Assassination of judge lacks 'professional' look, federal investigators say

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - The assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. bore few of the trademarks of a professional killing, several federal agents involved in the investigation have been quoted as Wood, 63, was killed Tuesday by a sniper who fired a single .243-caliber bullet into the judge's spine. He is believed to be the first federal judge ever assassinated while in office.

A .243-caliber bullet is usually fired from a high-powered deer rifle, although FBI officials have refused to speculate on the type of weapon used in the slaying. FBI lab technicians have said they cannot determine from how far away the shot came.

It was the second time in seven months a Western District of Texas official connected to massive West Texas narcotics smuggling cases has been ambushed. Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr escaped serious injury when his car was riddled by bullets Nov. 21 as he drove to work.

FBI officials have refused to comment on whether they believe the two assaults are connected. Wood was nicknamed "Maximum John" because of his stiff sentences in drug cases.

Kerr and U.S. Attorney Jamie Boyd have said they feel Wood's assassination is connected to the massive drug smuggling investigations and have vowed to accelerate the crackdown.

Sources from the FBI, U.S. Marshals Service and the Justice Department told the San Antonio Express-News over the weekend that the assassination did not apear to have been a contract killing.

"We're not ruling out any possibilities, but it certainly doesn't appear to be the work of a professional killer," one investigator was quoted as

"The small caliber of the murder weapon — which appears to be a type of gun not favored by hired killers — and the fact that there are far better guns for the purpose seems to make it doubtful it was a pro," he

Wood was stooping over his car when the bullet hit him in the lower back, splintering on his spine and sending fragments upward into the judge's vital organs. A professional, a source said, would have aimed for the head or heart rather than the lower percentage shot to the back.

"There is no way they could have relied upon the fact that the bullet they used would have done the job," another investigator said.
Wood was killed in front of his townhouse about 8:30 a.m. as he and

Americans still don't believe gas shortage

NEW YORK (AP) - Americans say they would cut back significantly on driving if the gasoline shortage were real, but they remain overwhelmingly convinced the shortage is just a profit-making ploy by the oil companies, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

This is not to say people are treating current energy problems as minor. In fact, they now say energy concerns are just about as serious a national problem as the rising cost of

It's just that Americans are deeply suspicious of the major factors in the energy situation - the oil-producing countries, the oil companies and the

This suspicion and deep concern about how their lives could be changed by energy problems combine to give the public a split personality

On the one hand, three out of four Americans haven't had any difficulty getting gasoline in recent weeks. But that hasn't stopped millions of drivers from "topping off" their tanks in fear of possible shortages, the poll found.

The special AP-NBC News poll on energy matters interviewed 800 adults across the country by telephone May 29, after the Memorial Day weekend.

The poll indicated nearly three out of four American drivers - 74 percent - would cut back their driving significantly if they were convinced the gasoline shortage were real. Twentythree percent would not and 3 percent were not sure. But the public doesn't think the gasoline shortage is real.

Sixty-five percent said the shortage is a hoax to get consumers to pay higher prices, while only 25 percent said it is real. Ten percent were not

Despite this suspicion about the sources for the current gasoline situation, Americans say energy is one of the nation's top problems.

Asked what is the nation's top problem, 32 percent named the cost of living, leaving it in the top spot it has held for many months. Energy was picked by 29 percent. That's up from

Because of the margin of error inherent in a sample survey of 800 adults nationwide, there is no significant difference between the 32 percent naming inflation and the 29 percent naming energy as the No. 1

Crime was named by 10 percent and morality by 9 percent. The remainder were scattered among other issues or were not sure.

Many Americans report that gasoline shortages have not touched them directly - yet.

Seventy-four percent of those interviewed said they have experienced no difficulties in getting gasoline in the

Of those who have had trouble, 19 percent reported being unable to find gasoline or spending time hunting for a station with a supply. Eleven percent said they have waited in line to fill up and 6 percent said they have been restricted in the amounts of gas they could buy at one station. One percent were not sure. The percentages add to more than 100 because some people mentioned more than one problem.

The mere fear of shortages has caused millions of drivers to "top off" fill up their gas tanks more frequently than normal. Industry experts have said that such topping off can make a tight supply

Twenty-six percent of the nation's drivers said they have been topping off. Seventy-three percent said they are not and 1 percent were not sure.

One of five of those who have had no problems getting gas admitted to topping off. But 43 percent of those who have faced problems getting gasoline said they have been filling up more frequently.

As with any sample survey, the results of the AP-NBC News polls could differ from the results of interviews with all Americans with telephones because of chance variations in the sample.

For polls with 800 interviews, the results should vary no more than five percentage points either way simply because of sample errors.

and 274 persons died. On that, the two federal agencies concerned with air safety agree. But beyond that, the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Transportation Safety Board have had direct and public disputes over the nation's worst air disaster. For instance, why did the American Airlines DC-10 crash? The FAA has said the wide-bodied jet crashed on takeoff at O'Hare International Airport May 25 because its left engine fell off. "There is no reason to think that once that engine came off the airframe that it would fly," FAA chief Langhorne Bond said last week. But the NTSB disagrees. "That plane should have continued to fly," spokes-man Robert Buckhorn said. "We want to know why it didn't."

And, for instance, what should be done until the NTSB completes its probe? Bond allowed other DC-10s back in service following rigorous inspections of their engine mounts. But at least one safety board member, who says he is backed privately and said that all the planes should be grounded.

The conflicts over the Chicago crash - which may indicate deeper conflicts over the regulation of airline safety in general - has caused tension and testiness between the two agencies as the investigation into Flight 191 continues

Over the weekend, a NTSB team was working with a computerized cockpit simulator at the American Airlines training base in Fort Worth duplicate the deadly takeoff. "We're going to program into it the same variables we had in Chicago," safety board spokesman Ed Flattery said, "and see if the plane is controll-

What may have caused the tragedy in Chicago, the head of the NTSB investigation there said, was not the loss of the engine itself but the damage it did to the wing as it fell. Douglas Dreifus said that as the engine and its mounting ripped from the wing, it may have damaged hydraulic

If the hydraulic fluid then drained - and witnesses on the ground said they saw liquid streaming from the wing - the pressure keeping the lefttracted and the left wing would have lost the lift they provide. But the right wing still would have had its full lift, and the plane would have been tipped into an uncontrollable roll. "The aerodynamicists we checked with said the plane still should have been controllable, provided there was no damage to the wing...," Flattery said. "I don't think anyone has the known experience of what happens to a DC-10 if it loses an engine. The FAA believes one thing. We don't know. We're trying to find out."

In fact, the dispute between the two agencies may turn out to be one of semantics and timing, not substance. FAA spokesman Dennis Feldman said that Bond's statement, based on the findings of FAA investigators, included damage to the wings as part of the crash's cause.

But Flattery cautioned that the NTSB was not "anywhere near" stating the probable cause of the Chicago crash - and he emphasized that it was the NTSB, not the FAA, that would finally decide what the cause

The NTSB investigates accidents and recommends safety changes to regulatory agencies like the FAA. The FAA oversees the design and meet safety standards and monitors their daily operation.

The safety board has become particularly aggressive under its new chairman, James King, while the FAA traditionally has been sympathetic to the aviation industry. Despite recent efforts to make the FAA more independent, it is an organization with an entrenched bureaucracy. And Bond, who has been responsive to consumer interests during his two years in the job, has been criticized as a political appointee who lacks the technical expertise for his post.

Without citing Bond by name, British Caledonian Airlines on Friday blasted FAA remarks about the Chicago accident as "irresponsible" and 'premature" and said it was "appalled that a number of official bodies and unqualified individuals particularly in the U.S.A. have seen fit to make suppositions and put forward unfounded theories.

And at a briefing Thursday, safety board member Philip Hogue criticized the FAA decision to allow DC-10s back in the air, saying he would hesi-tate to fly in one. 'Until we have wrung out the load-carrying design features of the pylons," he said, "I don't think the airplane should be in

CACACAMON CONTRACTOR STATE AND THE STATE OF THE STATE OF

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) -President John Vorster, accused of covering up a major government financial scandal, resigned today, Prime Minister Pieter W. Botha announced to Parliament.

The resignation of the 64-year-old Vorster came after the release of an investigative report on the scandal, which involves the alleged misuse of $60 million to $120 million in secret government funds earmarked for clandestine propaganda projects.

"I regret to inform the House that the state president has tendered his resignation with effect from June 4, 1979," Botha told a stunned Parlia-

Vorster had been prime minister for 13 years until his resignation last September, and the cover-up allegedly occurred toward the end of his prime ministry. South African newspapers had confidently predicted that he would resign as president, a largely ceremonial post, when the report was released today. The secret propaganda projects were aimed at bettering the white-minority government's image, tarnished by international criticism of its apartheid policies of racial segregation.

Among the projects was the clandestine financing of a pro-government newspaper here, an alleged attempt to buy the Washington Star newspaper and alleged payments toforeign politicians.

The final report of the government appointed commission headed by retired Judge Rudolph Erasmus said Vorster shared responsibility in the scandal with others because he did not reveal irregularities that came to his attention, concealed them from the Cabinet and delayed taking steps to end the irregularities.

The Erasmus Commission issued two interim reports before its final 70-page document today. In the first, Vorster was cleared of any involvement in the scandal. In the second, the commission was more critical, claiming that he had withheld certain information from his Cabinet minis-

Former Information Minister Connie Mulder and the former director of the South African Information Department, Eschel Rhoodie, resigned from their posts when the scandal first began to break. The secret funds had been funnelled through the Information Department.

Mulders - once considered a potential prime minister - has been all but destroyed while Rhoodie, now wanted by South African police on fraud and theft charges in connection with the secret funds, is in hiding somewhere in Europe.

Botha, who succeeded Vorster as prime minister, told Parliament that the resigned president would be succeeded by Marais Viljoen, the president of the Senate, who would be inaugurated later today.

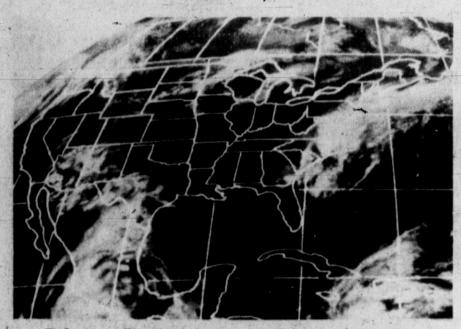

The commission also claimed that U.S. publisher John P. McGoff has not returned more than $6 million in secret funds he allegedly received to buy newspapers in the United States. The supposed plan was to make these newspapers, including the Washington Star, editorially friendly to South Africa. The report said that though the attempt to buy the Star eventually fell through, secret South African funds were used to buy the Sacramento (Calif.) Union and a 50-percent share in UPITN, a London-based television newsfilm service operated in conjunction with the U.S. news agency United Press International.

Dave Edwards of Greensboro, N.C., head of the union, wrote, "We want everybody to be home. We want them to have their loads off. We don't want them to block any truck stops or any fuel pumps.

"Our idea is to get the general public behind us because they're getting the shaft as well as us when they pull up to get gas."

And about 350 truckers from 13 states vowed Sunday in Sioux City, Iowa, to park their rigs indefinitely to protest high diesel fuel costs. The truckers are seeking an end to the high cost of diesel fuel and fuel surcharges, uniform length for trucks and suspension of the 55 mph speed limit which they say is not fuel-effi-cient for big trucks.

Somers said he and two other truckers left Colorado two days ago and were joined by others along the way. He refused to estimate their numbers, saying "it looks like a bunch."

Somers said his group was to meet today with congressmen and representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Department of Transportation. Owner-operators from Montana, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota, Florida, Arkansas, Connecticut, Colorado, North Dakota and Wisconsin were present at the Sioux City meeting. But some of the early results of the drivers' action were reported in states not represented at the Iowa meeting.

About two dozen truckers blockaded a Calumet, Ill., Union 76 Auto-Truck Stop at midnight, according to Ken Kramer, a manager of the station south of Chicago. He said the peaceful protest prevented independent truckers from leaving.

In Oklahoma, truckers shut down the four major Interstate 44 truck stops in Tulsa and the four largest in Oklahoma City. Some closed voluntarily; others were victims of block-

"We'll stay shut down as long as they want, I guess," said Bill Campbell, manager of the Tulsa East Union 76 Truck Stop. About 20 trucks blockaded his station Sunday night.

But Jack Ballew, operator of a Union 76 stop in Oklahoma City, said he'd go to court today to seek an injunction to remove the blockades. In Sioux City, strike supporter Eldon Goldsmith, told drivers: "if any of you have perishable loads, you have until midnight Wednesday to get that load off and park that truck." Not all trucks were parked, however. Gary Dunkeson, manager of the Union 76 truck stop on Interstate 70 just east of Kansas City, said he couldn't tell any difference in business at midnight.

"We're busier than fleas out here," he said, adding that many independent drivers had not even mentioned the action.

But Betty Bennett of the 707 Truck Plaza on Interstate 70 in Blue Springs, Mo., said some independents were buying little fuel

"Some are saying, 'I'm just buying enough to take it home and park it," she said.

Judge rejects request to ground all DC-10s flown by U.S. airlines

WASHINGTON (AP) - An airline passengers' group has been rebuffed in a bid to have all DC-10 jets flown by U.S. airlines grounded until the cause of the nation's worst aviation accident

The Airline Passengers Association Inc. asked a federal court here Sunday to force the Federal Aviation Administration to halt all flights of the jumbo jets until investigators learn precisely why an engine fell off an American Airlines DC-10 last

With the engine missing, the plane plummeted to the ground shortly after take-off from Chicago's O'Hare International Airport, killing 274 peo-

But U.S. District Judge George Hart turned down the request for a temporary restraining order, saying the court should not go around federal agencies, which are looking into the cause of the crash.

Air travelers would suffer an "absolutely tremendous" impact if the planes were grounded, Hart said.

He also told association lawyers that its members are not "irreparably harmed" because they can choose to fly planes other than DC-10s.

The crash prompted the FAA to order all U.S. airlines to visually inspect their DC-10s for any problems in the engine mounting systems.

The inspections found that nearly half the 137 DC-10s in service on the domestic airlines had defects ranging from "serious to minor," the FAA said. Many of those in which problems were discovered did not fly over the weekend.

But attorneys for the passengers association argued that the visual inspections were not enough as long as the FAA could not determine exactly why the left engine on the ill-fated Flight 191 fell off.

Since the design of each of these (DC-10) aircraft and their engine mountings and pylons is substantially the same, there is no reason to believe that the loss of American Flight 191 is an isolated occurrence," said asso-ciation lawyer Windle Turley. The

He also said that FAA personnel, rather than the airlines' mechanics, should inspect the engine mountings on the DC-10s.

-Thirteen passengers aboard an American Airlines DC-10 were slightly injured Sunday when they slid down the plane's chutes after an emergency landing at Kennedy International Airport, authorities said. -A United Airlines DC-10 returned to San Francisco Saturday after a faulty cockpit light indicated a problem with the plane's cargo door. The crew found the door was secure and the plane took off a short time later for Washington, D.C.

'Sweeny Todd' racks up Tonys

NEW YORK (AP) — "Sweeney Todd," a bloody tale of revenge, and "The Elephant Man," the poignant story of a deformed young man, dominated Broadway's Tony Awards as the best musical and best play of the 1978-79 theater season.

"This is a cutthroat business — they had no choice," smiled Len Cariou, who took the top acting award in a musical for his portrayal of Todd, the demon barber of Fleet Street, who dispatches his victims with a straight razor.

"Sweeney Todd" picked up six more awards Sunday night including a fourth Tony for Angela Lansbury as best actress in a musical. It also won best director-musical, Harold Prince; best score, Stephen Sondheim; best book, Hugh Wheeler; best scenic design, Eugene Lee, and best costumes, Franne Lee.

"The Elephant Man," written by Bernard Pomerance, also brought Tonys to Carole Shelley, who tied with Constance Cummings of "Wings" as best actress in a drama, and Jack Hofsiss, as best Fonda won the humility prize of the night with his response. "I guess this is for being a survivor. I've never been wildly happy about being me. I never really liked myself. But on the stage I had an opportunity to pretend I was Mr. Roberts, Clarence Darrow and Justice Dan Snow. You've got to television. be sure I'm grateful.'

The Saudi surprise

When the nations of the Arab world met in Baghdad on April 1 to punish Egypt for signing the peace treaty with Israel, a widespread hope held that Saudi Arabia, moderate and generally pro-Western, was merely tagging along for the sake of Arab unity.

The breaking of diplomatic, trade and economic ties with Egypt had little more than psychological significance without a full commitment from the Saudis, who had been making substantial financial contributions to Cairo. The Saudi princes, customarily obtuse, lent credence to Egyptian and Western optimism by crafty indirection. Now only a few weeks later, we have learned the Saudis mean business about putting the squeeze on Egypt. Moreover, they are letting it be known that they intend to teach a lesson to Washington as well as Cairo.

When Saudi Arabia confirmed the withdrawal of future financial support to Egypt, the assumption was made that commitments made prior to the treaty would still be honored. Even that is doubtful now.

Defense Secretary Harold Brown has told the House Foreign Affairs Committee that Saudi Arabia had paid none of the $525 million for 50 F-5E jet fighters sold to Egypt by the United States last year, despite firm understandings to the contrary. Those understandings were part of the controversial Senate deal whereby a parallel sale of F-15s went to Saudi Arabia and their repudiation is stirring congressional wrath.

"The declared position of Saudi Arabia-has changed. It is a fact, and nobody should gloss over that fact." So said Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance to the committee in a statement unusual for its candor.

Meanwhile, as evidence of what Secretary Vance meant, the Saudis have cut back on their oil production. This act ensures a tightening oil supply, already disrupted by reduced Iranian oil output and surcharges added by oil producing nations, and thereby further embarrasses the oilthirsty Americans.

Thus do the Saudis seem to indulge themselves in that mischief and folly which Gibbons ascribed to so much human history. Instead of thwarting the Egyptian-Israeli peace process, they insure it by giving President Sadat no alternative but to hug his treaty all the closer - a fact borne out by a recent bitter Sadat denunciation of the Saudi actions. Moreover, the Saudis being unable to defend their oil and wealth, play a dangerous game to alienate Egypt, the strongest Arab nation, and the United States, their ultimate shield against the Soviet Union.

If the Saudi princes dare not invite the Russians to join the Palestinian Liberation Organization and other Arab militants inside their tent, the only alternative to their present course would be to go it alone. And because their tiny population of about 10 million will not permit that option, we should be able to expect in the not too distant future some accommodation by the Saudis to reality, and some move toward reconciliation with their natural allies in Cairo and Washington.

That reconciliation might be hastened by a friendly but tough realism in Washington.

U. S. oil prices are up but so are Cokes, milk

ORLANDO, Fla. - Let's talk about the oil companies. We have all been regaled with stories and charges that the oil companies are ripping us off. Is this really true? No.

The hard fact is that a few days ago, despite crude shortages caused by the Iranian revolution, despite the price gouging of the OPEC bandits, and despite the excessive regulations of government, the average wholesale price of gasoline in the U.S. was 57 cents. ing reserves of oil and gas. Profits are the least painful and most efficient way to raise that capital.

Big oil profits are measured in billions because their investments - the amount of money spent to earn the profits - are also measured in billions. As a return on investment, oil profits are about the same as most of other industries - less in some Big oil companies may have sinned in a number of ways, but shafting the American consumer is not one of them. On that count, any sensible person would have to conclude from the undisputed facts that the oil industry has been the American consumer's best friend.

On the one hand, socialist demagogues accuse us of being wasteful of energy and bemoan the fact that we have been "spoiled" by abundant supplies of cheap fuel. Well, who made the cheap fuel abundantly available? The oil industry. Now the same demagogues turn around and weave fantasies about oil companies conspiring to rip off the consumer. Well, logically, the demagogues can't have it both ways,. The oil industry may have spoiled us with efficiency and productivity, but you can't say they have spoiled us by providing cheap energy and ripped us off at the same time.

I question both the motives and the sincerity of these critics. As far as supplying Americans with ample energy at reasonable prices, I trust the oil industry on the basis of the record of the past 66 years. They have done it. Even in the days of the Robber Barons, they did it. Regardless of what was going on inside the industry, at the pumps, the American motorist has always gotten a square deal. They made it possible for us to own and enjoy automobiles and they fueled the growth of our economy.

And don't forget, no matter how much Ralph Nader wishes they hadn't, they were responding to our demands. We were the ones who wanted cars and highways and jobs and it's unfair to ask an industry to do a job, have it do it in superb fashion, and then kick it in the teeth.

There is plenty of oil and gas in the ground and if we get the federal government and its bureaucracies out of the way, the oil industry will find it and deliver it to us at a fair price just as it has always done.

But that is exactly what too many people in the federal government do not want. There are too many socialist idealogues tucked away in Washington who want to impose their vision of how we should live on us. These characters are sabotaging the free market economy deliberately. They want us to be dependent on government. You think this through for yourself. You look at the wholesale prices of gasoline and think about what's involved in producing it. Then you compare the performance of the oil companies with the accusations of the demagogues. If you think an industry which can give gasoline at one third the cost of a bottle of water, sugar and a little flavoring is ripping you off, then you deserve to be a serf. I know what the big oil companies want from me. They want to sell me gasoline for my car and make a profit. What do you think Nader and those other socialists want? Power. Well, it's time to start thinking about who's a friend and who's a foe. As for me, I'll stick with people interested in Soviet Union's Kremlin: Is it really 'born again'?

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - The born-again Christian's view of the Soviet Union held by Jimmy Carter is coming into the open from behind closed doors of the White House East Room in ways disconcerting to those being pressed to back the new strategic arms limitation treaty (SALT II).

"The president is a man with peace in his heart," one influential Democratic senator who is undecided told us after Carter's East Room session with senators the night of May 21. "What scares me more than anything else about SALT is that he seems convinced that the Russians have that same peace and good will in their hearts.

The senator's appraisal: President Carter - for reasons of background, upbringing and religious heritage takes the Soviet leaders at face value when they profess longing for detente and peace between the superpowers.

A moderate Republican senator, also undecided and also present at the White House SALT dinner, saw the same phenomenon in Carter's sudden anger over questions about possible Soviet violations of SALT II. This senator told us that during an otherwise masterful, "well-modulated" performance, the president "boiled over" on the cheating question seemingly resentful that the Russians would be accused of such un-Christian

Carter flatly rejected charges, imolicit in the questions from senators, that Moscow had cheated on SALT I. Not at all, he said; there were "misunderstandings" but the careful anti-cheating machinery worked out by Washington and Moscow had prevented actual violations. "A challenged nation has always backed down," Carter said.

Moreover, the probable "maximum gain" by Soviet cheating would be a mere "two percent," Carter said. That would never be worth the potential disgrace of being found out.

Carter's acceptance of Soviet integrity goes far beyond possible cheating. On the afternoon, May 22, in another East Room SALT-selling session, the president appeared to his audience to make light of the Soviet Union's global political offensive, supported by Cuban and other revolutionary forces.

Present for a session lasting over two hours following lunch were a roomful of establishment figures, rich in elder statesmen - Henry Cabot Lodge, Dean Rusk, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, David Packard and William Paley among others. The president told then that "several" senators he had dined with the previous evening had expressed concern that the Russians were plotting war against

The senators actually did not see Moscow making "war" on the U.S.; they had asked about inherent contradictions between SALT II and Soviet gains at the expense of the U.S. in Africa, Asia and the Arabian peninsula. On the next day, Carter criticized these senators for thinking SALT could be used to restrain "peaceful competition" by the Soviet Union.

Carter's explanation of the Soviet desire for SALT II was in the same vein. The president said the Russians, having attained military parity or equality with the U.S., now wanted to cut military spending and attain equality in economic and political power. In fact, there is nothing in the treaty that would slow the fantastic pace of Soviet arms-building.

The spiritual strain that has motivated Carter in many presidential undertakings showed through in his claim to the elder statesmen of overall U.S. strategic superiority despite deficiencies in certain calibers of weapons. He startled his audience by asserting that the administration's support of human rights and opposition to racism is partly responsible for that superiority.

While Carter is generally effective in his extraordinary personal efforts to sell SALT, critical senators clearly irritate him. At Wednesday's session following the senatorial dinner, he referred to "timid" senators seeking to amend the treaty rather than vote it up or down and to "outdated notions" about the Cold War by senators. He has, however, profited from heavy criticism that his earlier charge of "warmongering" against SALT critics was hurting the treaty's prospects for ratification.

But another form of mongering is now appearing: fearmongering. At Wednesday's session, Rabbi Alexander Schindler rose for a statement which one participant said had earmarks of being planted by the presi-dent's men. Schindler, one of the nation's most respected Jewish leaders, told the assembled notables that the nation's reform congregations had decided to back SALT II because to do otherwise would open the world's door to a "holocaust."

The president nodded in agreement. To SALT skeptics, however, such a warning is no more valid as a reason to back SALT than Carter's idealistic generosity in attributing to the Kremlin the same good will that lies in his own heart.

large. On the one hand, large DOE programs ... offer more than ordinary temptations to potential wrongdoers. On the other hand, IG has lacked the people needed to mount a prevention and detection program offering a satisfactory degree of assurance against fraud and abuse in DOE programs." For example, a recent report demonstrates the manner in which oil industry lobbyists infiltrated DOE and obtained secret information in the past, when O'Leary was in charge. It documents the way in which John lannone of the American Petroleum Institute and others had free access to important confidential information that saved the oil industry billions of dollars. Clearly, the job is there to be done

It remains to be seen whether the Energy Department's inspector the small society general will be given a chance to do it.

Tobacco execs reject Califano's challenge

WASHINGTON (AP) - Tobacco company executives are thumbing their noses at a challenge from the federal government's No. 1 health official to spend $80 million to encourage children not to smoke.

The major cigarette makers maintain their $800 million advertising and promotion budgets are not directed at children and do not influence youngsters' decisions to smoke.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr., in an April 26 speech in San Francisco, challenged cigarette makers "to put some of their advertising dollars where their corporate rhetoric is."

He suggested that the companies spend 10 percent of their ad budgets on a campaign to urge children not to smoke and to warn young women of the danger smoking poses to their

Responding to that challenge, one tobacco executive, Lorillard President Curtis H. Judge, quoted a passage from the recent Surgeon General's Report on Smoking and Health that said "the influence of the mass media in the initiation of smoking is" difficult to determine.

"Mass media advertising makes an easy and tempting target, but its influence is uncertain," Judge wrote

"Everyone, including Lorillard, agrees that children should not smoke. However, to our knowledge, nobody knows why children begin to smoke, including experts in the field," Judge said.

Although the new government survey released April 26 showed the percentage of teen-age smokers had fallen since 1974 from 16 percent to 12 percent, Califano said there were 1.7 million girls and 1.6 million boys between ages 12 and 18 who were regular smokers.

Raymond J. Mulligan, president of the Liggett Group, responded to Califano that it should be left to mothers and fathers to use "their own free will in discouraging their children from starting to smoke or continuing RACINE, Wis. (AP) Any attempt to solve problems associated with rising numbers of teen-age pregnancies must deal with the concept that sex training begins with pre-adolescence, public health specialist Mary S. Calderone says.

Double helps locate cards for declarer

Goldman won the heart continuation with the king and led a sneaky seven of spades. Hamman played low, hoping declarer would go up with dummy's ace; but Goldman let the seven ride for a finesse, playing West for all of the missing high cards because of his takeout double.

CLEARS CLUBS

Declarer cleared the top clubs out of the way and then continued with another spade, allowing West to hold the trick with his jack. When Hamman led a third heart, Goldman ruffed in his hand and led a trump to the ace. He could then safely discard diamonds on the queen and jack of clubs, concede a diamond and score his game.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids one heart, you raise to three hearts, and he now bids four clubs. The opponents keep passing. You hold: S-KJ2; H-A543; D-A9; C-9872. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid four diamonds. Partner bid four clubs to show an ace and to invite a slam. With two aces and a king, you are willing to encourage him. Show your own side ace by bidding four diamonds.

Every time you go to the grocery store you can see what inflation's doing to your food bill. But because you don't buy electricity by the can, you probably don't realize how inflation affects the cost of electricity.

Fuel costs are up, particularly natural gas. Equipment costs are up. Power lines, transformers and poles cost us more every day. Just like milk costs you more every day.

The millions of dollars we must borrow to build plants to ensure your electricity needs in the future are costing us more.

The cost of building these plants is higher, too, because of inflation. And because of the time and money it takes to comply with an ever-increasing number of government regulations. The longer it . takes to build, the more inflation takes its toll.

Inflation, overregulation and rising fuel costs are all making your electricity cost you more. But by using electricity wisely you can do your part in keeping that cost down in your home. At Texas Electric, we want you to know what you're paying for.

Swearingen predicts 15-cent gas price climb

NEW YORK (AP) - Gasoline prices will have to hit around $1.50 a gallon before U.S. oil companies will embark on an all-out effort to develop coal and shale resources and draw oil from old wells, the chairman of the board of Standard Oil of Indiana said Sunday.

John Swearingen, who also serves as chairman of the American Petroleum Institute, also said he expects the price of gasoline to rise 10 or 15 cents in the next year, depending on the actions of the oil-producing nations.

He said that before domestic oil producers could afford to make an all-out effort to increase production, prices would have to rise to the world price level, which he said would boost the price of gasoline to around $1.50.

In an interview on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers" program, he said he expected that more gas will be available in June and July than there was in April and May, but noted consumption also goes up during vacation periods and therefore supplies will be even tighter.

He defended the oil industry and rebutted charges that the oil shortage was contrived.

"As far as I know, there is no company in the business that is withholding gasoline or other stocks from the market today," he said. "The primary concern has to be to make sure that nobody goes cold this winter because of a shortage of heating oil. We can either make heating oil or we can make gasoline out of the crude oil that's available. And right now, our stocks of heating oil are at very low levels."

"All of the companies that I know anything about are intensifying their efforts" to find more oil, he said, but added that federal controls on the price of oil have hindered these ef-

He said President Carter's plan to gradually remove oil price controls was a "good deal for consumers," noting that because of taxes, "the federal government is the biggest beneficiary of any price increase that takes place."

New Yorkers find few gasoline stations open

By The Associated Press

New Yorkers could find only one in five service stations open Sunday, but the long lines at California pumps had

On the whole, there seemed to be no serious gasoline problems although automobile clubs in most states reported that between 40 percent and 60 percent of the stations were closed.

The Auto Club of New York said less than 17 percent of the service stations in the metropolitan area were pumping gasoline on Sunday. About the same percentage were open in neighboring Connecticut.

A club spokesman said that indicated distribution of June gasoline allocations probably were a bit late.

The Automobile Club of Southern California predicted that just 30 percent of the stations would be open on Sunday in the southern part of the state, while 38 percent would be operating in the north.

But despite the number of closures, the long lines that have been familiar the past three weeks in California were not to be found early Sunday.

New York Gov. Hugh Carey said Sunday his state could institute a California-style odd-even gasoline ra-tioning plan "overnight," if it becomes necessary. But Carey expressed fear that rationing might lead New Yorkers to believe incorrectly that there is enough gas to go around, and would hurt efforts to get people to conserve fuel. Carey also warned of a

Car-repair delays seen

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Fuel industry expert Dan Lundberg says the gasoline shortages which led to long lines at gasoline pumps may lead to even longer delays in getting cars

Lundberg, whose Lundberg Letter has become the authoritative oracle of conditions in the fuel industry, says many smaller service stations are closing, and that could result in long delays in motor vehicle repair work.

"You think you've seen frayed tem-pers?" Lundberg, 66, said. "Wait until you're told you've got to wait two weeks to get your car running or your brakes fixed, brother!"

Lundberg was the first to predict on March 9 that California faced a serious gasoline shortage. Subscribers to his weekly newsletter were warned gasoline supplies would fall 8.9 percent short of demand for March. That turned out to be the exact March shortage, as confirmed much later by federal Department of Energy fig-

Lundberg also said gasoline lines that began forming in California at the end of March could spread across the nation.

His staff of 300 "reporters" takes surveys of at least 16,700 of the nation's 170,000 service stations each month, and the information goes into a computer at Lundberg's headquarters here.

The letter started about six years as an outgrowth of a service Lundberg established in the mid-50s to oil com-

When the war ended, Lundberg said: "Rocky tells me that I'm a public relations expert, to find an industry and go into it. When I ask how, he says: 'You're a writer. Write a scenario and star yourself."

Rockefeller also told him to "pick the stupidest industry in the world." So he found the "fragmented" oil industry and decided to be its independent expert, he said.

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) -Saudi Arabia rejects the idea of an Arab oil embargo against America, Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani was quoted as saying in Sunday's edition of the Riyadh newspaper Al Jazirah.

Iraq and a Marxist Palestinian group, the Popular Front for the Lib-eration of Palestine, demanded last month that Arab oil exporters impose an oil embargo against the United States for its sponsorship of the Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty.

The newspaper quoted Yamani as saying also that Saudi Arabia, the world's largest exporter of crude oil, will not reduce its production rate of 8.5 million barrels a day.

'Saudi Arabia will define its oil policy in coordination with the member states of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries," Yamani told the newspaper. "Our primary objective will be to curb profiteering by a handful of international oil companies and also to combat the energy crisis in the world."

Sandinista troops prepared for uprising in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Sandinista guer-rillas mobilized for an uprising in Managua today and a nationwide general strike after overrunning a town in the northwest and battling President Anastasio Somoza's troops in the south.

Somoza took a helicopter tour of the southern front wearing camouflage fatigues and a pistol he was too high up to use. Heavy firing was heard in Managua Sunday night.

Tracer bullets could be seen from the Intercontinental Hotel next to Somoza's headquarters. Seventy-five percent of the stall owners in Managua's main market said they planned to close today.

A number of moderate opposition groups endorsed the guerrillas' call for a general strike. Lines formed at supermarkets, banks and gasoline stations over the weekend as jittery residents stocked up.

The West German Embassy evacuated 74 persons, mostly women and children, from Managua Sunday night on a chartered Panamanian plane that flew them to Costa Rica. A U.S. Embassy source said the State Department has issued no new advisories, but a warning against travelling to Nicaragua for other than essential business has been in effect since last March. Fighting was reported in the northwest in the cities of Leon, Chinandega and Chichigalpa, and the guer-rillas overran Chichigalpa Sunday.

A national guard aircraft was seen rocketing just inside the border, but the presidential helicopter stayed well above the reach of small arms.

Somoza said the guerrillas were well trained, dug in and "their mortar fire is very accurate." The president, whose family has dominated this Iowasized nation for 42 years, said, "We probably will launch a major offensive in the south within 48 hours.'

One government commander in the south said 55 guerrillas and five national guardsmen had been killed in the fighting.

Somoza, wearing five black stars on his right collar, said the rebels lobbed mortar rounds into the Penas Blancas border station earlier Sunday. Penas Blancas is one mile south of Sapoa, which is on the shores of Lake Nicaragua. Somoza said the rebels continued to hold positions

The guerrillas of the Sandinista National Liberation Front take their name from a rebel leader who fought the U.S. Marines who put Somoza's father into power in the 1930s. They led a two-week rebellion in September in which an estimated 1,500 persons died. Another 1,500 have died in clashes since.

Israelis sink Palestinian boat

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) - An Israeli navy patrol boat sank a Palestinian commando craft early today off Israel's northern coast and apparently killed several guerrillas, the military command said.

In Cairo, meanwhile, Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan arrived for talks on details of opening the Egyptian-Israeli border but was immediately summoned to an surprise meeting with Anwar Sadat at the Egyptian president's villa at Ismailia on the Suez Canal. There was no immediate indication what was behind the unscheduled meeting.

Israeli press reports said the navy patrol spotted a rubber boat near the Lebanese border and opened fire, apparently detonating explosives carried by the guerrillas. First reports said several bodies were loating in the water where the boat sank, but it was not immediately known how many there were. On April 23, Palestinian guerrillas landed a rubber boat in northern Israel and raided an apartment building in the coastal resort of Nahariya in an attack that killed four Israelis and two of the raiders. Two others were captured.

In the West Bank Arab town of Ramallah, meanwhile, Israeli security men demolished one house and sealed four others belonging to suspected Palestinian terrorists, Israelis authorities said

The officials said the four suspects, including a university student and three women teachers, were arrested last week and accused of eight bombings or attempted bombings since September 1978, that killed four Israelis and wounded 50. Authorities said the suspects were trained in Syria and belonged to Al Fatah, the largest military group in Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization.

Dayan was met in Cairo by Butros Ghali, Egypt's minister of state for foreign affairs, and the two men flew by helicopter to Sadat's villa. Asked about the meeting, Dayan told reporters, "I know nothing about this. It came as a nice surprise. I am glad that I will be seeing President Sadat." Dayan had been scheduled to meet only with Ghali to work out such details of the border opening such as visa requirements and the number and location of border checkpoints.

On Sunday, Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government overrode opposition from Cabinet doves and voted to seize a piece of Arab-owned land on the West Bank of the Jordan River for a new Jewish settlement near Nablus.

After the 8-5 Cabinet vote, Begin told a convention of his Herut Party Israel will continue settling Jews on the West Bank despite sharp opposition from the United States and Egypt.

Jewish settlement within Israel's biblical borders is "a right and a duty," Begin said. He considers the West Bank, which he calls by the biblical names of Judea and Samaria, part of Jewish birthright the Old Testaments says God designated to the patriarch Abraham for the Jewish state. Israel occupied the area in the 1967 war.

The Cabinet voted to go ahead with the new settlement near Nablus, the largest Arab city on the West Bank and a caldron of Palestinian national-Weizman recently refused to sign an order for the military expropriation of privately owned West Bank land. He said the seizure of private Arab land to build Jewish settlements complicated the talks with Egypt on autonomy for the 1.1 million Palestinians on the West Bank and in the Gaza Strip. Washington and Cairo have attacked Begin's settlement policy as an obstacle to the peace process.

Iranian oil directors resign

* TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - All seven directors of the National Iranian Oil Co. submitted a symbolic resignation in support of their chairman's charge that Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini is trying to put Iran into an Islamic straitjacket, informed sources said:

They said the directors told the revolutionary government "the atmosphere was not conducive" to the proper performance of their duties. But their resignations were symbolic and they are continuing to work, the sources said.

All seven were appointed by the company chairman Hassan Nazih, who was named by the revolutionary regime. Last week he told the Iranian bar association, which he also heads, that Iran's political, judicial and economic affairs cant be forced into an Islamic mold.

Streaking Grubb carries Rangers into first place

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — They were calling John Grubb one of the more reserved, withdrawn members of the Texas Rangers earlier this

A couple of weeks or so ago, they began to wonder. And Sunday night, Grubb removed all doubt when he hit a homer and two singles and bounced off the left field wall to make a razzledazzle catch inleading Texas to a 4-2 victory over Baltimore.

"to be more aggressive" and the Rangers in the process rose out of the pack to take the lead in the American League West with Sunday night's triumph.

"I hope I'm not known as the quiet man any more. The last three weeks, I've been trying to pump up a little extra. I've always given 100 percent, but some people said I didn't look aggressive enough," the 30-year-old lefthanded outfielder said.

On a mid-May road trip against Minnesota, Grubb got caught up in

On the first day of the ensuing road series with Seattle, the once-shy Grubb walked onto a bus that had a woman driver and exclaimed, to the shock of his teammates, "Wow! A

Grubb's average has soared from

.180 to .311 since his streak began, although Ranger Manager Pat Corrales has been platooning him, benching him against lefthanded pitchers.

"I'd like to play every day, but that's up to the manager. This is the first contending team I've ever played on, and I'm not going to rock the boat," Grubb said.

"I've always felt confident against either a righty or a lefty, and I'm preparing myself to play every day, if it should happen. If not, I'll pull for the guy in there and hope he does the

Doyle Alexander, 3-3, allowed Baltimore only five hits over his seven innings. Jim Kern, the American League's only unbeaten pitcher (7-0), pitched the final two innings and got his ninth save, although the Orioles nicked him for three singles and a run

Grubb got three of Texas' nine hits off Jim Palmer, 6-3, who went the distance for the Orioles. His seventh homer in the seventh came after he had singled in the third and fifth and scored on RBI singles by Pat Putnam

Jorgensen showing progress

ARLINGTON, Texas AP) - Doctors say Mike Jorgensen of the Texas Rangers, recovering from a head injury, may be released today from the intensive care unit and placed back in a private room at Arling-ton Memorial Hospital.

Jorgenson was reported improving improving Sunday. "He is doing very well," said ICU nurse Mary Hide.

Jorgensen was hit in the head by a pitched ball one week ago. He was hospitalized Friday after suffering headaches and dizziness.

Miss Hide said his condition had improved since Saturday night when the 30-year-old ve-tern was placed in intensive care. His condition remained "fair and sta-

CFA votes against football playoff

IRVING, Texas (AP) - By an overwhelming margin, the major universities that comprise the College Football Association voted Sunday not to support a National Collegiate Athletic Association proposal to hold a four-team national championship playoff after the bowl games.

The CFA's third annual meeting heard representatives of the Cotton, Orange and Sugar bowls predict that any kind of playoff would put the postseason bowls — there were 15 involving Division I-A teams last season — out of business.

Frank Broyles, athletic director and former football coach at the University of Arkansas and a member of the NCAA Extra-Events Committee which proposed the plan, called a national championship playoff "inevitable" and said it would provide "a tremendous surge of interest which is needed at this time in college football."

Of approximately 100 coaches, athletic directors, faculty representatives and conference commissioners in attendance, only five voted in favor of a playoff. The NCAA plan calls for four playoff teams to be selected after the bowl

IN A Saturday meeting, more than a dozen coaches voted against a playoff, with only Vince Dooley of Georgia vacation enjoyed by the participating institutions to just another must-win weekend football game." in favor. Fred Akers of Texas, once a playoff proponent, opposed it for fear it would ruin the bowl games

The bowls' major concerns are that they would be reduced to the equivalent of quarterfinal games by a playoff and their lucrative television contracts would suffer accordingly, as well as their live gate.

Mickey Holmes, executive director of the Sugar Bowl, projected an increase in overall bowl revenues of 35 percent in the next five years and a "conservative" 80 percent in 10 years through stadium expansion, raised ticket prices and new TV pacts. But he said a playoff would slice current revenues from 25 to 60 percent. Holmes said the 30 teams in last year's 15 bowl games made more than

Field Scovell, exeutive director of the Cotton Bowl, said, "TV contracts aren't based on quarterfinal games." Bill Ward of the Ornge Bowl said an elimintion setup would change any bowl games "from a rewarding experience and

BROYLES, HOWEVER, said a playoff would boost college football TV ratings, which he said dropped 8 pecent during the 1978 regular season and 20 percent for the bowl games. He also said the extra events committee doesn't think a playoff would hurt the bowls.

He pointed out that Notre Dame and Houston, neither with a shot at the national championship as selected by The Associated Press, filled only about one-fourth of the Cotton Bowl on a miserable day last Jan. 1.

"If the winner had a chance for the playoffs, they would have had a full house," he said.

He said the revenues for three playoff games - two semifinals and the championship game — could equal that of the current 15 bowls. He called Jan. 1 — traditional date of the Cotton, Orange, Rose and Sugar bowls -'the No. 1 attraction in all sports."

The NCAA must approve any playoff plan at its convention

Carter gains revenge

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Randal Carter remembers the disappointment he felt when, as a junior college baseball player, the University of Arizona ignored

So when Carter saw a chance to get back at the Wildcats, he made the most of the opportunity. Entering the game in the sixth inning, Carter ignited two rallies with hits to help Arkansas come from behind to beat Arizona 10-3 in the second round of the College World Series Sunday night.

The victory puts Arkansas, rated seventh nationally, into a Tuesday night game against Southwest Conference rival Texas, the nation's No. 1 team. The Razorbacks and Longhorns are the only unbeaten teams left in the series. "I went to junior college in Arizona and wanted to go to either Arizona or Arizona State," said Carter, a junior who plays right field and third base. "I wrote to both of them, but I never got an answer.

I really wanted to beat them (Arizona). It was kind of a personal vendetta." WITH HIS team trailing 3-1, Carter started a five-run rally in the seventh inning with a single. He then led off the eighth with a double that launched a four-run uprising. "Carter is so good and his attitude is super," said Coach Norm DeBriyn, whose team also had to come from behind to beat Pepperdine 5-4 in the first

"We like to have him in there. Every chance we get to get him in the lineup, we do.

Texas, which has beaten Arkansas four times in five games this year, set up the showdown with the Razorbacks by rallying from a 2-0 deficit to beat No. 4 Mississippi State 8-2 Sunday night.

TEXAS GOT some timely hitting from the last three batters in the lineup to derail Mississippi State, which has the loudest and most enthusiastic cheering Mark Chelette and Andre Robertson, the seventh and eighth men in the order, each collected three singles and scored twice and No. 9 hitter Kevin Shannon had a two-run double and a single.

"I changed my hitting style today," said Robert-son, who also made several fine fielding plays at second base. "I went to a short, quick stroke. My first two hits were off sliders, then I hit a fastball." Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson said Arkansas may have an edge in the series because of greater pitching depth, noting his team is without 10game winner Ricky Wright, who hurt his shoulder in an intrasquad contest. Gustafson also said the four Texas victories against Arkansas could work in the Razorbacks'

"I think that's a pyschological edge for Arkansas," he said. "But I think we'll play as hard and as well as we did in the past and I'm sure Arkansas will,

The Cardinals, who entered the game with a .282 batting average, continued their rampage with their fifth consecutive victory and 18th in 27 starts Garry Templeton went 4-for-4, stole two bases and scored three times for St. Louis, which got four unearned runs. Pete Vuckovich struck out 12 and survived home runs by Joe Ferguson and Dave Lopes.

Dave Kingman, who scored the Cubs' first run, hit his 19th home run in the sixth inning to carry Chicago past San-Francisco.

George Foster clubbed two home runs and drove in four to pace Cincinnati's rout of Philadelphia in the nightcap. The Phillies survived a first-game homer by Foster, winning with a two-run ninth to snap a sixgame losing streak. Roy White's 11th-inning single sent the Yankees past the White Sox. Carlton Fisk drove in two runs with two singles and Butch Hobson hit a two-run homer to pace Boston's rout of Minnesota.

RBI hits by Darrell Porter and Pete

Hundreds of nuke protesters march from plant sites to jail

By The Associated Press

Hundreds of anti-nuclear demonstrators marched, chanted and sang their way from nuclear power plant sites to jail during worldwide protests against atomic energy.

The protests were generally peaceful, but a woman was killed Sunday in Spain when a policeman fired his submachine gun into a crowd of antinuclear demonstrators who started throwing rocks.

One hundred demonstrators - many chanting "Two, four, six, eight, we don't want to radiate" were arrested in Limerick, Pa., after they scaled a snow fence around the construction site of a Philadelphia Electric nuclear power plant.

And consumer advocate Ralph Nader told a rally in Boston: "No country or civilized society can tolerate a form of energy so linked to potential disaster that an area thousands of square miles could be rendered uninhabitable to future generations

More than 900 demonstrators representing loosely illied anti-nuclear and environmental groups were arrested Sunday, bringing the weekend total to more than 1,200. Most were charged with minor offenses ranging from trespassing to disturbing the Two thousand demonstrators hurled stones at police in Balboa, Spain, during a protest over the construction of a $1 billion American-supplied atomic power plant. Police responded with rubber bullets and smoke grenades, and the woman was killed when a civil guard opened fire, authorities said.

On Saturday, as a prelude to Sunday's International Anti-Nuclear Day, aproximately 30,000 persons participated in protests in 12 states, Canada, the Netherlands and Japan.

The demonstrations were held three months after an accident relased a radioactive cloud and shut down the Three Mile Island plant near Harris-

More than 600 persons were arrested Sunday at a nuclear plant site near the Long Island community of Shoreham, N.Y., where 15,000 demonstrators took part in an anti-nuclear rally. At least 119 persons were arrested at the North Anna power plant near Louisa, Va., 100 at the Marble Hill nuclear plant in southern Indiana, and 29 at the site of a plant near Moscow, Ohio.

About 8,000 persons turned out for a demonstration in Kalkar, West Germany, and 3,000 for a rally at a plant site in Brittany, one of several rallies in

Meanwhile, West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, in an interview in this week's Time magazine, warned of the possibility of war over oil and gasoline if nuclear energy is not developed quickly.

"I think that the scarcity of oil and the rising prices for crude, which are a menace to the functioning of our economies, can lead to wars." he said. "This problem has to be understood as a grave one for the last two decades of this century.

About 5,000 persons attended a day-long rally near Plymouth, Mass., listening to speeches and dancing to rock bands in the shadow of the Pilgrim I nuclear plant. There were no incidents or arrests.

At many demonstrations, protesters carried signs reading "Hell No, We Won't Glow." and at the Indiana site they released balloons with cards attached that read: "If this balloon reached you, so can radiation from the Marble Hill nuclear plant."

A hearse lead a caravan of about 50 cars to a protest rally at Shippingport, Pa., where balloons were also released.

Other demonstrations were staged Sunday at nuclear facilities near Red Wing, Minn.; Berwick, Pa.; North Perry, Ohio; Hartsville, Tenn.; Nashville, Tenn.; Surgoinsville, Tenn., and Wiscasset, Maine.

In Natchez, Miss., members of the Mississippi Alliance, an anti-nuclear group listened to lectures against the spread of nuclear plants. In Buffalo, N.Y., speakers told a rally it was time to stop dumping nuclear wastes in western New York. Protesters also marched through downtown Seat-

Oil, gas wars to result if nuclear power ignored?

NEW YORK (AP) - West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt has warned that wars may be precipitated by competition for oil and gas if nuclear energy is not quickly developed, Time magazine says.
"I think that the scarcity of oil and the rising prices for crude, which are a menace to the functioning of our economies, can lead to wars. This problem has to be understood as a grave one for the last two decades of this century," he said in an interview in this week's issue of the

However, Schmidt said he is against the use of force to secure oil supplies for the West. 'I hate that. I have to be quite frank in answering ... I have deplored these utterances. Schmidt said consuming nations should educate their societies and promote energy conservation to a greater degree One of the most important instruments...is to let people feel the fast-rising costs of energy. Second, we have to replace oil by other primary sources of energy, especially coal and nuclear energy," he said. Schmidt said he has asked for an international evaluation of the Harrisburg nuclear accident "in order to bring about greater safety in all our

But, he said, "I will point to the great danger that if nuclear energy is not developed fast enough, wars may become possible for the single reason of competition for oil and natural gas."

Spanish demonstrators turn violent police fired rubber bullets and smoke grenades today at demonstrators hurling rocks, setting fire to street barricades and yelling "police assassins" to protest the killing of an anti-

The first-day turnout was 72 percent of the 42 million registered voters, compared to 76.3 on the first day in 1976. The drop was attributed to early summer weather, the third TV installment of the immensely popular "Holocaust," fear of terrorism and lack of interest.

BUSINESS MIRROR

30-60s latest young executive climbers

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — You're 30 years old and making $30,000 a year, a fast track combo you feel justifies focusing your sights on a distant but realistic goal, the presidency of your

Think again! Take your eyes off the future long enough to look around you. No matter that the 30-30 combination once almost assured you a shot at the title. The odds are against you now. These are the 1970s.

"Big business today has an astoundingly large number of managers in their 30s who make not just their age, in terms of thousands, but double it," says Prof. Eugene Jennings, an authority on the subject.

Replacing the 30-30s as candidates for the big job, his studies show, are the 30-60s, or executives still in their 30s who are earning twice their age, in thousands of dollars. Jennings, an adviser to corporate top executives, author of numerous books on corporate life, and professor of management at Michigan State University, has spent years studying executive mobility.

Out of his studies have come many revelations that changed our views of corporations, but few findings have had greater significance to young ex-ecutives than his interpretation of the 30-30s and the 30-60s.

In the 1950s, he observes, 30-30s occasioally could be found, but at best they measured three in 100 managers. By the second half of the 1960s their number had risen to 15 in 100.

The 30-60s have developed a similar pattern in the current decade, the professor's findings indicate. Occasionally found in the early 1960s, when they averaged two or three per 100, they now account for about 10 of every 100 exectuves in our largest industrial corporations.

Salary growth followed similar lines, he found. The 30-30s began at average salaries of $9,000, and some quadrupled their incomes in 10 years. The 30-60s began at $14,000 and multiplied at the same rate.

Why is business willing to pay the youngest of the brightest such sa-

It begins at the top, Jennings says.

"Presidents' salaries have doubled since the 1960s, and salaries of the youngest and best are geared to the top. They've always been on a separate salary track."

The route also has been cleared of competitive clutter. "We are seeing a lot of young managers opt for immo-bity, because of family and other considerations, leaving the track open for other executives." open for other executives. The track is being cleared further down the line too, with the forced retirement of executives who might otherwise clog the routes to the top. "Younger executives spot their open-ings and move in," he says.

Finally, Jennings comments, indus-try has developed more profit centers, and these require general managers.

"The early arrivals of the 1970s, the 30-60s, unabashedly embrace the American dream," the professor said. "They seek and find these jobs." There's nothing shy about them.

"I have talked to many 30-60s, met them in seminars, counseled their companies about utilizing them wisely, and one thing stands out: to them, the ladder is for climbing," he said. Confident and knowing their goals, "they sacrifice on the climb to a general managership, and they don't get sidetracked. They avoid jobs that might be challenges in themselves but which get them nowhere."

They don't close off options, either. "While most are homegrown, that is, employed and developed by one company, few fail to maintain an up-to-date biographical data sheeet, and date biographical data sheeet, and most develop contacts with major executive search firms," Jennings

Competition being the game, even the 30-60 must glance back, where he'll find bearing down on him an even newer set of early arrivals, freshly minted MBAs, still in their 20s, earning $30,000.

Despite the competition, Jennings encourages 30-30s to take heart. "Though one of the pack, having lost first claim on the presidency, you must be patient. You still can win. It having lost, relatively speaking, some $250,000 or $300,000 in a 10-year period, the difference between you and a

FEC to bill Carter after 976 campaign audit

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Election Commission disclosed today it is billing President Carter for $50,202.94 as a result of an audit of Carter's 1976 general election cam-

The commission wants Carter to repay $23,122,25 in "unqualified campaign expenses," mostly expenditures that the campaign committee could not prove to the FEC's satisfaction were related to the election ef-

The FEC also seeks reimbursement for $27,080.69 in interest that the campaign earned on deposits of nearly $1.5 million that the telephone company required it to put up. The audit report said the Democratic National Committee had assumed liability for paying the interest item. It was not clear who would pay the unqualifiedexpense item:

Today's audit report relates only to Carter's general election campaign. The FEC had earlier concluded an audit of his primary campaign. There was no immediate comment from the White House.

The general campaign was financed, as was then-President Gerald Ford's, completely with taxpayer money under the law providing for public funding of presidential elections.

Carter's 1976 election committee reported receiving nearly $26 million and spending all but $1,375.

The FEC auditors expressed the opinion that there was insufficient documentation for $48,442.25 worth of campaign expenditures, but the full, six-member commission whittled that down to less than half in requesting payment.

However, the commission, divided along party lines, deadlocked 3-3 on whether Carter should repay the rest of the $48,000. The three Democrats voted against repaying that part and the three Republicans voted for it.

Regarding the entire $40,000, the audit staff said:

"The documentation in support of the expenditures...does not disclose the purpose of the expenditures in sufficient detail to allow determination as to whether the expenditures were made to further the election of the candidate, and consequently whether these expenditures are qualified campaign expenses" under public financing law.

Carter's campaign committee was given 90 days from May 31 to pay the $50,000. He also was given 30 days to submit any "factual materials" which would reduce the amount of repayment.

Carter was informed by letter dated May 31 that the audit findings would be released publicly today.

The expenditures questioned by the audit staff were billed principally as "get out the vote" payments to individuals in Illinois, Pennsylvania and California and to political committees in Florida and Georgia.

It was not immediately clear from the report which of these expenditures the full commission felt were insufficiently documented and which it deadlocked on.

Pope John Paul II visits homeland's holiest shrine

CZESTOCHOWA, Poland (AP) — Pope John Paul II came to Poland's holiest shrine today, upbraided the Communist government for denying the late Pope Paul VI permission to visit, and assailed what he called "the great moral threats' to human rights. It was the second time in two days he defied Eastern Europe's Communist leaders.

"He was the pope that did so much for the normalization of the life of the church in Poland, particularly with regard to the present arrangement of the territories to the west and to the north," John Paul II said of Paul VI, who sought twice to come to Poland

"He was the pope of our millen-nium. It was for the millenium (of the Polish church in 1966) that he wanted to be here as a pilgrim together with the sons and daughters of the Polish

On the third day of his historic pilgrimage to his Communist homeland, the pontiff celebrated Mass at the Shrine of Mary at the hilltop Jasna Gora Monastery, the symbol of Polish Catholicism, and prayed:

"Mother of the church, grant that the church may enjoy freedom and peace in fulfilling her saving mission and that to this end she become mature with a new maturity of faith and

"Help us to overcome opposition and difficulties.... Help us to over-come the great moral threats against the fundamental spheres of life and

The pope said that justice and peace can only be protected through a respect "for the rights of peoples and of nations" and not be solved through "hatred, war and self-destruction."
The pontiff, clad in glistening white robes and skull cap, walked to a red-canopied platform looking out over a vast field filled with the faithful as a choir sang hymns.

"Jasna Gora is, in fact, not only a place of pilgrimage for Poles of the but also the nation's shrine," the pope told the thousands of Poles gathered before him.

"One must listen in this holy place in order to hear the beating of the heart of the nation in the heart of the mother."

On Sunday the pope defied Eastern Europe's Communist rulers and their long campaign to promote atheism and hailed the Roman Catholics of the Soviet Bloc nations for preserving their faith and unity.

"Is it not Christ's will, is it not what the Holy Spirit disposes, that this Polish pope, this Slav pope should at the pontiff said as he celebrated Mass at the cathedral in Gniezno, Poland's first capital."I greet the unity of Catholics; I thank God that after 1,000 years it still lasts, untouched by time," he said earlier after celebrating Mass for a throng of half a million in a field outside Gniezno, in western Poland.

It was a direct challenge to Eastern Europe's Communist governments, telling them in effect that the faith of more than 50 million Roman Catholics in their countries was still strong despite official harassment and repression of their church.

When one man held up a banner in forget your children in Czechoslovakia," the pope replied, "The pope can't forget about these children. We can't forget our brothers."

Later, in his homily at the Gniezno cathedral, he identified himself with all the Slavs of Eastern Europe and said he was speaking out on behalf "of those often forgotten nations and peo-
