Star Gazing

By DON HOUK

Congressman Walter Rogers, Pampa, Texas' 15th district representative, devotes a major part of his weekly Washington newsletter to the writings of Dr. Diosdado M. Yap, editor and publisher of "Bataan Magazine."

Dr. Yap writes, "In talking with hundreds of people on my recent trip (Southeast Asia) I find that among the masses in the Far East, with the exception of the Philippines, the people know nothing of these vast sums (six billion dollars in economic and technical assistance since 1945) which have been contributed by this country, the U.S., to help them."

"The benefits have been used to attempt to build political power, to stabilize existing governments, or carry on a propaganda war among people who can neither read nor write and who do not have enough to eat, let alone radios to hear American broadcasts against the evils of communism."

"In all my travels in about 27 countries, the only story I saw in any newspaper about America was a short paragraph in a paper in Pakistan concerning the divorce of Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio. By such standards are Americans judged in the Far East."

Speaking of the thinking of these people, Dr. Yap says:

"The attitude of the great majority of the people of Southeast Asia is best illustrated by a conversation I had with a laborer in Singapore. 'The people just want peace,' he declared.

"We are tired, we do not want to fight anyone anymore. We just want a chance to make a better living."

"Freedom to the common man in Asia means a small piece of land to call his own upon which he can raise enough to feed himself and his family and which will afford them shelter and give them the opportunity to 'clothe themselves.'"

Dr. Yap quoted a Saigon taxi driver. "Yes; we have heard of America. They have given much money, but what is their purpose? They are in cahoots with the British and the French and will help these countries in their colonial policies, which means slavery for us."

In summation, Dr. Yap said, "The minds of the people of Asia are yearning, not so much for knowledge of how bad communism is, as for assurance of how good democracy can be to their daily lives. Asia has been denied freedom for so long a time it has forgotten what freedom can mean in terms of a prosperous economy, progressive community life, and a richer meaning of human existence. These things cannot be brought home to the people of Asia merely through the propagation of the manual of arms or the usual vituperation against the Kremlin or Peiping governments."

Dr. Yap is an Oriental, able to understand the reasoning of other Orientals. A wise statesman would lend an ear to the theme of the noted editor, turning money and technical assistance over to native governments really isn't getting done the job of selling America to Asia.

Perhaps we need a little more common sense in the distribution of American aid. If we aren't getting anymore for our money than Dr. Yap indicates, it's time for a change. Six billion dollars will buy a lot of rice for Asia. We should see that it goes to the man who counts. The small family unit and not to the governmental official.

The Sherman County 4-H and FFA stock show was an overwhelming success, from our point of view. The new county barn is a perfect spot for it. The commissioners are to be commended for their foresightedness in providing such a facility to the city and county.

Duad Lamb and Ernest Goule should have a pat on the back for the fine work they did. Their work with the youths of the county is of prime importance.

The show and sale was much smoother than last year's effort. Congratulations.

Now is the time to sell the legislature on the need for natural gas for irrigation. Twenty-four legislators will be in the Panhandle tomorrow, (Friday) to study the area and its needs.

We have no information that they will be in Sherman county, but, they may send a small party to this area. If they do come here, W. P. Foreman at the City Hall will probably know about it.

Among problems to be studied, is the need for gas for irrigation. Let the lawmakers know what you think.

No big arguments this week. I got out with a whole skin.

Feature speakers of the Fifth Annual Texas Attorney Generals Conference on Law Enforcement February 7-8 included Governor Allan Shivers, left; Actor David Brian, center; and Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, right. Governor Shivers commended Texas law enforcement officials on their co-operative Statewide program. Brian detailed the problems of presenting an accurate law enforcement drama-tization, while Attorney General Shepperd keynoted the conference with an appeal to the 300 judges, prosecutors and peace officers in attendance to make crime "unpopular and unprofitable in Texas."

Sammy Barton's Life Brightened With Operation

A more near-normal life lies ahead for Sammy Barton, 16, through the efforts of three Stratford men, the First Baptist church and the Khiva Shrine Temple of Amarillo.

Sammy was born a blue baby. For years, doctors had told his parents that there was no hope for correcting the youngster's condition.

Sammy attends the intermediate Sunday school class at the Baptist church. Teacher Bill Allen became increasingly interested in the boy. Mr. Allen observed that Sammy had to sit down and rest after walking only a short distance.

The youngster joined the Royal Ambassadors. His supervisors, William Glen Hart, John Steel and Mr. Allen, found that Sammy had a bright and alert mind. He has only had four years of school. He had to quit because of his condition.

Hart, Steel and Allen enlisted the aid of the Baptist Brotherhood and Rev. M. E. Upchurch. The Brotherhood agreed to underwrite efforts to have Sammy's condition corrected. The Shriners club later agreed to pay half of the expenses. Rev. Upchurch made several trips to Amarillo with Sammy to consult heart specialists. They gave him hope.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mahoney, Rev. Upchurch and Sammy went to Houston over the weekend. Sammy was operated on Monday morning in Houston Methodist Memorial hospital. Monday afternoon Rev. Upchurch reported by phone that Sammy's life-long blue color began to fade while he was still on the operating table.

Doctors took a section of blood vessel from the boy's arm and transplanted it in his chest. The vessel enabled Sammy's heart to pump a greater amount of blood to his lungs. The result was astounding, Upchurch said. Sammy began breathing more deeply and more quietly for the first time in memory.

Although doctors had long ago told the boy's parents that the heart condition could not be corrected, it was not necessary for the Houston doctors to operate on Sammy's heart.

Dr. D. A. Cooley performed the operation. Sammy will probably have to be hospitalized about two weeks.

AFL & CIO Merge At Last

By CHARLES NOLAN

MIAMI BEACH, Feb. 9.—AFL President George Meany convenes his executive council Thursday to ratify a historic merger agreement with the CIO and end almost two decades of labor squabbling.

Meany and CIO President Walter Reuther signed the historic merger agreement Wednesday after conferences with top leaders of unions affiliated with the two great labor organizations.

Reuther said he would "gladly" step down and nominate Meany to head the huge new labor force of more than 15 million workers.

The merger, which would give labor a powerful voice in the 1956 elections, is subject to approval by the AFL and CIO executive units, conventions of both bodies and finally by a joint convention late this year.

Predicts Approval

Meany said he expected the AFL executive council will quickly approve the pact and predicted "We will go into 1956 with a united labor movement."

The CIO executive board meets to ratify the merger Feb. 24.

An indication that the merger plan also may meet challenges from outside labor's ranks was given by Henry G. Riter III, president of the national association of manufacturers.

Riter, in one of the first publicized reactions to the plan by a management spokesman, said in New York the proposed merger would constitute a "dangerous monopoly" and as such "should be outlawed for the same reasons that business monopolies have been banned."

He said that although the merger "could have the beneficial effect of eliminating costly jurisdictional strikes throughout the nation" he felt that "monopoly" also "is always costly to the public."

Issue Joint Statement

Meany and Reuther said in a joint statement that the merger "will mark the end of the division in the free trade union movement of our country that has existed for almost 20 years."

Reuther will remain president of the CIO United Auto Workers and is expected to be named a top-echelon vice president of the new federation.

Only President Dave Beck of the 1.3 million-member AFL International Teamsters Union, largest of any of the 140 AFL or CIO affiliates, might bolt if the merger succeeds.

From year to year we find new words in our language and new meanings for old words. The word "Semantice" has come to be commonly used because it is the name of the "science of meanings." We all want to know what words mean. If we do not agree on the meanings of words we cannot understand each other.

The word "crisis" in Chinese is made up of two characters which mean "dangerous" opportunity." Some Chinese seem to like "dangerous opportunities" because they may have a chance to win, and if they lose their lives in death, they have escaped this ugly life and have gone on to something better. To these Chinese, the word "crisis" represents a desirable thing to have and to create. Thus the Chinese philosophy, basic religion and word meaning play right into the hands of the Communists who like to see other people in trouble. The more trouble a people have the weaker they become. The weaker people are, the easier they become prey for Communism. All totalitarianism functions as a vulture living on that which it has not earned, taking what others have, and pouncing unexpectedly upon weakened peoples.

In America the word "crisis" means a decisive moment or a turning point for better or for worse. In fact, in the medical realm it is the point of turning to life or death. Our people face crises courageously, but they do not believe in creating crises. We find no glory in stirring up a situation which may mean death to the individual or to the nation. We believe that man is created

WASHINGTON ON THE BRAZOS

This was Rev. Noah T. Bryar's blacksmith shop at old Washington-on-the-Brazos. The Texas declaration of independence was drafted and signed here. The convention met here on March 1, 1836. It was an unfinished house without doors or windows, in place of glass, cotton cloth was stretched across the windows which partially excluded the cold wind. The night before had been exceedingly warm but a Texas Norther sprang up and the temperature dropped down to 33 and every one there was exclaiming about the cold. (This was taken from a diary of a man who was there.)

Letha Fedric Directs Play At West Texas

Letha Fedric, speech major at West Texas State College, was a co-director for "Another Tomorrow," a modernistic play by Gary Walker, successfully presented Monday and Tuesday evenings by the Buffalo Masquers in the Branding Iron Theatre on the school campus.

Presentation of "Another Tomorrow" was the first production of a play by a student since 1952, when "Midway Incident" by Fred Willis, was staged.

The play is unique in that it does not follow the conventional style of writing. In that, it means that there are no divisions as to acts and scenes. The play is just a group of scenes that are related.

Walker, a sophomore speech major, is well-known to Stratford students at WTSC.

When asked why he wrote the play, he said "The first reason is that I wanted to show the different aspects of human behavior in a

Only Car at its Price*

So Smart! So Big! So Powerful!

*You can buy a big, powerful Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars!

Whatever you want most in a car—beauty, size or performance—you get it in extra measure in a Pontiac. In fact, when you choose Pontiac the decision comes very easily—because Pontiac alone, at its price, gives you everything!

For example, take Pontiac's distinctive smartness. Certainly there is no question on this point. Pontiac is the one car that stands apart from all the others.

If it's size and big-car sure-footedness you want—Pontiac's your car! Pontiac's long wheelbase—124 inches in the Star

Chief, shown here, and 122 inches in the 860 and 870 series—is the plus wheelbase that provides the roominess, the comfort, the satisfying road-hugging security that only a big car can supply.

As for performance—once you get behind the wheel you have all the proof you need that Pontiac is way ahead in this department, too. Pontiac's spectacular performance starts with the most modern engine of all—the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8—specifically designed for Pontiac's all-new chassis to give you balanced performance. That means smooth, eager getaway in traffic; power to spare on the open road; and even more of Pontiac's traditional economy, dependability and long life.

All this adds up to a wonderful car and—with Pontiac's remarkably low price tag—a very wonderful buy. Come in soon and talk dollars and cents. If you're in the market for any new car, you'll discover you can easily afford all the pride and pleasure of a big, powerful, luxury-loaded Pontiac.

Speaking Of Unusual Food!

By WILLIAM H. MEYERS
CHICAGO, Illinois — (UP) — Max Ries says he would like to set someone up in business—breeding hummingbirds.

Ries said he'd buy up the entire production so he could add canned hummingbirds' tongues to his line of fancy and exotic foods.

He's made a fortune already by selling such delectable items as French fried worms, barbecued muskrat meat, termite eggs, alligator soup, quail eggs, canned snails, and deep-fat fried grasshoppers.

A suave, continental type, Ries is president of Reese Finer Foods, Inc. He varied the spelling of his name "so people wouldn't pronounce it 'rice.'"

"Americans are becoming more adventuresome in their eating habits," Ries said. "Almost every day we get orders for foodstuffs even we haven't heard about."

Ries himself lives dangerously so far as food is concerned.

"I'll try anything—once," he said.

'HELP YOUR HEART FUND—HELP YOUR HEART'

During the month of February, the American Heart Association and its 56 affiliates will hold its heart fund campaign to aid some 10 million Americans who suffer from some heart or blood-vessel disease. No national goal has been set because no goal can properly describe the scope and immensity of the heart problem. Hope is the underlying theme of the heart fund; hope that research, reinforced by education and community heart programs, will lead to eventual control of heart diseases. Below is graphically shown how many people died from circulatory diseases during 1953 and what the American Heart Association and its various affiliates throughout the United States is doing to help control the afflictions.

KILLER—Heart diseases take 800 thousand lives each year, nearly double the combined total of the next five leading causes of death.

RESEARCH—Since 1948, over $8 million have gone into research projects in search for the cause and control of heart diseases. Dr. Richard W. Eckstein, left, studies the operation of a pig's blood vessels in the hope of finding improved treatment for humans at one of the many Heart Fund research centers.

PUBLIC EDUCATION—Two of its important functions are to help people eliminate needless fears and to encourage early diagnosis.

PUBLIC SERVICE—This is a free clinic to evaluate work capacity of cardiacs. This patient is having his exercise tolerance tested at one of the many public service centers. Doctors have found that eight of 10 patients can hold their present jobs safely.

REHABILITATION—Part of this program is to try and teach the patient to take it easy. To emphasize this factor, Mrs. Catherine Evans does a great deal of her kitchen work sitting down. Energy conservation of this nature keeps homemaker in better health.

LOOKIN AHEAD CORPORATE CITIZENSHIP PAYS OFF

Men of unusual abilities and unusual attributes have built America into the nation which provides the present generation of people the greatest measure of welfare in the history of the human race. These individual prime movers must be recognized as citizen benefactors. There is another kind of benefactor bringing progress to America, the corporate benefactors, the companies which have utilized unusual abilities and unusual attributes—for the good of mankind. In the heart of Arkansas's pine timber belt, a sawmill began operations 50 years ago. It was called the Crossett Lumber Company. Its lifetime was limited. It would cut out the available timber and leave. One day one of the owners stood watching a log being snaked up out of the mill pond into the sawmill. As the butt of the log went by he absent-mindedly counted the concentric growth rings in the structure of the wood. Then he had a flash. He exclaimed, "Why that log has grown from a twig since we built our mill! Why not grow our timber and harvest it—as a crop? We could stay here forever!"

Crossett Progresses

The Crossett Company built a model town, brought in some of America's foremost foresters and began to revolutionize this nation's concept of its timber resources. Today, its scientifically controlled forests grow enough timber each year to supply its needs—and this can go on, indeed, forever! Today, every family in Crossett, Arkansas, owns its home. Through the enlightened management and civic leadership of the company, the little town has become a city preparing itself for a population of 25,000, following a plan prepared by one of America's noted city planners.

A visit to this wonderful community refuels one's reservoir of faith in America and especially in the business leadership of America. Its streets are broad and tree-lined. Its churches are among the most beautiful in the nation. Its schools are the last word in modern facilities and in faculty standards. Its hospitals, parks, swimming pools and playgrounds would make any city envious. The Crossett Company, now boasting huge paper mills and chemical plants, has insisted that the citizens do these things for themselves. It has supplied the vision, the push and a sizeable share of the financial cost. That's corporate citizenship.

State-Wide Citizenship
In Little Rock 14 years ago, a man and his company decided to expand their corporate citizenship. The man was C. Hamilton Moses; the company was the Arkansas Power & Light Company which he headed. At the time, Arkansas's per capita income was $252 a year. Its economy was based on raw material production, with little processing and manufacturing within the state. Mr. Moses called together 1,000 Arkansas businessmen and they devised "The Arkansas Plan." The primary objective of "The Arkansas Plan" was to bring new industry to Arkansas and stimulate establishment of locally-financed processing and manufacturing plants. The new payrolls would enrich the economy of the state. Largely through the dynamic leadership of Mr. Moses and the use of the resources of his company, Arkansas has obtained thousands of new industries in the last 14 years. The per capita income of the state has hit $1,000 a year. Another phase of this great civic work was the "Build Your Own Town" clinics. Mr. Moses traveled the state, holding the clinics in 75 counties. As a result, many Arkansas communities have long-range civic improvement plans such as Crossett's. Mr. Moses and his company have demonstrated a high calibre of corporate citizenship.

For the Nation

One other example, this one on a national scale, should be noted: In June, 1950, the United States government knew that Soviet Russia had obtained, through espionage, our secrets on the H-bomb possibilities, and perhaps already had begun manufacturing the bombs. The Du Pont Company officials were called in. Would they, the government asked, throw all their unique engineering resources and chemistry know-how into the building of the gigantic billion dollar Savannah River plant to make the materials for H-bombs? The answer was, yes.

Du Pont built the plant in record time. As a result, our government recently announced that we were far ahead of Communist Russia in this field of decisive nuclear weapons. For all the know-how, and lending the hundreds of technical engineers to the government for the Savannah River plant construction, Du Pont charged the government $1, in addition to actual expenses. Its best men were employed over a long period without the company's profiting. This is the kind of corporate citizenship that builds our nation and keeps it strong.

Clothing Classes Being Conducted By HD Agent

Two clothing classes are being taught by County H. D. Agent Lucile King for special interest groups. One is a beginners class and the other an advance sewing class.

The beginners class is being held in the south part of the county. In this class each woman is making a simple cotton dress and will be taught the Bishop Method of Sewing. Two classes have been held; the first was a pre-clothing class. In this, the agent taught the group what kind of material to buy, the type of pattern to buy, how to take measurements and the equipment they would need. These classes are held in homes. In the second lesson, they studied straightening materials, altering patterns, laying, cutting and marking. The new ideas of altering McCall's patterns and the use of alteration paper were introduced.

Those taking the beginners sewing class are Mrs. T. F. Baskin, Jr., Mrs. John Lavake, Mrs. William G. Hart, Mrs. Vernon Carter, Mrs. Vernon Morris, Mrs. Leroy Morris, Mrs. James H. Bradley, Mrs. Meritt Sweny, Mrs. Arthur Cartrite and Mrs. Wayne Cartrite. The advance clothing class is being held in Stratford in the club room. Three classes have been held with this group. The first was a pre-clothing class. The women
