Wets Planning Hard Liquor Legislation at Special Session

STUDY MEANS TO GET TOPIC BEFORE HOUSE

AUSTIN, Jan. 26 — How best to get hard liquor legislation before the special session of the legislature which meets Monday was being planned by wets today. A special session theoretically can consider only topics submitted by the governor. She ignored the liquor question in her call. Should she continue to refuse to submit it, there are still other ways in which it can be acted upon. It has become practice in the house for a speaker to pass on to the house itself for decision any point of order claiming a bill is not within the governor's call. If the wets have a majority they can overrule the point of order. Courts also have held that if a governor signs a bill passed by a special session, the act is valid even though the topic had not been submitted. Still another possible plan of getting an amendment of the Dean liquor law before the legislature was suggested. Issuance of more relief bonds has been submitted. With this necessarily goes provision for their retirement. A hard liquor tax to retire the relief bonds would open the way to lightening the Dean law penalties and provisions. A tax on transportation would be legal. The constitutional provision only extends to manufacture and sale. The present law against transportation is merely a legislative act and can be changed.

If the Florida oranges grow sweeter this season it may be as a result of the reign of lovely Miss Marjorie Giddens, 17 (above). She's just been chosen queen of the Florida Orange festival at Winter Haven.

Factor Tells Story Of His Kidnaping

CHICAGO, Jan. 26 — John (Jake the Barber) Factor today retold the story of his kidnaping from the witness chair as Roger Touhy and three henchmen, charged with the abduction, watched with smirking smiles. In a low voice the colorful promoter, who is charged with fleeing English investors of millions of dollars, told how he was seized by a gang early in the morning of last July 1. Before testifying, Factor announced he was ready to identify three of the defendants as his abductors. He said he could identify Touhy, Albert Kator and Gloomy Gus Schaefer.

RESIGNATION OF WESTBROOK IS EXPECTED SOON

Reed, assistant state director, formerly of Galveston, will automatically become acting director. A permanent successor must be elected by the Texas Relief commission, which is to meet here on February 12. The governor's husband said he had no idea who will be named.

FEBRUARY 1ST LAST DATE TO PAY LICENSES

EASTLAND, Jan. 26 — Meyers and Daniel state highway patrolmen for this section, have issued a warning to automobile and truck owners and operators against failure to pay car license before February 1. The patrolmen said the public seems to have the idea that the law regarding the car license registration date was changed by the recent legislature and that there is yet plenty of time for payment without penalty. Cars and trucks not registered by February 1 cannot be registered without the payment of a 20 per cent penalty unless the application for a license is accompanied by an affidavit by the owner that the car was not operated during the previous month of January. Many people have the erroneous idea that if the car is not operated after February 1 it may be registered at any time after that date without the payment of a penalty although it was operated during the month of the previous January. The highway patrolmen also call attention to the fact that there is no light testing fees or paid this year, the legislature having repealed that law.

The highway patrolmen are receiving many complaints about "one-eyed" cars on the highways and are asking the public to see that their cars are fully equipped with the lights required by law and warning that if the "one-eyed" cars are not looked after by the owners they will have to do it themselves.

Prince Is Just "Teddy" to Her

Just because she's a humble Londoner is no reason why Mrs. E. McGill can't be intimate with royalty if she wants to. When the Prince of Wales paid a surprise visit to the Oval House club for Unemployed in London, and shook hands with officials, Mrs. McGill piped up: "Well, Teddy, serve us all alike. 'Right you are!' replied the Prince, and shook hers too.

LOTIEF WOULD RESUBMIT HIS GAS TAX BILL

If the governor submits a topic that gives the opportunity, Rep. Cecil Lotief, of Cross Plains, will resubmit his bill to tax natural gas above 300,000,000 cubic feet each quarter, he told the Daily News today before leaving Sunday for Austin where a special session of the Forty-third legislature convenes Monday. Lotief said that he will change the tax rate fixed in the bill from one-half cent per 1,000 cubic feet to three-fourths of a cent. He estimates this will produce a revenue of between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 annually more than enough to amortize the state relief bond issue if the entire $20,000,000 allowed by constitutional amendment is issued. Proceedings of the bill would be devoted to that service. Pointing out that the state of Texas last year realized only $115,000 from gross production taxes of natural gas, Lotief asserted that between 90 and 100 billion cubic feet of gas annually leaves the state of Texas for consumption in other states thus depleting Texas of one of its greatest natural resources with only a scant return to the state as a result. He denied that the bill would impose additional taxes upon local natural gas consumption, or that it would oppress the "little fellow" whose well produces only a few million feet daily. The provision exempting the first 300,000,000 cubic feet each quarter practically eliminates this area and other areas where the production is practically confined to domestic consumption from the effects of the measure, he argued. On the other hand, he averred, it would affect the billions of feet annually leaving the state for foreign consumption and thus return the state some revenue from a resource which it not now receiving. He also said that if the proceeds of such a tax are earmarked for service of the relief bonds, sale of these bonds would be the more readily assured. Lotief, without committing himself to a viewpoint, indicated that extension of the period for payment of the period for payment of the automobile license taxes this year would serve little good suggesting that the license fees would be about as hard to pay at the expiration of the proposed extension as now.

4 GANGSTERS CAPTURED AT TUCSON, ARIZ.

BULLETIN TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 26 — John Dillinger and three members of his middlewestern gang, accused of a score of crimes ranging from murder to robbery and jail breaking, were arraigned here today and bail fixed at $100,000 each.

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 26 — Five deputies mounted machine guns around the county jail today, guarding four of the mid-west's most desperate gangster killers, all captured by a small town police force. In the jail, extensively groomed, were John Dillinger, leader, Russell Clark, Charles Makley and Harry Pierpont, accused of a score of robberies and murders, a prison break and a jail delivery in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. They had eluded picked metropolitan detectives only to fall prisoners in a "thick town". From them police took five machine guns, numerous pistols, 12,000 rounds of ammunition, $26,000 in cash and $12,000 in jewels. Officers searched the city today for two other members of the gang believed still hiding. Four women companions also were arrested. Second only in importance to Dillinger, ranked by police as "No. 1 public enemy" since the imprisonment of Al Capone, was the capture of Pierpont, deadly trigger man, described by Chicago police as "kill crazy".

BARROW TRIO STEAL TERRELL CAR, BELIEVE

DALLAS, Jan. 26 — That elusive trio, Clyde Barrow, Raymond Hamilton and Bonny Parker, simply won't let Texas officers rest. They keep bobbing up here and there, but when the officers are here they are there. Last night they reportedly put in an appearance at Terrell, Texas, 30 miles east of here, where the automobile of Mrs. H. O. Golden was stolen from her private garage while she watched helplessly from a window of her home. Mrs. Golden later viewed a picture of Barrow and told police she was positive one of those who took her car was that man.

Two hundred or more attended the lecture by Commodore Herbert Hartley, presented at the high school auditorium last night under the auspices of the City Federation of Women's clubs. The audience was drawn in spite of a number of competing attractions, and the club women expressed themselves as well pleased with the result. Commodore Hartley, who, until his retirement, was commander of the giant U. S. S. Leviathan, one of the world's biggest ships and pride of the American Merchant marine, was introduced by Dr. C. Q. Smith, presiding officer of the Cisco district of the Methodist church. Presiding was Mrs. G. B. Kelly, president of the city federation. For more than an hour the audience sat in rapt attention as the famous sea master related experiences that had to do with many outstanding world personalities and members of the royal families of Europe, including Queen Marie, of Roumania, who made her trip to America aboard his ship.

Close Secrecy Maintained in Bremer Case

ST. PAUL, Jan. 26 — An air of fear and anxiety was gone today from the household of Edward Bremer, 36, kidnaped banker, but police and relatives maintained absolute secrecy in regard to late developments. Both police and federal agents made public statements indicating they were not interfering in any way with the efforts of the victim's father to negotiate the safe return of his son for $200,000 ransom. Reports persisted, however, that the ransom had been paid and that Bremer would be returned to his family before Saturday night.

100,000 MORE RE-CALLED IN DETROIT AREA

DETROIT, Jan. 26 — An industrial army of 325,000 workers—100,000 of them recruited from the unemployed of last year—answered automobile factory whistles today as the industry mobilized to meet the latest new car buying wave in five years. Spurred by an unexpected demand, exceeded only in the boom years, the industry is rapidly absorbing its idle labor. Manufacturers report that they are recalling thousands of their former workers every day. They expected employment figures will approach 1928 and 1929 levels by the end of February. The huge General Motors corporation has a total employment of 33,000 more workers now than at this time last year. The Ford Motor company, leading the production parade because of a month's start on other companies, is working 90,000 men in the Detroit area alone.

NEGROES WILL HAVE SHARE IN BIRTHDAY BALL

Bearman of the Cisco Birthday Ball for the President, said today. M. L. Oliver is chairman of the committee on arrangements for an entertainment at the St. Mark (Colored) church where the colored people will gather for a program and refreshments of cake and hot chocolate Tuesday evening. Meanwhile plans for the Birthday ball at the Country club are shaping up in a fine fashion with prospects for the same of 150 more tickets at $1.50 each. Mr. Bearman said, "If the white people will show as much interest in putting over this tribute to President Roosevelt and helping him provide a place where crippled children may be helped back to strength as the colored people are showing in voluntary coming forward and asking for a chance to help, the job of putting over the program would be a pleasure," said Mr. Bearman. H. L. Dyer is chairman of the ticket sales and tickets may be secured from him at the Community Natural Gas company offices.

PRES. MOSER AND THE COTTON CO-OPS

Cotton co-ops favor a tax on all cotton grown by "hold-outs." C. O. Moser sends from headquarters in the city of New Orleans an interesting statement. As a substitute for the Bankhead licensing plan the American Co-operative association has suggested that farmers who fail to accept the voluntary acreage control program be taxed heavily on their entire production, and that growers that accept the voluntary control plan be taxed on the excess which they produce above a given quota. Executive Moser says this plan would eliminate danger of harvesting a large yield on a reduction acreage. In addition to taxing the entire production of non-cooperating farmers who do co-operate and "a substantial tax to make it unprofitable to produce beyond the allotment." Declaring his organization represents 260,000 organized growers Moser asserted that "the overwhelming majority of the producers voluntarily cooperate but that a few chislers attempt to profit unfairly." Public sentiment, he said, would support any legal attempts to force these small minorities into line and "almost any penalty which may be assessed against them will meet approval of the majority." A comprehensive program of increased consumption was suggested by the co-operative officials who said, "Such a program would seize the imagination and commend the support of all classes of our people." Moreover, the co-operative statement favored continuation of the processing tax "as a means of providing funds for inducing farmers to cooperate voluntarily in adjustment of production to demand" and also to pay rental and other cash benefits in order to "offset in part the increased cost of production and living due to artificial prices of things farmers buy."

NEW DEMANDS OF THE COTTON CO-OPS

A bulletin from headquarters carries the news that spokesmen for more than a million members of farm co-operatives recently urged the farm credit administration to establish a special unit for research, service and educational work in agricultural operations. Besides taking for expansion of co-operative service work the co-op council declared that "interest rates of the banks for co-operatives should be reduced to a three per cent minimum in order to supply credit at a rate comparable to that obtained by many co-operatives from commercial banks." It appears from the above that many commercial bankers are lending cheap money to the tillers of the soil. All of which should be placed in the record.

"A SMOTHERING MAJORITY"

All members of the federal house of representatives are facing re-election in November of this year. It is significant that the Roosevelt devaluation bill swept through the house to passage "by a smothering majority of 360 to 40." Of course republican house leaders complained time and again of zug rule. They charged the democratic leaders with "ignorance of the measure they were passing." Then the show-down came and the smothering act was registered. According to the wired reports, Rep.-at-Large George B. Terrell was the lone Texas congressman who voted against the Roosevelt money bill. All other Texas members solidly supported the president. Thus it was a Texas vote of 20 to 1 for the devaluation bill. It is remarkable to say the least, for the reason herewith given. Sixty-eight republicans voted with the president in addition to all the five farm-laborer members.

That is 68 republicans stepped over to the Roosevelt side and voted with the democrats who had been branded "with ignorance of the measure they were passing" by the house leaders of the republicans. As a climax the five farm-laborer members from the northwest and the far west plumped their votes on the side of "reevaluation and monetary reform."

Now the senate has the measure. Three democratic senators are said to be in direct opposition to the Roosevelt monetary plan: Carter Glass of Virginia, Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma and Adams of Colorado. In the remote past Thomas P. Gore, the famous blind senator, kissed goodbye to old Mississippi and lit in the interesting town of Corsicana, away down here in Texas. Populism was in flower and Thomas Pryor Gore was one of its snowy blossoms. He was a fierce young orator. He was a radical or radical. He was not outclassed by that veteran of many battles, Cyclone Davis. He was for the Ocala demands—"the populist Bible." It declared for the starting of the printing presses and "giving the people what they wanted." Populist Gore moved on to Oklahoma territory. He became a democratic leader. When statehood came he became a United States senator as a Simon Pure democrat. In World war time he failed to be re-elected. He came back with William H. Murray. Time makes marvelous changes. The fiery populist orator of bygone days has evolved into a conservative of conservatives as to the revaluation of the gold in a dollar.

Sen. Gore is honest. He battles for his convictions. He takes a chance at all times. He marches on. He represents a commonwealth said to be overwhelmingly for the New Deal president and the New Deal. He is responsible to his constituents. Carter Glass is responsible to his constituents. Adams of Colorado is responsible to his constituents. At least, they are not fence riders.

MORE TIME FOR BUILDING AND LOAN ASSNS.

Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson has extended the financial moratorium on building and loan associations from Feb. 1, 1934, to April 1, 1934, inclusive. The moratorium does not apply to such corporations where obligations do not exceed 75 per cent of the capital stock. State Banking Commr. E. C. Brand said legislative acts declaring moratoriums with reference to collection of real estate notes required his department to preserve the assets of all such financial institutions until the effect of such legislation can be determined. A very wise plan of procedure, to say the least.

THE FORGOTTEN LETTERS

Westbrook Announces Additional Funds for Relief

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD.
Col. Lawrence Westbrook, Texas relief and civil works director, made a flying trip to Washington where he interviewed Administrator Hopkins. According to Washington dispatches carried by The American Statesman, the CWA approved grants which prevented dropping 100,000 men from civil works Monday morning. Col. Westbrook said the Hopkins set-up granted $200,000 weekly for team and truck drivers and $250,000 weekly for purpose of materials. Let him tell it: "The lack of funds for these purposes would have put 100,000 men out of jobs instantly over and above the curtailment already ordered in the administration stagger system."

Administrator Hopkins continues on the job. He had announced a few days ago that thereafter all expenditures for materials and the like in states "must be made with specific approval of Washington." Speaking of the new grants, the chairman of the Texas relief and civil works projects made this statement: "These grants will enable us to carry forward our road program and the various projects requiring new materials on substantially the same basis as in the past."

A reminder that Texas banks are purchasers of additional bond funds. Indeed, Dallas and Ft. Worth and Houston banks have taken over the balance of the $2,375,000 issue Fred F. Florence of Dallas is chairman of the Texas relief bond committee. He made the announcement.

It is said that money is without a soul. It is not true. There are many men in this grand old commonwealth who handle money and make use of it on the side of humanity when the coil ascends from the throats of those who are in need of succor or sustenance "when the wolf is barking at the door."

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE
Commodore Hartley made a good job last night of pulling against a rare combination of competing attractions when he drew an audience of 200 or more to the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock. The former captain of the mammoth U. S. S. Leviathan steamship playing between New York and Clerbourg, France, came to Cisco to tell the housewives they should use more cotton. He ran into a combination of Baptist ministers, Mae West and the Brunk's Comedians.

The ministers "retreat" which closes this afternoon at the First Baptist church, was ranked as competitor No. 1, since the mission of the commander was paid the tribute of appealing to the class of audience that would be attracted to the loftier aims of the religious institution. The "retreat," a new departure in religious activities, was primarily for ministers of the Baptist denomination who came to escape the demands of their pastoral functions in meditation and inspirational services.

However, such has been the high quality of the sermons preached, the lectures presented and the devotionally observed that the open house invitation to the Cisco folks was literally accepted.

Some of the outstanding characters of Baptist pulpits in the state have been here for the series which began Monday evening. Their association with Cisco people as well as what they have had to say from the pulpits has made a profound impression upon Cisco people. The Rev. E. S. James is to be congratulated upon bringing this splendid gathering to Cisco. No church convention or gathering of ministers ever left any bad taste in a community, or any influence behind that proved detrimental to the town. On the contrary, such gatherings have enriched the community with an influence that is healthful and uplifting.

Which suggests the further remark that going to a church service never cost anyone remorse. A church is one door from which a person may come in the full view of the public eye and feel good about it.

Commander Hartley is an interesting personality. The commander of a great ocean liner holds a social position conferred by the high responsibility of the duties he must discharge. The weight of responsibility for the safety and efficient operations of a floating steel hulk nearly 1,000 feet long, teeming with a population half that of Cisco, and equipped with all the utilities and conveniences as well as the commodities necessary for several days isolation from land is the weight of responsibility for the safety and the efficient operation of such a mass of detached and transient life is a staggering thing. That so slight a person as Commander Hartley was able to bear that load and go peacefully to sleep aboard his floating charge in mid-Atlantic at night, argues the quality of character and nerve that can be contained in a small item of humanity.

The part that impresses me, however, is that a man who has achieved in his lifetime such a position should be so genuinely affable and so pleasantly approachable. Everyone who met him found him as genuinely interested in the contact as he or she, eager to listen and to talk, eager to enlarge the boundaries of his acquaintanceship and, if possible, his friendships.

Which calls to mind a topic upon which H. L. Dyer Community Natural Gas-company manager here, and I were talking this morning. No

To Demonstrate Mental Powers

The "Great Stuckey" with Brunk's Comedians, will demonstrate his uncanny mental powers tonight at the Brunk's tent on Eighth street near the Viaduct. Stuckey has been able to locate many lost articles and missing relatives for residents of Cisco, but he lays no claim to supernatural gifts. His study of astrology and human and applied psychology enables him to form his deductions. He will answer answers questions at the tent tonight. His bendancy has been evidenced by the constant flow of people calling at the tent to interview him personally.

CHAPTER XX
THEY had been established in the little blue-roofed house for two weeks now and life had taken on a different hue. Was it possible, Gypsy thought, awakening in her narrow green bed, looking out at the interlocking branches of apple trees just beyond her window, was it possible that 14 days ago she had been possessed by a very madness of despair and sickness?

Yes, it was a new Gypsy who moved about the bare, neat little rooms. Sometimes in the evenings it was cool enough to have a fire lighted on the hearth and neighbors dropped in, friendly people who lived down the road and wanted to share their largesse of flowers and advice with the newcomers.

One afternoon she was sitting in the garden swing, shelling peas into a wooden bowl, happily planning a dinner of chops and salad and custard when she heard the purr of an expensive motor in the drive. She looked up hastily to see an expensively shod and stockinged foot emerge from the tonneau, and threw her apron over the peas, hating herself for the snobbish impulse that prompted the gesture but unable to prevent herself from doing it.

Presently the clack of high heels sounded on the flagstone walk and Gypsy rose to greet her visitor. Her eyes widened.

color. What was it Marko had said to her the other night? "You'd like some wild bird... Bird of paradise, flashing by, Marko said things like that, made you feel young, precocious, indubitably desirable. She said abruptly, "Marko's wonderful, isn't he Gypsy? I wonder you ever had the courage to refuse him."

Gypsy looked up, surprised. "Why, yes, I suppose he is. But marriage... Her voice trailed away, her eyes were on the glossy foliage of the Claudius Perard rose bush just under the living room window. Marriage with Marko brought her out of the question, her rebellious heart ached. Brought meant Tom and shared simple meals and apricot in a green bowl.

"Why, I couldn't have married Marko," Gypsy said wonderingly. What was Lila thinking of? Lila shrugged her shoulders. It was none of her business, after all.

"Hilda Blanchard often asks about Tom," she said carelessly after a moment. "She thought he was marvelous looking. Hilda's a bit of a devil," she added admiringly.

GYPSEY felt the color rise in her cheeks. She knew it was foolish to care. It was horrid, too, to be so possessive, but she just couldn't help it. She hated that girl who had behaved so outrageously at Lila's dinner party. "She's very attractive," was Gypsy's contribution.

BOY SINGS OPERAS

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25 — Eric Rayner, eight-year-old son of the opera singer, Sydney Rayner, already is following in his father's footsteps by singing arias from "Carmen" and other operas.

CHOWCHILLA, Cal., Jan. 25

The town of Chowchilla, believe it or not, is Smithless. Not a single family of that name was listed in the new telephone directory just distributed here.

GIVE COW TO HOBOES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 26 — Police here found a lost Holstein cow, and for lack of a milkman-policeman, turned her over to the itinerant inhabitants of a nearby hobo "jungle". The hobo was grateful but the police were somewhat dissatisfied because, while looking for the owner, they still had to feed the animal, although they escaped the milking chore.

Escaping Gas of Oil Field is Air Menace

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 26 — Oklahoma City's mammoth oil field, which brought this area riches and trouble, has raised another problem. The magnificent, lighted airway leading from St. Louis to the airport passes directly over the oilfield.

It may be necessary to re-route the flying course to give the field a wide berth.

Tests conducted by the navy and bureau of standards have shown that columns of highly explosive natural gas rise more than a mile high above the field. A single exhaust spark could ignite the gas at that height, resulting in an explosion which would wreck the plane.

Navy planes have already been ordered to fly around petroleum fields.

500 Million Feet

The warning applies particularly to fields discharging as much as 10,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day. Escape from the Oklahoma City field varies up to 500,000,000 cubic feet each day.

Commercial ships since the first wild well have flown high above the field. Safety is practically assured at a height of more than a mile, officials say, because the gas is dissipated in the air at that altitude.

The airway, crossing directly over the city and one of the largest gas plants in Oklahoma, represents a huge investment as a link in the St. Louis-West Coast line. Considerable expense and trouble will result in case a change is made. M. E. Wilkinson, division agent of the United Air Lines, has said.

It is planned to chart a detour route around the field, to reduce the hazards.

Besides constituting a menace in Oklahoma political administration since first opened late in 1928, the field has caused legal snarls and litigation, besides presenting a tremendous problem of safety.
