Chief Fedric Appeals For Cooperation

Fire Chief Claude Fedric appeals to the people of Stratford for their consideration in making it possible for the Stratford Volunteer Fire Department to maintain the record they have established in preventing small fires from becoming disastrous.

The first six minutes that elapse after the fire siren sounds are the minutes which determine the extent of damage of the average fire, the chief says. If firemen are given right-of-way in going to the fire station and the truck is not too closely pursued, the average fire may be brought under control with the least possible damage.

During recent alarms Stratford residents have jammed streets leading to the fire station and crowded streets and roads in the path of the truck which has caused some firemen to give up in disgust and return to their homes.

Chief Fedric does not wish to discourage the interest of the general public in fire fighting, nor does he wish to discourage them from going to the scene of the blaze, for many times their assistance is needed. He does request however that the residents of Stratford pull their cars to the curb when the fire siren sounds and remain out of the line of traffic for at least six minutes. This will give members of the Fire Department an opportunity to take their places on the fire truck and reach the blaze in the least time possible.

The manner in which water hose is stored on the truck makes it necessary for the truck to be driven to the scene of the blaze and then moved to the nearest fire hydrant as the hose is unrolled. Citizens with good intentions may crowd in too close to the truck and hinder firemen in their efforts to control the blaze.

Chief Fedric has these hazards in mind in asking the public to keep streets and highways open for firemen when the fire siren is sounded. The first six minutes after the alarm usually determine the extent of the damage the fire is likely to cause.

Recent Bride Is Honored At Coffee

Mrs. James Whittenburg III was honored with a coffee Tuesday at 9:30 A. M. Mrs. C. T. Watson, aunt of Mrs. Whittenburg, and Mrs. C. R. Bonar were hostesses in the Watson home.

Seventy-five guests attended. The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Bonar, and in the receiving line were the honoree, Mrs. Whittenburg, Mrs. W. N. Price, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. Jack Thurman of Amarillo.

Mrs. Keith Glasgow registered the guests and presented favors, which were small bottles of Orange Blossom perfume, wrapped in orange colored cellophane paper on which was fastened a miniature wax orange blossom.

The serving table was laid with a crocheted lace cloth over blue satin. The lace cloth was handmade by Mrs. A. W. Klavetter, grandmother of the honoree. The table appointments were crystal. Lighted yellow tapers in crystal candelabra flanked the centerpiece of yellow roses and yellow tulips.

Mrs. Jack Newby of Amarillo, Mrs. Hose Flores and Mrs. Gene Wilson presided at the silver tea and coffee services. Miniature cinnamon rolls, apple twists, nuts and mints were served with the tea and coffee. On the napkins were silver wedding bells and the words "Jeanne and Jimmie" in silver.

The color scheme of blue and yellow was carried throughout the entertaining rooms. In one end of the living room on a small table was a very unusual arrangement of gardenias in front of a small lighted antique lamp. The gardenias crowned a mound of blue ice in a large, round, pedestal-type bowl of heavy crystal.

The natural beauty of an arrangement of yellow gladioli on top of the piano was enhanced by a mirrored reflection. An arrangement on the buffet was of yellow gladioli in a gold ship that had sails of yellow tulle. It was named the "S. S. Matrimony" in honor of the recent bride.

PLAINVIEW — Roy L. Thorpe, age 57, a brother of Mrs. Roy Allen, and a long-time resident of Petersburg, Texas, was fatally injured Thursday afternoon of last week when he was pinned beneath a tractor that overturned in a collision with an automobile.

Thorpe, driver of the tractor, and A. B. Costello, driver of the automobile, were both employed on the B. P. Jennings farm near Petersburg. Costello's wife was riding with him.

W. J. No verdict had been returned this afternoon.

The car Costello was driving remained in operating condition and the driver rushed to Petersburg to get help to move Thorpe from beneath the tractor. Thorpe died of internal injuries and a possible skull fracture. The accident occurred about 12:30.

Popular Recipe

Having those hot, steamed puddings for dessert often these days? They'll taste wonderful with cinnamon sauce which may be served hot or cold. Use juice from drained pears, season with cinnamon, thicken with cornstarch and add a bit of butter while still hot.

Have an easy casserole on these busy days. A good one uses a layer of sweet potatoes, covered with thick applesauce and is topped with pork sausage links. Bake in a moderate oven until sausage is cooked, about 30 minutes.

Your pot roast or leftover beef will take on extra appetite appeal when served with a relish of mixed cranberry sauce or jelly with mincemeat.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Dark Chocolate Bars (Makes 16)
1 1/2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
Dash of salt
1/2 cup shortening
2 eggs, well beaten
4 1/4 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening, add sugar and beat well. Add eggs and beat until blended. Add chocolate and blend well. Add milk, vanilla, then flour and beat until just smooth. Spread thin in shallow loaf pan and bake in a hot (400°F.) oven 20 minutes or until done. When cool, spread with chocolate frosting and cut into bars.

A good snack to have after coming in from a cold night uses split English muffins which have been toasted and then topped with sardines spread with mustard and a slice of cheese. Broil until cheese melts. Serve hot.

Serve canned fruit juices as a first course. Mix with an equal quantity of ginger ale, garnish with lemon slices and cherries.

Here's a sauce for ham that looks as good as it tastes: Mix 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1/4 cup sugar, a pinch of salt and 1/2 cup tart red cherries. Add 1 tablespoon butter and 1 teaspoon ground cloves and cook until thick.

Asparagus is delicious when served with browned butter and a sprinkling of grated Swiss cheese.

MY PET PEEVE

NORMALLY I am a peaceful individual. I dislike fussing, fuming and fighting. But there is one thing that will set me off. That's blowing of his automobile horn by the fellow behind me when I pull up to a traffic light.

The other day, for instance, I was driving peaceably along when I came to a light. It flashed to caution and I stopped. The guy behind me blasted away with his horn. It was terrific! The sound all but picked up the back end of the flivver and exchanged it for the front.

That guy wanted me to pull out into the intersection when I knew the red light was going to flash in a second.

"This guy," I said to the wife, "is gonna get it."

"No fighting," she said. "Remember you always get whipped!"

"I have other plans," says I. The light flashed green. I started forward and deliberately stalled the engine. The flivver jerked and came to a dead stop. The guy behind me blasted away on his horn.

My wife became nervous. "Get it going," says she.

"I can't," says I and grinned what I hoped was a diabolically clever grin. "The engine is flooded."

The guy behind me blasted away on his horn.

It was the funniest thing, but that light changed five times before I could get the flivver started again. Sometime, about the third time the light switched, the guy behind me got the idea. If he hadn't stopped blowing that horn we would have been sitting there yet and this column would never have gotten written.

(If you have a Pet Peeve address them to this column Community Press Service, McClure Building, Frankfort, Ky.)

WE'RE GAINING ON THEM

A jury in Federal Court in New York convicted the 13-second-string Communist Party leaders on conspiracy to overthrow the Government, Judge Edward J. Dimock remanded the group to prison to await sentence, and their attorney protested this as "cruel and unusual punishment," and "unnecessary." Recalling that eight other Commies had jumped bail, his honor disagreed. So, they're in jail. Maybe we're gaining on 'em.

A Spending Plan

Some persons spend money before it comes in and wonder where it went. Others who do not have more to spend always seem to have what they want.

A spending plan may be the answer to your problem if you are in the first category. Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, says you might sit down with your family and talk about the things you want most with your money. Ask such questions as — Are we planning our spending to get what we want? Are we saving? Do we proportion our spending to allow for what is important to us — or just try to keep up with the neighbors?

Miss King says setting up goals for spending leads to a certain degree of satisfaction, for then you can decide definitely how an item fits into your general needs. The goals can be for immediate spending or for long-range needs. But setting up goals will organize your spending habits.

For instance, you will begin to make notes for shopping trips. You will find yourself comparing relative merits of clothes, food or other needs in price ranges, reading advertisements, using the telephone, and learning basic information or buying guides.

The spending plan will also enable you to find a time to shop when you can avoid the rush periods. If it is food you are buying, you will find you can save money, time and energy by shopping for a week's menu on one trip.

Remove Iron Rust

If the water leaves iron rust on your kitchen and bath fixtures, try removing the rust with a solution of oxalic-acid.

Miss Lucile King, Home Demonstration Agent, says a teaspoon of oxalic-acid in a cup of hot water rubbed on the iron rust stain in the tub or sink and rinsed immediately with ammonia solution should have a cleaning effect.

Rinse well with water and remember that oxalic-acid is poisonous and should be handled carefully.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

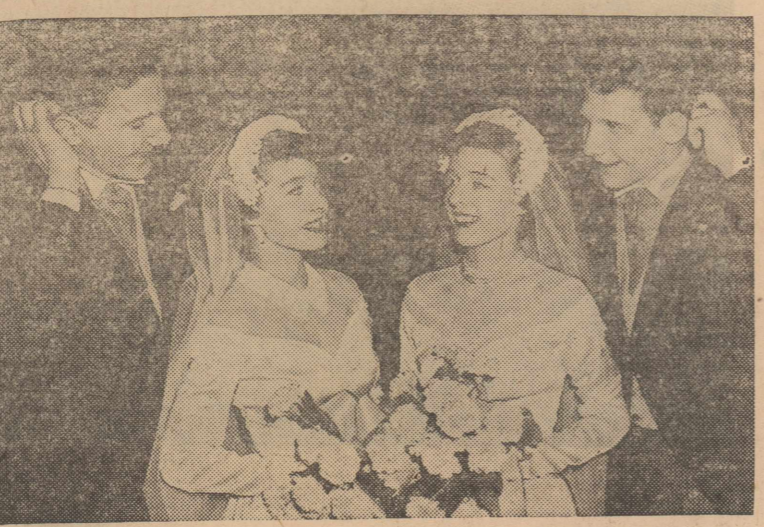

Six girls in the office recognized it right away.

Views and Counterviews

THE U. S. and Britain have split on India's truce plan to end the Korean war. India had offered a solution to the repatriation-of-prisoners problem that is delaying an armistice.

BRITISH STAND
The British believe that the United States is putting too much emphasis on a matter of principle that isn't genuine. Britain believes that the main thing is to end the fighting, not to haggle over the prisoner question, a problem that already has been solved by international agreements concerning repatriation. The British, backing India's plan, feel it has a lot of support among Asian nations. They fear that the amendments that America would tack onto the plan would kill Indian support of plan. England feels that it is vital to have a resolution on the Korean truce put forward by a great Asian nation. There would be no inhumanity to prisoners involved, Britain feels, because the Indian plan calls for UN care of prisoners who do not want to be repatriated. Britain wants the Asian nations to feel that they have a word in the fate of that part of the world and will not continue to be made a battlefield for western principles. They believe the U. S. amendments have been suggested in a spirit of international quibbling. Both the Conservative and the Labor parties in England are agreed on this.

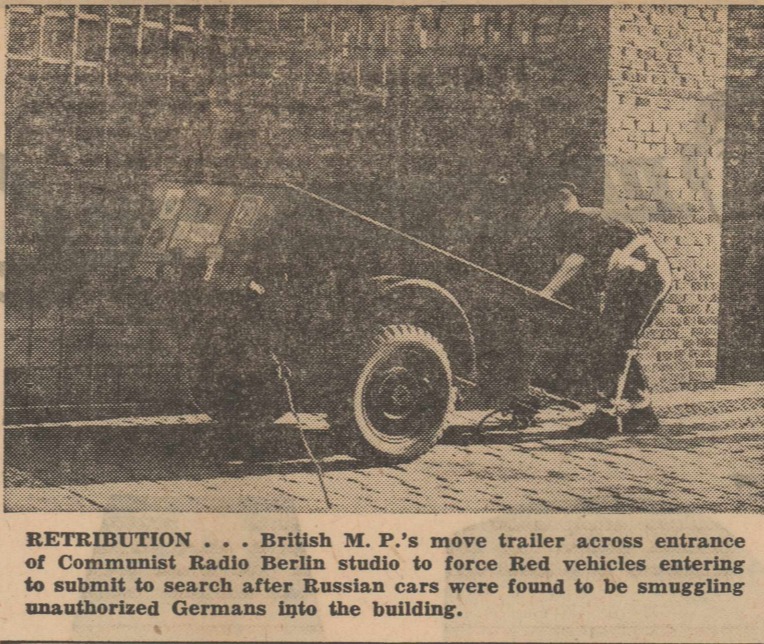

AMERICAN STAND
The American government stands on its primary principle that no prisoners who do not wish to return to their Red masters should be forced to do so. The United States feels that India's plan for taking care of those who do not wish to be repatriated under UN auspices would make the prisoners political pawns who sooner or later would have no choice but to return to their homeland and suffer Communist revenge. The U. S. thinks that the Indian plan has loopholes. The U. S. offered the amendments, disapproved of by the British, to guarantee three points: that there would be no forcible repatriation, that there would be no forcible detention of prisoners who did not wish to return home, either under UN care or anywhere else, and that the machinery set-up was workable and would carry out no-force principles. The U. S. agrees that all Asia is looking at us—would not a forcible repatriation disgust our allies by bringing into the limelight our nonconcern for peoples who have forsaken Communism and surrendered to us? Our principles not to turn prisoners over to the mercy of the Reds are genuine.

STRATFORD GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

Band Eyes Marching Film

The Stratford High School Band attended a special showing of the Sousa film "Stars and Stripes" at Dalhart Monday through the courtesy of J. W. Parker, owner of the Mission Theatre.

The band also had a first showing of the color film is-ued by the University of Indiana "The Marching Band" which dealt with fundamentals of marching by the Hobart high school band.

Arrangements are being made for the group to see films made by the Sexton high school band of Lansing, Michigan, and "Half Notes", a color film produced by the University of Iowa bands.

Grade School Scores $63.80 For March Of Dimes Campaign

Stratford Elementary school students and their teachers took in $63.80 in their drive to raise money in the current drive for the March of Dimes.

Mrs. Russell's first grade school students raised the most of any class in the school. Their total contributions amounted to $15.36.

Funds raised included: Mrs. Russell's first grade $15.36; Mrs. Gardner's first grade $6.93; Mrs. Barker's second grade $7.88; Mrs. Peterson's second grade $3.27; Miss Ballinger's third grade $2.37; Mrs. Hammons' third grade $2.93; Miss Riley's fourth grade $3.04; Miss Cox' fourth grade $3.08; Mrs. Flowers' fifth grade $2.20 Mrs. Elliott's fifth grade $3.65; Miss Crockett's sixth grade $5.31; Miss Paterson's seventh grade $5.04; Mrs. Turner's eighth grade $1.28. Teachers who did not have rooms contributed $1.50.

First Grade

Mrs. Russell's Room

Glad to have some back that have been absent — Sorry that Joe and Billie are still ill.

We are working on "Safety First" and Transportation in our social studies. We are learning some rules pertaining to safety and ways of travel. We are enjoying an album of "Safety First" records brought in by Johnny Brannan. We hope to learn some of the songs and slogans from these records. We have on our bulletin board "Safety Rules" that will help us take care of ourselves.

We are learning combinations now in our numbers also the number that comes before — after and between given numbers. We can count money too — now, don't ask about large sums.

We were 100% in giving to the "March of Dimes." Carol brought in the largest amount. This is good training and for such a good cause. We are glad to help those that need this thoughtful kindness.

Mrs. Gardner's Room

We are taking a trip to Word Land. Word cards are placed around the room. Each traveler progresses ten miles each time he pronounces a word. Ten words or 100 miles can be covered each day.

Third Grade

Miss Ballinger's Room

All of us are not back in school yet. James Johnson is still absent. Laurina Riggs and Dale Barton were absent on Monday but are in school today.

We will be glad when we can all be in school again.

Fourth Grade

Miss Riley's Room

Billy Steinberger and Gary Mathews, the bulletin board committee for this month, arranged some scenic pictures on the bulletin board this week.

Members of the class are going to present a play "The Three Tests" for the class next week. The cast of characters includes: Prince, Gary Mathews; Basil, Billy Steinberger; Gills, Gary Dettle; Princess Myrna, Kaye Webb; Princess Delia, Lynda Brewster; and Princess Sibyl, Robbie Burkham.

Those making 100 in Spelling this week are: Alta Adams, Nanfreda Bammes, Donna Blazier, Joe Ray Brown, Lynda Brewster, Robbie Burkham, Burl Griggs, Jonna Knight, Barbara Lavake, Gary Mathews, Dennis Phelps, Shirley Sanders, John Sears, Billy Steinberger, Dennis Walker and Kay Webb.

Fifth Grade

Mrs. Flowers' Room

In Spelling those who made one hundred are: Carolee Baskin, Ann Burgess, Charles Clements, Linda Coffman, Leon Eden, Sharon Gamble, Dixie Lee Knight, Dwane Lavake, Rex Palmer, J. D. Plunk, Jessie Riggs. Monday we traded library books with Mrs. Elliott's room. The new books are very interesting.

The teacher is reading Huckleberry Finn.

On our bulletin board we have pictures of the Rose Bowl Parade in Pasadena, California. Some of the floats were very elaborate and colorful.

The Weekly Reader this week has to do with the making of rubber boats and life rafts for Uncle Sam's army.

Mary Gay Judd is back in school after her recent illness. Molly Davis told the class of her trip to Port Isabel, Texas.

The Health Class is studying hobbies. Each student brought a picture of his or her hobby and told the class about it.

One minute speed tests in reading classes are our latest, in trying to improve our skill and speed.

Mrs. Elliott's Room

(By News Committee)

Our room is taking on the Valentine appearance. Gay Plunk and Darla Taylor have beautifully framed the bulletin board showing spring grass and trails where Saint Valentine might have ventured on one of his mid-night strolls.

Linda Taylor has volunteered to make the box that will hold our love messages until that eventful day "Friday Thirteen" and valentine friends will be greeted one day early.

Our class held its regular monthly meeting on the last Friday of January at which time we voted to clean up the boy's football field. The project got under way early Monday morning.

As our Fire Prevention program has developed from week to week each of us have dramatized a scene where-in we saw fire as a "friend" or as a "foe." This week will find us writing well balanced paragraphs with the aid of our own constructed outline on our self-selected phases of "Fire Prevention and Safety" as the topics for our paragraphs.

We have selected five menus from our list of camp menus for their superior quality. They represent the work of Elaine Crabtree, Darla Taylor, Gay Plunk, La Ruth Kendrick and Linda Taylor. However, La Ruth seems to be the best cook of the week. She stressed hash for the evening meal and had the basic ingredients for just such a dish at the previous meal. This shows some good planning and thinking, as well as ability on the part of a pupil.

Seventh Grade

Miss Patterson's Room

Billy Cummings is absent from school. He has the measles.

Mary Janice Boren, Betty Lou Gore, Park Hammons, Alice Ann Hayse, Nellie Johnson, and Tommy Lavake were in Dalhart Monday for a visual education program.

Betty Bradley, Grace Brooks, and John Lyons have been absent from school due to illness.

Mary Janice Boren was high point scorer in the basketball game at Cactus Tuesday night. She scored twenty-two points. Other Seventh Graders who were on the squad were Mary Lou Wells, Betty Lou Gore, Alice Ann Hayse, Sharon Hampton and Nellie Johnson.

Boys' Ranch Licks Flu Epidemic

A recent siege of the flu hit America's First Boys' Ranch with full force and nearly one third of the nearly 200 young Ranchers were stricken. It was the biggest single wave of sickness in the Ranch's history and the staff was hard pressed to cope with it.

There were not sufficient facilities to handle such a problem with so many boys, but through the help of a doctor and two nurses from Dumas the epidemic was stopped.

The doctor and nurses, who insist on remaining anonymous, made the long trip from Dumas to the Ranch three times every 24 hours and it was only through their untiring and unselfish efforts that the tide of illness was stopped.

The boys were given every necessary aid and the doctor and nurses often stayed up all night driving to and from the Ranch and caring for their many patients. The other Ranchers were also given every precaution to escape the epidemic.

The boys were sent to bed and they remained there for several days taking shots and other medicine with the doctor coming every few hours to look in on them and make sure there were no serious complications.

Maybe the physician and the nurses never had quite so many patients at one time, but they did a wonderful job in helping the boys to recover. The epidemic of flu was stopped at the Ranch in an amazingly short time with none of the boys seriously ill or having to be hospitalized.

There are only a few sniffles left at the Ranch now. All the boys are up and back in school and they deeply appreciate what the small medical group from Dumas did for them in their time of need.

Census Records Used As Substitute For Birth Certificates

Persons lacking birth certificates or other legal evidence of citizenship, age or family relationships can obtain transcripts of their personal census records which are, in most instances, acceptable substitutes, according to District Supervisor James M. Hamilton of the U. S. Census Bureau.

More than 100,000 Americans turned to the Census Bureau for such evidence in 1952. They needed proof of identity or age for Government and defense jobs, Social Security, passports, the Armed Services, and in connection with insurance and estate cases.

Supervisor Hamilton pointed out that personal information recorded by the Census Bureau is entirely confidential and may be furnished only upon the written request of the individual to whom it relates or his legal representatives. The normal fee is $3.00 for searches of two censuses for one individual, each application being handled in regular turn which generally requires approximately 30 days to complete service. Expedited handling is furnished for a $4.00 fee.

Application blanks and instructions may be obtained from the Census Bureau's District Office at 925 T & P Building, Fort Worth, Texas, or by writing to the Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D. C.

Say You Saw It In The Star

Scripture: Matthew 20. Devotional Reading: Ephesians 2:1-10.

Not for Sale

Lesson for February 8, 1953

IF THE modern reader of the parable of the laborers in the vineyard is puzzled, he at least has the comfort of knowing that great Bible scholars have been puzzled too. He also has the discomfort of knowing that no interpretation he can put upon it will have unanimous agreement. To be sure, there are some things it does not mean. This parable does not give a model for labor and management. Jesus was not talking about wages literally. He was saying something about God, and his dealings with man. Furthermore, this parable does not mean that God's only reason for doing things is "because;" that he is one whose acts have neither rhyme nor reason. But what does this parable mean? Among the various plausible interpretations that have been given it by Christian thinkers, let us pick out one of the most important truths that this peculiar story suggests.

Nothing to Sell

That truth is: The grace of God cannot be earned. To desire the loving favor, the "grace," of God, is to desire the greatest gift God can bestow. But it cannot be bought. It cannot be earned. We can see that this is true by thinking a moment. Think whose it is. We can pay for business favors, we can tip a waiter or a porter for doing something special for us; but we can't tip God. We can employ the services of all sorts of people; but God's services are not for hire. We can earn anything on earth, or many things; but the grace of God is from heaven. What he does for man is a gift, not a payment.

And then think who we are. Suppose we really thought we could do a bookkeeping business with God. If we get it into our foolish heads that he owes us something, what about our debt to him? If we must have it on a bookkeeping basis, we shall always be in the red.

Earning God's Grace

Still, the race of man includes many fools. And some of these have tried to do the impossible, to earn the infinite grace of God. One way they have tried is to buy it. A lifelong rascal's conscience will finally begin to hurt him, and so to get God on his side he will build a cathedral or endow an orphanage or pour money into some church treasury, hoping that God will overlook the villainous ways in which he spends it. Other men (a little more on the "religious" side) seem to think they can sweet-talk God into being their friend. They would not put it that way; they would say that God will listen to their many prayers. Do they not regularly attend prayer meetings, or early communions, and should not God be expected to do something for them in return?

Others, again, hope that God can be made to feel so sorry for them that he will pour out on them his special grace. If they do not have natural troubles they will make artificial troubles for themselves. They will go without proper food and clothing, they will wear hair shirts or iron chains around their waists, they will roll on beds of spikes or go without baths for years and years. But God's grace does not go to the highest bidders; it does not go to the most long-winded prayers; it is not offered as a reward for self-inflicted wounds. God's grace must be taken as a gift or not at all.

Grace and Gratitude

Then does it make no difference what we do? Will God be just as good to us, no matter what? Shall we even "do evil that grace may abound," that is, shall we make God's grace even more gracious by being as bad as we can be? Not by any means. The truly good life is not a way of earning the grace of God; it is a way of responding to the grace of God.

Some one has said that religion is gratitude. Religion is our response to God, not his to us. Religion is our reply to the infinite goodness of the Almighty, not his reply to our part-worn, badly mixed and human goodness. Indeed, the good life is more than a lifelong act of gratitude; the good life itself is the effect of God's grace. Don't Laugh - YOUR WAY OF WASHING MAY BE JUST AS OLD-FASHIONED

There was a day when this locomotive was the latest thing in rail transportation. In that day, there was a washday—usually Monday—when everything else stopped while the homemaker went at the backbreaking job of getting the clothes clean.

For cleaner clothes—washed when it's convenient for you—try an automatic electric clothes washer.

Jack Williams, a son-in-law of C. T. Pounds of Conlen, is a medical patient in Loretto Hospital in Dalhart. Mr. Wil-iams suffered a stroke about two weeks ago. He was hospitalized in Amarillo and later returned to the Dalhart Hospital. His condition had been considered satisfactory until Thursday of last week. He suddenly be-

The President

The President of the United States is entitled to the full support of both parties in carrying into effect his campaign promises which were approved by the voters. The National Capital is alive with gossip and rumors as to the meaning of some of the early actions in Congress. Actually, very little has been accomplished in the Congress outside of organizational work. I had hoped that operations would get into full swing immediately after the 20th of January. However, it seems that there has been additional delay awaiting the President's message to the Congress, which will be delivered on the Monday following the writing of this letter, which will be before many of you have occasion to read it. The reason for this added delay seems to be the strife between the factions inside the Republican Party. Much of it is due to differences between the factions concerning the dispensing of patronage. It has already reared its ugly head in several of the House and Senate committees. President Eisenhower is obviously doing his best to reconcile these differences and to bring about a spirit of cooperation that will expedite the fulfillment of his campaign promises to the American people. Certainly both parties owe it to this country to cooperate with him and his administration to honor and carry out the wishes of the American people. The two major flare-ups that have occurred and have caused the greatest disturbance are:

1. The curtailment of presidential powers in reorganizing the Executive Branch of the Government.

2. The proposed tax reduction before balancing the budget.

Under the present law, which expires April 1, the President has the right and power to reorganize the bureaus, agencies or departments in the Executive Branch of the Government by setting up his reorganization program and submitting it to the Congress. If the Congress fails to veto such reorganization program within sixty days by a majority of the full membership of one of the Houses of Congress, the program automatically goes into effect. That is, such a proposed program could be defeated by either House of Congress, the House of Representatives, or the Senate, but it must be remembered that in order to defeat such a program, more than 50 percent of the entire membership of one of the Houses must be opposed to it. In order for this power of reorganization to remain in the President, it is necessary that Congress extend the law. Since one of the major campaign promises of President Eisenhower was consolidation and simplification of the Federal Government to bring about order and system, it was presumed that the extension of the Reorganization Act for at least two years would be requested. Extension was requested and was advocated by ex-President Hoover, who as you know headed the Hoover Commission and made many recommendations toward the simplification of the sprawling federal system. It did not occur to many of us that any controversy would arise concerning this. The bill was introduced and promptly taken up by the proper committees in the House and the Senate for early action so that the new administration could get under way with the least possible delay.

The new budget director, Mr. Dodge, appeared before the House committee and stated his position clearly and concisely, and I might say ably. He sought a two-year extension of the present law with no changes. The testimony before the committee included the letter from Herbert Hoover insisting that such powers be continued in the President. However, when the smoke had cleared, the committee had voted an amendment to the law which measurably cut down the presidential powers. This amendment provided that a presidential reorganization could be defeated on the Floor of either House by the vote of a simple majority. This simply means that should the matter come before either House at a time when only a few members were on the Floor, a presidential reform or reorganization of a department or an agency which could save the taxpayers of this nation many dollars, could be defeated and sent back to the White House. Every member on the Democratic side of the House committee voted to sustain Eisenhower and to carry out his wishes in this matter. Every member on the Republican side with the exception of one, who voted present, voted against the expressed wishes of President Eisenhower delivered to the committee by the Director of the Budget, Mr. Dodge. Everyone who knows anything about parliamentary procedure knows that one of the oldest tricks employed by a small bloc or minority is the trick of bringing up legislation while only those favoring the legislation, or opposed to it, as the case may be, are present. What the overall results of this parliamentary maneuvering will be is difficult to foresee at the present time, but there is one thing for sure: President Eisenhower will receive almost unanimous support from the Southern democrats in Congress and many other democrats in reorganizing and reforming the boards, bureaus and departments of this Government if such reorganization will result in better efficiency, less federal jobs and less cost to the taxpayer. Such proposal should have the unanimous support of the Congress in both Houses.

The tax reduction proposal that has caused much concern is the proposal by Representative Reed, of New York, to cut off the last tax increase at an early date. This would mean a tax reduction of around 5 1/2 per cent in 1953 and an overall tax reduction in later years of approximately 11 per cent. There is no doubt but that Eisenhower promised the American people that he would work diligently toward tax reduction and the balancing of the budget. The concern on Capitol Hill centers around the question of which is to come first — the chicken or the egg? Representative Reed takes the position that the tax reduction is in order and that balancing of the budget will follow in due course. He is the Chairman of the tax writing House Ways and Means Committee and cannot be brushed aside. Other leaders in the Republican Party take the position that a great deal of work must be done on the budget toward a reduction thereof before any tax reductions can be thought of. I do not hesitate to tell you that I expect to support Mr. Reed's position for the tax reduction, if for no other reason than to be consistent. This was the tax increase that I voted against, and I have not changed my position. It is my thought that the budget will be balanced much quicker if we take some action on reducing taxes, than will be the case if we spend a year or two discussing what we might possibly do without in the way of federal expenditures. A nation is no different from an individual. As long as the money is provided to be spent, the chances are it will be disposed of. Although I would prefer to make the initial tax reduction by increasing personal exemptions, I certainly intend to go along with Mr. Reed if we can get some relief.

TO KEEP YOUR ENGINE HEALTHY
Change FILTER ELEMENTS Regularly

The oil filter on your McCormick-Deering tractor protects the engine against wear caused by dirty oil. But unless the filter element is periodically replaced its purpose is defeated and no protection results. For your engine's sake... and the sake of your tractor investment... be sure to renew the filter element each time you change oil. Remember, the new-style "umbrella" element keeps oil clean and your engine protected for 120 hours of hard use (100 hours for Diesel engines). Take home a supply of these protective elements the next time you are in town.

HOW THE "UMBRELLA" FILTER ELEMENT WORKS

The element is made of two large sheets of special creped, impregnated cellulose — accordion-folded to form a double-walled cylinder. Oil from the crankcase is pumped under pressure into the filter housing where it completely envelops the element. The oil is forced through tiny pores in the element and all sludge and dirt is retained on the outer surfaces. The clean oil passes down between the two sheets and goes back to the crankcase.
