Carter to propose world oil plan at economic summit conference

TOKYO (AP) — President Carter ended preliminary talks with Japanese leaders today on the seven-nation economic summit at which he will propose a plan to bring world oil supplies and demand into balance by next year.

Word of the energy proposal was relayed to reporters by Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, who said the objective would be to fix country-by-country targets for restraining oil imports.

Blumenthal said the import savings within the industrialized western nations and Japan would total two million barrels a day — approximately the amount by which supplies currently fall short of demand.

The treasury chief said the Carter blueprint, which would need the approval of the six other summit participants, would contain an enforcement mechanism yet to be put in final form.

Blumenthal said U.S. officials have received positive responses from Saudi Arabia and Kuwait about Carter's proposal.

Meanwhile, Carter said he expects the summit to produce a specific plan for easing the plight of Indochinese refugees.

Elaborating, Carter told a group of reporters: "What we want to do, obviously, is to get the entire world to participate in the acceptance of the refugees, and also to get the world to induce the Vietnamese to change their policy to cut down on the large numbers who have to leave Vietnam."

Asked if he thought a specific proposal would emerge from the summit meeting that begins Thursday, Carter gave a one-word answer: "yes."

American officials, who asked not to be named, said Carter and Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira devoted parts of two days of formal talks to the refugee question and pointed to a separate meeting on the subject between Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Japanese Foreign Minister Sunao Sonoda.

These officials said some 10,000 refugees are leaving Indochina each month, and that 7,000 of them are finding permanent homes in the United States, which so far has accepted 205,000.

Although energy questions did not figure in Carter's talks with Ohira today, American sources said the two leaders agreed to sponsor a joint meeting of experts on nuclear power safety — a related topic — in the weeks ahead.

Cancer center snags apparently removed

By SUSAN TOTH
Staff Writer

In a "90-degree change in attitude," Midland County Hospital District officials announced today they will appoint a regional advisory committee to help plan and operate the proposed Allison Permian Basin Cancer Therapy Center and purchase more advanced equipment with a $500,000 donation.

The changes are expected to remove any objections holding up approval of the facility.

A review of equipment needs for the cancer treatment center will be conducted by a national expert in the field, officials announced at a press conference this morning.

The extra equipment expected to be recommended will be funded with a $500,000 donation from Helon Y. Allison, who gave the original $1.5 million for the center in April.

The new gift is contingent on receipt of a certificate of need from the Texas Health Facilities Commission in Austin.

That certificate must be granted before construction on the facility can begin.

The certificate had been opposed by officials of Odessa's Medical Center Hospital, who contended the center as originally planned was a duplication of facilities already available in Odessa.

Midland officials acknowledged this morning that essentially was true.

But they said that hurdle should be overcome with a regional advisory committee to consist of two members each from Midland, Ector and Howard counties, plus at least four others from the other 14 counties in the Permian Basin region.

The advisory committee will help amend the application for the certificate to make the facility "truly a regional center," according to Ed Magruder, president of the Midland hospital district.

Magruder said he hoped the regional ad hoc committee would "reassure physicians throughout the area that they could and should refer their patients to this center for quality treatment under the watchful eye of this board."

In a survey by a local planning agency on the facility as originally proposed, almost 79 percent of the doctors in Odessa had indicated they would not refer patients to the Midland facility.

The regional concept was worked out in a meeting of hospital officials and physicians from Midland, Odessa and Big Spring last Wednesday.

Included in the meeting was Mickey Cappadonna, a member of the Midland Memorial board of trustees who will chair the regional advisory committee.

Also at the meeting were MMH Trustee Martin Allday; Midland radiologists Dr. William Trotter and Dr. James McGee; Odessa radiologists Dr. William Melton and Dr. Robert Louis, two outspoken critics of the Midland cancer treatment center; MMH administrator Wayne Ulrich; Odessa's Medical Center Hospital administrator Sam Glenney, and Gordon Knox, administrator of Malone Hogan Hospital in Big Spring.

The meeting was called last week after Midland hospital representatives returned from a meeting at M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston, where they learned the expected affiliation with that facility would not be granted for at least two years after the Midland center opened.

At the Houston meeting with Dr. Charles LeMaistre, chancellor of the UT medical system, Midland officials were told to "go home and clean up our act and make this a truly regional facility," Magruder said.

"And we decided to do just what they told us," Cappadonna added.

"This should be a regional facility and not in the realm of petty politics," Cappadonna said.

An equipment review by H.O. McKenzie, a nationally known specialist in the field, also was recommended by the Houston group, they noted.

While the proposed cancer treatment facility will be owned by the Midland County Hospital District and operated by the Midland Memorial Hospital board of trustees, the advisory committee will recommend bylaws, policies and procedures for admittance to staff privileges at the center. The board also will help with staff recruitment and development.

The center's staff will be separate from the MMH staff, although physicians may be granted privileges on both medical staffs, Magruder said.

The 18,000 square foot facility will provide a full range of radiation cancer therapy and will have chemotherapy capabilities.

It will be located on the southeast corner of the MMH property and will connect with the hospital through a series of tunnels.

County commissioners rapped on redistricting

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Staff Writer

Midland County Commissioners were accused Monday of "dragging their feet" by delaying a voter redistricting plan for Midland County.

William Shaner, Midland County Republican chairman, presented a resolution to the commissioners after they failed to vote on Commissioner Win Brown's proposed redistricting plan Monday. Action on a redistricting plan was set aside until a July meeting.

Commissioners have to take action on a redistricting plan in July or August, according to County Attorney Leslie Acker.

To date, Commissioners Brown and Durwood Wright have submitted their plans for redistricting their precincts. Commissioners Charlie Welch and Jack Leonard have yet to submit their proposals.

The Republicans' resolution urged a redistricting plan be submitted immediately to the U.S. Attorney General for a decision.

The resolution further stated that the plan address itself to the "current inequalities of disproportionate precinct populations... and minimization of proportionate voice through division of the minority vote."

In an interview, Shaner said, "The resolution stands by itself. There is no reason that the county commissioners can't propose a plan before July or August."

As to why the commissioners are not implementing a plan, Shaner said, "It would be presumptuous for me to say why they are not acting on a redistricting plan. They are elected officials and they should be doing their job."

Shaner indicated the plan has to be approved by the federal government before the county can implement it, and he is concerned the commissioners might wait too long.

Midland County Judge William Ahders said in an interview today that he wants a fair and impartial redistricting plan which will benefit all.

Added Ahders: "I am hoping something will happen."

Ahders said he thinks Monday's resolution may be an indication of the Republicans' intent to file a lawsuit to get a redistricting plan.

In other action during the session, a report from a study on county employees' salaries was submitted to the commissioners.

Ted Kerr, spokesman for the salary evaluation committee, recommended the employment of a full time personnel director, a 6.29 percent upward adjustment for individual salaries of county employees and an adjustment of elected county officials' salaries to 1971 levels of buying power.

The salary committee's recommendations were presented in two reports. In the first, the committee noted a need for the adoption of a formal, uniform compensation plan to help retain qualified county employees.

The report pointed out the high turnover rate for Midland County employees is costly in recruitment, training expense and loss of productivity by training new employees.

For example, of 34 clerical positions, 27 are filled by employees with less than three years experience, the report claimed.

The second report recommended compensation of elected county officials "be brought to 1971 levels adjusted for the cost of living expenses that have taken place since that time."

According to the report, there were no salary increases for elected officials between 1960 and 1970. Since 1971, there has been a 52.5 percent salary increase for county officials.

But the inflation of the 1970s reduced the purchasing power of these raises, the report contended.

As of Jan. 1, 1979, the county commissioners receive a salary of $14,460. The report recommended that figure be raised to $17,000 a year.

Final responsibility for determining salary increases for elected officials should be left to the commissioner's court, the report suggested.

Kerr was appointed head of the salary evaluation committee in late April after he had appeared before commissioners saying he believed county salaries were too low.

"We don't pay enough in my opinion," Kerr had told commissioners in April.

He had also recommended at that time that a committee be appointed to study salaries paid by the county and to make recommendations to commissioners.

Rationing shortens gas lines

Five more counties added to odd-even plan

By The Associated Press

Texas with even numbered license plates had their chance to fill up today under a three-county gasoline sales restriction plan, with five more counties scheduled to join the plan at midnight Wednesday.

Gov. Bill Clements' energy adviser said Monday Brazoria, Collin, Liberty, Ellis and Montgomery counties will join the odd-even gasoline rationing plan, the first in the state since World War II.

Ed Vetter, head of the Governor's Office of Energy Resources, said he expects Texas to have 20 million more gallons of gasoline in July than in June. The increase, based on refinery reports to the federal government, "gives me some basis for very, very cautious optimism," Vetter said.

Gasoline lines in Dallas, Tarrant and Harris counties were shorter Monday, he said. Those metropolitan areas were the first to be placed under the odd-even restriction.

"We have been in contact with some of the retail sales organizations as well as major suppliers who have company-owned stations in Texas regarding the first day of sales restrictions in Dallas, Tarrant and Harris counties. It is their consensus that lines have been shortened materially and that there are no enforcement problems at this point," Vetter said.

He said Exxon polled 25 to 30 of its stations in each of the three counties and found their lines were 25 to 40 percent shorter.

"I want to emphasize that one swallow does not make the summer. It may take two weeks before this system settles down," Vetter said.

He also said that by the end of the week, service stations will have flags to indicate their supply situation — green for all products available, yellow for emergency use only and red for nothing available.

Vetter said violation of the governor's order — which established the odd-even sales system and placed upper and lower limits on gas purchases — is a federal offense.

"Citizens who believe there is a willful violation may call toll free (800-424-9246) and report to the Department of Energy representative as specifically as possible the nature of the complaint," he said.

Meanwhile, Texas drivers and businesses tried to find ways around the gas shortage. But while a few drivers tried to skirt the rationing plan Monday, service station workers said customers were policing themselves.

A Dallas discotheque is fighting the gasoline shortage by providing rides to and from the club in radio dispatched vans. DaVinci International is offering the transportation nightly to North Dallas residents.

Some station operators gave the few violators the benefit of the doubt.

"We've been informed not to get our heads blown off," said Roger Chapman, an attendant at an Exxon station on Houston's Eastex Freeway.

Two drivers with even-numbered plates came to the station, he said. "I checked their gauges, and they were empty, all right," Chapman said he filled their tanks.

The rule requiring a $6 minimum purchase seemed to cause more problems than the odd-even rule, an informal survey of stations showed.

Some stations charged $6 even if the actual cost of the gas was less. Others charged the amount of purchase, but warned customers about the new rule.

Nick Catsinas' Exxon in Houston limits individual purchases to 10 gallons. (See MORE GAS, Page 2A)

OPEC compromise expected

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries probably will decide on an oil price of $20 a barrel in a compromise between moderate and extreme members, conference sources said Tuesday.

OPEC is expected to announce its decision Wednesday, ending two days of meetings here. The price of OPEC crude oil now stands at $14.55 a barrel, although surcharges imposed by most of the cartel's members bring the average price to about $17.

An increase to $20 a barrel would raise gasoline and heating oil prices in the United States by about 5 cents a gallon.

In Tokyo, meanwhile, President Carter was reported ready to ask major industrial countries to set individual targets for limiting oil imports through 1980. The plan would aim at reducing global imports by about 2 million barrels a day, the amount by which demand now exceeds supply, U.S. Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal said.

Observers here said the one conceivable block to a $20 price is Saudi Arabia, OPEC's largest and most moderate member, which has said repeatedly it would not accept a price over $18.

In the meeting, the Saudis were seeking a price between $17 and $18, sources said.

The attitude of the Saudis, some analysts said, might force OPEC to set a two-tiered price, with Saudi Arabia charging a price for its oil below the prices charged by the rest of OPEC.

But a source within one of the cartel's key delegations said he expected the Saudis to accept the $20 price.

The source said he felt Iran and Libya, which have been asking for prices of $23 and $27 a barrel respectively, would also settle for the $20 price.

Among the nations which have said they favor $20 are Gabon, Algeria, Iraq, Venezuela and the United Arab Emirates.

The issue of continuation of surcharges is still up in the air, however, according to the sources.

Over the past several months, as cuts in the supply of oil from Iran caused world oil markets to tighten, OPEC's members found buyers for their oil at almost any price and began adding surcharges to the base price to take advantage of the situation. These surcharges, some as low as 60 cents a barrel, leaptfrogged over several months and now are as high as $5 a barrel.

Texas area forecasts

West Texas: Sunny through Wednesday except partly cloudy with widely scattered showers and thunderstorms south and extreme south on Wednesday afternoon. Partly cloudy to clear tonight with widely scattered thunderstorms mainly north. A little warmer north Wednesday. Highs upper 80s north and mountains to near 100 Big Bend lowlands. Lows 55 to 72. Highs Wednesday low 90s north to near 100 Big Bend lowlands except upper 80s mountains.

North Texas: Partly cloudy northwest half considerable cloudiness with scattered showers and thunderstorms southeast tonight. Clear to partly cloudy and continued warm over the area Wednesday. Highs 87 to 94. Lows 60 to 72.

South Texas: Partly cloudy through Wednesday with widely scattered showers and nighttime showers and thunderstorms. No important change in temperatures. Highs 80s along the coast to near 100 extreme south Texas near the Rio Grande, mostly 80s elsewhere. Lows near 70 Hill Country and parts of Southeast Texas to near 80 along the immediate coast.

Port Arthur to Port O'Connor: South winds near 10 knots becoming 5 to 15 knots tonight and 10 to 15 knots Wednesday. Seas 1 to 3 feet. Winds and waves higher in and near scattered showers and thunderstorms through Wednesday.

Extended forecasts

Thursday through Saturday

West Texas: Partly cloudy Thursday through Saturday. Scattered showers and thunderstorms central and east portions toward weekend. Warmer southwest portion by Saturday. Highs 90 to 105 except near 112 Big Bend valleys. Lows 60 to 78.

North Texas: Partly cloudy and very warm Thursday through Saturday with a chance of thunderstorms Friday and Saturday. Lowest daily temperatures will be in the 70s and highs in the 90s.

Clear, sunny skies expected for Basin area Wednesday

Sunny skies are expected to return to the Midland area Wednesday and should burn off rain clouds hovering over the city during the past two days.

On the other hand, a weatherman at the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport this morning foresaw some chance of rain today — with that probability becoming nil by tonight.

Winds tonight are to be southeasterly at 5 to 15 mph.

Spotted, light sprinkles teased parts of the Midland area Monday and seemed to play a game of hopscotch, rarely hitting in the squares.

The weather service gauged .19 inch of rain for the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today. That precipitation brings the month's total to 2.98 inches, double the average June rainfall of 1.49 inches.

The rainfall measurement so far this year stands at 6.98 inches, almost three-fourths of an inch above the mid-year normal of 6.24 inches.

The normal annual rainfall here is 13.51 inches.

A "few drops" of rain were noted at Elbow, southwest of Big Spring, but none was reported in Big Spring proper despite heavy clouds hanging over that area.

A "little shower" fell in usually dry Rankin. Stanton was "real cloudy" but dry this morning.

Sunset will fall at 8:58 p.m. today, and Wednesday's sunrise will arrive at 6:45 a.m.

Monday's high temperature reading of 93 degrees was 12 degrees shy of tying the record high of 105 degrees, set in 1953, for a June 25.

This morning's low of 67 degrees was eight degrees above a record low of 59 degrees, set in 1958, for a June 26.

More gas expected next month lions. All even-numbered cars were turned away, a spokesman said.

Lines still were fairly long at Catalinas' station and Everitt's Texaco in Houston, but they were moving faster than last week.

Everitt said he "chased off" three customers with even-numbered plates. He said, however, the cars were from Mexico and the drivers couldn't speak English. The new rules do not apply to cars with foreign or out-of-state license plates.

There were no lines — or customers — at one Fort Worth station Monday. P.D.Q. gas station attendant Clovis Proctor admitted his $1.22 per gallon pump price might have caused the slowdown. But, he said, if motorists don't want to wait in line for gas, they'll pay the price.

One Garland attendant gave in to a pregnant woman in a car with even-numbered plates.

"She was pregnant, all right," Dave Smith said. "But the way she ran out of there, I'm not so sure she was in labor."

A Fort Worth customer got gas for a car with even-numbered plates by hauling a trailer with odd-numbered tags.

Two Southwest Dallas dealers said the plan is too complicated.

"By the time this is all over in September, we'll all be in the nut-house," said the manager of a Gulf station who did not want her name used.

Across the street at a more expensive Texaco station, manager James Hooper said he isn't about to enforce the plan.

"It's too much to contend with," he said. "You've got your minimums, your maximums, your license numbers and you're supposed to be running a gas station."

But Bud Adams of Bud Adams' Exxon in Dallas disagreed.

"The odd-even system has made a whole of a difference," he said. "We're not even having to direct traffic."

"Business is good," said Akram Alswaleem, owner of Akram's Texaco in East Fort Worth. There were 120 cars in line when he opened Saturday, he said. Monday afternoon, there were 18 waiting to fill up.

"It's easier for us and easier for our customers this way," he said.

Wage-price authority debated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty Democrats in the House of Representatives are beginning a drive to give President Carter authority to slap mandatory wage and price controls on the nation's economy. Carter has said he does not want such authority.

The group, led by Rep. Ted Weiss, D-N.Y., said they would try to persuade the House Democratic Caucus to endorse their proposal at a meeting today.

"Our constituency is begging for some kind of controls" to cool double-digit inflation, Weiss said Monday as he announced his proposal. "For the better part of a year now the people have been saying they favor some kind of controls."

But sources who asked not to be identified said in advance they doubted the caucus, comprised of all 276 House Democrats, would be inclined to support such legislation.

"I'd say right now the caucus will be leaning against it," said one official, who noted that the president often has said he would oppose a move to give him authority to impose mandatory controls on the economy.

Weiss said Monday it was possible not enough Democratic members would attend the caucus to make a quorum. If so, no action would be possible on his proposal.

Mandatory wage-price controls were last imposed in 1971 by President Richard M. Nixon, but the president's authority to order restraints on the economy has since expired.

Weiss conceded before the meeting that he faced an uphill struggle to win caucus backing for his proposal. But, he said, "What we really want to do is start generating a serious discussion among members of the Democratic Party of the House."

What little public discussion there has been so far on the subject this year in Congress has been overwhelmingly negative.

On the other side of the question, however, is the AFL-CIO, traditionally a strong backer of Democrats in Congress. The giant labor federation issued a call several months ago for mandatory controls on wages, prices and profits.

In addition to firm opposition from Carter and his spokesmen, Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., chairman of the House Banking Committee, has said his panel will refuse even to consider giving the president authority for mandatory economic controls.

But in a brief interview, Weiss said he expects the president to alter his position on the subject.

"Whether he does it this week or next week, with inflation at 13.9 percent (annually) or thereabouts, I can't see him waiting much longer."

If Carter does request standby authority for controls, Weiss predicted, Congress would give it to him "hands down."

Working up approximately 15,000 Midland College fall class and adult education schedules to be mailed to prospective students is the task of the college's student services. From left, Bonnie Craddick, office worker; Katherine Seale, secretary of student activities, and Flo Skinner, student services secretary, are busy this morning labeling and sorting material for mailings later this week. Texas truckers plan Austin trip

By The Associated Press

Texas truckers will take their fuel protest to Austin Wednesday, hopeful of a meeting with Gov. Bill Clements to discuss their plight.

Ron Terzich, president of the Texas chapter of the Independent Truckers Association of America, said convoys from San Antonio, El Paso, Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock and East Texas will head for the meeting with Clements, tentatively scheduled for 11 a.m.

"Gov. Clements is supposed to speak to us on the steps of the Capitol," Terzich said.

Terzich said he doesn't know how many truckers will go to Austin yet. "Of course, I'd like to have 30,000 rigs," he said.

Representatives of the ITA also planned to meet with the Texas Railroad Commission today.

About 25 protesting ITA truckers blocked the pumps at a Weatherford truck stop Monday, then continued their trek east to Rockwall, where they stayed at a truck stop for about an hour.

"We had 32 trucks by the time we got to Rockwall," Terzich said. "We stayed in one lane, and the line got to be two miles long with all the cars that joined us."

Skylab's 'due date' changed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Skylab now is expected to fall to Earth between July 11 and July 21, with a 50 percent probability it will come down by July 16, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration reports.

The agency began issuing daily forecasts on the big space station Monday and said its predictions are likely to change slightly as Skylab dips deeper into the thickening atmosphere. There was a revision before the day was out. Earlier Monday, the agency had said there was a 95 percent probability the end for the 77.5-ton spacecraft would come between July 10 and July 20.

Situation still tense

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Riot-equipped police maintained a tense peace in this blue-collar Philadelphia suburb after some of the nation's worst violence stemming from the gas-line crisis.

But people living near the intersection where 2,000 to 3,000 persons protesting fuel shortages and high prices rioted during the weekend criticized police conduct during the disturbance.

To prevent further unrest Monday night, the Bristol Township Board of Commissioners declared a state of emergency. Youths occasionally taunted police from passing cars, but there were no violent confrontations like the weekend riots that ended with 190 persons arrested and several hundred injured.

PUBLIC AUCTION

RYE, COLORADO

25 40-ACRE PARCELS

MOUNTAIN SHADOWS ESTATES

SUNDAY, JULY 22, 1979

EACH PARCEL WILL BE SOLD INDIVIDUALLY

Come on down! Come on up! Come on over! From wherever you are, if you're looking for some acreage to establish a small ranch or just want some space to live in relative seclusion, look into this unique offering.

The location is terrific.

Mountain Shadows Estates is nestled in the foothills of the majestic Rockies, in the beautiful Greenhorn Valley, just east of San Isabel National Forest near the town of Rye, just 26 miles south of Pueblo, a city rich in early Western lore.

The terrain here is gently-rolling grassland, dotted with aspen and willow trees, and a few meandering streams. The property affords some spectacular views of the Spanish Peaks, Pike's Peak and the Greenhorn Mountains.

Near year 'round recreation.

Southern Colorado is literally a sportsman's paradise. And Mountain Shadows Estates is easily accessible to it all. Hunting and fishing. Camping. And all sorts of winter and summer sports.

The minimum bids are remarkably low.

As low as $600 per acre, in fact. Many are in the $700 to $800 per-acre range. And no parcel has a per-acre minimum bid more than $850!

To really appreciate the value represented by these minimum bids, however, you must see this beautiful land.

Special 10-year financing to 80% of purchase price at 9-3/4 APR has been arranged for this auction.

Call now, 303-676-3161 or toll-free, 800-421-1423, to receive your Auction Information Package.

You must be registered prior to—and present at—the auction to bid on these parcels.

The Mountain Shadows Estates Auction Information Package contains all the information you'll need to become a bidder. It costs $1 for postage and handling.

And it contains:

- A registration form
- The Terms and Conditions of Sale
- A site map
- A vicinity map
- The auction sequence with minimum bids
- A fact sheet of the area
- Auction site information, and
- A brief explanation of how an auction works

Mountain Shadows Estates is a complete, recorded subdivision offering just 25 parcels. *Sixteen parcels measure in round figures from 40.0 to 40.9 gross acres. Eight measure from 41.0 to 48.0 acres. One parcel measures 60.6 acres.

Two of the "40-acre" parcels are fully improved. One has an older, renovated ranch house on it; the other has a new ranch house, barn and corrals.

THE REAL 'IMMORALITY' OF VIETNAM

CHARLEY REESE

Liberals should analyze nation's Nicaragua policy

By CHARLEY REESE
Sun Belt Syndicate

ORLANDO, Fla. — This is an invitation to those intellectually honest people who consider themselves to be liberals to analyze the present United States policy toward Nicaragua.

As you know, the government of Anastasio Somoza is fighting for its life against a guerrilla army which calls itself the Sandinistas. The United States has cut off aid to Nicaragua and called for the resignation of Somoza.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance recently explained the reasoning. Unless Somoza resigns, the Sandinistas will take over the country. The arguments used when aid was cut off some months ago was that Somoza was corrupt and oppressive.

I'm trying to be precisely factual and not make any statements which any liberal can dispute. For the sake of this analysis, I will assume that Somoza is exactly as corrupt and as oppressive as his worst enemy claims.

Now, do you think Somoza is any more corrupt than Emperor Bokassa or Richard Nixon or Anwar Sadat or Omar Torrijos or the leaders of dozens of other nations? You know, despite the fact that Emperor Bokassa is a madman, we still send him aid.

Secondly, do you think that Somoza is in the same league as a violator of human rights as the leaders of the Soviet Union, Red China, Syria, Iran, Nigeria (remember the 1 million dead Ibos); Yugoslavia, Poland, Hungary, East Germany, Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos? We have not called for their resignations.

Charley Reese

I think you will have to admit that in terms of either corruption or oppression, Somoza is in the minor leagues. If that is so, why is Somoza being treated differently than other corrupt, oppressive leaders who are currently receiving American aid and friendship?

Let's examine the argument that Somoza must resign to prevent the Sandinistas from taking over. That seems to be based on some odd assumptions: (1) the Sandinistas are interested only in ousting Somoza and not in seizing power themselves; or (2) a neo-Somoza anti-communist leader would be able to defeat the Sandinistas whereas Somoza cannot.

I don't think anyone seriously believes that the Sandinistas would turn in their guns and call for free elections if Somoza resigns. Can you think of any other communist guerrilla army which has ever done that? I can't.

If our policy is based on the second assumption, it logically follows that what we say we want is to prevent the Sandinistas from ruling Nicaragua. If that is so, there is no reason to suppose there is any Nicaraguan leader more capable of defeating them than Somoza who, despite obvious hardships caused by our policy, has retained the loyalty of the only non-Sandinista military force in Nicaragua, the National Guard.

Furthermore, after 20 years of U.S. support, do you think the United States can win the friendship of his opponents simply by switching sides at the last moment? We were not able to do that in Laos, Cuba, China, or Iran.

In 1958, on the advice of certain people in the State Department, we cut off aid to Fulgencio Batista in Cuba. The same arguments were used. You know how that turned out.

In the 1940s, we cut off all aid to Chiang Kai-shek. The same arguments were used. You know how that turned out.

In the 1960s, we cut off all aid to the anti-communist leader of Laos. The same arguments were used. You know how that turned out.

In World War II, we withdrew all support from Drazia Mihailovich, the anti-communist partisan leader in Yugoslavia, and shifted it to Tito. You know how that turned out.

Do you see these as coincidences, accidents or a pattern.

The only thing which makes Somoza any different from a number of corrupt, oppressive dictators who receive American support is that he is anti-communist.

If you have a more logical explanation for the State Department's hostility toward him, I'd like to hear it.

Mark Russell says

One hundred and two years after stealing land from the Sioux Nation the U.S. government must pay the tribe $100 million. This should give Japanese-Americans an idea about how long they'll have to wait.

The actual award was $17 million and the rest was interest. The Treasury Department feels good about the whole thing — not because they are helping the Indians but because they get a nice writeoff.

The $17 million is the market value of the Black Hills region of South Dakota where the Sioux live. The government may appeal. Probably by attempting to prove that in 1877 the Indians were living in the South Bronx.

We had a treaty with the Sioux and reading between the lines it said — "You get the sagebrush and the weeds and we get the subdivisions and shopping malls."

Spectacular gains!

What nation leads the world in per capita production of manufactured goods?

Of the major industrial countries, which boasts the fastest growing gross national product?

What nation possesses the most advanced technologically advanced industrial base?

The correct answer to each of these questions is not the United States, but Japan.

Now, better let that soak in for a few seconds before registering further surprise.

Yes, Japan's per capita production of manufactured goods exceeds that of the United States by 50 percent. Its rate of investment and GNP growth is more than double that of the United States.

This really is a rather startling bit of information.

And Japan's workers, contrary to the cheap-labor stereotypes of a decade or so ago, now have more disposable income than most Americans.

Although the aggregate wealth of the Japanese economy remains a distant second to that of the United States, the comparative growth curves leave little doubt that the gap will continue to narrow.

That the Japanese have registered such spectacular gains in just over three decades since their crushing defeat in World War II is truly remarkable. That they have done so on an overcrowded island barely the size of Montana with almost no natural resources should command the admiration of the world.

It should also, as noted by Harvard Prof. Ezra Vogel in an article in Saturday Review, stir Americans to a closer examination of what might be learned from Japan's success.

These lessons particularly are appropriate at a time when the United States faces a growing requirement for energy and raw material imports and an accompanying need to sell more American products abroad. After all, Japan's economy is built around an ever greater dependence on imported energy and foreign trade.

Japan's $20.6 billion trade surplus last year and the United States' $29 billion trade deficit for the same period suggests just how well each country has met its respective economic challenge.

Chief among the applicable lessons cited by Prof. Vogel is the need to stress cooperative rather than adversarial relations between government and the private-sector economy.

The Japanese government's willingness to use the tools of national economic policy to stimulate exports and help keep key industries competitive on world markets hardly is mirrored in Washington.

By way of contrast, whether on taxes, anti-trust policy, or regulation, government and corporations on this side of the Pacific are more often at odds than cooperating in the interests of coordinated economic strategy.

Few in Washington have paid sufficient attention to the critical shortage of capital available for investment and the modernization of this country's aging industrial plant.

Research and development lag partly because of apathy in Washington, partly because of shortsightedness in corporate board rooms, and mostly because the nation has yet to grasp the extent to which foreigners have stolen march on our traditional technological lead.

Japan's enviable record of labor-management peace contributes significantly to the competitive advantage Japanese products enjoy in world markets. American labor and management could learn much from this example, but few seem interested.

The Japanese always have been renowned for their willingness to copy the West and improve on what they borrow. They now are in a position to return the favor and Americans would be foolish indeed to ignore the lessons of Japan's dazzling successes.

Hopefully, President Carter, on his present energy-discussion mission to Japan, will be able to pick up and bring home some of the ideas responsible for Japan's accomplishments in recent years.

The Country Parson

A boring speaker is one who hasn't noticed that you've stopped listening.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The oil lords of Islam, most of them only a generation removed from tribal feudalism, have reduced the United States and its industrial allies to petroleum penury. Yet the oil caliphs are not satisfied with the fabulous riches they have already looted from an oil-thirsty world: They have returned to Geneva this week to renew their price gouging.

Already this year, the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries has jacked up prices another 33 percent. Spot-sale prices have hit an extortionary $40 a barrel. If the price increases and supply uncertainties continue, the economic repercussions could imperil the major industrial nations.

The outlook is even more bleak for the developing countries, which are already $40 billion in hock to the oil sheikdoms. These impoverished countries have run out of credit; they simply cannot pay their rising oil bills. Everywhere, living standards are falling so that a few oil sheiks can live in luxury beyond the excesses of the Roman emperors.

Yet the oil ministers, now more arrogant than ever, are back in Geneva hell-bent on driving up prices higher and higher. Not even Saudi Arabia, the most conservative of the OPEC powers, will oppose a price hike. The Saudis will try merely to stabilize oil prices at a higher level and to stop them from zooming out of control.

The relentless oil gouge, meanwhile, has damaged our national prestige, endangered our security and revolutionized the economic world. From top-secret documents and exhaustive interviews, we have pieced together the sorry story.

It goes back to the 1973 Arab-Israeli war. Two weeks after the outbreak, the Arab rulers resolved to use the oil spigot as a weapon. They imposed an oil embargo against the United States on Oct. 17, 1973. This brought then-Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to Riyadh on Dec. 14, 1973, for an urgent meeting with Saudi Arabia's King Faisal.

The king, giving Kissinger the cold eye, said Jews were "putting themselves into positions of authority" all over the world. But Faisal vowed that, with his oil weapon, he would stop the Jews from running the world.

He indicated that he would lift the oil embargo, however, once the Israelis began to withdraw from the conquered Arab territory. The Saudis also took pains to separate the embargo from oil pricing.

But the Arab radicals, led by Libya's firebrand dictator Muammar Qaddafi, agitated for a price squeeze to pressure the United States into altering its pro-Israeli policy. Still, the Central Intelligence Agency reported that most Arab oil potentates "would be very reluctant to employ price hikes as a weapon."

The Saudis, according to a secret CIA summary, "have long insisted in producer councils that the determination of price is an economic function, and this view is shared by most OPEC members, who would probably avoid opening the price question to exploitation by the few radical producer states."

Indeed, the Saudis repeatedly urged the Nixon administration to support them in holding down oil prices. But Richard Nixon and Henry Kissinger refused to interfere with the shah of Iran who clamored for higher oil prices to finance his military expansion. He had dreams of restoring the Persian empire as a world power. His timetable called for Iran to surpass West Germany by the year 2000.

The Nixon administration's failure to restrain the shah was interpreted by the OPEC nations as tacit approval of higher oil prices. So the oil sheikdoms levied a series of arrogant increases which plunged the Western world into an economic tailspin.

The resulting panic taught the sheiks that their oil weapon gave them power over the industrialized nations. Not even the mighty United States scared them any longer. In past columns, we have detailed how the downfall of the shah and the alienation of the Saudis has stripped the United States of its clout with the oil cartel.

Summarizes the CIA in a secret report: "The Arab-Israeli war in October 1973, set off a series of events that have shifted the balance of power on energy issues from the oil consuming to the oil exporting states. The OPEC states — which went into the period as an untested, loosely joined conglomeration of countries — have emerged as a strong and cohesive cartel. OPEC is now much stronger and cohesive than it was when the oil embargo was imposed by the Arab countries."

So in Geneva this week, a strengthened OPEC, dominated by the more militant Arab powers, will tighten the economic screws on the United States.

SCUBA SCOOP: The happy-go-lucky sport of scuba diving may be the target of corporate sharks. Justice Department lawyers in three-piece suits are probing deep into the world of snorkels, flippers and wet suits.

The department's anti-trust division dived into action last year after getting complaints from scuba gear retailers that some suppliers were forcing them to sell only certain products, and at prescribed prices. If they refused, they told investigators, their supplies would be cut off.

The probe includes operations of such companies as AMF-VOIT, Under Sea Industries Inc. and U.S. Divers. The Justice Department hasn't yet decided whether to press charges.

INSIDE REPORT:

Question of one-term pledge put privately to Reagan

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERTNOVAK

Evans Novak

LANCASTER, Pa.—The small thundercloud that trails Ronald Reagan on his self-confident ascent to the Republican presidential nomination appeared here in the form of a modest suggestion from an ardent supporter: why not pledge to serve only one term?

That question was put privately to Reagan and his campaign advisers by Rep. Robert Walker, whose congressional fund-raiser Reagan had waived his normal handsome fee to address. Like other Reagan supporters, Walker has noted with concern the preoccupation among Republicans with the fact that their presidential front-runner will be 69 years old during next year's Detroit convention.

Walker, a highly intelligent young (36) conservative in his second term, is unequivocally committed to Reagan and negative about John B. Connally as a turncoat Democrat. Thus, he is a friend seeking to bury, not to raise, the age of Reagan. The congressman's theory is that the sooner Reagan pledges a one-term limit, the quicker will he eliminate speculation about a man entering his second presidential term in his mid-70s.

A one-term declaration has been talked about for well over a year but never seriously entertained by the Reagan camp. Reagan himself does not like the idea. Neither does his master strategist, John Sears, who feels it will only call attention to Reagan's age. Yet, one senior Reagan adviser does not rule out Walker's suggestion. "It is something we might consider at a later date," he told us.

That cryptic comment recognizes the one great obstacle between Reagan and the presidential nomination. To many Republicans Reagan is so far in front that nobody can catch him. But reactions to him during recent speaking engagements in Lancaster, Boston and Washington showed that the age issue is real.

Reagan's political strategists have insisted it is not serious, contending his long-range problem in the general election campaign will be public perception of him not as an old man but as a heartless right-winger. They argue that only newsmen ask Reagan about his age (his stock reply being that the public is concerned not about "chronology" but "whether a person is physically fit").

In truth, however, the reporters are saying out loud what the Republican faithful politely whisper. At those recent stops in the East, his age was the overriding topic of conversation among listeners who heavily favor him for president. What Reagan said was ignored; how he looked generated endless speculation.

That was the case in Lancaster, stolidly Republican and overwhelmingly Reaganite. Republicans who paid $50 to hear Reagan debated among themselves questions of cosmetics: Has he aged? Isn't he a bit pale? Or, a little wrinkled?

"Would you believe that guy is nearly 70 years old?" one businessman asked his wife when Reagan spoke at Randolph, Mass., on Boston's south shore. Most people would not. Nor has the smooth-as-silk technique of the greatest Republican orator of his day diminished. Reagan is guaranteed to be interrupted frequently by well-satisfied business and Republican audiences.

Nevertheless, one reason for the intense interest in his age is the meager intellectual content of his current speeches. Attacks on big government and adulation of American business closely resemble his standard lecture two decades ago as touring troubador for the General Electric Co. Some of his 3-by-5 index cards are truly antique—particularly one telling how 131 separate taxes make up more than half the cost of a slice of bread.

diminished high poll standings.

But subtle signs of erosion were evident at the recent National Federation of Independent Business convention in Washington. While hounding him for autographs, the businessmen agreed Reagan lacked the punch of two earlier speakers: Rep. Jack Kemp—and, more significantly, Connally.

One businessman attending the convention is an active Republican politician and met privately with Reagan. Impressed by Reagan's dignity and good manners, the businessman had one comment afterward totally unrelated to the issues: "He looked awfully pale, maybe he could use some suntan oil." Rep. Walker's modest suggestion for a one-term declaration is intended to remove Reagan's candidacy from the realm of cosmetology.

Russians reveal plans for three new bombers

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials have learned to their surprise that the Soviet Union is developing three new types of heavy bombers, government sources report.

A Soviet negotiator made the disclosure to American representatives at Geneva, Switzerland, during technical talks that preceded last week's signing of the SALT II agreement limiting strategic weapons, said the sources, who asked to remain anonymous.

Previously, U.S. intelligence officials have said the Soviets were working on a single new type of long-range bomber, which they expect to emerge as roughly comparable to the U.S. supersonic B-1. President Carter canceled the B-1 two years ago.

Pentagon officials say they are at a loss to explain why the Russians volunteered information on the bombers being developed, one of which, they said, could be a cruise missile carrier.

"It took our folks by surprise," said one U.S. government source. According to Carter administration sources, neither Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev, Defense Minister Dimitri Ustinov nor any other senior Soviet official mentioned the three new heavy bomber developments at the Vienna summit talks which ended with the signing of the SALT II agreement.

The Russians in Geneva apparently did not provide much specific information about the three new aircraft or their intended missions. None has yet been test-flown, so far as American officials know. They would be a generation more advanced than the current U.S. subsonic B-52 bomber.

The newest Soviet bomber in operation, the swing-winged Backfire, was a center of hard bargaining between U.S. and Soviet negotiators on SALT II.

The American military contended the Backfire could be used against the United States with refueling during flight or at intermediate bases.

SUB ATTACK

James Caan stars as the World War II leader of a group of American submarines out to attack the Nazi fleet in "Submarine X-1," to be rebroadcast on "The CBS Tuesday Night Movies," June 26.

British miniature submarines go after a fleet of Nazi warships during the height of World War II. Rupert Davies and David Summer are featured.

Pilot sees island grow

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — An airline pilot who flies daily over the South Pacific Kingdom of Tonga says he watched a volcanic island grow in the past week from bubbling froth to a piece of land 10 miles in diameter.

Ron Jones, a New Zealander flying for Air Tonga, said he first noticed smoke and steam rising from the sea last Wednesday. The location was midway between the volcanoes of Kao and Late in the center of the Tonga island chain, about 1,000 miles north of Auckland.

On a second flight, he reported, an eruption "was hurling small rocks as high as 500 feet when I arrived there."

Around the source of the smoke, Jones said he could see the green outline of a mountain peak beneath the ocean surface.

Weather radar data probe set

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The Texas Water Development Board has authorized Department of Water Resources Executive Director Harvey Davis to negotiate a contract for the analysis of weather radar data collected as part of the High Plains Cooperative Cloud Seeding Program.

The board authorized the expenditure of up to $85,000 for analyzing the radar data collected during 1976, 1977 and 1978.

DWR is conducting the program, which is in the fourth year, in conjunction with the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation.

Herbert W. Grubb, director of the DWR planning and development division, told the board that his division has received four proposals from private companies for analyzing the data.

Grubb also said all four proposals could be rejected and the data sent to one of the three state universities working on the study under interagency contracts.

Of the funds to be spent on analyzing the data, $80,000 is federal funds and $5,000 is state funds, Grubb said.

The data, collected concurrently with cloud seeding operations, will be used to examine cloud characteristics and determine cloud-base precipitation for selected cases, Grubb said.

Musicians union split on pullout

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Delegates to the American Federation of Musicians convention say they are divided on whether to pull out of the AFL-CIO in order to cut costs.

Members were voting today on whether to leave the labor organization although Victor W. Fuentalba, president of the financially troubled, 300,000-member union, said Monday he opposes withdrawing.

In his opening day address to the four-day convention here, Fuentalba said he still is trying to get AFL-CIO leaders to reduce the AFM's annual dues payment.

Fuentalba said AFL-CIO President George Meany and Secretary-Treasurer Lane Kirkland have refused to support a resolution reducing per capita dues for the musicians.

The nation's largest entertainment union is expected to operate at a deficit of about $340,000 this year, the president said. Dues sent to the AFL-CIO total about $400,000 annually, he said.

At this rate, Fuentalba said, the union is headed for bankruptcy. Last year the union lost $202,300 and has $2.2 million left in its general fund.

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — An auction of rare French furniture brought in $7.67 million in the first session of a two-day sale, and it appeared the total would exceed the $11-million sale two years ago of the contents of Mentmore Towers, in Britain.

Sixty of 200 lots were auctioned Monday night by Sotheby Parke Bernet. The star of the evening was a nine-foot-high, ormolu-mounted marquetry Louis XV corner cabinet for which the Heim Gallery of London paid $1.76 million. It was a record price for a piece of furniture and more than three times the pre-sale estimate.

The collection of French furniture was sold 19 months ago by the Wildenstein family, the Paris and New York art dealers, to Saudi Arabian businessman Akram Ojeh.

Starting 40th career, he 'can do anything but keep a job'

NOTREES — Modesty is not one of Don Fearn's outstanding traits. Knocking around from job to job like a carefree vaudevillian is.

"I'm one of the more colorful characters around here," he said. He's 32 and, for now, he's stuck in Notreess. "What do you want to know?" He was beginning to sound like a clownish braggard, a sage begging for questions, a most likeable song-and-dance man ready to perform.

"I've had 39 jobs in eight years." He was fixing to begin another — as a rigger at the El Paso Natural Gas Co. plant here. "This will be 40 right here. I can do anything but keep a job." Fearn, who claims to have done about everything from driving trucks to tending bar, selling, drilling and exterminating pests, was standing in front of Bill Green's service-fuel station and watching the Odessa-to-Kermit traffic barrel through the middle of oil-patch country.

"Just about everything that goes by here I used to work for." He wasn't kidding. Fearn reeled off information from the tattered pages of his careers. He's been a service sales engineer, roughneck, driller, roofer, exterminator, truck driver, pipe-fitter and more.

He wasn't a plumber, though. In later testimony, however, Copenhaver said he wanted the money so that he could manufacture the steam cleaners.

Estes not only refused to give him the money, Copenhaver said, but he also threatened to kill him if he did not provide the brochures, invoices and expertise. Copenhaver admitted that he had pleaded guilty to one count of the conspiracy charge before the trial started. Copenhaver said he agreed to testify for the government hoping he would receive a light or probated prison sentence.

Copenhaver first denied that anyone representing Estes and Horton ever came to his San Antonio plant to check on the progress of the cleaners. But later he said a representative did come. And another time he said that while the representative did come, it was not to inspect the same kind of equipment Estes and Horton were selling.

Copenhaver said Monday he was asked merely to provide brochures, invoices and "expertise," not to manufacture the cleaners. Copenhaver said he was told Horton would assemble the cleaners with the help of his expertise.

Copenhaver said he asked Estes for more money when he realized the project was a "flim flam" and that he was "sticking his neck out" by allowing his company name to be used in the scheme.

Odessa woman killed in mishap

ODESSA — A 53-year-old Odessa woman was killed in a one-car accident today about 12:45 a.m.

The woman's vehicle apparently ran off the road in the 4500 block of North Golder Avenue and hit the pipe rack of an oil drilling rig, police said.

Dead is Laverna Head Clark, 53, of 1515 E. 35th St.

"There's a lot more pride in a pipe-fitter than a plumber." But Fearn didn't take any pride in being a pest killer. He claimed that requires being a con man, and he said he doesn't fancy misleading people about termites and cockroaches invading house and home.

"They gave me a book on lethal poisons, and I didn't know what I was doing." He kept that job 10 days. He tried his skill at roofing; he was a hired hand. He liked the job fairly well, but figured he'd be better off becoming a honcho — the roofing contractor — than just working for the other guy.

"I went in business for myself and tried to 'big-shot it' and tried to spend all my time in beer joints." That didn't work out. Then for three months he and his wife, Brenda, ran a bar in Odessa; it was next door to an XXX-rated movie house on the Andrews Highway.

"I had a fight in there every night," said Fearn. "That was definitely an experience I'll never have again," mentioned his wife, who drives a school bus out of Odessa when school is in session.

They learned by trial and error. "We had misconceptions," admitted Fearn. "We thought we could have a nice family bar, where you could bring your kids. We were as ignorant as sin about the beer joint business."

They said they got flak and flare-ups out of the "goat-ropers," winos and "dirty movie" patrons who dropped by after the show for a beer or drink and added to the problems. They said fellows from the gay community turned out to be their most easy-going and trouble-free customers, even if they occasionally did put on a "ladies" and strip-tease show.

"That (the homosexuals) was a breath of fresh air compared to everything else," Fearn said. Fearn got out of the bar business, but not before the joint was flooded in a downpour and the roof leaked. He tried selling, but his days as a salesman were short-lived.

"You have to B.S. people and lie to them and tell them what they want to hear. You have to buy them whiskey. It's dishonest. That's my opinion. It's just as deceptive as hell." Fearn quit jobs he liked and disliked. Maybe he quit the wrong one — trucking.

"Driving a truck is one-on-one; you get to know every bump, every sound, even every little feel of it. It (the truck) is another tool; it's an extension of yourself, if it's a good truck, and you keep it up." And if he keeps up his pace, Fearn legitimately might find a niche in "Guinness World Book of Records" for job changing.

His natural spunk apparently helped him get his most recent — the 40th — job as a rigger. "He (the boss) asked me what I could do, and I said 'everything.'" He got hired. "I'm just a jerk of all trades," said Fearn. "I told you I was a colorful character."

Don Fearn gets a charge out of cranking up and driving the 1949 International Harvester fire engine at Notreess. He also gets a kick out of hashing over his ex-jobs; he's a self-billed "jerk of all trades." (Staff Photo by Ed Todd)

Couple jailed for possession of marijuana after stakeout

BIG SPRING — A Big Spring couple was in City Jail today charged with possession of marijuana after a three-week stakeout of a residence here by the Big Spring Police Department's Major Crime Task Force.

Tim and Julie Davidson, both 19, were charged with felony possession of marijuana. Bond was set at $10,000 each by Peace Justice Louis Hefflin.

The arrest came after a three-week "off-and-on" stakeout of a Big Spring house by task force members. Officers also arrested a 17-year-old Big Spring man after he left the house carrying a large sack, officers said.

Russel Bledsoe of Big Spring was charged before Judge John Coffee today with possession of about a pound of a substance believed to be marijuana. Bond was set at $2,500. Bledsoe remained in City Jail early today. Officers obtained a search warrant based on information obtained from Bledsoe, and arrested the Davidsons after a search of their home turned up three pounds of a substance believed by them to be marijuana, officers said.

20 girls leave Roloff's home

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Embattled evangelist Lester Roloff's Rebekah Home for Girls lost 20 occupants Monday night to an uncertain future in Hattiesburg, Miss.

As the busload of girls left, state officials prepared to arrive to check the progress of Roloff's agreement with Texas Attorney General Mark White.

Roloff agreed to allow the group to visit to make sure the home no longer is housing more than five girls under 18 who are not blood relatives of home employees. The agreement with White is the result of a long battle by Roloff against state licensing and allows five girls under 18 to remain at the Texas home.

A Department of Human Resources inspection team might arrive in Corpus Christi today or as late as Friday, DHR official Marlin Johnson said. Roloff's Anchor Home for Boys and Lighthouse Home for Boys were empty, their occupants sent home to their parents, leaving the Rebekah Home alone in the spotlight.

Smiling and singing, the group of girls from the Rebekah home boarded buses and headed toward Roloff's Bethesda Home for Girls in Hattiesburg, which is not required to have a state license. Mrs. Hubert Barnwell, the wife of the Bethesda superintendent, said, "We are not going to put them up for the summer. We don't have any room here." She said the home has about 50 girls residing there now.

One of the Rebekah evacuees who chose to remain unidentified said, "We'll miss the (Rebekah) home, but we'll be back." Roloff is in the process of restructuring his church to encompass the home and skirt the state license requirement.

It was not known how many girls remain at the Rebekah Home awaiting transfer, but it has been estimated that the home housed as many as 150 girls. Rebekah Home superintendent Wiley Cameron said the group of girls will live in mobile homes at the Hattiesburg home.

The evangelist remained unavailable for comment as the transfer to Hattiesburg was made Monday night. But Roloff's troubles aren't over yet if the Nueces County Attorney Mike Westergren has his way. Westergren says he will seek a grand jury indictment against the fundamentalist preacher on misdemeanor charges of operating a youth home without a license.

Westergren said Roloff "intimidates everybody" and called his recent agreement with White "a scandal." "If he is going to be allowed to defy the law, then I am not going to be a part of it," Westergren said. "He intimidates everybody from the governor's office down and gets away with it."

...Kellie Whitaker Smiley, a Midland student attending West Texas State University at Canyon, is performing in the musical "Texas" which began its 14th year last weekend in Palo Duro State Park at Canyon. The final performance will be Aug. 25.

Mrs. Smiley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitaker of Route 3 and wife of Michael Smiley, sings and dances in the chorus. She was in the Midland Community Theatre production of "Carnival" in 1978 and participated in Prose and Poetry at Midland High School, where she also was in the choir and Honor Band.

For her audition number, Mrs. Smiley, who is majoring in music and minoring in business at WTSU, chose to do a Southern Belle monologue that she wrote and to sing "Climb Every Mountain" from "Sound of Music."

Her husband works in Amarillo. She became interested in a singing career through her mother, who was a singer and guitar player that performed at events like jamborees and barbecues.

Mrs. Smiley has two brothers, Terry Whitaker of Midland and Kane Whitaker of Carlsbad, N.M.

"The show (Texas) is great," said Mrs. Smiley. "It boosts Texas and the United States. Something we need nowadays. It touches on Panhandle history and you learn something without realizing it. People come from all over the world to see it."

She explained that on July 4 there will be a special program, including a fireworks display...

Bridesmaids were Sue Newman and Becky Moore of May, and Sherry Roeder and Marian Silva of Odessa.

Flower girls were Sarah Kenton of Victoria and Lana Roberts of Austin. Ring bearer was Seth Kenton of Victoria.

Ushers were Donnie Roberts, Steve Culepper and Sammy Cox, all of Midland. Groomsmen were Jim Kenton of Victoria; David Goolsby and Scott Seth of Midland; and Gary Seth of Midland.

Soloist was Lee Andrews of Midland.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of organza and Venise lace. Delicate scattered seed pearls dotted the Venise lace which adorned the Queen Anne neckline and empire bodice.

Matching lace enhanced the full bishop sleeves and A-line skirt. A singular row of veise lace encircled the skirt and extended into a chapel train. She wore a lace band headpiece with tiered fingertip veil edged in matching lace. The bride wore a cascade bouquet of spring flowers, miniature carnations, sweetheart roses and daisies in rainbow colors of pink, blue, yellow, mint green and apricot.

Reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the couple will reside in Victoria.

CLUB NEWS

A program on citizenship by Helen Estes and one on home ecology by Juanita Arnett were highlights of a meeting of the Prairie Lee Extension Homemakers Club in the home of Virginia Bryant, Cloverdale Road.

Introduced as a new member was Opal Ponder, while Mary Jo Collins was recognized as a guest. The traveling prize was won by Mamie McKee.

Next meeting of the club will be July 18, with Mary Bryant as hostess.

of Wichita Falls, who served the guests. Mrs. Paul L. Dees of Dallas served her sister as matron of honor. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. R.S. Wilkinson of Sanderson, organist, and Nancy Lovett of Fort Stockton, soloist. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a designer original formal gown of white French silk organza and Venise lace which featured an Empire bodice, Queen Anne neckline edged in lace and full, sheer organza sleeves with deep lace cuffs. A ruffle over the shoulder also extended down the lace-covered bodice back. The full, flounced A-line skirt extended to chapel-length train. A lace-covered calotte held the bride's lace-trimmed walking-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of Tropicana roses, daisies, stephanotis and baby's breath atop a satin heirloom prayer book, and wore heirloom pearls and matching earrings. A reception was held in the church parlor immediately after the ceremony. After a wedding trip to San Antonio and Mexico, the couple will live on the Montgomery Ranch, southeast of Fort Stockton.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

The Altrusa Club of Midland, Inc., will conduct its installation of 1979-80 officers at a dinner meeting beginning at 7 p.m. Thursday, with a social period in Ranchland Hills Country Club. Dinner will be served at 7:30, followed by the program.

DEAR ABBY

Sports nuts get shelled

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: AMY'S POP asked what you thought the chances were for a happy marriage between Amy and Jerry, her fiancé, a regular sports nut. Jerry ate, drank, slept, talked, read and lived sports, but Amy didn't share his enthusiasm. AMY'S POP said he tried to tell her that guys who lived for sports made poor husbands and worse fathers, but she wasn't buying it. You told Dad to back off.

Well, my husband is a sports nut. He watches sports on TV every chance he gets. When we were first married, I'd watch, too, to keep him company, but I was bored and complained a lot.

Finally, I realized how lucky I was that my guy was home with me — not out drinking and running around with the guys like a lot of other husbands. I confess that when my man isn't watching TV he tends to get underfoot, so I welcome the weekends to sew, clean the house, read or write letters. If Amy keeps busy she won't mind it a bit. — DISAGREES WITH AMY'S POP

DEAR DISAGREES: My mail has been running about 90 percent with me and 10 percent with AMY'S POP. Here's one for Pop's side: DEAR ABBY: Any guy who lives for sports has got to be very selfish. I know what poor Amy is letting herself in for if she marries a sports fanatic because I married one. Only mine is worse. His love for sports takes him out of town. He follows

"his" teams so whenever the Vikings, the Twins or Minnesota U goes out of town to play, my guy goes, too. When they lose, he sulks for a week. His whole life is wrapped up in the sports. And as if that isn't bad enough my man also loves hunting and fishing! During fishing season he fishes with his father. During hunting season he hunts with his brother! During bowling tournaments he travels with his team. Anything that takes him out of town (without me) looks good to him. I can't go because I'm stuck with nine kids, which gives you an idea of what his favorite indoor sport is. — MINNEAPOLIS MAMMA

DEAR MAMA: Read on for some advice from a sports nut himself: DEAR ABBY: I'm a sports nut, so I know how Jerry feels. I have a few words of advice for other sports nuts who are still single: Either marry a girl who's into sports the way you are, or stay single!

she thought sports were for little boys and it was time I "grew up."

We never fought about anything else, but we fought about sports enough to end our marriage!

I hear she's living with a guy, and what do you think he does? He's an assistant basketball coach at a major university. — SPORTS NUT

Wildcats, strikes reported in Basin

Wildcat operations have been announced in Pecos, Schleicher, Coke and Stonewall counties, discoveries have been completed in Terry, Crockett and Eddy counties, and field operations have been reported in other Permian Basin areas.

PECOS EXPLORER

Union Texas Petroleum Corp., operating from Midland, announced location for a 9,600-foot wildcat in Pecos County.

It is No. 1-14 Blackstone Slaughter, 12 miles southwest of Sheffield and three miles southwest of the Yucca Butte multiphase field. It also is four miles southeast of the depleted Schuler (Leonard) pool.

Drill site is 660 feet from south and 1,320 feet from west lines of section 14, block A-2, TCRW survey.

SCHLEICHER TESTS

Ike Lovelady, Inc., of Midland spotted No. 1-22 University in Schleicher County in an attempt to reopen Ellenburger production in the University 101 field and J. Cleo Thompson of Dallas spotted location for a wildcat in the same county.

The 8,500-foot project is 1,980 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines of section 22, block 54, University Lands survey.

Elevation is 2,514 feet. The drillsite is one location north and slightly east of the depleted discovery well and four miles southeast of the University 54 (Ellenburger oil and gas) pool.

The discovery well of the University 101 (Ellenburger oil) pool was Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. No. 1-101 University which was completed in 1953 from open hole at 7,910-8,045 feet for 342 barrels of oil per day.

Thompson will drill the No. 1-A-53 University two miles southeast of Canyon gas production and 2.5 miles west of Ellenburger gas production in the University 53 field.

Scheduled for an 8,300-foot bottom, it is 660 feet from south and 720 feet from west lines of section 20, block 53, University Lands survey. The site is 60 feet east of the same operator's No. 10-53 University which was abandoned at an unreported depth.

STONEWALL WILDCATS

A pair of wildcat operations have been staked in Stonewall County, one by Texas City Refining, Inc., and the other by Ketel Oil Producing Co. of Fort Worth.

Texas City Refining Co. No. 1 Mullis Unit is scheduled to drill to 6,860 feet 1/2 mile north of Swenson.

It is two and one-quarter miles northwest of the depleted Schick, West (Ellenburger) field and one mile south of a 6,540-foot dry hole.

The drillsite is 1,165 feet from south and 2,990 feet from east lines of section 208, block D, H&C survey.

Ketel Oil No. 1 J. P. Pumphrey is a 6,300-foot wildcat one and three-quarter miles northeast of the Ashmore (Bend conglomerate) pool and separated from it by depleted producers. It also is 5/8 mile south of a 6,240-foot dry hole and two miles north of Old Glory.

The location is 660 feet from north and west lines of M. D. Hemphill survey, abstract 452.

COKE PROSPECTOR

Fisher-Webb, Inc., of Abilene No. 1-B Guest is a 6,000-foot wildcat 18 miles north of Robert Lee in Coke County.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 262, block 1-A, H&C survey and one and one-eighth miles northeast of the Arledge (Odom) oil area and separated from it by depleted producers.

TERRY DISCOVERY

The Superior Oil Co., operating from Midland, announced potential test on its No. 1 Pearl Rushing, Devonian discovery in Terry County, 1/2 mile northeast of Tokio.

The operator reported a daily flowing potential of 30 barrels of oil and seven barrels of water, through a 10/64-inch choke and perforations from 12,851 to 12,871 feet, with a gas-oil ratio of 50-1. Gravity of the oil is 37 degrees and the pay was acidized with 2,000 gallons.

The Wolfcamp was topped at 9,698 feet, the upper Mississippian at 11,867 feet and the Devonian at 12,796 feet. Ground elevation is 3,497 feet.

Hole is bottomed at 13,000 feet and 5.5-inch pipe is set at total depth.

The strike is 2,310 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of section 40, block D-14, C&M survey.

GAINES PROJECT

Baruch-Foster Corp. of Dallas No. 3-B Flanagan is to be drilled in the depleted Flanagan (Clear Fork) field of Gaines County, 11 miles southwest of Seminole.

It is scheduled on a 7,250-foot contract and is 1,620 feet from south and 2,490 feet from east lines of section 10, block A-23, psi survey and one and one-half miles northeast of the discovery well of the depleted field.

There are several Flanagan (Clear Fork, upper) field wells in the area around the drillsite for No. 3-B Flanagan. That field produces at 6,420 feet.

HOWARD FIELD WELL

McCann Corp. of Big Spring No. 2-A Read has been completed in the Coahoma, North (Fusselman oil) pool of Howard County, three and one-quarter miles east of Coahoma.

The well, one location southwest of the Fusselman production, completed for a daily flow of 220 barrels of 8-gravity oil, no water, through a 2/64-inch choke and perforations from 8,760 to 8,764 feet after being fractured with 8,000 gallons. The gas-oil ratio is 1,100-1.

Total depth is 8,916 feet, 4.5-inch pipe is set at 8,855 feet and hole is plugged back to 8,816 feet.

CROCKETT OPENERS

International Oil & Gas Corp. of Midland and Andover Oil Co. of Tulsa, Okla., have reported discoveries in Crockett County.

International Oil & Gas No. 1-47 Ingham, previously completed as a 1/2-mile west extension to Devonian production in the Ingham (Devonian and Canyon gas) pool, has been re-completed as a Wolfcamp gas discovery.

From that zone, it finished for a calculated absolute open flow potential of 1,200,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 6,754 feet after 40,000 gallons of acid and 103,000 gallons of fracture solution.

The well, which will be dual produced, was completed in March from the Devonian for a calculated absolute open flow potential of 4,560,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 7,316 to 7,604 feet.

The well is bottomed at 8,448 feet, 5.5-inch casing is set on bottom, and the plugged back depth is 7,641 feet.

The Wolfcamp was topped at 6,700 feet on ground elevation of 2,114 feet.

Other tops include the Strawn at 7,202 feet, the Devonian at 7,440 feet and the Simpson at 7,868 feet.

Wellsite is 660 feet from north and 900 feet from west lines of section 47, block 2, I&GN survey and 23 miles southwest of Ozona.

Andover Oil No. 1-18-38-C University (formerly No. 1-18 University) has been re-entered and completed as a Spraberry oil discovery in the Block 38 (Ellenburger) field.

The well originally was completed as the field's Ellenburger discovery. There are no other wells in the pool from that pay.

From the Spraberry, it finished for a daily flowing potential of 91 barrels of 39-gravity oil and two barrels of water, through perforations from 3,811 to 3,852 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 568-1.

Hole is bottomed at 9,818 feet and plugged back to 4,250 feet. The 5.5-inch casing was set at 8,580 feet.

Operator acidized the pay with 1,500 gallons and fractured with 30,000 gallons.

The Spraberry was topped at 3,810 feet on ground elevation of 2,539 feet.

Wellsite is 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 18, block 38, University Lands survey and eight miles southeast of Barnhart.

EDDY STRIKE

Napeco, Inc., of Houston has reported potential test on a Morrow gas discovery in Eddy County, N.M., nine miles south of Loco Hills.

Originally staked as H&S Oil Co. No. 1 Reese-Federal, it was completed by Napeco as the No. 1 Reese-Federal for a calculated absolute open flow of 1,739,000 cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 10,648 to 10,718 feet after a 4,000-gallon acid treatment.

Total depth is 12,079 feet and 5.5-inch casing is set at 12,065 feet.

Wellsite is five miles northeast of the HG (Morrow gas) pool and 660 feet from south and 2,180 feet from east lines of section 33-18-30e.

UPTON OUTPOST

Union Texas Petroleum Corp. of Midland staked location for No. 1-15 South Velma as a long outpost to production in the Amacker-Tippett, Southwest (Wolfcamp oil) pool of Upton County.

Although it is three and three-quarter miles southeast of that field, it is one and three-quarter miles southwest of Union Texas No. 1 Shirk, recently completed discovery well of the Mary Shirk (Wolfcamp oil) pool and 1.5 miles southwest of a shut-in well in the Amacker-Tippett, South (Wolfcamp oil) pool.

The new project is scheduled to drill to 10,600 feet. It is 1,200 feet from south and 2,000 feet from east lines of section 15, block 2, MK&T survey.

CROCKETT ACTIVITY

Regal Petroleum staked an outpost and C. F. Lawrence & Associates, Inc., of Midland announced plans to re-enter a project in Crockett County.

Regal Petroleum Corp. of Wichita Falls No. 3-B Todd Ranch is to be drilled two miles northeast of the opener of the Howard Draw (Shallow) pool, 10 miles northwest of Ozona.

The 1,350-foot project is 467 feet from north and 2,434 feet from west lines of section 47, block WX, GC&SF survey.

C. F. Lawrence & Associates, Inc., of Midland, announced plans to re-enter a former San Andres well in the Wyatt (San Andres oil and upper Ellenburger gas) field of Crockett County and attempt completion as the fourth well in the Todlaw (Queen gas) field of Crockett County.

The project, No. 3-D Todd, is 17 miles northwest of Ozona and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 68, block UV, GC&SF survey. Ground elevation is 2,517 feet.

Total depth is 1,297 feet. The project will be tested above 1,200 feet.

The Queen was topped at 990 feet, the Graybar at 1,098 feet, and the San Andres at 1,268 feet.

CROCKETT DEEPENING

C. F. Lawrence & Associates also announced plans to re-enter and deepen to 2,000 feet for San Andres tests in the former Atlantic Richfield Co. No. 3 J. M. Shannon, 1,814-foot failure in Crockett County.

It is 600 feet from south and 467 feet from west lines of section 64, block UV, GC&SF survey.

Tests set for meters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Metering devices that federal officials think can lead to savings of about 10 percent on home energy costs will be tested in six cities.

The "Energy Cost Indicators," unveiled Monday by the Energy Department, measure how much energy is being used and what the approximate cost will be.

"The idea is that a person will conserve energy if he sees on his meter how the costs go up penny by penny," said department official Maxine Savitz. "You can check your progress the same way a dieter follows his progress by stepping on a scale."

To gauge how much actually is saved with the devices, they will be installed in 100 homes in each of six U.S. and Canadian cities beginning later this year. Other home owners in each city will be checked to make comparisons.

The devices show the cost of gas and electricity used so far that day and enable consumers to see:

—What they spent on gas and electricity the previous day.

—Utility costs for the next hour if no appliances are turned on or off.

—The cost-to-date for the month.

The device measures ten inches by one foot by three inches. Its calculations of costs will not necessarily be the same as actual costs because the devices compute costs on nationally averaged rates instead of actual local ones, she said.

Lynn Collins, project manager for the department, estimated the device would cost $50 to $100 if mass produced. She estimated consumers could recoup that cost within six months.

The department paid Honeywell, Inc., $250,000 to develop the prototype model and build 600 for the test, which will be conducted in Boston, Dallas, Minneapolis, San Francisco, Montreal and Vancouver.

New Jersey gas outlets to close pumps Thursday

By The Associated Press
New York drivers lined up for gasoline and Connecticut motorists queued up for exemptions from odd-even rationing as state officials in the East looked for ways to end "panic and confusion" for the gas pumps — particularly in vulnerable tourist areas.

And after the driest weekend so far in many areas, officials warned the worst is yet to come. Members of New Jersey's Gasoline Retailers Association representing 500 of the state's

And in Dallas, one disco began a free taxi service so its customers could bogie without worrying about getting home.

Tourism officials, also worried about a loss of revenue if customers can't find gas, tried to find ways to ease the pinch.

The Gettysburg, Pa., Chamber of Commerce leased a service station to assure fuel supplies, and the Chamber of Commerce in Bemidji, Minn., offered free lodging to any vacationer unable to get home.

Maine energy chief John Joseph met with tourism officials to plan ways to relieve the "panic and confusion" felt last weekend.

In Connecticut, officials were deluged with requests for exemptions from the state's odd-even gas rationing program, but only 450 of the 12,000 requests had been granted. One man seeking a medical exemption included a diagram of his heart, and an obstetrician argued "babies are born on odd AND even days."

The first batch of exemptions generally went to volunteer firemen and salesmen. "Cursed one person who failed to qualify: 'I hope you run out of gas on a rural road.'"

ENERGY OIL & GAS

5,100 service stations said they would close Thursday to protest federal allocation and pricing regulations.

Minnesota's Service Station Association promised to wait until July 16 to see what action the federal government would take. Groups in other states were to meet this week to decide whether to join the protest.

"Any damn fool knows that when you've got 20 to 25 percent less product to sell, you have to make a little more on what you have to sell," said James Heizer of the Virginia Independent Gasoline Retailers Association.

Gasoline lines Monday averaged five blocks in New York City — where retailers estimated only 20 percent of the stations were open by afternoon — as drivers waited for $1.50-a-gallon gas.

There were no lines — and no customers — at one Fort Worth, Texas, station where gas was selling for $1.22 a gallon. Elsewhere in Texas, waiting lines shrank as a rationing plan went into effect.

Rationing power to go with bill, says Dingell

By TOM RAOUM

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is taking up a bill designed to speed production of synthetic fuels, but a key House energy legislator claims it might also give President Carter unfettered authority to ration gasoline.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., says the legislation, up for debate this afternoon, is a backdoor approach to giving the president the rationing power the House denied him last month.

While Carter's rejected rationing plan was only a standby program, Dingell claims the current bill "would confer on the president the power to install rationing at all levels, without any constraint."

Backers of the bill, designed to provide federal price subsidies to firms that manufacture clean-burning fuels from coal, oil shale and other materials, question Dingell's claim.

But Dingell, chairman of the energy and power subcommittee, says he will make a motion on the floor to strike the section he contends bestows rationing authority on the president.

In a related development, the Senate approved money Monday to hire 200 independent auditors to investigate whether there really is an oil shortage and whether oil companies are manipulating prices. The proposal by Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., would have to be approved by the House before taking effect. It would cost about $2.5 million.

How does Dingell conclude that a bill calculated to encourage synthetic fuel production would give the president gasoline rationing power?

The measure would amend the 1950 Defense Production Act to allow the president, as commander-in-chief, to subsidize synthetic fuel production — nominally to provide needed fuel for the military.

But the bill isn't strictly a defense measure. House Majority Leader Jim Wright, one of its chief sponsors, was expected to move on the floor to broaden its scope to provide subsidies for up to 2.5 million barrels of synthetic oil a day — far more than the military would need. The original bill sets a target of 500,000 barrels a day.

The legislation was couched in defense-related terms to avoid a jurisdictional dispute between the House Banking Committee, where the bill originated, and Dingell's Commerce energy and power subcommittee, which oversees non-defense energy matters.

The banking committee traditionally has jurisdiction over the Defense Production Act because of the act's impact on the private economy.

The 1950 act gives the president broad powers — including gasoline rationing — to meet national defense needs.

The new bill would include energy production among these needs. Thus, Dingell contends, the legislation would give the president the power to order rationing by simply declaring it to be a national defense need.

Rep. William Moorhead, D-Pa., chief sponsor of the legislation, claims Dingell's reasoning is a little far-fetched. Expanding the president's rationing powers was never intended in writing the measure, he said.

Eric Fygi, deputy counsel of the Energy Department, acknowledges the measure would permit gasoline rationing. But he says he doesn't think it's much of an expansion of the power the president already has under the 1950 act.

Using it to order rationing for anything other than a national security emergency would be "extremely unlikely," Fygi said. "The rationing question is something of a red herring," he added.

The bill would allow the president to offer loans, loan guarantees and price subsidies to encourage production of synthetic fuels. As a last resort, he could order construction of government plants to produce such fuels.

It authorizes federal loans up to $38 million per project and loan guarantees up to $48 million. The president also could spend $2 billion a year to buy synthetic fuels when their price exceeds the world market price of oil.

Gasoline, oil products drive consumer prices up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Continued rapid increases in the price of gasoline and other petroleum products helped push consumer prices up 1.1 percent in May, the fourth straight monthly increase of 1 percent or more, the government said today.

Still, there was some moderation in food prices, which rose 0.7

percent last month. This led Labor Department economist Patrick Jackman to suggest that "the food situation, for the long run, is starting to look better."

Prices have been going up about 1 percent a month since the start of the year. A 0.9 percent rise in January was followed by increases of 1.2 percent in February, 1 percent in March and 1.1 percent in April.

Workers' spendable income — what is left after Social Security and income taxes are subtracted — was unchanged from April and when adjusted for inflation, was down 3.3 percent for the year.

Gasoline and fuel oil prices were the biggest culprits in the May inflation rise, the Labor Department said.

"Gasoline prices increased 5 percent in May, bringing the increase so far this year to an annual rate of 55.1 percent," the report said.

Home heating oil prices rose 5.3 percent. It was the fourth consecutive large increase and helped push the overall cost of housing up 1.2 percent in May.

JACKMAN SAID THE rise in petroleum products was responsible for one-fifth of the increase in consumer prices.

Food prices had been increasing at rates near 1 percent since December, so the May rise of 0.7 percent represented the first relief. The decline had been expected because of recent moderation of farm and wholesale food prices.

The Consumer Price Index stood in May at 214.1, meaning that a marketbasket of goods and services that cost consumers $100 in the 1967 base period cost $214.10 last month.

The Labor Department said the index was 10.8 percent higher than a year ago.

FARM PRICES FELL 1 percent in April and went up a moderate 0.75 percent in May. Wholesale food prices went down a total of 1.6 percent in the same months.

Economists agreed, however, that a number of factors could prevent that price slowing from being passed on to consumers.

Most important are higher food transportation costs that could result from government fuel accommodations to end a strike by independent truckers and higher costs for imported oil.

Also, the president's anti-inflation council reported recently that wholesalers, food processors and retailers have been rapidly increasing their profit margins, contributing to the food price acceleration in early months of the year.

IN A NEGATIVE development Monday, a Commerce Department official, who asked not to be named, said the department's "economic model" for the April-June quarter shows preliminary estimates of a downturn in the U.S. economy.

The official said the early estimate indicates a drop at the annual rate of 2.4 percent in the gross national product for the three-month quarter.

DuPre highlights numerous upsets at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — A man who describes himself as "an horrendous grass courts tennis player" has created the biggest upset in the first round of the world's premier tennis tournament.

Pat DuPre, a 25-year-old Stanford University economics graduate, beat fourth-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis 7-6, 6-3, 3-6, 3-6, 6-3 Monday in one of three major surprises on the opening day of Wimbledon.

"That was my best ever performance on grass," DuPre said. "I have never done a thing on grass before."

Born in Belgium, raised in Birmingham, Ala., but now living in La Jolla, Calif., DuPre had beaten Gerulaitis a number of times as a junior.

"I was not intimidated and I felt he was really vulnerable," he said. "I had nothing to lose and he had everything to lose, so I wasn't at all nervous and decided to play aggressively."

DuPre's aggression paid dividends in the final set when he broke Gerulaitis in the first game and then attacked his opponent's serve at every opportunity.

New York playboy Gerulaitis stormed from the court after the match and refused to meet reporters.

Meanwhile, John McEnroe, controversial 20-year-old new millionaire of American tennis, believes a new mental approach can help him to the men's singles title which this year carries a prize of $40,000.

McEnroe, whose path to the final is made easier by the disappearance of Gerulaitis, said: "I didn't really think I had a chance to win the first two years I came here. Now I think I can win — my attitude is very different."

McEnroe, christened "superbrat" by British reporters who have castigated him for his on-court outbursts, cruised to a 7-5, 6-1, 6-4 win over American left-hander Terry Moor in the first round.

"My mental attitude is much better," said McEnroe, whose behavior was impeccable during his 1 hour 44 minute match.

McEnroe also talked of what would satisfy him here this year. "Obviously I am under more pressure being seeded ahead of Jimmy Connors at No. 2," he said.

"If I lost in the quarter-finals I would not be satisfied. I'm not happy with second best and the way I look at it, if you reach the final that's a pretty good achievement. But if you get beaten, you still know you might never get a chance at the title again."

McEnroe feels he's in better shape than ever before.

"I'm physically stronger than last year," he said. "Now I can muscle my shots more."

Top-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden, aiming for a record fourth consecutive Wimbledon singles title, dropped the first set of his first-round match against 33-year-old Tom Gorman, but rallied to win 3-6, 6-4, 7-5, 6-1.

Two other seeds, however, were blown out.

Veteran seventh-seed Arthur Ashe, winner here in 1975, was beaten 6-4, 7-5, 6-3 by 23rd-ranked Australian Chris Kachel, and 10th-seeded Wojtek Fibak of Poland lost a five-set marathon to Bruce Manson, ranked No. 30 in the United States, 4-6, 6-7, 6-4, 6-2, 9-7.

The women's singles begins today.

Lockwood placed on disabled list

NEW YORK (AP) — Skip Lockwood, the New York Mets' relief ace, was placed on the 21-day disabled list Monday, retroactive to June 20, because of a sprain of the rear capsule of his right shoulder joint.

The right-hander had appeared in 27 games this season, all in relief, with a 2-5 record, nine saves and a 1.50 earned run average.

He hasn't pitched since June 6 at Cincinnati, when he aggravated the shoulder.

To replace Lockwood, the Mets reactivated rookie right-hander Neil Allen, who had been on the disabled list since May 31 with strained muscles in his left rib cage. Allen is 1-5 with a 7.14 ERA in 12 games.

El Paso Diablos take 5-1 win over Dodgers

By The Associated Press

Five extra-base hits, including a two-run homer by Tom Bhagwat, powered the El Paso Diablos to a 5-1 victory over the San Antonio Dodgers as the Texas League opened the second half of its season Monday night.

In other action, Arkansas beat Jackson, 4-1; Midland clobbered Amarillo, 15-6, and Shreveport defeated Tulsa, 5-2.

In addition to Bhagwat's two-run homer in the third inning, the Diablos got triples by Mark Brouhard and Rick Brewster and doubles by Brian Harper and Jeff Bertoni.

San Antonio's only run came on a sixth inning homer by Mike Zouras, his 13th of the season.

Keith Comstock, 2-4, went the distance and gave up only eight hits to pick up the victory. Doug Harrison, 5-4, gave up seven hits and all five runs as the losing pitcher.

Tito Landrum got three hits in five trips to the plate and Joe DeSa drove in two runs with a single as the Arkansas Travelers beat the Jackson Mets, 4-1. Jody Davis drove in Jackson's run with a single.

Tom Chamberlin, 9-4, was the winning pitcher. Bob Grote, 4-4, was the loser. Outfielder Steve Wilkins slammed a three-run homer in the first inning and the Shreveport Captains went on to take a 5-2 victory over the Tulsa Drillers. Rick Lisi scored both Tulsa runs on a seventh inning homer and after a double in the ninth inning. Bob Tufts, 6-7, was the winning Shreveport pitcher. It was his third straight victory although he needed help from reliever Pat Roy in the ninth inning. Dave Crutcher, 5-7, was the loser.

Players in jail

Turgeon, Cubs blast Sox

BY TED BATTLES
R-T Sports Editor

Midland's Cubs had just lost the first half Texas League West Division pennant race by .003 percentage points and you had to wonder how they might respond to the disappointment. In fact, Chicago Cubs farm director C.V. Davis, not too happy over the fact that the race had been decided by the weather as much as the teams, was recalling that when he was with the White Sox, their Knoxville club lost the first half flag by .003 percentage points. "And we started the second half 0-10."

With the Cubs down 4-1 to Amarillo after 3 1/2 innings and being out hit 12-1 Monday, you couldn't help but wonder.

That's when third baseman Mike Turgeon decided to snap a slump that has been plaguing him the last three series. He singled home two runs in the fourth to make it 4-3, and went on to knock in five runs with three singles and a walk as Midland opened the second half race with a 15-6 win over Amarillo's Gold Sox at Cubs Stadium.

Monday's game was a strange one in which Amarillo got 12 hits in the first four innings and then just five the rest of the way. Midland had just four hits the first five innings, but 13 the next three.

Eric Mustad, 5-6, will go for the Gold Sox while Manager Randy

Mike Turgeon

Hundley's probable starter will be Mark Parker, 5-5.

Monday's game was a strange one in which Amarillo got 12 hits in the first four innings and then just five the rest of the way. Midland had just four hits the first five innings, but 13 the next three.

Eric Mustad's solo homer to lead off the sixth put Midland ahead for good, 5-4, and the Cubs went on to score three more runs as Turgeon singled home one run, Brian Rosinski, who went 3-for-3, doubled in another and Dan Rohn doubled home a fourth. However, it was a couple of noteworthy contributions from the bullpen crew that turned the tide.

Lefty Bill Earley not only had given up 12 hits, but forced in a run with a bases loaded walk in the fourth to make it 4-1. Lee Smith, 4-2, arrived with no one out and the game on the verge of getting out of hand. He got Brian Greer on a pop and Dane Iltzen, who had hit a two-run homer in the third, on a soft liner to short and Paul O'Neill on a force at second.

Then, in the seventh, Midland led 8-4, but a single and walk indicated trouble was brewing, so Mike Allen rode to the rescue to rub out the threat and pitching two scoreless innings with strikeouts, although he failed to get a save out of it when Jack Ledbetter came on to pitch the ninth.

The Cubs rallied for four runs in the eighth off Mike Yandle and successor Barry Biggerstaff as Turgeon forced in a run with a walk, Rosinski squeezed home another run with a bases loaded walk and Bill Hayes doubled in two more to end the suspense.

CUB CLOUTS—Rosinski stretched his bat streak to nine games and raised his average to .373. During the streak he is hitting .558. Amarillo Manager Glenn Ezell is recuperating from open-heart surgery and Rusty Gerhardt is acting manager, assisted by Clyde Ditto, former manager at Walla Walla. Midland first baseman Jim Tracy is another Cub on a binge with 18 for his last 38 (.476) and six homers in the last 10 days, raising his season's total to 11. Mustad, who was a high school teammate of Giants' star Jack Clark in Covina, Calif., is 1-1 against Midland this summer, authoring the only whitewash of the year against Midland, 5-0, here May 3.

Dedication ceremonies for the new scoreboard at Cubs Stadium were held before Monday's game with representatives of the four sponsoring firms participating. Throwing out "first balls" were John Butler (First National Bank), Dick Oldham (Maverick Mud Service), Charles Gibson (Century Pipe and Supply) and Sid Lindley (Champion Chemical).

Which NBA teams got the best in the draft?

NEW YORK (AP) — Who got the best of the National Basketball Association draft?

Los Angeles, Chicago, New York, Detroit and Milwaukee had the first five picks in Monday's lottery, and all appear to have done well.

But Seattle and New Jersey may have done best of all.

The NBA champion Sonics, owning the sixth and seventh picks because of deals, cashed them in for 6-foot-9 center-forward James Bailey of Rutgers and guard Vinnie Johnson of Baylor.

BAILEY GIVES the Sonics a good big man who should fit right in with players like Jack Sikma, Lonnie Shelton and Tom LaGarde and provide extra rest for aging forwards John Johnson and Paul Silas. Vinnie Johnson, meanwhile, is a highly rated backcourtman who will give Seattle depth at that position.

"We feel we got two quality players," Coach Lenny Wilkens said. "Bailey gives us a lot of versatility and Johnson is a take-charge, run-the-show type of guard."

"There's no better team to be drafted by than Seattle," Bailey said. "I think playing with people of their caliber will help me, and it will give them more depth."

New Jersey would like to have gotten Bailey, a local favorite since the Nets play their home games at the Rutgers Athletic Center.

But they still managed to strengthen their frontcourt with the eighth and 11th picks on the first round, taking highly touted Calvin Natt of North-east Louisiana and 19-year-old Cliff Robinson of Southern Cal.

"It's quite an unbelievable draft for the Nets," Coach Kevin Loughery said. "I expect both of these players to put in an awful lot of minutes."

Natt, 6-5 and 225 pounds, averaged 24.4 points and 10.9 rebounds per game and drew raves from Loughery.

"He always gives 100 percent," Loughery said. "I never expected him to be available. We felt he would be one of the top three players picked. He's a 6-6 Willis Reed."

Robinson, a 6-9, 220-pounder, elected to pass up his final two years of college eligibility to turn pro. He played center in college but the Nets have him penciled in at power forward, and he likes the idea.

"I believe I can utilize my talents to the fullest at forward," he said. As for his youth, he said, "I don't feel age has anything to do with talent. I'm mature and ready."

Los Angeles, meanwhile, came away from the festivities at the Plaza Hotel with Earvin "Magic" Johnson signed, sealed and ready for delivery.

The Lakers opened the draft by picking the 6-8 guard from Michigan State, and two hours later Johnson put his signature on a contract that reportedly calls for $3 million over five years. The Lakers and Johnson had agreed to contract terms last month.

"It's quite an honor to be picked No. 1," the 19-year-old Johnson said. "It has always been a dream of mine to play pro ball. So many people play basketball, but so few even make it to college, to say nothing of the pros."

"I'm so excited, I can't wait to get started."

Jerry Buss, the Lakers' colorful new owner, attended the draft and personally obtained Johnson's autograph on the contract.

Talk round finishes with agenda deadlock

HERZLIYA, Israel (AP) — Two days of talks among Israel, Egypt and the United States on Palestinian autonomy ended today without the participants agreeing on an agenda for the coming 11 months of negotiations.

The negotiations will attempt to find a way to provide a Palestinian autonomous administration for the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River and Gaza Strip. Israel and Egypt differ widely on the scope and nature of the autonomy agreed to in their peace treaty.

A joint statement issued at the end of the talks said that Israel and Egypt had put forward their suggestions for the troublesome agenda, and they would continue the talks July 5-6 in Alexandria, Egypt.

Egypt's chief delegate, Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil, said the talks here had been "fruitful."

"We are looking forward, for our future meeting, that the statement that will be read will contain more substance and material than the present one," Khalil said.

Although the talks had been planned to take place every two weeks, alternately in Egypt and Israel, Israeli Interior Minister Yosef Burg announced that there would be a gap of one month after the next session in Alexandria.

He said the delay was decided upon because Egypt would be attending a meeting of the Organization of African Unity during July, and also because the Moslem fasting period of Ramadan and a nine-day Jewish mourning period fall during the month.

Khalil spoke by telephone with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, who was touring villages near the Lebanese border. The Egyptian said he hoped to meet Begin when the Israeli prime minister visits Alexandria on July 10 for talks with President Anwar Sadat.

Observers had expected little progress in this Herzliya session, which comes before the Sadat-Begin meeting and also before the chief U.S. delegate, Robert Strauss, has joined the talks. Strauss is scheduled to make his first appearance at the next session in Alexandria.

James Leonard, the U.S. ambassador at large who is Strauss' deputy, told reporters after the meeting here that the United States was "not dissatisfied with the rate of progress" in the three sessions that have been held here, in Alexandria and in the southern Israeli city of Beersheba.

Israelis dismantle bomb found at bank

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli sappers dismantled a bomb planted at an Israeli bank in Hebron in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River today, the army spokesman said. There were no injuries.

Police corrected an earlier report that a bomb had exploded in Lod, 10 miles southeast of Tel Aviv. A spokeswoman said that what police originally thought was a bomb actually was gasoline that ignited accidentally, slightly burning an Arab youth.

In an illustration of Israel's sensitivity to bomb reports, the state radio said two bombs had been discovered and dismantled at a hospital in the southern Israeli city of Beersheba. But police said the incident was merely a training exercise conducted by authorities at the hospital, and no bombs were found.

Belgian police mum on Haig case suspects

MONS, Belgium (AP) — Belgian police weren't telling today if they had any leads in the assassination bombing attack on NATO Supreme Commander Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr.

Spokesmen for Haig at the general's military headquarters in nearby Casteau referred all questions to the Belgian government prosecutor in Mons who would say nothing about suspects in the Monday attack.

Police arrest Austin couple following reports of thefts

An Austin couple was arrested Monday evening following a series of incidents involving an allegedly stolen car, $70 in cash and several other items.

Police arrested the two Monday following a report of a theft at Thorne Exxon Service Center, 1118 N. Midkiff Road.

City oil man pleads innocent

LUBBOCK — A Midland oil man pleaded innocent Monday in U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward's court here to conspiracy to distribute cocaine allegedly brought to Lubbock from Ruidoso, N.M.

A trial date has not been set in the case involving David Lansom Rankin, 706 W. Nobles Ave.

Rankin also pleaded innocent to a separate sealed indictment charging him with perjury in connection with his grand jury testimony concerning an alleged cocaine transaction.

No trial date has been set on that charge, either.

Arraignment was held Monday in Woodward's court for 15 individuals named in five sealed indictments handed down June 7 by a federal grand jury.

Bundy judge to try to seat jury

MIAMI (AP) — Theodore Bundy has a new jailhouse reading room and a hypotist for a consultant, while lawyers at his trial on charges that he beat and strangled two coeds have orders to speed selection of a jury.

Cautioning attorneys to "hone up" their questions for prospective jurors, Circuit Judge Edward Cowart planned a long day in court today in efforts to seat a panel to try the 32-year-old Bundy.

Little progress was made as the trial opened Monday. Four jurors were dismissed — three saying they had doubts about whether they could render an impartial verdict. Three other prospective jury members were left seated for the time being.

Bundy, a former law student, is acting as one of his attorneys. Wearing a tweed jacket and speaking in an articulate, calm voice, he asked the court Monday for better lighting in his cell at Dade County Jail and access to law books to work on his defense.

Cowart personally led an expedition to the jail next door and then told guards to provide law books for Bundy and to allow him to read in a jail conference room.

The case was moved to Miami after pre-trial publicity forced Cowart to give up trying to select a jury in Tallahassee, where Bundy is accused of beating and strangling two sorority sisters at Florida State University on Jan. 15, 1978.

Lisa Levy, 20, and Margaret Bowman, 21, were killed as they slept and three other coeds were beaten savagely the same night. The prosecution hopes to prove that bite marks found on Miss Levy's breast and buttocks were made by Bundy.

Bundy faces a separate trial on murder charges in the February 1978 death of a 12-year-old Lake City, Fla., girl. He also is accused in Colorado of killing a Dearborn, Mich., nurse near the Aspen ski resort in 1975, and has been convicted of kidnapping in Utah.

Trucks burned in strike

By The Associated Press

Seven trucks were burned in Massachusetts, and Tennessee offered a reward to discourage violence against drivers venturing down the state's highways during the strike by independent haulers.

Striking truckers picketed Nebraska beef packing plants and New Yorkers worried about a shortage of meat. Wholesalers in the Chicago area said the shutdown is sending produce supplies dwindling and prices soaring.

Meanwhile, Mississippi Gov. Cliff Finch took practice spins around the governor's mansion in Jackson early today before leaving on a cross-country trip aboard an 18-wheeler to learn first hand the problems confronting the nation's truckers.

And North Carolina Gov. Jim Hunt asked truckers Monday to get back on the roads while he works to meet their demand for uniform weight limits from state to state.

As the truckers' protest of high diesel fuel prices and the 55 mph speed limit entered its third week, some drivers pledged to expand their blockades. In other areas, however, the strikers were slowly going back to work.

In Georgia, 4 million pounds of watermelons moved to market and agriculture officials said produce shipments were returning to normal. In Indiana, truckers dismantled a blockade of service stations, blaming a lack of support from drivers in neighboring Ohio.

IN ADDITION, one Missouri fuel terminal blockade ended when a judge issued a temporary injunction against the truckers. And in Florida, amid whoops and embraces, fuel haulers agreed to accept a rate increase and end an eight-day strike that led to long lines at service stations.

However, a spokesman for the Utah Independent Truckers Association cautioned that reports of the strike ending should be discounted "unless it comes out of Washington." Some Florida drivers vowed to stay on strike, and pumps at all but two of Connecticut's seven major truck stops remained closed Monday.

The squeeze caused the price of cabbage in Indiana to double in the last week, and a spokesman for New York City's major food chains said the city will run out of fresh meat by Friday if the strike continues to stop shipments from Midwest packing plants.

"Meat is in very short supply," said Howard Tisch, spokesman for the Greater New York Food Council.

"If there's no meat, it will make the housewife realize there's a problem," said trucker Doug Stanton as he picketed a beef packing plant in Omaha, Neb. "If she is concerned, she will look into it or call her senator."

Virginia officials predicted a "bloodbath" unless $34 million worth of crops are moved soon, but California authorities said there was a glut of fresh produce on Los Angeles and San Francisco markets as growers unable to find shipping dumped their products locally. And in British Columbia, Canada, Agriculture Minister Jim Hewitt worried that growers in the western United States might dump their produce in that province, undercutting Canadian farmers.

IN THE CHICAGO area, the price of a case of cabbage has doubled from $7.50 to $8 last week to between $14 and $16 this week, wholesalers said. They said other items also were in short supply and therefore more costly.

Railroad Commission delays action on Whalen disposals

AUSTIN — The Texas Railroad Commission delayed action Monday on granting the Whalen Corp. authority to resume disposal operations for salt water and other materials from oil fields in Andrews County.

The commission delayed action indefinitely on the matter to give staff attorneys time to consult the Texas Department of Water Resources in connection with what jurisdiction that agency might have in the disposal of salt water into Whalen Lake.

Staff attorney Rex White told the commission Texas law clearly indicates the commission has authority to grant permits for disposal of salt water, oil and other materials into lakes but the disposal must meet TDWR standards.

It appears, White said, that TDWR presently has a set of guidelines to follow in this area but no definite standards for these disposals.

Commission Chairman John Poerner suggested the commission have staff attorneys check with TDWR and find out what jurisdiction they claim in the matter and what water quality standards they might want to enforce in the Whalen Lake area.

The commission originally granted Whalen authority to conduct disposal operations at the lake in September, 1977. Those operations, however, were shut down by order of the commission in October, 1978, and an application to permit resumption of disposal was denied, White said.

White told the commission that evidence indicates disposal of salt water into the lake causes no harm to ground water in the area. He added that evidence of any harm to wildlife was "vastly inconclusive."

White did say the effects of any oil or grease that might get dumped into the lake with the salt water might be harmful.

Poerner said the disposal setup at Whalen Lake is not very sophisticated and he indicated Whalen equipment may need to be upgraded to meet his qualification that no harm be done by the salt water disposal.

Refugees crash blockade

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Two boatloads of Vietnamese refugees broke through a naval blockade and landed on the Malaysian coast today, but the government said it would send them back out to sea as it did nearly 13,000 others in the past week.

A small wooden boat carrying 96 refugees landed on the east central coast of the Malay Peninsula Monday night and another boat with 21 aboard landed in Kota Kinabalu, on the northern coast of Borneo.

Officials said they would be given food, fuel and other necessities, then towed back out into the South China Sea.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman told Parliament on Monday that a task force patrolling the coast has sent 60 boats with 12,966 Indochinese aboard back to international waters since the government tightened its anti-refugee policy on June 18. He said some 330 boats carrying 55,000 refugees have been expelled from Malaysia this year.

There has been no information on the fate of those sent back out to sea, but relief officials say thousands of the "boat people" drown when their overcrowded, unseaworthy craft sink.

Malaysia has 60,000 refugees in island camps awaiting transfer to other countries and more than 15,000 others scattered along the beaches of the east coast. The government threatened earlier this month to expel all of them, but after an international outcry said they could stay until other countries accepted them but no new arrivals would be accepted.

Deputy Prime Minister Mahathir Mohamed told reporters Western nations could stop the flow of refugees if they announced they would not accept any more.

Water Commission refuses to reconsider Stacy Dam

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Water Commission refused Tuesday to reconsider its Jan. 10 order allowing construction of the Stacy Dam project on the Colorado River 26 miles southeast of Ballinger.

The action clears the way for the numerous opponents of the project to appeal the order to the courts.

Commissioners voted 3-0 to overrule motions for rehearing filed by Austin, the Lower Colorado River Authority, wholesale customers of LCRA, Lake Travis Improvement Association, Lakeside Irrigation Co. and Garwood Irrigation Co.

Felix McDonald, commission chairman, asked if any of the parties wished to present arguments but none did.

The $60 million dam and reservoir project, planned by the Colorado River Municipal Water District, was hotly contested in 18 months of hearings.

Dr. John C. Stevens, president of Abilene Christian University since 1969, will be the speaker Wednesday noon at the meeting of the Downtown Lions Club in the Midland Hilton. He has been a member of the faculty and administrative staff at ACU since 1948. He long has been active in civic affairs in Abilene and is a past president of the Association of Texas Colleges and Universities.

Sterilization may be reversed

Dear Dr. Solomon: Three years ago, married and with two children, I underwent sterilization. Less than a year later, my husband died. Now that I have remarried, my new husband and I would like to have a child. Is it possible for the sterilization to be reversed?—Mrs. B.S.K.

Dear Mrs. K.: It is now possible to restore fertility in many women who previously had their reproductive process blocked. Sterilization procedures that involved disconnecting, cauterizing, or blocking of the fallopian tubes are being reversed by a technique involving microsurgery (surgery done under a microscope). It appears that women who were sterilized by use of a fallopian ring, clip, or cutting procedure have a better chance of reversal than those who were sterilized by cauterization. A successful outcome also appears to depend on how soon after the reversal the patient tries to become pregnant.

Dr. John A. Rock, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, reports that of 26 patients who sought to have the sterilization procedure reversed during the past 2 1/2 years, 17 subsequently became pregnant and had children, a 65 percent success rate. He notes that the first year following surgery to reverse sterilization is the time of greatest success. After a year, the rate of pregnancy decreases, for reasons not clearly understood.

In the reversal procedure, which takes four hours, sutures finer than human hair are used to recreate a passageway through the fallopian tubes.

Dear Dr. Solomon: A neighbor of mine gave birth prematurely, and the baby weighed about three pounds. What are the chances of survival for a baby this tiny?—Mrs. G.H.

Dear Mrs. H.: New technology, better-trained staff, and more doctors and nurses who are skilled in neonatal care, all account for an increase in the survival rate among premature babies. It is still true that the smaller the infant at birth, the greater the risk of nonsurvival, although progress has been made in sustaining even very small babies. Figures reported by the Maryland intensive care neonatal program show that even with infants weighing less than 36 ounces, the death rate dropped from 72 percent in 1977, to 53 percent in 1978.

The care available to premature infants at time of birth—which is the crucial factor—has been improving each year. Today's procedures include use of a respirator if the baby is not breathing, prompt correction of acid level in the blood if too much is present, rapid replacement of any blood lost to the placenta, and careful monitoring of temperature and oxygen in the blood. In addition, infants are watched very closely for indications of jaundice that might cause brain damage. Good emergency care obviously is essential for these infants.

I hope your neighbor's baby makes it.
