Low prices, not shortage, create lines at Midland filling station

Staff Writer

The gasoline shortage that has led to higher fuel prices has been turned into waiting lines and relatively cheap prices at one Midland self-service filling station.

Lines have been forming in the early-morning hours at the Texaco station at Andrews Highway and Midkiff Road, where the apparently cheapest fuel in town is dispensed at 74.9 cents per gallon for regular and 78.9 cents for unleaded gasoline - at least until underground fuel tanks are depleted of their daily allotment. 'We're this way every morning," Helen Bell, station manager, said early today. "Until we're closed," tacked on cashier-clerk Gena

Closing time generally falls two hours after the station

"We close no later that 9 a.m. with what we've got to run," said Mrs. Bell. Fuel is pumped from four pumps at each of two islands at the corner station.

The station's daily allotment has been about 2,000 gallons, 15 percent below that of a year ago, she said. Two months ago, the station was pumping 3,000 to 3,100 gallons in 18-hour periods of being open. That was before fuel prices started their sweeping, upward climb. "The Texaco representative sets our prices and allot ment, and the (U.S.) Department of Energy tells them," she said.

The lower-priced fuel brings in the customers at the station managed by Mrs. Bell.

"It's the price more than anything," said Phyllis Brown, who filled up a five-gallon can with premium gasoline for the family motorcycle

She had already fueled up the family's subcompact

"You get up early, and you're doing fine (on prices),"

Gus Murray waited in line to fill up his Volkswagen

"It's because of the price" that he trades here, he said. Murray, who's an aircraft mechanic at Aquila at Midland Regional Airport, noted that a "couple of stations at Odessa are up to a dollar a gallon.

Most prices in Midland seem to range from 78 to 88 cents

Frank Cunningham pumped 35 gallons into the tanks of his pickup truck. The tab was about $24.50.

Most other customers were buying $10 to $14 worth of fuel at a whack "I sometimes buy 40 or 50 gallons at a shot," Cunning-

House passes weakened windfall profit tax

WASHINGTON - The House of Representatives, in a striking departure from its recent sock-it-to-the-oil-companies rhetoric, sharply weakened the windfall oil profits tax bill Thursday before passing it and sending it to the

By a vote of 236 to 183, the House adopted a substitute to lower the windfall tax rate from 70 percent to 60 percent and end the taxes on oil production entirely in 1990

The Ways and Means Committee had toughened President Carter's recommended tax significantly before bringing the measure to the floor. It had raised the tax rate from Carter's proposed 50 percent to 70 percent and made more of the tax permanent.

Voting for the subsitute were 90 Democrats and 146

Backers of the substitute, including the principal sponsors, Rep. James Jones, D-Okla., and Rep. Henson Moore, R-La., argued that it would lead to twice as great an increase in domestic oil production as the committee

A Permian Basin oil man praises Rep. Kent Hance for his losing effort to try to get exemptions for independent operator, Page 7D.

Jones and Moore also claimed that their substitute was tougher than Carter's bill, saying that it would take in an estimated $23.3 billion over the next five years, compared to $21.2 billion. The Ways and Mea.is measure would have raised an estimated $28 billion through 1984.

But a key element of the administration's proposed windfall profits tax was what has come to be called the "OPEC tax." This would have imposed the tax on newly discovered oil and "stripper well oil" as its price rises, with OPEC prices, above $16 a barrel plus a quarterly inflation adjustment. The administration wanted a permanent "OPEC tax." Under the House-passed bill, however, it would end abruptly in 1990. The tax burden of oil companies after that would be billions of dollars less a year than under the Administration play. In many ways, the bill the House approved follows the lines suggested by Mobil Oil Corp. a few weeks ago. Mobil recommended focusing the tax on oil now being produced but exempting newly discovered oil and and oil from so-called "stripper wells" producing less than 10 barrels a President Carter proposed the tax last April as part of his plan to decontrol prices of all domestically produced oll by September 1981.

The proceeds of the tax are supposed to go into an energy trust fund to finance energy research and development and some rebates to the poor. However, legislation creating the fund and setting its spending targets will be considered later.

The Jones-Moore substitute also weakened the windfall taxes on production from marginal wells and from wells using expensive tertiary recovery techniques, such as injecting steam to drive out the oil

The substitute was proposed, Jones said, because those two types of wells, along with newly discovered oil, offer "the best chances of increasing our domestic oil base."

Summit partners adopt oil quotas

Carter says meeting 'exceeded highest expectations'

TOKYO (AP) - President Carter, claiming the seven-nation economic summit "equaled our highest expectations," joined his summit partners today in agreeing to adopt specific, individual oil import quotas through

In a joint declaration, the seven leaders deplored the latest oil price increase by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Foreseeing severe economic consequences for the world, they said "the most urgent tasks are to reduce oil consumption and to hasten the development of other energy sources." The United States agreed to freeze its oil imports at 8.5 million barrels a day - the current level - through

"I think the results of the economic summit were superb," Carter declared. "They equaled our highest expectations. The joint communique spelled out specific ceilings for Japan and Canada and said European summit participants - France, Germany, Britain and Italy - would specify annual levels later this year.

After their two-day conference ended, the summit participants appeared before reporters in a crowded hotel ballroom. Carter was particularly pointed in discussing the impact of the latest OPEC increases.

He said the boost of 21.5 percent to an average price of $20.90 a barrel would "lead to worldwide inflation, less growth, more unemployment and endanger the stability of the economc system.'

U.S. Treasury Secretary W. Mi-chael Blumenthal, asked about the economic impact of the OPEC increase, said, "I think the chances of a recession are increased.'

Asked about the economic impact of restraining oil imports, Blumenthal said, "The less we need to buy from them the less we're dependent on them and the less they can increase

A senior American official estimated that without the quota, U.S. oil imports would have risen to 9.5 million or 10 million barrels a day by

At the end of the summit, which followed a three-day state visit to Japan, a tired-looking Carter confessed to "pleasant weariness." He headed for Seoul at 7:12 p.m. (6:12 a.m. EDT) for a 43-hour official visit to South Korea.

Carter, who announced Thursday he was canceling plans for a threeday holiday in Hawaii following his Asian travels, told reporters he was "ready to go home.

Firefighters battle blaze in boxcar

A boxcar full of lumber was the center of attention for Midland firefighters about 5:25 p.m. Thursday as they battled to gain access to the fire before being able to extinguish Smoke was seen pouring from the

Missouri-Pacific railroad car as it rumbled through Midland as part of an eastbound train. Trainmaster R. Hanfeld in Odessa said his office was informed that the box car was smoking. He then notified the Midland Fire Department. Officials said train operators apparently had no idea the boxcar was on fire until they were stopped by Midland firefighters about 21/2 miles east of town. Two pump units and seven firefighters worked 1½ hours to extinguish the fire, which caused heavy damage to the lumber and boxcar, Firefighters were hampered in their efforts to put out the blaze by the train doors, which they couldn't pull all the way open. A chain eventually was attached to a fire truck and used to pull the doors open, allowing firefighters access to the interior of the car. Not all the wood, which consisted of plank lumber, was damaged but, firefighters began unloading the wood from the boxcar to make sure the flames were extinguished.

According to official reports, most of the damage was confined to the front section of the car.

A Midland County Sheriffs' deputy said the fire may have been smolder ing since the train left El Paso. The trainmaster contended that was possible, but not likely "in this case.

"There was a roll-by inspection of the car in Odessa and no smoke was noticed at that time," said Hanfeld. Hanfeld agreed with fire officials that the fire was probably started by sticking brakes on the car causing sparks and heat to ignite the wood

Highs in 100s seen for weekend

If ever the going was good for getting out of town, it's now. The tall cool pines of northern Canada may seem like heaven compared to what the weather will be like in the Permian Basin this weekend.

The sun should be beating down on the Permian Basin area all day Saturday with no hope for any relief, according to the weatherman.

The National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport said the temperature should climb to near 100 degrees Saturday from an overnight low in the upper 60s. The area should continue to experience hot afternoons, the weatherman added.

Petroleum costs are rising fastest, but food could go up more than 11 percent in 1979, the Carter administration says.

Kahn's inflation assessment Thursday, the gloomiest yet by the administration, is brought home by a private economist's estimate that the average family's bill for gasoline and motor oil will increase at least $230 a year because of OPEC price boosts.

Albert H. Cox Jr., president of Merrill Lynch Economics, also said home heating oil costs for the average family will rise more than $90 a year.

While the Organization of Petrole um Exporting Countries raised oil prices Thursday from a base of $14.55 per barrel to between $18 and $23.50 per barrel, the Agriculture Department was estimating food prices this year will zoom between 10.2 percent and 11.2 percent.

Department forecasters said they were forced to revise previous estimates upward because of uncertainties throughout the economy - from rising grain prices to fuel shortages and costs - which affect the transportation and processing of food.

In a preliminary analysis, administration officials said the OPEC price rise will add one point to the nation's inflation rate this year and another point in 1980.

They said the number of Americans unemployed will increase by 800,000 through 1980 because of OPEC price increases. Economic growth, as measured by the Gross National Product, will be two percentage points below what it would have been without the world oil price rises, administration forecasters said. "The OPEC increases raise the real specter of double-digit inflation for the rest of this year," Kahn told the

House Government Operations con-

Names in the news

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) - Comedian Steve Martin's latest attack of happy feet has led him to suburban Montecito, where county records show he recently bought a home for about $1.5 million.

The deed for the sale filed in the county recorder's office Wednesday indicates the home is located on 2.86 acres of land in the foothills behind Santa Barbara. It was purchased from magazine photographer Jesse

Among Martin's new neighbors are actors Robert Mitchum, Bradford Dillman and Burl Ives.

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) - Ralph Bellamy has seen a lot in more than 50 years as an actor, and he's a bit worried about what he sees now. Here this week to promote his book, "When the Smoke Hits the Fan - A Reminiscence of the Theater, Movies and TV," Bellamy said there seems to be a shortage of good actors, writers, directors and producers, and an abundance of promiscuity in today's films.

"You can say what you want about the old moguls," said Bellamy. "They were detestable people as individuals, but they were theater people who had their fingers on what the people wanted. But Bellamy says he's not really down on the motion picture industry, and thinks some of today's stars will pass the test of time - Jane Fonda for one, who he termed "the best actress we have." Bellamy, 74, recently finished shooting "Power," a four-hour miniseries for NBC which he thinks will air next fall. "Don't ask me who else is in it," he said. "They're all a bunch of young people and they're all stars I've never heard of before - but they're all very good."

LEESBURG, Va. (AP) - Radio and television personality Arthur Godfrey is getting out of the cattle and horse business.

Godfrey has sold his 1,900 acre estate near here to a Dutch corporation backed by a Saudi Arabian prince, according to court papers. The price was more than $5 million.

According to the papers, Vanguard Co., a Netherlands Antilles corporation, bought Beacon Hill, the luxurious cattle and horse farm about 30 miles northwest of Washington, D.C.

Pet vaccinations still best rabies weapon

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Pet vaccination is the best weapon against rabies' alarming rise in Texas, state health officials said Thursday.

"Although 80 percent of all rabies cases this year are among skunks, the domestic pet is the worst potential problem with the human population," said Dr. F.V. McCasland, chief state veterinary health officer.

McCasland and others met to discuss methods of combating rabies, which is being reported this year at twice the 1978 rate.

The state health department has recorded 567 animal rabies cases this year, compared to 563 for all of 1978. Texas accounts for one-fourth of all reported cases this year.

This year's statistics break down to 450 skunks, or 80 percent; 44 dogs; 24 cattle; 16 cats; 12 bats; 9 horses; 7

foxes; and 5 raccoons. "It's difficult to believe that with the thousands of rabid animals in

However, two children from the Eagle Pass-Piedras Negras, Mexico, area recently became infected with the disease. Mexican officials report a girl died of rabies there. And a 8-year-old Mexican boy, who resides in Eagle Pass, is in critical condition at a San Antonio hospital with the disease.

However, the shots are not 100 percent effective, said Dr. Charles Webb, head of the health department's communicable disease division.

Rabies cases are confirmed by the state health laboratory before entering the record books. Heads of suspected animals are shipped to the Austin lab, where brain tissue is tested for the virus.

Despite the alarming numbers of rabid skunks, control of wild animals is considered impractical. As of Sept. 1, it will be illegal or sell skunks for pets although individuals may own them. Vaccinated pets provide the best buffer between humans and the highly contagious virus, Moore added. Eagle Pass and El Paso have the worst rabid dog problem, with 11 and 20 cases reported, respectively, this

Carter's action on refugees praised in Asia

BALI, Indonesia (AP) — Some Southeast Asian officials today praised President Carter's "good intentions" in doubling the monthly U.S. quota for boat people fleeing Vietnam, but others said the action does little to solve the overall refugee prob-

Carter's announcement in Tokyo Thursday that the United States now will accept 14,000 refugees a month failed to take into account refugees from Cambodia and Laos, the Thai minister said.

Oil hike to hurt Third World

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - OPEC's higher oil prices are going to hit the developing countries of the Third World with a one-two punch, U.N. economists predict

First, they wil have to pay more for imported oil themselves. It cost them about $18 billion last year, and one U.N. official, calling his estimate conservative, said the bill could climb to $27 billion in 1979. Another expert said the cost might run as high as $35

Second, because the industrialized countries will have to pay more for their oil imports, they will have less money to spend on raw materials and manufactured goods from the Third World. That will reduce the developing countries' export earnings.

Attack helicopter was Zambian

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) - It was a Zambian air force helicopter - not one from Zimbabwe Rhodesia as at first thought - that flew over the Joshua Nkomo's headquarters here today, drawing fire from the ZAPU guerrillas, informed sources said.

The guerrillas of Nkomo's Zimbabwe African People's Union evidently assumed they were again being attacked by Zimbabwe Rhodesian troops, who landed in several helicopters earlier in the week and destroyed a ZAPU house on the outskirts of Lusaka, the capital.

Initial reports today said the helicopter fired shots at the headquarters and ZAPU guerrillas and guards returned the fire. No casualties or damage were

Carter retains sanction power

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter retains the authority to continue indefinitely the U.S. trade embargo against Zimbabwe Rhodesia as the result of new House action.

But efforts continue in Congress to compel the president to end the sanctions either immediately or by some fixed date. Those favoring an end to the embargo say they will try to amend every relevant piece of legislation that comes along to achieve their

After four hours of debate Thursday night the House refused, 242-147, to adopt an amendment that would have ended the sanctions Dec. 1 and stripped the president of power to retain them on his own

It then adopted, 350-37, a bill which leaves that authority in the president's hands.

Israel to release American

RAMLEH, Israel (AP) - An Israeli parole board today approved the early release of Terre Fleener, the 24-year-old American from San Antonio, Texas, imprisoned for 20 months for spying for the Palestine Liberation Organization, and ordered her to leave Israel immediately, her lawyer said.

"After looking at all the material submitted to them, the commissioners decided to release her on condition that she immediately leave the country," attorney Felicia Langer said.

Gromyko's remarks criticized

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Carter's top arms control adviser said today Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko damaged prospects for SALT II ratification by calling on the Senate not to amend the treaty.

"The Senate has a momentous and responsible constitutional task to provide advice and consent. It does not need instruction from the Soviet Union," said Gen. George M. Seignious, director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Seignious's remarks were prepared for delivery at a trade and security seminar in New York City. Gromyko told a news conference in Moscow it would be impossible to reopen negotiations if the Senate refuses to ratify the SALT treaty or amends

Basques explode bombs

MADRID, Spain (AP) - Basque terrorist bombs went off today in three coastal resorts as separatist guerrillas stepped up their avowed terror campaign to cripple the Spanish tourist industry. Police said there were no injuries in the explosions and damage was slight.

Authorities received a telephone threat and evacuated 180 occupants of the Hotel Cimbel in the Mediterranean town of Benidorm before dawn and a bomb exploded two hours later. Some of the frightened tourists immediately asked for their bills and

Police said bomb damage was confined to a garden area and only a few plants were destroyed.

Earlier a bomb exploded in a photo shop in Benidorm, north of the city of Alicante on Spain's eastern coast. Police ordered extra patrols around the city, a favorite resort for British vacationers.

In Malaga, heart of Spain's Mediterranean southern sun coast, police detonated a bomb after a street sweeper found it in a garbage can.

Good news, indeed

The Tuesday announcement apparently clearing the way for smoother sailing in the proposed establishment of the Allison Permian Basin Cancer Therapy Center at Midland Memorial Hospital was good news for Midland and the Permian Basin Empire.

JAMES N. ALLISON (1902-1975)

First off, officials of the Midland County Hospital District, announced that a regional advisory committee to help plan and operate the proposed facility is being appointed. The center will be developed as a truly regional institution, which is great.

Then, it was noted that more advanced equipment would be purchased for the center, in line with an expected recommendation of a nationally-recognized expert in the field.

· Furthermore, it was announced that the extra equipment will be funded with a $500,000 donation from Mrs. Helon Y. Allison of Midland, who recently gave the original $1.5 million for the center. This most recent gift, in addition to the previous and most generous one, truly is something great, representing as it does Mrs. Allison's sincere desire to establish the center which can and will serve residents of this vast region.

The new gift is contingent on receipt of a certificate of need from the Texas Health Facilities Commission at Austin. That certificate, incidentally, must be granted before construction of the proposed facility can begin.

The certificate, as you will recall, had been opposed by officials of Odessa's Medical Center Hospital, who contended that the Midland center, as originally planned, was a duplicate of facilities already available at Odessa.

It now is believed that that barrier will be hurdled with the naming of a regional advisory committee and the planned purchase of the additional equipment. This also is good news. The advisory committee will include two members each from Midland, Ector and Howard counties, plus at least four others from the other 14 counties in the region. The regional concept appears to be an excellent one. It was worked out in a meeting of hospital officials and physicians from Midland, Big Spring and Odessa. Hopefully, the overall plan as proposed will be favorably accepted by a majority of physicians of the region. Eventual affiliation with the M.D. Anderson Hospital at Houston also is planned and desired.

JAMES N. ALLISON JR. (1931-1978)

The proposed Midland Center will be owned by Midland Memorial Hospital and operated by its board of trustees. The advisory committee, however, will recommend bylaws, policies and procedures for admittance to staff privileges at the center. The board also will help with the staff recruitment and development.

It also has been made clear that the center's staff will be separate from the Midland Memorial Hospital staff, although physicians may be granted privileges on both medical staffs."

The center, which will be housed in an 18,000 square foot facility, will provide a full range of radiation cancer therapy and will have chemotherapy capabilities.

And, with final approval by the controlling state agency, all of this will be available right here at home in the Permian Basin Empire of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico. Yes, indeed, it is a marvelous development of a much needed health service, made possible through the kind, thoughtful interest and generosity of a Midland resident as a living memorial to her husband, James N. Allison Sr., and son, James N. Allison Jr.

Dangers of SALT treaty as viewed by columnist

The president replied, "Yes, I do. I believe it with all my heart. We, in the aftermath of the war, in assessing the terrible costs, have come to realize the futility of war. I believe mankind has now reached the stage when men can sit down at a table and settle their differences. And that is what this treaty is all about.

My opinion of the SALT II treaty is that it will serve merely to lull the United States into a false feeling of security, while giving the Soviet Union a chance to plot, plan and prepare for war.

That is my opinion of SALT II because that is precisely the effect of SALT I. The most intense and massive phase of the Soviet military buildup occurred after SALT I was signed and during the period of socalled detente.

Even as the finishing touches have been added to SALT II, the Russians have pursued an aggressive pincer movement aimed at Middle Eastern oil, boldly supplying arms and surrogate soldiers in Africa and engineering a coup in Afghanistan; harrassing American forces in the Indian Ocean; reinforcing Cuba with MIG-23s; warning us not to intervene in Iran; and now, gruffly telling the Senate of theUnited States that it must not amend a treaty.

These are all facts, not opinions.

They can be rationalized perhaps but not denied and they do not speak of a nation interested in either peace or disarmament. They speak of a nation bent on conquest.

I do not regard President Carter as a perceptive statesman but in this matter he is no more foolish than his predecessors. Dr. Henry Kissinger only confirms my low opinion of his character by sniping at the Carter administration for continuing policies of appeasement which he himself for anyone to see. The Soviet Union is preparing for a final confrontation with the West and SALT II is part of its plan, a ploy to lull and confuse the United States in order to prevent it from taking the steps necessary to counter Soviet military superiority.

The most dangerous part of SALT II is the commitment to begin immediately to negotiate SALT III for it is by holding out a new hope that the Soviets, American communists, and their pacifist allies will try to defeat every effort to strengthen our defenses or to move boldly in the diplomatic field. It is the "spirit of SALT" that is most deadly.

INSIDE REPORT:

President may be in for surprise from Joint Chiefs

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - President Carter's claim that the Joint Chiefs of Staff "will testify for" the new strategic arms treaty (SALT II) before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee astonished the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

'We were flabbergasted," one of the five chiefs commented privately the day after Carter's televised speech to a joint session of Congress.

What "flabbergasted" the chiefs, led by Air Force Gen. David C. Jones, the chairman, was that Carter apparently had misunderstood them when he asked their opinion on the treaty the day before he left for the Vienna summit with Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev. Either that or the president, deliberetely boxing them in, listed them as supporters of SALT II while knowing they had not committed themselve. In plain fact, the chiefs do not even agree with each other on SALT II. Like most other Americans, they split according to hawkish, dovish and inbetween opinions. What they told Carter in that last session before the Vienna summit was that each would testify on his own during Senate hearings scheduled to start next month. They will not present a "collegiate" front, one Pentagon official told us. . . Beyond that, the chiefs feel that even if he is given the full benefit of the doubt, the president erred in telling Congress they would testify "for" the treaty "in detail and in public." At least one of the chiefs, probably two and possibly three say privately they will express strong reservations - for reasons of military security - about several parts of the treaty. However, they add, they will say that nonmilitary considerations such as "psychological and political issues" to be decided by the president could outweigh military concerns. But failing in that way to testify against the treaty is a long distance from testifying for it. Thus, Carter might be in for a bit of a surprise from U.S. military leaders who have been under severe pressure in this administration to toe the line laid down by the White House. Deeply worried by the fearsome momentum of the Soviet nuclear and conventional arms build-up, at least some of the chiefs do not want to mortgage their independence, or risk their reputations, by thoughtless cheers for SALT II. FORD VS. TEDDY? A confidential poll in Virginia, the only southern state captured by Gerald Ford in 1976, shows the former president as the only Republican leader beating Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in head-to-head pairings.

The poll by North American Marketing of Richmond, Va., sampled 630 voters across the state in late May and gave Ford a 50 percent to 45 percent edge (the balance undecided) over high-flying Teddy Kennedy. Kennedy savaged other leading prospective Republican nominees in the headto-head pairings. The closest was Tennessee Sen. Howard Baker, topped by Kennedy 53 to 38 percent.

Ford's strength dominated the Republican field, just as Kennedy dominated the Democrats. Even in the Dixie state of Virginia, Kennedy ran ahead of President Carter 54 to 37 percent, and ahead of California Gov. Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown almost 2-

But the bad news for the Carter White House was Carter's weakness, not Kennedy's strength. Asked whether they would vote to re-elect Jimmy Carter president (no opponent named), only 22 percent of all respondents said "yes" — 62 percent said "no." Carter did not gain a plurality in respondents to that question, even from Democrat voters alone- or more surprisingly, from Virginia's black voters. He lost among Democrats by 43 to 39 percent; among blacks by 44 to 41 percent.

THE WORM TURNS

Only a few months after his policies led to the forced resignations of several hundred officers considered by some intelligence experts to have been the CIA's best, retired Adm. Stansfield Turner has ordered a recruiting campaign that, among other gimmicks, is based on solicitations for help to those very same Turner's director of personnel, Harry E. Fitzwater, mailed scores of letters last month seeking aid. "As you are aware," he wrote, "recent years have seen a number of retirements from the (Central Intelligence) Agency in the operations area. This has resulted in a need for larger numbers of career trainees during the next few years.'

In short, having depleted the ranks of the all-important operations agents by forced "retirements," Turner is unable to refill those ranks. President Carter arrives in South Korea today

CAMP CASEY, South Korea (AP) - President Carter arrived at this army base this evening to spend the night with U.S. troops 10 miles from the demilitarized zone.

The president left Tokyo today at the end of an economic summit of the seven major industrial democracies.

After landing in Seoul at Kimpo International Airport, Carter shook hands with South Korean President Park Chung-hee, who had not been scheduled to meet him until Saturday, and reviewed an honor guard lining a red carpet. The two were mobbed by photographers and U.S. Secret Service agents had to clear a path for

for the president, including flag-decorated streets and a four-story poster of Carter and Park. A ticker tape parade was planned for Saturday and officials said they expected tens of thousands of citizens to turn out. Though most South Koreans seemed pleased with prospect of the visit, anti-government dissident groups have issued statements saving it should have been canceled to protest the government's suppression of human rights.

Two issues promise to dominate Carter's visit to Korea: his now-frozen pullout of U.S. troops and the Korean government's suppression of political opposition.

The Carter administration pledged initially to pull out America's 31,000 troops from South Korea, but has halted the withdrawal because U.S. intelligence estimates showed that North Korea had more military strength than previously supposed.

Administration officials, who asked not to be identified, said Carter would discuss security matters with President Park but that the American president was not expected to make any announcement about future troop withdrawals during his visit.

will tell Park privately that he has decided to cancel the scheduled troop withdrawals.

The officials also said Carter would stress to Park the administration's commitment to human rights, but would try not to interfere in the internal politics of Park's authoritarian regime

Carter had hoped to dramatize his human rights position by meeting with some political opponents of Park. As one administration official put it several days ago, Carter "will have an opportunity to meet with a cross section of South Korea political life and ... this will give him an opportunity to get a better sense of the problems that exist in Korea." Park, however, has made such meetings difficult by placing about 60 religious and political opposition figures in jail or under house arrest in advance of the U.S. president's visit.

Opposition leaders have called the arrests an intensified suppression of human rights by Park, and say it is ironic that the crackdown has come just before Carter arrived to press for a softer line.

Carter was scheduled to meet with Park on Saturday and with Korean church leaders and members of the

Chatting with reporters while she shopped for a tie for President Carter at a handicraft exhibit in this ancient imperial capital, the first lady said:

"I just think we need to go home and see if there's anything Jimmy can do" about the gasoline lines and the crops left rotting because of an independent truckers' strike. Mrs. Carter, who passed up the ties commenting that they cost $60 each, could not quite restrain 11-year-old daughter Amy from answering with an emphatic "yes" when asked if she "That's a good answer," the first lady said, "But I understand why we have to go home.

She said Carter was concerned about "the problems with energy and gas lines at home and crops in the field...and that's the reason he's cutting the trip short." Mrs. Carter also said she was "very distressed" by the decision of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to raise oil prices to an average of $20.90 a barrel.

"It seems to me a very bad situation," she said, "particularly for all the people at home. I think it just emphasizes again to us that we are going to have to conserve and not be so dependent on the OPEC countries conclusion of their Far East journey on Sunday. But the White House announced Thursday the family will fly home after Carter's state visit to Korea ends Sunday so the president can meet with congressmen and staff aides on the energy crisis.

Mrs. Carter and her daughter arrived here Thursday on the famed Bullet Train from Toyko, where her husband was attending a seven-nation economic summit. They donned kimonos at a private dinner hosted by Japan's first lady, Shigeko Ohira, enjoyed hot tub baths, and slept on the floor Japanese-style.

Before leaving for the return trip to Toyko today, the first lady visited the traditional industries museum and saw displays of weaving, and jewelry

LCRA considering Stacy Dam appeal

AUSTIN-The Texas Water Commission has refused to reconsider its action in granting a permit to Colorado River Municipal Water District for construction of Stacy Reservoir - but it appears the matter is headed for a legal chal-

The TWC had set a formal rehearing on the matter, due to changes made earlier in its final order granting the application.

Those changes were to conform the language of the order regarding furnishing of CRMWD of an opeating manual to court decisions on what constitutes a "final" order.

No additional legal matters were considered by the TWC.

Both the Lower Colorado River Authority and the city of Austin, the princpal opponents to the application, had indicated earlier that an appeal would be filed once the administration action in the case was completed.

An LCRA official confirmed Wednesday that an appeal was being considered, but Austin attorney Fred Werkenthin, who represented the authority throughout the extended hearings, was out of the city and unavailable for comment.

Werkenthin's office said the appeal was "under discussion." Other parties involved in the case, including

Austin, Lake Travis Improvement Association, wholesale customers of LCRA and two irrigation companies, are expected to join with the LCRA in the legal challenge.

The action would be filed in Travis County.

Police free child-like woman bound, locked up by mother

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Charlotte Elaine Mottinger told police she has been a virtual prisoner in her mother's home for nearly 20 years frequently beaten, bound hand and foot and locked in a bathroom for days at a time.

Long Beach Police said they freed the grown but child-like woman late Wednesday when she was found tied in the back seat of her mother's car. The mother, Ethel Mae Mottinger, 61, of Long Beach was arrested and held on $1,000 bond on suspicion of false imprisonment, police said.

Thomas Hibbison, one of two officers who found the 33-year-old woman, told a news conference Thursday that Miss Mottinger did not appear undernourished, although she was small and slightly built. He said he first thought she was about 15 years old.

She had three bruises on her head, Hibbison said. The woman was staying with relatives here after being freed by police.

Hibbison said he and his partner, Allan Huff, stopped a car driven by Mrs. Mottinger at about 8:20 p.m. Wednesday after being notified of a possible kidnapping.

Inside were two small children -Mrs. Mottinger's niece and nephew - and, in the back seat, Miss Mottinger, bound and tied to a bolt in the floorboard, the officer said.

Police said that after being released, the woman was trembling and visibly frightened, and asking over and over, "You're not going to drown me, are you?'

Police said her mother was telling her, "Don't talk to them."

Miss Mottinger later told police her mother had warned repeatedly that if she ever talked to police, they would beat her and drown her, officers

The woman said the ordeal began at age 13, when her father died, Hibbison said. Miss Mottinger said she spent days tied up in a bathroom without food and was beaten with electrical cords, a broom, a belt and, at least once, with a soft drink bottle. She claimed she was fed mostly a concoction of rice, corn, bread and water, he

"I had been a bad girl," Miss Mottinger told police. "I stole some bread because I was hungry. I had not eaten for three days. About a month ago, I stole a candy bar. That time I was left tied in the bathroom for 10 days.'

Nicaragua missionaries charge Somoza tortures

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) - A group of missionaries accused President Anastasio Somoza's national guard of a year-long campaign of torture and murder. They said they advised the U.S. government of the situation but their letters were dismissed as leftist propaganda.

"They said it wasn't true and that we were dreamers and communists and all of that," one of the missionaries told an impromptu news conference Thursday evening in a Managua

"It seems that not until this reporter (ABC-TV reporter Bill Stewart) from the States was killed by the national guard that the U.S. stood up and said, 'Aha, something is happening here.' And it's happened to hundreds and hundreds of people and campesinos (peasants) ... They've teen cruelly tortured.

The missionaries asked not to be named or identified by nationality for fear of reprisals.

"If there is not some international clamor about it, the guard will keep on slaughtering people," one of them

Another said that guardsmen went through the Managua barrio of San Judas recently, killing everyone 14 to 22 years old they found in their homes.

One missionary said sources she would not identify told her the Somoza government recently received 10 planes and 150 machine guns from the United States, but she said she did not knew whether the arms were bought on the black market or sent by the U.S. government. Washington announced an end to all military aid to Nicaragua months ago.

The Sandinista guerrillas withdrew Thursday from the barrios they had held in eastern Managua more than two weeks, leaving the national guard in control of bombed, twisted and charred ruins. Freshly-dug graves, marked by mounds of dirt and a few flowers, were common in back

The barrios of Campos Bruces and Reynaga still smoldered from three nights of bombing by national guard planes. Houses were pocked with bullet holes and the streets were littered with cartridge casings and shrapnel.

"They were killing with impunity, they were machine-gunning everybody," one resident said. He estimated 600 people died in the two barrios since Sunday.

Sandinistas retreat to regroup

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) -The Sandinista rebels gave up the Managua slums after two weeks of fighting but said they were withdrawing to regroup for more combat. President Anastasio Somoza failed to muster a quorum for a session of Congress and met with the new U.S. ambassador, Lawrence Pezzullo, amid reports the envoy asked him to

The New York Times reported Somoza told U.S. officials he would step down if his national guard and ruling Liberal Nationalist Party were given a role in a transitional government. U.S. Embassy political officer Jack Martin called the report "pure speculation," and Somoza's private secretary, Max Kelly, called it "absolutely

Somoza told the Colombian newspaper La Republica: "If the Congress asks me to resign, I will dissolve it."

Only 28 of the 70 congressmen showed up for the session Somoza called Thursday, eight short of a quo-

"We're going to Masaya," one of the guerrillas shouted to reporters as he and hundreds of others streamed out of the slums on foot and in captured national guard trucks toward the rebel-held city 20 miles south of Managua. They were armed with automatic assault rifles, rocket grenades and heavy machine guns.

The national guard claimed control of Managua today for the first time in nearly three weeks, and a top Somoza aide said dislodging the guerrillas had freed troops and planes to push the rebels from the strip they have been holding along the Costa Rican border. "You're going to see something surprising tomorrow, and after that comes Masaya," the aide said. A guerrilla source said the Sandinistas pulled out of Managua because of heavy guard fire and because they were running low on food and ammunition. The guard, Somoza's army and police force, had been hitting the eastern barrios from the air and with heavy rocket andmortar attacks. Government planes dropped 250and 500-pound bombs on the rebel trongholds again Wednesday night, and on Thursday morning infantry began moving in behind a Sherman tank and armored cars. A guard plan rocketed Sandinista sniper positions and a C-47 gunship strafed the area. By noon most of the area was clear of resistance and the guard began tearing down the rebels' paving stone barricades.

The barrios were full of twisted metal roofing, burned timbers and shattered brick from slum dwellings and stores destroyed in the fighting. Residents said hundreds had died in the guard bombing and shelling, and many houses had freshly dug graves in back yards.

Some had "house with children" scrawled in large black letters on the outside walls in vain hopes the guard would spare them. Others were covered with Sandinista slogans such as 'Sandino Lives," "Death to Somoand "A Free Country or

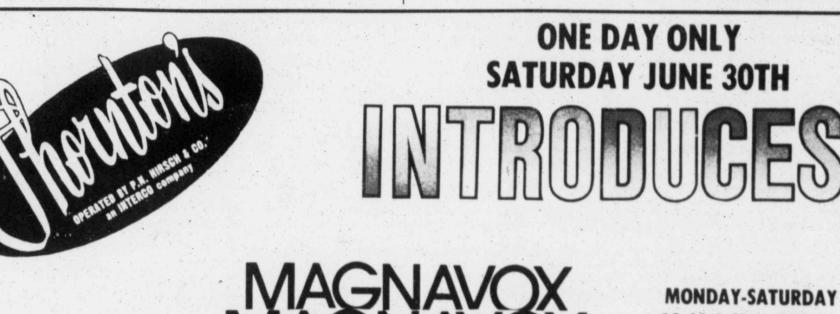

Brass shell casings, shrapnel from bombs, dud grenades and mortar shells littered the streets of the barrios, and many residents told of guardsmen shooting indiscriminately into houses with heavy machine

One man said his daughter was trying to get back into his house after the 7 p.m. curfew, but the guard shot and killed her at the gate. She was buried in the backyard. Other residents simply raised their hands palm upward in despair and shook their heads when reporters approached.

Despite their retreat from Managua, the Sandinistas still control many provincial cities, including Leon, the nation's second largest 55 miles northwest of the capital, and a swath of territory north of the Costa Rican border.

But so far the guard has prevented them from moving from the frontier area northward to the city of Rivas, where they hope to establish a fivemember provisional government

Spreading fuel crunch clouds holiday travel plans

A Rhode Island supplier said sales for traditional clambakes at the shore were off and a Maine town offered tourists free gasoline, as the spreading fuel crunch clouded travel plans for the weekend and July Fourth holi-

A spot check by the Associated Press showed that weekend gasoline supplies were tight in 35 states, with the biggest pinch in the heavily populated cities in the East.

A sign of the times: increased gas poisoning

HOUSTON (AP) — Gasoline poisoning has increased tenfold since people began siphoning to beat the fuel shortage and long lines, says the director of the Southeast Poison Center. "We've been mighty luckey no one has died," Mike Ellis said Thursday. "A teaspoonful of gasoline can

Ellis said the center, which is located at the University of Texas Medical Branch, now gets almost 10 calls a day reporting incidents of gasoline poisoning, compared with last year's average of one daily.

It has received about 100 calls in June alone, he said, easily exceeding all reports of gasoline poisoning to the center in 1978. "One of the most dangerous things is siphoning gasoline with a hose and your mouth, or leaving it out for kids to get hold of," said Ellis. "Your chance of survival is 50-50, and those aren't good odds when you're betting When gasoline is sucked into the lungs, it coats the lungs and prevents the vital exchange between oxygen and carbon dioxide. If heavy enough, that barrier can cut off oxygen to the body and kill. Or, while seeking to dilute the gasoline, the lungs might flood themselves with fluid, cutting off air.

Plenty of gas for boats

AUSTIN (AP) - Marinas are exempt from Gov. Bill Clements' odd-even gas rationing plan, says the governor's special energy adviser.

Ed Vetter issued the ruling to the Boating Trades Association of Texas. Vetter also said the 20-gallon maximum gasoline purchase could be split ORANGE, Calif. (AP) - Tony Grasso is tired of battling the government, the oil companies and irate motorists. So beginning Monday, he's charging $5 a gallon for gas at his Chevron service station.

"I got one customer already committed to come down at 8 a.m. at $5 a gallon," the feisty 57-year-old dealer said Thursday.

Grasso is already in legal hot water for charging $1.51 a gallon — his pumps read 75.9 cents a half-gallon — and he knows that $5 a gallon is well over the federal price ceiling.

In Orange, Calif., a dealer who has been having trouble getting adequate allocations said he will begin selling fuel for $5 a gallon Monday. Tony Grasso said he's aiming at drivers who hate lines

In Miami, the gas crunch was blamed for the suicide of 60-year-old James Rogers, who ran a newspaperdelivery service. Rogers' wife said he was "extremely despondent over not being able to get gas to deliver his newspapers" because of rationing.

With end-of-month shortages, fuel blockades by striking truckers and threats of a shutdown July 1 by service station owners complicating the gas picture, officials took these

-Pennsylvania and Rhode Island officials agreed to release part of their states' emergency "set-aside" supplies of gas for July to stations that stay open over the weekend.

-New York City Mayor Edward Koch ordered a crackdown on drivers who violate "odd-even" rationing regulations. He also directed police to visit every gas station in the city today to inform operators of state rules mandating weekend openings for some outlets.

"We want to get credibility back so that when a motorist gets up in the morning, the first thing he thinks of is coffee, not gasoline," Koch said. -Vermont set up a telephone "Gas-

tion on gasoline supplies in the state. -The seaside tourist spot of Trenton, Maine, persuaded both local station operators to give $5 worth of gas to anyone who stays in town and shops this weekend. "Not many vacationers have made it up our way lately," said Whitney Austin, president of Trenton's Chamber of Commerce, which will pay for the gas. Motorists' fears of gasless highways continued to take their toll on tourist areas around the country.

A fish supplier in Rhode Island said the gas crisis has cut into his business by as much as 50 percent. "We're usually taking a lot of orders for Fourth of July clambakes but right now there's nothing coming in," said the supplier, who asked his name not be used.

Delaware today became the 10th state to begin odd-even rationing this summer and Rhode Island was slated to join the list, which includes the District of Columbia, next week.

The gas picture was further complicated by threats by some dealers to shut down starting July 1 to protest federal regulations that restrict profit margins. Threatened shutdowns in New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania were called off Thursday at the last minute.

Meanwhile, Mobil Oil Corp. said dealers in the District of Columbia and 10 Eastern states would receive part of their July allocations this week as a "temporary expedient."

And Shell Oil Co. spokesman Everett Vilander, in Baltimore, said the firm had offered to give dealers early delivery of one load each borrowed against July allocations.

But Sun Oil Co. said the amount of gasoline available to most dealers in July will be only about 70 percent of last year's supplies, down from 71 percent in June.

Four more Texas counties covered by odd-even plan

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements' odd-even gasoline rationing plan will cover four more counties - Galveston, Denton, Fort Bend and Waller starting Monday.

The governor announced at his weekly news conference Thursday he had added the counties to eight already under odd-even rationing. Since Monday is an even-numbered day - July 2 - only cars whose license plates end with an even number will be able to buy gasoline on the first day of gas sales restrictions in the four new counties Clements said authorities in the eight counties already under the rationing plan tell him they "are satisfied with it and are convinced the lines are shorter and the system is indeed working. He said "misbehavior is at a minimum" in the gasoline lines. "I am not familiar with any incidents in that regard." He mentioned with approval a new Dallas ordinance providing up to a $200 fine for line-jumping.

Clements said "first of the month allocations will ease" somewhat the present tight gasoline supply.

Bill Lauderback, administrative assistant to energy adviser Ed Vetter, said the governor's office would watch the gas situation for two more weekends before deciding about Sunday sales. He said the odd-even rationing system might leave stations enough gasoline to voluntarily open Clements said he "can't understand" why the U.S. Department of ties. That's not my approach," he Energy allows new service stations said.

"They've done such a good job of botching up the program that I just assume this is one of their mistakes," he said. ... "If there is anything we don't need in Texas at this time, it is more filling stations. We need them like a hole in the head.

On other subjects, Clements said: - His talks with striking independent truckers on Wednesday left him hopeful they would start transporting farm produce and other goods again

- He believes Attorney General Mark White will uphold his vetoes of several appropriations bill riders directing expenditure of more than $95 million

"If I hadn't thought those were valid vetoes, I wouldn't have done it,"

Chairman Bill Presnal of the House Appropriations Committee contends a governor cannot veto riders and requested the attorney general's

Camp Fire Girls learn craft, cooking skills

Girls day camp was held recently in Hogan Park, with first, second and third grade Blue Birds attending.

Their activities for a week included singing, games, crafts, hikes, a cookout, nature projects, pantomines, swimming, ceremonial and flag ceremony.

In the cookout, third graders cooked their dinner in clay flower pots. They share with readers how it is done.

First, line a pot with foil, shining side out. Then, cover the bottom with small rocks. Put about six inches of sand on top of the rocks and smooth out the sand evenly. Pile several charcoal briquets on top of each other. Light briquets and you can cook directly on top of them or place a grill over the top which you can place the cooking pot on. The girls cooked spaghetti, bis-cuits and banana boats

BANANA BOATS Peel banana and slice length-wise in half. Place banana halves on a square of foil, shing side down. Put one-half of a whole chocolate candy bar and whole marshmallows between banana halves. Wrap in foil. Place directly on coals until marshmallows and chocolate have melted.

Females from junior high to middle age are buying the tight jeans. Chemin de Fers in junior high sizes cost about $22, a fact that causes many mothers to shudder. Mostly, however, it's girls in their teens who are willing to plunk their money down, according to sales clerks.

For regular sizes, the straight-leg jeans range anywhere from very plain models for $17 or so to $40 for certain Maurice Sasson models.

And the prices are climbing steadily along with everything else. Sassons were about $34 a few months ago: now they are edging up around $38.

They are worn with loose blouses or unconstructed jackets.
Often, they are belted,
perhaps with a doublewrap leather belt, and worn with clogs or high spike heels.

AP seeking satellite broadcast system

NEW YORK (AP) -The Associated Press applied with the Federal Communications Commission Wednesday for the establishment of a broadcast quality satellite delivery system.

The news service said the system would initially involve the licensing of 15-foot earth stations in 37 cities for delivery of the Associated Press Radio Network and certain limited data services for newspapers.

"This is merely the first step in the creation of a total satellite delivery system for AP services," said David L. Bowen, AP vice president for communica-"We envision an eventual involvement of satellite earth stations ranging from 15 feet in diameter down to the smallest diameter the FCC will allow, covering every AP city in the country.

The initial application included specific requests for the location of 15-foot earth stations in Miami and San Diego Application will be made for additional specific sites as necessary paperwork is completed. "Since the FAA al-

Four persons die, 70 hurt in Iowa Plains tornadoes

MANSON, Iowa (AP) — Tornadoes that raked the Iowa Plains wiped out neighborhoods and forced evacuation of a small town where two tanks holding a toxic chemical ruptured. Four persons were killed and about 70 others injured, authorities said.

About 40 twisters spotted Thursday night uprooted trees, knocked out power and telephone lines and ripped through homes and businesses in six communities in northern and central Iowa, officials

The National Guard was called out to help the two hardest hit towns, Manson and Algona, which had been preparing to start a week-long celebration of its 125th anniversary Saturday. Tornadoes also were reported Thursday in Minne-injured in Manson, officials said. Some 24 businesses and 100 homes were reported destroyed or heavily Police Officer John Ewing said no homes were left in the area from downtown to the southeast edge of town. "It's just gone, clear out to the edge of town," Ewing said. "The houses are gone."

Harold Ricklefs, of rural Fort Dodge, rushed to Manson and had to dig his mother out of the rubble that was left of her kitchen.

"It's a mess, I'll tell you," Ricklefs said as he surveyed damage in the farming town of 1,900 people. "It just flattened houses. The streets are all town, just kind of picked things up and laid them over," said State Sen. Berl Priebe of Algona. "There's a hardware store, Graham's Hardware, where there's nothing left - just a slab of cement, said Priebe's son Gary, who also lives near Algona, population 6.000. Also hit by a twister was Renwick, 30 miles

Lester Roloff weeps after indictment

CORPUS CHRISTI, the law." Texas (AP) - Evangelist Lester Roloff spent a tearful 65th birthday after being indicted for operating a child care home without a license. The indictment, returned by a Nueces County grand jury Thursday, came less than a week after Roloff yielded to state pressure to close the Rebekah Home for Girls.

"What is my crime? Is it a crime to do good?" asked Roloff, who shed tears Thursday night as his congregation sang "Happy Birthday" during a celebration at the People's Church.

Roloff is accused of operating the home without a license. The charge carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

"Our county attorney, Mike Westergren, was very insistent that the grand jury indict this notorious criminal as a lawbreaker," Roloff told a nearly full house.

"At the age of 65 today, facing criminal charges, when all I've done is help people and never taken a penny of your tax money," Roloff said, his voice breaking.

"I could become popular by getting a license tomorrow morning, but that would be my debt. When my conscience is gone, there's no way to

1980 Democratic Convention set for Madison Square Garden

NEW YORK (AP) - When the 1980 Democratic National Convention begins in New York, Jimmy Carter will be on friendly turf if Mayor Edward I. Koch has anything to say about it.

"We're going to have the convention and renominate the next president," Koch said Thursday after the Democrats announced they would hold the convention at Madison Square Garden.

Carter was nominated in New York in 1976. The 1980 Democratic convention begins Aug. 11. The Republicans picked Detroit for their national convention, which will begin July 14, 1980.

Police Commissioner Robert McGuire warned there could be more demonstrations in 1980 than in 1976 because the Democrats are in power and may be held responsible for the nation's ills.

A word about the toasts. Given by men high up in the ministry of culture, they're not just the usual diplomatic placebos demanded by protocol. They're expressions of the Chinese' sincere desire for reconciliation with the rest of the world after an era of mistrust and isolation. can vouch for their sincerity. an elaborate TV special. One of the guests at our first luncheon was our ambassador, Leonard Woodcock, who, we know, is a great spotter of trends. I hate to leave the Peking Hotel because once I do, I could just as well be a steamfitter from Akron, Ohio. The only curiosity I arouse is due to my weapon, the golf club I always carry with me. I tell one Chinese who's staring at it that it's my moneymaker - and he laughs. I may never leave.

But it's different in the Peking Hotel, which is packed with American tourists who recognize me on sight or are made aware of my presence by one of my shills in the lobby who yells, "There's Bob Hope!" But they're not too reliable. This morning at breakfast, I had to start the applause myself... Among the tourists are the 13 American mayors who are giving the Chinese urban officials the benefit of their expertise. After all, we're way ahead of them in air and water pollution, bumper-to-bumper traffic and

The sights in Peking are awesome. Tien an Men Square, the largest in the world, is an immense expanse which, on this Sunday morning, is crowded with lines of people waiting to have their pictures taken by professional photographers. I tell my interpreter, Chi Ching, to ask one of them what he'd pay for the honor of taking a picture of a famous American movie star. He answers her in Chinese but I understand it. The same to him and his ancestors!

The Forbidden City, across the boulevard from the square, is a succession of palaces that grow more fabulous as you go along. It's very impressive... and tiring. We never did make it to Coal Hill which overlooks the city. The St. Bernard with the keg of brandy was sick

We couldn't help noticing, though, that almost every palace was guarded by a statue of a snarling lion ready to claw you to death. The resemblance to Don Rickles was uncanny.

Midland College's summer enrollment sets record - 939

Summer classes at Midland College attract a

For the current first summer session, there are 939 students taking classes. This is an increase from 898 who signed up for the first summer term last year and marks a record number for a summer session.

A number of students were enrolled at Midland College during the last fall or spring long term, and there are quite a few brand-new high school graduates tryng to get a head start on thei college work.

But more than 400 of the summer school students came from one of more than 80 different community colleges, four-year colleges and universities represented on the MC campus this

"We traditionally have a pretty good group of students here from other colleges during the summer," registrar Dee Windsor said. "Most of them are either trying to make up a course they failed or get some college credit courses out of the way in order to make their regular course load lighter next fall. A few of them are here to get a specific course that's offered by Midland

Regardless of the reasons, one could shout a hurrah for the University of Alaska or Pan-American University and get a response.

Texas Tech has the largest group at Midland College this summer with 87 students, followed by Texas A&M with 58. The University of Texas at Austin is represented by 39 students and Angelo State by 34.

But they also are here from schools in Colorado, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Minnesota, New Mexico, Ohio, Kansas, Louisiana, Arizona, Virginia

"Some of the summer students started at Midland College while they were still in high school and come back every summer for one or two courses," Windsor said. "They are just like old friends who come back again and again."

And the parking lots offer a wide range of contrasts, with cars boasting stickers from Purdue or San Diego State parked nexts to those from SMU or LSU - and all of them displaying the familiar green and gold stickers from Mid-

In fact, there may be times when the Midland College Chaparrals feel amost outnumbered by Cowboys, Mustangs, Cougars, Buffaloes, Tigers and Bears that show up each summer.

Truckers still disrupting traffic

By The Associated Press

Truckers have pulled back from blockades in New England and National Guardsmen have begun to go home in other states, but motor freight traffic remains widely disrupted as violence continues to mark the independent truck drivers strike.

Rigs that had blocked three major central Massachusetts truck stops for two weeks pulled away Thursday, and drivers said they hoped the federal government would meet their demands for more and cheaper diesel fuel, higher speed limits and fewer highway regulations.

Connecticut truckers said they would discontinue sporadic fuel pump blockades. Picket lines came down in Michigan and at a major truck stop near Denver, Washington state truckers returned to the road.

More trucks were reported pulling up to produce docks in Virginia, where farmers in Accomack and Northampton counties had been unable to get potatoes and other crops to

There were no reports of widespread food shortages, but grocers had to scramble for supplies. Charles Gill of the Associated Grocers in Wyoming, Kansas and Colorado, said he had purchased beef from local packing plants and arranged rail shipments of oranges from Florida and potatoes from California.

In Dallas, SafewaylStores have increased local produce purchases - at an said warehouses were staying open longer to receive disrupted ship-

Pickets withdrew from oil terminals in Greensboro and Charlotte. N.C., Thursday in response to a court order. National Guardsmen armed with rifles and automatic pistols were stationed at the terminals to prevent disruption of gasoline shipments.

Thirty-year-old Luther Hawkins Moates, 30, of Duncan, S.C., received superficial wounds Thursday when a bullet shattered his steering wheel as he drove down U.S. 301 near Cecilton,

A driver escaped unharmed in a sniper attack north of Denver and several rigs fell victim to nails scattered on Interstate 10 near Mobile.

Meanwhile, Florida National Guard troops went home after driving gasoline trucks to relieve strike-caused shortages, and Minnesota authorities reduced the number of guardsmen on escort duty.

Guard patrols continued in Illinois and West Virginia, but there were no major new incidents.

In a concession to truckers, the Florida Public Service Commission increased the fuel surcharge for drivers under its jurisdiction from 6 percent to 9 percent.

Green Berets face cutbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Army's Green Berets, once lionized as military supermen, are facing another possible cutback as their Vietnamera glamour fades in the changing world.

A proposal now being studied by defense officials has sparked passionate opposition from a dwindling band of Special Forces backers who contend there still is a place for highly-trained unconventional warfare experts.

The Army leadership has recommended a 670-man cut in the 4,100-member strength of the Special

Rotarians hear energy tips

The water heater and cooling and air-conditioning systems make up the 'Big Three" household energy users and wasters, Shug Bowlin of Texas Electric Service Co.'s Midland staff told the Downtown Rotary Club Thursday in the Midland Hilton.

He was speaking on "Operation Tighten-Up," a color slide presentation on energy conservation within the home.

Bowlin recommended that the topend heat on water heaters be adjusted to 140 degrees Fahrenheit, houses be insulated to retain cool air or heat as the season dictates and weatherstripping be applied to doors, windows and attic ways that might contributed to energy loss and waste.

He said water heaters are pre-set at the factory between 160 and 170 de-coeducational.

Bowlin suggested that environmental-control thermostats be set at 78 degrees in the warm season and at 68 degrees in the cool and cold season." For every degree the thermostat is lowered for the cooling system or raised for the heating unit, the cost of operation increases by 5 percent, he

During the summer, the fireplace dampers should be closed to prevent outflow of cool air: Bowlin recommended the use of storm windows, which would trap air and serve as insulation. He also suggested that duct works be insulated; insulation be placed in attics; and air leaks, such as those around outdoor faucets and window frames, be closed via caulk

'I knew we had them when we were in their bullpen in the first inning,' the Texas manager said after the Rangers' 14-4 victory Thursday

Texas erupted for 14 hits and 12 runs in the first two innings against three California pitchers.

Texas' Ferguson Jenkins took care of the rest, racking up his seventh complete game and raising his record to 8-4. He struck out eight and walked only one, holding California to five hits as Texas swept the three-game

The win, the sixth straight for Texas, keeps the Rangers in a firstplace tie with Kansas City and drops the Angels two games back. California had a 5½-game lead eight days ago in the American League Western Division, but has lost seven straight.

Catcher Dave Roberts went 4-for-5 in his second straight night as a replacement for Jim Sundberg, who was hit in the head by a pitch in the first game of the series.

Second baseman Bump Wills was 4-for-6 and designated hitter Eric Soderholm was 3-for-4 with two doubles. Leftfielder Billy Sample was only 1for-5 but knocked in four runs and

With the mound victory, Parker is now 6-5. He threw well for eight innings before vacating with one out in the ninth after the Gold Sox pushed two runs across. The angular righthander scattered ten Gold Sox hits but walked just one and fanned three. Allen retired the last two Amarillo batters to preserve the triumph.

Mark Thurmond, who yielded all six Cub runs, fell to 0-1 with the setback. He allowed seven hits over five frames before stingy Greg Wilkes came on. Wilkes pitched brilliantly, setting down in order the nine batters

But by the time Wilkes came on, the Bruins had all the runs they needed. The key was a five-run fifth inning eruption that featured Alfaro's ninth circuit clout of the campaign.

Mike Turgeon started the Cub fifth with a base hit to left. Then Brian Rosinski, who extended his hit streak to 12 contests, singled. Both runners advanced a base on Bill Hayes' fine sacrifice bunt before Turgeon scored on Dan Rohn's base knock to right, making the count 2-2.

Next, Martin's perfectly executed drag bunt, which he beat out for a hit, pushed Rosinski across the plate. Then Alfaro capped the stanza by smashing a massive three-run homer over the left-center fence that put the hosts ahead 6-3.

Earlier, the Cubs scored their only other run of the contest on Eric Grandy's impressive homer over the 400 foot marker in deep left.

Amarillo's lone tally in the third was courtesy of Paul O'Neill's homer. In the fifth, the Gold Sox scored when Earl Battey singled home Joe Hicks, who'd doubled. Then in the sixth, Steve Smith opened with a two-bagger and scampered home on Gary Ashby's safety.

It was the Gold Sox' not-quite-enough rally in the ninth, though, that had Cub faithful fret-

With one out, O'Neill smacked another solo shot before Parker dishedup a single to Tom Vessey and a long double to Tim Flannery that scored Vessey.

Cub manager Randy Hundley then went with Allen, who efficiently ended the contest.

Even Pirates fail to reform Tim Foli from fistic ways

By The Associated Press

Tim Foli is a scrapper from way back. Now with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the journeyman shortstop has had two stints with the New York Mets. And he has had run-ins.

During his first go-round with the Mets, in 1970 and 1971, he was involved in two different fights with his teammates. One was with Coach Joe Pignatano in spring training and another in the dugout with Ed Kranepool - two very unlikely sparring mates.

After several years with Montreal and a brief outing in San Francisco, Foli returned to the Mets in 1978. After a very quiet season, he was traded to Pittsburgh for Frank Taveras last April.

Thursday night, Foli picked on Mets catcher John Stearns, but this time it was during the heat of competition, not in anger

With the Pirates trailing 2-1 in the bottom of the sixth, Foli doubled. Bill Robinson, who had homered in the fourth, singled in the direction of right fielder Joel Youngblood. Youngblood threw the ball home on one hop, and Foli came crashing into Stearns. Stearns held onto the ball for the out, then grabbed Foli by the legs. The two rolled around, and both benches emptied toward the plate. No punches were thrown, and order was restored quickly

In the next inning, Stearns slammed a solo homer, his fifth of the year to give New York a 3-1 lead, and the Mets hung on to beat Pittsburgh 3-2. The Mets won three of five in their home-and-home series with

"So, hey, let's get it on," said Stearns, who was involved in a home plate collision last season with the Pirates' Dave Parker. Parker wound up with a broken jaw, and Stearns wound up with a reputation.

Russian journalist says Travolta's all washed up

By NIKKI FINKE

MOSCOW (AP) - A year after his huge success in "Saturday Night Fever," John Travolta is washed up at the box office, just another out-of-work actor, a Soviet journalist writes.

Yuri Borovoi attempted to show in this week's issue of Literaturnaya Gazeta - Literary Gazette - how fleeting fame is in the West. An illustration accompanying the article portrayed Travolta as a puppet dancing from Hollywood's Travolta "has become uninteresting to the powers-that-be' since the critics panned "Moment By Moment," his film with Lily Tomlin, Borovoi wrote. Russian wrote. "Only the film 'Saturday Night Fever' continues to thrive," he continued. The movie, about a disco-dancing Brooklyn boy named Tony, has never been shown in the Soviet Union, but Borovoi told his readers it carries a "definite social burden.

"The dancing and music for Tony is a means of self-expression," he explained. "And not only for him, but for all those representatives of Brooklyn youth who are deprived of any kind of hope for a better future and who have no chance to break away from the region, from its poverty and from the vicious circle of violence and indifference in it.'

Like the character that he plays, Travolta is a "moral and ideological stereotype of the West." the Soviet writer assert-

Just Shake It And Let It Fall Into Place... The Precision Haircut.

Because your head is unique, the way your hair grows is equally unique. Really quite different from every one else's.

Precision haircutting is a technique for cutting the hair in harmony with the way it grows. Your hair eventually grows out but it doesn't lose its shape with a precision haircut. Consequently your haircut will look as good after five days as it does after five minutes. And because the hair falls naturally into place you won't have to keep fussing with it. Usually a shake of the head does it.

At Command Performance we shampoo, precision cut and blow dry your hair for fourteen dollars, whether you're a gal or a guy. And no appointments are ever necessary.

We also offer permanent waves, coloring, frosting and conditioning. But we really shine with precision And so will you.

Newport Jazz Festival honors Billie Holiday

NEW YORK (AP) - It was an evening of "Easy Living" and "Strange Fruit" Thursday, as the Newport Jazz Festival paid tribute to the late Billie Holiday.

In the tradition of jazz, festival promoter George Wein said, the musicians who participated in the concert did so out of love. And indeed there was a lot of hugging and kissing on the Carnegie Hall stage between such jazz greats as Zoot Sims, Harry 'Sweets' Edison, Jimmy Rowles, Buck Clayton and Lionel Hampton.

"This concert is the ambiance, the feeling and the love that was Billie Holiday," Wein said.

She was a performer with a small voice who could color a song with blues styling and move an audience to tears. She died at the age of 44 on July Rowles, who had accompanied Miss Holiday on the piano, opened the concert with Milt Hinton on bass and Bobby Rosengarden on drums, playing the gentle and moody "Easy Living." They were later joined by Zoot Sims on saxaphone.

But it was Billie Holiday herself who first brought the curtain up in a film clip of her and the Count Basie band. She was young and her eyes sparkled. The next clip showed her older - her face drawn, her voice cracked from the alcohol, drugs and cigarettes that consumed her life.

pet player Ruby Braff, Ray Bryant on piano, Rosengarden and bass player George Duvivier.

'Billie always picked out such beautiful tunes," noted Braff, who led the group through swing time.

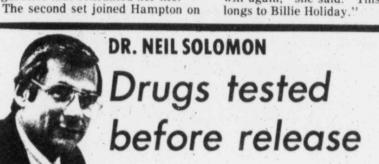

A more subdued pace was provided by Teddy Wilson at piano with Edison, Tate, Hinton, Clayton, Vic Dickenson on bass and Joe Jones on drums. "When You're Smiling" was crisp bebop. And "On the Sunny Side of the Street," brought some respectable clowning in a duet between Jones and Hinton. Sims joined in on "Lover Come Back."

Carmen McCrae was the only vocalist during the evening, besides Miss Holiday on the screen. McCrae came much too late in the concert, as she and her trio closed.

"If there were no Billie Holiday, there might not be a Carmen McCrae," she said, as she led the audience from "Good Morning Heartache" to "Yesterdays" to "Some Other Springs.

She removed much ot the hurst Miss Holiday had put into those songs and using her own brand of blues coloring, replaced it with hope.

When she closed the concert with "Strange Fruit," Carmen said she had recorded the song but had never performed it in person. "And I never will again," she said. "This song be-centers. privare research organizations pay participants to test drugs being developed by pharmaceutical com-panies. These subjects often view themselves as doing a job for which they earn a salary. They are housed, fed, and closely watched by physicians while a study is in progress, generally for periods of from two to eight weeks. Many studies, however, require subjects who suffer from a particular ailment, and these generally attract volunteers seeking relief rather than money. They receive a small stipend to cover transportation costs. Hay fever suf-ferers, for example, are sought to test new products which may relieve their symptoms. The same holds true for people who suffer from high blood pressure, coughs, arthritis, obesity, and a multitude of other ailments.

Studies conducted at the research centers usually are of a practical nature. For example, a product designed to cure a hangover recently was tested to see if it met truth-inadvertising requirements. The medication was given to the participants in the study the morning after they had been plied with liquor and sent to bed. Their condition was then assessed to determine the effectiveness of the drug. They were given break-fast, paid $10, and sent home-most of them with headaches.

Auto rental business great, getting better

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) - Though its product is almost totally dependent on gasoline, the automobile rental industry is having some of the best times of its life. Business is great, and it's expected to get better. Hertz reports business this year had been up 17 percent to 20 percent over a year earlier, but that it jumped to 25 percent higher as the oil shortage developed. Avis is said to have had a similar jump. While the fuel shortage has created some problems, neither has been bothered by the price rise. They simply pass on the cost, plus handling charges, and rely on the daily charge and mileage rates for

While the fuel shortage has caused declines for other businesses, it seems to have spurred rentals. For one thing, you get that full tank of gasoline. And often you can refuel at the rental company's out-

"ONCE YOU RENT you can gas up at another Hertz outlet, providing it's open," said a Hertz official. "Check ahead," he advised. "If not, the best chance of finding a 24-hour outlet is at a major Avis' policy differs. While fuel may be obtained at certain sites, the location of which should be checked in advance, the company offers no blanket assurance of refills at every outlet, the Avis man said. The traditon, however, has always been to help a stranded customer, he said. "If a person has a genuine problem and there's an Avis station nearby," he said, "it's likely he'll be helped."

Despite the promotional advantage of being able to . offer a full tank of fuel, the impression conveyed but seldom stated outright in talks with rental people is that gasoline is a major headache for them too. Unlike many individual car owners, rental com-panies saw the problems coming, and back in 1974 the industry generally converted from wet rates to dry. That is, fuel was removed as a factor in In almost every instance now the customer pays cars today generally are returned with little fuel remaining. As a result, companies have had to buy on the open market to enhance already curtailed allotments. For some, this has meant paying much more than a dollar a gallon, and it has resulted in the need to maintain vast storage facilities and to schedule time on pipelines. But such costs are piped on through. The high cost of gasoline, however, hasn't been the only factor in rising rental prices. Daily rates have risen, and so have mileage rates, in some cases to 36 cents a mile for a compact car. Asked to compare weekday rental charges for an intermediate-size car at St. Louis, Hertz quoted a daily base rate of $22 a day and 28 cents a mile, compared with $19.95 and 24 cents a mile last Avis chose the same model Pontiac for comparison. It quoted a rate of $21.95 and 27 cents for th current period. It said rates last November-December were $17.95 and 22 cents.

(MOST COMPANIES have lower, promotional rates on weekends, when business travel slacks

For the rental companies, the damaging affect of these higher rates has been offset by several market factors, one of the most important being the increasing attractivenesss of air travel.

Rental people say that in many markets they find families who choose to fly to vacation spots, renting a car when they arrive, instead of driving the entire way in the family car.

Business customers are said to be doing the same. Rather than drive from San Diego to Los Angeles, for example, Avis has found that sales people and similar travelers increasingly prefer to fly and

Dillard praises Hance for windfall tax stand

Al Dillard of Midland, president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Asslociation, today praised Congressman Kent Hance of Lubbock for his efforts to get excess profits tax exemptions for the independent oil operator.

And, he had some unkind words for those who helped defeat the legislation proposed by Hance.

"In spite of the valiant efforts of Congressman Hance to pass a small producer exemption from the socalled 'windfall profit and OPEC excise tax' bill, it was shot down in the Rules Committee of the House Tuesday," Dillard said.

'Mark that date - it could well be the opening steps in a dance of death for the private enterprise system in this country. And, also mark well those who orchestrated the defeat of the House small producer exemption," he added.

Dillard said those responsible for the defeat include Speaker Tip O'Neill, temporary Committee Chairman Morgan Murphy and several Texas oil and gas lobbyists who 'didn't think we should rock the boat notwithstanding the fact they they were helping pull the plug."

Dillaird said Hance had but together a reasonable and, most impotant, productive exemption for the small independents who drill more than 80 percent of U.S. wildcat wells and find more than 50 percent of all new reserves. "Hance's main thrust was to keep the small producer in a competitive position by furnishing the cash flow necessary for drilling and explration when there are no other sources of income," Dillard said.

Dillard said he and other members of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association thank Martin Frost, D-Texas; Gillis W. Long, D-La., and Leo Zeferetti, D-N.Y., who "had the courage to vote their conviction rather than political expedience," and Robert Bauman, R-Md.; Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, Trent Lott, R-Miss., and James Quillen, R-Tenn., "who realized how badly we need to get on with increasing domestic production.

"Those seven gave us a majority of those present and voting. Unfortunately, temporary Rules Committee Chairman Morgan was handpiced by Speaker O'Neill and voted accordingly. His vote created a tie and thus defeated the Hance amendment," Dillard said.

Ration vote pushed

By The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - With gas lines spreading into more and more members' districts, House Democratic leaders are pushing for a vote in the next few weeks on new legislation to authorize a nationwide gasoline rationing plan.

The leaders - and much of the membership, too, judging from interviews - are confident that some rationing bill will be passed before Congress departs in early August for its summer

That would be a remarkable turnabout, even for the unpredictable 96th Congess. Just six weeks ago, the House rejected a Carter administration rationing plan by a resounding margin, an action that prompted an angry retort from the White House. President Carter said then he would turn the whole question of rationing over to Congress.

But now Carter, too, has changed his mind. His aides have told congressional leaders that the president will put together a new rationing system quickly this summer if Congress gives him the authority.

Since the bipartisan Senate leadership favors a rationing plan, chances seem good that authorizing legislation will be adopted.

The administration's change of heart stems partly from the political pressure that gasoline lines in some cities have generated, and partly from a strong pro-rationing push from administration inflation-fighters Alfred Kahn and Barry Bosworth.

Kahn and Bosworth have reportedly argued forcefully for gasoline rationing, saying that the current situation creates unstoppable upward pressure on prices and profit margins in the oil industry - pressure that will exacerbate the problems plaguing Carter's anti-inflation guide-

In a meeting with congressional leaders Thursday, Kahn and a top-level team of administration economists said that, even with gasoline rationing, the current 7 percent annual standard for wage and price increases will amost surely have to be raised in 1980.

Carter says Americans 'aroused' by increase

By HOBART ROWEN The Washington Post

TOKYO, June 29 (Friday) - President Carter said Friday morning that the "extraordinary" price increase announced Thursday by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting countries "causes an economic watershed for us" and for the rest of the world that must be met by "a bold response" from the economic summit meeting here.

ly" to meet the new situation posed by OPEC head-on. He said it is his belief that the economic summit, which ends Friday, would come to grips with the situation. "We need to be bold, determined and aggressive," Carter said.

Asked about the effect of the OPEC action on the U.S. dollar, which has been shaky in world markets in the past few days, Carter said he thought LAMB COUNTY the OPEC action had been fairly well discounted and that if the summit responds promptly the dollar will begin to stabilize.

On the question of long lines of motorists at gasoline stations in the United States, Carter said that he had been informed by Vice President Walter F. Mondale Thursday night that the fuel supply situation in affected areas would ease in the next few weeks because allotments have been increased by some oil supplies.

The stiff OPEC price increases was pretty much in line with what had been rumored in the past few days here, so the dimensions do not catch the leaders here totally by surprise. On Thursday, one high American official estimated that a split price structure of the kind announced by OPEC might increase the U.S. cost of oil about 10 percent annually. Behind the concern expressed by Carter is that no one knows where the price cycle ends - whether OPEC will increase prices further, and when.

Despite Carter's somewhat optimistic prediction morning that the summit would take bold action Friday to deal with the energy crisis, the outcome is still in doubt. Officials worked through the night trying to arrive at a compromise that would assure a substantial reduction in oil imports by the end of 1980. But as of early Friday morning, the issue had not been settled. Thursday's session of the economic summit had been a particularly trying and discouraging one for Carter, who was reportedly "discouraged" by the reluctance of his fellow national leaders to pledge specific cuts in oil imports. But in official background briefings, White House aides said they were still hoping to achieve a compromise that would provide specific, numerical reductions in imports through 1980, blended with some features of longer-range global targets on imports favored by the European Common Market. American officials spoke on background in deference to the host and

Another source of irritation Thursday was the still smoldering conflict between Carter and French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, stemming from Giscard's blunt critique in a Newsweek magazine interview of American oil conservation efforts. Although the two men managed a smile for TV cameras when they emerged from the Akasap Palace Thursday morning, one observer said: "The vibes between them were very bad." In his opening statement Thursday morning, Carter made a point of noting the greater efficiency with which the United States uses energy.

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) - State Health Commissioner Joan Leavitt issued a "rabies alert" Thursday for Commanche County, where about a dozen people are currently receiving rabies shots.

"The rabies alert means the people in Comanche County need to be aware that there have been some reported cases of rabies here, and when they do have a strange-acting animal-odd behavior-then they need to be concerned and call the animal shelter or the county medical society," said City-County Health Department Director Jim Booher.

The Los Angeles area entered its second day of a smog alert today, but some relief was expected thanks to emergency measures to cut pollution and cooler weather.
