"MINNESOTA" LAW DRAWN FOR TEXAS

Senate Approves Administration Monetary Bill 66 to 23

SILVER PLAN OF WHEELER IS DEFEATED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 27 — Clearing the path to enactment by voting down earlier in the day a silver purchase amendment offered by Sen. Wheeler, Dem.-Mont., the senate this afternoon passed the president's monetary bill by an overwhelming majority of 66 to 23. The vote came after a day of debate limited under an agreement negotiated last night by the democratic leadership which provided that the senate meet at 11 o'clock and proceed with the general debate until 4, with speeches thereafter limited to 10 minutes for each senator on the bill itself and to 10 minutes on any amendment that might be offered. Senator Wheeler's amendment was an effort to expand the currency by requiring that the treasury purchase 50,000,000 ounces of silver monthly and issue silver certificates for which the metal would furnish the backing. Another senate amendment which would have taken the authority to administer the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund that would be created by the dollar revaluation of the nation's gold stocks out of the hands of the secretary of the treasury and placed the administration in the hands of a board of five was defeated Friday.

RANGERS SEEK SWINDLER WHO OBTAINED $2,250

FORT WORTH, Jan. 27 — State rangers today sought a "confidence man," believed to have worked in this vicinity for the last several months, whose latest trick was to fleece a prominent Fort Worth independent oil dealer out of $2,500. The method employed by the confidence man, rangers said, was the old money machine racket by which the oil dealer was induced to withdraw money from the bank to manufacture other currency. When the money in his possession, the confidence man went for a sandwich. He has not returned. The incident occurred several weeks ago and rangers have been working quietly on the case, believing the suspect to be the same that worked a similar game on a prominent West Texas rancher here last fall, obtaining $5,500.

Ex-Treasurer Found Guilty in Bond Theft

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 27 — Tom Boyd, former Kansas treasurer, was found guilty today on charges of illegally removing $260,000 in bonds from the treasury in connection with the $1,500,000 forged bond scandal uncovered in the state last year. Sentence will be pronounced later.

Amnesia Victim Identified by Wife

FERRILL, Jan. 27 — Mrs. J. J. Truax, St. Paul, Minn., arrived here today and immediately identified her amnesia victim as her husband, St. Paul attorney. Truax had been a guest of the deputy sheriff since he wandered into Ferrill several days ago. The amnesia victim disappeared mysteriously from St. Paul November 26.

ACQUITTED

GALVESTON, Jan. 27 — William Walker, Beaumont business man, was acquitted here today on a charge of slaying Hubert Oxford, friend for 12 years. The jury returned its verdict after 12 hours deliberation.

WEATHER

West Texas—Sunday fair, colder in the panhandle.
East Texas—Cloudy, probably occasional rains east and south portions Sunday.

Society Leader Weds Film Star

A New York society woman became the bride of a film star when Mrs. Christine Lee and Ricardo Cortez were married in Phoenix, Ariz., after a five-month courtship. They are shown here in a Phoenix hotel courtyard after the ceremony. Just see that grip Cortez has on his pretty bride!

Teacher Quits in Whipping Complaint

GRAPEVINE, Tex., Jan. 27 — Miss Miriam Lumpkin, of Dallas, teacher in the public schools here, resigned today after relatives of J. E. Huffman, 11, had complained to the school board that the teacher had whipped the boy with a wood paddle until "he was black and blue." The boy told Assistant District Attorney Cal Estill at Fort Worth that Miss Lumpkin took him into a cloak room and struck him 140 blows with two paddles. Relatives were undecided as to whether they would attempt to prefer charges against Miss Lumpkin.

CABINET QUILTS AS RESULT OF BANK SCANDAL

PARIS, France, Jan. 27 — The cabinet resigned today as a result of public indignation and demonstrations over the Stavisky bank scandal. Premier Chautemps and his ministers quit their posts after a riotous day in which crowds had marched through the streets shouting threats. Led by royalist organizations, the demonstrators had planned an even greater demonstration for tonight. President Lebrun requested Chautemps to attempt the formation of a new cabinet.

President Able to End Subsidy Abuses

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 27 — Full power to correct inequalities and abuses in air and ocean mail subsidy contracts, such as have been revealed by current senate investigation, is possessed by President Roosevelt. In the bustle of emergency programs which has marked the New Deal since its beginnings last March, even Mr. Roosevelt had overlooked a paragraph in the 1933 independent office appropriation bill which armed him with the authority.

Miners Strike Is Marked by Violence

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 27 — Five dynamiting, an incendiary fire, stonings and other violence marked the strike of anthracite miners in the Wyoming valley today. Three houses were damaged by bombs at Plains and two homes were damaged at Larksville.

ASSIGN ARMY OFFICERS TO CWA CONTROL

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 27 — The government today assumed administrative direction of local civil works in a number of cities, by detailing army engineers to take charge of them and banish racketeering from the vast program to provide jobs for the unemployed on useful civic projects. Administrator Harry Hopkins announced the move was two-fold. He said it was intended to promote efficiency on the local undertakings, for which the government has provided money, and to stop the grafting politically-appointed officials who have turned their jobs to mercenary ends. Hopkins made it clear that the appointment of an army engineer to any particular locality did not necessarily imply that there had been graft there.

LAWRENCE SAYS FUNDS SAUFGUARDED

AUSTIN, Jan. 27 — Relief Director Lawrence Westbrook today assured Texans that a constant vigil was being maintained on the expenditure of CWA and relief funds in Texas. "Certain people who are unfriendly to the humanitarian program being conducted by the CWA and FEPA are making charges and sponsoring insinuations of graft and corruption that are utterly unfair and unfounded," Westbrook observed. "In only two counties of our state have cases of felonious proportions been uncovered, and this has been done by investigators of our own staff."

Special Service in Colored Revival

The Rev. J. W. Bailey, state evangelist for the colored Baptist church, will preach at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the St. Mark church, in east Cisco. The sermon will be a special one of the series he is conducting at the church in a revival that closes tonight. White people are invited to attend, and special seats have been reserved.

RED CROSS IS RETURNING TO REAL PURPOSE

With the government taking care of emergency relief needs, the American Red Cross has been able to revert from an unnatural role which it has played over the past few years to its fundamental program of preventive education against disaster and epidemic, said Mrs. Cora V. Shuman, field representative of the Red Cross, here to confer with County Chapter Chairman J. E. Spencer and to organize CWA classes in life saving, home hygiene, and first aid. This educational work is being done in cooperation with the federal government's relief administration. It is accomplished through organization of local committees who assist Red Cross approved health instructors in forming adult classes for instruction under the CWA work relief in education program.

Contestants will write the names of the merchants under the ads and turn the sheet into the Daily News office. No solutions will be accepted after this week, nor will a member of the family of any employee of the News be permitted to enter the contest. Correctness and neatness will be considered in awarding the prizes.

Talley's 'Twin' Rises to Fame

Fame is coming to Rosemarie Brancato, above, almost exactly as it did to Marion Talley. Both are from Kansas City; both made their debuts in the same opera role; and Rosemarie has taken Marion's place in the Chicago Grand Opera cast.

175 MEN, BOYS ATTEND SCOUT RALLY FRIDAY

One hundred and fifty Boy Scouts and 25 men attended the Boy Scout Rally for the northern district of the Comanche Trail council which was held at the First Presbyterian church Friday evening at 6:30. The northern district comprises Eastland and Stephens counties. Guy N. Quire, council scout executive, reported that a great deal of interest is being aroused in scouting in the area. In the two counties, Cisco, Breckenridge, Eastland, Ranger, Olden and Carbon have organizations of scouts. Both of Cisco's troops, numbers one and four, are full troops. T. C. Williams is scoutmaster of Troop No. 1, and Ernest Lennon of Troop No. 4. The boys and scouters enjoyed a supper and the boys participated in a series of contests.

MISS PICKFORD IS GUARDED BY POLICE ESCORT

FALMOUTH, Mass., Jan. 27 — Mary Pickford arrived in this town today with a police escort but she denied that she was being guarded because of a mysterious letter which she had received in Boston. "She declined to discuss the reason for her special police escort. Meanwhile, in Boston, it became known that the police escort was assigned after a mysterious and crudely addressed letter had been delivered to Miss Pickford at her hotel. One report, entirely without confirmation, was that the letter demanded a large sum of money."

Can't Change Poll Tax Voting Limit

AUSTIN, Jan. 27 — Attorney-general James V. Allred today had warned Texas voters not to rely on hopes that the special session of the Texas legislature, meeting Monday, might extend the time for paying poll tax with voting privileges. Allred said the poll tax time provision requiring payment before February 1 in order to vote is in the constitution and cannot be changed by legislative act.

$610,000 Given Texas For CWA Materials

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 27 — Civil Works Administrator Hopkins today authorized the expenditure of $13,000,000 for materials used on civil works projects. Texas was allotted $610,000.

PUTNAM AREA IS CENTER OF OIL INTEREST

Reviving oil development interest in this section is concentrated at the moment upon the Lorenzen No. 1 deep test on the Dr. F. E. Clark ranch near Putnam which has been slowly drilling itself in over the holiday period. Gas pressure in the well has increased from 400 pounds to 750 pounds while the well is making considerable free oil without having been shot or treated in any way. Depth of the well is 3,317 feet, 111 feet in the Caddo lime. The drill has still 154 feet of this lime to penetrate. Underneath it is the Marble Falls which showed the greatest gas in a test drilled in the area in 1919 by the Humble Oil and Refining company. The well is making about a quarter of a million feet of gas daily. Further drilling is contemplated within the next few days. The test is located in the southeast corner of section 304 of the S. P. R. survey, one and a half miles west by south of Putnam.

TEST TO BE STARTED IN GORMAN AREA

GORMAN, Jan. 27 — The projected test to be made by N. D. Gallagher, et al, in the neighborhood of the old Westmoeland field is to be spudded within the next few days, according to Mr. Gallagher. A few minor details are yet to be worked out. All the block of acreage has been lined up. The block embraces 2,300 acres, approximately. Plans are being made to clean out a number of abandoned wells in the vicinity, lime wells, once shunned, receiving particular attention. Acid treatment of these is contemplated. There are quite a number of these wells in the area.

FATHER STILL HOLDING SUM FOR KIDNAPERS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 27 — Investigators in the Edward Bremer kidnaping case today said they had learned that $200,000 ransom money still was being held by the victim's father. The elder Bremer still was negotiating with the men who have held his son captive for 19 days, the investigators said, due to an unforeseen misunderstanding. Although negotiations for trading the ransom for the young banker's release were believed practically completed several days ago, the Bremer family made every effort to assure the kidnapers that all lines were open for negotiations.

Pastors Find Cisco Hospitality Best

Departing ministers who attended the "Retreat" held during the week at the First Baptist church expressed themselves as having been better entertained at Cisco than anywhere, and deeply grateful to Cisco people for the hospitality with which they were greeted. The Rev. E. S. James, pastor of the First Baptist church, extended thanks to the people of Cisco and the Daily News and particularly to Cisco Banking company for the use of the Gude hotel as quarters for the visiting pastors. The ministers enjoyed their stay here particularly well because they were permitted to stay together in this hotel, said the Rev. Mr. James. The retreat, one of five held over the state, closed Friday noon.

The Shoe Fit---Negro Charged With Theft

FORT WORTH, Jan. 27 — The shoe fit—size 14—and a husky negro thief was charged with chicken theft. A huge track about the henery of C. F. Chapman here, who had lost four hens on the night of January 15, gave police their clue. They suspicioned the negro. Going to his home, they found a pair of 14 shoes. They tried the shoes in the tracks. They matched. They then tried the shoes on the negro. The shoes fit, and the negro admitted the thefts.

Circulating CWA Library Established

The high school library is being opened each night except Saturday from 7 until 9 in order that the public may have the opportunity to read their free of charge. Although no books may be carried from the library, magazines and books of fiction as well as reference books will be distributed to anyone who wishes to read them there. The public is not only invited but urged to take advantage of these opportunities.

Marlin Bank Robbery Suspect Held in Fla.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 27 — Howard Peoples, 35, escaped life term from Oklahoma, was held here today pending extradition proceedings from Texas and Oklahoma officials. Police here charged he was one of the bandits who robbed the Marlin, Texas State bank and kidnaped its president last December. A sum of more than $5,000 was found on Peoples and a woman companion, whose name was not given, officers said. They also were said to have deposited $6,500 in Hollywood and other Florida banks.

GOVERNOR TO SUBMIT DRAFT WITH MESSAGE

AUSTIN, Jan. 27 — February 10, 1936, is the maximum date for operation of the new moratorium against forced farm and real estate sales provided in a bill prepared today for submission to the special session of the Texas legislature convening at noon Monday. The new law follows the Minnesota statute, whose validity has been upheld by the U. S. supreme court. Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson entrusted drafting the bill to Sec'y of State W. W. Health, who has made an extensive study of the supreme court decision in the Minnesota case. The new bill differs materially from the Greathouse moratorium act of the regular session, effectiveness of which has expired. The bill which the governor will send to the legislature with her message provides that when an attempt is made to sell property on a deed of trust the owner may apply to the courts asserting that such sale will work injustice. The district court then order a hearing and no sale can be made without court order or foreclosure. The Greathouse bill authorized a 180-day stay of sale on affidavit without hearing.

MANY SOLONS WILL ATTEND LAST SESSION

By GORDON K. SHEARER, United Press Staff Correspondent. AUSTIN, Jan. 27 — A considerable number of the 31 state senators who will assemble here Monday for a special session of the legislature will be attending for the last time. Some have announced for other places. Some who will seek reelection face stiff opposition in the coming democratic primary. Terms of 15 senators expire. Of these only Sen. Ben G. Oneal, Wichita Falls; Sen. W. R. Cousins, Beaumont; bachelor Senator W. K. Hopkins, Gonzalez; and bridegroom Senator C. C. Murphy, Gainesville, are without reported opponents. Senators Walter Woodward, Coleman, and Walter Woodul, Houston, have announced for attorney-general and lieutenant governor, respectively, thus leaving their posts free for open competition. Lieut. Gov. Edgar E. Witt is a candidate for governor, so, win or lose, this will be the last session over which he will preside. Representatives Weaver Moore and John Mathis, Houston, are expected to stage a warm battle to succeed Woodul. Both are in the present house. Both are antis. Moore is brother-in-law to former Governor Dan Moody. Mathis was chairman of the associated organizations against prohibition.

Lively Contest

One of the liveliest senatorial races is expected in the fifteenth district. Sen. Gus Russek, Schulenburg, will have several in the field for his place. Among them it is expected will be L. J. Sulak, La Grange, regent of the University of Texas under appointment by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson. Sulak is editor of two influential papers in the district. One is at La Grange and the other, a Bohemian paper, is issued at El Campo. Ben Harigel, also a La Grange editor, too, is mentioned as a possible candidate. W. J. "Buster" Wilson, Bellville farmer and oil man, has been considering the race and J. V. Frnka, Columbus, former representative, is mentioned as a possible entrant. His son is clerk to House Speaker Coke Stevenson. Another son coached the champion Greenville high school football team. A spectacular fight is looked for in the border district now served by Sen. Archer Parr, Benavides, dean of the senate. Beside F. W. Seabury, Brownsville, a former speaker of the house and relative of the race and J. W. Neal, New York's crusading Seabury, there is much talk that Jim Neal, former Williamson county man, now

POLL TAX LAW BIGGER TOPIC OF ARGUMENT

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent

AUSTIN, Jan. 27—Texas law forbidding a vote to those who fail to pay a poll tax prior to Feb. 1, is more than ever a topic for divided opinion this year.

All efforts, heretofore, to abolish the poll tax receipt as a voting prerequisite have failed.

Stripped of the platitudes that are heard about the poll tax it remains as a suffrage requirement for two very practical effects. It keeps down the negro vote and it furnishes the state about $1,000,000 annual revenue.

Past efforts to abandon it have met strenuous objection from school men. The tax is $1.50 and $1 of the $1.50 goes to school support.

Counties are authorized to levy a poll tax of not more than 25 cents additional. This results in unequal voting requirements over the state. Some counties, desiring a heavy voting strength for its effect in political conventions and elections, do not levy a county poll tax.

Unequal Requirements

A resident of San Antonio, for instance, pays $1.50 poll tax and is allowed to vote. A resident of Austin, 60-odd miles away, pays $1.75 for the same right. A city also may levy a poll tax but it has been ruled that failure to pay a city poll tax cannot bar a person from voting.

Defenders of the poll tax as a voting requirement say that it is the only tax many people pay toward support of the government. They do not go so far, however, as to propose a poll tax only upon those who pay a property tax. The poll tax requirement also is defended as a form of voters' registration. Registration of voters can be accomplished at far less cost than the $1.50 or $1.75 poll tax fee.

Until an amendment by the last preceding legislature, there was discrimination as to poll tax requirements between urban and rural residents. Personal application had to be made for a poll tax receipt could be secured through an agent's application being mailed to the payer.

The amendment now permits payment of poll tax for both man and wife in the same check or money order with which their property taxes are paid. If this payment is made before February 1, the tax collector is authorized to mail the poll tax receipts regardless of city or county residence.

Exceptions

Not every legal voter must have paid a poll tax. Indians need none. Blind or deaf and dumb persons and those permanently disabled and those who have lost a foot or hand, need no poll tax receipt to vote. Persons over 60 need none, but must have an "exemption certified if they live in a town of 10,000 or more people. Formerly this exemption certificate had to be renewed yearly. Now permanent certificates may be issued. If the exempt voter moves, the transfer must be endorsed on the certificate.

or more, persons over 60 may Outside communities of 10,000 vote without certificate or poll tax receipt, the theory being that in rural communities old persons are well enough known to remove danger of illegal voting.

There also is a temporary poll tax exemption for those who are 21 after January 1 of any particular year. It entitles them to vote without poll tax receipt in that year only, and only in elections that take place after they become 21.

Possession of a poll tax receipt does not necessarily entitle the holder to vote. A poll tax is levied against many who cannot vote. It may be levied against one not a citizen of the United States, if he resides in the state on January 1.

A poll tax is levied against felony convicts though they cannot vote after release without having citizenship restored by a proclamation of the governor. A receipt is used after January 31 also fail to confer any voting right for that year.

A tax collector may not refuse to accept tender of poll tax payment without tender of payment of other taxes. He may refuse to accept payment of other taxes if the poll tax is not also tendered.

THURSTON WAS JOCKEY

HOUSTON, Jan. 27—Thurston the magician, was a jockey and manager of a prize fighter here 50 years ago. His latent magic had no influence over horses or pugilists though, he recalled on a recent recent visit, for he never rode a winner and his protégé of the ring ended his career on a rock pile.

in Webb county will make it a three cornered race.

A Ferguson and anti-Ferguson fight looms in the Galveston district. Sen. Tom Holbrook, who was attacked bitterly by Ferguson forces for opposing Ferguson appointees, will have against him, it is reported, publishing activities for the Ferguson campaign were delved into by a house committee. Efforts to get another Galveston man in the race also reported.

Sen. George Purl, Dallas, will be opposed by Larry Mills, who has been active in a number of campaigns for others. It is said that Rep. Sarah Hughes, Dallas, might enter this race and would ordinarily get support from a considerable group, mindful of her ability, were it not that they fear her promotion from the house might be taken as an endorsement of a state income tax which she advocates.

Two, possibly three, Fort Worth Frank will contend in that senatorial district. All the lawyers. One is Sen. Frank Rawlings, incumbent, another is Frank Ogilvie, already announced, and the third Rep. Frank Patterson, author of the state bank guaranty act of the last session.

Eugene Miller, Weatherford, who was a member of the 39th, 40th and 41st senates, after serving two terms in the house, is expected to battle Sen. Gray Woodruff, Decatur.

Former Representative A. M. Justice, Corsicana, is reported to be considering a race with Sen. Julian P. Greer, Elkhart.

Sen. Joe Moore, Greenville, will again have a contestant in bicycle campaigning Harris of Bains county, and possibly a three-angled affair with a McKinney candidate bearing the historic name of Houston, as the other runner.

SHALL WE LOSE THE STOCK SHOW?

Unless Cisco business men take some positive action shortly, Cisco stands to lose an agricultural institution which definitely belongs to this city both by agreement with other Eastland county cities and by fact of its having been located here for the past five years or more. That institution is the annual Eastland County Livestock show. The show has been sponsored by the agricultural division of the chamber of commerce with the financial and physical assistance of the city and the business men. Funds available through the chamber budget have been sufficient to pay only a portion of the expenses incident to the show in the past, the remainder being supplied by special appropriation by the city commission. That special appropriation usually has ranged about $100. The total expense of the show has been small, comparatively speaking, while the results have annually increased in value to Cisco by drawing large numbers of stock raisers and farmers to this city and developing its prestige as an agricultural center. The display has been developed here not so much at a cost of money as a cost of hard work on the part of the sponsors.

The same situation with reference to finances has arisen this year and application was made to the city for an appropriation of $100 to help pay the cost. Unfortunately, however, the commission, due to the limitations of the charter provision adopted for the maintenance of the chamber of commerce last spring, has found itself unable to comply with the request. The two-mill levy appropriate to support of the chamber is being exhausted each month, it explained, and it cannot legally allot any additional funds to chamber of commerce projects. The net result of this inhibition leaves Cisco in danger of losing the stock show on the verge of better times, and after it has heroically maintained this splendid institution throughout the depression years, and not merely maintained it, but increased it in size and prestige.

The remedy seems to be an appeal to the business men to contribute the fund necessary to supplement the sum available from the chamber of commerce if they wish to continue the stock show. If something is not done to save this institution the result is certain. The stock show will naturally be appropriated by the Eastland County Fair at Eastland. The county seat city is developing modern and commodious fair grounds and it would be an easy matter for the stock show to be added to this general institution, thereby enhancing the value of the county fair. The amalgamation would violate an agreement entered into between Cisco, Eastland and Ranger several years ago by which Cisco secured the county stock show, Ranger the county poultry show and Eastland the county fair, but it would be a necessary violation if the livestock interests of the county are to receive the encouragement that such an annual event means.

Cisco cannot afford now to lose this institution. It would mean not only a loss of community prestige, but a loss of all the time and effort and funds that have been expended in developing the show.

COMPULSORY COTTON REDUCTION

The administration is considering compulsory methods of insuring the success of its cotton adjustment campaign. The president wants the backing of the growers themselves in any such move, however, and the agriculture department is sending out 50,000 questionnaires to cotton farmers, asking their reactions and an estimate of opinion about them on the issue. The problem of putting over the cotton reduction campaign successfully is a problem in the main of dealing with a non-cooperating minority that is eager to profit at the expense of the rest. Locally, there are heard criticisms of the actions of some growers who are accused of trying to steer out of cooperation with the administration in order to plant larger crops and reap the harvest of a higher price made possible by the reductions in the acreage of their neighbors. It is the same old story of human avarice and greed. Not all the chislers are in the Wall streets of the business world. The grain of human nature runs about the same by the willow patches of the old creek as by the palm branches of the financial clubs of the big cities.

Of course the majority opinion of the cotton growers will favor compulsory measures. The majority is already cooperating or wishing to cooperate. It is to their interest that the government shall lay an admonitory hand upon John Doe across the fence row, and say unto the said John Doe, "Go thou and do likewise, or—". From time immemorial the threat of the chisling minority has been the monkey wrench in the wheels of farm cooperative enterprises. One by one ambitious projects which had for their aims the effective solidification of agricultural manpower and opinion have fallen by the way because there was a piratical element which hung back, seeking a chance to profit at the expense of the majority. The same threat overhangs the government's program; and if it is to succeed measures of forthright and thorough dealing with this element must be undertaken. The government is trying not merely to assist the farmers to immediate benefits, but to make an effective demonstration of the good results of cooperative effort on the part of the men behind the plows of this nation. The administration cannot afford to fail, and because it cannot afford to fail it cannot permit a small, venal minority to determine the future of the program. No doubt, the farmers of America will heartily endorse that sentiment.

REMARKABLE GROWTH OF POSTAL SAVINGS

Postal savings have had a remarkable growth during the depression. Harold N. Graves is the postoffice department budget officer. He submitted the following figures to the house appropriations committee on the supply bill: "On June 30, 1932, deposits totaled $74,620,623; on June 30, 1933, they aggregated $1,187,186,186,208; in the same period the number of depositors increased from 1,545,190 to 2,342,133 while depository banks increased from 5102 to 5521." All this during the depression. Of course the plain English is that a large number of Americans had lost faith in banks but had not lost faith in the government of the fathers. Now the recovery acts are working and there is hope in the hearts of men and women instead of fear.

IT SEEMS TO BE MORE OF A PUSH

Patman Advocates Two Payments on Cotton Bonuses

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

Rep. Wright Patman of the first Texas district never sleeps at the switch. He has advised the farm administration "to make payments to cotton farmers in the acreage reduction campaign in March and again in June or July." His argument is that the Patman plan if adopted would enable practically every grower in Texas to plant his next crop "without borrowing his constituents who are cotton producers as well as Texans at large that Texas probably would get around $31,000,000 in rental payments under the acreage reduction plan." Patman submitted a startling array of figures. "Texas," he said, "had 16,650,000 acres in cotton during the year 1928-1932 inclusive." Now the farm administration expects a reduction of 40 per cent in the acreage which will be 6,230,000 acres. Then it was that he fixed the rental payment above the $30,000,000 mark. Parity payments, according to the very-checked statesman, are expected to be $8,957,350, or a total for Texas cotton farmers for 1934 of approximately $40,000,000. He placed this bit of prophecy in his story: "The total for the United States will be $126,000,000. You will observe that Texas will get almost one-third of the total cotton payments."

Looking backward, it is well to remind the cotton producers that Texas received upwards of $40,000,000 in bonuses in the year 1933.

IT WAS $31,000,000—
NOW IT IS $49,000,000,000

A way back in 1929 the crash came. The Samson of that period pulled down the pillars of the American financial and industrial temples and the wreckers came in. In 1932 the third revolution in American history took place in the nationwide balloting of that year. In March, 1933, Franklin D. Roosevelt was inaugurated. All that has happened since his inauguration is familiar to the readers and thinkers of the American world. But this is the story of the 40 per cent decline in the national income since the year of the crash. The national income dropped from $31,000,000,000 in 1929 to $49,000,000,000 in 1932, a decline of 40 per cent. At least, this is the report submitted by the bureau of foreign and domestic affairs to the finance committee of the American senate. In the most detailed and complete study of American incomes ever compiled (the report reads) the bureau found that wages have suffered the most severely in the depression. This detailed and complete study required more than a year of intensive research.

This is the machine age. Mass production was the outcome of the machine age, or rather the result. It was responsible for an idle army of workers estimated all the way from six to ten million men and women. The machine will never be abolished or eliminated. Now in the future years will the machine be adapted to the needs of man, the agency or instrument of man so to speak, or will the machine be the master of man. If the latter happens, what will happen to the economic life of the vast surplus population of idlers under the flag of the free.

AND THE GREATEST OF THESE IS CHARITY

Raymond A. Sinsky is a Baltimore financier. He is the angel of the poor children of Baltimore and Maryland. He has given an order to put shoes and stockings on 50,000 poor children of Maryland this winter. He had a survey made to ascertain the actual needs of the poor kiddies of the Oriole city and the 23 counties of Maryland. On the completion of the survey he placed an order for the entire lot with a New York manufacturer.

A year ago Angel Sinsky distributed approximately 50,000 pairs of shoes, many going to children who had been trudging barefooted through the snow to get to school. Welfare officials, Red Cross workers, state health officers and school officials will be the distributors of the shoes and stockings. Angel Sinsky never asked their creed; he never inquired as to their racial origin; he never employs a brass band or publicity agents in his charity.

He may believe there is a Messiah to come. He may place his reliance in the God of the Christians or in Jehovah of ancient times or in one of the gods that flourished in the minds of men thousands of years ago.

All this goes for naught. He is for the kiddies who are on earth today, who are shoeless and stockingless in the Oriole City and the state of Maryland and the Great Keeper of the Record, who is said to preside in the world invisible, will be given a bright mark in the book. Let it go at that.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

Miss Louise Trammell of the Cisco CWA office, contributes this interesting bit to my column today:

A letter from a 6-year-old child wishing President Roosevelt a Merry Christmas, and thanking him because "you gave our Daddy work" was received at the Cisco C. W. A. headquarters recently bearing the signature of the president's secretary, Louis McHenry Howe upon one grimy corner of the cheap note paper, and instructions to investigate this case and make adjustments accordingly.

"I have a little cousin 8 years old, and I am 6 years old," the child wrote. "We like to go to school. For Christmas my cousin wants a new suit and I want a new dress so we can go to Sunday school. My cousin and I love you because you gave our daddies work. We hope you and your family have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

The letter, scrawled in the childish handwriting of a little girl who gave as her address a rural route of Cisco, was returned by the president's secretary to the Texas Relief Commission at Austin, and thence forwarded to Miss Agnes Harwood Doyle, Eastland county social service supervisor, who sent the letter to Cisco.

The incident rather effectively illustrates the spirit of the recovery program which is being put into effect under the New Deal. That the time and thought of a busy secretary to an extremely busy president of these United States is not so taken up with lofty and impersonal matters of national administration to concern itself with such a wee bit of sentiment, is something to draw us in a sense of kinship closer to the White House and the nerve center of all this national energy that is being released in a great humanitarian effort to put the nation back upon the road to prosperity and well-being. We are inclined to think of a national administration as something classical and aloof, something preserved from our common touch and unsympathetic with our common feelings. But the little note of thanks that went from a little girl in a Cisco rural route was carried to Washington and back in the pulse of a great national heart beat that vibrates from one end of this nation to the other. Boy, it's good to live in a country like ours. Think of what Germany and Italy and Russia and the rest of the old world countries are putting up with, and form your own comparisons.

Needless to say, the local CWA administration checked up on the case, found the father was registered here and was getting work regularly still.

I've run out of jokes for this column. J. J. Collins told me one or two Saturday morning, but after trying them out on some of my critics, the latter advised me not to use them here, although admitting them quite appropriate to tell at conventions.

The business of writing columns demands the services of a good glib man; but the rate of remuneration is much too slight to tempt those original guvs away from the radio and the films.

If I could think of original gasp-quickly enough to make this column an assured source of humor, I should not be writing for a small-town daily, either. Therefore, this effort appears, by the very forces of nature, as law to be condemned to a state of perpetual jokelessness.

The following is certainly no joke: Pay your poll taxes now if you expect to vote in any of the elections that will occur this year. At least, pay your poll taxes before February 1. An item in today's issue of the Daily News quotes Att.-Gen. Alfred in some pertinent advice. The legislature he says, cannot, if it would, extend the voting privileges in the poll tax law. The provision that poll tax must be paid prior to February 1, is not legislatively, but constitutionally fixed, and, therefore cannot be modified by an act of the legislature.

Consequently, those of you who are expecting to be qualified voters this year had best surrender any hopes of the legislature humoring your present insolvency and extending the time in which you may qualify yourselves for the ballot, and get the all-important little slip at once.

Otherwise, don't cuss the government for what happens to you later on. If you choose to have no voice in the government, you shouldn't have any voice about it.

Pay your poll tax now.

Married Flirts

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married on the same day as LILA ROYALING and DORIS BESS, but Lila expects to be married by MARIO BRIDGHTON who once asked Gypsy to marry him and whom they meet at the Bissess' home.

When the doctor tells Gypsy she is to have a baby, she gives up her job. Summer comes on and is intensely hot. Gypsy and Tom move to a cottage on Long Island owned by a friend.

Lila makes an unexpected call at the cottage. She seems restless and discontented and for the first time Gypsy is sorry for her instead of envious.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXI

THE summer waned all too swiftly. Blue days, golden days, there were in August, when Gypsy flung her arms aloft for sheer joy in living; when there was not a cloud in the sky; when the borders blazed with phlox and larkspur and zinnias; when the nights were drenched with dew and you awakened to cool, scented, blowy mornings.

There never was such a summer. The Morells came over from Blue Hills in the shabby car and there were picnics on the grass under the laden apple trees. Steaks were broiled over the crude outdoor oven. Tom rushed home early, exulting in the luxury of his own vine and fig tree, and there were two wonderful weeks when he was home altogether.

The corn ripened under the sun along the highways. The fruit hung heavy on the trees. Hay was stacked in golden tents in the fields. Ang on one gorgeous day in late September Gypsy's child was born. She had been rushed to the city hospital the night before. For 10 long hours she had writhed in pain, digging her nails into her flesh, trying to stifle the cries that were wrung from her. At 8 o'clock the baby's wail sounded and the watching young husband, pacing the corridor outside, sagged against the distemper-walls in an agony of relief.

"It's over, it's over," he whispered. When they allowed him in to see her an hour later she was lying white and seemingly broken in the narrow bed. Only her eyes were alive, moving alertly in her tanned young face.

"Tommy . . . oh, darling!" Tears of weakness ran down her cheeks and his own eyes watered in sympathy.

"Was it so terrible, dearest?" He had her hands in his. His eyes were roving anxiously over her dear, familiar features.

She shut her eyes, on a long sigh. "Let you see the baby?" "Not yet, honey. The nurse said . . ."

A figure in striped and crackling cambric glided in. "Time's up, Mr. Weaver. This young lady must get some sleep." And he had to go, after a kiss and a whispered admonition.

and muslin, with only the top of a rosy head showing, lay on Gypsy's arm. Her curls were freshly brushed, her eyes had the peculiar deep, lambent glow that comes to young mothers just out of the shadowy valley. Tom had eyes only for her.

"Isn't he the sweetest, most adorable . . . ? Tom Weaver, you're not paying attention to your son! You're not listening to a word I say."

He grinned at her. "He's a wonder. But honestly, Gyp, do you think he's much to look at right now? I was admiring you. Do you mind?"

"Silly!" She pretended to be annoyed, ignoring the flattery. "He's the most beautiful thing God ever made! Aren't you, precious? Aren't you the most beautiful thing God ever made? Look at his little hands, Tommy. Marvelous!"

"Your mother says he's like the Glynns," said Tom slyly. "But I say he's the living image of my Great Uncle Tobias."

Gypsy looked up quickly, to say with pride, "Why Tommy, he looks like no one else in the world but you. How could anyone say he looks like Uncle Tobias! Dreadful fat old man!"

Tom roared, delighted at the way she had risen to the bait. Of course David Morell Weaver was the very image of his father! Of course he was handsome!

"You're the most extraordinary girl," Tom murmured. "Last year you were just a kid, dancing, playing around. And now you're a full-fledged parent, bristles and everything."

"You stop teasing me," Gypsy told him with dignity. "I am now a full-time mother, with no sense of humor where my child is concerned."

21st Anniversary To Be Celebrated

"Saturday, February 3, is the 21st anniversary of the founding of Mrs. Tucker's Shortening business, and the week of January 27 through February 3, has been designated Mrs. Tucker's 21st Business Anniversary week. Grocers all over the southwest will feature Mrs. Tucker's Shortening specially during the week and it has been suggested that southwestern housewives who are regular users of Mrs. Tucker's Shortening make Mrs. Tucker's Anniversary cakes for their families sometime during the week.

This special birthday celebration is being conducted without the knowledge of Mrs. Tucker, the employees of her company, planning the event as a surprise celebration for her. It is expected many recipes for a Mrs. Tucker's 21st Anniversary Birthday cake will be sent in for next week's regular Mrs. Tucker Recipe of the Week Contest."

There were crumbs on stove and sink. The coffee pot, with a scum of grounds on spoon and lid, stood on the window sill.

It was the first morning Gypsy had got out of bed before breakfast, under doctor's orders. Now she donned one of her old summer prints and, having assured herself that the baby was warm and wasn't in a draft, she attacked the kitchen.

Would she have to battle with this disorder all day? She began to regret having let Mrs. Burby go, as was after wave of weakness swept over her. But her spirit was valiant. She filled the dishpan with warm soapy water and stubbornly attacked the discouraging task. She had stacked the cups and saucers in the dryer and was beginning to perceive the fine flavor of encouragement when she heard a thin reedy wail.

"She hurried to the baby. 'What is it? What does he want, the darling?'"

"Oh, what an idiot she was!" He was used to his bath at precisely this hour. Mrs. Burby had impressed on her the importance of doing the same thing at the same time for David. And she had been forgetting.

SHE was not, really, strong enough, but it seemed worth both labor and exhaustion to be rid of the dawdling, never-satisfied, complaining Mrs. Burby. The first day Gypsy was carried through by sheer force of will and stubbornness. Tom tried again after agency, but there seemed no one anxious to do cooking and general housework in a family with a brand new baby. At the end of 24 hours young Mrs. Weaver found herself almost regretting the departure of her erstwhile assistant. Her back ached and her feet were on fire. There were everything still to do. Her only half maid, dinner help, mother manager without assistance, Gypsy wondered. Was it possible that only a month and a half ago she had been strong, rested, that she had thought housework and cooking amusing?

She was too tired to eat. Tom watched her anxiously as she sat quite exhausted, on the day bed. "This can't go on," he said. "I'll bring someone in, first thing in the morning, if I have to scold her." And poor the baby was crying. He had to be changed; there were piles of small garments waiting to be washed.

"It's endless," Gypsy wailed on a long sigh, collapsing into bed. Tom patted her shoulder, his young face creased by a freckle of worry and bewilderment. Later, as she dozed off, she could hear him clattering expertly in the kitchen, disposing of the dishes.

Next morning she dragged herself out, only half rested. Young David had awakened in the night, of course, for his feeding. Gypsy's demands were inexorable. Tom scrambled together his strength, hasty breakfast and Gypsy drank a cup of coffee lifelessly, standing at the kitchen table, she attended to everything so now. What was the baby's bath first. What was to be done to sink down to sleep this moment; to sleep the clock around and waken refreshed and new!

She went to gather him up in a rosy bundle of babyhood, a few moments later and even her eyes brightened at the sight of him.

BIRT BRITAIN IS CANDIDATE FOR COMM'R

Birt Britain Saturday authorized the Cisco Daily News and American Roundup to announce his candidacy for commissioner for Eastland county precinct No. 4.
Mr. Britain, in making his announcement, said that he was yielding to the solicitation of many friends to seek the place. He is a former county commissioner and is so well known throughout the precinct that it is unnecessary to introduce him to the public with an extensive statement.
He said that he will probably make a formal announcement of his platform later.

Attendance on CWA Classes Increasing

The CWA commercial schools in Cisco are now going 100 per cent strong. The attendance has been gradually increasing since the opening of the schools but not enough people are availing themselves of this unusual opportunity. The commercial subjects offered at the CWA school located at high school are practically the same as those offered by business colleges — Gregg shorthand, typing, business spelling, business English, business arithmetic, commercial law, bookkeeping and penmanship. The arithmetic is composed of short-methods, rapid calculation, drills, tests. Those satisfactorily completing the penmanship course are eligible for a teacher's certificate. Speed tests are given in typewriting each evening for the advanced typists. If the citizens of Cisco, who really want to take the advantage of this free schooling, will attend regularly and apply themselves earnestly to the subjects they are taking, they will find the courses really worth the time and effort devoted to them, it was said.
