EDUCATION IN SOCIALISM - COMMUNISM

Many people are not aware of the fact that all the Communist leaders, from Karl Marx to Bulganin, have declared that Socialism must be established as the first step into Communism. They have so declared repeatedly in their official textbooks, and they have followed up these declarations with Socialist action. The Communists have worked for Socialism in every country which they have infiltrated or have taken over. In fact Marxian Socialism (not Communism) exists everywhere the Reds hold power. We call it Communism, but the economic system employed is only the first phase of Communism — which is Socialism. This fact and others on the interrelationship of Communism and Socialism are dramatized in the fifth film of "The American Adventure" educational series just produced by the National Education Program for the schools of America, for TV and other uses. The fifth film is entitled "A Look at Socialism." The interrelationship of the two major Left Wing movements is established out of their own literature and through the activities of the Socialist and Communist movements during the last 100 years. The film on Socialism shows England's Socialist-Labor Party and the record of its administration in England from 1945 until October, 1951, to illustrate both the theory and the reality of Socialism. The Socialist-Labor Party's platform is almost identical, plank for plank, with the platform published on Page 145 of the Manifesto of the Communist Party (Special Centennial Edition, George Allen and Unwin, Ltd., London). The Socialist-Labor Party said, in its centennial edition of the Manifesto: "To mark the centenary of its first publication in 1884, the Labour Party issued this important special edition of the Communist Manifesto. The Labour Party regards this statement of Marx and Engels as one of the great historical documents in socialist history, which has had an immense influence on socialism as it is expressed today in so many countries of the world."

The film on Socialism shows that at the very heart of the Socialist promise, "we'll make a paradise for the workers" — it has miserably failed. It shows that the living standard of the Socialized English man is about one-third as high as that of the American living under capitalism. In the sixth film, "A Look at Communism," the Russian dreamland of "a paradise for the worker" is closely examined. Socialism has progressed in Russia to the inevitable enslavement of the entire citizenry in a brutal dictatorship. This sixth film, noting the interrelationship of Communism and Socialism, examines the difference. The difference is in theory. The film takes up one by one the three basic elements in the Communist philosophy: (1) dialectical materialism; (2) economic determinism; and (3) atheism. It is

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

This Congressional session can be expected to extensively debate rash of bank mergers sweeping the nation.

Drive to stop mergers will be renewed under bipartisan leadership. On GOP side, Sen. Homer Capehart will continue to push for his bill that failed of passage last session. In House, where identical bill was introduced, Rep. Emanuel Celler is spearheading drive.

In 1952 there were 100 bank mergers, in 1953, 116, in 1954, 207 and Federal Reserve Board chairman estimates 240 in 1955.

Today over 50% of nation's banking resources are controlled by 100 banks. In New York City, alone, nation's biggest financial center, four banking groups now control over 60% of all commercial banking assets.

Unwholesome essence of situation is perhaps best expressed by Rep. Albert Rains who says, "The independent home bank is the key member of the community, not the anonymous agent and disinterested financial institution that gets too big to be personal, or an integral part of community life."

But beyond this ably expressed fact, many observers of situation express belief monopoly banking promotes inflation. FHA and VA home loans perhaps meet a need, yet there is a great deal of question as to whether home prices would have ever pushed up to present levels if it were not for fact that a few huge banking concerns, plus two or three big insurance firms, find it to their advantage to keep home mortgage volume at high rate regardless of values.

Obviously, government cannot withdraw these programs of mortgage guarantees. Yet serious thought is being given to fact that situation may be somewhat out of hand.

Federal Reserve Board has been trying to regulate matter through adjustment in interest rates, yet against this mild control is fact that 100 banks control over half nation's banking resources, and they thus control huge cash reserves which must be put out to work at interest.

Among Capehart banking bill supporters was Federal Reserve Board, Dept. of Justice, House and Senate Small Business Committees, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, National Federation of Independent Business.

Conceivably, unless Congress acts, in due time nation's banking resources could fall under control of 50 or fewer organizations to become even more powerful than U. S. government.

This could become dangerous to American traditions and concepts, for under the stresses and strains of even a temporary economic setback, it is easy to imagine through due legislative processes, the Congress of the United States being forced to nationalize the nation's banking structure.

There is safety in numbers. Thus, nation's banking structure depends on the existence of a large number of healthy, independent banks. The problem is serious.

The seventh film of the series, "A Look at Capitalism," recognizes that there is more than one kind of "capitalism." American capitalism is unique. The European form of cartel capitalism and other forms are noted. Then the film

 MINISTER, ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH

WALK IN NEWNESS OF LIFE

What better way of starting the New Year than to begin by walking in the new life the Lord, Jesus Christ, offers to all who will receive it of Him?

Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. (2 Cor. 5:17). Every man that has heard the gospel preached has the privilege of coming to Christ, bringing a life wasted by sin and shame, in repentance, and be made a new creature.

The Scriptures leave no doubt concerning our walk. Paul, in 1 Thes. 4:1 writes, Furthermore then we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you by the Lord Jesus, that as ye have received of us how ye ought to walk and to please God, so ye would abound more and more. Then in Ro. 6:4, Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. We are not to walk after the flesh. Therefore there is no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit (Ro. 8:1).

In Ro. 13:13, Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying. Paul exhorts us in Eph. 4:1 to walk worthy. I therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you that ye walk worthy of the vocation wherewith ye are called. We are called upon to walk as the children of light. (Eph. 5:8). Then we are to walk in love, as Christ has loved us. (Eph. 5:2).

As Jesus was teaching the disciples in Pn. 13:35 By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another. Then again in Jn. 15:12, This is my commandment, that ye love one another as I have loved you.

But there are those that will refuse to walk in newness of life, to them, this word of warning found in Dan. 4:37 — and those that walk in pride he is able to abase.

For those that will walk in newness of life Isaiah tells us, "And thine ears shall hear a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walk ye in it, when ye turn to the right hand, and when ye turn to the left. (Is. 30:21). Micah asks us a very logical question concerning the requirements of the Lord. "He hath showed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth thee Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? (Mi. 6:8).

Pretty Mid-Winter Bride

Mrs. Teddy Eugene Reddick

A lovely mid-winter wedding took place Sunday afternoon at 3:00 at the First Baptist Church in Dalhart when Nancy Storey, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Storey, became the bride of Teddy Eugene Reddick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Reddick of Phillips. The Rev. W. R. Lawrence, pastor, officiated.

The bride's mother, the former Fay Pendleton, was a Stratford girl, the daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. E. G. Pendleton.

Baskets of white stock and white tapers burning in candelabra decorated the altar. White satin bows were attached to the pew ends along the bridal aisle.

Mrs. O. B. Phillips, organist, and Miss Janice Lawrence, soloist, presented the program of nuptial music. As a prelude Mrs. Phillips rendered "Clair De Lune," "Liebestraum" and "O Promise Me." She played Lohengrin's Wedding March" as the processional and "Mendelssohn's Wedding March" as the recessional. Miss Lawrence sang "At Dawning," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDE WEARS EMBROIDERED NET

Given in marriage by her uncle, O. H. Finch, Sr., the bride wore a gown of white net over satin. It was designed with a redingote having long fitted sleeves ending in petal points over the hands and a high neckline with small collar. Flowerets were embroidered on both the skirt and redingote. The veil of silk illusion was held by a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms.

The bride carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid.

Mrs. Lynn Hill, the former Jeanne Montgomery, was the bride's matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a princess styled dress of pale green crystalline with matching mitts and a flower headdress. Her cascade bouquet was of white carnations. James Reddick served his brother as best man. The ushers were Allen Greer, Jimmy Gray, Jack Germany and Wayne Tedder of Phillips.

Mrs. Storey, mother of the bride, wore a light blue suit with navy accessories and a shoulder bouquet of pink-carnations.

Mrs. Reddick, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a black velvet suit with black accessories. Her corsage was also of pink carnations.

Legislators May Have Made Boner

AUSTIN —UP— A legislative bobbie may necessitate a second statewide election in November, it was revealed Wednesday.

Lawmakers contemplated submitting nine proposed constitutional amendments to the voters

Jan. 19, 26, Feb. 2, 9, 16, 23, 1956

at the general election on the first Tuesday in November.

Eight specified that date. One—expanding state aid to embrace persons over 18 totally disabled because of a physical or mental handicap—was enacted specifying the second Tuesday in November.

Secretary of State Tom Reavley said he was "looking into the matter."

Special statewide elections are costly.

The last such legislative boner, pulled in 1946 when lawmakers submitted the original proposal financing the veterans land program, cost the taxpayers an esti-

Texan Wonders What Happens To Reckless Motorists In Russia

NOTE TO READERS: Congressman Walter Rogers of Tampa — representing this 18th Texas district — in this article discuss the interesting angle of reckless Russian automobile drivers, and what happens to them.

By WALTER ROGERS
An interesting incident happened while we were being driven from the airport at Kiev to the hotel. In all the Russian cities the automobiles go hurtling down the street at breakneck speeds and the drivers are not seemingly interested in the fate of pedestrians. However, we were told on several occasions that if a driver hit a pedestrian it was a pretty serious offense. My obser-we missed him by less than 1000th of an inch. All of us were very thankful that an accident had been avoided and thought that the matter was ended.

However, when we drove up to the hotel, another car drove up occupied by the pedestrian and another fellow. They talked at length with the driver of our car and all left together. Our group had been riding in three cars and, usually, the same drivers stayed with us all the time we were in one city. The next morning after this incident, our former driver had been replaced by a new one. We asked the interpreters and some of the officials what had happened to the other driver. They merely shrugged their shoulders and said he was probably driving for someone else. However, we pressed the issue several times after that and never did receive a satisfactory answer. We never did see the driver again, although the other two drivers and the substitute driver who was assigned to us remained with us all the time we were in Kiev.

THE FREE MARKET IN RUSSIA

The last vestige of free enterprise in the USSR is a market place called the free market. It is very similar in appearance to our farmers markets or public markets. The products sold at these places are mostly agricultural. We were told that when the members of a collective farm made more than their "norm", the surplus was divided among the members who could sell their share or use it as they pleased, or on the other hand, the entire surplus might be sold by the group and the proceeds divided. Stalls for displaying merchandise for sale can be rented by an individual or by a group, such as a collective farm group. There is no set price on these products, as is the case concerning all other items in the USSR. The products can be sold in the free market for whatever the customer is willing to pay. We saw milk being sold at one stall for seventy-five cents a quart and at another stall for a dollar a quart. There was some Russian writing which I assume meant that the quality of the dollar milk was better than that of the seventy-five cent milk. There were fish stalls, meat stalls, flower stalls, fresh vegetable stalls, milk and cheese stalls and so forth. Meat was being sold for $1.75 a pound at one stall and for $2.00 just a few steps away. Suckling pigs are considered a delicacy in Russia. Since the members of a collective farm group raise some livestock of their own, there were a lot of these suckling pigs for sale at the free market. They were very small, about a foot long, and were stacked up on the floor like cord wood. Some had been shaved and looked very dirty, while others had been scalded and were a pinkish color. The meat for sale is in huge hunks and the attendant cuts off whatever part you want. In order to meet the sanitary requirements, he must present his meat for inspection and then rent a white apron and a pair of white sleeves before he can sell the meat. After this ritual, it appears that the health requirements are completely relaxed. Meat is sold in the open and nothing to pro-

Poll Taxes Lag Far Behind Last Big Election

Only 711 1955 poll taxes had been paid in Sherman county up to Wednesday, Jan. 25, according to records kept by John Kidwell, deputy tax assessor and collector.

Poll taxes totalled 1,012 in the last presidential election year. People voted in 1952 on poll taxes paid between Oct. 1, 1951 and Jan. 31, 1952.

There were only 797 paid poll taxes in 1954 and 908 in 1953.

All residents of Texas between 21 and 60 must pay a 1955 poll tax to vote in any 1956 election, become 21 before Nov. 6, 1956 must apply for an exemption at the court house. Anyone who became 60 before Jan. 1, 1955 are exempt from poll taxes.

Poll tax deadline is Jan. 31 at 5 p.m.

Over 6 Per Cent School Taxes Remain Unpaid

A total of 93.3 per cent of 1955 Stratford Independent School District taxes had been collected up to Tuesday, Jan. 24, according to a report from Hollis Harrington, school tax assessor and collector.

With an additional $18,000 on the roll over 1954, $199,512 of the $213,717-roll in 1955 is in the till.

Ninety-five per cent of 1954 taxes were collected up to the end of Jan., 1955.

Mr. Harrington reminded tax payers that school taxes may be paid through Jan. 31, 1956 without penalty. All taxes paid after that date will carry a penalty and interest.

Do This Yourself to Cut Your Garden Budget

No. 1—Sow seed thinly in shallow drills. No. 2—Cover lightly with sifted, porous soil. No. 3—When leaves develop, transplant seedlings to second flat No. 4—When plants are ready, move them into pots.

Have you ever wondered how florists grow those stocky pot plants of petunias, marigolds, and many other lovely annual flowers which they sell in the early spring?

Their methods require no skill which any amateur cannot duplicate. While there is better control of temperatures and light in greenhouses, plants can be started in the home and grown to transplanting size by following similar techniques.

There is no better way to acquire a green thumb than by starting seeds indoors. And the seedlings you grow will cost only a fraction of what you would pay for commercial plants.

First, seed is sown broadcast or in shallow drills (trenches) in a flat (shallow box) which has been filled with porous soil. This you can buy, or prepare by mixing one-third peat, one-third sharp builder's sand, and one-third of your best garden top soil, sifted.

Cover the seed lightly with the same soil, sifted through an ordinary kitchen sieve.

Firm the soil gently, soak it with water by standing in a tub, so the water soaks up from the bottom, and the seeds are not disturbed. Put in a dark, but well ventilated place until the seeds sprout, then bring it into all the light you can supply.

When the seedling plants have developed their first leaves, transplant them to another flat, spacing them two inches apart each way. At this early stage transplanting shock is at a minimum, and the tiny seedlings are easily lifted with roots intact using a pointed stick, or pocket-knife blade.

The roots are dropped into the prepared hole, and soil pressed against them in one second. When the flat is filled, return to its place in the sun—all the sun you can give it—until the seedlings have developed several pairs of leaves and are ready to be potted.

Potting is quickly done, placing each seedling in the pot and filling in soil around it, leaving space at the top for watering. Pots may be of clay, 2 to 4-inch, depending on the size of the plant wanted; or paper pots or plant bands may be used. Avoid using a pot so small that the plant will receive a check in growth before safe to move to the garden.

For automatic watering use a wick, for which a hole is bored in the bottom of the seed box. Fibre glass wicking can be purchased, but a six inch piece of clothes line will serve for one season. Draw the wick through the hole, shred the upper end and imbed it in the soil. The lower end drops into a pan of water below the box and as long as there is water in the pan the soil will be moist.

The degree of moisture can be controlled by varying the distance between the pan and the box. The closer the pan, the more moisture in the soil.

Smight may be supplemented by artificial light when necessary. Cool fluorescent lamps may be placed a foot above the box. A 40-watt tube in a reflector burned 15 hours a day is sufficient to grow healthy seedlings. Temperature varying between 60 degrees at night and 70 degrees by day should produce stocky, vigorous plants.

Damping off, which may kill seedling plants even before they emerge can be prevented by covering the soil before sowing with a half-inch layer of sphagnum moss, which has been passed through a sieve. Sow the seeds on this moss, and cover lightly with it. The moss is anti-biotic and prevents the growth of fungi.

Mrs. Steve Dugger of Dalhart visited the R. G. Gillises and the Gene Wilson this mid-week.

Mrs. India Washburn of Hardesty, Okla. is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Marvin Seaman, and family in Stratford this week.

Q—Are male nurses now eligible for commissions in the Army Nurses Corps?
A—Yes. Second Lt. Edward L. T. Lyon of Mineola, N.Y., recently became the first commissioned male nurse in the corps.

By
Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

Democracy is a popular word. The Communists claim to be democratic and apparently mean by the term "rule by the few in the interest of all." This is their claim but not their practice. In our country ministers, editors, commentators and politicians uphold democracy. We need a precise definition of this term.

The word democracy is a combination of two Greek words meaning power and people. Literally it is power in the people, or rule by the people, that is, by a majority of the people. The majority can do as it wishes with the minority. Voluntary restraint is the only brake.

In our country it is generally assumed that people will use this power with a certain restraint—the restraint imposed by the moral law. The latter gives a minority important rights which even the majority cannot violate.

The founding fathers declared that the Creator endowed all men with certain inalienable rights, among them life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. These were safeguarded by the Constitution including the Bill of Rights. A man's home cannot be entered or his property taken except by due process of law. He is entitled to trial by jury and is innocent until proved guilty. He cannot be forced to testify against himself. He is entitled to the protection of habeas corpus. He may speak, write, assemble and worship as he pleases as long as he does not injure others.

At times passion runs high and the majority can be a cruel scourge. But men cannot be deprived of these rights even by the majority. They are limitations upon democracy. They represent men's awareness that life, liberty, property and well-being cannot be safely subjected unreservedly to the will of a majority of the group. For most Americans the term probably means rule by the people limited by our form of government and American jurisprudence based on the moral law as set forth in the Bible. It is government by law and not by man, and the law is founded, within the limits of human error, on God's law. It is democracy under God.

A democracy so limited is very different from the unrestrained rule of the majority. There are certain areas in which the majority may rule, but there are other large and well-defined areas in which all individuals are safe and secure against the rule of an emotionally aroused majority. Democracy is safe only if thus limited.

There has been too much use of this term as if it were something sacred and highly desirable and too little consideration has been given to the fact that the word first became popular in our country when used in the very limited sense above set forth.

It was never intended that we should have a democratic form of government. The people delegate power to the members of Congress, the administration and the courts. They elect representatives and it is expected that they will act in the interest of the people during their respective terms of office. This is not a democracy it is a republic.
