Citymakers indulged in a same of celebration last night and morning found none of the damage expected of Hallowe'en. obstructions dragged into a few garbage and trash returned, their contents a minor mischief of the greeted early morning there were no cows on top no wagons straddling the curbs of dwellings, no overturned and no gates reeled from hinges. Principally this true, perhaps because modern homes have no gates, no out-lets small enough to turn over, no wagons to put on top of roofs, etc.

However, whether the sanity was ordinary or not the police department had no difficulty in maintaining order and felt pleased and thankful for the happy results of its campaign and the good taste of the citizens.

Rigid policy in this respect, Bullard said, is to prevent any augmentation of the number of transients roaming over the country.

CELEBRATION OF THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

Thomas Jefferson battled for the freedom of the press. He won.

Now editors and publishers in a 260-year-old church at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., celebrated the 200th anniversary of the freedom of the press. The setting of the celebration was the famous St. Paul's church, Eastchester, established in 1665 and called "the cradle of the free press."

John Peter Zenger, who edited a local newspaper, denounced the frauds perpetrated by the royal government. He was arrested and tried for libel in the first test of free speech in the colonies. All the colonists watched the trial. Zenger was defended by a brilliant lawyer. He won an acquittal.

This set an international precedent for the doctrine of the freedom of the press. It furnished the basis for the idea of the free press of America as embodied in the Jeffersonian article first of the amendments to the constitution of the United States. Freedom of thought, freedom of action, freedom of conscience, or the freedom of the individual to cast a fearless ballot cannot exist in any land where the press is muzzled or its columns dominated by agents of bland autocracy. A muzzled press is a hired press, a press without a conscience even doing the bidding of an imperial master or a ruthless dictator. In America the press is free. It was purchased by patriots at the price of their blood and their treasure.

WIGGIN REPUTATED.

Winthrop W. Aldrich is the head of a great financial institution known as the Chase National bank of New York. He is a brother-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., the largest stockholder. He is the son of that dead but yet famous Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island who was 30 years the leader of the American senate and looked upon as the greatest financial authority of the world in which he lived.

Aldrich gave the senate banking committee a surprise with the blunt statement that "the market trading policies of his predecessor" had been thrown on top of the muck pile. In other words, the present management of the Chase National "is absolutely opposed to affiliates trading in the stock of the bank in the market." John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has a code all his own. Winthrop W. Aldrich appears to have the same code. Time in its flight is making many changes and the Rockefeller influence has its moral as well as financial effect the world over.

BONDS REQUIRED.

Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson has approved a bill authorizing division engineers of the highway department to receive bids on construction of lateral roads where the amount involved is less than $25,000 and requiring bonds for "protection of federal highway relief funds." All bids must be received and tabulated by the state highway commission under the present laws. Bonds should be required for protection of federal highway relief funds. In other words the taxpayers of America who pay the freight should be given ample protection. They are expected to do the worrying as well as the paying.

French Women, Foiled in Attempts for Ballot, Now Seeking Places With Police

By WALLACE CARROLL
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Nov. 1 — French women, foiled in their attempts to win the ballot, are seeking places to enter man's domain. This time they want to join the police force.

Madame Avril de Sainte-Croix, society woman here, is the leader of a movement which aims to upset the French tradition that a policeman must have hands-bar mustaches — and look severe.

Her aim is to provide Paris with chic little policemen, who will keep Frenchmen law-abiding by appealing to their gallantry.

"We do not wish to supplant the men on the police force in any way," she said. "Our purpose is simply to let the women for certain police work to which men are not adapted for because they are men."

"For example, who can deny that women are better qualified to catch eavesdroppers in the squares, parks and gardens? And what great services women police could render in safeguarding young women who are in constant danger on the city streets."

Since London recruited its first policewomen, Madame de Sainte-Croix points out other countries have followed suit, including Austria, Belgium, Holland, Poland, Sweden, Brazil, Egypt and the United States.

As a result of this reform she contends, the Viennese fraulein, though carried away by the sweep of the waltz, may feel safe under the vigilant eye of the policewoman.

If Madame de Sainte-Croix succeeds, the women of Paris may enjoy similar security, but Paris will always be Paris.

YACHTS, Ore., Nov. 1 — A mixture of aviation and fishing has been put to work here by William Anderson to fatten his purse. Anderson uses a kite to aid him in surf fishing. The kite is flown at a height of 800 or 900 feet with a wooden float dangling in the water. To this is attached fishing lines. The only requisite of such a device is an offshore wind.

SPIES SWARM OVER FRENCH BORDER FORTS

By RALPH HEINZEN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Nov. 1 — The recent arrest by French secret police of the most famous woman spy since the war, "La Belle Sophie," as she sought to smuggle a new French army rapid-fire rifle across the German border, draws public attention to the swarm of spies hovering around the new French frontier fortifications.

"La Belle Sophie" is the first of these spies arrested with proof of her guilt in her hands. Hundreds of others have been tagged and trailed along the fortifications, but Sophie alone has proved a rich arrest.

Sophie had all the tricks of the Mata Hari school of woman spies. She used her wiles to ensnare Rene Pieston, a lovesick French conscript soldier, and persuaded him to steal the rifle and give it to her. Pieston played sick, hid the rifle and finally delivered it to his captress. She was caught with the rifle in an automobile when frontier guards, evidently warned by counter-spies, went through her belongings. Sophie is in a military prison.

The peace-time penalty for a woman spy caught in the act of betraying a military secret is long imprisonment. She cannot be shot as were Mata Hari, famed H-21 of the German spy service; Felicie Pfandt, "R-17" of the German service, who was caught and executed at Marseilles during the war; or "La Dulcinette" and Marguerite Francillard.

LET 'EM PLAY WITH THAT A WHILE

Lone Star Gas Company and Its Advertising

By HAROLD RATLIFF
Editor Cleburne Times-Review

The Texas Railroad commission recently handed down an opinion in which it devoted some space to a criticism of Lone Star Gas company advertising.

The opinion apparently states that the Lone Star Gas company should not do any advertising because it is only for the purpose of advertising to "increase the gas sales" and such advertising should be paid for only by the distribution companies, then this would eliminate the advertising paid for by the Lone Star Gas company.

To be a legitimate charge to the operating expenses of the public service operations of the Lone Star Gas company, the purpose of advertising should be to increase the gas sales of the company. "It is one of the points cited in the opinion.

"Any expenditure for advertising to increase sales should have been made by the distribution and not by the transmission company," the ruling also says.

In other words this means the state railroad commission is of the opinion that the local distribution companies should pay the advertising bill.

Now the local distribution companies of the Lone Star Gas system are unable to bear the entire burden of necessary gas utility advertising and if this ruling stands it would mean that a large portion of the advertising now done by the Lone Star system would be stopped and in time would affect similar advertising carried by other companies.

The newspapers have two things to sell — news and advertising space. They sell news because the people want it and are willing to buy it and because it is news the people feel it is worth what they are paying for it. They sell advertising space, because business concerns feel that it is a good investment and that they are getting their money's worth.

There is no sentiment attached to paying out your money. You won't contribute 50 cents a month for a newspaper just because you want to help some other fellow make money. You won't take advertising space in the newspaper unless you think you will receive some returns.

The Lone Star Gas company advertises with newspapers because it is a business proposition. There are two out-standing reasons why this buying display space in newspapers. One is that as the natural gas public utility companies are regulated by the people through their elected or appointed representatives, the railroad or corporation commissions and the city councils, they feel they should present to the public, through means of advertising, information about their operations and problems.

In order that the public may have an intelligent conception of the industry which it regulates. The other reason is that natural gas competes with other fuels such as fuel oil, electricity, wood, coal and lignite.

These are the two general reasons. There are many more which we believe justify the gas company in its extensive advertising program now threatened by the railroad commission's order.

For instance the company wants to introduce new appliances, explain company policies, explain rate changes, hold and increase the gas load, to urge safety and advocate economy in the use of natural gas, to assist civic enterprises in stimulating the growth of cities and towns, to advise customers to prepare for changes in weather and seasons, to meet competitive conditions, to give the company a means of expression when misunderstood or unjustly attacked, to aid in selling special appliances, announce holidays and other things of interest to the patrons of the concern.

We look on the Lone Star Gas company as a comprehensive and efficient advertiser, getting results for its money. It will not only help the newspapers but the gas company for the commission's order to prevail.

Texas Topics

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Nov. 1 — The federal government will make its first comprehensive census of the unemployed through a regional organization for south-western states just set up at Austin.

Census in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana will in each case be made by the state relief organizations through county administrators.

The work as a whole will be supervised by a headquarters staff at Austin, of which George H. Young of the U. S. census bureau is chief and John O. Gregg, statistician of Texas relief commission, Dr. S. D. Ozer and Miss Ruth Kolling, assistants.

General compilation of the reports for the five states will be carried on at Austin.

A specialized phase of the national relief program, the handling of transient relief, is now being well organized, with Marshall B. Thompson named as transient relief director for Texas.

The federal government will handle transient relief on a nationwide scale, without calling on local relief organizations. Local authorities will assist in segregating the transients from local relief charges.

Well-informed opinion among those in contact with federal patronage inclines to the idea that an internal revenue collector for the Austin district—the southern district of Texas—will not be named for several months. The office became vacant two months after returning to it. He had been collector during the Wilson administration.

Sen. Morris Sheppard has endorsed Frank Scofield of Hillsboro for the post, as he did back in March, when Sen. Tom Connally's endorsement won the post for Judge Walker.

Sen. Connally runs for re-election next year. He has chosen the dry side of the prohibition issue. He needs votes; particularly south Texas votes, and labor votes. It has not been officially announced that he has extended his support to Mr. Scofield.

Scofield was finance director for the democratic national campaign in Texas last year. Two factors may militate against him—one that he has not been a resident of the south Texas district; the other that he already has been placed in an important public job, as chairman of the Texas state racing commission.

There is pressure on Sen. Connally now to favor the appointment of some-one who will have large influence upon the labor vote.

It is regarded in Texas as a fortunate selection made by the league of Texas Municipalities when it chose former City Mgr. Adam R. Johnson of Austin as a representative to sponsor municipal public works projects. Mr. Johnson recently has completed an arduous voluntary and unpaid service as head of the national recovery organization set-up in his home city.

He is a hard-headed business man, a conservative to whom ballyhoo and promotion are foreign; and when he submits a federal public works project, his presentation will inspire the confidence, that it is sound and worthy.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

When all citizens have pride in their home city, they will have a better city.

When they are filled with ambition to have a better, bigger and busier city, they will cooperate together in a way that will make their ambitions become realities.

Spasmodic work on behalf of citizens brings no results; constant effort is the price that must be paid for steady community growth.

Forgotten Sweetheart

By MARY RAYMOND

JOHN WARRING, pretty Memphis girl, and BOB WESTON, son of a millionaire, were in Memphis and had to leave for New York.

JOHN WARRING, John's younger sister, he is an excellent pianist and in which JERRY COBBENT, ER, her escort, is killed. Heart-sick, Pat runs away to New York. John follows and begins a search for her sister and a search for a job. John is engaged as a masked singer at a night club. Handsome BARNEY BLAKE, owner of the club, gives a steady job to John.

John finds Pat very ill. During Pat's convalescence John and Barney are drawn closer together. John, believing Bob is lost to her, promises to marry Barney.

Pat becomes a secretary and soon she realizes she loves her instead of John. John sings at a society entertainment for charity and discovers she is in Bob's home. Barbara, a visitor to the club, sees John and recognizes her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXX

THE ballroom was completely filled, Barney told Joan. It was the biggest turnout for such an affair that he had ever seen. Barney was giving short, emphatic directions to the property man, telling the electrician just how much time should intervene between the colored lights in order to give the illusion of a mermaid rising from the rainbow mist.

He stepped to Joan's side, drawing the curtain aside a little. "There's your audience, Joan," he said. Everything seemed to be whirling before her eyes, the faces beyond merging into a blur. She clung weakly to the heavy curtain, fighting for control. And then, her gaze steady, she saw Bob. His face looked thinner, sterner. There was a restlessness in his gray eyes. Joan's heart was beating wildly. She wanted to cry out to him. They were all seated in the box on the left—Bob, his father, and Barbara Courtney.

The lights died in the ballroom. The curtain moved against Joan's hand and she heard Barney speaking. "Ready, Joan?" Then faint lights in opalescent shades bathed the stage in soft color. A central light threw a steady glow upon the slender figure in dazzling green.

The figure appeared to be a sea siren emerging from her blue bath in a mist of rose and gold and gray. It was a scene of amazing beauty. Then from the lips of the young singer came crystal clear notes, the alluring song of a mermaid haunted by a glimpse of a sailor lad. The lovely bit of song went on to its close—to resounding applause.

The change that came over Bob Weston's face was electric. Barbara, sitting beside him, noticed this nervously. The careless, indifferent attitude vanished. Bob was leaning forward in his seat, staring at the masked singer. Then, as though remembering something, he leaned back in his seat again.

"She has a lovely voice," Mr. Weston said. "When Olive asked if they could use the ballroom I suggested that the masked girl would bring out a good crowd. I had heard her sing once."

"Did you old rouser?" Bob said. "Didn't know you went in for night clubs."

"I don't ordinarily. But this girl is different."

BARBARA spoke up then. "They say Barney Blake, who owns the 'Jigsaw,' is mad about her,"

ANSWERS TO TODAY'S THREE GUESSES

ADMIRAL PEARY made his first trip to the ARCTIC in 1892. MEXICO received her INDEPENDENCE from SPAIN on SEPT. 15, 1810. CANADA is the second largest WHEAT growing country.

The first thing necessary toward making a city better is cooperation. All citizens should be interested in attracting new business concerns and new capital to their city. The benefits derived does much toward bringing continued prosperity.

The man who has made a study of his home city is a better booster than the man who has not.

The man who knows all about his city can be counted on as a community worker.

Boosting for the home city pays bigger, quicker and steadier dividends than anything you can do.

It doesn't take eloquence to interest people in a live city; they know one when they see it. The idea is to get them to come and see it.

Courtesy to visitors means much to a city. A citizen who thinks it isn't worth while to be courteous to visitors isn't worth while to his home city.

LOVE OF A WINNER

We, Cisco High School, love winners not losers. The losers may "put up" a good fight and play fair and square, but we love winners no matter how they played the game.

Is this true in our school? Have we made that kind of impression upon others? Were you for the football team when they were losing? Was it? May the gods of luck be against us forever if we were against that team before the victorious game.

Now since our team won we can pat them on the back and say "Our Boys" and praise them. They are the winners. When they need our support most is when the odds are against them and not after the going's easy.

Just suppose we had lost that game. How many of us would be loyal and faithful to those men of the gridiron? Would we be so eager to spend our money to watch them be defeated the next time?

If some few have this attitude in C. H. S., it hurts our school and football team. We must wipe out the love of the winner, if it exists, to preserve decency and honor. This not only applies to football but it also applies to our work in the classroom or any phase of life that has a winner and loser.

To fight and clean this out of our school, we must place Decency and Honor upon the pedestal that once was occupied by the Winner. The one that loses the battle courageously and honestly is the hero instead of the one that wins an easy victory unfairly.

The Lobos Bust The Buckaroos

The Lobos trampled the "Big Green Wave" for a score of 14-7 Friday, October 27, at Chesley field. The Lobos made 15 first downs to Breckenridge 13.

Magness kicked off to Cisco with John St. John receiving it. The ball went back and forth for the first quarter with Taylor doing most of the running, punting, and passing for Breckenridge. Barker and Harrison did most of the running for Cisco, with Harrison doing the passing for the Lobos and Bill McMahon doing the punting. In the first of the second quarter Taylor passed to Hodges, who ran to the one yard line. Taylor plunged over the line for a touchdown and Hodges kicked the goal.

The Buckaroos leading 7-0 seemed to give the Lobos a new spirit of fight. The Lobos began a march with Harrison and Barker carrying the ball. Clark fumbled for Breckenridge and Market recovered on the Breckenridge 10 yard line. Barker then made five yards, Harrison made one yard and McMahon made a touchdown and Harrison kicked the point.

In the middle of the third quarter Barker returned a punt 55 yards for a touchdown only to have it called back for clipping. The next play Harrison passed to Johnson who ran 35 yards for another touchdown. Harrison kicked the point. The Lobos, then leading by 14 to 7, settled down to a definite game of football. They kept the ball in their possession the rest of the game.

It would not be right to try to pick out any one outstanding player because every Lobo did his part. The entire faculty had assembled and were ready for business!

After a short business session Pumpkin pie a la mode and coffee were served. Noise-makers of various sorts made their appearance

Harriet Angus, Charles Clark, Jasper Qualls, and Harold Sharp of Randolph were visitors Monday.

Coach Shelley is another one of our teachers who can put over these pep talks.

O. H. Russell was a visitor in C. H. S. Friday. Glad to see that some of our Lobo spirit of C. H. S. has gone to citizens of Cisco.

Ilene's Inklings

Wanted--a cute lil' blond freshman girl (with or without blue eyes) experienced in carrying senior books. For position apply to Judson Russell.

Now many of the students were very studiously inclined Friday; due to the fact that the pep they worked up Thursday night was still croppin' out.

The freshmen surrendered themselves into servitude Monday at noon and the seniors began lordly it over them without further delay. A senior has but to say jump and the fish ask how high. There ain't no justice. (A freshman's viewpoint)

Happy days are here again. The old Lobo spirit has returned and everything looks rosy. Not such a bad old world after all!

And then there was Wendell Russell, so absent minded he went to the commercial room to study and thirty minutes later remembered that he was supposed to be in geometry class.

Poor J. E. Wyatt still poppin' off jokes that made their debut during the war--World war--and perhaps the Civil war! his jokes apparently have been handed down from generation to generation. (They're stale)

Some girl wanted stinging eyes because they are different. That brilliant personality, Job Bob Whiston, popped up and said, "An ape's different but who wants to look like an ape anyway."

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATORS CAN TAKE IT

Can our Supt. "take it"? Ask any member of the faculty! Mr. Cluck, with no regard for Halloween or plans previously made for the evening called the first general faculty meeting for All Ghosts' eve. Imagine his surprise when at the appointed hour for meeting a parade of ghosts, Indians, clowns, small (?) children, gypsy girls, Japs, and Chinese came filing into the library!

According to various teachers the sweetest moment of revenge came when it became apparent that Mr. Cluck was still waiting for the teachers to arrive before sending the pranking pupils, who were trying to crash the meeting, away. It was not for several minutes that he realized the entire faculty had assembled and were ready for business!

As Mr. Hodges was explaining a geometry problem in the first period three low geometry class his voice changed.

Mr. Hodges: "I guess my voice is changing." Glen Collum: "Hum! Second childhood."

Question: Why are the Lobos like farmers? Answer: Because they plow down the field, plant the ball across the goal, and reap the victory.

Miss Andres: If some of you children knew you were going to be hanged most of you would be talking until the man shot you.

OUT OUR WAY

Here an' There

Let's Beat Eastland! We won! Doesn't that sound good! Lobos, we are so proud of you. Remember we are for you just as strong as we were before the Breckenridge game. Let's beat Eastland!

Welcome Mr. Varnell. We are glad to see you haven't forgotten us. The old spirit of C. H. S. called Mr. Varnell a hundred and twenty miles over the Bucks.

Say what happened to everyone's voices. You didn't lose them at the Breckenridge game by any chance, did you?

Pep! Who said our teachers didn't have any pep? We are proud of Mr. Bird. Can he make pep talks? And how!

By the Eastland game we are going to have two of the cutest mascots. You must all go and see them.

May we take this opportunity to thank Judson Russell and his assistants for all they did in bringing back the old Lobo spirit to C. H. S.

Tylen Warrington spent Sunday in Rising Star.

The algebra pupils (fifth period) said they wished Mr. Truy would teach them quite often.

Dorothy Tucker spent last weekend in Anson.

Harriet Angus, Charles Clark, Jasper Qualls, and Harold Sharp of Randolph were visitors Monday.

Coach Shelley is another one of our teachers who can put over these pep talks.

O. H. Russell was a visitor in C. H. S. Friday. Glad to see that some of our Lobo spirit of C. H. S. has gone to citizens of Cisco.

Hazel Martin of Abilene, was a visitor Monday.

We heard that Dixie entertained several Randolph students in her home the first of this week. She and Edna are seen quite often out at Randolph I guess that it is that certain something.

Don't you like the cute cards the senior and freshmen are wearing. We know you wish you could wear one.

Did you say our teachers couldn't yell! You should have heard Miss Chambliss and Miss Daniel yell when the Lobos made the second touchdown.

Harold Sharp and Pierce Thomason were visitors in C. H. S. last week.

What a pep squad--what a stunt! Pep squad, we are proud of you and of your sponsors.

Dixie and Edna certainly seemed to enjoy themselves at the Randolph Halowen party Tuesday night.

Cisco high is very proud of Chuck Van Horn, former "Lobo" star, who is captain of one of the freshmen football teams of Texas university.

Didn't you like the new "suspenders" our principal wore last week?

We think that we have the two best coaches in the district.

We certainly do have a swell bunch of freshmen this year.

Some students think their teacher is crazy about them just because she wants to see them every afternoon.

We wonder why La Verne Purvis is almost late to school almost every day at noon.

Ina Fae, aren't those initials on that fountain pen which you are using--E. W.?

Florence Jensen, Ethel Jensen, Evelyn Halbert and Grace Bradshaw were visitors in C. H. S. last week.

We wish that the students of C. H. S. would contribute more news to the Howl Box. If you haven't been mentioned in the "Howl" say something about yourself.

Max Powell was a visitor in C. H. S. Monday.

Misses Andres, Robinson and Chambliss spent Monday evening in Abilene.

CHILI-ITALY TRADE ACCORD SEEMS LIKELY

By FRANCESCO REA
United Press Staff Correspondent
ROME, Nov. 1 — Chile and Italy will conclude a new commercial accord in the near future. It will be a trade clearing intended principally to insure the export of a fixed quantity of Chilean nitrates to Italy every year.

The first step towards starting negotiations for the conclusion of the new agreement was taken by Enrique Villegas, Chilean British ambassador. He came to Rome and had a long conference with Mussolini. A memorandum of Chile's proposals was presented by Charles Erzuriz, Chile's commercial attaché here, to Mussolini as head of the ministry of corporations, which has jurisdiction over the trade activities.

Hon. Alberto Asquini, under-secretary of the same ministry, and Comendador Eugenio Anzilotti head of the industrial production and trade exchange bureau of the same ministry, and Bonifacio Ciancarelli, head of the economic affairs bureau of the foreign office, were requested to study the memorandum, with the assistance of other experts.

The memorandum contains the following points:
One—A guarantee fund of 24,000,000 lire to be used for the payment of the Italian credit-frozen in Chile and for the purchase of Italian goods.
Two—Purchase of hemp and jute sacks in Italy, to be used as containers for the nitrates exported to Italy.

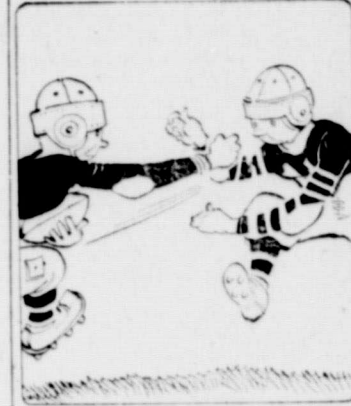

Three—Preference to Italian shipping interests in the transportation of the merchandise to be exported to Italy.
Four—Pledge on the part of Italy to import at least 60,000 tons of Chilean nitrates a year.

Ambassador Villegas and Attache Erzuriz are conducting negotiations on behalf of Chile. Italy is still considering counter-proposals.

OWL STOLE BAG.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 1 — Owl and duck hunting is quite a sport, take it from Harry Garrett, Garrett, on a recent hunting trip, bagged a large mallard. Before he could pick it up, a giant owl swooped down, and flapped away to a nearby tree with the duck in its talons. Threats proving futile, Garrett shot the owl—and got his duck.

CLEAN FOOTBALL

JOCK SUTHERLAND

THE stiff-arm, when properly used, is a valuable weapon for a ball carrier—but when illegally used, it is the cause of a lot of broken noses on the gridiron.
Rules state that a ball carrier may use his hands or arms to ward off tacklers. But when a runner deliberately doubles up his fist and uses it on the end of his stiff arm, he is guilty of illegal use of the hands.
It's hard for a referee to discern this action in long runs, when a ball carrier in the open is away down the field, stiff-arming the secondary defense. The referee has to be right on the heels of the runner to see if his fist is used.
This is impossible, sometimes, and the only remedy for this unsportsmanlike conduct is for the runner himself to play clean football.
Sketch shows the illegal stiff-arm.

NEGRO DEAD.

CHRICHVILLE, O., Nov. 1 — Recent death of Joseph Smith, 76-year-old negro, recalls the day a quarter-century ago when he astonished the sporting blades by running a ten-mile race with a horse—and winning. The race was from Chrichville to New Philadelphia, and legend has it that the horse was all in a lather at the end of the course, while Smith barely was winded.

REWARD FOR SWAN.

BELTON, Nov. 1 — A prodigious swan that left its home on Lake Bassel near here has been the object of a two-week hunt by city officials and unemployed. The fact that a $7.50 reward for the swan's return was offered by the city manager, caused scores of unemployed to join the search. The bird was last seen floating lazily down the Leon river.

Huge Work Program Completed by C. C. C.

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 1 — A tremendous program of work that has been required several years to accomplish under ordinary conditions was completed by civilian conservation corps workers in region one of the national forests this summer.

A report covering work of 75 camps in Montana, northern Idaho and eastern Washington to Sept. 30 showed that 262 gained from 5 to 10 pounds, 285 gained from 10 to 15 pounds, and 77 gained 16 pounds or more.

Their road and trail work included 555 miles of roads completely built, and 154 miles partly constructed; 766 miles of roads maintained; 124 miles of trails built; and 650 miles of trails maintained.

Nine forest lookout towers were built and three emergency airplane landing fields cleared. During the three months the men worked they also spent approximately 11,000 man days fighting forest fires, and 3,512 man days in tree nursery work.

Vocational Class For Negroes Here

A cooking school for the colored women of Cisco will open early this month under the supervision of Rachel Smith Haynes, principal of the colored school, it was announced. The course is the first of a variety of vocational guidance subjects which it is hoped to add to the local school, which will be the second of its character in Texas. Students from 18 to 67 years of age will be admitted, it was announced. "The foods class," said Mrs. Haynes "will be the only class in operation this session, but we are hoping to work up to other courses. There is an intensely practical purpose behind the founding of vocational courses. Not only do they take men out of the breadline but in such cases as this wives of these men can be instructed in the art of balancing the family budget and thereby make the family income go further."

Bronchial Troubles Need Creomulsion

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medicinal discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while creosote goes on to the stomach, absorbed into the blood, and attacks the seat of the trouble. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and is excellent for building up the system after colds and flu. Your own druggist is authorized to refund your money on the spot if your cough or cold is not relieved by Creomulsion—Adv.
