DRYS TO MEET RESUBMISSION ISSUE Jap War Machine Smashes Way Through Chinese Defenses

REPORTS SAY JEHOI RULER CAPITULATES

(By United Press) The Japanese war machine rolled relentlessly over China's second line of defense today after demolishing the first line on a 250-mile front from Kailu to Chaoyang. It was the fourth day of the Japanese drive. Japanese guns battered at the gateway to Chengteh, capital of Jehol, as town after town fell. Lingyuan, 80 miles to the east of the capital, was the last important town barring the way and three powerful Japanese columns were moving against it. Unconfirmed reports that the governor of Jehol has surrendered and is now awaiting the outcome of the negotiations for peace were received from Kailu. Japanese headquarters predicted fall of the capital city within a week.

Thompson Writes Oil Control Bills

AUSTIN, March 1.—Five new oil production control bills, one making it a penitentiary offense to over-produce were prepared today by Railroad Comm'r E. O. Thompson. One bill makes it a felony punishable with from one to five years in the penitentiary for any person or agent of an oil company to knowingly permit any well to over-produce or to willfully deliver excess oil. Another act would make a felony any failure to make reports or to make false reports as prescribed by the commission.

MIAMI, Fla., March 1.—Physicians today believed Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago was on the road to recovery. If his recovery continues at the present rate Mayor Cermak will be able to leave the hospital within a month.

Invaders and Defender on Jehol War Front

GEN. CHANG HAI-PENG

GEN. CHANG TSO-HSIANG

GEN. NUBUYOSHI MUTO

Here are the three leaders in the military struggle over the province of Jehol, which Japan is seeking to link to her "republic" of Manchukuo and which China swears she will defend. Gen. Chang Hai-peng has been named governor of Jehol by Manchukuo's state council, but will have to capture the province before he can take office. Gen. Chang Tso-hsiang commands Chinese forces resisting the invasion. Gen. Nubuyoshi Muto is commander in chief of Japanese forces in Manchuria and is directing the Jehol campaign.

JAPAN'S PLANS TOLD IN STORY 28 YEARS AGO

NEW YORK, March 1.—A prediction of Japanese conquest of Manchuria remarkably similar to more recent prophecies of the policies of Nippon in Asia was contained in a dispatch printed in the New York Herald 28 years ago from Portsmouth, N. H., where President Theodore Roosevelt headed the Peace Commission ending the Russo-Japanese war. The correspondent, whose article was printed on Aug. 6, 1906, said "information on which this dispatch is based comes from high and unimpeachable sources—from authorities which would create surprise were I at liberty to identify it."

"There is to be a Japanese empire on the mainland of Asia. It is to embrace Corea and Manchuria and probably a part of Siberia. The Japan of the present is a mere island kingdom. The Japan of the future is to rule the littoral of the northern Asiatic continent, reaching for into the interior, comprising vast, fertile and populous provinces. The new Japan is to be thrice as great in area and twice as great in population as the Japan of the present."

"The dominance of the Japanese sea and its dominance on all sides, the Japanese hold, is absolutely essential to their national safety. The pretension of the Japanese put forth as to the Sea of Japan is not unlike the Monroe Doctrine, which the United States applies to the Caribbean Sea. Japan has a Monroe Doctrine of its own. And the meaning of it is that Japan will view as an unfriendly act any effort on the part of the European powers to establish their sovereignty or to plant their systems on or near the shores of the Sea of Japan."

KIDS PLASTER 20-13 SCORE ON DUBLIN GIRLS

With Tommie Swindle and "Slats" Fulford leading the attack upon the basket, the Cisco Kids last night pushed over a 20 to 13 victory over Dublin, time honored rivals of all Cisco girls basketball teams, in their first home game. The guarding of both teams stood out and was responsible for the low score. The Cisco guards, Capt. Bess Farleigh, "Smitty" Smith, and Ola Perdue worked together smoothly throughout the game. For the visitors, Cline was outstanding. With the difficult assignment of guarding Tommie Swindle, she did good work until removed on personal fouls late in the game. Moore also showed up well for the Dublin guards. The kids got off to a fast start, but Dublin caught them at 5-all in the first quarter. They pulled to the front again, though, and led, 12 to 8, at the end of the first half. After the intermission, Dublin took on Sanders, star forward, to add fresh strength and more height to the lineup for a quarter, and caught the Kids at 13-all, just before the third quarter ended. In the last period, though, Cisco began hitting the basket again, at the same time holding Dublin scoreless. Delma Fulford, Cisco forward, did not start the game, but went in at the end of the first quarter for Louie Neil Surles. Starting lineups: Dublin: Anders and Sanders, forwards; Easley, center; Moore, Cline, and Smith, guards. Cisco: Swindle and Surles, forwards; Kile, center; Farleigh, Perdue, and Smith, guards.

WATER PLANT LOAN TALKED BY COMM'N

The city commission last night, hearing the report of Comm'r Burnett and City Attorney Grantham upon their visit to Dallas to interview R. F. C. representatives with reference to a proposed loan for the construction of a city water purification plant, held a decision in abeyance until plans for a complete plant could be obtained. It instructed Mr. Grantham to communicate with Mr. Chappell, engineer, who drew the plans for the settling tanks to determine the cost of securing plans for a filtration plant. The attitude of the commission with reference to securing an R. F. C. loan for the plant is that a loan sufficient to construct it in its entirety should be obtained. At present plans exist for only the settling basins. When and if, a design is secured for a filtration unit, further steps toward obtaining the federal funds to construct the whole plant will be made, it was understood. Judge Eugene Lankford appeared before the commission to report upon testimony which he gave at a hearing of a committee of the house of representatives at Austin in support of a bill by Rep. Cecil Lotief to regulate utility competition and prevent price wars which destroy competition. Judge Lankford was named a short while ago as an envoy of the city to express the commission support of the measure. Mayor J. T. Berry named Commissioners Burnett, Henderson and Winston as a committee to arrange the ballot for the municipal election which occurs Tuesday, April 4.

Missing Secretary Of Ford Located

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., March 1.—Ernest G. Liebold, Henry Ford's "missing" secretary, slept in a hotel room guarded by a state trooper and a "Do not disturb" sign today as official and private agencies called off a search instituted after he disappeared Monday. Associates and friends in the Ford organization believed Liebold suffered a nervous breakdown as a result of his work in acting as Ford's agent in the motor manufacturer's efforts to re-organize two Detroit banks.

All Fishing in City Lakes Is Forbidden

For the information of those not familiar with the commission's regulation passed last year, City Commissioner J. T. Elliott reminded today that no fishing of any character will be allowed on the Cisco lakes during the state's closed season on game fish. The closed season covers the months of March and April. Many people have been of the opinion that although catching of bass, crappie and other state protected game fish is forbidden, angling for catfish is not affected. City regulations, however, prescribe a period of immunity for these fish to coincide with that invoked by the state. The action, it was explained, during the state's closed season covers consideration for the catfish, but as a further precaution against disturbing the bass, crappie, et cetera, during the spawning season.

C. OF C. WILL SUPPORT 3 AMENDMENTS

The board of directors of the chamber of commerce, meeting last night, declared support of the three proposed amendments to the charter of the city of Cisco which provide for municipal support of the chamber, the band and the zoo. The directors carefully refrained from adopting any attitude toward the other proposed amendments, which have to do with the salaries of the commissioners, a referendum and recall provision, and restricting the mayor's voting privilege in the commission. The attitude of the board was determined upon after a lengthy discussion. It was expressed upon a motion of Dr. C. C. Jones, seconded by F. D. Wright. Upon another motion by Mr. Wright, seconded by Charles Sander, the board adopted a policy favoring interviews with business men and leading citizens defining their positions on the three proposed amendments and their reasons therefor. Women's clubs of the city will be invited to participate in these expressions, and the cooperation of the newspapers was sought.

Support Bill

The secretary was instructed to address a letter to legislators at Austin who represent this district expressing the chamber's support of what is known as the "Tax Evasion Bill." The secretary was also instructed to communicate with the Humble Oil and Refining company encouraging the reported intention of the appointment of a committee to meet with the Eastland chamber of commerce in an effort to secure a round trip railroad rate of $1.50 for this trip. The committee is composed of Jack Anderson, H. L. Dyer, Joe Burnham, H. Brandon, Bob Weddington, and Bigdon Edwards. Sec'y J. E. Spencer was authorized to accept the chairmanship of the County Red Cross chapter in the event re-election to that post should be offered him.

Postage Fund

When Sec'y Spencer reported that the fund for buying postage for the chamber's correspondence had been exhausted and that the postage was being furnished by himself, the board authorized a committee to appear before the city commission with a request for an appropriation to supply the deficit. President R. L. Poe named Dr. Jones, W. H. LaRouge and Charles Sander. In keeping with his purpose announced at the beginning of his administration President Poe called the meeting of the board promptly at 7:30 and concluded it at 9:30. Directors present were Caffrey, Crawford, Drumwright, Johnston, Jones, LaRouge, Sander, Shepard, Wallace and Wright.

WTCC Takes Poll of Committee Sentiment On Proposals for State Budget Economy

More than one hundred public expenditure committees (the number is 107) throughout West Texas—all affiliated with the central public expenditure committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce headed by Van Zandt Jarvis, Fort Worth—are balloting this week on recommendations of the regional chamber's state budget committee, touching the problem of appropriating a 20 per cent reduction over the support of the state government in the 1933-35 biennium. The matter comes before the affiliated local committees in form of a referendum submitted by the state budget committee whose members are C. M. Caldwell, chairman; O. C. Coles, J. O. Jones, and D. A. Bander. Results of the referendum will be laid before the central committee headed by Mr. Jarvis, as the policy of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in the vital question of taxation and revenue raising. The referendum has been received in Cisco by J. E. Spencer chairman of the local public expenditure committee, and will be acted upon at once, Mr. Spencer said, by his committee. If all committees throughout the territory vote, an expression will have been secured from nearly 1,000 West Texas businessmen, to be duly passed along to their senators and representatives in the legislature.

Recommendations

Recommendations of the state budget committee, appearing on the referendum form are: (1) That appropriations from the general revenue fund, not exceeding $32,000,000 be made by the Texas legislature to judiciary, departmental, eleemosynary and educational budgets for the 1933-35 biennium. (2) That any and all new revenue producing measures be opposed, unless passed to take the place of existing revenue producing and tax measures which have been abolished. (3) That a new state constitution be the basis of reorganizing our state administration and our county government. The state budget committee notes: "We feel that some such program as we have outlined must be adopted by our West Texas federation of public expenditure committees if we are to attain at Austin any results in curtailing of expenditures; any results in avoiding new taxes; and any results in permanently reorganizing our state's business. Unless concerted action is taken by the citizens, a much greater biennium budget than $32,000,000 might be adopted. There is also great confusion about new taxes, and about se-

WILL ASK FOR REFERENDUM IN NOVEMBER

DALLAS, March 1.—The Central committee of the United Forces for Prohibition in Texas has agreed to ask for submission by the legislature of the national repeal amendment, but in an election separate from other matters. W. N. Wiggins, recording secretary of the forces, announced today the decision to meet the challenge of wets for a popular vote on the repeal issue was reached in a committee conference. The dries want the election held in November, 1933, rather than in the primaries of 1934, Wiggins said. The announcement marks a distinct change in the attitude of the forces which were organized last year to fight repeal or modification in any form. Wiggins said this opposition will be continued as far as resubmission of the state prohibition amendment is concerned until there has been a vote on the national amendment. "Ready to Meet Them." The wets have been saying the people ought to have a chance to vote on the prohibition issue," Wiggins said. "So we are now ready to meet them on the issue, provided the question is referred directly to the people and the election held entirely separate from other matters. "We want the question settled once for all in Texas on the single issue of prohibition." The committee also outlined a plan for nominating wet and dry delegates to a repeal convention and for their election. There would be 150 delegates elected on a basis of legislative districts.

DRY FORCES WIN TILL PROPOSE

It retains the four cent a gallon state tax, imposes a penitentiary sentence for evasion and authorizes the comptroller to use a percentage of the tax to enforce collection. The date originally fixed was April 17. The session may now begin about March 20, it was learned today by the United Press.

DEBT HOLIDAYS.

The Iowa legislature has passed unanimously a bill for a moratorium of two years on farm mortgages.

It may be that the movement will go farther than this. It is hard to see how such relief, once started, can be confined to rural debtors, when home-owners in cities are so hard hit by loss of income.

The general moratorium policy for private domestic debtors may have been inevitable from the time that the government granted a debt moratorium to foreign governments.

Many are wondering how much farther this tendency will go. With the foreign debt revision conference approaching at Washington, it is natural for our people to begin thinking of revision of their own debts.

Some leaders of opinion are frankly discussing a downward revision of private debt principal, to match the heavy

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—A curious situation exists in the Democratic party as the Roosevelt administration assumes its power.

Where are Al Smith, James M. Cox and John W. Davis—the party's presidential candidates of recent years and its titular leaders of the post-war period until 1932?

They aren't in the cabinet and they aren't in Congress, where Democrats reign supreme. Except as for the latter category, you can also include Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, the conservative statesman whom Roosevelt tried so hard to make his secretary of the treasury.

That group of conservative left-of-center Democrats is left on the outside looking on—or in, as you prefer.

The "ins" are gentlemen and lady who were supporting Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Democratic nomination last spring and most of them were among the leaders of his forces who carried the convention for him.

AND there's a large question whether the Smith-Baker-Davis-Young-Baruch-Traylor-Ritchie group will be having much influence in it, as you might naturally expect. It isn't clear yet whether Roosevelt at any time tried to get Young to come in as secretary of state or treasury, but it is definitely clear that Roosevelt had had very little consultation with any member of the group during the period in which he has been selecting men for the big jobs.

The cabinet may be considered mildly conservative because the treasury and state posts are filled by two conservative men, although it has a strong liberal contingent. But it would be considered far more conservative had one or two of the aforementioned group been included. They were all considered strong possibilities for cabinet jobs after the election.

His conspicuous absence has tended to tone down many of the expressions of approval of the Roosevelt cabinet, although the reaction has been generally good and usually to the effect that the president-elect picked a slate of capable men.

NORMAN DAVIS will be kept at Geneva, representing us at arms conferences, but it is believed here that he might have been secretary of state had he been able to get along with Prof. Raymond A. Moley, Roosevelt's intimate adviser who will become undersecretary of state.

The new cabinet, on its record, may be considered more or less definitely committed to the "new deal." Uncertainty as to the "new deal" is thought to have finally kept Glass out of the cabinet. A huge "prosperity bond issue" for public works, for instance, would have been anathema to Glass.

purchasing power of the dollar. That would be a harder thing to accomplish, because of contracts and binding laws for the protection of investments. It may come, though, if deflation continues. Or it may be fought with inflation.

No. 28 DEDUCTION FOR TRAVELING EXPENSES

To obtain a deduction for traveling expenses, which form an important item in the returns of many taxpayers, certain regulations must be observed.

The amount of expense incidental to meals and lodging, and total amount of "other expenses" incidental to travel and claimed as a deduction. Among the "other expenses" are tips, provided they are reasonable in amount.

Traveling expenses are deductible only when the trip is on business. They are limited to such expenses as are reasonable and necessary in the conduct of the business and directly attributable to it.

Traveling expenses incurred in connection with a journey to another city to accept or seek employment are not deductible. Suburbanites who commute daily from their homes to their places of business are not permitted to deduct the cost of transportation, it being a personal expense.

Claims for deduction for traveling expenses must be substantiated, when required by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, showing in detail the amount and nature of the expenses incurred.

Those old sidewalks have cut off man from his last resort in times of this character. He cannot grow even a mite of a garden. Out here in this broad country even the jobless urbanite can fork up a corner of a backyard and grow thereon enough vegetables to keep body and soul together while he waits for better days.

In New York City, Mr. Ravenscraft declares, there are blocks of "rip-houses" where homeless men sleep in shifts. Queues of hungry devils stretch out into the streets as they wait for the morsels that a turndown charity dispenses.

SHEILA SHAYNE, dancer, refuses to marry DICK STANLEY, son of wealthy parents who is in New York trying to learn to write plays.

She joins a road show company and in a small metropolitan city she meets JERRY WYMAN, with whom she falls in love.

A few months later Sheila joins another road company, this time as featured principal. The show plays in Jerry's home town, but Sheila sees him only once.

THE company traveled to Atlantic City for the tryout week. There were more rehearsals there. Sheila endured loss of sleep, weariness, the electric restlessness that always precedes an opening night.

Sheila danced on. Her feet beat out the tapping rhythm whirled, stamped and skimmed across the stage.

CHAPTER XLVIII

SHEILA looked up into Dick's eyes and saw that he was smiling. She could not understand it. "But—the author?" she said.

"You didn't guess?" "Hand in hand they stood before the footlights. Sheila had never been so happy. Dick's play. And hers! Dick and Blind Timmy had written it for her!"

They were back in the wings a moment later but the applause continued. "Let's get Timmy!" Sheila said. With the blind composer between them they stepped out on the stage once more.

At last it all came to an end. Mandrake, beaming over the evening's success, tapped at the door of Sheila's dressing room. "Well," he said, "were you surprised? Dick insisted you shouldn't know before tonight. We were afraid we couldn't keep it from you. I'm entertaining the whole company and I'd love to have you there but I've a sneaking notion you and Dick will have things to say to each other. If you want to join us later that will be fine."

He drew Dick into the room, stepped back and disappeared. Sheila said to Dick, "You wrote the play for me, didn't you?" "But you made it a success."

"No, you did that, Dick. This is all so wonderful for you! It means you can do whatever you want now. You've made a name for yourself."

"And haven't you?" "It's our play! Oh, Dick—!" "Don't forget Blind Timmy."

"I'll never forget him. And I've never been so happy, Dick, I could cry!" "But she did not. She let him take her in his arms and when he kissed her she knew that all the applause and excitement of the performance were unimportant. It was Dick who counted. Only Dick!"

LATER, driving across the city, they sat hand in hand, utterly happy. "How did you like the red geraniums I sent?" Dick asked, grinning.

"I loved them." "I have something else I want to show you. Like to see it tonight?" "Of course."

He leaned forward and gave the driver some instructions. The car veered about a corner and shot across Fifth Avenue.

"What are you going to show me?" "He smiled. "It's a secret. You'll have to wait until you see it."

CHAPTER XLVIII

They rode on into a quiet street. Neither of them spoke. They were near the East River and the sounds of boats reached them. Sheila watched the bridge, its lights swaying like a chain of glittering jewels.

"Here we are," Dick said as the car stopped suddenly. They stepped out on the sidewalk. "You aren't taking me to a party are you?" Sheila asked in dismay. "I'm too tired for that. I wanted to celebrate just with you."

"But famous stars have obligations to their public," he returned, pinching her cheek. Dick led the way into the building before them. It was a luxurious apartment house. The West Indian boy at the telephone desk smiled as they entered and said, "Good evening, Mr. Stanley."

"Evening, Jim." The elevator door opened and Sheila and Dick stepped into the car. They rose swiftly to the top floor. "Who lives here?" Sheila asked as they stood in the corridor. "Dick, where in the world are you taking me? This isn't fair! My nose probably needs powdering."

"It needs kissing," he told her. "It's the dearest little nose in the world. Maybe you didn't know that." He kissed her, looking so solemn that Sheila laughed.

THEN Dick pressed a button and the door before them opened. Lucy, Sheila's maid, stood facing them, smiling. "How did you get here? What in the world—?"

"We have to walk the last flight," Dick announced, brushing past Lucy and leading the way. "I told you I had a surprise for you, didn't I? Come on!"

The stairway led to the roof of the building. It was only the top of an apartment house but a miracle had been achieved. The roof was covered with soft grass. There were four tiny trees, their branches ruffled by the East River breeze. And in the center of this fairy land there stood a cottage. It was a real cottage with a veranda. It was painted white and it had green shutters. There were ruffled curtains at the windows and bright lights shining indoors.

Sheila stood wide-eyed before this vision. She had seen pent houses but never anything like this before. It was her dream house, exactly as she had imagined it. It seemed too lovely to be real!

Dick caught her hand. "We'll go in a minute," he said, "but first I want you to see something else."

They skirted the lawn in the moonlight, walking along a prim little pathway. It might have led to a home in a town 1,000 miles from the roar of Manhattan traffic.

"See there," Dick said proudly. And Sheila saw. It was a kitchen doorway. There was a red-

Excitedly planning as they ate, Sheila and Dick were more like two eager children than a famous star and a young playwright celebrating their joint success. "How does it feel to be famous, Miss Shayne?" Dick asked. "Oh, that reminds me! We're going to be married tomorrow, matinee or no matinee. He fished in his pocket and produced a small box. From the box came a ring. "Like it?" he asked. She loved it. "I thought you would. Jappy thought you would. Tillie and Eve said the same thing. Trevor and Dorothy—"

OUR SUPERINTENDENT REMAINS OUR SUPERINTENDENT.

Faculty members and students of Cisco High were more than glad when the School Board announced the re-election of our superintendent. It was just what we had hoped for and expected, because we know how wise and far-seeing our board members are. If it is not presuming (we do not mean to be) we should like to express our gratitude for their action--this among others.

There is something irresistible in that personable, purposeful, and energetic leader of ours. In no uncertain terms, sometimes, he tells us what's what, and we do exactly what he says and like it, because we know he knows. He has a goal in view, a sense of direction, and the determination to reach that goal. He gets results, and getting results is what counts, and what we respect and admire.

The progress C. H. S. is making despite the many handicaps attests his proficiency and efficiency as a leader, and we are happy to be under his direction.

The Howl takes this privilege of speaking for Cisco High.

WHAT IS CULTURE?

In reading an article in Harper's Magazine, "Home Again from America" by Lois Adams, I found these words, "Gradually, I realized what I had kindly known in my boyhood, that next to agriculture, Carniola's leading industry is culture." And this led me to thinking, "What is culture?"

Culture is an indescribable something that comes with the growth of mind and soul. It is developed in us by associating with the good and true and beautiful wherever it may be found. The poems and essays filled with high ideals and inspirations, the novels that lead us upward, the books of travel and biography revealing the wonders of earth and the nobility of man, together with that which is worthiest in drama, in music, and in art--whether it be painting, pottery, sculpture, or architecture--all of these contribute to this something within that can only be felt, not seen.

Would you have culture? Then associate with persons who are cultured. Memorize beautiful passages in poetry and prose, making them your ideals. Read the biographies of great men, the novels that will teach you to live wisely and well, and books of travel that will widen your horizon. Study the prints of beautiful paintings and statues, learn to appreciate and enjoy good music. Choose clean drama, that which is enabling.

You are a part of all you see, read, associate with. If you choose the sordid, the base, the unclean, the jazz in music and art and literature--the unlovely--then your life will be unlovely. You will never have that magnetic, alluring, inspirational something called culture.

Culture originally means cultivating the soil, tillage. And men do not cultivate weeds. They destroy them. Victor Hugo said, "The Spirit of man is a garden." Then, make your garden grow with the beautiful, the true, the pure, the lovely, and you will possess culture.

MISS ANDRES SPEAKS AT LEAGUE MEETING.

Miss Ella Andres entertained the East 12th Street Methodist League last Sunday night, with an interesting talk on the churches in Mexico. She described the beautiful buildings and told how the work of the churches was carried on. It will be remembered that Miss Andres spent last summer in Mexico, especially in Mexico City, and her information was first-hand, increasing its interest and worth. The young people, it is said, were delighted with Miss Andres' visit and look forward with pleasure to her return for another inspiring talk.

THREE INVITATION COMMITTEE MEMBERS DRAW PRIZED PRIZES

A committee of seniors including Pauline McClinton, Frank Aycock, Betty Fee Spears, Hagen McMahon, Cleo Ray, Agnes Collins and Avery Holt, sponsored by Mr. Brandon, placed an order for invitations with the Star Engraving Company, last week.

After the business was concluded, Mr. Taylor, Star Engraving representative offered as prizes, four good sized etchings. Mr. Brandon was given first choice and took a portrait of Sam Houston. The members of the committee then drew for the other etchings, and the lucky ones were: Betty Fee Spears, who drew the U. S. Capitol; Hagen McMahon, who drew an etching of Lincoln; and Avery Holt, who drew one of Washington.

Post Script (and best part): Our generous and thoughtful principal, Mr. Brandon, brought his etching and gave it to the library. (Now I ask you, wasn't that lovely!) Needless to say it is appreciated, and will be framed and hung at once.

CLUB NOTES.

Home Economics Club Meeting: Essential qualities of a charming personality were discussed at the last meeting of the Home Economics Club. Elsie Pulley talked on Voice and Speech; Laverne Dill talked on Your Conversation; Marie Qualls gave a reading; Bessie Ray Qualls discussed Other Essential Qualities; and Margaret Gattton gave a tap dance.

A hike that was planned for Saturday was postponed because of the illness of the sponsor, Miss Bounds (whom we greatly missed).

Glee Club: The Glee Club is working now on a program which is to be given at the Oil Belt Association in Breckenridge, March the twelfth. There will be two numbers by the whole club and a number of solos and other specials.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP CLUB HONORS NATIONAL FLAG

Betty Eida Clark very graciously sponsored the Good Citizenship Club, Tuesday, during the absence of Mrs. Irby who spoke at Randolph College that morning. Bobby Anderson, president, presided. After roll call by Merrill Goldberg and reading of minutes by La Verne Dill, the members in unison gave the salute to the flag. Louellen Clark then told the club of the origin of our U. S. flag and of the three legislative flag acts that completed instructions concerning our emblem of glory. After this, Georgia Lee Davis gave a report on "Restoring the Star-Spangled Banner"--how the lady with the needle, Mrs. Amelia Fowler of Boston, has given a new lease of life to our first flag, so tattered and torn from gallantly flying, proclaiming our U. S. A. "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

THE FACULTY ON AND OFF--MOSTLY OFF

My word--and did you ever! Miss Watson went to Dallas again! Yes sir--to get an evening dress this time. That gal is good at excuses.

What worries us is that Miss Wells seems to be taking that Dallas fever. She's been talking about it--but this time she really went. Now let's hear your story, Miss Wells.

Exclamations of wonder--Miss Robinson too? Yes? She went to Atlanta to buy her clothes. Miss Andres went along too, but she bought clothes last week--how come, Miss Andres--What's your story?

Mrs. Brandon and Miss Chambliss (don't let them know I told you) left early Saturday morning in that heavy rain headed east--! Don't you just know they went for clothes too? Course Mrs. Brandon had to go get her husband, but Miss Chambliss ain't got no husband!

That isn't a "New girl" enrolled for Home Ec! That is Miss Van Horn who is taking a vacation from the school board office to help the girls cook and sew while Miss Bounds is ill. We'd like to keep her, wouldn't we--if we could have both; but we surely do miss that pretty "Red Head Gal." Say could we carry a red-headed cooking teacher "Carrots"?

Miss Dial stays at home more than anybody we know. That tall brunette couldn't have anything to do with it--could he? Maybe she just doesn't like to run around!

MARGARET BARKER DEDICATES POEM TO MRS. IRBY

As through the years we've explored and progressed There's one of our teachers that out-shines the rest. She is a woman most noble and kind, A jewel like her, one rarely can find.

If you ask who she is We will always exclaim "She's our C. H. S. Mother, You've heard of her fame."

She wears a crown of silver Which means more than gold to me And the highest goal of all my life Is more like her to be."

So, thank you, Mother Irby, For the courage you've given to us, You make us feel that all through life To strive, to win, we must.

DEBATING TEAMS ARE CHOSEN: Tryouts in the debating club were held Tuesday night at 7:30 in the library and two teams were selected to represent Cisco High School in the various meets. The winners in the tryouts were: girls team--Helen Fage, Helene Stokes; and boys team, Enderly Huey and Joe Bob Winston.

THINGS WE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW! If Lois is conceited or just acts that way.

Whose ring Delpha Mae has been wearing. L. A. also would like to know.

What's the matter with Mignon and Olin.

How Miss Chambliss always gets the devotion of the freshmen classes.

Who calls Pauline "Georgious."

Why Judson is always frowning.

Why red cars are appealing to Margaret Morton.

New Heart Throbs: Charlie Pearl and Malcolm Reimers, J. B. Matthews and Maxine Hampton, Evelyn Allen and Myrtle Shirley, Lorine Hicks and Jay Watson, Daron Johnson and Bertha Dunn, Marie Tune and Robert Campbell.

Through The Keyhole

Folly Martin now uses her left hand almost entirely since she has that solitaire.

Why all the smiles, giggles, and grins, Lell Frances? You know these ex-sweethearts will become engaged.

Of all the beautiful moonlit places to walk with a girl, J. H. chooses the cemetery.

And so Robert Campbell thinks Marie Tune is the answer to a young man's prayer.

Shannon Ramsey is counting the minutes and seconds until Friday night. Probably he's going to have fried chicken or "sempen."

Betty Groce and Bill Webster were "that-a-way" in Grammar school but it seems they are "this-a-way" in C. H. S.

Red paid Hazel a thirty minute visit Monday evening from seven to seven thirty at the home of Mr. L. A. Martin. Red says that it was an enjoyable evening.

W. J. (Poppey) Beasley's intention is to play football next year and be a star!

Christine and Dell Frances spend a great deal of time at the Corner drug in Eastland. What is the attraction that draws these two beautiful girls away from old acquaintances?

Fredreca, who is supposed to be a model girl, takes great delight in leaving parties. Tish! Tish, Fredreca.

Joe Robertson says he is up until two o'clock every night. What does he do? He never has his lessons.

Here is a nice new romance which has come into existence. Bertha Dunn and Daron Johnson.

It is requested that we tell Tom-boy Taylor not to worry for the Billy H. Vera Murphy affair isn't truly serious.

Billy Hayes has turned out to be a regular "ladies man." Wow!

Is Joyce Boyd still losing sleep over Duron?

Bill McMahon is the official water-boy for the library now. He waters little fishes in the bowl.

Brooke Pearce escorted Dell Frances to the Sweetheart Banquet. Now what do you know about that?

The younger set had quite a little theater party last week. Those who attended were Jerry Lefthin and Louise Statham, Jerry Heald and Marie Qualls, Bobby Anderson and Fanny Lee Porter.

Ben Groce probably prefers out-of-towns, for he had as his guest for the show a cute little trick from Los Angeles, California.

Don't you think Bobby Kilpatrick has "ma-am" down pat? (Pat who)

Edna Cooles hears from Gero, now and then. Lucky girl!

Pearl McAuley thinks the third period study-hall should be used for writing notes. Are these notes delivered by postman or another agent?

Hazel Swink says that Melvin Lawson will have to get some more eyes for his ideal junior girl 'cause she is a senior. (Life's like that!)

Imagine Daskam's discomfort when in Latin class he tried to rise and found himself securely stuck to the seat by a piece of well-chewed gum!

Mildred Whitman seems to be the one and only little "Ruben, Ruben" gal.

Lillian Farris has been primping up since mid-term.

What's all this talk about the three baby golfers; and what's "Elefctro" Wallace got that makes him think he's so hot. There's plenty of golfing talent in this high school, if they only had a chance. Why not create a little competition?

La Verne Purvis is going to be a real "course" girl in "Henry's Wedding."

Lucy Ann Courtney, Juanita Courtney, M. V. Tickner, and Shearwood Houston went on a hike out to Lake Burney Sunday.

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS ONE? A university student, asked to compose a stanza including the words analyze and anatomy, brilliantly created "My analyze over the ocean. Oh, who will go over the ocean And bring back by anatomy?"

SWEETHEARTS ENTERTAIN THEMSELVES.

"In the spring a young man's fancy--" You know the rest! Thursday night, on the roof garden of the Magnolia nine couples were entertained at a "Sweetheart" banquet, sponsored by Hartman McCall and Judson Russell. Between courses of the dinner Pearce Thomason sang several numbers. He was accompanied by Bessie Pearce. Thomas Patrick's nine-piece orchestra furnished the music for the banquet and for the dance afterwards.

Those attending were Hartman McCall and Lillian Schertzer; Hagen McMahon and Mary Elizabeth Clisset; J. W. Shepard and Pauline McClinton; Gustav Nix and Irene Rufe; Sam Alford and Harriet Angus; Charles Shepherd and Madge Brelsford; Pierce Thomason and Bessie Pearce; Dell Frances Miller and Brooke Pearce.

A number of couples who were not at the banquet came in for the dancing afterwards.

SURPRISE PARTY.

To honor her guest-cousin, Astell Smith, Johnnie Sue Slaughter entertained last Wednesday evening with a surprise party.

After the playing of games and other favorite forms of amusement, the hosts invited the honoree and guests to the dining room where a big birthday cake was cut and served with chocolate and toasted marshmallows. Small flags were given as souvenirs.

The guests who enjoyed this pleasant surprise were: Doris Surles, Delpha Mae Blair, Lucille Flaherty, Cathryn Russell, Lorenne Hicks, Pauline Flaherty, Frederica Pollard, J. W. Thomas, Durward McClelland, Joy Watson, Bayard McMahon, and L. A. Harrison.

SUPERIOR SENIORS

The Superior Seniors again welcome a new member to the band of striving education seekers. Boyd Filcher has joined our class and we hope he will like being a member of our one big family.

We regret that Edith Gattton is not to be with us anymore. She has been a popular member of our class and choral club.

To the requests of the "Fishy Fish" asking that the Superior Seniors teach Edith Gattton, we reply that many things are learned by observation. Just watch these seniors you mentioned and you will probably learn for yourselves how to be like them.

CHORAL CLUB BUSILY ENGAGED.

Recently, the Choral Club had a final tryout and several of the members were dropped, not because they could not sing, but because there were too many for the concert; the club is entering at Abilene, soon. Only the best voices could be retained.

Annette Stevens, a new member, has been added to take Edith Gattton's place as soloist in the concert. Hard work and hours of practice will be needed to achieve the ease and grace that Miss Andres, the sponsor, desires for her girls.

C. H. S. COSMOPOLITES.

C. H. S. boasts a cosmopolitan student group, for a number of "foreigners" have been added to the roster. Vera and Annie Mae Elder, freshmen, come to us from Benban, Arkansas. Jo Tipton, another freshman, has come from Mountain Air, New Mexico.

Johnnie M. Pyron and Memory Lambert have exchanged "incomparable California" for "matchless Texas."

Lyle Steward is a Ciscoan, but has been attending Technical High School in Dallas.

Glen and Myrtle Whitaker were at one time Ciscoans and claimed C. H. S. We are glad they came back from Eastland and are with us again.

Transfers from rural schools nearby: Carl and Clarence Stroebel, Juniors, from Shady Grove; Bertha Dunn, another junior, from Flarwood; Clyde Frye, a sophomore, from Reich; and Wayne and Barbara Henson, sophomore and freshman, from Central.

Boyd Filcher, Margaret (Parks) Huddleston, Wivie, Jim Johnston, Jack Rush, John Preston, and Paul Walton are Cisco folk who were not in school here all of last semester, but who wisely decided to resume school work this term.

We welcome all to C. H. S. and trust that you will enjoy the good fellowship and friendly cooperation that mark our attitude toward each one of our group.

CALENDAR FOR WEEK (Feb. 22-28).

Wednesday, Feb. 22--George Washington Birthday. Preacher failed to appear for chapel. Thursday, Feb. 23--Clubs, Sweetheart Banquet. Friday, Feb. 24--We are awaiting to see the track team in action. Monday, Feb. 27--Dexter Shelley, late star of Texas Longhorns, is our new coach. Debate preliminaries. The debate team is Helen Page, Helen Stokes and Joe Bob Winston, Enderly Huey. Tuesday, Feb. 28--Home room programs. (We forgot to say that the new coach is to be married this summer.)

PAULINE'S PENCILS

C. H. S. has weathered the storm of the fads of the past few years and still kept her mental balance but it looks as if the end had come--the jig-saw puzzle craze has now struck. You should have seen the wild look in some of the students' eyes at a party Friday night, after working four hours to no avail on "Abraham Lincoln."

Cisco High exes are making a record in more than literary activities these days. A number of them have become pledges of the highest rank--fraternities and sororities at their universities. We seniors hope we'll be able to do as well next year.

Girls, if you want to know what to wear on any occasion get two of the sophomore young men to show you. They recently modeled the newest evening dresses in a style show. They were really quite ravishing. Such chic!

Our library doesn't need spring to have lovely flowers. Besides the lovely ferns and flowers which have been there all year, we now have a beautiful group of tulips, presented by Julian Ely.

Boys aren't the only ones in C. H. S. who know what to wear. You should have seen the "fairer" members of the staff dressed up as colonial damsels for a tea. But appearances are quite deceiving!

One of the greatest joys of the seniors is the number of things we have to "crow" over. Since the invitations have been chosen it's a great sport to remark to lower classmen about their beauty and the number we intend to buy.

That "distance most assuredly lends enchantment" is the theory of a number of high school belles. They don't think a boy is attractive unless he lives in a different town. Is that the reason so many go with out-of-town boys?

Frank's policy is "don't count your bridges before they hatch." It seems a good idea but somehow it doesn't quite make sense. Wouldn't you like to read his fable on the subject?

RECITATION RAZZ

Miss Andres--How do you make an imperative sentence out of this statement? O. C. You put imperative marks around it.

During the election of new officers in his home room, Berie Wagley voted every time. Miss Bounds said, "Berie, what do you mean by jumping up so often?" Berie: "Well, I paid my poll-tax."

Jack Stephenson after reading a few pages in "The Last of the Mohicans," "Miss Watson, I can't understand this book. It's as dry as the eighteenth amendment."

Jaunita: I only wish that good-looking M. V. Tickner would grow a little taller.

M. V.: Why, I'm tall enough.

Dell Frances (in speech arts) The swallows get their food by flying with open mouths and the insects are blown in by the wind.

Miss Wells: That gives me an idea.

Miss Bounds: (discussing assembly manners in Home Economics) What is your attitude when a person come in the show eating candy.

Cleda Swink: Um, it makes me hungry.

In the Sunday Fort Worth Star Telegram under the topic, "Will Display Animals" (The Fat stock Show) it said: "The Bands from Eastland, Cisco, and Ranger will attend, probably including the American Legion Tickville Band of Ranger." What a compliment!

Miss Watson: Impossible is something that can't be done.

Glen C: I've always found that true in life.

Miss Robinson in History class: What makes you think anyone would want to teach school.

Fmis Steffey: To get revenge.

Mr. B. (In Biology) Durward, does the cranium have joints? Durward: Well, not exactly, but some have cracks in them.

Mr. Cluck (in History--freshman) to Leslie Hill--"Leslie, put that question on the hill."

ODE TO A PENCIL I know not where thou art I only know That thou wert on my desk Beautiful and content Just a moment ago. But as I turned my head To view the teacher, Some heartless wretch Went out with thee. I know not whence he came Nor shall I ask. Perchance It may have been the one I stole thee from!

—Cleda M. Swink.

CISCO HIGH ANNOUNCES FIRST TERM HONOR STUDENTS

The honor students for the past term have been classified into two groups--The Honor Roll consisting of those students who have made a grade of 90 or more on each of their subjects every six weeks of the entire semester and The Honorable Mention made up of those who have made an average of 90 each six weeks during the term.

Only six students have made the Honor Roll each time and of these, three are Seniors: Pauline McClinton, Betty Fee Spears, and Rex Carter; two are Sophomores, Nadine Mayhew and Julian Ely; and one is a freshman, Reuben Wendle.

There are twenty deserving Honorable Mention. The Seniors are: Clinton Brabbin, Ira Hooker, Pauline Duncan, Helene Stokes, and Marion Waters, Frederica Pollard, Tenella Nance, and Irene Webster are the Juniors, and Mary Catherine Danchoe and Elsie Richardson, the Sophomores. The Freshmen are to be commended for ten worthy one half of this roll, the ten worthy Freshmen are: Louise Statham, Catherine Russell, Lurline Poe, Luelyn Clark, Flora Bacon, La Verne Dill, Dena Carroll, Bernice Mae Blumberg, Roy Moad, and Annie Mae Throop.

MY HOBBY.

In compliance with the Howl's call for hobbies I submit this article. My main hobby is "Amateur Radio" on which I spend most of my spare time. Amateur Radio enthusiasts are licensed by the Federal Radio Commission at Washington. I am studying very hard on the International Code in order to be able to pass the test when school is out.

Boys who join the Amateur Circle are called "Hams." These hams have certain frequencies on which they may operate their transmitters, either code or Radio Telephone. The frequencies on which these hams transmit are very high and therefore they must construct a different radio from the usual one in the home. I have a three tube all electric all wave radio for this purpose.

I have been trying for quite a while to organize a radio club in C. H. S., but can get no cooperation from the other boys in school. I believe that if we could get a club started and some few members into it, we could interest a large number. If you are ever near a ham station, don't miss the chance to see what is inside. Every one is always welcome. (Girls included).

SIGNS OF SPRING.

Last Thursday evening found a number of students of C. H. S. and Randolph, dressed in riding togs and ready for the great out-of-doors.

The Cisco crowd drove out to a ranch at Paeble where they were met by several young people from Moran. After eating a most appetizing and satisfying picnic lunch "under the shade of the trees," the crowd strolled up to the ranch house to enjoy music, dancing, conversation, and other amusements. Those present from Cisco were Misses Zona Miller, Hazel Martin, Helen Stokes, Helen Page, Annette Stevens, Marjorie Noel, and Messrs. Arthur Barker, Wilbur Martin, Elmer Timmons, Edgar Noel and M. B. Johnson.

Sports For Sportsmen

Dexter Shelley, a graduate of Texas University has been elected to helm of Lobo athletic for 1933-4. Although Mr. Shelley has played two years of professional football, this will be his first year of coaching.

The 1933 football schedule for this district was arranged Saturday at Eastland, and this time it included the Lobos. The old custom of Cisco's playing the Ranger Bulldogs on November the eleventh, and the Abilene Eagles on Thanksgiving Day will be followed, but both games will be played away from home.

The track team has just finished its first week of training. They do not look very promising, but the real value of a track team or any other kind of team cannot be estimated after just one week of training.

Fifteen boys are working out and each one is trying to do his part to make the team a winning one.

LIBRARY CLIPPINGS

Twenty six hundred and twenty books are now listed in our accession record. This does not include the state text books, nor the classics of the school provides for the English classes.

Since last report, four books have been donated by Dena Carroll, three by Carlisle Reimers, one by Dixie Bills, one by Hartman McCall, ten by Irene Culbert, one by Jerry Heald, one by Congressman Blanton and two by Congressman Lanham.

Magazines have been brought to the reading room by John Miley, Eddie Delinger, Jerry Heald, Lloyd Witten and Johnnie Sue Slaughter. Miss Mary Jane Butts also contributed six late numbers of Harper's and Scribner's.

NEW TRENDS REVEALED IN OIL INDUSTRY

AUSTIN, March 1. — World oil production data for the past few years reveal many important changes and possibly new trends in the oil industry as a whole, according to Elmer H. Johnson, industrial geographer in the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. During 1932 total world oil production was less than in 1931, and both 1931 and 1930 had been lower than the peak year of 1929.

"The proportions of the output of the major producing countries has been changing also," Mr. Johnson said. "In 1931, for instance, the United States produced nearly 63 per cent of total world output; in 1932 the share of this country in the world's output had decreased to less than 61 per cent. There have been increases oftentimes slight, but increases nevertheless, in the share of total output of several important oil producing countries, though in some, as in Russia, there was in 1932 a decrease in actual production.

"As regards world production, the proportionate share of the three leading oil producing states of this country present significant trends. During the five-year period, 1919-1920, Texas produced only 10 per cent of the world's output of petroleum; during that period California produced 19 per cent and Oklahoma, 18 per cent. In 1926, Texas produced 15 per cent of the world's output, California, 18 per cent, and Oklahoma, 21 per cent. In 1931, Texas produced 25 per cent of the world's output, California, 14 per cent, and Oklahoma, 13 per cent. In 1932, Texas produced 24.3 per cent of the world's output, California, 13.8 per cent, and Oklahoma, 11.8 per cent. And in 1932 Texas produced a little more than 40 per cent of the total output of the United States.

"Of total world output up to January 1, 1933, the United States had produced 60 per cent; Russia, nearly 12 per cent; Venezuela, 9.3 per cent; Roumania, 3.7 per cent; Persia, 3.5 per cent; Dutch East Indies, 2.9 per cent; and Colombia, 1.3 per cent.

Russia Second.

"It is significant to note aside from the preponderant share furnished by the United States, that Venezuela and Colombia together have produced almost as much as Russia. South America production is very recent while that of Russia is almost as old as that of the United States. Although Russian production decreased to practically nothing during the war, it has been second to the United States during the past two years.

"In the case of estimated proven reserves, which does not include the more questionable volume of possible or probable reserves, as given by Valentin R. Garitas before the annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, February 20, 1933, the share of the United States is given as 49 per cent. This is a little less than the total production in the United States down to January 1, 1933. Estimated proven reserves of Russia were given as 12.3 per cent of the total; Iraq, 10 per cent; Persia, 8.9 per cent; Venezuela, 8.2 per cent; Dutch East Indies, 4.1 per cent; Roumania, 2 per cent; and Colombia, 1.6 per cent. Thus, more than 60 per cent of the estimated proven reserves occur in the North American continent.

"It may be noted, moreover, of the sum of actual production to date plus the estimated proven reserves, that 48 per cent of this has been produced and the reserves therefore constitute 62 per cent of this sum. These conditions in conjunction with probable reserves and the marked advances in technique involving both production and consumption, point to an assured supply of oil products for a long time to come. However commercial control, economic development, and the geographical location of these resources will, it is apparent, become more and more important in the immediate future. Without question Texas will have in this future development, a pre-eminent place for several years to come."

MOM'N POP.

About Cisco Today

Society Editor, Miss Marjorie Noell—Phone 80.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shertzer left Sunday for a two weeks visit in Florida.

ganization and economy, headed by Rep. Harry N. Graves, of which not all of the reports have been released. The complete report will be in 14 parts, one alone—that on teachers colleges—being contained in a book of 352 pages.

Asserting that the studies and reports of the Graves committee are the "most comprehensive and far-reaching that have yet been made on the state's business," the committee contends they cannot be given any less than a constitutional convention.

"Any organization of the state's administration made on a basis and within the scope of our present constitution is bound to be antiquated and ineffective," the committee says. "We are living under the Constitution of 1876, which is not adequate for present administration. This constitution creates services not now needed, and authorized practices not now modern. It fixes salaries and prescribes offices which should not now be included in a thoroughgoing reorganization; and it eliminates other things which should be included. The time to bring about these fundamental changes is at a constitutional convention called for that purpose."

Theford's Black-Draught "Good for Constipation"

"We have used Theford's Black-Draught in our home for about 20 years and have found it to be a reliable medicine," writes Mrs. Joe G. Roberts, of Fortville, Ala. "A friend recommended it to me a long time ago and it has proved its worth to me. Black-Draught is good for constipation and to rid the system of the system of the bodily poison. I find that taking Black-Draught prevents the bilious headache which I used to have. I take a dose of Black-Draught, dry, as I need it."

Thousands of men and women have found how well Black-Draught works in the relief of many little common disorders due to constipation. Costs only 1 cent or less a dose.

RESERVE BANK REPORT MORE OPTIMISTIC

DALLAS, March 1. — Fewer business failures for January this year than January, 1932 gave an optimistic note to the monthly business review of the Eleventh Federal Reserve district released today.

There were 98 commercial failures during the month as compared with 178 a year ago, according to R. G. Dun & Company. Liabilities were $1,693,202 while those for the corresponding month in 1932 were $4,051,626. Average indebtedness of insolvent firms was the lowest reported since March a year ago.

In wholesale and retail of dry goods the survey found indications of business improvement. Dollar volume of wholesale business reflected a decrease of 3 per cent from that of January, 1932 while in December there was a corresponding decline of 36.2 per cent.

Percentage of business decline in department stores was much smaller than in the previous month, the survey revealed.

Reluctance of some dealers to place new orders was attributed to unfavorable weather. The most favorable comparison in two years of net demand and time deposits of the member banks in the eleventh district was shown. Combined net demand and time deposits for January amounted to $611,062,000, being $1,966,000 less than in December and $3,892,000 below January a year ago.

Soil Excellent

Soil in most sections of the district is in excellent condition for spring planting, the survey said. Small grains improved in January but were damaged some by dust storms late in the month and low temperatures in February.

Vegetables suffered considerable loss during the cold weather. Ranges and livestock were reported in fair condition.

Improvement in construction activity shown in December receded during January. Building permits in principal cities amounted to $719,736, a decrease of 36 per cent below December and 57 per cent below the corresponding of a year ago.

Crude petroleum production in the district for January dropped from the previous month and was substantially lower than the same month of 1932. Total output was 24,704,700 barrels as against 25,647,150 in December and 28,336,550 in January last year.

Field activity dropped from 670 completed wells in December to 623 in January. Initial fluid output declined accordingly from 2,697,297 barrels to 2,235,531 barrels.

Daily average production of Texas wells was 735,955 barrels as compared with 770,365 barrels in December and 847,958 barrels in the corresponding month of last year.

REGISTRATION DROPPED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 1. — California motor vehicle registrations during 1932 totaled 2,041,824, a drop of 3 per cent from the 1931 total.

ARRESTED PIRATES

HCQUILAM, Wash., March 1. — Police finally succeeded in arresting two river pirates. They captured two 14-year-old boys who had preyed upon small boats anchored along the river.

German Deputy Was Born in S. A.

BERLIN, March 1.—One of Germany's 584 reichstag deputies Richard Walter Darre, was born in the Argentine at Bagnano, Buenos Aires.

Darre, who is a member of Hitler's national socialist party, however, is not the only deputy born outside the boundaries of Germany. According to the data which every deputy must submit to the Reichstag's recording office, he shares this distinction with nine other members of the present German parliament.

But with the exception of Karl Demar Stahknecht, of the Folksparty, who was born in India, the rest of the "foreigners" in the German Reichstag were born in European countries. Naturally, all of them always have been German citizens.

From the data submitted to the Reichstag's recording office, another interesting fact may be gleaned—namely, that the vast majority of German Reichstag deputies were born in the western part of the country. Thus, the province of Rhineland-Westphalia, for instance, is recorded as the native district of 120 deputies. Next are the natives of Bavaria. They number 75 deputies in the German Reichstag, while next come the natives of Thuringia, who number 63 deputies.

Comparatively few of the German Reichstag deputies (only 23) were born in Berlin and the province of Brandenburg. An almost equal number (29) hail from those parts of the Fatherland ceded under the Treaty of Versailles—Alsace-Lorraine, West Prussia, the part of Schleswig which now belongs to Denmark, Eastern Upper Silesia, and Danzig.

To Follow Canada In Liquor Control

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 1.—California expects to follow the Canadian system of liquor control if the 18th amendment is repealed.

A measure closely following that plan has been introduced in the state legislature. It provides for a state liquor board of three members appointed by the governor. A deputy liquor commissioner would be appointed by boards of supervisors in each of the 58 counties.

Other provisions are: Wines and beers may be served in hotels, boarding houses, and other public eating places. Liquor in original packages may be sold in retail stores where liquor is not consumed. No "saloon" may ever be established. Any person may apply for a license to sell liquor or operate a liquor store.

The county commissioners may grant licenses. A state and county fee shall be paid on gross receipts. The county liquor commissioners may regulate the hours during which liquor may be sold.
