

Delegates Home From State 4-H Round-Up

Leaving on the bus Monday morning of last week for Amarillo was the group from Sherman County on their way to College Station. County delegates included Delma Dee Schafer and Sonny Judd, adult leader Mrs. Everett Riggs, and county agent Ernest Goule. This group joined others at the Amarillo bus depot, and all from District I went on a chartered bus together. The entire group was composed of 24 delegates, 2 county agents, 2 district agents, and 5 adult leaders. Fourteen counties were represented. They stopped in Childress for supper, driving on to Wichita Falls where they spent the night. Tuesday noon they had dinner at Hillsboro, and continued on through the tornado stricken area of Waco, arriving at College Station in the middle of the afternoon.

The group registered, found their rooms, and spent a short time at the Country Club cooling off in the swimming pool before supper. After supper the leaders were taken by buses to a get-acquainted party on the lawn of the home of Chancellor and Mrs. Gibb Gilchrist. The 4-H members had a party in the Grove.

Wednesday morning, the round-up was officially opened by the Council. The principal speaker of this session was Dr. George C. Baker, Jr., Chaplain, Southern Methodist University. His address was one of the highlights of the Roundup. His subject and the theme of the Roundup was "From Here—Where?" or "What does the future hold for Youth?" He held the group spellbound for an hour and clamoring for more. He mentioned that the prevailing wind for our time seems to be a whirlwind, without well defined goals. In the Kentucky race stables, over one stall, was a sign reading, "This is the fastest horse this world has ever seen." Someone came along and changed this to read, "This is the fastest world this horse as ever seen." This becomes much more than a joke when we think of the many changes the last fifty years have brought — changes in the life time of each listener. In 1902 horse power, as a unit of power, came in one horse hide containers. At that time no one traveled faster than the ones of ages past. The speed of Napoleon, George Washington, Julius Caesar was still our speed. Now with our planes, cars, jet planes, atoms, we need a new measure of power — horsepower is too small. How much has been accomplished in our lifetime! Even everyday things we take for granted were unknown at the turn of the century. Necessities to us as the radio, were dreams. "A new world has been born in the last fifty years. A new world can be made in the next 50 years." Then he named fields of concern: Health, Crime, Family Life, Brotherhood of man, Peace, (Peace means more than a period of reloading guns and assuming new positions.) Our problem is not Russia. If Russia and all her leaders, ideas, and influences were wiped out over night, there would still be over two billion people with problems to be solved. He ended his address by telling of a want-ad that appeared in San Francisco in 1860: Wanted — young, strong, wiry men under 18 willing to risk death. Wages $25. Apply at Overland Express. Orphans preferred. The world still needs the same kind of men to build a new world as was needed then on the Pony Express to cover the new world.

Wednesday afternoon the leaders and members met in separate groups and discussed questions of what the future holds and our place and preparation for it. The highlights of these meetings were presented Thursday afternoon. Thursday morning a tour was made of the A. & M. College.

Another highlight of the Round-Up was the banquet Thursday night sponsored by Sears Roebuck Foundation. Wednesday night they were

Commends Farm Bureau Officials Warehouse Law

The Texas grain farmer now for the first time has adequate protection for his crops held in storage, according to Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White.

Because of the Public Grain Warehouse Bill, passed during the recent 53rd legislative session, a depositor of grain in a public warehouse has his commodities insured against fire, theft, misappropriation, damage due to careless handling, or acts of God, White stated.

Also, for the first time, the farmer may use his stored grain receipts from state bonded warehouses as negotiable security.

Also, for the first time, the farmer may use his stored grain receipts from state bonded warehouses as negotiable security.

In commenting on the bill, White said, "This was a long-needed piece of legislation. I am particularly grateful to J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation; C. H. DeVaney, vice-president; Loys Barbour, Farm Bureau director, and many others for their assistance in helping make this law a reality."

The state farm organization, representing more than 180 organized counties, maintained a legislative office in the state capital this year for the first time. This office was staffed by DeVaney and Barbour, both farmers.

The new warehouse law, introduced by Rep. W. R. Chamber of May and Senator Andy Rogers of Childress, requires that all public warehousemen, not previously licensed by the federal government, secure a license from the Texas Department of Agriculture. Insurance to fully cover all grain in storage also is required.

The warehouseman further protects his customers by obtaining a bond not less than $5,000 nor more than $50,000; the amount being at the discretion of the Commissioner of Agriculture.

Married In Pretty Home Wedding

At an early morning wedding marked by beauty and solemnity, Martha Crabtree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Crabtree, became the bride on June 3 of Donald Glenn Ellison, young stock-farmer and son of Mr. and Mrs. Oma Ellison of Stratford.

Performing the 8:00 o'clock ceremony at the Crabtree home was the Rev. A. W. Reccius of Hooker, Oklahoma, close family friend. The place of the ceremony was marked by baskets of white peonies and burning tapers in candelabra.

Minnie Crabtree, sister of the bride, played the wedding marches and accompanied Miss Letha Gale Fedric and Mrs. Gordon Fedric as they sang, "Oh Promise Me."

Martha, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her gown that was designed and made by her sister, Mary Crabtree. It was of white French lace over white satin. The molded bodice had a low-scalloped neckline and the skirt was ballerina length. The fingertip veil of illusion had motifs of the imported lace applied around the edge of the veil and the head band of lace and satin was ornamented with seed pearls.

For something old she wore a gold pin, more than a century old, belonging to her paternal grandmother, Mrs. B. R. Crabtree and for something borrowed she wore pearls loaned by Janet Garoutte.

Her Bible arrangement was topped with a single white orchid.

Mary Crabtree was her sister's maid of honor and Jeanne and Janet Garoutte, twins, were bridesmaids. They wore pastel blue organdy frocks of street length with velvet leaf headbands and carried hand bouquets of white carnations.

Minnie Crabtree, Letha Gale

Fedric and Mrs. Gordon Fedric were all in yellow organdy dresses and had corsages of yellow organdy.

Hugh Stewart, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man and Johnnie Summerour and Joe E. Everett, lighted the tapers and served as groomsmen.

Mrs. Crabtree, mother of the bride, was dressed in a Capri blue crinkle nylon with which she wore a shoulder bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Ellison, mother of the bridegroom, was wearing navy blue crepe with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The wedding guests included members of the families and a few close friends. Other relatives and friends were present for the reception that immediately followed the ceremony. Guests were registered by Mrs. Hugh Stewart, sister of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Joe Everett and Maxine Senna presided over the charming bride's table which was covered in lace over blue and lighted with white tapers. The beautifully decorated wedding cake in three tiers featured orange blossoms.

Mrs. Earl Leonard, West Fork, Arkansas, an aunt of the bride, was among the out-of-town wedding guests. Wedding guests from this area included in addition to the two immediate families, Mrs. Mollie Ellison, grandmother of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Crabtree, Charles Durr, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Crabtree and daughter, Judy, Mrs. Kenneth Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Summerour, Mrs. Lacy Fedric, Mrs. Fred Garoutte, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Cunningham.

For their wedding trip to Colorado resorts the bride wore a blue nylon batiste frock, white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Miss Bennett Is Sailing For Germany

MONTREAL, Canada — Mildred Bennett of Stratford, sailed from here Tuesday on the Anna Salen enroute to Germany where she will live and work with farm families as a participant in the International Farm Youth Exchange program. She will arrive in Germany on June 29 and is scheduled to return to the United States November 10.

Miss Bennett was one of a group of 27 IFYE delegates that sailed on the 16th to visit farm people in 6 countries. Other groups leaving the U. S. on June 12, 18, 22, and 24 bring the total number of Grass Roots Ambassadors leaving this month to 81 and the number of countries to be visited to 24 in Europe, the Middle East, Latin America, and the Far East. S. to live and work with farm families in other countries for from 4 to 6 months, and for farm youths from co-operating countries to come to the U. S. to live and work with farm people here. No Federal or State government funds are used to finance the exchanges. Contributions from local 4-H clubs, rural organizations, civic groups, foundations, industries, individuals, etc., pay the cost of operating the exchange program.

Since the program began in 1948, 279 delegates from the U. S. have gone abroad and 217 farm youths from other countries have come here. In 1953, a program of approximately 135 2-way exchanges is planned. IFYE is sponsored jointly by the National 4-H Club Foundation and the Cooperative Extension Service of the U. S. Refrigerator Cookies

Refrigerator cookies may be frozen in the roll, or sliced and packaged with two sheets of waxed paper between the layers.

Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, says accurate measurements, proper chilling, and correct baking temperatures are important in making quality refrigerator cookies.

If cookie dough is left in the form of a roll, thaw in the refrigerator an hour before slicing and then cook in a moderate oven, 375 degrees F., for 10 to 15 minutes or until a golden brown.

Frozen sliced cookies may be placed on an ungreased baking sheet and cooked in the same way.

The agent says you can store cookies in the home freezer for six months.

At the annual encampment of the fifth district of the Veterans of Foreign Wars held in Gonzales this past weekend, Ross Boothe, President of the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation for Crippled Children, accepted a check in the amount of $761.75 from Mrs. Elmo Self, of Rosenberg. Mrs. Self served this past year as state chairman of the fund raising campaign which was conducted by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Texas Department of the VFW on behalf of Warm Springs.

Gardens Plagued By Weather

The weather, always a favorite topic of conversation, is playing hobs with home gardens. A month ago it was too wet in parts of the state and too dry in others and right now it's on the dry and hot side all over. The yields and quality of garden vegetables will both be cut, says Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, unless steps are taken to offset the adverse growing conditions.

Keep down weeds and grass that compete with the vegetables for vital moisture and plant food, says the agent. Cultivate just deep enough to get the weeds and break the surface crust. Cultivation, when properly done, leaves the soil in a loose friable condition so that air and moisture from either rain or irrigation can penetrate. Deep cultivation, explains Miss King, disturbs and may even destroy the roots of shallow rooted vegetables such as squash, cucumber, cantaloupes and sweet corn.

A good mulch of organic materials will help conserve moisture that is in the soil and will also help control weeds and grass and lower the soil temperature.

Most garden soils need about an inch of water per week to keep the vegetables coming to the family table. If this amount of moisture is not forthcoming as rain, then supplemental irrigation should be used, advises Miss King. She says it takes about 20 minutes average flow from a common garden hose to apply an inch of water to 100 square feet and that one good soaking every 7 to 10 days is much better than frequent sprinklings.

The USDA has available 100 million pounds of nonfat dry milk solids for donation to school lunch rooms, welfare organizations in the U. S. and its territories and to private welfare organizations assisting needy persons in foreign countries. Details available from USDA's PMA's food distribution branch, Dallas or State Department of Public Welfare, Austin.

High quality hay can be produced from many crops if the crops are properly fertilized, managed and harvested at the right time.

Weather, such as prevails now over the state, tests the management skills of the home gardener. Proper cultivation, irrigation and mulching are garden practices which will pay-off during dry, hot weather. Insect control, too, is a must.

Easy Does It

WOOD, canvas, plastic, and cord webbings in outdoor furniture can be kept clean with warm soapsuds and brisk scrubbing. Always rinse well, and wipe off excess water. Glass and tile table tops need frequent washing with warm suds.

Because foam rubber is a long dryer, it's advisable to cover such pillows with a zippered removable ticking that's quickly and easily launderable in hot soapsuds. This way, the pillow itself will not have to be washed very often.

Soot and dirt should be washed off of house plants to permit the leaves to "breathe." Protect earth in the pot with a piece of round plastic or waxed paper slit at one side and slipped around the stem. Dip leaves with a sudsy cloth, then a rinse cloth. For very delicate foliage, use an atomizer or spray

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Crisp Sandwich Filling
(Makes 1½ cups)

¾ cup sieved avocado
½ cup grated carrot
½ cup finely chopped cabbage
¼ teaspoon grated onion
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice

To prepare avocado, cut into halves lengthwise and remove seed and skin. Force fruit through sieve. Add remaining ingredients and mix well.

to apply the soapy solution and rinse water. Let plants dry away from sunshine.

Flexible plastics like draperies, shower curtains, or place mats can be tubbed or sponged with warm soapy water, rinsed and wiped dry. Upholstery and hard-surfaced plastics like furniture or counters can be wiped with a well-sudged sponge or cloth, then rinsed and wiped dry.

If washable and color-fast, rugs can be shampooed at home. Apply "dry" suds with a cloth, sponge, or brush. Work on one section at a time, overlapping to avoid rings. Remove soiled suds with a clean rinse cloth and blot all possible moisture with a clean, dry cloth. Work quickly, avoid saturating moisture, and keep the windows open to speed drying.

Clean bird cages at least twice a week; change the paper every day. A transparent plastic bird cage can be washed in soap and water, perches, swing, seed and water cups, and floor trays.

Insects cost the United States $4,000,000,000 a year in crops and livestock.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Buckles and little daughter, Marla Dianne, returned the first of the week from Fredericksburg, Texas, where they attended a family reunion Sunday. Five generations were represented at the gathering. Mrs. H. F. Mueller, her daughter, Mrs. H. Ohlenbusch, her grandson, F. C. Ohlenbusch, her great-granddaughter, Mrs. R. M. Buckles of Stratford, and her great-great-

attacking broad leaf plants such as althea, elm, roses, oaks and many others.

Miss King says now is the time to begin your campaign to destroy the bag worms. When first hatched, the bag worms are so little and well covered, it is difficult to see them. They spin a cone-shaped, waterproof silk cover and conceal the cone with bits of bark and green leaves. As they grow, the bag worms add to this tent-like home, only sticking their heads out long enough to feed on the tender tips of plants. The cone-shaped cover grows with the bag worm and may be as large as three to 4 inches by August.

The agent says the bag worms should be killed now before they reach the mature stage. A lead arsenate spray, applied once a week, will kill them before the bag worm destroys or seriously damages a plant. To make the spray solution, mix three tablespoons of lead arsenate in a gallon of water. If it rains, spray more often because rain washes the poison off the plant. Usually two sprayings are enough. These pests die slowly, often taking more than ten days. When dead their well-built protection will cling to limbs for months and even years.

It is a tedious job to pull the bag worms off by hand when they are full grown. Spraying the plant with lead arsenate during June and July while the insects are young will keep them from injuring the plants seriously. Old ones may escape to produce eggs for next year's pest crop.

Pineapple In The Home Freezer

Fresh pineapple, sliced and covered with cold syrup can be placed in the home freezer for future eating.

Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, suggests using half-inch slices of the peeled pineapple. Make the syrup by dissolving 2½ cups of sugar in a quart of hot water and pineapple juice and cool before covering the pineapple in the air-tight and moisture-vapor-proof freezing cartons. Dry sugar pack may also be used with a half cup of sugar per quart of fruit.

Seal the carton and quick-freeze as soon as possible.

Stop Wool Damage

Ruined suits, coats, rugs and blankets that fall prey to clothes moths and carpet beetles add up to a tremendous dollars and cents loss each year.

Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, says controlling the clothes moths and carpet beetles is a two-part job, keeping them from feeding on your woollens and removing infestations from your home and preventing them from returning.

You can use several methods to protect woollens from damage. The agent says EQ-53 is the new development of USDA scientists to protect all washable woollens. Household DDT oil sprays and flouride-type moth proofing solutions applied to woollens that can't be washed, rugs, coats, suits, protect them from insect feeding for a season longer. Moth flakes and crystals, if used in nearly airtight containers that are seldom opened, provide good protection for stored woollens. You can also get help from dry cleaners and launderers who are equipped to pest-proof your woollens.

The second problem, ridding the home of clothes moths and carpet beetles, depends on a combination of good house cleaning and insect-killing chemicals, chlordane and lindane. Household sprays containing these two chemicals will help keep the pests from closet walls, floors and cracks behind baseboards

Orange Eggnog

To 1 egg, well beaten
Add: 1 tablespoon lemon juice
1-2 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
Mix thoroughly, chill. Serve ice cold. Amount: 1 glass.

Timely Tips

1. Shake together 2 cups chilled milk, 2 cups orange juice, 1-4 teaspoon almond flavoring, and sugar to taste. Top with whipped cream and a dash of nutmeg. This is an excellent refresher for children.
2. Use orange juice in a variety of ways in a diet.
3. One-half cup orange juice contains 52 milligrams of ascorbic acid (vitamin C). A 12-year old child needs 30 milligrams per day in order to keep the body tissue in good condition.

Canning Potatoes

Included in the 1953 recommendations for home food preservation are directions for canning white potatoes, either whole or diced.

The Texas State Nutrition Council, a committee of representatives concerned with keeping all of us informed on up to date methods of foods and nutrition, says the method used by United States Department of Agriculture laboratories is included in this year's recommendations.

The directions suggest potatoes one to two and a half inches in diameter. Wash, peel and cook the small potatoes in boiling water for ten minutes, drain, and pack into hot glass jars, leaving a half inch at the top. Cover with boiling water, leaving a half inch space at the top of the jar. Add a half teaspoon of salt to each pint, or a teaspoon of salt to each quart, and adjust jar lids. Process in the pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure for 30 minutes for pint jars and 40 minutes for quart jars.

As soon as you remove the jars from the canner, complete seals if closure are not of self-sealing type.

If you use tin cans, pack hot potatoes to a fourth inch of the top. Fill to top with boiling water, add salt, a half teaspoon to number 2 cans and a teaspoon to number 2 1/2 cans. Exhaust and seal cans. Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure for 35 minutes for number 2 cans and 40 minutes for number 2 1/2 cans.

Preparing Poultry For Cold Storage

Broiler producers are now marketing high quality birds which are excellent for cold storage. Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, says now is a good time to place poultry in the home deep-freeze or frozen food locker while an abundant supply of high quality, reasonably priced birds are being placed on the market.

Miss King suggests you secure good healthy poultry and holding them off feed overnight before killing and dressing. High quality can be maintained by chilling, wrapping and freezing soon after dressing. Wrap poultry in heavy waxed paper or other wrapping material to keep air out and the moisture in thus preventing drying out called "freezer burn." Poultry will keep fine for three months, but the sooner eaten after storage the better the quality. Older poultry such as hens, roasters or turkeys keep better than younger poultry. Giblets (liver, gizzard and heart,) do not keep as well as other portions, so it is best to store them separate and eat them first.

Poultry can be pre-cut before it is packaged and frozen. Cut up poultry dries out more rapidly so do not expect it to stay in storage quite as long as whole frozen carcasses.

For best quality, Miss King says that birds should be quick frozen before being placed in the deep-freeze.

LILACS IN THE RAIN

By Mary Boyles

WHEN Elaine Bord opened the door to their apartment the room was too neat; especially the coffee table without her husband's pipe and assortment of magazines. To intensify the atmosphere of loneliness a spring rain was padding against the window pane. She sniffed the air. Lilacs! How could that odor have seeped into the heart of Chicago? Scoffing at a trick of imagination, she dropped into a chair.

Thoughts pounded through her tired brain. Dave must have meant it last night when he had said that he was going to leave that very day for Vincennes to take over his uncle's paper. She had told Dave that she had an important job with an advertising firm. She had recently been promoted to a higher personnel job. The promotion put her salary a little above his, but she pointed out he was in line for the next raise in his firm.

She had not believed that Dave would leave without her. She shrugged her shoulders and sniffed the air again. The odor of lilacs seemed real. For her their fragrance held a particular memory. She closed her eyes and could see vividly a boy and a girl, jumping puddles on their way home from school one spring day.

"My teacher said I might get a solo dance in the festival, cause I did so good this year," Elaine had boasted. She repeated a part of the dance on the curbing. Dave had looked away, his thin pointed face solemn. She had danced three more steps before she noticed that Dave was running down the street, heedless of puddles. She had scampered after him.

Why had Dave looked so unhappy? Then she had known. While she was bragging about her part in the festival, she had forgotten what had happened to Dave. In his solo when he had reached the high part, which he usually took so easily, his voice had broken. He had tried to continue his song but no sound had come.

"Dave, Dave," Elaine, cried as she rushed around the house.

She had been about to enter the kitchen when she heard a sound under the lilac bush by the back door. "Dave," she cried and crawled under the lilac bush beside him. She had caught his fists as he pounded the earth. "Dave, your song was beautiful."

"I ruined the program," he had cried.

"I heard you sing in practice. Your song was beautiful. Something just happened at the festival. You couldn't help it."

"Silly old song! Who cares?" he had said.

Another shower had been pelting against the lilac leaves. The odor of the lilacs had covered the two children like a soft fragrant blanket.

"You're pretty, Elaine. You're my girl. You can have all my lilacs if you want them." He had pressed his damp flushed face against hers. She had sat up giggling.

After that the lilacs had carried a memory of Dave. The two memories merged—the old and the one of last night. She knew that she must have been thinking only of herself again. She could not let Dave go to Vincennes without her. He had said something about having to finish some work at the office tonight. Perhaps she could catch him there. She was trembling so violently that she could hardly dial. The telephone rang several times; then Dave said, "Hello."

"Dave," she said breathlessly, "I want to go to Vincennes with you."

She heard him chuckle as he said, "Good."

"You'll think I'm silly, but I keep smelling lilacs . . . ever since I stepped inside the apartment."

"Have you been in the kitchen?" he asked.

"No," she answered, "just in the front room."

"There's a pitcher of lilacs on the kitchen sink. The flower man at the station had loads of fresh lilacs this morning."

"But how did they get here?"

"I sneaked them in. I was betting on the lilacs. I didn't have anything to do with the rain."

CWF Ladies Have Group Meeting With Living Link

Ladies of the Christian Woman's Fellowship met Monday instead of Wednesday so they might have a group meeting with their Service Link Missionary, Mrs. June Smedley, who was visiting in Stratford from Thursday until Tuesday.

The Smedleys are in the states on furlough from Ascuncion Paraguay. Mr. Smedley visited in Oklahoma City while his wife was in Stratford and he and their children, Linda, Billy and Bobby, and Mrs. Smedley's mother, Mrs. Humphrey, of Orlando, Florida, joined her here Monday.

The C. W. F. group met for a 1:00 o'clock luncheon with 19 members and Mrs. Smedley present.

The regular meetings opened at 2:00 P. M. with "Tell Me the Story of Jesus," as the opening song, followed by prayer led by Mrs. L. L. Lyon.

A short business meeting followed and June 25 was set for clean up day in the new church. This is open for all willing workers.

The ladies of the C. W. F. presented Mrs. Smedley with a "Love gift" in appreciation of her fellowship and work with them.

Mrs. Bernard Dovel gave the devotional from the scriptures, Matthew 26:36-46, using the theme "Are We Awake." Mrs. Frank Judd sang a solo. An offering of $54.00 was presented.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. June Smedley who presented the program.

"In Christ There is No East or West," was sung by the group followed by prayer by Mrs. Arthur Folsom.

The title of Mrs. Smedley's talk was "Polly Put the Kettle On, and We'll all Have Tea." In conclusion, she said, "Much can be accompanied over a cup of tea." The message delivered was "Personal Witnessing for Christ," or "Every Christian is a Missionary."

"Spirit of God Descend on My Heart," was sung softly by the group followed by the Missionary benediction.

Mr. and Mrs. Smedley and children and Mrs. Humphrey left Tuesday morning for California to visit relatives before going to Portland, Oregon to the International Convention of the Churches of Christ.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband and father, H. B. Naugle, who passed away June 19, 1952.

We did not know that hearts could ache,
With such a bitter pain;
With longing for a vanished face,
To hear a voice again,
We never knew nights could be so lonely, cold and dim,
But, oh, we've learned so many things
Because of losing him.
Sadly missed by his wife and children and families.

Feeling Our Americanism

The word "America" has a meaning that is different to the people of South America,

Central America and North America — All Americans.

We, as Americans, like to talk about "The American Way of Life," which also is different in the different American countries, but as citizens of the United States of America, we mean something special by that phrase — something which we feel about our life here in the United States. If we are good Americans, we know know what it is — to feel the shoulders a little straighter and the body a little taller when the Star Spangled Banner is played. To feel the whole body swell with a little more pride when we see the American flag. To feel that which originally made this country great — individual ideals, imagination and determination. To feel these things will bring forth a spontaneous action that will overshadow all forces that tend to destroy our "American Way of Life."

— Mrs. America
