VOLUME 50 STRATFORD, SHERMAN COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1955 NUMBER 40

Star Gazing

By DON HOUK
L. M. Price is dead.
His physical passing marks the close of a long and full life dedicated to service to Sherman county and its people.
The spirit of his faith in the land and its stewards will live as a shining beacon for years to come.

As a comparative stranger in Stratford, it didn't take me long to find out what people thought of Mr. Price. Everybody I talked to communicated a feeling of deep loss, if not in words, through their expressions and tones of voice.

The men with whom he came in contact in banking are sending their messages of sympathy. They include Dale Smiley and W. N. Durham, vice-president of the First National Bank in Amarillo; R. C. Ware, vice-president of the Amarillo National Bank; and Frank Sewell, president of the Liberty National Bank in Oklahoma City.

Friends heard from are Asa Willis, Texline; Mrs. Donie Anchicks, Calvert, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Fagan, Calvert; Francis and Henry Stierwalt, Springfield, Mo. and W. J. Fellers, Amarillo.

I'm sure that many more have contacted the family in sympathy.
In behalf of The Stratford Star, its staff and management, I extend to Mrs. Price and the family our deepest sympathy.

Children Aged Five Through Ten Now Eligible For Salk Vaccine

Doctors of the Dallam-Hartley-Moore-Sherman Medical Society — along with other doctors across the U.S. — are now beginning to receive the Salk anti-polio vaccine on a private basis.
But, the supply is still limited and shots are being given only to children aged five through ten, and on a strict voluntary priority basis in accordance with an agreement reached among the U.S. Health, Education & Welfare department in Washington, the American Medical Association and the various state medical associations. Doctors in these four counties are following this agreement.
These announcements were made today by Dr. John Blaschke, of Dalhart speaking on behalf of doctors of the 4-county medical association of which he is president.
He emphasized that this Salk vaccine now being received on a private basis is above and beyond the Salk vaccine that was allotted free for vaccination of first and second grade students near the close of the 1954-55 school term. Second shots in this same program have only recently been completed.
Strictness of the voluntary priority program was also emphasized. Doctors must keep records of all

While the car shown above is in the Custom Royal series, the same body style is being offered in the lower priced Royal and Coronet series.

Dallam, Hartley Antelope Hunt To Be Oct. 12-14

A prong-horn antelope hunt will be held north of the Punta De Agua creek in Dallam and Hartley counties Oct. 12-14, Game Warden Jess Felts reports.
Headquarters for the hunt, supervised and directed by the Texas Game & Fish Commission, will be in the De Soto hotel banquet room in Dalhart.
About 35 wardens, in cars equipped with two-way radios, will be assigned to ranches that have given permission for the hunt to be held on their land.
Hunters have been assigned to ranches and are not permitted to hunt anywhere else.
J. H. Maggard, Amarillo, district supervisor, will be in charge of the Dalhart headquarters. He will be assisted by A. S. Jackson, Canadian, district biologist, and Bob Van Cleave, Dalhart, biologist.
Frank Hamer, Brownwood, arrived in Dalhart Thursday by air to assist with the hunt. He will conduct air patrol in search of wounded animals and violators.
An official weighing station will be maintained at the Frozen Food lockers on Rock Island Ave. in Dalhart. Animals brought to the station will be checked for age and measurement of horns.
Warden Felts listed rules of the hunt.

1. Only persons who hold a permit will be allowed to hunt antelope.
2. Camping not permitted except on remote ranches and then only when game warden is assigned to the camp.
3. Hunting is not allowed before sunrise or after sunset.
4. No hunting will be allowed from a standing or moving auto nor shooting into a herd of moving antelope.
5. Hunters will not be permitted on the ranch to which he is assigned to hunt before sunrise of the opening day.
6. Shooting of other game not permitted during antelope hunt.
7. No hunter will be allowed in the field with a gun after he has killed his buck.
8. Before beginning hunt, hunters must report to warden assigned to ranch where hunter is assigned.
9. Hunter must have his license signed by the warden before leaving ranch with an antelope.
10. No rim-fire rifles will be permitted. Shotguns are prohibited, also.

Other antelope hunting dates are Oct. 15-17 in Hartley and Oldham counties between the Canadian river and the Punta De Agua creek and Oct. 18-20 in Oldham and Potter counties south of the Canadian river and in Roberts and Hutchinson counties.
It is expected that 375 to 400 animals will be killed in the three hunting periods.

Dodge Revealing Push-Button Gear Shifting

The Jacobs Motor Co. of Stratford will show a representative car of the 1956 line of Dodge passenger automobiles tomorrow, Bob Jacobs announces.
Mechanical improvements include the new "MagicTouch" push-button drive selector which eliminates the necessity for a gear-shift or drive control lever.
Dodge engineers have continued the Forward Look in the new models. High-sweep rear fender tail fins lend an aircraft-like effect and give a flavor of speed and directional appearance.
Forward-pointing body shapes and moldings, proportioned hood, body deck areas, front fenders and swept-back grille combine to give a feeling of motion, the officials said.
In the four-door Lancer, youth and vigor of hardtop styling are combined with the comfort and convenience of the four-door sedan. Full-width rear doors provide access to the rear passenger compartment, while side vision is assured by full rear door windows.
The four-door Lancer hardtop is offered in the low-priced Coronet, as well as in the Royal and Custom Royal series.
The 1956 Dodge line includes the Coronet in four-door sedan, club coupe, four-door Lancer hardtop, Lancer hardtop and Lancer convertible; Royal V-8 in four-door sedan, four-door Lancer hardtop and Lancer hardtop; Custom Royal V-8 in four-door sedan, four-door Lancer hardtop, Lancer hardtop and Lancer convertible.
A new station wagon line offers a choice of seven Suburban and Sierra four-door models.
Coronet and Suburban lines allow a choice of Dodge "Get-Away Six" or Dodge V-8 engine in certain body types. Selection between Red Ram V-8 and Super Red Ram V-8 is available in the Suburban and Sierra lines.
The Super Red Ram V-8 engine has been updated to a total displacement of 315 cubic inches with 218 horsepower and increased torque. Significant in the new engine is the "break-away" performance, the officials explained.
Designed with single-rocket valve train and polyspheric combustion chamber, the engine features high combustion efficiency, greater economy and longer engine life.
A four-barrel carburetor with matching intake manifold, dual exhausts and a distributor with special spark-advance curve is offered. It, added to the Super Red Ram V-8, develops 230 horsepower.
Highway hi-fi, an automatic record player, which operates through the radio, is optional. A choice of high fidelity classical and popular music and readings are available.
Mounted in a convenient sliding drawer under the glove box, the unit can be operated by the driver while he is watching the road. By means of a uniquely designed pickup arm, the car can be driven over the roughest of roads without affecting the record player's operation, Damron and Hale said.
Luxurious, flair-fashioned interior fabrics have been created with the Jacquard loom combining nylon, rayon, cotton and metallic threads in abstract patterns for Custom Royal and Royal models. Coronet interiors feature block-stripe patterns of the same material.
On the re-designed instrument panel, the speedometer is directly in front of the driver. On the left side of the speedometer the fuel

All Scouts in Dallam, Sherman, Moore and Hartley counties are eligible to attend. Each boy must be accompanied by an adult during contest hours, Mr. Ferguson said.
Boys eight through 16 years of age are eligible. They do not have to be members of a Scout troop, but are invited to attend to learn how Scouting works, the field executive said.
The leader recommended that families, troops, packs or dens plan picnics as a unit.
Prizes will be awarded at Derby headquarters, north of the rodeo grounds, promptly at 6 p.m. There will be two divisions, eight to 11 years and 12 to 16.

Prizes will be awarded in the eight to 11 class on the heaviest fish, longest fish, greatest number of legal fish and first fish brought to the judges.

The Big Window

FROM Pakistan to Peru, the average American home is the symbol of luxurious living. Even such a frivolous U.S. toy as an electric train was the sensation of a foreign trade fair recently. Without the tremendous main bearing of the American press with its reports on what's new and its advertising to show the way to attaining new things, our standard of living would never have attained these heights.

Elks Stomp Vega 31-0 Last Week

The Stratford Elks rose up and defeated Vega 31-0 in Vega last Friday night.

The Elks were on the rebound from a defeat at the hands of Darrouzett the week before and were battling a team coached by Jim Bob Harris, coach in the Stratford school system last year.

The Elks kicked off to Vega and recovered a Vega fumble on the second play from scrimmage. Stratford drove to the Vega five yard line. Lynn Hudson scored on a pass from Mike Neal. Bob Donelson kicked the conversion. It was good.

While Price ran 38 yards for a touchdown in the second stanza. The extra-point kick was blocked.

Just before the half, the Elks stopped the Vega offense on the four-inch-line. Vega had first down goal to go on the one yard line when the Elks made their stand.

"Punkin'" McMinn scored on a 65-yard trot in the third period. The extra-point kick was blocked. Russell Albert carried the leather 60 yards early in the fourth quarter for another six points. The try for extra point was bad.

Price ran a Vega punt back to the one-yard line later in the run it over on a quarterback sneak.

The Elks rolled up eight first downs to 15 for Vega. Stratford penetrated six times and Vega once. The Elks gained 483 yards rushing and passing.

Bruce Biddy, Perry Coffman, McMinn and Hudson were stand-outs on defense. Coach Haskel Bilbrey reported. The coach used every man on the squad during the game.

The Elks play in Texline Friday at 7:30. All Elks games will be at 7:30 at home or away, the coach explained.

Met Star Is To Sing In Amarillo

AMARILLO—Blanche Thebom — mezzo soprano and one of the most beautiful stars of the Metropolitan Opera—will open the 1955-56 season as guest artist with the Amarillo Symphony, under the baton of Clyde Roller, Oct. 12. The program will be in the Stephen F. Austin high school at Amarillo at 8 p.m.

Internationally known for her operatic roles, Miss Thebom is also a TV, movie and recording star.

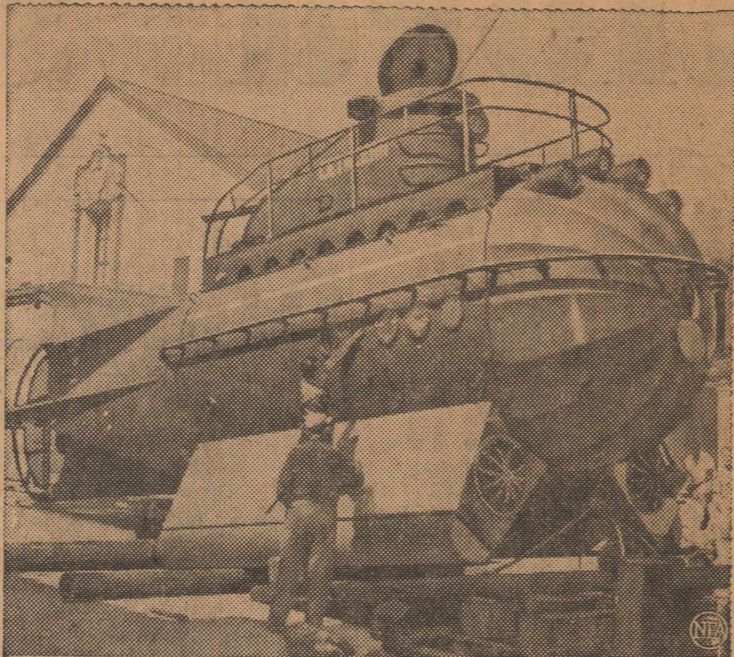

She grew up in Canton, O. where she did office work and sang in the Baptist church choir. On a trip to Sweden with her father to see his homeland, her singing was heard by Kosti Vehanen, noted accompanist, who persuaded her to study voice seriously.

Her boss' parents financed her musical education. She studied intensively in New York from 1939 to 1944, and then made her debut in Town Hall. Less than a year later she made her first appearance at the Met. Her husband is a New York investment broker.

Ticket information can be obtained from the Amarillo Symphony, Inc., P.O. Box 2552, Amarillo.

two for you on fall care for your lawn.

Lawn grasses will go into the winter in a vigorous condition if they are well nourished, and you can make sure your lawn is properly nourished by applying a complete fertilizer before winter.

The fertilizer should be applied about a month before the first hard freeze. This not only permits the grass to utilize most of the fertilizer, but prevents summer grasses being pushed into lush growth by late fertilization and being killed by the first hard freeze.

Apply a complete fertilizer with a 2-1-1 or 1-1-1 ratio at a rate to supply two pounds of actual nitrogen per 1000 square feet of lawn. The soils in some areas do not need potash, but using it anyway is good insurance. After you have applied the fertilizer, water your lawn good, because the grass can't use it until it's dissolved.

By following these few suggestions, you should have a healthier, more vigorous lawn this fall and early spring.

Poultry Culling Less Important; And Here Is Why

BY BEN WORMELL
Texas Extension Service

Culling, one of the oldest flock management practices used by poultry men for maintaining high egg production, is less important today because of changes being made in flock handling methods. Little culling, except to remove the hopelessly sick or unthrifty birds, should now be needed for the first eight to nine months of production. Taking a young hen from the flock just because she fails to lay for a few days is a sure way to cut income.

This may seem to contradict former recommendations about culling but it doesn't. Egg producers who are most successful replace the entire laying flock with pullets at the end of each laying year. This eliminates the job of trying to select the best hens to carry over for the second year of production.

Breeding methods have been intensified to the extent that where top quality chicks have been used the resulting flock will lay at a rate for eight or nine months that makes culling of healthy hens unnecessary. If a flock of top bred birds is not laying at a high rate, the poultryman had best do some checking on the care and management his hens been receiving. When corrections are made, the flock should return to a satisfactory rate of lay.

The poultryman has an investment of from $1.75 to $2.25 in a pullet by the time she begins to produce. This cost must be recovered along with the expense of keeping her in production before any profit can be realized. The replacement flock must be well bred to justify these costs.

One-Half Home Accidents In Family Kitchen

About one-third of all accidental deaths and almost one-half of the non-fatal injuries reported in the U. S. occurred in the home, a recent study shows. Most of the burns, scalds and explosions, as well as many of the falls, took place in the kitchen, according to Lucile King, county home demonstration agent.

These precautions will make your kitchen a safer place.

1. Locate light switches near room entrances to prevent falls.
2. Invest in a firm foot stool. Never use chairs or furniture as a ladder.
3. Keep equipment in good repair, use it correctly.
4. Never use electrical appliances while standing on a wet floor or handle electrical connections or appliances with wet hands.

Prevent burns by having a firm table top on which to set hot pans. Handle not water carefully. Keep matches out of reach of children. Keep pot holders near the stove as well as salt and soda to extinguish grease fires. Keep medications for burns handy.

Turn handles of cooking utensils away from the edge of the stove, especially if there are young children around.

Mop up spilled food or water. Pick up toys, skates or other items on the floor. Many accidents happen because of disorder.

Use moist cotton to pick up particles of broken glass. Treat cuts immediately.

Use kitchen knives that have a

Glenn L. Martin is the builder of the Viking rocket which holds the world altitude record of 158 miles for a single-stage rocket.

The General Electric Co., the department said, will supply the rocket motor which will be used in the first stage of pushing the earth satellite—which is expected to be about the size of a basketball—into outer space. The department said that other important parts of the launching vehicle will come from different industrial sources.

IT'S UP TO YOU
By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

All Communists live and work in an atmosphere of fear. The higher one is in the party echelons, the greater the distrust, uneasiness and fear.

The Politburo members are afraid of one another and of their subordinates. The party people distrust the Red Army. The Army is afraid of the police. The men in the Kremlin have spies and counter-spies checking on the Red Army, the party organization at home and abroad and on one another. They know they cannot trust their own secret agents and they have other agents checking on them. No one can fully trust any other one. Only Stalin seemed safe from possible betrayal. No other top or medium ranking bolshevik can be sure of his position or of his life from day to day.

Why is this? Because there is no moral law. There are no standards of honesty, integrity — of right and wrong. There is no God and hence no laws of God by which mortals may live. There are no Ten Commandments. Nothing but brute force and the desire to satisfy one's ambitions.

When men are not impelled by loyalty to God to be honest, truthful, and to refrain from murdering, stealing and coveting, there is no basis on which they can trust one another.

The laws of God as set forth in the Ten Commandments are the only means men have of developing an orderly, peaceable society in which men may work and play in confidence and trust one another. They are the only means of banishing fear, hatred, suspicion and death.

Men must learn to obey God or die. It is just that simple.

NEA Staff Correspondent

DENVER — (NEA) — There has been an interesting regressive revolution in aviation.

Remember how those pioneer pilots used to claim that they flew "by the seat of their pants?"

The seat of the pants has returned as the most vital, omnipresent factor in flying in a jet, as any Air Force "hot pipe" jockey will readily confirm.

This unpremeditated rear-end research project began when I ran into my friend, Lt. Col. Bob Clark, recently in Reno, Nev., and mentioned that I was in a hurry to get to Denver next morning.

He said he had to ferry a T-33 jet trainer back to his home base at Scott Field, Ill., and that I was welcome to ride in the back seat. He had to refuel at Lowery Air Force Base at Denver, anyway.

That is, if I had the necessary Pentagon papers and had taken the special high-altitude physical exam required of all Air Force jet passengers, he qualified.

I TOLD HIM I HAD the papers and had taken the exam several months ago for a jet trip which never came off.

In light of the flight that physical exam turns out to be a big joke.

The laugh, of course, is the fact that they completely ignored that part of my anatomy which suffered the greatest strain from the fast, two-hour ride. Unless they silently approved it from the obvious natural padding it sports.

Parachutes are made out of nylon and when nylon is packed tightly it's hard. Harder than concrete or diamonds, as a matter of fact.

It took Bob and a mechanic about a half-hour to strap me in, brief me on the various jobs a passenger in a T-33 must perform for the flight, and then to check the fuel tanks, the instruments and go through take-off procedure.

JUST BEFORE WE GOT READY to whisk down the long runway into that old wild blue yonder Bob told me through the intercom to push the button on the lower left side of the cockpit which locks the shoulder harness.

I obeyed with all the swift precision of a trained airman. But then a few experimental squirms told me just what I'd done. I'd reduced my total bodily squirm-range to about one eighth of an inch. Only my legs, arms and head were movable.

At that moment I first became aware of the hard fact that there wasn't the remotest resemblance between packed nylon and foam rubber.

Aside from what it does to your posterior, jet flying is everything they say it is. Smooth, quiet. You don't hear anything except the pilot's conversation through the intercom. The vast, free view through the plexiglass canopy is breathtaking.

THE SENSE OF SPEED on landing and take-off is exhilarating. Actually, the excitement of the whole thing is so intense you're only conscious of your seating situation one-quarter of the time.

And during one of these periods after about an hour out I thought I had the problem licked by sticking one leg far to the right and tightening up a muscle in my left hindquarters. I figured I'd come up with a new development which was pinching off a nerve because the ache was suddenly gone.

When I reported this to Bob he replied: "Notice that lake about 40 miles in front of us. When we're over that you'll find your development is obsolete."

He was so right.

French M. Robertson, above, is new president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. He succeeds Harry W. Bass, Dallas, independent producer and drilling contractor. ### OES Grand Esther Honored

Mrs. F. L. Yates

By Mrs. Lorraine Murdock

If anyone could be found in our little hometown of Stratford asking, "Hoss and Robbie Who?", all the folks around him would smile and know that "Surely, this man is a stranger from very far away."

Stratford Chapter Number 960, Order of Eastern Star, selected September 27 as the day to pay special tribute to the very gracious lady of this mentioned couple, and to tell of their gratitude to Hoss, for he has so unselfishly made it possible for Stratford to be represented in the Grand Chapter of Texas.

There were 69 members, 36 visitors, and two special guests present at Robbie Yates night. As the guests arrived and signed the guestbook, they were reminded that Sister Robbie had chosen red and gold for her colors, for they received their programs inside miniature gold crowns trimmed with red sequins and glitter and topped with a small ribboned scepter.

As the program began, all the lights in the hall gradually dimmed except the light spotlighting Robbie. From a secret spot, Mrs. Van Boston narrated the story of Robbie's Eastern Star life and activities in the program style of "This Is Your Life." As we all know, Robbie's beauty is rivaled only by her inner beauty and love. The Worthy Matron, Amolee pote for the home chapter and Mary Lou McDaniel sang "Others", the hymn chosen by Robbie as her closing song of the year she was Worthy Matron of the Stratford chapter.

Talks for the good of the order were opened by Russell Beall, Worthy Patron. Robbie then thanked the chapter for the program given in her honor.

Refreshments followed the closing march and were served from a gold metallic and white net covered table. The cloth was ruffled and ribboned and extended to the floor. A bouquet of roses, resembling very much a medallion in French lace, was backed with gold sprayed fern and bordered with lighted gold candles. This bouquet was also a personal gift to Robbie. The chapter used its new crystal to serve the guests sandwiches. Punch and little white cakes topped with red roses. Gladys Vincent, Robbie's sister-in-law from Texhoma and Pearl Mullins poured.

There were 19 Past Worthy Matrons, 6 Past Worthy Patrons and two present Worthy Matrons present. The other visitors were from Sunray, Texhoma, Gruver, Spearman, Guyton, Dumas, Junction City, Kansas, and Amarillo. The end of the memorable evening came with the taking of the family pictures. Another distinguished member of this family is Macy Whitson of Texhoma who is District Deputy Matron of the Grand Chapter of Oklahoma.

Mrs. McMann planned the program.

Baby Shower Is Given For Mrs. Irlbeck

The ranch home of Mrs. C. T. Pounds was the setting for a prettily planned baby shower Wednesday of last week honoring Mrs. Ted Irlbeck. Serving as hostesses with Mrs. Pounds were Mrs. Earl Kirkwood and Mrs. Philip Blanck.

The serving table was laid with a lace cloth over pale blue and the centerpiece was composed of teddy bears and baby rattlers. Miniature cradles, each holding a baby made of a marshmallow, were the favors.

The honoree was presented with a corsage made of a tiny telephone, tied with pastel ribbons.

Attending or sending gifts were Mrs. Norval Davis, Mrs. Donald Borth, Mrs. Tim Crossfield, and daughter, Dorothy. Mrs. Vern Reynolds, Mrs. Harry Reynolds, Mrs. Roy Davis, Mrs. Ernest Palmer, Mrs. Floyd Brannan, Mrs. W. F. Batson, Mrs. Swift Ingram, Mrs. Clifford Felton, Mrs. J. E. Crabtree, Mrs. E. L. Stone, Mrs. Jesse Davis and Mrs. Elmer Heiskell.

Mrs. Taylor Is Honoree At Cradle Shower

A cradle shower honoring Mrs. Joe Pete Taylor of Kerrick was given Sept. 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Fred McDaniel. Mrs. Russell Hutchison and Mrs. Minnie McDaniel were cohostesses.

The table cloth of the serving table was of pink lace, a pink musical "Rock-A-Bye" baby cradle, with pink roses sheltered by a net canopy, centered the table. Silver appointments were used.

Favors were taken from a "Baby Tree" on which tiny babies, tiny bottles and very small birth certificates were blooming. A miniature "Franny Hanging the Wash" scene was on the coffee table. It showed the mother, one child in a buggy, another in a playpen, a washing machine full, a basket, and a loaded double line of tiny diapers.

The most enjoyed game of the evening was the guessing of who 42 baby pictures were that the hostesses had gathered and placed on large, white cardboard sheets. The pictures were of most of the guests present and Mrs. Taylor's family pictures.

There were 28 guests present with many other friends, unable to attend, sending gifts.

Plans were made to make candles for Christmas sale and an orchestra for the chapters annual Valentine's Charity Ball was voted upon.

Ollie Massie presented a very fine program on absolute music, which proved to be both entertaining and instructive to the members, particularly in listening to symphonies and sonatas.

Mrs. Massie played recorded symphonies, pointing out each movement and the theme, as they were being played.

The hostess served lovely refreshments to Corrine Eller, Helen Buckles, Ollie Massie, Geneva Wisdom, Gerre Hell, Jonnie Vincent, Bobby Cummings, Zola Brannan, Ann Rider, Dorless Wells and Mrs. Earl Riffe, social sponsor.

FHA Improves Credit Services

In connection with improving credit services to farmers, Farmers Home Administration officials have been urged to further increase participation of private lenders in the FHA Insured Lending program.

That is the word received by Delton M. Costlow, FHA supervisor for Sherman, Hartley and Dalhart counties with headquarters at Fourth and Denrock in Dalhart. The announcement came from Walter T. McKay, Texas director of FHA. He and other FHA officials last week in St. Louis attended a meeting to study ways to better the agency's operations.

Funds advanced by private lenders and insured by FHA, plus funds appropriated by Congress, are used by farmers to buy, develop and operate family-type farms, Costlow said.

Expansion of agricultural activities the past two years, he added, make it vital for FHA to keep its operations at top efficiency and promptly process every loan application.

FHA farm loans last year reached a record $293,190,000 for the U. S. Texas' total was $47,480,000.

Main reason for increased credit activity, Costlow said, is "the increased cost of developing farming systems that will make full use of a farm family's land and labor resources and provide a good income; plus emergency conditions brought on by the drought.

Expert Offering Method To Avoid Farm Accidents

W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer at College Station, believes farm families can reduce accidents greatly if they'll answer this simple question:

Can I possibly get hurt doing the job this way?

If the answer is yes, Ulich said, you better change the method of doing the job, or at least be more careful and alert than usual.

Auto-tractor wrecks increase in the fall, Ulich warned. Tractors are used to pulled trailers loaded with farm products on highways.

Precautions: Make sure others can see your tractor. Use flags in daylight, proper lights at night. Check brakes and steering mechanism. Be sure you can see behind you, as well as in front and to both sides.

Ulich says rear-end collisions account for 36 per cent of automobile-tractor accidents, and that for every auto driver killed in such accidents, 14 tractor-drivers are killed.

Cattle Grubs Rob Texas Of Several Million Dollars

Cattle grubs in Texas take several million dollars annually from livestock income in the form of damaged hides, lowered meat quality and reduced dairy production.

This is the statement of F. M. Fuller, extension entomologist at College Station, who continues: "The grubs during the fall months appear as lumps under the hide in the back's of dairy and beef animals and are easier to kill at this stage than any other in their life cycle. Rotenone used as a spray, dip or dust is very effective control. Seven and one-half pounds of derris or cube powder containing five percent rotenone to 100 gallons of water makes a good spray solution. The material should be applied with a power sprayer with 200 pounds pressure.

Ten pounds of wettable sulphur should be added to the above solution if a dip is preferred. As the animals go through the dip, their backs should be scrubbed to assure a thorough penetration of the insecticide and to knock the scabs from the holes made by the grubs. A long-handled brush with relatively stiff bristles is recommended.

A dust can be made from one pound of derris or cube powder containing five percent rotenone and two pounds of a heavy non-alkaline dust such as talc, tripoli earth or pyrophyllite.

Ready prepared dust should contain at least 1.67 percent rotenone. About three ounces of the dust should be rubbed into the back of each animal treated.

Regardless of whether a dust, dip or spray is used, applications should be made at 30 day intervals as long as grubs continue to appear.

Don't Neglect Stomach Ailment

AUSTIN—If you have persistent digestive disorders, see your family doctor.

That's the advice of Dr. Henry A. Holle, Texas commissioner of health at Austin.

Said he: "Your indigestion may be caused by nothing more than irregular habits of eating and drinking. Or it may be caused by nervousness or emotional tensions.

"On the other hand it may be a warning symptom of disease starting in the heart, kidneys, liver, gallbladder, appendix or other organs. It can even be a warning of ulcer or cancer."

Dr. Holle warned that digestive disorders rank second only to the respiratory diseases — primarily colds and influenza — as leading cause of time lost from work.

MONORAIL BEING INTRODUCED TO U.S.—Jerrie Dell Davis, 9, uses a bottle of milk to "launch" a model of a monorail car planned for Houston, Tex. Designed for mass transportation, the car will run suspended from a single rail 20 feet above the ground, carrying 51 passengers at an average speed of 60 m.p.h. Track will be supported by a system of slender towers. An 830-foot test line, first such line in the United States, is being built in Houston by Monorail, Inc., to demonstrate the idea, which is supposed to cope successfully with heavy metropolitan traffic. Wuppertal, Germany, has had a monorail system in operation for over 50 years. It has been used there by 850 million persons without a single fatality, according to Monorail. The company estimates cost of the transportation system will be $500,000 a mile, which compares with the four to six-million-dollar cost for each mile of a freeway highway.

This man never intended to be a highway hazard. But he's so intent on getting his family home, he hasn't noticed sleep closing in on him. Too bad! Food And Its Daily Function

Food can do more than just keep you alive. The right food daily can give you better health, greater vitality and improve your appearance, according to Lucile King, county home demonstration agent.

It can even help you stay young longer. An individual who is well fed from babyhood on is more likely to enjoy a long prime of life. At any age, however, proper diet means better living.

Food has three main jobs; to provide fuel for the body's heat and energy, supply materials for growth and upkeep of the body, and provide regulators that enable the body to use other materials and run smoothly. Not any one or any few foods will accomplish all these jobs. It's the daily selection and balance that counts.

There is some fuel, measured as calories, in all food. Main fuel foods are starches, sugars and fats. Many people eat too many calorie-rich foods and become overweight.

Foods which promote growth and provide materials for repair and upkeep are mainly the proteins and minerals. Children must have these foods in sufficient amounts for adequate growth. Adults need these foods for body upkeep.

Many chemical processes are going on within the body constantly. Proper regulation and control of these depend on the availability of a variety of substances. Pro-

"A Man Among Men"

By KENNETH HOGUE

Occasionally a man appears upon the scene, lives, grows and builds until he attains a position of great esteem among men. And not only in the esteem of the homefolks but also among all who know him. Such a man was L. M. Price. L. M. was a big man — a man among men.

The Grand Old Banker has gone on to a better land. He will be greatly missed, however, his influence will continue for many years. I met him several times and talked with him at some length altho I did not know him as intimately as you probably knew him. My picture of the man has been gleaned from the host of friends who were helped by him during the dark, dusty days of the 1930's.

It isn't easy to be a banker. Sometimes he has to say "no" when it hurts to do so. He stands as a balance wheel between the deposit holder who trusts him and the borrower who needs him. His decisions are often difficult. But during the 1930's L. M. Price held steadfast in his faith in the Panhandle plains — held fast to the firm conviction that the Panhandle would bounce back from the dark days. He not only did what he could thru the Bank to help his friends and customers but he dug deeply into his personal fortune to back up his convictions and to help his friends and neighbors. This I know — for I have talked with many who weathered the storm and have unashamedly given the Grand Old Banker of Sherman County credit for having kept them on the High Plains.

L. M. Price was a much bigger man in banking circles than most of us realized. The banking institution which he helped to build in Stratford is one of unique strength and customer territory. L. M. had great compassion for his fellow man — he was a great booster for Stratford, Sherman County and the High Plains country. He was a man among men.

Mau Mau African Terrorist War Likened To US Indian Fighting

By ROBERT MUSEL

NAIROBI, Kenya — UP — My dinner date, Val Woodman, who used to lecture for the polio fund in New York, showed up with a pistol strapped to her waist and I wittily assured her Americans were not that dangerous.

"I know," she said, "but the Mau Mau are. My house is pretty isolated and they told me I would feel better with a gun and a watchdog."

Three years to the month that the Mau Mau terrorist society forced this crown colony into a state of emergency you still see residents, like Miss Woodman, strolling along the street with a pistol swinging from the hip.

War Continues

You can still see an uncommon number of army officers, armed guards, barbed wire. The war against Mau Mau is still going on with its daily communique of captures and casualties. And no one can predict when it will end for it is a struggle that may well move from the violent to the political stage and be just as dangerous to retain vital.

Three years is a long time for a state of emergency and no one can blame people far from Africa for forgetting what it was all about at the beginning. But the casualty lists add up to staggering figures. Dead—More than 20,000. Wounded—a few hundred. Imprisoned or detained—80,000. The dead include 35 murdered Europeans, some of them were mutilated and tortured, 10,000 Mau Mau killed by the "loyalist" side, thousands of Kikuyu murdered by Mau Mau executioners, 2,000 native security police and loyalist Kikuyu fighters.

All those killed and only a few hundred wounded? War veterans will be surprised at this reversal of the usual casualty pattern, of the fighting in these forests is most of no-quarter.

Like Indian Wars

The forest fighting is reminiscent of the American Indian wars, the Aberdare Mountain thickets are almost impassable. A special agent told me the Kikuyu can "smell" foreigners animal like in the forests and ambush them or disappear as they desire.

The long struggle has drained Kenya's resources and the colony is tightening its belt for many more months of military expenditure.

Mau Mau has been beaten down but it has not abandoned the fight. Guns and rifles are still being "lost" at a rate which cancels out the number of weapons recovered.

But the long-range situation is not hopeless. Mau Mau members are being "de-oathed" or cleansed by witch doctors. There are 'confessionals' called "barazas" at which Mau Mau and sympathizers disclosed misdeeds committed or known about.

Range And Crop Outlook In Texas

AUSTIN —UP— Range grass is making good growth in South Texas as areas where torrential rains last month eased the drought, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday.

However, a belt of south central counties—stretching roughly from Austin to Del Rio—urgently needed rain to bring on fall grass.

The range picture was brighter in the west and northwest where heavy to torrential rains fell a week ago.

Additional rains over the last weekend virtually assured farmers and ranchers in the low rolling plains, cross timbers, some northern plateau and High Plains counties of good winter feed. Their major threat lay in an early frost, the USDA said in its weekly crop and weather bulletin.

Sorghum Provides Feed— Meantime, sorghum stubble and fields which failed to make grain were supplying considerable feed in the northwest.

Early dusted-in wheat acreage was coming up to uniform stands, the USDA said.

Harvest of feed crops came to a halt in much of the northwest, but cutting of bundle feed, silage and combining of grain sorghums resumed in dryland areas as fields dried.

Too Wet for Pickers— Rains kept cotton crews out of the fields until the middle of last week, interrupting the harvest in the low rolling plains and cross timbers. Grades of open cotton were lowered and some low spots were washed out. The harvest was gaining momentum in the trans Pecos and "excellent" yields were reported.

Some fields of commercial vegetables were being cultivated in the western half of the Lower Valley and planting of additional acreages was fairly active. However, many fields in the eastern half of the Valley and in the Raymondville area were still too wet to work.

Conditions were favorable at Laredo. In the Winter Garden area, a few fields of spinach were lost from the overflow of streams but cauliflower, eggplant, peppers and tomatoes were not hurt, the USDA said.

Gilbert Obituary
After a prolonged illness, Mrs. Jessie Mae Loomis Gilbert passed away at her home in southern Sherman county on Sept. 21, 1955 at the age of 75 years, five days.

Rev. M. E. Upchurch, pastor, officiated at the funeral services held Friday afternoon, Sept. 23, 1955, in the First Baptist church, Stratford.

Interment was in the Stratford cemetery under the direction of Wilson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Gilbert was born Sept. 16, 1880 to Mr. and Mrs. George Loomis on her father's claim where now stands the city of Osage, Io.

At the age of two, she moved with her family to Hutchinson, Kans., where she lived until April 1890 when the family moved to Coldwater, Tex. In 1906, she moved with her family to Stratford. In early womanhood, she kept the court records for Sherman county. She reared a nephew, Harold Youngblood, who now lives in San Angelo, Tex.

While living in Coldwater, she became affiliated with the Baptist church and at the time of her death she was a member of the First Baptist church in Stratford.

On July, 15, 1917 she was married to Cline Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert moved to the southern part of Sherman county Sept. 6, 1917 and had continued to make their home there since that time.

Mrs. Gilbert had resided continuously in Sherman county longer than any other person.

Mrs. Gilbert is survived by her husband, Cline Gilbert; a daughter Mrs. Clay Spurlock, Sunray; two granddaughters, three nieces, two nephews and a particularly dear grand niece, Mrs. R. M. McLaughlin, San Angelo; as well as other grand-nieces and nephews.

Better Control Of Cancer Aim Of Volunteers
Leading volunteers — both laymen and doctors — met Wednesday in Pampa to work out improved procedures for community cancer control and public education.

Leonard M. Gunderson, Panhandle district director of the cancer control and education program with headquarters in Amarillo, emphasized that "cancer control is not effective unless the people in our communities know the facts of cancer and what to do about them."

He said a third of the 233 people who died of cancer in 20 Texas Panhandle counties last year could have been saved if they had recognized cancer's danger signals and had sought prompt and adequate medical treatment.

Sherman county had five cancer deaths last year, he said, Dallam 9, Moore 7, and Hartley one.

This mechanical reproduction of a Brontosaurus stands in Dinosaur Park, South Dakota. It is exact in detail to the animals that once inhabited some of our Western States. Scientists have been able to study fossil remains and reconstruct these mammoth, hundred foot long, reptiles in detail. The people who did this are true scientists. They have proved many truths of the Holy Bible by their research. True science takes nothing for granted and its final discoveries are always right. The Bible also is right. It points to the right way to live.

The Church is an aid and an interpreter of the right way of life. Instead of being a hindrance to modern science it cooperates. Science discovers and gives us the laws of the Universe and the Church gives us the rules and guides by which we may live in harmony with those laws. There is a church that will prove a valuable aid to everyone. If you have not already done so find the church best suited to serve you.

Sun Works For Phone Sytem

AMERICUS, Ga. —UP— An engineer flipped a switch here Tuesday and turned the energy of the sun into the operation of a telephone system.

This was man's newest victory in his efforts to tap the inexhaustible source of all the energy at his disposal and put it to use turning the wheels of his industries.

By the time the morning sun had risen over this town 135 miles south of Atlanta, Bell telephone engineers had completed installation of a square frame-like thing atop a power pole. The gadget, resembling from the front a big coin slot card, was a solar battery.

The battery, first successful device for converting the sun's energy efficiently into electricity, contains 432 silicon cells. Each of the cells converts as much as 11 per cent of the energy it receives from the sun directly into electricity.

It operates on a very small amount of light—a candle or a flashlight will set the silicon cells to making power.

On Friday, Oct. 14, President Eisenhower will be 65 years old. He will spend that milestone day in Fitzsimons General Hospital in Denver.

There he is fighting the damage done by the heart attack that struck him five days ago.

The prayers of all America have helped in that valiant fight. Prayers still are needed.

Needed, too, are tangible things. Like birthday greetings that traditionally carry the message of fellowship and good wishes from friend to friend.

And birthday gifts that tell your friend you think enough of him to do a little something extra.

Here's a way all of us can do these things. Clip out this little birthday greeting.

Put it in an envelope addressed to:

GET WELL, IKE
HEART
DENVER, COLO.

Enclose a $1 bill. After the President receives your greeting, the Denver headquarters of the American Heart Assn. will separate the money and will add it to the Heart Fund which is financing research designed to beat the type of illness that hit the President. As friend to friend, mail your greeting today.

Our Opportunity To Help Beat Top U.S. Killer—Heart Disease

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Editorial Analyst

MANY years before he became president, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt was stricken and became the nation's most famous polio victim.

Its crippling effects plagued him the rest of his life, most cruelly in his final, falling months. But because the spotlight shone so brightly on him as a national figure, thousands of other polio victims benefited.

He dramatized the ailment. With the organization of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the Warm Springs Foundation Americans found outlets through which they could express their concern. Well-publicized fund drives focused on Mr. Roosevelt's birthday, fattened the coffers for antipolio research.

The painstaking effort that went into development and preparation of the celebrated Salk vaccine, with its promise of protection for millions, is a direct outgrowth of the interest thus generated.

CONCEIVABLY, the same sort of thing might happen in the field of heart disease, now that Americans have seen their tremendously popular President, Dwight Eisenhower, laid low by this all too common affliction.

Polio is an occasional killer, oftentimes, a crippler, but altogether nothing like the menace of heart disease. In 1954 more than half of all the deaths in America were caused by heart and circulatory ailments.

As the President's case seems to suggest, present knowledge and wise care are sufficient today to offer the hope of full or nearly full recovery to countless of the afflicted. But the death toll nevertheless goes on, and much vital work needs to be done.

Oddly, this No. 1 killer is not being combated with the volume of funds available to the polio researchers. Hopeful lines of inquiry are being cast out, but unless more money comes in they cannot be pursued with full vigor.

No one can say with certainty that men of imagination and orgaand ammeter gauges are located and the oil pressure and temperature are on the right.

The instrument dial faces are painted a dark gun-metal gray color with white lettering, providing visibility under all conditions. Non-glare lighting illuminates the dials for night driving.

The instrument panel has been given a two-tone color treatment. The top surface is painted with a semi-gloss coating which reduces glare. A brow over the instruments prevents windshield reflections.

New body, structural and mechanical improvements include power brakes, safety door latches, 12-volt electrical system, power tip spark plugs, headlights and pull-type door handles.

The safety door latch has been introduced with Dodge's exclusive self-tightening rotors. It minimizes the possibility of doors opening under impact, they said.

A completely new type of 12-volt electrical system has been developed.

New power brakes available for all Dodge cars equipped with PowerFlite, give faster and easier response and easier action. New in design, the vacuum-operated power unit supplies a power assist to the brake pedal linkage in the ratio of 2.5 times the brake pedal mechanical advantage.

Re-designing of the lower beam of the sealed beam headlights has provided an extended zone of light at the right side of the vehicle path. As much as 80 feet more "seeing distance" is provided, they related.

A cap over the lower beam filament cuts off the rays of light that tend to escape upward, reducing the reflected glare-back from particles of moisture or solids in the air.

Quail Hunting May Be Better

Texas hunters—including those in the Texas Panhandle—should be able to notice gains in the quail population, due mostly to favorable weather and/or to public interest in habitat improvement.

The Texas Game Commission added that it is encouraging its wardens to consult with sportsmen's groups and landowners on restoration or improvement of quail habitat.

nizing talent will now appear to dramatize the President's illness for the benefit of millions of heart sufferers. It could happen.

But whether or not it does, the average American who is deeply moved by Mr. Eisenhower's misfortune need not wait for the "March of Quarters," or whatever some enterprising men might decide to call a great push for heart research.

The ball has already been started rolling by a number of newspapers over the country. They've called for an outpouring of generosity on the President's birthday, Oct. 14. They suggest that "get well" cards be sent to Denver with donations to the fund of the American Heart Association enclosed.

RELIEF FOR POLIO VICTIMS—For the first time, air conditioning comes to the aid of iron lung patients in this one, developed by the University of Illinois Research Hospital in Chicago. Demonstrating the unit are Dr. Janet Wolter, acting as the patient; William Croft, left, air conditioning company executive, and Tooru Inouye, kneeling, who conceived and directed the development.
