

Loans Speeded For Drouth Assistance

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has announced that more loan making authority has been given to Farmers Home Administration officials to speed up emergency loans in the dust storm area. The added authority is effective in the five states of Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Loans up to $25,000 may now be approved in the five states. Formerly all applications for loans for more than $12,000 had to be sent to Washington for approval.

The Department is taking every step necessary, Secretary Benson said, to make sure that farmers and ranchers in the dust storm area receive all the assistance the Department can supply. The emergency credit will be used to pay the costs of listing and chiseling land subject to wind erosion. Funds for family subsistence, planting of new crops, temporary and permanent reseeding of pastures, and other necessary farm and ranch expenses can be included in the loans.

To make sure that all applications for assistance are handled rapidly at the local level, additional personnel have been assigned in areas where wind erosion is a problem. I. G. Vaden has been assigned to assist county supervisor, Delton M. Costlow in this work in Dallam, Hartley, Hutchinson, Moore and Sherman Counties. In addition, the local county committees are meeting as often as necessary to pass on all applications promptly. Costlow or Vaden will be in the Dalhart F. H. A. office each Monday, A. S. C. office in Stratford each Tuesday morning from 9:00 to 12:00 o'clock noon; S. C. S. office in Dumas each Thursday morning from 9:00 to 12:00 o'clock noon; A. S. C. office in Stinnett, each Thursday afternoon from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock. Applications are made at the Farmers Home Administration office in Dalhart.

The loans are made repayable on a schedule based on the applicant's ability to repay and bear three percent interest. In addition to the emergency loans, Secretary Benson has announced that drought relief funds are being made available on a reimbursable basis by the Department of State in the dust storm area for practices to help control wind erosion. The states are also helping to provide needed funds.

The funds will be used by local governmental units in the States to list or chisel land subject to blowing, in cases where owners are financially unable to, or otherwise fail to, take such

National And Inter-American Music Week

The 1954 observance of National and Inter-American Music Week, May 2 to 9, marks the thirty-first anniversary as a stimulus to the cause of music in the Americas. The observance is sponsored by the committee representing leading civic agencies throughout the nation, and the entire program is under the direction of the National Recreation Association.

"Join in Music Making" is the keynote of the National Music Week observance this year. It is an accepted fact that music makes life happier, more worthwhile, and less bound by material values. Enrichment of personal, family and group life, through music is in any form, either as a participant or through more intelligent and appreciative listening fulfills the high aim of the national observance of this week.

The basic aims of music week are (1) to advance the love of music and impress upon the consciousness of people the value of music in modern life, (2) to increase performance of music by groups and individuals, and (3) to further the influence of music in our way of life. This year special attention is being given to the provision of opportunities in music for the armed forces.

"We believe that membership in glee clubs, choruses, orchestras, bands and smaller ensembles, is a life-enriching asset to the individual and to the community," said T. R. Rivers of the National Recreation Association. Mayor H. M. Flores endorses the objectives of Music Week and recommends participation.

National Home Demonstration Week May 2-8

Work of 40,000 Texas Home Demonstration Club women will be spotlighted when National Home Demonstration Week, May 2-8, calls attention to the achievements that farm and ranch women made through organized planning and action.

Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, says the women will observe these objectives for the week: To encourage and assist parents in the training and guidance of children and youth; to develop teamwork in the family. To encourage all families to eat well-balanced meals. To help families to make wise decisions in the use of the family income. To aid families to make satisfactory choices in the selection and use of clothing and household fabrics. To help families achieve the maximum standards of housing possible within their incomes. To encourage the families to use their influence to strengthen the communities in which they live. To acquaint young families with the educational opportunities provided by the Extension Service and the many avenues through which home demonstration work may serve their needs. To recognize that families through organized study, planning, and action are making a lasting contribution to home and community improvement.

Women who take part in home demonstration work do whatever seems most important to them in improving their homes or helping their families. Today most communities can show where they have profited from these women's work in community centers, hospitals and civil defense.

Extension work in Texas is carried on cooperatively by the United States Department of Agriculture, Texas A. and M. College System and County Commissioners Courts. The home demonstration program is an educational program for adults which offers a variety of opportunities for learning during everyday living and for leadership in community activities.

Texas has a total of 233 county workers helping the women in home demonstration work. In the United States there are 3,700 agents in this field.

Sherman County has five active home demonstration clubs. They are: Southside of the Spurlock Community, Star and Happy Hour at Stratford; and Sunrise and Lone Star at Texhoma.

In observance of National Home Demonstration Week Sherman County plans to set up educational exhibits in Stratford and Texhoma. The exhibits for Stratford are as follows: Millinery, Star Club; Frozen Foods, Southside Club; and Matching Plaids and Stripes, Happy Hour Club; and Insecticides, Council. The exhibits for Texhoma are: Plaids and Stripes, Lone Star; and Millinery, Sunrise.

In addition to the above, the club women will honor their mothers with a Mothers' Day Tea at the First Methodist Church on Saturday, May 8. Mrs. C. W. Foreman of Cactus will give a book review.

Sherman County carries two phases of work each year plus special interest programs. This year they are carrying kitchens and food preparation of poultry. The special interest programs are millinery and leather craft. Perhaps the highlight of the year has been that of the "Millinery." The marketing committee sponsored this program. The program was climaxed with twenty-seven of the women taking part on the TV show at Amarillo. Every club was represented on television. Southside Club has eleven members on their roll. Nine participated in the millinery class and all nine modeled their hats on television. The

Shepperd Is Candidate For Re-Election

Texas Attorney General John Ben Shepperd formally filed for re-election to a second term this week subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

In his announcement Shepperd pledged continuing war by his office on "Crime, Communism and Corruption."

"We feel our quick action in checking the drive by the Communist Party to take over key Texas ports and our fight in Duval County to uncover and halt the theft of public funds both have won approval of the people."

Shepperd, who was elected Attorney General in 1952, after serving two years as Secretary of State, is 38 years of age and a native of Gladewater, Texas.

In his race for Attorney General two years ago, Shepperd received 80% of the votes. In his home county, Gregg, and in Travis county where he now lives, he received more votes than ever had been cast for an Attorney General in the history of either county. As yet, he is unopposed for re-election.

During his first year in the Attorney General's office, Shepperd led important actions for the state such as defense of the Tideland Act, made proposals to ease the Texas drouth areas, and successfully blocked a communist threat to Texas ports and oil and industrial centers.

Last summer Shepperd exposed a mail-order cigarette tax swindle operating in Texas. His office has stopped hundreds of out-of-state corporations from doing business in Texas without permits, and completed a large number of anti-trust actions.

During 1953 his office won 97% of its cases — 1199 out of 1232 tried or appealed. In the same year his office recovered through judgments, fines and forfeitures, enough money to operate the Attorney General's office for 25 years.

As an economy measure Shepperd reorganized the Attorney General's department when he took office. In 1953 he reduced his office's telephone bill by more than half, travel expenses 25%, issued an opinion cutting his own salary $2,000, and submitted a budget request so low that his office was given more than it asked for. At the year's end he returned $25,000 in unused money to the Treasury.

Shepperd serves on 34 boards and commissions of the state government including the State Banking Board, School and Veterans' Land Boards, State Tax Board, and State Elections Board. He is present southern regional chairman of the National Association of Attorneys General.

Shepperd has incorporated measures in his administration to synchronize and improve law enforcement. He sends out a monthly newsletter to all Texas law enforcement officers, has compiled and distributed a peace officer's handbook, and holds annual conferences for law enforcement officials.

Attorney General Shepperd was the organizer and first secretary of the Texas Economy Commission. He is former president of the Sabine River Watershed Association, former

Dashing Rains Give Relief In Localities

Dashing rain accompanied by hail fell over scattered sections of the territory Tuesday evening. At Stratford only .17 of an inch fell.

West and north of Stratford rains were reported which varied from one-half to an inch.

Within two hours after the rain, ground in wheat fields of favored localities was wet to a depth of 1 1/2 to 2 inches. Wheat in these fields stands from six to eight inches in height. Heads in the boot have 8 to 14 meshes.

Many producers who were almost ready to plow up the crop or graze it off are waiting to see what may develop since the rain.

The Weather Bureau added insult to injury by predicting freezing weather for the northern Panhandle for April 29th.

Mrs. Ramon Is Home From Hospital

Mrs. Z. G. Ramon was brought home Sunday from Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo where she received surgical treatment.

Young Girl Victim Of Multiple Sclerosis

Jerry Nelson stumbled into the doorway of her home after coming from St. Mary's Academy in Amarillo one afternoon about a year ago, a victim of multiple sclerosis.

Weeks of neck pains, nervousness and gradual loss of coordination had come to a head. She was unable to roll her head that night, or iron a blouse for school the next day.

Doctors said possibly a brain tumor was to blame. Jerry's parents hadn't thought too much about early symptoms since she was susceptible to respiratory troubles and had not been to well anyway.

Young Jerry went into surgery twice. But no tumors were found. A doctor told the Nelsons, "I wish it was a tumor. I could cure that." So it was that 13-year old Jerry was confronted with the final verdict: She was the victim of a disease she couldn't spell, much less pronounce, multiple sclerosis.

"We couldn't find anything even written down about it. We'd tell people that's what Jerry had and they'd shake their heads because they had never even heard of it. People thought it was probably something contagious. Then I heard about the new Multiple Sclerosis chapter being formed and went to a meeting," said Mrs. Everett Nelson, Jerry's mother.

Here Mrs. Nelson received her first encouragement. People here knew about MS, for they had been victims, or knew persons who had been victims.

She learned Jerry was probably the youngest MS victim in the country.

This was another handicap to

The literature written on MS was slanted to an adult. Jerry was a teen-ager who was bewildered and afraid. She feared it might leave her mind diseased.

Weeks went by. Jerry spent three weeks when she could not walk. Then with help, she could move around in the house. Members of the new chapter suggested Jerry be taken to the Amarillo Community Center for swimming lessons in the warm water.

In December, 1953, Jerry began going uphill. But a bad cold set her back a while. In January, she went to Winfield, Kansas to the National Multiple Sclerosis Foundation, where she received the final encouragement she needed.

Mrs. Nelson says it was then her daughter "quit worrying and accepted the facts."

Several hours a day, Jerry works her limbs with special equipment set up in the garage. After her brother, Jack, returns home each day from Price College, he helps Jerry. She exercises daily and goes swimming three times a week. She has been receiving school instruction in her home, but is looking forward to taking part in eighth grade graduation exercises with her class at St. Mary's Academy in May. She's an "A" student.

She knows now MS is not contagious, that it does not affect the mind. It is an organic disease of the central nervous system with no known cure. But Jerry was so sure she could be well again, she's now walking, and with a little patience and a lot of faith, plans to gain strength in her arms again.

MANY Washington observers have recently expressed the idea that the best thing about the McCarthy-Army dispute was the fact that it for so long kept the minds of many Americans from dwelling too much upon the Indo-China situation.

The early-April debate in Congress on the crisis in Indo-China would have received wide nationwide play had it alone been the big news story of the moment.

In this debate, the pattern of Congressional thought was so clearly outlined as to hint at what action Congress might prefer when the situation reached the "show-down" stage. When the United States was urging its allies to back the "warning" to the Chinese Reds, Senate floor leader Senator William F. Knowland of California asked that these allies be ready to contribute their share of military strength if the free world had to fight to guard Southeast Asia.

Senator Henry M. Jackson, Democrat of Washington, with apparent approval of some of his colleagues, called for the president to step forth with concrete statements as to what he would require in the way of backing for an Indo-China policy, declaring the Democrats would be found willing to help.

Senator Stuart Symington, Democrat of Missouri, voiced the opinion that the United States appeared to be approaching a great military test in Asia and at the same time was reducing the military establishment.

Senator John Stennis, Democrat of Mississippi, an early critic of what he called a move toward United States involvement, announced that he nevertheless was prepared to see Congress go to war if necessary, always provided that the United States did not go it alone.

A significant fact was that the entire hour and one-half discussion brought out only a single outright expression of opposition in any and all circumstances to the intervention of United States troops in Indo-China. This came from Senator Dirksen, who announced opposition to any such course, contending that our troops were not at all needed there.

Had Indo-China policy shared the spotlight alone, with no diverting of attention to the McCarthy-Army situation, Congress might have been forced to push action on a definite course to be followed.

Ensuing developments are indicative of the fact that the United States has apparently resolved itself to the fact that it must fight aggression in critical areas with "bluff," material aid to allies, and if need be, ground forces, although the latter course is always the last resort.

And, it seems, our leaders are playing this dangerous game with cards held close to the chest—so John Q. Public will not be afflicted with needless cases of "war worries."

Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, advises the housewife to sprinkle clothes on one side only when she uses the garden hose technique. All the garment will absorb moisture while it is folded awaiting ironing.

As the sprinkled clothes are removed from the line they should be folded and placed in a plastic bag ready for ironing.

Boy With A Penny
And A Million Dollar Idea

The bygone lad who pondered with a penny at the candy counter was a wise boy. He wanted to make sure that he was getting the most for his money.

Today his penny isn't much good, but his idea is.

Everyone can make sure that the goods, services, and satisfactions they receive for their money have real meaning and value. They can do this by setting up long-time and short-time goals for the family which will help dictate which purchases are worthwhile.

When the lad with the penny finally decided what to buy, he paid his money and that was the end. What if he had been able to charge it?

Families today have a choice between charging and paying cash. Which is best?

Cash is usually cheaper and there are no bills later, says Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent. Credit is convenient, allows installment buying, and establishes a credit rating which facilitates borrowing of money.

Before making a purchase consider these points:

1. Is there a real need for the goods?
2. Would increased efficiency offset the added expense of the item?
3. What would happen in case of sickness or accident?
4. Consider what you can expect your future earnings to be.
5. If buying on time, consider borrowing a lump sum at a lower rate of interest, and pay cash.
6. Could you possibly save the money first?

Attendance Grows At Men's Easter Sunrise Service

Attendance at the men's Easter sunrise service held annually in the school cafeteria rose to 135 this year. George Jeffcoat served as master of ceremonies. A delicious breakfast of bacon and eggs were served.

Kenneth Kendrick was the speaker for the occasion. "What Is Your Business" was the subject of his talk in which he viewed the subject from a standpoint of everyone having a Christian business in common. He used several illustrations. One he chose was the story of the old darkie who ran the engine on an old side wheeler used on the Mississippi River for pleasure cruises. A passenger viewed the engine which was running smoothly although there was no evidence of oil or grease in sight. When questioned about the condition of the engine, the darkie replied, "Boss I got a glory in taking care of this motor."

THE MUSIC BOX

(By Wayne Stevens)

For the next few weeks "The Music Box" will offer personal interviews of various Stratford musicians. The Biblical quotation, "a prophet is not without honor, but in his own country," is sometimes applicable to local musical talent which we overlook or do not fully appreciate. Many readers will be interested to know more about the musical experience and interest of some of the town's musicians.

Our first interview is with Mrs. Lorraine Mehner. Lorraine began her study of piano when she was about ten years old. Her first teachers were other local musicians, Mrs. Martha Harrison and Mrs. Hose Flores. After graduating from high school she attended Texas Technological College, Lubbock, Texas, where she earned a B. S. degree in education with a major in public school music. There she studied piano and voice under Miss Myrtle Dunn.

While in high school, Lorraine played in numerous piano recitals and entered many interscholastic league contests. Also she took lessons on the violin, which is her favorite orchestral instrument, from Mrs. Hose Flores of Stratford, and from Brooks Morris in Fort Worth.

After graduation from college, Lorraine taught public school music for two years at Lefors, Texas. Since then she has given private lessons in piano and singing.

While in Germany (1946-48), Mrs. Mehner had some of her most memorable musical experiences. She was privileged to see such productions as "Madame Butterfly" (in Vienna), "Hansel and Gretel" and "La Traviata" (in Berlin). It was considerably dangerous to attend these operas in Berlin since the opera house was located in the Russian zone.

"From an early age," states Mrs. Mehner, "My ideal was to attend the Julliard School of Music in New York City, and I still hope to pursue further study of music in the future."

Mrs. Mehner has a lovely mezzo-soprano voice and has sung in Handel's oratorio, "Messiah" three times in Lubbock as well as about a half dozen cantatas locally.

Other experiences which Lorraine Mehner had while in Germany and an interview of Miss Wederah Watkins will be given in next week's "Music Box."

Mrs. Nora Harbour of Stratford, Texas; one son, Leonard Lefevers of Ashdown; seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren; one brother, S. P. Lefevers of Bennington, Okla.; and one sister, Mrs. Delisa Mizzles of Ben Wheeler, Texas.

Funeral services were held at Shiloh Cemetery near New Hope, Arkansas.

Mr. Harbour's father, W. W. Harbour, became ill in Fort Worth, Texas at the time Mr. Lefevers was stricken. He has undergone two operations within 10 days.

New Arrival

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Brooks of Cactus are proud parents of a son, Travis Lynn. He was born April 19th at Memorial Hospital in Dumas. He weighed in at six pounds thirteen ounces, and was welcomed by an older sister, Sheila.

NAWG Officers To Meet In Denver

Kenneth Kendrick, president of the National Association of Wheat Growers, and Carroll Boyd of Dumas, Vice-President of the Texas organization, will attend a meeting to be held in Denver, Colorado Friday and Saturday. Reports will be made by delegates who recently visited Washington, D. C. and plans will be made for the annual meeting to be held in Amarillo in February of next year.

Mrs. Harbour Visits Father Before His Passing

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Harbour arrived in Texarkana, Texas April 11 for a visit with her father, J. I. Lefevers. Mr. Lefevers was stricken with a fatal heart attack the following day. James Isaac Lefevers, a prominent and well-known farmer and stockman of near Tom, Oklahoma, passed away April 12 in a hospital in Texarkana, following a heart attack.

Mr. Lefevers was born August 8, 1886 in Pike County, Arkansas. He came to McCurtain County in 1921 where he has been engaged in the farming and ranching business. A few years past he had to retire because of ill health.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Rilla West and Mrs. Flora Vandiver of Arkinda, and

Indochina

Not quite a year ago Washington received an urgent appeal from France for additional aid in the amount of 385 million to increase the tempo of Communist resistance in the Indochina war. We talked at that time about reading the so-called "riot act" to France and saying, "This is all. Show some results with this or don't ask us for further help." This approach was vetoed by Foreign Operations Administrator Harold Stassen and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, on the ground that a great power like France should not be subjected to such humiliating terms.

Presently it is estimated that the United States has taken over approximately three-fourths of the cost of this war. At the time this country was asked for the 385 million, the Congress was not given a true picture of events and developments in that area. We now discover that they were a great deal more serious than suspected. We also begin to hear talk about American boys going in to save the day. Many feel that the softening up process is working and that it will be announced in the near future that American manpower will go in.

If this is done, it will not meet with the approval of Americans generally. The United States absorbed substantially all the cost of Korea, and furnished a high percentage of outside manpower. John Q. Citizen will find it hard to understand why we are called upon to pay the freight, furnish the goods and the manpower for another war following on the heels of Korea.

Crime Rate Increase

Crime is outstripping rate of population growth 4 to 1. This statement by the FBI should alarm every person in this country. The figures used to support this statement did not include mediocre and minor traffic violations. They included only crimes of a serious nature. Robberies led the list with burglaries, theft and aggravated assault following closely. The greatest increase in arrests was among those under 18; it rose 7.9 per cent. It was estimated that 4,000,000 persons were arrested. The United States needs to do a lot of work on its own moral fibre. There can never be a complete victory over Communism unless we can retain our own moral character as a nation.

KNOWN ONLY TO GOD

By Ruth McKay

THORA LINDQUIST O'HARA, called The Widow O'Hara, was reading the Chisholm HERALD, and for the moment neglecting the blueberry pies she was making for the church festival. She was tall, willowy, vital and wore her yellow hair about her head in braids. Glancing from her reading, she saw the man at the screen door, and the paper dropped to the floor.

HE CAME BACK KEVIN, MY HUSBAND. HOW COULD HE WHEN HE IS BURIED HERE IN CHISHOLM?

The tall, lithe, graying man removed his hat and said: "I did not mean to startle you." THE VOICE WAS KEVIN'S, as were the words. "Would you wrap up a few sandwiches for me? I have a friend waiting."

"Yes. Sit down." She indicated the porch swing. Her voice sounded like dry ashes in her ringing ears as she said: "I will give you some cold fish and waffles."

The fish would tell the story, if there was a story to tell. Kevin bathed fish of any description, and claimed waffles were unfit for human consumption.

"Anything, ma'am. Thank you."

Pa hadn't wanted her to marry Kevin and go from place to place with him. Kevin was a newspaperman with the red god of wanderlust in his heels. He always wanted to go somewhere, and when he got there he wished he was back where he came from. They'd lived in Chisholm, Minneapolis, Pierre, Omaha, Leadville, Denver, Raton and Santa Fe, and she was soul-weary of living in hotels and furnished rooms, so when he left the Santa Fe NEW MEXICAN to go to Tucson and work on THE REPUBLICAN, she said she would go back to her parents until he found a house.

"I'll get a furnished house," he promised, "in two weeks." He kissed her goodbye, put her on the train. His letters came every day. He loved her. He missed her. He was trying to get a place to live. Houses were hard to find. Three weeks, four weeks, five weeks, and then—the telegram: Kevin O'Hara—by his social security card and other personal papers—was in the morgue awaiting identification. His car and a train met at a crossing at the same time. The car was demolished.

Pa went to Tucson with her, made the identification, brought her Kevin's watch, fountain pen, two letters she had written him, and the billfold with her picture.

COULD PA HAVE MADE A MISTAKE?

She was trembling when she came to the porch with the package and said: "Cold fish and waffles."

"Thank you."

She watched him go through the gate and down the road toward the edge of the town.

The man with the lunch, called Harry, because it seemed appropriate in view of the words he repeated in his sleep, went to the old ice house where his friend Bucky was waiting.

"Cold fish and waffles," Harry said.

Bucky opened the package. "No such a thing! Ham sandwiches, pickles, pie, cookies, cheese and two bottles of orangeade," said he and went to work to satiate his hunger.

"You know every word in the dictionary, Harry, except your name and home town—four words that would open the door to a better life."

"Did you have a car? Did you pick a hiker? Is your name Harry?"

"I do not recall any name but Harry, nor do I remember having a car."

"Back to the rambler roses: Did you see any today?"

"Yes, crossing through the cemetery I noticed a large bouquet on a grave and stopped to admire. The inscription on the headstone was KEVIN O'HARA."

"Come on," said Bucky. "We're wasting time."

First Grade

Mrs. Gates' Room

Summer vacation is near and I have been thinking of some things that can be done this summer, that will keep your child's reading interest high. A child has natural interest in reading and should be supplied with good books on his level. Of course they should challenge his ability also.

In our community, we have a county library. Children should be allowed to visit it often this summer. Care should be taken that the books they get, are not too hard for them, or their interest may be lost entirely.

Then there are some things that you can let the child do on his own. Buy him a 25 cent spiral note book with lines. Every day you see poems etc., that would interest him. Let him copy these in his book. They could be pasted in the book but he will enjoy transferring them more. When the child sees his own book growing, he will be more eager. Psychology at this point is a great teacher. A comment here and there about Mary's masterpiece will keep her working with it. This book may last a long long time. It would be a nice memory in the future, if the child will put the date on each article. You may also find short stories in magazines or newspapers that could be added to the collection. There is no end to material that can be used.

There is a special comic section that every child should read and understand every Sunday. To always understand it every time may take a little help from the parent. The words are a little difficult but a child finishing the first grade could master it in time. Even if he doesn't find it useful now, now is the time to start saving the strips for future use. It will make a wonderful science book. The name of this section found each Sunday is Mark Trail by Ed Dodd. If you have a collection of old papers, go through them now and save this valuable bit of science for your child.

At the end of school, your child will receive his work done for the whole year. This is not all of his work but only weekly selections. You should have a box of correct size that he can keep his material in. You need not worry about the use it will get this summer. Illustrated words will be fun for most. The name of an animal with the child's own drawing or a picture from a magazine will be good. Always be sure to let the child do the work but be sure he has a workable system. The picture of a bear should have the word bear under it. He should complete only one thought at a time. If allowed to get several pictures, he is liable to mix his words and spacing.

The first grade children will be receiving The Weekly Reader this summer. It is a child's own newspaper. It will be on his reading level. He will get the thrill of receiving his own paper. The best source of reading would be first grade readers. If you have old ones, they will be excellent. Because mother or father read it when they were small, makes it even more fascinating. There are many children's magazines that can be had, but many of them are too difficult for first graders. They are often meant to be read to children, and not read by them. Too often a child will be surrounded by books. To most of you it would sound like the ideal thing. As a teacher I have observed many things about books. First a child with many around him, will only look at the pictures. If he has 2 good books near his level, he will read them, his interest will spread, and a few more can be added. To purchase a lot of books is only discouraging to the child's reading as he has enough picture material to keep him busy.

practice contest the XYZ's are leading the ABC's with a nine-point margin. The score is 90 to 81.

Our group pictures have arrived and are exceptionally good.

Wednesday morning at 11:00 A. M. we presented our last playlet of the year. The name of the creative performance was "Caddie to The Rescue." It was written by Dennis Walker, Elaine Spurlock and Sharon Lynn Mullican. The playlet originated from a story discussed in oral English and social studies activity period. The committee responsible for stage scenery consisted of Barbara Lavake, Nanfreda Bammas and Carol Smith. The costumes committee included Sharon K. Oquin, Linda Brewster, and Robbie Burkham.

The playlet cast consisted of Shirley D. Sanders as Caddie; Glendon Lowe as Mr. Woodlawn; Billy Steinburger as Indian John; Shirley Robbins as Rena Folley and Ida Hemphill as three Indian Squaws; Gary Detle as Mr. Kent; Robert Phelps, Henry Purnell and John Sears as Mr. Kent's handy men; Shar-nor Mullican was narrator and Elaine Spurlock furnished entertainment between the acts. Two of our mothers were present for the occasion, Mrs. Detle and Mrs. Lowe.

During our evaluation period several important facts and suggestions were brought to the attention of the class by various children. Mrs. Elliott compliments the class on not only the production and presentation of the playlet but also the constructive criticism that followed the project throughout the activity.

Those making 100 in Spelling last week were: Elaine Crabtree, Carolee Baskin, Rex Palmer, Jimmy Cameron, Jimmy Muir, Barbara Brittain, Doris Dortch, Ann Burgess, Sammie Beall, Joyce Horn, Leon Eden, Ernest Dyess, Patsy Brannan, Jessie Riggs, Patsy Hass, Patricia Herold, Dixie Knight and Molly Davis.

The following people were out of the state over the week end: Linda Coffman to Hooker, Oklahoma; Margie Parrish to Oklahoma City and McAlister, Oklahoma; Dwane and Wayne Lavake to Wyoming.

Gossip

Well, here I am back with a few items of interest for the gossip mongers of our fair city.

I just got a report from some of the little gossip mongers that Lynne Reeder and Benny Biddy had a little chat and decided not to go steady any longer. (Everything was going so nice, too).

News has it that Adabelle Knight, our prominent school reporter, invited Lester Somebody from Canyon College to the Junior-Senior Prom. She walks around in a daze all the time. Rogene invited a certain Curtis from the same joint.

Flash! Martha Plunk and Felix Ramon have been kinda secretive about their latest love. Where are they from, Amarillo? Don't hold out on us, will you.

I heard the other day that Perry Stuart and Frances Chelf and (you might know) Frances Norris had a gay old time last Thursday night.

Last night I saw Miss Mary Sue Smith and Velber Bevin zipping down Main Street at about 50 miles per hour at about 9:15. I would have asked them where they were going in such haste but I just couldn't catch them.

Tacie Emerson, what did you go to Spearman last week for? Or was it Dumas? That girl sure gets around.

Roy Lee Newman was in town last week end. Did you get him Gaynell? It probably wouldn't take much to hook the old boy.

Does anyone know when Barbara Cates and John Harrison are getting married? If you should happen to find out, let me know.

I was listening to the students in the hall the other day when the noon bell rang. Some of the famous last words were: Irene Doerfler — Have another stick of gum.

Seniors "Ha, ha, I'm not going to fall."

Rita Joyce Neal — "Why, I wouldn't be caught dead in a pair of Levis."

Francis Norris "Why anyone can keep their mouth shut 15 minutes." "Why anyone Rogene Seaman — Someone get a towel."

Shirley Plunk — Sigh, I got three letters from Delton. Beth Pemberton — "I do all my trading at Blackburns."

Gaynelle Parker — Come On, Let's Hustle.

Hit Parade

Frances Norris to "Red" — I'm waiting just for you."

Shirley Plunk to Delton Engle — Ain't Misbehaving.

Cynthia Reed to Carroll Reed — Miss You.

Beth Pemberton to Douglas

Carter — "Til We Two Are One.

Helen Finch to James Crawford — Something Old, Something New.

Yvonne Mitts to Jimmy Ing-ham — Going Steady.

Irene and Arlene — I'm Walking the Dog.

Twitty to High School Girls (or just any girl) — I Wanna Girl.

Senior News

The seniors have received their play and have the parts ready to start learning. We have started having play practice every night until the night of May 7. All together we will practice 16 times in all.

The play is called "Watch Out For the Spooks." We hope that everyone will turn out for it and have just as much fun as we did in preparing for the opening night.

We received our graduation announcements this week from the Star Printing Company. They are in blue and white colors. Graduation will be on the night of May 20.
