Tech graduate joins staff of District Attorney's office

Richard L. Moore, a recent graduate of the Texas Tech University Law School at Lubbock, has joined the staff of the Midland County District Attorney's office.

Moore, who joined the district attorney's staff May 18 as an assistant district attorney, is filling a vacancy created when present Assistant District Attorney Timothy Sloan resigned. Her resignation was to become effective today.

Moore and his wife, Sandy, moved to Midland recently from Lubbock and reside at 3001 Midland Drive.

Moore's responsibilities in the district attorney's office will include the prosecution of criminal cases and keeping track of trial dockets.

Asked his philosophy regarding the prosecution of criminal cases, Moore said, "I think that the duty of this office should not be to see that convictions always take place, but that justice is done."

Moore, 28, said he and his wife are pleased with their move to Midland. "I think it's a really nice town."

A native of Seminole, Moore was graduated from Seminole High School in 1969 and received his bachelor of business administration degree from the University of Texas at Austin in 1973.

From 1973 until 1976, Moore was

Richard L. Moore employed as a right-of-way agent in Dallas.

After 1976 he attended law school at Texas Tech and received his law degree May 12, 1979.

Ms. Sloan said her immediate plans have not been formulated. She has been an assistant district attorney here for 2 1/2 years.

600 receive notices of reappraisal

appraisal of agricultural land was done in a different manner this year in compliance with House Bill 1060, passed May 28 by the Texas Legislature.

Owners of agricultural land will find two values on their tax notices, according to Jones. These will be the regular market value appraisal and a productivity value.

All land devoted to agricultural use will qualify for productivity evaluation, which usually amounts to less than the market value when applied to the Midland area, Jones said.

Midland Counties who are to pay their taxes based on productivity level may find the taxation reduced when that amount is compared to taxes based on the same land's market value.

But revenue coming into the four taxing bodies won't go down, said Jones. In general, he observed, Midland-area residents have been paying taxes based largely on the productivity value of the agricultural land.

Land which would qualify for productivity evaluation must be devoted principally to agricultural use for at least five of the preceding seven years, said Jones.

Uses for the land are described in the bill as livestock, crops or orchards or land left idle as part of a normal crop or livestock rotation or to participate in a government program.

For property owners to be covered by the bill's provisions, they must file an application for agricultural use valuation. That application will be considered if it is filed within 45 days from the time Gov. Bill Clements signs the act into law, said Jones.

Owners who have a question about reappraisal notices may discuss the notices with the Board of Equalization when it begins reviewing complaints June 26 in the Midland High School cafeteria.

Jones said the School Tax Assessment Practice Board has recommended that the Midland Independent School District be reimbursed on the difference in revenue, if any, produced by taxes being paid on a productivity basis rather than according to market value.

Merchants in New York City said deliveries of fruit and vegetables were coming in days late — if at all.

Attorneys give sneak preview in Estes trial

DALLAS (AP) — Promising tales of intrigue, big money and flashy Texas wheeling and dealing, attorneys gave jurors in federal court here a preview of the fraud case against paroled con man Billie Sol Estes and former associate Raymond K. Horton of Midland.

Before his opening remarks, Assistant U.S. Attorney Jim Rolfe summarized the three indictments naming Estes and the two involving Horton.

Estes and Horton are charged with scheming to defraud the government of taxes, of hiding Estes' involvement in several companies and of trying to bilk leading companies through mortgages on non-existent oil field steam cleaners.

Among the numerous witnesses who will testify for the government is an undercover Internal Revenue Service agent who, in the summer of 1977, posed as a Chicago investor. Rolfe said he would play three to four hours of tape-recorded conversation between the agent, Walter Perry, and Estes.

Holding his cupped hands in front of him, Rolfe said, "I have in my hands all the evidence naming Billie Sol Estes. His name appears on virtually nothing."

Rolfe said Laredo businessman Sam Yates would testify for the government. Yates owns a business Perry allegedly negotiated with Estes by.

In his opening statement, Horton's attorney Billy Ravkin called his client a wealthy, "wheeling, dealing West Texas oil man." Ravkin said Horton offered Estes a job when Estes was paroled in 1971. Horton planned to take advantage of Estes' business acumen, Ravkin told jurors, and indeed made several highly profitable deals through Estes.

But, Ravkin continued, it was all legitimate and above-board and "somehow, someday, someplace Horton planned to let Billie Sol Estes share in the spoils, if there were any."

All the while, Ravkin said, Estes' parole officers "knew exactly what Billie Sol Estes was doing."

Ravkin said he wants jurors to listen to all 29 hours of tape-recorded conversations between Perry, Estes and Horton. "Billie Sol Estes is the worst administrator," said Ravkin, adding most of the claims made in the tapes are gross exaggerations.

"I don't know why he (Estes) lies, why he plays, can you top this?"

Ravkin said Estes claims on the tapes to control Horton, to control the late Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago, to own Saudi Arabian tankers, to be negotiating a Nigerian oil deal and a plan to purchase the Chase Manhattan Bank and "to own half of everything in the world."

Estes' attorney G. Brockett Erwin planned to make an opening statement later in the day.

Estes' defense will be complicated by the fact that he pleaded guilty as part of a plea bargain last October to conspiracy to conceal assets and to hatching a fraud plan. A federal judge later declared the bargain invalid.

Police rounding up Hell's Angels

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — For 30 years, the Hell's Angels have been one step ahead of the law as the motorcycle gang grew from blue collar bikers into outlaw legends. But as far as police are concerned — it's roundup time.

More than two dozen Angels are behind bars today, and nearly a dozen more are being sought after the biggest legal crackdown in the gang's history.

All of those arrested Thursday, including gang leader Ralph "Sonny" Barger and his wife Sharon, were being held on federal drug-related racketeering and conspiracy charges. Barger's bail was set at $1 million and his wife's at $250,000.

Among those still being sought is James "Jim Jim" Brandes, an alleged Angel enforcer who "participated in drug activities, attempted murder and murder activities of the enterprise," according to the federal grand jury indictment.

The 31-page indictment, the result of a year-long investigation, covers acts dating back to 1971. Each of the nearly three dozen defendants was charged with three counts of violating the federal Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organization laws.

During the raids, federal agents said they recovered a $500,000 cashier's check at one location and a total of $35,000 in cash. Officials also seized 50 firearms, six motorcycles, two autos, eight balloons of heroin and a pound of amphetamines.

U.S. Attorney William Hunter, who coordinated the arrests, said the manufacture and large-scale distribution of amphetamines was the cornerstone of the Angels' illegal activities.

Barger took over the gang in 1957, seven years after it was founded, when he formed a chapter in Oakland at age 18.

Mild nights, very warm afternoons predicted for Basin through Saturday

With summer only a week away, dress rehearsals for the coming season are fully under way.

Continued fair with very warm afternoons through Saturday is the official word from the National Weather Service office at Midland Regional Airport.

High Saturday is expected to be in the mid-90s with the overnight low dipping only to the upper 60s.

Today's southerly winds should die down to 10-15 mph by tonight, the weatherman said.

Thursday's high was a sunny 93 degrees with the overnight low recorded at 63.

Record temperatures for the date are 105 set in 1945 and 56 set in 1940.

No rain fell Thursday and none is expected over the weekend, so the monthly total is likely to stay at 2.75 with the annual rainfall accumulation at 6.75 inches.

Area weather watchers were reporting the same sunny day Midlanders enjoyed this morning, with all recording sunny skies and cool temperatures.

Liquid carbon plant construction set

ODESSA — AmeriGas Inc. will build a $3.8-million liquid carbon dioxide plant adjacent to the chemical complex in south Odessa.

The plant will process 300 tons of the liquid on a 3 1/2-acre site near the El Paso Products Co.

Construction is to begin in July and the plant should be operational October 1980.

ammonia complex operated by El Paso Products.

In addition to the plant, AmeriGas will construct a 2,500-foot pipe line to the El Paso Products plant.

Carbon dioxide is used in stimulating oil and gas wells, in tertiary oil recovery, in food processing and beverage carbonation.

Gov. Clements pares $252 million from bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Legislature's $21.7 billion state spending bill for 1980-81 went through Gov. Bill Clements' reducing machine Thursday and came out $252.4 million lighter. Details of the numerous vetoes within the 400-page bill were not available until later today, Clements' office said. In a brief veto message, Clements said that he expected the money he took from the bill, coupled with the abolishment of the state property tax, the tax reimbursement to school districts and money accumulated through increased tax revenues would still furnish $1 billion in tax relief to the people of Texas. The vetoes totaled the largest amount a Texas governor has ever taken from a regular two-year state budget, although former Gov. Preston Smith vetoed the entire second year budget in 1971. "I recommended and encouraged the Legislature to appropriate a less amount than was provided in the final bill," Clements said in a statement.

"While I appreciate the extensive deliberations that produced this legislation, I am duty-bound to exercise my constitutional responsibilities to review it in a thorough manner. I am absolutely certain that this state and nation face no more serious domestic problem than the proper management of our fiscal and natural resources. Our citizenry rightfully expects a close scrutiny of government spending. In my opinion, government has for too long promised much more than it could or should deliver. Clements had recommended a budget of only $19.8 billion. The bill sent Clements by the Legislature raised total state expenditures from $15.5 billion in 1978-79, or a 29.8 percent increase. Spending from general revenue, the only money over which legislators have significant control, increased 22 percent. Major provisions of the bill as it went to the governor included: —An increase in state employees' pay of 5.1 percent. —An increase in non-recurring payments to welfare children for such things as school clothes from $60 to $100 a year. —An allotment of $1 million to renovate the governor's mansion. —A provision of $3.75 million for research into new forms of energy. —A total of $10.5 million to buy new park land. —An increase in state highway patrol salaries of 8.5 percent. —An appropriation of $36 million for first-phase construction of a new state prison unit and $26.5 million to add more cell blocks at six other units. —Construction of a new, $29 million state office building.

$7 million Nixon house razed

MIAMI (AP) — The "Winter White House," which cost taxpayers more than $7 million, has been reduced to rubble, with the approval of several former neighbors of Richard Nixon. "I'm glad the entire thing has been done away with," said a nearby resident who asked not to be identified. There had been a drive to preserve the Key Biscayne home, sold by Nixon in 1976, but local residents said the tourist attraction would only add to the community's traffic problems.

because of what happened to Nixon," developer Hector Martinez said. Buried with the house was a $730,000 network of cables used for presidential communications. The government had found the cables too expensive to remove. Still intact, though, is a $450,000 helicopter landing pad. The government spent $7.1 million on the compound during Nixon's 1969-74 tenure as president.

The 26-year old house was ordered demolished by Colombian entree Eduardo Ortega, who plans to build a $1 million mansion on the site. Ortega bought it for $445,000 last year from Toronto psychiatrist Dr. Sherwood Appleton. Appleton paid Nixon about $390,000, two years after Nixon resigned from office. A Nixon secretary at San Clemente, Calif., said a spokesman was not available to obtain the former president's reaction to Thursday's demolition. "I think the property, aside from being the choicest location on the key, will always have a certain prestige attached to it because it is history and

For a Cowboy game, maybe, but the Packers?

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — An anti-poverty agency wants to spend $27,575 in federal money to send 1,750 underprivileged youngsters to a Green Bay Packers football game as a "summer youth recreation project."

But the proposal by the Northeast Wisconsin Community Action Project Inc. has run into interference from the Bay-Lake Regional Planning Commission, which recommends that it not be funded. "We've got nothing against the Packers," said John Kerski of Marinette, chairman of the commission. "It's just that it's a hell of a lot of money to send some kids to a football game."

Administrative costs for the outing were set at $4,136, which irked another member of the commission, Louis Nelson, of Spread Eagle. "I think it is excessive to have a $4,000 administration cost on a $27,000 project for one day. The way they had the money allocated, the majority of the commission felt it was a waste of money," he said.

Nevertheless, Alva Null, director of the agency known as NEW-CAP, defends the proposal. "The Packers are part

"It's an opportunity for a different cultural experience because a lot of these kids never have the opportunity to get to a Packer game because tickets aren't all that available." Null said his agency would have come up with a more comprehensive recreation program if regulations for use of the federal funds had been developed before late May.

A promise betrayed

Throughout the 10-year history of Soviet-American strategic arms limitation talks, the United States has acted on the premise that Moscow saw the value of a negotiated nuclear stalemate in which neither superpower could threaten to initiate a nuclear exchange. Three successive administrations have clung to this anesthetizing assumption despite mounting evidence that the men in the Kremlin entertain no such lofty notions.

knows that following this hypothetical surprise attack, the Soviets would have in reserve nuclear weapons whose aggregate destructive power exceeded that of the entire U.S. nuclear arsenal BEFORE it was attacked.

The complacency bred by this self-delusion led the United States to trade its unquestioned strategic superiority at the time of the 1962 Cuban missile crisis for a current nuclear imbalance tipping so rapidly in Moscow's favor that the core of our defenses will be vulnerable to Soviet destruction within three years. Nothing in the SALT II treaty to be signed this month will remove or significantly diminish this imminent threat to American security. Indeed, the threat will increase.

The inescapable conclusion is that Soviet leaders do not see the SALT process as the stabilizing mechanism for phased disarmament so dear to the hearts of Washington's arms control advocates.

In March 1977, the Carter administration presented the Soviets with a proposal for meaningful reductions in strategic arms and restraints on heavy missiles that would have obviated Moscow's first strike potential. The Soviet leaders rejected it out of hand.

Unless the Carter administration, Secretary Brown included, can demonstrate how this approach to "arms control" enhances rather than diminishes American security, the case of SALT II will remain overwhelmingly suspect.

INSIDE REPORT:

Senator Moynihan for vice president? It could be

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — After three separate newsmen had called his office about a rumor that President Carter had hinted about a place on the national ticket for him in 1980, Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan of New York felt he had no other recourse than to telephone Vice President Walter F. Mondale.

In his witty style, Moynihan told the vice president he had some good news and some bad news. The good news was that funds for a federal office building in Queens, a project jointly cooperated in by Moynihan and Mondale, had been released. The bad news was that somebody was spreading untrue rumors about Moynihan supplanting Mondale for vice president.

Mondale replied in kind, saying that wasn't bad news at all and that he would be delighted by the change. He was only kidding, of course. In fact, Mondale's staff was not at all amused by the latest variant of the dump-Fritz rumor, simmering for well over a year.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Better hedge bets on Brezhnev

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The retirement of Soviet Communist Party boss Leonid Brezhnev is predicted with the regularity, if not the accuracy, of a cuckoo clock.

Younger members of the Politburo and a cause of some jealousy among other members of the Soviet gerontocracy.

By interrupting a meeting of the Council of Ministers, the CIA reported, noting that Brezhnev had intervened in council meetings three times between 1970 and 1975.

Moreover, many well-placed Democratic politicians are so worried about Republican capture of Catholic voters next year that they want Mondale replaced by a Catholic. Since Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is presumably unavailable, the names most often mentioned are New York's Gov. Hugh Carey and Pat Moynihan.

When the governors two months ago asked President Carter to beef up American trade abroad and explain what they could do to help, Carter promised to send his top officials to a series of regional conferences to explain problems of world trade.

Seattle June 6 — was Seignious' show. He had more than one hour on stage, selling SALT to several hundred businessmen from the states of Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

Splitting the balance of the time were more senior Carter officials, some of whom got far less time than Seignious. From the cabinet were Juanita Kreps (Commerce), Robert Bergland (Agriculture) and Ray Marshall (Labor). Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher, Export-Import Bank Chairman John Moore and several other top officials also were on hand.

LEANING ON STENNIS

President Carter's ace-in-the-hole SALT supporter in the forthcoming Senate battle may turn out to be a long-time leader of the traditional pro-defense bloc: Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Committee. Although Nunn has cast many votes contrary to those of Stennis, some friends of both feel that on so vital an issue as SALT II, Stennis' position could sway Nunn.

TEDDY IN FLORIDA

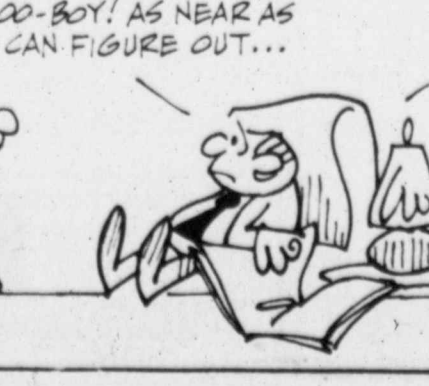

The pervasive spread of the draft-Kennedy movement has reached the point that the top political operative of a key Carter backer in Florida is in the forefront of that state's draft-Kennedy movement.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: It's not unheard of for a member of Congress to be in the dark about the work of a committee he's assigned to, but Rep. Harold Ford, D-Tenn., really startled his colleagues on the House Assassinations Committee in this respect last December.

He dropped in on a committee meeting, we're told, and asked for the staff's report on the assassination of Robert Kennedy. The room fell silent, and a colleague informed Ford that it was John Kennedy's assassination they were looking into.

CHARLEY REESE Decision on sanctions not in U.S.'s best interests

By CHARLEY REESE Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. — President Jimmy Carter's decision to keep economic sanctions against Zimbabwe Rhodesia is exactly what Bishop Abel Muzorewa, the new black prime minister, said it is: inhuman.

Moose in the State Department, and Andy Young, ambassador to the United Nations, presents the people of Zimbabwe Rhodesia with no alternative but a communist dictatorship.

Unless you decide that Carter is just stupid, his decision has sinister implications. American policy toward Southern Africa, which is apparently the product of two people, Richard

The situation is not in our best interests because the sanctions prevent us from buying Rhodesian chrome and other vital minerals; because it puts us in the position of assisting the Soviet Union to take over Southern Africa which will be an economic and military disaster for the American people; and because it robs us of any shred of morality.

mentally alert nor physically agile, and that his stamina was clearly limited.

Nevertheless, as so often before, the CIA had to conclude that the retirement rumors were groundless.

The old man himself rarely discusses retirement. A secret report analyzing Brezhnev's discussions with U.S. senators in 1975 noted that he said: "No one is eternal and life being what it is, there comes a time when a person must leave, whether for retirement or because of illness, but when one is at the helm one must do what one can for the future."

the Congress should force the administration to lift the sanctions. These sanctions are creating economic misery for innocent people, the majority of whom are black. These sanctions doom the Rhodesian people to continuing war and eventually, slavery and slaughter.

The Congress should also face the fact that James Earle Carter has demonstrated beyond all reasonable doubt that he is not competent to serve the best interests of the American people. On the contrary, he is a menace. The Congress should therefore bind him tightly with laws so that he can commit only a minimum amount of damage until the people can remove him lawfully in 1980.

We are witnesses to one of the saddest spectacles in human history. A great nation, founded on the principles of liberty and human rights, is selling out, one after another, nations of people with like beliefs to the forces of slavery and oppression.

THE BIBLE CAN YOU QUOTE IT?

By LAVINA ROSS FOWLER and ELIZABETH ROSS WIERSEMA

- 1. James universal epistle, written to no special person, or group, was for everyone. James was a bishop in Jerusalem at the time he wrote this letter. What appears to be the main topic for which he is remembered? James 2: 20-26
- 2. Where did Deborah, judge and prophetess of Israel live? Judges 4: 5
- 3. In Solomon's time "surety" meant paying another's debts, paying a note or loaning. Solomon wrote much, warning his son about this. Complete "He that is surety for a stranger..." Proverbs 11: 15
- 4. Proverbs 20 and 27 give this same advice: "Take his garment that is surety for..." Proverbs 20: 16, 27: 13
- 5. According to Hebrews 12: 16-17, did Esau ever regret selling his birthright? "Four correct... excellent. Three correct... good."

Rev. Tommy E. Nelson Jr.

Rev. T.E. Nelson

Services for the Rev. Dr. T.E. Nelson Jr., 48, 4627 Leisure Drive, were to be at 4 p.m. today in St. Paul United Methodist Church directed by Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home.

Officiating ministers were to be the Rev. Royce Womack of St. Luke's United Methodist Church, the Rev. Robert P. Metzger of Lubbock and Dr. Loyd Hughes of Big Spring. Burial was to be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

He died at his home Thursday following an apparent heart seizure.

Nelson was born April 4, 1931, in Amarillo and attended school there. He entered the ministry during his teen-age years. He was graduated from McMurry College in Abilene in 1951.

He began serving as a pastor with the Methodist Church, going from the Dumont-Delwin circuit in the Mador and Paducah areas to Paradise in the Denton District. He went to Perkins Seminary in Dallas, where he earned his master's degree.

In 1954 Nelson went as minister to Colorado City for three years and, in 1957, he moved to the San Jacinto Methodist Church in Amarillo.

In 1958, he moved to Rule, where he served for two years. He then returned to Forest Hill Methodist Church in Amarillo for six years.

From 1966 to 1970, Nelson was pastor at the First United Methodist Church in Olton. He went to Memphis for four years and, in 1974, he moved to Midland as pastor of St. Paul United Methodist Church.

He received a master of arts degree from Scarritt College in Tennessee in 1972. He received his doctorate of ministry degree from Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., in 1978.

Survivors include his wife, three sons, Timothy O. Nelson of Midland, Thomas E. Nelson III of Denver, Colo., and Robert Joel Nelson of Bovina, a sister, Anna Harris of Amarillo, and two grandchildren.

Pallbearers were to be Darrell Hulme, Emmet Adamson, A.J. Spain, Don Spain, Harmon Lowe, John Norris, Rayford Woods and the Rev. John Riggs.

Honorary pallbearers were to be the administrative board of St. Paul United Methodist Church and other ministers.

He retired from the company in 1968. He was a member of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity.

Survivors include two daughters, Nina Wendt of Midland and Jane Ann Craig of Austin.

Pallbearers were to be Ferd Rhodes, Charles A. Mitchell, Chester McCampbell, Truett Clark, Charles Nelson and Billy Wendt.

The family has requested that memorials be directed to the Midland County Library.

Resugio A. Fierro

OZONA — Services for Resugio A. Fierro, 60, of Ozona were to be at 3 p.m. today in the Church of Christ here. Burial was to be in the Lima Cemetery directed by the Gutierrez Funeral Chapel.

Fierro died Wednesday in a San Angelo hospital.

He was born July 4, 1919, in Terlingua. He was a veteran of World War II. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include his wife, Guadalupe; two daughters, Alicia Lopez of Ozona and Lina Mendoza of San Angelo; three sons, Roberto Fierro, Eberto Fierro and David Fierro, all of Ozona; two sisters, Manuela Perez of Ozona and Genoveva Gonzales of Salt Lake City, Utah, two brothers, Citriano Fierro of Marble Falls and Juan Fierro of Ozona, and eight grandchildren.

'Red' Barrington

COLEMAN — Services for Cecil Melvin "Red" Barrington, 74, of Coleman, father of Mrs. Chester (Reta) Faught of Big Spring, will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in the Henderson Funeral Home Chapel in Coleman. Burial will be in Coleman City Cemetery.

Barrington was born Nov. 15, 1904, in Caradan in Mills County and was married to Marie E. Bell on Oct. 29, 1922, in Rising Star.

He had lived in Coleman since 1932. Barrington was production superintendent for an oil field drilling company.

He was a Baptist. Survivors include his wife, three daughters, two sons, a brother, 23 grandchildren and 20 great-grandchildren.

Francisco Bonilla

Francisco Jacques Bonilla Jr., 33, 1601 E. Walnut Lane, died at his home Thursday.

Rosary will be said at 8 p.m. Sunday in Thomas Funeral Home Chapel. Funeral mass will be at 3 p.m. Monday in Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Bonilla was born Jan. 6, 1946, in Marfa and had lived in Midland 30 years. He was a cement finisher.

Jesse Grizzle

SNYDER — Services for Jesse Grizzle, 58, of Ira, father of Dennis Grizzle of Hobbs, N.M., were to be at 3 p.m. today in Ira Baptist Church with burial in Ira Cemetery directed by Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

He died Wednesday in Midland. Grizzle was born Aug. 18, 1920, in Mabank. He was married to Eugenia Carlile March 14, 1945, in Ira.

He had been employed as an engineer for the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation for 28 years. Other survivors include his wife, three sisters and three brothers.

House mulls nuke ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is considering a ban on new nuclear power plants in states that do not have adequate evacuation plans for coping with nuclear accidents.

In pushing the licensing ban, Rep. James Weaver, D-Ore., says the accident at Three Mile Island in Pennsylvania raised doubts about the ability of authorities to move people out of danger swiftly.

As it is, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission aids states in developing evacuation plans, but the safety agency has no authority to require a state plan before granting a license.

A survey by the congressional General Accounting Office found that only 10 states had emergency plans meeting all the criteria suggested by the NRC.

Aides to Weaver say the provision probably would affect 25 states which have failed to draft, test, or submit a suitable plan to the commission. They had no estimate on the number of plants that might be affected in those states.

Weaver's proposal, expected to come up for debate today, is to insert the ban in a bill appropriating $10.6 billion next year for public works projects and programs of the NRC under the Department of Energy.

Cambodia conditions appall

PARIS (AP) — Three French doctors, recently returned from a 10-day trip to Cambodia, said today the Southeast Asian nation is threatened with widespread famine, malnutrition and epidemics.

The doctors, all working in Paris hospitals, also said at a press conference that medical standards throughout Cambodia were appalling and that almost all the nation's medical personnel had disappeared.

Jacques Belghiti, Richard Planells and Jean-Yves Folleau, invited to visit by the Cambodian Ministry of Health, called for international aid to be rushed to Cambodia "as fast as possible."

The hospital they found functioning the best had only three doctors, no surgeon and had no x-ray capability, they said.

Carter's statement prompts editorial comment

NEW YORK (AP) — Here is a sampling of editorial comment on President Carter's boast that he would win in a race for the Democratic presidential nomination against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Carter was quoted as telling several congressmen at a White House dinner this week: "If Kennedy runs, I'll whip his ass."

The Rocky Mountain News, Denver, Colo.: "Now that latter phrase is sure to set bluenosed editorialists and educators to clucking that a president shouldn't talk like that lest he set a poor example for youth. Let us be the first to write otherwise, based on recent history."

The Memphis Press-Scimitar: "Carter has had more than his share of problems and frustrations in the White House and one of them is Ted Kennedy. The Massachusetts senator has been criticizing, second-guessing and upstaging him, and so it was healthy for the President to blow off some steam with his earthy boast."

The Raleigh (N.C.) Times: "Born-again President Carter appears to have been born still again. ... Obviously Carter, currently suffering from an extremely low popularity rating, was striving for effect in much the same way some adults as well as little boys, punctuate their conversations with profanity during moments of stress."

The Raleigh (N.C.) News and Observer: "There surely will be those who will egg Big Teddy on with the old prod of 'Let's you and him fight.' So far, the only thing we know is that Big Teddy laughed when he got the word and said he didn't intend to fight but would hope to win if he did. Sounds like he's skeered."

The Richmond (Va.) Times-Dispatch: "No doubt some Americans are now accusing Mr. Carter of bad taste, while others are commending him for expressing his views so forcefully. People who don't like either President Carter or Senator Kennedy may be having a hard time making up their minds how they feel on the subject."

The editorial notes that Presidents Harry Truman and Richard Nixon also used strong language, but did not have to face voters after doing so.

"There is this disquieting possibility: If Mr. Carter runs and is re-elected, that fact — coupled with the generally high regard in which Mr. Truman as president is now held — could serve to lead future occupants of 1600 Pennsylvania Ave. to conclude that the most mundane language possible is a political asset."

Knickerbocker News, Albany, N.Y.: "Considering Edward Kennedy and Jimmy Carter are both Democrats and aren't (as of this moment) running for the same political office, they sure hand out the jibes. President Carter's are colorful, to say the least. That is, when he's responding to the dynamic Sen. Kennedy."

"It was 'baloney' when Mr. Kennedy criticized his energy policies, and now, asked what he'd do if the Massachusetts senator challenged him in a Democratic primary, Mr. Carter said he'd 'whip his ass.'"

"We'd like to see a little of Mr. Carter's southern grit and backbone — so evident in the scrappy tone he takes with Mr. Kennedy — applied to a few of this nation's most pressing problems."

Contracts nixed for live-in lovers

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Amid talk about lovers "living in sin," a state Senate committee has defeated legislation requiring contracts for live-in lovers if they want to separate and split their property.

The measure, struck down Thursday, would have applied to couples living together in a sexual relationship, but without marriage. Under the bill, any legal action involving a settlement after the relationship ended would have to be based on a prior written contract.

In effect, backers said, the bill would have barred lawsuits similar to the Lee Marvin-Michelle Triola Marvin case in California, in which Miss Marvin, who had lived with the actor for six years, sued her former lover for $1.8 million. A state judge awarded her $104,000.

A Senate Judiciary Committee on Thursday voted 5-3 against the bill, which had passed the House.

Sen. Adeline Geokaris, a Republican, told sponsors: "I think your bill would discourage marriage."

"What you're really doing is nullifying the public policy of marriage ... that a couple should marry instead of living in sin," she said.

Sen. Arthur L. Bertram, a Chicago Democrat who sponsored the bill in the Senate, said the measure was needed to guard against "opening up the courts to all kinds of litigation" by former live-in lovers. House sponsor Rep. John W. Hallock Jr. said the measure was introduced not because of the Marvin case, but because of a similar case filed in Champaign County, Ill.

In it, Victoria L. Hewitt, who lived with Robert M. Hewitt for 17 years but was not married, has sued for an "equal share" of his property, and support for herself and the couple's three children.

Arguments in that case were heard recently by the Illinois Supreme Court, which has yet to decide the issue. An appellate court has upheld her right to sue.

Wind-whipped fire levels small town in California

HESPERIA, Calif. (AP) — A fire, believed caused by arson, has left neighborhoods and businesses in this desert town of 20,000 in cinders, forced the evacuation of 40 to 50 families and caused the death of an elderly man.

"We lost it all," said 59-year-old Val Shearer, who lost the wood-frame home he built years ago, as well as his truck, camper and boat to Thursday's voracious wind-whipped flames. "The wind was blowing so hard — the flames were going through the air like fireballs."

Shearer, who works as a service center clerk for Southern California Edison Co., said his wife Anna called him at work to tell him the fire was approaching their house.

"I told her to get outside with the hoses and wet everything down," he said. "But in the five minutes or so, while we were talking, the fire had come up to the back door. All she had time for was to grab our two dogs and take off in the car."

The blaze, first reported at about 2:30 p.m., left 30 buildings and 20 homes in ashes, with damage estimated at $1.2 million, according to state Department of Forestry Capt. George Biddle. The fire was contained by 9 p.m. in this community 90 miles east of Los Angeles.

Gail Fisher, a photographer for San Bernardino Sun-Telegram, said the fire was smoldering by the time she reached the site.

"Structures were burnt to the ground," she said.

"Trucks, cars, all sorts of vehicles were nothing but ashes and metal frames. As I entered the city, there was an odor of destruction."

In addition to the unidentified elderly man who died of heart failure while fighting the blaze with a garden hose, a Southern California Edison Co. employee was reported injured in a fall from a power pole during the fire, Biddle said. The condition of the utility worker was not known.

More than 200 firefighters, who at one point battled 35 mph to 40 mph southwest winds that blew hot blasts over tinder-dry brush and heavy grass, were aided by 60 engines, two water tankers, two bulldozers, and four air tankers, Biddle said.

Two separate fires erupted in different parts of Hesperia and merged to form the destructive swath, Biddle said.

Although no official cause for the blaze has been determined, he said arson was suspected because "if there's no lightning and fires start in two places, it could only be one other thing."

Elsewhere in Southern California on Thursday, dying winds and cooling temperatures were a relief to firefighters battling several brush fires, although one 400-acre blaze burned out of control in the Fairmont Reservoir area of the California Aqueduct near Lancaster.

About 120 firefighters from the Los Angeles County and the California Department of Forestry wrestled with the blaze, which erupted about noon, said county Fire Capt. Ken Lavioie.

Baptists launch investigation into voting irregularities

HOUSTON (AP) — An official investigation was under way today into reported voting irregularities at the Southern Baptist Convention in the wake of its tension-racked annual meeting.

Just what the results might imply about the election of the new president, the Rev. Adrian Rogers of Memphis, Tenn., was uncertain and officials declined to speculate about it.

He himself said he doubts any effects on him and he brushed off any idea of resigning as "disruptive" and "very hurtful," but he said if serious abuses are found, "which cast doubt on my election, then so be it."

He said he welcomes the inquiry "if there has been any misdoing. I would hope it would not cast aspersions on any innocent people, but I would be in favor of exposing anyone who has done anything dishonest."

The issue erupted near the close of the three-day convention Thursday night after a local registration secretary, the Rev. James Varner of Houston, blew the whistle on irregularities he cited in registration and voting.

Representatives of the 13.2 million-member denomination, the nation's largest Protestant body, promptly voted an inquiry with a report by next September and recommended steps to uphold "the integrity of the balloting system."

There were accounts of multiple voting in the presidential election, of one "messenger" marking and turning in 11 ballots, of others registering absent wives and children and obtaining ballots in their names, of some congregations registering more than their fixed maximums of 10 "messengers."

The convention also displayed its ire at the highly organized, political-style campaign by a keenly conservative coalition that backed Rogers, although he himself has deplored the tactics and claimed he had no part in them personally.

After sharp debate on a motion by Ernie White of St. Joseph, Mo., the convention acted to "disavow overt political activity and organization as a method of selection of its officers."

Texas Appeals Court Judge Paul Pressler of Houston and the Rev. Paige Patterson of Dallas were key leaders in the coalition's 14-month campaign to whip up support for conservative leadership to root out alleged "liberal" teachings about the Bible.

In the floor debate, the Rev. Wayne Dehoney of Louisville, Ky., without specifically naming Pressler, criticized his use of the "executive suite" skyboxes overlooking the convention hall for political caucus activity and portrayed him as an "illegal messenger."

Pressler, in an impassioned, careful response, defended his use of the skyboxes and said he was accredited as a "messenger" by a congregation of which he is an "honorary" member, although not by his regular congregation.

"For the first time in my life, I am being put in a place where people doubt my word," he said. "I am a loyal Southern Baptist. I love the Convention and I love the Lord. But I don't like remarks being made about my character."

Varner said there is no provision for honorary members to be "messengers."

Pressler later told reporters he himself opposes "power politics" in Convention affairs, but favors "greater participation by laymen. I'm absolutely appalled by the reaction that is wrong to encourage more participation of laymen."

Dehoney told reporters the coalition's independent use of the skybox area was a "direct violation" of convention rules, which provide that all meetings at the convention site be approved by a business committee.

But he praised the new president, Rogers, as a "man of integrity and one of our most talented preachers," and expressed confidence he will be a unifying force in the denomination.

After the convention ordered the voting investigation; denominational registration secretary Lee Porter of Nashville, Tenn., said it would be an exhausting one. He said he intended it even before the convention action because a preliminary survey had raised disturbing questions.

Tedious jury selection process continuing in trial

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — After nine days of trying to qualify a jury panel, attorneys in the Elmer Wayne Henley murder retrial headed back to the courtroom today to question the 101st potential juror in the case.

The tedious jury selection process continued after State District Judge Noah Kennedy Thursday granted a defense request to expand the panel from which the jurors will be chosen.

Kennedy originally planned to qualify 32 persons. The defense and prosecution were each to have been allowed 10 strikes, leaving the 12-member jury.

Henley was convicted in 1975 of six murder counts and assessed six 99-year prison sentences.

New study of stress encouraged

ATLANTA (AP) — Americans may be wise to notice the effects of stress on their health, but there is no conclusive evidence that such emotional upset causes a wide range of ailments, according to a group of medical experts.

The group, part of a conference on preventive medicine sponsored by the National Center for Disease Control, strongly urged Wednesday that more research be done in the area of stress.

The group also suggested that a public education campaign be waged to counter misinformation about stress, which some experts say has become a medical fad.

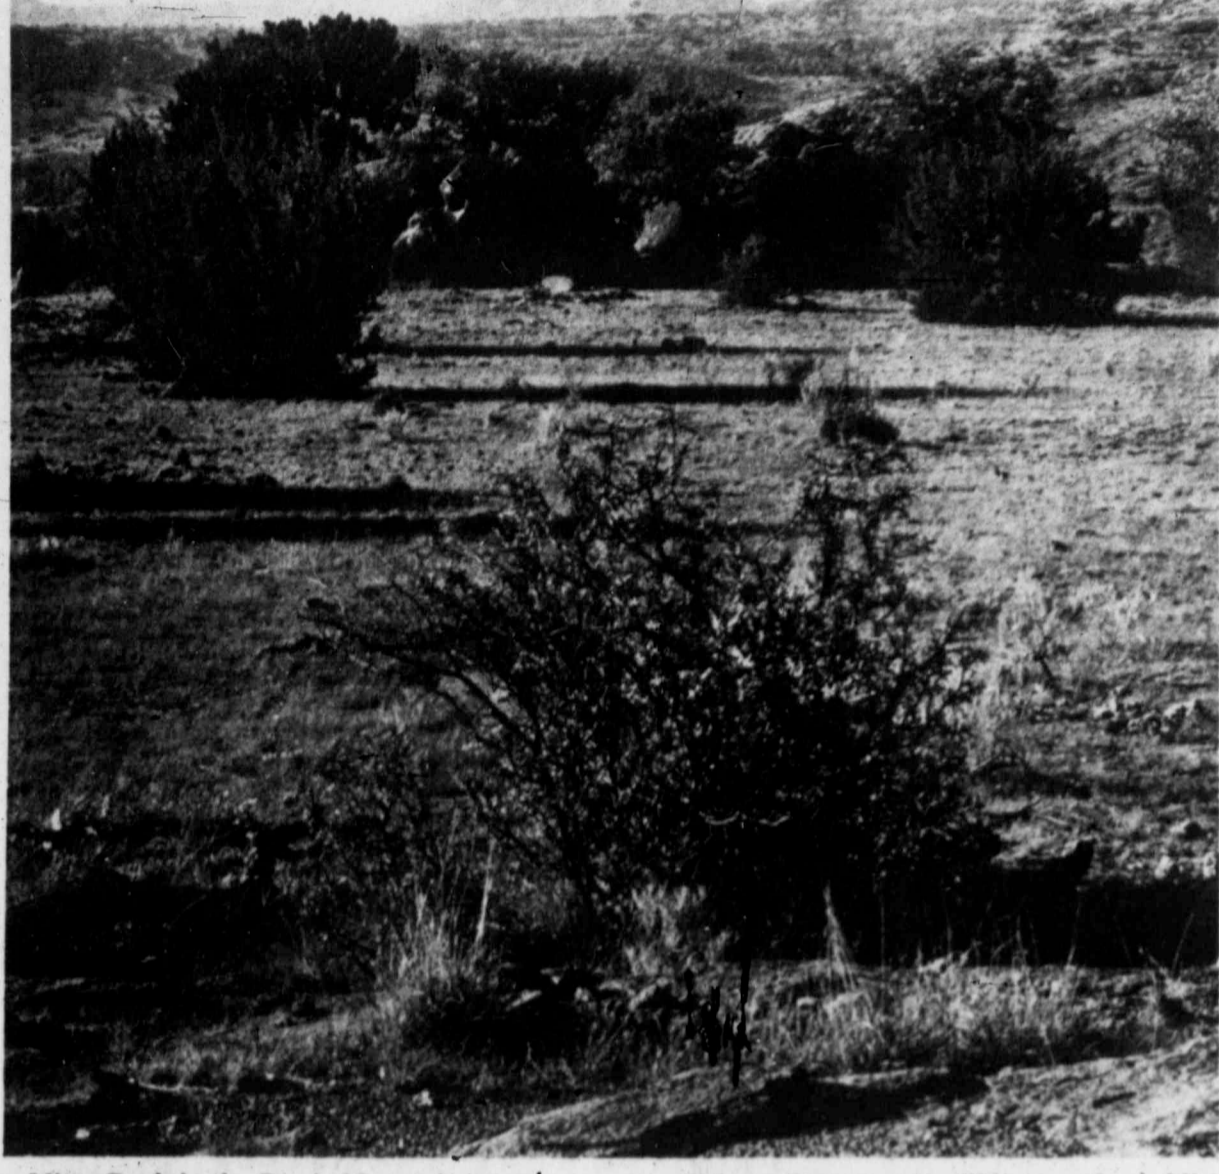

Recommendations of the panel on stress will be compiled with proposals from 14 other committees and presented to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The stress experts debated several hours before they decided to urge more research in the field rather than making specific suggestions.

"Maybe we shouldn't sell it until it's ready," said Dr. Robert S. Elliot, a medical professor from the University of Nebraska. "I'd rather that than be bold at first and blow the whole thing later."

Elliot said, however, that after 15 years of study "there was a definite link shown between stress and sudden death related to cardiovascular illness."

He also said that kind of emotional distress seems to be "interwoven with a multitude of health problems in the United States."

Mitre Peak in the Davis Mountains country forms a backdrop for the 242-acre Chihuahuan Desert Research Institute's landsite. The site, between Fort Davis and Alpine, off Texas 118, will be open for public inspection from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. CDRI Executive Director Dennie Miller and staff will play host at the site.

Somoza's troops bomb rebels

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Anastasio Somoza claims his national guard is clearing Sandinista rebels from Managua's fringe slums and the guard says it blocked a rebel attempt to move reinforcements into the capital.

Somoza's air force bombed and strafed Managua's barrios in a combined air and ground attack on young rebels holding the slum districts behind barricades.

The Nicaraguan strongman also sent jets and prop-driven gunships Thursday against the guerrillas holding Leon, Nicaragua's second largest city 45 miles northwest of Managua.

Somoza told reporters the air force was trying to keep the rebels from overrunning the national guard command post in Leon, the government's last foothold in the city. He said the government would not try to retake Leon until it had driven the guerrillas from Managua.

"This is the heaviest, the worst we have ever seen," a Leon newspaper editor reported by telephone. "The guard bombed Wednesday from 2 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon and then started again at daybreak."

He said the guerrillas had the national guard command post under heavy attack and had moved to within less than a block of it.

As Somoza's troops appeared to take the offensive in the week-old battle for the capital, foreigners and Managuans stepped up the exodus from the hungry, battered city, and looters continued to rampage through shopping centers. It was apparent that the government was too busy with the guerrillas to do anything about the looting.

A government communique Thursday night said the guard battled rebels on the edge of Managua and repelled guerrilla advances at three sparsely populated spots along the eastern shore of Lake Nicaragua, about 10 miles south of the capital. The communique reported a total of 42 guerrillas killed but gave no report on government casualties.

Americans in an evacuation convoy organized by the U.S. Embassy said they saw 20 to 30 bodies on the edge of the road to Leon and to Somoza's private airstrip, which U.S. evacuation planes are using because the road to the Managua airport has been closed.

Guerrilla sources in Costa Rica, Nicaragua's southern neighbor from which the Sandinistas launched their offensive May 28, claimed several hundred rebels were moving north from the border toward Managua.

They also disputed Somoza's claim last weekend that his troops had crushed all resistance in the border area and driven the surviving guerrillas back into Costa Rica. They claimed their main force of several hundred men had moved north toward Managua, and only a few guerrillas left behind as a rear guard were caught in the attack.

Refugees from Managua's embattled barrios said the slums on the fringes of the capital were rife with rumors that Sandinista leader Eden Pastora was leading a rebel column from Costa Rica to Managua.

Guerrillas of the Sandinista National Liberation Front are fighting what they call their "final offensive" to end 42 years of Somoza family rule in this Central American nation.

A week of fighting in the capital has driven tens of thousands of residents from the city. They crowd the roads carrying makeshift white flags and whatever bundles of belongings they can, seeking shelter at Red Cross refugee centers while foreigners wait for evacuation flights organized by their embassies.

A U.S. Air Force C-130 took out 70 Americans Thursday, raising the total evacuated by the embassy this week to 291. The plane also took 3 Britons, 5 Panamanians and 11 Canadians.

The embassy said it planned another evacuation flight today. Before the guerrilla offensive began, there were an estimated 2,500 Americans in the country.

WORLD NEWS

Lebanese return home as guerrillas withdraw

TYRE, Lebanon (AP) — People are returning to their homes in towns and villages of southern Lebanon following the withdrawal of Palestinian guerrillas into the countryside in an attempt to head off future Israeli attacks.

Local authorities say the guerrillas have withdrawn from all towns and villages south of the Litani River, the unofficial frontier dividing south and central Lebanon. Guerrilla officers say their units moved to refugee camps on the outskirts of Tyre or into the countryside, as close to the Israeli border as they were before but outside the towns and villages that the Israelis attacked in retaliation for Palestinians attacks on them.

There has been no change in the guerrilla presence in towns and villages north of the Litani.

Greeks, Turks begin Cyprus talks

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Greek and Turkish Cypriots, breaking a two-year stalemate, returned to the peace table today and said they agreed quickly on a number of procedural matters.

No details were forthcoming immediately from the 1½-hour session. The negotiators agreed to meet again Monday.

The negotiations are aimed at settling differences that have split this Mediterranean island. Both sides, still deeply divided on basic issues, cautioned at the outset against undue optimism or pessimism.

Iran charges new Iraqi bombings

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran accused Iraq today of its second bombing of Kurdish territory in northwest Iran in less than two weeks.

Radio Tehran said no one was reported injured in the attacks Thursday night on three Iranian frontier posts. The radio said Iraqi gunners fired across the border while planes bombed the frontier posts.

Relations between the two neighbors have been strained since June 4 when Iraqi pilots bombed four Kurdish villages in western Azerbaijan Province, killing seven persons.

Iran said Iraq apologized for the June 4 attack, said the Iraqi pilots made a mistake and promised to pay compensation.

U.S. endorses refugee conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has endorsed a British call for an emergency international conference to help resolve the Indochina refugee crisis, State Department officials say.

The proposed conference would be aimed at finding more resettlement places for the refugees and at providing funding for countries which are willing to accept refugees but cannot afford the costs involved.

British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher called on United Nations Secretary General Kurt Waldheim two weeks ago to convene such a conference.

Karpov leads in chess tourney

WADDINXVEEN, Netherlands (AP) — World chess champion Anatoly Karpov of the Soviet Union led in the four-man grandmaster chess tournament after drawing his game in the second round.

Playing black Thursday, Karpov used a Caro-Kan defense against Vlastimil Hort of Czechoslovakia and easily maintained a balanced position. After 23 moves, Hort accepted the champion's offer to draw.

The two other players in the tourney, champion Lubosh Kavalek and Holland's Gennadi Sosonko, agreed to a draw after 21 moves.

Earthquake shakes Lima

LIMA, Peru (AP) — A rumbling earthquake shook this capital city of five million inhabitants early today, sending thousands of people into the streets in their bedclothes.

Residents in the old sections of Lima said the quake cracked walls, but the Civil Defense said there were no reports of serious injuries or severe damage.

Italian embezzlement charged

ROME (AP) — Rome's deputy state prosecutor has asked an investigating judge to order the arrest of Nino Rovelli, president of the Sardinian chemical group SIR, and five top-level banking executives on embezzlement charges in a financial scandal reportedly linked to Italy's ruling Christian Democratic Party.

Norway leader outlines oil policy

HOUSTON (AP) — Norway will work to improve the understanding between oil consumers and producers as it develops its oil and gas reserves past its domestic needs, the Norwegian prime minister said.

Because of his country's "high degree of dependence on the economy of the rest of Europe, we cannot be led by price considerations alone," Odvar Nordli said Thursday during a luncheon at the River Oaks Country Club.

Vietnam accuses China of attacks

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Vietnam renewed its verbal attack on China today, accusing Peking of artillery attacks across the frontier and sending troops and spies into its territory and planes into its airspace since late May for "provocative acts."

Next No-Bake Cooking School set

For those girls that missed the first session, the Midland Council of Camp Fire Girls will have another session of its No-Bake Cooking School for girls 6 to 8 years of age Aug. 3 through Aug. 10 in St. Andrews Presbyterian Mission, 1708 N. Fort Worth St.

The girls learn how to cook without the use of a stove. They prepare two different menus, learn how to set the table and take home their own cookbooks with recipes and kitchen quizzes. Girls may register at the Camp Fire House, 3904 Cedar Springs, before July 20. Classes are limited to 15 girls each session.

Cooking is what the third session of the "It's all About Me" program is all about. This will be for girls age 7 to 12 years and will be held July 16 and 19 and July 23 and 26 from 1 to 4 p.m. at 3904 Cedar Springs. The first session will be "Moods and Feelings." The second session will be "Beauty and You," and the third session will be "Do It Yourself" (eating). The final session will be "Dangers, I Know How to Avoid."

Deadline for registration is July 1 and there is a limit of 25 girls. Information about day camping, skating lessons and crafts days, all part of the Camp Fire Mini-Venture Summer '79 Programs, can be obtained by dialing 697-7704.

DEAR ABBY

Too young to cruise

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 17-year-old girl. I quit high school to work and save enough money for college. My mom helped me get a fantastic job. I want to move into an apartment to be closer to my job. I've already made plans and even got myself a roommate.

I'm not running away from home or anything like that. I just want to be independent and get out from under my mom's protective wing.

Here's my problem: I'm afraid my mom won't let me move out especially when she finds out my roommate is my boyfriend!

I love my mother and don't want to hurt her, but ships weren't meant to sit in the harbor forever. What do you think? — TROUBLED IN TEXAS

DEAR TROUBLED: I can understand your desire for independence, but you're no ship. And even if you were, leaving your berth at 17 to sail the uncharted seas of a live-in arrangement could put you on the rocks in no time.

DEAR ABBY: I was engaged to be married in August. I ordered my bridal gown and four bridesmaid's dresses. It came to a sizable amount

I have lots of other bills, plus car payments to make, so I am strapped financially.

Two weeks after the dresses were ordered, my fiance broke our engagement, saying he had had serious doubts for over a month about whether we should marry. He said he has now finally summoned the nerve to tell me that he is sure it would be a mistake and we should call it off.

Abby, since he had "serious doubts" at the time the dresses were ordered, I think he should have told me. When I placed that order I had no idea that he was having doubts.

Now I am informed that because the dresses were specially ordered they cannot be returned.

Is my ex-fiance responsible for this bill? — BRIDE-TO-BE

DEAR EX: I think your ex-fiance has a MORAL obligation to pay for the gowns but, if he doesn't think so, you may have to resort to legal action. Perhaps just the mention of it might produce results. Try it.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a good provider for his family which consists of me (age 31) plus our four daughters, 12, 10, 8 and 6.

I lost a baby two years ago. I am enclosing a picture of me. As you can see, I am pregnant and the doctor says I'm carrying twins! My husband took that picture. It's one of the few he's ever taken of me with all my clothes on, which brings me to my problem.

You see, my husband is camera crazy, and for the last three years he has insisted on taking pictures of me and our daughters in various stages of undress as well as in the nude.

How can I get adroit to my husband that the girls are getting too big for these "family portraits" (as he calls them).

Also, I don't feel like posing in various stages of undress while pregnant, but he insists it doesn't matter.

Am I out of line for putting my foot down? — ENOUGH IS ENOUGH IN OHIO

DEAR ENOUGH: No, I think your husband has an unhealthy preoccupation with nudity. You can get your message across to him by refusing to pose unless fully clothed. And instruct the girls to do likewise.

Pearl still runs the round-ups

By CHARLES HILLINGER years.
RATTLESNAKE CREEK, Calif. — "Get that calf's head down. C'mon, get a move-in," shouted the boss of the cow outfit as the young cowhands wrestled the brawling critter to the ground.
The boss puled a century-old branding iron from dazing white oak fire and scorched an "SI" brand on the young critter's hide.
It was the annual spring roundup at the historic Shirley Ranch here in the Greenhorn Mountains east of Bakersfield — an event dating back more than 150 and running the roundup as she had each spring for the past half century was Pearl Shirley, owner-operator of the 1,100-acre spread.

Mrs. Shirley, one-quarter Wadalupe Indian, the rest pioneer Western American stock, a widow since 1930 and 87 years old is still very much in command.
Her grandfather, Shelby Pepper crossed the plains and mountains in a covered wagon and first settled this country in 1830. On her grandmother's side her people had been in these parts for centuries — Wadalumes or "Indians who went over the mountains."
Pearl, astride her rangehorse, Dusty; her son, Bob, 53, a Bakersfield, Calif., minister, her granddaughter, Jeanette Nutter, 18, and grandson Butch Taylor, 31, went over the lush green mountains with the first rays of the new day recently to gather up the sprightly old woman's 65 head of cattle.
They drove the cattle into a corral across from Mrs. Shirley's house, which the widow helped build on her homestead back in 1916, as upwards of 100 relatives and friends leaned on fence rails watching the annual spring rite.
The crisp, fragrant air rang with a symphony of "moos." The green hills were ribboned with a dazzling rainbow of wild flowers — orange fiddleneck, glistening white snow drops, purple lupine and blazing Indian paint brush.
"I woulda had three times as any calves, but I forgot to put the bull into the field on time," laughed Mrs. Shirley as two cowboys roped a calf's legs and a half dozen of her grandsons wrestled the animal to the ground.
The calves were branded, castrated and earmarked. The older animals were gathered into different corrals, some to be sent to market, others for breeding stock.
At noon a feast was laid out at Mrs. Shirley's old house where she lives alone and runs her ranch. It was potluck with everybody bringing a favorite dish.
But the barbecued beef, salsa and pinto

HOROSCOPE

By Carroll Righter (Sat. June 16)
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You could have unexpected benefits come your way today, so be on the lookout for them. Your hunches are not accurate now. Rely more upon your good judgment for best results.
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have novel ideas that should be studied well before putting them in operation. Don't let others deter your progress.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) An associate wants to give you a helping hand, so accept and show your appreciation. Take no risks with money.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A co-worker could have good ideas to discuss with you, so listen carefully. Give an outsider a wide berth and avoid trouble.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be on the lookout for benefits that could come your way at this time. Handle routine tasks with less friction.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Forget your desires for now and consider the needs of close ties. A wiser attitude toward loved one brings excellent results now.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Schedule your time and activities well today so you can accomplish more. Take time to improve your health and appearance.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have tasks ahead of you which may seem difficult. Study them well and they prove to be easy. Be less critical of others today.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) An act of kindness to loyal friends brings you added goodwill now. You can easily gain a personal aim now.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A business deal with close ties should be put in writing for best results. Be more active today and keep boredom away.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use particular care in motion today and avoid possible serious accident. Try to establish more harmony with family members.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Clear up a monetary matter you have with a close tie and feel happier. Evening is fine for a long talk with mate.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't be prejudiced regarding a personal matter and gain the respect of others. Sociability is the keynote tonight.

AT WIT'S END

There was one unexpected thing

By ERMA BOMBECK

old house even for this one, lady," I didn't expect that.

Boy, a really weird thing happened last week to two friends of ours, Bud and Babs Peripatetic.

They moved from Indiana to California and—get this—the house they bought was vacant when they arrived, the van carrying their furniture showed up when it was supposed to, the utilities were turned on in the house and (is this too much?) they got their own furniture back.

Do you have any idea what the odds are of having everything come out on schedule during a move? Some guy in Vegas figured it out once and it's a two-million-to-one shot.

Frankly, I would have thought the odds would have been higher. You won't believe it, but I'm one of those wonderfully organized people who is prepared for anything.

When we moved a couple of years ago from Ohio to Arizona there were no surprises. When the van arrived at the house and discovered the truck was to wide to come over the bridge, I expected that.

When the packers packed the garage and loaded it on the truck, but left the picnic table and lawn furniture in the side yard, I expected that.

When we arrived at the house and the mover called from Taos, New Mexico, and said he exited too early, I expected that.

When the only room in the motel was a honeymoon suite at $85 a day and the kids crayoned on the heart-shaped toilet seat, I expected that.

When the mover insisted the bill be paid in cash and the bill was $220 more than they figured and it was Saturday and all the banks were closed and no one in town knew us well enough to cash a check, I expected that.

When we found that the water in the toilet was hooked up to the hot water tank and we were showered in steam every time we flushed, I expected that.

When something happened to my "system" and I was surrounded with 75 cardboard boxes in the living room all marked "Miscellaneous," I expected that.

But when the mover who had loaded up the furniture from our old house moved it into our new house, stopped suddenly, looked around, picked his teeth with a matchbook cover and said, "I wouldn't have traded you the

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Smallpox study must continue

Dear Dr. Solomon: Since the World Health Organization has announced that smallpox has been conquered, what's the point in stockpiling smallpox virus? Why not destroy all the viruses instead, and make sure the disease can't reappear?—Ms. E.N.

Dear Ms. N.: Although smallpox appears to be finished as far as humans are concerned, similar diseases affect a variety of animals, including monkeys, cattle, and mice; and some of the viruses found in animals, according to Prof. Keith Dumbell of St. Mary's Hospital in London, cannot be distinguished from the smallpox virus. Since a mutation of an animal virus may make it dangerous to humans, it is essential that smallpox viruses continue to be studied, and that they be kept available as a source of vaccine if the disease becomes active once more. The World Health Organization (WHO) has stockpiled 300 million doses of smallpox vaccine in different parts of the world in the event the disease does re-emerge in humans.

Live samples of smallpox virus are now stored in 10 laboratories around the world, including two in the United States. Stocks in these two laboratories will soon be transferred to the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta. The WHO hopes to reduce the worldwide number to three or four high-security laboratories, but stresses the need for smallpox research to continue.

Dear Dr. Solomon: Is there any way to determine whether an unborn child will have sickle cell anemia?—Chris.

Dear Chris: Researchers at the University of California in San Francisco recently developed a reliable test to diagnose sickle cell anemia in the unborn child. It can be used early in the pregnancy, thereby providing the option of a therapeutic abortion. The disease affects mostly blacks, and about half its victims die before the age of 20.

The new method involves taking a sample of the amniotic fluid, the liquid surrounding the baby, and testing the genes responsible for making hemoglobin. Individuals with sickle cell anemia do not have the proper genetic instructions for making hemoglobin, which enables red blood cells to carry oxygen throughout the body. Because of this defect, the patient's cells gradually become damaged. The disease derives its name from the unusual C-shape, like that of a sickle, of the victim's red blood cells.

Children affected by the defective gene often are poorly developed and have short trunks and elongated extremities and skull. Few live as long as 45 years, and death commonly is caused by tuberculosis, stroke or heart failure.

Dr. Yuet Wai Kan, who developed the test, believes the same technique can be adapted to test for other inherited blood diseases, such as hemophilia. With prenatal diagnosis couples who otherwise would not have wanted to risk having children will now be able to plan families.

Babies entering world of less fuel, food

WASHINGTON (AP) — Each baby born in the last part of the 20th century is coming into a world providing less food for it to eat. Less wool to make its clothes and less fuel to keep it warm.

Although some think human inventiveness will find synthetics to bridge all these gaps, the new products may take a long time to filter down to the poorer countries of the world.

The richer countries will go on buying what they want but it will cost them more, and there will be less remaining for the rest.

That's the picture drawn by Lester R. Brown, president of Worldwatch Institute, in a new study called "Resource Trends and Population Policy: A Time for Reassessment." Worldwatch Institute is a non-profit research group concerned with international affairs.

As an example of how resources are dwindling on a wide front, Brown pointed out that the number of fish caught on a per capita basis worldwide peaked as far back as 1970. Although more and better fishing vessels have been built since then, the catch has remained around 70 million tons. Some areas are heavily overfished and it is now illegal to catch herring in the North Sea.

The production of mutton peaked in 1972, beef and grain in 1976.

Meanwhile the number of people in the world has increased by more than half a billion to about 4.2 billion by early 1979 and it goes on increasing by about 192,000 a day.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture predicts that the world's beef production will be 9 percent less this year than in 1976. Firewood is the main fuel in countries with the fastest growing population. The demand for firewood may drop as those countries grow richer, but the use of wood for newsprint and packaging grows quickly as more people learn to read and have money to buy manufactured goods.

Meanwhile, the world's forested area decreases every year by 26.5 million acres, an area roughly the size of Cuba. Even though oil prices have skyrocketed since 1973, production has been growing much more slowly. Brown calculates world oil production will be about the same in the year 2000 as it was last year — 22 billion barrels.

With the population continuing to rise, that would mean a steady decline in the amount of oil per person, a figure ready on a steady decline since the 1973 peak of 5.34 barrels per person. Until that peak was reached, there had been a steady rise during the previous 25 years from the 1948 average of 1.52 barrels per person.

Though the decline in oil need not mean a decline in the energy supply per person, Brown says only Brazil, which is working on alcohol for fuel, and South Africa, with its plans for liquefied coal, are providing for what he calls the "post-petroleum era."

He connects the decline in the supply of resources with the decline in economic growth and the rise in unemployment.

Rare giraffes die in zoo in Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two 15-year-old pregnant Angolan giraffes, Rhonda and Mona, died mysteriously within 24 hours of each other at the Baltimore Zoo that has attempted to specialize in breeding the rare species.

The deaths leave only 10 other Angolan giraffes known to be in captivity in the United States. Five, including two pregnant females, live at the Baltimore Zoo, one is in Philadelphia and four are in Los Angeles.

"Angolans are probably the rarest species of giraffe," said Steve Crosby, a zoo spokesman.

Autopsies on the giraffes indicate they may have died of "preacute mortality" or "sudden death with no apparent signs," according to Dr. Frank Loew, a pathologist for the Johns Hopkins Division of Comparative Medicine.

Britons plead not guilty

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Three British army sergeants and a former soldier pleaded innocent in Belfast court to charges of murdering two Roman Catholic farmers seven years ago while fighting the Irish Republican Army in Northern Ireland.

At the hearing Wednesday, Sgts. John Byrne, 32, John Maguire, 28, and Stanley Hathaway, 36, were ordered held without bail in military custody. Ian Chestnut, 31, now an oil rigger working in the North Sea, was ordered held in police custody.

The two farmers, Michael Naan, 31, and Andrew Murray, 24, were stabbed to death on a farm in County Fermanagh in October 1972.

Drowned bodies found

HONG KONG (AP) — Police have found the bodies of 246 persons they believe drowned while trying to swim from China to Hong Kong this year, compared to 209 in all of 1978, a government spokesman reported.

Battling Bessie Stagg has just begun to fight

By WAYNE SLATER

BARTONVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Lest some scallawag get the wrong idea, let it be known that battling Bessie Stagg is still in a fighting mood after all these years.

"You betcha," says Mrs. Stagg, a 60-year-old firebrand with a reformist streak and a remarkable penchant for irritating politicians.

"I don't ask much, just that government not be a bunch of crooks," she says.

But the road to reform is a rocky one. Mrs. Stagg has been at it for a quarter-century now, and by her own account, she has been threatened and harassed, her children ridiculed, her reform-minded newspaper forced to fold and her crusade to open township records blocked at every turn.

"If I try to look at records, they holler in my ears," she says. "If I get up at a meeting, they throw soap at me. If we take people to vote, they call the taverns and say get down here and vote no on everything."

"Sometimes, when they don't want to show records, they throw them in a damn truck and I've got to go chasing them around town," she says.

It is not exactly the style of adversary relationship contemplated by Thomas Jefferson, but it is the way of democracy in Bartonville and simply duck soup for Bessie Stagg.

After 25 years as self-proclaimed watchdog of Limestone Township, she still is full of fire, stern of eye and resolute of purpose. She is forever alleging financial improprieties, attending meetings, questioning everything, searching public records for the suspicious entry.

Midland High School graduate Thelma Woodard, daughter of Corine Woodard, has received a scholarship from the Negro Business and Professional Women's Club. Miss Woodard plans to attend Langston University in Oklahoma and study psychology.

South Africa security tightens

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Security guards and short-tempered dogs are becoming almost as common as hooks and slices on white golf courses in Johannesburg.

Four years after the bloody Soweto riots, whites live as if they are under siege. Guards, burglar alarms, dogs and guns protect their walled minisates.

On the streets they carry protective devices that range from a plastic revolver that shoots an aerosol spray to temporarily blind someone and dye his skin bright pink, to a folded umbrella disguising a 2,000-volt rod that can knock an attacker unconscious.

"Fear is good business in South Africa," said a law professor, John Dugard, about the multitude of security enterprises that flourish here. "You can't lose."

Whites were jolted to a panic by the 1976 black student rebellion in the sprawling black township of Soweto outside Johannesburg. Although the rioting was kept away from their suburbs, whites were reminded that they are outnumbered 5-1 by non-whites.

The political realities are aggravated by a high crime rate that many say stems from nationwide unemployment and underemployment estimated at 20 percent among the non-white population.

"It's a labor problem," said one security company owner. "There are a lot of fellows walking the streets who tend to also walk into a house and steal something."

For some whites, the only answer is a gun.

"If (blacks) break in, there's only one thing to do. Shoot 'em," said a salesman at a gunshop.

That's also the advice given by police.

Parkview Hospital cited for keeping costs down

Parkview Hospital 68 Corp. of Midland has received a 1979 Certificate of Participation for its cost containment efforts through the Texas Voluntary Effort campaign.

Richard R. Bell, Parkview's administrator, in announcing the receipt of the certificate said, "We're proud of the progress our hospital, together with its medical staff and employees, is making toward holding down the cost of hospital care. We will continue to make every effort to hold our expenses to the absolute minimum without sacrificing the quality of care delivered to patients."

In early 1978, the hospital industry launched the Texas Voluntary Effort program to control costs.

This is a part of a national effort which commits hospitals to reduce the national rate of cost increase by 2 percent a year for 1978 and 1979. In 1978, the hospital industry in Texas reduced the rate of rise by 2.6 percent.

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I knew something was wrong, vapor was pouring out," a private pilot recalled thinking as he watched a supersonic Air France Concorde take off from Dulles International Airport.

from Dulles Thursday. The Paris-bound plane, with 81 passengers and a crew of nine, returned 20 minutes later for a safe emergency landing on a foamed runway.

No one was injured in the accident, which is under investigation by federal agencies.

Fred Farrar, a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration, said one of the exploding tires may have ruptured the fuel tank. The accident blew a two-foot-square hole though the thin left wing of the aircraft.

Jet's engines were operating properly before crash impact

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The three engines from the American Airlines DC-10 that crashed in Chicago May 25 were operating properly before the aircraft went down, a powerplant team examining the engines here has determined.

The team first came to Tulsa two weeks ago to inspect the plane's No. 1 engine, the one mounted under the left wing of the aircraft.

Curious New Yorkers and evacuated shoppers watch Thursday as smoke billows from the one-block square Macy's department store in New York City. Thousands of shoppers were driven into the streets after the four-alarm blaze erupted. (AP Laserphoto)

Fireman dies, 14 hurt in Macy's store fire

NEW YORK (AP) — Linda Elmes was on an elevator in Macy's when she heard the scream. "Fire." In a moment, there was pandemonium when an estimated 8,000 persons inside realized "the world's largest department store" was burning.

The four-alarm blaze Thursday afternoon burned out parts of the fifth and sixth floors and claimed one fireman's life. Fourteen other persons received minor injuries.

Fire officials summoned 120 men to battle the fire while thousands stood in the streets during rush hour to watch billowing clouds of smoke pour out of broken windows.

"The sprinklers started going, spraying water everywhere," said customer Lance Johnson, 18. "Then people started running, dropping their packages and rushing for wherever they saw an exit sign. It was wild."

Macy's, which takes up a full block on New York's celebrated Herald Square, contains a million square feet and is usually crowded. Yet officials described the evacuation as orderly.

No loss estimates were made Thursday, but a fire official said the sprinkler system caused "heavy damage to the store and its contents."

Nevertheless, Macy's officials said the store would be open for business today.

The cause of the fire was not known.

Fire officials said the blaze broke out on the fifth floor. It was discovered by clerk Anthony Navarra who spotted flames in a rack of jogging suits in the sporting goods department around 4:10 p.m.

Navarra said when he tried to move the burning apparel the fire "just leap-frogged onto other stuff."

The blaze "just started building, building, building," he said. Moments later a manager told Navarra to get out and ordered the area evacuated.

Fireman Walter J. Smith Jr., 31, was killed when he and dozens of other firefighters tried to find the source of the smoky blaze. As they crawled through the sporting goods section of the fifth floor, the fire suddenly "blew out" and Smith was trapped, a department spokesman said.

Two of the injured, a fireman and a woman shopper, apparently suffered heart attacks. Other firemen and customers suffered smoke inhalation and some firemen were burned fighting the blaze.

Five share lead in U.S. Open

Keith Fergus follows through with his drive.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — They're calling the 79th United States Open Championship the Year of the Tree. And it's an appropos title.

A 25-foot spruce was awaiting Lon Hinkle and his Short Cut Gang today beside the eighth tee at Inverness Club.

Embarrassed officials of the governing U.S. Golf Association hope the tree, put in place Thursday night, will eliminate playing down the adjoining 17th fairway to negotiate an easy par — or even birdie — at the 528-yard, par-5 dogleg hole.

"I was real tempted not to tell anybody about it. We hit the same landing area that people from 17 do," said Hinkle, who hit a 1-iron to the fairway, a 2-iron to the eighth green and a 2-putted from 70 feet for his bird.

THE STRATEGY helped him to a 1-under-par 70, good for share of the first-round lead with 1975 Open champion Lou Graham, Tom Purtzer, Andy Bean and Keith Fergus.

At least six players—Jerry Heard, Dave Eichelberger, John Schroeder, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Jim Simons and Hinkle — played the eighth hole via the shortcut, which cut about 50 yards from the length of the hole. Heard and Schroeder also birdied it. The others parred it.

"I didn't know about that. Why didn't somebody tell me?" said a surprised Graham afterward.

James R. Hand, chairman of the USGA's championship committee, said: "I was amazed the opening was possible. I had'n't seen it."

"The situation created a danger to the players, the spectators and a delay in play," Hand said.

The tree incident nearly overshadowed one of the great Open comebacks by Tom Purtzer.

Purtzer, 27, whose only victory came in the 1977 Los Angeles Open, was 5 over par after five holes Thursday. He went double bogey, then triple bogey.

HE HAD hit shots bare-footed from a creek, left-handed from under a bush and from atop a pine cone. He took a fat 39 on the front side.

And this was the world's most prestigious golf tournament, the second of four major championships this year for the men.

Then, in a startling turnaround he couldn't explain himself, Purtzer lashed back at proud, old Inverness, the site of its fourth Open in 59 years.

Purtzer birdied four straight holes, five of the last six for a 31 on the backside and a share of the lead.

Purtzer surveyed his eight-birdie round, paused and said, "Normally, I'm not a birdie machine. I was just trying to shoot 73-74. I'm fortunate to be back in the hunt."

But they weren't alone in their difficulties with the tough old course.

A starry group that included Lee Trevino, defending titleholder Andy North, Masters king Fuzzy Zoeller and PGA champion John Mahaffey, wincing from the pain in a damaged hand on nearly every shot, had 77s in the hot, windy weather.

HUBERT GREEN and Lanny Wadkins, each a two-time winner this season, had 74 and 73, respectively. Arnold Palmer shot 76. So did Gary Floyd. South African Gary Player was at 73 and Hale Irwin took 74.

But it was the controversy — without which it appears, no U.S. Open would be complete — stirred up by Hinkle's play on the eighth hole that served as the focal point of the day.

He was among the early starters. No players, nor spectators, had reached the 17th when he stood on the eighth tee.

"I was watching the group in front of us play their second shots to the eighth," Hinkle said. "I was standing on the tee and I looked over here (toward the 17th fairway) and I just happened to see the fairway. Then I looked at the players in front of us, the direction they were playing their second shots.

"Hey," I said. "I can go this way (to the 17th fairway) and cut off a lot of distance."

He did and made birdie, cutting about 50 yards off the length of the hole. So did several others, with varying success.

A REPORT was made to USGA officials and they quickly went into a huddle.

"Playing to the 17th fairway could be a danger to other players, a danger to spectators, and delay play," said Jim Hand, chairman of the Championship Committee.

"The 17th is part of the golf course. We couldn't make it out of bounds. We didn't consider that. If we moved up the tee on the eighth, to bring trees into play and prohibit the playing of the tee shot to the 17th fairway, we would have destroyed the integrity of the hole," he said.

Maybe it was the law of percentages, a case of the USGA owing Purtzer one from the last round of the 1977 Open at Tulsa.

"I had to wait 15-20 minutes to hit my 3-iron to the 13th while they sprinkled the green. I was one shot behind, playing better than anybody at the time. I hit that shot out of bounds," he painfully recalled.

Purtzer would finish 72-282, four shots behind 1977 Open champion Hubert Green.

DESPITE THE playing conditions in sunny mid-80 degree weather, it was one of the most inauspicious first rounds for an Open. Not since 1974 had no players been in the 60s.

Inverness was particularly harsh on some of the sport's glamour names.

Johnny Miller, who holds the single round Open record of 63, went for 73. Three-time Open titleholder Jack Nicklaus struggled to 74 as did two more Open kings, Hubert Green and Hale Irwin.

Tom Watson, this year's leading money winner and the pretournament favorite, explained his 75: "My driving was the worst part. My irons weren't that good either. I just couldn't get the feel of it today."

Arnold Palmer had 76. Lee Trevino, a two-time winner in this tournament; Masters victor Fuzzy Zoeller, and PGA National champion John Mahaffey matched 77s.

Bean may have explained the high scores best, saying, "The wind is making the course play so difficult. When you get the ball up in the air, you don't know where it is going to wind up. It's gusting, swirling on a lot of holes. And the greens are getting harder, too."

Portions of this $350,000 major championship, with a first prize of $50,000, will be carried Saturday and Sunday by ABC-TV (1:30 to 5:30 p.m. CDT).

Arkansas posts 4-2 TL victory

By The Associated Press

Joe DeSa's two-run homer in the sixth inning boosted the Arkansas Travelers to a 4-2 Texas League baseball victory over the Tulsa Drillers Thursday night.

In other Texas League action, Shreveport beat Jackson, 6-3, in 11 innings. El Paso slipped past San Antonio, 11-7, and Amarillo defeated Midland, 10-3.

DeSa's homer came after Neil Fiala doubled. Arkansas also scored in the sixth when Tito Landrum singled, stole second, moved to third on a throwing error and scored on a wild pitch. Another Travelers run scored in the seventh when Jim Riggelman doubled home Randy Thomas, who singled.

Len Strelitz, 4-4, was the winning pitcher. John Butcher, 4-6, was the loser.

Shreveport scored three runs in the top of the 11th inning to beat Jackson, 6-3. Jose Barrios had two singles and drove in two runs for the Captains. Gorman Heimueler, 3-1, was the winning pitcher. Russell Clark, 0-1, was the losing Mets pitcher.

Mark Brouhard's three-run homer in the eighth inning helped the El Paso Diablos take an 11-7 victory over the San Antonio Dodgers. It was Brouhard's 10th homer of the season. Brian Harper had a homer in the third inning when the Diablos exploded for seven runs.

Mike Zouras and Gary Weiss each had two-run homers for San Antonio. Keith Comstock picked up his first pitching victory after three losses. Doug Harrison, 4-3, was the losing pitcher.

Mariners spoil Anderson's debut

By The Associated Press

Things have got to get better for Sparky Anderson but how much better can they get for Willie Aikens?

While the Seattle Mariners were spoiling Anderson's American League managerial debut by nipping the Detroit Tigers 3-2, Aikens tied a major league record by belting a grand slam for the second game in a row as the California Angels swamped the Toronto Blue Jays 10-2.

In other American League games, the Minnesota Twins turned back the New York Yankees 4-2, the Milwaukee Brewers whipped the Texas Rangers 6-2 and the Cleveland Indians edged the Oakland A's 2-1. Baltimore, Boston, Chicago and Kansas City were not scheduled.

With the score tied 2-2, Anderson thought it was time for a pitching change after Seattle tagged Jack Billingham for 11 hits in eight innings. He waved for relief ace John Hiller but his first AL strategy ploy backfired when pinch hitter Leon Roberts tripped and scored as Larry Milbourne's two-out grounder went through third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez.

"I did it all tonight," said Anderson, who officially replaced the fired Les Moss after third base coach Dick Tracowski piloted the Tigers to a pair of victories before Anderson arrived.

There had been some question whether Anderson would let Tracowski call the shots in order to get a line on his players, but that was not the case. "I got 100 percent of that one," Anderson said.

The 21,957 fans at Tiger Stadium gave Anderson a standing ovation when he was introduced before the game. "That was the biggest personal thrill I've ever had," he said. "But I'm sure there'll be other 'welcomes' if we start going bad."

Angels 10, Blue Jays 2

Aikens' first-inning homer off Phil Huffman marked the first time in 17 years — and the ninth in major league history — that an American Leaguer has hit grand slams in consecutive games. Brooks Robinson of Baltimore last did it in 1962, although Pittsburgh's Phil Garner accomplished the feat in the National League last season.

"I try to do the best job I can do," said Aikens, who has been playing first base since an injury to Rod Carew. "If I hit the ball out of the park, I do. If I don't, I don't. I know I can't come out every day and hit a homer. I don't think I should worry about Carew coming back. I know Carew is a great ballplayer and whenever he gets well and comes back I'll probably stay in the lineup as a DH."

"It just happened so quick. I knew it had a chance to go out, but I didn't really have much time to think about anything. It was just a great thrill knowing I hit a grand slam yesterday and I came back today and hit an-

Amarillo's Gold Sox rough up Cubs, 10-3

AMARILLO — Four errors that allowed eight unearned runs took their toll on the Midland Cubs here Thursday night as the Texas League West Division leaders dropped a critical 10-3 verdict to the Amarillo Gold Sox.

The setback, combined with San Antonio's loss, allowed the Bruins to maintain a one game bulge over the Dodgers in the first half title chase. Midland, which meets Amarillo tonight at 7:30, enjoys a 2½ game lead over the Gold Sox.

Midland jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the top of the fourth when heavy-hitting Jim Tracy stroked a two-run homer.

But the fledgling Gold Sox, abetted by two Bruin throwing errors, roared back with three runs in their half of the fourth. Amarillo's go-ahead run came when Brian Greer's base hit knocked in Joe Hicks, who singled earlier.

In the fifth, the Cubs managed their last run. Mike Turgeon reached on Smith's error, advanced to second on a ground out, stole third and scored when Gold Sox receiver Brad Shames tossed the ball into left field.

Amarillo, however, put the contest away with a three-run sixth inning and a four-run seventh frame.

All three of the Gold Sox' sixth inning runs were unearned. Curt Reed, who started the inning by reaching on Jesus Alfaro's error, rode home Hicks' triple and then, following a walk to Greer, Paul O'Neill slammed a three-bagger that cleared the sacks.

Nicklaus, Watson down but not out

By BOB GREEN AP Golf Writer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and Tom Watson, golf's two greatest players, were down but, they stoutly insisted, not out going into today's second round of the 79th U.S. Open Championship.

Nicklaus, with a double bogey on the final hole, shot an opening 74. Watson, with bogeys on three of his last five holes, shot 75, five strokes off the first-round lead that was shared by five players.

"I don't feel I'm out of the tournament," Watson said. "I can jump right back in the tournament if I can shoot a good round, a round in the 60s," he said.

Nicklaus had a similar idea. "I'm not out of it," he said. "Seventy-four isn't that bad a score. If I shoot 67 or 68 I'm right back in it."

But tough old Inverness hasn't yet yielded a score in the 60s — and none of them could bring it home.

It was the first national open in five years in which a score in the 60s had not been produced in the first round.

First-round scores were exceptionally high — ranging up to an 87 by South African Hugh Baiocchi — and included 77s by a starry group of PGA champ John Mahaffey, defending U.S. Open titleholder Andy North, Masters king Fuzzy Zoeller and Lee Trevino. However, few top-ranked players had such frustrating difficulties getting home as those encountered by Nicklaus and Watson.

Nicklaus, holder of a record 15 major professional titles and generally regarded as the greatest ever to play the ancient game, was in good shape, 1 over par coming to the relatively short 18th hole.

"On the 18th," he said, obviously disgusted with himself, "there's only two places you don't want to put it: over the green, or to the right of the green. I managed to do both."

"His approach, squirting out of the deep rough, went to the back right. He failed to negotiate a shot that he tried to bounce into a bank and on the green. It just didn't quite make it. He was on the putting surface in four and left a bogey putt hanging on the lip of the cup."

It dropped him back from a potential 72 to 74.

Watson, winner of four titles already this year and by far the outstanding player for the past 2½ years, also had it 1 over par going into the

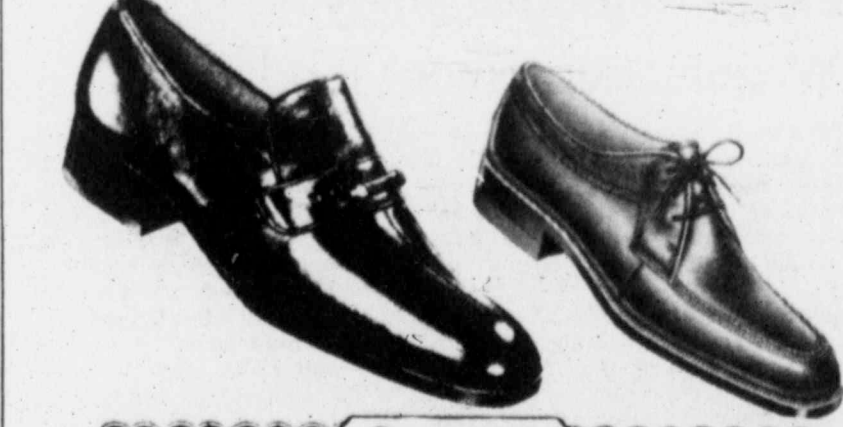

Larkin wins title

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Jack Larkin of Atlanta won the Southern Golf Association Junior Golf Championship Thursday with a three-round total of 212, four shots ahead of the second-place finisher.

Larkin, 17, fired rounds of 71-70-71 to win the title on the par-70 No. 1 course at the Pinehurst Country Club.

Expos, Chicago capture National League wins

By The Associated Press. When things are going well, it doesn't matter what they throw at you. Gene Garber tried to jam Montreal's Tony Perez with a fast ball in the eighth inning...

"He took a little off his fast ball and kept the ball down a bit," said Carter. "You just have to stay with him because he gives you so much arms and legs and motion. He can intimidate you when he comes sidarm."

Whiteley seeking sixth big stakes victory in row

By The Associated Press
David Whiteley, whose victory with Coastal in last Saturday's Belmont Stakes gave the trainer five stakes wins of $100,000 or more, will try to make it six Saturday when Waya, a grass specialist, takes to the turf Saturday at Belmont Park in the $125,000-added Bowling Green Handicap.

Waya, a 5-year-old French-bred mare trained by Whiteley, will carry top weight of 125 pounds against seven other horses in the 1 1/4-mile race in an attempt to capture his fifth race in six 1979 starts. Her last two wins were on dirt.
Waya, who is owned by Peter M. Brant and George Strawbridge, won the Top Flight Handicap in her debut on the dirt and then came back March 3 to win the Saratoga Springs Cup Handicap, which was switched from the grass to the dirt because of rain.

Another snag develops for Winter Olympics

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) - Another snag has developed in the sale of tickets for February's Winter Olympics.
Robert Ohnseian, the man in charge of tickets for the Lake Placid Olympic Organizing Committee, said Thursday that legal delays and planning changes would set back his program for the rest of the month, meaning at least another two week delay.

Lawyers for the two men fenced with each other and the Adirondack Park Agency at a hearing on the lots Wednesday and Thursday.

Giannoulas seeks settlement

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Ted Giannoulas and officials of KGB radio station - at odds over a chicken suit - met today in Los Angeles in an effort to hammer out a special settlement.
The station fired Giannoulas two months ago for alleged contract violations. A $250,000 law suit was lodged against him and the station succeeded in having him barred from wearing the 6-foot chicken suit in four Southern California counties.
Giannoulas, 24, said he and his attorney will listen to KGB before announcing a decision on his future early next week.

Houston Oilers sign speedy running back, big lineman

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers have signed second round draft choice Jesse Baker, a 6-5, 265 defensive lineman from Jacksonville, Ala. State, and speedy running back Wayne Wilson, a 12th round draft pick from Shepherd, W. Va. College.
Baker, 6-5, 265, made 71 tackles and grabbed a school record seven fumble recoveries last season. He became his school's first representative in the East-West Shrine game.
Wilson, 6-3, 208, has been clocked at 4.5 for the 40 yard dash by Oiler scouts.
The Oilers now have signed five of their 10 draft choices.

Something no one has even thought of," he said.
Giannoulas, son of a Greek carpenter, is deciding whether to change his identity or relocate out of the area as a modified chicken.
"A lot of people say The Chicken is dead and to resurrect it would be fool-hardy," he said Thursday.
If he switches to a new character - "I have already designed it" - he could remain in San Diego, his hometown.
"Let me be averse to new pastures."
He hinted that his new identity would remain in the bird family. "It's a one-of-a-kind thing, something no one has even thought of," he said.

Play with head up if you want to win

How does West get a trick with the ten of spades? All he needs is a declarer who plays with his head down. It couldn't happen to you, of course, but your partner might manage to lose today's game.

South ruffed the third heart, led a diamond to dummy and tried the spade finesse. West returned a second diamond, and South couldn't get out of dummy to draw trumps.

If dummy led clubs, West would get the king. South actually ruffed a third diamond with the nine, but West over-ruffed.

MUST LOOK AHEAD

South should expect the spade finesse to lose because of West's opening bid. He should likewise expect a diamond return. To prevent this embarrassment, South should cash two high diamonds before leading spades.

If West then leads a third diamond, South gains the lead by ruffing, if West instead leads a club, South must let it ride to his queen, risking the finesse.

ANSWER: Bid four spades. When partner bids one notrump you are entitled to pick the final contract. Pick it and avoid all possible errors.

U.S. to sponsor first ballet contest

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States is holding an international ballet contest, for the first time ever, with 70 young contestants from 15 countries. It begins Monday, and it's in Mississippi.

Three New Yorkers — a ballet critic, a dance magazine executive and a Broadway choreographer — had talked for years about a U.S. ballet competition, along the lines of the 15-year-old, best-known contest, held in Varna, Bulgaria.

Then F. Randolph Swartz of Philadelphia, supplier of goods to ballet companies, saw John Curry skate in the 1976 Olympics. He asked his friend, the dance magazine executive, why the ballet world couldn't have an international competition like that.

They exist, the executive replied, in Varna, Moscow, Tokyo and Lausanne, Switzerland.

Swartz also mentioned his "Ballet Olympics" idea to Thalia Mara, a ballet teacher in Jackson, Miss. She suggested it to a group of local citizens who immediately decided it should be done, to point up the city's long-time involvement in the arts — opera, symphony and dance.

Jackson pledged $500,000, and expects to take in $250,000 at the 2,510-seat Municipal Auditorium box office for events June 18-29, providing a budget of $750,000. April floods slowed fund-raising, but only temporarily.

Court upholds conviction after appeal

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN—The Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday upheld a Midland County court conviction of a man assessed seven years in prison for voluntary manslaughter.

James William Stewart's conviction stemmed from an August 1976 shooting at the Red Fox Club in Midland in which Bobby Dean Sargent was killed over an argument involving a stag film.

Stewart appealed his conviction on five points: He should have been charged with involuntary manslaughter, the trial court admitted in evidence a statement he made prior to being advised of his constitutional rights, evidence concerning his reputation was excluded, the trial court erroneously instructed the jury on testimony by his wife and "the state committed reversible error by subpoenaing his wife as a witness."

The court overruled all five points of appeal after reviewing testimony from the lower court transcript.

Douglas signs film contract

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Michael Douglas has signed an exclusive three-year producing contract with Columbia Pictures.

Douglas produced and stars with Jane Fonda and Jack Lemmon in "The China Syndrome." He produced "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," winner of five Academy Awards.

He will announce his first project for Columbia shortly.

Michael Clay Courter received a doctor of dental surgery degree in May from the University of Texas Dental School in San Antonio. Dr. Courter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Courter of 2902 Sentinel St. He was reared in Midland and graduated from Midland High School and Texas Tech University. He plans to enter private practice in Midland this year.

LeClerc gets 'Dracula' role

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — First it was Frank Langella, then Raul Julia. Now, Jean LeClerc will star in "Dracula," the heart-coldling saga of the Transylvania Necker who has lurked on Broadway nearly two years.

LeClerc, 32, a tall, handsome gent born in Montreal of French parents, has been in the show's national touring company for nearly 10 months. He's no stranger to the type-A title role.

But in making his Broadway debut in it as Julia's successor, he arrives amid what you might call rampant Draculomania.

Langella's movie version is in the wings. "Love at First Bite," George Hamilton's film spoof of the tale, already is out. And "The Passion of Count Dracula" is wowing the undead off-Broadway, down in Greenwich Village.

None of this alarms LeClerc, who cheerfully admits to liking still another version — public TV's "Dracula," starring Louis Jordan — which he saw in reruns when he was home in Canada two weeks ago.

He detects no loss of public appetite, so to speak, for Bram Stoker's classic horror tale of the romantic, blood-tipping count most wouldn't touch with a 10-foot stake.

"Very strange," he enthusiastically reports in his soft French accent. "The American people are weirdos. They love Dracula, there's a big following for him, according to the amount of mail I get."

"From kids to elderly people, they say, 'I would go see any production of Dracula. I love the show, the image, the legend.' It's amazing. They've seen it all, Bela Lugosi, Christopher Lee, all of it, and still say, 'I like your show.'"

Jean, whose home is in a restored old mill in the country 3 miles outside Montreal, has worked on stage in Canada, done four TV series there and appeared in three films to date.

He landed the "Dracula" touring role when the show's producers here saw him last year in a PBS repeat of "Sarah," in which he played the husband of the forever-retiring actress, Sarah Bernhardt.

'Knight' to film

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ridley Scott, who directed "The Alien," will direct "The Knight," a tale of mysticism and heroism set in the Dark Ages.

"The Knight" will be produced from an original screenplay by Derek Marlowe. It will be filmed in England, Ireland and France early next year for the EMI-SoloFilm Co.

Singer Annie Ross returns to New York with solo act

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — Annie Ross is singing here this week. So? So she once sang with one of the best-known vocal groups in modern jazz — Lambert, Hendricks & Ross. Now, she's working solo.

But her act only has a few of the tunes she used to do with the group, famed for singing lyrics they put to material based on recordings of top jazz soloists and bands.

"I always feel that then is then, now is now and you can only do memory lane for so long," says the lady, born in London, raised in Los Angeles and working here for the first time in 17 years.

A tall, attractive woman of 48 with red hair and brown eyes, she teamed up with Jon Hendricks and Dave Lambert — the latter was killed in an auto mishap a few years ago — almost by accident.

Back in 1957, she says, the two singers-musicians were recording an album of songs based on recordings of Count Basie's big jazz band. They were doing it with a group of studio singers at first.

The two men, friends of hers, hadn't asked her to sing on the date. But they asked her to come over, just in case, because the studio singers didn't seem able to swing in the Basie tradition.

Brazil 'Roots' attracts few

By BRUCE HANDLER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — The first local "Roots"-like dramatization has come to Brazil, a country where 40 million people in a population of 115 million are black. But unlike "Roots" in the United States, which awakened tremendous interest among American blacks and whites, Brazil's foray into its African past seems on its way to becoming a box-office bust.

People connected with the Brazilian production, a movie called "A Deusa Negra" — "Black Goddess" in Portuguese, the national language — contend, disappointedly, that few people have gone to see the film because blacks in the South American nation are still isolated from the mainstream of Brazilian society.

"I've come to the sad conclusion that Brazilian blacks don't have any history," said Zozimo Bulbul, the black Brazilian actor who plays the lead in the picture. "The system" (in contemporary Brazil) has annulled our background.

"Black Goddess" tells the story of Babatunde, a young Nigerian whose dying grandfather asks him to go to Brazil to search for his family's relatives.

African slaves were brought to Brazil for nearly 300 years, and some returned to Africa after Brazil's emancipation proclamation in 1888.

The movie made its debut last year at some cinema festivals in Africa and was well-received by critics. But in Brazil, it took a government-linked film distribution company called Embrafilme over a year to get local theater owners interested in showing the production. In Rio, only two movie houses were willing to take the financial risk of putting on "Black Goddess," and only very small audiences have ventured out to see the film.

"Black Goddess" was produced by Jecé Valadao, a white Brazilian, and written and directed by Ola Balogun, a black Nigerian. The picture, which is in Portuguese, was shot almost entirely in Brazil, and the cast is Brazilian — mostly black.

On a parallel with "Roots," "Black Goddess" traces the links of Africans of past generations to present-day Brazilians. It is the first time Brazilian filmmakers have collaborated with Africans on a feature-length project.

And "Black Goddess" is one of the rare Brazilian films to deal with race and Afro-Brazilian heritage, subjects which generally are ignored or conveniently forgotten on the local cultural scene.

Nevertheless, producer Valadao declared, somewhat boldly, perhaps, "Brazilian culture does come from over there, in Africa. I'm proud to have made this film."

This show's a real dog

By PETER J. BOYER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — My four dogs spend a lot of time watching television, and, generally, they seem to enjoy it. I think they prefer sniffing or scratching or riding in the car, but TV passes time, too.

Like people, they tend to watch less TV in the summer. This is good, because they'll probably miss NBC's "A Dog's Life," airing tonight on NBC.

My dogs would hate this. I will remember to thank NBC, on their behalf, for not including this sitcom on the fall schedule.

Don't get me wrong. I think it is a cute idea — a sitcom about the canine view of the world. I figured it could work. Then I saw it.

I knew the stars of this show would be people in dog suits, but that's all they are — people in dog suits. That's not funny, it's embarrassing. They tell people kind of jokes, unfunny ones at that.

Example: McGurk (Barney Martin), the star person-dog, is reminiscing with a female person-dog about their first romantic encounter. "Your lips told me 'no-no,'" he says, "but there was 'yes-yes' in your tail."

You could have gotten that joke on "The Ropers." Except for the dog suits, it's a formula sitcom with familiar subjects — sex being primary among them.

People in dog suits, nothing more.

Anyone with a few canine pals knows that the best thing about dogs is that they're not people. Generally speaking, dogs don't cheat or lie or scheme (except for a few nefarious dachshunds I've known).

They don't tell rotten jokes.

Dogs, unlike people, are naturally entertaining. Ever see a pup find a wad of chewing gum? Great stuff.

Appeal denied in pot case

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday denied an appeal of a Hudspeth County court conviction of two men assessed two years in prison for possession of 237 pounds of marijuana.

Donald Hayden and Fred Hayes appealed their conviction because "the marijuana used against them at the trial was seized as a result of an illegal search."

The men were arrested in January 1976 by U.S. Border Patrol officers after a search of their car parked at a roadside park. The court ruled the officers acted properly when they approached the locked vehicle, awakened the lone occupant and had him open the door.

"Once the door was opened and the marijuana smelled, probable cause existed to search the car," the court said.

Golfer charged in goose death

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Washington, D.C., physician accused of clubbing a Canada goose to death with his golf putter May 3 is seeking a jury trial on charges of violating the federal Migratory Bird Act.

Dr. Sherman A. Thomas, 63, made the request in U.S. District Court Wednesday and was released without bail pending arraignment before a federal judge.

The U.S. attorney's office here charged Thomas with killing the goose out of season and of unlawfully possessing the bird after it received complaints from witnesses to the goose's demise on the 17th green of the Congressional Country Club in Bethesda, Md. The witnesses gave conflicting versions of what happened.

Some said Thomas, enraged when the goose gave an untimely honk and caused him to miss his putt, attacked the bird with his putter. Others said Thomas' approach shot to the green accidentally struck the goose and the doctor used the golf club to put the injured bird out of its misery.

Thomas and his lawyer have made no public comment on the incident.

Under federal law, only shotguns firing steel pellets may be used to kill migratory water fowl. The goose-hunting season in Maryland ended Jan. 26.

Representative's protest more effective than boycott

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A three-month boycott of the Capitol over office conditions got Rep. Milton Street nowhere. After engineering a noisy, violent fuss this week, he has a new office.

Street was given an office Wednesday in the Capitol complex's finance building. Unlike his old cramped office in the main Capitol building, it has storage space and windows.

The office was provided by House leader after Street and his aides pitched a tent on the Capitol grounds on Monday and got into a brawl with Capitol police on Tuesday.

The fight erupted as Street attempted to move office furniture into the tent.

But the stormy freshman Democrat from Philadelphia said he will still refuse to attend House floor sessions. Asked by reporters what he wants now, he said: "Adequate administrative assistants so I can go on the floor as an intelligent legislator."

He said he wants a staff of three, instead of the secretary he now shares with another lawmaker.

The 38-year-old Street was also asked if the new office represented special treatment not enjoyed by more peaceful legislators still operating from cramped offices. "If this is the way you get special treatment, they're welcome to try it," Street responded.
