Gifts to Christ

Lesson for December 28, 1952

WHAT the world brings to Christ is never to be compared with what Christ brings to the world. Not all the Christmas gifts that ever were, including those given to the cause and in the name of Jesus, equal a small part of the value of Jesus himself to the world. Nevertheless, ever since the time of the wise men from the east, gifts have been brought and laid at the feet of Christ, in one way or another.

Wisdom

Many treasures of wisdom, through these 19 centuries, have been poured out for the Master's service. Not that men can make God wise; but the wisdom and learning of mankind can be, and have been, put at the disposal of Christ and his cause. To take one fact alone: the translation of the Bible into hundreds of languages throughout the world. The work of translating can never stop, because languages keep changing; the English and the French of this century are not the same as they were centuries ago, and Bibles translated for those times become hard to understand in our day.

Dr. Foreman

Not that a new English translation is needed every few years; but somewhere, all the time, into some language or other, this work is being carried on. It is no simple job; a translator must not only know Greek and Hebrew, but also, and very thoroughly, the language into which he translates. Most good translations are made by groups, for many heads are better than one, at this work.

When we add to the work of the translators all that other scholars have done, all the brain work that has gone into the printing and binding of the books and distributing them in many ways; we can see what the devotion of intellectual talents has meant, through the centuries, to the Christian religion.

Wealth

Think what a difference it would make, if suddenly every Christian in the world decided that the Lord's work could get along just as well without being offered another cent. No new churches would be built; existing churches would fall into decay because no one would pay for their repair (and free labor wouldn't do it, because that too is a form of wealth). Home and foreign missions would come to an end. Christian schools, hospitals and colleges would close down. No Christian books of any kind could be printed. Radio religious broadcasts would cease, because there would not be any one to pay for them, and even the "free" time, which always costs the station something, could no longer be offered.

From Each His Own

Christianity is today an international religion, though it started off as the religion of a few Asiatic Jews. But Jesus was scarcely out of his cradle before those men of the East came, and they were the first of a long line from every nation and race in the world.

In America we think of Christianity as almost an American religion; but it is not. Americans have brought much to Christianity, — their energy, daring, pioneering spirit, their practical slant on everything, — these have given to Christianity in North America a "color" and a "style" all its own.

But we are not the only Christians, perhaps not even the best ones. There are Indian Christians, and Chinese Christians; there are Christians among the Eskimos and Zulus. There is some Christianity behind the Iron Curtain; it is found in Scotland, Sweden, Spain, El Salvador.

And while we are all brothers under the skin, the fact remains that it takes all kinds of Christians to make the Christian world, and to make the world Christian. Our missionaries do not go out to make American Christians; they go to make Christians. And every one who comes to Christ brings something which is specially his own. As Rev. John Monsell's hymn has it:

"Fear not to enter His courts in the slenderness
Of the poor wealth thou wouldst reckon as thine:
Truth in its beauty, and love in its tenderness,
These are the offerings to lay on His shrine."

Christmas Tree Can Be A Fire Hazard

The center attraction in most homes, especially with the children, from now until Christmas will be the family Christmas tree. Most families, says Miss Lucile King, Home Demonstration Agent, fail to realize that this tree is actually a fire hazard. Every effort, she adds, should be made to make the tree safe and eliminate the possibility of a fire starting from it.

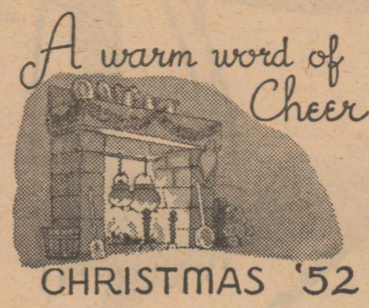

She suggests that only trees in good condition be purchased. This means getting a tree that has fresh leaves or needles. If the tree is placed aside for a few days before the decorating job is done, she says it can be kept fresh by making a new cut above the original one and placing it in a container of water. When the tree is moved into the house, it should be left with the trunk in water. Danger from fire is lessened when the leaves or needles contain moisture. Water should be added to the container each day and besides the safety angle, there will be less shedding of leaves or needles, says Miss King.

Next she warns against decoration of the tree with flammable material. Check the electric light cords that connect the tree light and make repairs if needed. If cotton is used around the base of the tree, use the kind that has been treated for fire retardance. Candles should never be used to light a tree, and adds the agent, never block exits from the room with the tree.

It is up to each family to make the holiday season a safe one, warns Miss King and those who fail to take into account fire and accident hazards may find their holidays marred by a serious fire or accident.

We offer our best holiday greetings and pledge you a bright and merry Yuletide season.

PRISCILLA CLUB PARTY NEWS

(By Club Reporter) Christmas and the holiday season are always a jolly time of year and the Christmas party given the Priscilla Club members by Velma Wyatt was among the jolliest of the season. New officers for the coming year were elected, being: President, Mary Bolton; Secretary Syble Boney; and Reporter, Nell Craig. The members sang "Jingle Bells," "Silent Night" and other carols accompanied by Nell who also played a number of other seasonal numbers for us. Mary Belle read "The Christmas Story" from Luke. Mary read Carl C. Helms poem "On the Night Before Christmas," and Ruth Park read Peter Marshall's sermon, "Let's Keep Christmas," followed by Frances who gave us the legends of how Christmas trees came into use both here and in other lands. Last part of the program was an original poem written especially for the club by Nell as follows:

Twas the week before Christmas at Velma Wyatt's home, Club members had gathered and Santa had come. He looked all about him and chucked with glee, But the things he was thinking you got yet to see. He sat down his sack as he looked up and down Then turned to the corner and said with a frown: Now, Twila, my child, you have been good this year, You've carried a smile, and not shed a tear, But you've not done all a good girl should, Don't you know huacamole salad is supposed to be good? But I'll leave for you this ice cream cone here And if you're real good — I'll fill it next year. Then turning to Velma he said with a sigh— "Well Christmas is here and the New Year is nigh, You've done lots of talking about diapers and such, But I'll tell you, Dear Velma, you just talked too much But you've done your duty and been a good spouse I left all your gifts at Mary's house."

"Now where is Ruth P., Oh! there you are. You've certainly been faithful to Eastern Star, You voted for Ike, you knew he'd please, Even tho it meant bunny and black-eyed peas. I'm sending you Grand-daughter, little dear, She'll spend the whole summer with you next year." "Ada Mae, my dear, you've sure got a knack for shocking your friends and then turning back to do it again to see what they say— But I've turned the table, It's your guess, today!" "And Oreda, my child, I hope you'll remember That hardly a day from March to September Were you ever present to chat and to sew. I'll give you a calendar so you may know which days are the days and where they will be. I want you to be there each time. Do you see?" Iona, you're hoping to get a new dress, How well I remember that day of distress. You think that your name is on old Santa's log, But Iona, I heard what you said to that dog."

"And Frances, my girl, that habit you keep Of naming friends babies while yet fast asleep is not such a dilly, You might name one Able from eating burnt offering at a late supper table. And another thing always gives me a scare, There's mischief galore neath that grin that you wear."

"And Syble, dear Syble, Who do you such As spoiling the babies by rocking so much? Then wondering why all the mother's say— "My child cried all night, we had club yesterday."

And then there is Ruth, little Ruth, she is named. "Now Ruth," said old Santa, "You ought to be shamed, I heard about all those fabulous tales that you told, Bout Angels, Saint Paul and the streets of gold, But if you will promise you'll ner'er tell another I'll send Len and V. B. a new baby brother."

"And grandmother Morris, I can't tell about you, One time it's "como" and the next "parlez-vous" The kids wrecked the place, you were insulted by Twila, But, nevertheless, you keepa de smila. I'll let you take care of that new baby brother And if that's not enough, I'll send you another."

And Mary was next, she was ready to pop She needed a parrot to say "Bob Charles, stop!" "Now Mary, said Santa, "he's your bundle of joy, When will you learn he's only a boy. I've nothing for you, but you'll get something grand When you learn that TEXAS is God's promised land."

"And dear ole Aunt Maggie, you've fought to the finish So I've got for you a big can of spinach."

But to each and all he said with glee, It was all just a gag, there's gifts on the tree For all who've been good need not fear— Merry Christmas, you all, I'll be back next year."

Following the distribution of numerous gifts, delicious refreshments were served to all twelve members and two guests, Mrs. Hattie Flores and Mrs. Maggie King of Stratford. The new year will start January 8 with Twila Blank as hostess.

Easy Does It

DO YOUR crocheted rag rugs tend to lose their shape? If you make them in six-inch squares, then alternate by sewing together horizontal and vertical ones, the rug will be more firm and will wear better. When plastic table cloths tear, use the portions of them which remain good as small aprons for yourself, for covers for appliances or refrigerator bags. Your small lamp shades which you're ready to discard can make very attractive hat stands. Cover them with wrapping paper or wallpaper in gay colors to match or contrast with your closet. Sewing boxes have a way of getting cluttered, but not if you go through them periodically and make a list of what they contain. Paste this on the inside cover of the box and always check supplies on hand before you buy anything, and thereby duplicate it.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Bing Cherry Dessert (Serves 5-6) 1 package cherry-flavored gelatin 1 cup hot water 1 3-ounce package cream cheese 1 No. 2 1/2 size can Bing cherries, pitted Dissolve gelatin in hot water according to manufacturers' directions. Place cream cheese in bowl and beat until soft with hand or electric beater. Drain cherries, reserving 1/2 cup juice. Add juice slowly to cheese, continuing to beat for 30 seconds. Stir in gelatin mixture and add cherries. Pour into a quart mold or small molds which have been dipped in cold water. Chill, unmold and serve with sweetened whipped cream, if desired.

To protect the sleeves of good dresses and sweaters while working about the house, especially in the kitchen before you get a chance to change clothes, place two old shirt sleeves in a drawer. These can be taken out in a minute and put on. Attach a recipe rack or a napkin rack high in your hall in which to place letters and nail so they won't get lost before family returns home.

Physician Says Mentally Sick Cause of Wars

DETROIT, Mich.—Dr. Robert S. Drews, a Detroit psychiatrist who has just completed a three-month study of mental health in Europe, contends all the world's presidents, dictators, and kings should be stretched out on a couch and psychoanalyzed before being allowed to take office. "The history of war and chaos is the history of mentally sick people," Dr. Drews said. He had a number of examples to prove his point. He said the hostility, aggression, and mental instability of existing leaders in many countries has spread like a contagion to the mental make-up of people all over the world.

Remedies Suggested

- He suggested these remedies for wars and dangers of war that are caused by the instability of political leaders: 1. All persons in political life should be subjected to "rigorous examinations in the structures of their personalities before being entrusted with the destinies of nations." 2. Mental hygiene must be taught in schools all over the world—as it is being taught already to some extent in the United States. 3. A universal "auxiliary language", such as Esperanto, must be adopted to make international and personal meetings easier. 4. More "interpersonal relationships" must be arranged to bring people together across national frontiers on a "me-and-you basis", instead of formal international conferences. "What is needed now, immediately," he said, "is a dynamic program of education people to live one with another, instead of for, against, or away from another. To live for another person is emotional; to live against another is hostility; to live away from another is isolationism."

Research for Book

Dr. Drews called attention to Napoleon, Caesar, Hitler, Mussolini, and "as far as we know, Stalin, too—all of them were neurotic, mentally sick people." He said such leaders came to power in Europe "in a history of essentially single individuals sincerely striving for conquest and supremacy. They very often were powerful, but immature, and very often neurotic in their leadership." Dr. Drews went to Europe last June with a group of professors from Wayne University. Later he left the group to conduct individual research for material on his forthcoming book, "Mental Hygiene in The Changing World." He and his wife visited virtually every western European nation in his search for material.

Polio Control?

Two doctors, Erich Weis and Burton J. Winston, of St. Therese Hospital in Waukegan, Illinois, have in guarded language expressed the belief that aureomycin, one of our so-called wonder drugs, may prove effective against infantile paralysis. Writing in the Illinois Medical Journal, they report that polio patients treated with the drug have had an average fever period of only 2.3 days against 4.8 days without aureomycin. One bulbar case, thus treated, showed a normal temperature and ability to swallow in 48 hours and recovered, as the doctors put it, "uneventfully." The doctors add, "There are 995 chances out of a thousand that the recovery rate in paralytic cases was improved by dosage of more than two grams of aureomycin per day."

Nuptial Vows Exchanged Sunday

The First Methodist Church Sanctuary was the scene Sunday of the marriage of Dorothy Nell Harding, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Ralph Harding, to Donald Carl (Buddy) Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Palmer. Rev. H. A. Nichols read the double ring ceremony at 2:00 P. M. As the guests assembled Mrs. Martha Harrison, organist, played "I Walked Beside You," "Why Do I Love You" and "To A Wild Rose." Miss Mary Nan Davis sang "Because" and "O Promise Me." The Traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional, and Mrs. Harrison played "Claire de Lune" during the exchange of vows. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Miss Davis at the conclusion of the ceremony. The vows were exchanged before an archway of huckleberry entwined with pink and white pom pom mums against a background of white tapers in bronze candelabra. Pews on the processional aisle were marked with huckleberry tied with pink and white satin bows.

Mrs. Clinton Ragsdale of Fritch, Texas, was her sister's matron-of-honor and the bridesmaid was Mrs. Darrell Cotney. Mrs. Ragsdale wore a gown of mint green net over matching taffeta, styled with a strapless bodice and cape with a stand up ruffle collar. The full skirt was ballerina length. Her halo hat and colonial bouquet were of pink pom pom mums. Mrs. Cotney wore a gown of pink net over matching taffeta with a strapless bodice and matching stole. Her halo hat and colonial bouquet were of white pom pom mums.

Tommy Wakefield was best man and Kenneth Wilson was groomsmen. Ushers were Jackie Davis, Don Ray Knight, Hubert Monroe from Hereford; and Clinton Ragsdale from Fritch. Candlelighters were Rex and Ray Palmer, brothers of the groom.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white nylon net designed with a ruffled ballerina length skirt topped with a ruffled fitted bodice. Her veil of English illusion was fastened to a Juliet cap accented with orange blossoms fashioned of seed pearls centered with rhinestones. Her mitts were of net studded with rhinestones. She carried a white prayer book topped with white mums.

Mrs. Harding, mother of the bride, wore a honey beige suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was of bronze pom pom mums. Mrs. Palmer, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gray faille suit with pink and navy accessories and her corsage was of pink pom pom mums.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. Acting as ushers were Misses Jean Cummings and Jo Wayne Harding. Mrs. Hubert Monroe, sister of the groom, presided at the guest book. The table, covered with lace over rose taffeta, was centered with pink delight roses forming a background for a miniature bride and groom, and this was enclosed by six loaf cakes adorned with pink roses. At either end burned white tapers in crystal holders. This centerpiece was designed and created by Mrs. Lois Holmes, cousin of the bride. Miss Jean Reynolds served the cake and Miss Betty Jo Huggins presided at the punch bowl.

After a brief honeymoon the couple will be at home in Lubbock where the groom is a student in Texas Tech. For traveling Mrs. Palmer wore a two piece suit with a black skirt and box jacket of gray and black threaded with gold. Her accessories were black and she wore a corsage of white pom pom mums.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Noblett, Clarendon; Thurman Davidson, Oklahoma City; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baker, Hartley; Major and

Mrs. J. A. Holt, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson, Dallas; Mrs. Ruth Duff and Barbara, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Worley, Texhoma; Miss Donna Jean Bryan, Amarillo; Gene Glazener, Dalhart; Mrs. J. E. Ragsdale and Bobby Ray, Sanford; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hawkins, Melrose, New Mexico; Miss Cecilia Bosley, Canyon;

Eye Study

A study of pupils in St. Louis grade schools revealed that one out of four needed eye care. "If this is typical of all schools, it means that the eyes of 6,500,000 school children throughout the United States require professional attention," the Report noted. To help teachers and school nurses detect eye trouble, the Society conducts vision-testing demonstrations as an important part of its school program.

Hydrogen Plant Is Going Up Where Town Of 600 Once Stood

ELLENTON, S. C.—A little less than a year ago the folks who lived in and near Ellenton were informed the government was taking over their homes and lands and that a gigantic hydrogen bomb plant would be built in the middle of the cotton plantations.

The government acted quickly. The 6,000 natives, who lived a slow, pleasant rural life, were moved out and relocated. And then the government moved in.

Today, former residents of the area would not recognize their homes and lands. Some 25,000 strangers bang around in the area. Out of the peanut and cotton fields have grown curious office buildings, gigantic Quonset huts, shaped like snow crystals and bustling with the work of 2,000 clerks and technicians.

A four-lane highway cuts through what was once some of the best quail hunting grounds in the United States. Bulldozers grunt and rumble and tear up thickets, green pastures are churned into raw, brick-red clay.

Trailer camps have sprung up everywhere and land prices have increased from $20 an acre to $500 or more. While communities such as New Ellenton have grown up from nothing, and old towns as Jackson and North Augusta, dormant for generations, have quintupled in size.

Sharecroppers disappear and show up the following day digging post holes for the government at $50 a week, as much cash as they earned in three or four months as a field hand.

And the landlord moves his shack off the neglected fields to a highway and rents it to plant employes.

All this is taking place at Ellenton, former population 600, where the citizens dozed under the shade trees on Main Street at noon and never a traffic light blinked before.

Christmas Gifts From The Kitchen

Gifts from the kitchen have an appetizing appeal and the personal touch that many persons appreciate. Add a special touch to some of your favorite recipes, wrap the food in attractive dishes or containers and present to special friends for Christmas.

Miss Lucile King, Home Demonstration Agent, says everyone likes to receive gifts especially chosen. Strawberry preserves wrapped in bright colored paper or jelly molded in an old fashioned water goblet would please busy friends whose time for cooking is limited. The agent says cranberry jelly can be made this time of year from fresh berries.

Package attractive tin boxes or baskets filled with divinity, fudge caramel, peanut brittle or taffy candy. The containers will have many uses after the candy has been eaten.

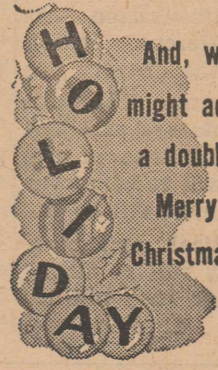

Bake cookies on a new cookie sheet and wrap in cellophane, or bake a loaf of cinnamon bread in a new pan and take while hot to some one special. Give an attractive bread cutting board with a good bread knife along with your favorite yeast bread.

The agent says other suggestions include salted nuts packaged in pottery serving dishes, a Christmas Plum Pudding or a fruit cake decorated with nuts and fruit wrapped in foil or cellophane.

Remember, you can say "Merry Christmas" in a personal way by giving gifts from your own kitchen.

Economic Highlights

One thing is sure about the Eisenhower Administration — it will be very different indeed from anything the country has known for 20 years. The Cabinet appointments are excellent indications. The tone of the Administration will be conservative. The top men will be experienced, practical, and business-like. They will be strong administrators and they will demand results. All along the line, the emphasis will be on more economy and less red-tape in the conduct of government affairs.

In most departments reorganization will be thorough-going. This will be especially marked in the State Department. John Foster Dulles is vitally concerned with getting rid of the left-wingers and the weak sisters. His policy will be unsequivocally anti-communist, in deed no less than in word. The Kremlin can expect no concessions, no signs of weakness. Like his chief, Mr. Dulles believes that the policy of con-were announced by Mayor Jim Wright of Weatherford, state chairman of the Legion's oratorical program.

Wright conferred with State Commander Albert D. Brown, Jr., and State Adjutant G. Ward Moody at state headquarters.

Date for the oratorical finals at Waco was set as Friday, March 27. At that time five winners of division contests will participate to determine the state champion. The contest will be held in Waco High School.

Division contests will be held Friday, March 20. Division oratorical chairmen are John Ben Sheppard, Gladewater, first; James Waters, Lufkin, second; Henry B. Wiener, San Antonio, third; H. H. Cofield, Rockdale, fourth and William B. Dorris, Abilene, fifth.

The division finals will be preceded by oratorical contests in high schools in each of the 21 congressional districts March 13. Local contests will be March 6. All oratorical themes will be on some theme of the United States Constitution.

taining Russia, as pursued by Mr. Truman and Secretary Acheson is both unworkable and negative. A much clearer and more positive policy will take its place. As U. S. News & World Report put it, "U. S., in world affairs, will get off the defensive, take the offensive. An end is coming to a policy of drift. Fear of Russia no longer will influence U. S. actions. There'll be no hesitation to put U. S. interest first in world dealings."

In domestic affairs, the Eisenhower Administration will be against the government-should-do-everything concept that so largely characterized the Roosevelt-Truman Administrations. The appointment of Governor McKay of Oregon to the very important Interior post shows the direction that particular wind is blowing. McKay is a home-rule man, who puts local rights and responsibilities first.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey is expected to be a very tough man with the taxpayers' dollars. His primary goal will be a balanced budget, to be followed by tax cuts at the earliest possible time. And Secretary of Defense Wilson, coming from one of the biggest jobs in industry, will demand maximum result from every dollar the military people get.

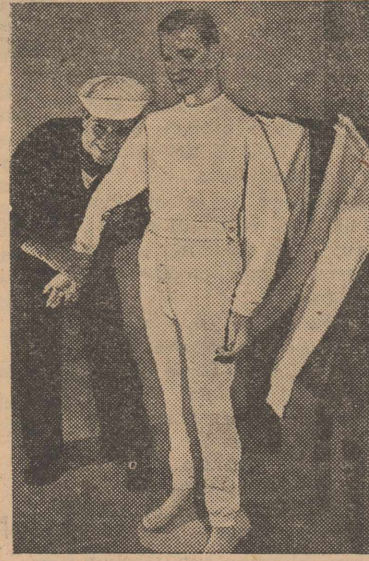

It is forecast that President Eisenhower will effect some significant changes in the method of running the Executive Branch. He will probably inaugurate something comparable to the staff system which is used in the military forces. Governor Adams is being given a job which amounts to assistant President, and he will have wide powers. The point is to relieve the President of some of the tremendous burdens of detail that are part of his office, and leave him free to deal with broad policy. That will probably happen in the departments too. It was reported, for instance, that Mr. Dulles told the President-elect that he did not want the State portfolio unless he could turn over certain responsibilities to capable assistants, and largely confine his own work to policy matters. General Eisenhower, it is said, fully approved.

Finally, it is plain that the next Administration will not be one which is loaded with personal friends and political associates of the President. Some of the incoming Cabinet members know the President-elect hardly at all. They were chosen for one reason only, so far as anyone can see — the reason being that they seemed the best available men for their respective jobs.
