Stratford Elks will crown their 1960 Football Queen in homecoming coronation ceremonies scheduled to be performed on the Elk field at 7:15 p. m. Friday before the opening of the Stratford Elk-Panhandle Panther conference game.

Seniors Kay Spurlock, Kay Caraway, Kaye Webb, and Juniors Donna Boner and Sharon Smith are the beautiful girls who will appear on the field as candidates for the honor. One will wear the 1960 Elk football crown; the others will be her ladies of honor. The queen has been selected but the closely guarded secret will not be revealed until the opening of the coronation ceremonies.

When the Elks meet the Panhandle Panthers they will hurl their 150 pound team against a 162 pound team which showed weakness in the early part of the season, but has developed considerable punch in recent games.

It would have been to the advantage of the Elks to have met the heavier Panhandle team on a dry field, but the manner in which the Elk team has performed as "mudders" it really doesn't seem to make much difference who furnishes the opposition.

The Elks have defeated Texline, Vega, Clayton and Gruver, and lost to Friona and Lefors. Panhandle has lost to Lefors, Clarendon, Spearman and Sunray and won over Groom and Canadian.

Dance For High School

A combination high school homecoming and hallowe'en dance will be given in the American Legion Hall by the City of Stratford in cooperation with citizens of the town, the student council and the school faculty. Music furnished by a high school orchestra will begin after the homecoming football game. ### Show For Kiddies

A free show for children which is given by the city will open at the Roxy Theatre at 7:30 p. m. Those who plan to attend the ball game, will have an opportunity to see the free show if they go directly to the theatre following the ball game, Mayor W. O. Bryant announces.

Sample Ballot Appears In This Newspaper

Precincts Two and Four will have two blank spaces on the lower part of their ballots. They do not have candidates seeking precinct offices.

Precincts One and Three have candidates for the office of county commissioner, and precinct three has one candidate, Sam Spradling, running for the office of Constable of the precinct.

The sample ballot shows only the precinct offices of the two county commissioner candidates.

Elks victors In Struggle With Gruver

Stratford Elks known as the regional underdog, toppled third place Gruver Friday night when they engaged the Greyhounds in their homecoming game at Gruver.

The thrilling game ended in a 20-20 tie score. The district rule in such events then turns to the number of penetrations into the 20 yard zone to determine the victor. Stratford and Gruver each had three penetrations. When the officials turned to first downs to determine the district game champion, the Elks topped Gruver with 22 first downs in the game to 9 made by the Greyhounds. Had each team made the same number of first downs, the game in district standing would have been rated as a 1/2 game for each team.

Quarterback Willey Steinberger made two touchdowns and Gary Dettle took the ball across the goal line for the all important two points which tied up the ball game score.

Gary Dettle was practically unstoppable as he surged forward for yardage with the help of capable interference. Every member of the Elk team was credited with putting forth his best playing effort of the season. It would be impossible to point out a boy who did not play a fine ball game Coach Bates said.

The Elks went up against the third place regional Gruver Greyhounds with a ninth place rating in the district. After the game Gruver dropped to eighth place and Stratford moved up to seventh place in the regional selection of better teams.

Miss Caraway To Sing With College Choir

Miss Ann Caraway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Caraway, has been selected to sing this year with the Lubbock Christian College A Cappella Chorus, directed by Wayne Hines. She has also been chosen to sing in the girls sextet.

In addition to various concerts on the LCC campus and in Lubbock, the chorus is planning numerous tours throughout the year. The first one will begin the latter part of this month, and will include Clovis, Amarillo, Santa Fe, Albuquerque, and Roswell.

The A Cappella Chorus is in its fourth year of existence and has approximately 65 members.

Sherman County has received 24.78 inches of moisture during the current year, it was announced this week by the official weather observer Horace Sneed. Some parts of the territory may easily boast of an additional six inches of moisture, as showers have been heavier both to the south and to the east.

Previous October rains were 1.91 and 1.40 inches. Tuesday night an additional 1.80 inches fell.

Wednesday cattlemen with south and east Texas cattle imported for wheat pasture began to worry as the weather forecaster spoke of expected freezing temperatures. Grain sorghum growers were also worried as a hard freeze at the present time might cause loss of grain by deterioration or a strong wind would place much of the crop down on the ground. Heavy heads filled with grain and moisture would be too much for the supporting stalk. Producers who had cut forage for baling were also slightly worried for fear the feed which had been mowed several days ago might never be salvaged for feeding purposes. Car owners rushed to filling stations and garages to have their car radiators winterized for protection during the expected wintry blast.

A stabilizing influence spread over the Panhandle Plains and the temperature did not drop to the freezing mark. Thursday morning the gray skies cleared before a bright sun which sent temperatures climbing and created smiles on faces of the people in a country where crop conditions are ideal and moisture to assure abundant wheat pasture is stored in the subsoils as well as the surface soils.

Official Rainfall
Official weather moisture readings for the year are: January .81, February .62, March .06, April .64, May .53, June 2.84, July 4.58, August 1.52, September 8.07 and for the first 19 days in October 5.11 inches of rain.

Some difficulties and some loss is expected in the harvest of the sorghum grain crop. With weather conditions such as those existing today the damage would amount only to pennies in comparison to the general benefit the territory will receive from the potential crop producing moisture.

Beet Acreage Raised, But Quotas Kept

The U. S. Department of Agriculture proclaimed Tuesday it has removed all acreage restrictions on the 1961 sugar beet crop, but James Witherspoon of Hereford, legislative committee chairman of the Texas Sugar Beet Growers Assn., said, "the move doesn't help anybody, anyone, anywhere."

Witherspoon blistered the government for its announcement which he describes "means nothing" and is perhaps designed to hoodwink and mislead farmers who are interested in growing beets. He suggested the announcement might be a vote winning scheme.

"Why remove acreage restrictions when tonnage quotas remain in effect," Witherspoon said. He explained the sugar refineries have quotas fixed by law, and even if the farmers are allowed to grow more beets, the additional acreage could not be refined because of existing quotas.

Plains beet growers are capable of producing more than twice Cuba's entire sugar output and enough to support 50 sugar refineries, Witherspoon asserted, yet quotas restrict production to only a fraction of the farmer's potential.

The Texas Sugar Beet Association seeks a new sugar beet law which would permit, among other things, Plains farmers to substantially increase their sugar beet production. It would alter quotas and permit Plains growers to refine their crop at a Plains-located plant.

Witherspoon said USDA's announcement fails to curtail the association's original goal in any way and "we will be waiting on the doorsteps of Congress when they convene in January to submit our proposal!"

"If we can produce twice Cuba's quota why don't we do it in the U. S.," Witherspoon said. Immediately after breaking trade relations with Cuba he explained the government went to other foreign countries to fill Cuba's sugar quota vacuum. The Hereford attorney said the association strongly feels that that quota should be made up by American growers.

At present, Texas farmers are growing 2,000 acres in sugar beets and New Mexico grows 1,200, only a fraction of the tonnage quota allocated the American Crystal Sugar Co. at Rocky Ford, Colo., buyers of the area crop. Beet production on the Texas High Plains is largely centralized in Deaf Smith, Parmer, Castro, Lamb, Lubbock and Hale Counties. New Mexico's production comes largely from the Moriarty area.

Witherspoon marveled at the tremendous sugar beet production potential lying between Goodland, Kans. and Pecos, Texas, but said so long as present quotas exist, any additional acreage could only be used as livestock feed rather than refined sugar.

He said Texas beets have a sugar content ranging from 14 to 17 per cent which bring on the present market from $14 to $17 per ton, respectively.

Production ranges from 20 to 29 tons per acre, and even after for example, a production cost of $100 per acre the farmer can net about $220 per acre, a cash crop superior to any on the Plains, Witherspoon said.

"It's the best cash crop we could get," he said, "but by not having sufficient quotas we are also losing valuable pulp and other refinery by-products that could support extensive livestock feeding operations."

Larger quotas and refineries located in the Plains area would substantially boost the economy, Witherspoon said.

The association seeks an initial sugar increase that would sup-

Sunray Boys See German Service

3RD INF. DIV. — Two soldiers from Sunray, Privates First Class Tracy C. Tate and Boyd H. Pool, recently participated with other personnel from the 3rd Division's 4th Infantry in a three-day field training exercise in Germany.

The exercise, designed to determine unit efficiency, featured a 50-mile march over hilly terrain and a simulated night attack.

Tate and Pool entered the Army in January 1959.

They are 1958 graduates of Sunray High School.

Tate, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Esley C. Tate, is a rocket launcher gunner in the 4th's Company E. He completed basic training at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Pool, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Pool, is a squad leader in the 4th's Company D.

A Voter Views The Coming Election

(By Joseph N. Welch, Deceased)

This little piece is being written prior to the National Conventions and will be published after the conventions and before the election in November. In it I shall say what I mean to do with my vote. For some months now, I think no day has passed without anxious thought on my part as to who would be the two candidates for the office of President of my country for the next four and, quite probably, for the next eight years. I wish the ordinary citizen might have had more to say about the selection of the two candidates. Now we can only hope that each party will have selected its nominee a man possessing two great qualities in the highest possible degree. Those qualities are a capacity for leadership, and a capacity for statesmanship.

A Time For Greatness
This nation has had, in the past, three fateful elections. One was our very first national election. Then there was an imperative need for a leader and a statesman who would breathe life into our new Constitution and make a nation out of what had been some colonies. The second election calling for true greatness was the election just preceding the Civil War. Unless the country produced a man of great stature, this nation would have burst into fragments with all dreams of greatness lost. Once again in the early thirties we faced a crisis. A depression of abysmal proportions had overtaken the country, and an incredible paralysis had swept across our whole economy. Each of these tragic periods in our history produced a leader and a statesman of such stature that their name have become part of the national legend. No one needs to be reminded that they were Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt. I need to be reminded that I never voted for any one of the three. I can be forgiven in respect to Washington and Lincoln but not Roosevelt.

Once again the nation is approaching an election which is obviously less fateful than the three of legendary proportions. Today we are facing a foreign government that says it has the weapons with which it can destroy our every city, and quite probably render this whole continent uninhabitable. We must believe the Russian government when they say this to us, since we, too, have the same weapons and the same capacity to destroy. If Russia and the United States destroy each other, it could be that this mass destruction would not matter greatly a thousand years from now. It could be that China, and India, and Africa would have learned enough from the holocaust so that a new start would be made and a new civilization built on the ruins of the old.

But if Russian and the United States destroy each other, that destruction will matter greatly to every American and every Russian now alive. I, for one, do not wish to die in a blinding flash of light to be followed by a hundred years of darkness. In all probability, no election which takes place during the lifetime of anyone who reads this little piece will ever again matter as much as does this one. The next four to eight years involve nothing less than survival. Bleak though that prospect is, that is what we face.

If you are a laboring man, or the wife of a laboring man, I beg of you do not vote for some candidate because you think he will be more friendly to labor than he will be to capital. If you are a farmer or a famer's wife, do not, I urge you, vote for one candidate because you think one candidate will reduce your taxes and the other will not, dismiss that unworthy thought from your mind. This once, just this once, the interest of each American is identical with that of every other American.

This is how I shall vote: I shall look hard and thoughtfully at the two candidates. I shall read about them, and I shall listen to their voices. I [To be continued next week]

Phone with the built-in switchboard

Here's a phone designed to play a big role in business offices. Right in this single instrument are all the conveniences of a telephone switchboard. Six push buttons give you complete control over all incoming and outgoing calls. You can select any of five lines — talk on one while holding calls on others — "buzz" your secretary — or use the phone as an office intercom. Lights in the buttons tell you which lines are busy, which are free. Our "phone with the built-in switchboard" is another example of how General Telephone works to make the telephone a more convenient and valuable instrument of communications for everyone. Call or visit our Business Office and learn how little it costs to have the "switchboard" service of a push-button phone.

Beet Acreage

 port a $12 million refinery. Besides absorbing part of Cuba's quota, the association has proposed that additional sugar beet requirements caused by rising population be handed to farmers in suitable sugar beet areas. Witherspoon pointed out that increased population calls for a 6.7 per cent annual increase in consumption. The plan as outlined by the association would be to allot about 5 per cent of the increased market to growers in the Tri-State area. The increased quota would be allotted 40 per cent to areas which have proved themselves in beet production, such as Hereford; 20 per cent to new areas, where recent development of irrigation indicates possibility of beet production; 20 per cent to reclamation areas and 20 per cent to new growers in old areas. The plan already has the strong support of congressional representatives from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico and the House Agriculture Committee, Witherspoon said.

Golf Club Elects New Officers

As an entertainment feature, Coach Weldon Bates showed the film of the Elk-Greyhound football game. A Scotch-toursome golf tournament is being planned this week-end.
