bestowed because of Fasken's generosity in giving and raising gifts from others for the college and for his service as one of the original trustees of the college district, MC President Dr. Al Langford noted in making the suggestion.

Board President Jack Huff noted "there is no name in Midland that more deserves to be on that building than Fasken," and most of Fasken's fellow trustees agreed.

Fasken, however, demurred. "I would prefer that this not happen," he said. "Raising money is just part of my job as a trustee."

"Now, Murray," Trustee Reagan Legg interjected, "if you're going to stop giving to the college if we do (this), of course we'll drop it, but I really think it would be good for the college to have the Fasken name on that building."

Others joined in trying to persude him, but Fasken stood firm.
"Everybody would think I was dead," he mumbled.
In the face of that final objection, trustees tabled the matter for

Exam exemptions draws fire from many sides

By SUSAN TOTH

Exam exemptions in Midland — the policy that ties release from final tests to class attendance and conduct has come under fire from parents, school board members and some

On the other side, students, teachers and most administrators strongly favor the practice.

The policy, designed to improve class attendance, allows high school students who have passing grades, have not missed more than four classes nor come in tardy more than three times in the quarter, "have an unmarred classroom conduct record," and parental permission the option to skip the final exam.

Proponents of the plan, including assistant principal Glenn Woods at Lee High School, say the option gives a teacher a positive way to reward students for class attendance and

"We try to stress positives in discipline here, and this is one way to do that," he said.

Clements helped teacher unions

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas president of the teachers union said Tuesday that Gov. Bill Clements had furthered unionization of teachers by holding their cost-of-living raises to

June Karp of Austin, president of the Texas Federation of Teachers, also said teachers should start working to pry additional increases from local school boards

She called the pay raises voted by the Legislature — under threat of veto from Clements if they went higher than 5.1 percent annually - "mea-

"We know that there will be a great deal of 'loose' money in various districts because of increases in equalization money and compensatory education monies. Since Governor Clements' recalcitrant actions have left us with no choice, we will begin to collectively bargain with school districts for wages," Ms. Karp said. "In a way, Governor Clements has done what he didn't want to do, and that is further the unionization of teachers and educational workers. "So we thank him for that."

Talks resumed

AKRON, Ohio (AP) - Bargainers for the United Rubber Workers union and Uniroyal Inc. met for about three hours as contract talks resumed after 20 days of silence, but reported no

URW President Peter Bommarito said the bargainers Tuesday reviewed offers and counter-offers presented before the May 9 strike by 8.300 workers at 11 Uniroyal plants.

He said money and "some minor contractual provisions" still stand in the way of an agreement.

Some funds

for colleges

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)

- Requiems would be premature for 17 state colleges that effectively lost their source of construction funds during the 1979 Legislature. Lawmakers also refused to create a special fund from general tax revenues to replace money flowing to the universities from the 10-cent per $100 assessed valuation state property tax. It might sound bleak The good news is that $130 million will be available from accumulated property taxes whenever Rep. Wayne Peveto drops his suit challenging the ax's constitutionality. His federal lawsuit filed last year has prevented distribution of the money. Peveto, D-Orange, says he will drop the suit since the Legislature effectively repealed the property tax by lowering its assessment ratio to .0001. That rate would generate only $25,000 an-

Opponents point out the policy connects academics with attendance, and feel students should not necessarily be rewarded for attending class something that should be expected of them anyway

Many teachers in particular appreciate the policy's emphasis on conduct and timely arrival.

Ron Bolin, a Midland High School teacher, noted in comments to the school board that "tardies in my classes are much lower than when there was no exam option," and the requirement of an unmarred conduct record is "the best part of the poli-

"By letting the students know they will take the exam for conduct, I have found that my classes avoid things I have told them will result in their taking the exam. In short, the option provides a large deterrent to poor behavior in the classroom.

Not all teachers, however, agree the policy is the best idea.

MHS teacher Linda Tervooren said she feels the final exams are a better indicator of the student's work than daily assignments, and that collegebound students in particular need the training in taking the finals because in college, "it's the exam that matters, and if they have absolutely no training in taking those exams, it's going to hurt them then.

While she said she encourages students to take the final exams, "it doesn't do much good. If 'they don't have to take them, they don't.

Many parents, too, are firmly against the option, even though students must have signed parental permission before the exams can be skipped.

"I just have old-fashioned values," said Mrs. Vern Griffith, mother of two junior high school students and a former teacher.

She said she prefers instilling a sense of responsibility in students rather than using "final exams for attendance.

Reverting to mandatory test-taking, she said, "is not taking away freedom, it is instilling values.

The exam exemption option, she said, is "a threat to teaching students the responsibility of desiring academic excellence. And if students desire academic excellence, they will desire excellence in other areas. You cannot separate learning from living.

The requirement of parental permission, some educators said, is another reason for parents being against the policy.

"It puts the parent on the spot," school board member Marshall McCrea noted during discussion before the policy was adopted. "If they want their kids to take the tests, all they have to do is stand up and say so. But that's hard to do.'

Students, in a random survey before exams started this week, seemed almost solidly in favor of the policy. Most agreed the exam exemption worked as a deterrent to the practice of skipping or coming late to class, "especially late in the quarter, when everybody's tired."

"It keeps us in class and in line," one student noted, "because nobody likes to take finals."

Zoning panel OKs shopping center plat

By LANA CUNNINGHAM

Preliminary plat of Midkiff Plaza Addition, submitted by Magnatex Corp., was approved Monday by the Planning and Zoning Commission, but only after the nine-member panel criticized the constraints placed upon them.

The plan by Magnatex for a shopping center and buffer zone of single family residences and townhomes on 57.398 acres at the southeast corner of FM 868 and Midkiff Road was approved by the Midland City Council last week on its "concept."

According to city regulations, the firm had to secure an approval by the planning commission before taking the plat to the council.

Craig Eaton with an urban planning firm in Dalias explained the plat, noting that Tealwood Street, which will run in front of the row of townhouses, is closed at the end next to Midkiff Drive.

'This general plan the neighborhood felt it could live with and feel comfortable with," Eaton said. Richard Hennessy, director of planning and community development for the city, said his department had recommended to the City Council the street be opened on to Midkiff.

But the council approved the concept according to what the neighbors and developer had agreed upon, and that agreement included closing the street. Mrs. James Purvis, commission member, ex-mission members suggested a "knock-down" fence be placed at the end of the street to facilitate fire truck or other emergency vehicle entry.

'We really don't have much to say on this (plat) since the City Council approved the concept," remarked Commissioner Mrs. William Sumner.

"What's it even doing here?" questioned Giffert Alstrin, another commissioner.

The plat was approved, 7-1, with clarifications on points in the staff report requested for the City Council meeting in June. Before the vote, though, Truitt said if it had not been for the "constraints" placed on the commission he would not vote for the plat. "I feel there are deficiencies with the plat."

A zone change request by Bill Chappell from 1F-1, single family, to PD, planned district, on the southern corner of Anetta Street and Thomason Drive was approved on a 5-4 vote. Several members objected to request on the basis that granting it would set a precedent for spot zoning in that area.

Slightly cooler temperatures, chance for showers forecast

Cloudy skies and a 40 percent chance of showers and thunderstorms tonight and Thursday should bring slightly cooler temperatures to the area, according to the weatherman.

The forecast by the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport indicates the low tonight should be in the mid-60s and the high Thursday should be in the mid-80s.

High Tuesday was 95 degrees and the overnight low was 68 degrees, according to the National Weather Service.

Record high for Tuesday is 104 degrees set in 1938 and the record low for today is 46 degrees set in 1947.

No precipitation was recorded by the National Weather Service in the past 24 hours and no rain was reported by unofficial area weatherwatchers. This month to date .97 inch of rain has been recorded and this year to date 3.83 inches of rain have Permian Basin reports early today indicated clear to partly cloudy skies over area towns.

Thunderstorms rumbled through North Central Texas and along the coast early today, causing some street flooding and prompting the National Weather Service to issue special marine warnings for high winds and rough seas. Street flooding was reported at Fort Worth and Corsicana, where an estimated six inches of rain fell during the evening and early morning

Forecasts called for more scattered thunderstorm activity, including some potentially heavy thunderstorm activity for North Texas today.

A cold front moved into the Texas Panhandle early today, dropping temperatures into the 50s and triggering some thunderstorm activity.

Commissioners also voted to launch a new mosquito control program on the recommendation of health officer Jewel Smith

Smith told commissioners mosquitos are a problem in the county and that the aerial spraying control method now used is not always effective. He suggested trying a new water-activated release insecticide which he said may prove more effective and less expensive.

The new insecticide lasts a year, Smith said, and is activated when it comes into contact with water, such as in a breeding area for mosquitos.

According to Smith, the insecticide would take care of the "little floods" in the county. "Monahans Draw is our real problem with mosquitos," he W.E. Shipp, chairman of the Midland County Advisory Committee on Aging, met with commissioners and recommended action be taken to alleviate what he called a housing shortage in the county for elderly and handicapped persons.

Citing a recent series of articles in The Reporter-Telegram, Shipp said, "There is certainly no question that appropriate housing for lower income Midland County residents is in criti-

Shipp also said Hillcrest Manor, a low-income apartment complex operated by the housing authority for elderly and handicapped persons, is full and that there is a waiting list of 130 applicants.

The apartment complex contains 100 units.

"It is reasonable to believe that there are many eligible individuals and families who have not made application because they have learned of the long waiting list," Shipp added.

Garage sale

No action was taken by commis-sioners, but Shipp offered the assistance of the advisory committee in obtaining additional housing.

Commissioners also approved contractual agreements with the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation for the purchase of right-of-way for Loop 250 (North Loop) on the outskirts of Midland and Texas 191 (North Route) between Midland and Odessa.

Recently, the state department agreed to participate in right-of-way acquisition for the projects in the amount of $3.4 million. Those funds are to be divided between Midland, Midland County, Odessa and Ector Midland County's share of the state funds comes to $1,396,100.

FBI's top criminal investigator leads search for Wood's killer

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - An army of federal agents, commanded by the FBI's foremost criminal investigator, have begun a sweeping search for the assassin who shot U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. to death. The judge, known as "Maximum John" because of the stiff sentences he assessed drug offenders, was shot once in the lower back in the parking lot at his apartment Tuesday morning. He was dead on arrival at a San Antonio hospital.

The bullet tore through his abdomen, damaging vital organs and lodged in the upper right chest, said Frank Castillon, chief investigator for the medical examiner's office

FBI spokesman David Cassens in Washington said the assassin probably used a small-caliber rifle.

Wood, 63, the second federal official involved in West Texas drug investigations to become the target of a shooting in the last seven months, was believed to be the first federal judge assassinated. Attorney General Griffin B. Bell. declaring "we cannot have a country where judges are assassinated or killed," assigned top FBI criminal investigator James O. Ingraham to direct a team of 40 agents in the U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, today asked Bell to offer a $25,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Wood's kill-

"It is vital that the person or persons who committed this outrageous, lawless act be arrested and brought before the bar of justice as quickly as humanly possible," Bentsen said in a letter to Bell. "This vicious, unprecedented assassination must not go unpunished

"I urge that you offer this maximum reward possible under the law to help assure that the assassin of Judge Wood feels the full force of the law." Bentsen said.

President Carter reacted to the assassination with anger, saying, "The killing of a federal judge...is an assault on our very system of justice."

Three weeks ago, Wood requested an end to protection given him since assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr narrowly escaped death when his car was riddled by gunfire last Novem-

The attack on Wood occurred less than a mile from where Kerr was ambushed.

But Pauline Clark, the judge's landlady at the fashionable Chateau Dijon Apartments, said Wood told her recently he felt his life was in dan-

U.S. Marshal Rudy Garza said Judge Wood told him, "If someone really wants to kill me, all the protection in the world would not prevent Bell said marshals were being assigned to protect four federal judges in the San Antonio area.

Judge Adrian Spears, whose office is next to Wood's, had marshals in his outer rooms while a reporter interviewed him in his chambers. A phone call from Bell interrupted the inter-

Spears' son, James, 28, was visiting relatives at a condominium across the street from Wood's apartment.

"I was the first one there. He was lying on his back he wasn't conscious. I took his pulse and felt nothing, nothing," James Spears said.

Another eyewitness, who asked not to be identified, said "he just slowly wheeled around and fell to the ground.

James Spears said he called police and an emergency medical team and arrived at the scene at the same time as the judge's wife, Kathryn. She ran to his side moments after the shooting and tried to comfort the unconscious judge, said James Spears. "She went inside their apartment and got a pillow for his head. She loosened his clothes. She was very bewildered, very upset.

Wood had been presiding over drug cases developed by the U.S. Attorney's office in San Antonio. They centered in El Paso, with a Midland grand jury also investigating.

One of the most publicized cases was that of El Paso resident Jimmy Chagra, a professional gambler charged with conspiracy to possess, import and distribute cocaine and marijuana.

Wood was to preside over Chagra's trial, due to start in Austin on July 23. The trial was postponed from Tues-

Chagra's lawyers asked at an April pretrial hearing in Midland that Wood remove himself from the case, but Wood refused, saying he would be unbiased.

U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez told the San Antonio News from Washington the murder of Wood was "an out and out challenge of the federal government's capacity to control

Gonzalez said Kerr visited him last week, and he warned Kerr he remained in danger and Wood was in 'extreme danger.

John E. Clark, a former U.S. attorney in San Antonio, said, " A judge who sentences people in criminal cases can potentially make a lot of enemies. Judge Wood was known for being pretty stern. He had very ment and had a reputation for dealing very strongly with people convicted in his court, particularly in drug Former assistant U.S. Attorney John Pickney said that after the initial shock he wasn't surprised.

"I think he enjoyed the reputation of being known as 'Maximum John, but there was always the feeling on my part that some of the defendants he sentenced may have been very bitter about it.'

Wood attended the 1960 and 1968 national Republican conventions that nominated Richard Nixon for president and was offered a judgeship in 1970. He reportedly refused, saying he had too many personal and business commitments, but relented the next year and took the job at the urging of political leaders.

A rosary was scheduled tonight with a funeral mass Thursday morning at Our Lady of Grace Church and burial at Rockport, Texas, which was founded by Wood's great-greatgrandfather, Col. John Wood, a veteran of the Battle of San Jacinto in Texas' 1836 War of Independence.

Wood's present and former law clerks are to serve as pallbearers.

Officials of Via Rail Canada Ltd., operator of the Toronto-bound gasoline turbine train, said three women passengers sprained ankles jumping from the train.

The passengers watched the fire "drinking beer or whatever they had managed to scrounge," said Peter Buckley, a passenger from Montreal. He said swarms of mosquitoes descended on the passengers as they scurried off the train.

The passengers continued their journey aboard another westbound train after walking about 21/2 miles to a crossing. They had to wait more than two hours as firefighters fought the blaze and workmen cleared the

The cause of the blaze has not been determined. Via Rail spokesman Daniel Rosseel said the fire started in the engine compartment, probably in the wiring.

nia hospital. (AP Laserphoto)

Her death Tuesday was altributed to a cerebral hemorrhage suffered last Friday.

The journey to the hospital was one of the few times Miss Pickford, whose golden curls and spunky innocence won her the adulation of milions, had emerged from the mansion since she withdrew from public life in 1966.

In 1976, she appeared before cameras at Pickfair to accept an honorary award "in recognition of her unique contribution to the film industry and the development of film as an artistic medium" from the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, which she helped found

Miss Pickford was perhaps the first great international screen idol. In an era of such stars as Greta Garbo and Gloria Swanson, she was the first to have her name in marquee lights and the first to command thousands of dollars a week. She was box office gold for such movies as "Pollyanna" and "Poor Little Rich Girl." The romance of the Pickford name grew when she married the screen's most dashing hero. Douglas Fairbanks Sr., in 1920. Even five years later, 300,000 people went to a Moscow train station to see them.

The couple overcame the scandal that had resulted when they divorced their respective spouses to marry and live at Fairbank's home above Beverly Hills, the opulent estate dubbed Pickfair, where dinner was served from solid gold plates and guests might include Charles Lindbergh and Through it all, Miss Pickford was known around the world as "America's Sweetheart," a title that stuck after it first appeared in 1914 on a marquee over Grauman's Chinese Theater.

She was born Gladys Marie Smith in Toronto, Canada, April 9, 1893, and made her stage debut at 5. Her first film was a one-reeler in 1909, "The Violin Maker of Crevona," directed by aspiring, young D.W. Griffith.

Her fame grew and by 1916 she became her own producer with a 50-50 partnership in the releasing company. Three years later, she was earning $675,000 a year against half of the gross of her films.

The films followed a similar pattern: the poor girl who makes good, or the rich girl with the common touch.

"In 1929, it was time to grow up again," she said. "I bobbed my hair and did my first talkie, 'Coquette.' It was not my favorite film. Actually, I have no favorite for I have never been completely satisfied with anything I dtd. But my public accepted me at last as not only an adult, but an adult that has an illicit affair.

"Coquette" won her the Oscar as best actress. After the 1932 film, "Secrets," she quit acting. "I knew it was time to retire. I wanted to stop before I was asked to stop," she said.

Miss Pickford remained active in the film industry. She retained ownership in United Artists, which she had founded n 1920 with Fairbanks, Chaplin and Griffith. She produced movies, starred on radio and helped found the Motion Picture Relief

a civil rights suit more than a year ago naming Midland County Sheriff Dallas Smith and the Midland County Commissioners court as defendants. That suit, originally dismissed as frivolous by U.S. District Judge John Wood, was appealed to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, which ordered a trial on the complaint. Almager contended he was bitten by a spider while a prisoner in the Midland County jail on March 4, 1978. The bite caused "severe pain, fright, and mental anguish," according to his complaint.

Almager also alleged that his requests for medical treatment were refused by county officials.

He was arrested Jan. 22, 1978, by officials from the sheriff's department.

Under federal court procedure in civil rights cases, citations only are issued against the defendants if a judge decides the case has merit.

Wood ruled Sept. 8, 1978, that the complaint was frivolous. The ruling Tuesday, however, means that the case may come to court after all. Dan Newsome, assistant county attorney, said Tuesday the county had yet to receive citations in the case. The appeals court ruled that dismissal of the case so early in the trial stages was improper.

Voldseth wins exploration game

Nels Voldseth, a geologist with Monsanto Co. in Midland, has won first place in the Permian Basin Graduate Center's World Series of Exploration

He was awarded a check for $1,000 by J. C. Williamson, Midland independent oilman who sponsored the contest, and named Young Explorationist of the Year.

Voldseth's name will be engraved on the traveling trophy. Voldseth had the lowest total cumulative points after the three games that made up the world series, finishing 2nd in the first game, 12th in the second game and 3rd in the fourth game, for a total of 17 points.

Tom Oglesby and Doug Roper, both with Exxon Co., U.S.A., tied for second place with 18 points.

Tied for fourth were Melonie Tonkin-Fuller, with MGF Oil Corp., and Herb Rehders, with Union Texas Petroleum Corp. They each had 22

Robert Richards of Union Texas was sixth with 23 points.

A tie developed for seventh between Bill Dollar of Union Texas and Paul Pause of ARCO Oil & Gas Co. They Jamie Thompson, with Exploration Graphics, was ninth with 31 points, and Saeed Afghahi, an engineer with Ralph Viney and Associates, placed 10th with 32 points.

Twenty-seven persons played the exploration simulation game which was designed to give instant experience to young geologists and to offer them the opportunity to test their geological premises.

The second World Series of Exploration is planned for the spring of 1980, and all geologists who are less than 35 years of age are invited to vie for the trophy and $1,000 first prize.

Some dealers could have more May gas on hand than expected

By The Associated Press

Here is a brief look at the end-ofvidual states:

ALABAMA: Sam Spivey, executive director of the Alabama Service Station Association says that motorists cut driving so much in May that 'some dealers wound up with more at the end of the month than they thought they would.' ALASKA: No significant problems with gasoline supply. ARIZONA: No problems are expected the rest of the month.

ARKANSAS: Supplies are expected to last through the weekend, and no more than 5 percent of the stations are expected to have to close for lack CALIFORNIA: The lines and panic buying that thrust California into the gasoline shortage spotlight earlier in the month have been reduced considerably by the odd-even rationing plan and the enforced opening of some stations on weekends. Officials say the end of the month may be better than the beginning of the month. Gas supplies in metropolitan areas continue to be tighter than those in more rural areas COLORADO: Officials at the Colorado branch of the American Automobile Association say no stations in that state are expected to have to close this week because of low supplies of gasoline.

CONNECTICUT: About two-thirds of Connecticut's gas stations will be open this week, according to Wayne Konitshek, president of the Connecticut Gasoline Retailers Association.

DELAWARE: Although some stations have had to close, the general picture is good.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA: No problems are expected until Thursday, but the arrival Friday of June gas supplies should reopen any closed

Workshops scheduled

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements said Tuesday his energy office had contracted with the Texas Solar Energy Society to design a series of solar energy workshops.

"Texas Solar Realities 79" will be presented in Austin, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Lubbock, El Paso Houston, San Antonio, Dallas and Fort Worth between June 20 and Nov.

Clements said the workshops would compare performance of different types of systems and equipment, provide cost and marketing analyses and examine current and future regula-

His office said in a statement the objective was to promote understanding of "how to, where to and why to use solar energy."

FLORIDA: Some stations are expected to close down until they receive their June gas allocations, but not many. "I really do't know of any that are completely out of gas, but there are some, I'm sure," said Bill Goode, an analyst in the state energy GEORGIA: No problems are expected with gas supply for the rest of the month. HAWAII: Most stations in Hawaii have adequate gas supplies because island service station dealers were allowed by the federal government to get as much gas this May as they did in the same month last year.

IDAHO: A handful of stations are closed and others are out of certain types of gas, but no major problems are expected this week.

ILLINOIS: Most dealers expect to have enough gas to make it to the end of the month.

INDIANA: Many stations have run out of regular-grade unleaded gas and officials say there could be wide, spread closings by week's end. IOWA: No problems are expected with gasoline supply.

KANSAS: Few stations are expected to have to close, although most will be limiting hours.

KENTUCKY: Supplies should be adequate to meet the demand.

LOUISIANA: Although Louisiana is a key oil-producing state, gasoline supplies are tight and some stations have had to close.

MAINE: A few stations have run out of gas and have closed, but no problems are expected this week. MARYLAND: Most stations will be open and officials expect no repeat of the mass closings that occurred when April gas allocations ran out.

MASSACHUSETTS: Supplies are tight, but few stations are reported out of fuel. Many, however, have cut operating hours.

MICHIGAN: Few stations expect any trouble making it through the end of the month.

MINNESOTA: Al Wedin, assistant executive director of the Minnesota Service Stations Association, says the gasoline situation in the state is "very critical. Right now 50 percent of our members are out of gas.'

MISSISSIPPI: Some stations have been forced to close for lack of fuel. but most say they can make it to the end of the month. MISSOURI: Two-thirds of the state's gas stations will have to close this week because they've used up May allocations, according to J.W. Abbott, director of the state energy program MONTANA: Officials report no problems with gasoline supplies and don't expect any, but diesel fuel is running short.

NEBRASKA: Because most Nebraska stations limited hours or closed weekends earlier in the month, they are expected to have enough gasoline left over to make it through the end of the month.

NEVADA: Many Nevada service stations tried to conserve during May in anticipation of a rush during Memorial Day weekend. The rush never came, so gasoline supplies in the state

NEW HAMPSHIRE: Most stations will stay open, although some are closing early to conserve supply.

NEW JERSEY: According to Bill Rickett, a spokesman for the New Jersey Gasoline Retailers Association, "Most of the dealers have enough gas left to carry them through Thursday."

NEW MEXICO: Some of the state's gas stations have run out, but most will be open all week. NEW YORK: Gasoline prices continue to rise - in one case as high as $1.30 a gallon — and some stations have closed. Officials of gas dealer associations expect gas to be generally available during the week - but it may be tight over the weekend.

NORTH CAROLINA: Supplies are tight, and some stations have closed, but no major problems are anticipated this weekend. Service stations expect to make supplies of gas last through the end of the month.

OHIO: Although some stations have run out of one or another grade of gasoline, very few are reported having to close until June allocations come in.

OKLAHOMA: Gasoline supplies are adequate.

OREGON: Few if any problems or closings are expected. PENNSYLVANIA: Supplies are expected to be tight but sufficient through the week, with only a few stations having to close.

RHODE ISLAND: No supply problems are expected. SOUTH CAROLINA: Many stations have cut operating hours, but few are expected to have to close this week because they've run out of fuel. SOUTH DAKOTA: Officials expect few stations to run out of gas before the end of the month.

TENNESSEE: Supplies are tight but few stations are expected to run out of fuel this week.

TEXAS: Although many stations have limited operating hours, few are expected to run out of gasoline before their June shipments come in UTAH: State officials say they know of no stations closing for the rest of the month due to a lack of gaso-VERMONT: Supplies are good.

VIRGINIA: A spokesman for the Virginia Gasoline Retailers Association says he has heard of "absolutely no stations" that will be closed the rest of the month because they have run out of gas.

WASHINGTON: Despite tight gas supplies, there are no major problems expected for the rest of the week. WEST VIRGINIA: Although as many as 15 percent of the state's 1,500 service stations are expected by officials to shut down for lack of fuel this week, most should reopen Friday. WISCONSIN: More stations are cutting their hours this week than last, but supplies are generally considered adequate. WYOMING: Gasoline supplies should be adequate this week, although about 10 percent of the state's stations have had to close down for lack of fuel.

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's gasoline dealers don't expect a repeat year, so the total amount of gasoline being shipped is often considerably this week of the gasoline supply more than indicated by the dealer squeeze that caused many stations to allocation figures. close in the last week of April as monthly fuel allocations of gasoline

Gasoline supply could

But they say delays in getting June gasoline shipments could mean short supplies over the weekend. 'There will be enough stations with enough gas to get motorists home Friday, but it will be a tight weekend," said Robert Kelly, director of the Service Station Operators of Upstate New York.

"I don't think stations will limit gasoline (this week) but rather just sell what they have and then close until Friday," said Robert L. Cope, chairman of the Indiana Service Stations Dealers Association. "And Friday, well, there will probably be a run on the stations as they receive their first June allotment.'

Where gasoline supplies are especially tight, dealers say they will cut back hours in an attempt to stretch supplies until June gas deliveries ar-

It is so far unclear whether June supplies will be much better than they have been in recent months. But while in past months most oil companies have cut supplies from what they were the month before, the few June allocations announced so far seem to show a holding action. Oil companies began several months ago to limit the amount of gas they ship dealers because of short supplies. On average, dealers got about 15 percent less gas in May than in the same month last year.

In June, Standard Oil of California (Chevron) is raising its allocation to 90 percent of last year from the approximate 83 percent in May. Mobil, Atlantic Richfield and Phillips are leaving allocations at the same level in June as in May - 80 percent, 85 percent and 70 percent, respectively. Texaco, however, is dropping to 70 percent of last year's levels from 80 percent this month.

But the allocation figures are deceptive. Oil companies are required by law to supply agricultural, governmental and other essential service

Sudan may be scene of battle between two worlds

By NICOLAS B. TATRO

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) - President Gaafar Mohaed Nimeiriobserved the 10th anniversary last week of the military coup that brought him to power, but the future of his pro-Western regime is clouded by political division and the worst economic crisis in Sudan's history.

"All the prerequisites for a violent overthrow are here except one - no leader of national stature has emerged to challenge Nimeiri," one

Western diplomat said. Strategically located at the crossroads of the black African and Arab in the last decade is no longer one of the world's 25 poorest nations. Another achievement attributed to Nimeiri is the resolution of a 17-year civil war between Arab Moslems in the north and black Christians in the Analysis

The United States is looking at Sudan with renewed interest. President Carter sent Sen. Jacob Javits, R.-N.Y., to Khartoum this week as his special emissary to learn what assistance Sudan needs for its economy and its army. Sudan, Africa's largest nation with vast agricultural potential and a population of 17 million, is aligned with Egypt and with it is seen as a counterbalance to Soviet-backed regimes in neighboring Libya and Ethi-

Unlike other Arab nations, Sudan has not broken with Egypt because of its peace treaty with Israel. Nimeiri said last Tuesday, however, his government has not yet taken an official stand on the treaty itself.

Sudan's stability is considered essential by U.S. policymakers who fear a radical change would upset the balance of power in the Horn of Africa near the source of the West's oil sup-

Political opponents of Nimeiri ranging from communists to Islamic fundamentalists say they are willing to bide their time.

"There is no sense in taking power only to have the same old problems of warring factions," said one opposi-tion leader who asked anonymity.

Nimeiri, the 49-year-old son of an office messenger who advanced from general to field marshal for the May Revolution ceremonies last Friday, has weathered a dozen attempts to overthrow him, including a major effort by the communists in 1971 and another by a coalition of groups backed by Libya in 1976.

The most recent attempt, dismissed as minor by the government, occurred in April when separatists in Western Sudan were caught smuggling arms. About 20 persons were put on trial.

"Nimeiri is a lucky man," said Omar Nur el Dayim, a member of Parliament and a leader of the powerful Ansar Islamic sect which rebelled against Nimeiri's then-leftist regime in March 1970. "If the rains are not too strong, Nimeiri is safe for another flooding last July in the cotton fields and other farmlands.

The economic picture has improved since last fall when there was widespread grumbling about shortages of fuel, flour, sugar and charcoal, frequent power cuts and strikes by a variety of unions.

"I think the worst is over," said Trade and Commerce Minister Hashim Mohammed Awad in an interview. Although Sudan remains $800 million in arrears on debts, he said the financial crisis was eased when West Germany canceled more than $200 million in loans and Kuwait and Saudi Arabia rescheduled $278 million in overdue debts.

Reps. Charles Wilson, D-2, Bill Archer, R-7,

James Wright, D-12, and Jack Hightower, D-13,

DISASTER LOANS: The House rejected, 174 for and 232 against, an amendment to lower the interest rate on government loans that compensate for damage inflicted on homes and personal property by natural disasters. The amendment sought to lower from three to one percent the rate on the first $10,000 loaned. The vote came during debate on HR 4011, later passed with a proposed rate of three percent on the first $55,000. A House-Senate conference now has the

Stock market loses

NEW YORK (AP) - Stock prices declined slightly in quiet trading Tuesday as energy worries kept a damper on the market.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, coming off a 5.63 loss last week before the Memorial Day weekend, dropped another 3.73 to 832.55. With two sessions left in the month the average shows a loss of more than 32 points since the end of April. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 27.04 million shares, down from 27.81 million Friday. The biggest loser among the Dow 30 was F.W. Woolworth, down 2 at 24% as of the 4 p.m. close in New York. Late last week Brascan Ltd. encountered several legal setbacks in its bid to make a takeover offer for Wool-Brascan class A shares fell 11/4 to 20 on the American Stock Exchange.

The Amex had a number of gainers, on the other hand, among North American energy stocks. Dome Petroleum rose 1% to 341/4: Imperial Oil class A 2 to 27%, and Mitchell Energy & Development 21/8 to 27 3/4

Such performances helped the Amex market value index climb 2.04 to 187.49, a new high since it wa established at 100 in 1973.

The dollar gained ground in foreign exchange during the day, extending its strong trend of late. But the price of gold, which is often used as a measure of pessimism among the world's investors, also surged again to a record of better than $277 an ounce before falling back to around

Real estate? Buy, sell, faster, better. WANT ADS. 682-6222 BUSINESS MIRROR Wall Street's opinions split

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — As the stock market enters June, sometimes an uninspired month, opinions on the future of prices are split wide as the Grand

Nothing new in this; it's been that way for 15 years, and the fact that the Dow Jones industrial average is no higher than it was in 1964 lends documentation. It tells of a split in opinions, a stalemate.

What is new is that some of those on either side of the split feel that we may not have to wait much longer for the proof of the pudding. That proof, they agree, is in the performance, not the prediction.

On one side of the great divide are those who say the market will now fall into the abyss. Included in the group are some huge institutional traders who, over recent years, have been shunning stocks.

On the other side they're ready to climb the mountain. By 1983 they foresee peaks twice as high as the recent industrial average, which closed last week at 836.37 points, about the same as in June 1964. On either side they view the same economic probabilities as providing credibility. We are at a watershed, they say. We are headed toward recession. Our red-ink economy is like blood flowing. One group maintains the economy will be down for the count, or at least they act that way. They're shunning stocks. The other insists a downturn is the long-awaited correction, after which strength re-

Group one, unfortunately, includes a solid representation of those with the money, which in this age means institutions such as pension and mutual funds. They have avoided investments for short-term deals. What they are saying, among other things, is that the U.S. economy is too risky for them to commit their billions on a long-term basis. They have preferred to remain liquid, flexibile. In short, ready to

However, their running hasn't gotten them far. Union and corporation executives are often distressed by the poor performance of their pension portfolios, especially as inflation dilutes values.

Even when invested in stocks, the funds have done poorly. A review by A.G. Becker Inc. of 571 pension funds found that since 1964 only 22 of every 100 matched or exceeded the Standard and Poor's 500stock index.

Blame is often placed on the timidity of portfolio managers, who under the relatively new "prudent man" law can be held responsible for investment decisions. They feel caution is more defensible than risk. How timid have they been? A Federal Reserve count shows insurers and pension funds added less to their stock holdings last year than in any of the previous 11 years. Private pension funds used only 9 percent of available cash for U.S. stocks. Recently, some have invested abroad.

A perusal of investment letters suggests that as the economy declines so will the portfolio managers' already weak allegiance to stocks. No matter that prices might recover later. A manager saves his job

Across the divide they look at the matter differently. The stock market, they say, isn't for the timid and it isn't for the short-term. It's not to be viewed through a microscope; a telescope's the thing.

Blonde who got away paces Palm Beach

By RICHARD VINCENT Sports Writer

Paula Slivinsky has short blonde hair, an engaging manner and charm enough to get even an old sourpuss to

But there's something else that makes the quietly confident 19-yearold from Brewster, N. Y. a little bit different from most young ladies her

That slight difference is the ability to propel a tiny white ball around a big green golf course in as few strokes as possible.

Tuesday afternoon at Hogan Park Golf Course, the Palm Beach, Fla., Junior College freshman toured the parched and wind-swept layout in one-under-par 70 for the first-round individual medalist lead in the National Junior College Athletic Association women's golf tournament.

Bolstered by Slivinsky's sterling effort, Palm Beach enjoyed a sevenshot advantage in the team chase after one round of the 54-hole event which moves to Midland Country Club today and Thursday. Palm Beach was at 311 while defending champion Miami, Fla., Dade Community College North Campus was at 318. Dade defeated Palm Beach earlier for the Florida juco title. Midland College's Wendy Goodwin, a freshman from Midland Lee, carded a fine 76 Tuesday but the Chaparrals were fourth in the team race with 331. Temple Junior College, third last year, had 321 while Scottsdale, Ariz., Community College brought up the rear with 369. Mary Stewart of Phoenix, Ariz., College shot an 81 while another individual player, Sheila Jilka of Kirkwood Community College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, recorded an 86.

Slivinsky said she had to work hard to save par several times, but was satisfied with the way things went. "I played really well, it's the best round I've ever had," she said.

En route to her 70, she said her approach shots were solid and her drives were "exceptionally good." And the winds, not excessively strong by West Texas standards, did have some impact on the first-time visitor. "The wind was a factor," said Slivinsky. "I'm not used to it." The gusts might not have mattered had she opted to attend Midland College, a school that somewhat held her fancy last year. "I was looking into it (attending MC)," she said. She chose Palm Beach because she had previously lived in Florida and was familiar with the state. "It was all up in the air," said Palm Beach coach Debbie Ruday of Slivinsky's selection process.

One other factor might've been that teammate Colleen Binkiewicz of Belleville, N. J. was a former junior golfing partner in the metropolitan Slivinsky isn't the only Palm Beach player to have considered MC. Freshman June Staton, who fired a 79 Tuesday, also dabbled with the idea of attending the Tall City campus.

But even without Slivinsky and Staton, MC's freshman-dominated team impressed coach Susan Holland. She said her team played "real well." adding they might have things going for them the final two days.

"If there's any course advantage to have, we'll have it at Midland Country Club," she said.

And Holland, who happens to double as an MCC assistant pro, should cally placed so they come into play,' she said. Don't think though that Slivinsky and company plan to pull an el foldo premium because trees are strategiat MCC. In fact, Slivinsky said she liked MCC after playing a practice round there Monday because it's more conducive to her long drives than Hogan. Ruday, however, is the ever-cautious coach. Asked if there were winds in Palm Beach, she replied smiling, "not like this." She added that blustery conditions could be harmful at MCC. "With the wind right, it could play very long.'

Still, everything seems to come back to Slivinsky, the lovely lass with a penchant for pounding golf balls. She conceded the team race is "going know. "Placing your shot is at a to be a fight," but that just meant ning to beat the Arkansas Travelers.

Sonics win in OT to lead 3-1

Story, 2D. (AP Laserphoto)

SEATTLE (AP) - Dennis Johnson says the Seattle SuperSonics only have to remember last year to keep from squandering their lead in the National Basketball Association championship playoffs against the Washington Bullets.

Earl Weaver, the peacemaker? It's an unusual role for the Baltimore manager, but Earl, center, holds back third base coach Cal Ripken, right, as

"Everybody on this team is remembering last year," said Johnson after the Sonics defeated the Bullets 114-112 in overtime Tuesday night to go ahead 3-1 in the best-of-seven finals. "We had the lead then and relaxed. The next thing we knew, we were being blown out.

Last year, the Sonics led in the final series 3-2, but got pasted in Game Six in Washington, 117-82, and the Bullets went on to win the championship.

The next game in this series will be played Friday in Landover, Md., with Game Six, if necessary, here on Sunday and Game Seven in Landover next Wednesday.

Dennis Johnson also said it doesn't mean a thing that the Bullets were down 3-1 against San Antonio in the Eastern Conference finals and came back to win the series, only the third time in NBA history such a comeback was made in the playoffs. It has never been done in the championship

"We're not te Spurs," said Johnson, who tipped the last Bullets shot into the hands of teammate Jack Sikma with three seconds remaining in the overtime. "We don't get all the publicity that the Spurs do, but they don't play defense like us. We aren't your average team. We're not going to lose the 3-1 lead." Dennis Johnson and Gus Williams, the two Sonics guards, once again paced Seattle. They got 32 and 36 points, respectively. They got lots of help inside from Sikma, who had 20 points, 17 rebounds, five blocked shots and aided in getting Washington's three big men - Elvin Hayes, Bobby he argues with second base ump Jerry Neudecker.

Dandridge and Wes Unseld — to foul

out of the game. Washington Coach Dick Motta was angered about those foul calls, claiming San Antonio Coach Doug Moe set the stage for them when he criticized the referees after the final game of the Eastern Conference playoffs.

"In that last game, the referees were accused of favoring the champion Bullets," said Motta. "I honestly feel we are the victims of Doug Moe's outburst. Seattle played the last 14 minutes and did not have a foul called against them. I am very upset.

"I don't believe you can play an NBA game and not have a foul called on a team in the last 14 minutes," said

Actually, the Sonics had two fouls called against them in the last 16:28, but none in the last 8: 47.

Sonics Coach Lenny Wilkens said his team knew it had to win. "It was a must game for both teams and we knew they were going to go all out. There was a lot of tension, so our team was tight in the beginning. The Bullets finally had their guards break out of their shooting slump with Kevin Grevey and Charlie Johnson hitting for 18 points apiece. Hayes also scored 18, while Dandridge and Unseld had 16 each.

Orioles' Palmer chases 10-game K-City jinx

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles survived a 10-count and flattened the Kansas City Royals Tuesday night.

One night earlier, the Orioles dropped their 10th consecutive game in Royals Stadium. But Tuesday evening, Ken Singleton, Rich Dauer, Gary Roenicke and Lee May unloaded haymakers and the Orioles pounded the Royals 8-1, their first success in Kansas City since June 4, 1977.

"Hell, does this feel good," exclaimed Manager Earl Weaver. "You get to wondering what the hell you have to do. Last year it was 100 percent Kansas City and last night (Monday's 5-4 16-inning loss) we had plenty of chances but still couldn't

"The problem is not that I can't pitch well, I just can't finish in the late innings," said Palmer, who ran his career record against Kansas City to 19-8. Yount's double, which right fielder Reggie Jackson misplayed, helped the Brewers to three more runs in the seventh. Milwaukee's Moose Haas scattered seven hits, including home runs by Jackson and Graig Nettles.

Haas' first pitch to Jackson in the second inning, a high, tight fast ball, sent him scampering out of the batter's box. Jackson yelled at Haas and pointed to the plate, showing the pitcher where the pitch should have been. Jackson homered on the next pitch and glared at Haas as he pranced around the bases.

'He was trying to intimidate me." Jackson said. "The ball was at my head. It was too close for comfort. I just wanted to make a point. We had a little discussion and it was over.

Angels 6, Mariners 4

Bobby Grich collected three hits and drove in three runs while Jim Barr scattered eight hits before needing help from Dave LaRoche in the eighth as the Angels posted their fourth consecutive triumph. Barr replaced scheduled starter Nolan Ryan, who remained behind in California with his injured son and then was delayed by the grounding of a DC-10. Grich delivered a two-run double in the seventh inning. In the fifth, his single scored Brian Downing all the way from first. Ruppert Jones and Bob Stinson homered for Seattle.

Tigers 9, Blue Jays 8 Lance Parrish snapped an 8-8 tie with a run-scoring single in the eighth inning following a two-out intentional walk to Jason Thompson. Lou Whitaker opened the eighth with a single and was sacrificed to second. After Rusty Staub flied out, Thompson was purposely passed, but Parrish spoiled the strategy with his game-winning hit. The Tigers also got a two-run single from Alan Trammell and a two-run double from Jerry Morales and Parrish had an RBI double. Rookie Dave Tobik earned his first major league victory with one inning of re-

Bill Nahorodny doubled home two runs and Richard Wortham blanked Cleveland on four hits for eight innings. Nahorodny's double came in the fourth inning off loser Eric Wilkins after Alan Bannister singled and Lamar Johnson walked. The White Sox scored two more runs in the sixth on RBI singles by Milt May, making his debut with Chicago, and Rusty Torres.

"I was tired in the seventh, but since it was a shutout I wanted to stay in there and hope they would hit it at someone," said Wortham, who gave way to Randy Scarbery with one out in the ninth. "I was really tired in the ninth. When the shutout went I started getting nervous.

KGB Chicken has feathers plucked by judge

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The 5-foot-4 defendant sat in the jury box, his head hooded by a brown paper sack with peepholes.

A yellow feather afixed to the top of the sack was the only giveaway until Ted Giannoulas, the defrocked

He prayed. He gnawed nervously on his nails. And he crossed his fingers for good luck. But to no avail.

KGB Chicken, did his thing.

Calling himself "an old fuddyduddy," a San Diego Superior Court judge stripped Giannoulas of the chicken suit Tuesday.

Judge Paul Overton said Giannoulas, 24, could return as a redesigned bird, but barred him from appearing in the famous chicken costume in four Southern California counties: San Diego, Imperial, Riverside and Or-

If Giannoulas modifies the chicken outfit, he must refrain from appearing on any out-of-state sports telecasts involving San Diego teams, Overton added.

"An unnecessarily harsh ruling," said Giannoulas' attorney, Ron Mix. Giannoulas, the man inside the chicken suit for the past five years, said he was "heartsick. It's really, really sad."

The development was the latest setback for Giannoulas. He has been fired by KGB and sued for $250,000 for alleged contract violations of his $50,-00-a-year job and unauthorized ap-

Texas League action Tuesday night, El Paso clubbed Shreveport, 13-7, and Tulsa beat San Antonio, 6-3. Amarillo's scheduled contest at Jackson was postponed because of rain.

Rich Brewster's two-run homer in the bottom of the eighth gave El Paso an 8-7 lead over Shrevepor. Charlie Phillips, 2-1, was the winning pitche for the Diables Steve Cline the losing pitcher.

golf with the development of junior golfers being one of the best ways to obtain this objective. The NTSU and the Northern Texas Section of the PGA have coordinated a fine program for young golfers. The program is offered to junior golfers, ages 11 to 17 and will provide a sound proper foundation in all phases of the game of golf.

The enrollment will be limited to 44 students per session. The tuition is $240 and must accompany the application which can be picked up at Hogan Park Golf Course as well as Ranchland Hills and Midland country clubs. The tuition covers accomodations, meals and the academy program. The program offers group clinics, classroom lectures, demonstrations, tournament competition and personalized instruction for each student as well as recreational free time to enjoy the facilities of NTSU.

There will be two sessions of free golf lessons offered at Hogan Park on June 4-8 and July 9-13. The instruction will be given by Rex Worrell and Steve Hendley. The lessons will include the grip, alignment, stance, orientation to golf, rules and regulation of play. Time will be 9 to 10 a.m. for 12 to 17 year olds and 10: 15 to 11: 15 a.m. for 18 years and over. Registration will be through the Parks and Recreation Department or at Hogan Park's golf shop.

THE NEXT Tee Time will cover the West Texas Junior Tour and the Hogan Park Junior Golf programs. Junior Tour sites will be listed in next week's column.
