Call Emergency March Of Dimes For August

An emergency March of Dimes drive has been announced for August 16 to 31, in the hopes of raising 20 million dollars to prevent the collapse of the work of the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis. All National Foundation patient care and polio prevention programs are threatened unless the public understands and fully supports the Emergency March of Dimes August 16 to 31.

Twenty million dollars is the sum required to pay the high costs of continuing care for 67,000 patients stricken in earlier years and unknown numbers of victims of current record outbreaks. Simultaneously it will be necessary to meet the cost of increasing the nation's supply of gamma globulin and financing the polio vaccine study.

National Foundation programs are at the point of no return. There can be no retreat except at unthinkable human sacrifice or postponement of polio prevention.

Although the March of Dimes last January was the most successful in polio history, it fell far short of the tightly budgeted needs for 1954. That is why the National Foundation must make an emergency, all-out appeal to the public.

Don Tusha is the County March of Dimes chairman. Other chapter officers include: Roscoe Dyess, campaign chairman; W. N. Price, treasurer; H. M. Flores, secretary; and a committee composed of Harold Oquin, Jim Taylor, H. L. McMahon, Earl Riffe, and Mrs. Cone Donelson. They will gladly accept the help of any volunteers to aid in the emergency drive.

Stratford Boy Scouts will distribute iron lungs over the business district of Stratford but they will not be allowed to solicit funds.

Envelopes in which contributions may be mailed to the committee will be mailed to the residents of the county within a few days.

The historic attempt to prevent polio through the development of a trial vaccine and the use of gamma-globulin will require many millions of dollars in this year alone if we are to be successful.

This unprecedented drain on funds comes at a time when tens of thousands of patients are desperately in need of the costly care that will help them to walk again.

And, most disturbing, polio epidemics once again are a flame in countless communities which depend upon the March of Dimes for iron lungs, medical personnel and financial assistance.

Kendrick Speaks At Vocational Ag. Convention

Kenneth Kendrick, president of the National Association of Wheat Producers, was one of the principal speakers at the Bi-Area Vocational Agriculture teachers convention in Lubbock last week. He spoke on the cost of farm subsidies as compared to the cost of other subsidies.

Duard Lamb, local vocational agriculture teacher, attended the convention, and said from the comment of the other teachers he believed that they would return to their schools better prepared to answer many of the questions arising in the classrooms about farm subsidies. The main theme of the convention was to improve standards of the individual teachers.

Exchange Vows In Church Wedding

Marriage vows were repeated recently by Janet Garoutte, 1222 Fillmore, Amarillo, and Charlie J. Beaston, Jr., Amarillo Air Force Base.

The Rev. Cryder Brayshaw read the double-ring service in the First Christian Church of Stratford. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garoutte, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charlie J. Beaston of Fairfax, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Marcel Sutton, organist, played traditional wedding selections as a prelude, and Miss Letha Gail Fedric and Mrs. Gordon Fedric sang "Always."

Banked with fern, the altar was decorated with baskets of white daisies and candelabra. Denis Phelps and Billy Steinberger, cousins of the bride, lighted the candles.

Miss Jean Garoutte of Amarillo attended her twin sister as maid-of-honor, and Miss Shirley Bernard of Sunray was bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns in pink and aqua, styled with sleeveless lace shrugs over strapless bodices, taffeta cummerbunds and floor length skirts. Their corsages were of aqua and pink carnations.

Eddie Howard of Amarillo Air Force Base was best man. Ushers were Lloyd Block of Amarillo Air Force Base and Gordon Fedric.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a chapel length gown of Chantilly lace, designed with a front panel tiered with nylon tulle. Iridescent sequins trimmed the brief collar and marquisette yoke. Her finger-tip length veil of illusion was attached to a lace tiara trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Garoutte, mother of the bride, wore a pink linen dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception at the home of the bride's parents honored the couple. Covered with a lace cloth over aqua, the table was centered with white gladioli. Miss Bettye Higgins of Umbarger served the wedding cake and Miss Carolyn Shugart of Canyon presided at the punch bowl. Guests were registered by Mrs. Donnie Ellison.

For the wedding trip, the bride traveled in a gray linen dress with white accessories. The couple is at home at 714 W. 14th, Amarillo.

Mrs. Beaston was graduated from Stratford High School and attended Draughton's Business College in Amarillo. The bridegroom was graduated from Burbank (Okla.) High School and attended Oklahoma City University. He is serving in the Air Force.

Couple Wed In Home Ceremony

Nuptial vows were solemnized in a candlelight service recently for Christine Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wyatt of Gruver and Ray Brandvik, son of Mrs. Nadine Brandvik of Gruver.

Rev. M. G. Upton of Sunray read the double ring service in the country home of the bride's parents.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Earl Rodgers of Sunray, who played the accompaniment while Earl Rodgers sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Candles were lighted by Rex Williams, brother of the bride, and Guy Brandvik, brother of the groom.

Escorted to the altar of greenery and baskets of white gladioli flanked by candelabra bearing white tapers, and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a waltz length gown of white embroidered organdie. The elbow length tiered veil of illusion was attached to a pearl cap. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations and showered with satin daisy tipped streamers.

Miss Wanda Jo Renner of Gruver, attired in yellow organdie, acted as maid of honor, and Nick Holt of Gruver was best man.

Gene Wyatt, brother of the bride welcomed the guests and registered them.

Mrs. Wyatt, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue sheer nylon dress with a corsage of red carnations. The groom's mother, Mrs. Brandvik, chose pink nylon with white accessories and a white corsage.

Following the wedding the couple was honored with a reception. Joy Koonce of Sunray and Evelyn Edwards of Gruver presided at the rose lace covered table. A four tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional miniature bride and groom, centered the table. A pink carnation arrangement flanked by green candles in crystal holders completed the table setting.

Those present were: Mrs. V. M. King of Stratford, Mrs. King Fike and daughters, Madaline, Margaret and Marion of Dalhart, Mr. and Mrs. Fraty of Waka, Mrs. Mary Brandvik, Mrs. Nadine Brandvik and sons, Jay, Gay and Guy, Douglas Ballard, Loren Dahl, Nick Holt, Rex Williams, Gene Wyatt, Misses Evelyn Edwards and Wanda Jo Renner, all of Gruver, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rodgers, M. One Case In District Court

The case of T. W. Pitzer vs. Joe Engelbrecht to recover alleged damages for a breach of contract was heard before a jury in district court Wednesday of last week. Engelbrecht declined to buy the land, arguing the time elapsed to clear title had allowed the land to decrease in value below the sale price. The jury decided the case in favor of the plaintiff but the judgment of district judge Lewis M. Goodrich has not been filed.

 ideas from other editors

From the Brookfield Courier, Brookfield, New York: A country editor observed recently that our present system of agricultural price supports, which had led to ever-mounting surpluses, is certainly unsound and needs correcting. But, he continued in effect, groups which are critical of it — including business and labor organizations — would be on much stronger ground if they showed some willingness to make a few financial sacrifices on their own hook. His point, in other words, is that almost everybody, not just the farmer, has been looking for profitable favors and preferential treatment.
 There is much justice in this view. A parallel is found in the effort to cut government spending — everyone is for it in principle, but cries with pain when it threatens to touch him. And that blindly selfish attitude could ruin this or any country — morally as well as financially.

From the Chickasha Star, Chickasha, Oklahoma: A couple of weeks ago we asked our readers which they preferred on this page. All of the answers received showed complete reference to anything of a local slant. Not a one wanted us to use the stuff we throw in the waste basket each day which deals with everything from the McCarthy-Army hearings to shipments of arms to Tim-Buck-Tu and all such stuff most of our readers see on television every day.
From the Canton Independent-Sentinel, Canton, Pennsylvania: Few people think of a dollar as a piece of paper with a message printed on it. But there is a picture story on the back side that suggests the need for keeping eternal vigilance over the union of states. Observe the unfinished pyramid and the eye above. The pyramid represents the growing of the union, and the eye, its guardian. With the national debt almost at the present legal limit, and with government spending still exceeding income, it's high time we thought seriously of guarding the union from financial chaos. And to do that we must not only demand economy in government, but must cheerfully accept the effects of economy on ourselves.

Stop Taking Harsh Drugs for Constipation

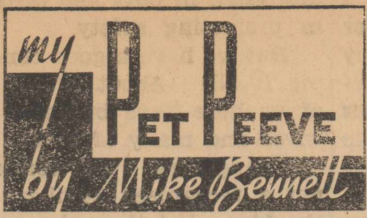

Avoid Intestinal Upset! Get Relief This Gentle Vegetable Laxative Way!

For constipation, never take harsh drugs. They cause brutal cramps and griping, disrupt normal bowel action, make repeated doses seem needed.

When you are temporarily constipated, get relief but gentle relief—without salts, without harsh drugs. Take Dr. Caldwell's Senna Laxative contained in Syrup Pepsin. The extract of Senna in Dr. Caldwell's is one of the finest natural laxatives known to medicine.

Dr. Caldwell's Senna Laxative tastes good, gives gentle, comfortable, satisfying relief of temporary constipation for every member of the family. Helps you get "on schedule" without repeated doses. Even relieves stomach sourness that constipation often brings.

I THINK that you would have to look far and wide to find someone who would not agree that business needs a shot in the arm. My amateurish diagnosis of the situation is that Mr. Consumer has gotten to the point where he buys with both eyes open. One eye on his pocketbook, the other on the family budget. Mr. Retailer doesn't have a hangover, but he's still a bit groggy after easy-spending war time years.

Time was, not so long ago, when the American consumer was making more money than ever before. He was at the same time spending as much of it as he could to buy things he really didn't need merely because they were available and he had the cash in his pocket. Closing a sale was as easy for the salesman as catching a trout—miss one, another comes along in a minute or so.

One industrialist recently captured the situation with the remark that salesmen have been a bit slow in recapturing their sales ability while consumers lost little time in rebuilding sales resistance. He wasn't speaking of "high pressure" methods, either, but the ability to convince a potential customer that he (the customer) really needs the item he is interested in, and that said item is worth much more than the customer will have to pay.

A personal thought on the subject is that service is not included in business transactions as much as in days gone by. Customers will buy where their business is appreciated. They don't like to walk away from a transaction with the idea that the clerk gave the impression of performing a favor while accepting their money and wrapping the purchase.

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER. Christian Worship and Fellowship. Lesson for August 1: Acts 2: 46-47; Corinthians 3: 12-17; Hebrews 10: 24-25. Golden Text: Hebrews 10: 24-25.

Worship is an important thing in one's spiritual growth. As a boy, the writer heard his elders in the meeting sometimes thanking God that they were still on "praying ground." Later, he learned the full significance of this when he was told that some of the Christians of an earlier time had a special place where they went to pray. It was known as their "praying ground." How good it would be if more professing Christians should have not a praying ground, necessarily, but a set time to meditate and pray.

Public worship should be an uplift to the sincere Christian. It is helpful to meet with others of like faith and manner of living. If a larger number should attend church in the right attitude, there would be less criticism of the preacher and the choir. If they instead go in the spirit of worship instead of going to be entertained, a great blessing would come to them.

Then we are to live as Christians in the every-day—forgiving one another, being compassionate and kind, and putting on love as the bond of perfectness. The word of God must dwell richly in Christians. And living as Christians includes behaving in a Christ-like way toward all men. By their manner of living they can show other men that they are true followers of the Lord.

JOAN CAULFIELD, who plays the comedy role of Liz Cooper in CBS' Television's "My Favorite Husband," is one of those rare Hollywood actresses who is never satisfied with her acting ability. So, look for her turning up one of these days in the private studio of some famed Shakespearean teacher. It's been that way with Joan ever since, as a tow-headed tomboy back in East Orange, N. J., her birthplace, she appeared in a Kiwanis Club production of Shaw's "Pygmalion." She knew she needed a lot of training even for a small part, and she went after it.

She acted in dramatic classes and clubs of the various schools she attended from local parochial classes to Columbia University. At the latter school she paid her tuition by modeling for Harry Conover. She made a big splash in the Broadway pool with the role of Corliss Archer in "Kiss and Tell" and it wasn't long before Hollywood beckoned. Her first picture was "Miss Susie Slagle" followed by "Blue Skies" with Bing Crosby.

BIG FOR PERFECTION With a series of screen successes behind her, the girl still was not happy with her work. She knew she needed more specialized experience. Of her own devising, she had her husband, Producer Frank Ross, take her out on a tour with a stock company. They did, among other plays, "Voice of the Turtle," "Dream Girl" and "Claudie." She got a lot from this barnstorming vacation from the klieg lights, but she wasn't satisfied yet. So, she started to study acting with the noted Russian Chekhov in Hollywood.

From the Clinton County Republican-News, St. Johns, Michigan: Mr. Benson inherited a farm formula—rigid ninety per cent of parity for basic crops—designed to spur tremendous production for World War II needs. He is trying, against determined Congressional opposition, to modify that formula, the war having ended nine years ago. Meantime the formula works magnificently; surpluses have swollen to scandalous proportions, the Government is running out of places to keep them, and the price of food is kept high.

Step Up Taste Appeal Of Sandwiches From A Freezer

Follow these suggestions to step up taste-appeal on sandwiches from your freezer.

Spread the bread, from edge to edge, with soft butter or margarine to keep the bread from absorbing moisture from the filling. Mayonnaise, salad dressing, and jelly soak into the bread.

Leave out lettuce, celery, carrots, tomatoes and hard cooked egg white. Miss Lucile King, County Home Demonstration Agent, says these vegetables lose their crispness when thawed and egg white tends to toughen. Sliced and ground meat, poultry, seafoods, and peanut butter freeze well.

Wrap sandwiches individually in moisture-vapor proof freezer wrapping material. Label each sandwich with the date and kind of filling.

Thaw sandwiches at room temperature three to four hours. Once thawed, sandwiches should be eaten promptly.

Voice Of The Public

Let's Shake Left-Handed

Mr. Editor, will you give me the courtesy of your columns again? Some weeks ago I wrote under the heading, "Let's Number." Well, since that time the Chamber of Commerce has gotten busy and entered into contract with some one to number the houses. Of course, you can buy numerals at Kress or Woolworth stores for ten or fifteen cents and number your own house. That was what I had in mind when I wrote for the paper before. Now it seems that some believe that in order to number their houses they must buy the nice framed numerals to install in the parking in front of the house.

They are very nice. When I was at Levelland our houses were all numbered with the small numerals on the house, but the veterans came along selling the same signs, or similar, and many of us bought them. (Incidentally, the price was much below what these are selling for here.)

But that is not what I am disturbed about. I love this lovely little town on the plains. It is my home, at least for the present. And I do not want it to seem queer, or odd to people who come to see us. But it is being branded for that — by the house numbering. Go to any town or city to find a friend, and if he is listed at an odd number in the block, you know that it will be on the left side of the street. I have never seen a town or city where this is not the case. Go to Amarillo, Dallas, Houston, Atlanta, Chicago, anywhere in the United States, you will find it so. They just don't violate this rule, except in Stratford. Why should we be odd? As well offer your left hand when you go to shake hands. There is no law against it, but you surely would be queer. Study your city map: there are 10 thirty-foot lots in each block. In my block the Prongers have four, we have three, and Marvin Harrison three.

Now, to number, like they do everywhere (except in Stratford) the Prongers would have choice, legally, of four odd numbers, 601, 603, 605, or 607. The parsonage numbers then could be either 609, 611 or 613. Harrison then could follow the same pattern.

After making this investigation I purchased three lovely numerals and put them on the house at 613 Main Street. I maintain that is my number. I am not trying to be officious or odd. Neither do I want my town to be odd. Can't we correct this blunder. And for those who wish to partonize the Chamber of Commerce by purchasing the lovely parking signs, all right. And for those who want to buy their own numbers and put them up, lets let them have the privilege. I understand that the Chamber of Commerce does get a small fee for each sign sold. I am for any forward step, but, in step with the rest of the world.

Lions Reviewed Year's Gains At Convention

It was a rainy summer evening in New York City. But the streets were shining with purple and gold. Down Fifth Avenue for four hours the Lions International was on parade, a symbol of humanitarian service in fair weather or foul.

This was probably just one more actualization of a principle enunciated to 30,000 delegates by their new president, Monroe L. Nute of Kennett Square, Pennsylvania.

"The more difficult the problem, the more worthy the endeavor." As rhythmic as the tap of their dextrous canes on the pavement, and cheerful as the recurring music of the 50 bands has been the story of their on-going projects of this last year. A record total of 1,003 new Lions Clubs were formed during 1953, according to the annual report of R. Roy Keaton, of Chicago, Director-General of Lions International.

Six new countries and geographical locations have been added to the family of nations represented in its membership of 501,525. They are: Bahamas, St. Pierre and Miquelon Islands, Jordan, Portugal, Tangier, and American Samoa. Much humanitarian service to the less fortunate was included in the 161,461 activities reported.

The "validity of the handshake and mutual respect" play no small role in combatting communism. Representative Joseph A. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, said at the convention which closed July 10.

A free federation of brotherly men, the Lions Club is not one to shirk initiative on the "threshold of new power" where the world stands today, said the new president, Mr. Nute.

"Whether future historians shall record the atomic age as one of great progress and benefit or one of indescribable chaos lies in our hands.

"As a layman, I may be inclined to say, "Very true, but that is a matter for the scientist, the diplomat and others to work out. There is nothing I can do about it.

"I hope no Lion will ever say he can do nothing about matters which affect the very existence of civilization. It is in the community life of the individual Lion where the most good can be accomplished."

"Your efforts to assure good government on the local, state, provincial or national level," said Mr. Nute, "your club programs for the youth of your community, embracing the great work among the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, your support of democratic principles, your willingness to cooperate with other service clubs in every worthwhile endeavor, your aid to the blind, all these are tools. But like all good tools, they are worthless unless put to use."

Speaking at their opening session in Madison Square Garden, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey greeted them as members of the "fraternity of freedom." Mayor Robert F. Wagner made them all honorary citizens of the metropolis and said.

"So long as there are Lions who believe that each man is his brother's keeper, so long will the beacon of hope and faith shine upon the world."

"This has been one of the best conventions ever," remarked Cullen Child of Benton Harbor. "People may not realize it, but we do a lot of business at our conventions. It's the service to the blind that is our main project. Also, we're much interested in boys and girls and in promoting safety.

"But we have a good time doing it all. About 80 per cent of us here have brought our wives and many of our sons and daughters. The women are not a recognized auxiliary of the Lions, but they play an active social role in many of our activities."

Feminine "activity" in the convention city, as he described it, is largely a combination of shopping and enthusiastic sightseeing. Some wives attend convention meetings, but you couldn't, of course, expect them to take a meeting like this too seriously. Not as much as do the men for instance.

At this moment, Lion Child looked at his watch in pardonable haste. If he hurried, he would have time to see the Giants play Pittsburgh. He would hurry.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kidwell attended the Lions International convention in New York.

Mrs. Donelson Is Star Club Hostess

They demonstrated how to make an extension cord.

Those present for the meeting were: Mrs. Arthur Judd, Mrs. Archie Arnold, Mrs. T. L. Wakefield, Mrs. A. E. Pronger, Mrs. Harold Bennett, Mrs. LeRoy Judd, Mrs. Harold Oquin, Mrs. Earl Kirkwood, Miss Linda Riffe, Miss Gradene Parvin and the hostess, Mrs. Shuler Donelson.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Roscoe Dyess August 17 at 2:30.

AUSTIN — State candidates in the runoff races are now on the firing line, blasting away.

In the gubernatorial race, Governor Allan Shivers and Judge Ralph Yarborough have re-formed their lines and are in a showdown battle for the state's top job.

Both candidates for governor had reasons for failing to score a victory in the first primary.

Shivers said that his supporters were too confident and had not turned out at the polls in the expected numbers. He encouraged them to exercise their right to vote in the coming election.

Yarborough said that he would have won the first primary except for Texas Republicans who neglected their own primary to vote against him.

Three Factors Decide Capable of determining the August election were 400,000 Texans, eligible to vote, who stayed away from the polls July 24.

A small factor was the 36,000 who cast their votes for Davis and Holmes.

Also to be considered were the Republicans who voted in their own party primaries in July, but who are free to cast their ballots in the Democratic second primary. Most of these votes, it was generally conceded, would go for Shivers.

Scott In Court Runoff Austin Attorney Alfred Scott will be in the runoff with Judge Few Brewster, for Place 1 on the Supreme Court.

This race will gain more than a little attention, as will the campaign of Judges Alan Haley and Lloyd Davidson for the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Fires Hit Area Hardly had the embers of the political fires cooled when forest fires broke out both east and west of Austin.

Thousands of acres of woodlands, and three homes, now lie scorched, burned and bared as the result of fires around Volente (Dodd City) on Lake Travis west of Austin.

On the opposite side of the capitol city, the eastern portion of Bastrop State Park lost 7,000 acres of pine and live oak as the result of an eight-day brush and timber fire — squelched finally by sudden showers.

Drouth Aid Arrives Just as the hot sun has made easily flammable the forests in the area, so has the temperature and lack of rain taken its toll of the ranchlands.

Governor Shivers and Agricultural Commissioner John White have combined their efforts to obtain drouth relief in the form of a federal and state-backed hay program.

Ranchers in 23 Central and West Texas counties will be eligible.

Allocations for the aid, amounting to $600,000, were provided largely by the federal government with a $500,000 helping hand. The state will counter with the balance.

Titled "Operation Haylift," the program is the third since 1952 for state ranchers who now are weathering the worst drouth in their history. The program will be almost identical to the other two and will allow ranchers to benefit from reduced transportation charges on hay.

Nine other state counties also are being considered for recommendation to the U. S. Agriculture Department.

Counties now receiving aid are Bastrop, Bell, Bexar, Blanco, Bosque, Brown, Burnet, Comal, Comanche, Coryell, Erath, Hamilton, Hays, Kendall, Lampasas, Lee, Llano, McCulloch, Mason, Mills, San Saba, Travis, and Williamson.

Governor Shivers, commenting on the program, said he felt it would ease the present situation, but that, "This drouth could get so bad we might have to call a special session to provide funds."

Judge Re-rules Operation of the Commercial Security Insurance Company of Houston, already once halted and continued, has been stopped again by District Judge J. Harris Gardner.

Gardner, who issued a previous order restraining the firm from business and a later one allowing it to continue, issued the latest ruling on grounds that the company had gone into business on borrowed capital, thus violating state law.

State action charging fraudulent organization against the $250,000 fire and casualty firm was initiated July 15 by Attorney General John Ben Shepperd. He said he had asked the temporary restraining order at the request of the State Board of Insurance Commissioners.

The order was modified a few days later to allow continuance of the firm's business.

J. D. Wheeler, liquidator for the insurance board, has been named by the court as receiver to supervise all affairs of the company. Ben B. High, company president, said shareholders would receive no loss if the receivership is handled properly.

Business Perks Up Good news to Texas businessmen that the state's recession-plagued business situation will soon perk up has been issued by the University of Texas Business Research Bureau.

An upswing in business should be noted after a few weeks of stabilization as the present recession has hit its bottom, the bureau reported.

A survey of 2,865 retailers over the state showed June sales equaling those for May but four per cent down from last June. For the first half of 1954, sales were seven per cent below 1953 showings.

Mrs. McDaniel Is Released From Hospital

Mrs. Elma McDaniel returned home last week from Houston, Texas where she had been hospitalized for several weeks.

To meet the needs of thousands of Americans threatened by polio, measles, and infectious hepatitis, Red Cross provided gamma globulin at an average rate of 5 cc per minute during 1952-53.

HAS CONGRESS and the nation fairly treated the record 20-731,000 living veterans who have fought in U.S. wars?

In the opinion of some legislators, yes; but others, like Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R Mass.), Chairman of the Veterans Affairs unit, feel the treatment has been more like that of a "stepchild."

The late-session drive to force a vote on the bill to boost veteran benefits by an average 10 per cent brought about a check on just how much the American people have paid on their incalculable debt to the men who fought their wars.

Using funds paid into the Federal Treasury by taxpayers, the Veterans Administration and earlier veterans agencies had by the end of Fiscal 1953 spent $70,357,942.357 for such veterans benefits as compensation and pension payments, insurance, vocational rehabilitation, education and training, and medical and dental care. The cost of a ten per cent boost in these services: at least $231 million in the first year of operation.

The major portion of VA spending each year is for monthly compensation and pension payments to veterans and their dependents. About $2.4 billion was spent in this manner in fiscal 1953.

The bill to boost VA benefits was favorably reported late in May by the House Veterans Affairs Committee, although VA Administrator H. V. Higley said he felt enactment "would not be in accord with the program of the President." The measure later failed to clear the House Rules Committee.

The move to force the bill out of the Rules Committee and onto the House floor for a vote was led by Rep. Edmund P. Radwan (R N.Y.). Radwan said July 14 that a move would be made to obtain signatures of a majority of House Members and force a vote on his resolution. The majority was there, if he could get them to sign, for 246 veterans are in the House and 218 signatures were needed for success of the discharge petition.

Disagreement on the extent of veterans benefits are nothing new. A House fight developed in 1953 over whether veterans who could afford it should pay the cost of hospitalization for non-service connected disabilities. The House Appropriations Committee recommended that the VA be permitted to investigate the veteran's affidavit of inability to pay, and to deny free hospitalization if the VA felt he could pay. But the House voted down the provision, on a 217-179 roll-call vote.

Those who feel veterans benefits have been sufficient point out that the VA has been spending several billion dollars a year for disability and pension payments, maintaining 170 VA hospitals where each day 102,000 veterans get free care, paying up to $1,600 of the cost of a special automobile for an eligible discharged veteran and up to $10,000 on the cost of special housing for a paraplegic.

Those opposed to the boost say the VA has done well in handling three major problems: Readjustment from military to civilian life, the physical and financial difficulties of the disabled servicemen, and the needs of dependents of deceased veterans.

AUSTIN, Aug. 3 — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Ralph Yarborough said this week he will win the Aug. 28 second primary by a sweeping margin. Said Yarborough, confidently: "678,000 Texans—a majority of Texans—can't be wrong."

"678,000 Texans have hammered home their belief that integrity in their government can be achieved only by a change."

"678,000 Texans have noted their distrust and disapproval of a third term for their governors."

"678,000 Texas Democrats have made it crystal-clear they want a leader whose loyalty is unquestioned, who will never betray them."

Yarborough thanked "each and every one of the brave Texans who voted for and with me" in the first primary. He said he was "especially and particularly grateful to the citizens of Sherman County who have joined our common fight to restore decency and honor to Texas government."

Yarborough said the campaign issues now are sharply drawn. He said: "Texans can now choose for or against a tradition-breaking third term, for or against straight-forward Democratic leadership and for or against integrity in their State Capital."

SOME YEARS AGO Robert I. Forst, 205 Second Avenue, S.E., Glen Burnie, Maryland, quit a good paying job for one paying less because of a feeling of insecurity and worry. Where do you think he went to work? In one of the largest Mental Hospitals in the country.

The first few days he had many misgivings. Like most people, he had many of the old world superstitions and fears of the mentally ill. During his first day in the ward a tall patient dressed like an ancient king came to him and said, "I am King here and when you need money to run this ward my Treasurer will issue it to you." He replied, "Thank you King." As he turned to walk away the "king" handed him some paper and said, "Here is $100,000 for you."

Shortly afterward a distinguished looking patient came up to him and said, "I own all the banks here and will take care of your money." You can see he was rapidly profiting; the king was giving him $100,000 a day and his banker was taking care of it for him.

Robert Forst says these are examples of the many humorous incidents that happen in the wards every day. Because of worry and fear most of the patients were living in their subconscious minds rather than in their conscious minds.

The fourteen months he worked at the hospital he declares to be the most enlightening experience of his life, and he would like to suggest to us that if the load of fear and worry gets too heavy to carry, that we visit one of our mental hospitals, for then you will be able to count your blessings and thank the good Lord for each one of them.

IT'S YOUR MOVE

By F. L. Rowley

THE houses on Dillsby Street all look alike. Old Lenny McAllister, whose house squatted near the middle of the shabby lineup, didn't like the arrangement one bit. Electing to do something about it he purchased a pail of gay, yellow paint, a huge brush, and a cheap ladder.

Scampering up the ladder like a zealous fire-fighter he soon discovered that he had overreached himself. The ladder promptly collapsed. The bucket of paint landed with painful impact on Lenny's foot. The ensuing howl of agony was genuine and lusty.

Sympathetic neighbors rushed up on the scene to inspect Lenny's big toe. They decided that an amputation was in order. While these experts stood about solemnly shaking their heads, Lenny poured maledictions upon all sellers of rickety ladders. Suddenly one of the bystanders had a startling idea: why not get a doctor?

This being done it was soon discovered that Lenny would live. A cheer went up from the little group. Immediately following Lenny's accident the good people of Hillcrest assembled in the town hall to devise a way to aid him. It was a noble project, and one that would have been carried off to everyone's satisfaction had it not been for the presence of Abner Wight—he was Lenny's next-door neighbor. Abner thought little of Lenny McAllister—exceedingly little. He had, on one occasion, accused Lenny of sicking his cats on his—Abner's—pigeons.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Cats are enterprising little beasts and need no prompting. At this meeting, however, Abner seemed to relent. He even volunteered, to everyone's amazement, to oversee the work himself.

The night before the painters were to arrive Abner stealthily switched house numbers with Lenny. He smiled evilly at the thought of having his house decorated without charge. The painters would have made a terrible mistake—nothing more, Abner would ascribe the changing of house numbers to some childish prank.

The following morning as Abner started out for his office he rubbed his hands together gleefully. He had faithfully discharged his duty—the painters had been instructed to swarm over the building at 883 Dillsby Street.

A few minutes later Lenny hobbled out upon his own front porch to pick up the morning paper. He was surprised to see the large group of painters unloading their gear in front of Abner's house. Grasping his cane he shuffled across the lawn to watch the men.

"Good morning, Mr. McAllister!" said one of the painters. "You certainly must be pleased to see that, you have so many friends. Any special color combination?"

Lenny McAllister was no dolt. He studied the score of men preparing to paint one little house. His eyes settled on his own house number hanging on Abner's door. Then he looked back at the man who had addressed him; how had the painter come to know his name? The answer was simple. Then Lenny began spouting instructions to the surprised painters.

Late that afternoon Abner Wight elbowed his way angrily through the crowd of people on his front lawn. Then he stopped short. What had happened to his house? The entire outer surface of the building looked like a checkerboard—huge green and white squares!

"It's your move, Abner!" cried Lenny from the safety of his own porch. "I'll say it's his move!" bellowed a big red-faced man before Abner could answer. It was Mr. Peabody, Abner's landlord. "You must be an idiot, Mr. Wight!" he screamed while Abner sputtered helplessly. "Now take your paint-pot and your pigeons and get off my property!"

Abner Wight hasn't been seen since. It's been rumored that Lenny plans to take another crack at painting this fall. He's got a new ladder.

Death Takes B. N. Richards

DALHART — Funeral services for B. N. Richards, 71-year old pioneer attorney, church and civic leader, were held Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist church.

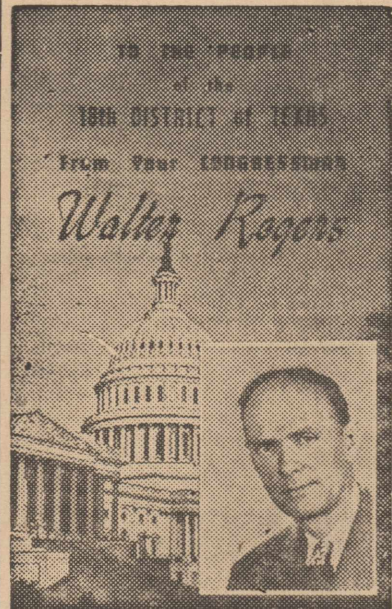

Mr. Richards died suddenly and unexpectedly of a heart attack at his home early Friday. He had worked as usual the day before. Rev. W. R. Lawrence, pastor, was in charge of the last rites. Burial was made in Memorial Park cemetery.

Richards is survived by his wife, Lucille, three sons and a daughter. Mr. Richards was a former district attorney of the 69th judicial district and was active in the work of the First Baptist Church until his death. Mr. Richards had been a deacon of the church for many years. He had taught a young married couple's class for the past seven years.

He was a member of the North Plains Bar Association, that comprises this Northwest Texas Panhandle; the Texas Bar Association and the American Bar Association. Over the years he had served in various capacities with the local and state bar associations.

Mr. Richards was a past president of the Lions Club and was still a member.

He was the author of "Texas Lawyer," a book describing his experiences and observations in Texas.

The House passed a bill yesterday on a voice vote that I voted against. It was a bill that created a Capitol Police Force and provided that a uniformed and armed member of that force would be in each of the galleries of the House. The entire debate supporting the bill was centered around the Puerto Rican shooting of March 1, when several of the Members were hit. In other words, now that the horse is gone, we are attempting to close the barn door. Certainly the March 1 tragedy should never have occurred, but it did. It was only by the grace of God that a number of us were not killed. If, in the future, the same type of fanatic should again appear in the gallery and follow the identical procedure followed by the Puerto Rican woman and her stooges, I daresay that the results would be just as bad, if not worse. Probably the only difference would be that an armed officer would slay the assassins before they could get out of the gallery. This, of course, would not bring back to life any Member of Congress who had been slain by such a fusillade or some innocent bystander in the gallery who might be hit by the bullets of the fanatics or the armed officers. None of us want to be shot at, but I do not think the American taxpayer should be saddled with a cost for a service that will not provide the result sought. The degree of fanaticism or mental instability that would prompt an assassin to fire upon the Senate or the House of Representatives is such that he would not be deterred by the presence of some uniformed and armed guard. Our government is a civil government, and our Congress is supposed to be constituted of civilians elected by the people. I do not believe that the wearing of a uniform and the bearing of arms inside the House Chamber will be conducive to the best interests of this nation. I would much prefer to run the risk of being shot at than to see even the faintest shadow of a police state cast across the chambers of our legislative bodies, national, state, or local.

vividly portrayed in a recent discussion concerning the Trust Territory of the United States. As I pointed out in a previous Newsletter, this is a territory composed of a number of islands in the Pacific, scattered over an area larger than the United States. The land mass of this entire territory is equal to about half the state of Rhode Island. It is on some of these islands that the atom and hydrogen bomb tests have been made. When the general report on the trusteeship of the United States was given to the United Nations, Russia, together with two other nations, raised quite a stew. Instead of taking the facts as they were and could be proven, the Russian delegate mixed these with a lot of insinuations, innuendoes and half-truths and then strained from this mass all of the truth and the facts. What he finally came up with was the argument that the United States was destroying these islands and the peoples inhabiting them, one at a time, and was, therefore, undertaking to obliterate an entire people. The ends to which these Reds will go to warp the minds and control the thoughts of men is utterly fantastic. Needless to say, the Russian approach did not prevail, and the Reds, as usual, were in the minority when the final vote was taken.

Mrs. Pendleton Is C. W. F. Group Two Hostess

Group Two of the Christian Womens Fellowship met in the home of Mrs. J. R. Pendleton Wednesday afternoon with nine members and one visitor present. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Frank Judd. It was reported that eleven books had been read, six devotionals conducted, and a collection of $19.75 had been presented. It was voted that Group Two would call on new residents of Stratford and welcome them.

The study course, "Training for Service," was led by Mrs. W. O. Bryant, with all members taking an active part in the discussion.

The devotional was led by Mrs. E. E. Hamilton. The scripture was taken from the 15th chapter of Matthew. After the devotional the group was dismissed by the C. W. F. benediction.

Mrs. Pendleton served delicious refreshments to Mesdames Frank Judd, E. Hill, E. E. Hamilton, Paul Aduddell, Bessie Mitchell, Grover Keown, W. O. Bryant, W. J. Lowe, and Rev. Brayshaw, after which everyone enjoyed a fellowship hour. The next meeting will be with Mrs. E. E. Hamilton the first Wednesday in September with Mrs. John Knight as leader.
